Explains Critical Paper Shortage To Local Group

Must Salvage Scrap To Aid Fighting Men, Warren Points Out

Holland's program for salvage of scrap paper was given new impetus Tuesday night with the appearance of F. E. Warren, salvage representative of the Grand Rapids district under the war production board, at a meeting in the OCD office in the city hall. He explained in detail the critical need for waste paper in war production.

Unless persons everywhere rally to see that scrap paper from homes and industry is salvaged, there may be delays next spring in sending supplies to troops overseas, Mr. Warren said, emphasizing that there are 700,000 different items made or wrapped in paper going to the armed forces.

Warren who is conducting a series of meetings throughout this section of the state as part of an emergency campaign, mentioned the campaign in 1942 in which so much paper was turned in that waste paper was a glut on the market. Since that time, however, he explained, no imported pulp is available, the manpower shortage has reduced labor in lumber mills in this country, and the demand for paper products has increased, both with the manufacture of paper products to replace vital metals, and also the huge amount of paper used in the war effort.

"Newspapers were the first to feel the pinch, and their supplies have been cut again and again," he said. "All newspapers have been most cooperative in all salvage campaigns and especially in the scrap paper drive."

The salvage representative displayed a number of cartons for the war effort, of which approximately 95 per cent was of recycled paper. These included various cartons for mechanical parts, cartons for dehydrated foods, bomb flares, blood plasma boxes and the K ration boxes. The latter also included the K rations for breakfast consisting of some type of toast, coffee, fruit bar, a can of meat and cigarettes. The K ration boxes may be in water 24 hours before the moisture penetrates.

Warren pointed out that Michigan with its large paper mills produces one-third of all paper cartons manufactured in the United States and in view of the fact that paper salvage is so vital in the war effort and also to keep the paper mills operating, everyone should be convinced that the burning or destruction of waste paper is sabotage.

During a question period, Supt. E. E. Fell of the public schools asked what could be done to save paper by stopping what he described as the non-essential flow of government bulletins to schools, newspapers and other places. Warren, although stating he was in no position to answer adequately, said steps were being taken to reduce the number of such federal releases.

Mayor Henry Geerlings who is directing the salvage program in Holland following the resignation of L. Phillip Van Hartsvelde announced that another waste paper collection will be held in Holland later this month, possibly Jan. 22. The last collection was held Dec. 27.

John Van Dam, Ottawa county salvage chairman, appointed a committee of Roy Lowing, Jenison, chairman, L. R. Arnold and Clarence Reenders of Grand Haven and Mayor Geerlings, to direct a waste paper drive in rural areas of the county. Grand Haven will have a pick-up next week, according to Martin Van Schelven, city chairman.

Fennville Farm Home Is Burned

Fennville, Jan. 13 (Special)—The farm house on the former Graydon Chapman place now owned by Martin Bielek, four and one-half miles southwest of here, with all its contents, was destroyed by fire Tuesday between 5 and 6 p.m. Mrs. Stanley Ainsley, who resides one-mile south of the Bielek place, noticed flames on the roof and called the Fennville fire department. She had been ill recently and, becoming confused when she noticed the flames, she did not immediately return to the house, causing some alarm as to her safety among the neighbors who gathered at the fire.

The family had occupied the home only about six weeks, the girls coming from Chicago where they kept house for two brothers now in service.

Estimate Damage In Hamilton Fire At Ten Thousand

American Reformed Church Completely Destroyed by Blaze

Hamilton, Jan. 13 (Special)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the American Reformed church and all its contents Monday night with damage estimated at $8,000 to $10,000, covered by insurance.

The fire was noticed about 7 p.m. by Donald Klein who was said to be visiting relatives next to the church. The fire started inside and by the time it was noticed had gained such headway that no furnishings could be saved. Fire departments of Hamilton and Overisel responded and laid a line of hose from the river which is near the church. Considerable water was poured on the flames.

No other structures in the vicinity were threatened as there was little or no wind. The fire burned for some time and was still smoldering at 9:30 p.m. It attracted numerous spectators.

Several improvements such as re-roofing, new furnace, electric organ and minor improvements had just been completed. The congregation had just canceled all debt on the church of which the Rev. Isaac Scherpinse has been pastor for several years. The parsonage is located next to the church and was not harmed.

It is doubtful that the church can be rebuilt because of priorities, it was said.

Thirty-Four Pass Screening Tests

Thirty-four of 49 youths passed a screening test in Holland Tuesday put on by the aviation cadet examining board through efforts of the Holland CAP squadron which aligned the group, most of whom were from Allegan and Fennville. Of the total group, eight were 16-year-olds and their scores do not count for the present. Four of the eight passed the tests.

Capt. Carl T. Olsen who conducted the test expressed satisfaction and "deepest appreciation for the efforts of the Holland CAP members for their extensive work in the procurement of air cadets in this area."

Three of the group who passed were from Holland, Henry G. Haringsma, Donald T. Jalving and Lloyd J. Riemersma. Jalving will serve as leader when the 27 qualified youths go to Fort Custer Jan. 19 for physical exams.

As part of the promotion program, CAP planes dropped literature over Holland, Zeeland, Saugatuck, Fennville, Allegan, Grand Haven and outlying areas. Capt. Olsen will probably return to Holland in two months to conduct another screening test.

Announce Quotas For City in Fourth War Loan Drive

Women Plan House Solicitation; Contest Is Arranged in HHS

All is in readiness for the opening of the fourth war loan drive here Jan. 18 through Feb. 15, Bond Chairman Frank M. Lievens said this week.

