Senior Class of High School Makes a Hit.

In the production of the scenes that marked the session of the Continental Congress when the Declaration of Independence was signed, the Senior class of the Holland High school last Friday night made a decided hit.

They brought to their deliberations much of the dignity, the quaintness, and the intense earnestness, which, doubtless, marked the demeanor of the sages of revolutionary days. Considerable oratorical talent was displayed and the audience manifested its appreciation of the merit of the debaters.

Preceding the congress a quartet, composed of the Misses Marie Blom, Clara Koning, Ida De Weerd and Gertrude Boot sang "Annie Laurie," in a manner that captivated the audience and brought forth an enthusiastic encore.

Following were the characters: John Hancock... Cyrus Hansen. Chas. Thompson... Geo. VanDuren. John Dickinson... James Deto. Lewis Morris... J. Michmershuizen. John Adams... Thomas Robinson. Wm. Henry Harrison... Chris Knutson. Samuel Adams... Isaac Douma. Thomas Jefferson... Henry Rottschaefer. Benjamin Franklin... Wm. Atwood. Robert Paine... John Dry. John Witherspoon... John Vaupel. Roger Sherman... Edward Luther.

Ottawa county has the honor to be mentioned in the report of the state labor department as one of the sixteen counties in the state which have 25 per cent of the factories of the state. These counties employ about 75 per cent of the working force. Ottawa is credited with 107 factories which employ 3,576 people. The number of factories inspected by the state labor department in 1905 was 7,174, three more than for the previous year. There was a large increase in the number employed, there being 232,251 in 1905 and 212,831 in 1904, a gain of 19,420. The average daily wage is a few cents larger than in 1904.

The steamer Puntan, which went to Ferrysburg as soon as she could be spared off the line last fall, has had four new boilers installed and is ready to be brought home to go into winter quarters. It is thought that the trip will be made tomorrow if the weather continues fair. One of the boilers was tested yesterday and was found to work as smooth as an old piece of machinery and the others will be tested today. The run from Ferrysburg to this city can be made in about five or six hours with the machinery of the steamer in the condition that it is now from having been laid up a couple of months. —Benton Harbor News Palladium.

Deputy Sheriff Johns of Kent county discovered a band of amateur "car barn bandits" in a shack nine miles west of Grand Rapids, in Ottawa county. Johns had a warrant for Fred Pimpert, a truant, and found him with seven other lads in a shack two miles from the main road, in the woods. There is a small lake near the place and the boys have been maintaining themselves by hunting, fishing and living off the country. One of them, the son of a west side grocer, is said to have stolen a large quantity of flour and bread before he left home. All but Pimpert were above the age when the truant law could reach them. Some of them are armed. The head of the camp is a boy named Oscar, who was sent to the industrial school at Lansing when he was very young and who, at the end of his term could not find his parents. He enlisted in the army, was wounded during the Spanish war and draws a pension. This pension was about all the money the camp boasted. The shanty is on the farm of a man named Reardon, who rented it to Oscar and who helps the boys with gifts of eatables in return for their assistance in his chores. Limpert declares the camp is not vicious. There was no intoxicants in the camp, but the boys had tobacco. They hunted and fished and had a royal good time.

Bouwkamp, No. 160 to Harm Wolbert and No. 164 to Jerry Dykstra. Mr. VanPutten intends to build several new dwellings in the Prospect Park addition in the spring.

Dan Riley, who since he succeeded his brother in the livery business here, has conducted the well known and popular old Cutler House baggage line, has sold out the bus and baggage business, with all equipment, to Frank Godhart and Dan Schippers. They will conduct the enterprise under the name of City Transfer Line. The young men are both well known in this city and will undoubtedly make it a paying project. Orders for the line will be taken at all hotels and at Riley's barn. —G. H. Tribune.

A Hart fruit grower, who came to see Roy Chelis, awaiting sentence at the county jail for larceny of a horse, got into a mix up at the jail Saturday which he did not expect. Before he went into the corridor he was compelled to give up a small gun, which he had in his pocket. The sheriff took the gun but the visitor stated that he had carried a gun because he made a practice of carrying a good deal of money with him and he had been in several good tight places where a gun would have been handy. The officers accepted the explanation and did not hold him. The gun is an antiquated affair and the visitor stated that he had owned it twenty years and valued it highly.

