HOLLAND CITY NEWS.

VOL. XVIII.

HOLLAND, MICH., SATURDAY, JANUARY 18, 1890.

NO. 51

THE CITY OF HOLLAND

is located on Macatawa Bay, a beautiful body of water having its outlet in Lake Michigan, six miles distant. It is an incorporated city, with an excellent system of waterworks, ten miles of graded and gravelled streets, two public parks, three brick school buildings and many handsome residences and substantial business blocks. Hope College, the Western Theological Seminary and a complete public school system, provide superior educational advantages, and eight churches look after the religious welfare of its inhabitants. The famous Macatawa Park and Ottawa Beach resorts are here, and bring thousands of visitors to the town each summer. Holland has railway connections with Chicago, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Detroit, and also a direct steamboat line to Chicago. Three hotels, two banks and a large number of first-class retail stores are found in the city. Its manufacturing interests include three tanneries, two roller flouring mills, one large furniture factory (with another in process of construction) three planing mills, machine shop, foundry, wagon-works, tub and pail factory, brewery, stove factory, stone quarry and agricultural works, together giving employment to 500 operatives. The town is surrounded by fine farming and fruit lands, and it is the natural market place of a farming population of fifteen thousand persons. The city is growing rapidly and its citizens are at all times ready to assist manufacturers desiring to locate at Holland and to welcome all new residents. Among the principal business and professional men are the following:

At the annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance company of Ottawa and Allegan counties, held in Zeeland last Saturday, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Kasper Lahuis; vice president, Gillis Wabeke; secretary and treasurer, Isaac Marsilje; directors, R. van Zwailunberg, G. J. van Zoeren, H. Schout, J. den Herder, Jan. Dosker and J. T. Bergen officiating.

The meetings held nightly at Hope Church last week were so well attended that it was deemed advisable to continue them this week. Large congregations have been drawn by these services, and a great interest has been manifested by all.

REV. J. BUELL, D. D., will preach in the M. E. Church on Sunday. Quarterly love feast from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Public services at 10:30, in connection with which the sacrament of Lord's supper will be administered. Evening service at the usual hour.

THOMAS' Juvenile Band will make their first appearance upon our streets next Wednesday evening, weather permitting. The boys have incurred considerable expense since their organization, and all contributions tendered them will be thankfully received.

Rev. J. Buell, D. D., will preach in the M. E. Church on Sunday. Quarterly love feast from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Public services at 10:30, in connection with which the sacrament of Lord's supper will be administered. Evening service at the usual hour.

HOLLAND needs an electric plant for street lighting and commercial purposes and also a sewer system. This latter matter has become almost an absolute necessity. Our citizens should bestir themselves in these matters, as the growth and welfare of the city demand them.

THE annual meeting for the letting of pews, was held at Hope Church, on Monday evening. A large number of persons were present, and the amount realized was larger than ever before secured at the annual meeting. This is a matter of gratification to both pastor and congregation.

ON Tuesday a letter was received from National City, California, containing the announcement that Mr. Charles Baum, formerly in business at Holland, had died there on January 5. Mr. Baum had many friends among our readers, who will be pained to learn of his death.

MR. W. C. WALSH has bought Mr. Gilmore's interest in the furniture business, and is now sole owner. In a new advertisement in this issue he announces that he will sell everything at cost. This is an excellent opportunity to purchase furniture at a low figure. Read ad. and give him a call.

A WIDOWER of long standing, aged 55 years, with good business qualifications, and fair prospects has grown weary of living in single blessedness and desires to correspond with a lady from 40 to 45 years of age, with a view to matrimony. Maiden lady preferred. Address letters to A., News office.

EDITOR VERWEY, of De Grootwet, was made very happy last Thursday night by a surprise-visit of his Sunday School class, who presented him with a beautiful rocking-chair and passed the evening with him. The presentation speech was made by Miss Gertie van Haften in a nice little piece of poetry.

THE funeral of Dr. De Witt, who died at the Bridge Street House, Grand Rapids, last Wednesday, of la gripe, will take place in this city to-day, Saturday. The services will be held at the Ninth Street Christian Reformed Church at 10 o'clock a. m. Mr. Gerrit De Witt, father of the deceased, is a resident of Fillmore, Allegan county.

GEO. N. DAVIS, of Grand Rapids, has purchased a fruit farm situated on the south side of Macatawa Bay, two miles west of the city. Mr. Davis intends to make an attractive place of his new purchase, with trout ponds, pear, apple, and peach orchards, so that he can supply his family and other cottages at Ottawa Beach with the delicacies of the season during their summer outing.

MR. G. VAN SCHELVEN is preparing a map of Holland City and its suburbs. Such a map has long been wanted here, and Mr. Van Schelven is the best man that could be selected to make it. We trust that our citizens will appreciate the fact that the map is not only a useful thing to have at their homes or offices, but also an excellent advertisement of the town, and that they will all purchase one or more copies.

WE received this week from our California correspondent, Mrs. A. E. S. Bangs, a copy of the San Francisco Examiner. The single issue of the paper sent us consisted of 44 pages, filled with interesting matter upon the past, present and future of San Francisco. The department devoted to the future was dated in 1929, and purported to give the current news of that future time. It was both amusing and interesting.

At the annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance company of Ottawa and Allegan counties, held in Zeeland last Saturday, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Kasper Lahuis; vice president, Gillis Wabeke; secretary and treasurer, Isaac Marsilje; directors, R. van Zwailunberg, G. J. van Zoeren, H. Schout, J. den Herder, Jan. Dosker and J. T. Bergen officiating.

THE meetings held nightly at Hope Church last week were so well attended that it was deemed advisable to continue them this week. Large congregations have been drawn by these services, and a great interest has been manifested by all.

REV. J. BUELL, D. D., will preach in the M. E. Church on Sunday. Quarterly love feast from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. Public services at 10:30, in connection with which the sacrament of Lord's supper will be administered. Evening service at the usual hour.

THOMAS' Juvenile Band will make their first appearance upon our streets next Wednesday evening, weather permitting. The boys have incurred considerable expense since their organization, and all contributions tendered them will be thankfully received.

It not be a good idea for the great electrician to manufacture a batch of young men on this suggested patent principle? It might fill a "long-felt want."

New Departure.

Jacob Van Putten Sr. has for eleven years been conducting a private bank, with C. Verschure, one of the best business men in the county, as cashier. The bank has well merited the confidence of the public and have done a large business. To comply with all requirements of law, the bank has been reorganized and now becomes a State bank under the name of "Holland City State Bank" with a paid up capital of $37,000, a very handsome showing and a guarantee of its solidity. The bank, as will be seen, is well officered and is one of the permanent institutions of the city. The directors are as follows: Jacob Van Putten Sr., L. Van Putten, C. Verschure, Jacob Van Putten Jr., A. Van Putten, C. Nyland and M. Van Putten. The directors have elected the following officers: Jacob Van Putten Sr., President; L. Van Putten, Vice President; C. Verschure, Cashier.

The bank will be in full operation as a state bank in a few days.

Burglars Foiled.

An attempt to burglarize Mr. R. A. Hunt's saloon was made early last Tuesday morning, but the plans of the thieves were frustrated by Mr. John Kruisenga, who lives next door to the saloon. He was awakened about 1:30 a. m. by a noise outside, and immediately arose for the purpose of investigating it.

On reaching the sidewalk he saw two men standing in front of Dr. Schouten's drug store. He walked up to them, but as they were doing nothing out of the way, he retraced his steps. Just as he reached the alley, between his store and Mr. Hunt's place, he saw a man standing in the passage, a short distance from the sidewalk. The stranger accosted him and asked who he was, and on receiving an answer that he would soon find out, fired a shot at Mr. Kruisenga, who had a narrow escape from being hit. He returned the burglar's fire, but unfortunately missed him. Upon this the thieves at once decamped, and no trace has been found of them.

The back door of the saloon had been forced open, but nothing was stolen, owing to the timely interference of Mr. Kruisenga.

The thieves were recognized by Mr. Kruisenga as two Indians and a white man, and are supposed to be the same parties who broke into the C. & W. M. R'y depot at Zeeland a short time ago.

Personal News.

Mr. W. De Boe and wife are visiting their parents.

Mrs. Dr. A. Van der Veen, of Grand Haven, was in the city this week.

Mrs. Wm. Boyd, of Fruitport, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Boyd.

Mr. Clayton Sias, C. Harmon's tonsorial artist, was in Big Rapids this week.

Mrs. F. O. Nye was called to Chicago Thursday by a telegram, stating that her son Frank was very sick.

Mrs. L. Kinnman and daughter Lillie, of LaPorte, Ind., spent last Sunday with the family of Mr. C. A. Stevenson.

Mr. John Borgman and son John have returned from Sioux Centre, Ia., having sold their business at that place.

Dr. J. W. Beardslee and wife were among the audience that enjoyed Kennan's lecture at Grand Rapids Thursday evening.

Mrs. Geo. W. Hopkins, who has been spending the past two months in the eastern part of the state, is in the city visiting friends.

Messrs. P. J. Koning and J. Kuite, Jr., returned last week Saturday from South Bend, Ind., where they spent a few days among their Hoosier friends.

The New Railroad.

Many of our citizens are anxiously inquiring about the railroad prospects, as the press of other towns on the proposed line are filled with "news" in regard to the enterprise.

It has been the policy of the parties who are working upon the project not to disclose the facts to the public, through the newspapers, so long as the matter was not a certainty, beyond the announcement of the organization of the company, which appeared several weeks ago. This policy could not be extended to the newspaper correspondents, however, and they naturally grasp at every straw of information which they can secure and magnify it into a whole column of news.

The News is in a position to know the status of the enterprise. We can assure our readers that there is good reason to believe that the road will be built from Grand Rapids to Benton Harbor, or St. Joseph, where a connection will be made for southern and western business. The line from Grand Rapids to South Haven has not yet been decided upon, but with the proper encouragement of the citizens of Holland it will undoubtedly come to this city.

The story that the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad company will build the line is incorrect. The road will be constructed, if done at all, by an independent company, although it might possibly have amicable contract relations with some more important corporation.

A survey is being made this week from South Haven to Hamilton, upon what is known as the short line route. Other lines will be run very soon.

The people of Benton Harbor held a public meeting on Friday evening of this week in regard to the enterprise. At South Haven, Fennville, Ganges, and other points, the citizens are wide awake and at work in the interests of the new road. The people of Holland will have the matter presented to them publicly, within a short time, when we are assured that all will join hands to secure this great "plum."

