Dropouts Light at West Ottawa

Since the start of the school year, less than 1 per cent of the students have dropped out of school, Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte told the West Ottawa Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night.

"By comparison, we have a good situation here, but even if only 1 per cent of our students drop out, we have a dropout problem," he said. Three boys and four girls were involved in dropouts, some listing no specific reasons although they had repeated contacts with the counseling department.

"The attitude toward education of the community is all-important in solving the dropout problem," he said, and commended the Chamber of Commerce for its program in studying the dropout problem with a view to its solution locally.

Van Raalte also announced a sizable gift in the form of stocks has been presented to the school district by Mrs. Joe Roerink as a memorial to her father and mother, Harm J. and Jenny Knoll. Proceeds will be used for the purchase of library books of enduring value for libraries in the Junior-Senior High School, Central Elementary School and Pine Creek Elementary School. The memorial is established in view of the Knolls' interest in the pursuit of knowledge and their recognition of the great importance of books in the lives of children.

The board welcomed Zeeland as a partner with West Ottawa and Holland in the cooperative training program, in which administrative expenses will be shared. Van Raalte said there has been a high degree of success between West Ottawa and Holland. Holland already has approved the Zeeland application.

Already 182 West Ottawa girls have expressed an interest in klompen dancing for this year's Tulip Time festival. Reimbursement for the instruction was approved.

The board approved a 1965-66 school calendar which coincides with functions of other area school districts. The feasibility of having a half day twice a year for teacher workshops was discussed in view of the fact that the county institute in February has been cancelled. It was the feeling that teachers would find such workshops highly advantageous.

The board offered a contract to F. George Jacop to join the faculty as a senior high special education instructor. Jacop holds an M. A. from Western Michigan University and has taught in the Hudsonville public schools.

Dan Paul, elementary curriculum coordinator presented a report to the board determining the amount of time devoted to teaching each subject in grades 1 through 6. He also presented a brochure for prospective teachers in the West Ottawa district giving an overall view of teaching in West Ottawa community. These are being distributed to every college placement bureau in the state.

Wayne Nyboer, chairman of the West Ottawa MEA salary committee, presented information on an index salary scheduling system based on percentages, pointing out such a schedule would be high stabilizing and would place the district in a highly competitive position with other districts.

Van Raalte informed the board that although the state fire marshal has authorized occupancy of Central Elementary School, public meetings may not take place until such approval is given by the fire marshal's office.

Candidates interested in the position of principal for the new Central school are asked to prepare portfolios before the next board meeting. Five applications already are on file. Board President Howard Davis said that although the board would like to appoint the new principal from within the district's staff, all applications are welcomed.

Licenses for Dogs Sold at City Hall

The deadline for buying 1965 dog licenses at the city treasurer's office in City Hall is March 1, according to Sam Stephenson, director of environmental health.

After this date the price of licenses is doubled under a state law provision, and licenses must be purchased at county offices.

Licenses for dogs in Allegan County cost $2. In Ottawa County licenses for female dogs are $2, and for male and unsexed dogs, $1.

Stephenson said that any dog four months or over must have a license.

After March 1, Albert Reinink, animal control officer, will check the city's file on dogs. Owners who have not purchased licenses will receive notices from the office, Stephenson said.

Stephenson advised any owners who bought licenses last year but no longer have dogs to notify the Department of Environmental Health.

5 Seek Posts In Zeeland

ZEELAND — Five persons have taken out petitions at the city clerk's office to run in the general elections April 5.

Mayor Frank Hoogland and Willard Claver, supervisor, are both seeking reelection to two-year terms.

Incumbent councilmen, Glenn Bouwens and Howard Stephenson, and Kenneth Folkertsma are running for three-year terms on the Council. Zeeland voters will elect two councilmen in this year's elections.

City Clerk Leon Van Harn reports that no one has yet taken out petitions to fill the unexpired term of the city treasurer. The vacancy will be created by the resignation effective July 1 of the present treasurer, Ronald Van Hoven. Van Hoven was appointed as treasurer after the death of former treasurer John Holleman. The term expires June 30, 1966. The city treasurer is normally elected for a two-year term.

The deadline for filing petitions for city offices is noon Jan. 23, Van Harn said. After this date the nominating commission nominates persons to fill out the ballot.

The city charter provides that there should be at least two persons on the ballot for each available office.

Railroad Damage Set at $185,000

GRAND RAPIDS — Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad officials Wednesday said damage to railroad equipment in a 20-car derailment near Pullman Tuesday amounted to $185,000.

Railroad crews cleared the wreckage and replaced damaged track by 11 p.m. Tuesday, opening the main Grand Rapids-to-Chicago line to traffic.

The railroad rerouted five trains following the 6:50 a.m. derailment Tuesday. Two passenger trains and three freight trains were routed through Kalamazoo via the Pennsylvania and New York Central tracks.

Action on New Sewers Is Delayed

City Council Wednesday night delayed action for two weeks on a Board of Public Works recommendation to install two interceptor sewers to serve the Holland Heights and Apple Ave. areas in view of a number of inquiries the last few days on possibilities of installing similar services in the South Shore Dr. area.

The BPW recommendation called for a northeast interceptor sewer to serve the Heights area and a southeast sewer interceptor for Apple Ave. and area nearby. Costs listed $490,650 for the northeast interceptor and $289,700 for the Apple Ave. interceptor.

The recommendation also called for issuance of general obligation bonds of $780,350 covering the two projects and suggested the vote be held in connection with the spring election April 5.

The recommendation also asked that the law firm of Dickinson, Wright, McKean and Cudlip of Detroit be retained as bond attorneys.

City Manager Herb Holt said cost estimates for an interceptor sewer for South Shore Dr. list $1,480,000. Should all three programs be approved, it means that phase 2 of the original sewer program as drawn up by Black and Veatch, consulting engineers, would be activated.

Some years ago, Holland city voted down a $2.9 million bond issue covering a complete sewer program and later approved a $1.6 million bond issue which provided for a sewage treatment plant and interceptors for core city and other nearby areas. Eliminated were the three areas now under consideration.

The Board of Public Works recommended only the northeast and southeast interceptors since little interest had been expressed in extending the service to South Shore Dr. and the Lakeview school area at this time. However, several inquiries have come in since news of the BPW decision was released earlier this week.

Mayor Nelson Bosman said the best way to clear through Council would be submitting signed petitions.

City Manager Herb Holt defined interceptor sewers as the main lines for the collection system involving huge pipe installations. These installations must be done before lateral sewers to individual streets are laid. He explained that the interceptors carry sanitary wastes to the sewage treatment plant where primary treatment only is done. He said there may come a time when Holland will have to arrange for secondary treatment, a requirement in many other plants.

GRAND HAVEN — There will be at least two new faces on the Ottawa county board of supervisors when it meets for its April session on April 13.

