Thinks Hunting Quail Will Help Produce Quail

INTERESTING ITEM ON "BOB WHITES" BY ALBERT STOLL,
JR., IN DETROIT PAPER

Holland hunters and even motorists have in recent years seen many quails in this vicinity, but it would appear that these are not as numerous as in former years. Your editor still remembers many of our local hunters of yester-year coming home with large brace of quail, among them "Bill" Thomas, Charlie and Henry Harmon, Dave Blom, Peter Duley, "Phil" Furgerson, Jack Hietje and a number of others we might mention.

However, for a number of years hunting quail has been forbidden by law and now there are hunters, it seems, who paradoxically believe if you kill them there will be more of them to hunt.

Albert Stoll, Jr., in the Detroit News of recent date gives an interesting article on that subject:

By ALBERT STOLL, JR.
Will the Bob White quail ever be re-established as a game bird in Michigan, so that licensed hunters may again take up its chase?

This question is asked frequently especially by old time quail hunters who still hold that the quail is the greatest of our upland game birds and that all year protection has injured rather than helped the bird.

Elliott Hughes, of Detroit, who hunted quail in Michigan during the good old days, says:

"Nature intended that the quail should be a game bird and if it was an open hunting season of 10 days, a limit of five birds in one day and 10 in possession at one time, quail would be more plentiful in Michigan today than they are. Hunters and guns have never been a factor in keeping our quail population down. In fact where quail hunting persists, quail have always been numerous and where hunting is banned the stock has always shown a decline.

CLOSE DOWN 20 YEARS AGO
A closed season was placed on quail about 20 years ago, principally through the efforts of the members of the Audubon Society and farmers. Their argument was that quail were destroyers of weeds, seeds and noxious insects, therefore benefiting the farmer. This is true, but we haven't as many quail in the state today as we had before hunting was stopped, so the farmer is not deriving as much benefit from these birds as he did formerly when 45 days of hunting was permissible.

"In my old hunting territory, near Detroit, where approximately 150 quail were shot every year, it is now impossible to find one-half this number. With the many years of closed season quail should have been so plentiful as to constitute a menace to some crops. In one year one pair of quail should produce 18 to 22 young the first hatch and eight to 12 the second brood. If only five pair of quail were raised to maturity each year and the old pairs died at the end of five years there would be 3,125 pair of quail produced over that period. But this doesn't happen for storm, frost, starvation and vermin are constantly taking their toll from the ranks of these birds that have lost much of their independence, wariness and self reliance through having been pampered.

SOME BLAME INBREEDING
On the other hand some claim that inbreeding is responsible for the decrease. However, this is yet to be proven. Last winter was one of the mildest winters we ever had, everything was favorable to ground feeding birds and the spring season brought ideal nesting conditions, yet we have no more quail this year than we did last and certainly not as many as 10 years ago.

"Undoubtedly the fact that there are more male quail than females has had something to do with reproduction. We have always believed that these birds are monogamous, and if this is true, the surplus males no doubt through fighting and nest destroying account for some of the scarcity.

"We know very little about the life habits of quail, yet I am positive that if one male and two females are placed in a natural enclosure there will be two broods of chicks hatched and reared. They are inclined to be just as polygamous as nature will allow them to be.

"If hunters are given a chance to hunt quail and break up the flocks, it is my belief that within five years we will have more quail than we ever dreamed possible."

MAY BE SOMETHING TO THIS WEATHER PROPHECY

Just now we have a winter blast but do you remember that on Dec. 21 the sun "passed the line" and do you remember, too, that the Holland City News told you that the wind was southwest by south and as warm as spring and that the weather prophet contends that this will be the prevailing wind for the next three months? Well, we had just 21 days of fine spring weather—the first lap on this prophecy. After this little snap lets up let's see where the wind shifts to. Now let's talk about the ground hog. He sticks his nose out Feb. 2.

OLD PIONEER DIES AT 75

Miss Jenny Werkman, pioneer in the millinery business under the name of Werkman sisters, who have retired from business a quarter of a century ago, died at the age of 75 years. She was a sister of the late Reinert Werkman, the man who founded the first furniture factory in Holland—the Ottawa.

The funeral will be held this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home at 36 West Eighteenth street—Rev. James M. Martin, pastor of Third Reformed church, where she had been a member all her life, officiating. Rev. Henry D. Terkurst of Trinity church will assist. Burial will be in Pilgrim home cemetery.

Miss Werkman is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Annie Stephan, Mrs. Anna Dogger and Miss Hattie Werkman.

Miss Gertrude Neimeyer of St. Paul, Minn., a niece of the deceased, and John W. Neimeyer of Shelbyville, Ind., a nephew, are here attending the funeral.

Sportsman Is Guest Speaker At Exchange

EX-PRESIDENTS ARE
EXCHANGE CLUB

The regular meeting of the Holland Exchange club on Wednesday, Jan. 11, was held in the evening at 6:30 o'clock as this was the thirteenth annual Ladies' Night. Each year the members of the club invite their wives or sweethearts to be the guests of the club, and the meeting proved to be a very happy one for all present. When the members and guests were seated, after the invocation was pronounced by Rev. J. O. Randall of the Methodist Episcopal church, 181 were present.

President Milton L. Hinga presided and welcomed the fair guests, and introduced as the guest musicians, the Misses Cornelia and Margaret Stryker of Grand Rapids, students at Hope college, who played two pleasing violin and piano duets. Both are artistic players and their music was greatly enjoyed.

The secretary, Albert E. Lampen, presented the annual roster of the club as of Jan. 11, 1933, showing a membership of 70. It has become an annual custom at this night to call the roll of the ex-presidents. Eight out of the 13 were present and responded to the call of their names. A few of these honored officers are no longer members, while Dr. J. E. Kuizenga is at Princeton, N. J. "Bud" Hinga is a fourth president of the Holland Exchange club, although this is the thirteenth year of its existence. This is because Dr. J. E. Kuizenga presided as president at only one meeting and then resigned to go to Princeton.

Exchangeite Leon Moody led in group singing and had the help of the ladies in making up for the deficiency of some of the men in singing the Exchange favorites. Clarence Jalving played the accompaniment. Exchangeite "Bud" Bosch and Henry Ketel of the commissary committee deserve credit for the excellent menu arranged for the dinner.

President Hinga had the responsibility of obtaining the guest speaker for the occasion and he certainly pleased all in the one address. This was Mr. Dismore (Dinny) Upton of Muskegon, who gave a helpful, inspiring address on "The Player in the Shadow." He said ours was the responsibility to serve our fellowmen fully and willingly without being so concerned about honor and acclaim for ourselves. He made a strong plea for parents to know and understand their children and to make such homes that our young boys and girls will grow up with that character that will carry them through. His address was interspersed with humor and stories, but also had splendid advice for all parents and leaders of young people.

Mr. Upton said that in America today one out of every thirty cannot speak English and one out of every twenty-three cannot read or write. These hard times, financially, make imperative more sympathy for one another and better citizenship. Our nation in the last fifteen years has advanced to world leadership and we must all do our utmost to keep her there with honor and unsullied and loved by other nations.

HOLLAND INFORMED ITS R. F. C. LOAN IS RATIFIED

City Clerk Oscar Peterson received notice that the Reconstruction Finance corporation has approved the application of Holland for funds for welfare activities. The amount available to the city was specified as $33,454, although the application was for $43,500. Mr. Peterson was uncertain whether the sum available has been reduced or whether there was an error in the notification received by the clerk.

The loan will be released by the corporation to the governor on the following schedule: One-fourth immediately, a fourth on Jan. 20, a fourth on Feb. 1, and a fourth on Feb. 15.

By Close Vote The Aldermen Decide On Welfare Head

ALDERMEN STAND 50-50 ON RETAINING WELFARE
DIRECTOR

Mr. Dregman Never Sought the Office, But Was Drafted Into Service

A joint meeting between the welfare committee and the citizens advisory committee and the common council resulted in settling a question that has caused more than ordinary agitation.

The members of the common council have fully approved that a system be installed, are satisfied with the questionnaire, but were not in full accord that Mr. C. J. Dregman be hired without their sanction at a salary of $50.00 a week.

It is doubtful whether many of the advisory committee knew how far their powers extended, and did the hiring of Mr. Dregman after former City Clerk William O. Van Eyck had first been asked, but found that he was unable to assume the burden. Undoubtedly Mr. Dregman was the most surprised man when he was asked. But the committee felt that his former connection with the Holland Business college enabled him to put in a system that was perfection, and while there is no criticism of what work has been done in the past with the facilities available, no one doubts that a system was urgently necessary.

Anyway, the joint meeting was largely to explain to the common council just what had been done, and to get their approval.

Objections were immediately heard that the $50.00 a week salary was way out of line, and the majority of the aldermen were not in favor of allowing a salary that large.

Alderman Jonkman then suggested that Mr. Dregman be appointed for three months at $25.00 a week. The aldermen felt that this sum was out of line the other way, and it was voted down.

At this juncture the proposition was submitted that some of our largest industrial tax payers offered to make up the difference between $35.00 and $50.00, the city paying the $35.00 per week and the manufacturers the $15.00 per week during Mr. Dregman's regime in office as welfare director.

This proposal was voted on, on a motion of Alderman Van Lente that $35.00 a week for three months be the amount set, resulting in a tie with the vote standing as follows: Yes: Wolman, Hyma, Van Zoeren, Habing, Yonkman and Van Lente. Nays: Kleis, Prins, Brieve, Steffens, Huyser, Veltman.

