Bank Insurance Brings More Money To Banks

HOLLAND BANKS UNDER GOVERNMENT DEPOSIT INSURANCE PLANS NOW

It is very gratifying indeed that the three Holland banks, namely the Peoples State, the First State and the Holland City State banks, immediately complied and secured the sanction of the United States government to insure all deposits up to the amount of $2,500 per depositor through the federal government deposit insurance corporation.

This means that if a single depositor had $7,500 and he split it between the three banks that he be fully insured up to that amount through federal backing. Then again if he had his deposit split among members of his family, the guarantee in that family would assume tremendous proportions for safety.

The insurance of deposits was made possible through national legislation passed last year through the Glass bill. The bill goes still further for after July 1 the insurance will be for a greater amount providing the depositor has that much money in the bank.

Depositors can rest assured that $2,500 is insured to each depositor having that amount on deposit, or any amount less than that, according to the amount deposited.

The depositors can feel assured of a greater guarantee of safety for the banking department is absolutely not granting the deposit insurance to live up to the requirements exacted by the federal law and that assurance, we feel, is worth as much as the actual guarantee, and our local institutions have lived up to it.

Under the new deal depositors have a foundation for confidence and future security which has a measure of the same soundness and stability that is inherent in the United States government itself.

The insurance has no strings tied to it. The amount deposited, according to the passbook, would be the amount the depositor would receive in case of an emergency.

All over the nation millions upon millions of dollars are going back into the banks. This has already been reflected in the three local institutions in a very substantial manner.

President Roosevelt is exceedingly pleased with the turn of events in the banking situation and gives unstinted praise to the men who worked these plans out slowly but safely and sanely.

The author of the legislation providing for the temporary insurance plan between now and July—Senator Vandenberg (R. Michigan)—today heaped praise upon the deposit corporation and the reconstruction corporation for a "superb piece of work" in getting the system functioning on the appointed day.

Through the system inaugurated today, he said, safety for 97 per cent of the nation's depositors has been provided, and "any remote excuse" for hoarding removed.

"This spells maximum fiscal and social service and minimum hazard," he added. "Personally I should be glad to see this temporary formula and this $2,500 limit substituted for the permanent formula, which otherwise becomes effective in July, if our experience during the next few months vindicates our expectations."

"Such a substitution might give us the greatest factors of safety and permanence and universal acceptance of the new system, which I believe to be the greatest advance ever made in American banking."

The savings of America now are safe. There no longer is any remote excuse for hoarding. General banking no longer should be menaced by postal savings competition. The credit situation should be permanently improved."

TAKE TRIP THROUGH SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zwemer and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gebben of Holland returned recently from a swing through the Southland, first to see their farms in the Rio Grande valley, then quietly motoring their way eastward, visiting Dallas, Houston and San Antonio, New Orleans, Gulf Port, Pass Christian, Biloxi, Mobile and Birmingham, Alabama. When they were at Montgomery they met an old Holland resident, Peter Minderhout, whose father was one of the first landholders in Holland. He was the manager of the old City hotel on the Warm Friend Tavern site more than a half century ago. Mr. Minderhout was simply overwhelmed when the Holland men unexpectedly dropped in on him, Mr. Zwemer being closely related, although he did not know that Mr. Minderhout was located there.

The Holland folks had a wonderful trip and stated that people were rather optimistic in the South, and that there was less talk of hard times.

Most of the trip was along the Gulf of Mexico until home-coming time, when they turned their faces northward. They were away a little over three weeks.

One of the sensational basketball teams of the western Michigan area, Holland Christian High school's quintet, will appear in Grand Rapids Christian at South gym. The game, originally scheduled to be played at Holland, has been changed to Grand Rapids. A later game, scheduled here February 16, will be played in Holland.

Holland Christian has been playing on a par with class A schools this season. It has beaten Benton Harbor and Grand Haven and is expected to win the C championship. The school is in the C class as are Grand Rapids Christian and Holland Christian. The latter is in the general class C playing above the general class C level.

THE LITTLE TOWNS OF MICHIGAN

Hazel Harper Harris

The little towns of Michigan are tucked away in caves. Or else are hidden under trees. Where robins come in droves. The little towns of Michigan wear cherries on their breasts. And lift in sweet security. A thousand twig-made nests. They shelter simple cottage homes. Where neighbors come to call. To bring the flowers they have cut. And a sunny wall. And talk of books and butterflies. And ask you in to sup. To give you star-dusted dreams and hopes. Within a china cup. How glad I am that I have gleaned The sweet that living brings. From one small town of Michigan. Where dreams and hopes grow wings!

COUNCIL NOTES

When he opened the meeting Mayor Bosch extended to the aldermen, other city officials, newspapermen and the audience present a happy and prosperous New Year. The newspapermen need it.

A building permit was asked for in the amount of $7,500 to rebuild the Armory, a CWA project fully described in a former issue of the News.

Mrs. Peter Steinfort asked the privilege of remodeling a garage costing $25.

Rev. Zwiers of the Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church opened the council meeting with prayer and stated that a new year meant a new start in all our deliberations and our civic activities we should not fail to ask God's guidance in everything we do.

The pavement of East Twenty-fifth street between State and Columbia avenues will not be laid. Alderman Fritz Jonkman took an inventory of the street and found that there were sixteen property owners and of this number 13 opposed the pavement, one lived in Florida and could not be reached, and two favored the project whose names were on the petition, namely Joe Kramer and John Knapp. Mr. Jonkman stated that there were four widows who lived on that street. The proposal was then turned down.

Mayor Bosch, when the dock proposition came up, stated the sewage disposal plant had been blamed for many of the different brands of odor in that vicinity meeting the nostrils of the motorists going on US-31. The real smell, however, comes from Black River and the Black lake dumping grounds as a southwest wind will verify. The new dock proposition will clean that mess, the mayor said.

The council approved a request from the board of public works for the purchase of a site between Fifth street and Sixth street for the proposed new warehouse, at a cost of $1,500.

Mayor Bosch brought up the matter of the sale of hard liquors, according to the new state law. This is a matter that needs no particular hurry and plenty of time for careful investigation and undoubtedly the city fathers will not hasten the matter until they know all the facts and the law.

Mayor Bosch publicly congratulated Alderman Kleis on his first appearance after a serious operation in Chicago. Besides wishing him a happy New Year he congratulated him on the fact that his health was fully restored. The aldermen also voiced this sentiment. Alderman Kleis thanked his colleagues for their thoughtful remembrance of him and for their well wishes.

City Attorney Clarence Lokker acted as city clerk last evening owing to the fact that Oscar was ill.

The tax bill of Holland township for the airport property on East Sixteenth street was tabled and will be taken up later.

The city attorney was instructed to inform the tannery company that the fence at the property on West Eighth street was in need of repairs and the place was dangerous. Alderman Arthur Drinkwater called the matter to the attention of the aldermen and also said that the sidewalk also needed some repairs.

Attorney Clarence Lokker, in delving into the school law relative to elections, said that he got a fine pointer from the old schoolmaster, Alderman Huyser. He thought the change could easily be made until Mr. Huyser called his attention to the difficulties the city was to overcome. Then he began a more thorough investigation and found that the two elections could not be held together.

Alderman Habing, relative to the dock proposition, gave the information that if the government gives this grant, not only will the filthy pool be cleaned up but it would give 400 men six months' work.

