WINDOWS BROKEN — Tornado winds popped out showroom windows at Vandenberg Buick-Opel International, 1191 South Washington Ave. early Saturday. The winds also ripped off portions of the roof of the dealership building and the body shop nearby. Company officials said steel decking on the roofs of the buildings remained intact. Cars in the showroom were not damaged but about a dozen small cars parked in the lot outside the showroom had broken windows. Clayton Ter Haar, vice president of the firm, said most of the glass was scattered outside the showroom and some of the windows not broken were bulged outward. Damage estimates were not available.

Trees Down, Windows Broken, No Injuries Reported

Tornadic Winds Damage Area

Rain and sleet driven by strong winds lashed Holland and most of southwestern lower Michigan early Saturday causing widespread damage. In Holland, most severe damage was reported at Vandenberg Buick - Opel-International, 1191 South Washington Ave., where winds damaged or broke all the windows in the showroom and ripped off portions of the roofs of the body shop and the dealership building.

Clayton Ter Haar, vice president of the firm, said windows in the showroom were popped out and speculated that the damage may have been caused by tornadic winds.

Cars parked outside the dealership also had windows broken but cars in the showroom showed little, if any damage, he said. Damage estimates were not available.

Portions of a roof at the Auto Top building along M-21 were ripped off and a showroom window at the James A. Brouwer Co., 212 River Ave., was blown out. The front window at Fris Stationers at 30 West Eighth St. also blew out. A showroom window at the R. E. Barber Ford Inc., 640 East Eighth St., also was broken.

The Holland Board of Public Works said several utility poles were knocked down in the area of Brooks Ave. and 40th St. and 16th St. and Lane Ave. and scattered power outages were reported where tree limbs were down.

Trees were reported down at 309 Maple Ave., 305 West 17th

St. and at the home of the Rev. Dick Williams, 298 East 16th St. An eight-car garage collapsed at 21 Madison St. with five cars inside.

Winds upset a parking lot toll booth in the lot at Seventh St. and River Ave.

The house of Bruce Van Dyke, 940 Bluebell Dr., was struck by lightning and firemen estimated damage at $2,000. Officials said the aluminum siding of the house was speckled by the lightning and fire began later beneath the siding. Firemen received the call at 6:20 a.m.

Allegan County deputies said a house trailer was blown over at 106th Ave. and 46th St. while Wayland State Police said another trailer was upset at 120th and Seventh but no injuries were reported in either case.

Ottawa County deputies said they had no reports of serious injuries from the storm but said there were several calls of power lines down and trees toppled.

Some garages were reported down or damaged in the Allendale area.

In Saugatuck, winds, believed a tornado, blew down several trees along North St. at the northern edge of the village and one fell against a house. No injuries were reported. The chimney of the police station was knocked over and electric power was reported out in several areas of the village.

Village police said similar tree damage was reported along the lake shore areas and in Fennville.

County Okays Controller Plan

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Commissioners Tuesday decided to go ahead with plans to employ a county controller to act as a financial officer and purchasing agent for county government.

The county controller was recommended by members of the county organization committee which has been studying reorganization of county government with the help of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan.

The Commissioners also adopted a committee recommendation to name a special committee to implement the controller program and begin a search for controller whose salary schedule was set at between $18,770 and $22,878.

Approval of the recommendation followed defeat of a motion to table the report until February. Voting in favor of tabling the action were commissioners, Kenneth Raak, William Kieft, John Langeland and William Kennedy. Commissioner Herbert Wybenga was absent during the afternoon session.

A motion to accept the committee report was approved on a 7 to 3 vote with Kieft voting in favor along with commissioners Eunice Bareham, Marilyn Sherwood, James Dressel, Donald Stoltz, Kenneth Northouse and Raymond Vander Laan.

Members of the committee were Mrs. Bareham, Dressel, Northouse and Vander Laan.

The controller would be responsible for preparation of the annual operating budget for the county and fiscal plans and programs based on future needs and revenue and oversee preparation of the county payroll and maintain insurance programs and keep the commissioners informed on legislation and grant availabilities for county use.

Additional staff might be required but commissioner Dressel said county manpower-funds could be used.

County Seeks Funds For 'E Unit'

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Commissioners Tuesday paved the way for what could be a series of emergency vehicles or "E Units" in the county by authorizing Sheriff Bernard Grysen to apply for a federal grant for a unit in the Georgetown area.

Grysen said the township Monday voted $36,000 as the local match for the first year should the federal grant be approved and the emergency vehicle purchased and placed into operation.

Additional requests for such units could come from the Holland and Park townships, Grysen said.

The sheriff's department would be responsible for the operation of the unit which would be in use daily as a patrol vehicle and respond to all types of emergency calls in the Georgetown area.

But Grysen said the vehicle was not equipped nor designed to transport injured persons to hospitals. Rather equipment and personnel would be used to administer emergency lifesaving aid. Similar E Units are in operation in Grand Rapids and Kent County.

Total first year cost for equipment and personnel is $120,000, Grysen said, of which 30 per cent is to come from local sources. The second and third year of the five-year grant the match is 50 per cent while in the last two years local sources will furnish 70 per cent of the operating costs.

Operating costs are estimated at $80,000 annually.

Grysen said paramedics assigned to the E Unit would receive 800 hours training. He said five men would be assigned to the unit with one man riding the unit at all times.

The sheriff said the unit was necessary to provide needed emergency services to the Georgetown and surrounding areas. The unit would operate primarily in Georgetown township but would be available to the general area.

A letter calling attention to inadequate parking at the District Court building in Holland for county employees was received from Holland City Manager William L. Bopf.

Bopf said only six unmetered parking spaces have been allocated to county employees forcing other county employees to use the metered parking areas behind the police station and court buildings.

He said police have been ticketing the overtime cars of county employees and the situation is creating some hard feelings among police and county employees.

Bopf suggested the county rent additional parking spaces in the lots from the city at the established rate of $7.50 per month per space until additional parking is provided by the county.

A petition was received from employees of the county Probate court, legal aid, prosecutor's office, friend of the court and juvenile court complaining of a lack of county parking spaces.

The communications were referred to the county administration committee.

