Ottawa Girl Bound to Circuit Court

3 Witnesses Called At Examination on Negligent Homicide

Judith Kay Schuler, 17-year-old Grand Haven girl charged with negligent homicide in connection with a three-car crash last Dec. 13, was bound over to Circuit Court at an examination in Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Schuler was charged following the death of six-month-old Michael John Wiciso of Mt. Prospect, Ill., which occurred 24 hours after the crash on US-31 a half mile south of West Olive.

Municipal Judge Cornelius vander Meulen ordered Miss Schuler's $1,000 bond continued for her appearance in the higher court next Monday.

Only three witnesses were called in the examination which lasted an hour and a half. Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith of Holland, whose station wagon was one of the three vehicles in the crash, testified briefly. Court Stenographer Daniel Vander Werf, Jr., riding with Smith, gave more detailed testimony.

The other witness was 17-year-old Margo Clevenger of Grand Haven who was riding with Miss Schuler. Testimony revealed that Miss Schuler's convertible passed the Smith station wagon at a high rate of speed, then went out of control several hundred feet ahead. The oncoming car, a 1958 model driven by Julian Wiciso, "touched" the left rear of the Schuler convertible and then crashed into the Smith station wagon.

Judge and Mrs. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Vander Werf were taken to Holland Hospital and Mrs. Wiciso and four children were taken to Grand Haven Municipal Hospital. The baby died 24 hours later en route to a Grand Rapids Hospital. Wiciso, the driver, escaped injuries. The other three Wiciso children were only slightly injured.

Prosecutor James W. Bussard handled the case for the people and Harvey Scholten, Grand Haven attorney, represented the defense. Photographs of damaged vehicles were introduced as evidence.

Miss Schuler is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Schuler of Grand Haven.

Fire Chief William Bushee estimated loss at $4,000 to $5,000, said to be covered by insurance.

Last Sunday at 9 a.m. the rural fire department responded to a call at the former Signor farm home a mile south of the village. Two men occupy the home, one of whom, George Sabaris, is the owner. He stated they heard the noise of crackling flames 45 minutes before the fire was discovered. The interior of the house was badly gutted. The $3,000 loss is covered by insurance.

Sen. Geerlings Fights Boost On Intangibles

State Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings of Holland, a vocal opponent of Gov. Williams' tax plans, reiterated his stand today on opposing the increase on the intangibles tax... and backed up his sentiments by excerpts from his mail received from people all over the state who oppose the proposed move.

"Evidently the governor is switching from his usual corporations profits tax to an income tax. If an emergency does exist, and I am not convinced that one does since the Governor has indicated one almost each session that I have been in Lansing, I would say that it is of his own making. The legislature kept its appropriations within its own revenue estimates. His estimate for the sales tax was $348 million, $75 million for the business receipts tax and $52 million for the corporation franchise tax."

"The governor should shoulder the responsibility for the fact that a realistic estimate for the sales tax is $312 million, $69 million for business activities tax and $49 million for corporation franchise tax." Geerlings' mail quotes came from residents in Detroit, Orchard Lake, Dearborn, Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Belleville and Alma. Most writers were retired persons dependent on returns from their investments and deeply concerned over what a higher tax would do to their income.

Band Shell Soon a Reality For Holland's Kollen Park

The new bandshell at Kollen Park is rapidly taking shape these days.

The project, the result of years of planning and campaigning for funds, is expected to be completed well before the scheduled date of May 1, and it is expected several Tulip Time events will be scheduled there during the 1958 festival.

The band shell is being built on the upper level of the park a short distance from the memorial cross planting not far from 12th St. The band shell faces northeast. Dimensions are 50 feet across the front, 40 feet across the back, 24 feet deep, 19 feet high in front, 15 feet high in the rear. There will be three risers, and the rear wall will be eight feet high leaving a seven-foot opening.

Construction will be of redwood. The laminated arches are of four-inch solid timber with a deck on the underside of the arches.

The band shell program was largely sparked by the Band Boosters Club which carried on several projects to raise funds.

Representing City Council on the committee were Robert Kouw and William Heeringa. Representing the band parents were LaVerne Rudolph, James Crozier, Carl Carlson, and Music Director Art Hills. Kammeraad and Stroop are architects.

Dutch Edge Kazoo, 67-62 In Tough Test

Moving into undisputed first place in the MIAA was the reward the Hope College basketball team received Tuesday night in Civic Center for its 67-62 winning effort over Kalamazoo College before 2,300 fans.

But the win didn't come easy. It was by far the hardest game the Dutch have had in four MIAA tests and the Hornets showed that they may be heard from in future conference battles. They now have a 2-2 league mark.

The Dutch couldn't shake the "layoff" for the second straight game and seemed to be bothered by the two-week vacation. Against Central State last Saturday night, Hope also seemed to be sluggish in spots.

It was not until 5:37 remained in the game that the Dutch came to life. At that point Ray Ritsema slammed through a layup that put Hope ahead 57-54 and from then on they were in command. Two foul shots by Jun Buursma had put Hope ahead 55-54 a minute earlier.

