Says Postwar Holland Needs Aid Desperately

Rev. Walter de Velder drew a graphic picture of the conditions in postwar Holland in an address Wednesday night in Hope Reformed church at a meeting held under the auspices of the American Relief for Holland.

In describing his entrance into the Netherlands, he said that as seen from the air, his first impression was that the country had been made into a massive fortress.

"The once beautiful city of The Hague has suffered more material damage due to the war than any other city in the Netherlands including such battle-scarred places as Arnhem and Nijmegen. Am-

Four Escape As Car Plunges Into Deep Ditch

Four persons escaped serious injuries when the car in which they were riding missed a jog in the old Grand Haven road not far from Harlem Reformed church about 7:30 p.m. Sunday and plunged headlong into a deep drainage ditch with four feet of water and then toppled over on the left side.

Occupants of the car, which was owned and driven by Lloyd Van Lente, route 1, were his wife and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Madderom. After a thorough soaking in the icy water, the four persons escaped through a right door and window. The front end and top of the car were badly damaged and the inside was water soaked.

Madderom suffered a severe gash over his eye and was treated in Holland's hospital. The other three persons suffered head and body bruises. They had planned to attend the evening worship at Harlem church where a friend, Rev. Olthoff, is pastor.

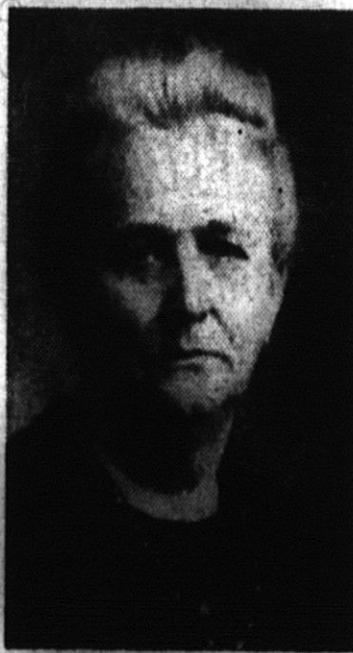

Had the accident occurred a week before, the outcome might have been tragic since the drainage ditch then was filled with seven feet of water.

The driver told sheriff's officers who investigated that he was not familiar with the road and was further hampered because the road at that point was like a mirror of ice and the glare of the car lights blinded him so that he failed to turn out in time. The jog is at a township line.

Officers and workmen worked until midnight to extricate the car from the ditch.

On their report to the state, sheriff's officers stated that the intersection is badly in need of traffic engineering. They also are calling the attention of the county road commission to the intersection where other serious accidents have occurred.

To Name Roads, Number Houses In Ottawa County

Sheriff Boeve Asks
Supervisors to Hire
County Dog Warden

Grand Haven, Jan. 17 (Special)

By a vote of 20 to 4, the board of supervisors favored naming of roads and numbering of houses throughout the rural sections of the county at the Tuesday afternoon session. The work will be done by the Consumers Power Co., although the county will bear the expense of the signs if they are to be put up. The signs will cost approximately $15,000. The board did not favor erection of signs immediately.

Sheriff William M. Boeve asked that a dog warden be employed in the county, following many complaints and claim adjustments for damage done to stock. Poundmaster Tony Beyer of Holland who also covers Holland, Park and Zeeland townships, asked that he be considered. He said he has killed more than 740 dogs in Holland, had taken over 3,000 dogs in the area and had made only two arrests. The dog issue was referred to the county officers' committee for investigation and report at the April session.

Supervisors approved the suggestion of John H. Van Noord, new chairman of the county road commission, to entertain road commissioners and their engineers of Allegan, Kent, Muskegon and Ionia counties at a dinner in Hotel Shuler during the April session.

Mrs. Charles K. Van Duren of Holland, county agent, in an oral report, stated she had served 522 children during the past year, 96 of whom were on probation, 84 in boarding homes, and 25 placed for adoption. Children adopted ranged in age from seven to 15. Few babies were placed for adoption and she called attention to the new system under which no children may be placed for adoption by doctors, midwives or the parents of the children. The mother or father must first make the child a ward of the county court and if the mother is a minor, her parents must make the child a county ward before proceedings can be started. She said some doctors are not aware of the system.

Mrs. J. T. Hoogstra, chairman of the women's committee of the Holland classis of the Christian Reformed church, Anthony Klinderberg of the deaconate of the same churches, Theodore Boot of Trinity Reformed church, Mrs. Vernon Ten Cate of Hope church and E. B. Reynolds, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, reported on the work done by their churches.

Rev. Marion de Velder, pastor of Hope church led devotional exercises. A collection for relief purposes was received.

Navy Doctors Return to City

The severe shortage of doctors in Holland due to wartime conditions is expected to be eased somewhat with the return of two navy doctors who plan to resume their practices in the near future.

The two officers, now home on terminal leave, are Comdr. H. P. Harms and Comdr. Carl S. Cook, both of whom served more than three years.

Dr. Harms, who was the first Holland physician to enter the service in March, 1942, said he was attempting to locate an office, but expects to spend two or three weeks at the University of Chicago in the surgery department with Dr. Dallas Phenister before resuming work here. Dr. Cook expects to return to practice at his old location next week.

Dr. Cook, who resides with his wife and three children at 35 East 26th St., spent 14 months overseas as medical officer on the transport USS Newberry in the Pacific. He returned here from Okinawa last July after nine months overseas, and a short time ago returned from Japan. He passed through the Great Lakes separation center Jan. 7. He entered the service as a lieutenant commander.

Dr. Harms who entered the service as a full lieutenant arrived in Holland last Saturday from Great Lakes. He had spent eight months aboard the tender USS Patoka which came home from Osaka on southern Honshu. He previously had spent 18 months in British Samoa and was in this country a year before going to the far Pacific. He and his wife and three children reside at 268 Maple Ave.

Diephouse Is Bound Over to Circuit Court

Grand Haven, Jan. 17 (Special)—Harold Diephouse, 27, Spring Lake, charged with leaving the scene of a personal injury accident, was bound over to circuit court Monday when he appeared before Justice George V. Hoffer for examination. He furnished $1,500 bond for his appearance at the opening day of the February term of circuit court, Feb. 18.

