Christian Society Sets Key Confab

Final plans for the special Holland Christian School Society meeting to be held next Monday night at 7:45 p.m. in the high school gym were discussed at the monthly meeting of the school board Tuesday night.

John Veltkamp, president of the board, said that the society will be asked to pass on three items pertaining to the building of a new Holland Christian High School.

First the board will submit a motion for a decision to build a new high school for completion by September of 1966 if possible. The board will then ask authorization to obtain preliminary plans, specifications and costs for further society consideration and approval. Finally the board will ask the approval to conduct a community-wide fund campaign for a new high school.

Veltkamp said that the Board desires to keep the membership fully informed concerning the progress of the planning committee and other groups involved in the eventual erection of the high school. Society members will be called upon to make decisions as they proceed step by step toward the completion of plans.

In looking back over the past years, Veltkamp pointed to the fact that the last substantial addition to the high school was erected in 1954. At that time the enrollment in the high school was 578, and according to the standards set by educational authorities, the buildings provided classrooms to adequately accommodate 675 students.

As the school system grew, it became necessary in 1958 to move the 7th and 8th grades to the South and Central Schools. At that time there were 780 students in the high school. Today there is an enrollment of 980 students in classrooms which were originally intended for 675.

Superintendent Mark Vander Ark said that the most painstaking scheduling, by 100 per cent use of all classrooms and extra rooms, plus use of a staggered noon hour plan, it is barely possible to carry on a full day program for all students. He also mentioned that on the basis of growth analysis surveys, the anticipated enrollment in the grades 9-12 by 1970 will be 1,100.

Besides the present crowded conditions in high school classrooms, the school feels more than ever the inadequacy of the other-than-classroom facilities. Improvement of such needs as an auditorium, a gymnasium, a noon hour lunch and activities center, grounds and parking areas, office and counseling quarters, and music education rooms has long been considered desirable.

In commenting on the finance of the school, Veltkamp feels that on the basis of past performances the association of parents and school patrons which comprises the membership of the School Society, with community cooperation is capable of assuming the challenge of the new high school.

The members contribute some $775,000 per annum in tuition, fees, and gifts towards the maintenance and operation of the schools. The School Society has spent approximately $1,000,000 on buildings, grounds, and equipment during the past 15 years.

Ottawa Over Top in Yule Seals Quota

Ottawa county is one of 61 in the state reported to have gone "over the top" in the 1964 Christmas Seal campaign.

Contributions from residents in the county have reached the sum of $12,107, compared with total giving of $9,911 last year, and more residents are responding each day, the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association reported in Lansing.

"In order to surpass our statewide Christmas Seal campaign goal of $1,150,000 we need the support of all the late contributors who have delayed sending us their contributions," Irvin Nichols, executive director of MTRDA, said.

Statewide Christmas Seal giving has reached $1,130,000 compared with a total of $1,121,189 last year.

Temperature Drops to 2 In Holland

It was a beautiful sunny day in Holland today, but cold!

The mercury slumped to a season's low of 2 degrees early today, a sharp contrast to the warm 50's last week. By 11 a.m. it had risen to 8. Previous low was 4 degrees on Dec. 9.

Holland was spared the sub-zero weather that hit many other parts of the state and nation. Pellston, as usual, was the icebox of the state with a reading of -28. But Sault Ste. Marie wasn't far behind with a reading of -26.

Normally, overnight lows are recorded in the pre-dawn hours. But today, the temperatures dropped several degrees after 6 a.m. and the lowest readings were reported between 8 and 9 a.m.

"Bitterly cold" was the prediction for tonight. The weatherman said lows would drop below zero throughout the state, but a slight warmup was in sight for Friday. The cold wave is expected to relent by Saturday.

Another half inch or more of snow fell here Wednesday night resulting in snow covered roads and a sparkling white cover to ground deposits which remained at 1 1/2 inches today.

It was -11 at Houghton, -9 at Alpena and -5 at Marquette and Traverse City. International Falls, Minn., registered -35, the coldest spot in the nation.

The crisp sub-zero readings extended south into Iowa and Illinois. Snow flurries and gusty winds moved to the southeast. An inch of snow fell at Beckley, W. Va., and rain mixed with snow fell in southern New England.

It was mostly clear in the Pacific Coast region except for light rain and drizzle in northwest Washington.

Mild conditions remained in most of the south. Readings in the 60's covered parts of Texas and Florida.

Supervisors Set Votes for Annexation

GRAND HAVEN — Dates for two special annexation elections for Spring Lake and Zeeland were approved by the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The Zeeland vote, set for April 5, involves an area west of the "west side" area which was annexed to Zeeland city several years ago. It lies north of M-21, east of 104th Ave. and south of Roosevelt Ave. The vote, on request of Zeeland Mayor Frank Hoogland, was 22 to 12 in favor of the resolution.

Atty. James E. Townsend of Holland who represents the petitioners explained that a small piece of property owned by Zeeland city and used for a water tank has complicated the issue. Circuit Court has ruled that annexation of this parcel to the city by resolution was illegal as it was an "island" all by itself and is not connected with Zeeland. If the annexation vote is favorable, this area could be annexed legally at a later date.

The Spring Lake vote, set for March 30, involves land extending north of the village limit to the Grand Trunk tracks, south to Lloyd's bayou and east to a line a short distance east of Fruitport Rd.

The board voted unanimously to support the "anti-poverty" program in Ottawa county which is being organized by a program committee headed by former Supervisor William L. Kennedy of Allendale. Agricultural Agent Richard Machiele and Kennedy explained the program which comes under President Johnson's Economic Opportunity Act.

The EOA committee in Ottawa county includes Lou Vollink of the county board, Jerome Gysen of Hudsonville, Marion Van Slooten of West Ottawa, Riemer Van Til and Al Bransdorfer of Holland, Doug Tjapkes and C. K. Bugielski of Grand Haven and Mrs. Oscar Heckel, Gus Appelt and Frank Schmidt of Coopersville. The committee will be expanded later.

The committee on rules and legislation was given power to act in connection with a plan to protect county employees against liability in case they are sued. The matter had come up at Monday's meeting when R. V. Terrill, chairman of the officers and employees committee, said Detective John Hemple is engaged in a false-arrest lawsuit that has cost him $300 in attorney fees.

The board approved a $1,200 survey on updating pay schedules for county employees in the court house and sheriff's department to be conducted by the personnel service of the Michigan Municipal League. It will be the first survey in four years. Sheriff Bernard Gysen recently reported that pay schedules in his department should be updated as he lost several key men to industry and other positions.

A request from the Ottawa County Medical Society to set up a countywide mental health program was referred to the health committee to report in April. Dr. P. J. MacArthur of Grand Haven appeared before the board Monday and asked that a study be made with a community organization instead of the current program in which a North Ottawa program is under supervision of the state and the child guidance program is operated under an area office in Muskegon.

No action was taken on a request of the Social Welfare Commission asking for a meeting with the welfare committee to discuss operation of the county infirmary farm at Eastmanville. The farm has been losing money and the question is whether to continue operations there.

Mrs. V. J. Giangrande of Spring Lake, a member of the new county library committee, reported that Georgetown township currently is working on an agreement with the Kent county library system and with Herick Public Library in Holland to serve several townships in south Ottawa. The committee is seeking to expand service to Jamestown township through a mobile library or branch library served by Herick Library.