Bacon is a retired state highway employee and is serving on the special water supply committee and the planning commission. Fern offered to take the position of supervisor for one year when the city was formed and recently told the council he did not want the position for a second year.

Helps Solve Hit-Run Case

ZEELAND — An alert 12-year-old Zeeland boy was credited by Zeeland police with aiding in the arrest of a hit-run driver in Zeeland Wednesday night.

The boy provided police with the description of a car which returned to the accident scene near his home about two hours after the crash and told police two young men were apparently looking for parts of the wrecked auto.

Police drove to the scene and arrested Jerry Lee Ter Haar, 17, of 3267 142nd Ave., Holland, for reckless driving and leaving the scene of a personal injury accident.

Ter Haar admitted driving the 1955 car which had struck a light pole on Alpine Ave. near Jefferson St. at 5 p.m. He pleaded guilty before Justice John Walters to both charges and was fined $75 and $3.10 costs for reckless driving and $25 and $4.30 costs for leaving the scene of the accident.

Preliminary Plans Will Be Sought

Costs Seen in Excess Of $1,000,000; Fund Campaign Is Planned

The Holland Christian School Society Monday night adopted plans to proceed with building a new high school costing in excess of $1,000,000 within the next two years.

The plan is the biggest single expansion step in the history of the local schools.

A campaign to raise the necessary funds will be launched soon. Meanwhile, the board was authorized to obtain preliminary plans for the new building which will be erected on a 40-acre site in the vicinity of 40th St. and Ottawa Ave.

Up to now, the society had thought in terms of a new school costing in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 but visits by school officials to schools of comparable enrollments have revealed that total costs may range from $1,100,000 to $1,300,000.

Vote on proceeding with the new building was 419 to 20. The other two proposals for preliminary plans and a fund campaign carried unanimously.

Supt. Mark Vander Ark said current high school enrollment of 980 is crowded into a building designed to accommodate 675 students. He also listed the need for better physical education facilities, an auditorium, music rooms and counseling offices.

Projected enrollments, he said, call for 20 more students a year in the high school and 35 more in elementary schools, calling in two additional teaching stations per year for a long period of time.

Jerry Jonker, chairman of the school finance committee, said the group has consulted investment consultants in Michigan and elsewhere on the new program and said all consultants concluded the school financial picture was sound and recommended going ahead with the building if the local society approved. The schools show total assets of $2,500,000 and a debt of less than $300,000.

John Keuning, newly appointed chairman of the fund campaign committee, outlined future plans for raising a million dollars or more. "It can be done, but it will take a real sacrifice on the part of all of us," he said. He said he was confident of community support. Others on the committee are Russel Bouws, Robert De Nooyer, Arthur Tuls and Glenn Wyngarden.

John Veltkamp, board president, served as chairman for the meeting which lasted an hour and a quarter. The Rev. Wilmer Witte, vice president, gave the closing prayer.

Hope Edges Kalamazoo For 4th MIAA Victory

Dutch Remain In 3-Way Tie For 2nd Place

Coming through with some fine clutch all-around play, Hope College's basketball team snatched a "must" MIAA game away from Kalamazoo, 85-81 Saturday night in the Civic Center before 1,600 fans.

It was a "must" game for the winners in more ways than one. First, it gave Hope its fourth victory in six MIAA starts and

MIAA Standings

Calvin	4	2
Adrian	4	2

Kalamazoo	2	4

kept them in a three-way second place tie with Calvin and Adrian behind first place Albion.

And it was a "must" win to restore the confidence in the Hope forces which sagged to an all-time low following the trouncing received at Calvin last Wednesday.

"We needed this win," Coach Russ De Vette indicated after reporting Hope's mental attitude "was down" following the Calvin setback. "Now we've got three weeks to get ready for the second half of the MIAA schedule," De Vette said.

What impressed De Vette about Hope's performance was the team's ability "to stay with it" throughout. Down five points, 79-74 with 6:02 left in the game, the winners refused to give up.

They suddenly took charge of the game, scored the next nine straight points, and then hung on to achieve the four-point win. "They really wanted it," De Vette concluded, "and they used better judgment on shots."

Hope ended with 43 per cent on 35 of 80 including halves of 17 of 36 and 18 of 44. Although Kalamazoo did an even better job of shooting with 57 per cent on 31 baskets in 54 tries, Hope's defense prevented the Hornets from getting any more shots.

The winners used a match-up zone defense some of the game with the Flying Dutchmen matching up against the foes in whatever patterns they were working. When Hope was behind, they switched to a man-for-man defense to put more pressure on the Hornets.

Hope found itself coming from behind much of the game as the contest was tied nine times, four in the first half and five in the second, and the lead changed hands 10 times, seven in the first half and three times in the final 11 minutes.

The seventh lead change in the first half gave Kalamazoo a 38-37 lead with 5:08 left and they kept in front the rest of the half, leading 44-41 at intermission.

Freshman Floyd Brady's tip at 15:06 of the second half gave Hope its first of four straight ties as the teams exchanged baskets for the next three minutes.

Don Kronmeyer, Holland freshman starting his first varsity game, got Hope the lead on a fast break with 11:59 to play, 65-64. Hope kept in front for another three minutes until Tom Nicolai's tip put the Hornets back in front, 73-72 with 8:17 to play.

Kalamazoo went five points up, 79-74 in the next two minutes before Hope began its surge. Clare Van Wieren started with a free shot and Kronmeyer followed with a driving layup. Carl Walters bombed a jumper and Van Wieren added two more free throws.