From then on Ritsema took charge and the rest of the Hope team was right with him. The 6' 5" sophomore grabbed most of the rebounds, picked up three points and got the offense moving. He led Hope in scoring with 16 points.

Kalamazoo was then forced to go after the ball and fouled with the result that Hope picked up its final five points on free shots in the last minute and a half. Buursma and Darrel Beernik made two foul shots each and Wayne Vriesman one. Beernik again stood out with his floor play.

Prior to the final five minutes Hope wasn't picking up many rebounds, was off on shooting and not getting tips. The Dutch hit 27 of 92 shots in the game for a poor 29 per cent. They made 15 of 60 in the first half and 12 of 32 in the final 20 minutes.

Warren Vander Hill, usually the paceman for the Hope scorers, had an off night and the rest of the team seemed effected by it especially in the first half.

Coach Russ De Vette made a gamble and it paid off. He chose to pull 6' 11" inch center Paul Benes with 11:04 remaining in the game. Benes was also having trouble with his shooting and was missing out on some of the rebounding.

Benes came through with 11 points in the first half and gave Hope a narrow 32-31. Hope trailed 18-17 at the ten-minute mark but the lead changed hands 11 times before intermission.

After leading 8-3 in the first five minutes, Hope missed several tips and lost rebounds and made only one point in the next three minutes while the Hornets jumped to a 13-9 lead.

Kalamazoo had its plan of rotation in motion from the start. The Hornets would weave until getting an opening and then fire. They were aided by Atis Grinbergs and Walt Moser getting many of the rebounds along with some good shooting around the foul line in the first half by John Thompson and Bob Brice, who each had three baskets.

The Hornets used this offense going in the second half and jumped to a 39-34, their biggest spread, with four minutes gone.

Kalamazoo made 13 of its 34 shots in the first half and duplicated these figures in the second half for 38 per cent. Maser led the Hornets with 18 points, 13 of them in the second half.

Each team had 12 fouls charged against them. For a 10 minute period from 2:33 in the first half to 12:53 in the second half, a foul wasn't called.

Hope made 11 of 14 free shots and Buursma led with five for five. The Hornets sank 10 of 13.

The Dutch face another tough test Saturday night at Adrian when they tangle with the unbeaten Bulldogs. Adrian has a 3-0 league record and 5-0 overall.

Firms Should Register With Chamber Here

The Chamber of Commerce is making an appeal to all persons in small businesses in Holland area that have not registered with the Chamber office.

Many of the operators of these businesses are operating as a side line. They have established a mailing address and a firm name. These are placed in the post office, but not with the Chamber of Commerce.

Post office officials are not allowed to give names and addresses to individuals seeking the whereabouts of other persons or industries.

If these industries or businesses are not registered with the Chamber, it may mean the loss of a sale.

This incident happened Monday. A Holland person engaged in the manufacture at home of small furniture items, sent out advertising material. This material was sent to a list of dealers who sell retail. A dealer was interested. He had the name of the company, but this company had only placed its post office box on the circular. As the buyer wanted to see the product before ordering, he made a special trip to Holland to see the product. He spent a great deal of time in trying to find the producer. He came to the Chamber office, the firm was not registered, nor was the product. After much sleuthing, the location of the manufacturer was found.

Small independent businesses or industries are asked to register with the Chamber, if they have not done so. Call or send a card to the office in the Warm Friend Tavern.

grossly unfair to single out this one segment of our people," Geerlings said.

As background he outlined the budget structure of the state. He said the legislature based the year's appropriations on the governor's estimate of revenue. This estimate was $335,000,000 plus a $6,000,000 carry-over from a solvent year, for a total appropriation of $341,000,000.

Geerlings said the governor's estimate on sales tax was $348,000,000 but instead the figure is closer to $312,000,000, putting the share in the general fund $6,000,000 short.

The governor's estimate on business activities tax was placed at $75,000,000 but a more accurate figure would be $69,000,000, leaving $6,000,000 short.

The governor's estimate on corporations franchise tax was set at $52,500,000 but a more accurate estimate is $49,000,000 leaving $3,500,000 short.

Besides that, the state is 8 1/2 million short on school aid, making a total of 21 to 22 million short.

Conlin, when notified of the governor's plans for Tuesday's conference, said "the House Tax committee has had a meeting with its Citizen's Advisory committee for Tuesday scheduled since Dec. 5." He said the meeting might last all day in view of three or four additional research analyses to be discussed.

Hollander Takes 5th Straight Win

Still undefeated Hollander Beverage, led by Dave Kemper with 23 points, stormed to its fifth straight victory in the Recreation A City League basketball race with a 58-52 victory over second place R. E. Barber Thursday night at Holland Armory.

The Beverage five was playing without the services of their 6' 9" star center Bob Armstrong who was playing with the Philadelphia Sphas against the Harlem Globetrotters in Kalamazoo.

In the first game hapless Zeeland Lumber lost its fifth in a row to third place H. E. Morse, 57-51.

Beverage trailed at the first quarter, 11-10, but led by Kemper who dumped in seven baskets, came right back to take a 25-21 halftime lead.

The third period was played on even terms with the Beverage still leading at the buzzer, 41-39, but the Beverage five outscored Barber, 17-13 in the final stanza to take the victory.