Mayor Bosch broke the tie by voting in favor of Mr. Dregman and a revised salary.

The action of the council on several of these proposals brought the resignation of Attorney Arthur Van Duren from the advisory committee, but he was desuaded from any such action at this time. Mr. Van Duren has been giving some able advice legally and otherwise and has given much of his time.

Alderman Kleis stated that the aldermen felt that the welfare department was under direct control of the common council, and that Henry S. Bosch was the regularly appointed official to that position. He stated that Mr. Bosch had a thorough knowledge of welfare after much experience and should remain the logical head of that department. Mr. Kleis was in thorough accord that a system should be installed and with added help this could have been done.

Several of the advisory committee stated that the matter had become so extended and too large to handle in the old way in spite of the honest effort of those first in charge. However while they could still be of great service in that department it was apparent that an organized system was necessary in such a large undertaking.

Mr. Dregman stated his position, viz: that he had not solicited the place, had not even had it in mind until asked by the committee, assuming all the time that they had full powers to act, so granted by the common council.

William C. Vandenberg, also a member of the committee, stated that every man on it had not thought of "going over somebody's head" when Mr. Dregman was appointed, but they were unanimous in that a new system should be installed, and that quickly, and that no better man could be thought of than one who had been the creator of systems in business colleges, and had installed many in private enterprise. No one doubts the ability of Mr. Dregman along these lines and those who wish to save the city money, and that means saving it for all of us, should be delighted that such a system is now available.

Mayor Bosch stated he would be glad to add more aldermen to the advisory committee if that seemed necessary, but that able members of the common council had met with the advisory committee and had approved Mr. Dregman's appointment.

On question of Alderman Van Lente, who asked C. Sophus Johnson, Grand Rapids welfare manager, whether Holland's welfare, now at $20.00 a month per family, could be systematically reduced without suffering to the welfare. Mr. Johnson answered that this amount could be reduced by at least 50 per cent.

City Attorney Clarence Lokker was the peacekeeper when heated discussions arose, stating that these were subjects that needed calm deliberation and that welfare was everybody's business who really had the welfare of the city at heart, but that just economy had to be practiced in handling this added unexpected burden that Holland had to face. He said that he felt that every man now serving in this capacity was doing so honestly and Recently the students of Hope college collected $50.28 to pay for oil painting of the college chapel, which had been done during vacation. The chapel now presents a much improved appearance. Note: This chapel was constructed of rough up and down boards with strips to cover the cracks where the boards came together. The interior was plain with lots of windows and a gallery extending over the back and sides. Carnegie Gym replaced this old building. All commencement exercises were held there.

Quite an unusual thing happened at the Knickerbocker theatre when a "Doc De Nyle" with trained dogs was advertised to show at the theatre during the week. The doctor turned out to be one of our own boys in the person of Peter Den Vyl of West 15th street. Peter had been away for several years and his dog "Spide," a marvel, and his master had done well in the west at the World's Fair at San Francisco. The dog has a "human brain" the owner states. Den Vyl has traveled much in the last dozen years especially because of vaudeville engagements.

VYN COMPANY TO TAKE OVER GOODRICH SCHEDULE

The Vyn company of Grand Haven will take over the schedule used by the Goodrich Transit company, it was revealed here today by K. Vyn, Holland, will thus be connected directly by boat with Chicago and Milwaukee. The associated terminal here will be used by the company in its runs between Holland and Grand Haven, where the S.S. Missouri operates to and from Chicago and Milwaukee.

conscientiously and deserved praise instead of censure.

Mr. Dregman reviewed his activities the past two weeks. He explained that various conferences had been held or would be held with groups supplying food, medical care, fuel, rents and the like to the city for the indigents in an effort to reduce costs. Negotiations are being made with the banks here with the hope of reducing interest rates on mortgages to enable owners of houses rented to the city to accept lower scales.

The meeting was opened with discussions of the relief program in Grand Rapids by three officials of that city—C. Sophus Johnson, city manager; Peter C. Johnson, business manager of the social service department; and Patrick H. Walsh, employment manager of the department.

These men gave a very clear picture of what Grand Rapids had to contend with, and the unjust criticism the managers there constantly have to face despite honest effort and constant vigilance.

"There are always many who attempt to put the welfare head in an unenviable light, no matter how honest and how fair he may conduct his work," said Mr. Johnson.

Value of investigations was stressed by Peter Johnson in his address. He said that at least five visitors, or home callers, in Holland, instead of the two to present, would save much more than their salaries.

The three Grand Rapids officials detailed the relief program in their city where changes, including elimination of scrip, are being made to effect further economies.

A main and branch commissaries, with purchases of groceries, meat, milk and bread made on a wholesale competitive basis, forms one division of the system there. Balanced food lists, similar to those to be used here, are mandatory.

Grand Rapids spent about $165,000 in December in welfare work, he said. Houses are rented from $4 to $5 a month and milk costs about four cents a quart in the welfare cases.

Capture Youth Held Entering 25 Cottages

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT
ROUNDS UP "16-YEAR-OLD"
AFTER LONG HUNT

Grand Haven Tribune—Following a hunt of several hours through the hills and among the cottages of Stickney Ridge, a 16-year-old boy was taken by the sheriff's officers about midnight and is being held for breaking and entering about 25 cottages in that vicinity. He was found perched on top of a pressure tank in the kitchen of one of the cottages in Stickney ridge and was brought from his supposed hiding place after several stern commands of Sheriff Rosema, who was the first to see him.

Twenty-eight dollars were found in an old sock, all in quarters, which were taken from the boy's pockets. The officers discovered a dug-out about a mile south which was made from old logs, leaves, a few blankets and rags. The boy said he had been living in it part of the time but cooking recently in some of the cottages. Suspicion led the officers from the dug-out to the Bottje slaughter house where about 15 pounds from a beef hanging there, had been taken and a posse of men, under Deputy William Boeve, beat that section for several hours, in hopes they would run on to someone there.

The boy had about three suits of clothes on. He was dirty and unkempt. He had over a dozen keys which were used in trying to open the doors. When these failed he used a wrecking bar and easily forced his way in. The meters were broken in most instances. He told the officers at first that he came from California, and had recently come from Kalamazoo. Further questioning led them to his past record which shows he was sent from probate court here to the industrial school at Lansing for taking his grandfather's automobile May 19, 1929. He said today he was released in July.

ARGUMENTS ON COUNTY FARM AGENT

Many of the arguments for and against retaining C. P. Milham as county farm agent or rather of retaining the farm unit, are given in a second board of supervisors' report on page 4 of this section. Mr. Milham, it is understood, will continue the farm work at his home at Grand Haven, and Miss Lott has taken a position elsewhere.

Chicago Examiner Gives the Following on George Getz, Jr.

An interesting item appears in the Chicago Examiner in the society column by "The Dowager." "That attractive young pair, Olive Atwater and George F. Getz, Jr., are to be married Tuesday, January 7, at a small wedding in the drawing room of the Philip K. Wrigley's home at 2466 Lake View Ave. The Rev. Oscar F. R. Treder, dean of St. Stephen's Cathedral at Harrisburg, Pa., and long-time friend of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert L. Atwater of New York and Lake Geneva, is coming on to officiate at the high noon ceremony.

"Ada Blanche and Dorothy Wrigley, 9 and 7, are pretty thrilled over the fact that their Aunt Olive has asked them to be her bridesmaids. James R. Getz comes home from Yale to serve as his brother's best man, and the ushers are Mr. Wrigley and Harry Getz, Jr., of Moline, a cousin of the bridegroom.

"When they come back from a motor trip, Mr. Getz and his bride will have a suite at the Drake Hotel until early summer, when they'll divide their time between Lake Geneva, where the Atwaters and Wrigleys have summer places, and the country home of Mr. George Getz, Sr., at Holland, Mich., where the Getz have their famous menagerie.

"Miss Atwater is a graduate of Cathedral School on Long Island, where her parents have still a second country home, and the Finch School in New York. Her husband-to-be has been associated with his father in business since he finished his college work in the East."

ZEELAND WOMEN FIND MUCH INTEREST IN HOLLAND ACTIVITIES

(Zeeland Record)

About thirty-five Zealand Literary club women were guests of the Holland Literary club at an unusually interesting meeting held in Holland on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. C. M. McLean, president, was in charge of an excellent program and Gerard Hanchett furnished appreciative piano music.

Prof. J. R. Hayden of the University of Michigan political science department held the interest of the large audience by discussing "American Interests in the Orient." Prof. Hayden is an authority on economics and political questions, is author of many worthwhile books and it was especially gratifying to hear his views of the present economic crisis.

He told of three outstanding U. S. interests in the far east. He cited statistics showing enormous increase in both the imports and exports of eastern nations and mentioned commerce as the first essential interest that should be protected.

Peace and order was mentioned as the next outstanding interest and he vividly outlined several peace treaties, which endeavored to bring out greater good will and peace between the nations. The policy of excluding orientals from the United States shores, he said, is threatening peace greatly and causing oriental people to be indignant to such an extent that it may endanger our nation.

The third essential interest mentioned was the Philippine Islands problem. These lands were obtained by the United States by accident and have been kept largely to preserve world peace and to insure protection and aid to the 13,000,000 inhabitants of the islands.