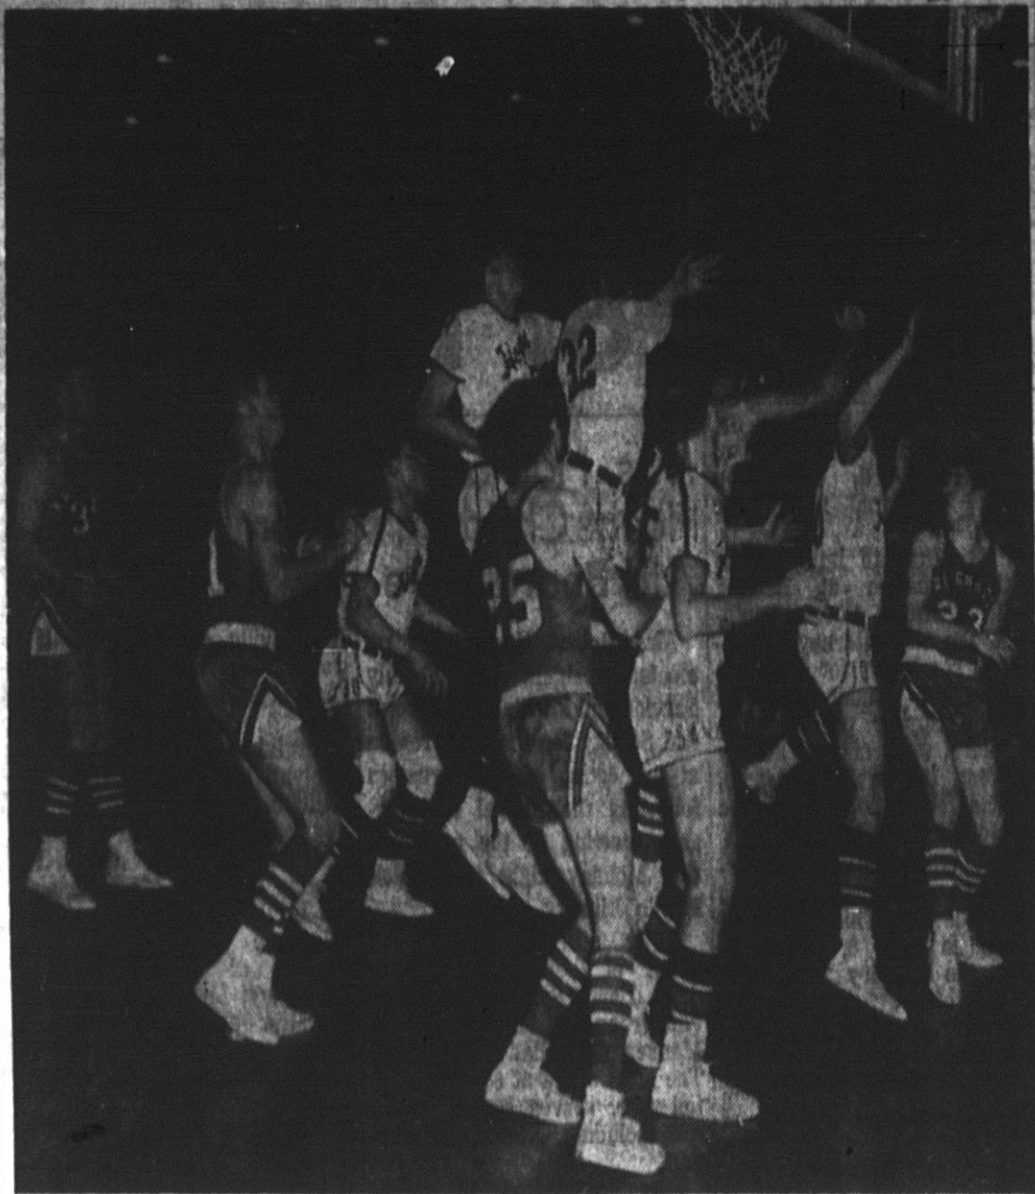

With 2:08 left, Van Wieren made a falling-away underhand layup and Hope led, 83-79. Nicolai, who made 12 of 16 from the floor, sank his last basket with 1:30 left. He made 29 points.

The rest of the game was tension-filled as Walters missed a free throw with 41 seconds left and the Hornets rebounded. They called a time out with 14 seconds remaining, set up a play but Jim Peters failed on his turn-about jumper and Walters grabbed the rebound. He was fouled and sank the final two free throws.

Hope made eight of 12 free throws in the second half after they had missed 13 of 20 in the first half, including four one-on-ones. De Vette felt the first half free throw shooting may have been caused by Hope's mental attitude prior to the game. The winners ended with 15 of 32 free throws. Kalamazoo had 19 of 26.

Van Wieren, who had 16 points in the second half, led with 23 points while Brady had 22. Van Wieren made nine of 18 shots and some of his shots were unbelievable.

Brady had nine of 19 and again was king of the boards as Hope won the rebounding battle, 49-35 and Brady picked off 13. Van Wieren had 11 rebounds. Roy Anker also battled on the boards and made two baskets in three tries before

Bill Potter, who made seven of 14, added 15 points and most came on long sidcourt jumpers while Kronmeyer had 11 on five of 11. Kronmeyer's quickness and the poise of Dave Bruininks, the other freshman promoted to the varsity Thursday, were big assets in the win.

Hope, 6-5 overall, hosts Concordia Saturday in the Civic Center. Kalamazoo now has a 2-4 MIAA mark.

Zeeland Has Branch Office

First Michigan Bank & Trust Co. of Zeeland has received court approval in its move to establish a branch office in the Federal District of Holland Township.

In an order entered Friday, the Ingham County Circuit Court has dismissed the legal action which had been brought by the two Holland banks seeking to prevent the establishment of this branch office.

A. C. Vanden Bosch, President of the First Michigan Bank and Trust Co. announced that a Federal District Office, which had been closed since October, 1963, has reopened for business at 9:00 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 16, in temporary quarters on East Eighth St. across from Hart & Cooley Manufacturing Co.

First Michigan Bank first opened its branch office in the Federal District in October of 1963 with the approval of the State Banking Commissioner and the Federal Reserve Board.

Immediately thereafter, People's State Bank and First National Bank of Holland filed suit against First Michigan Bank and the State Banking Commissioner objecting to the new Branch.

The Ingham County Circuit Court then ordered the Branch closed pending a trial of the case. The case was tried by the Ingham County Circuit Court in June of 1964 and in the course of litigation, First National Bank of Holland was dismissed as a party.

In its opinion handed down Friday, the Court held that the establishment of the Federal District Branch and its approval by the State Banking Commissioner was both lawful and reasonable.

Vanden Bosch said that plans for a new Federal District Branch Building at the corner of East Eighth St. and Clover Ave. are in process.

Party Items Among Loot

ALLEGAN — County law enforcement officers would like to be tipped off about anyone in the Otsego-Plainwell area planning a big bash over the weekend. They think it highly probable that "hot" hors d'oeuvres may be on the menu.

A quantity of cold meats, including 15 pounds of bologna, were stolen from Jeffries Party Store, 1069 Starr Rd., Plainwell, early Thursday. Officers believe thieves entered from the roof through a skylight.

Included in the loot were other possible party ingredients such as four cases of beer and 15-20 cartons of cigarettes. It was suggested by a deputy that the hypothetical "hosts" might be planning a game of penny ante with the 50 some coppers found missing along with about $10 in bills.

That the party might grow a little rough, could also be assumed. A box of 12-gauge shotgun shells were listed among the pilfered articles.

Louisiana Plans Tulip Festival

Mrs. Eloise Thaxton, executive director of the Louisiana Tourist Development Commission and Ed McDonald of Newellton, La., were negotiating with the Holland Chamber of Commerce Friday to set up a reciprocal agreement between Holland and Tensas, Parish, La., for complementary tulip festivals.