County Okays Two-Year Pact

GRAND HAVEN — A two-year contract with members of the sheriff's department was approved by the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners Tuesday granting deputies an 8 and three-quarters per cent pay hike this year and an overall 22½ per cent improvement in wages and fringe benefits during the contract.

Members of the sheriff's department approved the tentative contract earlier.

Commissioner Kenneth Northouse said the increase in salary the second year could go as high as $18,000 because of the necessity to pay for overtime.

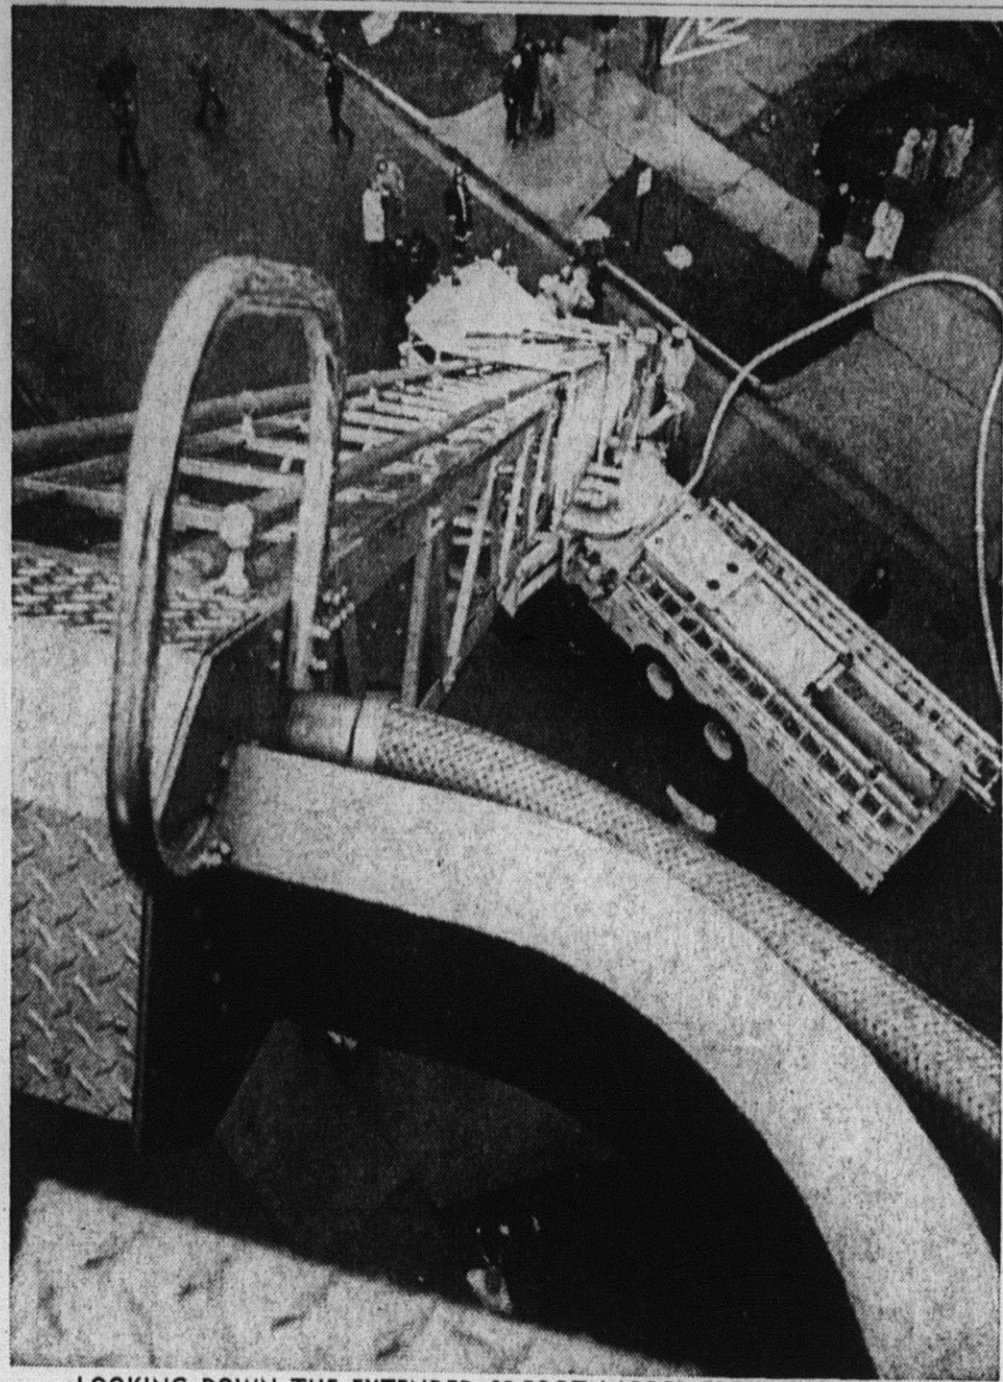

A two-year contract with county nurses was approved and it grants them a nine per cent wage hike this year and a seven per cent increase in 1976.

A request from the Ottawa County Bicentennial committee for an additional $2,000 and the hiring of a person to coordinate county-wide activities was referred to committees.

The additional money was asked to help pay for lapel pins which could be sold to raise funds for other projects during the bicentennial year.

The purchase of 40 bullet proof vests for members of the sheriff's department was approved by the commissioners. Total cost for the light weight vests is $3,000.

Leon Van Harn of Zeeland was reappointed to the Election Scheduling Committee and John Jager of Holland township was named to succeed Peter Sherwood whose term expired.

LOOKING DOWN THE EXTENDED 85-FOOT LADDER FROM THE BUCKET
$136,000, 85-foot Aerial Tower

Fire Truck Dedicated

Holland's modern, 85-foot aerial tower fire truck, capable of delivering 1,000 gallons of water a minute to douse a fire, was formally dedicated Friday at 10 during a winter rain storm.

City officials, representatives of the fire department, citizens and members of a fifth grade class from Holland Heights, attended the ceremonies which were moved to the Council Chambers because of the rain.

The lime-green truck was parked on Eleventh St., at City Hall where demonstration rides were given in the bucket at the end of the tower on the $136,236 truck.