Bob (Shorty) Van Dyke followed Kemper in the scoring for the winners with 10 points followed by Ken Bauman with eight, Don Pierasma, six and Lou Van Dyke with five. Del Koop, Frank Van Dyke and Bob Beckman each had two.

Don Schreuer, Paul Mack and Dave Klaver each had 11 points for the losers and Bob Van Dyke had 10. Ken Schippers had seven and Ron Van Dyke scored two.

Zeeland Lumber jumped to a 11-10 first period lead but then faltered in the second stanza as Morse grabbed a 22-20 lead at the intermission.

The Morsesmen increased their lead in the third quarter, 45-34 and then coasted to victory after putting down a mild Zeeland rally.

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Nelson Anderson, 73, was found dead outside of the front door of his home, 102 West Exchange St., Spring Lake Saturday. It is reported a man by the name of Du Shane of Grand Haven found the body.

The deceased was believed to have been in normal good health. The condition of his body indicated he had expired shortly before it was discovered. He was a ship carpenter for many years working in Spring Lake and Holland.

Forward John Veldhouse was the hero of the game for the Eagles as he picked off a rebound to score the clincher for Coach Wes Vryhof's aggregation. His basket came just 18 seconds after forward Carl Klaassen of the locals, had knotted the count at 46-46 on a one handed push shot from the foul line.

The dramatic ending was a fitting climax to a tight defensive battle—a typical game between these two arch rivals. Perhaps the most disappointing fact to Maroon followers was that the winning margin turned out to be the result of a first half fluke basket by the Eagles. With the first half horn sounding, substitute Ron Venhuizen literally threw the ball at the hoop from three quarters of the floor and watched it carrom off the backboard for a two pointer.

Although both quintets had superb defenses, Coach Wes Vryhof's outfit caught the Dutch backcourt defense napping on several occasions with a sleeper play. As the Dutch would shoot, an Eagle speedster would take off for his own basket to receive a long pass from ace rebounder, Hank De Mols and turn it into an easy two pointer.

Holland's front line guarding was air tight, holding Grand Rapids' scoring duo of De Mols and Curt Haaksma to just 20 points between them. The same held true for the Eagle defense which was the toughest the Maroons faced all year.

The real story of the game, however, is told in the shooting percentages. Grand Rapids hit a good 40 per cent from the field on 23 out of 57 tries, many coming from outcourt. The Dutch, meanwhile with two more attempts, collected on just 18 for only 30 per cent.

After the Hollanders had scored on three straight foul shots to open the game, the winners came back with six straight points. The Dutch didn't score from the field until five and a half minutes had elapsed but managed to hold a 12-10 first quarter edge.

Coach Art Tuls' quint held the upper hand throughout the second quarter taking a six point margin early in the stanza. Some fine outcourt shooting by Roger Mulder of the Eagles narrowed the count to 18-17. Christian was on top 22-21 when Venhuizen let go with his dramatic heave to give the host club a one point advantage at halftime.

Three quick one-handed jump shots by De Mols opened the third quarter sending the Eagles off to a five point margin. Some balanced scoring by the Dutch again narrowed the count to 34-33 with two minutes left. By the end of the period the winners led, 39-36.

Grand Rapids, leader of the City league, played like top fliers should, to open the final period and spurred to a five point margin. Then trailing 46-41 from three minutes left, the poised Maroons fought back to knot the count with 30 seconds left. This only set the stage for the dramatic ending that followed on Veldhouse's rebound shot.

From the foul lane, the locals connected on 10 out of 15, while the winners hit on two of just seven tries.

Warren Otte, who again played a fine offensive game, led the Dutch with 12 points followed by Hulst and Klaassen with 10. Jim Meurer, in addition to being the defensive star, hit eight. Veldhouse had 14 for the Eagles, followed by De Mols with 12.

THE BACKGROUND OF RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS

The selection of two new Rhodes scholars in Michigan may raise the question once more as to what is accomplished by the system. One of the newly appointed scholars is from Grand Rapids; he is a student at Oberlin College. The other, a University of Michigan student, is from Grand Levee.

Any appropriation of money by millionaires for purposes of education is of course desirable. Since the Rhodes Scholarships were instituted many years ago, a considerable number of young men have been beneficiaries of an Oxford, England, education who would otherwise have had a more limited scholastic outlook. All that is to the good — for the young men themselves.

But Cecil Rhodes had far more ambitious ideas in mind. He was a man of distinctly narrow, although intense, mentality. Sickly and neurotic, with a public morality that was out of tune with the spirit of our time and even of his, he was almost fanatic in his British "patriotism" — with the quotation marks. Not only did he aim to make the continent of Africa British, he hoped to reconquer America, in spirit if not politically, into a British colony.

One of his techniques — it was only one — was that of establishing Oxford scholarships for two students from each state in America. Those boys were to be acclimated to the mental atmosphere of Britain. Then they were to go back to their own country and serve as conscious or unconscious missionaries among their own people proclaiming the gospel of British superiority.

There is no evidence that any such thing has happened. The Rhodes scholars have normally come back as the same good Americans they were when they went. A year or two in Oxford could not erase two decades of unconscious American indoctrination.