The parish of "tensas and four adjoining parishes in northwest Louisiana are setting up a four to six week tulip festival for the last two weeks of March and first two weeks of April, Mrs. Thaxton explained. They are copying many of the aspects of the Holland Tulip Festival, and would like to set up a program of joint promotion for the two festivals.

The tulip festival in Louisiana would be centered around the towns of Newellton and Monroe, Mrs. Thaxton said. Tulips would be planted along the popular Mississippi River Road between the two towns. One million bulbs have already been planted in the area, she said.

Mrs. Thaxton said that the tulip festival in northwest Louisiana is part of a statewide program to promote Louisiana tourism. She said that her department hopes to set up a billion dollar tourist industry.

Mrs. Thaxton said that a reciprocal agreement between Holland and the Louisiana parishes would benefit both areas since the tulips bloom four to six weeks earlier in Louisiana. She said that this would allow tourists to see both tulip festivals.

McDonald said that the Newellton area is currently negotiating with the Netherlands government to obtain a Dutch windmill for the Louisiana town.

Ice and Rust Back in Town With Winter

Now that winter is back and the streets are often glazed with ice, street department crews are out again salting intersections, hills and railroad crossings.

Discussions about street salting always raise the issue of corroding automobile fender wells, doors and rocker panels. This corrosion can be inhibited by chemical additives mixed with the rock salt, but their use is far from being effective.

According to City Engineer Laverne Serne, a recent study of rust inhibitors in Toronto, Canada showed a high effectiveness under laboratory conditions. When the inhibitors were tested under actual road conditions, however, they reduced the amount of corrosion by only 8 per cent, Serne said.

Large volume salt companies question the value of rust inhibitors, Serne said. They contend that the inhibitors, which they can supply, are too expensive to warrant their use.

Serne said the cost of road salt would be increased by nearly 50 per cent if rust inhibitors were purchased and mixed with the salt. Holland uses an average of 800 tons of salt per year, at a current cost of $10.70 per ton.

Rust inhibitors cost about $5 per ton of salt. Without the inhibitor, the total cost of salt for the year would be $8,500; with the inhibitor the cost would be $13,060. The extra $4,500 is a high price to pay for 8 per cent less corrosion.

"Even if Holland did use an inhibitor," Serne said, "it would be like an island." As soon as an automobile was outside the city limits, he said, it would be subject to normal ice-control chemicals, since neither the state highway department nor many other Michigan cities use the inhibitors.

Serne said one way to solve the problem of perforated automobiles would be for car manufacturers to use rust-resistant metals for body parts and to coat wheel wells with a rust-resistant substance.

The problem here is that in many areas of the United States automobiles are not subject to salt coating, and car manufacturers would perhaps find it uneconomical to take extra measures to prevent corrosion.

Control of ice on city streets is vitally important to traffic safety. Until another deciding method as economical and effective as rock salting is found, car owners will have to endure.

Snow Makers Cover Slopes

Man has been improving on nature ever since he made the wheel, the inclined plane and the lever — and now he's making snow.

Snow making is serious business for a ski lodge like Carousel Mountain, located south of Holland on 66th Avenue. Snowfall there is often sporadic and unpredictable, and without the operation of the network of pipes, hoses and nozzles skirting the ski slopes, skiers would be at the mercy of the fickle Michigan weather.

Carousel Mountain is equipped with two-and-a-half miles of double four-inch pipelines, one tube for water and the other for air. The water and air, forced through the pipes by motors and compressors, are mixed together in special nozzles and sprayed out over the slopes.

With an ideal temperature of 18 to 22 degrees, each of the 18 nozzles on the system can spread eight inches of snow per 20 hours over a 100 to 150 square foot area. This eight inches is compressed into one inch of good snow base.

The system is kept in operation as much as possible because deeper bases make better skiing. "Synthetic" snow is superior as a base to natural snow because it is granular rather than flakey, and lasts longer than ordinary snow.

'Time to Speak' Is Reviewed by Mrs. S. Boven

"A Time to Speak," a current and timely book dealing with the segregation problem of the South and especially the city of Birmingham, Ala., was reviewed Wednesday afternoon at the Herrick Public Library. Mrs. Stanley Boven gave the review.

The title of the book is from Ecclesiastes 3:7, "A time to keep silence, a time to speak."

The book traces the life of Charles Morgan, Jr., from the time his parents came to Birmingham when he was 15 until he left the city after having known fear, heartbreak and harassment because he did what he felt he was supposed to do.

He attended school at the University of Alabama, married, became a lawyer and entered into political life of the community and state.

Prior to the review, Mrs. Bud Robbert of the library staff spoke briefly of some of the new books in the library.

The next review will be given Feb. 10, by Mrs. Mary Emma Young.

THE CONSUMER IS KING

This claim which apologists for the private enterprise system often make is nevertheless the subject of derision by some social reformers. They enjoy pointing out trivia to demonstrate how the consumer is victimized by the eloquence of advertising copy, by the deceit of packaging devices and by the standardization of mass-produced goods. The implication is that some central economic authority could bring about a more efficient "product-mix."

Those who are thus inclined should take a look at the fantastic mis-allocation of resources that occurs under socialist planning in Russia. They would be re-assured that the market system in the United States has indeed made the consumer king by comparison.

One of the funniest boo-boos in Russia is the current shortage of rubber baby-bottle nipples. None is to be found in all of Moscow. Although 30 million are required annually, only 12 million were produced last year. When Time magazine wrote a story on this episode, the Kremlin was so miffed by the publication of this "slandorous information" that it closed Time's Moscow bureau.

In the other direction, Russia is deluged with sewing machines. One factory manager revealed that in spite of an inventory of 150,000 sewing machines at his plant, they were continuing to produce thousands of new ones every day. Similar problems of gross waste have cropped up in the clothing industry and in the toy industry.

None of these episodes comes as a surprise to American marketers who are painfully aware of the fickleness of the public's tastes. They have learned long ago that in a market-directed competitive system any business that fails to please the consumer must itself fail. Again the "invisible hand" of the market directs the profit-seeking producer to serve society in an optimum manner.

Sooner or later, socialist societies will find this out.

Christ Arouses Opposition
Matthew 9:9-13; 10:17-25

By C. P. Dame

When Christ was upon the earth He met with opposition. There are people and groups who are in dead opposition to Christ today and they do all they can to nullify His influence. The man who stands up for Christ with boldness in every area of life is bound to learn that Christ has His enemies in our land.

I. Jesus still calls sinners. When He was here He sought sinners. The call of Matthew is an example. The three synoptic gospels tell about him. It is worth while to read his story in Matthew, Mark and Luke. He had two names—Levi and Matthew, the latter meaning "the gift of God." Jesus noted Matthew "sitting at the receipt of custom" called him saying, "Follow Me" and he responded.