Diephouse was arrested by state police Dec. 24 in connection with an accident on the Country club road in Spring Lake township in which Vernie Pope, 41, Fruitport, was hit by an alleged hit-run driver while scraping ice from his windshield.

Diephouse's car was traced through a garage which towed the car from a ditch further up the road. Diephouse was lodged in the county jail over Christmas and waived examination when arraigned before Hoffer Dec. 26. He later demanded examination and furnished $1,500 bond for his appearance.

Pope who was treated in Municipal hospital for serious injuries has recovered and has returned to his home.

Randall C. Bosch, 196 10th St., Wednesday night was appointed by common council as member of the board of public works, following the resignation of H. S. Covell due to ill health. Covell is at present in Sarasota, Fla.

Covell's resignation, which was accompanied by a communication from Joe H. Geerds, BPW president, praising Covell's service, was "accepted with regret" by council and City Clerk Oscar Peterson was instructed to write a letter thanking him for services rendered the city of Holland.

Bosch, son of the late Nicolaas Bosch who served Holland as mayor for several years, is president of the Western Machine Tool Works. He is active in the work of Hope Reformed church and is a past president of the Holland Rotary club.

Common Council Passes New Cemetery Ruling

Passage of an ordinance relative to the care, protection, development and maintenance of local cemeteries highlighted the regular meeting of common council Wednesday night.

The new ordinance, aimed at requiring lot owners to take care of their properties, rather than forcing annual or perpetual care by the cemetery staff, was first introduced four weeks ago, and brought up again at the council meeting two weeks ago in keeping with ordinance procedure.

Lot owners who have not provided for annual or perpetual care will be required to trim, mow, weed and sprinkle the lot in a manner in keeping with the general plan and care of the cemetery. In the event the superintendent decides inadequate care is given, the board may direct such care 30

Retired Teacher Dies Here After 46 Years of Service

Miss Anna Dehn, 70, who was dean of Holland teachers before her retirement in 1940 after 46 years of service, died Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Holland hospital where she had been confined seven weeks with a heart ailment.

All but the first year of her teaching career had been with the Holland school system and it is estimated that she taught nearly 4,500 children in Holland.

She taught first in what is now Washington school, then taught in Froebel school for five years and returned to Washington where she served as teacher and principal until 1919. From then until 1933 she was supervisor of writing for all elementary schools and Junior High school. From 1933 until her retirement, in 1940, she was a classroom teacher in Junior High school.

A graduate of Western Michigan college, she continued her studies in summer school and extension courses at Michigan Normal college, Ferris Institute, Northern Michigan college, Holland Business college, Palmer Method school at Chicago, and Columbia university.

During vacations, she traveled extensively, often making long trips driving her own car. She resided at 221 West 12th St.

Rep. Geerlings Explains Taxes To Supervisors

Grand Haven, Jan. 17 (Special)—State Rep. Henry Geerlings, former mayor of Holland, attended the Wednesday session of the Ottawa county board of supervisors and gave an interesting talk on taxation, education and intangibles tax. Regarding education, Geerlings said 1,000 schools are closed in Michigan including 52 in Allegan county and one in Ottawa. He urged each supervisor to see that schools in his district remain open. He described the intangibles tax as "a blamed nuisance."

Prosecutor Howard W. Fant explained the recommended change to name the auditing committee the finance committee, and the finance committee the ways and means committee, to coincide with classifications in other counties. He said he would prepare a resolution to be submitted at the April session. The auditing committee, instead of being elected by the board members, is required to be appointed by the chairman.

Chairman Charles H. Ter Avest announced he would like to relinquish his duties as chairman of the board after serving in the position three years. He made the announcement so that the members would be prepared to name a new chairman when they reconvene at the April session.

The board approved a resolution submitted by Henry C. Slaughter, chairman of the finance and budget committee, to increase the budget of the addressograph department $300.

Receives Plaque From Netherlands for Gifts

Mrs. John Van Peeren, 818 North Shore drive, has received a title plaque from relatives in the Netherlands expressing thanks for the many packages of food and clothing she has sent there. The plaque shows American bombers dropping food to the people. A mother and child watch the planes. Under the picture, which is colored, reads "Food-Peace-Freedom."

Mrs. Van Peeren has five brothers and three sisters in the Netherlands.

Schepers Not in Mayor's Race; Steffens Will Run

Holland will have a new mayor come next April, following an announcement late Wednesday by Mayor Elmer J. Schepers that he will not seek reelection.

Therefore, Holland voters will see a new name or names on the mayor's space on the non-partisan election ballot when they go to the polls Feb. 18. The spring election, if contests are not decided at the primaries, will be held April 1.

So far, the only one to throw his hat into the mayor's ring is Ben Steffens, dean of local aldermen who has been on the council for 18 years, serving as chairman of the powerful ways and means committee for 10 years under both Schepers and former Mayor Henry Geerlings. Steffens retired recently from the grocery business after 40 years of service. His present term as alderman of the second ward expires in 1947.

Other officers whose terms expire April 1 are City Treasurer Henry J. Beckafor, Supervisor John Galien, BPW Member Joe H. Geerds and Alds. Harry Harrington, first ward; John Bontekoe, second ward; Bernard de Pree, third ward; Gordon Streur, fourth ward; George Damsen, fifth ward; Lavern C. Dalman, sixth ward.

Schepers, who is completing his first term as mayor, previously had served as alderman of the fifth ward. He was elected in 1944 defeating Henry Geerlings, now state representative, who served as mayor for four consecutive terms. Geerlings previously had served two one-year terms as mayor, 1904 to 1906.

Petitions are being circulated for Treasurer Beckafor who has served 41 terms. Supervisor Galien said he will seek reelection to the county board and BPW Member Geerds who has been serving as board president says he expects to enter the contest again.

The fifth ward will have a new representative following an announcement by George Damsen that he will not seek reelection.

He has served as alderman of his ward for 10 years. None of the other five aldermen would say definitely what their plans are. Harrington was appointed first ward alderman last summer, replacing L. Phillip Van Hartesveldt who moved outside the city.

Bontekoe, de Pree and Streur all are completing second terms. Dalman is completing his first term. All terms are for two years with the exception of the board of public works member who serves five years.