Though he was a genius in large-scale political manipulations and in making money in multi-million dollar lots, Cecil Rhodes was singularly limited in other mental attainments. Believe it or not — Sarah Gertrude Millin, his biographer, is the authority — he thought there were only 13 states in America when he first established his scholarships. He provided for only two students each from that number of states. When he found out that the United States had grown into a great continental nation made up of several times that number of states, he had to appropriate more money for his scholarships. But he had so many millions that such a difficulty was only a minor detail. But originally Michigan, among other states, was not included in the plan.

The Rhodes Scholarships are pleasant — for their beneficiaries. In the sense in which Cecil Rhodes meant them they have turned into an anachronism.

The Source of the Church's Power
Acts 1:4-8; 2:1-11
by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

The greatest need of the modern Church is spiritual power. The Church can obtain spiritual power if it is willing to pay the price. In this lesson we are told how the Holy Spirit empowered the early Church.

I. The Holy Spirit gives spiritual power. The crucifixion of Jesus scattered his disciples but the resurrection brought them together again. Jesus drew them together. The words, "being assembled together with them" portray a gathering of Jesus and his apostles. The Lord had something to say to the apostles and they had a question on their mind which they asked. Jesus told the apostles to remain in Jerusalem and wait there for "the promise of the Father which, saith he, ye have heard of me."

Jesus spoke of the promise regarding the coming of the Holy Spirit. Mention is made of this promise in Joel 2:28 and in various passages in the New Testament. A great event awaited the apostles—they would be baptized with the Holy Spirit. Some of these apostles had been baptized by the Baptist—it was a baptism of repentance. The baptism of the Holy Spirit would endow them with spiritual power.

The apostles asked Jesus, "Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" They were still concerned about a temporal kingdom. Jesus turned their minds away from the idea of a temporal kingdom by telling them about the power they would receive through the coming of the Holy Spirit. The power they would get would fit them to become witnesses of Jesus. The Lord gave them a program. They were ordered to begin witnessing in Jerusalem where the enemies of Jesus lived, and then in "all Judea, and in Samaria and unto the uttermost part of the earth." The Book of Acts tells us how the apostles carried out this command.

II. The Holy Spirit fits people for Christian work. Pentecost was a great Jewish religious festival. It was a Thanksgiving festival for it came at the end of the corn harvest. While the disciples were gathered together a miracle happened. There was a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind "and it filled all the house where they were sitting." In addition "there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it fell upon each of them." Every one there was endowed by the Holy Spirit and fitted for service.

A crowd came together and the disciples, who were filled with the Holy Spirit, preached to them in languages which they had not used before and the people who spoke these languages understood them and some of them were converted. The people who listened "were all amazed and marvelled, saying one to another, 'Behold, are not all these which speak Galileans?'" There were people present at this gathering from many parts of the earth and they all heard the gospel on that memorable day and some were converted and told the good news when they got home.

Never again did the Holy Spirit come upon the church in a similar fashion. The Holy Spirit has, however, quickened the Church many times since Pentecost. There have been times of revival. The Holy Spirit came upon these disciples after they had prayed together for ten days. When Christian people come together for prayer and beseech God to make the Church Spirit-filled and warm the hearts of all believers, something will happen. History tells us very plainly that when Christian people begin to pray earnestly and sincerely spiritual results follow. That the Christian Church of today needs spiritual power is evident. Is the Church willing to pay the price?

Exchangites Hear Talk by NAM Official

Three fields of activity of the National Association of Manufacturers, namely taxation, monopolistic unions and government economy, were discussed by Charles R. Sligh, top staff member in the NAM, when he addressed members of the Holland Exchange Club at their regular meeting Monday noon.

The NAM does not believe in getting panicky, he said, but does believe that the world situation calls for calm thinking. If this freedom of thinking and acting is lost then the nation is indeed in danger, he said.

Our present tax burden is about one third of our income, he said and it has reached a dangerous point. Other nations with such a tax burden have met with disaster, he continued and in our civilian economy we must spend less. Taxation has already killed the incentive to invest and unless we can produce both the needed armament and keep up our standard of living, we have lost out in the eyes of the rest of the world.

Relative to unions he said that the NAM believes that unions should exist only to serve its membership but that the members should have the right to leave a union without being penalized. Labor unions, now exempt from anti-trust legislation, must be brought under control and their monopolistic grabbing of money and power stopped, he said.

To be successful in correcting inequalities, the speaker continued, we must accept personal responsibilities and take part in the work of the party of our choice. We must understand the principles of the party in order to intelligently do our part in promoting its work.

The NAM staff is composed of 400 members chosen from the 22,000 member firms which make up the Association. The NAM is the largest organization of small manufacturing businesses in the world and about 28 percent of these firms have less than 50 employees.

The speaker was introduced by Vernon Ten Cate. Mel Van Tatenhove, president, was in charge of the meeting. K. C. Shellenberger was inducted into the membership of the club by Dr. Paul Hinkamp.

Century Club Informed On St. Lawrence Seaway

"Because of the St. Lawrence Seaway, all services of which will be opened in 1959, there will be a tremendous industrial development in this area in the 1960's", John C. Beukema, of Muskegon, told members of the Century Club and their guests Monday night.