The new truck, on order for nearly two years, replaces a 36-year-old ladder truck purchased for $14,000 and which had become outdated. The new truck will be housed in the downtown station.

In his dedicatory remarks Mayor Louis Hallacy said it was the duty of City Council to provide maximum protection to the citizens and property of the Holland Community.

"This is not an option, but a duty and an awesome responsibility. The city of Holland operates a very efficient and economical fire department — one that has received national recognition for these very virtues — one of which we can be extremely proud," he said.

Fire Chief L. Marvin Mokema accepted the 43-foot long truck on behalf of the fire department and said the truck would be dedicated to the protection of lives and property in Holland.

City Manager William Bopf introduced the persons taking part in the dedication and members of council. The invocation was by Rev. Robert Hoeksema, pastor of Third Reformed church and fire department chaplain.

Taking the first ride in the bucket following the dedication ceremonies were Mayor Hallacy, mayor pro-tem Donald Oosterbaan and councilmen John R. Bloemendaal and Kenneth Beelen.

Firemen responsible for the operation of the truck have been training with the equipment day and night since it arrived in

FIRST RIDE — The mayor and three members of city council took the first ride in the bucket at the end of the 85-foot aerial tower truck which was dedicated this morning during ceremonies at City Hall. The $136,000 piece of equipment replaces a 37-year-old ladder truck and will be housed in the downtown station. The new truck is lime-green for safety purposes. Fire department crews responsible for operating the truck have been going through training since the truck arrived Tuesday.

The truck is capable of shooting water from three nozzles on the bucket, two from the front and one from beneath the bucket. An operator riding in the bucket controls the movement of the bucket at the end of the extendable tower which is maneuverable in a 360-degree swing at all heights.

Maplewood Given Old School Bell

Presentation of the old school bell which hung in the belfry of the old Maplewood School in Fillmore township was a highlight of the monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night in Maplewood Elementary School.

The large bell was brought into the all-purpose room by Building and Grounds Supt. Edward Prins. It was accepted by Paul Van Kolken, PTO president, who said the bell would be preserved and given a display area in the present school on Central Ave. which was constructed a few years ago.

An offer of Board President James O. Lamb to have the bell sandblasted was gratefully accepted by Van Kolken on behalf of the PTO and the Maplewood parents. Some 45 were in the audience including a number of Cub Scouts. The meeting was in conjunction with the monthly PTO meeting which this month marks the 50th anniversary of the first parent-teacher organization held Jan. 28, 1925. The school was founded in 1849 in Fillmore township and became a part of the Holland school district in the annexation action in the late 1950s.

Maplewood Principal Dennis Van Haisma briefly outlined programs of the school and introduced the staff. He said the enrollment totals 206 students and 105 to 115 participate consistently in the school lunch program. He said a current project is murals for the walls of the all-purpose room, and tracings for an animal orchestra designed by a school art consultant could be seen.

Van Kolken presented PTO brochures listing officers, school history, activity schedules, school calendar, staff members, room mothers and the philosophy of Maplewood school education. He traced minutes of early parent-teacher meetings which, then as now, were concerned with projects for the school... an oil stove, cups and spoons, and eventually, playground equipment. Bad weather cancelled several meetings in the early days.

In school board business, the board approved an elementary teacher for next year, Beatrice Fierro Whitney, a 1974 graduate of Grand Valley State College with no experience.

Attention also was called to the retirement of Edward Damson from the high school faculty at the close of the semester, and President Lamb remarked Damson had started teaching in September, 1934, and was with the school system 38 years, teaching history and government, as well as coaching several sports.

The board approved a recommendation for elementary secretarial positions, providing adult fulltime and parttime secretaries in most elementary schools, but providing for reassignment of co-op clerks in other positions. The board also approved a contract with the Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan to assist in developing board policies and possibly a constitution. Both propositions carried 6-1, with John Amaya dissenting because of financial expenditures.

High School Principal Fred S. Bertsch introduced a video presentation dealing with accreditation and evaluation through the North Central Association, explaining that accredited schools are reassessed every seven years, and a team from the University of Michigan will be visiting the local high school next year. Of the 700 high schools in Michigan, about half are accredited by North Central, Bertsch said.

Slight variations were approved for the 1975 driver training program with schedules listing Jan. 16 to July 11, July 14 to Aug. 8, and Aug. 8-29. The status of bilingual-multicultural advisory committee also was reviewed.

President Lamb presided at the meeting which lasted 1½ hours. All members were presents. Mrs. Deanna De Pree gave the invocation.

Dial-A-Ride Posts Several Records For December

Dial-A-Ride posted several records in the month of December including the busiest day ever recorded on Dec. 16 with 383 passengers.

Total ridership passed 6,000 with 6,134 but the month also saw one of the slowest days with only 183 riders on Dec. 24.

Average ridership hit a record level of 292 and nine of the 21 service days had ridership of over 300. A non-special day passenger per vehicle hour record of 9.3 was achieved on Dec. 3.

Because 1974 was DART's first holiday season, managers will be watching to see if ridership maintains the pre-holiday levels in January and February.

Library Services Are Shown In Herrick Display

To help the patrons of Herrick Public Library become better acquainted with a program in which the library participates, a graphic display of the Lakeland Library Federation has been assembled for the month of January.

Lakeland Library Federation is a network of libraries in the region to provide back-up library services to every resident of the area. The Lakeland Library Federation headquarters are at Grand Rapids Public Library.

If a patron of Herrick Public Library has a library need which it can't supply, a daily phone call from Grand Rapids at 2:30 p.m. relays the request to Lakeland Library Federation. If the Federation is unable to provide the material or answer the reference question, it is relayed to Michigan State Library.

Other libraries cooperating in the program include Belding, Ionia, Georgetown, Grand Rapids, Hastings, Sparta. The branches and affiliates of Herrick Public Library, namely, Allendale, Crockery, Hudsonville, Jamestown and Zeeland also benefit by the program.

In keeping with the thinking that January is March of Dimes month, a display of materials relating to birth defects has been arranged. The display, placed in behalf of the Ottawa County Chapter of the March of Dimes, was arranged by Mrs. Diana Van Kolken.

