Council Okays Filling Station At State, 24th

Discussion Covers Full
Half Hour; Audience
Voices No Objections

City Council Wednesday night voted 5 to 3 to approve an application from the Gulf Co. to erect a gasoline station between State and College Ave. just north of 24th St. The action had been postponed from two weeks ago to await a report from the Board of Education. Casting the dissenting votes were Councilmen Raymond Holwerda, Bernice Bishop and Mayor Robert Visscher.

The vote followed a full half hour of discussion on the matter. Presented first was a petition signed by 19 persons listed as the Prospect Park Citizens Committee, protesting the new station in the belief it would increase the hazard for pedestrian traffic.

William De Roo, local realtor, and Ray N. Smith, Gulf Co. representative, described plans for the station and presented sketches of similar construction to help visualize how the site would appear if the permit were granted. Both believed there would be a marked improvement from the safety viewpoint.

Carl Dressel, of 112 East 24th St., who directs traffic on the corner during busy periods at Longfellow school nearby, said he believes the traffic situation would be improved if the drug store at the point would be removed.

Miss Bishop expressed opposition on the grounds of proximity to Longfellow School. "I have no objections to filling stations because I use gas too, but I believe they are a hazard near a school. The stations across from Junior High are a constant worry to me and just because there have been no fatalities so far does not mean that there is no hazard," she said.

Holwerda asked whether the proposed new ordinance contained any restrictions on filling stations on commercial property. Mayor Visscher said he believed the proposed ordinance discourages filling stations on neighborhood commercial properties such as the 24th St. area is. In view of the fact that the new ordinance has not been adopted, Council would have no choice but to act under the present ordinance.

Laverne Rudolph asked what court reaction might be to a decision one way or another. City Attorney James E. Townsend said it was Council's duty to obtain all the facts, weigh them carefully particularly with regard to traffic safety and fire hazards, and then make a decision. He felt that any decision Council would make after careful study would be sustained by the courts.

Although there were 18 persons in the audience Wednesday night, none voiced any objection to the proposed filling station. Only persons expressing opinions were De Roo and Smith representing Gulf interests and Carl Dressel who directs pupil traffic.

A detailed traffic report on pupil traffic and other aspects at the location was prepared by Arthur Read, building supervisor of the Board of Education. It was referred to Council by the Board of Education without recommendation.

Port Sheldon Adopts New Zoning Ordinance

The Port Sheldon township board Monday night adopted a township zoning ordinance which has been in preparation for more than a year. Several hearings were held in various locations in advance of board action.

Zoning of industrial property in connection with plans of Consumers Power Co. to build a generating plant is a factor in the total program, although the zoning study was begun far in advance of the company's announcement early in 1956.

Serving on the zoning study committee were Edmond R. Meason, chairman; William Atherton, secretary; Walter Jones, Jr., and Carl Garbrecht. James W. Bussard of Grand Haven served as legal counsel.

Township board members are Chris Fendt, supervisor; Charles M. Selby, treasurer; Edward T. Van Dyke, clerk; Frank Garbrecht and William Ebel, Jr., trustees.

Several Openings In Spring Election

Holland voters face quite an array of offices to be filled in the spring election this year, according to City Clerk Clarence Greengrove.

To be named this spring will be a mayor, one councilman-at-large, and councilmen for the first, second, third and fifth wards. The second ward opening resulted from Councilman Laverne Rudolph's resignation at Wednesday's Council meeting.

So far, petitions are being circulated for Mayor Robert Visscher, Councilman-at-Large Bernice Bishop, and Councilman John Van Eerden of the fifth ward.

Stanley Curtis of the first ward has announced he will not seek election because he expects to move from the ward. Eugene Batema has announced his candidacy for first ward councilman. Councilman John K. Vander Broek of the third ward currently is in Florida on vacation.

Feb. 2 is the deadline for filing petitions. Candidates for mayor and councilman-at-large must have 60 or more valid signatures with not less than 10 from each ward. Candidates for ward councilmen must have not less than 20 nor more than 40 signatures from qualified voters in the particular ward.

A hearing on a proposal by the Macatawa Hotel Association, owned by Simon D. Den Uyl and partners, to discontinue electrical service after April 1 to approximately 185 customers, including cottage owners and some year-around residents at Macatawa Park, has been scheduled by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The hearing will be held at the Lewis Cass building in Lansing on Jan. 25, beginning at 9:30 a.m. The Cottage Owners Association has retained the Grand Rapids law firm of Warner, Norcross and Judd to represent them at the hearing. However, the firm requests that as many affected persons as possible attend the hearing and those who are unable to present setting forth their ideas of continued service and willingness to pay increased rates.

The Den Uyl group presently obtains electricity from Consumers Power Co. and transmits it to the park customers over the group's privately owned poles and wires. The Den Uyl group assumed ownership of the service, including poles and wires, in 1945. Wallace Vander Kolk of 243 West 11th St. is president of the Cottage Owners Association.

Driver Petitions For His License

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Robert E. De Jonge, route 1, Alendale, has filed a petition in Ottawa Circuit Court seeking restoration of his driver's license.

On Jan. 3, 1957, he was given a 30-day suspension by the examiner from the drivers' division of the Secretary of State's office for being "habitually negligent."

De Jonge, who is employed in Grand Rapids, admits he has received four speeding violations with his truck and automobile during 1956, one in Indiana, and also for passing at an intersection.

He claims he drives 125,000 miles a year and has never been involved in an accident. He also sets forth that in September, 1956 he bought a diesel truck and trailer for $15,000 on which his payments are $685 a month and that making these payments is dependent upon his ability to operate the vehicle as he has been forced to hire a driver.

A hearing is scheduled for Friday of this week at 11:30 a.m.

Supervisors Vote Against Fund for Animal Shelter

Hudsonville's Bid
For Incorporation
Also Turned Down

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—The Ottawa County Board of Supervisors concluded its two-day session of the January term Tuesday afternoon by rejecting a request for $2,500 for operations of the county animal shelter, and rejecting Hudsonville's petition for a vote on incorporating as a fourth-class home rule city on the grounds that the resolution submitted did not conform to legal requirements.

In rejecting the Humane Society's request 25 to 5, board members engaged in a long heated discussion following majority and minority reports of the dog committee. The majority report, presented by Richard Cook of Grand Haven and Henry Slaughter of Tallmadge, recommended the request be denied mainly because no funds have been allocated in the already tight budget and pointing out that the county already spends thousands of dollars each year for sheriff's deputies who aid in dog control.

Larry Wade of Holland, presenting the minority report, told the board that donations to the humane society amounted to $22,878.63 and membership dues brought in $4,499.90. Cook pointed out that the membership drive was carried on almost exclusively in Holland area, and if the proper promotion were extended to Grand Haven and other areas, much more could be collected. Wade quoted statistics on shelter operations involving 203 dogs and cats the first two weeks. Two kennelmen are engaged there.

Voting in favor of the appropriation were Mayor Robert Visscher, Wade, William Koop and Harry Harrington, all of Holland, and Chairman Roy Lowing of Georgetown.

After the vote Mayor Visscher commented that when an individual like Mrs. Cheff makes a contribution of more than $22,000 for such a project, it certainly behooves the county board or any other governmental unit to cooperate and in this case aid in operations. "If such people are to continue to make contributions of this type, certainly the governmental unit should be grateful," he said.

Supervisor Chris Fendt of Port Sheldon township observed that the board had not been consulted when the animal shelter site was purchased. He said there are two or three homes located within a hundred feet of the shelter and the dogs are creating quite a nuisance.

On the Hudsonville incorporation issue, the legislative committee reported it had met with Prosecutor James Bussard and found, unfortunately, that the petitions submitted did not conform in a number of material respects to statute requirements. Therefore, it could not okay an election at this time for the village.

The question of resubmitting to the vote of the people the one-mill increase for county buildings, was again called to the board's attention Tuesday afternoon. It has been referred to the building and grounds committee to report at the next session. Earlier communications were read from the Waverly Club and the Riverview Extension Club asking that the matter be placed on the April ballot, and that the detention home receive priority in consideration. James S. Van Valkenburg, director of the Ottawa County Social Welfare department, reported on operations during the past year, emphasizing that the department had complied with several orders of the state fire marshal at the county infirmary in Eastmanville. This involved removing 12 non-ambulatory patients to eastern places. The infirmary also has a night watchman and a new fire alarm system. He added that the operations show a reasonable profit which helps in caring for the inmates.

Condemnation Of Land Sought

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—The state highway department has commenced condemnation proceedings in Ottawa Circuit Court against the Dake Corp., seeking a right-of-way to a portion of the plant's property at Madison and North Seventh St. for new US-31. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has asked the court to appoint three commissioners to hear the matter.

According to the petitions filed, on Sept. 15, 1956, damages were estimated at $200,000 but no agreement could be reached on a settlement.

The department is seeking a right-of-way for 87 feet west of the centerline of North Seventh St., along the west side of the Dake property.

Skids Into Auto

Two cars were damaged Wednesday night when a vehicle operated by Hilda Rietveld, 19, route 2, began skidding on the road and collided with one operated by Richard Woodwyk, 50, of 335 West 32nd St. Ottawa County deputies said the accident occurred at Gordon St. and the Heeline Rd.

Laverne Rudolph Startles Council With Resignation

City Council was all ready to adjourn its regular meeting about 8:35 p.m. Wednesday when an unexpected "bombshell" exploded in the form of a brief letter read by City Clerk Clarence Greengrove announcing the resignation of Second Ward Councilman Laverne Rudolph effective April 8.

The entire membership seemed taken by surprise. Even Mayor Robert Visscher appeared at a loss to know what to do, and fumbled for the next entry on the agenda. City Attorney James E. Townsend interrupted to say Council should take action in dealing with resignations, and also pointed to certain complications in dealing with electing a successor.

Rudolph's communication had stated he was making his resignation known at this time to allow others in the ward to be candidates for the post in the spring election. Deadline for filing petitions is Feb. 2.

But Townsend pointed out that if no vacancy exists until April 8, then a new alderman could not legally be elected in the spring election. Rudolph said he had selected April 8 because by that time he would be able to complete some plans for the proposed bandshell in Kollen Park, but he offered to make the resignation effective as of Wednesday night. Townsend suggested a recess while a practical solution was worked out.

The recess lasted only two or three minutes before Townsend reported that the best procedure would be to have Rudolph resign that night and then have Council appoint his second ward councilman for the interim period, thereby creating a vacancy in which an election would be legal.

Councilman Raymond Holwerda in moving that Rudolph's resignation be accepted paid tribute to the councilman's long service to the city in many capacities, classifying him as one of Council's most valuable members.

