Holland Area Has 9.5 More Inches Snow in Week-End

Temperature Nosedives
To 4 Degrees Above
Zero Early Monday

A new 9½-inch snowfall plus a freezing drizzle which started at noon Monday added further hazard to driving conditions in Holland area, already plagued by a solid week of old-fashioned winter weather.

A season's low of 4 above zero early Monday was recorded by Chief Weather Observer Charles Steketee at Hope College. The minimum Sunday was 6 above, and on Saturday was 10. It was 19 above at 11 a.m. Monday.

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff urged extreme caution in driving, pointing to 16 accidents so far in Holland this month. The record equals the total for the entire month of January in 1953, and there's two weeks yet to go.

With previous snowfalls, and a generous allowance for settling, the snowfall on the ground today measured 12 inches. This is a heavy deposit in almost any terms, and the city's snow removal equipment has been having a heavy workout, particularly the snow loader which attracts plenty of attention anytime, anywhere.

Even with cold spell of the week-end, Holland escaped some of the more rugged handouts of an uncooperative Nature. In the region of the Great Plains, the temperature rose to zero, and that was 20 degrees warmer than it had been in much of Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas.

THIRTY-FIVE TO 40 PARAKEETS died late last week when they virtually roasted to death from hot air pouring out of a jammed oil heater. Owners of the birds, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wise of 101 East 25th St., listed their loss at between $500 and $600. The couple had been raising the birds as a hobby and for sale during the past year and a half. During last Friday's heavy snowfall, something apparently jammed the oil heater. When the jam broke loose it threw a terrific amount of heat into the small room where the birds were kept. Two of the birds, gold with pink eyes, were valued at $45 each by Wise. He said he planned to start over again with two birds that somehow survived. Some of the birds are shown in the bottom of their cage after toppling over dead. (Sentinel photo)

Sunny, nippy weather was the order of the day in Holland today, and predictions called for continued cold—possibly zero in the city tonight and 7 below in the suburbs.

A cold wave moved quickly into Holland late Wednesday afternoon, plunging the temperature from a high of 45 degrees during the day to a low of 16 early today. It was 18 at 11 a.m. today.

The cold dissipated the fog that hung over much of the midwest Wednesday, accompanied by light rain which in Holland reduced snow deposits considerably. A light snowfall late in the afternoon as the temperature made its sharp descent made travel hazardous in this section, but most of the thin layer of ice was gone this morning.

It was only in secluded protected areas that today's bright sunshine thawed snow or ice. It will continue fair and cold through Friday, with a high Friday of 16 degrees.

In the upper Midwest today, temperatures dropped to as low as 40 below. The reliable old ice box, International Falls, Minn., awoke to a crisp -36 today, and Bemidji, Minn., and Williston, N. D., had identical readings. At Glasgow, Mont., the mercury rose from a bone-chilling -49 to -32.

But as the great mass of numbing arctic air swept southeasterly, a freakish January "heat wave" brought a pre-dawn reading of 48 to New York City. The umbrella of warm air over the New York area condensed a mass of steamy fog that crippled air-line traffic in and out of LaGuardia and Idlewild airports and forced some planes to land as far away as Pittsburgh.

As the cold wave moved southward at almost 25 miles an hour, the weather bureau issued a cold weather warning even to Dixie and forecast lows of 12 to 26 degrees for Mississippi and Alabama and 15 to 25 for Louisiana by Friday morning. Freezing weather was expected as far south as northern Florida.

Fifty-mile-an-hour winds lashed Iowa Wednesday night as the vanguard of cold air rolled across the state. And as the cold air hit the moist, warm air over Chicago and northern Illinois it brought ice-glazed roads. Air travel, however, was operating on schedule.

Raymond Schaap will officiate and burial will be in Allendale Cemetery. The body is at the home where friends and relatives may call. Hope Chemistry Department Gets $5,000 in Grants Hope College chemistry department has been honored by the receipt of two grants within the last month. It was announced today by Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, college president.

The Research Corporation has just made its fifth grant in the last five years to Hope. This grant, in the amount of $2,500, brings the total to $12,000.

The second gift is from E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co. of Wilmington, Del., perhaps the top scientific manufacturing concern in the world. This grant, also $2,500, is to be used for the advancement of teaching chemistry. It is the first gift Hope has received from the du Pont company, which has financed aid-to-education programs for the advancement of science for many years.

Hope is one of 40 private institutions, primarily liberal arts colleges, to share in the $100,000 du Pont educational program this year. The donor does not specify or limit use of the money, but suggests purchase of apparatus, special equipment, chemicals and books; subscriptions to scientific periodicals; payment of expenses of staff members to attend scientific meetings; grants to staff members to pursue scholarly activities during the summer; payment of expenses to visiting lecturers, or limited financial aid to gifted, needy students majoring in chemistry.

The Research Corporation of New York, through Dr. Charles H. Schauer, director of the division of grants, paid high tribute to Dr. Gerrit Van Zyl for his work as a scientist and teacher, and to Hope College for recognizing so strongly the combined research and teaching activities of a man such as Dr. Van Zyl.

During the last five years, supported by grants from the Research Corporation, Dr. Van Zyl has directed a research project with the help of six graduates and one college senior. As a result of this experimental work, nine articles have been published in various scientific journals.

Street Repairing Funds Approved For Allegan City

Jaycees Propose That Women Be Hired as Guardians at Crossings

ALLEGAN (Special) — City council members Monday night approved a tentative street improvement program calling for expenditures totaling $33,560.

The program, outlined for inclusion in the city's annual report to the state highway department under the new fund distribution statute, included a $10,500 repair job on the State St. bridge; resurfacing Trowbridge St. from Chestnut to Water; Water St. from Monroe to the Mill District, and River from Ida to Grand St.

A Junior Chamber of Commerce resolution recommending the appointment of women police officers to guard school crossings was referred to City Manager P. H. Beauvais for study of costs.

Members agreed that the addition of four women officers would be the minimum required and it was estimated that such a program would cost $3,800 a year, not counting the cost of uniforms.

The council went on record as agreeing to furnish, power and wiring for the power return now being added to the community coasting hill sponsored by the Allegan Improvement association. A 5-hp electric motor, given the project by Blood Brothers Machine company, will power the lift, according to Clifton Schellhaas, chairman.

The Davis and Garden street hills will be closed to traffic as long as weather is suitable for sliding, the council agreed, since the big hill is not too well located for smaller children.

Delos Hicks, T. E. Mallia and James Farnsworth were re-appointed to the board of review and the council suggested that the board hold an informal meeting with City Assessor Clarence Wise as soon as possible so members could acquaint themselves with the new system established following last summer's property reappraisal.

Mayor Francis Hanson has been appointed to the Federal-Local relations committee and Manager Beauvais to the Public Works committee of the Michigan Municipal League, it was revealed Monday night.

Applications were approved for renewing SDM licenses for Feeks Grocery, Armstrong's Market and The Stable tavern.

First Half Spurt Provides Cushion In 55-43 Victory

It would have taken a real good team to beat Holland High Friday night.

The Dutch, playing their best basketball of the season to date, steam-rolled to a lopsided 39-18 halftime margin and finished off with a final 55-43 win over a smaller, but game Grand Haven squad.

It evens the season record once again, this time at four wins and the same number of defeats.

Holland's superior height told from the outset and the smaller Bucs just couldn't get in close for shots, and had to lean on their two pint-sized guards, Pete Fisher and Tad Murdock, to keep them in the game with long-toms.

For the evening the locals made 9 out of 24 foul tries to 7 out of 20 for the visitors. Holland made good on 23 out of 75 field goal tries for a respectable 30 plus percentage.

It was a terrific team effort on the part of the locals during those first two quarters when Holland built up the tremendous lead. Especially noteworthy was the scoring and aggressive play of Forward Paul Beukema. He made 7 of Holland's 20 points in the first period and 8 of the 19 in the second quarter.