Rehearsals for 'Gypsy' Going Full Speed Ahead

Holland Community Theatre is going full speed ahead in its preparations and rehearsals for "Gypsy," the Broadway hit musical about Gypsy Rose Lee, the legendary first lady of the world of burlesque. Four performances are scheduled Jan. 29-Feb. 1 in the Holland High Performing Arts Center.

Although Gypsy Rose Lee is the legendary character, the musical is mostly about her mother Rose, originally played by Ethel Merman who could belt out any tune to the farthest balcony. Barbara Greenwood will play this ambitious aggressive mother who battles the hard road of show business for her two daughters.

Holly Warren will play Louise, the gawky adolescent who emerges into statuesque beauty and fame as a stripper. Her younger and prettier sister June will be played by Kathie Cunningham, the child vaudeville star who became the breadwinner of the family.

Gordon Cunningham plays Herbie, the mother's devoted friend and manager who is horrified at the thought of burlesque.

Julie and Susan Bosch, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bosch, will portray Baby Louise and Baby June in early scenes in the musical. Joan Smalenburg, Darlene Kolean and Leah Wilson will demonstrate burlesque techniques in a number "You've Got to Have a Gimmick."

"Everything's Coming Up Roses" is the jubilant theme sung by the battling Rose in a moment of early success for her children. Other hits are "Let Me Entertain You," "Together, Wherever You Go," "You'll Never Get Away From Me" and "Small World."

Dale Conklin is directing "Gypsy." Ruth Burkholder is musical director and Marilyn Perry is choreographer. Tickets are available in many business places and at the door.

Concerned Citizens Of West Ottawa Hold Meet Mark 50th Anniversary

A large turnout of interested West Ottawa residents attended the second meeting of Concerned Citizens for Education Wednesday evening in the People's State Northside Bank.

Chairman Joan Van Rossem explained to the new people that this group came into being before the September millage election. They took the responsibility of getting answers to questions regarding the total school system. Following the election, this committee received many requests to continue serving as a liaison group between parents, school administrators and the Board of Education.

In an attempt to get answers and understand some of the problem areas most discussed throughout the district, four study groups were set up: Middle School, Counseling, Staffing and Curriculum. Reports were given by the chairmen of these groups.

It was noted that the administration has been most helpful in opening up new lines of communication between school and parents, especially in the high school where information, formerly given to students, is now mailed to their parents.

Also, the Board of Education has requested two survey teams from the University of Michigan, Bureau of School Services, to study the Middle School setup and high school guidance program. It is hoped that these reports will be beneficial in clearing up areas of greatest concern by recommending constructive changes.

A long question-answer and request-opinion period followed, resulting in the realization that Concerned Citizens for Education should broaden its study groups. Much discussion centered on vocational school availability, unified curriculum to facilitate passage of students between elementary, middle school and high school, health education, in-service training for teachers, a better understanding of school finances, obtaining more government money for qualified programs and a summer educational program. Following the discussion, small groups were formed for different areas of concern.

The steering committee, comprised of Mrs. Van Rossem, Sally Coats, Anna Angell, Janice White and Joan Lalley, urges everyone interested in learning more about the West Ottawa educational system to attend the public meetings and join a sub-committee.

Chairmen to be contacted in the different interest areas are middle school, Mrs. Van Rossem; counseling, Mrs. V. Rossem; curriculum, Bernard Vonk; elementary schools, Mrs. Angell; vocational education, Mrs. White and budget and financing, Sam Carini.

The next public meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 10. Time and location will be announced at a later date.

DAR Hears Book Review On Henry Ford

The Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harrison Lee. It was the 67th anniversary of the founding of the Holland chapter. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. F. Keeler and Mrs. Louis Johnson.

Mrs. Lucille Donovan presented a book review on "Henry Ford — Grass Roots American" by Reynold Wik. The review covered the era of the Model T, 1908 to 1927. The "Tin Lizzie" was the car that put America on wheels. Although Henry Ford was not the inventor of the automobile, he profited by the mistakes of others. He was the first to form an assembly line and standardize auto parts and thus produce a car which mid-Americans could afford.

Henry Ford was a man of simple taste and modest dress who appealed to the common folk. He believed practice was better than a college degree hanging upon the wall. The car was a blessing to farm folk. It stretched fences, turned gridstones and shelled corn. One farmer bragged it could do everything but rock the baby and make love to the hired girl.

Although a billionaire at the time of his death in 1947, Henry Ford gave millions to promote trade schools, hospitals, and technical schools. He was truly the king of industry. Will Rogers was quoted as saying, "It will be 100 years before we find out if Ford hurt us or helped us but one thing for sure he didn't leave us where he found us."

A short business meeting was held by the regent, Mrs. Lee. Devotions were given by Mrs. Clarence Becker and a national defense report by Mrs. Dwight Yntema.

EVERY SINGLE SECOND

If someone asked you what costs $1,000 a second, you might think of a number of things like the last time you talked to your lawyer, your accountant, a car salesman from whom you bought your last automobile or maybe the real estate man that sold you your home. You might be close to the mark in all four cases, but there is something else that is pretty expensive too and that is paying the interest on the national debt. It amounts to about $55 thousand per minute — close to $1,000 every second.

The federal debt is expected to pass the $500 billion mark this fiscal year and may hit $508 billion by June 30, 1975. As things now stand, that thousand - dollars - per - second adds up to $29.1 billion, or 65 per cent of all the corporate taxes collected every year. All of that money being spent by government adds to the demand for goods and services by increasing the number of dollars circulating, even as it depreciates their value.

The American people just elected a new Congress. May it exhibit the understanding and the guts to bring spending levels under control and pursue effective, if not always popular, measures to tame the scourge of inflation.

The gift shop hostess, Mrs. Linda Rynbrandt, reported some openings for evenings and afternoons. The gift shop manager, Mrs. Barb Den Herder, thanked those who helped make the gift shop a success and presented the auxiliary with a $1,000 check.

Henry Veenstra, hospital administrator, reported the hospital is in need of an EKG machine and heart monitor defibrillator. The auxiliary then responded by unanimously voting to buy these for the hospital. It was also voted to continue to have meetings for the desk and gift shop hostesses. It was decided to have an ice cream social in connection with the hospital's 20th anniversary, to be held the first week in May.