When the dock proposal was presented Mayor Bosch personally thanked the council committee for their faithful painstaking work, arguing that the proposal be unanimously passed. The committee is composed of Alderman Habing, De Cock, Huyser, City Engineer Zuidema and William M. Connelly.

Mr. Habing also asked for an appropriation of $500 to be used only if necessary in consulting engineers and incident of immediate import that could not wait for a session of the council. This was passed but with the understanding that it be no more than $300 and that the money be judiciously spent and only where absolutely necessary.

Mrs. J. Hoefacker of Grand Rapids spent the week-end and New Year's day visiting friends and relatives in Holland.

Common Council Votes For New Municipal Dock

PROJECT WILL COST GOVERNMENT A LITTLE OVER $200,000

Alderman Bert Habing submitted a final report on the municipal dock proposition, which report was unanimously adopted by all the aldermen at the regular meeting on Wednesday night. Even Mayor Bosch, who had gone slow on this dock problem, spoke in favor of it. He stated there was a time that he did not feel so favorable but he felt now it was an absolute necessity to benefit labor, to create what in the future will undoubtedly be a benefit to Holland and at the same time clean up a nasty mess that has been a stench in the nostrils of the whole city and visitors as well.

He said that at first he did not think much of the project but he might have been wrong and he believes that he was.

Before a vote was taken Alderman Habing read the following report:

"The Mayor and Common Council, Holland, Michigan.

"Your special municipal dock committee, to whom was referred the matter of making a study, report and estimate of a municipal dock to be constructed with CWA or other federal funds, is pleased to submit the following:

"We recommend the Ottawa Furniture property as the most suitable and available site for such a dock, which comprises 726 feet of frontage, when the width of Third and Fifth streets is included. The plan contemplates the purchase of only one small parcel of land, which is held by the receiver of the Ottawa Furniture company, and your committee has procured a 60-day option on this parcel at a price of $250, plus accrued taxes, amounting to approximately $100. The tentative plan for the dock structure proposes a width of 396 feet, projected into the lake approximately 700 feet. The contact frontage to be of steel piling and the retaining walls to be of concrete piling. It is proposed to border the dock with a 40-foot drive which will connect with a warehouse having 40,000 square feet of floor space. The location of this dock will require an extension to the existing channel of approximately 1,600 feet. In order to prevent the infiltration of silt from the present river channel it is proposed to divert the flow of the river by cutting a new channel in a southerly direction from the US-31 bridge across the neck of land in front of the northside tannery to connect with the lake."

The report of Mr. Habing also carried a resolution authorizing the committee to make application to the local board of CWA with all rights of the city maintained and that the building of the project entails no expense that the city of Holland is to shoulder.

Miss Nella Meyer spent the holiday vacation in New York City.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

P. T. Barnum, it is said, has secured from the court of Siam a white elephant to be exhibited in this country next summer in his large circus, the "biggest show on earth." It is said an artist has applied for the job of keeping the elephant whitewashed. Note: Who of the older citizens does not remember seeing that "white elephant"? Your editor does—it wasn't a pure white but rather a light gray grey, different from the regular elephant however. Barnum's circus is one that never came to Holland. The large shows that did, however, were Adam Forepaugh and Adam, the man with side burns, was here himself. It was the second largest show in America at the time and pitched tents on what is now the baseball park and all the open space then available. This was at least 50 years ago and caused a furor in some church circles because the circus came in on Sunday. Church elders and deacons were appointed to watch the main entrance to see who of the congregation were "black sliders," according to their opinion. We know of one prominent elder placed there as monitor who could not resist to peep under the tent flap to see the animals. He saw the menagerie and soon found himself willfully jostled in under the "big top." He appeared before the "kerkerad," etc. Anyway, that's another story. He was a fine old gentleman just the same. The largest circus to come to Holland was Ringling Bros. 32 years ago. This aggregation showed in the large baseball park and the commons beyond at 16th St. and River Ave. That was a gala day for Holland and this city never had a larger crowd. Holland's real circus grounds in the earlier days was 11th St., between Pine and Maple Sts. (no avenues then). From the Grace Episcopal church on the southeast corner of Pine and 11th St. (burned afterward) to the 4th Ward school, now Washington school, was a large open space a block long; no houses there, only a winding sand road. Living right there on 10th St. your editor as a boy only had to peep over the fence to see the show. The old circus rings made of earth in those days, adorned these commons for years afterward and were renewed and rebuilt with the coming of another show. The old John Robinson circus, still in existence, and the oldest in America, showed there. The largest circus of those days showing on 11th St., was Burr, Robins and Colvin. Being only six years, it looked like a tremendous spectacle to me. The writer at 62 is still circus crazy and whenever the occasion arises, takes a day off to see the unloading, and the putting up of the tents, which is the most interesting and, of course, sitting under the "big top" sweating and waving a palm fan and drinking pink lemonade—and my conscience don't bother.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Young Charles K. Van Duren, age 14, was notified by Paul King, clerk of the House of Representatives at Lansing, that he had been selected to draw from a hat the number that will designate the seats of every representative who starts in session just after New Year's. The seats are selected by lot and Charles, the son of Attorney and Mrs. Van Duren, was selected from the entire state as the boy so honored. Note: Since that time "Chuck" has become a prominent attorney, has a fine family and lives in a cozy home by a crystal pool.

John A. Pieters of Fennville, formerly of Holland, died on Wednesday of pneumonia. The large funeral took place first at Fennville and later at Holland, Dr. Beardslee officiating. He was the leading merchant of Fennville and was often president of the village and a prominent race horse man. Mr. Pieters married Miss Grada Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Boone of Holland, and the widow and three children survive, Misses Helen and Marguerite and a son, Roelof. Note: Mr. Pieters was the son of the late Roelof Pieters, prominent pastor of what later became the Ninth St. Christian Reformed church after the secession, which occurred after the death of Rev. Pieters. He was the brother of Dr. Albertus Pieters of the Western Theological Seminary at present.

Rev. and Mr. Fred De Weerd, for many years residents of this city, are leaving for South Africa to enter the mission field. Rev. De Weerd is the son of Johannes De Weerd. A farewell was given them in the Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday. Note: Mr. and Mrs. De Weerd carried on in the "dark continent" for several years and then Mr. De Weerd passed on and Mrs. De Weerd continued the work.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The "Liberty Bell" drawn by the Holland letter carrier in the Armistice parade, when that wonderful news was declared, now reposes in the belfry of Prospect Park church. The bell was purchased by the Westvan Methodist here when the Westvan church was dismantled and was stored in the basement of their church building. The carriers resurrected the bell as a noise maker when the whole town went crazy for a day as did the nation and the bell attracted members of Prospect Park church and a deal was made for the transfer of the bell, which is now serving a useful purpose, calling Holland folks to Sabbath meetings.

John Good of the North Side Tannery was instrumental in giving Holland the biggest bonfire it has ever witnessed before or since, according to the "Sparks from the

No School And City Elections Held Together

SCHOOL ELECTIONS CAN- NOT BE HELD IN SPRING, SAYS ATTORNEY LOKKER

Representatives of the Property Owners' League of Holland were present at the council meeting and also presented another petition asking that the regular city election in April and the school election in July be combined and held in the spring. The common council passed upon this once before subject, of course, to the legality of such a move and City Attorney Clarence Lokker and Alderman Fritz Jonkman spent a whole day in Lansing conferring with the attorney general as well as with the superintendent of public instruction.