Matthew was a hated man. He got a job collecting taxes for the Roman government and as a consequence he was ostracized by religious and respectable people. Why did he take up that work? It was his love of money. The tax collector was ordered to give a certain amount to the government. Some saw to it that they would get more than enough. Many got rich by being grasping and greedy.

After Matthew's conversion he changed his ways. He became a disciple and later an apostle. The ability he once had in making money he now used in the Lord's service and wrote a gospel. In addition he planned a banquet and invited his old friends and Jesus to it. This shocked the Pharisees and they complained about it. Jesus told His critics that, "Those who are well, have no need of a physician but those who are sick." The sick need a doctor, sinners need Jesus.

II. Discipleship costs. This fact is forgotten. In the second part of the lesson text there is a warning of the coming persecution. Jesus told His disciples to minister and help. In return for their good deeds they would be hurt. They would be flogged in the synagogues. The persecution came from the Jewish church. This was followed by the persecution carried on by the Roman government. The disciples would be brought before governors and kings. History shows that when the church is persecuted it grows. In addition, the family would persecute, and those nearest and dearest to them would turn against them. This still happens.

Jesus gave them words of comfort and counsel. The Holy Spirit would be with them, and tell them what to say. He also told them to be prudent, flee if necessary, show courage but recklessness is ever out of place. And the Lord's example should inspire them — He suffered and hence they can expect to meet with suffering too. "If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more shall they call them of his household?"

Evaluation Study Set For Hotel

The Holland Chamber of Commerce Monday authorized an evaluation study for Hotel Warm Friend, its potentials and possibilities for economic operations.

This action, according to Chamber Executive Vice President Roscoe Giles, came after the Holland Furnace Co., which owns over 50 per cent of the stock in the hotel, informed the Chamber that the building is for sale and that it will either be sold or closed.

The study will be done by the CPA firm of Harris, Kerr, Forster and Co. of Chicago at a cost not to exceed $2,500.

The study will involve an evaluation of the market in which the hotel competes, assuming that facilities are rehabilitated and matched with the demands of the market. There will be estimates on the number and type of guest rooms that can be supported, the complex of meetings and food service accommodations and suggestions for other services and facilities for which there appears to be a demand.

Should findings tend to be negative at any time during the study the evaluation will be terminated and the Chamber billed only for time expended and expenses incurred.

General aim of the evaluation is to provide factual data which could be used in mortgage financing.

Outline Plan To Serve Aged At Meeting

Edward Krumm, general chairman for services to the aging in the St. Francis de Sales Church parish, explained a new service being developed by the Michigan Welfare League at the organizational meeting of the church's senior citizens social club Sunday.

The plan being set up by the Michigan Welfare League would set up a homemaker's program to assist the home-bound ill and disabled older persons. The program would pay for the services of a person to come into the home and perform general household duties.

Since 75 per cent of the cost of the program is provided by the federal government, the state must furnish the remaining 25 per cent before the program can begin. A list of older persons who qualify for the service is needed by Jan. 31, by the Michigan Welfare League in their efforts to get Michigan legislation passed to provide the remaining funds. Persons qualifying for the service are asked to call Mr. Krumm.

In other business, Mrs. Anthony Skutnik was named social and activities chairman and Mrs. Mildred Cousineau was named chairman of the home visitors program.

Refreshments were served and prizes awarded to James Varano, Mrs. Mary Blade, Mrs. Alva Arnold, Mrs. Ernest Leeners, Mrs. George Frego, Edward Morlock, Anthony Skutnik, Mrs. Edna Covington, Mrs. T. Sanger and Mrs. Nell Petersen. The next meeting will be held Feb. 21.

West Ottawa Loses Third League Game

GRANDVILLE — West Ottawa's varsity basketball team ran into a real hungry Grandville squad Friday night and lost 74-69.

The Bulldogs had lost seven straight and were not to be denied in this contest. Several of their previous losses were by close scores.

The outcome certainly was not obvious, however, from the beginning of the game. In the first and second quarters, West Ottawa played some of its best offensive basketball of the season. With all of the starters scoring and good rebounding, the Panthers moved to a substantial 19-9 first quarter lead and everything looked great.

The outcome was not obvious from the second quarter results either. The Panthers left the floor at halftime with still an eight point lead, 35-27. Both teams scored heavily in the quarter as Grandville made 18 and West Ottawa 16. Dave Farabee was hot on his jump shot and scored seven points. Grandville was still receiving balanced scoring from all of its starters.

Changes were gradually taking place in the third quarter, however, that helped Grandville gain momentum. The Bulldogs came out of their zone defense and played man-to-man. They were also beginning to press occasionally. The tempo of the game was increasing noticeably. Whereas there were only occasional fast breaks in the first quarter and then mostly by West Ottawa, many more were present in the second quarter.

Grandville exploded in the third quarter. They pressed continuously, became "hot" in their shooting and outscored the Panthers, 23-13, to grab the lead after three quarters, 50-48. Doug Taylor made four straight jump shots and Skip Longcore three from all angles to lead the burst. The momentum was all with the Bulldogs.

The fourth quarter again went to Grandville as the Bulldogs couldn't miss. During the second half, Grandville made 22 of 33 shots for an amazing 66 per cent. In the total game they had 33 of 61 for 54 per cent. They also made eight of 13 free throws.

West Ottawa, mostly on the basis of free throws, stayed with Grandville right to the end of the game. Van Huis tied the score at 63-63 with 3:35 remaining and this was the last tie. Van Huis brought the Panthers to within four with 1:50 left and again to within four with :36 left, but it wasn't enough. Grandville only needed one shot. West Ottawa made nine of 11 free throws in the last quarter and 15 of 20 in the game.

Capt. Jack Bonham was disappointed with the outcome, especially since his boys had looked good in the first quarter. Bonham noted that the Panthers couldn't cope with Grandville's "fantastic" second half shooting and couldn't stop the winners' momentum.

Both teams received balanced scoring from their starters. Van Huis led the Panthers and all scorers with 22 points. Dave Vizithum had 15 and played his usual good game at guard. Farabee added 14 and Arvin Visser 11 to give West Ottawa four men in double figures. Grandville also had four men in double figures. Longcore, the fiery guard, had his best night of the season and ended with 19 points. He made six of nine shots in that last half. Taylor, the forward who made eight of 11 shots in the second half for 16 points, had 18 in the game. Jim Erickson and Jim De Ridder each made 11.

West Ottawa now has a record of 3-4 for the season and 0-3 in Grand Valley league play. Grandville is now 1-7 and has one league victory.

Lawson's Tip Gives Dutch 62-60 Win

Mike Lawson was never happier that he is 6'10" than for a split second Friday night.

The Holland High junior used his height to tip in a basket to give Holland a 62-60 win over Muskegon Heights and second place in the LMAC before a screaming crowd of 1,400 fans in the Holland High fieldhouse.