Sunday School Lesson

The Lord of Life
John 11:17-27
By C. P. Dame

John's gospel records seven great signs, written to prove the deity of Jesus. This lesson contains the "last and greatest of the signs"—the raising of Lazarus from the dead. Jesus showed his power over nature in the stilling of the stormy sea, over all manner of diseases and over death—recall the raising of the widow's son and the daughter of the official. This lesson portrays Jesus the Lord of Life,—the Giver of life.

I. Families have problems. All kinds of families have difficulties of various nature. This lesson tells about a family, composed of a brother and two sisters all known to Bible readers. The homeless Jesus lodged here at times for He loved them all and they loved Him. Here Jesus experienced the joys of joyful family life.

This family was close - knit well known in the community, beloved, but disappointed, yet trusting in a time of great loss. Lazarus became sick, the sisters notified Jesus, but He didn't come and so the sisters were sorrowful, due to a death and to a delay.

II. Jesus restores life. After a purposeful delay of several days — days of deep mourning by the sisters Jesus came. When the sisters met Jesus, Martha first, then Mary, they told him of their disappointment but also of their faith. Note the great, "I Am" of Jesus, setting forth a great claim — "I Am The Resurrection and The Life" — stating the great truth that any one who believes in Jesus lives, regardless of death. Upon hearing these words Martha confessed her belief in Jesus as "The Christ, The Son of God."

After speaking like the Lord of life, Jesus showed his humanity by weeping with those that wept, the sisters and their friends, but also revealed his deity — he was deeply "moved in spirit and troubled," more than any in the crowd the death of a friend and the grief of mourners made him angry at what sin had and was doing in this world.

After giving orders, Jesus prayed to his Father and then he spoke with a loud voice, so that all could hear, "Lazarus come out" — and he came out and gave more orders, revealing his Lordship: "Unbind him, and let him go."

III. Responses to Jesus differ. We read that many of the Jews, after they had seen this miracle believed in Jesus. In spite of what some had seen unbelief moved some to report to the Pharisees "what Jesus had done." Unbelief still blinds some people so that they do not see what the gospel is doing and the blessings the Christian faith gives to those who believe. We face a choice — we can believe Jesus or refuse to believe him. Belief in Jesus means life for time and eternity. "I Came That They May Have Life and Have it Abundantly."

Major consideration is given to the speech aspects, as a candidate must prepare and deliver a talk of approximately two minutes on the hopeful side of cancer."

New Telephone Copier Speeds Library Service

A new telecopier, a machine about the size of a typewriter which transmits requests for books from other libraries, has been installed at Herrick Public Library to provide improved service for patrons.

The telecopier, installed in the library workroom not far from the main desk, transmits requests on a sheet of regular paper and gets a return reply on specially treated recording paper. The machine is activated by telephone, and a full sheet of material is received in four to six minutes by scanning process.

Darlene Winter, interlibrary loan librarian, said the machine is a great time saver since this work previously had to be done by telephone, writing messages by hand.

Library Director Roger Walcott said the copier is used daily between 2:30 and 3 p.m. through regional headquarters in Grand Rapids of the Lake-land Library Federation. Grand Rapids Public Library contacts the Michigan State Library for materials not available in Grand Rapids.

Although the telecopier is used primarily for library purposes, other uses are under study. Persons interested in available services may see the machine in operation any afternoon.

Junior Achievement Asks Support of Businessmen

Business leaders from Holland and Zeeland were urged Friday to support the organization of a Junior Achievement program in the area which is being spearheaded by the Holland Jaycees.

More than 60 persons attended a briefing luncheon at the Holland Country Club where executives of the national JA and the chapter in Muskegon told of the goals of JA.

JA enables high school youths to actively participate in all levels of business by organizing and managing the products through mini-manufacturing firms.

The Jaycees organized a study committee to look into establishment of a JA program and recommended creation of a committee to pursue the project. Support of the business community was sought at the Friday meeting.

Addressing the luncheon were Al Reiter, executive director of the Muskegon JA, under whose leadership the local JA program would operate, Henry Heffner, regional JA vice president, and John Snider, attorney and active in the Muskegon JA program.

Snider said the JA program gives business an opportunity to bring the message of business to the schools and young people. He acknowledged the present business conditions were not the best for organizing such a JA program but added it takes courage to become creative.

Heffner said there were two phases to organizing the JA program. One to get the involvement of the young people and organize them into the mini companies to produce a product. The other is to gain the financial and physical support of the business community.

Funds will be necessary to rent a work area and to purchase equipment and he estimated $6,000 to $10,000 would be necessary to launch the program.

The cost of producing the products for sale in the community is covered in the selling price of the product, Heffner added.

The entire JA program locally would be advised by a board of directors of businessmen from industries supporting the program.

Christian's Triumph Is Its Seventh

By Rich Wolters

Holland Christian's basketball team rebounded Friday night after a bad performance against St. Joseph Tuesday. Turning in a fine game, the Maroons handed a good Grand Rapids Creston team a 75-60 beating. Creston had just come off a win over the Muskegon Big Reds.

The Maroons in playing one of their better games this season, used a devastating board game, good defense, along with hitting on 50 per cent of their shots. As it turned out, all this was needed, as the Bears put in a bid to pull the game out in the final quarter, twice narrowing Christian's lead to seven points. However, the Maroons weathered the storm and won going away.

Stellar guard Rog Burrell and forward Rick Freeman led the Polar Bears to an 8-3 lead before Christian broke loose, scoring 16 of the next 18 points for a 19-10 lead. In the flurry, Jack Scholten hit six points, Keith Frens four, and Tom Zoerhof, Jon Houseward and Dave Van Langevelde two each. The quarter ended with Christian ahead 23-14. The margin could have been more, but Christian only made one of seven free throws.

Zoerhof's and Scholten's baskets put the Maroons up by a 27-14 count, then the teams played to a draw for the rest of the half with Christian enjoying a 37-24 cushion at the intermission. Van Langevelde left the fans buzzing at the half as he fired and connected on a shot from the center line about a foot from the out-of-bounds line, as the half ended.