Mr. Lokker, in reporting after the second petition had been read, said that it was impossible, according to the city charter and state law, to make such a move without a special act of the legislature, and that Holland itself some years ago, through special legislation, finds itself in this position. In 1893 Holland did not choose to make the change at a time when it was optional. Since that time there has been other legislation passed divorcing school elections from city elections and it is doubtful whether the legislature would entertain any legislation that is just the reverse. The intent of the new law was to keep school elections out of politics as much as possible. So it appears that school elections will be held separately as in the past.

Sears McLean, president of the Property Owners' League, was present and thanked the mayor and common council for their activity in the matter and thanked City Attorney Lokker and Alderman Jonkman for their painstaking investigation at Lansing. He let it be known, however, that the fight was not over and that the next move would be to take it up with Lansing and have the law changed accordingly if such a thing could be brought about.

real peace celebration in this city. Some hundreds of old grease barrels from the plant were stacked up a dozen feet on River Ave. and 15th St., and what a fire those old saturated barrels did make. That was a real worth while contribution John made. The fire and the celebration was held where the Junior High School is now built.

The Holland Furniture Co. employees were headed in the parade by the Holland Martial band.

An old lady by the name of Mrs. Van Dyke, who is eighty years old, stood cheering the paraders from 7 o'clock in the morning until noon. Her noise makers were two large kettle covers which she used as cymbals.

John Van Tatenhove and Bert Slaght touched off the Armistice day fire works at dusk, hurriedly gathered from Muskegon.

NO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET NOT TO BE HELD FRIDAY AS PLANNED

William M. Connelly, industrial director of the Chamber of Commerce, who had planned a get-together meeting at Warm Friend Tavern of the members of the Chamber of Commerce, states that so many meetings and events have come up that the board of directors felt that the spread should be postponed. A more auspicious date will be chosen later.

The event was set for Friday.

RAISES 19 TONS SUGAR BEETS PER ACRE

Fred Kieft, Grand Haven farmer, is believed to be the champion sugar beet grower of southwestern Michigan—perhaps of the entire state. His 1933 crop yielded 19 tons of beets per acre. His production was processed and refined at the sugar factory in Holland.

Kieft will compete for state honors in the sugar beet growers contest at Michigan State college during Farmers' Week, January 29 to February 2.

YULETIDE SOCIAL EVENT AT CENTRAL PARK

One of the outstanding social events in the resort district New Year's Day was the marriage of Miss Geneva Heneveld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Heneveld of Virginia Park, and Rev. Morris Marcus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tien Marcus of Holland. The marriage took place at Central Park Reformed church, the edifice being appropriately decorated with palms and ferns, massively banded and set off with clusters of chrysanthemums and "love flowers" with tapers, figuring largely in these yuletide embellishments. It was a delightful picture in which the season of the year was plainly blended.

A lovely blending of red ribbons and poinsettias, with the evergreen branches marking the pathway of the bridal party to the altar made the whole a scene not soon to be forgotten. The sweet strains of Lohengrin's wedding march from the organ loft added greatly to the impressive picture.

Rev. Fred J. Van Dyk, pastor of the church, read the beautiful service when the bridal party had arrived, the bride being given away by her father.

Preceding the marriage ceremony a vocal solo was rendered by Miss Augusta Heneveld, sister of the bride. Victor Herbert's "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," was the number selected.

The pipe organ rendition of "Oh Promise Me," by De Koven, with Miss Sarah Lacey of Ann Arbor and Holland at the console, was a rare offering. Miss Lacey is a student at the University School of Music and is a talented artist. A further rendition of "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, de-lightfully given by Miss Heneveld, comprised the preceremony program.

The bridal party was led by Miss Gwendolyn Marcus, aged 5, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Marcus, who acted as flower girl. The little tot was daintily dressed in pink orandy. Miss Marcus was accompanied by the ringbearer, Master Eugene Marcus, 5-year-old brother of the bridegroom.

The bride looked charming in a gown of ivory satin, trimmed with French lace. She wore a long tulle veil caught up with a wreath of dainty mother of pearl call lilies, which put a finish to the bride's wedding outfit. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and swansons.

The bridesmaid was Miss Jean Heneveld, sister of the bride, who was pleasingly arrayed in blue chiffon, and carried a dainty bouquet of pink sweet peas. The groom was attended by Bernard Arendshorst.

As the marriage vows were spoken Miss Lacey softly played Wagner's "Elizabeth's Prayer."

The bride's mother was dressed in a semiformal black crepe gown with silver trimmings and an eel grey hat. The bridegroom's mother wore blue and white figured chiffon with hat in harmonizing shade.

Edward Heneveld, the bride's brother, assisted by Harris Nieuwma, Robert Spencer and Ivan Munson, served as ushers.

After the ceremony the immediate relatives and friends were served with a buffet supper at the home of the bride's parents.

The happy couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home to their many friends at Readington, New Jersey, where Reverend Marcus will be pastor of the Reformed church. He will also continue his studies at Princeton seminary.

Mrs. Marcus is a graduate of Holland high school and the Hackley hospital at Muskegon. She has been a nurse at Holland hospital for several years. Rev. Marcus is a graduate of Holland high school, Hope college and New Brunswick seminary. He also attended Princeton seminary for a semester on a scholarship.

Guests from out of town included Miss Fredricka Nieuwma of Ann Arbor, Robert Spencer of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Diepenhorst of Grand Rapids and Arthur Mervenne of Grand Rapids; Mr. Matthew Peelen of Detroit; Dr. and Mrs. John Heneveld of Muskegon; Mr. and Mrs. William Buitendorp of Muskegon.

A regular business meeting of the Eagle auxiliary will be held this Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Hotel Ferry at Grand Haven is starting the new year with many novel and interesting parties the first to be held next Wednesday evening when a genuine German night is to be presented, and there are to be German dishes, German refreshments, German music and German entertainment with German entertainers. Herb Van Duren's orchestra, as usual, will also be featured.

Use Black Lake For Skating And Winter Sports

NO ICE SKATING POND OTHER THAN ON LAKE

The ponds for ice skating were turned down by the common council because these were costly and hard to maintain. It was suggested that one pond be made near Van Raalte avenue and the other near Washington boulevard and the third on the Nineteenth street base ball diamonds.

Some of the aldermen were enthusiastic about this thing but when the cost was figured they sort of cooled off about this proposition. Holland's sandy soil is not conducive to hold water long enough for a skating pond to freeze. This was fully explained by City Engineer Zuidema. Even a plot of ground with a clay bottom in the past failed to bring results.

One alderman suggested that $300 would do the trick and most of it would go to labor. The mayor objected to such an expenditure, especially when it was brought out that past experiences showed that a pond would last for a few days and then a thaw would spoil it all.

Alderman Van Lente of the Sixth ward was very much in favor of a skating pond for children, because of the dangers that lake ponds bring.

Alderman Kleis asked if Nineteenth street baseball grounds would not be suitable because it had a clay bottom but City Engineer Zuidema discouraged an attempt there since one had already been made in previous years.

Then an alderman suggested that the city maintain ice skating ponds on Black Lake, but Alderman Kleis pointed out that in that case the city would be liable for any accidents occurring there. The rest of the aldermen realized this and the good old schoolmaster of the Fifth ward, Mr. Huyser brought a wise and sensible solution, stating that it is better for skaters to wait until providence provides suitable and strong ice on Black Lake.

This was also the opinion of Alderman Van Zoeren and finally a vote was taken to drop the matter, which was carried.