The January meeting of the Club was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. William G. Winter on State Street.

Mr. Beukema, speaker of the evening, has been interested in the St. Lawrence Seaway project since 1922 when he became secretary of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce and was immediately thrown into the political difficulties of developing the Muskegon harbor.

In a thorough tracing of the geography of the Seaway, the speaker enlightened his audience to the steps necessary to provide 27-foot navigation from Quebec to Chicago and Lake Superior ports. Among other measures required in the development, it was necessary for members of the corporation to go to London and Paris to secure the reparian rights from Canadian river front landholders whose deeds dated back to the French and Indian War.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, of which Mr. Beukema is a member, expects 25 million tons to pass through the Seaway during 1959. The original estimate of 45-50 million tons by 1970 has already been revised to force 75 million tons by that time.

"With the provision of lake ports for ocean shipping, new industries, such as shipbuilding, ship repair, marine insurance will be established. Present business facilities, such as machine shops, oil companies, building industries of all kinds, will be expanded to provide new jobs, new homes in areas where ports qualify for foreign commerce," Mr. Beukema said.

Economy will be affected with the possibility of bringing in raw sugar from Cuba, raw coffee from Brazil and other products, for processing along the Seaway.

Using as evidence for the increase in business to be expected because of the Seaway, Mr. Beukema cited the experience of New Orleans. City officials there say, world commerce means that 70 cents of every dollar in New Orleans comes from their port.

The Seaway will cost one billion, two hundred million dollars. It will be financed by the sale of bonds to private investors. The bonds will be amortized through tolls which will be lower than those originally proposed to Congress in 1953.

"When in full operation the St. Lawrence Seaway will mean as much to the area affected as the Baltic Sea, the Mediterranean Sea or the Gulf of Mexico mean to the areas served by those waters," Mr. Beukema prophesied.

The speaker was introduced to the Century Club by Willard C. Wichers.

Bruce G. Van Leuwen, president of the Club, presided and introduced Miss Jantina Holleman of the Hope College music faculty who presented two delightful piano selections: "Sonata No. 1" by C.P.E. Bach and "Impromptu No. 3" by Schubert.

Fined on Reckless Driving Charge

Garry Elzinga, 21, of 651 East Lincoln Ave., Zeeland, was fined $50 and $4.70 in costs this morning in Municipal Court before Judge Cornelius vander Meulen on a charge of reckless driving, with the alternative of 30 days in jail. Elzinga paid the fine.

The charge arose from an accident Saturday at 5:15 p.m. on Eighth St. just west of Lincoln Ave. Elzinga told Holland police he skidded on ice as he came out of a driveway and collided with a car driven by Troy Conway, 22, of 462 West 21st St., going east on Eighth St. Police estimated the damage to Conway's 1956 model at $225, and the damage to Elzinga's 1949 model at $180.

Volleyballs

There's a new yet familiar face around City Hall these days.

Garth Newman, who spent a year with the police department and six months with the fire department, has moved to City Hall as a public safety technician working out of City Manager Herb Holt's office.

His first assignment is to work on the annual inventory of traffic activities for a report for the National Safety Council. After that, he'll work on budgets for the police and fire departments.

Garth's assignment to City Hall is in keeping with an in-service training program recommended last summer. Newman is married and has one child. He is a graduate of MSU where he majored in police administration.

Civic Center came close to paying its own cost of operations last year, the city audit reveals. Operating costs amounted to $18,231.55 or $2,169.42 more than the building revenues which totaled $16,062.13. These revenues listed $14,109.89 in rentals, $1,682.94 from the concession and $270.30 from the cloak room. Aside from these figures, a total of $1,670.49 was spent in capital improvements.

Of course, that's not the whole story of municipal auditoriums. The general theory is that building revenues should pay for cost of operations and the taxpayers foot the debt service. Holland's share in the debt service listed $30,000 in principal and $8,250 in interest for the year. At present, outstanding debt in the building is listed at $380,000.

The case of the missing electric razor had the police department in a dither the day before Christmas. Each year the local policemen remember Mayor Bob Visscher and his brother-in-law, Bob Beukema, with a gift as a thank-you for the free dry cleaning on uniforms by Ideal Dry Cleaners operated by the two men. This year the men in blue informed their benefactors that the gifts would be two electric razors.

Beukema picked up the two gift-wrapped packages at the police station the day before Christmas and then parked downtown to do some last-minute shopping. When he returned the mayor's gift was not there and he quickly reported the theft to police. Efforts to find the thief with the goods were not successful and police dutifully bought a third razor and gave it to Beukema for the mayor.

On Christmas eve when the Beukemas and Visschers met to exchange gifts, the mayor unwrapped the razor. "Why two razors?" he questioned. "I already picked one up from the seat of your car."

The third razor was returned to police.

Few families can match the record of teaching school as established by the family of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Rynbrandt. This couple lived in Forest Grove 100 years ago. They had five sons and five daughters, and five of these children sent many children and grandchildren into public school teaching.

Henry Rynbrandt had six children, all of whom became school teachers. Some grandchildren also entered the teaching profession and in all the Henry Rynbrandt family was responsible for 174 years of teaching.