The Quarterly Bulletin of the Grand Rapids board of trade seems to have faith in the electric railway projects of W. H. Patterson. Its latest issue, in speaking of interurban roads likely to be built the coming season, says: "It is not probable that the extension from Plainwell north to Grand Rapids will be built during the next two or three years, because of a seeming strenuous effort to divert the entire line toward Saugatuck and Holland from Allegan, so that there are strong possibilities that the line will be built first. Indeed, Mr. Patterson has already closed with the Westinghouse people for the equipment of the road between Kalamazoo, Plainwell, Otsego and Allegan. —Allegan Gazette.

Sheriff Woodbury arrested Gilbert Isenhoff, a prominent young farmer of Blenden township last Thursday. He is charged with attempting to poison his father-in-law, Dick Schutt, who lives on a nearby farm. They allege that December 26 Isenhoff came over to their house, and while they were away sprinkled their food with poison. They detected the powder on the food and traced the attempt to Isenhoff, they affirm. The dog was fed some of the soup containing the powder and nearly died. The powder was analyzed and proved to be morphine. The motive alleged is that Isenhoff desired to secure the Schutt farm, which the two men occupy alone. Isenhoff is married to Schutt's daughter. Isenhoff could not furnish $1,000 bail and was placed in jail. The judge fixed January 29 for examination. Later Isenhoff furnished bail.

Al Walters of Grand Rapids, claimant of the pool championship of western Michigan, and Will Blom, the pool expert of this city, are time tried rivals. Walters has defeated Blom twice, and Blom has defeated Walters 3 times. They will meet for another game at Blom's poolrooms in this city the first week in February.

Willie Martell, who is staying with his aunt, Mrs. J. Liendecker, at the hotel in Saugatuck, was in the city Tuesday. He says that the new addition to the hotel is now ready for the plasterers and that all will be in readiness for guests by the first of June. The new addition will mean accommodation for about 40 more guests than last years capacity. The entire hotel is being redecorated and improved, and it will be one of the best of the summer resorts of the west shore.

The barn on the premises of Benjamin Lemmen, living in Filmore township four miles southeast of the city, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Five cows and five horses were cremated, and the season's crop of hay and straw and considerable farming machinery burned. The loss is estimated at $1,500 with insurance of $800. The fire was caused by a kerosene lantern which boys, while playing, tipped over. Desperate efforts were made to rescue the horses and cattle and two horses were saved. Assisted by neighbors the granary and other outbuildings were saved.

The death of Jacob Bontekoe, who had been ill for seven weeks with tumor of the brain, occurred Monday morning. Mr. Bontekoe was born in the Netherlands in 1853 and came to this city 23 years ago. We Want More Sand Sucking Gillispies

Dredging of harbors on Lake Michigan has been revolutionized by the government sand sucker, Gen. Gillispie.

The old dredges, built on scows and equipped with the machinery that manipulate the dippers, are still in evidence; but for work on harbors like Holland they should be relegated to the scrap heap. The main objections to these old style dredges are the difficulties surrounding their transportation from port to port and the difficulties encountered in working them in a sea. Tugs have to be brought into requisition in towing them from place to place and the weather must be fine indeed or they must remain in port. It doesn't take much of a sea to wash the decks of dredge or dumpscows and while awaiting the subsidence of a small sea the dredging outfit has many a time been forced to lay idle in port for a week or ten days. With the Gillispie it is different. Built and equipped like the best of the sea-going steamers, she can stick her nose out in tolerably heavy weather and steam from port to port. When she arrives at port, she is ready to work and it takes a pretty stiff wind and a pretty nasty sea to force her to cease operations. When the dredge, the dumpscows and the tugs arrive in port they must wait for very fair weather, for the least chunk of a sea will drive them to the refuge of the docks inside the harbor. And while they remain there idle, the men are under pay and the harbor appropriation is being eaten into, while at the harbor there is "nothing doing."

The Gillispie gave good object lessons of its utility this fall. At Grand Haven a bar threatened navigation and the sand sucker swooped down upon it and regardless of weather annihilated it in jig time. At Holland the pier got tired withstanding the battering of Lake Michigan and toppled away allowing the waves to throw sand into the harbor by the ton and the sand sucker got busy and ousted the sand from the harbor without ceremony. Then the sand sucker got ready to retire with the bear of shadow fame to winter quarters when Muskegon sent up a wall of distress and she rushed to the rescue and tore away the threatening bar before the Muskegonites got through wailing for help.