After Council accepted the resignation, Holwerda moved that Rudolph be the interim appointee until a successor is qualified. After this motion was carried, Councilman John Van Eerden asked whether Rudolph would retain his position as mayor pro tem, and Council moved that Rudolph retain all appointments which he now holds.

Rudolph's letter of resignation listed no reasons for the move. When cornered by reporters after Council adjourned at 8:52 p.m., Rudolph said he had no statement to make on the matter. As Councilmen gathered around, he said it would be unfair to make any statement at this time in view of the fact that he is associated with many boards, and he does not want to involve any persons.

Rudolph, who is Tulip Time president this year, was asked whether the press of Tulip Time duties was a factor in the resignation. He indicated such was not the reason.

Boyd and Hansen Are Reappointed To Planning Group

Kollen Park Band Shell
Designs Are Expected
In Two or Three Weeks

Mayor Robert Visscher reappointed Stuart E. Boyd and Ward Hansen to three-year terms on the Holland Planning Commission at a regular meeting of City Council Wednesday night. City Attorney James E. Townsend and City Engineer Laverne Serne were named officer members for one-year terms on the Board of Review. The appointment of a citizen member was postponed. Salary for Board of Review members was set at $9 a day.

Councilman Laverne Rudolph reported he and Councilman Robert J. Kouw had met with a committee studying plans for the new bandshell at Kollen Park and he hopes to be able to submit designs in two or three weeks. Asked how much money is available, he said with the $3,500 Council has appropriated for the cement base that approximately $10,000 is available.

He suggested that the $3,500 be transferred to a special fund, which then also would carry the bandshell funds now held in trust by the Greater Holland Community Foundation, but withdrew his motion pending a meeting with the city auditor, city attorney and city manager to arrange the mechanics. City Manager Herb Holt said it was necessary that the cement platform be ready for Tulip Time. Rudolph said plans call for completion of the bandshell in time for summer concerts.

Council accepted with gratitude a list of many gifts to Holland Hospital. These included plants for the new lobby from the Holland Garden Club, four chairs for the hospitality shop from Sligh-Lowry Co., floor polisher and vacuum cleaner from the Muskegon Hardware and Supply Co., a Stryker turning frame from William De Boer, an adjustable hospital bed and wheel chair from E. C. Brooks and an air conditioning unit for the hospitality shop from Ab Martin.

Holland will have two representatives, one from Council and another from the Chamber of Commerce, at a conference in Staller Hotel in Detroit Jan. 27, 28 and 29 for a discussion of the many problems that face port cities on the Great Lakes. The communication from the Great Lakes Harbors Association was referred to the Chamber of Commerce.

A communication from the Liquor Control Commission called attention to an amendment of the liquor regulations at the 1955 session of the legislature so that approval of licenses for class C taverns, B hotels and A hotels are no longer required. If Council has any objections to renewal of the present licenses, a resolution should be adopted prior to March 15. Licenses will be automatically renewed if no reply is received by April 1. The communication was referred to the city manager and chief of police.

The oath of office from Lawrence A. Wade as member of the Board of Supervisors for a four-year term was filed. Council okayed a full page ad in the Sentinel's Tulip Time edition to be published May 15.

Council okayed change order No. 3 on the Charles F. Smith and Sons, Inc., contract on the water project in the amount of $2,980.65.

The city manager called attention to a communication from George M. Foster, chief deputy commissioner of the Michigan State Highway Commission, proposing a meeting to discuss further problems relating to the relocation of highway M-40. The mayor, city manager and planning consultant were appointed to meet with Foster.

Council passed a resolution establishing the price of sidewalk construction for the tag end of 1955 at 27 cents per square foot plus a five percent engineering fee. The program involving four properties provides for payment up to Feb. 25 after which the sums will be spread on the fall tax roll of 1957.

Council members were requested to reserve April 8 to 12 for budget study. City Manager Holt was designated as contract man in a program whereby the federal government is making it possible for cities to acquire federal surplus property for Civil Defense purposes.

Applications for improvements to Sun Oil gasoline stations at 677 Michigan Ave. and 44 River Ave., involving installation of new underground tanks were referred to the city manager for study.

Three Cars Damaged In Intersection Mishap

Three cars were damaged shortly after noon today in a collision at College Ave. and Ninth St. Police said cars driven by Gary Looman, 18, Zeeland, and Albert Ringewold, 55, of 272 Fairbanks Ave., collided in the intersection. The impact knocked Ringewold's car into one operated by Odie David, 44, of 144th Ave.

Police said damage to all three cars was minor. No tickets were issued pending further investigation.

Residents Seek Incorporation For Hudsonville

Avery Baker Submits Letter of Resignation Effective on Feb. 1

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The Board of Supervisors opened its January session Monday afternoon and the first order of business was a petition signed by about 150 Hudsonville residents to incorporate Hudsonville as a fourth class home rule city.

A resolution was presented by the village attorney which was referred to the legislative committee to report back Tues. Board Chairman Roy Lowing of Georgetown township where Hudsonville is located said he had attended several mass meetings and the people involved were well informed.

Avery D. Bakker submitted a letter of resignation as safety director for Ottawa county, effective Feb. 1. Baker, who recently resigned as juvenile officer under probate court to accept a position in Midland, pointed to a lower fatality rate in the county, and invited supervisors to attend the annual safety meeting to be held in Allendale town hall Jan. 28 at 6:30 p.m. Baker's resignation was accepted with regret.

A communication from the Spring Lake Teachers club and two letters from the Riverview Extension club requesting an increase in millage on the spring ballot for a county building program was referred to the education committee to report back at the April session. The teachers' club communication asked that a detention home be given priority in the building program.

Mayor Robert Visser of Holland reported progress on a study for a county auditor - coordinator (or county administrator). He said the committee had met twice and was considering enabling legislation. The committee has received considerable information from Kent county and from Muskegon county, and will report further at the April session. He said much was involved in such a study.

Prosecutor James W. Bussard reported on an attorney general's ruling that a transfer from the general fund to a building fund is illegal even though approved by a vote of the people. This ruling, however, specifically refers to money raised by taxation, and he was instructed to request another ruling specifically on funds from fees.

Atty. Vernon D. Ten Cate explained to the board that litigation is under way whereby property at We-Que-Naw-Bing resort on Lake Macatawa can be improved. This involves a section set aside for park purposes near a lagoon which lies between South Shore Dr. and the lake. To straighten out deeds, etc., the township, road commission and county will be involved in legal proceedings. The matter was referred to the ways and means committee.

The board granted permission to the county treasurer's office to hire another clerk at a salary of $3,000, to come from the contingency fund.

The board approved payment of $200 dues for the Michigan Association of Supervisors, and referred a series of resolutions from other boards to the legislative committee.

The board decided to ask for an extension of time to the Holland appeal board for filing a building permit for erecting a branch county building in Holland. The county board is negotiating with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce van Leuwen for an easement involving 17 feet on their property which adjoins the site at 13th and Central, to correct some details in an abstract dating back to 1910. The board also will work out details on parking before proceeding with a building permit.

Approval was given a ways and means committee recommendation to give a quit claim deed on property on which the Grand Haven state police post is located to the Ottawa County Road Commission.

The board received reports from several county departments. The January session usually lasts three days. The board was to convene again at 1:30 p.m. today.

Morse led 13-11 at the end of the first quarter and the score was tied at 25-all at halftime. The third period score was 40-35 in favor of Kalamazoo.

Camp Fire Council Plans Smorgasbord Dinner

2 Applications Denied by Board

The Board of Appeals Monday night denied one application and denied another application for a re-hearing.

The board refused to grant Donald Lemmen permission to use the store building at 161 West 10th St. for processing French fried potatoes and storage of frozen steaks, chickens and doughnuts on the grounds the property is zoned residential and the proposed use falls into the manufacturing and commercial categories.

The board also denied an application for a re-hearing on the approval given to the Ottawa Board of Supervisors to construct a county office building at the corner of 13th St. and Central Ave.

Jan. 18 was set as the date for hearings on the application of Mrs. Marilyn Swieringa to use the basement of her home at 61 West 30th St. as a beauty shop and the application of Tony Dozeman to use the addition at the rear of the store at 138 West 27th St. for a rest room, a walk-in cooler and meat cutting.

Judge Smith Advocates Use of Public Forum

Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith delivered the main address at a banquet for members of the Holland Motor Employees' Credit Union Saturday night in the Woman's Literary Club. The event, which featured a smorgasbord, attracted close to 150 persons. Most of them came from Holland area, but company terminals in five states also were represented.

Speaking on the subject, "Government Under Law," Judge Smith said in this age of ordered liberty and technical jurisdiction that persons should take an interest in local affairs. "At no time in the history of local government is there greater cause for interest in the future of the community. We are embarking upon a program of expansion of the borders of the city and program for municipal facilities as well as education institutions. The future of our community is at stake. Will the question of common good be served by our failure to enter into the problem before us?"

"I suggest the inauguration and continue use of a public forum of the people, operated by the people and for the public interest. The old town meeting of the past has its place today. With a civic auditorium to house it, we have only to arouse sufficient public interest in a forum to use the facilities at hand. Let the people be heard in the open forum as well as at the polling place.

"But the people will not be heard unless they want to be heard, and they will want to be heard only when they realize it is to their interest economically, socially and politically.

"Now let some public-spirited group come forward to lead the way to the organization of a public forum for the discussion of public problems and the dissemination of public information. Perhaps some service club will come forward, perhaps some parent-teachers organization, perhaps the Ottawa county bar association. Government under law will continue as long as man is keenly aware of his role and stake in the affairs of man," Judge Smith concluded.

M. F. Landman was banquet chairman and Neil Kossen served as master of ceremonies. The Rev. J. O. Hagans of First Methodist Church gave the invocation. As a surprise move, the credit union gave a gift of $30 in the name of Judge Smith to be used in refurbishing the chapel at Southern Michigan Prison which was wrecked during the prison riots some time ago. Refurbishing the chapel is a special project of Rev. Hagans.

A sound film on the origin and operations of credit unions was shown.

Several students of Western Theological Seminary provided the program at a meeting of the Beechwood Church Friendship Mission Circle Tuesday evening in the society room of the church.

Arthur De Hoog led the song service with Ray De Vries at the piano. Devotions were conducted by Jerry Heemstra who also gave the message on Christian Stewardship.

A film, "Visions of Vision," was shown by Ray De Vries and Harold Nyhoff. It described the work done by local seminarians in California during the summer months. Gordon Laman entertained with two trombone solos accompanied by De Vries.