Prof. Hayden's address was eagerly listened to by a capacity audience and the Zealand club greatly appreciated that they were privileged to hear the program. Tea was served in the basement.

ZEELAND RECORD

About thirty-three women members of the Second Reformed church missionary society, motored to Holland last week, Thursday afternoon to be present at a meeting at the home of Mrs. B. Rottschaefer. A brief business session and the singing of a group of songs was in charge of Mrs. R. J. Vanden Berg, president. Rev. Vanden Berg conducted devotions.

Mrs. Rottschaefer presented an interesting picture of conditions in India, especially telling about distressed conditions of the lives of women and children. After the program tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. E. Van Dyke and Mrs. H. Van Eenennaam.

The women were pleased to see the fine display of oriental rugs and beautiful embroidery and designing work done by the Indian women. It was also interesting to see the beautiful furniture including table, chair, etc., made at the industrial school at Katpadi. Rev. Rottschaefer is in charge of this institution. Rev. and Mrs. Rottschaefer plan to return to India in September to resume missionary work.

Figures released by Dr. A. Leenhout, president of Holland Community Chest, show 2800 articles of clothing were distributed among more than 900 indigents since December. Allotments totaling $431 were given to the various agencies annually supported. Distribution of clothing will be continued and depleted stocks, if possible, will be replenished.

Farm Agent Unit Again Abolished By Supervisors

VOTE STANDS 18 TO 8; EVEN REFUSED AGENT TO USE
ROOMS IN COURT HOUSE

Rather a stormy session of the board of supervisors was concluded when Chairman George Heneveld of Park township struck the gavel for adjournment, after the three days' January session. Mr. Heneveld thanked the supervisors for their kind co-operation and their wise deliberation in rather a heated session. He said all these differences of opinion were for the common good and no doubt the best and the most economical measures were decided upon by a majority of the board. Many of the opinions will be found elsewhere in this issue in another supervisors' article.

The county farm agent, presided over by C. P. Milham for a number of years, and the office of home demonstrator, Miss Lott, were matters brought up for reconsideration after these units had been abolished at the October session. There were many taxpayers in favor of re-establishing the office. On the other hand there were also many who were opposed. It is understood that after an entire day of arguing forth and back by the friends and foes of proposal that the matter was allowed to rest for sober judgment, and the supervisors took the matter up again near the close of the session and voted 18 to 8 affirming their stand of October to abolish these units.

A request was made for room and light and heat in the courthouse to continue this work, but it seems that the board of supervisors did not grant even this permission, and County Farm Agent Milham, it is understood, will establish his headquarters at home in Grand Haven on the appropriation contributed by the state and continue the work.

Ottawa county, however, is not responsible nor is it contributing anything to maintain the office.

Through a resolution brought in by Supervisor Stegenga, it was decided that no county officers be allowed to attend board of supervisors' sessions from day to day only as they had been passing upon supervisors. This resolution passed by a small margin although it appears rather radical to many as no one has ever refused the attending of the sessions of that body up to this time.

Chairman George Heneveld appointed five new members on the Ottawa county welfare board to serve in conjunction with the Ottawa county road commission. These are William Ver Duin, mayor of Grand Haven; Peter Van Ark of Holland; Albert Hyma, Holland township; Henry Marshall, Polkton; Harm Plagemeyer of Georgetown.

Carl Bowen, Holland's city engineer several years ago, was appointed chairman of the Ottawa county welfare unit by the state of Michigan. The men appointed will co-operate with the county road commission.

Mr. Heneveld also appointed a committee to go to Lansing to attend the State Supervisors' association, where reduction in taxes will be one matter discussed and a great deal of information will be gained in comparing notes with supervisors from other counties.

Mr. Heneveld appointed Peter Van Ark of Holland, Peter Ryzenka of Grand Haven and Henry slaughter of Tallmadge.

The matter of allowing the Holland robbery police bills, which has been a vexing question bringing out considerable discussion, was finally left to be passed upon by Prosecuting Attorney Dehman and the auditing committee, who are to report at the next date.

Pursuant to the act of the legislature in 1932, the finance committee offered a resolution naming the state depositories which was accepted by the board. He Is the Farmer and a True Friend Indeed

I am the provider for all mankind. Upon me every human being constantly depends.

A world itself is built upon my toil, my products, my honesty.

Because of my industry, America, my country, leads the world. Her prosperity is maintained by me; her great commerce is the work of my good hands; her "balance of trade" springs from the furrows of my farm.

My reaper brings food for today; my plow holds promise for tomorrow.

In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable — my country's surest defense and constant reliance.

I am the very soul of America, the hope of a race, the balance wheel of civilization.

When I prosper, men are happy; when I fail, all the world suffers.

I live with nature, walk in the green fields under the golden sunlight, out in the great alone where brain and brawn and toil supply mankind's primary need. And I try to do my humble part to carry out the great plan of God.

Even the birds are my companions; they greet me with a symphony at the new day's dawn and chum with me 'till the evening prayer is said.

If it were not for me the treasures of the earth would remain securely locked; the granaries would be useless frames; man himself would be doomed speedily to extinction or decay.

Through me is produced the energy that maintains the spark of life.

I rise with the early dawn and retire when the "chores" of the world are done.

I am your true friend. I am the farmer.

HITCH HIKER IS STRUCK BY AUTO

Two angles resulting from the discovery of an Iowa youth lying at the side of the highway between Holland and Grand Haven Tuesday afternoon, were being investigated by police.

The youth, Wilbert A. Christensen, 25, of Fabula, Ia., who claimed when found by the roadside by City Assessor Peter H. Van Ark and Supervisor Peter Damstra of Holland, that he had been struck by an automobile, was in Holland hospital Wednesday. His condition was not believed to be serious.

Deputy T. Groeneweld expressed the theory that the youth was suffering more from influenza than from injuries and held a doubt that he had actually been struck by an automobile. He said Christensen may have been brushed by a car, but that there were no marks to show he had been hit.

However, not discounting entirely the youth's claim, police are conducting a hunt for the driver of the car said to have hit the victim and left him lying by the road.

Christensen told the deputy that he was walking from Grand Haven to Holland when hit. He was in a semi-conscious condition when picked up near West Olive and was rushed to the hospital. He said he did not know how long he had been lying in the road.

The deputy said the youth apparently was a hitch-hiker with no particular destination in view.

The board of supervisors made the two Holland banks county depositories for county funds.

Has Contributed More Than Half Million Dollars

OUR CONTEMPORARY, THE SENTINEL, GIVES VERY ENLIGHTENING STATEMENT OF HOW LIGHT PLANT IS FINANCIAL PILLAR FOR HOLLAND

The Holland Evening Sentinel in a column review on Holland's light plant under the caption, "Electric Plant Keeps Taxes Down," gives facts and figures that should be an eye opener to those who are not aware of the wonderful financial background this city has today—resources that are being used and not abused.

The Board of Public Works has paid into the city coffers in 10 years enough money to pay within a few dollars all of Holland's bonded indebtedness today.

In this face of deficits in many other cities, where politics or mismanagement has been allowed to creep in, speaks volumes for Holland.

Other cities are not so fortunate in these days of stress, to have a financial ally such as Holland has and this city should be duly thankful and utilize this resource with economic discretion. We quote from the Sentinel:

"In these days when dividends may be scarce in many instances, Holland's municipal light and power plant is still paying dividends in the form of decreased taxes.

"The board of public works has since 1923 contributed to the city the sum of $543,563.34. In addition to this $32,975 will be paid the first of next month bringing the total amount up to $576,538.34 or well over a half million dollars. Of this amount $183,970.46 was expended for the construction of Holland hospital.

"The balance was used to reduce the city's bonded indebtedness, principal and interest relieving the tax burden to the extent of $4.69 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation in 1931 and $4.523 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation in 1932 or an average rate of $2.74 per thousand of assessed valuation for the past nine years. This means that taxpayers of Holland received dividends on their investment in the light and water plant as is shown in the following table:

"Assessed valuation, $1,000; dividends in 1931, $4.69; dividends in 1932, $4.523.

"Assessed valuation, $2,000; dividends in 1931, $9.38; dividends in 1932, $9.046.

"Assessed valuation, $3,000; dividends in 1931, $14.07; dividends in 1932, $9.046.

"For example, if the assessed value of property as shown on tax bill is $2,000 the amount of dividends received for 1931 would be $9.38 and in 1932, $9.046. Although these dividends were not paid in actual cash, nevertheless, they were credited on the tax account.

"The total amount contributed from February 1, 1932, to February 1, 1933 will be $112,907.50 of which $79,932.50 has been paid, leaving a balance of $32,975 which will be paid the first of next month. In addition to this $16,874 in city and school taxes were paid to the city in 1932, $16,874 in 1931.

"On July 1, 1932, a reduction was made in electric rates amounting to approximately ten per cent. In the July, 1932, issue of the American City Magazine a compilation was given of the rates prevailing for residential electric service in 190 cities having a population of more than 50,000 in the United States. Charges shown in the following comparison are for electricity used for domestic purposes in a seven-room house:

"Average of 190 cities, kilowatt hours used per month: For 0 kw., 78 cents; for 10 kw., 92 cents; for 20 kw., $1.52; for 30 kw., $2.16; for 40 kw., $2.78; for 50 kw., $3.25; for 60 kw., $4.37; for 100 kw., $5.09.