Christian started out fast in the third quarter, quickly jumping to a 45-26 margin and still led 51-32 with 4:30 left in the quarter. The Bears began chipping away at the lead behind their excellent pair of guards, Burrell and Mike Floyd, and came up to a 57-47 score after three periods.

The Maroons, after connecting on only five of 15 free throws in the first three periods, scored 10 crucial ones in 18 tries in the hectic final eight minutes. Scholten, who played an excellent game, hit four straight charity shots and Christian was up 61-47 with 6:23 to play. Suddenly the Bears caught fire, and with 3:18 left, Floyd brought the score to 65-58. With 2:08 left it was 67-60. Then Scholten hit a field goal, Frens a pair from the stripe and Van Langevelde a couple of baskets to protect the Maroons' seventh win as against three losses this season.

Frens, Van Langevelde and Houseward hit the backboards probably as well as they have all season, to lead the Maroons to a 46-33 rebounding advantage.

Scholten led his team in scoring with 21 points, while Van Langevelde notched 17 and Houseward and Frens each garnered 13. Burrell had a game-high 26, Floyd scored 14 and Freeman 10 for Creston.

The Little Maroons dropped their second straight game, a 71-55 decision to the Polar Bears. The Maroons are now 6-3 for the year. Christian overcame a 13-2 deficit to lead 18-16 at the quarter. However, Creston fought back for a 37-27 half-time lead, and continued to a 53-39 margin after three periods.

Tim Bracey of the Bears, popped in 41 points. For Christian, Mark Van Dyke, Ken De Jonge and Brian Broekhuizen each tallied 11.

Corrie's Corner

Johnny Carson commented on the new Gerald R. Ford Freeway in Michigan a few nights ago on his "Tonight" program. "As I understand it," he said, "there is a passing lane, a lane for swimming, and one for skiing."

It was a bit late, but Virginia Holt, wife of former Holland City Manager Herb Holt, slipped a clipping in the Holt Christmas greeting, naming Holt the "Sparkplug of the Year" last January by the Greater Beloit Association of Commerce.

The award, one of three given by the association at its 47th annual banquet, went to Holt as the "person who makes things go." The master of ceremonies recounted the progress of the past year, new industries, new business, new spirit, urban renewal, new streets, paving, sewers, renovations. And he identified Holt as "the man who tied it all together, a man who is always available, and the man who makes it go!"

Holt served as city manager of Holland 16 years, leaving about five years ago.

A suggestion from a local school teacher that The Sentinel refrain from using the word "lunch" for anything but a noon-time repast drew some defense from the society writers who scurried to Webster's Dictionary, the arbiter of all arguments in the busy newsroom. Usually in the middle of the day"

The definition: "a light meal and a light meal taken at any time of the day or night at a selected place."

It doesn't take long for newcomers to soak in some of the culture of Holland, Mich., particularly children.

Nevertheless, one mother was slightly disconcerted to hear her five-year-old daughter singing "On the First Day of Christmas, my tulip came to me."

How would you like to explain the difference between "tulip" and "true love?"

Don Voss, Zeeland CD director, tells this story:

Last month at a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation class for city employees and CD personnel, Dave Veldheer, son of the police chief, was among those present at the three-hour class.

A couple of days later while riding in a police cruiser as a CD member, Dave responded to an ambulance call in which a man had stopped breathing. Dave forced air into the stoma (or something) which was clogged and kept up the breathing until emergency treatment at Holland Hospital.

Arie Hordon of Noordeloos, The Netherlands, who visited the local area last April to research the local Noordeloos, sends Christmas greetings from the Netherlands, asking to be remembered to the many people who helped him in his genealogical research.

Among them are Ed Prins, Dr. Elton Bruins, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Koops, Rev. and Mrs. John Hanegraaf, Mrs. Jeanette Alofs, Walter Van Meeteren, Vicki Dawn Vannette, Mr. and Mrs. Sluiter and J. Vanden Bosch.

Hordon is continuing his research and has asked that local persons whose forefathers came from Noordeloos, Netherlands, to write him at Laantje 15, Noordeloos, Nederland. Among the early emigrants were such names as van der Pijl, Teunis van den Berg, Hendrika Mulwijk, Leender van der Aa, Willem Rovesteyn, D. Wolf, Gerri Steehouwer and Willem Paardelper.

Unity Does More Than Give Dutch Good Game

By Leo Martonosi

HUDSONVILLE — Hudsonville Unity Coach Dave Bos would make a good politician, as before the Holland game he said, "I sure hope we can give the Dutch a good basketball game tonight."

Bos was worried that his Crusaders wouldn't be able to keep up with the Dutch because of the flu bug that hit nine of the 12 players on his roster.

After Unity rolled over Holland here Friday, to the tune of 76-58, minus its third leading scorer Brian Van Tubergan, Bos had nothing but praise for his entire squad.

"I never thought we would play like that," said the beaming Bos after the tilt. "Pete Talsma did a fine job in replacing Van Tubergan in the starting lineup and Henry Vos played very well in a reserve role."

Bos, an ex-Holland Christian graduate, also had some kind words for 6'2" center Mick Honderd, who grabbed 14 of Unity's team high 45 caroms. "If Honderd was 6'4" he would be all-state," claimed Bos. "He has all the moves and really can go to the bucket."

The smaller Crusaders outbounded the Dutch by 10 and outshot them from the field 40 per cent to 27.

"Basketball is really a very simple game," offered Holland mentor Don Piersma. "However if you can't put the ball in the hoop once in a while, you're not going to beat anyone."

Holland had the shots against Unity's 1-3-1 zone defense and if they would have hit a percentage from the field that matched the temperature outside, the Crusaders would have had their problems.

Honderd and Talsma led Unity in scoring with 16 markers apiece. Bill Van Vugt added 14 with Jim Haverkamp getting 11 and Voss nine. Ken Bauman led the Dutch with 14 points with Dennis Lawson canning 13 and sub Chuck Modders 11.

Unity took a 15-10 first period bulge and increased its lead to 34-23 at the intermission. Holland only connected on 15 per cent of its attempts from the court in the third quarter, as the Crusaders moved out to an unreal 56-34 advantage.