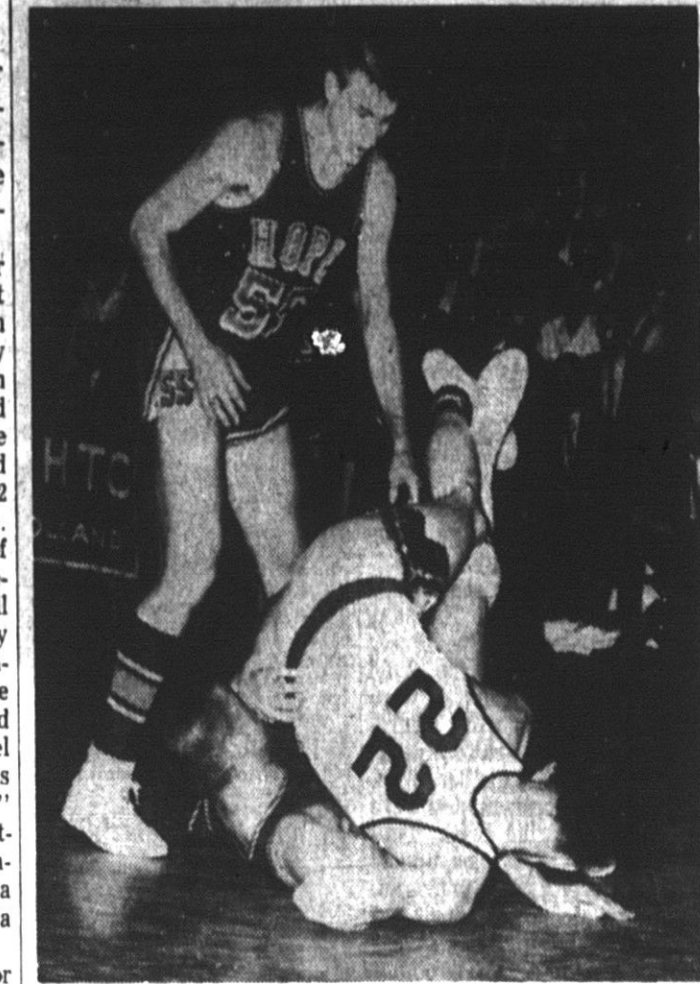

Grand Haven Library now serves Robinson and Grand Haven townships.

Chairman Herman Windemiller of the improvement committee reported that new furniture for the $700,000 county building, under construction in front of the old court house, is being selected and bids will be taken April 1. Estimated cost is $60,000. Some present furniture also will be used in the new building. The building will be ready sometime in August.

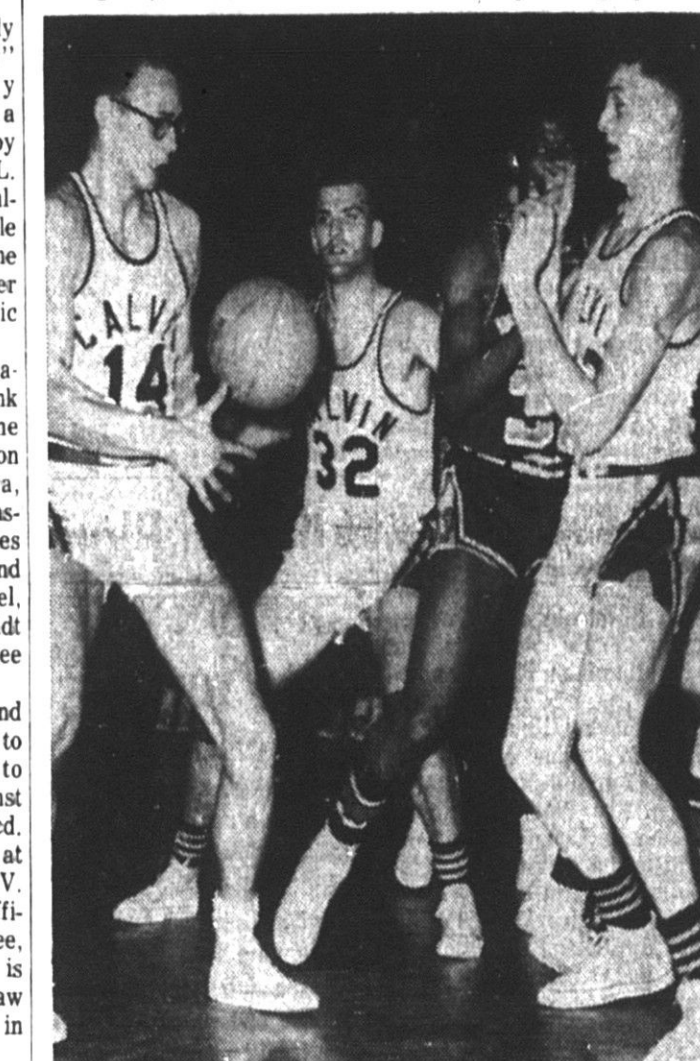

The board was informed that the county youth home is back in operation and new staff members have been appointed. A total of 159 boys and girls were housed there in 1964 of whom 36 were from other counties. Of the Ottawa group, 96 were boys and 27 girls.

Calvin Unleashes Attack on Hope

WRESTLING MATCH — Clare Van Wieren (55), Hope College basketball player, appears to be officiating a wrestling match between Hope's Bill Potter and Calvin's Rich Schrotenboer (22) in Wednesday night's game in Grand Rapids. The pair were battling over the ball which is nowhere to be seen. Calvin won the game, 87-64.

HOT POTATO — "You take it, I don't want it," would appear to be the conversation of two Calvin basketball players as they both seem to be trying to get away from the basketball in the Wednesday night game against Hope. The players are Kim Campbell (14) and Rich Zuiderveen (12) while Ken Fletcher (32) of Calvin and Floyd Brady (33) of Hope are watching the scene. Action took place in the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium as Calvin won its third MIAA game in five starts, 87-64.

Daniel J. Jonker Succumbs at 60

Daniel J. Jonker, 60, of 168 Fairbanks Ave., died unexpectedly at his home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Jonker was born in Holland and has lived here all of his life. He formerly worked as a mason tender and retired on account of ill health four years ago. He was a member of Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church.

Ottawa County Sheriff's deputies said Smith lost control of his car when the vehicle skidded on ice. The car left the highway and went into a ditch.

Knights Whip Dutch, 87-64 In MIAA Play

GRAND RAPIDS — Turning in its best performance of the season, Calvin College's basketball team routed Hope, 87-64 here Wednesday night before 3,000 fans in the Civic Auditorium.

For Coach Barney Steen's club it was a fine all-around performance and put the defending MIAA champions right back into the league race. The victory left the Knights, Adrian, and the Flying Dutchmen tied with 3-2 records.

Albion, 99-82 winner over Olivet Wednesday, leads the league with a 5-1 record.

Close for the first ten minutes, Calvin broke the game open with a scoring surge late in the first half and pushed the margin to 35-24 at half.

Prior to the Calvin attack, the game had been tied six times with the last tie, 21-21. Dave Zondervan's basket with 8:04 left in the first half tied the game and in the next three minutes, the Knights got seven more points, three by Ken Fletcher and two each by Zondervan and Jim Fredricks.

This was the beginning of the onslaught. The Knights added five more points the rest of the half while Hope got three and Calvin had previewed what was to come.

And it came. The explosion hit with about four minutes gone in the second half. Hope was trailing, 40-30 when the Knights bombed 11 straight points in four minutes to lead, 51-30.

A Fredricks jumper with 12:58 to play made the score 51-30 and the Hope partisans knew it was over. The Knights were all over the place. They were hitting on their shots, running the fast break on the split second, intercepting passes and stealing the ball.

They converted many Hope mistakes into baskets and at one point Ed Douma, who turned in a fine game at guard, got two baskets in two seconds.

With ten minutes left in the game, Hope made its final stab at chopping the lead and cut it 14 points, 54-38, but signaled another Calvin attack and in the next three minutes, the score had soared to 66-42.

In the second half Calvin got the ball all over the floor either by their own ability or Hope miscues. They were hitting under their basket, playing well around their basket and also doing a good job of getting the defensive rebounds. The Knights scored often on full court passes.

And the more opportunities the Knights received, the poorer Hope played. Calvin's scrappy ballhawking tactics flustered the Flying Dutchmen and this coupled with Hope's ineffectiveness on a full court press resulted in the Knights holding 18 to 24-point leads the last seven minutes of the game.

Fletcher, Calvin's 6'4" captain and lone senior, was superb. He hit 10 of 18 from the floor, was a fine leader, rebounder and in all had a great night. He scored 23 and fouled out with 4:51 left. The 6'11" junior Douma also had 23, including nine of 18 from the floor.

This pair, along with Fredricks who had 11, helped Calvin's shooting average of 44 per cent on 37 baskets in 84 tries. This included a fine 22 of 43 in the second half for 52 per cent. Calvin had 15 of 41 for 36.6 in the first half. Fredricks, 6' Holland junior, made five of nine from the floor.