Walker Blaine Dead.

Walker Blaine, eldest son of Jas. G. Blaine, secretary of state, died in Washington Wednesday evening, of pneumonia, the result of the gripe.

Walker Blaine was born in Augusta, Maine, May 8, 1855. He first came to Washington to live in 1867, five years after his father's election to Congress. He was graduated from Yale in 1876, and from the Columbia law school in New York, two years later. He then went to St. Paul, Minn., where for two years he was in the law office of Cushman K. Davis, at present Senator from Minnesota. He came to Washington in 1881, and was appointed Third Assistant Secretary of State. In the winter of 1881-2 he went to South America with Mr. Trescott on a special mission, to use the good offices of the United States to bring about a settlement of the troubles between Chile and Peru. He was then Charge d'Affaires in Bolivia for several months. Late in the year 1882 he was appointed Assistant Counsel of the Court of Alabama Claims, which office he held until 1888. He lived in Chicago from 1888 to 1889, returning to this city Jan. 1, 1889. He assisted his father in the work which devolved upon him when he became Secretary of State, and on March 13 last was nominated by President Harrison Examiner of Claims in the State Department, and as such was legal adviser of the department and confidential representative of the Secretary. Mr. Walker Blaine had assisted his father greatly throughout his political career, and was most closely and intimately associated with him in all his plans, enjoying not only the great affection of his father, but his complete confidence as well. He was a young man of marked attainments and of great fact and ability. He was highly respected by those who knew him in official and social life, many of whom predicted that he would have achieved an even higher name for himself but for his devotion to his father's interests. It may be truthfully said of him those who knew him best esteemed him most. The regard in which he was held was shown when, on his nomination to his last office being sent to the Senate, that body, on motion of Senator Edmunds, did him the very unusual honor of confirming the nomination at once without reference to a committee. —Inter-Ocean.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Lake Shore.

Jan. 13.

Barnum arrived on the Lake Shore on Monday last, safe and sound, but looking rather seedy. According to his talk his experiences and wanderings will nearly if not quite equal those of the great African explorer Stanley. George and Charles Lyons furnished the music for a dance last Tuesday evening at Bunker Hill. The school board in district No. 8 have put a new clock in the school room and a drive pump at the school house. Peter Howe went to Montague again on Tuesday to see his mother once more before leaving for Kansas City. He returned on Thursday. Mrs. Norman Cochran returned home this week from Osego, where she had been on a visit to her parents, leaving them in apparently good health and on the next day, the 8th, she got a telegram that her father had died very suddenly that morning. He was one of the old pioneers of Osego village. —JAKE.

Zeeland.

Jan. 16.

Miss Lillie Young, of Coopersville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. De Kruij. Dick Kamperman, of Holland, came home yesterday with La Grippe. C. Dekker, student at Hope College, is also stricken with the same disease. Mrs. J. Baerman is dangerously ill. Wichers, De Kruij & Co. are receiving brick for their new blacksmith shop to be built early next spring. When completed they will have one of the finest carriage and wagon shops in the county. They have lately issued a handsome catalogue of the goods manufactured at their factory. Business is very quiet at present owing to bad roads, and in consequence farmers are as scarce as hen's teeth nowadays. Mrs. Geo. Brandt, of Muskegon, is stopping at the Zeeland hotel for a few weeks. Bert Van Hees, student at the Grand Rapids Commercial College is visiting his parents here for a few days.

SHARP WAR OF WORDS.

Hot Discussion Between Senators Call and Plumb.

In the Senate on the 14th inst. the Finance Committee reported favorably Mr. Sherman's anti-trust bill. The morning hour was consumed in the introduction of unimportant measures, most of them relating to pensions. At the close of the morning hour Senator Call then called up his resolution with reference to the Florida swamp-land frauds, upon which he proceeded to speak at some length. His remarks caused something of a sensation. He remarked that Congress had given these lands to Florida as a trust, and that if there were any frauds that the State alone was responsible for them, and every word spoken by Mr. Call was in denunciation of his own State. At some length he answered the charges against the committee and in round terms denounced Mr. Call's action in placing his own State in such a light before the Senate. Mr. Call replied in equally bitter terms, stating Mr. Plumb's remarks as the contemptible utterances of the gentleman from Kansas. Mr. Plumb also replied in a few words to the charges against the Senate sub-committee. The Senate then went into executive session and adjourned at 4 o'clock. The House spent the day in discussing the bill to refund to members the amount stolen from them by Silcott. At 4:30 the House adjourned without action.

BLOODY MUTINY IN BRAZIL.

A Hundred Rebellious Soldiers that in a Fight Over Poor Pay.

A Rio Janeiro correspondent writes under date of Dec. 23, 1899: "The outlook here just now is not reassuring. Parts of two regiments of artillery mutinied, tore up the republican flag, and hoisted the old imperial flag, and it required all the other regiments, cavalry, infantry and artillery to subdue them. They fought at the San Christoval Artillery Quarter, and 100 of the rebels were killed or wounded before the rest surrendered. Twenty-one of the ringleaders have been shot. None of the commissioned officers were in the mutiny, but all the non-commissioned officers were. The trouble was owing to the dissatisfaction of the soldiers with their pay. It is said that a number of the old Conservatives and Liberals have been tampering with the soldiers, and were at the bottom of the row. Silveira Martins, Assis Martins, Barao de Lago, Dr. Lima Duarte, Dr. Ferreira Vianna, Minister of Justice in the last Conservative Ministry, and Comendador Braga, one of the leading merchants of Rio, have been arrested."

RAIDED THE "BLIND PIGS."

A Party of Determined Women Wreck Several Saloons at Mayville, S. D.

At Mayville, S. D., a farmer's wife having learned that the proceeds of a mortgage on her husband's farm had gone to defray a whisky bill at one of the numerous "blind pigs," collected seven more women, and the eight sallied forth armed with pickaxes, hatchets, and other offensive weapons. Before noon the determined party had broken up several "blind pigs" and utterly destroyed their fixtures and furniture. The proprietors offered but a feeble resistance, being taken by surprise. A large mob attended the women on their rounds and cheered them on.

FOUR CHILDREN SUFFOCATED.

Terrible Results of a Drunken Man's Carelessness.

At Erie, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rogalski left their four children at home with Mrs. Rogalski's brother while they went to make a call. The little ones' uncle was intoxicated, and he laid his lighted pipe down on the bed in which the children were sleeping. The bed took fire, and the house was nearly consumed before the firemen arrived. The drunken man escaped, as did Mary Towlinski, the owner of the house, but the children were all suffocated.

Cronin Assassins in Joliet.

JUDGE McCONNELL, of Chicago, has overruled the motion of Daniel Coughlin, Patrick O'Sullivan, and Martin Burke for a new trial, and sentenced them to life-long penal servitude. The motion of John P. Kunze for a new trial was granted. The three murderers were taken to Joliet the day of their sentence.

The Visible Grain Supply.

The visible supply of wheat and corn, respectively, is 33,178,121 and 10,833,695 bushels, wheat having diminished, since last report, 577,583 bushels, while corn has increased 1,544,343 bushels.

Attack on a Newspaper Man.

In a public street at Kansas City, Charles A. Jones assaulted Mr. Hamersloough, proprietor of the Globe, articles in the latter paper provoking the fracture of the peace.

Grasshoppers Threaten Ohio Wheat.

A ZANESVILLE (Ohio) dispatch says: Half-grown grasshoppers are reported existing in vast numbers in various parts of the county, and farmers are alarmed for the safety of the wheat.

Ohio and Maryland Senators Elected.

MR. BRICE was elected United States Senator by the Ohio Legislature, and Ephraim K. Wilson was re-elected by the Maryland Solons.

Wanders in Mexico.

REPORTS from the City of Mexico say that Patti and Tamagno are meeting with great favor, but that Mme. Albani is ill.

Villainous Cruelty.

TWO YOUNG ruffians at New York a few days ago found a man sleeping on a box, and after pouring kerosene on his feet and ankles set fire to it. The man was badly burned, and the young villains were discovered and arrested.

The Chicago Appointments Made.

AMONG the names sent by the President to the Senate were those of John M. Clark to be Collector of Customs for the port of Chicago and Chris Mamer Collector of Internal Revenue for the First Illinois District.

CURRENT HAPPENINGS.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

The heavy brick walls of the new Presbyterian Church at 236 Throop avenue, Brooklyn, were blown over by a fierce gale. The wall fell on a three-story frame house adjoining, killing Mary Purdy, aged nineteen, and David Purdy, aged fifteen. The following persons were injured: Mrs. Caroline Mott, aged seventy, shoulder hurt; Miss Sarah Mott, her daughter, cut about the head; Mrs. Emma Purdy, a widow, and mother of the two killed, a few scratches, suffering much from the shock; Carrie, her daughter, aged seventeen, ankle and left shoulder hurt; Richard Poole, cousin of Mrs. Purdy, back strained, head and shoulders injured. No one asleep in the house escaped uninjured. The church is an utter wreck.

The demand for antipyrine has been so largely increased since the advent of the gripe that the supply of the drug at New York is practically exhausted.

The owner of a carry-all at Albany, N. Y., has made a contract with the School Board to take children living on the outskirts of the city to the nearest public school.

The explosion of a stationary engine in Burke's quarry, near Dunmore, Pa., caused the instant death of one and fatally injured another workman.

While drilling out some scaffolding at the Lucy furnace at Pittsburgh the molten metal broke through the "taps" and an explosion followed. Thomas Welch, a workman, was instantly killed, Michael Welch was fatally injured and a number of others seriously burned. The casting house was damaged by fire.

A Boston, Mass., dispatch reports that Lawrence Barrett, the actor, has nearly recovered from the effects of the recent surgical operation performed upon his throat. He will leave soon with his family for Southern France. Rest and change, it is believed, will bring back his old-time strength and health.

A HEAD-END collision occurred on the Rochester division of the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railroad between Hinsdale and Cuba, N. Y., the colliding trains being the northward bound local freight and the second section of a through freight. Both engines were completely wrecked and many cars were demolished. Brakeman E. S. Walker was instantly killed and another brakeman injured. It is stated that Night Operator B. F. Frobes, of Hinsdale, had orders for the local freight which he failed to deliver. Frobes resigned his position after the accident and has disappeared.

The number of deaths in Boston and New York was greater last week than ever before, and, in fact, the mortality throughout the East is unexampled, a fact ascribed chiefly to the terrors of influenza.