The talk of skating ponds has always been "a laugh" with your editor. Right at our door we have the very best skating opportunities on Black Lake. Plenty of ice spots can be found when the ice is strong enough, so there is absolutely no danger. In the earlier days thousands skated at the head of Black lake for it was the only winter recreation Holland had. Our boys plowed and swept their own ponds with the help of the Cappon-Bertsch Leather Co. snowplow. The snow was heaped in the center and the boys again provided box wood and barrels for a bonfire on the snow heap which lighted the pond at night. One thousand skaters on the pond Saturday afternoon and night was but a small crowd and never was there a serious accident nor a drowning where these ponds were located.

It was a kid's pleasure to make the ponds and provide light for the night. The aldermen did not enter into the picture. With a little guidance and the help of our fine Boy Scout troops Black Lake could be made a wonderful place for winter sports if there is ice. If there is no ice then skating ponds cannot be created anywhere. Black Lake is our "best bet."

TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING ON BUILDING FOR HOL- LAND POLICE DEPT.

Tonight Mayor Bosch called a special meeting to take up the matter of turning engine house No. 1 into a combination engine house, police department on the second floor and a place to put the police motorcycles, automobiles and arsenal under cover.

APPROVES PLANS

As the News goes to press the common council approved the plan as presented by Mr. Henry Geerds of the board of police and fire commissioners, fully stated in this article.

Police Commissioner Henry A. Geerds presented a very fine plan whereby the cell blocks could be put on the second floor and still the station could not only give adequate fire protection as in the past but the police department could be on a par with the fire department because of its better equipment and housing of that equipment.

One outstanding fact was brought out, namely that the motorized part of the department now is cold since there is no proper place for motorcycles and automobiles in a warm building and should in an emergency arise, he had it figured out that 14 minutes would be lost in getting prepared in starting and in case of banditry, 14 minutes means a lot. Today it would mean almost certain failure.

He pointed out that the motorcycle equipment travels 70,000 miles a year in the city police work and the efficiency of such a department is very essential. The expense of the change would be a CWA project at an estimated cost of $5,000, with estimated $8,000 for labor. The matter was referred to the building committee and the police board for report at a special meeting of the council this Thursday night.

This move was brought about after it was decided to build another fire station on the triangle on State street in the Fifth ward. At present, headquarters are in the city hall, with the jail in engine house No. 1. No room is provided in the present location for an arsenal and the police cars are housed in an unheated building. Of course, this project would be done through the CWA.

Present Appearance of the Famous Allegan Power Dam

ALLEGAN DAM PROJECT WINS OUT—999 VOTE YES

The result of the vote at Allegan on the noted municipal dam proposal shows the voters almost unanimously in favor of the project, 999 taxpaying voters voting yes, and 127 voting no. Only taxpayers were allowed to vote. The polls closed at 5 o'clock and half hour later the Holland City News had the result.

The above is a picture of that famous Allegan dam, not over 15 miles from Holland, above Manlius on the Kalamazoo river. Our neighbor, Allegan, has been in this mess for the last four years, endeavoring to establish a municipal light plant using as power the water power from the Kalamazoo river. Thus far the city has invested over a third of a million dollars in the project with the project partially completed, but suits and counter-suits and injunctions and offers to buy were among the difficulties confronting the town.

Clare Hoffman, the fighting attorney of Allegan, has been putting up a battle against the Consumers' Power company, the public service enterprise having dams in several places on the Kalamazoo river and is furnishing Allegan and its environs with power and light.

Election after election have been held and repeatedly the citizens voted for a bond issue carrying with it a municipal dam, which meant a municipal light and power plant, furnishing public and private light.

The paramount idea of business men was that Allegan could, with a municipal plant, furnish power to new industries so cheap that it would be an inducement for industry to locate in Allegan.

Holland's municipal plant, which has no water power, has paid nearly three-quarters of a million dollars of Holland's debts over a period of time, including the building of a new hospital, and this fact was pointed out repeatedly by Allegan municipal ownership exponents.

There have been public meetings galore but Tuesday evening there was a tremendous meeting and Attorney Arthur Van Duren of Holland, who had been on the local board of public works for the number of years, was the keynote speaker before the meeting in behalf of municipal ownership and had facts and figures of what Holland had accomplished.

Holland's profit through the local plant is self-evident, but Holland has always kept politics out of the deal and no-one would want to or would dare change that situation.

Charles Miner of Grand Haven was also present and told of their municipal light plant.

On election day the Consumers'

The Relief of Bank Depositors

The readers of newspapers who assimilate the facts on specific subjects, cannot fail to be impressed with the relief that is finally coming to the bank depositors of the state. This is evidenced by the reorganizations, reopenings and payoffs, the news of which is now becoming part of the information diet of the state. In most Michigan cities the banking machinery is once more in operation, an important factor even though credit facilities be still limited. With the large substitutions of Federal credit for the asset credit of closed banks it is fair to say that Michigan has as much capital available for business today as it had ten years ago. Upon that capital the state built. Upon its equivalent it can build again.

NRA AMENDMENT

(Grand Rapids Press)

It would be a miracle if the national recovery act, hastily evolved and quickly organized, were now found to be perfect in every respect. And such is not the case, as President Roosevelt appears to recognize. He seems to favor certain alterations which are necessary if the program is not to break down. Congress will be expected to make these amendments.
Especially important is the protection of the small business or industry from powerful competition that threatens to drive it to the wall. One of the biggest flaws in the NRA plan has been its insistence that all units of a given industry must operate under identical standards. Obviously the larger plants with greater manpower and greater latitude would have the advantage.
Many restrictions which work no real hardship to the large plant or the large business impose intolerable burdens to the smaller unit.
In setting up standards the size of plant should come under consideration as well as the classification of industry.

Danger of failure for the NRA,
the administration doubtless realizes, lies more in its threat of inflexibility than in the possibility that it may be changed.

CHRISTIAN HIGH ALUMNI
HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Former Teacher—Now Iowa State
Senator Is Guest.

The gymnasium of the local Christian high school was the scene Friday evening of the annual banquet of the Holland Christian high school alumni, when 125 of the local graduates sat down to a table filled with good things to eat and tastily decorated with seasonal decorations.
Henry Dobbin, who was toastmaster of the evening, called on Richard Streuter, and Bastian Bonder of the alumni, and Supt. Gar-ret Heyns for toasts.
Senator Garrett E. Roelofs of Iowa, who was the guest of friends in Holland last Friday, was also present at the banquet and gave a few appropriate remarks. Senator Roelofs, who is one of the leading men in the Iowa state senate, taught in the local Christian high school some ten years ago and expressed his pleasure at having the opportunity to meet his former pupils. Mr. Roelofs is a graduate of Calvin college.
The program also included a violin solo by Gerald Appledorn,
who was accompanied by the Christian alumni quartet, and a humorous one-act play presented by Mr.
and Mrs. Sydney Stuk and Miss Margaret Gerritsen. Another interesting feature was the showing of several films from the Michigan department of conservation.
At the business session following the program the election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Gerald Klaassen, president; Miss Janet Staal, vice president; Miss Ida Sturing, treasurer. Mr. Marvin Tinnhof is permanent secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Herman Harms of Chicago is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert P.

no definite statement, it is hinted
he will be available for another term. No perceptible change in the Use Welfare Labor

to Swat Mosquitoes

Michigan citizens tired of being bait for mosquitoes should interest themselves in the possibility of destroying these pests and at the same time employing persons who are on welfare lists, according to the entomology department at Michigan State College.