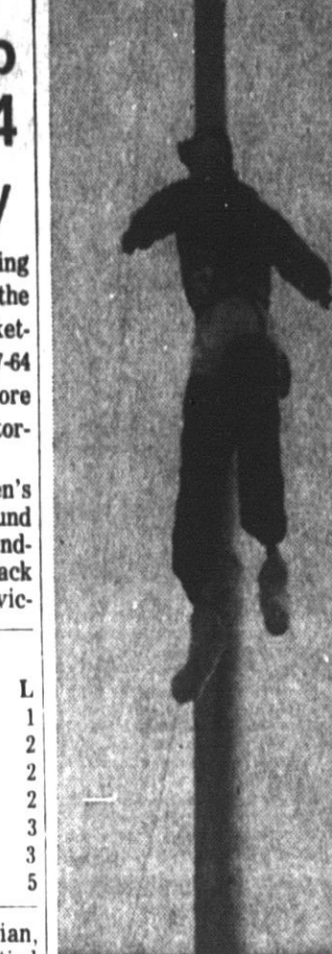

For Hope, freshman Floyd Brady played his best game. He was especially strong on the boards and helped Hope take rebounding honors, 53-49. He picked off 17.

Displaying many second and third efforts, Brady worked hard throughout and made 16 points. He hit six of 17 from the floor and also did some clever passing to teammates.

Clare Van Wieren scored 12, eight in the last 10 minutes. He made four baskets in 15 tries. Roy Anker followed with nine.

Hope ended with 25 of 82 for 30 per cent on halves of 11 for 37 and 14 of 45. At the free throw line, Hope had 14 of 28 and Calvin, 13 of 21.

The Flying Dutchmen host Kalamazoo Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center while Calvin entertains Olivet Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Grand Rapids Central Christian gym. Hope is 5-5 overall and Calvin is 4-5.

HUNG IN EFFIGY — A dummy of a Hope College basketball player was hung from the flagpole in front of Graves Hall on College Ave. today. The dummy was hung, probably by Hope students, about half way up the pole. Hope lost to arch-rival Calvin College, 87-64 Wednesday night in a basketball game in the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium. Hope Hands Lake Forest 74-73 Loss

What seemed to be a sure rout Saturday night in the Civic Center turned into a topsy-turvy basketball contest, as Hope College survived a second half comeback by Lake Forest College of Lake Forest, Ill., and slipped past the Foresters, 74-73.

The Hope squad dominated the first half of play with sharp, aggressive ball-handling, building up leads of 24-11, 34-18 and 40-25 by outturning the Lake Forest man-to-man defense. Only good rebounding and a late rally kept the Foresters in the game, as they narrowed the gap to 41-32 as the half ended.

Lake Forest came back strong in the second half, however, rattling the Hope offense with a strong zone press. The Flying Dutchmen scored only nine field goals in the period, and a rash of handling errors and a run of quick Forester baskets combined to give Lake Forest a 49-48 lead after five and a half minutes of play.

Clutch free throws by Clare Van Wieren and Roy Anker and an Anker tip-in put Hope back into the lead, 52-51, but the Foresters tied it up again at 60-60 with four minutes to go.

Anker and Van Wieren went to work again, offsetting a Forester free throw with a field goal and four charity shots to give the Dutchmen a 74-69 margin. Two Lake Forest baskets in the last 20 seconds failed to make up the difference, and the game ended with Hope hanging on to the lead.

Van Wieren, Anker and Floyd Brady were the big guns for Hope, scoring 21 and 14 each, respectively. The Dutchmen connected on only 27 of 81 field goal attempts during the game for a 33.3 per cent shooting average. They scored on 20 of 35 shots from the free throw line.

Lake Forest's Fred Broda led all scorers with 26 points. The Foresters scored on 28 out of 83 attempts for a 33.7 per cent average, and made 17 of 28 tosses from the charity line.

Lake Forest out-rebounded Hope 35-32 in the first half, even though Brady took 12 on his own. Improved rebounding contributed to the Foresters' second period surge, but Hope came back on the defensive boards and snagged a total of 41 to Lake Forest's 26.

Brady led all rebounders with 23, and was followed by Clare Van Wieren with 15. Doug Dunbar and Rick Kellogg led Lake Forest with 10 apiece.

Extra excitement was injected into the game by two goal-tending calls and a disputed fifth foul. Goal-tending was called on Brady early in the second half as he leaped up to stop a shot by Lake Forest's Broda. The Foresters blocked a basket by Van Wieren in the first period.

Broda, carrying three fouls, and Doug Dunbar, carrying four, closed in on Van Wieren as he attempted to get a shot away with 1:14 left in the game. One official called a foul on Dunbar and the other called it on Broda, but Dunbar was eventually charged with the error and had to leave the game.

February Trial Seen In Safe Burglary Case

GRAND HAVEN — William Maxson, 32, and Joseph Sansone, 28, of Chicago, stood mute at their arraignment in Ottawa County Circuit Court Wednesday on charges of burglarizing a safe, and a not guilty plea was entered for them by the court.

Bond for the pair, charged with breaking into a safe at Faith Christian Reformed Church in Holland on Dec. 21, was reduced from $50,000 to $10,000 each.

Circuit Court Judge Raymond L. Smith said trial for the two men would be held in February if possible. The pair was represented by Holland attorney Walter J. Roper.

Maxson and Sansone were bound over to Circuit Court following a three-hour preliminary hearing before Judge John Galien in Holland Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon.

Ten witnesses were called to the stand by Ottawa County Prosecutor James Bussard in an effort to establish whether there was cause to bind the two men over to Circuit Court.

Maxson and Sansone were represented by attorneys Arthur E. Engelland of Chicago and Walter J. Roper of Holland. Maxson and Sansone were originally to have appeared separately, but by agreement of counsel the two cases were consolidated.

Called to testify for the defense were detective sergeant Charles Meyers of the Michigan State Police crime laboratory in East Lansing and detective John Matthews, Michigan Department of Health chemist working for the State Police crime lab.

Matthews reported finding samples of paint and safe insulation on the clothing of Maxson and Sansone, submitted to the crime lab by Holland police detectives for examination.

Meyers testified that the shoes taken from the two suspects were "similar" to footprints shown in photographs taken at the scene of the burglary and to plaster casts of the footprints made by Holland detectives.

Holland detective Dennis Ende told the court he and detective Gil Tors had found footprints matching the shoes of the two suspects leading up to a door of Faith Church which had been pried open and also inside the church in the vicinity of the safe.

Corporal Burton Borr of the Holland Police Department and Holland patrolman Robert Ryzanca also took the stand. Questioning Borr, counsel for the defense hammered away at the use of photographs of footprints which failed to show the relationship of the footprints to the church premises.

Engelland also got Meyers to say that he could not be absolutely certain that the footprints shown in the photographs were those of the shoes worn by Maxson and Sansone. Meyers said they were the same size and configuration and that they were "similar."

Borr and Ryzanca identified several pieces of clothing taken from the two suspects after they were picked up following the church burglary. Ryzanca testified that he and patrolman Robert Schra of Holland had gone to Allegan to return the two suspects to Holland on Dec. 21.

Otsego assistant police chief Ralph Kreckman testified that he and Otsego police officer Ross Paul had stopped the taxi in which Maxson and Sansone had left Holland on the morning of Dec. 21, and held the men to be picked up by Allegan County Sheriff's detective Clayton St. John.

Kenneth Westrate of Holland, the driver of the cab hired by the two suspects at the time they were apprehended in Otsego, said the two had hired the cab to take them to Kalamazoo from Holland.

Lee Vanden Berg, another cab driver, reported picking up the two suspects at a service station in Holland and bringing them to the cab company office. He said the men had had a big roll of bills which he saw when they paid their fare.

Ronald Bowden, working at the Clark gas station at 671 Michigan Ave., when Maxson and Sansone called for a cab from there on Dec. 21, said the men asked him if they could warm themselves in the station. He said they had told him their car "threw a rod" on US-31 south of Holland.

Bowden said Sansone had been wearing a charcoal gray or black sweatshirt with a hood and that Maxson was wearing a blue ski jacket when they stopped at the gas station.

Vanden Berg also told the court that the pair had told him their car "threw a rod" on their way US-31 south of Holland.