POLICE COMMISSIONER VOORHIS of New York City, is reported as saying that county officers were put up and sold to highest bidders, as much as $35,000, and even as high as $75,000, being paid for a single office.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

The cattle men of Kansas met in convention at Topeka. Resolutions were passed condemning the "dressed beef combine" and demanding of Congress that laws be passed making it a conspiracy for buyers of cattle to agree upon a price for their purchases and for packers to form a combination to raise the price of dressed meats beyond reasonable figures. Resolutions were also passed endorsing the plan for the free coinage of silver. The present State Legislature was characterized as a "bottle" Legislature, and the delegates pledged themselves to see that members of the next Legislature are men who can not be bribed.

A BROKEN electric light wire caused a fire at St. Louis, resulting in the destruction of the Western Union Telegraph Building. Many of the employees had narrow escapes. The total loss is about $150,000.

W. L. EGGLESON, the Topeka, Kan., man who is endeavoring to induce the negroes of South Carolina to emigrate to Oklahoma, has already succeeded in settling 800 negroes there. They are mostly from Topeka and have left during the last six months. They have established a colony near Kingfisher, and are opening farms and building houses.

DETECTIVES have succeeded in recovering $10,000 worth of the $25,000 worth of goods out of which Ellis & Co., general merchants of Sioux Falls, and Carleton Place attempted to defraud Montreal merchants. Ellis & Co. got away safely with the rest of the property.

SIX farmers near Iola, Kan., have been arrested for the murder in August, 1888, of Columbus Carter. The prisoners were members of a band of regulators known as the "Land-Leaguers." Columbus Carter was arrested for a brutal crime, but was acquitted of the charge. Upon his release from the custody of the officers of the law he was met on his way home by the "Land-Leaguers," who shot him to death.

SIX desperate criminals escaped from the county jail at San Francisco, Cal., and are now at large. They are: John McNulty, convicted of murdering a man named Collins two years ago; Erick Erickson, a mail robber; William Edwards, Thomas Kenney, Dan Bordan, and Mike Sullivan, robbers.

the present company to continue the business.

The proclamation to open the Dakota Sioux reservation has been prepared, and will be issued in a few days. This will add to the public domain about 11,000,000 acres of land.

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS.

A LOUISVILLE (Ky.) dispatch says: Fourteen workmen employed on the construction of the new Louisville and Jeffersonville bridge were drowned by the sinking of the caisson.

THREE children have died suddenly in the New River section of Louisiana, and investigation shows that they came to their death from poison, supposed to be strychnine. The parents, J. W. Brayden and wife, had recently moved and found in the house a phial which they supposed contained quinine. Their children had been suffering from malaria, so they made pills out of the contents of the phial and administered them to the children, who shortly after died from the effects of the poison.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

JUDGE W. D. KELLEY, of Pennsylvania, has died in Washington from cancer.

PROFESSOR J. H. C. COFFIN, United States Navy, the distinguished mathematician, who for some time had been in feeble health, died at his home in Washington, in his seventy-fifth year. Professor Coffin was born in Wisconsin, Me., Sept. 14, 1815. He was professor of mathematics and of astronomy and navigation at the Naval Academy, and for some time had charge of the Naval Observatory. He was a member of the leading academies of sciences and an L. L. D. of Bowdoin.

POLITICAL PORRIDGE.

An Annapolis (Md.) dispatch says: In the Democratic caucus Senator Wilson was renominated by acclamation to succeed himself as United States Senator.

THE Democratic Senatorial caucus in Ohio, on its second ballot, nominated Calvin S. Brice for Senator.

A HELLENA (Mont.) dispatch says: All the Senators have left for Washington. Sanders and Power applied to Gov. Toole before leaving for certificates of election, which the Governor refused to issue, having already given certificates to Clark and Maginnis. The applicant then induced the Secretary of State to attach the seal of the State to the certified proceedings of the Senate and House, which the Republicans took to Washington in place of the Governor's certificate. The Democratic certificates lack the State seal, which the Republican Secretary refused to attach. The Republicans, it is said, propose to declare the seat of McNamara, Democrat, vacant on the ground that, being a post trader, he is a government official, and therefore ineligible to membership. This done the Senate will stand nine Republicans and seven Democrats.

ACROSS THE OCEAN.

A BERLIN cable says: The Emperor and Empress and other members of the imperial family visited the chamber in which the remains of the Empress are lying. Services were held in the chamber at night. After the conclusion of these services the servants of the Court Chamberlain conveyed the body to the central gate. Here the officers of the Fourth Grenadiers, of which regiment the dead Empress was honorary Colonel, received the body and escorted it to the chapel in their schloss. Court mourning has been ordered for three months, and the period of general mourning has been fixed at six weeks. The body of the dead Empress has been embalmed, a wax death mask made from her face, and her face was also sketched by Werner. Plancher sketched the death chamber. Queen Victoria and the Prince and Princess of Wales have telegraphed condolences. The English Court will also wear mourning for six weeks.

A LISBON cable says: Glynne Petre, the English minister, imparted to Senor Gomez, Minister of Foreign Affairs, England's ultimatum demanding the recall of the Portuguese forces, officials and expeditions of every kind from the banks of the Rio and south of the Zambezi and from Mashonaland. If Portugal failed to reply in twenty-four hours the British legation would board the Enchantress and await a reply at Vigo. The King immediately convened a cabinet council to consider the ultimatum. The Government replied to Minister Glynne Petre that Portugal, yielding to strong pressure from a power of the first rank, being too weak to withstand it, would order the withdrawal of the Portuguese from the Shire and Mashonaland, while reserving all rights to the Portuguese crown in these territories. It is asserted that this decision was further influenced by reports of an intention on the part of the British to make naval demonstrations at Quillimane, Delagoa Bay, and St. Vincent. It is reported that the opposition in the Cortes will make a strong attack on the Government for its attitude in this matter. It is rumored that Senor Gomez, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, will resign.

THE German Consul at Hong Kong reports that all efforts to obtain information regarding the fate of the m/sing steamer Duburg of Steenberg, Schleswig, have been fruitless. She had on board twenty-two Europeans and 400 Chinese. It is supposed that she foundered during a typhoon.

THE Denver News has published a long letter from P. J. Sheridan, in which he sets forth that he was offered a large fortune and government protection if he would by his testimony connect Parnell with the Phoenix Park murders.

THE current number of Bradstreet's contains the following exhibit of wheat stocks in bushels in the world up to Jan. 5, 1899:

United States and Canada, east of Rocky Mountains	54,227,000
United States, west of the Rockies	7,555,000
In Australia and New Zealand (cable to Bradstreet's)	5,280,000
Afloat in first hands, French ports, Paris, Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen, Antwerp, London, Liverpool, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiania, and other ports (cable to Bradstreet's)	48,512,000
Total	115,582,000
Last year at the same date the grand total was 133,883,000 bushels. This is a decrease in stocks of wheat in the United States, Canada, Australia, Europe, and afloat for Europe, as compared with one year ago, amounting to 18,301,000 bushels, or 16 per cent. The exhibit gathers interest from the more altered short stocks in Russia, the decline in Russian exports, and short supplies of wheat and rye in Germany. The weather is expected to shut off Russia's supplies to the United Kingdom for part of the winter, and California wheat is not readily available at Liverpool. The Atlantic ports, then, it may be inferred, may have to be relied on.

THE Farmers' Review of Chicago prints the following summary, giving the condition of winter wheat:

Outside of Michigan and Wisconsin our correspondents as a rule report the condition of winter wheat equal to or above the average. Among the few exceptions in Illinois our Jo Davies County correspondent reports the condition 60 per cent. as compared with the average. Livingston and White Counties, Ill., send us a condition 25 per cent. below the average. A falling off of 10 per cent. is reported in about half a dozen other counties, but the majority report 10 per cent. or over. Some correspondents estimating the condition at 125 per cent. The condition of winter wheat in Ohio is apparently the same as in Illinois. With few exceptions the condition ranges from 100 to 125 per cent. In Indiana, only four correspondents report average below 100. In Kansas and Missouri three-fourths of our correspondents report 100 per cent. or over. Reports from Kentucky wheat fields are encouraging, as are also the reports from wheat in counties in Iowa in which winter wheat is grown. In Michigan the condition of winter wheat is low. Three-fourths of our correspondents report percentages 10 to 25 per cent. below the average. The same is true of portions of Wisconsin, Washington, and Oregon, reporting condition only 50 per cent. With this exception the general average for the States is high, and the condition of the crop is as follows: the report of correspondents relative to the condition of winter wheat as compared with an average: Illinois, 100 per cent.; Indiana, 100; Ohio, 100; Kentucky, 105; Missouri, 100; Kansas, 98; Iowa, 95; Michigan, 86; Wisconsin, 83.

SWEEP BY A CYCLONE. DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

DESTRUCTION IN THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS.

A Fierce Whirlwind Strikes Missouri's Metropolis, Leaving Death and Destruction in Its Wake—The Killed and Injured—List of the Wrecked Buildings—The Storm Elsewhere.

(St. Louis telegram.)

The city of St. Louis was visited last Sunday by a frightful wind storm which did great damage to property, and resulted in loss of life. The storm struck the southwestern section of the city and swept through to the northern limits, making a pathway nearly a quarter of a mile wide and leaving death and desolation in its track. There was scarcely any warning of the approaching storm, owing to the fact that the sky had been overcast for several hours before the full force of the wind was felt, and it was all over in an incredibly brief period of time, those residing in and near the path of the cyclone scarcely realizing what had happened until it was all over.

In addition to dozens of dwellings and stores in the southern, central and northern sections of the city more or less wrecked, the following buildings were damaged: The Anchor mills, Goodwin candle factory, Pullman shops, Van Brock's furniture factory, Kingsland & Ferguson's farm-implement works, Missouri Pacific hospital, Hodgen school, German Evangelical church, Second Presbyterian church and others yet to be heard from. The losses on property are roughly estimated at $100,000, but will likely prove more.

The cyclone seemed to have entered the city in its full force at Twenty-third street and Chouteau avenue, passing northeast until it reached Seventeenth and Olive streets, where it swerved, taking a direct easterly course to Fourteenth, and then again turned to the northeast, leaving the city and striking the river just north of Tyler street. The only announcement of the approach and progress of the storm was a dull, sullen roar, quickly followed by a torrent of rain, which in turn was succeeded by sleet, and before the victims could realize what had happened the storm swept by and on, leaving wreckage and mangled humanity in its pathway. Trees were torn up by the roots and broken off, telegraph poles swept down as though mere sticks, while the roofs of buildings were lifted from their moorings like feathers and tossed into the streets.