John Rynbrandt had two daughters who continued teaching for a total of 38 years.

Two sons of Thomas Rynbrandt taught for a total of 37 years. A daughter of Mrs. Martin Coburn taught 42 years; a daughter of Nicholas Rynbrandt taught 30 years, and a daughter-in-law of Cornelius Rynbrandt taught eight years.

In all, it adds up to 329 years of teaching by one family.

Persons who felt abused shoveling walks and drives for the 16-inch snowfall last week really haven't anything to gripe about. Some still vividly remember the winter of 1935 and 1936. That was the winter that 9 1/2 inches of snow fell. The only trouble was that none of it seemed to go away and the piles in curb strips were so high one couldn't see parked cars from the sidewalk. And cars were higher in those days too. City firemen were on special detail to dig out water hydrants in case of fire.

Actually, the total snowfall that year was less than many another year. There have been three or four occasions in the last decade that total snowfall for the season exceeded 100 inches. It just behaved better and melted or evaporated.

Laff for the day:

An old farm laborer was employed to thin turnips on a farm south of Ireland owned by a lady who, though wealthy, had a reputation for meanness.

When dinner time came around, he noted with disgust that the only fare on the table, in addition to bread, butter and tea, was a tiny spot of honey in the center of a large plate.

After eating in silence for some moments, he looked hard at the honey and remarked ever so politely: "I see, ma'am, you keep a bee."

Injured Pig Taken To County Infirmary

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—The Ottawa county infirmary at Eastmanville has added one more pig to its stock—apparently the result of an accident on US-31.

Shortly after midnight Saturday, state police received a call from a Clinton Keller of Muskegon that a pig was lying on the median strip of US-16 in Polkton township. Troopers Michael Fitzgibbons and William Hassinger found the 200-pound porker at the spot. Both rear legs were injured but otherwise the animal was doing well. Troopers believe it fell from a truck.

The troopers loaded the porker into the cruiser with difficulty and took it to the infirmary where it is doing well.

Donald DeKraker, 17, of 234 West 29th St., was treated at Holland Hospital for frost-bitten hands Sunday evening following a five-man "swimming" expedition at the mouth of the channel on Sunday afternoon.

Four companions, all with "frog-man" equipment, made the swim from the south pier to the north pier. They were Jack Westrate, 20, of 10 East 15th St., Willis VanderBerg, 22, of 19 West 31st St., Ronald Nelson, 26, of South Haven and Jim Bradley, 20, of South Haven.

Nelson weakened, however, in the cold water and was unable to climb up on the north pier because of rough water and ice on the pier, according to Coast Guardsmen at the scene. While Westrate, VanderBerg and Bradley made it to shore from the north pier about 6:30 p.m. DeKraker stayed on with Nelson.

By this time a small crowd had collected on the beach, watching, and Coast Guardsmen reported that they were very cooperative in turning their headlights out toward the lake to provide light. Murry Chambers, a local commercial fisherman, was called to pick the boys up in his boat. All the Coast Guard boats are laid up for the winter.

About 7 p.m., DeKraker was finally able to drag Nelson onto the pier and, after resting a short time, the boys swam back to shore, just as Chambers was arriving with his boat. A bystander took DeKraker to the hospital to have his frost-bitten hands treated.

Central Falls 68-56; Dutch Gain Revenge

Hope College's basketball team avenged its lone loss of the season here Saturday night with a 68-56 victory over Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio before 2,400 fans at Civic Center.

Before the holidays, Hope had lost its only game in seven starts, a 77-74 decision to the all-Negro school.

The Saturday game was loosely played and at times quite rough. Both teams appeared to be bothered by the two-week holiday layoff.

This was particularly noted in the shooting department. Hope shot 100 times in the game and made only 29. This was the poorest percentage in the seven games. The Dutch sank 16 of 44 in the first half and only 13 of 56 in the final 20 minutes.

Central ended with 23 baskets in 78 attempts. The Marauders made 11 of 36 in the first half and 12 of 42 in the last half.

Hope was in command of the game throughout and three points was the closest the visitors came. In the first three minutes, the Dutch held a 5-2 lead and with 5:48 remaining in the game, Hope was ahead 50-47.

The 12-point final spread was the biggest of the game although on two other occasions in the second half Hope held similar margins. With two minutes gone in the second half the Dutch led 40-28 and with 1:59 left the score was 65-53.

Hope used a 2-3 zone throughout and made the Marauders shoot up over it. Jack Conyers, sophomore guard, was the most successful and struck nine times to lead Central State with 18 points.

Central opened with a 1-3-1 zone but changed into a switching man-to-man designed to clamp on Hope's Paul Benes. The defense worked somewhat in that Benes didn't get much opportunity to shoot his favorite hook but he did manage to sink 10 baskets, eight on tips. He added a free shot to lead the scoring with 21 points.

The Central defense allowed Ray Ritsma to shake loose frequently and the 6'5" sophomore swished in eight baskets to be second high man for Hope.

The Hope zone stopped Central State's high-scoring Eugene Beard from getting shots in the pivot. In the 2-1-2 Central offense, Beard was the middle man. He made 10 points after having "killed" Hope with his 27 in the first game.