But don't leave out the rest—Ron Isaacs, Paul Mack, Mark de Velder and Bob Van Dyke. They were all in there getting the rebounds, hawking the ball all the time and feeding each other in some of the niftiest plays they have set up all season.

Like a shot out of a cannon, Holland was away to a lead in the first few minutes and when the first quarter horn sounded it was 20-9. The Dutch were opportunists all the way and pounced on any loose ball. Their shooting too was exceptionally good as all the time the ball at least hit the hoop, even if they didn't all go in.

By halftime, Coach Fred Weiss' crew had built the lead to 39-18 and appeared on the verge of a walkaway. They were playing aggressive ball all the way down the court—both ways. Grand Haven had to be content with a lot of back court passing and long shots.

Again in the second period it was Beukema who was driving like mad all over the place and making some neat lay-ups.

With six minutes to go in the third quarter Coach Weiss let up and sent his second stringers into the fray. They pretty well held their own and the period ended with Holland on top 55-43.

However, in the fourth quarter, the visitors started to creep up on the home team and Coach Weiss had to send his regulars back in to put a bulge between the teams. They did and the subs finished it off.

During the last quarter Holland cooled off considerably and made just two out of 19 field goal tries. However, it didn't matter, they had the game wrapped up.

de Velder led in the rebounding department by getting 14. Others were: Isaacs, 8; Mack, 6; Beukema, 11; Gerald Schreier, 10; Van Dyke, 3; Jim Vande Wege, 1; Chuck Gouloze, 2; Gerald Boeve, 1, and Hank Visscher, 1.

Isaacs, who was listed as a doubtful starter because of a strained ankle suffered in practice Wednesday, started and played off and on. He was limited to just one point for the evening but did a lot of setting up and rebounding.

High scoring honors went to Beukema for visitors with 16. High for the hosts was Forward Bob Dirke with 13.

Coach Steve Shuka put 65 Phil Clark on de Velder and the Grand Haven pivotman did a fairly good job. He didn't shoot much but acted as a relay between the guards and forwards, mostly the guards. Holland had the middle pretty well bottled up and he usually had to throw it back out.

A full house, including a good sprinkling of Grand Haven fans, jammed the Armory for the game. Holland sees action again next Friday against the St. Joe Bears at the Armory.

Witnesses Claim Youth Last Seen Alive at Resort

Testimony Continues In Harding Case Before Visiting Judge

ALLEGAN (Special) — Two witnesses revealed dramatically Friday that John Kirchoff, 20, of Holland, was last seen alive as he drove away from Hardings Resort, Douglas, early on the morning of July 18.

He was killed instantly 10 minutes later when his car struck a parked truck five miles north of Saugatuck on US-31. Prosecuting Attorney Dwight Cheever brought out this testimony in a trial in Circuit Court on his petition to have the Douglas resort padlocked as a public nuisance.

A Holland youth employed at the resort as a waiter, Russell Pikaart, student at Western Michigan College, testified that Kirchoff, a minor, had been drinking at Hardings just before the fatal accident. State police Trooper William Simmons of South Haven later testified the speedometer on Kirchoff's car had stopped at 85 mph when the car struck a parked truck driven by Earl Campbell of Grand Rapids.

Cheever asked the waiter if news of the boys death had resulted in any change of policy at the resort, relative to allowing minors to drink. He said that it had not, adding he had never been given any instructions as to whom should be served and who should not. He did say, however, that the waiters had been asked to serve women guests and the waitresses instructed to serve the men.

Former Sheriff L. A. Johnson was called to testify on details leading up to the state police raid of this club of which George Harding, his wife Helen and a waitress, Elsie Reinskild, were arrested for alleged violation of the bottle club section of the state liquor law.

He testified that the resort's reputation for prostitution, assignation, and lewdness had been very bad in the community.

The case is being heard by Judge H. L. Bears of Muskegon, who has exchanged benches with Judge Raymond L. Smith of this circuit. The trial is being conducted in the absence of both Harding and his wife, who are currently operating a hotel purchased recently in Miami, Fla.

Judge Bears Wednesday refused a motion for continuing postponing the case until the Hardings return. Harding is being represented in court by his attorney, H. L. Shangler of Detroit.

Sale of License Tags Well Ahead Of 1953 Totals

Drivers Urged to Buy Plates Now to Avoid Waiting in Long Lines

Sale of 1954 license plates continued today with approximately 10,000 passenger tags sold since opening day Dec. 1, 1953.

Manager Al Dyk said sales of the new gold and blue tags were running 1,200 ahead of 1953 sales to date.

Motorists, still lacking plates, are urged to buy them well before the Feb. 28 deadline. Collection of the new use tax on cars, which went into effect Oct. 2, 1953, has slowed down the time it takes to issue licenses.

Owner's must have their title to obtain plates. Additional license forms are available at the license bureau, 87 West Eighth St., if motorists have not received them from the state, Dyk said.

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary also urged drivers to buy their plates early. He pointed to the possible saving of $10,000 to taxpayers if extra help isn't needed to handle the general last minute rush.

Also cited was the spreading of license sales over the remaining week to avoid persons standing in line and the elimination of a title bottle-neck in Lansing to give maximum fast service on title changes.

Foul Shooting Proves Valuable In 44-43 Victory

Accuracy at the foul lane paved the way for Holland Christian's seventh cage victory of the season Saturday night at Muskegon, when the Maroons edged Muskegon Catholic Central, 44-43. It was the Dutch's second win this year over the much improved Crusaders.

The Dutch connected on 14 out of 21 free tosses to collect the decision, although they were outscored 19-15 in the field goal department. It was obvious that the Muskegon strategy was to foul the Dutch big boys before giving them a chance to shoot from under the basket. However it backfired as the locals hit consistently from the charity lane.

Christian's big boys, Carl Edwards and Ken Scholten, took a bit of physical beating on the backboards by the smaller but rugged Catholic quintet. Body contact was rampant.

Ken Scholten, the Dutch's lanky pivotman, who had missed three previous games with a back injury, did not start, but played a little better than two quarters. Even at that, he led his club in scoring with 12 points, connecting on six baskets.

Coach Art Tuls' club was not as sharp as it might have been, but showed good flashes periodically throughout the game. Christian's offense sputtered most of the night, and couldn't build up more than a nine point margin throughout the affair. In addition the Maroons were up against a good defensive club, which alternated a shifting man-to-man and an all-court press during the contest.

Muskegon has a much improved ball club, a good share of which is due to a switch in position. Dave Imonen, who used to play a pivot spot, has now been switched to a guard spot and does a bang up job at his new post. His two hand set shot from outcourt kept the Muskies in the ball game throughout the second half. Christian's Rich Sharda also turned in a fine game, showing plenty of drive to net, 10 foul tries for his efforts.

The Maroons got off to an early lead on a long swisher by Jun. Buurman, but the parochials came right back to move out in front 8-7 midway in the first quarter. Some good outcourt shooting shot the losers to a 15-9 margin at the end of the first period.

Two baskets by Scholten and one by Buurman knotted the count for Christian early in the second stanza. The Dutch then moved out in front and never trailed again in the tilt. They led, 21-19 at the intermission.

Christian showed its best form of the tilt in the third period. They moved out to a 28-19 margin. Fine passing and some alert ball handling enabled the Dutch to maintain the advantage throughout the period. Two quick Crusader baskets in the final minute narrowed the count to 33-28 going into the final stanza.

The locals still had an eight point lead midway in the period, before Imonen got hot to narrow the gap to 43-39 with two and a half minutes left. The locals again led 44-41 with a minute and a half remaining. Howie Meloche made two out of four free throws for the Muskies to narrow the count to 44-43. Meanwhile in the last minute and 25 seconds, the Dutch were stalling without taking a shot.

Muskegon hit on only five out of 12 free throws compared to the locals' fine percentage.

Following Scholten's 12 markers, Sharda came in second high with 10 points. Imonen had 16 for the Muskegon outfit.

Christian next plays a once-beaten-Muskegon Christian outfit Thursday night on the Army court.