Mrs. Charles Miller, who resides with her husband at Twentieth and Eugene streets, was sitting in a rocking chair, with her babe in her arms, when the roof was lifted from her house. She rushed to the window, and just then the wall gave way and Mrs. Miller and her babe were buried under the debris. The babe miraculously escaped without a scratch, but the mother was badly hurt and may not recover. Mr. Miller was in another part of the house and escaped unhurt. This is but one of dozens of incidents of the storm.

It is just reported that a number of passenger cars were blown from the tracks in the upper part of the Mill Creek valley, the western outlet of the union depot yards. The list of killed, so far as known is as follows:

MRS. MAGGIE CONNORS, aged 40. JOSEPH M. CONNORS, aged 40. JOE WEAVER, aged 8. WILLIE MARKS, aged 6. The injured are:

TERESA WEAVER, aged 6, both legs broken, will probably die.

MRS. CHARLES MILLER, badly cut and bruised.

ANNE CONNORS, badly bruised.

MAGGIE CONNORS, bruised and cut badly.

FRANCIS CONNORS, slightly bruised.

Dr. Nichols, who is attending Mrs. Miller, says that she is dangerously hurt. The babe is all right.

The last death reported is that of Willie Marks, aged 6 years, whose parents reside in the northern part of the city. He was in bed sick with a fever. The storm blew the roof off the Marks home and bricks came crashing into the room, resulting in the death of the boy from sheer fright.

The cyclone was of not longer duration than five minutes' time, but in that short space it left behind it a track of ruined buildings, unroofed houses, shattered walls, dismantled churches and schools, wrecked factories and mills, streets heaped with debris, telegraph poles blown down by thousands, the wire service of the city temporarily destroyed, and the usual dread accompaniment of loss of life and widespread injury to human beings that left a panic-stricken populace gathering at every street corner to discuss the sudden horror. From the evidence of eye-witnesses the storm was an undoubted cyclone, dropping upon the city at about the initial point designated and gaining in intensity as it swept in a diagonal path toward the river. The usual sudden darkening of the skies at the point where the cyclone burst, the awful descent of the funnel-shaped cloud, and the havoc of ruin following its touching terra firma, are all told in the stories of those whose terrifying fortune was to mark the approach and passage of the hurricane.

The telegraph and telephone wires were badly knocked out by the cyclone. The Western Union and Postal have been at their wits' end with but half a dozen wires between them, while 700 of the telephone wires of the city are down.

A messenger just arrived from the east side of the river says that the storm in St. Clair county, Illinois, was unusually severe. Brooklyn, a village of about five hundred people, seems to have suffered most. The damage at East St. Louis and Venice was largely confined to railroad property and small dwellings and telegraph and telephone poles. Brooklyn is about three miles north of East St. Louis. Its population is largely composed of colored people. It was first reported in East St. Louis that the little village had been swept off the face of the earth. It proves not quite so bad as that, though bad enough, and though several were injured no lives were lost. A number of dwellings are in ruins.

Omaha (Neb.) dispatch: The terrible blizzard which raged in this State and throughout the Northwest has been recalled by the blinding snow storm which raged here Sunday. Street railway traffic on horse, electric, and cable lines was suspended after vain struggles against the increasing drifts. All passenger trains are from one to three hours late and freight traffic is suspended. The thermometer ranged during the day in the neighborhood of zero.

MARK STRATTON, one of the pioneers of Washburn county, Indiana, is dead.

IMPORTANT MEASURES CONSIDERED AND ACTED UPON.

At the Nation's Capitol—What Is Being Done by the Senate and House—Old Matters Disposed of and New Ones Considered.

AFTER some routine business in the Senate on the 8th inst., Mr. Voorhees called up the resolution offered by him the previous day in relation to the alleged interference by Mr. Chambers, the United States District Attorney at Indianapolis, to prevent the arrest of W. W. Dudley on a charge of violating the election laws of Indiana, and proceeded to address the Senate. He spoke of the crime as having inflicted an indelible stain upon the memory of the people, and that the proper degree of responsibility should be assigned to the instrument by whom it was perpetrated. Mr. Voorhees sent to the clerk's desk and had read the notorious "blocks of five" letter. At the conclusion Mr. Voorhees spoke a number of unimportant measures were considered, and the Senate then went into executive session and made the following confirmations: Owen A. Landon, District Attorney, Baltimore, Md.; John D. Bell, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Tennessee; and a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury recommending that the estimated appropriation of $450,000 for the public building at San Francisco be made in a deficiency appropriation bill. The House then went into committee of the whole. Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, taking the chair, for the further consideration of the District of Columbia Appropriation bill. The afternoon was spent in the discussion of the bill and that portion of it relating to the laying of overhead

22-1y

Jan. 9.
Although a citizen of West Olive, I do not go around much to hear the important movements of my fellow-citizens, therefore I am very much obliged to "L. O. U." to find out who are visiting friends and receiving calls from their families and friends. With your permission I am going to give a description of this place.

West Olive is situated nine miles from Holland on the C. & W. M. R'y, and is surrounded by some of the best lands in the country. The hills are adapted for raising fruit of all kinds, especially peaches. A good many young orchards are started already and our local agent has thousands of trees sold here to be planted next spring, while the flats extending from the banks of Pigeon river are excellent for pasture and hayland for onions, celery, and gardening. A good share of the country is well timbered yet, and ax and saw are daily engaged in converting it into stovewood, stove bolts, ties, fence posts, shingle bolts, sawed logs, and charcoal, which are shipped by car loads to Holland and other points. You can see the right of way along the switch filled its entire length, so you can judge there need not be a cry of "no work," "hard times" here.

As our citizens are wide awake for their best interests financially, they also have an eye for sociable and intellectual entertainment. There is a strong sentiment on foot to build a hall to hold meetings in for amusement, as well as for instruction and mutual benefit, but as the season for building is not favorable it will be postponed awhile.

At present the school house is made use of every Saturday evening for meetings of the "West Olive Debating Club."

That these meetings are very interesting is shown by the crowded houses, people coming for miles to take part in the debates. M. E. N. Z. O.

Hudsonville.

Jan. 14.
There is to be a large stove factory erected here. This will give our little village a perceptible boom. Meetings of the discipline organization are to be held every night this week, at Hudsonville under the direction of Rev. Mr. Allen and Mr. Drew. This has been a model winter so far and ball-players are enthusiastic. Games have been played on an average of once a week till recently. "La Grippe" has made its appearance here, but it is not all the go yet. Diphtheria is also reported within a few miles from here, and a school has been closed in consequence.

Borculo.

Jan. 15.
In this part of the country it seems that the winter is on the road to prosperity. Ote Byrna was arrested and brought before Justice Schilleman for striking Herman Omelencough across the back with a club but it was proven that the latter began the quarrel, so Otto was released and Herman's father paid the costs. Miss Dena and Sena Klunderman are home from Grand Rapids, visiting their mother and many friends here. They will return to their work again Saturday. Ralph Bowma has recently been elected to the deaconship in the church here. The new road from Grand Rapids to Holland and Benton Harbor could not afford to miss this place for Chicago; people might starve without our produce. Another home made happy by the arrival of a 10 lb. boy—Mr. and Mrs. Langus. Van der Bosch's mill began work this week; they expect to saw a large quantity of very fine lumber.

Grand Haven.

From the Tribune.
There are 150 school children down with la grippe. Students Lunkes and Luxen returned to Holland last night after passing Sunday here. Grietje Holstyn, sister of A. Holstyn, the Fulton street furniture dealer, and wife, at that time, of H. Vanderploeg of this city, was, sixteen years ago adjudged insane and sent to the asylum at Kalamazoo, where she has been ever since, until last Thursday, when she escaped, and up to the present writing, nothing whatever has been heard from her, although the search has been thorough and unceasing. A. Poel received a letter yesterday from his daughter, Mrs. J. Kruidenier, from Cairo, Egypt, in which she states that the weather is delightfully warm there, oranges and bananas in full bearing, mosquitoes thick, etc. She states that herself and husband had just returned from a trip to the Pyramids, only twelve miles distant, where they drove in a wagon. They are in the best of health, and like the country. They will not remain at Cairo, but go to another city near there. It takes a letter twenty-six days to reach this city from there.

Port Sheldon.

Jan. 13.
We are having unprecedented weather for this time of the year, having such weather more like May than January upon the 13th of this month. A boat passed down our river from West Olive so you see there is poor prospect for the ice harvest in these parts. Our bridge has been examined by Mr. Hunt, a practical bridge builder of your city, and it is pronounced safe until we get a new one, which is to be as soon as plans can be perfected and bids for the same received and approved. We had a meeting in the school house Tuesday evening with a small attendance for the improvement of the Grand Haven road. Those in attendance came to the conclusion that they would sooner dig down hills and tie them than go upon the level roads now being laid out. Work is to commence upon the hill called Morris hill, as soon as the names are obtained of those that will contribute ties, work or cash, which will be equivalent to work. All wishing to help in the improvement can notify Mr. J. O'Brien, who is appointed overseer of said work. Our new saw mill has started up, so bring along your logs. There are several looking for wood-cutting jobs around these parts, but the mildness of the weather causes wood cutting to be rather slack. Your item entitled, "That Ticked a Hoosier" is a very appropriate one to the rising generation of the present time, and I would advise them to read it before their fathers give up everything for which he has worked hard.

West Olive.

Jan. 16.
The ground is covered with snow now, which is welcomed by some, with the hope that enough will be added to make sleighing. Misses Anna and Eunice Avery, who live about three miles from Holland, spent several days here last week, with relatives and friends. The 18th and 19th of this month, the first quarterly meeting of M. E. Church, of the West Olive charge for this conference year, will be held at Ottawa Station. Sunday school, Sunday 10:30 a.m. The Epworth league will give an entertainment next Tuesday evening. The funeral of Frank Barry's little child took place last Sunday. Mr. A. Shoemaker is the happy recipient of $530 back pay from the government, and is to draw $16 per month hereafter. Benjamin Names, who had a leg broken a while ago, is able to be out again. The people of Olive township are somewhat elated over the fact that $2,800 tax money has been returned to the township, whereby the taxes will be diminished next year. Mrs. Josephine is very sick. Dr. Mabbs, of Holland, is attending her.

Fillmore.