This type of work qualifies as one of the kind of employments
for which federal funds can be obtained. Some eastern states have already employed people from their welfare lists on this kind of work.

Ninety per cent of the money spent goes for labor and most of the remainder is spent for supervisors recruited from the welfare lists. Tools owned by the city or county for road work are suitable for the tasks done to rid towns of mosquitoes.

All mosquitoes must have water in which to raise their larvae to the adult stage. This water is usually pools or puddles which can be easily drained. Brushy places that provide lurking places for the adult mosquitoes are cleared. Home owners themselves can assist the campaign by eliminating breeding places in cisterns, bird baths, eave troughs, and other similar water holding receptacles.

While farmers are learning to look upon harmless varieties of snakes favorably because of their economic value as destroyers of rodents, and countless numbers of reptiles from various parts of the world are being slaughtered to furnish leather for many purposes, French scientists are attempting to prove that snakes may be made to serve mankind in quite another way; they believe that snake venom
may prove useful in the treatment of cancer.

Impressed by the results of experiments along this line that have been carried on at the Pasteur Institute of Paris, Dr. Robert Hem-ardinger, of the institute's staff, is now seeking to obtain a kilogram of snake venom for further work along this line.

Toward this end Dr. Hemardin-ger has established a snake farm at Haffkine Institute and he is asking for 5,000 snakes, chiefly cobras,
with which to stock it.

The ostrich is said to be the swiftest of all land animals. It is credited with being able to cover 25 feet or more at a stride and attaining a speed of as much as 60 miles an hour.

HIP! HOORAH HEPBURN!
IN "LITTLE WOMEN"

Right on the heels of her triumph in "Morning Glory" comes Katherine Hepburn, the hip! hip!
hoorah! star of RKO-Radio Pictures, for they're giving three cheers for Katharine all along the cheer section of motion pictures, in a role as made to order for her as Jo in "Little Women" was made to order for the author, Louisa M.
Alcott, and Jo was taken from Alcott's own life.

Jo, as millions of readers have known her down the years since 1868, when the volume was first published, is tall, thin and brown, restless, romping, ambitious, generous, lovable. She is a topsy-turvy tomboy who finally grows up to find a crowning romance.

Young America, and old America, too, will delight, it is said, in the remarkable performance Katharine gives as the girl who revels
in affection but shies at marriage.

The RKO-Radio star can quickly shift her histrionic gears from laughs to tears and back again.
And she looks the part of Jo as well as being able to act it with the understanding that has made the young fiction heroine beloved among all nations and classes.

Others of the "four horsemen of fame among the fiction fans," the little women of the book, are Joan Bennett as Amy, Frances Dee as Meg and Jean Parker as Beth, Paul Lukas, Douglas Montgomery and John Davis Lodge are the romantic wooers of the story. Edna May Oliver plays the stormy Aunt March. Henry Stephenson is Mr.
Laurence, Spring Byington is Mar-
moe, Samuel Hinds is Mr. March, Mabel Colcord is Hannah and Nydia Westman is Mamie.

George Zukor is the successful director of the screen play "Little Women."

It is scheduled to appear at the Holland theater four days starting Monday, January 8.

Predicts Game
License Jump

With small game license sold during October of this year running up to 125,000, George R. Hogarth, director of the Department of Conservation, estimates that the total sale of small game licenses for the fall, 1933 season, will reach approximately 300,000, although all license sales of the season have not yet been reported to the Lansing office of the Department. Director Hogarth bases this estimate on the fact that 80,000 licenses were reported sold during October last year when the total sale for the year was 225,000.

The drop in the small game residence fee from $1.75 to $1.00 is one reason advanced by Director Hogarth for the large increase in the number of hunters, although he further points out that the season has been extremely favorable for hunting. Ring-neck pheasant and rabbit hunters have met with especially good luck.

When all reports are in it is expected that the sale of deer hunting licenses will also reflect the lower license fees charged this year
in an increased number of sales.

U. P. Deer Kill
is 1,184 Less

Inopportune weather reduced the deer kill in the Upper Peninsula during 1933 to a point comparable to 1931, according to figures finally compiled by the Conservation Department, which show that 4,995 deer were brought across the Straits this year, compared with 6,139 last year and 5,169 in 1931.

Deep snows during the first week of the season, which prevented hunters from reaching their camps or hindered the hunting, together with the fact that seven additional counties were open to deer hunting in the Lower Peninsula are blamed for the lesser kill above the Straits.

While no definite figures are available for the Lower Peninsula, it is believed that the kill below the Straits was comparable to last year.

The 1933 deer season justified
the opening of seven additional counties to deer counties, the Department believes. Many residents of these counties had feared out the open season would wipe out the deer population, but game did not prove to be the case. Kills in these counties were much larger than anticipated.

Irrigation and a 10-acre plot
mean a livelihood for O. W. Taylor in Burwell Neb.

In the midst of a territory whose crops often have been ruined or damaged by drought, Taylor gets along on a small acreage with a pump irrigation system and lots of variety in his produce.

He raises his own tobacco, about $100 worth a year. Five rows of peanuts produced a heavy crop.

About a third of an acre of potatoes yielded 150 bushels. A small tract of butter beans produced
three bushels.

Half the ground is used for raising corn and other roughage with which Taylor feeds two cows and 35 pigs a year, thus having his own pork and dairy products and some left over to sell.

He also has a flock of 300 white leghorns, hens, some ducks and geese. His flock of pigeons has increased to nearly 100 and his bees yield 500 or more of honey annually.

Deadline for Purchase of Auto Plates is Extended to March 1

Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, today extended the deadline for the purchase of 1934 automobile license plates to March 1.
In granting the extension, Fitzgerald said "it is obvious many thousand owners will be unable to purchase their 1934 plates on or before January 1."

A statement by his office shows that on December 1, 57,454 fewer motor vehicles were registered than on the same date last year for a total reduction in revenue to the state of $1,142,486.

"In the past four years registrations have decreased at an alarming rate with the result of loss in revenue of $4,672,893," Fitzgerald said. "This is in addition to a comparable loss in gasoline tax receipts. It would be good business for the state to place the price of licenses within the reach of the pocketbooks of the people. Motor vehicle owners are entitled to consideration. They have received none during this economic depression."

"I know of cases where truck owners are prevented from working under the national CWA because they cannot afford to buy license plates."

POLICE RECOVER LOADED TRAILER OF STOLEN BEANS

Zeeland police officers recovered 15,000 pounds of beans Wednesday morning when they brought in a large truck trailer that had been abandoned about a week ago.

Last week a couple of men, driving a large six-wheel truck, stopped at Bohl's garage three miles east of Zeeland on M-21, claiming to have some trouble with the trailer running behind, and requested Mr. Bohl to overhaul the part giving them trouble. They meanwhile disconnected the tractor section of the truck and left on a pretense of doing some other business while the repairs were in progress.

The desertion was discovered when Chief of Police Fred Bosma investigated the trailer remaining there an unreasonable length of time.

The trailer was a covered and closed affair and was marked for carrying a 400-pound load. Instead it carried nearly 15,000 pounds. It carried a stolen license plate No. 26-157, that originally belonged to a party in Flint, Michigan.

The trailer was brought to Zeeland in possession of the police department and is awaiting further information. All available information was relayed to state police headquarters to determine the ownership of the trailer and its load.

It was thought that the drivers of the truck had stolen their load and were fearful of being apprehended at the time they deserted their unwieldy load and made off with it, but no information is available that the right owner did not leave the load for other reasons, only the fraudulent license plate looks suspicious; neither has any report been received of the beans being missed.