O'Donnell A Talented Impersonator.

Should James Francis O'Donnell, the impersonator, come to Holland again, he would be greeted by an audience that would test the capacity of the largest auditorium in the city; for now he is known locally as one of the best impersonators that has ever graced a local platform. As it was last Saturday, night, he came practically unknown, and was greeted by a very small audience. Unchilled by the small crowd he gave Barretts The "Sign of the Cross" in a manner that gained unbounded admiration. It can be truthfully said the number was among the best ever offered by the Hope College lecture course committee. The committee, by the way, does not get the cordial support from the public that it deserves. They are offering fine attractions and appreciation for their efforts should be shown.

Antonio Martino On Trial For Murder

The trial of Antonio Martino, the Italian, for the murder of Pietro Spagnolo, the Holland fruit merchant, was begun in circuit court Monday afternoon and the court room was filled with a big crowd of people.

Several of the Italian residents of Holland and Hippo Spagnolo of Grand Haven occupied front seats in the court room. Mr. Pagelsen and Mr. Lillie, occupied seats at the prosecutor's table with the defendant's attorneys at the left.

A hush fell over the court room when the Italian prisoner, entered with Sheriff Woodbury. The big fellow looked around bewilderedly, the flare of the gas lights and the many pairs of eyes staring at him seemed to drive all understanding from the man. The sheriff directed him to a chair next to Mr. McBride and as the Italian saw his attorney, a bright look of intelligence came over his features and with a smile, he seized Mr. McBride's greeting hand with much the same joy experienced by the stranger, who meets a friend among a hostile people.

Tony is not a criminal in appearance, but his poor clothes and unkempt condition, rather sets him to a disadvantage. The proceedings were all new to him and he leaned forward, anxiously trying to catch a word of English. When even the names of his comrades in the trouble or himself were mentioned, he started forward trying to follow what ever was being said about him.

At three o'clock Tuesday afternoon state and defense attorneys stated that they were satisfied with the jury which was sworn in as follows: Conrad Arnold, farmer, Chester; Charles E. Wildes, farmer, Spring Lake; John D. Vos, retired merchant, Grand Haven; John Chittick, farmer, Polkton; Patrick Glynn, farmer, Polkton; Herman Albrecht, farmer, Polkton; Elmer E. Smead, farmer, Allendale; Henry E. Martin, traveling salesman, Spring Lake; Alfred Davis, hay buyer, Coopersville; Fred D. Vos, merchant, Grand Haven; Henry K. Lanning, farmer, James-town; E. A. Chittenden, farmer, Spring Lake. The two Grand Havenites who secured seats on the jury are brothers. Prosecuting Attorney Dan F. Pagelsen announces that Joseph Cardello, the Grand Rapids fruit merchant, has been engaged as interpreter.

Yesterday morning Officer Doornbos was placed on the stand at the opening of court and subjected to cross examination by Attorney Wilkes for the defense.

Architect James Price of Holland, who drafted a plan of the little building where the tragedy was committed, followed Officer Doornbos on the stand but his testimony was confined to a description of the quarters of the Italians.

Dr. J. J. Mersen of this city, who was the first to reach the body of Peter Spagnolo after the fatal shot was fired, was on the witness stand yesterday in the trial of Martino and testified on cross examination that it would be possible for Spagnolo to inflict the wounds himself. Dr. Cook contradicted the testimony of Dr. Mersen, testifying that the wounds could not be self-inflicted.

The last witness yesterday afternoon was E. J. O'Leary, who lives near the store and residence of the Spagnolos. He testified to hearing the shot and seeing Martino and Mrs. Spagnolo rush through the house, but did not see Joseph Spagnolo.

The heart of Peter Spagnolo was a gruesome exhibit in court yesterday to show the course of the bullet.

Reprieve for Patrick.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer, convicted and awaiting execution in Sing Sing prison next week for the murder of William Marsh Rice in New York city in September, 1900, was reprieved Monday afternoon by Gov. Higgins until March 19—a space of 56 days. This reprieve is granted for the purpose of giving Patrick's counsel time to bring before a trial court alleged newly discovered evidence.

Board of Supervisors

Upon motion of Supervisor A. J. Ward, of Holland, the Board of Supervisors, allowed in full the claims of Henry Solms and 15 other Grand Haven watchmen amounting to $714.75. The action was taken because of the opinion of Judge Padgham of the circuit court in the case of Henry Solms vs. the Board of Supervisors of Ottawa county. This opinion ordered that a writ of peremptory mandamus issue, requiring the board to convene and audit the bills of the watchmen and investigate whether or not the bills were just and reasonable and the expenses were necessarily incurred.