James Langeland, treasurer of Faith Christian Reformed Church, said he had heard a radio news report of a church burglary in Holland on Dec. 21, and immediately went to Faith Church to check the safe. He said he found the safe broken open after he got to the church and called Holland police. Langeland said he had put the Dec. 20 collections in the safe on the night of Dec. 20 and had locked the safe and the room in which the safe was located.

The preliminary examination of Maxson and Sansone lasted from 3 p.m. to 6:10 p.m. It had been originally scheduled for Dec. 29, but was postponed for two weeks upon request of attorneys for both the defense and prosecution.

Visits Brothers, Sisters After 53 Years Separation

SEPARATED 53 YEARS — Henry Woudstra (right) of 308 West 21st St. and his brother, Y. Woudstra, are shown here after having not seen each other for 53 years. Hank returned to Holland this week after spending six weeks with his brothers and sisters in The Netherlands.

Getting reacquainted with his brother, two sisters and a half brother and sister in the Netherlands was the happy experience of Henry Woudstra, local painter and artist, who recently spent six weeks in The Netherlands — his first visit to the homeland in 53 years.

Hank, 75, who resides at 308 West 21st St. arrived at the Amsterdam airport on Nov. 27 and was identified there by a cane which he carried and a red "zakdoek" (handkerchief.) According to a Dutch newspaper account "Zijn broeder kan en bijna geen woord tussen kringen. (His brother couldn't get a word in between.)"

The local Woudstra visited at The Hague, Amsterdam, Delft and Boshop. He also visited a cotton spinning mill at Van Heek where he worked as a young boy, and noted that the machine on which he worked was still there and in operation.

Woudstra was born in Friesland province and spent many of his early days near the Zuider Zee which is now being turned into farmlands.

He came to the United States in 1911 returning only to Europe during World War I when he served at the front lines in France.

Woudstra's return trip from The Netherlands Monday was considerably less than the 13 days it took to cross the ocean back in 1911. He left Schiphol airport in Amsterdam at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 4 and arrived in Detroit at 5:45. He returned home at 8:30 the same day.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Russia

Russia and the satellite countries are experiencing "creeping capitalism" which is making life easier and more bountiful for people behind the Iron Curtain. This was one of the points brought out by A. Frank Schwarz, international co-ordinator for The Big Dutchman, Inc., who addressed members of Holland Rotary Club Thursday noon.

Schwarz spends much of his time in Europe as representative of the Zeeland firm, specialists in automatic poultry feeding equipment, and frequently has business dealings with officials of socialist governments. His experience indicates a more relaxed political attitude is evolving, and the rigidly militaristic control over the individual is easing up. Production of consumer goods is up, personal incentive is returning.

As far as international trade is concerned, Schwarz said many government officials behind the Iron Curtain prefer to buy from the United States instead of England or other European sources. "They know the quality of goods is superior," he explained "and they take pride in showing us they are people of integrity and stability and not the wild-eyed radicals of popular concept."

Schwarz pointed out that trade with Russia and her satellites need not be confused with political ideologies. He cited West Germany, which has as much reason as any nation to mistrust Russia but is doing 300 per cent more business with the Iron Curtain countries than the U. S. is.

The Big Dutchman, Inc., organized its international operation in 1958. Last year its overseas sales of automatic poultry feeding equipment and other special facilities totalled more than $10 million. T. company has sales offices or representation in every European country, Schwarz said.

Junior Rotarians for January are Robert Brollin, Holland High School; Lester Hulst, Holland Christian and Kenneth Peffers, West Ottawa. Next week Rotary Club meeting will feature a talk on Holland's public school system by Fred Bertsch, Holland High principal.

LEARNING COMES FIRST
Suppose you know of a germ that is tough and virulent — a germ capable of ravaging the world with epidemic disease if it cannot be controlled. What sensible 20th century man would approve of fighting such a germ with chants, with strident exhortations to resist it to the death? That is the witch doctor's approach.

The figure of speech carries over, with but small loss of pertinence, to the battle of free men against the spread of the communist ideology. The way to carry on that fight is to learn all about what we are fighting, exactly as medical science would learn all it could about that deadly virus. We must examine it under the microscope of analysis, learn why people succumb to it and how it affects them, devise the most powerful and specific means we can to weaken and contain it.

This generalization is inspired by the proposal of a NATO educators' conference that an international program of education about communism be established. "It is nonsense," said the conferees, "to speak of the acts or policies of the Soviet Union, Red China, the United States or Ghana, for instance, without taking into consideration the philosophical and political motives behind them."

Many will agree that the key to the problem is the need for understanding just how people in other governments behave and the reasons why. Today people young and old need to try to gain more education and understanding.

With our present state of world affairs, there are problems of all kinds. We the people are going to need to try to help work out the favorable answers.

Sunday School Lesson

for SUNDAY, JAN. 17
The Kingdom is at Hand
Matthew 4:12-25
C.P. Dame

The ministry of Jesus was short but busy. He used his time well, preaching, teaching and healing in places where He was most needed. This lesson tells of his fruitful ministry.

I. Jesus gave light to people who sat in darkness. The Lord's ministry in Judea lasted about eight months. This was followed by his Galilean ministry about which our lesson teaches. Jesus left Nazareth, his home town, which had rejected him, and moved to Capernaum—a large, prosperous and busy city located in the northern part of Galilee.

Matthew says Jesus left Nazareth after he had heard that John the Baptist was cast into prison. Galilee was densely populated, many Gentiles lived there and the people were in touch with the outside world. Capernaum also rejected Jesus who condemned the city; see Matthew 11:23-24. Matthew also tells us that Jesus, in moving to Capernaum, fulfilled a prophecy found in Isaiah 9:2, "The people which sat in darkness saw a great light; and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death, light is sprung up."

The subject of the preaching of Jesus was repentance. This subject the modern pulpit ought to stress more than ever. The church ought to repent. The nation should repent — change its mind about sin and God and salvation.

II. The Lord calls and uses ordinary people. One day Jesus called two sets of brothers, fishermen, telling them that he would make them fishers of men. Jesus needs trained workers — and he trains them for a work they can do. Fishermen in those days were neither poor nor rich, they belonged to the middle class. They worked, transacted business with others, had certain qualities which Jesus needed in his workers. Good fishermen are patient, persevering and know what bait to use and they are not afraid of hardships.

These fishermen, Peter and Andrew, James and John, responded to the call of Jesus. That was the best thing they ever did. Any one who today responds to the call of Jesus shows wisdom of the highest kind.

III. Jesus ministers to the whole man. The Lord preached in the synagogue at first and later on out-of-doors. The services in the synagogue were rather informal. Not only did Jesus preach but he also taught. The preacher proclaims truths or doctrines while the teacher explains them.

Both the preaching and healing and healing ministry of Jesus made him popular. His preaching was in the language of the people which appealed. In a day when there was much sickness and few doctors and little medical knowledge the healing ministry of Jesus drew great crowds.

Matthew says that Jesus healed, "all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people." The Lord showed concern about man's physical and spiritual welfare. The Church of today should show a similar concern and minister to all of man's needs — needs which are his because of man's sin.

Founder's Day Program Held By PEO Group

A unique Founder's Day program was presented Monday evening at the home of Mrs. James E. Bamborough Jr., 688 State St., at a joint meeting of Holland's two PEO chapters.

Three out-of-town PEO members of the tri-city BE chapter were present: Mrs. Seth Goodman, of Alma, a former State President of PEO; Mrs. Richard Waggener of St. Louis, Mich., president of Chapter BE; and Mrs. Roland Crawford of Ithaca, artist and musician.

Mrs. William Schrier introduced Mrs. Crawford as an artist who was favoring the Holland chapters by giving them the first view of some of her original work. These were reproductions she had made of post-Civil war figures and accessories to illustrate the beginning of the PEO sisterhood at Iowa Wesleyan College in 1869.

Mrs. Crawford's remarks indicated careful research into the characteristics of each of the seven college-girl founders of PEO and into the fashions of that day.

Mrs. Crawford had not even allowed her own chapter members to view the figurines previously. A description of the personality and accomplishments of each young founder was given in turn by Mrs. Goodman and Mrs. Waggener. After each description Mrs. Crawford literally unveiled each figurine to the admiration of her audience.