Valkema-Harrington Rites Read

Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. Valkema

A setting of palms, white poinsettias and bouquets of white gladioli with two spiral candelabra formed the background for the wedding of Miss Peryl M. Harrington and Allan R. Valkema Dec. 28 in the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

The Rev. C. A. Letherer performed the double ring ceremony following traditional wedding music played by Mrs. Arnold Peters. "At Dawning," "Indian Love Call" and "Be Thou Our Guide" were sung by Miss Dorothy Deters and Birtion Hilson. Words of the latter song were written by the groom's mother.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell S. Harrington, Clearwater, Fla., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Valkema of Tucson, Ariz.

Attending the couple were Miss Carla Kruthoff, maid of honor; Mrs. Edwin Harrington, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Rosemary Harrington, sister of the bride, bridesmaids; William E. Valkema, brother of the groom, best man and Edwin Harrington, the bride's brother, and Arthur Chrysler, brother-in-law of the groom, ushers. David Harrington, brother of the bride, lit the candles.

Approaching the altar with her father the bride wore a gown of antique tissue tulle with sweep train. The sabrina neckline was accented with embroidered lace at the neck and lace also was inserted at the hip line in the skirt. Her fingertip veil was attached to a pearl crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and miniature mums with ferns.

Her attendants wore identical waltz length gowns of white silk shantung, featuring sabrina necklines with deep V's in back and wide red sashes tied in large bows in back with streamers. Their cascade bouquets included white carnations and holly centered with three red lighted candles.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Harrington chose a periwinkle blue flowered dress of lace over tulle, periwinkle blue and white accessories and a red rose corsage. Mrs. Valkema, the groom's mother, was attired in a peacock blue lace and tulle dress with peacock and black accessories. She wore a red rose corsage.

The newlyweds greeted about 200 guests at a reception in the church basement. Serving were the Mesdames Vern Regnerus, Henry Van Dyke, Lester Hill, Chester Hill and Carl Westerlund. Mrs. Arthur Chrysler and Mrs. William E. Valkema poured. Other assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kruthoff who served as master and mistress of ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Smeenge who arranged the gifts, Miss Marcella Gearhart and Truman Raak who served punch and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ott who were in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Valkema are at home at 870 1/2 Lincoln Ave., following a wedding trip, touring Florida. The new bride selected a red and white checked wool dress and black coat for traveling. Black and white accessories and an orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

The bride is employed as office clerk at Bill's Tire Shop. She is a graduate of Holland High School and attended Marion College, Marion, Ind. Her husband, a graduate of Holland High School, attended Hope College. He is a partner at Bill's Tire Shop.

Big Second Half Provides Margin For 78-56 Victory

BIG RAPIDS (Special) — Hope College's basketball team broke loose with 45 points in the second half here Saturday night after a first half tie and rolled over Ferris Institute, 78-56 in a non-league game.

Kalamazoo won its fifth straight MIAA game Saturday night at Alma with a 71-68 decision. Hope has a 2-3 conference mark.

The Dutch have a 7-4 overall record and the seventh win was accomplished quite easily against Ferris, once Hope got rolling.

In the first half, although the Dutch had about 15 more shots, they couldn't connect, especially on layups. The lead swayed back and forth for the 12 minutes until Ferris suddenly hit a good streak and pushed to a 25-19 advantage.

That started Hope off. Jun Buursma, who has had trouble hitting the last couple games, swished through six points in a hurry and the Dutch added another two points to tie the score.

Again the lead alternated for the rest of the half. Buursma put in two free shots in the closing minute to send Hope ahead 33-31 but Ferris added two similar tosses to knot the score at intermission.

Then things started going Hope's way. Layups that were missed in the first half were counters and the Dutch hit from outcourt and in 11 minutes had rattled the basket for 35 points.

While Ferris had been successful in pressing Hope in the first half, the Dutch went through and around with no trouble at all in the second half and worked the score to 68-46 before the regulars sat down.

De Vette had his reserves finish up the game and the scoring for the final nine minutes was identical. Both teams picked up 10 points.

The 22-point spread is the biggest margin Hope has had in a game so far this season. The Dutch stopped Eastern Michigan by 20 points for the next biggest margin.

The fan shaped backboards appeared to both Hope in the first half. It is the first time, and probably the only time the Dutch will play on that style of backboard this season. A college ruling states that glass backboards are to be used but since Ferris is in the process of building a new field house, glass boards were not put into the present gym.

Especially affected by the fan boards was Hope's Paul Benes. His favorite hook shot was hitting too high on the board and would fall back over the rim.

Benes' 16 points was good enough for second high as Buursma paced the club with 18. Jim Tetzlaff was high point man for the game with 23 points.

WHEN KING SAUD VISITS EISENHOWER

The American people are in for another lesson in geography when King Saud of Saudi-Arabia comes to America as the guest of President Eisenhower. That state visit is scheduled for the period from January 30 through February 1.

It is safe to say that not one in ten thousand has a very clear conception of what Saudi-Arabia is or even just where it is located. The average citizen probably thinks of it as just one other dinky Arab kingdom hidden away somewhere in the desert country in the general direction of Palestine.

It is largely desert country all right, but under that desert land there are rich oil deposits that have helped greatly to keep the auto wheels of the world rolling. As a result it is far from unimportant, and the visit of King Saud is on a level of high international importance.

The size of King Saud's dominion can perhaps best be grasped by comparing it with the size of Palestine. The land now more often known as Israel is credited in late dictionaries with 10,429 square miles. Saudi-Arabia with 600,000 square miles. Hence it is roughly 60 times as large as Palestine. In population Israel is given less than two million. Saudi-Arabia close to five million.

That would make Saudi-Arabia quite a respectable country both in terms of territory and to smaller extent in population. It is about twice the size of Egypt, with however only less than a third of Egypt's population.

The people of the western world know a great deal about both Israel and Egypt, almost nothing about Saudi-Arabia. The main reason for this is probably literature, especially the literature of the Bible. For thousands of years the Bedouins inhabiting the vast Arabian deserts have stood more or less still in terms of civilization. They build no large cities, they stand aside from the movements that built up the life in Europe and parts of Asia and Africa.

But when the world become thirsty for oil, and western engineers drilled through the desert crust to rich deposits that almost cry out to be piped to the tanks of the world's cars.

That fact has made King Saud important enough to be welcomed respectfully by the President of the United States. And that state visit will provide for the average citizen another lesson in world geography. The lesson could apply for the people of both countries.

Gospel: Righteousness
Matthew 5:13-20
by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)

Some years ago it was common to annually publish a book of the best sermons of the year. If Christians from various parts of the world would be asked to vote for the greatest sermon of all time, no doubt most of them would vote for the Sermon on the Mount. We who read the sermon consider it the greatest; those who heard Jesus preach it were deeply impressed for they were astonished at his teaching and at his authority.

I. Christians are salt and light. Jesus said to his disciples, "Ye are the salt of the earth. 'Salt is useful. It is not a luxury but a necessity. It gives taste to food and it keeps food from corruption. If salt is going to be useful it must contact that which it should benefit. Christians give tang and taste to life and check the corrupting influences in life. If they fail to do that they are not living up to their calling. In order to benefit others Christians must be with them and live in the midst of things. The warning of Jesus note '...but if the salt have lost his savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is henceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.' Christians too can become useless.

Jesus called himself "the light of the world." He said of his people, "Ye are the light of the world." Believers shine only when they are touched by Him. Light scatters darkness, cheers, reveals and enlightens. However, light fails in its mission if it is put under a bushel. It is possible for Christians to fail.

II. Jesus came to fulfill the law and the prophets. The Lord said that he did not come to destroy the law but to fulfill it. The Old Testament teaches about the coming of Jesus—these prophecies he fulfilled. Jesus did more than that. The people to whom the law of God was given did not keep it. The people did not become righteous through the keeping of God's law. Jesus came to reveal another kind of righteousness. The law produced a self-righteousness. The righteousness of Jesus is a gospel righteousness. Christianity teaches the truth that man is not saved by the keeping of any law of God. Christ kept that law for us. In addition Christ died on the cross and paid the penalty of God's violated law. A person is saved through faith in Christ who clothes the sinner with his own righteousness.

III. Christians are called upon to live superior lives. A Christian has a superior motive—he is grateful for his salvation. He expresses this gratitude in a life of service and love. Jesus compared his standards with the law as people knew it from reading the Old Testament and from hearing the rabbis talk about the traditions of the elders.

In the Old Testament there are passages that teach people to love their enemies but these passages were not heeded. Jesus told his hearers about the love of God—how he sends rain and sunshine upon the good and the bad. God's example should be followed by all his children. If those who love the Lord love only those who love them they reveal in their lives the low standard of the publicans. It is easy to be satisfied with a low standard but it is not Christian. When we depend upon the righteousness which Christ has wrought for us, then we shall gratefully strive to imitate God our Father who sent Christ into the world to make atonement for our sins.

That was the extent of their goodbyes. They picked up the children and drove 30 miles until they were within six miles of the Austrian border. Here they had to stop as the rest of the distance was swampland. Perjesi had to exchange his watch for directions. The family waded the last six miles, often through water up to their waists.

"As we reached the border," Perjesi said, "people were swarming in all directions. The Austrians gave us dry clothing, as all we had was what we had worn through the swamp."

The Perjesi stayed in two refugee camps in Austria for six weeks before coming to the United States by boat.

Speaking through their interpreter, Mrs. Eugene Osterhagen, the Perjesi gave a general background of their life under Communism.

In the schools, children are taught to disregard whatever their parents tell them.

Churches are only about half-losing occasional gifts given by their employers if it is known they are church-goers.

Perjesi has lost all his possessions at three different times in his life, he said.

ALMOST DEPORTED — Kalman Perjesi, center, looks over some of the new clothing he and his family have received since coming to Zeeland as Hungarian refugees. He told Monday night how close he had come to being deported to the Soviet Union as an anti-

Refugee Family Tells Of Near Deportation

ZEELAND (Special) — Kalman Perjesi started work today at H. L. Hubbell Manufacturing Co. in Zeeland. Two months ago he was scheduled for deportation to the Soviet Union.

Monday night, Perjesi related the experience he had had in bringing his family to safety from his revolt-torn native land.

A member of an anti-Communist party in his home town of Papa, about 75 miles from Budapest, Perjesi learned one morning in November that all members of his party were being gathered together for deportation.

Without permission, he left his job as a mechanic and delivery man at 10 a.m. and took a bus home. Interrupting his wife in the midst of her dinner preparations, he told her it would be necessary to leave immediately.

After stationing their three small children along the road, the Perjesis went to his in-laws to tell them of their plans and told them to come to their two-room apartment after they had left to take for themselves whatever they were able to carry.

That was the extent of their goodbyes. They picked up the children and drove 30 miles until they were within six miles of the Austrian border. Here they had to stop as the rest of the distance was swampland. Perjesi had to

Christian Endeavor

His Will Is Mine
Luke 7:16, 9:51-62; Phil. 3:13-15
by Darrell Frankon
Sunday, January 20

Determining God's will for our lives is sometimes an exasperating and frustrating problem. Of course some people do not stop even to consider the question of God's Will for their lives. Others glance at the problem and take the detour of self-complacency. But for the concerned Christian this problem is as hard to handle as a car on an icy road.