WHAT ABOUT "PUBLIC TRUST"?

The fellow who provides himself with a gun and holds up a bank is not the greatest menace the public has to face. He can usually be rounded up and placed behind the bars, where he belongs.

A far greater menace is the want of integrity on the part of the fellow who has been given the job of protecting the public against the bank robber or any other criminal. Recently this menace appears to be on the increase.

The case of Don Ritchie, in Detroit, is only one of the most recent examples. Two Detroit police officers were given the job of seeing to it that this key witness in the Walter Reuther case did not get away. The brutal fact is that they did allow him to slip away.

Was it sheer carelessness or something else? Whatever it was, the result is something far worse
than the mere robbery of a bank.
It used to be said that a "public office is a public trust." What has become of the "trust" in this and many other recent cases?

There is, for instance, the case of the $300,000 Greenleaf ransom money. That money, according to reports, was at one time in the hands of a police officer. Then it had disappeared. No matter how it got mislaid, some public officer or officers did not live up to the "public trust" of the injunction.

Illustrations of the same sort of thing have been so numerous that they have almost become monotonous. Even some congressmen and school officials seem to have forgotten that there is such a thing as a "public trust" in their relations with the society that has appointed them and that pays their salaries.

It is not too difficult to deal with avowed criminals. Dealing with people who have been entrusted with the responsibility of acting for the public but who act only for themselves and for their own advantage, is much more difficult.
When trusted employees of the very agency that prints our money walk off with vast sums, the time for real worry would seem to have arrived.

A social system is no stronger than the integrity of the people who have been charged with a
"public trust."

Jesus and the Samaritans

John 4:27-42

By Henry Geerlings

Jesus sitting on a well-what a sublime sight; He is weary-how close this brings us to Him. He is thirsty-He shares our humanity.
The world would be so much poorer
if He had not paused at Jacob's
well one hot summer day.

Possibly He was never more the Christ than at Sychar. Never did He reveal more His power to deal with human needs than here.
Here He was in the everyday of life and out of an ordinary event
He made a sublime happening.

A woman came to the well to draw water-certainly that is ordinary enough. Nothing could be more prosaic than that. Nothing could less deserve recording for the reading of succeeding generations than that. A thousand women had come to that well before and the world kept on account of it, but went on its way into the uneventful days of time.

But the vast difference is that Jesus was at the well when this particular woman came there.
That makes a difference with any event when Jesus is on the edge of it or in the midst of it. He makes a difference with everything. Events are common or uncommon in proportion to the greatness of the personality or personalities associated with them.

So Jesus made the coming of the woman to the well and the woman herself immortal. To be pitied indeed is the man or the woman in these modern days who is not interested in the woman of Samaria.

How tactfully Jesus approaches
the woman and deals with her.
He asks her for a drink. That was natural and yet somewhat arresting to the woman. It started surprise in her soul not because he asked for a drink, but because He was a Jew and asked her, a Samaritan, for a drink. She was surprised that He crossed over the wall of separation between the Jews and the Samaritans. She was surprised that He forgot that terrible thing which we know as race hatred. She was surprised that He would condescend.

She did not doubt of the opinion that such as He would die of thirst rather than ask such as she for a drink. But she did not know with whom she was talking. She did not know that here was One who lived above race hatreds and above the bitter prejudices of men, above the things that burn out one's soul and cause men to live in a little world that constantly grows smaller. She did not know that she was talking to one who loved all people and saw in them all the possibilities of goodness and greatness.

She did not know that she was talking to One who knew her better than she knew herself and had already discovered that down underneath her sinful life was a soul that could be made to shine as the stars for ever and ever. He as much as told her that she did not know Him and what He could do for her. He intimates that if she did know Him she would be asking favors of Him rather than He of her. He has water to offer her alongside of which the water that she would draw from Jacob's well would be poor indeed.

The satisfaction that He offers
is the satisfaction for soul thirst.
It is a continuous satisfaction.
He proposes to dig a well in her own soul from which she could draw all the rest of her life. Of course she wanted such a well right away. It would save her a lot of inconvenience. She would then no longer be under the necessity of long and weary tramps to the well. The Light had not yet dawned upon her.

But the mere wanting of a thing is not all that is necessary.
The soul must be in a condition
to appreciate what it wants.
Therefore, Jesus proceeded to start a process by which she would want something else and that was a cleansed life. So He asked her to go for her husband and come back with him. It was not that He was curious to see her husband but it was that He might hold out a new life to them.
He touched a tender and sore spot
in her life. She began to fence.
She wanted to argue with Him
about the proper place to worship.
Scores of people would rather argue about religion than live religion. They would rather seem to be religious than to have their weaknesses exposed.

Jesus did not reveal this woman to herself in vain. His searching and plain talk went home. She evidently accepted Him as the Christ. She seemed to feel that she was in the presence of
One who was more than man.
One whose goodness was contagious and corrective. She bore splendid and convincing testimony
to Him.

NEWSPAPER REPRESENTATIVES of Western Michigan took a pre-dedication tour of Grand Haven's impressive new high school building and civic center Monday afternoon. A public open house and dedication program will be held Jan. 28 with Dr. Harlan Hatcher, University of Michigan president, giving the dedicatory

New Grand Haven High School Dedication Set

Present day schools bear little resemblance to those attended by parents and grandparents of today's school children.

This fact will be brought out forcibly to visitors attending the open house and dedication programs that will open Grand Haven's new High School to the public for the first time Thursday,
Jan. 28.

Planned tours of the building will be held from 1 to 8 p.m. with the dedicatory address to be delivered at 8:15 by Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan.

Actual construction of the $2,343-117 building on its 20-acre site started Sept. 4, 1951, with excavation of the first of 100,000 yards of sand that was removed to make way for the two-block long building.

By April, 1952, steel framework for the 30 classroom structure was begun, and the cornerstone was laid in ceremonies June, 1952.

Work on much of the interior of the building was not completed until after classes started Sept. 14
of this year. For several months, large areas of the school were blocked off while workmen put on finishing touches.

The gymnasium which contains two regulation 48 by 84 basketball courts was completed late in November, in time for the opening game with Benton Harbor, Dec. 11.

A community chorus and orchestra presentation of "The Messiah"
on Dec. 20 opened the 1,001-seat auditorium that had been completed only two days previously.

Magnitude and equipment of the new building will amaze those accustomed only to schools built a generation ago. For example, there is a 95 by 105 gymnasium
with its $15,476 rollaway bleachers that can accommodate nearly 1,800 spectators. Its $11,039 folding partition, which weighs seven tons, can divide the room into two regulation basketball courts to accommodate two games at one time.

The 1,001 seat auditorium is equally impressive. Equipped with leather-covered seats and stage equipment at a cost of $27,853, the 80 by 80 seating space is larger than the combined floor space of four average four-room bungalows.

Its stage has an opening of 44
feet, with a 28-foot wing on either side and a make-up room and dressing rooms underneath. Its 12-foot wide foyer contains four entrances, a 14 by 23 checkroom and three large display cases that may be used for advertising or four student exhibits.

A service driveway leads to wide unloading doors at the side

For student relaxation the school has, in addition to the gymnasium, a large recreation room in the basement equipped with ping-pong tables, tables for card-playing or study, and space for a shuffleboard court that is to be installed in the near future.

During the noon hour, the room
is used by several hundred students who bring their own lunches. It also is planned in the future that the room be used for various social functions, since the room permits decoration for dances more easily than does the gymnasium with its 22-foot high ceiling.

An indoor rifle range now is in the process of construction on the basement floor. Previously, the school's annually high-rated rifle team has used the National Guard Armory for practice sessions and meets with other scholastic teams.

Also located on the lower floor of the building is the school's cafeteria, designed to accommodate 250 students at one time.
Space in the room has been reserved for a soda bar and soft-drinks cooler to be built in when
and if desired.

The study hall will accommodate 250 students, while the library has space enough for half that number.