In Judge Padgham's opinion, the question as to whether the bills were necessarily incurred was the only one which could properly come before the board and the matter as to whether the persons were indigent, whose homes were guarded by the watchmen during the smallpox epidemic in that city in 1903, was left out of consideration.

The court gives a thorough review of the smallpox watchmen's case in his document. The watchmen were employed by the city physician at the time of the epidemic and they took up their work with the belief that their bills would be audited by the city board of health and paid by the supervisors.

But the bills were referred back to the city for payment by the supervisors at their session and the court in turn decided that the watchmen's bills were a county charge and must be paid by the board.

Accordingly at the next session of the board, the bills of some of the watchmen were allowed. Sixteen of them were rejected, however, because the board did not consider the persons, whose homes had been guarded as indigent and decided that these persons should pay their own watchmen's bills. Suit was brought by Henry Solms, as petitioner, and the conclusion of the matter came last week.

In the order Judge Padgham stated in regard to the indigency of the quarantined persons, that it was not the policy of the law to turn the watchmen over to the individuals, who, in most cases, regard as unnecessary and offensive, for their pay.

John J. Boer presented a bill for $16.25 to the board for goods furnished during the smallpox epidemic and the bill was not allowed. Supervisor Ward reported that the committee on buildings and grounds had sold the stone pile building to the city of Grand Haven for $45.

The finance committee recommended that Probate Judge Kirby be allowed a deputy register at a salary of $600 per year, and the board acted favorably.

Justice L. Y. Devries of Holland was allowed justice fees amounting to $53.90, which claims were rejected at the October session. Since Justice Hutton won in his suit, the board thought it best to settle other claims of like nature.

The finance committee of the board made its annual settlement with the county treasurer, and there was found to be a balance of $5,600 in the treasury. The committee is composed of Geerlings of Holland, Parks of Grand Haven, VanNoord, Gordon and Harrison.

The committee on criminal claims and accounts did not deal gently with its claimants and some of the officers and justices suffered considerably. The Holland officers' claims were shaved somewhat and Marshal Hans Dykhuis' bill for $361.98 was cut to $334.28. The other Holland police officers and deputy sheriffs received proportional treatment. Sheriff Woodbury lost $32.50 on his claims amounting to $1,252.01 and Under Sheriff Salisbury was shaved for $15.25 on his claims for $262.99. Marshal John Welch of Grand Haven had a bill for $39.94 and 30 cents was shaved from it by the committee.

The justices too, came in for a share of the cutting and of the Grand Haven magistrates, Justice Hoyt's claims of $177.65 were chopped to $169.70. Justice Hutton's batch of bills amounting to $148.70 was cut to $132.70. Among this batch were the bills which Judge Padgham had ordered the board to pay. As the justices are allowed 25 cents upon every report made to the prosecutor, the committee decided that as no reports were made upon them, that no fee shall be allowed. Therefore twenty-five cents was deducted from each of Justice Hutton's bills not reported. Justice Devries of this city suffered the same cut.

In Justice Hutton's January batch of bills the committee cut a claim for $102.25 to $9 because they had not been reported within the required ten days. Justice Taylor of Coopersville was also cut $20.93 on a claim for $32.03. The board accepted the committee's report.

WORK IN CONGRESS.

A Brief Summary of the Daily Proceedings in the Senate and House.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The Philippine tariff debate in the house on Thursday consisted more of party maneuvering for advantageous campaign material than of discussion of the question at issue.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Before going into executive session Thursday the senate listened to a speech by Mr. Hepburn in support of his bill creating a national board for the control of corporations, in which he denounced Wall street because of its alleged interference with the affairs of the country. He said that when the "street" could not dictate the financial course of the government it was ever ready to threaten disaster and he pleaded for legislation that would rob it of such power for evil.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Interest was injected into the Philippine tariff debate in the house of representatives Friday by a Massachusetts "idea" tariff exposition by Mr. McCall, of that state; by a character study of the Filipino by Mr. Longworth (O.), and by a defense of President Roosevelt by Mr. Poy, a democrat from North Carolina. Besides these, there were a number of speeches delivered on the merits of the bill, nearly all of which were in opposition to the measure.