Feb. 4 is the deadline for filing of petitions. Each petition needs 25 signatures to qualify the contestant. Tuesday, Jan. 29, is the last day for receiving applications for voters' registration. The city clerk's office will remain open until 8 p.m. on that day. Changes in residences also should be reported by that time.

Revoke Liquor License for Spot

On motion of Ald. William J. Meengs, chairman of the license committee, common council Wednesday night approved the recommendation of Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff to revoke permanently the liquor license of The Spot, 72 East Eighth St., managed by David Blom, following three distinct violations and, according to Van Hoff, other borderline cases.

All three offenses involved employees of the tavern who either sold beer to intoxicated persons or sold beer to a minor. John Meyer who was arrested twice paid fine and costs of $54.15 each time. He was arrested April 16 on a charge of selling beer to two intoxicated men and on Sept. 6 for selling beer to a minor. Last Jan. 9, Martin De Ridder was assessed fine and costs of $104.15 on a charge of selling beer to an intoxicated person.

City Clerk Oscar Peterson was instructed to write the state liquor control commission asking that the license be revoked effective Feb. 1.

The proposed merger of the Episcopal church and the Presbyterian church was objected to by Bishop Whittemore, who said "the whole project should be dropped."

The proposal should not be a "shotgun wedding," he declared, adding that the church's House of Bishops "has never had an opportunity to discuss this matter in open and free debate. He demanded "the most ample opportunity to talk the thing over without having a pistol at our heads."

Grand Rapids, Jan. 17 (UP)—The Western Michigan Episcopal diocese today was on record as opposing the proposed merger of the Episcopal and Presbyterian churches.

The diocese convention ended last night after the delegates voted to approve opposition by Bishop Lewis B. Whittemore to the proposed merger.

Delegates to the general convention of the general church in Philadelphia next fall, include: Rev. W. C. Warner, Holland; Rev. W. A. Simms, Battle Creek; Chester C. Wells, Nanticoke; and Charles R. Sligh, Jr., of Holland. The following were named to the executive council of the diocese: Rev. Warner, Sligh and Norman A. Lilly of Grand Rapids, and chose as officers, vice-president, Rev. A. Gordon Fowkes of Kalamazoo, and secretary, Rev. Don M. Gury of Hastings. The Bishop serves as president of the executive council.

Included among those elected to the standing committee are Rev. Simms, Rev. W. T. Reeves, Jr., Muskegon; Chester C. Wells, Rev. Doane E. Rose of Grand Ledge and James A. Lewis of Dowigiac who were elected to the greater chapter of St. Mark's cathedral and Dr. D. C. Burns of Petoskey was named to fill a vacancy.

Julius Hatton of Grand Haven, chairman, said half of the $25,000 goal of the diocese reconstruction and advance fund has already been paid in.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Grand Haven, Jan. 17 (Special)—Edward D. Kinkema, prominent funeral director, is confined in Municipal hospital where he was taken shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday after he had suffered an attack in a local business place.

John Cealley, 47, Allegan, pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge and was sentenced to pay $50 fine and costs and serve five days in jail.

Clayton Foster, 18, charged with reckless driving, pleaded guilty and was assessed a $25 fine and costs.

William Klein, 71, Fennville, charged with selling beer to minors, waived examination and was bound over to circuit court.

Dutchmen Score Important Victory Over Kazoo, 52-47

Big Bob Van Dyke's masterful backboard work and the spirited efforts of his teammates netted Coach Malcolm Mackay's Holland High school basketball team an important 52-47 decision over Kalamazoo Central Friday night in Holland armory.

The Dutchmen blew a 50-37 lead in the late stages of the game changing their style to a slow, defensive game after they had used the fast-break to ring up a big lead. It threw a terrific scare into some 1,200 local fans who filled the armory by 6:45 p.m., one hour and a half before the main contest got underway.

The Dutch were playing things the safe way, however, as the game was the most important in which each team had engaged this season. The win gives Holland a tie with Kalamazoo for second place in Southwestern conference race, only one game behind Coach Bill Perigo's Benton Harbor outfit.

It was the first defeat inflicted on the Maroons this year, following five straight victories.

The Dutchmen jumped off to a 10 point lead in the first quarter as Bob Van Dyke controlled both backboards and scored five points while his mates peppered in seven buckets and a free throw making the score, 20-10. From then on it seemed as if the Kazooks were to break loose at any minute considering their impressive record so far this season.

But they never got started. Bob Van Dyke's backboard work allowed them few follow-in shots and in the meantime the locals were fast-breaking the Maroons to death, roaring down the floor and connecting for 24 baskets.

Bob Beckfort, who will graduate in February, turned in an outstanding game. He was steady in his passing, gave Van Dyke plenty of help on the boards and dropped in 12 points.

Jack Van Dorpe and Bud Vande Wege, guards, got 17 points between them, scoring from the floor with eight buckets. Slim Van Dort, replacing Ken Van Tatenhove at forward in the fourth quarter, contributed four timely points after Van Tatenhove had racked up six points in the first quarter which assisted greatly in the Dutchmen getting off to a head start.

Kalamazoo's Bill Schuring and Jay Santman provided the Dutch with considerable trouble although neither got together during the entire game to make it hot for Holland. Schuring scored 15 of his 17 points in the first half. Santman had 13 of his 19 in the last half.

Holland played without the services of their tall, all-conference center, Leo Vander Kuy, last night. Vander Kuy's ankle, which he sprained in practice Wednesday, was not better last night and Coach Mackay did not have the tow-headed youth in suit.

The Dutchmen showed vast improvement in their passing last night and they continued to impress the fans with an ability to hit on their shots. They made 27 baskets against Grand Haven last week.

Benton Harbor held undisputed lead in the Southwestern conference today following a 51-29 victory over Grand Haven Friday night. Holland battered Kalamazoo from the undefeated class with a 52-47 victory and moved into a second place tie with the Kazooks.

Grand Haven held Benton Harbor's mighty Jack Forestieri to only four points last night. Don Ullig and Gene Story had 13 and 11 points for the Tigers. Johnny Van Stratt had 10 for Grand Haven.