To The Leader
Since this is a problem for many, and should be a problem for others, it might be wise to use the technique of "problem-solving" in trying to develop this topic. Instead of giving a speech or reading what someone else has written, follow the steps that are outlined here, and make changes where necessary.

Preparation and Presentation
Arrive early, set up a blackboard. Have enough paper and pencils for everyone. And place Bibles on the chairs along with the hymnbook.

You could introduce your topic with some remarks about God's will for our lives. This might include some comments about Paul's flight from God and his sudden conversion. It might include some comments about Peter's boisterous convictions and his denial. Paul fled from the Will of God and came back. Peter vowed he would not leave Jesus, but denied him in a weak moment. The problem of God's will for our lives faces each one daily. Each of us must eventually answer this question for ourselves.

Since each person must answer these questions for ourselves, I (says the leader) have written some questions on the board for us to answer. Here they are:

a. How many different ways are there by which we can learn of God's will?

b. Do you think it is easy to do God's will?

c. Does it become easier to do God's will as you get older?

d. Do you have difficulty doing what you know is God's will?

e. How does one make God's will the map for his life to follow?

f. How do missionaries know what is God's will?

g. How do ministers know God's will?

h. Do you think it is possible for you to know God's will for your life as well as a minister knows what is God's will for his life?

i. What does the Bible say about knowing and doing God's will?

(use your Bibles and look up: Matthew 7:21, 12:50, 26:42; John 4:34; Ephesians 5:17 and others.)

After each person has written down the answers to these questions on the paper you have provided, ask for volunteers to read their answers. (You may notice that some who never enter into a discussion will read their answers. This is one way to get more people into the discussion.)

Having had a period of discussion centering around the answers that have been given, it might be profitable for each person to write one last statement, answering this question: "What is God's Will for my life?"

Christmas Tree Presents Quite an Undertaking for Polityka Family

Hamilton

The Woman's Study Club resumed its activities after a brief holiday recess with a meeting held the past week at the home of Mrs. Henry Funckes with Mrs. Harvey Koop presiding and conducting the business sessions. Program leader was Mrs. Fred Bilet, who gave an interesting book review, "Of Things Not Seen" by Mrs. Harriet Hentz Houser. A conservation report was given by Mrs. Allan Calahan and Mrs. Funckes conducted a game for the special feature. The hostess served refreshments each serving decorated with a lighted candle, honoring birthday anniversaries of three club members on and near that date.

A baby girl, Jilane Given, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kempe at Holland Hospital on Jan. 7.

Rep. Ben E. Lohman and John Klingenberg, both of Hamilton, will be spending much of their time at the state capitol in Lansing the coming weeks, the former attending the Legislature sessions and the latter resuming his work as sergeant-at-arms, a position to which he was recently reappointed.

Mrs. James Hoover has returned home after a few days in Holland Hospital for surgery. Mrs. Louis Poll also spent a couple of days there during the past week.

The Rev. N. Van Heukelom used as his sermon topic last Sunday morning at the Reformed Church, "Is There Universal Salvation?" The Girls' Choir sang a special selection. At the evening service a trio of young girls, Sandra Sprick, Sharon Folkert and Donna Ten Brink sang and the Rev. Clarence Greving of Overisel conducted the service, concluding a series of Prayer Week topics on the general theme, "We Behold His Glory." The local pastor was at the Dunningville Church for the evening service.

Several Hamilton relatives attended an open house event at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gerrit Van Zyl of Holland on Sunday afternoon, honoring their cousin, Miss Doris Brower and John Muller, both of Holland, whose engagement was recently announced. Mr. and Mrs. George Schutmaat were assistant hosts and hostesses.

The local Christian Reformed Church is planning to sponsor a Hungarian refugee family through the Calvinist Resettlement Commission. The Young People's Society of the Church studied, "The Brevity of Life," based on the Psalm 90 and Ann De Jong was in charge of the remainder of the program.

Harold Wesselburg was taken to Holland Hospital for surgery during the past week.

A meeting was held during the past week by the School Study Group at the Hamilton school with several representatives from rural area schools in attendance. Facing the fact that action must be taken soon to make definite plans for a solution to the problem confronting the rural schools, all possible information is being sought by a committee appointed several months ago, before a general meeting of the school districts involving conditions in the schools of the city, especially the high school, where local area students have been enrolled for years, makes an imperative move necessary.

The Senior High Schristian Endeavor group continued a question box program, started the previous Sunday at the Reformed Church and the Junior High group studied the topic "Stand With God," with Nancy Lugten, Kenneth Kaper and Dale Edwigs as leaders and Lynda Langeland and Delwin Redder in charge of devotions. Pianist was Mary Lugten. The Young People's C.E. service was in charge of Georgianna Joost-berns and Barbara Folkert.

Samuel Dessent, 64, Dies at Saugatuck

SAUGATUCK (Special) — Samuel Dessent, 64, of 110 Butler St., died Monday in Douglas Hospital following an extended illness. He was born in Chicago in 1892 and was a policeman there for many years before coming to Saugatuck seven years ago.

Surviving are the wife, Mary; two sons, Harold Dessent of Evanston, Ill., and Joseph Dessent of Chicago; three grandchildren; three brothers, Dr. Robert Dessent, Dr. Herman Dessent and a Michael Dessent, all of Chicago.

ALLEGAN (Special) — If Mr. and Mrs. Alex Polityka, of 248 Western Ave., Allegan, seem unusually reluctant to take down their Christmas tree each year, they have good reason.

In addition to a great love for the meaning and pageantry of Christmas, the fact that it takes the Politykas from three to four days to set up their tree and the miniature village and nativity scene which surrounds its base, may help to explain why you'll find the tree aglow in their living room, even in mid-January.

Any day, now, however, the Politykas will agree, with much reluctance, that it's about time the miniature village and the nativity scene, which Alex helped to buy more than 36 years ago, and the tree taken down for another year.

Although few of us would want to make trimming the yule tree a four-day project, some of Polityka's techniques are worth remembering. His tree, for instance, one of the long needed varieties, has yet to shed a needle and if anything it looks fresher and greener than it did when it was first put up, nearly a month ago.

Due to the dry summer, this particular variety of tree had many reddish brown needles, this year. Today, thanks to care and judicious use of plant food, the Polityka's tree is completely green. They secure the butt in a large bucket of sand. The first week they added nearly two quarts of water a day to the sand, but the amount needed by the tree gradually diminished to about a quart a week. Also, once each week, they gave the tree approximately a teaspoon of concentrated plant food in two quarts of water.

The care with which Polityka wires the tree lights also pays off. Although this year's tree has a total of 51 lights on it, not one bulb has to be replaced. He says this is because he puts 12 lights on a circuit, rather than the usual eight. Each bulb receives less voltage, generates less heat and consequently does not burn out as fast. The lower temperature is a safety factor and also helps keep the tree from drying out.

The wiring, which usually takes about a day, is the biggest phase of the project. Polityka does not use strings of lights, as they come from the store, but wires each bulb carefully individually, placing the wire at the tip of a branch, then wrapping the lead wire around the branch and tying it in to a main circuit which runs up and down the trunk. The wiring itself is virtually invisible.

It is this subtle perfection that typifies the Polityka's tree. The decorations are traditional, but there are neither too few nor too many. They use no more tinsel than the rest of us, but each strand is hung individually.

Beneath the tree on a green baize covered platform, surrounded by a tiny white picket fence is the miniature Christmas village, complete even to a church with lighted stained-glass windows and a music box that plays an old familiar Christmas hymn. And at one end is the nativity scene, bought 36 years ago by Polityka's mother, partly with money he had earned by playing the violin in their home-town of Shenandoah, Pa.

Although their tree and Christmas village are unique in this area Polityka said they are traditional in many homes in Eastern Pennsylvania. He recalls, especially, one "production" so elaborate that families paid 50 cents apiece to visit the man's home to see it. This village included a running stream and miniature railroad.

Predicts Income Levy If Spending Continues in State

Scores Empty Beds In State Hospitals, University Tuitions

State Sen. Clyde Geerlings (R-Holland), newly appointed chairman of the important Senate Taxation Committee, has expressed reluctance to promote any new taxes in the state.

But he qualified this statement on several points, and said if the spiral of state spending continues a state income tax in the future is inevitable.

Speaking only for himself and not for his committee, Geerlings told The Sentinel Jan. 12: "I'm reluctant to go for any new tax increase so long as the mental health report shows 450 empty beds in state institutions, and I'm reluctant to promote new taxes so long as state educational institutions list tuition fees far below those of the private colleges in the state."

He applauded action taken Friday in establishing fees for the use of state parks. "I don't know anything about methods that will be used but I'm in favor of the fundamental policy which provides that people who use the facilities share in the cost."

Geerlings pointed out that the fields of big expenses in the state lie in the mental health program, higher education and public welfare.

In speaking on the mental health front, he said his figures were exclusive of the retarded children program which has a waiting list and certainly needs consideration.

On the higher education front, he said he did not in any way want to jeopardize chances of young people who cannot afford to go to college, but pointed to the increasing number of scholarships for worthy students now available. "It doesn't make sense to me for persons who send their children to state colleges in expensive automobiles and have their education financed almost exclusively at state expense. To the best of my knowledge, state tuition is about $200 a year compared with an average $500 for private colleges in the state, which admittedly are not the highest in the nation."

He said people often lose their perspective of what the state actually accomplishes in serving the people. For instance, headlines in which the governor asks $5 million for retarded children receive attention far out of focus of the regular mental health program in the state which last year budgeted $50,000,000 for operations and $10,000,000 for capital outlay.

"People in Michigan must realize that the next major tax will be a state income tax," Geerlings said. "There are no other fields for consideration."

For such services as state parks, Geerlings believes the people should ask themselves, "Would I rather pay as I use the park or would I rather have an income tax?" He said this same question should be applied to low tuition state colleges and universities.

"History shows that income tax always starts at low percentages—possibly 1 percent—and relatively high deductions. Next the deductions are lowered and gradually the percentage rises. To me it is not a pretty picture. But one thing is certain, once we get it, it is never taken away."

Flames Destroy Township Home

Mrs. Wells Penna escaped injury Monday when she fled her burning home on 152nd St., near Van Buren Ave.

Mrs. Penna said she had just started for the bathroom when she saw it was full of smoke. She attempted to call the fire department but was driven out by the dense smoke.

She ran towards the corner and met her husband returning from a nearby store. The two dashed back to the home and attempted to save some furniture but were driven back by the flames.