Washington, Jan. 16.—General debate on the Philippine tariff bill was concluded in the house Monday, having been in progress daily since January 4.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senator Bacon on Monday succeeded in securing an open discussion of the Moroccan question by the senate. This result was accomplished by the introduction of a resolution making a general declaration against interference on the part of the government of the United States in any controversy among European nations concerning their international affairs.

CRUSH BALFOUR.

The Elections Indicate That the British Unionists Are Utterly Defeated.

London, Jan. 16.—The political map of England has undergone a striking change as the result of parliamentary elections held Saturday in 39 constituencies in widely scattered but important centers and in which the liberals gained 18 seats. The laborites, who are counted among the liberal gains, secure four new seats against unionist candidates. In the eastern division of Manchester Arthur J. Balfour, the former prime minister, was defeated by T. G. Horridge, liberal. Winston Churchill, liberal and free trader, won the seat for the northwest division of Manchester from W. Joyson-Hicks, conservative, by a majority of 1,241.

London, Jan. 16.—The Liberal landslide continues. Out of 76 contests Monday the Liberals and Laborites together secured 62 seats. The Liberal gains Monday show the surprising total of 42, while the Unionists gained only one seat, that of Hastings. Two former cabinet officers went down before the storm of Liberal sentiment. Gerald Balfour, who was president of the local government board in the Balfour cabinet, was defeated at Leeds by a majority of 1,069, and Walter Hume Long, former chief secretary for Ireland, lost his seat for South Bristol.

Relations Not Severed.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The positive statement was made at the foreign office Monday that diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela have not been broken officially. M. Taigny, the French charge d'affaires, remains at Caracas. A rupture is imminent, though the order to sever relations with Venezuela has not been sent.

Killed Himself.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—Albert Wilson, 30 years of age, whose relatives reside at College Corner, O., shot himself in the forehead in the presence of hundreds of people at Arcade Station and died in the receiving hospital two hours later.

DRYDEN HAS NEW INSURANCE BILL

NEW JERSEY SENATOR SEEKS TO HAVE GOVERNMENT CONTROL BUSINESS.

Publicity the Keynote—Corporations to Be Under Control of Bureau—Fraternal Insurance Will Not Be Affected.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Senator Dryden of New Jersey has revised his bill contemplating government control of insurance, and will reintroduce in the senate. Publicity is the keynote of the bill, and coupled with this are safeguards for the detection of wrong doing and the punishment of those so offending. It defines policies, or insurance contracts, as instrumentalities of commerce, and provides for the regulation of the business through the medium of a comptroller of insurance and along lines similar to the control exercised over national banks. The author says he believes this will go far toward meeting the objections of those who have questioned the constitutional possibilities of federal regulation of insurance.

Strongly Endorsed.

The senator says the bill has the endorsement of the president, administration officials, eminent constitutional lawyers in and out of congress and others who are familiar with its general features.

The bill contains some 50 separate provisions, of which the first 13 relate to the organization of the proposed bureau of insurance in the department of commerce and labor. The general supervision and control of the bureau is under the direction of the secretary of commerce and labor, and all fees or other monies collected are required to be paid into the treasury. The comptroller must make an annual report to congress, including the details of all examinations made of companies during the year, together with a complete statement of the receipts and disbursements of the bureau.

Fraternal Insurance Not Affected.

The provisions of the act apply to all corporations, associations or partnerships engaged in interstate insurance business, or who make and deliver insurance contracts outside of the state of incorporation or origin, or authority, but have no application for fraternal societies or organizations carried on for the sole benefit of members and not for profit. Such associations or societies may voluntarily take advantage of the act and, after complying with all its provisions, become duly authorized by the comptroller to transact interstate insurance.

Authority and power to inquire into the details and facts of the management of all corporations engaged in interstate insurance is given the comptroller, and he may have the companies examined by special examiners whenever necessary or expedient.

Safeguards Strengthened.

Commenting on the measure Senator Dryden says: "By this bill the business of insurance is made a national interest, and national laws are hereafter to govern insurance contracts and the conduct or management of insurance corporations. In addition thereto the companies will be subject to supervision and regulation by the government of the state, territory or district of incorporation, or origin. The needless, expensive and dangerous method of over-supervision, over-legislation, and over-taxation by some 50 state or territorial governments will come to an end. The comptroller of insurance will be a responsible officer, appointed by the president, specially charged with the duty and clothed with ample power to properly and securely safeguard the interests of the policyholders and of the public generally."