"Holland's rate, kilowatt hours used per month: For 0 kw., 50 cents; for 10 kw., 50 cents; for 20 kw., 90 cents; for 30 kw., $1.26; for 40 kw., $1.61; for 50 kw., $1.90; for 60 kw., $2.68; for 100 kw., $3.04.

"At the present time the entire distribution system is being rebuilt and will be changed from a two-phase to the more modern three-phase system. This will require some time to complete and is being done while low prices on copper wire and other material prevail with a resultant saving which will be reflected in years to come. All bills are paid when due and the cash discounts saved represent a substantial sum. Improvements made at the light and power plant during the past few years are in excess of $300,000, all of which has been paid.

"This plant, which is operated by and is under the direct supervision of the board of public works, composed of James De Young, president; M. Vande Water, C. J. McLean, Nick Kammeraad and Simon Kleyn has rendered light and power service which is comparable to the best. Interruptions and plant shut-downs are few and the rates for this service are lower than the average in this state."

Judge Refuses Dr. Westrate a New Trial

CASE TO BE CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT, ATTORNEY LOKKER STATES

Retrial of the Van Harteveldt-Westrate alienation suit was denied by Judge Fred T. Miles a few days ago.

Clarence Lokker, attorney for the defendant, stated at the time the arguments for the motion were made that if denied a new trial the case would be appealed to the supreme court.

Frank Peters, former cashier of the Jamestown bank, was sentenced to two years to 20 years at Ionia reformatory. He pleaded guilty several weeks ago to making false entries in the books of the bank and thus prevented state bank examiners from having a true knowledge of the bank's affairs.

Peters stated he did this in order to keep the bank from closing. Judge Miles said that the shortage amounted to $22,177.29. He said, "you are not accused of stealing this money, but the fact that you tried to cover up the shortage imposes a severe penalty."

Fewer Immigrants

Drastic restrictions on immigration resorted to in order to conserve American jobs for Americans evidently should have widespread approval. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson reports to President Hoover that 12,697 quota aliens were admitted in the fiscal year ending last June 30. Ordinarily about 153,831 would have been admitted. A reduction of 77.6 per cent also was registered in admissions of non-quota aliens.

The immigration restrictions may not be the only factor in the tremendous reduction last year and in the preceding depression years. Foreigners, knowing that prosperity has passed from the United States, may be more content in their home lands. Still, Secretary Stimson estimates that the emergency immigration restrictions have kept out about 500,000 aliens since 1929. Addition of that number to the unemployed would have made conditions worse in this country.

"Big Red Apples" Gone In the Red

The Fennville apple district, about the best in Michigan, shows that apples did not fare very well when it comes to financial returns. The indication is that the "Big Red" apple has gone in the "red," according to the following clipping from the Allegan Gazette:

"Now that the apple shipping season is about over, most of our growers find that their year's work has left them with 'red ink' for their pay. There was a time when three or four sprays with quite inexpensive materials were sufficient to bring the crop through in fairly good condition, but now the spray rigs must be kept going all the growing season, using more and more expensive materials and even then the results are far from satisfactory. To add to the difficulty, government departments have added the cost of washing the fruit, without increasing the value of the washed product. Formerly the fruit was packed on the grower's farm at small expense. Now the fruit must be packed under greatly increased expense and with doubtful results. In former years our town was filled with buyers who competed for the output, while now it takes several agents to get rid of what we grow and then at less than cost. Michigan taxpayers are spending many hundreds of thousands of dollars to sustain the horticultural department at the State college, and about all we have been able to discover in the way of returns is the pleasure of frequent visits from the eleven associates and assistants in horticulture. What the growers and taxpayers really want is for the horticultural department to work out a less expensive and more efficient spray calendar. If that cannot be done, we better begin at the college to cut down on the state expenses."

Our entire nation is mourning the sudden death of one of its most beloved presidents. President Hoover has proclaimed a thirty-day period of public mourning as an expression of the national sorrow at the death of its only living ex-president, Calvin Coolidge. During this time the flags on the capital and other departmental buildings will be at half staff, military officers will be in mourning insignia, and for this period all social engagements of the White House have been canceled. Although during his life Mr. Coolidge was called "Silent Cal," prophet of prosperity, a political accident, and the Republican sphinx, it is not of those epithets that we think now. It is his unimpeachable character and integrity and his astonishing power of building and keeping confidence that comes to the minds of all of us. It was that fine personal character, recognized and trusted by the nation's public, that led him from small town councils, to state and to national power, and which would have given him a third presidential term in defiance of tradition, if he had "chosen to run." Although many have condemned the policies of the Coolidge era, none can honestly question the integrity or patriotism of its quiet, sincere and industrious leader. His untimely death is indeed a tragic loss to our country.

The end of 1932 marks the end of the first half of the fiscal year and left our nation's treasury with a billion dollar deficit. Unless new sources of revenue are found there will be a two billion dollar deficit next June. This condition is in a large measure caused by the decrease in income taxes but this in turn has been partly made up by the new excise and stamp taxes although not as much as was received from these sources as had been expected. In the face of all this the Democrats are pushing their plans to balance the budget.

An interesting cartoon of last week shows a ragged old hobo sitting on some rubbish near a railroad track. He is cooking a meal in tin cans over a little fire and reading a torn newspaper at the same time. In slouchy English he says that he believes these technocrats promise more for less work than do the Russian bolsheviks and that after this he's going to be a Technocrat.

Hope's Women Debaters Meet Calvin Team

DEBATES ARE ARRANGED WITH WESTERN STATE AND ALBION

In preparation for the league debates, which will be held in the near future, Miss Payne, women's debate coach, is staging a series of intercollegiate practice debates with Calvin College, Western State Teachers College, and Albion College. Various members of the women's debate squad are being given an opportunity to display their abilities in competitive contests with other colleges.

On Thursday afternoon, January 5, Calvin's affirmative team, composed of Anne Pieters, and Catherine Schuringa, arrived at the local campus to debate with Marian Wray, and Mildred Koolman, Hope's negative team.

The following day, on Friday afternoon, Hope's affirmative team traveled to Grand Rapids and debated against Henrietta Poppen, and Anne Pieters, Calvin's negative team. Hope's representatives in this debate were Margaret Rottschaffer, and Hazel Dick.

Thursday and Friday, January 12 and 13, the women debaters plan to participate in two more contests. Thursday a negative team of Hope will argue it out with an affirmative team of Western State Teachers College, while the next day, Hope's affirmative team will meet the negative team of Albion College at Battle Creek. Miss Payne has not yet named the team which will debate against Western State, but she has announced that Louise Kieft, and Beatrice Visser will represent Hope against Albion College.

ANCHOR ELECTIONS NEAR

Students, begin thinking of whom you want for your next editor, business manager and advertising manager. The present staff heads will issue one more edition of the paper and then the newly-elected staff will assume their duties.

"MARCH RELIGIEUSE" INCLUDED IN WELL RECEIVED PROGRAM

By M. Schuppert.

A very lovely vespers recital was played Sunday afternoon by Mr. W. Curtis Snow. The first number on the program was a very interesting one in that it was a sonata written in the style of Handel by the modern composer, Wolstenholm. It is made up of four movements—large, allegro, largo and minuet-finale. The third movement is particularly lovely.

Following this came the light little "Musette on Rondeau" of Rameau, and the sturdy, but joyful "In Te Deo Gladness," of Bach. The next two numbers, "Adeste Fidelis" and "Aus meines Herzens Grunde," by the modern German composer, Karg-Elert, are very well fitted to our chapel organ. They are full of dissonances and weird harmonies. The melodic themes are not stated wholly, but are woven into the compositions, and break out in the most unexpected places.

Following these came the descriptive number, "The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre," by Alexander Russell.

The program closed with "March Religieuse" by Guilmant. This number is a very churchy one and recalls over and over again the "Glory to God" theme from Handel's "Messiah."

Several Hope men narrowly escaped serious injury when the car in which they were returning to their New York and New Jersey homes suddenly left the road and overturned, completely demolishing the car and giving the fellows a good scare. Mr. Lindsay, college junior, was owner of the car. One of his friends was driving—but we shall withhold his name. No car-poor Lucy—poor judgment. Naughty depression, stay way from my door. Oh, well—

Drama Class Play Will Be Given Next Month

EDWARD DAMSON AND BEATRICE VISSER PLAY LEADING ROLES

"A Prince There Was"—doesn't that sound interesting? The Drama Class has selected this play by George M. Cohan for its 1933 production, and a very fitting one it is. Do you remember the play of last year—"Once There Was a Princess"? Well, the Drama Class doesn't believe in doing things by halves, and besides, you know, for every Princess we must have a Prince, which is exactly what this play provides. Then, too, there are two sides to every question. Last year's play showed everything from the Princess' standpoint, but this year you'll have a chance to discover what a Prince is like. Doesn't that make you curious to know? Then reserve the night of February 9 or 10 so you can find out.

The handsome Prince (Edward Damson) is a very unusual young man. He even leaves his regal surroundings to reside in a New York boarding house, and there he meets the lovely Miss Woods (Beatrice Visser), an authoress, who seems to be having a hard time getting her work published. The part of Mr. Jack Caruthers, the owner of a big magazine, taken by Herbert Marshall. The whole play is packed full of laughs, and you'll especially enjoy meeting all the boarders in Mrs. Prouty's inimitable establishment on Ninety-seventh Street. So don't forget—the ninth and tenth of February—the Drama Class play!