At Muskegon the Big Reds of Muskegon High school triumphed over Muskegon Heights, 45-27. Diminutive Muskegon guard Bill Pedler rang up 18 points. Bud Washington had eight for Muskegon Heights.

No Induction Here During January

For the first time since the selective service program functioned actively in Holland, the local board will be unable to fill a call this month. Chairman Vaudie Vandenberg said last week.

The Holland board barely responded in December when only one selective was sent from Holland, although another local registrant was inducted from another city.

The Holland board has answered calls nearly every month and sometimes often since the program got underway late in 1940. On a very few occasions, monthly calls were not issued.

Lack of manpower here was explained by selective service leaders as due to the fact that there were no available men under 26 except some 18-year-olds who have the right to finish their schooling through the present semester. A sizeable group of 18-year-olds is expected to be inducted next month.

Grand Haven board which covers all of Ottawa county outside Holland city will induct four young men this month.

Allegan county inducted 13 on Jan. 16. They are Raymond Jay Mulder and George Harris Baker, Holland; Donald Essink and George Alvin Nykamp, Hamilton; Harold Raymond Jacobs of East Saugatuck; and Edward George Dockweiler, Lige Gombier, Jr., Frank Roger Smith and Donald Bruce Sheaffer, Allegan; Jack Elmer Carter, South Haven; John Amos Rogers, Caledonia; and Lawrence Barber and Donald Lewis Ahlberg, Plainville.

Injunction Halts Closing of Alley

Grand Haven, Jan. 17 (Special)—A preliminary injunction restraining James L. Leonard and Sophia E. Leonard from blocking by building or otherwise or interfering or molesting with rights of plaintiff and from dumping ashes, garbage or any refuse in an alley to the north of the property now occupied and owned by them, was filed in circuit court Friday afternoon.

Suit was started by Minnie and Libby Brazda, George Botbyl, Winifred Van Zantwick, Herman Van Zantwick, Charles M. Ayers, Grover C. Bender and Marinus C. Van Doorne, all residents of Grand Haven, with the exception of Mr. Van Doorne who now resides in Coopersville. They are owners of property abutting on the alley.

It is alleged in the bill that Mr. and Mrs. Leonard threaten and propose to encroach on the alley by erecting a building across the alley, thereby blocking the entrance. The complaint further states that the Leonards have secured a building permit from Grand Haven city Jan. 2 to erect a commercial building.

He has led several expeditions for the Netherlands Geodetic service and has led two expeditions under American auspices for the Carnegie institute and the U. S. navy. These last two expeditions were made before the war to the West Indies in American submarines S-21 and S-48.

Michigan in Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington, Jan. 17.—One good result may come out of the future about the president risking his life to go home for Christmas. It made a lot of people think of what the upset would mean if that Sacred Cow had crashed on his way to Missouri. Secretary of State Byrnes would have become president. A good man, but not elected by the people.

The talk is still so critical that the presidential succession bill, dozing peacefully in the senate privileges and elections committee has rolled over in its pigeonhole.

It hasn't moved that far since the house with rare speed nearly five months ago passed the bill and sent it to the senate.

The president may be blamed for risking his neck, but he can't be blamed for not warning the congress of the uncertainties in the succession of men to the presidency.

One of the reasons the senate hasn't budged is its pique over the "nerve of a former senator placing the speaker of the house next in line of succession." This Truman recommendation was interpreted as a slur on the president pro tem of the senate. Many a senator was pleased that by doing nothing another ex-senator, James Byrnes, would become president now that he's secretary of state.

Chairman Francis Green, of Rhode Island, chairman of the senate privileges and elections committee, will propose a bill for an extensive search for all the answers by a special joint house-senate committee. A 90 day deadline provision was tacked on to make certain the report comes back that fast to congress. Green is seeking an appointment with President Truman to get White House backing.

These are some of the perplexing questions about the next-in-line.

1. Would Byrnes be "temporary" president until a special election was called?

2. What if a special election under doubtful authority were held and a Republican elected?

3. Would Byrnes be merely "acting president"?

4. If a special election were held would it be for a new four years or just the remainder of the present term?

5. Who is to ascertain when a president is "unable" to carry on?

6. What would happen if one or both president-elect and vice-president-elect die before taking office? (If Roosevelt had died after reelection but before inauguration, would then Vice-President Wallace be seated or wait a short while to seat the incoming Vice-President Truman?)

If anything comes of Chairman Green's new proposal, the president's dramatic flight home for Christmas may have been worth while in that it accomplished more than 150 years of legislative fumbling for an adequate succession law.

Statistics collected by the federal government are great in number and certainly diversified in kind. The census bureau, for example, has found out how many mothers have their babies at home not in the hospital. Of the 114,700 registered births in 1941 in Michigan, a total of 101,200 were attended by physicians in hospitals.

An Ann Arbor man, since 1928, Dr. John B. Barnwell of the University of Michigan, has been appointed director of tuberculosis service of the Veterans administration.

Dutch Students May Go to Hope On Scholarships

Possibility of sending Dutch students to Hope college on a scholarship basis was discussed by Dr. Felix Anne Vening Meinesz, professor of geophysics and geodesy at the University of Utrecht, who is spending about eight months in the United States on a special educational mission arranged by the Netherlands prime minister and the minister of education, science and arts.

Ties between Holland, Michigan and the mother country would be substantially strengthened by the advent of Dutch students to Hope college, Dr. Meinesz pointed out in an interview arranged by the Netherlands Information Bureau. Details for such a program will be worked out and it is possible that six to a dozen Dutch students may be enrolled at the September term. Dr. Meinesz discussed these plans Tuesday with Dr. Irwin Lubbers, Hope president.

Arrangements for funds for living expenses will be worked out by the college, the Netherlands Information Bureau and the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical Foundation. The Netherlands-American foundation in Chicago has been working on a similar program and already one Dutch student has arrived in Chicago for college training. Over-all purpose of the program is to promote world peace and to have the local and foreign students aware of problems confronting other countries. Eventually, the program may extend to exchange scholarships when the housing situation in the Netherlands eases, the educator said.