Jan. 15.
During the gale last Sunday night the barn of Mr. Bouws, near Graafschap, was partly unroofed. Last Friday night the family of Mr. Germ Mokma had a narrow escape from being suffocated by gas escaping from a coal stove. Several of the family were quite seriously affected before it was noticed. Dr. A. G. Manting was immediately called in and no serious results followed. On several nights during the past week the melodious notes of the frogs came floating from the swamps and puddles; in some of the gardens pansies have been in bloom during the whole winter. Doctors report considerable sickness lately; diphtheria, measles, and several mild cases of influenza and scarletina prevail. Mr. Germ Mokma and family are moving to Holland. Their many friends and neighbors regret their departure. Roads are in bad condition and the farmers do not go to Holland if not obliged to. Wouldn't it be a good plan for Holland City to help the township to get some of the roads leading south in better condition? About the worst little piece of road in the country is that between Mr. Westerhof and Wilson Harrington, about a mile south of the city. One of the richest farming districts lies south of Holland and the merchants will find it a paying investment to put the roads leading into the city in better condition.

Grand Rapids.

Jan. 16.
The week of prayer was observed in the city, and meetings were held in all the evangelical church every evening of last week, and the First Reformed Church have continued the meetings this week. Many are confined to their homes with La Grippe as their nearest friend; although this much talked of disease is spreading all over the city and country, but few fatal cases are reported. The Widdicombe Furniture Company have just placed an order with the manufacturers in Germany for 4,000 plates of the finest beveled German looking glass. This is the largest single order for glass ever placed by any of the manufacturers in this city. The Widdicombe also received a carload of sand paper from the eastern manufacturers, to be used by them during the coming year. Very few farmers are coming in with wood on account of the bad roads; the city merchants are complaining of bad roads, hard times etc., but it is the farmer who has the hardest times, and he has the right to complain, supposing that the roads and weather were good and favorable, but what has the farmer that he can make anything out of? Farmers of Michigan join hands in hand and form a trust, and thereby protect themselves, and that is no more than the merchants are doing. Upon a demand by the farmers the millers and wheat buyers have raised the price of wheat two cents per bushel here.

Association of Odors.

The sense of smell, by detecting bad odors, may enable us to guard against danger to our health. It may also excite pleasurable emotions and recall the associations of younger days. The smell of violets, hidden in the green, pours b-k into my empty soul and frame. The time when I remember to have been joyful and free from blame. An instance is on record of a lawyer whose delight was to get with a range of a farmyard. And why? His childhood had been spent amid the sights, sounds, and scents that surround the farm-house; and so the familiar ammoniacal ex-lations carried him back to the green fields and rustic pleasures of his youthful home. The writer himself met with an individual whom the noisome smell of sulphuretted hydrogen gratified and pleased. His explanation was that many of his happiest days were spent as a student in a well-known chemical laboratory, where certainly that smell prevailed to an unusual extent. A French author tells us of a young lady who loved beyond all perfumes the smell of old books. Perhaps, with affectionate solicitude, she had been the constant attendant upon some old bookworm of a father or guardian, and hence the leathery muskiness took her back to days when, quietly happy, she seemed to recognize in the dusty tomes living and trusty friends. Many a person sick in the city has been carried back to the simple days of youth by the odor of apple-blossoms. The past comes back again in the odors that live in memory.

[OFFICIAL.] Common Council.

HOLLAND, MICH., JAN. 14, 1890.
The Common Council met pursuant to a call from the Mayor.
Present: Mayor Kremers, Aldermen Carr, De Merell, De Vries, M. Van Putten, and Habermann, and the Clerk.
Reading of minutes and regular order of business suspended.
The superintendent of grading work on Thirteenth and Land street reported the grading of said streets completed—Report accepted.
The following bills were presented for payment, viz.: Van Kampen & Riksen, hauled 17 loads of sand on Pine street, $2.12; Van Kampen & Riksen, to grading 2 rods in width and 16 rods in length, between Seventh and Eighth streets, containing 446 cubic yards of earth @ 7 1/2 cts. $33.65; and filling old fire well, $2.16; W. C. Nibbelink, to hauling hose from Ninth street fire, $1.50.—Allowed and warrants ordered issued on the city treasurer in payment thereof.
B. Looyengood petitioned that as he was unable to pay his doctor's bill and funeral expenses the city lend him a helping hand.—Referred to the committee on poor.
The city attorney reported that in his opinion the account of L. E. Van Dreef is a legal and proper claim against the City of Holland.—Report accepted and a warrant ordered issued on the city treasurer in payment thereof.
The city attorney reported that in accordance with a resolution of the common council he had written to the Railroad Commissioner of the State of Michigan and received a reply that the commissioner will be in Holland on January 16, at 2:35 p. m. to examine into the condition of our railroad crossings and what additional protection, if any, may be necessary.—Accepted.
The city treasurer requested that the time for the collection of taxes be extended until the 25th day of February, 1890.—Granted.
The grading work of Thirteenth and Land streets was accepted and the contractors directed to be paid according to terms of contract.
Council adjourned.

Heber Walsh, druggist, desires to inform the public, that he is agent for the most successful preparation that has yet been produced, for coughs, colds and croup. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. The article referred to is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a medicine that has won fame and popularity on its merits and one that can always be depended upon. It is the only known remedy that will prevent croup. It must be tried to be appreciated. It is put up in 50 cent and $1 bottles.

Proposed Improvement of Thirteenth Street Special Assessment District.

CITY OF HOLLAND,
Clerk's Office, January 8th, 1890.
Notice is hereby given:
That the Common Council of the City of Holland have caused to be made and deposited with the city clerk for public examination, profile, diagram and estimates of the expense for the proposed grading of Thirteenth street in said City of Holland to be in the manner following, to-wit:

DR. TALMAGE IN PARIS.

AN ELOQUENT SERMON BY THE GREAT BROOKLYN DIVINE.

The text of the discourse was found in Second Kings ii, 2, 3, and here is a report in full—How a King's Life Was Saved.

The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage preached in Paris on Sunday, Jan. 12. His text was: "Jehoshaphat, the daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the King's sons which were slain; and they hid him, even him and his nurse, in the bedchamber of Ahaziah, so that he was not slain. And he was with her hid in the house of the Lord six years."—11 Kings, ii, 2, 3. He said:

Grandmothers are more lenient with their children's children than they were with their own. At forty years of age, if discipline be necessary, chastisement is used, but at seventy, the grandmother, looking upon the misbehavior of the grandchild, is apologetic and disposed to substitute confectionery for whip. There is nothing more beautiful than this mellowing of old age toward childhood. Grandmother takes out her pocket handkerchief and wipes her spectacles, and puts them on, and looks down into the face of her mischievous and rebellious descendant, and says: "I don't think he meant to do it, let him off this time; I'll be responsible for his behavior in the future." My mother, with the second generation around her—a boisterous crew—said one day: "I suppose they ought to be disciplined, but I can't do it. Grandmothers are not fit to bring up grandchildren." But here, in my text, we have a grandmother of a different hue.

I have within a few days been at Jerusalem, where the occurrence of the text took place, and the whole scene came vividly before me while I was going over the site of the ancient temple and climbing the towers of the king's palace. Here in the text it is old Athaliah, the queenly murderer. She ought to have been honorable. Her father was a king. Her husband was a king. Her son was a king. And yet we find her plotting for the extermination of the entire royal family, including her own grandchildren. The executioners' knives are sharpened. The palace is red with the blood of the princes and princesses. On all sides are shrieks, and hands thrown up, and struggle, and death groans. No mercy! Kill! Kill! But while the ivory floors of the palace run with carnage, and the whole land is under the shadow of a great horror, a fleet-footed woman, a clergyman's wife, Jehoshaphat by name, stealthily approaches the imperial nursery, seizes upon the grandchild that had somehow as yet escaped massacre, wraps it up tenderly in her bosom, snuggles it against her, flies down the palace stairs, her heart in her throat lest she be discovered in this Christian abduction. Get her out of the way as quick as you can, for she carries a precious burden, even a young king. With this youthful prize she presses into the room of the ancient temple, the church of olden time, unwraps the young king and puts him down, sound asleep as he is, and unconscious of the peril that has been threatened; and there for six years he is secreted in that church apartment. Meanwhile old Athaliah smacks her lips with satisfaction, and thinks that all the royal family are dead.

But the six years expire, and it is time for young Joash to come forth and take the throne, and to push back into disgrace and death old Athaliah. The arrangements are all made for political revolution. The military come and take possession of the temple, swear loyalty to the boy Joash and stand around for his defense. See the sharpened swords and the burnished shields! Everything is ready. Now Joash, half-frightened at the armed tramp of his defenders, scared at the vociferation of his admirers, is brought forth in full regalia. The scroll of authority is put in his hands, the coroner of government is put on his brow, and the people clapped, and waved, and huzzaed, and trumpeted. "What is that?" said Athaliah. "What is that sound over in the temple?" And she flies to see, and on her way they meet her and say: "Why, haven't you heard? You thought you had slain all the royal family but Joash has come to light." Then the queenly murderer, frantic with rage, grabbed her mantle and tore it to tatters, and cried until she foamed at the mouth: "You have no business to crown my grandson. You have no right to take the government from my shoulders. Treason! Treason!" While she stood there crying that, the military started for her arrest, and she took a short cut through a back door of the temple, and ran through the royal stables; but the battle axes of the military fell on her in the barn yard, and for many a day, when the horses were being unloosed from the chariot, after drawing out young Joash, the fiery steeds would snort and rear passing the place, as they smell the place of the carnage.

The first thought I hand you from this subject is that the extermination of righteousness is an impossibility. When a woman is good, she is apt to be very good, and when she is bad, she is apt to be very bad, and this Athaliah was one of the latter sort. She would exterminate the last scion of the house of David, through whom Jesus waste come. There was plenty of work for embalmers and undertakers. She would clear the land of all God-fearing and God-loving people. She would put an end to everything that could in anywise interfere with her imperial criminality. She folds her hands and says: "The work is done; it is completely done." Is it? In the swaddling clothes of that church apartment are wrapped the cause of God, and the cause of good government. That is the scion of the house of David; it is Joash, the friend of God; it is Joash, the demolisher of Baalish idolatry. Rock him tenderly; nurse him gently. Athaliah, you may kill all the other children, but you cannot kill him. Eternal defenses are thrown all around him, and this clergyman's wife, Jehoshaphat, will snatch him up from the palace nursery, and will run down with him into the house of the Lord, and there she will hide him for six years, and at the end of that time he will come forth for your dethronement and obliteration.