Holland city's share is $1,012,000 of the Ottawa county quota of $3,507,000. The national goal is 14 billion dollars, a million less than the goal of the third drive last September, but with a larger quota of individual investments totaling 5 1/2 billions, a half billion more than in September.

The campaign slogan for the fourth drive will be "Let's All Back the Attack," a slight variation of the "Back the Attack" slogan for the third drive. The special theme is "Sacrifice Every One to Buy Extra Bonds."

The southern half of Ottawa county is expected to raise 60 per cent or $2,104,000 of the county quota, according to assessed valuation, while the northern part of the county will raise 40 per cent. Further breakdowns have been compiled by B. P. Sherwood of Grand Haven, county bond chairman, and Clarence L. Jalving of Holland, who is in charge of bond sales other than to individuals.

Holland's quota which represents 47 per cent of the county quota is $1,012,000 and is broken down as follows: E bonds, $375,000; F and G's, $123,000; 2 and 2 1/2 per cent, $94,000; 3 and 3 1/2 per cent, $420,000. Total quotas and E quotas for other divisions in the district include: Holland township, $243,000 and $90,000; Park township, $213,000 and $80,000; Zeeland city, $154,000 and $60,000; Zeeland township, $135,000 and $50,000; Jamestown township, $105,000 and $42,000; Georgetown township, $128,000 and $36,000; Blenden township, $74,000 and $28,000; Olive township, $16,000 and $7,000; Port Sheldon, $24,000 and $12,000.

Block leaders of the office of civilian defense will participate in house-to-house solicitations, according to Mrs. W. J. Olive, chairman of the women's division of the local bond committee. Quotas also are being assigned various factories in E bond promotion.

A contest for newspaper articles is being carried on in Holland high school. Winning articles will be published in The Sentinel. The 100-word articles will be turned in by Thursday and will be judged by faculty members. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be awarded the winners. The Victory council which directs the bond drive in the high school is completing plans for the school campaign.

All block leaders will gather in Holland high school at 7 p.m. Friday to receive instructions and materials for the city-wide solicitation. Decision to participate in this manner was made at a meeting of zone chairmen and precinct wardens a few days ago under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. J. Van Dyke.

Other members of Mrs. Olive's committee are Mrs. Henry Carley, Mrs. Thomas Marselle, Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren, Mrs. Phillips Brooks and Mrs. J. J. Mikula. Mrs. Van Tongeren also heads a committee for women "gallants" who pledge themselves to sell at least $1,000 in E bonds. During the third drive, block leaders and "gallants" raised $70,075.

Board Delays Move to Cease Aid to Airport

Park Township May Try to Dispose of Site Informal Offer to City

Grand Haven, Jan. 13 (Special)—Following a lengthy discussion, the board of supervisors at its first January session Monday afternoon voted to continue the present setup at the Park township airport until the April session.

Charles Lowing, chairman of the airport committee, in submitting his report, said he had been informed by Charles R. Sligh, CAP commander, that an attempt was being made to induce the board of public works of Holland to take over the airport. Lowing said he understood two of the members are in favor of it and that the other two members had not as yet been approached. He explained there are now nine planes at the airport paying $10 a month rental each, and that the airport is now operating at a cost of about $175 per month.

Dick Nieuwma of Park township said a petition to dispose of the airport, signed by 12 persons, will be presented at a meeting of the township board tonight, and possibly may be brought before township citizens to determine whether they are in favor of disposing of the airport.

Mayor Henry Geerlings said he understood the board of public works would not sponsor the project and said he thought Park township was asking too much for the airport. Vernon D. Ten Cate said there is a nucleus of interest in the airport and that it would be a mistake if it becomes an orphan.

Chairman John Ter Avest stated that the board's appropriation was made as a patriotic gesture and in view of the fact that "it is now entirely commercial the county should not spend any more money on it." He stated that at the October session the supervisors notified the Holland Chamber of Commerce that the county wanted to dispose of the airport and that the supervisors wanted Holland city and Park township to solve the situation.

The present arrangement was explained by Mayor Henry Geerlings as a three-way setup for Park township, Ottawa county and Holland city. Park township airport was developed by Park township, but when the war training service unit under Hope college took over the airport in 1942, Holland city purchased a plot north of the airport for $6,000 and the supervisors supplemented the amount needed for airport operations at a rate of $250 a month.

The mayor said the township has offered to sell the airport to Holland for $10,300, but this will be definitely determined by township constituency before a formal offer is made.

The current problem arose when the glider training phase of the war as it applied to Hope and other

Christians Take Early Lead, Beat Zeeland, 30 to 19

Kool High Scorer for Maroons; Van Ommen Paces Chick Cagers

Jumping off to a 7-point lead in the first few minutes of play and increasing that lead to 12-3 by the end of the first quarter, the Maroons of Holland Christian high school annexed their third basketball victory, 30-19, in six games Friday night in a game against Zeeland high school at Zeeland.

Coach Herman Van Faasen substituted freely in a game that seemed marked as a Christian win after the first few minutes. All together Van Faasen used 11 players against Joseph Newell's tall Zeeland quintet.

The Chicks held the height advantage over CHS but could not break down a tight defense which the Maroons put up.

For Holland it was the fine floor play of Beelen and Wyn-garden which headed the attack. They managed to get the Maroons set up plays working with precision. Bill Kool, who as yet has not been scoring high although playing almost the full time, finally found the Zeeland baskets to his liking and scored 11 points to top both teams in scoring.