Lawson's tip nested in the basket as the buzzer sounded and gave Holland its third conference win in four starts.

The Tigers, led by coach Rudy Thies, protested vehemently about the final basket but the field goal was signaled good.

LMAC Standings

	W	L
Benton Harbor	4	0
Holland	3	1
Muskegon Heights	2	2
Grand Haven	1	3
Traverse City	1	3

Lawson's basket, the most dramatic scored this season by the Dutch, came after Dan Colenbrander had fired a driving jumper with three seconds to play. Lawson was under the basket, got the ball and sent it back up.

Colenbrander, who turned in another fine job in a reserve role, had put Holland back in the game 27 seconds before on a layup to tie the score, 60-60.

The basket erased the Tiger's 60-58 lead, their only lead in the game, and stopped Muskegon Heights' unbelievable 13-straight point comeback.

Trailing by 11-points, 58-47 with 3:12 left to play, the Tigers suddenly struck. Rich McGregory and John Davis banged baskets and John Houston added three straight free throws, following a foul and technical.

McGregory hit another two-pointer to pull the Tigers within two, 58-56 with two minutes to play.

Coach Don Piersma then moved into a zone to spread out the Tigers and to prevent fouling. Holland didn't foul but Davis managed a rebound basket with 1:12 left to tie the score and McGregory intercepted a pass to score to give the losers the lead, 60-58 with 57 seconds remaining.

With the game tied, 60-60, the Tigers had one chance to score but Cleveland Zachory blew the layup shot and Holland got possession setting the stage for the climax.

Holland turned in a fine all-around performance, hitting on 25 of 62 from the floor for 40 per cent doing a good job on defense.

The Dutch didn't let the Tigers run and the losers weren't able to execute their favorite fast break. Holland's guards used a semi-press to stop the running and Holland switched from a zone to man-for-man during the game to confuse the losers.

In ball handling Holland also did a good job, making only six ball control mistakes and Piersma got fine balanced scoring with four players in double figures.

Holland police identified the driver of the cab as Tyrone J. Hackney, 23, of 32 1/2 East Eighth St. Police said Hackney had been headed south on Columbia Ave. and was making a left turn onto Eighth St. when the two boys were hit. The boys were crossing Eighth St. in the pedestrian crosswalk.

CRASH ENDS CHASE — Leslie D. Morris, 17, of 111 East 17th St., was critically injured when this car, in which he attempted to elude a Holland police officer, slammed into these concrete bridge support pillars early Friday at Washington Ave. and I-96. The car struck the pillar at right head-on, glanced off and hit two other pillars

Youth Critically Hurt in Crash

A 17-year-old Holland youth lay in critical condition Friday at Holland Hospital after the car in which he attempted to outrun a Holland police cruiser slammed into a series of concrete bridge support columns at Washington Ave. and I-96 at 1:33 a.m.

Leslie D. Morris of 111 East 17th St., attempting to elude patrolman Martin Hardenberg Jr., suffered a fractured right arm, lacerations of the head, back abrasions and possible internal injuries.

Lester Johnson, 55, of 249 East 14th St., driver of the wrecker called to haul away the wreckage of Morris' car, was also injured when he apparently slipped and was pinned under his wrecker.

Hospital officials said Johnson's condition was good. He was admitted at the hospital for X-rays and observation. Johnson is the owner of Les' Gulf Service, 252 North River Ave.

Holland police said Morris lost control of his car as he attempted to turn off the eastbound lane of I-96 onto Washington Ave. The car traveled 128 feet from where it left the exit lane before hitting the first of the concrete pillars head-on.

Glancing off the first pillar, Morris' car hit two more pillars before coming to rest. Morris was thrown from the vehicle. Police said they found him lying near the middle of Washington Ave., 84 feet from the point of impact.

The top of Morris' car was ripped off at impact. The body of the car came to rest more than 50 feet away, and other bits of wreckage were found as far as 196 feet from the point of impact.

Hardenberg said he was parked in the median of I-96 and saw Morris drive by on I-96 at a high rate of speed. He said he followed Morris east on I-96 and that Morris turned onto westbound I-96 at the Washington Ave. interchange.

Hardenberg chased the youth west on I-96 about a half-mile when Morris made a U-turn back into the eastbound lane. Morris then took the Washington Ave. exit off I-96 and Hardenberg lost sight of the youth's car. A moment later he came upon the wreckage where Washington Ave. crosses under westbound I-96.

(Dr. F. Phillip Van Eyl is acting chairman of the Psychology Department, Institutional Testing Director, and soccer coach. He received his B.A. from Hope and his M.A. and Ph.D. from the Claremont Graduate School and University Center, Calif. He joined Hope's staff in 1959. Editor's note.)

By Dr. F. Phillip Van Eyl
Two questions often put to me are: "What are you teaching?" and "What is psychology?"

A popular description of psychology is that it studies behavior and experience. By behavior is meant the fact that people are almost constantly interacting with their environment and themselves. They move about, speak, think, feel, see, hear, smell, etc.

Psychologists are trying to make some sense out of most of these forms of behavior or, putting it differently, psychologists are attempting to find the principles that govern these particular, human aspects of nature.

Another interesting working formula for psychology is that it deals with the study of choice behavior.

What is it that determines why some students become doctors, others chemists? What determines why we read instead of talk, watch tv, go for a walk, or daydream? If we do read, what determines what we read and what we retain? What determines why the housewife buys brand X rather than Z? What determines whether Johnny takes the road to success or the road to failure?

I suppose that the list of questions is almost endless, especially since the answer to one question invariably leads to at least one other question! Obviously the major function of the teacher of psychology is to convey to his students the known principles and conditions of psychological behavior.

Tied in with this function, however, is another — no less important — objective. The teacher encourages his students to realize that behavior is general because of its lawful principles and individual because of its multiplicity of choice.

There are certain universal principles of learning. However, none of us learns exactly the same things. There are certain principles of motivation. However, none of us is motivated to do exactly the same thing in the same way.

The result of such awareness of general principles and alternative choices is a college graduate who approaches life with more questions. Only the person who asks questions will get answers. The probability of finding better answers increases as more and better questions are considered.

A well-known characteristic of life is its constant changes. Changes demand new choices. New choices stand the best chance of being better choices when adequate consideration is given to all alternatives. Alternatives can only be considered when there is proper understanding of the complexity of psychological man.

Two other, closely related aspects of man's psychological world that play an integral part in the entire scheme of choice behavior are the concepts of purpose and goal. Choices become meaningful choices only when they are directed toward a goal.