A first aid room, two special emergency rooms, book store, lounges for teachers, offices for the staff of the vocational and adult education department and a main office for Principal Glenn H. Olsen and his staff are among the many other rooms included in the building.

Corridors throughout the building are of green ceramic tile,
with stairwells and the darker basement corridor in cream tile.
A total of 721 lockers are recessed into the walls of the 12-foot wide passageways.

Three lockers, rooms, one for the home team, one for the visiting team, and one for girls, contain a total of 897 lockers. Located directly beneath the gymnasium and adjacent to the outside entrance to the football and softball fields, the rooms each have 11 shower heads, while the girls'
locker room has the added luxury of warm-air driers set in the wall.

Heating for the 2,313,000 cubic foot building is supplied by three low steam pressure, oil burning boilers with 20,000 EDR capacity.
An induction, control fan system
is used for heating, with each classroom having an additional radiation that is thermostatically controlled. The building is so zoned that any area may be heated separately.

General plans for the building

address. The new school was constructed at a cost of $2,343,117.
It has an auditorium that will accommodate 1,000 persons; a huge gymnasium, swimming pool, class rooms and other facilities including a modern cafeteria, a study hall to accommodate 250 students and library space for half that number.

World Traveler
Addresses Club

Neil Douglas, lecturer, photographer, explorer, addressed the Holland Exchange Club Monday
evening at its annual Ladies Night dinner meeting at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Douglas, who has visited 22
foreign countries and endeavored to know the people of each country, spoke on "Europe Can Make Us Better Americans."

"Fear of weapons will not bring the world perpetual peace,
but mutual trust and understanding can do so," he said. "To live together peacefully we must know each other intimately.
Nations must learn to live in harmony with others."

Examples of a small beginning toward that goal are agreements
among the Benelux countries,
free travel of Scandinavian students and a movement to allow American tourists to travel in their own cars under their own licenses.

The speaker gave first hand accounts of conditions in the northern European countries and what might well be learned by America.
The Netherlands he described as a prosperous nation made up of people who still believe in the dignity of labor and pride of ownership. Denmark he pictured as the cleanest country in the world, a story-book land. Sweden, a rich land, is disliked by Finland
and Norway because of its attitude during two world wars, he said.

Norway, he said, is neither rich nor poor, but its people "have forgotten how to pray." Finland's people are strongly nationalistic, he said, and described them as the friendliest of all he visited. In all these countries, Marshall Plan money has been used well, for the most part, he said.

Douglas urged his listeners,
when traveling in a foreign country, to make an effort to know the people. Language need not be a barrier if you talk with the heart, he said.

Dinner music was provided by violinists Jeannie Zeidler and Norma Houtman, accompanied by Mrs.
A.H. Zeidler. President Robert Notier presided and Vice President John Hagans introduced the speaker. Clarence Jalving led group singing.

State Delegation Presents Harbor Facts to Solons

Van Peursem Committee Returns After Confab With Washington Group

"At last the facts of Michigan's water control problems have been presented to our representatives in Washington," said State Representative George Van Peursem Saturday after a series of conferences in Washington last week.

Meeting with almost all of Michigan's members of the House of Representatives and legislative assistants of Senator Homer Ferguson as well as Sen. Charles Potter himself, the group thrashed out recognition of Michigan as an important marine commerce and recreation center.

Pointing out that Congress in 1947 approved funds for development of 15 port improvements, the committee members wanted to determine why only two of the projects had been completed.

"From Frankfort on the west shore to Port Austin on the east, the entire north end of our peninsula is barred to pleasure craft because of the lack of ports of refuge," Van Peursem said.

"The federal government has thus far failed to develop this area, as well as the entire Great Lakes area, while pouring $213 million into the Mississippi valley," he added.

The Marine Affairs Committee of the Michigan legislature, headed by Representative James Clements, emphasized that good waterways are an integral part of a sound national economy.

A member of this committee, Van Peursem has played an active part in developing its five year program for Michigan harbor improvements. The $89,500,000 program includes $150,000 for repairing the entrance to Holland harbor as well as $20,000 a year for maintenance.

In a short speech to the Congressmen, Van Peursem said the entire amount spent for waterway improvements since 1822 is only 3 1/2 per cent of the amount expended on foreign loans and gifts.

"Michigan's total share of this has amounted to only $178 million dollars," he added.

"Large contributions to the growth and defense of our nation and to our state can result if we provide an adequate foundation for the continued improvement and construction of harbors and channels," Van Peursem said.

The House Marine Affairs Committee, of which Van Peursem is a member, and the joint interim committee on Water Resources headed by Sen. Frank Heath of Saginaw, emphasized that no immediate action can be expected on the program.

"This is only a start, but a good one, in getting Michigan the harbor and lake facilities that it deserves," concluded Van Peursem.

BIRD FEEDING STATION — This photo was taken at the height of the snowstorm Saturday and shows the popularity of an established bird feeding station. This station is located near the kitchen window of a local home and provides an endless source of interest and amusement with a daily ration of cracked corn, wheat and sunflower seeds. Among the feathered friends that stop to eat are cardinals, blue jays, nuthatches, juncos, chickadees and others plus the usual sparrows and starlings. Several squirrels also stop by for handouts. It may interest the photo fan to know this picture was taken in the comfort of the home through a window with a telephoto lens on a Speed Graphic—25th of a second at f8, from a distance of about 30 feet.

(The following letter appeared several years ago in The Chicago Tribune.)

Letter to a Modern Father.

"My Dear Daughter:
"I was so relieved to see your picture in last Sunday's paper. We had begun to be uneasy when you went east to spend the summer with your three-car school friends. We didn't expect you to write, but we thought you would send your address. Picking you out of that hench group made everything all right again.

"Are you coming home or will you go direct to school, and if so, what school? I wouldn't be prying into your affairs, but your sister, Eloise, is going to be married and she said she'd like you to be bridesmaid. If we could find you, Eloise is your second sister, you will recall, next to Peggy.

"I don't know exactly whom Eloise is marrying, but it is next month. I asked her the man's name, but I didn't catch it, and as she was in a hurry, I hesitated about making her repeat it. She said I would be crazy about him if I should ever know him.

"Your mother and I hope to meet him before the wedding, but that is not so important, as we probably will see a great deal of him afterward. Your affectionate Father"

City officials got a laugh when they processed an injury report submitted by the police department. It seems one of the officers, one Blackie Steketee, was hurt in the line of duty. He was directing traffic at Pine and Eighth early one morning when a sea gull dropped a pebble which hit Blackie in the left eye. He was treated in a doctor's office.

On the accident report, Chief Van Hoff wrote under estimated length of disability, "10 seconds."

Cornelia Mulder, former Holland resident and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mulder, of route 5 Holland, has received recognition for her outstanding health work in the field of education. Miss Mulder is health co-ordinator for Flint Public Schools.

At a breakfast at Christmas time, she was presented a gift by Frank J. Manley, assistant superintendent of Flint schools and director of the Mott Foundation.

Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary society for women in education, initiated Miss Mulder in December in the University of Michigan Chapter.

Detroit Waives In Narcotics Case

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Anton Johnson, 39-year-old Detroit, waived examination when he was arraigned Saturday before Municipal Judge Louis H. Osterhaus on a charge of violation of the narcotics law involving possession of heroin. He was bound over to Circuit Court. Unable to provide $1,000 bond, he was lodged in county jail.

Johnson was arrested by Trooper David Berburg of the Michigan State Police Friday morning on US-16 in Crookery township as Johnson was in the act of giving himself a shot. The trooper had stopped beside the parked car on a routine check, trying to hide something in the glove compartment and under the seat and made a more thorough investigation when he saw Johnson seat on the driver's side.

Investigation revealed a cardboard box in the car containing a hypodermic needle and six capsules. Johnson had tightened a belt around his left arm to make veins protrude. Ordinarily, water is used to mix the drug for injection, but Johnson had no water handy. Since such injections last four to five hours, it was apparent the man was giving himself a shot to bolster himself until he arrived home.