Well, my friends, just as poor a batch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Superstition rises up and says: "I will just put an end to pure religion." Domitian slew forty thousand Christians; Diocletian slew eight hundred and forty-four thousand Christians. And the myth of persecution has been swung through all the ages, and the flames have been, and the guillotine chopped, and the Bastille groaned; but did the foes of Christianity exterminate it? Did they exterminate Alban, the first British sacrifice; or Zuinglius, the Swiss reformer; or John Oldcastle, the Christian nobleman; or Abdallah, the Arabian martyr; or Ananias, or Sander, or Cranmer? Great work of extermination they made of it. Just at the time when they thought they had slain all the royal family of Jesus, some Joash would spring up and out, and take the throne of power, and wield a very scepter of Christian dominion.

Infidelity says: "I'll just exterminate the Bible," and the Scriptures were thrown into the street for the mob to trample on, and they were piled up in the public squares and set on fire, and mountains of indignant contempt were hurled on them, and learned universities decreed the Bible out of existence. Thomas Paine said: "In my 'Age of Reason' I have annihilated the Scriptures. Your Washington is a pusillanimous Christian, but I am the foe of Bibles and of churches." O, how many assaults upon that Word! All the hostilities that have ever been created on earth are not to be compared with the hostilities against that one book. Said one man, in his infidel desperation to his wife: "You must not be reading that Bible," and he snatched it away from her. And though in that Bible was a lock of hair of the dead child—the only child that God had ever given them—he pitched the book with its contents into the fire, and stirred it with the tongue, and spat on it, and cursed it, and said: "Satan, never have any more of that damnable stuff here!"

How many individual and organized attempts have been made to exterminate that Bible! Have they done it? Have they exterminated the American Bible Society? Have they exterminated the British and Foreign Bible Society? Have they exterminated the thousands of Christian institutions, whose only object it is to multiply copies of the Scriptures, and throw them broadcast around the world? They have exterminated until instead of one or two copies of the Bible in our houses we have eight or ten, and we pile them up in the corners of our Sabbath school rooms, and send great boxes of them everywhere. If they get on as well as they are now going on in the work of extermination, I do not know but that our children may live to see the millennium! Yes, if there should come a time of persecution in which all the known Bibles of the earth should be destroyed, all these lamps of life that blaze in our pulpits and in our families extinguished—in the very day that infidelity and sin should be holding jubilee over the universal extinction there would be in some closet of a backwoods church a secreted copy of the Bible, and this Joash of eternal literature would come out and come up and take the throne, and the Athaliah of infidelity and persecution would fly out the back door of the palace, and drop her miserable carcass under the hoofs of the horses of the King's stables. You cannot exterminate Christianity! You cannot kill Joash!

The second thought I hand you from my subject is, that there are opportunities in which we may save royal life. You know that profane history is replete with stories of strangled monarchs and young prince's who have been put out of the way. Here is the story of a young King saved. How Jehoshaphat, the clergyman's wife, must have trembled as she rushed into the imperial nursery and snatched up Joash. How she hushed him, lest by his cry he hinder the escape. Fly with him! Jehoshaphat, you hold in your arms the cause of God and good government. Fail, and he is slain. Succeed, and you turn the tide of the world's history in the right direction. It seems as if between that young king and his assassins there is nothing but the frail arm of a woman. But why should we spend our time in praising this bravery of expedition when God asks the same thing of you and me? All around us are the imperiled children of a great King.

They are born of Almighty parentage, and will come to a throne or a crown, if permitted. But sin, the old Athaliah, goes forth to the massacre. Murderous temptations are out for the assassination. Valens, the Emperor, was told that there was somebody in his realm who would usurp his throne, and that the name of the man who should be the usurper would begin with the letters T. H. E. O. D., and the edict went forth from the Emperor's throne: "Kill every one whose name begins with T. H. E. O. D." And hundreds and thousands were slain, hoping by that massacre to put an end to that one usurper. But sin is more terrible in its denunciation. It matters not how you spell your name, you come under its knife, under its sword, under its doom, unless there be some Omnipotent relief brought to the rescue. But blessed be God, there is such a thing as delivering a royal soul. Who will snatch away Joash?

This afternoon in your Sabbath school class, there will be a prince of God—some one who may yet reign as king forever before the throne; there will be some one in your class who has a corrupt physical inheritance; there will be some one in your class who has a father and mother who do not know how to pray; there will be some one in your class who is destined to command in church or state—some Cromwell to dissolve a parliament, some Beethoven to touch the world's harp strings, some John Howard to pour fresh air into the lazaretto, some Florence Nightingale to bandage the battle wounds, some Miss Dix to soothe the crazed brain, some John Frederick Oberlin to educate the besotted, some David Brainerd to change the Indian's war whoop to a Sabbath song, some John Wesley to marshal three-fourths of Christendom, some John Knox to make queens turn pale, some Joash to demolish idolatry and strife for the kingdom of Heaven.

There are sleeping in your cradles by night, there are playing in your nurseries by day, imperial souls waiting for dominion, and which reside the cradle they get out will decide the destiny of empires. For each one of those children sin and holiness contend—Athaliah on the one side, Jehoshaphat on the other. But I hear people say: "What's the use of bothering children with religious instruction? Let them grow up and choose for themselves. Don't interfere with their volition." Suppose some one had said to Jehoshaphat: "Don't interfere with that young Joash. Let him grow up and decide whether he likes the palace or not, whether he wants to be king or not. Don't disturb his volition." Jehoshaphat knew right well that unless that day the young king was rescued, he would never be rescued at all.

I tell you, my friends, the reason we do not reclaim all our children from worldliness is because we are in too late. Parents wait until their children live before they teach them the value of truth. They wait until their children swear before they teach them the importance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all wrapped up in the world before they tell them of a better world. Too late with your prayers. Too late with your discipline. Too late with your benevolence. You put all care upon your children between twelve and eighteen. Why do you not put the chief care between four and nine? It is too late to repair a vessel when it has got to the dry docks. It is too late to save Joash after the executioners have broken in. May God arm us all for this work of snatching royal souls from death to coronation. Can you imagine any sublimer work than this soul saving? That was what flashed Paul's cheek with enthusiasm; that was what led Munroe to risk his life amid Borstean cannibals; that was what sent Dr. Abel to preach under the consuming skies of China; that was what gave courage to Phocas in the third century. When the military officers came to put him to death for Christ's sake, he put them to death; they might rest while he himself went out, and in his own garden dug his grave, and then came back and said, "I am ready," but they were shocked at the idea of taking the life of their host. He said, "It is the will of God that I should die," and he stood on the margin of his own grave and they beheaded him. You say it is a mania, a foolhardiness, a fanaticism. Rather would I call it a glorious self-abnegation, the thrill of eternal satisfaction, the plucking of Joash from death, and raising him to coronation.

The third thought I hand to you from my text is that the Church of God is a good hiding place. When Jehoshaphat rushes into the nursery of the king and picks up Joash, what shall she do with him? Shall she take him to some room in the palace? No; for the official desperadoes will hunt through every nook and corner of that building. Shall she take him to the residence of some wealthy citizen? No; that citizen would not dare to harbor the fugitive. But she has to take him somewhere. She hears the cry of the mob in the streets; she hears the shriek of the dying nobility; so she rushes with Joash into the room of the temple, into the house of God, and then she puts him down. She knows that Athaliah and her wicked assassins will not bother the temple a great deal; they are not apt to go very much to church, and so she sets down Joash in the Temple. There he will be hearing the songs of the worshippers year after year; there he will breathe the odor of the golden censers; in that sacred spot he will tarry, secreted until the six years have passed, and he come to enthronement.

Would God that we were all as wise as Jehoshaphat, and knew that the Church of God is the best hiding place. Perhaps our parents took us there in early days; they snatched us away from the world and hid us behind the baptismal fonts, and amid the Bibles and the psalm books. O, glorious inclosure! We have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have seen the lamb on the altar and we have handled the phylax which are the players of all saints, and we have dwelt under the wings of the cherubim. Glorious inclosure! When my father and mother died, and the property was settled up, there was hardly anything left; but they endowed us with a property worth more than any earthly possession, because they hid us in the temple. And when days of temptation have come upon my soul I have come there for shelter; and when assaulted of sorrows, I have gone there for comfort, and there I mean to live. I want, like Joash, to stay there until coronation. I mean to be buried out of the house of God.

I tell you there is not more than one man out of a thousand that appreciates what the church is. Where are the souls that put aside one-tenth for Christian institutions—one-tenth of their income? Where are those who, having put aside that one-tenth, draw upon it cheerfully? Why, it is pull and drag, and hold on, and grab, and clutch; and giving is an affliction to most people when it ought to be an exhilaration and a rapture. Oh, that God would remodel our souls on this subject, and that we might appreciate the house of God as the great refuge. If your children are to come up to lives of virtue and happiness, they will come up under the shadow of the church. If the church does not get them the world will.

Ah, when you pass away—and it will not be long before you do—when you pass away it will be a satisfaction to see your children in Christian society. You want to have them sitting at the holy sacraments. You want them mingling in Christian associations. You would like to have them die in the sacred precincts. When you are on your dying bed, and your little ones come up to take your last word, and you look into their bewildered faces, you will want to leave them under the church's benediction. I don't care how hard you are, that is so. I said to a man of the world: Your son and daughter are going to join our church next Sunday. Have you any objections? "Bless you," he said, "objections? I wish all my children belonged to the church. I don't attend to those matters myself—I know I am wicked—but I am very glad they are going, and I shall be there to see them. I am very glad, sir; I am very glad. I want them there." And so, though you may have wanderers from God, and though you may have sometimes caricatured the church of Jesus, it is your great desire that your sons and daughters should be standing all their lives within this sacred inclosure.

More than that, you yourself will want the church for a hiding place when the mortgage is foreclosed; when your daughter, just blooming into womanhood, suddenly clasps her hands in a slumber that knows no waking; when gaunt trouble walks through the parlor, and the sitting room, and the dining hall and the nursery, you will want some shelter from the tempest. Ah, some of you have been run upon by misfortune and trial; why do you not come into the shelter; I said to a widowed mother after she had buried her only son—months after I said to her: "How do you get along nowadays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along tolerably well except when the sun shines." I said: "What do you mean by that?" she said: "I can't bear to see the sun shine; my heart is so dark that all the brightness of the natural world seems a mockery to me." O, darkened soul. O, broken hearted man, broken hearted woman, why do you not come into the shelter? I saw the door wide open. I swung it from wall to wall. Come in! Come in! You want a place where your troubles shall be interpreted, where your burdens shall be unstrapped, where your tears shall be wiped away.