The Maroons held a 19-13 lead at the half and a 26-15 lead at the end of the third quarter. Jay Van Ommen was high scorer for Zeeland with 9 points.

Dr. H. Poppen Speaks To Consistorial Union

"Only when we face the future with Christian realism will we be able to create a post-war world with freedom for all," Dr. Henry Poppen told members of the Holland Consistorial Union at their regular quarterly meeting Tuesday night in Hope Reformed church.

Dr. Poppen told of his experiences in the 25 years of his ministry in China and especially of the past two years, most of which time he was interned by the Japanese, and said that "a new era with tremendous possibilities of development is arriving in the Orient."

"Three things mean more than ever to me today," he stated, "after my experiences with the Japanese. They are the loyalty and friendship of the Chinese people, the service rendered by the international Red Cross and the American democratic principle of dealing with people as individuals as contrasted with the Japanese idea of dealing with the masses."

Dr. Poppen returned to China about 27 months ago, and for more than 20 of them he was interned by the Japanese. At the time of his release he was one of 37 prisoners released from the 1,700 prisoners in the entire camp. He was interned with Rev. E. W. Koepe, also of Holland who was released several months previous, and returned to America in December on the Swedish liner, Gripsholm.

He told of conditions in Free China, where Christian missionaries still work, and said that at the present time the Chinese government is showing an interest in missions to the extent that they match every Chinese dollar spent by foreign mission boards with a dollar from government funds. He also said that even in occupied China religious conditions were not too bad. Although the church is under the supervision of the Japanese government and services must be conducted according to their wishes, Christians meet and the work of the kingdom is still being carried out.

Dr. Poppen was introduced by Dr. W. J. Van Kersen, retired district representative of the board of foreign missions.

In other business conducted at the meeting Rev. Henry Bast, student pastor at Hope college, reported on his work there and said that relations among the pastor, the civilian students and the army trainees have been remarkably beneficial to all concerned. Rev. Henry Van Dyke of Fourth Reformed church gave the closing prayer.

Peter Wiersma, president of the Consistorial Union, presided at the meeting and Miss Ruth Ann Poppen, student at Hope college, sang the aria "He Shall Feed His Flock," from Handel's Messiah. She was accompanied by Mrs. W. C. Snow.

Dr. Poppen also addressed the Holland Ministerial association earlier in the day.

Marriage of Interest To Fennville Friends

Fennville, Jan. 11 (Special) The marriage of Pfc. Woodrow Creason, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Creason, of Fennville, and Miss Maxine Harmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harmon, of Camden, was solemnized Saturday Jan. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Camden Methodist church. The Rev. Allen Bartlett, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride was lovely in her traditional bridal gown and veil of white, carrying white snapdragons and red roses. Her attendants, the Misses Helen Harmon and Marian DePeu of Camden and Mary Rawlinson of Kalamazoo, were gowned in pastel shades of blue, pink and lavender, and their flowers were pink snapdragons and sweet peas. The groom was assisted by his brother, Ensign William Creason of the Naval Training school at Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom and best man wore their regulation uniforms of the army and navy.

Measles Threat Seen in County

Grand Haven, Jan. 11 (Special) - Reports from The Ottawa County health department have indicated that a severe outbreak of measles is covering the greater part of the eastern part of the county. The epidemic first began in Georgetown where 86 cases were reported. Present cases are in Blenden and Tallmadge with a few cases in some of the other townships.

It is quite likely that measles will continue to spread and involve the rest of the county since there has been a large number of exposures.

Children ill of measles are isolated for about 10 days during which time they should be well protected against cold, the county health department said. The incubation period of measles is about 12 days. One attack of measles in most cases gives lifetime protection against the disease. Children who had measles are allowed to continue to go to school and children who have been exposed are required to remain at home for at least two weeks.

Immune serum is available for protection. It should be given as soon after the child is exposed to the measles as possible, not later than after the fifth day of exposure. It is recommended that it be given to preschool children, especially in case it is the opinion of the physician that an attack of measles would be dangerous.

Complications are not common after measles. Pneumonia is the most common complication and this can be prevented in many cases by good nursing care during the attack.

Third Church Is Scene of Kaniff-Geerlings Wedding

In a pretty wedding solemnized Saturday at 4 p.m. in Third Reformed church Miss Beatrice Geerlings, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Geerlings, 35 East 12th St., became the bride of Carl Kaniff, son of Elia Kaniff, of Detroit. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Van't Hof.

Vows were exchanged before the altar which was banked with palms, ferns, baskets of white chrysanthemums and pom poms and seven branch candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Hazel Anne Oelen, organist, played "Ave Maria," "The Rosary," and "Liebestraum," and accompanied Miss Edna Dalman as she sang "Because" and "At Dawning." Miss Dalman also sang "The Lord's Prayer," while the couple knelt at the altar. Miss Oelen played the Lohengrin wedding march as the wedding party assembled and Mendelssohn wedding march for a recessional.

The bride was lovely in a gown of ivory brocade satin fashioned with fitted bodice buttoned in back to the low waistline, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves which ended in points at the wrists. The full skirt extended into a long train. Her fingertip veil of tulle edged with wide lace was caught in a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and Killarney roses.

Miss Fritz Jonkman, wearing a gown of daffodil yellow and blue sheer, served as maid of honor. Miss Leona De Good, of Grand Rapids, as bridesmaid wore a blue net gown fashioned with lace bodice and Miss Lois Mull, also of Grand Rapids, as junior bridesmaid, wore pale pink chiffon. All wore flower headresses to match their cascade arm bouquets of snapdragons, carnations, daffodils and forget-me-nots.