Each eight-inch figure was done with hair-coloring, coiffure, facial features and dress true to each of these 19-year-old college girls and their times. The presentation not only impressed the contribution in the U. S. A. of these early college women toward women's advancement of culture and education inspired by charitable concern, but also the enduring quality of the ideals that caused the sisterhood to grow from the original seven to today's membership of 150,000.

Preceding the joint meeting, Mrs. A. E. Hildebrand entertained the three guests of honor at dinner in her home, 51 East 34th St. Present were six past presidents of Chapter BW, Mrs. George Pelgrim, Mrs. Hildebrand, Mrs. Schrier, Mrs. George Stephens and Mrs. Gerald Bolhuis; and the two present local chapter presidents Mrs. James White and Mrs. Stephens.

A special PEO memorial service was observed in memory of Mrs. George Damson at the opening of the BW meeting. As chairman of the program committee she had planned the meeting.

The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Robert Mills and Mrs. Stephens.

Allegan Board Will Study Poverty Plans

ALLEGAN—Allegan county's board of supervisors voted unanimously Tuesday to join in a citizen's effort to explore possible county programs under the anti-poverty Economic Opportunity Act.

In a resolution suggested by County Extension Director Homer Patterson, the board authorized Chairman Fritz Jager, of Gunplain township, to name a three-man committee to work with a citizen's committee already in the process of organizing.

Patterson served as spokesman for a group representing the various educational and social welfare offices in the county which has been functioning as a steering committee for the project.

Patterson said "if we can come up with at least one good program out of this hodge-podge that will help break the pattern of poverty reproducing itself, it would be worth the effort."

He said the steering group had tentatively agreed on a program for youngsters in the 10-12 age bracket. Preliminary plans call for making use of the Allegan County 4-H Club Camp on Eagle Lake.

He said the group also has discussed a youth counseling program in which business and professional men and women in the county would be enlisted in an effort to reduce school dropouts through personal contact with youngsters.

Both programs would come under the Community Action title of the 1964 anti-poverty law, he said.

WINDMILL — Henri Albert Hoogendoorn (left) of the Netherlands Embassy staff in Washington, D.C., views photographs and sketches of Holland's imported windmill with Willard C. Wichers, director of the Netherlands Information Service in Holland.

Hoogendoorn, counselor for press and cultural affairs, spent the weekend in Holland. On Sunday he presented a contemporary Dutch painting to Hope College to be hung near the entrance of Van Zoeren Library. (Sentinel photo)

Dutch Counselor Visits Holland

"I've wanted to visit Holland, Mich., ever since I entered government work 17 years ago, and now I am here I feel very much at home."

So said Henri Albert Hoogendoorn, counselor for press and cultural affairs for the Netherlands Embassy in Washington, D. C., who spent last weekend here studying methods of the midwestern office of the Netherlands Information Service headed by Willard C. Wichers.

From here, he goes to San Francisco, Calif., to visit the NIS office there. Together with his contacts with the eastern division in New York City he expects to draft new plans for projecting a favorable image of the Netherlands in this country.

He has an intense interest in Holland's imported Windmill De Zwaan and met with the Windmill committee at lunch Friday noon to learn details. His interest reflected some of the intense enthusiasm the Netherlands has in the transfer of the mill, and the strengthening of ties between Americans of Dutch descent and the Netherlands.

"Our aim in cultural and press relations for the Netherlands is a matter of personal relations and contacts with the American press," he explained. "Our office is not associated with Dutch economy, yet we have a stake in 'selling' the Netherlands in this country. Our country's past differences with Indonesia and New Guinea have been resolved pretty well, and we no longer put these subjects at the top of the list in explaining the Netherlands to American newsmen."

"Rather, we now want to project cultural and educational projects in the United States, and whether we send lecturers, educators, art exhibits, orchestras or ballet companies is yet to be determined. I am most interested in studying Mr. Wichers' methods in Dutch promotion. He has had many years of experience and I have been on this post in your country only seven months," he said.

While in Holland, he participated in ceremonies Sunday at Van Zoeren Library at 2 p.m. when the Dutch painting "The March to the Feast of the Whitsuntide" was presented to Hope College. The painting, commissioned by the Dutch government, was done by the contemporary Dutch artist Kees Sabbe of the Hague, whom Hoogendoorn described as one of the most promising artists in the Netherlands specializing in religious themes, adapted to everyday life.

The painting, portraying a huge crowd, from the dark into the light, represents a happy vision of crowds of people marching to the Feast of the Whitsuntide, also known as Pentecost.

Hoogendoorn's biography reads like a fascinating story. He was born in Probolinggo, Java, but was educated in the Netherlands. He returned to Indonesia in 1937 and worked as a journalist until 1940 when he entered business, a career which was interrupted by the war and he spent three years in a Japanese prison camp.

He resumed his journalistic career after the war and in 1947 he entered the Netherlands foreign service, spending two years in New Delhi before returning to the Hague for an assignment at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. He filled assignments in Pretoria, Jakarta, London, Bonn, Hollandia and Canberra until 1946 when he joined the Netherlands Embassy staff in Washington. He makes his home there with his wife and two children, aged 14 and 16.

"I've always been interested in Michigan," he said. "About in 1910 an uncle immigrated to western Michigan and lived in the Kalamazoo area. As a boy, I was utterly fascinated with America. Now I am in your city of Holland and find it most friendly. And those Dutch names in your telephone book . . . you even have Hoogendoorns!"

West Ottawa Chalks Up 70-55 Win

A fired up West Ottawa basketball team broke its three-game losing streak with a decisive 70-55 win over the Grand Haven Buccaneers at the West Ottawa gym Friday night.

This was the first time the Panthers have been able to defeat the Bucs in a series that is rapidly developing in a fine rivalry between the two schools.

The Panthers were at full strength for the first time since Dec. 11. Paul Busscher returned to the lineup, after missing three games because of the flu and Dave Farabee returned after his trip to the Michigan-Oregon State football game in Pasadena.

Playing before one of the largest crowds of the season, the Panthers showed their determination as they led throughout most of the ball game. The Bucs rallied late in the third period and cut the Panther lead to four points 41-37 with 2:40 left in the stanza.

The Panthers started the scoring on a jump shot by Van Huis to take a 2-0 lead but the Bucs roared back on baskets by McMaster, Daugauities, and Brouwer to lead 6-2. At this point Coach Jack Bonham called a time out to iron out the mistakes. Grand Haven was picking up the Panthers at mid court and this seemed to bother the Panthers. After the time out, the Panthers promptly scored four points to tie the score and a long jump shot by Farabee gave them an 8-6 lead. The Bucs tied the score at 8-8 but then watched the Panthers build up a commanding 21-12 lead at the end of the quarter.

With Farabee leading the way the Panthers continued to roll in the second quarter. Farabee, having his hottest night of the season, scored 12 of his 19 points in this quarter. With 4:40 left in the half, the Panthers had built up a 16 point lead, 32-16.

Excellent rebounding on the part of Bruce Van Huis, Arvin Visser, and Busscher played an important part in building up this lead. Coach Jon Hall decided it was time to match height with height and he substituted 6'5" Dave Boyink to help on the boards. The strategy worked as the Bucs were able to cut the lead to nine points, 37-26, at the half.

The Panthers were hot in the first half as they hit on 14 out of 28 shots from the floor for a fine 50 per cent shooting percentage while the Bucs hit on 9 out of 35 shots for 26 per cent.

The Bucs found their shooting eye in the third quarter as they outscored the Panthers 16-11. With Rob Meints, Boyink and Mike Mulder leading the way, the Bucs began to control the boards and score until they had cut the lead to only four points. Vizithum and Van Huis countered for West Ottawa and the Panthers led 48-42 at the end of the quarter. Grand Haven hit on 7 out of 13 for 54 per cent while West Ottawa had 4 out of 14 for 28 per cent in the quarter.

Fouls hurt the Bucs in the fourth quarter as the Panthers pulled away. Meints, Draeger and Mulder all fouled out late in the quarter as did Farabee for the Panthers. The Panthers were right at home at the charity line as they pumped in 12 out of 19 free throws while the Bucs were able to make only one out of seven. Both teams hit five shots from the floor.