Holland Township firemen said the 22 by 22 prefab home and its contents were completely destroyed. The loss was estimated at $5,000 which was covered by insurance.

Two Trucks Collide; Traffic Tied Up 6 Hours

State police detoured traffic on US-31 for six hours Monday after two large vehicles side-swiped at 3 a.m. near the Ottawa County Animal Shelter.

The operator of one of the vehicles, Robert Wemple, 24, of Shelby, was charged with driving his produce truck across the center line, police said. They said Wemple may have dozed while driving. The produce truck collided with a double bottom tanker semi. The produce truck, valued at approximately $8,000, was judged a total loss, while damage to the tanker was estimated at $5,500.

The tanker, driven by Clyde B. Royal, 24, of Muskegon, was filled with fuel oil, police said. He was not hurt, but Wemple received an arm laceration.

Ottawa County Cancer Society Directors Resign

Move Is Protest Against Ban on Federated Drive Fund

The entire board of directors of the Ottawa County unit of the American Cancer Society has resigned because of national policies which do not permit participation in any federated drive, it was announced Friday.

The action was taken Jan. 7 as the climax to a meeting with two officials of the Michigan division, and a signed letter of resignation was mailed Jan. 10 to the Michigan division offices in Grand Rapids. Although this letter has not been acknowledged, it is assumed the resignation will be accepted.

Members of the board are, Mrs. J. D. Jencks, chairman; Mrs. J. Tiesinga, secretary; R. W. Gordon, treasurer; Dr. O. van der Velde, Mrs. W. C. Kools and J. H. Van Dyke, all of Holland, Mrs. H. C. Dickman of Zeeland and Dr. Ralph Ten Have of Grand Haven.

Representing the Michigan division at Monday's meeting were A. L. Crampin, executive field director, and Katherine Murdoch, public relations director.

The action of the Board is the result of a ruling by the National Directors, two years ago, that the American Cancer Society could no longer accept funds raised in a federated drive such as local Community Chests. Inasmuch as the members of the Ottawa County Unit disagreed with this policy they felt that they could no longer serve on the Board.

By resigning, the board has opened the way for the formation of a new unit in the County. It is hoped that the new organization will be able to conduct a county-wide campaign this spring to raise the necessary funds to carry on the work of the society.

Some of the members who resigned have indicated their willingness and desire to serve on the new board provided they are not called upon to participate in the fund campaign. Their primary interest in wanting to continue as members of the new unit is to carry on the service and educational program which has been well established in the county over a period of many years.

Resignation from the county unit board by Dr. van der Velde and Dr. Ten Have does not affect their positions on the state board. Both of these men are members of that body.

Mrs. Jencks stated that anyone needing information or assistance for cancer patients should contact her by calling 8112. She will continue to process all inquiries until the new unit is organized.

Patients now receiving help under the service program will continue to receive assistance on the same basis as in the past.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

The common soldier, sometimes referred to as "cannon fodder," comes into his own in the books of Bruce Catton, Pulitzer prize winning American historian. In Catton's Civil War narrative the common foot soldier stays in the spotlight from first page to last. The Catton books are now four in number, all dealing with the Civil War. The current volume is called "This Hallowed Ground"; earlier titles were "The War of the Wilderness," "Mr. Lincoln's Army," and "Glory Road." In all of them he is common soldier-conscious, not officer-conscious, as nearly all historians and biographers have been up until now. "Mr. Lincoln's Army" and "Glory Road" furnish perhaps the best examples of this author's preoccupation with the foot soldier and his neglect of generals. Or rather they emphasize his deprecating of the generals while he is glorifying the common GI — who was not called by that term during the Civil War.

The hundreds of thousands of young boys who made up McClellan's Army of the Potomac were raw farm workers or industrial hands. They knew nothing about fighting when they enlisted or were drafted. All they had to offer were their lives or limbs. The same thing was true of the foot soldiers of the Confederacy.

Mr. Catton's imagination works on that raw material from first to last. Hundreds of thousands of those boys died because the generals, McClellan among them, were too unintelligent to be their true leaders. But the boys themselves gradually learned to be soldiers, those that survived the blunders of the leaders. At the close of "Mr. Lincoln's Army" the author presents a real army forged in the fires of war in spite of what the generals did to impede their education. But that was only the beginning. "Glory Road" takes up the same theme, telling the story of what Catton calls the bloody route from Fredericksburg to Gettysburg. That decisive battle of the war was won by the foot soldiers themselves, not by the Northern generals. Meade, who was in supreme command, was a mediocre general, patriotic but of limited intelligence, and for the most part the higher echelons of the army could be described in the same terms.

But the common soldier, the rank and file, had learned their trade of killing and being killed, and it was they who won the battle that in retrospect was seen to be the decisive conflict.

It has taken a long time for the historians and biographers to arrive at the point of view that the common soldier was the real hero of the Civil War. The novelists anticipated the historians in this idea. About a half a century ago Stephen Crane, in "The Red Badge of Courage," made a common Union foot soldier the hero of his book. Many years later James Boyd, in "Marching On," did the same thing for a Confederate common soldier.

But even in fiction, the common men, the ones who were only expected to die cheerfully, have been quite generally ignored. A character in an average American novel had to be no less than a captain or a colonel or a general to rate as a hero. And in the history books and biographies the common man has been mostly forgotten. Bruce Catton turns those millions of common men into a kind of composite hero.

Catton is Michigan-born. But the fact that he is a Pulitzer prize winner, ought to recommend him to Michigan readers.

GRANDSTANDING... Jack Tighe's Tigers

By Randy Vande Water

Jack Tighe, who is the best public relations feature the Detroit Tigers have had since they won the '45 pennant, makes a real hit as a speaker and the bald-headed Tiger manager has already done a lot to fill Briggs Stadium next summer.

Since being named Bengal boss, Tighe has been all over Michigan talking to gatherings similar to the one at St. Francis de Sales church Thursday night and reports have it that he makes an equally big impression every place he speaks.

As long as there are people around asking questions, Tighe is ready to answer, punctuating most of his replies with a story.

Asked if the Tigers had plans to have any Negroes in the organization, Tighe replied that 12 are in the farm system and two of them are "pretty close."

That brought up an anecdote which happened last winter at Tigertown, the Tigers' trout camp. Mrs. Tighe, a former Muskegon woman, and of French descent, saw the name of Pierre on the list of Tigertown hopefuls and wanted to meet Antoine.

She did and received quite a surprise. For Pierre turned out to be a big 6'3" 19-year-old Negro catcher from the Louisiana swamps. And his first statement to Tighe was "you-all want to see me, coach."

"He will make it someday," Tighe said. The reason Tighe gave for not having any Negro players (the only team in the majors that doesn't) on its roster was because the Tigers wanted to be sure the player was a first stringer all the way and "he has to be good."

Billy Hoelt, described as a bit "flaky" by the new Tiger manager, has been somewhat a problem. The new manager compared Hoelt to a Missouri mule and said "sometimes you have to hit 'em to get their attention before you can tell 'em anything."

Tighe figures Hoelt has the physical ability to be a consistent 20-game winner, but he must apply himself properly. "I've laid down the rules and he has to live up to them."

On moving Ray Boone to first,

Two Cars Damaged

Two cars received damage estimated at $375 Friday afternoon when they collided at 10th St. and College Ave. Police said the cars were driven by James Woldring, 54, of 94 East 24th St., and Edward Wolters, 58, of 888 West 25th St.

Tighe felt that since Boone, 33, has lost his agility, he would render more service to the club at first base than at third.

Since Boone is a good hitter, Tighe thinks he is the best of the Tigers in the clutch, he wants him in the lineup. At first he can play deeper, won't have to charge as many bunts and won't have to make the long throw across the diamond.

Rip Collins and Phil Cavaretta, long-time National League first basemen and close friends of Tighe, have echoed strong feeling that Boone can make the grade at first.

The pride of Paw Paw, Charles Maxwell, came in for much praise from his boss. "We put him out there (left field) because we didn't have any other choice. The other three fellows (Jim Delsing, J. W. Porter and Wayne Belardi) just couldn't make it," Tighe said.

Eddie Robinson, obtained from the Kansas City A's, notified Tighe he's ready to "hit 25 home runs in Briggs Stadium." "That's over a 154-game schedule," Tighe said, "and we'll be using him in about 60 games."

Tighe may have Jim Small, the 20-year-old bonus baby who led the Tigers in pinch hitting last season, in center field on opening day.

It all started the closing day of the season in 1956. Small wanted to bat against Bob Feller but the youngster didn't get the nod that day. So he belted to Tighe. To soothe Small, Tighe said, "You can start for me next season."

The only catch was Tighe was figuring on being shipped to manage some minor league club and that Small would be sent along when his bonus is finished in June.

But now the shoe's on the other foot and Small has already written Tighe reminding him of his promise.

Saugatuck Wins Easily; Fennville Edges Covert

SAUGATUCK (Special) — The Saugatuck Indians romped to a 63-46 win over winless Bloomingdale here Friday night to entrench themselves in fourth place in the Al-Van league.

Quickly disposing of an early 5-2 deficit, Saugatuck's fast-break and zone defense told the story as the winners marched to a 26-9 lead at the half. The margin was at 36-18 going into the last period when Coach Bud Whipple inserted his substitutes, allowing the Cardinals to come up with 28 points in the final eight minutes.

Saugatuck assured its win in the second stanza when they limited the losers to a single field goal in racking up their big lead. Bloomingdale's Bob Troesch couldn't get going until the fourth quarter, in which he started to connect from outside. Troesch had 12 points in the last period to wind up with 17, high for the losers.

Carl Jacobs had 19, Bob Brack-enridge 17 and Harvey Slotman 12 to nail the top runs on the balanced Saugatuck scoring ladder.

The lopsided victory triumph was a direct contrast to the battle of the junior varsities. Trailing 25-13 with three minutes left, in the game, Saugatuck put on a huge flourish to take a 30-28 victory. Reason for the 17-point comeback rested on the Braves' decision to shoot. They had been coveting the ball for the entire game, but finally decided to let it fly. Bill Figley had 12 points to pace the Braves.

FENNVILLE (Special) — The scoring of Bob Coffey and Jerry Smith, combined with superior rebounding, enabled Fennville High School to nip Covert 42-39, in an Al-Van league game here Friday night.

Coffey poured in 22 of his team's points on eight field goals and six free throws. Smith meshed 15 points and nabbed 23 rebounds in a game marked by poor shooting percentages.

The Blackhawks had a bad night from the floor, sinking only 23 per cent of their 65 shots for 15 baskets. Covert was a little better, hitting 18 of 32 for 35 per cent, but the Bulldogs could cash in on only three of 16 free tosses. Fennville converted 12 of 24 from the charity line.