Dr. Meinesz' special mission in the United States is to reestablish scientific relations between Holland and the United States and to promote an exchange of students and professors as well as an interchange of scientific publications. He also is studying the various problems facing universities, with emphasis towards rearranging Netherlands curriculum to include a more practical education system. Netherlands educators are looking with interest at the informal touch used in American universities, one in which emphasis is placed on developing a well-rounded personality, rather than dispensing cold scientific facts in lectures, he said.

Discussing the higher educational program in the Netherlands during the war, Dr. Meinesz said the Nazis refrained from interfering with the universities until 1941 when attempts were made to change Leyden university into a Nazi institution. All professors promptly resigned, and to the surprise of the Dutch people, their resignations were accepted, Dr. Meinesz said. The Nazis apparently readily expected to hire other Dutch professors willing to teach the Nazi ideologies, but none could be found and Leyden university closed, and the students were absorbed by the other three larger universities, Utrecht, Amsterdam and Groningen.

At the end of 1942, the Nazis demanded declarations of loyalty to the Nazi government from all university students, a move which eventually disrupted the higher educational program since the majority of students refused and it was necessary for them to go "underground" to escape being sent to Germany for slave labor or hospital work.

According to Dr. Meinesz, professors refused to continue lectures for the minority of students who signed declarations, and when the professors were threatened they also went "underground," joining in a strong resistance movement against the Nazis. He said no professors were killed for their refusal to conduct lectures but many professors were killed for their underground work and nearly all Jewish professors were murdered in the Jewish purge.

At one time, 13,000 students were in underground activity and the number of Dutch professors in hiding eventually grew to 200,000. Some students went into Germany to aid other students who escaped from the work program. Others forged identity and food cards.

"On one occasion, the Germans introduced a watermark to their necessary papers and the students ingeniously traced this watermark, putting it between two thin sheets of paper, a practice which was undetected by the Nazis for a year. Then the inspectors would tear the watermark to check its authenticity and the students managed to provide a real watermark," he said.

Dr. Meinesz who organized financial support for the dismissed Utrecht faculty members as his part in the underground movement found it necessary to be particularly cautious since his six-foot-six height would render disguise almost impossible.

When Dr. Meinesz was ordered to turn over his home near Utrecht to the German commander, he insisted on keeping his study for his use, a stipulation to which the Germans agreed. Since the Germans would not be likely to search the commander's home, Dr. Meinesz and other underground workers often plotted resistance developments in the study which had a convenient outside entrance.

Dr. Meinesz has led several expeditions for the Netherlands Geodetic service and under American auspices for Carnegie Institute and the U.S. navy. One purpose of the expeditions was the measurement of gravity, especially with the figure of the earth, and the second purpose was to obtain knowledge on the constitution of the earth and the forces working in the earth causing mountain formations, earthquakes and formation of continents and oceans.

Measurements of gravity are usually made on the solid earth, but Dr. Meinesz devised a system to measure gravity at sea but found that the mechanisms could only be operated on a calm sea. Then he found it was possible to obtain the information when submerged below the wave movement and since then he has traveled 130,000 miles in submarines.

The Dutch educator left Holland today for Ann Arbor after visiting various points of interest and attending the Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night. At Ann Arbor he is scheduled to deliver some lectures.

In this country two months, he has spent most of the time in the east where he attended two scientific meetings. On was the National Academy of Science at Philadelphia, and the other the Geological Society of America in Pittsburgh where he received the Penrose medal. He also visited several cities.

Hope college's basketball team holding a record of two victories and four defeats, was given a mid-season shot in the arm today with Bud Hinga's announcement that George Dalman and Bob (Gaby) Van Dis, outstanding players with Hope's powerful team of 1942-43, are rejoining the team after enrolling at the college.

Van Dis was recently discharged from the army and Dalman from the navy.

Three of the regulars of the 1942-43 team are now back with the squad, Don Mulder in addition to Van Dis and Dalman. A fourth member, Russ De Vette, is overseas with the marines. A fifth, Everett Kleijmans, has graduated from college.

Van Dis and Dalman joined the squad at a time when Coach Hinga was beginning to look for a replacement for Phil Meengs, regular guard, 18-year-old freshman, who is slated for an army physical exam in the near future.

Van Dis, a great competitor, is expected to be in shape to play in Hope's two games in two days, Friday and Saturday. Dalman, after a long lay-off from basketball, probably won't play much this week but will likely break into the starting lineup before the month is over.

Hinga is contemplating starting Lloyd Heneveld at center and shifting Art Slager to guard for the game with Kalamazoo college Friday at Kalamazoo and the game with Michigan Normal Saturday at Ypsilanti.

His starting lineup would then include Ken Zuverink and Van Dis at forwards, Mulder and Slager at guards and Heneveld at center.

Abstract Office in Grand Haven Sold

Stuart Johnson, finance manager for the Guaranty Bond and Mortgage Co. of Grand Rapids, Wednesday confirmed a report that the Grand Rapids firm had purchased the Michigan Title Co. and its properties located in Grand Haven.

The Michigan Title Co. in Grand Haven, popularly known as the abstract office, transacts considerable business for the whole of Ottawa county. A new manager has not been named to replace Miss Williamena C. Young, associated with the office for 45 years, who died unexpectedly in Municipal hospital in Grand Haven last week.

Purchase of the firm was made from the Michigan Trust Co. of which the Michigan Title Co. was a subsidiary.

Kempker Quits Police Force

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff has announced the resignation of John Kempker as patrolman on the Holland police force of which Kempker has been a member since Nov. 2, 1942.

Kempker said he was quitting the department to enable him to devote full time to his novelty business which he has been operating for some time. Before becoming a member of the police force, he served as guard for the board of public works for a year.

Chief Van Hoff also announced that Gilbert Tors, member of the force who joined the army about three years ago, is now discharged and expects to resume his work here Feb. 4. Tors' place had never been filled, special police being employed when need arose.

Miss Probst to Give Public Organ Recital

The Music department of Hope college will present Miss Ruth Probst, organist, in a public junior recital in Hope Memorial chapel Sunday at 4 p.m.

ENTERS ACADEMY

Plainwell, Jan. 17 — Don Lynn Sherburne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Sherburne of Plainwell, recently was appointed to the U.S. coast guard academy in New London, Conn., as a cadet in the new class of 1946, following annual competitive examinations last May.