Little Sharon Van Eerden, as flower girl, wore a dress of yellow net made with fitted bodice and long full skirt. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Fennville
(From Tuesday's Sentinel)
Of unusual interest to Mrs. Clarence Huyser was the letter she received from her son, Waldyve W. Roberts, last Wednesday. He has been in England the last few weeks, located about 75 miles from the old home of his mother in the picturesque and quaint section known as Cornwall. When he was in England the first time prior to going into the North African campaign he was so busy he could not get away to visit there and did not see any of his relatives in that country. The recent letter told her he had been there on a four-day pass and visited the home of her brother, Robert Mills, a retired British naval submarine commander of World War I. He served in the English navy 21 years and has been retired nearly 19 years. He took part in many important engagements of that war.

While he does not occupy the parental homestead, he lives not far from the large old house, built nearly 250 years ago of granite blocks, the rooms with heavy beamed ceilings. Waldyve's visit was somewhat saddened, for while there he first learned of the accidental death of his uncle, Archie Mills, here.

His uncle in England is planning to come here to visit his sisters after the war. He planned to come now, but a lingering illness of his wife and her death prevented.

Mrs. Huyser has not seen this brother for 46 years, although it was only 34 years ago that she left England to come to this country. In the times when she was there and could have seen him he would be away, doubtless on his sailing work.

Leon McCarty, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCarty, doubtless thinks fate is against him in the line of his recreational sports and activities. Last Wednesday night while practicing basketball a bone in his right foot was broken. He cannot tell whether he was injured when he came down after jumping for a basket, or whether someone stepped on his foot as he came down. The doctor could not be gotten until the next afternoon. He is now obliged to wear a cast for several weeks and get about on crutches.

Three or four years ago one of their horses stepped on his foot, and he spent several weeks on crutches. Then two years ago this winter when he and another boy were having fun with a tractor ed his skull, and he was in a serious condition for a number of weeks in a Kalamazoo hospital. On his return then to school he was obliged to wear a football helmet as a protection for the rest of the school year.

The body of Mrs. Florence McCormick, 77, widow of Sam McCormick, was brought here Wednesday for burial in the McCormick lot of Fennville cemetery beside her husband. Mrs. McCormick lived here on the farm now owned by Charles Judy a mile and a half south of the village leaving here about 25 years ago, and residing since that time in Kalamazoo where she died. Jacob De Pree, who has been confined to Holland hospital for the past two weeks, returned to his home, 48 West 13th St., yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Stephan Putnam, 78 East Eighth St., underwent an operation at Holland hospital on Thursday. Her condition is reported to be satisfactory.

Sgt. Nicholas J. Rowan of Campbell Army Air field, Ky., arrived in Holland Friday to spend a 12-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Rowan, 179 East 16th St.

Fred Scheibach, route 4, who has been ill at his home for the past two and one-half weeks, has recovered and is again at his work.

The first robin to brave the icy blasts of "spring" was seen about 8 a.m. today by Gerrit Van Dyke, 68 West 16th St., near his home.

Marjorie Ann Berghorst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Berghorst, 62 West First St., is in a slightly improved condition in Holland hospital where she is ill of pneumonia.

Intelligencer-Leader to Be Known as Church Herald
Beginning with the first issue of 1944, the 114-year-old Intelligencer-Leader, official weekly publication of the Reformed Church in America, will be called the Church Herald. Selection of the name was made by the publication committee and submitted to the editorial council which gave its unanimous approval following a decision to change the name reached during a meeting of the General Synod of the Reformed church last June at Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

Publication of a paper in the Reformed church began in 1826 when Dr. William Crag Brounlee started a monthly in the interests of the church. This magazine lasted four years and was taken over by the church, changed into a weekly and named the Christian Intelligencer. The latter paper continued until 1934 when it was merged with another church paper originating in the western section called the Leader. After ten years, the name is now changed to the Church Herald. Dr. B. J. Mulder is the editor.

DOMESTIC ISSUES IN 1944

Senator Brewster, Maine Republican, predicts that the 1944 presidential campaign will be fought out on domestic issues.
There is no fundamental difference of opinion, he holds, on difference of policy. There are of course differences on details, but on the main issue the Republicans are as forthright as the Democrats.
There can hardly be a Republican in a place of responsibility who does not favor prosecuting the war with the utmost vigor so that it will be brought to a close at the earliest moment.

The Democratic high command
will of course try hard to make it appear that only that party can be trusted with America's foreign policy. President Wilson, 25 years ago, had the same idea. After the millions of the rank and file of the Republican party had shown by their sacrifices that they were as determined as was the president himself to fight the war in a non-partisan spirit, Wilson slapped them in the face. The result is history; the real reason for the Wilson tragedy was Wilson's own inability to be the president of the American people rather than the president of his party.

It is in the very nature of things that the party now in power will repeat that mistake. If the Democratic high command can persuade enough voters that the Republicans cannot be trusted in our foreign relations, the Democrats will have a change to win. It would not be in accordance with human nature for the Democratic high command not to try. Political parties, quite naturally, want to win elections.

But the Republicans of the nation do not need to make any apologies for their war efforts; as many of their boys are dying as
are boys of the party in power.
The Republicans are as determined as are the Democrats to make this war really settle something.
Any first class Republican now in the public eye could be trusted to uphold the interests and honor of America in finishing the war and in reshaping the new world. The assertions to the contrary are so obviously political that their true nature should be plain to any citizen who can look at the world with his own eyes.