Hope's Men Debate Squad Prepares for Several Meets

ALMA COLLEGE, MICHIGAN STATE AND CENTRAL STATE SCHEDULED

Hope's debate squad is busy preparing for its second important debate trip of the year. This time the squad will journey north to meet Alma College, Mount Pleasant State Teachers College, and Michigan State Teachers College on Wednesday afternoon and evening, January 18.

The affirmative team appointed to take the trip are: Chris Walwood, Ralph Danhof, and Lester Wolterink, while Harold De Windt, Don Vanden Belt, and Leland Beach will be the negative team to represent the alma mater. The affirmative team will take on Michigan State at St. John's before a county Grange meeting. The negative team will meet Alma College at Alma. It has not yet been announced which team will meet Mt. Pleasant.

On January 19, Professor D. Ritter, debate coach, plans to take a negative to Allegan to debate with an affirmative team of Michigan State College before an Allegan County Grange meeting. Earl Kronscoff, Joe Esther, and David De Witt have been tentatively selected as the team to represent Hope, with David Laman serving as alternate.

Ex-mayor Brooks was not able to address the men debaters at their last meeting, but it is certain that he will be able to present his views on Municipal Taxation in the near future.

Y. W. C. A.

Last night the Y. W. C. A. held its first meeting of the new year. Miss Mildred Koolman, who was the speaker for the evening, also led the devotional exercises. Miss Annetta McGivray pleased the group with a piano solo.

Miss Koolman in her speech on "A Firm Foundation," stressed the absolute necessity for building our lives on sound Christian principles. She based her thoughts upon the text, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven."

WARM FRIEND TAVERN IS SCENE OF BANQUET AND PROGRAM

On Friday, December 29, during the Christmas vacation, the Fraternity society held its annual Mid-Winter Alumni Stag. The banquet was held in the dining room of the Warm Friend Tavern. A delicious steak dinner was partaken of in the typical satisfying way. After the meal the alumni association president, Frater Henry Geerlings, introduced Frater George Damson who acted as toastmaster. Frater Toastmaster first introduced Frater I. Decker who expressed the active Fraters' view on "House Life." Next, Frater Paul Nettinga, accompanied by Frater P. Van Kolken, sang two beautiful solos, first, "A Dream" and then, "My Heart Is a Haven." For the final number of the program Frater Rev. W. Zoon, missionary to India, enlightened the men on "The Modern Problems of India." He discussed the cast system, the various religious attitudes of the Indian people and also the teachings of Gandhi. He also told of the opposition which the missionary encounters in that distant land. After the regular program several of the alumni were called upon for a few words. Among those who responded were Fraters Van Kersen, Hinkamp, Wichers, Blekkink, Rotschaffer, Van Putten, McLean, Walwood and Fox. To conclude the party the Frater song was sung and the F. S. men adjourned until the 1934 stage which will be part of the one hundredth anniversary celebration.

Bacon and Shakespeare

There are three main points upon which the supposition that Bacon was in reality the author of Shakespeare's works is based: First there are a few passages in Shakespeare's works which are similar to Bacon's; second, the existence of certain supposed ciphers in plays which have been interpreted as cryptic signatures of Bacon; third a single sentence written in a letter to Bacon by Sir Tobie Matthew at some date subsequent to January, 1621.

Student Volunteer

Mrs. Charles H. Judd of the China Inland mission was the speaker at a meeting of the Student Volunteer group last week. Mr. and Mrs. Judd have spent thirty-three years as missionaries in China. At present they reside at Vancouver as secretaries of the Board of the China Inland mission.

In her speech, Mrs. Judd related many of her experiences on the mission field. She said that the mission with which they are connected is a faith mission that makes prayer its greatest support. During 1931 and '32 they sent two hundred missionaries to China.

On Wednesday, January 4, the Misses Ethyl, Marion and Harriet Root, A. Naoum, and Seta Matsunobu, all Student Volunteers, were in charge at a meeting of the Hope church missionary society.

One meeting for the future has been definitely planned. On January 26, Miss Nellie Breen, missionary to Africa, will address the Volunteer group on some phase of her chosen work. All are urged to attend.

Blue and Orange Quintet Defeated By Olivet Five

LEN STEFFENS GARNERS 17 POINTS FOR HOPE

By I. Decker

Last Friday the Orange and Blue basketballers journeyed to Olivet and met their first conference defeat of the season, losing to the Olivet five 56-36.

The game was close the first half, Hope leading most of the time. Hope was away to a substantial lead in the first few minutes of play, but Olivet slowly crept up and led at the end of the first half, 21-18.

The first five minutes of the second half was a neck and neck battle, both teams fighting hard for the lead. At the end of this time the Orange and Blue blew up and Olivet took advantage of Hope's mistakes rapidly drawing away to a substantial lead.

Milankov, captain and all-conference forward, was the sensation for the Comets, scoring seven times from the field and collecting six points from the free throw line. Kane collected six field goals for the winners.

"Len" Steffens was the outstanding man on the Hope team, sinking eight baskets from the field and adding one from the free throw line. "Ted" Van Zanden scored nine points for Hope.

"Human Scales" Guesses Correct Weight of Steer

Western Michigan farmers have made up their minds that if they ever have an opportunity to sell cattle to A. J. Longstreet, dean of Grand Rapids butchers, they are going to shy at any proposals to "lump the critters off without weighing."

He demonstrated his ability to accurately guess the weights of cattle at the recent West Michigan Fat Stock Show here.

Friends invited Longstreet to guess the liveweight of the snow-white grand champion Shorthorn steer. He ran his hands over the bullock's ribs, loins and rump before making his estimate.

"He'll weigh around 1125 pounds," Longstreet announced.

On the scales of a local ice company two days later, the steer tipped the scales at exactly 1125 pounds. The accuracy of Longstreet's guess even surprised its maker.

Longstreet explained that usually his estimates are 50 to 100 pounds under or above the actual weight.

He also ventured a guess on the dressed weight of the steer's carcass. Before the animal was slaughtered, he estimated the carcass would weigh 787 pounds. It weighed 789 pounds.

It has been such demonstrations as these that have caused Longstreet's friends to refer to him as "the human scales."

Asked to explain how he estimates cattle weights so accurately, Longstreet said it was more or less inexperience. He added, he had been practicing for 52 years.

"Many farmers seem to prefer to lump cattle off at the farm, rather than lead or drive them to scales miles away," Longstreet said. This was more true in the days before the motor truck. It was in those days that I learned to guess the weight of a steer. I made some bad guesses at first, but I soon learned how to feel of a steer's ribs, loins and rump, and correlate the condition of these important parts with the animal's probable weight."

Weight guessing contests at the fat stock show indicate that most farmers are inclined to overestimate long-haired, long-legged cattle and underestimate the weights of short-haired, short-legged cattle.

Not So Much Interest

I have observed in reading that is frequently said of the hero that he "knew books," and is able to talk about them. This being admitted, it is at once concluded he is a man of education and character, and worthy of all confidence. The most interesting people I know do not talk much about books, or mention them; I have never been in a bookish atmosphere, except when occasionally in company with publishers or writers.—E. W. Farm Agent

Occupies Time Of Supervisors

"CONCRETE" CONNELLY DEFENDS HIS POSITION

AND WORK ON COUNTY ROADS

The January short session of the board of supervisors has been in progress since Monday. There was representation from practically every corner of Ottawa county, either for or against the retention of the county farm and home demonstration agent units. These offices were abolished at the October session.

The January short session of the board of supervisors has been in progress since Monday. There was representation from practically every corner of Ottawa county, either for or against the retention of the county farm and home demonstration agent units. These offices were abolished at the October session.

NOT SEEKING RETURN

OF DEPT. AT EXPENSE

OF OTHERS: MILHAM

C. P. Milham, former county agricultural agent, today asked that it be made plain that his interest in reinstating the departments of agricultural agent and home demonstration agent was solely in the agricultural interests of the county and that there is no thought of reinstating this department at the expense of any other county department.

ber session and since that time there have been large delegations from farm organizations which seek to have these offices retained. There is also opposition; however, the main sponsor to have these offices retained is Mr. Lionel Heap of Grand Haven, who has been making a speaking tour of the county and this agitation together with newspaper publicity brought at last to the opening session, and the board of supervisors' room was not near large enough to accommodate them so an adjournment was taken to the court room which was soon filled.

Much of Mr. Heap's discussion before the supervisors was given in last week's Holland City News and need not be repeated here at this time.

Lionel Heap, when he had finished his argument, said he would stand by the statement he had made throughout the county that C. P. Milham, former agricultural agent, had been refused appearance before the board. Chairman George Heneveld took exception to this statement. He was backed up by others on the board. Dick Smallegan, from Jamestown, recounted an instance following the acceptance by the board of the report of the agricultural committee to do away with the department. Mr. Smallegan requested that Mr. Milham be allowed to appear before the board, as Mr. Smallegan learned he would accept the office for $800 per year. The matter was referred back to the agricultural committee and it returned with the same report.

Eugene Tenbrink, Allendale, pleaded for the agricultural agent, pointing to the introduction of alfalfa growing as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the department. He believes the board should reduce taxes, but he said they began at the wrong end. The production departments, he believes, should be the last to go. He said that the people of the township are in favor of the departments, and believes they should be heard.