The man has turned over the six capsules to officers, but so far has not revealed where he obtained them.

Following the meeting the women adjourned to the Ladies Parlor for a social time. Refreshments were served by the Mesdames C. Kleis, J. Kooiker and C. Jalving.

Sligh Scheduled To Talk Jan. 28

Charles R. Sligh, Jr., Holland and Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer and chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers will head a trio of nationally-known experts who will discuss the pros and cons of a broad base federal manufacturers' excise tax at the Warwick Hotel in Philadelphia Jan. 28.

The luncheon meeting at 12:15 p.m. will be sponsored by the Tax Council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia Chapter of the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Philadelphia Chapter of the Controllers Institute of America, Inc., and the Tax Executives Institute, Inc.

The youngest president of the NAM in 30 years when he headed the organization in 1953, the 46-year-old Sligh will speak in favor of a federal manufacturers' excise tax with broad coverage.

A manufacturers' excise tax bill was introduced in the House of Representatives in Washington Jan. 6 by Rep. Mason (R-Ill.), calling for a five per cent "manufacturers' sales tax" to replace present excise levies. The yield, according to Mason, would be about the same as the current excise taxes.

Other speakers will include Herbert J. Miller, executive director of the Tax Foundation, Inc., who will summarize the federal budget and the national fiscal outlook for 1954 and E. C. Stephenson, vice president of the J. L. Hudson Co. of Detroit and a director and regional vice president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. He will speak against the manufacturers' excise tax.

Kopper Kettle Takes Loop Lead

Kopper Kettle moved to the fore in the Recreation "B" Basketball League at Holland Junior High gym Thursday night by fashioning a 30-26 win over Baker's Market.

The win, coupled with the first loss by the Knights and another setback for the Wooden Shoe Factory, shoved the Kettles into first place.

Red Martin had 12 for the winners while Hank Jager, had 8 for the losers.

The Hard Rocks handed the Knights — mostly Hope College students — their first setback in a close 28-26 game. Don Van Ingen was high for the winners with 10 and Bill Heydorn had 11 for the losers.

The Wooden Shoe Factory team dropped its second game in as many weeks to 7 Up, 33-29, to fall behind in the title chase. Jack Borr had 13 for the winners while Del Van Tongeren had 9 and Jason Roels 8 for the losers.

In other games, Steketee-Van Huis won its first game of the season by taking a 23-17 win over Overkamp's Washer Parts. John Nuimer and Bernie Raterink each had 8 for the winners while K. Knott had 9 for the losers.

And in the thriller of the evening, Stam's Mobilgas won an overtime 31-29 decision from the All Americans. D. Kruitthof had 9 for the winners while Vern Vande Water had 11 for the losers.

Marion Vander Wall Honored at Shower

Miss Marian Vander Wall, bride-elect, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Nyhof of East Saugatuck.

Games were played and a two-course lunch was served. Invited were the Mesdames Peter Vander Wall, Henry Looker, John Fik, Peter De Vries, James Nienhuis, Jim Stoel, John Nyhof, Andrew Vander Wall and the Mesdames Bertha and Janet Fik and Phyllis Nienhuis.

Enthusiastic Audience Hears Concert Pianist

To the large audience which turned out in Saturday night's snowstorm to hear a concert by pianist John Ranck of New York City in Hope Memorial Chapel, came ample rewards. This young man impressed his listeners with his brilliant tone and flawless technique, proving himself a musician of considerable stature.

It was the third event in the current Hope College concert series.

Using some of the lesser known works of classic, romantic and contemporary composers, Mr. Ranck opened his program with "Three Romances," Opus 28, by Robert Schumann, continuing with three charming unpublished pieces by the young American composer Charles Griffes, and an unusual and interesting "Toccata" by American Frederick Werle.

Final offering on the first part of the program was an impressive rendition of the Chopin "Sonata in B Flat Minor" which includes what is probably the most famous funeral march in the world.

Again using contemporary writings Mr. Ranck played two preludes "The Dove" and "A Reflection in the Wind," by Olivier Messiaen. Especially pleasing was his interpretation of three Debussy preludes "Heather," "General Lavine" and "The Terrace of the Moonlit Courts," also 10 charming "Bagatelles," by Alexander Tcherepnin.

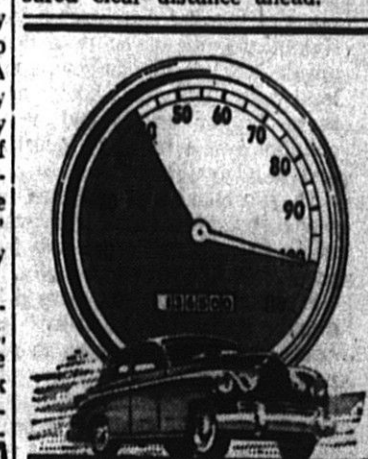

Using a seldom heard composition of impressionist Franz Liszt, the St. Frances of Assisi, "The Sermon to the Birds," Mr. Ranck surely must have played this number as the composer meant it to be played.

Following the final "Liebesfreud" arranged by Rachmaninoff from the Kreisler violin piece, Mr. Ranck was recalled for three encores by the enthusiastic audience. He played "Song and Dance," by an American composer, a modern number entitled "Self Content" and a gay waltz.

FRIENDLY RIVALRY PAYS OFF — Three Allegan ice fishing companions had a little "can you top this" contest going last week and this was the final result. Shown are Harold Falk, Merle White and Ed Schelb with the 16 1/2 pound pike Harold took with a spear and the 17 1/2-pound fish Ed got on a tip-up. White started the contest the previous Saturday when he came in from Silver Lake with a 15-pounder. Falk, his brother-in-law, topped him the following week with his fish, 16 1/2 pounds and 41 1/2 inches long. An hour later, Schelb returned with the 17 1/2 pound, 43-inch giant shown at the right. All three fish were taken from Silver Lake, Allegan County.

Maroon Seconds Post Win No. 7

Holland Christian's reserve squad breezed to its seventh win of the season Saturday night at Muskegon, downing Catholic Central, 39-27. Only six minute quarters were played instead of the customary eight.

The Dutch seemed to score almost at will as Coach John Ham used all 10 men on the traveling squad, each playing about the same length of time. The Dutch moved out to a 15-2 first quarter margin and upped the total to 26-7 at the intermission. The locals were shooting well to completely outplay the Little Crusaders.

It was the same story in the third quarter, although the Muskies found the range a little better. The Dutch still led 36-17 at the end of the period. Reserves again finished the affair and were outscored 10-3 in the final period.

Warren Boer led the Dutch with 12 markers. Others were Dave Vander Hill, 10, Calvin Dykman, 5, Dave Bos, 4, Dave Alena and Carl Van Appledorn, 3 each. Rich Hertel, 2 and Herm Tuls, 1. Center Vander Veen led Muskegon with 12.

10 Paper Firms Named in River Pollution Case

Allegan Attorney Seeks Permanent Injunction, Acting for 140 Plaintiffs

ALLEGAN (Special) — With 140 Allegan area residents listed as plaintiffs, Attorney Leo W. Hoffman today filed suit in Circuit Court seeking a permanent injunction to restrain 10 paper mills and four municipalities from further pollution of the Kalamazoo River.

Named as defendants were: Otsego Falls Paper Mills, Inc., Mac Sim Bar Paper Co., Michigan Paper Co., Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Co., St. Regis Paper Co., Allied Paper Mills, Kalamazoo Paper Co., Sutherland Paper Co., Rex Paper Co. and Hawthorne Paper Co. and the municipalities of Kalamazoo, Parchment, Plainwell and Otsego.

In the bill for injunction, the plaintiffs charge that "for a distance of 40 miles downstream from Kalamazoo, the river is a dead, unsanitary, odoriferous sewer, useless for all purposes, except as a reservoir for sewage and waste pollution" as a result of industrial and municipal pollution.

They contend that pollution has made the river "unfit for industrial, agricultural or resort purposes," in Allegan and vicinity.