Covert took the lead at the start and held it until an eight-point spurt early in the fourth quarter put Fennville ahead, 38-33. Coffey had six and Smith two in the rally. Coach Sam Morehead told his club to take only sure shots at that point and then watched his team wait for the openings, only to find them. The winners took 19 shots in the final five minutes and made but four points.

The Fennville junior varsity topped the Covert seconds, 42-31, paced by Dave Turner's 15 points. It was the junior Blackhawks fourth win in six starts.

State Park Fee Plan Approved

LANSING — The Michigan Conservation Commission Friday approved a plan requiring purchase of a car sticker for use of state parks.

Stickers will cost $2 and will be good for use in any state park and the plan also will include a lesser charge for single admittance to a park.

Conservation Director Gerald F. Eddy recommended the plan and said money obtained would go directly "for improvement in the park system."

Commissioner Frank Burch, Detroit, said the lesser charge would be made "commensurate with park services rendered."

Quered by The Sentinel through United Press in Lansing, a commission spokesman said methods of selling stickers, detail of administering the plan, etc. will be decided by department staff members at later meetings.

How the system will affect persons using campsites, picnic, fishing or swimming facilities also will be worked out at staff meetings.

The commission approved a five-year lease of 1,280 acres in the Fort Custer military reservation for recreational purposes. However, the Fort Custer area will not be opened until July 1.

It was announced that there will be no special spring rainbow trout season in streams in the Lower Peninsula this year because sea lampreys have cut the trout population.

Explorers Plan Busy 6 Months

Thirty-one Explorer leaders planned a busy schedule of activities for the first six months of 1957 at the Chippewa District Explorer Roundtable Wednesday night at First Methodist Church. Miner Meinderstra conducted the meeting at which eight local Explorer groups participated and planned district-wide events covering four fields of emphasis — outdoor, social, vocational exploration and civic service.

In January the Explorers will begin an inter-post basketball tournament. During February they will hold a Winter Sports Carnival, participate in National Scout Week activities, attend the Grand Valley Council Explorer Ball on Feb. 9 and Eagle Scout recognition dinner on Feb. 25.

Highlight of the year will be a weekend trip to Great Lakes Naval Station or Selfridge Air Base. During May there will be a two-day canoe race on the Kalamazoo River with units from the entire council participating, and the "Jamboree" campout for 3,500 at Allegan County fair grounds.

Explorers will also perform civic service duties during Tulip Time and during the annual spring clean-up at Holland State Park. In June there will be a coed canoe outing and swimming party.

Many Explorers will have an opportunity during the summer months to participate in annual summer camps at Ottawa and Shawandossie, the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, an expedition to the Philmont Scout Ranch in N. M., and a special Canadian canoe trip in August.

Holland Reserves Take Fifth Victory

Another big second half, this time 30 points, gave the Holland High reserves win No. 5 in six straight starts with a decisive 45-25 shellacking of the Grand Haven seconds.

Holland, using a half court press effectively and getting the most out of a well-oiled fast break, completely controlled the game in the second half.

Coach Bob Connell began inserting his substitutes early in the third period. Grand Haven made only four points in each of the second and third quarters.

Ron Zorgelo was high point man for Holland with eight and Jim Van Putten, Jim Overbeek and Bob Chambers with six each and Hub Harrington had five. Ted Walters, Vern Teske and Dave Wemeyer all had four and Russ Prins two.

Stillson was nigh for the Little Bucs with seven. He was ejected from the game early in the second half and his loss hurt Grand Haven.

DUTCH IMMIGRANT MEMOIRS AND RELATED WRITINGS

by Henry S. Lucas. This work by the author of Netherlanders in America is a collection of letters written by the pioneer Dutch as they settled in the virgin woods of Michigan and Wisconsin, in the prairies of Iowa and other states, and in the villages of the great American frontier. One is impressed with the grimness of a job that has to be done, with the stolid acceptance of the handmaiden Death, and with the stalwart attitude of mind with which our forebears met their problems, of which there were many. Truly a challenging book, an inspiring book, and one worthy of the time of any one interested in a brave people.

THESE THOUSAND HILLS by A. B. Guthrie, Jr., will appeal to men who like tales of the West in its gaudier days. Under the flare of the campfire one sniffs the smoky, tangy air with comrades like Whitey, the drunken hostler, who knew how to change a horse brand temporarily, with Little Runner, the Indian, cowpuncher Carmichael who would rather exchange stories than shoulder responsibility, loyal Tom Ping, and the main man, Lat Evans, who sets out for the west trailing cattle and ends up being trailed by two women. Is this what you want?

BLIND TIGER by Robert Standish has its background in Europe and moves dramatically through World War II weaving a tale of conflict in the life of a wealthy young American, Johnny Holderness — this unsettling affair is between his money and his ideals, his ideals and an English girl, Mary Venning, and between his girl and his money. It all boils down to this that a tiger may be blind but it still has claws and has to eat!

MAMBA by Stuart Cloete, author of The African Giant, has done it again — this time with a much smaller — sized book but big in African blackness and violence. The novel is colorful with the lives of four main characters — Henry, the ranch manager, his bride, Helen, from England, his assistant, Jim, and the predatory half-caste, Marie — Therese, against the primitive backdrop of the Congo. It is lush and mysterious and filled with excitement! No sleep here! Read it early!

THE SEVEN DEADLY SINS by Billy Graham is a collection of essays on pride, anger, envy, impurity, gluttony, slothfulness, and avarice. These sins which are nowhere collectively mentioned in a single passage in the Bible are condemned separately in many places. The scheme of Dante's "Purgatory" follows the order of the seven deadly sins; these are also discussed fully in Chaucer's "Parson's Tale" and in Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus." The problem as well as the answer is found in each one of these subjects which originally were broadcast on "The Hour of Decision." Good reading!

YOUR DOG'S HEALTH BOOK edited by Jack Denton Scott was written by 29 veterinarians. Scott was once dog editor of the Field & Stream Magazine, later of Argosy, and is presently outdoor editor of the American Legion Magazine. If your dog is off his feed, twitches when he sleeps and upchucks right after eating, you may find the answer in here. In other words, this book covers or uncovers for you information on how to make the mad, glad; the sick, quick; and the old, older. For those aware of their responsibility as a dog owner, this book has what you've been waiting for.

Curriculum Study Reports Given

Graduation requirements, the importance of the guidance staff and the total guidance program, to help boys and girls meet their needs and those of the community, were among subjects discussed by 12 members of the Holland High curriculum council under leadership of J. J. Riemersma, who met with G. Robert Koopman of the state department of public instruction Wednesday at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Co-Chairmen Urge Citizens to Study Complete Picture

Another Meeting
Slated Jan. 17
In Bank Basement

Sixteen additional members to the Citizens Annexation Advisory Committee were named Thursday night by Co-Chairmen Earnest C. Brooks and Marvin C. Lindeman who were among the initial 16 members appointed earlier this week by Mayor Robert Visscher.

New appointees are William H. Vande Water, Leonard Steffens, Willard H. Connor, Gerald Van Wyke, Mrs. Bruce M. Raymond, Mrs. Alvin D. Bos, Bertal Slaght and Harry Wieskamp, all of Holland city; Merle De Feyter and Mrs. Jack Van Deusen of Fillmore township; Vern Van Lente and James F. White of Lakewood township; Tom Parker and George Lemmen of Holland township; and James Lugers and Harvey De Vries of Park township.

Earlier this week Mayor Visscher had appointed Peter Kromann, James F. Brooks, Russell A. Klaasen, Earnest C. Brooks, Jacob Zuidema, John Van Dyke, Jr., A. J. Cook and George Good of Holland city; Walter A. Vander Haar and Fred Bocks of Holland township; Clarence Jalving and Marvin Lindeman of Park township; Henry Kleinheksel and John Siebelink of Fillmore township; and Gordon Van Putten and Edwin Raphael of Lakewood township. Thursday night Visscher named Peter Meurer to replace Fred Bocks who is unable to serve.

Thursday's meeting was called mainly to discuss preliminary plans on how to carry on the study. Mayor Visscher explained Council's proposed program in which an area not less than the primary service area is recommended for annexation. He emphasized that one of the main functions of the study committee is eventually to determine where these boundaries shall be.

He emphasized the need for immediate action in view of the proposed program of the Board of Education in annexing some 11 districts to the Holland district.

Co-Chairman Brooks urged the committee to "think big" because it is always easier to cut down than to expand. He said "annexation" is an unfortunate word because the first reaction is a thought that a big fellow is gobbling up the little fellow. "That might be true in Detroit, Chicago or Grand Rapids, but in Holland the reverse could be true. Certainly, the outside areas have developed much more rapidly than the city and in years to come there will be more people in areas now under consideration than in the city," he said.

He expected committees would be appointed for schools, water, power and light, sewage, finance, legal aspects, and perhaps others.

Lindeman urged committee members to familiarize themselves with the "lay of the land" of the entire area. He said all information must be presented in a fair and equitable manner with proper interpretation, and then the people must draw their own conclusions. He said annexation is a two-way deal, and there should be no threats or innuendoes. "It must be worked out for the mutual good of everybody or it won't be any good."

Lindeman said Holland needs the outside area for the city has been static while the outlying areas have been growing dynamically. "We must keep the core healthy and vital, and the biggest job will be to correct a lot of misinformation and snap judgments that won't stand up under proper scrutiny. Fear of the unknown always bothers people, but this fear becomes understanding when all the facts become known."

Clarence Jalving reiterated his previous proposal in which he felt the boundaries should be 48th St. in Allegan county, 112th Ave. to the east, Riley to the north and Lake Michigan to the west. This would mean a total area of some 35½ square miles, minus about six square miles for Lake Macatawa. To strengthen his contention on community growth, he said the local telephone company serves 36,000 customers.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Thursday, Jan. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of Peoples State Bank.

GLASS COMPANY HIT BY FIRE — Fire Chief Andrew Klompars (white coat) points out to Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff where smoke is still pouring from the Maerose Glass Co., 251 West 11th St., during Thursday night's fire. Klompars said the estimated $10,000 to $12,000 loss is largely to contents. With the exception of the rear of the first floor, most of the building was not damaged by flames. Klompars listed an exploding oil heated water heater as the cause of the blaze. Police officers blocked off 11th St. between Washington and Van Raalte Aves. to prevent motorists from clogging the scene. (Sentinel photo)

Maerose Glass Company Hit by $12,000 Blaze

Fire raced through the interior of the Maerose Glass Co. at 251 West 11th St. Thursday night resulting in damage estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000.

The blaze started in the basement when an oil heated hot water heater exploded. Fire Chief Andrew Klompars said.

Flames quickly spread from the rear of the basement to the first floor and were eating through the ceiling of the first floor when firemen arrived.