Local Attorney S. O. S. Speaker At Exchange Club

EXPLAINS RELATION OF DICTATORIAL POWERS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AS THIS RELATES TO THE CONSTITUTION.

At the Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of the Holland Exchange club, Attorney Vernon D. Ten Cate talked on the recent delegation of powers to the president of the United States.

Senator Gordon F. Van Eenennaam was scheduled to make the speech at the meeting, but due to the pressure of matters at the opening of the state legislature, was not able to be present.

Attorney Ten Cate discussed the delegation of powers to the president of the United States under laws passed by the special session of the national congress in 1933, pointing out that the National Industrial Recovery Act, the powers given under the agricultural adjustment act, and other powers by recent legislation conferring upon the president of the United States heretofore unknown powers in the management of details of national legislation and regulation is without precedent in the history of the country.

The speaker reviewed the historical development of this country, showing the formation of a strong federal government after the failure of the federation of states. He stated that one of the fundamental principles of the American democracy has been the separation of the powers of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the federal government, stating that in the recent legislation, in certain fields the president has virtually dictatorial powers.

The speaker stated that the constitutional basis of this legislation must presently come to the attention of the United States supreme court, and that that court will have two main considerations in dealing with the problem; first, whether there is any power in congress to pass such legislation as the national industrial recovery act; and secondly, has congress the power to delegate the details of that legislation to the executive department of government.

It was stated that based upon the fundamental ideas upon which the American democracy had been founded, calling attention to such cases as the child labor cases, that federal authority in the fields of labor and other industrial fields have been closely restricted to the powers which are delegated to the federal government, and that only by a broad stretching of the power of the national government could the recent act be held constitutional.

Attorney Ten Cate said there was no question that at the time the vigorous leadership of President Roosevelt was a definite need of the country, and that all party lines should be abandoned in an effort to make the way clear for Roosevelt to make his reforms.

The speaker concluded with a reference to the statement made by Socrates that when the feelings of the people conflict with the constitution, that the constitution must give way; that the problem before the American people today is whether they desire to maintain the fundamental ideas of the republic, or whether in the formation of an industrial democracy under the NIRA some of those ideas must give way and an abandonment of a rigid separation of the powers of the departments of government take its place.

The speaker further said that it will not be for the supreme court to determine whether they agree or not with President Roosevelt's recovery program, but the question will be "Does the constitution of the United States permit the using of powers that are in use under the NIRA, and can there be a delegation of that power to the chief executive?"

MERCHANTS WANT CITY TO MAINTAIN COST OF CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

A communication which was left for the ways and means committee to work out sent in by the Merchants' association, is self-explanatory and follows:

January 2, 1934.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Holland.

Gentlemen:

During the past few years the merchants along Eighth street and River avenue have been faithfully paying for light and maintenance of the Christmas decorations that have been an outstanding advertisement to the City of Holland as a whole. The equipment belongs to the merchants of Holland and has been practically paid for to the city.

Because of the stressful period, it has been difficult to secure an equal share from all merchants. This year has been exceptionally difficult. We would like to prevail upon your honorable body and upon the board of public works of this city, asking that the city continue this Christmas feature in the future, installing and maintaining these Christmas lights. The merchants in turn will give to the city all the equipment used in the past which has been practically paid for by the merchants as a body.

The display is something that benefits the entire city as an advertisement to the guests in our city during the holiday season, and is also a pleasing feature to the home folks. The Holland merchants are the target throughout the year for all manner of donations and contributions and we feel and hope that your honorable body can see the justice in the installation and maintenance of these Christmas decorations in the future.

Thanking you for all past considerations, we remain,

Mutually,

HOLLAND MERCHANTS' ASSN.

CHARLES VAN ZYLEN,

President.

THAD TAFT,

Secretary.

Dock Proposition Also Comes Up at Special Meeting at the Common Council

At a special meeting of the common council called Thursday evening by Mayor Bosch a great many interesting matters of importance came up in which engine houses and dock projects came up and the matter of how much an attorney should charge for some of his services was also question in debate. All this is explained in the official council proceedings compiled by City Clerk Oscar Peterson and follows:

(Official)

Holland, Mich., Dec. 28, 1933. The Common Council met in special session pursuant to call by the Committee on Public Buildings and Property.

Present: Mayor Bosch, Alds. Prins, Drinkwater, Van Zoeren, De Cook, Habing, Steffens, Jonkman, Huyser, Van Lente, Thomson and the Clerk.

The Mayor called upon Ald. Habing, Chairman of the Building Committee, to state the reason for calling this special meeting. Ald. Habing reported that their committee had met with the committee from the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners relative to the erection of a new engine house as a CWA project. Mr. Habing further reported that they were presenting for the consideration of the Council a tentative set of plans, drawn up by Harvey J. Weemhoff who has a local office and is represented by Mr. Elzinga; said plans call for the erection of a building that would cost approximately $18,238.00. If the CWA is to pay 25% of the material cost on such a building, it would mean that the city would have to contribute approximately $2,700.00. Ald. Habing then recommended to the Council that such a building be constructed in accordance with the plans outlined.

It was moved by Ald. Habing, seconded by Drinkwater, that the report of the committee be accepted and the committee instructed to present the project to the County Commission for approval as a CWA project.

Mayor Bosch objected to erecting a building that would cost the above amount since he felt that it would be much better to build a more substantial and expensive

JUDGE TREBLES VERDICT
AGAINST POWER COMPANY

A judgment was entered by Judge Fred T. Miles in circuit court at Grand Haven in favor of Henry and Evelyn Depree, et al, in the amount of $9,000 against the Consumers' Power Co.

The case was heard some time ago, the plaintiffs suing for trespass and damage to a wooded resort section owned by Mr. DePree and others on Lake Michigan, made when the Consumers' Power Co. attempted to run a power line over the property. NEW FIRM OFFERS AMERICAN CLASSIC MODERN AND LOUIS XVI DESIGNS

(Grand Rapids Herald)

The recently organized Charles R. Sligh company, which is operating in the plant formerly occupied by the Thompson Manufacturing company, at Holland, Michigan, is making its initial showing with eight bedroom suites on the fifth floor of the Waters-Klingman building.

The new line stresses the early American, Louis XVI and modern classic designs.

Charles R. Sligh, Jr., son of the late head of the Sligh Furniture company, controls and manages the new firm, which is in full operation and ready to fill orders.

"Our firm," said Mr. Sligh, "was incorporated on October 31 of this year and we immediately brought out a sample desk which met with instant approval of all buyers who saw it. We sold several hundred of these desks within a few weeks after the founding of our company and it proved a very good thing for us in that it enabled us to run our plant while getting samples ready for the January market."

"We have now added another desk to our line as a companion piece and we feel that this also will prove a fast seller on the dealers' floor."

"During the past eight weeks we have been rushed naturally in getting out our orders, but now we have in our line three bedroom suites—a maple, early American style, a Louis XVI and a modern suite with a slight feeling of the classic. These patterns we are making in several finishes so that on our floor will be displayed eight separate suites."

"We are at present shipping our first order, which we got a few days after our organizing and which consists of 85 of our maple suites. We have orders from some of the largest stores in the United States and feel that this is a good sign in that these buyers are more discriminating in their purchases than some of the smaller stores that are unable to get to the various markets during the year."