Early in the fourth quarter the Panthers increased their lead to 52-42 but the stubborn Bucs fought back with a press to cut the lead to 56-50 with 3:55 remaining in the game. At this point Van Huis scored seven points, Vizithum three, Van Dyke and Bauer two each to give the Panthers their 70 points and victory.

Van Huis, who has averaged 19 points a game so far this season, led all scorers with 22 points. He was followed by Farabee with 19 and Vizithum with 18. Rob Meints led the scoring for the Bucs with 19 while substitute Mike Mulder had 14.

The Panthers, now 3-3 overall, return to league action next Friday as they travel to Grandville to meet the Bulldogs.

EARLY WORMS GET CAUGHT — Obviously confused by last Thursday's warm weather, these night crawlers made the mistake of coming above ground. Bert Dekker of 268 West 10th St. displays some of the good fish bait he caught shortly after 10 p.m. Thursday at Kollen Park. Dekker, who took about 75 of the crawlers, said he could easily have picked up 500 of the nocturnal creatures. Dekker intends to keep some of the worms in his basement, and some he gave to his friend Dick Zwip of 1789 South Shore Dr. to try out on fish in Florida. Dekker said he had never caught night crawlers in January until this year. (Sentinel photo)

Fire Losses Dip Slightly

Fires during the year 1964 cost Holland residents a total of $41,401, according to a report compiled by Fire Chief Dick Brandt, but no Holland residents lost their lives in fires last year.

The 1964 fire loss represents a slight decrease from the previous year when the city's fire losses amounted to slightly more than $45,000. The best fire loss record attained by the city during recent years was $17,489 during 1962. The worst record in recent years was in 1959 when the city's fire losses soared to $124,513.

Firemen were called to put out 224 fires last year and made an additional 18 runs on false alarms. Grass fires were the most numerous type of fire alarm, accounting for 86 of the alarms turned in.

Fires in homes last year numbered 55, and automobile fire calls accounted for 29 of the runs made by firemen.

Last year's fires caused an estimated $20,495 loss on homes and an additional $4,347 loss on their contents, Brandt said. The loss to buildings other than dwellings during 1964 totaled $7,111 with an additional $7,873 loss on contents.

All other types of fires, including automobiles, caused losses estimated at $1,575.

The biggest single cause of fires in buildings was defective electrical wiring, the chief said, accounting for 34 alarms. Defective electrical appliances caused 18 fires, and misuse of electrical appliances caused an additional eight fires.

Carelessness, including careless smoking and burning of rubbish, was another major cause of fires, Brandt said. Some 32 fires were attributed to this cause.

The vessel is at the Pudget Sound Naval Shipyard for a 30-day outfitting period. A 92-foot long mid-section was recently inserted in the vessel during a multi-million dollar conversion at Seattle, Wash.

The ship's fuel carrying capacity is 6,300,000 gallons. A crew of 230 men serve aboard the 644-foot vessel.

Contrasting Rhythms Mark de Paur Concert

There was something for everybody in Tuesday night's concert by the de Paur Chorus in Civic Center, sponsored by the Holland Community Concert Association.

The well balanced program offered a wealth of contrast with fine religious selections, African rhythm numbers, spirituals, calypsos and novelties spanning many years and in some cases centuries.

Clarity of diction and smoothness of tonal production marked all selections, but the volume of voices plus such rhythm instruments as African drums provided contrasts from a gentle lullaby to heroic marching songs and old-new songs of emerging nations on the African continent.

Several selections were the same the chorus, at that time the de Paur Infantry Chorus, sang in Dimnent Memorial Chapel more than a dozen years ago, notably "Here Is Thy Footstool," by Paul Creston, a de Paur chorus trademark, and some concluding religious numbers, demonstrating anew that Leonard de Paur is a highly skilled choral conductor and an arranger of resource and taste.

Opening with five songs by Johannes Brahms, the chorus demonstrated its classical training ranging from subdued melodies to rousing marching songs of contrasting rhythm.

Particularly well received were Songs of the New Nations, four African and one from Israel. Jungle drums and other primitive devices provided a beat in varying volumes for new songs with roots dating as far back as 1,500 years. Chants, hand clapping, and a polyrhythmic contrapuntal style of singing transcended standard musical notation.

A new song in sharp contrast to the African rhythm was the Israeli "El Yivne, Ha Galil" (God Will Build Up Galilee), a Semitic - Oriental folk tune tinged with characteristics of Chassidic song discovered by early Palestine pioneers.

Conductor de Paur directed his 23-voice chorus much like a master organist bringing out all the shadings of sound combined with master control.

Two contrasting encores brought final applause. They were "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" and the novelty calypso "The Ugly Woman," a long-time chorus favorite sung here on its previous visit.

Volleyes

The question is often asked: "Why do so many nations in the world resent America when it has done so much for such nations?"

One of the best answers we've come across came from the editor of Table Talk, published by Hot Shoppes, Inc., Washington, D.C.

He wrote, in response to such a question from a school child: "Dear Clarissa:

"Let's just suppose that you and your family lived in a subdivision called the World. And in this, there were 100 houses. Then suppose that one of the newer neighbors had 80 bathtubs in his one home while the other neighbors (including your family) had a total of only 20 bathtubs for all of the other 99 homes.

"Then suppose this prosperous family had 71 autos parked in front of their home, while there were only 29 autos scattered among all the other 99 neighbors. Suppose that they owned 48 of the 100 radios in the subdivision? And 60 of the 100 telephones? And just suppose there were 100 juicy steaks in the whole subdivision and they had 34 in their freezer, while the rest of you had only 2/3 of a steak in each of your freezers.

"I'm afraid that you and your family wouldn't like them either. And these are only a few of the differences between America and the rest of the world.

"Yet, remember this, Clarissa - we've worked for what we have - worked HARD. And we've been good neighbors, too, because we've shared an awful lot with the less fortunate. But, it seems that it isn't what you GIVE in this world, but what you've GOT, that makes you liked or disliked as a nation."

For the sixth year, maintenance employees of Holland public schools enjoyed Dutch "oliebollen" the last day of 1964.

This delightful custom was started six years ago by Mrs. Henry Bomer, wife of one of the department employees, who came here some years ago from the Netherlands.

This year, she used a new recipe (one with eggs) and the fat balls were better than ever. She friend 180 pieces, enough for about three pieces.

Basically, "oliebollen" or "vetbollen" are sort of doughnut with yeast base, plus raisins.

Thank-yous are still coming in for hundreds of holiday stockings and other gifts which school children in Ottawa county assembled through the Red Cross program for patients in veterans institutions and hospitals and for children in the State Home and Training Schools.

It started more than a year ago when a holiday project was undertaken sewing and decorating huge Christmas stockings and filling them with toys, games, books, etc., for the Children and toilet items, cards, writing materials, etc., for veterans. Boxes of home made candies, cookies and other treats accompanied the stockings.

Christmas stockings are only part of many projects for youth groups under the Red Cross program. Other projects are assembling items for disaster chests and making afghans or lap robes from wool or corduroy remnants. The latter are used by veterans in wheelchairs. Much of the work is done in youth quarters in the Red Cross chapter house at 89 West 11th St.

A new honor has come to Frederick Deming, Minneapolis banker who has spent summers in the Tennessee beach area, north of Holland, on Lake Michigan on many occasions. Deming, president of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank, has been appointed undersecretary for monetary affairs in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Frank Van Slooten, route 1, West Olive, has found an old issue of the Sentinel dated Jan. 11, 1900, which yields quite a few historical notes, all geared to the journalism of that day.

The yellowed paper, found in the drawer of an old bureau, splashed a big story on a fire in the car barn of the Holland and Lake Michigan Railway Co., in which "10 large handsome passenger cars" were destroyed involving a loss of $1,000. The electric railway line suspended operations, throwing 20 men out of employment.

Another story concerned city tax collections on which $2,620 remained to be collected on a total levy of $58,543.87. Biggest item was $20,000 for city schools.

Price of the paper was two cents.

Another old Sentinel dated Oct. 30, 1907, came our way from John Vande Wege, 320 West 18th St., who got it some years ago from a cottage in Macatawa Park. This issue, incidentally, cost one cent.