Hydrogen sulfide gas, caused by organic waste, was cited as "dangerous to health, damaging to property and causing a strong, unhealthy and obnoxious odor," and was blamed for damage to house paint and for discoloration of personal property.

The gas during the summer of 1953 "created a persistent, discomforting and obnoxious odor, caused many of the plaintiffs to have headaches and nausea, tainted the food eaten by plaintiffs and caused continued discomfort and sleeplessness," according to the declaration.

Pollution was also blamed for the killing of "practically all the fish life in the river for a distance of 40 miles below Kalamazoo." "On frequent occasions during the summer months," it was charged, thousands of carp were killed and deposited on the banks and beaches in Allegan and vicinity. "The dead fish decayed and caused an unhealthy and nauseating odor, it was pointed out.

The pollution deposited in the river by the defendants was also cited for filling up the river bed, destroying plant life along the river and "displacing the water from its natural course."

The condition has depreciated the value of property owned by plaintiffs and is "driving trade and business away from the city," according to the declaration.

Enthusiasm Marks Polio Campaign in Zeeland

ZEELAND — "Zeeland is responding better than ever before to the polio call," Charles Zerrip, co-chairman of the annual polio drive in this city, said today.

It's Zerrip's third year in working on polio drives in Zeeland, and this year his co-chairman is A. Luurtma. As in previous years, the polio drive is in charge of the Kiwanis Club.

Last Saturday, Kiwanians operated a March of Dimes plank at Haan's drug store and collected $318.25, a large amount considering the stormy weather. The club also will operate another plank there next Saturday.

Plans also are under way for a Mothers March to be staged Thursday, Jan. 28, in charge of Mrs. Ray Karsten and Mrs. Charles Zerrip. About 80 mothers will participate in this project, which also has been a polio high-

Club members will meet at the home of Mrs. Francis Clair and will be assigned to the various areas by Miss Helen Darby and Mrs. Merle Hare, the committee in charge. Stops will be made only at homes with porch lights burning. Anyone without a porch light may arrange for a member to call by telephoning 66-R after 5:30 p.m. on the night of the "parade."

26 Polio Cases Listed in Allegan

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan county had more than its share of polio during 1953, according to a report issued this week by Dr. A. B. Mitchell, director of the county health department.

He said 26 cases were reported during the year, but pointed out that the total might have exceeded 60, "if interest in finding borderline non-paralytic cases we had a few years ago had been sustained."

Dr. Mitchell said no great benefit resulted from checking borderline cases and the cost to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was tremendous.

Sixteen of the county's 26 cases resulted in paralysis. Irving Tucker, head of the county chapter of the National Foundation, said this was more than triple the national average of 20 percent paralysis.

Ten of the county's cases were Allegan city residents with five of the paralytic cases in a single family, that of Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll. The other sixteen cases were distributed among ten different townships, one to three cases in each.

Ages of those afflicted here ranged from two to 28.

One Valuation Upped After Re-Appraisal

ALLEGAN (Special) — Only one piece of business property in the city of Allegan was given an increased valuation as a result of the recently completed re-appraisal, city council members learned Monday night.

Owner of the property was Clarence Wise who, as the newly appointed city assessor directed the re-appraisal.

Actual field work on the job was done by the J.M. Clemmishaw Company, appraisal engineers, of Cleveland.

The fact that most business property valuations were cut came as a surprise to city councilmen who, along with most residents, admitted they had "always assumed" residential property was carrying a bigger share of the tax load.

Dutch Defeated In Return Contest By 93-68 Score

The Hope College Dutchmen never started rolling Tuesday night as they tripped before an avenging Michigan Normal team and fell to defeat 93-68. It was the third straight loss for Hope.

From the opening moments of the second period it was evident that the thirsty Hurons were out to get Hope for the Dutchmen's previous win over Normal.

A far from capacity crowd saw Hope jump to a quick first quarter lead, 3-0, with apparent control of the boards. The small but speedy Hurons then went to work and after a free throw by Jay Henderson, Cleon Gilliam matched a two-pointer with Nick Mansch to make it 5-3 to Normal's credit.

Hope retaliated momentarily to make it 12-8 for the Dutch, but the Hurons under the generalship of Gilliam managed to tie it up at the quarter 16-16. As the canto ended, forward Ray Pogilano dumped in the tying basket. Pogilano, short but spry, tallied 8 points in the opening canto with a hooking left hand that led the Huron attack.

As the second quarter rushed into play, Bob Hendrickson made it 18-16 for the Dutch, and Bob Visser added a free throw to make it 19-16. Then the Dutch attack put on its brakes as Gilliam and Pogilano scored 9 flashy points to put the Hurons ahead 25-19. The ball-hawking Hurons had a full court press in effect which had the Dutchmen thoroughly rattled, and Hope's inaccurate passing was constantly disrupted by the alert Huron defense.

In the last 90 seconds of the first half, Manych squirmed through the Dutch height to add six more big points to the Huron record, and at the half the score read 42-33 with Normal holding the nine-point advantage.

In the first half, both teams counted almost equally on charity tosses. Hope garnered 8 to 10, and Normal tallied 10 out of a possible 12.

The expectant fans saw the locals surge out in the third canto to threaten the Huron lead as Visser, Hendrickson, and John Adams narrowed the count to 44-39. Hope now initiated the full court press but to no immediate satisfaction. At the half-way mark of the quarter, Willie Rink tallied four points to bring Hope within six points of the Hurons 50-44.

The Dutch uprising was quickly ended, however, as Pogilano swished 8 consecutive points to put Normal ahead by 11 points, 58-47.

Hope showed static signs of catching the Hurons in the remaining three minutes of the third period, but at the end of the stanza Normal was still holding a defiant five-point lead, 61-56.

The Dutch, usually a strong finishing team, just didn't have it as the game went into the final frame. Gilliam and Pogilano jumped their lead to 68-58 and the rattled Dutchmen began to stammer themselves with flustered passing. Coleman Jewitt, a Huron replacement, continued the Normal hot-streak as he fired in 12 points in the last quarter.

The disheartened Dutchmen tried consistently to hit in the final stanza, but the rampaging Hurons went ahead to outscore the locals 32-12 and defeat Hope by 25 points, 93-68.

At the free throw line, Hope accounted for 22 out of 32 for 68 per cent. Normal on the other hand tallied 29 out of 36 for 85 per cent.

Scoring honors for the Hurons went to Pogilano with 27, Gilliam with 19, and Jewitt with 17. For Hope, Dwight Riemersma tallied 14, Adams 12, Hendrickson 12, and Visser 12. Rink playing an excellent floor game, also accounted for 9 of the Dutch scores.

Hope will renew MIAA competition after a two game lay-off when they travel to Alma Saturday night for a tangle with the Alma College Scots.

In the first half, Coach Larry Green's boys stayed with the Junior Broncos as Norm Kramer and Jack Kempker led the Dutch attack. At the end of the half, the locals trailed by a mere three points 37-34.

The final half, however, saw the little Dutch outscored 57 to 31 as Western rammed home an impressive 94-65 victory.

For Western, Corbus led the attack with 21 points. Kramer and Kempker tallied 20 and 19 respectively for the locals.

Douglas Church Scene of Wedding

FENNVILLE (Special) — In a double ring ceremony performed Saturday at 11 a.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church of Douglas, Miss Sally Ann Johnson became the bride of Stephan Joseph Kiss. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of Bravo and the groom made his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Kiss of Fennville.

Before an altar decorated with bouquets of pompons, chrysanthemums and gladioli, the rites were read by the Rev. William Hooper. Miss Olga Ibarri of Fennville sang three numbers accompanied by the church organist, Mrs. Phillips of Saugatuck.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of nylon net over white satin. Her waist length veil fell from a tiara of net and pearls. She carried a prayer book with sweetheart roses and white satin streamers.