Seth Coburn, Georgetown, spoke vigorously on the need for a county agricultural agent as he knew it from the celery growers' standpoint. He pointed to the check of blight, which threatened the entire crop of the county and which was reclaimed through the advice of the county agent and which brought thousands of dollars into the section. Mrs. Twiest, Georgetown, pleaded for the retention of the home demonstration agent; Loy Lowing, Georgetown, cited the tremendous amount saved for the dairy business through advice. He cited the instance of the tuberculosis program which he favored when a member of the board and the good it had done. He believes that just such action should be taken in the contagious abortion disease which is becoming a real menace to the dairy business.

Claude McNitt, Chester, pointed to the increases made in the potato crop and done through the advice that was given by that office.

William Westrate, member of the 4-H club and a state champion, spoke at length on the work of the 4-H clubs; the interest that has been engendered in young people in farm work, the influence it has in keeping them on the farms, and the scientific methods which they learn. If there is any quarrel with the parents regarding this work, it is usually because the parents have refused to listen to the modern methods advocated by the county agent, he said, and are content to go along in the old way, which does not make for progressive or prosperous farmers, he stated.

Mrs. Walter Wierenga, Zeeland city, and Mrs. Howard Irish, Coopersville, gave talks on just what the home demonstration department means to the rural women.

They are making better homes, rearing better children, serving better meals and helping the farmer in a business way, stated Mrs. Irish. The social life of the farm woman, always a problem, has been solved and the happiness and contentment engendered by the meetings, the helpfulness of learning modern methods and better ways of keeping house, has added to the enrichment of farm life, she said. This cannot be measured in dollars and cents, was her conclusion.

Thomas Pyer, Crookery, and J. R. Bouws, Holland township, commended the board of supervisors in their action in October. They stated that the farmer was burdened to distraction with taxes. "What good is the knowledge of how to improve life on the farm, learned through the 4-H clubs, if the boy or girl comes home and finds a 'for sale' sign on the house, through a mortgage foreclosure?" he asked.

"I believe in the department, as I do in all progressive movements," he continued, "but the time has come for retrenchment until this economic depression has lifted. It does not cost much to the individual," he said, "but as the ocean is made up of drops of water, and the hills the grains of sand, so are the taxes made up of the various demands and the federal tax is just as much a part of the individual tax as is the county. We are not to be fooled when it is said the state pays for it," he emphasized.

"The cost of these departments is about $2 per person, not much, but cuts must be made somewhere," he concluded.

Mr. Bouws declared, "we must have taxes reduced or we are busted. Cut everything, road taxes, county costs of every description. This is a time for retrenchment and we must give up some of the things we want in order to cut costs."

Cornelius Rosenraad, at the close of the noon session, quoted figures which he had on the cost of office in 1931-1932: Agricultural agent, $1,500; home demonstration agent, $900, and clerk hire, $800.

One of the features of the board of supervisors was the attack made by Mr. Heap on Secretary Connelly of the good roads commission, which Mr. Heap has done often through the newspapers, before the board, and public utterances.

Mr. Connelly, who states that he has never paraded what he has accomplished, letting his work stand for what it could tell, in his defense said in part as follows:

"I am loath to speak of my own accomplishments," Mr. Connelly said, "and I wish there was someone here to talk, that I need not tell why I have earned every cent that I have drawn on this commission, but as I seem to be the spot of attack for Mr. Heap, I am forced to do so.

"Several years ago when Holland and Grand Haven were faced with having to build new bridges at the entrances to the cities the state law then forced cities over 6,000 population to pay half the costs. It was through my efforts that the law was changed and a Memorial bridge, in this city, and the magnificent bridge at the north limits of Holland were built with not one cent of cost to these cities. When the townships were burdened with the intolerable cost of township roads I labored on the McNitt bill, drafting the greater part of it in my office, which provides that 20 per cent of the township roads are absorbed by the counties each year until they will finally be all maintained by the county. When the larger centers of population were clamoring for a larger share of the gas and weight tax last year in the legislature my three months of constant labor succeeded in getting through a provision inserted in the Horton bill to divert a large amount to counties where the populations are not so large. I have continually fought state politicians for the benefit of the smaller counties. "If the county should pay me $10,000 for the next ten years they would not have paid me more than I have earned for this county," he declared. "It is very distasteful for me to stand here and tell you of these efforts. I am accepting a salary of $2,760 per year as a full-time member of the commission because under the present system there is twice the executive work in the office that there was heretofore. Carl Bowen, the county engineer is out on the roads constantly, and I am in the office as an executive to attend to the countless details that arise."

Mr. Connelly went even into greater detail, showing his untiring efforts in good road work beneficial to the whole county in the presenting of his case at the board of supervisors' meeting Tuesday.

"I am in favor of not raising a cent for improvements next year if conditions continue," Mr. Connelly said. "I will not accept one cent as salary for my services, when I know that there is no service to render," he continued.

HOLLAND MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION NAMES ENTIRE NEW STAFF OF OFFICERS

Merchants Become Acquainted With Guns of All Kinds; Also With Bandit Methods.

The Holland Merchants' association held a long but interesting meeting Monday evening, the main object being the annual election of officers. William Brouwer who has been an able executive of the association for the past year, let it be known that these officers for the good of the organization should be passed around, so the officials would not become stereotype, and new ones would enter with more vigor which would naturally aid the association.

During the election Charles Van Zylen, who has been secretary for some time, was named president. Jacob Lokker, the old veteran vice president, was the only officer retained for re-election. Thad Taft of the Rose Clock store was named secretary, and Jacob Fris of the Fris book store was elected treasurer to succeed Kenneth De Pree.

These officers, when they organize, will appoint the persons to fill the places of the retiring members of the executive committee to work with them.

After considerable discussion as to the advisability it was decided to have a modest supper instead of a banquet during the February meeting. At this supper the wives and sweethearts of the members and the store staffs will be special guests. It was thoroughly understood that the spread is not to cost much. The affair will be in charge of the old officers with William Brouwer presiding. The speakers, music and tickets will be in charge of the executive committee.

Merrick Hanchett, one of the members, pointed out that it should be suggested, possibly in a circular letter addressed to all employees who derive their livelihood from the city of Holland, including teachers, police, board of public works members and such other city department employees as are furnished labor, that they trade in Holland in order that Holland merchants and Holland labor may derive benefits from the money that is spent here.

Mr. Hanchett figures that if all of this money which a person or family ordinarily spends, were spent in Holland, that the sum total benefiting Holland merchants would be more than a quarter of a million dollars annually.

Mr. Hanchett did not make the suggestion in the way of a demand, but rather as a kind request. The matter was held over for the executive committee to consider and to make suggestions.

A suggestion was also made that an ordinance be passed curbing house-to-house peddling. Zeeland, it appears, has an ordinance of this kind that is very effective and it was passed in behalf of the Zeeland merchants. In Zeeland peddlers are called "porch climbers," and they must pay a heavy license and report to the city clerk at intervals. They must always carry the proper button issued from the city clerk's office.

Undoubtedly this matter will be taken up with the ordinance committee of the common council to see what can be done along these lines.

A very interesting feature was the guest speaker, Corp. Ray Sullivan, of the state police, who was present with a regular arsenal of firearms all descriptions used by thugs and bandits. Mr. Sullivan was introduced by Cornelius Steketee, who is a personal friend of Mr. Sullivan and induced him to come. Mr. Sullivan has been having a weapon display in the show windows of De Vries & Dornbos for the past two weeks, and while a bandit lecture on the face of it may seem rather strange in a merchants' meeting, Mr. Sullivan brought out that it is an apathetic public that makes crime go over big and the merchants are part of that public.

He states that the average citizen knows a great deal about the glories of the French police, Scotland Yard and the Canadian guards "who always get their man," but they do not bother as much about or seem to know what their local officers are doing. He stated that it is our indifference to crime that hinders rather than helps the police. Every merchant, every law-abiding citizen should be an officer, self-appointed to aid and cooperate with the officers of the law, local, county and state, and there would be less crime and a smaller number of criminals getting by.

Mr. Sullivan then showed an array of pistols, machine guns, daggers, sawed-off shotguns and dis-

MERCHANTS WARNED AS TO COUNTERFEIT $10.00 BILLS BEING PASSED

Merchants, banks and business houses are being cautioned to be on the look-out for counterfeit $10 bills which are being passed in this city and vicinity.

The bill is a $10 federal reserve note with green serial numbers and seal. It is issued as district No. 7, series of 1928; check letter I, the signatures of H. T. Tate, treasurer of United States, and A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and a picture of Alexander Hamilton appear on the note. The bill looks like every other one to the ordinary person. On careful inspection it is seen that the threads of silk are missing in the paper and the engraving is not quite so sharp.

All counterfeit bills detected should be turned over to the authorities. In the event that a counterfeit bill is tendered the person presenting the note should be detained and the authorities notified in order that the persons may be properly questioned to determine whether he is a passer or a victim. Under no circumstances should the note be returned to the person tendering it.

These notes are believed to have been circulating in this section for the past 30 days.