Lansing Sexton, State Champions, Beat Dutch, 37-32

Lansing, Jan. 17 — Coach Malcolm Mackay's giant killers, who knocked off undefeated Kalamazoo Central last week, looked for a time Tuesday night as if they were going to make their second killing in five days over an undefeated Lansing Sexton team, but little Bobby Dilday, Sexton guard, poured in eight points in a flash of brilliance midway in the third quarter to pace his team to a 37-32 victory over Holland High.

The game was played here in the spacious Sexton gym.

Lansing jumped into a lead over the Dutchmen on the efforts of Bob Grant, giant center. He had nine points in the first half and most of them came before the first quarter was over. Sexton led at the quarter, 10-5.

Coach Mackay shoved big Leo Vander Kuy into the lineup to start the second quarter. Out of last week's Kalamazoo game with a sprained ankle, Vander Kuy turned in an outstanding defensive job on Grant and scored eight points before halftime. Holland led 18-17 at the half and held an 18-14 advantage at one stage of the second quarter.

The Dutchmen never got going again after that flurry in the second quarter. Their fast break seldom materialized successfully and they missed three or four important close-in shots.

Meanwhile, Dilday, who chalked up a lot of points in four previous Sexton victories, was hot. He pushed in a couple of one-handed shots and a couple of dog-shots in the third quarter and the frame ended 29 for Sexton and 21 for Holland.

Bud Vande Wege, Dutch guard, rang up five points trying to get the Dutchmen back in the game in the last quarter but Sexton's lead was not seriously threatened.

The state champion Sexton team didn't look like the same powerful club that whipped Holland three times last season and went on to win state honors. They don't pack the scoring wallop and their backboard work is not as outstanding as it was when Bob Grant and Bob Swanson, all-state center, were in the lineup.

Holland apparently was suffering a letdown from the Kazoo game. Jack Van Dorpe didn't break into the scoring column and likewise, Bob Van Dyke had trouble scoring.

Both boys have figured prominently in previous Dutch victories and garnered 23 points against Kazoo last week. They will likely be back in true form for a game next Friday with Muskegon Heights.

THE NAMES OF SHIPS

Who names steamships, and why? That question became pertinent the other day when the captain of the steamship "Henry D. Thoreau" radioed from mid-ocean that a cargo of bombs was breaking loose and that the ship was in imminent danger of being blown into smithereens. Later the crew got the best of the bombs and the "Henry D. Thoreau" was saved for further trips.

That name for a prosaic commercial freighter, the "Henry D. Thoreau," was almost as big a piece of news as the fact that a cargo of bombs was about to blow it up. At least to people who know the story of Henry David Thoreau. Naming a ship after him was almost as incongruous as naming one after Hirohito's white horse.

For Thoreau was a landman to the marrow of his bones. It is doubtful if he was ever so much as aboard anything bigger than a rowboat. An ascetic New England writer and naturalist of the middle of the nineteenth century, intimate friend of Emerson, he lived alone in the woods for two years, in a hut that he had built himself at a cost of $28.18 cents. He was satirically at odds with his neighbors most of his life; he thought they were mostly fools, and they were convinced he was what today might be called a "nut."

Although a graduate of Harvard, he seldom wore anything in clothing more costly than overalls, and he was convinced that most people wasted most of their lives trying to make a living. He would have thought of the ocean-going vessel named after him as a useless device to supply people with things they not only did not need but would be better without. Instead of hurting his digestion with coffee transported in such a vessel he drank water.

As for wasting his time traveling to foreign countries in such a vessel or in any other, he achieved a famous saying that he "had traveled extensively in Concord." Now Concord was a small town. Thoreau's pronouncement was the same as if a citizen of Holland should assert that "he had traveled extensively in Ottawa County." Yet out of those travels of Thoreau came some of the greatest books in our literature.

To name an ocean freighter after such a man seems almost funny. All sorts of people have been disciples of Thoreau, among them for instance the late Webb Miller, the famous war correspondent who died in London two or three years ago. It is almost as hard to think of a war correspondent as a Thoreau follower as it is that an ocean boat owner should be so enthusiastic about the Concord eccentric as to call his vessel after him. But the world is full of all sorts of oddly interesting things.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Upon returning from a two-month research trip in Europe relative to jet propulsion and rocket aircraft, Charles Lindbergh gave expression to some interesting sentiments. "The fear of continued warfare and revolution is widespread in Europe. Fear, hatred and distrust are breeding on a scale that never existed before. In fact a whole civilization is disintegrating. No peace will last which is not based on Christian principles, on justice, on compassion allied with strength, and on a sense of the dignity of man. We do or do we not actually believe in the Christian standards that we profess?" Once this man was greatly loved. He has a keen mind and keener insight and his words should be given attention for they are the words of wisdom. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

Sunday School Lesson

January 20, 1946
The Laws of a People
Exodus 20:1-17

By Henry Geerlings

Our lesson today has to do with those commandments which set forth our duties to God and to man. In the first commandments we are to recognize that God is and we owe him absolute supremacy. We must begin with the fact of God. Otherwise thinking can get nowhere. It will run us into a blind alley. God is the very inspiration of our thinking. He is the explanation of all things. He is the warm and central glow of all being. Outside of the fact of God all is darkness and chaos. Chance reigns supreme if God is a fiction. Of course He is the supreme mystery, but He is also the supreme light. He is at once the unknowable and the known. Nothing or nobody can take His place. Nothing can represent Him. He is not one of many. He is the only One and there must be supreme allegiance to Him.

The second duty is the duty of reverence. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord in vain. That means that we are not to drag it into the dust of irreverent thinking and unholy talking. We are not to take a name that has music and beauty and inspiration and hope in it and use it as a discord and a tumult in the harmony of the world. We are to bow our heads and hearts before Him. We are able to regard it as sacred.

A third duty to God is respect for and the right use of His holy day. The Sabbath was made for man. We owe it to God to make the most of ourselves. When we injure ourselves we injure God. Since He is supreme and only He deserves time set apart especially for Him, and so for our own good. We are to remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. This commandment is the basis of all the others. Any one who does not practice the observance of the Lord's Day as a holy day to God is likely not even to know, much less obey, the other commandments.