Rubber Factory
Rumor Is False

(Allegan News)

Rumors that a rubber factory will take over the old home of the Baker Furniture plant in this city are unfounded. The News learned today and although the report has gained considerable spread about the city there are no confirming announcements.

A committee of citizens is at the present time planning on securing a plant to take over the abandoned home of the Baker company and communications between local city officials and officials of Holland are being passed with a view of making an arrangement whereby the city of Allegan will come into possession of the factory, thus giving it more authority in seeking new business for the city.

However, no action of any kind has been taken by the city and it is probable that none will be considered unless it is definitely determined that a fair sized factory can be obtained for Allegan.

Plane Accident
More Thrilling
Than Reported

FOUND DUE WEST OF PORT
SHELDON BY THE COAST GUARD CUTTER ESCA-
NABA

Men Tell of Hardships Experienced While Afloat for Eight Hours in Mid-Lake

It seems, according to the Grand Haven Tribune, that the recent "let-down" in "mid-lake" of one of the large amphibian airplanes of the Kohler company often seen flying over Holland from Milwaukee to Grand Rapids, was quite an accident even though no lives were lost. There is more of interest than has been reported generally. It was only a thrilling experience but a rescue just as interesting.

Word was received at Holland and Grand Haven about 6:00 p. m. Thursday and also by the commander of the cutter Escanaba, the dispatch coming from Grand Rapids, saying the plane in question was overdue about a half hour. Communication was also established with the coast guard stations along the lake, and Abram Wassel, in charge of the 10th district, ordered out the Holland, Grand Haven and Muskegon crews. The Holland boat was unable to get out on account of ice.

The Escanaba got under way in about an hour. She escorted the coast guard crew there, though about one mile off shore, and Commander Perkins and William Preston, in charge of the Grand Haven crew, arranged on a course which they believed the airplane might lie in. Preston went south as far as Port Sheldon and covered the course south. They got out about 45 miles.

The Escanaba at 13 1/2 miles per hour steamed out west from Port Sheldon playing the big flash light continually. About 11:05 p. m. flares were noticed and in an hour more they had reached the plane in mid-lake.

The pilots of the plane said they had heard over their radio that coast guards were being sent out and they were on the watch for some kind of light. They spotted the Escanaba and threw up a flare fearing to waste any until certain a ship was near.

As the Escanaba neared, a lifeboat was lowered in command of Lieut. Roland and got alongside of the ship. The men were still and cold, and one was very weak. They were quickly brought aboard the cutter, and an attempt was made to salvage the plane. The sea was choppy and the weather was "dirty," said the commander, so it seemed advisable to get back. The cutter got in about 5:30 a. m.

The coast guard crew in the lifeboat, with little protection, cruised about until about 2:30 a. m. As they had seen no flares, Capt. Preston concluded the ship had been sighted and probably towed in from the west shore.

The pilot said they left Milwaukee at 4:32 p. m. and went out about 35 miles. The engine suddenly stopped and they were forced to land in Lake Michigan. Repair of the engine was impossible but the two were constantly busy working the pumps to keep as dry as possible.

"When the wing pontoon was washed away," said Craycraft, "and the ship listed badly I was frightened. In fact that was the worst experience of the entire time."

Both fliers said it was the worst experience that either one had had. Gossett has had 7 years' experience and has been flying for the Kohler company for two years. Craycraft has had 10 years of flying experience, three of which have been with the Kohler company. He has made 1,300 trips across lake. Gossett was forced down before on a June day and was of shore.

Commander Perkins said that while there was plenty of time to rescue the men, in another 10 hours the plane would probably have cracked up and the men would have been lost through cold exposure or drowned.

Mr. Kohler was loud in his praise of the work of the cutter and speed with which she got away and to the scene. He realized the impracticability of salvaging the plane. It is valued at $30,000 but is covered by insurance. There are now three planes at Kohler service and another one is being repaired as possible.

This is the third forced landing in Lake Michigan during the past years service in which planes have been down 1,100,000 miles and the men making between 6,000 and 7,000 lake crossings. There have been a fatality.

The pilots had a few hours of them and so were not too tired when they boarded the cutter. Warm coffee and dry clothing revived their spirits and they declared with a day's rest they would go into the air again.

The Kohler officials notified the coast guard stations after the plane was 15 minutes overdue in Grand Rapids. A plane put out from Wisconsin side but there was no available from this side. Mr. Kohler spent the night at the Grand Haven coast guard station.

Commander Perkins sent a message to the Grand Haven station as soon as he sighted the plane and this was relayed to the Grand Haven station. Commander Perkins kept in station until he had rescued the men.

The two fliers were brought into port where H. D. Craycraft, pilot, and Ben Craycraft, pilot and mechanic.

THE GLUTTED HOME MARKET

HOG production in the United States has increased at about the same rate as our population, but the quantity of hog products available for home consumption has increased materially because of a severe decline in our exports since the World War. The American people recently have been eating around 14 percent more pork and lard than they did in the pre war period, and they are now eating a higher percent of the total production of hogs than 20 years ago. However, this excess of hog products in the home market has depressed hog prices. The recent increased consumption is a reflection of the comparatively low prices at which the pork had to move, rather than of any substantial pick-up in consumer requirements or preference for hog products. A more moderate hog production would eliminate the excess on the home market and would result in a higher price per hundredweight and a larger total return from the whole hog crop. This the corn-hog plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration seeks to bring about by adjusting production to present-day needs.

8-POUND BOY IS BORN

IN STALLED AUTOMOBILE

An eight-pound boy, born in an automobile, stalled in a snowdrift in New York City, was doing well today as was his mother.
His father—a New Rochelle rug merchant—was hurrying his wife to a hospital, but just before he got to the entrance his automobile bogged in a drift.
Frantically, the father leaped out, staggered through the snow, calling for help and shouting for a stretcher.
In the midst of his shouts his wife totted the car horn. And when doctors reached her she exhibited her husky son.

HER TWINS SMOTHER IN BED
(Chicago American)

A few days ago Blanche and Barbara Marshall—16-month-old twins—slept with their mother and father because it was too cold for them in their crib.
Today they were dead. Their mother awakened at 6 o'clock the morning and found the two little bodies cold and still. The babies had suffocated in the blankets.
A 4-year-old son also slept in the bed with his parents, they told the police. He was not even awakened by the tragedy.
Police believe the babies died in their sleep, as they would have cried and awakened their parents had they been conscious of any difficulty in breathing.
Mrs. Marshall said she awakened at 5 o'clock and found them sleeping comfortably. When she awakened an hour later they were dead.

WANTS FARMERS TOGETHER
"LIKE A BUNCH OF BANANAS"

Speaking at a conference of Michigan farm leaders here, James C. Farmer, of South Newbury, N. H., lecturer of the National Grange, advised farmers to "take tip from a bunch of bananas." "So long as bananas remain in bunch form," he said, "they are bound together and safe," said the Grange orator. "But let them be separated from the bunch, and then what happens? They're skinned."
"That's what happens to farmers," he said, "as they stick together they are safe. But separated from their organizations and they are in danger of being skinned. Strength is in union."

Mr. Farmer declared tillers of the soil are living in an age of organization; an age in which cooperative effort is being promoted to replace individual effort, an age in which each group is organizing for its own protection. "Farmers," he added, "are pitifully unorganized."
Labor, he explained is 70 per cent organized and adding 100,000 new members monthly. Industry was said to be 80 per cent organized, while agriculture is only 30 per cent organized.
The farm leader pointed out that only three in every 10 farmers are affiliated with some agricultural organization at present, and some of these rural groups are working none too harmoniously with the other champions of the farm cause. With co-operation now the spirit of the times and the watch word of the nation, Mr. Farmer said it behooves every producer to become identified with some rural organization.