Unusual Exhibit

Saugatuck Commercial Record—A large number of people from Saugatuck and Holland have called at the home of Mr. Hugo Heinze to see the remarkable reproduction of winter scenery, wild life, trapper's cabin, Indian tepee, etc., which are on display in his basement. The cabin is furnished and lighted, real smoke issues from the chimney, men are at work around the barnyard, a rabbit scurries to cover, just escaping the pursuing dogs; everything is very realistic. This exhibit represents an astonishing amount of work and patience in planning, collecting and assembling all the different parts. The miniature figures and animals are all imported from Germany. It is entirely original and surely is well worth seeing. Visitors are very cordially welcomed by Miss Heinze and Mrs. Stevens, who with Mr. Heinze, have completed the scene.

played the effectiveness of each. He stated that the machine gun was used by bandits more as a scare than as a weapon; that the sawed-off shotgun was the most deadly. Mr. Sullivan stated: "When a highwayman has a drop on you, don't resist, for then you are lost, as most of these men are desperadoes and human life means nothing to them."

He explained the entire police radio system, how when a call comes in that a hold-up is being staged at a certain locality this message is transmitted immediately to every state police car as well as to the police of the larger cities. Immediately all police cars circle to that spot, barricade the main highways and patrol the byways. Mr. Sullivan stated that rivers and bridges are the worse barriers to bandits and the best help to police, and professional bandits avoid these routes, and that they always have well laid-out plans along the byways and on the highways. He said in advance at intervals so they can avoid city or village centers.

He did not consider the bandits caught holding up the Kaleva bank as fully professional, but those who did the job in Holland were extra professional. They had well-laid plans.

Mr. Sullivan also gave a wonderful exhibition of finger prints and how these could not fail. He also brought out this fact when "Dutch" Anderson was shot in Muskegon by Detective Hammond five years ago, resulting in the death of both men. While Anderson had changed his face and hair and wore a mustache no one would recognize the criminal; however, the fingerprints later brought out that this man was sought by practically every police headquarters of the nation. He also displayed the fingers taken from the body of a man found in the Detroit river, which proved to be those of an old criminal whose finger prints were on file.

Mr. Sullivan stated that some of the police from the northern peninsula had been transferred to the southern border since robberies had been more numerous. This would prevent them from getting out of the state as easily.

Michigan at that has a good record since 18 robberies 21 persons were apprehended, 21 were convicted and 8 are at large and more than half of the stolen property was recovered. This record stands high over Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota.

Mr. Sullivan also has a record of the number of miles traveled by the state police in three years, amounting to 2,195,000 miles, or 32 times around the globe. The police helped in 2,000 automobile accidents, recovered 240 stolen cars, saved much property, showed educational exhibits to 400,000 people, conducted police training schools, supplied evidence for 62,000 criminal cases, inspected 14,000,000 gallons of kerosene. So it appears that the state police have some duties to perform, space forbidding the giving of a great deal of it here.

After Mr. Sullivan was through with his lecture, many questions were asked of him, and Henry Vander Schel brought up Holland's new tear gas gun which was fully explained by Mr. Sullivan and the different uses it could be put to.

It was also brought out that in chasing bandits a long distance rifle was about the most effective weapon, largely because of the carrying and penetrating power. Altogether Corp. Sullivan's discourse made a most interesting evening. His lecture was informative and educational.

Hope Will Send Representatives to Poetry Contest

DR. NYKERK IS COACHING LOCAL COMPETITORS

By R. Danhof

Another feature has been added to Hope's list of extra-curricular activities! This time Hope plans to send two students to participate in a state-wide poetry reading contest to be held at Ypsilanti on Tuesday evening, January 24.

The idea of a poetry reading contest originated in Oxford University, England, where the plan met with great success. Later in 1930, Northwestern University organized a similar reading contest for all American colleges and universities. In this contest Hope college entered Mr. Vander Kolk, now the principal of Zeeland High, a senior in the college at that time. Mr. Vander Kolk ranked high in the final rounds of the contest.

Naturally, from this time on Hope became interested in the organization of a similar contest for colleges in Michigan. Cooperating with the other colleges, the contest was organized as a part of the Michigan Oratorical League and Miss Marian F. Stowe, associate professor of Speech of the Michigan State Teachers College, Ypsilanti, was elected the chairwoman of the committee of arrangements.

This committee has devised a plan by which each of the various colleges must present two selections out of a possible choice of nine. Hope chose selection Number Two, "The Bugle Song" from Tennyson's "Princess," and Wordsworth's celebrated sonnet "The World is Too Much with Us." Each college is also required to read Milton's sonnet "On His Blindness."

One man and one woman student will represent each college. The contest will be judged by the coaches of the contestants, each coach ranking all the participants except the representatives of his college.

Proceeding the state contest several local preliminaries will be held, while the final eliminations will take place a few days before the state contest at Ypsilanti. At present nine of Hope's students plan to compete for the right to take the trip to Ypsilanti.

So far Dr. Nykerk, local professor in charge of the contest, has met the contestants twice and explained to them the requirements of an intelligent and sympathetic interpretation of the three selections to be presented. Dr. Nykerk has studied the sonnets for years, both in America and at Oxford. He stated that the selections to be read were very difficult, and that Milton's sonnet "On His Blindness" is perhaps the most difficult sonnet for reading in the whole realm of English literature.

Yesterday morning during the chapel exercises Dr. Edward Dawson, president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America, after reading the scripture and offering prayer, addressed the students on the theme, "Instead of the fathers shall be the children." He spoke of the parents' hopes, ambitions and realizations. Many of their hopes and aspirations have not blossomed forth in their own lives and today they are living and working with hopes of realizing their ambitious in the students of today, their sons and daughters. Dr. Dawson is a friend of Hope and his final words were "I shall go back to my work and church as one of your strongest advocates."

ZEELAND EXTENDS TIME FOR COLLECTION OF TAXES

A special council meeting was held Saturday to consider the extension of the tax collection time. The final date for collection of local taxes without penalty had been set for Jan. 10 and the council extended the time to Feb. 25. At the same meeting G. J. Van Hoven, city clerk, was instructed to submit a bid to the federal government of the building site on the northwest corner of Main street and Church street for the site of the new post office. Thus far the sites submitted on Nov. 15 have not been reported as satisfactory.

The Ministers' Social circle of the classis of Holland met Monday afternoon at Third Reformed church. About 50 ministers and their wives were present. Dr. Edward Dawson, president of general synod and pastor of First Reformed church of Passaic, N. J., and Dr. J. A. Ingham, secretary of the Progress council of New York City, were present and delivered short addresses. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. James Martin, Mrs. Charles Stoppels and Mrs. William Wolos.

The Erutha Rebekah lodge will hold a public pedro and 500 card party tonight, Friday, following the business meeting at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Blanche Vande Yuse and her committee will be in charge. Installation of officers will take place on Jan. 27.

Compton Burrows, 74, is seriously ill with pneumonia at the home of his son, Harlowe Burrows, 178 West Ninth street.

Christian DeWitt, age 36, World war veteran, died after a lingering illness in Hines government hospital. DeWitt resided in Zeeland before entering the service. He was gassed in the war and had been in poor health since. He worked as a rug weaver until about two years ago, when he went to Chicago for treatment. He is survived by the widow, his father, Peter DeWitt of Grand Rapids, a brother, Peter DeWitt, Jr., of Pasadena, Cal., and a sister, Mrs. William Bustraan of Grand Rapids. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Friday at the home of K. John Hendricks of Zeeland. Burial was in Zeeland cemetery under the direction of Gilbert D. Karsten Post, American Legion.

Sparrows Brought Here 83 Years Ago

The first introduction of the English sparrow into this country was in 1850, when 50 pairs were set free in Brooklyn, N. Y. Others were soon released at other points, it being the common belief that these birds would protect the foliage of shade trees by feeding upon caterpillars that, in turn, liked to feed on the leaves of the trees. Unfortunately, now that the English sparrow is quite at home all over the United States, and, in fact, much of America, most authorities agree that it does much more harm than good. Feeding on seeds, buds, fruits and otherwise making itself a destructive garden visitor, distributing vermin and disease germs, making unsightly droppings in inconvenient places, and driving away gentler, more desirable birds, are some of the habits which have injured the popularity of this bird.

AMERICAN LEGION FISH FRY ATTENDED BY JOLDERSMA

Grand Haven Tribune—About 100 members of the American Legion met at Moore's Barn last night for a fish fry when the Charles A. Conklin Post, No. 28, entertained the Willard Leenhouts Post, No. 6, of Holland. A social evening and cards were enjoyed and music during the evening was furnished by four local boys. Among the guests was A. Joldersma of Holland, state finance officer of the American Legion.

Iveaux Millar was general chairman of the party and was assisted by Frank Bishop and Homer Fisher. Mr. Fisher and Mrs. Bishop had charge of the supper.

MISS KUIPER RE-ELECTED HEAD OF WOMAN'S LEAGUE

The Young Women's League of Holland held its annual meeting Monday evening in the Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed church. This organization is composed of representatives of ten churches in Holland, Zeeland, Drenthe, Graafschap and other surrounding communities, and meets three times a year. More than 225 members were present.

Miss Dena Kuiper was re-elected president and Miss Katherine Brat was named vice president, succeeding Miss Albertina Brat. Miss Welma Westerhof will succeed Miss Lena Klomprens as secretary. Miss Theresa Breen was elected secretary, succeeding Miss Seane Thibolt.

Miss Nellie Breen, missionary to Africa, who is here on furlough, gave a short address.

Following the program, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held in May.