Duties to God come first. Duties to man follow inevitably. Our first duty is to our parents. The home is the institute of the affections. It is the training school of the heart. The family is basic to good social order. The child learns obedience and reverence in the home first of all and if it does not learn these fine and necessary traits here it often does not learn them at all. Parents stand or should stand not only as the human incarnation of love, but as the symbol of authority and gracious power. Their word should be law. Their presence should be a call to the heart. Their desires should be the child's objective. Their example should be the challenge to life living. And if this be so then a child will do well to react generously to such a parental home environment. All the time it is building a sound character for itself and it is making a large place of usefulness and worth in the social order.

Life is a sacred something, a measureless value, a mysterious but splendid gift. It has its rights and privileges. No one has a right to take it. To kill is to defy God. It is to set at naught a divine purpose and to bring to an end a meaningful and splendid process of unfolding and becoming. Murder is one of the worst and most cruel crimes of human society. It involves so much. It begins in the heart and it kills something there before it kills on the outside.

The next duty is that of preserving personal purity and the decency and moral integrity of human society. The sex problem is one of the greatest problems that confront civilization. It is not as easy of solution as some people seem to think. There must be an education of the heart for the breaking of the sixth commandment. Respect for womanhood and the sacredness of social relations must be created more and more. We must aim to cultivate a deepening sense of the tragedy of indelicacy and social impurity.

Every one despises a thief and God considers stealing a fundamental sin. Stealing includes all kinds of dishonesty. It is the removal of some one's property without his knowledge or consent. It is defrauding even if such defrauding appears legal. A moral principle is involved. Stealing is founded on the idea of getting something for nothing. It is at some one else's expense. How different this is from the gospel teaching. Christ taught His disciples to share their possessions and to help the needy.

To bear false witness against a neighbor is satanic. It is at once a bad and a bad thing. It is robbing him of what he has won at great cost of living, namely his good name in society. It says that he is what he is not. It makes his struggle in life more difficult and he may never be able to climb back to the position he once had. Better take his jewelry than take from him his reputation.

To covet is to have a great desire to possess something your neighbor has and would have to give up before you could obtain it. We may not greedily long for our neighbor's wife or property. We have no right to them. They are guaranteed to him by the law of God and man. We become a home wrecker when we try to satisfy the heart with what it should not have.

Three Teachers To Be Hired for Second Semester

The committee also announced that Mrs. Jean Klopars, teacher at Longfellow school, and Mrs. Marian Tenpas, teacher at Van Raalte school, have presented their resignations, to take effect at the end of this semester.

The board also approved the committee's recommendation to employ Miss Celeste Williams as speech correction teacher beginning the second semester. Crawford said that of 98 pupils who registered below normal on the audiometer check-up by the state health department in southern Ottawa county a few months ago, 65 received medical examination and treatment. Of the 33 who did not receive medical attention, two were brought to normal hearing in December, five had improvement in hearing, 16 had the same hearing loss and 10 had greater hearing loss. Crawford explained that the audiometer specialists suggested that the 98 pupils with impaired hearing see physicians, and he considered the fact that 65 consulted physicians on only the one suggestion was a very good record.

Firm Helps Solve Roofing Problems

Over a period of years, many people have come to the Holland Ready Roofing Co., North Shore Drive, for help in solving their roof and siding problems. John Bagladi, and his sons associated with him in the roofing business, are proud of this recognition.

They strongly recommend and stand back of Flintkote products. They are made with every advantage that scientific research can provide, backed by 40 years of successful manufacturing experience.

"Whether you own an old home or plan to build a new one, you can economically improve its appearance with outside walls of Flintkote asbestos cement or insulated brick sidings. The primary virtues of these sidings is their freedom from upkeep, expense and care. Besides adding beauty, they have the advantages of fire protection and permanence," Mr. Bagladi states.

The roofing firm advises all prospective home owners or present owners planning a re-roofing job, to inspect the various types of roofing for a choice to suit their taste of beauty and durability.

Like most products on the market today there is small choice in colors and types of merchandise due to the shortage of basic materials in the manufacturing of these products. However, Mr. Bagladi states, they will continue to do the best they can in serving their customers in every possible way to solve improvement problems, whether it be roof or siding. "We will gladly offer any suggestions and free estimates," he stated.

The office is open six days a week for servicing of claims.

The Committee of Awards will meet at the Camp Fire office to pass ranks on the following dates: Feb. 12, March 12, and April 9. The Grand Council Fire will be April 12.

Christian Rings Up Another Win; Beats Lee Rebels

Coach Cooney Tuls' amazing Christian High school Maroons won their sixth game in eight starts Friday night in Grand Rapids, easily defeating Grand Rapids Lee, 42-27, at Burton gym.

The Big Maroons didn't waste any time with the veteran Lee crew. They held a 10-0 lead before the Rebels scored and it was 10-3 at the end of the quarter. They mounted the lead to 21-11 at the half and 33-21 at the end of the third quarter.

Big Fred Brieve, Maroon pivot man, registered on eight out of 10 free throws and snared four baskets to lead Holland Christian to victory with 16 points. Bob Altena and Dale Artz each had 10.

Johnny Paeser's 11 was high for Grand Rapids.

Bob Altena and Kearney Zeehoff each dropped buckets to get the Maroons off to a fast start. Artz added a bucket, George Slikkers a free throw and Fred Brieve a charity toss and a basket for the first 10 points.

Dale Artz paced the locals in the second quarter with three successful foul shots and a field goal. Nine of the Maroons' 11 points were made on free throws in the second quarter.

In the last half it was mainly the scoring of Brieve and Bob Altena which kept Holland far out ahead.

The Maroons have made such an impressive showing after dropping a 31-30 decision to Western State High at the start of the season that they are ranked as a class B powerhouse around the state.

They have knocked off four class A schools, losing only to class A Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, the power in this year's Grand Rapids High school basketball league, 27-25.

Want 4-Lane Highway Holland to Muskegon

The Holland-Grand Haven-Muskegon fight for a four-lane boulevard highway linking the three cities will be carried to the state highway department by a committee representing the Chambers of Commerce of the three cities. It was decided at a meeting in Muskegon Wednesday of the presidents and secretaries of the three organizations.