Central displayed smooth ball handling and a lot of spring which permitted them to pick off many of the rebounds. Beard, Bill Fox and Sam Wagner were the chief rebounders.

Ritsma, Benes and Wayne Vriesman, who started his first game for Hope, tried to match rebounding ability with the foes and frequently were successful.

Only seven fouls were called in the first half, three against Central and four against Hope. Central had a total of 18 fouls called in the game and lost Wagner and Conyers on fouls while Hope had 11 personal.

Central now has a 1-3 record. The Saturday crowd was the biggest of the season so far.

Dutch Stop Last Period Niles Rally

NILES (Special) — Fighting off a last quarter Niles rally, the Holland High basketball team won its first game of the season here Saturday night with a 44-42 decision over the Vikings.

Coach Bob Connell's crew had gone through five straight games without a win and the doobers were starting to sink. But with the victory, the Dutch should be ready to go at full speed this week in the task of trying to knock Ben-

Ted Walters ... leads in scoring ton Harbor from the ranks of the unbeaten.

Already called "state championship caliber" and featuring 6'6" Chester Walker, the Tigers will provide Holland with probably the toughest test of the season so far at Benton Harbor Friday night.

Against Niles, Holland, for the first time this season met a team of comparable height. And for the initial time the Dutch were able to control the backboards.

The work of Ted Walters, Clayton Rice and Ron Dorgelo was fine on both boards and this trio managed to come down with the majority of the rebounds.

Each team showed the wear-and-tear of playing the previous night and play was somewhat ragged. Holland was defeated by Muskegon Friday and Niles lost to Grand Haven.

The first quarter saw-sawed with each team taking a two or four point lead at sometime during the period. The stanza ended with the score knotted at 8-8.

Walters picked up the offensive duties for Holland in the second quarter and made seven of Holland's 12 points and helped give the Dutch a 20-18 halftime margin. Walters scored 10 of the 20 points in the first half. He added three more in the final two frames and ended with 13 to be high point man.

The Dutch had their best third quarter of the season against the Vikings and scored 18 points. In the five previous contests, Holland had bogged down after intermission.

Rice and sub guard Jim Van Putten led the third period drive with five points each. Rice picked up his field goals on tips while Van Putten made his leading the fast break.

Niles pulled to within a point, 41-40 with a minute and a half to go in the game. The Dutch were chilly at the hoop and had made only a pair of charity tosses.

The Dutch began to stall with the one-point lead and Gene Boerman was fouled. He made the first one to make the score 42-40. He missed a second and Niles got the rebound and on the return up the court missed a shot.

Boerman retrieved for Holland and scored the final Dutch basket with 20 seconds remaining on a driving layup. Niles' last basket came on a 20-foot shot just as the gun sounded.

Connell started four juniors and worked them together for about a quarter. Hubby Harrington and Ron Dorgelo, both juniors, were starting their first games while Walters and Jim Overbeek, other juniors are regulars. Senior Dee Hewitt rounded out the team.

Relegated to substitute roles, seniors Rice and Boerman came through with nine and eight points respectively and this pleased the Dutch coach.

Holland made seven of 23 from the floor in the first half and nine of 21 in the final two quarters for a total of 16 for 45 and 35 per cent. Niles had 6-16, 8-21 for a 15-47 and 32 per cent. The Dutch sank 12 of 24 free shots and Niles 12 of 21.

Sophomore Bud Freshley and Nick Frucci each had 11 points for Niles.

Zeeland

The Zeeland Rotary Club held its regular weekly meeting at Bosch's Restaurant last Tuesday. Club president Julius Schipper presided. The invocation was given by Harvey Kalmink. Dick Miles of Holland was present as a guest. The Rev. Edward Tanis presented each of his fellow club members with a pair of souvenir chop sticks from his recent far eastern trip.

Program chairman Roger Prince introduced Dr. Hollenbach of Hope College who spoke on impressions of Egypt and the Middle East. The speaker referred to Egypt as most unstable politically whose population is volatile. He stated that although Egypt is in the hands of a tyrannical Nasser, the people have learned something of political freedom from the West and there is much unrest.

Egypt's greatest problem, according to Dr. Hollenbach, is that her population greatly exceeds her ability to support herself. Only five per cent of Egyptian soil is arable. The arable portion, which consists of the Nile valley has the highest concentration of people in the world. Egyptians are presently striving to bring more of their land under cultivation. Coupled with this is the Aswan dam project which they hope to finish within the next ten years. Even if they do, thousands will still be dying of starvation, Hollenbach said.

Guest ministers for the North Street Christian Reformed Church for January are: Jan. 12, Dr. William Masselink of Grand Rapids; Jan. 19, The Rev. John H. Schaaf, instructor at the Reformed Bible Institute at Grand Rapids; Jan. 26, The Rev. John H. Schaaf.

It may be a little early to start planning just how you'll handle forage feeding this summer. But if you've got any idea you might try taking pasture to the dairy cattle. It's not too early to start getting a feeding wagon ready. Michigan State University has a new circular which contains plans for building a self-feeding wagon rack. A farmer can construct the rack on the farm.