No More Gifts of Endless Dole in Detroit

Detroit Free Press—The end of the dole for from 15,000 to 20,000 Detroit Welfare dependents is forecast in the reconstruction section of the annual message prepared Saturday by Mayor Frank Murphy for presentation to the Common Council Tuesday night.

Reasons why the dole cannot continue without end will be pointed out by the mayor.

"People will be given relief," he stated, "but not endlessly. The problem ought to move entirely into a wage work plan. An effort will be made to perfect the wage work plan which is about to be launched, and it will be in the interest of the clients as well as the community."

The wage work plan calls for the employment of able-bodied men in various city departments at the rate of 30 cents an hour for a wage sufficient to pay for the welfare allowances. They would be paid by check, rather than grocery order, because investigators report that the purchasing power of money is 18 per cent greater in the hands of a shrewd buyer than an order on a single store.

No effort yet has been made to extend the wage work plan into productive activities outside of city government, but social workers have considered the prospects of such action. A group of dependents could be turned into the co-operative production of foodstuffs or small manufactured articles, social workers point out.

Members of the city government have studied the progress of the co-operative movement which has been developed to a high point among western fruit, grain and livestock producers. Their products are raised and marketed and profits disbursed under the co-operative plan.

Prof. Lubbers Publishes Book On Education

NOW AT CARROLL COLLEGE, WIS.—FORMERLY MEMBER OF HOPE COLLEGE FACULTY

Prof. Irwin J. Lubbers, for some time member of Hope college faculty, but now instructor in psychology at Carroll College at Waukesha, Wis., has just issued a book, one of a series known as "Northwestern University's Contribution to Education," and this is the seventh volume along educational lines in this series of works.

College Organization and Administration, a book just off the press of Northwestern University, is a book of great interest to the educational world, especially that part of the educational profession which is concerned with the problems of college education. This is a field in which there has been much research during the last ten years and Professor Irwin J. Lubbers' contribution to this research has been given the strong approval of the faculties of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. Prof. Lubbers is well trained for this type of research, having spent most of his years since graduation in the teaching profession. His experience covers the British system of governmental education as well as the college and university systems of America. During his residence in India, particularly southern India, he came into contact with the English educational system and co-operated with the authorities in the development of the national system. The problems of education in an awakening country such as India cover a wide range from training adults in the primary subjects to developing commercial and agricultural courses for vocational groups. As an expert in this line of work Professor Lubbers came to the problems of American college administration and spent several years visiting colleges in the United States. The results of his findings are given in a scientific form and will prove most interesting and helpful to all who are engaged in higher education.

(Northwestern University Press 1932)

Mr. Lubbers, while in Holland, has always been public spirited, aiding in other projects not directly connected with college work. He was graduated from Hope college in 1916. After two years in Western Theological seminary he went to Vellore, India, where he taught in Voorhees college for three years. Returning from India, he served as professor of English literature at Hope college for five years.

Mrs. Lubbers, also a graduate of Hope, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Donseelaar of this city. Mr. Van Donseelaar is editor of De Grondwet.

Professor Lubbers had his graduate work in Columbia and Northwestern universities. He has traveled extensively through Burma, China and Japan and has a full understanding of the problems and life in the orient.

His new book is largely statistical, containing many charts and tables of information. In the closing chapter he has written about "certain inevitable readjustments" which will come to colleges as a result of the depression. "For a number of small colleges, the crisis has already passed," he states.

TWO WEEKS MORE FOR RABBIT HUNTERS

Rabbit hunters have 17 more days before the lid goes down for the season. Many southern Michigan hunters are keeping a tally sheet of their cottontail kill for R. E. Trippensee, research assistant in the School of Forestry and Conservation of the University of Michigan, who is making a study of the lives of the bunnies.

ICE SPECKLED BASS

Grand Rapids Herald—Ice fishermen had a great week at Reeds lake. Speckled bass were biting fast during much of the week, and the ice was congested with anglers. A few pike and perch also were taken.

One of the really surprising things about fishing around here is the way Reeds lake holds up. It is fished heavily, yet it returns some great catches. A suggestion came to us from an ardent local sportsman last week that the state should give more attention to Reeds lake, particularly in the way of removing obnoxious fish such as gar pike and dog fish. We know that the lake hasn't been neglected. It has been well planted, but there most certainly are too many of the predatory rough fish.

Chicago's Liberty Bell

The Columbian Liberty bell was cast at the foundry of the Menely Bell company, Troy, N. Y., in 1893 and weighed 13,000 pounds, the diameter at its mouth being 38 inches and its height 75 inches. It was a duplicate of the new Liberty bell that was placed in the tower of independence hall, Philadelphia, in 1876, and was cast from the same molds. Each thousand pounds represented one of the thirteen original states. The exact cost of the bell is unknown, the records no longer being available. The bell was bought by a committee representing patriotic societies of which the late W. O. McDowell of Newark, N. J., was chairman. At the conclusion of the Chicago World's fair the bell was exhibited in various cities through out the United States.

Long, long ago, before the dawn of civilized stomachs, it was a good old pagan custom for our people to celebrate the New Year by gathering in the open where they could circle around two wild boars that tore each other to bits. The meat of the dead animals was then divided between the people to feast upon, the best pieces being reserved for those higher in authority. It's a far cry from the midnight supper of today with its carefully chosen hors d'oeuvres to stimulate the flagging appetites of guests whose stomachs revolt at the sight of spilled blood.

In old Scotland a more savory diet was enjoyed on New Year's eve when people thronged through the streets between twelve and one o'clock at night bearing steaming kettles of spiced ale, known in that day as the wassail bowl. As they passed each other on the way to visit neighbors, they stopped to give and take tips, so that their spirits were mounting high when they arrived, to be generously fed on buns and cheese. This pleasant custom persisted for many years.

At one time the New Year was celebrated by the giving of presents just as Christmas is today. Gloves were a popular contribution to a lady's wardrobe because of their rarity.

When pins were first invented, about the beginning of the sixteenth century, they were an even more acceptable gift in feminine circles. They were rough hand-made pins, but were considered rare pieces of workmanship compared with the skewers of bone and wood then in use. If money was given for their purchase, it was known as "pin-money," a phrase which has clung to the language, and connotes money used for any extras, pins or other.

In early America the New Year was celebrated with the simplicity that was part of the times. With no steam cars, motor cars or telephones, people had to depend on stage coaches and ox teams for transportation. It was said that it was of no use to sit up and watch the old year out as the "clocks did so vary that they knew very little of the crossing." So the settlers celebrated by making multitudinous calls the next day, jingling merry sleigh bells and shaking off snow on the door step. Refreshments consisted of great slices of cake, doughnuts, coffee and cider. The custom of making wholesale New Year's calls persisted for many years. Only a short time ago it was still the fashion for families to hold open house.

The Chinese are said to celebrate New Year's in the most unusual fashion of all. They actually feel compelled to pay off their debts before they can be at peace with the world. Of all the customs of various nations, this is perhaps the most worthy of emulation.—Indianapolis News.

Peru, Ind. Ten guests were present. Mrs. Warnshuis was presented with a boudoir lamp by the group.

Mrs. William T. Bates of Barnum, Tex., announces the marriage of her daughter, Ermile Bun, to Lester William Brusse of Houston, Tex., on Saturday, Dec. 31. Mr. Brusse, who was formerly a resident of Holland, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brusse of this city.

The annual meeting of the Eunie Aid society was held Friday afternoon in the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church. Officers elected were Mrs. D. Zwier, vice president; Mrs. A. Vegter, second vice president; Mrs. Raymond Nykamp, secretary, and Mrs. Peter Kassock, treasurer. Reports of the past year were presented, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Brower and Mrs. Albert Prins.

Mrs. O. De Jonge, East Twelfth street, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home last week, Thursday evening, in honor of her daughter, Miss Rena De Jonge, a bride-to-be. Games were played, after which refreshments were served. Twenty guests were present.

"How May We Know God's Will" was discussed by Earl Faber at the Christian Endeavor meeting of Trinity Reformed church Sunday evening. About 115 members were present. Next Sunday Henry Derksen will address the group on "How Unselfish Should We Be."

Miss Leona Knoll was in charge of the Christian Endeavor meeting at Fourth Reformed church Sunday evening. Her topic was "How May We Know God's Will." About thirty members were present.

Howard Scholten, student at Western Theological seminary, spoke on "How May We Know God's Will" at the senior Christian Endeavor meeting of Sixth Reformed church. About thirty members were present. Donna Hietje was in charge of the Junior Christian Endeavor meeting. Her topic was "Jesus, Tender Shepherd, Lead Us." Mildred Herman and Vera Vanderbeek sang a duet, "Bring Them In." "Give Him One of Your Cards, Bob!"

Two men in a sedan and a farmer and his boy in a smaller car had stopped on a country road for a short discussion of business in general. The farmer and one of the men from town were old friends. The other was unknown to him.

"Give Mr. Hartley one of your cards, Bob," suggested the farmer's friend. "You ought to do some business with him before long."

Now, if Bob had presented his card to Mr. Hartley, there would be little of interest to us in the transaction. But Bob did not have a card to give him!

Whatever your business or profession may be, you can't afford to be without a supply of personal cards. Your business is built by making yourself known favorably to a lot of people. When folks need, or consider, something in your line, you want them to think of you. If they have your card the chances are in your favor.

There is no better place in this community to get personal cards—for business, social or company use—than right at this newspaper office. Our prices will please you just as much as the cards. Let us prove it. You need them NOW!