So it will of necessity be "domestic issues" that the voter will have to consider next November.
Is he satisfied with the New Deal's home policies? Does he feel that the government can't be run efficiently without an army of more than three million federal employees? Does he think that we Americans are ready for a state of disguised socialism? Is he convinced that the capitalist system should be replaced by a Polish type of social organization? Does he agree with Washington that a successful businessman is of necessity a criminal? Does he believe that our schools and our colleges,
our hospitals and other social services should all be controlled from Washington? Is he convinced that we Americans can't think for ourselves but must be controlled from above?

Those are some of the "domestic issues" that will confront the voter. It is questions such as these that he must answer before he can vote intelligently next November.

Jesus Answers His Critics
—Mark 2: 23; 3: 6
By Henry Geerlings

The more aggressive Jesus became the more determined were His critics to put an end to His labors. And this came about because His spirit was as different from theirs as day is different from night. His religion had to do with the heart, while theirs concerned externals. His consisted in positives, theirs in negatives.
He came to minister, while they believed it was their duty to see to it that they were ministered unto.

When our Lord realized that it was impossible for them to be satisfied with anything He did,
he went about His work with little thought of them and their plans. He had His life to live and His ministry to perform. He well knew that they could not lay their hands on Him until His work was accomplished, and that only when His hour came could they lead Him out and nail Him to a cross and watch Him die.

The incident in this lesson took place on a sabbath morning when Jesus and His disciples were on their way home from the synagogue service. It also probably fell in the spring of the year when the grain was ripening. You will remember how in the parable of the sower some of the seed fell by the wayside, that is, on hard beaten paths that were made across the fields by wagons or the feet of men. Grain grew right along the path on both sides, and the disciples who perhaps had not eaten any food before the service, were hungry and attempted to satisfy that hunger
by eating some grain they had rubbed out of wheat and barley heads in their hands.

The Pharisees were again ready to find fault with Him, not on the basis of any teaching in the law of Moses, for it permitted
such a thing, but on their own interpretation which they had added to God's law without any authority. The so-called transgression was heinous in their eyes. They would not have done
it. They had been known to do rather than break their man-made laws in respect to the Sabbath. It is doubtful if Jesus plucked any grain. At any rate the charge is against the disciples.

We are enough removed from the days of religious conduct to see how the Jewish leaders had judged the Sabbath about with their useless and senseless restrictions. It was the Sabbath day they were anxious to preserve.
They did not seem to care what enormous burdens they placed on the hearts of their people. They had multiplied the offenses against the Sabbath. It was wrong to travel more than three fourths of a mile on the Sabbath. It was wrong to kill any kind of an insect, to write two letters of the alphabet, to use a wooden leg or a crutch, to carry a purse, or a seal ring, or a smelling bottle, or a high headdress, or to save an animal from suffering. We are told that there were nearly forty prohibitions of this kind. The Jewish leaders failed to realize that the Sabbath had been ordained as a source of helpfulness and not as a burden crushing the life out of man.

When Christ said that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath, he laid down a fundamental principle. It is more than a pronouncement
on an incidental act and event in the life of the disciples. He placed human being above human regulations. He was not econom-istic, and did not oppose rules,
regulations and laws in general.
He took the incident in the lesson to indicate that many of the regulations of the Pharisees stressed externals rather than motives. Thus it is that the Sabbath exists for the purpose of being of service to mankind.
There are some regulations to be adhered to, but the essential thing is that the spirit of regulations should be exalted above their mere observance.

We will use the day to best advantage by preserving its spiritual meaning. This will mean that we will make reservations
in the day for attending divine worship, receiving instruction in the Bible, and engaging in works of mercy. We will seek to avoid all unnecessary labor, and to free others from such labor insofar
as the complexity of our civilization will make possible. We will exalt the right uses of the day,
without exercising too much fault-finding upon the wrong use of the day.

We should preserve the Lord's day for essentially religious purposes. This will mean that we will make it a day of worship of God. This will be uppermost in the chief worship services in whatever organizations meet on this day.

It is not easy to explain the anger here attributed to Jesus. It was not mere passion, but rather grief and distress of mind over the stubborn and unfeeling attitude his enemies had taken. Anger is thoroughly compatible with love. The love that is purest and strongest is moved most deeply against hypocrisy and immorality and it resists most keenly
the closed mind and the hardened heart.

Marine Gunner From Saugatuck Home on Leave

In Action at Munda And Guadalcanal; Has Wound in His Knee

Ray Wilson, salty young marine who considers himself "just one of the guys over there" and who likes his "jamoke" (coffee) with "just a little blackout and plenty of sand" is spending a 30-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson of Saugatuck about 14 months of overseas duty. He participated in aerial operations over Guadalcanal as an aerial gunner on an SBD Dauntless dive bomber and also took part in some of the first bombing raids on Munda in April and May.

Wilson was recently released from a convalescent hospital in Santa Cruz, California and will report to a hospital in Palm Beach, Fla., for further treatment upon the expiration of his leave. He was wounded in the knee by shrapnel during one of the Jap air raids which occurred as often as two or three times a day, he said. A member of a marine air wing which landed on Guadalcanal in September, 1942, Wilson was based at Henderson field. The Dauntless, he said, carries a two-man crew, pilot and gunner, and is used mainly for bombing missions with fighter escort.

Describing rugged conditions on the island, Wilson said, "Morale of the men overseas is high. When new ships and supplies came in, we stood in a group and on the beach and cheered like a crowd at a football game." Asked if he had collected any souvenirs during his battle experiences, he said, "No.