The lead story was about Patrolman Pete Steketee rounding up 17 boys who had run away from truant school with the aim of becoming hoboes. Ranging in age from 10 to 15 years, the boys left Grand Rapids on a Monday and were arrested in Holland, cold and hungry, on Wednesday.

Another story revealed that Charles A. Floyd of Holland has passed up management of the Michigan State Fair, a position he held for two years, to return to Holland to manage the interurban line.

A particularly thoughtful article on "Adolescent Adults" by Sharon Unruh appeared in the Dec. 18 issue of the Holland High Herald. In general, the article concludes that teenage antics today probably are not much worse than those in other generations, but the Atomic age sets a faster pace coupled with many complications. Miss Unruh was killed in a car crash near Allegan which claimed three lives north of Allegan Jan. 3.

It concludes: "There is also that heavy weight that hangs over our shoulders, the atom bomb, the destruction of all I suppose it will keep moving long after we have died. I guess the only one that can do something about it is the Creator. That day will come when the people on earth have gone just a little bit too far. Until that time comes, all we can do is hope and pray that it will not happen to our life span."

A Christmas letter from Guy Vander Jagt of Cadillac, one of Holland's earliest community ambassadors, reveals he and his wife Carol have been enjoying a belated honeymoon in Europe, following an active political campaign in which Guy was elected state senator from his district.

In fact, they celebrated three Christmases; first in Kitzbuhel, a fairy tale village high in the Austrian Alps, second in Berlin where the Berlin Wall seemed to mock the peace and good will of the season, and lastly in Bonn visiting the family with whom Guy lived for a year.

In seeking public office, Guy left the law firm of Warner, Norcross and Judd in Grand Rapids to return to Cadillac. With no campaign funds, no organization, no experience and two seasoned legislative opponents, he won the race after one bruised and bleeding hand, eight tv talks, 150 speeches umpteen parades, a 10 vehicle three-day caravan, Gals for Guy, an air caravan, 6,000 posters, 25,000 handbills and hundreds of friends.

Holland's city hostess wasn't very busy in December, calling on only three newcomers. Mr. and Mrs. John Jouban of Detroit are living in an apartment at 377 Lincoln Ave. Mr. Jouban is with Parke, Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Clark and two sons of St. Joseph are living at 382 Pine Ave. Mr. Clark is assistant manager at Sears.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Florence of Fostoria, Ohio, have purchased a home at 265 Cambridge Blvd. Mr. Florence has opened his own business in auto customizing. They have two children.

Spring Lake Woman Dies In Blaze

SPRING LAKE — A 49-year-old Spring Lake woman died Thursday afternoon when fire, caused by an overheated gas clothes dryer, trapped her in a second-floor bedroom of her home.

Mrs. Angeline Fiedler of 17199 Esther Ave., died of asphyxiation, authorities said. A daughter, Mary, 23, and her three-month-old baby escaped from the burning home after trying unsuccessfully to persuade her mother to come down a smoky stairway to safety.

The victim's husband, Joseph, was called home from work in Grand Haven and tried vainly to reach his wife. He collapsed and was hospitalized after being restrained from entering the blazing home.

Neighbors Lyle Struve, Leroy Ketner and Floyd Gould tried to reach Mrs. Fiedler by breaking the bedroom window but were driven back by smoke and flames. Gould suffered burns on his hands.

The daughter told authorities she and her mother had been washing clothes since 8:30 a.m. and the dryer had been in constant use until 1:35 p.m. when the fire broke out.

She said her mother had gone upstairs to rest and called down to her daughter that the rear of the house was in flames. The dryer was located at the rear of the frame house near the kitchen, and flames quickly spread up a rear stairway.

After pleading with her mother to come down the stairway, the daughter grabbed her child and ran across the street to summon help. Mrs. Fiedler's body was found beside the bed.

When Spring Lake and Ferrysburg firemen arrived at the scene of the blaze, the entire rear portion of the house was in flames, according to Fire Chief Ed Koster.

The entire home was gutted by flames, and authorities estimated loss at $3,000.

Mrs. Fiedler was a resident of Spring Lake for 15 years and was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Spring Lake.

Surviving besides her husband and daughter are two sons, Walter of Spring Lake and Joseph in the U.S. Navy; her father, Louis Koz; three brothers, Joseph, Louis and Walter Koz; one sister, Mrs. Andy Durga, all of Hewich, Ill., and one granddaughter.

Egypt's 'Green' Area Portrayed For Garden Club

"Egyptian people as well as their city and government officials value their 'green' area most highly," Bruce Masselink, Holland's Community Ambassador to Egypt last summer told members of the Holland Garden Club at their meeting Thursday afternoon in the Woman's Literary Club.

Egypt is considered a temperate zone with an average yearly temperature of 96 degrees, temperatures often going as high as 130 degrees. Its natural terrain being desert, the only "green" areas in the country border the Nile River and are green only as far as the irrigation canals used for regular systematic flooding can reach. Good drinking water is piped to cities and villages from a modern filtration plant, Masselink said.

Many village streets and private residential gardens show semi-tropical trees, vines and brilliantly colored foliage plants and flowers. Bicycle flower vendors travel the streets year around. Small children gather wild flowers from the desert and sell them at the roadside. Egypt supplies cut flowers to the flower markets of Rome and Paris.

Flowers are so reasonably priced that a long rope of jasmine blossoms may be purchased for 25 cents. Beautiful oriental gardens have been developed. Garden and sidewalk cafes are plentiful and recreational facilities are available at private sports clubs, the speaker said.

After showing the slides he brought back and others supplied by Mrs. Stanley Boven, who recently visited Egypt, Mr. Masselink said he thought an International Gardening Ambassador plan might be worth investigating.

A dessert - tea preceded the program.

Maroons Win 57-47; Even Mark at 4-4

HUDSONVILLE — Holland Christian's basketball squad came through with its second straight impressive victory and evened its season record at 4-4 here Friday night by downing arch-rival Hudsonville Unity Christian, 57-47 before a standing room crowd of 1,300 fans.

Featuring a strong defense and a smooth working offense the Maroons were a far different ball club than the one which lost four straight ball games a couple of weeks ago. Playing with confidence all the way, Coach Art Tuls' quint shattered the variety of defenses thrown up by the Crusaders and led by fairly comfortable margins through the last three quarters.

Christian's point total might have been much larger had not the Maroons used stalling tactics to force the Unity club out of its zone in the last period.

Coach Andy Ten Harnsel used a "box and one" zone defense designed primarily to stop Christian's guard Tom Deur in the opening quarter but Christian exploited its weakness well to send the Unity club into a standard 1-3-1 zone in the second period. Deur, who hadn't practiced since Tuesday due to illness, sat out the second quarter. The losers finally went to a press and later a man to man defense to try and stop the losses.

Christian's rebounding which had been shoddy in recent games, was greatly improved as the Maroons pulled down 44 in the game. Harold Alferink, lanky Maroon center, was tremendous as he pulled down 18 in the first three quarters before sitting out all but 30 seconds of the last period. The game's outstanding defensive play was turned in by the Maroons' Jack Kalmink who held the Unity ace, Steve Coy, to just five points.

Deur and Larry Klaasen again performed well as did substitutes Les Hulst, Paul Steggerda and Jack Berghoff. Tom Wedeven, who only played periodically, due to illness, also looked good. Christian received balanced scoring with four players in double figures, following Deur's 14.

As a team the Maroons had a consistent shooting pattern and hit on 23 out of 56 tries for 41 per cent. Only at the charity stripe did the Maroons falter hitting just nine out of 23.

The big guns for the Crusaders were guards Don De Good and Hank Huizenga, both clever performers and good shooters. They combined for well over half of Unity's point total with 26.

Behind Huizenga's fine shooting the losers led by five points on four different occasions in the first quarter, before two quick steals by Christian's guards gave the Maroons a 16-15 edge going into the second period. Wedeven hitting from the corner and Deur from outside led with 12 points between them.

With five different players scoring in the second stanza, the winners began to pull away steadily and led 24-17 at the midway point with Unity having plenty of difficulty with Christian's defense. The winners upped the margin to nine markers before the losers whittled the count to 28-23 at halftime.