The design is a good one because the rack was planned after engineers and dairy specialists watched a herd of cattle for a year being fed green-cut forage twice daily. The rack is designed to cut waste to a minimum while being completely self-feeding.

The rack can fit your set-up. Plans tell what the length should be for the number of cows in the herd. Width depends on the size of animals. Cows must be able to reach the center to clean up all of the feed. If you would like a copy of this circular ask for No. 733.

Beef raisers who haven't sprayed their cattle for lice, yet can still do the job. Lice are not particularly destructive but they irritate animals and slow up gains. Bill Finley, extension beef cattle specialist at Michigan State University recommends spraying for control of external parasites. He feels spraying is the most effective but says self-treatment or dusting can be used in areas where winter weather is more severe.

Plan to do the job on a sunny day when the temperature is above freezing. Spray cattle during the forenoon so they can dry off by late afternoon when temperature starts to fall. After spraying, keep windows and doors open so animals can come and go and so air can circulate to dry out the barn.

Finley says U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists recommend one pound of a 25 per cent wettable lindane powder in 100 gallons of slightly warmed water for the job. With power equipment, about two gallons are needed to thoroughly soak one animal.

Other materials that can be used include methoxychlor or DDT. Use eight pounds of a 50 per cent wettable powder in 100 gallons of slightly warmed water.

If a dust is used, USDA officials recommend farmers cover the body with a 50 per cent wettable powder and rub it into the hide. Dust again in 14 to 21 days.

Monodrama by Scanlan Enjoyed by Clubwomen

Told through the eyes of MacGregor, the stage doorman, John Scanlan skillfully portrayed some of the best known characters of the theater of the 90s before an audience of women at the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon.

Written around the personality of Richard Mansfield, the great actor of the period, Scanlan has done a thorough job of impersonation of the actor and has woven a fine continuing thread throughout the monodrama.

Introduced by the stage doorman, Mansfield, in the person of Scanlan, goes through scenes from Beau Brummel, Merchant of Venice, Richard III, Cyrano de Bergerac, Prince Karl in Old Heidelberg and climaxed with Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Perhaps the most appealing to the audience is Scanlan's Cyrano, which he plays with much humor and gusto. His Richard is dramatic and would indicate more of the play than the brief sketch warrants. Equally at home with an English accent and a thick German accent, Scanlan also shows the dramatic qualities he is noted for in the double-barreled Jekyll and Hyde.

The action takes place in the actor's dressing room and a simple set of chairs and a table are all the props he needs. The all-important dressing table and mirror with the makeup are also included.

Mrs. Clarence Becker, club president, introduced the guest artist. She also announced that the program for next week would be Mrs. John Even, woman attorney.

During the Christmas recess, the clubhouse was fitted with a set of heat controls and an outside air intake.

Mrs. De Wolfe Speaker At Hope Mission Society

Hope Church Missionary Society held its monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. Marion de Velder presided and introduced a former missionary to India, a member of the famed Scudder family, Mrs. Martin De Wolfe, who is presently on the Hope College staff.

From her past experiences and her unusual interest in India's present growth toward democracy "India Yesterday and Today" became vitally alive for her audience.

With delightful humor Mrs. De Wolfe showed the possibility of seeing both the old and the new in India side by side at a country crossroad. She displayed an Indian flag expressing their hope for brotherhood, peace, holiness, and justice.

Patience is needed in India's position so precariously near communist countries, she said.

The unique Church of South India had its inception at the Arcot Mission where Mrs. De Wolfe taught when Indian leaders took active part in the work of the mission. Women in India, making notable contributions in all areas, have organized a National Missionary Society and are now sending the first couple to go as missionaries to Thailand.

Mrs. De Wolfe described the dispensary of an Indian woman doctor as "informal" with its 25 beds and 50 patients. Dr. Ida Scudder inspired much of this, and by her weekly village tours brought faith in the missionaries to skeptical Indians.

A former student has written Mrs. De Wolfe that she is now in charge of a "Criminal School" for the children of those in the criminal caste, and that wherever her school girls may go they will stand for justice, truth and Christ. Mrs. De Wolfe closed with the sure hope that "all India will someday be alight for Christ."

Devotions on "beginning anew" were led by Mrs. Frank De Weese who sang the "Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. L. A. Haskins. Mrs. James Wayer paid tribute to long-time member Mrs. Henry Hoppers. A special report by Mrs. George Pelgrim brought generous response from all those present.

Nominations presented by the committee, Mrs. P. E. Hinkamp, and Mrs. J. J. Riemersma, were accepted, and officers elected for the new year will be Mrs. Roy Heasley, president, Mrs. Gerald Rocks and Mrs. Marion de Velder, vice-presidents, Mrs. A. Bondy Gronberg, recording secretary, Mrs. James White, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Frank De Weese, treasurer.

Dessert was served by Mrs. J. K. Ward's committee, Mrs. Bruce Raymond, Mrs. L. A. Haskins, Mrs. Kenneth Pearce, Mrs. G. Buis, and Mrs. W. R. Fitzgerald.

Next month's meeting will be a dramatization, "Women in Japan" directed by Mrs. James Wayer.