As we all know, there are many possible goals, but I believe that all goals are ultimately subsidiary to one major question: "What do I want to do with my life?" For this reason another duty of those involved in liberal arts teaching — psychologists included — is a concern with the question of value; i.e., finding answers to the question, "What is really important?" For this part of the task psychologists, like all other scientists, count on much support from such disciplines as philosophy, religion, literature, and the arts.

A newsletter sent by school authorities to Middle School enthusiasts this week revealed that the tentative date for voting on the bonding issue to finance construction of a new Middle School has been set for Tuesday, March 2. The letter also showed that the second set of plans had been submitted by architects Vander Meiden and Koteles on Jan. 7. These plans are all preliminary and are subject to revision as was the first preliminary plan.

Cornelius Hoozee, chairman of the Middle School planning project and elementary school principal, pointed out that there are at least ten points of variance that will have to be cleared up. Plans call for approximately 70,000 square feet of space and will call for a construction expenditure in the neighborhood of $900,000.

The Roosevelt school area is still being considered as the building site as no alternate site with equal advantages seems to be available at this time.

The School Board is also giving serious consideration to adding a library and science classrooms to the high school. Because there is some urgency to adding these rooms at the present time it may be decided to place this issue on the ballot at the same time as the bonding for the Middle School.

If the School Board decides in favor of this question, the tax payers will be faced with three proposals at the March 2 election: (1) Bonding in favor of the Middle School; (2) Adoption of a millage increase for operation of the Middle School; and (3) Bonding in favor of increasing High School facilities.

New Fire Hall Is Scheduled For Allegan

ALLEGAN — At a special meeting this week, Allegan's City Council voted 4-1 to accept the low bid of $96,890 submitted by Heckman Construction, Allegan, for Allegan's new fire hall. Mayor T. E. Malila cast the only no vote.

A representative of Kiefer & Kellogg, Kalamazoo architectural firm, told councilmen proposed construction changes to bring down the cost "would result in a loss of esthetic value." Further, he said he did not believe they would result in as much savings as were computed.

City Manager Kenneth Bollinger, with the cooperation of contractor Heckman, had earlier presented to the council in letter form, 10 recommendations he felt would reduce the low bid and bring it closer to the architect's original $70,000 estimate.

Faced with a 15-day limitation on acceptance or rejection of bids and the problem of putting up a building that would conform architecturally to the residential area where the fire hall is to be located, councilmen decided not to sacrifice quality and appearance for economy.

It was pointed out that a building which will probably stand for the next 80-100 years, should be up to the standard promised Allegan residents, particularly those who live in the area where the building will stand.

Some alternate and less expensive features previously considered were the elimination of pre-cast concrete overhang and substitution of steel beams and narrow overhang; elimination of a basement, and substitution of gravelled parking lot and driveway for pavement.

Dutch Dump East, 80-68; 5th Straight

Holland High's basketball team chalked up its fifth straight victory here Tuesday night with an 80-68 win over East Grand Rapids before 1,000 fans in the Holland fieldhouse.

The win gave the Dutch a 6-2 record and served as preparation for the resumption of LMAC hostilities here Friday against Muskegon.

Starting like a house on fire, the Dutch fired at an amazing 69 per cent clip in the first quarter and rolled to a 25-10 lead.

But they couldn't stand prosperity and the Pioneers came right back in the second quarter with a 25-point effort.

Coach Don Piersma, enjoying a 20-point 30-10 lead in the first minute of the second quarter, inserted his subs but this unit had trouble finding the basket while Frank Kuta's second East game zeroed in.

Holland had hit 11 of 16 in the first quarter including four driving layups by Cal Beltman and three straight baskets by Bob Brolin. In the second period, Holland slipped to six of 21.

The losers had a poor four of 16 shooting in the opening quarter but replacements Ron Kutschinski, with 11, and Dave McKinley, with six, led the second period attack that pulled East within five at half, 40-35. East sank 10 of 21 in the second period.

After playing a full court press in the first half, Holland went into a zone in the second half. The Pioneers were able to shoot over the zone and with 2:26 left in the frame pulled within two, 52-50. The winners outscored East, 8-4 the rest of the period to lead 60-54 at the close.

In the fourth quarter, Holland really made use of its 6'10" Mike Lawson and the driving Beltman. The Dutch, taking advantage of a small man guarding the big junior, flipped the ball to him and he responded with five baskets including a sweeping hook.

Beltman's constant driving continued to harass the Pioneers and picked up a pair of buckets while No. 1 replacement Dan Colenbrander, also sank two baskets.

Beltman led the Holland attack with 23 while Lawson had 21. Colenbrander and Brolin each had 11.

John Leenhouts, who scored only one basket, turned in a fine defensive game as he snatched several rebounds and fired upcourt. Holland's rebounding was not up to par as the smaller Pioneers matched the winners and the board battle ended, 31-31.

The Dutch outscored East, 11-2 in the first period but trailed the other three periods, especially the third when East had 16 to Holland's nine.

Holland got good shooting again in the second half with periods of eight of 17 and 10 of 19 and ended with 48 per cent. The Pioneers made eight of 16 and seven of 12 in the second half and concluded with 44 per cent. Holland had eight more shots than the losers and made six more baskets. Each team tried the same number of shots in the first two periods (16 and 21).

Kutschinski, the state Class A half mile champion, led East with 18 points while junior McKinley and Rich Steketee each had 11. The loss gives the Pioneers a 3-6 record.

Although Holland had Lawson and Brolin with three fouls each in the first half, neither picked up another in the game and the Dutch only committed 16. East fouled only 12 times on its man-for-man defense. At the line, each team made 10 shots with Holland having 13 tries and East, 21.

Youth Takes Time To Aid Injured Boy

Holland is a place where people still lend a hand to those in need.

In an age where many people turn their heads rather than "become involved," this story which came to light Monday comes as refreshing evidence that the goodness of man still exists.

It was a week ago Tuesday when Jim Holt, nine-year-old son of City Manager and Mrs. Herb Holt, took a bad spill into a creek while coasting at the South Side Swimming Club not far from the Holt home. The boy, one of the Holt twins, received a severe four-inch gash of the scalp. Muddy, wet and bleeding, he headed for home.

At 24th St. and Lincoln Ave., a motorbike operated by Bernard Van Til passed him and then turned around when the driver realized the child had been hurt. Van Til, a senior at Holland Christian High School, put the youngster on his motorbike and headed for the Holt home just over a block away.

He parked his bike, threw down his skates (he had been headed for ice skating) and helped Mrs. Holt get the child to a doctor's office.

He drove the Holt car to the office building, let off mother and child, parked the car and then came into the office to "wait it out" while young Jim's gash was stitched up, something that took about 45 minutes.

Then he drove the Holts home, retrieved his motorbike and skates and returned home. He mentioned it to his mother, but a couple of days elapsed before he got around to tell his father, former State Rep. Riemer Van Til.