I didn't have time. I brought back just myself and my dog tag and was thankful to be able to do that."

Waxing a bit humorous about his life on "the canal," Wilson described the size of the pestiferous mosquitoes by saying, "One night I was lying awake thinking when two flew in the door of the tent, lit the candle and looked me over. I heard one say to the other, 'What do you think, shall we eat him here or take him down to the river?' The other mosquito replied, 'Naw, let's eat 'im here, because if we take him down to the big ones might take him away from us.'"

The men registered great emotion when the ship returning them to America passed under a huge bridge at a west coast port, he said. Wilson had helped one of his buddies who had lost both arms in the fighting, up on deck and the two noticed a girl standing on the bridge waving at the ship. Unable to wave back but joyful at the thought of being home once more, his pal said, "Turn me over on my back so I can kick my feet at her."

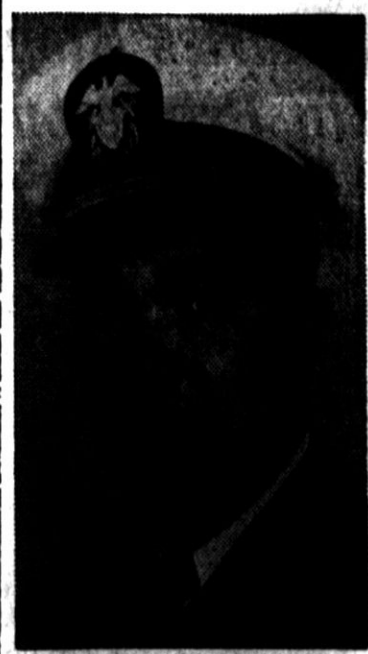

Wilson also said he and some of the marines he had met in boot camp, together with other Michigan men, had a sort of "reunion" when they met once on Guadalcanal. He wears the campaign ribbons for American defense, American theater of war, Asiatic and southwest Pacific and the presidential citation besides two gold stars, representing two major battles, Guadalcanal and Munda.

Enlisting in the marine corps on Jan. 16, 1942, Wilson took his boot training in "Dago," (San Diego, Calif.) He hopes to apply for flight training as a member of the marine air corps. He has two brothers serving in the army, one stationed at Orlando field, Fla. and the other at Fresno, Calif.

Rev. Koeppe Tells Orient Conditions

The Rev. Edwin W. Koeppe, substituting at the last moment for Dr. Henry Poppen, addressed 450 men of Holland Monday night in Bethel Reformed church on his recent experiences in the Orient.

He told of Americans and Britons being interned in China, part of the time in concentration camps and part of the time as prisoners in their own homes, and contrasted former conditions in Shanghai with those of today. He stated that, whereas a year ago prisoners in Shanghai were allowed the freedom of the international settlement and the French settlement, today all British and Americans in Shanghai are held in concentration camps. This change, he said, was due in most part to treatment of the Japanese in America.

He said the United States can contribute much to the making of fair and just peace terms for the peoples of the Pacific and Far East areas and said that only if they are given a chance to make an adequate living can the peace be a lasting one.

Rev. Koeppe arrived in the United States with a group of interned prisoners on the Gripsholm about a year ago. Previous to that time he was imprisoned with Dr. Poppen, who was not released until a few months ago.

The men at the meeting, who were guests of the Bethel Men's society, contributed $185 to be used for China relief.

Holland Downs Muskegon At Its Own Game, 38-30

Shows Plenty of Scrap In Forging Into Lead After Tie Near End

Friday's Games
Holland 38, Muskegon 30.
Muskegon Heights 39, Benton Harbor 29.
Kalamazoo 32, Grand Haven, 22.

Holland high school hung a smarting basketball defeat on Coach Harry Potter's Muskegon Reds Friday night in Holland armory, 38-30, in a game which was packed with thrills and spills from beginning to end.

The Dutchmen defeated the Muskies at their own game of scrap and drive as they out-batted the Reds at every opportunity and poured on a relentless barrage at the basket before approximately 1,200 screaming basketball fans.

Lunging out of a two-game losing streak, the Hollanders, paced by the outstanding play of Kenny De Waard, battled the Reds with a near-tie game until the final quarter when the locals pulled out of a 23-23 deadlock with 15 points to Muskegon's seven. Earl Folkert rang up 7 points for Holland in the final frame.

Coach Malcolm Mackay's prediction that the local cagers would "take" Muskegon was more than true as the Dutchmen outclassed the Reds in every department except foul shooting.

The Holland five took on the appearance of a first-rate quint as Coach Mackay used substitutes frequently and with considerable tact. All in all he used eight players almost equally and had the Dutchmen maintaining a man-to-man advantage over the Reds even after Van Dyke and Zuverink were forced out of action in the third quarter on fouls.

Starting honoror or Holland went to versatile De Waard who played spectacular ball from the opening whistle on. He scored 16 points and from practically every place in the front court.

John Bos turned out to be the surprise of the evening for the Dutchmen. With the able assistance of practically the whole Holland team, the tall lad controlled the backboards in fine fashion.

Borr, Krikke and Benz, although scoring few points provided much of the Dutch fight.

The outstanding player for the Muskies was Rex Moore. He missed a lot of shots but seemed to be the most consistent threat to the Hollanders. Nick Yorker was high for the Reds with 10 points.