DEATH SUMMONS MARSHALL FIELD

MILLIONAIRE CHICAGO MERCHANT PASSES AWAY IN NEW YORK CITY.

WIFE AND RELATIVES AT BEDSIDE WHEN END COMES

Cold Contracted Some Time Ago Develops Into Pneumonia Which Famous Doctors Are Unable to Check—Brief Sketch of His Career.

New York, Jan. 16.—Marshall Field is dead. Surrounded by his wife and closest relatives and four of the most skillful physicians in New York city and Chicago, the merchant passed away in his apartments in the Holland house. His bride of five months, formerly Mrs. Arthur Caton, of Chicago, remained constantly at the bedside, holding the hand of her husband, who was reported to be in extremis by the physicians early in the day.

Monday all hope was abandoned and Mr. Field was thought to be dying all through the morning and early afternoon, but he rallied at three o'clock, awoke from his state of coma, and asked for food. His improvement continued during the night, and raised a fleeting hope that he might survive.

Relatives of Mr. Field were hastily summoned by telegraph when it became known that he was near death. Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., who had just been released from attendance at the deathbed of her father, Louis C. Huck, the wealthy Chicago maltster, engaged in a race with death, and three railroad systems lent every assistance to enable her to reach the bedside of Mr. Field before the end came.

Illness Begins with a Cold.

A cold, which seemed to be but a slight one, was the starting point of Mr. Field's illness. For three weeks he had suffered with the cold, but he was not ill enough to warrant the calling of a physician, nor, in his estimation, to postpone a trip to New York which he had planned. On Monday, January 8, therefore, Mr. and Mrs. Field, accompanied by a maid and a valet, left for New York. They had not traveled far when Mr. Field began to show distress. He seemed to be breathing with difficulty, and Mrs. Field, becoming alarmed, wired for a physician to meet the train at Pittsburg. When the physician boarded the train he made a diagnosis, and decided that Mr. Field was threatened with pneumonia or bronchitis. When he reached New York Dr. Walter B. James was called and put in charge of the case. He ordered Mr. Field to bed at once, and sent for trained nurses, but the patient never recovered.

Sketch of Career.

Marshall Field was born in Conway, Mass., in 1835. He spent his boyhood days on his father's farm, and later studied at an academy until he became 17 years of age. For four years, after ending his academy days, he was employed as a dry-goods clerk in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1856 he came to Chicago and engaged in the same business here. In 1860 he became junior partner in the firm of Palmer & Leiter. Five years later he entered his name on the firm's books as a senior partner, and in 1881 he became head of the firm known as Marshall Field & Co. He founded the Field Columbian museum on the world's fair site with a gift of $1,000,000, and gave the University of Chicago $450,000 for various purposes. He was well known as a director in the United States Steel corporation.

Triple Tragedy.

Elk River, Minn., Jan. 16.—A double murder and suicide occurred here Monday night. W. R. Brendt, a well-known resident, shot and killed his wife and Justin Adams, a neighbor, and then committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. Jealousy is said to be the cause of the tragedy. The coroner has gone to the scene, three miles out of this town.

Eight Killed at an Election.

Buda-Pesth, Hungary, Jan. 16.—A sanguinary fight between peasants and gendarmes took place Tuesday in connection with the election of a judge at the village of Bilke, in the Bereg district. Six peasants and two gendarmes were killed and numbers were wounded.

Roosevelt to Hunt Lions.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt two or three days ago in conversation with a friend at the White House said it was his intention to visit Central Africa after his retirement from office on March 4, 1909, to hunt lions and elephants.

EIGHT LIVES LOST AS RESULT OF FIRE

FLAMES BREAK OUT IN FAMOUS HOTEL WEST IN MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Guests Thrown Into a Panic—Five Suffocated and Two Leap to Death from Windows—Heroic Fireman Killed While Rescuing a Woman.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—Eight persons dead from suffocation or from leaping from a fireproof building, a score or people more or less injured by having their hands cut and gashed from smashing in windows, a magnificent property subjected to the ravages of fire, smoke and water is an epitome of the great disaster which befell the West hotel at 7:20 o'clock Wednesday.