Holland's substitutes outlasted the Crusaders in the final eight minutes, 24-20.

Lawson did stand out on defense with six block shots and was high in rebounds with nine.

One of the game officials was Jim Eddy, who also works some Big Ten and Mid-American contests. Eddy is an ex-Grand Rapids Union mentor.

Unity is now 7-3 for the season while the Dutch are just the opposite.

Holland's reserves did wait to its seventh triumph, 70-32. At one time the Dutch led, 58-17.

Frank Petersen paced Coach Don Johnson's club with 18 counters. Chuck Bobeldyk chipped in with 11 markers.

CALM AFTER STORM — A coating of ice remained on the channel and breakwater of Holland Harbor Sunday following wind and rain storms that racked the Lake Michigan coast area. The Coast Guard reported waves breaking at 12 to 15 feet during the height of the storm Saturday with winds at 50 to 55 knots. The boiling seas drew hundreds of persons to Holland State Park where visitors braved the winds and icy ground to walk toward the end of the channel. Here ice coats the railing of the channel where winds pushed the water level over the sides of the channel walls, flooding the rocks behind the channel.

Panther Upset of Maroons Is Thwarted in Second Half

By Rich Wolters

West Ottawa's basketball team put on a determined effort to pull off a major upset Tuesday night, but was thwarted in the second half by Holland Christian, and the Maroons were victorious in the end, 66-47. The Panthers, having one of their best halves of the season, held a 25-24 edge at the intermission.

Christian, behind Tom Zoerhof's two baskets moved out to a 6-2 lead, which proved their biggest margin of the entire half. Dan Scheerhorn popped in two field goals in six seconds for the inspired Panthers, to tie the game, and the Maroons knew they were in a ball game.

Mark Bosma put West Ottawa ahead for the first time at 14-12. However, in the final minute of the quarter, Keith Frens netted two free throws and a bucket, allowing Christian to hold a 16-14 edge at the quarter break. The score was tied six times in the quarter. Scheerhorn, Bosma and Frens each tallied six points in the quarter.

In a low-scoring second period, Mark Visser scored first to again tie the score, and then the teams alternated baskets, with Christian always getting the go-ahead bucket and the Panthers countering to even the score, until with 1:18 left Bosma gave West Ottawa its second lead of the game, 24-22. He also added a charity toss for a three-point margin. West Ottawa's largest of the game, before Dave Van Langevelde popped a two-pointer, to narrow the Panthers' lead at the half to 25-24.

Statistics bear out the closeness of the half, as each team hit 37 per cent of their shots, turnovers were even at eight apiece, and Christian grabbed one more rebound than West Ottawa, 18-17.

The second half was all Holland Christian, as the highly-rated Maroons started fast with quick baskets by Frens and Zoerhof, followed by field goals from Jon Houseward and Jack Scholten, and Christian suddenly enjoyed a 32-25 advantage, and was never seriously challenged after that.

With Frens and Dave Van Langevelde leading the way, Christian pumped in 20 points while holding West Ottawa to seven, for a 44-32 cushion going into the final period. Frens tallied eight and Van Langevelde six for the Maroons, while Scheerhorn had four and Visser three for the Panthers.

The Maroons dominated the backboards in the quarter, and their defense permitted West Ottawa only two baskets out of 18 shots, while Christian was canning 10 of 21.

Scholten notched seven of his nine points in the fourth quarter as the Maroons continued to pull away, until the score stood at 66-43 with a minute left. Both teams had their best scoring output, as the Panthers notched 15 and Christian 22, only two less than they scored the entire first half.

Bosma for West Ottawa and Frens for Christian shared scoring honors with 20 points. Scheerhorn added 12 and Visser 11 for the Panthers, while Van Langevelde netted 17 for the Maroons. The two forward lines battled to a near stand-off as far as the scoring went, as Christian received 45 points from the starting forwards and center, while the Panther's front line garnered 43.

Frens led both teams in rebounds with 16, to lead his team to a 42-31 margin. Visser took down 11 for West Ottawa.

In the reserve tilt Christian came out on top, 51-45, holding quarter leads of 11-9, 23-17 and 39-27. Ken De Jonge led with 18 points and Mark Van Dyke added 12. Mark Haltenhoff notched 12 for West Ottawa.

The Maroons' ninth grade team made it a clean sweep, winning 72-64, despite 23 points by Mike Davis of the Panthers. Jim Tuls tallied 19 and Dave Brouwer and Gary Markvluer 14 apiece for Christian.

Now 8-3 for the season, Christian will host Allegan in the Civic Friday, while the Panthers, 1-9 will, on the same day, be at Rockford.

Mike Eldred Discovers New Contentment Through Work

By Ann Hungerford

Cindy Eldred has observed marked changes in her brother. "Coming out of depression," she describes it.

Mike Eldred's father, Duane, senses a new contentment in his 20-year-old son who began working at Kandu Industries last March. Mike suffers from cerebral palsy.

For Mike, an intense individual awakening to his own accomplishments and potential, the words, "suffers from," seem altogether inappropriate.

Mike is so overwhelmed with the spirit of doing that if anything, he "suffers from" too little time to accomplish everything.

The money Mike has earned has enabled him to further expand his interests: CB radio, racing cars and bowling.

"He doesn't ride his bike as much," Mike's 12-year-old brother, Scott, notes.

But Mike's not complaining. On the contrary "It's the only thing I hate... when there isn't enough work," he says.

A dazzling ideal of the American work ethic, Mike never complains, labors enthusiastically (even works through breaks) and is frustrated if the work schedule at Kandu isn't full (a situation which occurs when few subcontracts are available).

A colleague concurs: "It's boring without work and it's scary when you come and have nothing to do."

Most of the 65 clients at Kandu are paid on a piece work scale and lack of subcontracts can also mean lack of pay.

Prodded for at least one "forgettable" day so far, Mike recalled an incident with blue paint: "On my hair, my clothes, everywhere. I was so tired."

"Only because you had to clean it up," Mr. Eldred reminds his grinning son.

It's the only day he indelibly recalls being disgruntled at work. "And he means it. He really loves work," Mrs. Eldred, president of the Ottawa Association for Retarded Citizens, reaffirms.