City Manager Holt was grateful. He said it was particularly heart warming to find an 18-year-old with a feeling for helping others in an age when people often turn a deaf ear to the needs of their fellowman.

As for Jim, he has made a fine recovery.

First Baptist At Zeeland to Build Edifice

ZEELAND — Construction of a new church edifice for the First Baptist Church of Zeeland is scheduled to begin in April and a kickoff meeting to begin the sale of bonds to persons interested will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the church in Zeeland.

The new church edifice will replace the present auditorium at 246 West Main St., Zeeland. Cost of the new structure will be about $160,000. It will tie into the existing education wing which was built in 1954.

In addition to the auditorium which will have a seating capacity of 450 there will be a multipurpose room for overflow seating of 100, a fellowship hall with kitchen facilities and an administration complex including the pastor's study, church office and combination library-board room.

An interesting design feature is the dual narthex located near the center of the church. The predominate entrance opens onto Jefferson Ave. The opposite entry on the east side leads to an off-street parking area planned for the future. The chancel will have a central pulpit flanked by a communion table and baptistry with a choir loft, piano and organ behind.

Seven pastors have served the First Baptist Church of Zeeland since it was established in 1929. The Rev. Douglas Gray, present pastor, came in 1959.

The church has an unusually active youth schedule as well as a missionary program which fully supports five missionaries and partially supports five others plus three mission boards.

18th Century American Furniture Is Reviewed

Woman's Literary Club members were given a fine insight into American furniture of the 18th century in a talk Tuesday afternoon by Stuart Shaw, expert for the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City in the fields of furniture and the decorative arts.

With the aid of color slides, Shaw traced the history of early American furniture and the designs that are still popular today in hundreds of variations.

His talk mainly concerned chairs although some of his slides covered chests and the so-called lowboys and highboys, tables, desks, mirrors, sofas and a few fourposter beds.

The 18th century in America was a period of great change in the colonies, he said, a time when Americans strove not to be known as "country cousins" and sought to be as "cultured" as their English relatives. This resulted in emphasis on the rich ornamentation on furniture, carvings, crests, and the like.

He traced the history of the William and Mary period, the influence of Louis XIV period (the great arbiter of art in the old world), the Queen Anne period, and then the influences of the great designers Hepplewhite, Chippendale, Sheraton and Duncan Phyfe.

"All museum pieces are not always masterpieces," he said. "In fact, some are ungainly, ugly and simply awful. Designers turned out bad pieces in the past too, and we should never kowtow and worship a chair just because it is 150 years old. Some were atrocious," he said.

He made many references to furniture in New England and to the pieces in the Metropolitan Museum where most of his slides were made.

"Many antiques are available in the Chippendale style, but it's hard to find any real Chippendale chairs. Chippendale as a furniture designer is the most extravagantly credited person of his period," he added.

Transition in styles moved from the pierced back slat of the Chippendale to the gateleg table (still practical), wingback chairs, fourposter beds with their rich velvets and brocades, the secretary-bookcases, the rococo influence, the Japan influence, tip-top tables, the shield back of the Hepplewhite chair, the Pembroke table, the Sheraton design, the Duncan Phyfe influence (both very good and very bad) and the hundreds of variations still used widely.

Mrs. Kenneth Kooker, club president, paid tribute to an early club member, Mrs. Arend Bosman, who died Jan. 3 at the age of 89.

The clubhouse birthday will be celebrated at the next meeting Feb. 2 when Dr. Milton Rakove of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations will talk on "American Foreign Policy."

Allegan's 1964 county campaign netted $8,347.70, with more than $11,000 being spent to benefit its 29 polio patients, $270 for birth defect victims; and $25 for arthritic patients. Additional financial assistance came from other county and national sources, Mrs. Payne said.

Rein Visscher Retires From Hope College Post

"My father made it possible for me to have the opportunity to live in America and to enjoy this great country's heritage," said Rein Visscher, who retired earlier this month as Hope College business manager.

"My parents had the courage and determination to pull up their roots, leave their native land where they had some feeling of security in contrast to the unknown adventure of the new world."

"Dad had $17 in his pocket and owed $80 on the passage and that is all they had in the world, except a family of five, a bond of love and courage and a great deal of fortitude."

This was the story Visscher told to Dr. Calvin Vander Werf, Hope College president.

"Gertrude Wilhelmina Katrina, my mother, was born in Almelo, and my father, Gerrit, was born in Amsterdam. They met in 1890 and married in 1895. When he brought his family to the United States — and there were five of us — there was not much left over from my father's $9 weekly check."

"My father taught us to pay cash for things we needed and this carried over to my business career. There wasn't any credit available in those days and I remember my father buying a house for $900."

He worked 500 hours at the rate of 20 cents an hour for just $100 of that needed amount for a home."

Rein Visscher's first employer was the late Nicodemus Bosch, whose son Randall is now the present secretary of the Board of Trustees of Hope College.

After working in the tool and die industry and on mechanical drawing projects for ten years, Visscher entered the retailing business.

"The depression was a difficult period, but we had been taught by my hardworking father and strong willed mother to face up to such circumstances," said Rein.

For a time Visscher was manager of the student training store for the Kroger Company. He then went into the food business for himself, and for many years operated the IGA Food Market on Eighth St. In 1943 he sold his business.

"I rested, and after the war took a trip to Europe," Rein said. "Upon my return I talked with Dr. Bruce Raymond and he was having a difficult time in preparing for the influx of World War II veterans. Some 500 wanted to enroll and we had to find the facilities for them. I became the manager of the cafeteria and dormitories."

Rein continued, "We had limited facilities and converted the Masonic Hall (now Temple Building) into a dining hall for 500 students. We used war surplus equipment."

In 1949, when Dr. Raymond joined the Michigan Colleges Foundation, Visscher became business manager — just in time to be a central figure in the extensive building program of the college.

"We constructed Durfee Hall for 100 women and could provide meals for 165. Then in 1951 Voorhees Hall was renovated and refurnished for 110 women. In 1956 the Nykerk Hall of Music, Snow Auditorium and Kollen Hall were completed," said Rein.

Funds for the Music Hall were provided by the City of Holland and the Church.

In 1959 funds provided by the Housing and Home Finance Agency were used to build Phelps Hall housing 160 women and 600 diners.

In 1961 the Van Zoeren library was completed, Graves Hall was converted to foreign language classrooms and laboratory space, and in 1964 the Physics-Math building was erected.

As for the future, Rein said, "I want to maintain my home here in Holland with my many friends, from May to January, but we'll travel to Europe and visit Florida."

President Vander Werf said, "We want Rein to know how much we will miss his daily counsel, but rejoice that he will now have more time with his family. He richly deserves a long and happy retirement, but we look forward to his continued interest and availability as an advisor in our future plans."