The speaker praised President Roosevelt's "mass effort" to lift the nation out of the depression. He appealed to the tillers to forsake partisan viewpoints, explaining that this is "a poor time to be just a Democrat or a Republican, but a good time to be a forward-looking private citizen."

Oranges for $2 per bushel! Last week a big truck came to town and unloaded good Florida oranges for that price, which perhaps is the cheapest rate at which such fruit was sold in Allegan. This is about the same price which Allegan county peaches brought last year, but the Florida orange grower probably did not get half of the dollar for his fruit. He had to pay a lot of freight while the local peach-grower did not and so made a deal more money.—Allegan Gazette.

CITY WATER DEPARTMENT SHOWS PROFIT FOR 1933

(Grand Haven Tribune)

The city audit covering the water department, of which only a brief resume was given in the general audit story yesterday, while it shows the water department to be in the red $31,065.01 does not mean that the department has lost that amount of money during the past year. The balance on the wrong side of the ledger is explained by the fact that a note for $25,000, outstanding against the department which was borrowed two years ago for the improvement made to the water department.

At the time of the audit there was an overdraft of $6,065.01. Receipts from collections due in November totaling about $11,000, which did not appear in the audit later wiped out the overdraft and left a balance of $4,745.42.

VanZanden did spectacular midcourt shooting for the Hope team and also played an impressive defensive game.

Common Council

building since the difference in the cost to the city would only be a few hundred dollars more.

Mayor Bosch then called upon Mr. Ketel, member of the Police and Fire Board, and asked him to inform the Council why they had just considered one set of plans instead of also getting plans from Mr. Lakin.

Mr. Habing, as chairman of the committee, explained that when he met with the committee from the Police and Fire Board, there was only one set of plans presented and the committee felt that a building in accordance with plans as presented was ample to take care of the city's requirements.

Mr. Habing further explained that this cost was figured on a basis of 22c per cu. ft. while the plans previously presented to the Council by Mr. Lakin called for 40c per cu. ft. which he felt was entirely out of line from a builder's standpoint.

Mr. Habing further reported that the Police and Fire Board, together with their committee, had also planned on the remodeling of the No. 1 Engine House so that it could be converted into a Police Station. The estimated cost of this remodeling was $4,185.00, and he recommended that this amount be included as a CWA project. This would make a total amount of $22,480.00 for the combined projects of the new engine house and remodeling the present No. 1 Engine House.

Mayor Bosch then called upon Fire Chief Blom and asked him for his opinion in regard to abandoning the No. 1 Engine House. Mr. Blom stated that he was not in favor of doing this since he felt that the efficiency of the Fire Department would be lessened if they moved the equipment from the No. 1 Engine House to a new house on Central Ave. and 22nd St. Mr. Blom stated that in his opinion they should retain the three buildings and move one piece of apparatus to the new house and also maintain the other two.

Ald. Drinkwater also spoke in opposition to moving the No. 1 Engine House. Some of the aldermen felt that they should have an expression from the Police Board as to what their position is in this matter. Mr. Luidens stated that the Board had not decided as a Board what should be done in regard to whether three engine houses should be had or whether one should be abandoned. He further stated, however, that the matter had been discussed but no decision had been arrived at.

Ald. Van Zoeren felt that the question should be divided up and decided, 1st, whether two or three engine houses are necessary; 2nd, if a third one is built, where it should be located; and 3rd, if they are to build another, how much they should spend on it.

Architect Lakin being present, addressed the Council and explained to them how he had been called into the meeting of the Police Board and stated that he had given them an estimate of what a building, such as he proposed to build, would cost. This cost was based on a 40c per cu. ft. estimate which he felt was high; nevertheless, it was his opinion that no harm would be done in keeping the estimate sufficiently high so that they would be certain they could construct a good building on the amount requested. Ald. Van Zoeren felt that the matter should be held in abeyance until such time as the Police Board can make definite recommendations as to what they desire to do, viz., whether they want to operate two or three engine houses, and also the amount that they feel is necessary to build a suitable building. A substitute motion was therefore offered by Ald. Van Zoeren, seconded by Huyser, that action be deferred for later consideration.

No vote was taken on this motion, however, and the discussion continued. Ald. Van Lente felt the efficiency of the Fire Department would be increased by erecting a new engine house on Central Ave. and 22nd St., and moving the equipment from the No. 1 Station to this new location. He felt that by such a move the majority of the property in the city would be more adequately protected rather than to have two stations located as closely together as at present.

After some further discussion, a motion by Ald. Jonkman, seconded by Drinkwater, was offered that it is desirable to have three engine houses.

Carried.

Mayor Bosch stated that he was agreeable to accepting the report of the Building Committee that a new engine house be constructed providing they would increase the estimated amount from the old figure of approximately $18,000 to $25,000.

Ald. Habing stated that he felt satisfied that no harm would be done in putting in the estimate to the CWA for an engine house figured on a basis of $25,000, and if a proper building could be constructed for less, it would be done.

Accordingly, on motion of Ald. Habing, seconded by De Cook, it was moved that the plans for a new engine house be submitted as a CWA project, such engine house to be located on the triangular lot now owned by the city on Central Ave. and 22nd St., estimated cost of such building to be $25,000.

Carried, all voting ayes.

Mayor Bosch then asked for a report from the Dock Committee as to the progress they are making. Mayor stated he was informed that they had employed an attorney to obtain easements, etc., and wanted to know what arrangements had been made for the payment of attorneys fees for such services. The committee stated that no definite amount was set but they agreed to pay the regular fee for such services which, they were assured, would be nominal. Mayor Bosch, however, stated that this was not satisfactory to him and requested that the committee furnish the Council with more definite information as to what these fees are to be.

The Council then recessed for a few minutes while Mr. De Cook called up Mr. Chas. Van Duren, who had been employed. After recess Mr. DeCook reported that he was informed by Mr. Van Duren that the Council could set their own fee of $10.00 if they felt the services were worth that much, or $25.00, depending upon the amount of work necessary; however, the Council could be the judge after this work is completed, it being understood, however, that there are to be no fees whatever for such services providing the Dock project does not go through. If the project is abandoned there are to be no attorney fees whatever for securing these easements.

Accepted.

Mr. Zuidema, City Engineer, on behalf of the Street Committee, requested authority to submit plans for a CWA project for the construction of an addition to their present warehouse on 5th St., such addition to be 30x50 ft., estimated cost being $3,390, the material cost being less than 25% of the total cost which would permit the entire project to be paid from CWA funds and no cost to the city.

Approved.

Clerk reported that he had just received a check from the Chas. R. Sligh Co. in the amount of $468.48, payable to the Treasurer of Ottawa county. Said amount being in payment of all delinquent state and county taxes against the plant now occupied by the Chas. R. Sligh Co., and formerly the Thompson Mfg. Co.

It was further reported that the Industrial Commission had tentatively agreed to cancel the city and school taxes on this property, providing the Chas. R. Sligh Co. would pay all delinquent state and county taxes.

Clerk was instructed to cancel the delinquent city and school taxes against this property and exchange checks with the County Treasurer in order to clear the records.

Carried, all voting ayes.

Adjourned.

George Peterson, City Clerk. Roy Holland, Signer.