Almost to a fault, a fellow worker observes: "Sometimes Mike tries too hard." But she like the others, really likes and admires Mike.

"Actually," his mother says, "Mike would like to run the place. He knows all the details and doesn't hesitate to give his side of how things should be done."

A male chauvinist in spirit and action, Mike can't tolerate seeing a woman lift a heavy box even if it is less difficult for her than for him. The cerebral palsy (which he publicly acknowledges when the situation demands) has restricted the use of his right hand but he always assists fellow female workers including helping them on and off the bus.

The bus picks up Mike at approximately 7 a.m. and returns him at 5:30 p.m. The bus routes are so long that Kandu workers rarely can put in more than a seven hour day.

Still it's an improvement for the Eldred family. Formerly when Mike first began at Kandu (March 25, he recalls, much to the amazement of his family) in Grand Haven, Cindy drove her brother to the bus stop in Allendale and rushed back to Jenison High School in time for an 8 a.m. class.

The sibling sentiment Cindy feels for her brother runs deep. She is keenly aware of Mike's needs and abilities but, for her, just recognizing those needs is not enough.

A freshman at Grand Valley State Colleges, Cindy was recently installed as president of the youth branch of Michigan Association for Retarded Citizens. She is concerned; she is active, she is knowledgeable.

Cindy is personally campaigning for more than just classroom teachers for mentally and physically handicapped persons. Persons such as Mike must be allowed to compete for jobs in the regular work situations, she believes, but the key is inform-

It's a plea that falls on receptive ears at Kandu. Director David Steenberg notes that the center is seeking a grant for an additional two staff members who would seek competitive employment for Kandu clients.

For Mike personally his world is still expanding with Kandu. Supervisors recall one incident illustrating Mike's zeal on the job.

The Kandu truck had returned after picking up materials from a local industry.

As usual Mike stormed to the loading dock, gazed in amazement at the floor-to-ceiling, wall-to-wall materials and moaned: "I can't unload all that alone."

Typically no one had directed him to do it alone; he had merely assumed the responsibility.

For almost a year before he actually began at Kandu, first in Grand Haven, then in Holland, Mike had been hoping to work.

Cindy recalls that Mike was at a fever pitch the entire weekend before beginning work and clothes were laid out days in advance. The first paycheck was cashed on the way home from work.

"Mike is much easier to live with now... much more contented... much more mature," Mr. Eldred notes.

Kandu isn't really Mike's first employment. He's babysat for area youngsters whom Cindy describes as disappointed when it's she, not Mike, who arrives.

For Mike it has been a series of 11 schools in his young life... always arriving after a lengthy bus ride. For the family an ideal situation for their son would be one in which he could walk or ride his bike to work. "Someday a sheltered workshop in the eastern part of the county," he hopes.

But for now Kandu is an answer to a young man's dreams: honest work.

Friends cautiously approach her, Cindy says, to ask if she doesn't feel embarrassed having a story about her brother in the paper.

Not in the least, she replies. Indeed...

If there is to be embarrassment in a story of a human being literally brimming with excitement for each new day, then it must be borne by all who fail to acknowledge Mike's full potential.

Hope Opens New Year With Win

By Leo Martonosi

In a barn burner basketball contest Saturday night in Civic Center, Hope College came on in spurts to open the new year with a thrilling 59-54 triumph over a determined Adrian College squad.

Brad Thompson, the leading Bulldog scorer, put his team up for the last time at 50-48 with 3:50 left in the tilt.

Consecutive baskets by Hope's Brian Vriesman, Dwayne Boyce and Jeff Waterstone ran the count to 54-50. Thompson then came back with two free throws and hit a two-pointer sandwiched around a free throw by Boyce.

First year Coach Tony Archibald called time out with 23 seconds left in the game and his team only down by one point, 55-54.

After missing what could have been the winning fielder for Adrian with eight seconds left, Jerry Root was fouled and calmly locked up Hope's fourth win in a row with two free throws. "We were very fortunate to just win, said a smiling Coach Russ DeVette. "I have never seen so many odd things happen to us tonight."

DeVette was referring to the time that Root was called for a technical by not entering the court (from out of bounds) quick enough which put Adrian right back in the game at 42-41. Just moments before that the Bulldogs trailed 42-34.

It wasn't the typical Adrian

A car operated by Beverly Kay Dykema, 19, of 259 West 18th St., backing from a driveway into an alley 300 feet east of Van Raalte north of 17th St., collided with a car westbound in the alley and driven by Krisalyn Joy Lankheet, 21, of 232½ West 17th St. Monday at 11:26 a.m.

team that local fans were used to viewing, as Archibald doesn't have one senior on his roster and even though his club is 0-2 in the MIAA and 2-7 overall, the Bulldogs are going to surprise a few teams before the year is over.

Adrian rushed out to 11-4 and 17-10 point leads at the outset and the Flying Dutchmen didn't take their first lead until 5:58 was left in the half when Boyce layed in a bucket after a nice feed from Vriesman. The half ended with Hope holding a one-point 30-29 margin.

Ironically, Hope's leading scorer at the half, Root's seven points all came from the charity stripe. Freshman Mike Betts tallied all 10 of his points during that time for Adrian.

Hope won the game from the free throw lane, as they made seven more one pointers but one less basket. It was the first time in three weeks that the Dutchmen have seen action.

Root and Boyce tied for team scoring honors with 13 points apiece while Thompson had 15 for the losers.

Hope turned the ball over 18 times compared to only 13 for Adrian.

"Winning this pressure game from Adrian should help us Wednesday," added DeVette. "Everyone so far is giving everyone else a battle in the league which should make for an outstanding championship race."

Hope (59) — Cunningham, 41-9; Vriesman, 40-8; Boyce, 45-13; Ryan, 20-4; Root, 29-13; Waterstone, 10-2; Van Pernis, 3-0-6; Holwerda, 2-0-4. Totals 22-15-59. Adrian (54) — Smith, 14-6; Thompson, 6-3-15; Betts, 5-0-10; Imbroglio, 4-0-8; Campbell, 3-0-6; Malhoit, 1-0-2; Swoverland, 3-1-7. Totals 23-8-54.