With Holland represented by Chamber of Commerce President Chester Van Tongere, and Secretary-Manager E. P. Stephan, the group decided its efforts should be pressed towards construction first of the link between Holland and Grand Haven, and subsequently the final link. What the group desires is a modern highway divided by a park.

The question of precise location, if it is to vary from the present course of US-31, is a matter for decision of the state highway department and U.S. bureau of good roads, so far as the cities are concerned, according to Frank C. Morse, chairman of the Greater Muskegon Chamber of Commerce who called the session.

The committee believes, however, that routes through the cities should be worked out between the city and the highway department.

William L. Stribley, secretary of the Grand Haven organization, was appointed chairman of the sub-committee to carry the fight to the state highway commission.

US-31 between Holland and Muskegon is in very bad condition, according to Morse. On this side of Grand Haven is some of the oldest paving in Michigan and some of the road just north of Holland was shown in a test several years ago to have been very poorly constructed. With heavy truck traffic, particularly at night, the highway is hazardous, Morse said.

She was born in Grand Haven Oct. 6, 1875, and had lived here all her life. She was a graduate of the local schools and for 45 years was associated with the abstract office in Grand Haven which is now known as the Michigan Title Co. and owned by the Michigan Trust Co.

Miss Young continued at the office through all changes in ownership and at the time of her death was manager.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church and its Ferry circle, past president of the Business Women's Professional club, for 17 years past treasurer of the Hatton hospital board, a member of the Duncan Park board and of the camp and hospital council of the local Red Cross chapter, a charter member and past president of the Free Bed guild. She always took an active part in civic affairs.

She held a life membership in the Order of Eastern Star, serving as a past matron and holding other positions during her 40 years with the organization. She was chairman of the relief committee of the order.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Margaret Benjamin with whom Miss Young lived in the old family home on Lake Ave.; a brother, John of Grosse Pointe, Detroit, and several nieces and nephews.

The body was removed to the Kinkema funeral home where it remained until Monday afternoon when it was taken to the Presbyterian church for services at 3:30 p.m. with Dr. J. V. Roth in charge. Burial was in Lake Forest cemetery.

Woman's Club Is Told About FBI Organization

Stating that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has a history of operation since 1908, with J. Edgar Hoover as director since 1924, Robert Lalley of the Detroit division, FBI, gave a talk on the "clearing house for finger prints," before members of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon.

The speaker told of the advantage in the authorization of congress by which the FBI is given the right to investigate all suspects not covered by law, such as secret service, alcoholic and narcotics cases. He described the organization as having 52 districts, known as field divisions, and three outside the boundaries of the United States, at Anchorage (Alaska), San Juan and Honolulu.

In cases investigated during the war by the FBI, not a single instance of foreign-inspired espionage was found, Mr. Lalley said, stating that the cooperation of law-enforcing agencies and the interest taken by men and women reporting "suspects that the FBI had been able to make subjects," was responsible for this record. The general criminal investigation now being carried on by the agency covers 108 statutes. The speaker mentioned the postwar crime wave, the juvenile delinquency increase, and the temptations for those who had been released for military duty during the parole period of prisoners.

Mr. Lalley was more hopeful about the influence of the home, church and school at the close of the recent war than was possible in 1918, when pessimism reigned. "This transition period demands clear thinking and prompt action," said the speaker in his closing remarks.

Mrs. Randall Bosch, president, introduced the speaker and announced the change in program which schedules the evening guest night next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A meeting of the child study group was announced for next Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

DAR Chapter Observes Birthday Anniversary

Cornelius Vander Meulen, addressing members and guests of Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at their annual guest day and birthday program in the home of Mrs. W. L. Eaton at Waukazoo Thursday afternoon, told of some of the problems that arise in his work as veterans' counselor for Holland.

Mr. Vander Meulen paid tribute to the Red Cross and to the educational institutions of Holland for their cooperation in assisting the veterans to take advantage of the opportunities offered in the so-called "GI Bill of Rights," and to the local veterans' institute, of which Gerald Breen is coordinator.

He praised the men who are returning to civilian life after service in the armed forces, and stated that their greatest need in readjustment is an objective.

The speaker explained that he interviews an average of 18 men a day, and that the percentage of local men asking for educational benefits is the highest of any center in the state. He expressed as the greatest need at the present time, the development of "on the job" training, and relief for the critical housing situation. There is urgent need for 300 additional housing units in the next year for veterans alone, he said.

The guest meeting was in celebration of the 38th birthday anniversary of the chapter, and tribute was paid to the three charter members, Miss Katherine Post, Miss Martha Sherwood and Mrs. T. A. Boot, who are still members of the group.

Mrs. Milton L. Hinga, president, and the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner was led by Mrs. W. C. Vandenberg, with Mrs. Martha Robbins at the piano. Miss Laura A. Boyd conducted a devotional period.

A contribution was made to the Red Cross and the chapter also decided to again furnish magazines for the local USO center.

Announcement was made of the D.A.R. state conference to be held in Grand Rapids, March 27, 28 and 29, at which the local chapter will be one of the hostess chapters. Abolition of the liquor traffic as the goal and only reason for the existence of the Woman's Christian Temperance union and the rationale of its pledge, and means to achieve this aim, was the leading thought expressed in an inspiring address by Mrs. Naya Lindland, of Muskegon, at the meeting of the local unit in Trinity Reformed church parlors Friday afternoon. Mrs. Lindland is state director of evangelistic work and spiritual life and gave a charted outline of her department with speech contests, institutions, visual education, radio, legislation and literature as assets to help reach that goal.

In confirming and enforcing the rationale of the pledge which each member has solemnly promised, the purpose is "to educate the young, to form better public sentiment, to reform so far as possible by religious, ethical and scientific means, the drinking classes, and to seek the power of divine grace for ourselves," she said.

The speaker closed with the thought, "If there is this work to do, let us begin and keep on."

The organization's annual world's day of prayer was observed in a special prayer session under the leadership of Mrs. John Van Oss. Mrs. J. Overway, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace Nies, sang, "What Would We Do Without Jesus?"