As maid of honor Miss Olga Ibarri wore a green nylon net over green taffeta and carried a bouquet of shattered carnations. Miss Joyce Johnson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. John H. Kiss as bridesmaids wore identical ballerina-length gowns in blue and lavender, respectively. Their bouquets were shattered carnations with matching streamers. Two other sisters of the bride, Carol Sue, as flower girl and Nany as ring bearer wore identical gowns of pink net and blue green net.

John H. Kiss of Mobile, Ala., cousin of the groom, was best man, James Erlewein of Fennville and Carl De Jonge of Holland were ushers.

Area Mothers Prepare For 'March' on Polio

Mothers of Holland city and the suburban areas—350 strong—will "March" on polio Saturday night, Jan. 30.

Women volunteers and their "lieutenants" met at Holland High School auditorium Wednesday night for a briefing session in preparation for the concerted one-hour campaign, which will serve as a dramatic climax to the 1934 polio drive in the area.

Mrs. George Cook of Detroit, director of women's activities for the state of Michigan, spoke briefly to the mothers, expressing the importance of their part in the 16-year fight against polio, which now appears to be on the threshold of victory. She praised Ottawa county as the most efficient organization of volunteers in the state. A surprise announcement was that Holland's "Mothers March on Polio" will be extensively photographed from start to finish as an example of efficient planning. The pictures—a series of more than 70 slides in color—will be used next year to help organize similar campaigns.

Mrs. Cook emphasized this year's "fourth front" in the polio program, the polio foundation will have opportunity to defeat the disease in an offensive way, she said. She recounted the limited use of gamma globulin in last year's polio epidemics as merely a temporary measure and hailed the successful tests of the new polio vaccine.

The new vaccine, she said, has been successfully tried in the laboratory and to a limited degree in the field. Now it is necessary to make mass tests in the field. She related the present plan for such tests: beginning Feb. 8 in Louisiana, physicians will begin the mass vaccinations, on second grade children in chosen counties. The project will move north, reaching Michigan about in May. Children will be vaccinated, upon parents' consent, and with the help of hundreds of volunteer clinic workers, which the polio foundation hopes to draw mostly from Mothers March groups.

Mrs. Cook wished the local volunteers success in their Jan. 30

After instructions, a film featuring Helen Hayes and "You'll Never Walk Alone" featuring Howard Keel, were shown. Preceding the meeting the mothers listened to the radio broadcast which had been transcribed earlier in the day featuring Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Nelson and Chairman Phillips.

Broiler Project To Begin Soon

The 4-H broiler raising project for Ottawa County boys and girls will begin in February, according to an announcement by Eugene F. Dice, county 4-H Club Agent.

Only boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 can enter. The project is being conducted throughout the entire state.

The Department of Poultry and 4-H at Michigan State College are in charge of planning. The state has been divided into two districts, the dividing line being Highway 27 and counties east of the highway comprise one part and those west forming the other half.

Starting date for this area will be Feb. 22. The project calls for the purchase of 100 straight-run chicks of a recognized broiler breed and rearing them for a period of 11 weeks. Each member is to keep accurate records of all feed and other expenses.

At the end of the 11-week period, each will select a project sample of 14 cockerels to be entered in competition and scored for market characteristics. This, together with the feed and cost records, will determine the entries in the state contest. State winners will receive a suitable expense paid trip next fall. To be eligible for the state award, a member must be at least 14 years old. All entries must be made with the county extension service office in the court house at Grand Haven by Feb. 15. Record cards and enrollment blanks will be distributed through that office.

Volleys

Dr. Marian de Velder of Hope Church received recognition of sorts this week by having a letter in the "Letters to the Editors" column of the Saturday Evening Post which comes out on Wednesday or thereabouts.

The local dominie's letter had to do with a Post cover Dec. 12 showing a long suffering father removing assorted tricycles, carts, et al, from his driveway before putting his car in the garage.

De Velder wrote such frustrating incidents can even send a preacher's temper soaring, but he turns to the scriptures for almost any problem, and has induced a philosophical attitude from Corinthians 13:11.

"When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man (especially a father!) I put away childish things."

The quip was good enough to lead off the column.

Speaking of magazines, did you notice the Bohn Aluminum ad in the Post a week or so ago? It pictured Simon D. Den Uyl of Macatawa Park and Detroit, president of Bohn Aluminum, and Bob Dethmers, student at Hope College, posed on the steps of one of the campus buildings. Its legend gave a nice plug for the Michigan Colleges Foundation in which Hope College and Den Uyl are both interested.

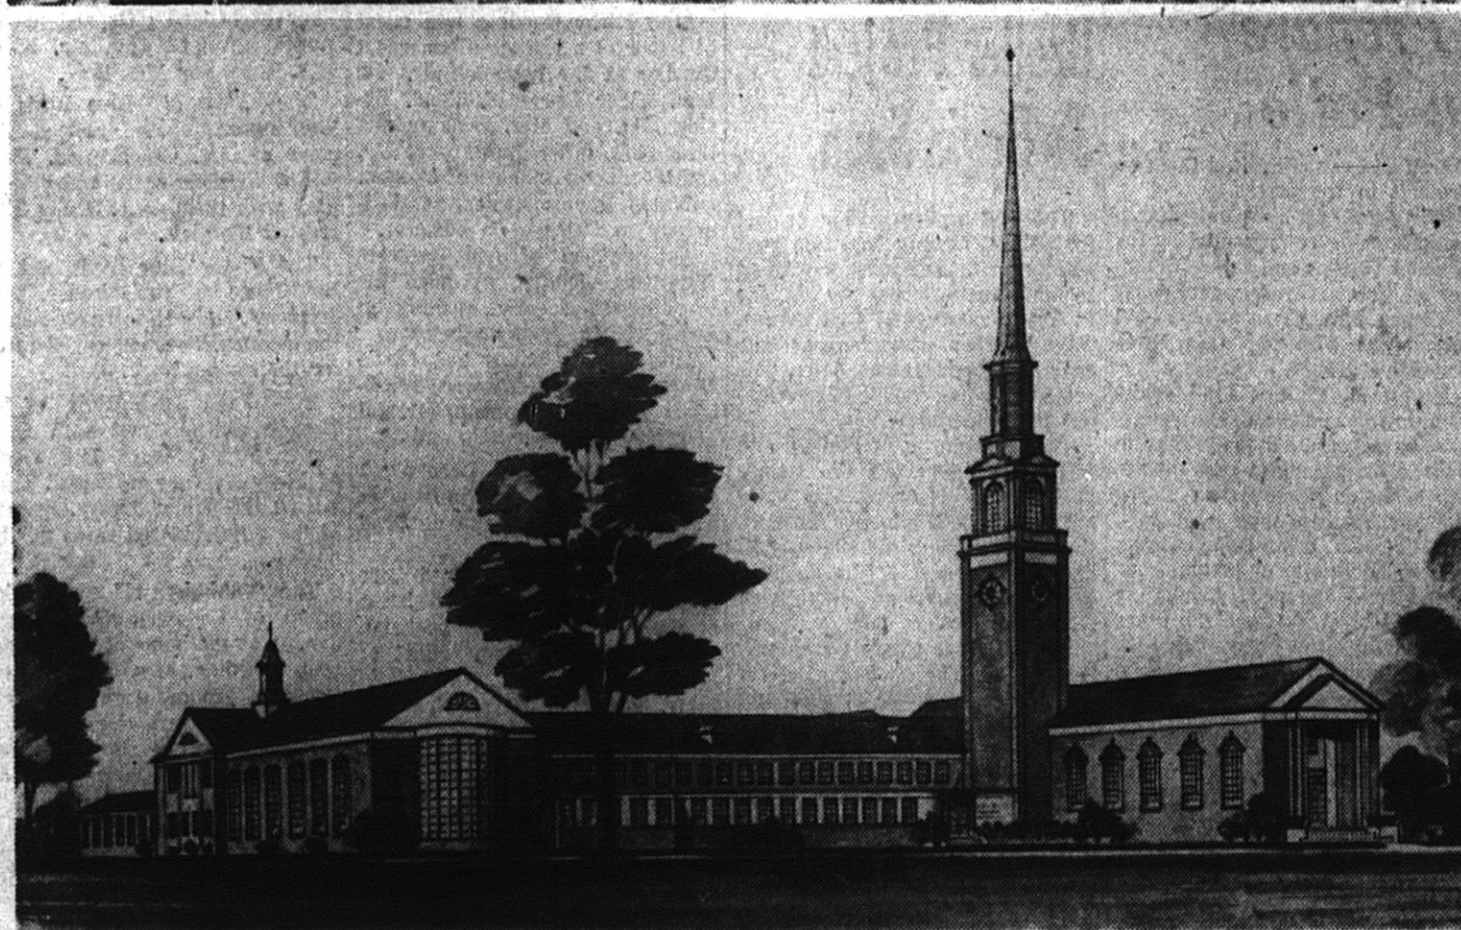

Have you noticed the new envelopes Hope College is using these days? The back cover shows a lovely scene of the tower of Hope Memorial Chapel in dull blue.