Church of God, be a hiding place to all these people. Give them a seat where they can rest their weary souls. Flash some light from your chandeliers upon their darkness. With some soothing hymn hush their griefs. O, Church of God, gate of Heaven, let me go through it! All other institutions are going to fail; but the Church of God—its foundation is the "Rock of Ages," its charter is for everlasting years, its keys are held by the universal proprietor, its dividend is Heaven, its president is God!

Sure as the truth shall lead,
To Zion shall be given.
The brightest glories earth can yield,
And brighter hills of Heaven.

JUDGE KELLEY AT REST.

THE "FATHER OF THE HOUSE" DIES OF A CANCER.

Pennsylvania's Veteran Legislator Succumbs to a Painful Malady—His Last Hours—Striking Incidents in a Career of Many Years and Honors.

Washington dispatch: At 6:20 Thursday evening, surrounded by every member of his family except his married daughter, who resides in New York city, Congressman Kelley, the veteran "father of the House," breathed his last. His end was peaceful and quiet. Speaker Reed was notified at once and directed Sergeant-at-Arms Holmes to take charge of the remains and conduct the funeral in accordance with the wishes of the family. The interment will be in Philadelphia, where the remains will be taken Saturday.

Mr. Kelley was in his seventy-sixth year, and had lived to finish his term he would have served continuously for thirty years in Congress. His death was caused by cancer of the jaw, which first made its appearance three years ago. He was liked by everyone who knew him, and his death has called forth expressions of sorrow from both Democrats and Republicans.

The death was announced in both Houses Friday and both adjourned at once out of respect for the memory of the deceased.

William Darragh Kelley was born in Philadelphia April 12, 1814. His father died when he was 3 years old. At the age of 11 Mr. Kelley began to earn his living as an errand boy, and later served an apprenticeship to the jewelry trade. He early began to take an interest in politics, and when the deposits were removed from the United States bank in Philadelphia he headed the Democratic demonstration made against the Whig capitalists. In consequence of his action in the matter he became so unpopular among the employers of Philadelphia that he decided to remove to Boston, to which city he went in 1834 and worked at his trade until 1839, when he returned to Philadelphia. He immediately began the study of law, and in 1841 was admitted to the bar. He met with immediate success in his profession, and in 1846 when a vacancy occurred in the court of common pleas he was appointed to the position by Gov. Shunk. He occupied the position until 1851, when he was elected to the same place. In 1856 he received the Congressional nomination in the Fourth Pennsylvania district on the Republican ticket, but was defeated. He resigned his seat on the bench after the election from motives of delicacy and resumed the practice of law. In 1840 he was again nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Fourth Pennsylvania district and elected, and has represented the district continuously from that time to the present. Mr. Kelley began his public career as a Democrat, but left that party on the repeal of the Missouri compromise. During the war he was one of the earliest agitators for the removal of McClellan from the command of the army, making a bitter attack on that General's policy early in the session of 1862. In 1865 he favored the partial suffrage as a fundamental condition of the restoration of local government in the various Southern States which had rebelled. During the proceedings against President Johnson in 1868 Mr. Kelley voted for his impeachment. In later years he has been chiefly noted for his fidelity to the doctrine of protection and especially that portion which most directly affected his constituents, who are largely engaged in the iron industry, and on this account he gained the sobriquet of "Pig-Iron" Kelley, which has become so well known all over the country.

CAUGHT IN DEATH TRAP.

Fourteen Lives Lost by the Sinking of a Caisson.

Louisville (Ky.) dispatch: Fourteen workmen employed on the construction of the new Louisville and Jeffersonville bridge were drowned by the sinking of the caisson.

The dead are: THOMAS ASH, CHARLES CHARLES, J. JORDON, WILLIAM HYNES, THOMAS JOHNSON, JOHN KNOX, FRANK MAHAR, MR. MCADAMS, B. MONROE, HAMILTON MORRIS, P. NAYLOR, THOMAS SMITH, FRANK SOAPER, ROBERT TYLER.

William Haynes, 40 years of age, was a resident of this city. He leaves a widow and three children. Knox was a gang boss and also resided here. McAdams was from New Jersey and Naylor from Philadelphia. The rest of the dead are colored, all of Henderson, Ky.

The last man out of the caisson was Frank Haddix. He was barely saved by Murray, who dragged him from where he was caught waist-deep in the quicksand. Taylor says he stood nearest the iron ladder by which they got in and out of the caisson. He heard a rumbling and there was a rush of air almost at the same instant. He jumped up the rungs of the ladder, followed by the other men. They had hardly got clear of the caisson when the water burst through the man-hole in a surge, knocking them into the river, where they were picked up. Haddix says he saw Ham Morris, who was climbing next below himself, swiftly drawn under by the sand and heard his cries for help but could do nothing.

The caisson is not wrecked, as at first supposed, but has settled down in the bed of the stream, completely filled with sand and water. The pumping station is hard at work clearing the way to the bodies, but none will be reached to-night. There seems absolutely no hope for any of those caught within the caisson.

WILLIAM TORRANS was found dead in West Philadelphia. He had visited Bella Carter, a servant girl, and after an altercation shot her in the hand and body and then committed suicide. The girl will probably die. Jealousy is the supposed cause.

Steps are about to be taken at Philadelphia to restrain the voting trustees of the Reading railroad company from re-electing President Corbin president.

CHAUNCEY M. DREW has been re-elected president of the Union League club of New York.

OLD KENTUCKY STORM.

ELEVEN PERSONS KILLED BY A CYCLONE.

Over Half a Hundred Houses Demolished at Clinton and Fifty-three Persons Injured—Several Buildings Blown Down at Wickliffe—Two Killed at Moscow.

Cairo (Ill.) dispatch: A tornado Sunday night struck the east side of the city of Clinton, Ky., demolishing fifty-five houses, killing eleven people and wounding fifty-three.

The killed, so far as ascertained, are: J. A. RHODES and two children. Mrs. WILLIAM BONE. BURNETT BONE. WALTER NANCE. JOHN W. GADDIE and infant. Infant of J. C. Hodges. One person not identified.

The wounded are: JUDON J. C. HODGES, his wife, and two children. G. R. GYNN, his wife, child, and father. C. W. VOORHEES, his child, and two relations, names unknown. The Rev. N. W. LITTLE, his wife, and two children. D. STUBBLEFIELD and several members of his family; not seriously hurt. Mrs. FOSTER and two children. Mrs. J. A. RHODES and one child; the latter will die. A. L. EMERSON and two children. A. F. JEWIS and one child. WILLIAM BONE and two children. W. F. BOONE. Mrs. JOHN W. GADDIE and one child. MR. JACKSON. ROBERT JOHNSON, Sr., dangerously hurt. ROBERT JOHNSON, Jr., will die. W. R. NENCE, wife and child. Others whose names can not be learned at this time.

Assistance was sent from here. The storm also visited Wickliffe, Ky., causing considerable damage to property but no loss of life.

Fifty-three persons are wounded. Physicians are in attendance from Cairo and Arlington. The cyclone did its deadly work in a moment. The terrible scenes which followed are indescribable. Amid the falling torrents of rain the groans of the wounded and dying could be heard by those who were powerless to help them.

The loss of property will reach $100,000. The cyclone skipped Arlington and Bardwell and struck Wickliffe, twenty-three miles north of Clinton, where several houses were blown down.

Five cars on the track of the Illinois Central road were stood on end. Mrs. Perry, wife of the agent, was probably fatally injured. Two or three others sustained slighter injuries.

At Moscow two persons are reported killed and several houses blown down. It is rumored that the town of Hickman was almost entirely destroyed. The wind blew a regular gale, but did no serious damage in west Tennessee.

IKE WEIR KNOCKED OUT.

Billy Murphy, the Australian, Gets the Best of the Spider.

San Francisco (Cal.) dispatch: The fight to a finish between Ike Weir, the Belfast Spider, and Billy Murphy, feather-weight champion of Australia, for a purse of $2,250, took place at the rooms of the California Athletic club Monday night. The men started in at a lively pace, Murphy's body blows being met by Weir's upper cutting. The first round ended with Weir slipping to the floor from Murphy's rally. In the second round the Spider got in some upper cuts on the Australian's nose, causing it to bleed. From the eighth to the thirteenth round the fighting was tame, though in the twelfth Weir swung his right with telling effect on Murphy's left ear and jaw. The thirteenth round was a great surprise. Murphy came up almost hopelessly, but fought fiercely. He landed a right-hander on the Spider's head that staggered him, and then he sent Weir down eight times in rapid succession. Twice the latter was nearly counted out, but he managed to rise with the last second and feebly plant his right on Murphy's ear. In the fourteenth both men were so groggy they could barely stand. Murphy again led and Weir countered. The latter received another blow that sent him down, and for ten seconds he writhed in agony. He rose when time was called and claimed that his wrist was broken. It was found to be merely sprained. The fight was awarded to Murphy.

President Fulda of the club announced that John L. Sullivan has agreed to fight Peter Jackson in the last battle of his life for a purse of $15,000. The directors were empowered to make the match.

BURIAL OF JUDGE KELLEY.

The Remains of the Dead Statesman Consigned to the Tomb.

Philadelphia (Pa.) dispatch: The remains of William D. Kelley were Monday consigned to the tomb. There was little display, privacy and quiet being insisted upon by the family. Only the immediate relatives, a few close friends, and a Congressional committee appointed for the purpose were present at the house of Mrs. Horstman, the daughter of the deceased statesman, where the body lay. After funeral services at the First Unitarian church the body was interred in North Laurel Hill cemetery.

The Congressional committee acted as pall-bearers, and the Revs. Dr. William H. Furness and Joseph May were the officiating clergymen. A pillow of flowers from President Harrison and other floral offerings rested upon the coffin.

CRISIS IN PORTUGAL.

The Cabinet Resigns and Great Excitement Prevails.

Lisbon cable: The cabinet has resigned. Senhor Pimental, the Liberal-Conservative leader, voted with the minority at the meeting of the council when the demands of England were acceded to. The minority was in favor of evacuating the Shire district, but opposed the other demands made by England unless that country consented to submit the dispute to arbitration. There is much excitement in the city. Crowds paraded the streets last night shouting "Viva Pinto!" and "Viva Portugal!"

THE trial of a colored deacon who was arrested at Wichita, Kan., for stealing coal, was advanced on the justice's docket at his request in order that he might fill an engagement to preach on the day originally set for hearing.