On account of illness, Mrs. Forrest Burchfield of Plainwell was obliged to cancel her speaking engagement at the Fennville Woman's club Wednesday. The committee was able to get Miss Catherine Gross of Benton Harbor, a member of the Berrien county speakers' bureau, who was scheduled to speak here at the Feb. 2 meeting, her topic being "South America. Our Neighbor." She brought a number of interesting souvenirs garnered on a trip to that continent extending from October, 1940, to the spring of 1941. She made the trip first down the west coast, then up the east, "leaving the best part until last," Miss Gross said. Miss Gross is a retired teacher of many years' experience, both in Seattle and in Benton Harbor. She has always had a hobby for travel, and besides the South American trip she has made an extended one to the Orient besides many shorter ones, including Hawaii and Cuba.

While her travels have given her an appreciation of the extent of the world, she related meeting people of her own vicinity in the (From Friday's Sentinel) least expected places. One of these incidents occurred in South America, when a man hearing her casually mention Seattle, told her he had a nephew in Seattle with children in school. Inquiry revealed that the children had actually been pupils of Miss Gross.

Miss Gross was introduced by Mrs. K. R. Landsburg, who had known her in Eau Claire when she frequently visited her sister, Mrs. C. D. Birkhoff, neighbor of the Landsburgs. The sister accompanied Miss Gross here, and both were entertained at dinner that night by Mr. and Mrs. Landsburg. Hostesses for the club were Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Jacob DeGues, Mr. Ernie Crane, Mrs. Thomas Fisher and Mrs. John Heavlin.

Must Raise 14 Billion in Bond Drive

"Our government must borrow 14 billion dollars in the next few weeks," Mayor Henry Geerlings said today in urging residents to support the fourth war loan campaign starting Jan. 18.

"It looks like a very large amount, coming so close upon the last bond drive," he stated. "Let us face the facts frankly. All of us must lead this money."

"The treasury is urging that the same organization which did such an outstanding job in the previous drives continue to function in the coming effort. We are facing the greatest conflagration in world history. We can't all be firemen in uniform, but at least we can join the bucket brigade, the bond brigade, to furnish the sand to quench the fire."

"In this war we have made a good start. More men trained, more weapons made, more ships built than our enemies thought possible. They had the idea we were too soft to make the necessary sacrifices. They were mistaken. However, what we have done up to this point is not enough. We must build more. We must fight more. We must lend more."

"America broke all records building millions of tons of shipping in 1943. But grim-faced army and navy men tell us that these millions are not sufficient. Moreover, in ever increasing numbers, brothers, sons, husbands must go into actual battle. Casualty lists have begun to mount. They will not grow less."

"We have all bought bonds in the past. But we must continue to buy. In the next few weeks you will be visited by a representative of the fourth war loan drive. Buy from him when he calls. Or better still, don't wait. Visit your bank now and invest in these bonds."

"Getting behind this big fourth war loan drive means more self-denial for all of us—fewer luxuries. Yet how humble we at home must feel in making a sacrifice when compared with that great offering our men are making on a dozen fighting fronts."

John Swets Discusses Youth Problems at Club

"Youth Problems" were brought to the attention of the Woman's Literary club members on Tuesday afternoon, when John A. Swets, assistant superintendent of the Boys' Vocational school at Lansing, gave glimpses into the life of boys who were under his care. In his talk Mr. Swets reviewed the history of the institution, told of the program carried out for the 500 youths, gave the causes of their delinquency, and pleaded for their rehabilitation.

The speaker believed that the only way to understand a boy is to diagnose his difficulties and find out why he behaves as he does. Many of the youths are of the emotionally disturbed type, others have home problems, still others "hated school." It takes rare understanding, said the superintendent, to give the individual help each boy needs.

The vocational school is housed in 14 cottages stretching the length of Pennsylvania Ave., in the state capital. Each house has 35 youths as its quota, and there is also a reception or "intake" cottage and a disciplinary hall. The type of discipline that seems most effective is not force, but the granting of special privileges for continued good conduct, explained the speaker.

Academic work for the younger boys, half-day work for older youths, religious instruction by a full-time chaplain, and the effort to make the school really home-like, belong to the program of rehabilitation, according to Mr. Swets. Giving children a sense of security, encouraging them in their efforts, taking time to be pals with them, and not trying to project them into the "horse and buggy age," will help to solve most home problems, continued the speaker.

In closing, the boys' friend pleaded for better homes, more support for the schools and teachers, and a civic betterment effort that will make the community a place that will help youth to make lives worth living.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Randall Bosch, vice-president of the club, presided. She introduced Mrs. Paul E. Hinkamp, co-worker of Mrs. E. V. Hartman, whose death occurred within the week. Mrs. Hinkamp paid glowing tribute to her friend, for her loyal, lovable, sympathetic, and useful life in the community, and pledged all the members of the club to follow where Mrs. Hartman's example should lead.

A dessert meeting of the public affairs group was held at 1:15 p.m. in the club house with Mrs. Bruce Raymond presiding. Mrs. Lloyd Reed reported on the progress of the "youth" committee and Mrs. George A. Peigum told of the success of the USO project. Mrs. Henry Steffens and Mrs. E. C. Brooks of the drama group attended the meeting.

Country Club Hill Is Reopened

Through efforts of the Ottawa county sheriff's department, the popular Holland Country club grounds was reopened on Wednesday for winter sports following investigations into vandalism on the private property which was closed Christmas day.

Following final negotiations Monday, owners of the club turned over the "key" to the sheriff's department which hereafter will assign deputies to the hill when it is open for sports. Anyone violating reasonable rules such as destroying trees, shrubbery, damaging lawn or greens, using obscene language or drinking, will be removed from the premises or prosecuted, the sheriff's department said.