Dense smoke completely hid the building and an adjoining home. Firemen were forced to don smoke masks to enter the structure to get at the flames.

Fire loss was largely confined to the first floor where a large stock of glass machines and cutting tables were located. The front offices were untouched by the flames.

The remainder of the building including a second floor apartment occupied by Gordon Vander Schel received extensive smoke damage. The alarm was turned in by Derk Bloemendaal, who lives next door, when a buzzer leading to the Bloemendaal home from the Maerose Co. shorted out.

Bloemendaal heard the buzzer and looked next door to see the entire structure engulfed in smoke. He quickly phoned the fire department. Firemen said a few minutes more head start by flames and the entire building would have been in danger.

The buzzer system was installed when Mrs. Bloemendaal worked at the glass company as secretary to owner Hans Suzenaar.

Firemen were on the scene for more than an hour from shortly before 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. They returned this morning when a small blaze broke out again.

Calvin Alumni Banquet Has Centennial Theme

The centennial celebration this year of the Christian Reformed Church was the central theme for the Calvin College Alumni Association banquet Thursday night in Maple Avenue Christian Reformed Church. The event was sponsored by the Holland - Zeeland chapter.

Mrs. Gerald Van Wyke reviewed the book, "I Will Build My Church," just published, and written by Thea Bouma Van Halsema about the Christian Reformed Church. The author credited the local area with having contributed much to the origin of the Christian Reformed Church.

Four of the first Christian Reformed Churches in the denomination were organized in this vicinity, Polkton, which now is Coopersville, Graafschap, Noordeloos and Vriesland, which today is one of the Zeeland churches. The author of the book also wrote about two denominational missionaries to Africa, one of whom was present at the banquet Miss Jennie Stielstra.

The Rev. John C. Ricker of Noordeloos was toastmaster for the evening. The Noordeloos church also is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

John De Vries, president of the Holland-Zeeland chapter and banquet chairman, led devotions on Matthew 16, "On Thee Will I Build My Church." The Melodians quartet, composed by Alfred Hietbrink, George Knoll, Vernon Roberts and Kenneth Vander Zwaag, sang "Drifting Along," "Love Divine," and the spiritual, "Do Lord."

Marvin Baas conducted group singing and the Rev. Peter Dahm led closing prayer. Decorations for the banquet were in the centennial colors, black and gold. Black tapers surrounded by greens were placed on the tables. The speaker's table was centered with white pompons and red carnations. Programs were a black and gold triangle with the red crescent and adorned with the Centennial seal. Nutcrackers were in the shape of a red crescent surrounded by a black crescent.

DAR Has Annual Guest Night Meet

State Rep. George Van Puseum, guest speaker at the annual guest night meeting of Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday evening, presented three major obligations necessary in doing one's share when he spoke on the subject, "Your Share."

The meeting was held in the Commons Room of Western Theological Seminary.

The newly elected Speaker of the House in emphasizing responsibility on the local level, said the first obligation is to inform yourself on government, especially taxes and expenditures. Such information can be obtained through local papers, radio, TV and various organizations and also through state senators and representatives. The second obligation is to become vocal and the third by personal effective way, Van Puseum said.

A tolerant attitude toward the government representative can be obtained by complete information on all his voting in the Legislature, the speaker continued. In closing he said that one receives a better return in doing "your share."

Willard Fast of the High School Music Department, accompanied by Miss Ann Bloodgood, sang "Myself When Young" by Lohman and "Sylvia" by Speaks. Mrs. Earl Price, regent president and Mrs. Ben Van Lente led devotions. Mrs. Eldon Dick led in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Church some humorous and inside information on the players. Geurink-Bouwman Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jerome Geurink

Bouquets of snapdragons, mums and pompons, palms and candelabra decorated the chancel of the Rusk Christian Reformed Church Wednesday, Jan. 2, when Miss Beatrice Jean Bouwman became the bride of Glenn Jerome Geurink. White satin bows and greens marked the pews for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Andrew Zylstra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Bouwman of Rusk. Mr. and Mrs. John Geurink of Borculo are the groom's parents.

Miss Patricia Grassmid played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Anthony Lauritsma who sang "I Love You Truly," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Attending the couple were Mrs. Robert Wolf, sister of the bride, matron of honor; Miss Gretel Stiegenga, bridesmaid; John Geurink, Jr., best man; Justin Gebben, groomsmen; Robert Wolf and Henry Austhof, ushers; Laurel De Jonge, flower girl and Randy Assink, ringbearer.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Alencon lace and nylon tulle with fitted bodice, long sleeves and a scoop neckline featuring embroidered detail. Embroidered details were also used on the full, bouffant skirt at the sides. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and white pompons.

Attendants were matching gowns of blue and pink taffeta with net overskirt caught with velvet bows. The flower girl wore white taffeta with net overskirt and carried rose petals. Matching net headpieces and cascade bouquets of carnations and pompons completed their costumes.

At the reception for 130 persons in Allendale Town Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John Lutke of Borculo were master and mistress of ceremonies. The supper was served and prepared by The Rusk Christian School Aid.

The bride attended Calvin College and is now teaching at Allendale Christian School. She will make her home with her parents while Mr. Geurink is in service. He is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

For their wedding trip, Mrs. Geurink wore a pink and charcoal tweed suit with matching accessories.

Mrs. Burlingame Talks on Plants

"Plants are just like people and respond just as people do to attention and kindness," Mrs. Alice Wessels Burlingame of Birmingham, told members of the Holland Garden Club at their meeting Thursday afternoon in Grace Church. The appropriate title of the talk was "House Plants Can Be Interesting Companions."

In an inspiring and yet practical way, Mrs. Burlingame told her audience that if a leaf turns yellow it means the plant has too much water. If a person is going to leave town for several days, a plastic bag around a plant would keep it safe until the owner returns. Peat moss, good rich dirt and sand put into canisters will be ready for winter plantings. Foliage feeding of plants will boost the growth of the plant, she said.

Mrs. Burlingame sketched her folksy experiences in England last summer where she had been investigating the origin of some plants. She urged members to have a variety of texture in house plants and to "try something new in keeping with the textures and designs of modern homemaking."

Enthusiasm for therapy with plants for hospital patients showed throughout Mrs. Burlingame's talk. Florists have been urged to arrange flowers loosely in a container and let the patient arrange his own bouquet. Therapists have put plastic sheets on a patient's bed, some dirt in a plastic container and then let the patient plant seeds. Watching the plants grow and giving them something besides themselves to talk and think about is the most wonderful therapy in the world, she said.

Mrs. J. D. Jencks presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Arthur Read introduced the speaker. Two new members, Mrs. Sidney Johnson and Mrs. J. Frank Van Alsburg were welcomed as new members.

Announcement was made of the Conservation Study Class which has been changed to Jan. 15.

Delegates Named For Convention

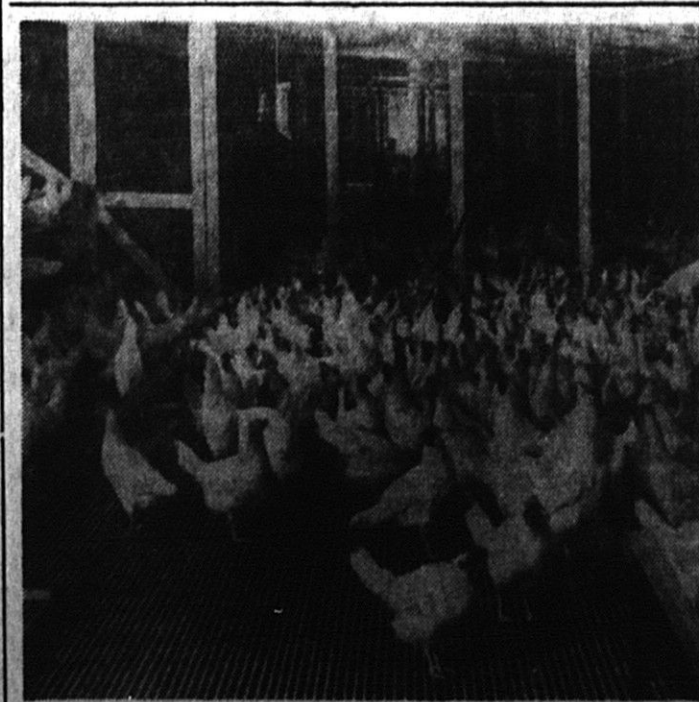

Three delegates to the state women's Republican convention to be held Feb. 8 in Detroit were named at a meeting of the South Ottawa Republican Women's Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. C. Andreasen, 112 East 12th St.

Representing the local club will be Mrs. Wendell A. Miles, Mrs. Gerald Van Wyke and Mrs. Bruce M. Raymond. The meeting in Veterans Memorial Center in Detroit is scheduled a day before the state Republicans convention Feb. 9.

Thursday's meeting was largely informal with a discussion on experiences during the presidential election. Mrs. Henry S. Maentz, club treasurer, reported that approximately $1,500 had been collected, largely through $1 contributions on a house-to-house canvass.

Volunteers who had contributed 10 or more hours of work on the campaign were presented with pins. Approximately 50 names were listed. Mrs. Raymond, club president, presided.

Plans also were discussed for work in future elections. Mrs. Philips Brooks and Mrs. Vernon Klompars assisted Mrs. Andreasen in serving refreshments.

WINDOWLESS POULTRY HOUSE — The Dirkse Leghorn Farm located on M-21, a mile west of Zeeland, has developed a farm saver and a means of increased housing capacity with a windowless poultry house. Rich Dirkse, owner, reports that with the installation of a well-designed, controlled ventilating system and a patented wooden slatted floor, he has been able to eliminate windows and double housing capacity. The laying house is divided by a four-foot alleyway into two main laying areas. These are further divided into laying pens for flock control purposes.

Wants Zuverink, But Can't Get Him; No Platooning

"I'm sure we can beat the White Sox and I think we can beat the Red Sox," Detroit Tiger manager Jack Tighe said Thursday night, thereby indicating the Tigers could finish third in the 1957 American League pennant race.

Tighe has predicted since being named Tiger manager in October that his ball club would finish in the first division. He narrowed this down here Thursday night before a meeting of the Holy Name Society at St. Francis de Sales Church.

He prefaced his remark about Boston with the qualification "if Ted Williams doesn't have a big year." Like every other baseball fan, Tighe had to go along with the New York Yankees to cop the flag again and the Cleveland Indians to fill their familiar runner-up role.

"Certainly not" were his most emphatic words of the night. They came in answer to the query which has been under the skins of Tiger rooters for two years — will the Tigers platoon their hitters? Tighe said a player wouldn't be removed from the lineup until he stops coming along in every department.