DEMAND A NEW TRIAL.

A MOTION ON BEHALF OF THE CRIMINAL PRISONERS.

Forty-three Reasons Urged Why Coughlin, O'Sullivan, Burke, and Kunze Should Have Their Case Again Brought Before a Jury of Their Peers.

A Chicago dispatch says: The motion for a new trial in the Cronin case has been filed with the clerk of the criminal court by Daniel Donahoe. Forty-three reasons why a new trial should be granted are assigned in the motion. The argument on the motion is set for Monday before Judge McConnell. Among the more important reasons adduced by Attorneys Wing, Donahoe and Forrest, who sign the motion, are errors of the court in the following particulars:

In refusing a separate trial to each of defendants; in overruling challenges against certain veniremen; in allowing witnesses in the court room previous to their examination; in allowing the blood-stained clothing, alleged to be that of Dr. Cronin, to be introduced in evidence; in allowing the introduction in evidence of locks of hair, the frame of a sachel, medical instruments, a sachel, a trunk, a lock and key, a plate of false teeth, portions of the cottage, and many other physical things; in permitting the prosecution, after it had introduced its evidence in chief and in rebuttal, and after the defense had introduced its evidence, both in chief and rebuttal, against the objection of defendants, to introduce other and additional evidence against the defendant Daniel Coughlin; in improperly instructing the jury upon the law of the case, against the objections of defendants and each of them.

The motion urges assets that each and every instruction given by the court to the jury was erroneous; that the verdict is contrary to the law; that the verdict is contrary to the evidence—i. e., is not warranted by the evidence, and is the result of passion and prejudice on the part of the jury; that the evidence is totally insufficient to justify the verdict. The defendants, and each of them, under the law, should have been acquitted, and that the defendants, and each of them, have discovered evidence which entitles them to a new trial.

Arguments in favor of the motion began on the 13th inst.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

General Review of the Situation, as Reported to "Bradstreet's."

Bradstreet's "State of Trade" says: Special telegrams note the appearance of colder weather, followed at important Western cities, particularly Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, and St. Louis, by moderately improved distribution of clothing, boots and shoes and grocery staples. Reports of gross earnings of ninety-two railroad companies for 1889 aggregate $327,530,553, an increase over 1888 of 9.27 per cent. The demand for flour and wheat has been dull, both at home and abroad. Stocks of wheat in the United States, both coasts, and Canada out of the farmers' hands, with like stocks in Australia, in Europe, and afloat from countries for Europe, aggregated 115,800,000 bushels on Jan. 1, 1890, against 133,800,000 bushels on Jan. 1, 1889, a decline of 18,000,000 bushels, or 13 1/2 per cent. Exports of wheat (and flour as wheat) from both coasts, United States and Canada, this week's aggregate 2,317,221 bushels, against 1,898,054 bushels last week and 1,682,885 bushels in the like week of 1889. The total of wheat (and flour as wheat) exported from July 1, 1889, to date is 56,662,531 bushels, against 52,982,000 bushels in the like portion of 1888 to 1889. The spring trade in cotton goods opens encouragingly. Print cloths are only moderately active, woolen goods quiet. Deliveries by agents of spring goods on orders are large. Raw wool is steady, but in moderate demand. Prices are firm. A light crop movement and improved speculative demand have advanced cotton prices 3/4 to 5-16 cent. The business failures reported number 354 in the United States, against 310 the previous week and 337 the week last year. The total failures in the United States from Jan. 1 to date is 663, against 623 in 1889.

BELL-BOY BURNED.

A Famous Trotting Stallion Destroyed by Fire at Versailles, Ky.

Versailles (Ky.) dispatch: The stallions belonging to Macy Brothers burned Saturday morning at 4 o'clock, destroying thirty-five out of thirty-eight horses. Among those burned was the Jorse Bell-Boy, who had a record of 2:19 1/4 as a 3-year-old, and was sold here at auction by Jefferson & Seaman to J. Clarke for $51,000. It is said that Clarke has refused $100,000 for the horse.

Bell-Boy was a brown stallion, foaled in 1895, and was a son of Electioneer, his dam being Beautiful Bells, a mare that also produced Linda Rose, record 2:19 1/4 as a 3-year-old, Palo Alto Belle, 2:22 1/4 at 3 years; St. Bel, 2:23 1/4 at 4 years, and Chimes, 2:30 1/4 at 3 years. Her colts have brought enormous prices. Bell-Boy was purchased from Senator Stanford by S. A. Brown & Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich., when a yearling; the amount paid being $5,000. He was brought East, and as a 2-year-old won all the races in which he started, closing the season with a record of 2:38, at that time the best for 2-year-old stallion. He did not do well as a 3-year-old, but late in the season was taken to California again, where he trotted in 2:19 1/4, being subsequently sold at auction for $51,000. His purchaser at this sale was Judson H. Clarke of Elmira, N. Y., who left the stallion in Kentucky.

Monument to Columbus.

Washington dispatch: The Senate committee on public buildings and grounds has decided to recommend the passage of the bill appropriating $50,000 for the erection of a statue of Columbus, to be unveiled in 1893. It is to stand where the peace monument is now located at the foot of Capitol Hill, on Pennsylvania avenue, the monument to be transferred to a location yet to be selected.

Accidentally Killed His Mother.

At Homestead, Pa., John Drake, aged 17, was cleaning a revolver when the weapon was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his mother's head back of the ear, killing her instantly. The young man is paralyzed with grief.

At a meeting of the striking workmen at Wolcott, Miss., Grand Master Workman Moreland announced that the strike lockout in the leather industry is practically ended, and the men were ordered back to work Monday morning. The strike cost $100,000.

THE HOME.

Uncle Seth's Preference.

Ed had to be a President—by gum, I wouldn't have it.
The President's cake is always dough, 'thout no chance to bake it.
The papers they all call him names—a miscreant an' villain.
A man whose moral capital ain't equal to a shillin'.

The Emperor of Germany is allus in hot water.
An' never seems to do a thing that Bismarck thinks he oughter.
The King of Austria's all broke up, the Queen her gone clean crazy.
She yells and cries from morn till night, an' raves an' won't be aisy.

An' they say the Czar of Russia doesn't dance to pleasant toons,
For he wears sheet-iron weskits and cast-iron trousers.
His jacket must be made of tin before he'll dare to trust it.
His beaver is an iron pot, so tough a bomb can't bust it.

His bedroom is an iron safe, a cannon ball can't crack it.
In which he crawls before he dares to jest take off his jacket;
His bedstead's made of tempered steel, as hard as he can stan' it;
His bedquilt's made of hammered zinc, his pillow's made of granite.

An' so I ain't no candidate for President, King or Kaiser;
I'll stay to hum an' feed my pigs, an' live 'th Ann Eliza.
An' we don't want no crowns an' things to plague and aggravate us;
We'll do our chores an' tend the shotes, and hoe our corn an' taters. Yankee Blade.

A Small Company.

The question of how to serve a dainty tea for a small company of eight or ten has been asked by a young housekeeper, so, feeling that it may be a query with some one else, I will try and make it plain for all. In every bride's presents of to-day, table-linen and silver form an important part. After you are married, girls, you will regret first of all that you spent so much money on useless articles of your wardrobe, so let me say right here to those of moderate means, save something from that to put into table appointments when you go into housekeeping. Your wardrobe will get very much out of style in six months; do not burden yourself with fifteen new dresses to start with, as one I know did, and have them to remodel in less than a year—or feel you have so many on hand that you cannot in conscience think of having anything new for two or three years.

To arrange your table for a small company, first lay the cloth perfectly straight, in the centre place a low platter of nicely arranged flowers in mass, along the centre place your tablespoons lying straight along the center line of the table-cloth, at each end a small sugar-bowl and cream-pitcher on opposite sides, also a fancy pitcher of vinegar, an individual pepper and salt which now come in beautiful designs in silver, glass or china, and have entirely superseded the castor.

At each place lay a knife, fork and teaspoon straight, at the right hand a napkin, upon which may lie one flower, a pink, rose, or geranium leaf or any single flower or spray of flowers. If your meats are cold, it is perfectly proper to have the plates at each place, and pass the platter with a fork lying across it, or you may have the plates in one pile at the carver's place and let him help each one. If you do not have good serving, it is best to simplify matters as much as possible. Unless you have a good waiter, it is much more of a compliment to your guests to have your children perform that part. The hostess herself should not, as she should be seated with her guests. The butter should be cut and put upon the individuals beforehand—kept on ice or in the cool and brought in and placed before calling. Then the dish for a further supply placed upon a side-table or sideboard. This may hold also the water-pitcher and glasses, though this could be poured also just before calling. I am writing this, understand, for those who must do most of their own serving.

It is a very pretty addition to pour the coffee and tea at the table, but allow each guest to fix it to suit himself, as it takes up your time and you cannot always get it right.

After the meat course is through, the plates should be removed for clean ones for cake and fruit.
Rather than have so many dishes on hand, if you live where you can do so, hire a couple of dozen of plates and sauce-dishes to help out your own. The expense is trifling and in this way you can select prettier dishes. I think young housekeepers make a great mistake in filling up their houses with unnecessary articles. I know I did. In these days the temptation to spend money for useless bric-a-brac is a temptation hard to resist. A little colored girl called it "break-your-back," and her name was pretty true, for it breaks your back to take care of it all.

"Too much house," the Indians say "kill white squaw," and it is virtually true.—Exchange.

A Good Investment.

Many of our readers are now selecting their reading matter for the coming year.

In addition to subscribing for the News, it is desirable to have a daily or weekly paper, which will give the current news of the state and country.

The Detroit Free Press is one of the best newspapers published in the United States. It is also an excellent paper for the farmer and housewife, with much original literary matter and a department for the boys and girls under the management of Mrs. Margaret Eyttinge. With these good features, the one dollar a year charged for the weekly is a good investment.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, SS. COUNTY OF OTTAWA. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Ottawa, held at the Probate Office in the City of Grand Haven, in said county, on Monday, the Thirtieth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Present, CHARLES E. SOULE, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Eelte Eizaga, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Martti Eizaga, executor of the will and estate of said deceased, praying for the license of this court to sell certain lands of said deceased in said petition described for purposes therein set forth.

Thereupon it is Ordered, That Monday, the Tenth day of February next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, be required to appear at a session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the City of Grand Haven, in said county, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further Ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the HOLLAND CITY NEWS, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Ottawa, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

CHARLES E. SOULE, Judge of Probate.