The Victims.
Following is a list of the dead:
Capt. John Berwin, of Truck No. 1, fell from the fourth floor to the Fifth street sidewalk; was attempting to save Mrs. Marlow's life at the time.
W. G. Nichols, Minneapolis, Chamber of Commerce; suffocated in his room on the sixth floor.
Thomas Sumerville, traveling man from Springfield, Mass., suffocated in his room on the sixth floor.
J. E. Wolf, northwestern agent of the Sperry & Alexander company, of New York; suffocated in his room on the seventh floor.
Clinton B. Lamme, traveling man from New York; suffocated in room No. 761.
J. B. Peisinger, traveling man from New York; jumped from the seventh story window on the south side of the building.
Mrs. M. E. Hodges, Minneapolis; jumped from the seventh story window on the south side of the building; was an employee of Prof. Schryver, Skyes building.
William Black, New York; suffocated in room.

Guests in a Panic.
The fire in itself was insignificant, being confined to the elevator shaft and the top floor in the corner of the building, but the wild excitement which followed the first alarm hurried people into halls and out upon window ledges in a frantic attempt to save themselves. There was really no help for several who lost their lives. The wood in the elevator shaft burned like tinder and a sheet of flame 20 feet wide mounting to the seventh story frightened the guests out of their senses and induced a panic which struck terror to the stoutest heart.

The fire loss will not go over $30,000, although the catastrophe was one of the worst ever experienced in this city.

Fireman Meets Death.
Capt. John Berwin, of the hook and ladder company, having broken open a window on the seventh floor which he had reached by means of a scaling ladder, stumbled onto the body of Mrs. Emaline Barlow, an aged woman. He strapped the unconscious form to his back and started down the ladder. When midway between the seventh and sixth floors the strap broke. Bending over to balance the body for a moment, he then leaped, at the risk of his life, and threw the woman toward a projecting ledge on the floor below. Apparently being revived by the fresh air or by the shock, the aged woman grasped the projection and held on. Later she was rescued. But in throwing the woman to safety Capt. Berwin lost his balance and fell to the pavement. He was instantly killed.

Body Cut in Two.
J. B. Peisinger, a traveling man from New York, lost his head while running for his life. Awakened by smoke, he ran to the seventh story window. Apparently dazed, he climbed up onto the window sill and an instant later was turning and tumbling through the air. He struck a railing near the Hennepin avenue side of the hotel and was literally cut in two.

A Coasting Accident.
Baraboo, Wis., Jan. 16.—A coasting sled coming down Baraboo hill at a rate of about 40 miles an hour struck a sleigh containing Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alego, of Lyndon Station. Mr. Alego's collar bone was broken and Mrs. Alego was badly injured. David Noyes and Miss Dudley, who were on the coaster, were also badly injured.

Confesses to Brutal Murder.
Chicago, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Franklin C. Hollister, who disappeared Friday morning from her home, 498 Fuller avenue, was found dead early Saturday in the rear of a barn back of 268 Belden avenue, and within a few hours the police had secured a confession from Richard Ivens, a florist, that he had assaulted and killed her.

Blew Out the Gas.
Aberdeen, S. D., Jan. 11.—Adam Hauck, 25 years, and Christian Clauser, 55 years of age, of Eureka, S. D., blew out the gas Tuesday night when retiring at a hotel here. They were found dead Tuesday morning.

Harvard Custs Football.
Boston, Jan. 16.—Official announcement that inter-collegiate football has been prohibited at Harvard by vote of the board of overseers, until the game is reformed, was made Monday.

Death of a Veteran.
Herkimer, N. Y., Jan. 13.—James A. Suter, who was colonel of the famous Thirty-fourth New York regiment, died here Friday. He was 81 years old.

Children Burned to Death.
Mahoney City, Pa., Jan. 16.—Two children of Thomas Feeley were burned to death Monday in a fire which destroyed Feeley's home at Maple Hill, near here.

Sheriff Jesse G. Woodbury has been made the defendant in a $10,000 damage suit for assault and battery and false imprisonment brought by William Miller, a colored citizen of Illinois. Attorney Charles S. Crosse of Muskegon has filed the declaration in United States court. The declaration avers that on Oct. 14, Miller and a 9 year old nephew bought passage on the Goodrich Transportation company steamer Indiana, for Chicago, and that while Miller was attending to his own business, a room which he occupied was forcibly broken into by Sheriff Woodbury and Deputy Frank B. Salisbury. The declaration further alleges that Miller was severely assaulted with billies and handcuffs and threatened with revolvers, and that he was shackled, and in full view of many people, carried still shackled through the streets of Grand Haven from the docks to the Ottawa county jail. There Miller alleges he was incarcerated for twelve days and afterwards released. Many will remember the occurrence upon which the suit is based. The road will tap a territory now untouched by railway lines and will come into Grand Haven along the south side of the river.—G. H. Tribune.