To this desk came a leaflet of an exhibition of oil techniques by 25 contemporary artists to be presented by M. Grumbacher Jan. 12 through 23 at Grand Central Art Galleries in New York City.

Prominently mentioned was Peter Kolean, formerly of Holland, whose entry was titled "The Flower Market." Kolean also is scheduled to do a demonstration Jan. 19 on painting a new England landscape.

Elzinga and Volkers, contractors for the new Western Theological Seminary, provided a nice touch at ground breaking ceremonies on the 12th St. site Friday afternoon. They had three nice shiny new spades for the three participants, President J. R. Mulder, student Edwin Mulder and Dr. Jacob Blaauw, president of the board. When it was all over, the contractors presented the spades to the three men as a memento of the occasion.

Julius Wood, our favorite letter writh' correspondent from Washington, D. C., came through with a contribution for volleys—something he usually does when nudged gently with a scribbled note on a Christmas greeting. His board president; Dr. J. R. Mulder, seminary president; Edward Freyling, trustee; Dr. Irwin Lubbers, Hope College president, and Dr. George Mennenga, seminary dean. Below is architect's sketch of new seminary with library at left, class rooms and offices in center section, and chapel at right.

Ground Broken for New Western Seminary

Ground was broken in appropriate brief ceremonies Friday afternoon for the new Western Theological Seminary development on the present site on East 12th St. across from Hope campus. About 200 witnessed the event.

Dr. Irwin Lubbers, president of Hope College, spoke on the significance of the breaking of the ground, saying "everything we have is related to the earth—even ourselves." He said most things related to the breaking of the ground are temporal, but this occasion was of particular significance in that it was spiritual as well.

Dr. John R. Mulder, seminary president, presided and participated in the actual breaking of the ground along with Edwin Mulder, member of the senior class and president of the student body, and the Rev. Jacob Blaauw of Grand Rapids, pastor of Bethel Reformed Church and president of the seminary board of trustees. Dr. George H. Mennenga, dean of the seminary, read scripture and Edward N. Freyling of Grand Rapids, an elder at Central Reformed Church a member of the board of trustees, gave the prayer.

Plans call for a complete unit housing library and stack rooms, offices, classrooms, social rooms and a chapel. The architects, Louis C. Kingscott and Associates of Kalamazoo, have revamped the plans, originally designed for the former Froebel school site, to adapt them to the present site.

Moore Manor (the former Kleinhessel home) and the old seminary library already have been torn down and Semelink Hall is in the process of being torn down to make room for the new construction. The seminary administration is operating in a house on 13th St. and classes are being held on Hope campus. Eventually, two houses on 13th St. will be removed to provide parking space for the new seminary plant. It is expected the new building will be completed for use in the fall of 1955.

New construction will start about 18 feet west of the present seminary dormitory and go almost to the seminary lot line one house short of College Ave. On the east end will be the library and stack rooms, across the middle will be class rooms and offices and at the west end will be the seminary chapel. The general architecture follows modern functional lines in brick construction, but the chapel will be early American, both exterior and interior. The front will be of wood with large wooden pillars. The interior which will seat up to 240 with balcony, has been designed so as to be particularly adaptable for smaller weddings, complete with center aisle. Social rooms and kitchen are conveniently nearby for reception.

The one touch which will give the entire unit an ecclesiastical air is the tower with its spire reaching 150 feet up, topped with a cross. The spire will be finished in white asbestos shingles with stainless steel edges and is expected to remain permanently white. Seminary leaders hope to have the spire flood-lighted every night. It will be the tallest spire in Holland.

Elzinga and Volkers of Holland hold the building contract for the new building at a cost of $551,388. The new building will obtain heat from the college heating building.

The seminary was founded in 1866 under Hope College and became a separate institution in 1884. It is a training school for ministers of the Reformed Church in America. To date it has graduated more than 50 ministers, more than half of them the last 25 years. The seminary has a faculty of seven professors and a current enrollment of 92 to 95 students.

Book Reviewed For DAR Chapter

Miss Maibelle Geiger reviewed the book, "Lady Unafraid," by J. Raleigh Nelson, an English professor at the University of Michigan, at the monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Milton Hinga.

"Lady Unafraid," a true story, is a fascinating recital of events occurring in a single year in the life of the author's mother, Rebecca Jewell Francis. In 1862, Rebecca, a recently orphaned 17-year-old English girl living with friends in Ann Arbor, chose to become a missionary among the Indians and accepted a government position as school teacher among the Ojibway Indians at L'Anse au Keweenaw Bay in Lake Superior.

Her experiences as a teacher in the little Indian settlement were interesting, varied and occasionally dangerous. She was successful in her work and won the hearts of all in the village. She was adopted into the Ojibway tribe because of her courage and resourcefulness in the time of danger and was given the name "Swagideed Wayquay" (Lady Unafraid).

The subject matter was of particular interest to the chapter since the DAR has long been interested in giving financial aid to two schools for educating young Indians. These are Bacone College in Muskogee, Okla., and St. Mary's High School for Girls at Springfield, S. D. In addition, the state organization each year awards a nursing scholarship to a worthy Indian girl.

Added interest in Miss Geiger's review developed when it was learned one of the members present had been a member of the author's class at the University of Michigan and that he had married a classmate of her sister.

Mrs. Harold Niles, chapter regent, presided. Mrs. William Kendrick and her committee served refreshments.

Club Aiding in Raising Fund for New Program

The Holland Rotary Club, through action of its board of directors, has taken the initiative of "bringing the story" of the need of a psychiatric social worker for Ottawa County to PTA's, teachers' clubs, service clubs and other groups in the county, to aid in the program which they expect will provide such service in the county next year.

The Rotary Club already has contributed $250 to the project and is working with other groups in an effort to raise $850 more to help finance the current training program.

Mrs. Ruth Van Duren of Holland has resigned after 10 years of work as Ottawa county agent and probate court worker, and starting Feb. 1 will start training at the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic as well as studying toward a master's degree in psychiatric social work at the University of Michigan.

Harold Ramsey, president of the Rotary Club, said checks should be made out to the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic.

Farmers' Week Slated Feb. 1-5 On MSC Campus

The 39th annual Farmer's Week at Michigan State College slated for Feb. 1 to 5 on the Michigan State College campus will highlight nationally-known authorities in the field of home economics as well as members of the MSC Home Economics faculty in the special women's program. And all-family specialties will feature "The Snake Hunt" presented by R. Marlin Perkins, director of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo and the Zoo parade television show.

Attractions will range from better ways to grow corn to better ways to ventilate dairy barns and poultry houses, and improvements in growing trees and flowers.

According to Mrs. Grace Vander Kolk, Ottawa County Home Demonstration Agent, Tuesday's program for the women's group will have a meat cookery demonstration by Miss Reba Staggs, Home Economics director of the National Stock and Meat Board of Chicago. On Wednesday morning Dr. William H. Smith, Jr., professor of family relations at Pennsylvania State University will speak on "Take a Walk Around Yourself."