Christian had no difficulty with Unity's all court press to open the second half and increased its lead to 40-26 with 2:56 remaining in the period. Holland showed sharp passing and fine offensive maneuvers to continue to pull away to a 46-31 count going into the last period. Alferink led in the stanza with eight markers.

After the Maroons had taken a 17-point lead, their biggest of the tilt, the winners chose to play control ball to force the Crusaders out of their zone defense. Finally with the Maroons leading 51-39, the Unity outfit left its zone for a man to man. The rest of the quarter was evenly played although the locals missed six straight free throws in the last minutes while Unity connected on nine out of 12 in the final period.

Overall the losers hit on 13 out of 22 charity tosses compared to Christian's poor mark. While Deur led the Maroons with 14, De Good led his team with 14 also.

Christian now rests before entertaining West Ottawa on Jan. 19.

Views From The Campus

(Robert Wegter joined the Speech department and Little Theater in September of this year. Wegter graduated from Central College, Pella, Iowa in 1962 and received his Master's degree in Religious Education at Union Theological Seminary, New York City, in 1964.—Editor's note.)

By Robert Wegter

Drama is often believed to be the most alive of all the creative arts, dealing with the very essence of life.

Not only is a play created by a living person or viewed by a living being; it is also performed by living people. In this way it is similar to the art of music. Drama, however, provides something unique which differs somewhat from all the other arts.

To understand fully the nature of drama one must examine the four elements of any play. There is first of all the writer who sets out to create a living work of art. He begins with his ideas, his responses to the society which he sees around him. He then tries to create real, believable people who are true to his emotional responses. He may also begin with a situation and try to find or create people who would be true to this particular situation. He writes — he re-writes. Continually he is creating. Eventually he comes up with a script which he hopes is indicative of and valid to life.

The second element of the play is then the script. The script is a dead body of words until it is performed. It has potential elements of life within its pages. But these elements of life are not fully realized until they are re-interpreted and re-created by actors.

The actor is the next element along this creative track. He must probe the script so that he can convey to his audience the true intent or purpose of the playwright. The actor has not succeeded until he feels that he has done his best and has been true to the purpose and intent of the playwright.

The audience then come to view that work of art after it has been prepared by the actors in cooperation with a director. What happens now is not a stroke of luck or an extraneous perception experience. No, what happens now is really an act of communion.

Today's audience cannot sit back and look through the imaginary key-hole into a world beyond the wall which really does not exist. Today's audience must come to the theater expecting to see a part of their society (or themselves) on that stage. For that is what today's drama is all about. The playwright of today is concerned with creating a picture of the life that he sees around him. We are part of that life. We, in a sense, are his subject matter. His plays are about us.

One might then ask why we should go to the theater if we are going to be seeing ourselves on stage. That is precisely the point. The creative playwright may be able to tell us something about ourselves which we have previously failed to recognize. Everyone knows how difficult it is to look at himself objectively. We all pretend, however, to be somewhat objective about others around us. The playwright also tries to be objective about the society that he sees. We are a part of that society. We are, therefore, seeing ourselves from the viewpoint of another.

This, of course, has a great many theological implications. The Church and the theater may have a complementary mission.

The playwright often analyzes the questions but cannot offer a suitable answer. The Church usually has an answer but sometimes fails to see the real question. Here the two must work together. In other words, the Church must listen to the questions being asked by the dramatist before offering its answers. The two can and must act as checkmates for each other. They are both dealing with the essence of life; the playwright with the hopelessness of man, the Church with the hopefulness for man.

Surveys indicate that farm families are more likely to have adequate diets than village and city families of the same size and income.

Godwin Wallops Zeeland, 103-67

WYOMING — Godwin's basketball team, combining its well-known pressing defense with some hot shooting, whipped Zeeland, 103-67 here Friday night.

It was Godwin's third straight Grand Valley League win and left the Chix with a 1-1 league record. Zeeland is 3-3 overall and hosts East Grand Rapids next Friday in a league game.

The winners sank 53 per cent of their shots as they canned 42 baskets in 76 tries. Zeeland had one of its poorest shooting nights as they made 29 per cent on 19 baskets in 64 tries.

Godwin led all the way and increased the margin each period. The first quarter score was 30-23 while the halftime score was 53-35. Godwin led 74-51 at the third quarter's close.

Bob Van't Hof, Godwin 5'9" guard and floor leader, led the Wolverines with 33 points. He hit 15 baskets including six straight over the Zeeland zone.

Lloyd Schout led Zeeland with 24 points. The winners won the rebound battle, 49-32.

A total of 46 fouls were called in the game with the Wolverines charged 24 times and the Chix 22. Godwin's pressing defense is a hustling type of play with two and three men always converging on the man with the ball.

The winners sank 27 of 37 free throws while Zeeland made 19 of 26.

Godwin's reserve team walloped Zeeland, 71-41. Jack Elenbaas had 14 for the losers.

Awaits New Committee Assignments

State Sen. Harold Volkema of Holland said today it appears he may be appointed to the State Affairs committee in the new senate. He also is being considered for committees on education and elections, and possibly insurance.

Unlike the House of Representatives, final decision on Senate assignments rests with the Committee on Committees. The Democratic majority already has made its committee selections and will now likely allow two Republicans on each six or seven-member committee.

After swearing-in ceremonies and party caucuses Wednesday and Governor Romney's State of the State message Thursday, the senate is expected to recess temporarily. Volkema has been invited to join the Senate Appropriations committee for a week's inspection tour of state institutions beginning in the Upper Peninsula.

The new senator is extending an open invitation to people in the 23rd district to contact him on specific measures. "It is possible that as many as 2,500 bills will have to be prepared, and this will require an early deadline for bill requests," he said.

Stob, Littlefair Debate Meaning of Christianity

"What is Christianity?" Is it primarily an attitude, a way of living, or is it mainly a set of beliefs, a systematic theology that should govern one's behavior?

This was the starting point of a debate Monday night between Dr. Duncan Littlefair, pastor of the Fountain Street Baptist Church in Grand Rapids, and Dr. Henry Stob, professor of Ethics and Apologetics at Calvin Theological Seminary in Grand Rapids, as more than 1,100 persons crowded into the Holland High School auditorium to hear the two men speak.

Each man was allowed 15 minutes to state his basic premises. After both had spoken, each was given 7 minutes for rebuttal of the other's case. A question and answer period in which the audience participated followed the debate.

Dr. Littlefair held that Christianity is not susceptible to a single definition, because it means different things to different people. Christianity, he said, is a group of interpretations about Jesus Christ; it is a collection of churches, a collection of ways of living, none of which is the exclusive or "only" way.

It is a tradition, a collection of myths and beliefs about the nature of man, of the world, of the Universe, and of God, Littlefair said. It is a culture; in fact, he said, Christianity and Western culture are virtually the same thing.

He denied the "absoluteness" of Christianity, maintaining that we know nothing "absolutely." Christianity is a historical belief, he said, subject to the forces of history and changing as the needs of man change.

Dr. Stob, however, felt that Christianity is an absolute, unchanging religion; to him Christianity is the "only" religion. It is lifted above relativity, he said, because of the absolute, unchanging character of Christ.

Stob supported his belief by referring to the Bible, which he held was "divinely inspired." "Christ said 'I am the Way' in John 14:6 and Peter, in Acts 4:12, said '... neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.'"

"Christian gospel is absolute and final," Stob continued, "because Christ is absolute" and Since Christianity is the only way to salvation, Stob said, it is necessary that we take the "good news" to other peoples. Littlefair, however, called missionary efforts dangerous and destructive. "Who are we to tell the people of China, India and Africa how to live?" he asked. "This exclusiveness (the belief that Christianity is the only "true" religion) is especially destructive today."

The general reactions of the audience to the debate were that the discussion was "interesting," "thoughtful" or "thought provoking."

It was the first in a series of three programs planned by the Holland Christian School Teachers Club. The next program will be a lecture by Dr. Louis Rus, of Grand Valley State College, on "Linguistics and Language" on Feb. 17. On March 23 Dr. James Griggs, dean of the School of Education at Western Michigan University, will lecture on "The Three R's in Education — Reasoning, Respect, Reassurance."

In World War II, members of more than 30 individual religious bodies were listed as conscientious objectors.