We told you so. The Interurban Indoor base ball club, made wise by its trip to Newaygo and Fremont and made strong by a shift of positions and a shaking up of the weak points, annihilated the Grand Rapids Gas Light company team at the Appollo Pavilion at Jenison Park Friday night by a score of 15 to 9. Though there were many counter attractions, a goodly number of fans made the walls ring with their rooting. Millager was in old time form and celebrated the event by striking out 12 men. The Grand Rapids tosser struck out but five. Schouten ate up everything that came his way behind the bat. The Interurbans are in trim.

You wouldn't think so but at last the elements have joined with the Reed Wrecking company in the efforts to release the steamer Argo. The storm of Monday night and Tuesday did more good than harm. There is a bar outside of the steamer and this bar forced the waves to break before they struck the boat and caused the water between the bar and the boat to wash the sand in the vicinity of the steamer. This wash caused the boat to again lay on, even keel instead of on its side as before the blow. The wrecking company now has three pumps ready for action; but did not do much with them this week on account of the weather and the ice. If three or four fine days would come in a row instead of being distributed at intervals throughout a month the Argo would soon be floated; otherwise the winter quarters of the Argo will be where it now lies, and the spring quarters might be the bottom of the lake instead of the drydock.

The weather may change, in fact it has been quite changeable this week; but a good merchant when he gets a good system of business is slow to change it. Jas. A. Brouwer's way of doing business is not changeable. He started in with meager accommodations and a small stock and was imbued with the idea that fair treatment, fair prices and honest goods would win customers and his idea proved to be true, as the present circumstances testify. For the large store on River street is the result of getting the right kind of method and then sticking to that method under all conditions.

Death of Mrs. E. Herold.

The death of Mrs. E. Herold occurred last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the age of 71 years after an illness of two and one half years following a stroke of paralysis. Her husband died two years ago. Mrs. Herold was one of the early settlers, coming here in 1858. She had a large circle of friends and was greatly esteemed by all.

Mrs. Herold's life was similar to that of many of the pioneers who came here in the early days. She was the faithful helpmate of one who took an active part in the development of Holland; for her husband was one of the men, who from the time he first came here and started in the boot and shoe business with Mr. Bertsch until he ceased his labors in the building that he erected on Eighth street and which is now occupied by Sluyter & Cooper's store, gained the good will of his co workers because of his worth and character. At the organization of Hope church which took place shortly after he settled here, he identified himself with the organization and for a number of years was one of the elders, and his wife always showed a keen interest in all affairs pertaining to religious life.

Six children survive, John Herold of Howard City, Alonzo Herold of Grand Rapids, Mrs. George Ballard of Woburn, Mass., Mrs. George Hunt, Mrs. J. E. Benjamin and Miss Helena Herold, all of this city. Surviving brothers and sisters of the deceased are Christian and John Bertsch, Mrs. George Metz, Mrs. George Whitworth and Mrs. John Polen, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. P. Felker, of St. Louis, Mo., David Bertsch of California and Daniel Bertsch of this city. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Hope church, Rev. J. T. Bergen officiating.

The pallbearers were B. Steketee, Henry Hyma, R. N. De Merell, George L. Medes, Edward Ballard and John J. Cappon.

In the case of David F. Hanton, relator, vs the Board of Supervisors, Judge Padgham has again decided against the board and all that the board has left to do is to determine whether the justice bills, rejected twice, are reasonable or not. David Blom was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 with costs of $5.05 for violation of the liquor law. John Serier, who also pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law was fined $25 with costs taxed at $4.95.

Joseph Riley, the Grand Haven youth charged with stealing a mirror from the home of his mother, pleaded guilty to simple larceny and Judge Padgham suspended sentence upon the young man and appointed his uncle, Dan E. Riley, as guardian. A number of good Samaritans had taken up the young man's case and Prosecuting Attorney Pagelsen as well as Judge Padgham, wished to give the boy a chance.

James Walsh, the Crook who passed a bogus check on Miss Josephine Benjamin, of this city, claimed to be without funds to employ an attorney and the court appointed Attorney Coburn to defend him. Later Walsh pleaded guilty.