Sheriff William Boeve, Deputy Edward Brouwer and Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff Monday erected a fence for parking. No parking will be permitted on the north side of the drive leading to the clubhouse.

Sheriff's officers have rounded up seven or eight youths, all under 15, from Zeeland and vicinity who, officers say, have admitted doing the damage responsible for closing the grounds to the public. The culprits will be required to pay the damage and take consequences of whatever further action is to be taken, according to officers.

In defense of the property owners who have been severely criticized by many, sheriff's officers explained that vandalism began much earlier this year and was much more serious than in previous years when the owners usually spent from $100 to $200 to clean up the place, repair greens and lawns and replace shrubbery and windows.

Just before Christmas, shrubbery was destroyed, a tree was damaged, windows were broken by snowballs, a piano was damaged by broken glass and snow, a chime clock was damaged, and both glass and snow were found on upholstered furniture.

The Holland police force has offered full cooperation to the sheriff's department. Both are concerned in providing recreational facilities for youth of the vicinity in an attempt to curb delinquency.

A large flood light will be installed on the grounds and a guard house will be erected for use by the deputies. Chief Van Hoff said the condition of the snow on the hill was fine Monday.

Any groups desiring to arrange special parties may contact Deputy Brouwer in Holland.

Dr. Wichers Addresses Holland Century Club

The importance of the significance of Yugoslavia, the "kingdom of southern slaves," in the world picture was discussed by Dr. Wichers, Hope college president, before members of Century club, meeting Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay H. Den Herder on East 24th St.

Laying the ground work for his conclusions on the necessity of a plan for working out the economic needs of its people, Dr. Wichers traced the history of the small Baltic nation on the Eastern shore of the Adriatic. From its creation after World War I from three main elements—Serbians, Croats and Slovenes—this little country of 13 million people in a space approximately the size of the state of Oregon, has been torn apart by political interests, he explained.

The hard sledding of the post-war years led to more serious trouble by 1934 which marked the assassination in France of King Alexander VI. "Sold down the river" at Munich, revolution followed. Then came the crucial delay of 12 days in the acceptance of Hitler's demands which was of supreme importance in the affairs of Russia and the Allies.

Dr. Wichers pointed out how Mikhailovitch, leader of one resistance group, and Tito, partisan leader, have been vital cogs in their country's destiny.

When the present war is over, what will happen to Yugoslavia? the speaker asked. Can it be neutralized, or Sovietized? Dr. Wichers opined that some kind of unity will be necessary to make it a stronger state; there must be some link with Russia.

To work out the economic needs of its people, to solve its baffling problems, a definite statement and a strong agreement on the problems of the Baltic countries must be made soon by the United States, Great Britain and Russia, the speaker declared.

As an additional feature of the program, a quartet composed of Mrs. Peter Veltman, Mrs. Harold Schaap, Miss Anna Mae Maatman, Miss Phyllis Stout and Miss Eleanor Meyer, sang several selections, with Mrs. Martha Robbins accompanying. Their numbers were "Annie Laurie," "Lullaby," by Hawley, "The Last Rose of Summer" (unaccompanied), "God Touched the Rose," by Brown, "The Rosary," Nevin, and "The Brownies," by Stebbins.

Arrangements for the music were made by Mrs. E. J. Yeomans. Mrs. H. L. Dunwoody is the director of the quartet.

Marvin L. Lindeman, club president, presided.

Following the program a social hour was in charge of Mrs. W. M. Tappan. Mrs. James Ossewaarde, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Van Leuven, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McBride.

First in Lecture Series By Dr. Mackay Heard

Dr. John A. Mackay delivered the first of his series of lectures on the John L. Bussing lecture foundation Wednesday night in Netting Memorial chapel of Western seminary. His subject was "John Calvin and Modern Protestantism."

The speaker declared that John Calvin and Calvinism are acknowledged by those outside of the Reformed faith as the vital power that developed and maintained Protestantism in the western world. Its potent influence may be seen today in Karl Barth who was the first to oppose Hitler in Germany. In America also prominent teachers and preachers are emphasizing the teachings of Calvin.

The lecturer showed that Calvin found his source of authority in the word of God. Said Calvin, "God has spoken, the everlasting silence has been broken, the veil of mystery has been taken away." Yet this message of God can only be grasped by the regenerated, searching soul. Dr. Mackay believed that at this point there were hopeful signs in American Christianity for there is a return to Biblical religion and Biblical realism.

John Calvin, according to the speaker, established four great emphases. The first was a great conceived and constructed theology. The second was his emphasis upon sincere piety which is symbolized by the flaming heart. The third need was pure morality manifested by the believer in society. Every Christian must represent some ethical value for the community of which he is a part. The last emphasis was Calvin's devotion to and love for the universal church. He never regarded his church as a sect, but rather the heir of true historic Christianity.

Dr. Mackay urged his hearers to make these principles of Calvin realities in the church today. "Let there be no rest," he said, "until there be peace in Zion and there be unity in Christ and we move forward in Him whose kingdom shall have no end."

Dr. John R. Mulder presided and presented the speaker to the audience. Pvt. Roy E. Berry, member of the A.S.T.P. of Hope college, sang "My Task" by Asile, accompanied by Miss Myra Kleis.

Other lectures by Dr. Mackay are scheduled for today at 4 p.m., Friday at 4, and Saturday at 9 a.m.