Asked if he will pull his pitchers sooner when they run in trouble, Tighe replied positively. He doesn't want the bullpen corps to lose its confidence and spend another summer "watching airplanes."

As for his bullpen plans there was no doubt in the minds of the more than 200 listeners that he would welcome George Zuverink in a Bengal uniform again.

"I wish he was still with the Tigers," Tighe said, "if I had been the manager when he was sent to Baltimore, he wouldn't have gone."

He cited Zuverink's ability as a long and short reliever and the number of games (62) in which the Holland right-hander appeared in 1956.

But he quickly squelched any hopes of Zuverink's return to Detroit. "We contacted Paul Richards but he must think a lot of George too, for he would not let him go."

He turned to Zuverink, who also was featured on the program, and said, "George, I hope you will 16 ball games next year — eight from the Yankees and eight from the Indians."

Inasmuch as Zuverink is apparently slated for the Orioles, Tighe outlined his pitching plans.

He favors four starters, (most clubs like five) two short relievers and two long relievers. Frank Lary, Bill Hoelt and Paul Foytack will be his three regulars with the fourth hurler in doubt. Jim Bunning and Duke Maas may have to fill the bill and Jack Crimian, obtained this winter from the A's, may be used for spot assignments.

Big Al Aber appears to be the No. 1 southpaw fireman and right-hander Steve Gromek will be kept around for five and six inning chores. Aber's weight has dropped from 224 last season to 208 at last report and Tighe felt the sinker ball specialist would be a "very big help."

Ray Boone is Tighe's choice for first base with Eddie Robinson and Jack Phillips in reserve and Earl Torgeson on the block. Torgeson would be bait for a reserve outfielder, preferably young.

Jim Finigan and Reno Bertola will fight it out for third. Finigan might find himself at the plate in Briggs Stadium. Tighe said, and Bertola might be ready to stick in the big leagues after a good '289' year in the American Association.

Bill Tuttle's weight bothers Tighe. After a good year in '56, the centerfielder's weight neared his batting average last year. The new pilot wants Tuttle at 182, 14 pounds less than he closed at last fall.

The rest of the team appears pretty well set with Frank Bolling and Harvey Kuenn as the keystone duo, Charley Maxwell and Al Kaline flanking the outer garden and Red Wilson and Frank House backstopping.

The warmth and sincerity of Tighe kept the interest of the audience, including about 30 wide-eyed youngsters, for more than an hour and a half.

The "squire of Spring Lake" has to do this almost every night of the week. He hasn't spent much time there this winter and has speaking engagements for 17 of the 71 days remaining in January.

Mr. and Mrs. Club Meets at Harderwyk

Mr. and Mrs. Club of Harderwyk Christian Reformed Church held its first meeting of the season Thursday night at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reimink were in charge of devotions.

Albert Roos, guest speaker gave a timely and inspiring talk on "Racial Segregation," stressing Christian relationship to all fellow Americans of other races. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Waterway, presidents, conducted the business meeting with Mr. Waterway giving the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Witteveen and Mr. and Mrs. Waterway.

Holland Chalks Up First Cage Victory

Dutch Triumph Handily, 65-51, Over Grand Haven

Holland High's basketball team won its first game of the season Friday night with an easy 65-51 victory over a ragged Grand Haven club before 1,400 fans at Civic Center.

Coach Fred Weiss should have had a good night's sleep after watching his boys equal their highest point total of the season and snap a five-game losing streak.

The Dutch didn't have too much trouble although they were rather shaky at the beginning and fell behind, 10-2, within two minutes of play.

In fact, Holland trailed most of the first quarter until center Tom Aye netted a free shot at 1:47 to tie the score at 11-all and then forward Dave Hilbink added a pair of charity tosses a half-minute later and the Dutch were out in front for good leading at the end of the first quarter, 15-12.

Using their height advantage, Holland displayed its best defense of the year, limiting the Bucs to just five baskets in the first half. The Dutch were forcing Grand Haven to shoot from outcourt and with a three-quarter court press early in the game hurt chances for a fast break.

It was not Holland's accuracy from the floor that won the game but they were less shoddy than Grand Haven. By getting the majority of rebounds, the Dutch were able to get off 28 more shots than the Bucs.

Holland finished with 29 percent on 24 baskets out of 82 chances while the losers sank 14 out of 55 shots for 25 percent. This was bolstered by a seven out of 15 performance in the fourth quarter. Prior to that Grand Haven had eight baskets out of 40 tries for only 20 percent.

Holland's six baskets and a free throw in the second quarter pushed the margin to 28-17 at half-time.

A 19-point third quarter, Holland's biggest, led to their biggest margin of the game. The third quarter mark was 47-38 and 1:07 later the Dutch pushed the bulge to 51-28.

The game wasn't in doubt in the fourth quarter and Weiss and Grand Haven coach Walt Lowell emptied the benches. The subs jumped at the chance, and, with the loose but even play, the Bucs final quarter.

Gary Gibbons and Jerry Gilbert, a couple of sub centers, turned in the best reserve roles for Holland. Gibbons, inserted early in the first quarter when starter Aye picked up two fouls, came off with 12 points, including four baskets.

Gilbert played only in the final quarter but popped three baskets, snagged a few rebounds and used his 6'6" advantage in sweeping the boards.

Holland's two starting forwards, Dave Hilbink and Les Overway, each had 16 points to pace the Dutch. Bob Nietering, the only letterman on the Buc team, led Grand Haven with 12 points, 10 in the second half.

The Dutch play at St. Joseph next Friday. The Bears set a scoring record here last month with a 97-65 win. St. Joe lost to Dowagiac Friday night 77-72.

Featuring a strong ninth grade unit, the visitors pulled away in the second half after taking the lead early in the second quarter. The score at the end of the first period was 4-11 and the winners pushed the margin to 16-7 at half-time. Grand Haven led at the end of the third quarter, 29-19.

Harley Hill and Burton Wiersema each had eight points and Van Scheffers had 14 for Grand Haven. The Bucs made 16 out of 25 free shots.

Lake Water Now Up to One-Third

With only a couple of weeks left before all Holland's water comes from Lake Michigan, the amount now being pumped in has been increased to one-third of the city's daily consumption, Board of Public Works Superintendent Guy E. Bell said today.

Lake water is being used from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., he said, to meet the demand. The elevated tank, the one remaining well and the reservoir are used the rest of the time.

As soon as filter beds are completed and laboratory equipment is installed, 24-hour operation of the filtration plant at Tunnel Park can be started, Bell said.

Bell also said the mains of the system will be cleaned as soon as weather permits. The mains must be flushed to rid the system of rusty water.

"This may take considerable time as the temperature must be above freezing to keep streets from becoming icy from the flushing," Bell stated. "This is apt to cause some red water for a while, but we hope residents will bear with us."

Curtis Not in Race

Stanley (Doc) Curtis, first ward councilman, announced late Thursday afternoon that he would not be a candidate for the first ward post in view of the fact that he expects to build a home in another location. This leaves the first ward race wide open. Curtis was appointed about a year ago to succeed Anthony Nienhuis who had resigned because of ill health.

General Electric Planning Office And Lab Addition

An addition of 13,000 square feet of office and laboratory space will soon be added to the Holland General Electric facility. It was announced Friday by Ab Martin, general manager of the Hermetic Motor Department.

The new area will provide 6,000 square feet of office space and 7,000 square feet of space devoted to manufacturing development. The building addition will not increase present employment. Martin pointed out. During the past months many technical people have been added to the Hermetic Motor Department and both office and developmental areas have experienced crowding.

The need for developmental space arises out of recent technical advances and the highly competitive nature of the fast growing refrigerator and air conditioning industry. In an effort to serve customers effectively with the newest developments in hermetic motors the present experimental area must be expanded.

Martin indicated that ground will be broken in the early spring and it is hoped that the new area will be ready for occupancy by late summer.

DRESS WARMLY FOR SKATING—One of the many youngsters taking advantage of the ice Friday tucked in her stockings under her snow pants before venturing out on the ice at Jefferson School playground. This skating area, inaugurated this winter, is a popular place again today along with the two skating ponds at Fairbanks Park. Many youngsters, and some oldsters too, will be out skating today, trying to make a few fancy turns or just trying to keep their balance. The skating areas were flooded Friday and reported to be in the "best condition" of the season. (Sentinel photo)

Chix Boost Kenewa Lead

A brilliant 25-point fourth period plus some stellar play on the boards in an overtime kept Zeeland in the driver's seat in the Kenewa League Friday night with a 72-67 overtime win over Coopersville at Holland Armory.

The victory gives Zeeland a 4-0 league mark and leaves the Broncos tied for third with a 2-2 record.

Behind 52-37 at the end of three quarters, the Chix threw a variety of shots and offenses in the final eight minutes and completely upset the Coopersville defense.

Zeeland, with Max De Jonge whipping in a couple of long shots got things started, and then big 6'4" Ed Boeve and sub 6'3" Norm Rigerink took over under both boards. The Chix held the Broncos to 10 points in the final quarter.

Boeve, who paced Zeeland with 22 points, his highest point total of the season, pushed through a tip-in with 30 seconds left in the regulation game to make the score 62-60 and then followed with a layup a few seconds later to force the game into overtime.

After sweeping the confident Broncos off their feet in the fourth quarter, Zeeland didn't have much trouble continuing the same pattern in the overtime.

Rigerink and Boeve, whisking the boards like a broom, came through with two buckets each and Max De Jonge added the other two-pointers. The Zeeland defense held Coopersville to five points.

The Broncos led at the end of the first quarter 17-16. Zeeland, which led briefly 4-2, was aided by making 10 out of 11 free throws in the first period.

Nip-and-tuck again in the second quarter, the Broncos exploded for six quick baskets on a well-executed fast break late in the period

Coopersville... 2 2

Zeeland had a difficult time finding the basket in the third quarter and only hit for six points while the Broncos bombarded for 13 and moved to the biggest lead of the game.

Rigerink's 15 points was second high for Zeeland. Clarence De Pender, the leading scorer in the Kenewa League, picked up 19 for Coopersville.

Zeeland plays at Comstock Park in a league game next Friday night.

Work is expected to begin shortly on the first of the buildings, a three story affair 558 by 183 feet. It will be an addition to the present structure facing the street.

When the plans for expansion were announced Oct. 12, Manager C. B. McCormick said this building would be used for warehousing and manufacturing operations.

The second building, which probably won't be started for nearly a year, will also be three stories high on a 104 by 146-foot base. It is supposed to house employees' facilities and manufacturing operations, according to original plans.

Estimated cost of the entire project is $1,500,000. Owen, Ames and Kimball will be the contractors.

In addition, Heinz applied for a demolition permit to remove four present buildings which must be gotten rid of before the construction can be completed.

Three other applications for building permits were received during the week by Building Inspector William Layman. They were:
