He states that he is feeling greatly improved and that he has gained in flesh until now his weight is fully up to the normal point.

A good indication of the excellence of the numbers of the Hope College Lecture course was obtained by those who attended the entertainment given last Thursday evening by the Empyrean Entertainers. The large audience was a unit in the opinion that the program was one of the best ever rendered in Holland and all would welcome a return date.

Next spring, when county service is expected to be established in Ottawa county, Holland will be in the list with cities having 12 routes. Of the rural routes emanating from offices in this vicinity Hudsonville has five; Zeeland, four; Coopersville, Fennville, Nunica and Hamilton, three; Grand Haven and Grandville, two; Spring Lake, Jenison and East Saugatuck, one.

The members of Columbia Hose company No. 2 met at the company's quarters above the engine room last Friday evening for one of their reunions and it was a very interesting gathering. The evening was passed in story telling and in the perpetration of pranks that occasioned much enjoyment. In a speed test which included a slide down the pole leading to the room below and a run up the stairs to the starting point Nick Prins made the fast time of 14 seconds. Doors had to be opened and closed five times during the trip. Jacob Lokker and Chief Al Klooster were guests of the firemen.

Watch for Melvina.

The Pere Marquette Railroad company has gone back to its old regime, now that it is out of the hands of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and is altering its cars to the old style. All cars entering the Grand Rapids shops as well as those at Muskegon, Ionia and Saginaw are being repainted green instead of maroon, and the old name, "Pere Marquette," is being substituted for the title, "C. H. & D. & P. M. Systems."

The annual meeting of the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church was held last Thursday evening. The amount of money raised by the church during the year was $3,484.70, of which $255.75 was spent for foreign and domestic missions, and the sum of $775 was paid on the church debt. The remainder was used to pay the running expenses. During the year there were 52 persons admitted to membership in the church by letter and confession.

Here is a hen fruit story from the Saugatuck Commercial-Record: "Martin Inderbitzin, sr., finds the poultry business profitable. The following is a statement of his income from the sale of eggs from a flock of hens averaging 42 for a year starting January 13, 1905; 4,764 eggs sold, which is 113 3-7 eggs per hen or 397 dozen in all at an average price of 18 6-10 per dozen. No record was kept of the number of young chickens raised or the amount received for them or of the number of eggs consumed by his family."

W. C. Squier of South Haven is arranging for the establishing of a line of steamboats to ply between Holland and Benton Harbor next season and is meeting with considerable encouragement from shippers, many of whom have promised him their business. Mr. Squier was back of the company that operated the steamer Glenn between South Haven and Holland two years ago and contends that his experience then convinced him that a line between Holland and Benton Harbor, with stops probably at South Haven, could be made a paying proposition.

A despatch from Kalamazoo says: "Material for the building of the three large boats which will be used on the Kalamazoo river between Allegan and Saugatuck will be shipped to Allegan the first of this week, and the work of building the boats will begin at once. The boats will be long and narrow and light of draft. Arrangements have been made with the Dunkley-Williams company to bring boats from South Haven and Chicago to Saugatuck to connect with this line. It is the intention of the company to have at least one of the boats in use this year."

Cast adrift on an island of ice near Jenison Electric Park last Saturday forenoon, a number of perch fishermen were for a time in imminent danger. They did not notice that the action of the sun and the warm wind had caused the ice field upon which they fished to break away from the shore until a wide channel had formed. Then they sought to escape, but a plunge in the water seemed the only way out until fortunately Farrest Husted rowed out and took off four of them. The rest were rescued by the tug Diver which crashed through the thin ice to their assistance and ran close enough to the field to allow them to get aboard. Those from this city who were on the ice island were Dean and Neil Bergen, Bernard DeVries, Henry De Weerd, Albrecht Meboer, C. Hoogenstein, Gerald Brinkman and Ray Van der Veen. The others were from Saugatuck and Laketown.

Ole Olsen, the eccentric tramp that occasionally honors Ottawa county with his presence is doing a 10 day stint for vagrancy in the Kent county jail. Ole is a remarkable wanderer. His peculiarity lies in the pack he carries with him. The man bears about blazing July or snowy winter, a pack of fully 200 pounds of old rags, bottles, tin cans and cigar stubs, which he collects. The whole bunch of stuff is tied on a hoop, which he suspends around his neck. And even in the hottest days of summer, he wears a heavy overcoat, sometimes two or three of them. When he was brought to the Kent county jail he was wearing seven trousers, three coats and two overcoats. And the whole outfit isn't worth a dollar.

There can be but few brighter lads in the country than Willie Killeen, aged 15 years, who now occupies the position of student observer and messenger in the United States weather office in Grand Haven. He is said to be the youngest person in the employ of Uncle Sam at the present time. He is a son of Cornelius Killeen, a section boss on the Pere Marquette railroad, and a nephew of Capt. Charles Lyman of the early Grand Haven. Willie was born fifteen years ago, and has always taken a great interest in marine events, so that the prognostication of weather conditions for the benefit of lake sailors appealed to him. When he secured a position in the weather bureau, he set about learning the business from the ground up and soon became quite expert in the use of the instruments in the office. He is now able to make weather observations almost as well as the experts and is a valued member of the office staff.

DR. J. E. ENNIS.

Atlanta, Ga., Physician Addresses The People of Holland on a Matter of Health.

"To Whom It May Concern:—Of late there has been a good deal of discussion in regard to advertised medicines, their value and power to cure.

I want to say to the people of Holland that I believe the most valuable cod liver oil preparation, the best body-builder, health restorer, and strength creator, known to medicine today is Vinol.

While Vinol does not contain the system-clogging oil of old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, it actually does contain all the curative, medicinal principles of the cod's liver in a highly concentrated form, and it is delicious to take.

I advise Vinol in my practice, and find it has no equal for healing coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and sore lungs.

I have used Vinol in many cases of indigestion, mal-assimilation, and for patients who were anaemic and run down, with splendid results. I have found Vinol to be a boon to the aged, as it aids the enfeebled system to sustain life; it induces appetite, and restful sleep, it is a real body-builder, and thus prolongs life.

I believe Vinol to be well worthy of any honest physician's endorsement."

Our local druggist, Con De Pree, sells Vinol to the people of Holland on a positive guarantee; if it fails to give satisfaction the entire purchase money will be refunded.

Here's What's Wanted.

A Citizen of Holland Supplies the Information.

Over half the complaints of mankind originate with the kidneys. A slight touch of backache at first. Twinges and shooting pains in the loins follow. They must be checked, they lead to graver complications. The sufferer seeks relief. Plasters are tried, and liniments for the back. So called kidney cures which do not cure. The long-looked for result seems unattainable. If you suffer, do you want relief? Follow the plan adopted by this citizen.

Mrs. Jan DeKok, of 214 West Eleventh street, says: "I was bothered for years more or less with heavy, aching pains in my back. I could not rest comfortably and it was painful for me to stoop or straighten up. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended I got a box at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and tried them. They relieved me right away and in a short time my complaint disappeared entirely. Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

If you haven't the time exercise regularly, Doan's Regulents will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c.

Domestic Science

By Mrs. Richard H. Post.

The following paper by Mrs. Richard H. Post was read at the Woman's Section of The Farmers Institute held in Holland recently and attracted so much attention that some of the club women of this city have requested that it be published:

This paper does not attempt to treat this topic, domestic science, fully nor does it confine itself to any one of the many branches, but endeavors to give a glimpse of a subject which would be well worth further looking into.

A man may eat his fill and yet be hungry. It is not the quantity but the proper quality in food that satisfies. It is not only true that what is one man's food is another's poison, but it is also true that what is food at one season of the year, at one period of life or in one climate, may be poison to the same individual at another season or age or in another climate. The inhabitants of the tropics subsist and thrive on fruits on which the lander would starve; while the blubber and oil that makes up the diet of the inhabitants in the frozen zones would be fatal to those who live under the burning sun of the Equator. Even the same person requires a fruit diet in the tropics and one of fat in the north regions.

Living as we do in the temperate zones where we have a mixed diet, we are not apt to realize that our "food makes us what we are." A child well fed means a healthy adult. How many mothers out of the millions in the U. S. know what is best to give their children? Too many fill the lunch baskets with cake, pie, pickles and cookies. Boston, the cooking center of the U. S., thinks the question of school children's luncheon serious enough to put under civic authority. When a student breaks down people say, "What a pity he studied so hard." Do they ever ask, "Was he well fed?" Malnutrition is the cause of many defects. In the Elmira reformatory experiments have been made on the young criminals whose ill fed, ill nurtured bodies have seemed to take on new forms of health and beauty and to receive new souls.

The diet of the laborer in the open air must differ from that of the brain worker who takes little exercise and whose work makes heavy draughts on the nervous system. No one has mastered the art of cooking until they know something of the chemical elements of food and the purposes they serve when taken into the system. It is particularly important that those who are compelled to practice rigid economy should know just what foods will best supply the real needs of the family and how the most real nourishment may be had for the money.

We must eat first, to form and maintain the fluids and tissues of the body; second to furnish fuel to yield heat and energy. One's proper food should contain the materials which will best build up the wasted tissues, keep perfect the intricate machinery of muscle, nerve and brain, and supply the body with fuel to keep its heat up to 98 degrees.

The great secret in the preparation of food that will prolong life and maintain a high state of health and strength is to adapt it to the peculiar conditions of those to be fed. It has been proved by chemical analysis that the body requires from four to five ounces for heat to one for muscle and that gives the key to the proper proportions of the elements in food varying slightly of course with season, climate, occupation and condition.

The elements in food are: protein, fats, carbohydrates and ash.

Protein is that part of the food which nourishes the blood and the muscles and in general repairs the waste. It always contains the element nitrogen and nitrogen is always a constituent of the blood, the muscle and the bone. Examples of protein are found in lean meat, curd of milk, cheese and the gluten of wheat, peas, beans etc. The most perfect form is found in albumen in the white of egg. If the muscles, only, were to be fed there would be nearly perfect foods, but for one ounce that goes to muscle, five must go to heat and this calls for carbon and fats.

Carbon which comes chiefly from starch is abundant in the vegetable kingdom. The following table gives the proportion of starch in common grains:

Rice flour.....	85 per cent starch.
Corn meal.....	80 per cent starch.
Oat meal.....	75 per cent starch.
Wheat flour.....	39-77 per cent starch.
Buck wheat.....	52 per cent starch.
Peas and beans.....	45 per cent starch.
Potatoes, 75 pct water, 15 pct starch.

The large variation in wheat flour is due to processes of grinding. The old process of making fine white flour used only the middle or starchy parts of the kernel, rejecting the gluten (nitrogenous and muscle making). Modern invention has however revised this and the best "new process" flour contains the largest proportion of gluten.

Fats and oils give a great amount of heat to the body. The fat of meats, butter, oils of vegetables all serve this purpose. Starch is easy of digestion, requiring one hour, while butter takes three and one-half, mutton fat four and one-half, and beef fat five and one-half hours. This furnishes the best of reasons why fats should be sparingly used, especially in warm weather, when a sufficient supply of carbon is easily secured from vegetable foods. Besides it is a well established fact that excessive use of fats in cooking causes an excessive secretion of bile and this in turn causes a sensation like hunger and an increase of saliva. This is mistaken for real hunger. More food is taken, and indigestion, later dyspepsia, results. Yolks of eggs contain 28 per cent oil. Cheese has as much fat as protein and butter is the least objectionable of fats.

There are some other substances which appear in less quantities in foods which are none the less essential to health and life. Every well regulated diet should contain the various mineral substances necessary for the building and repairing of the bones, teeth, hair and nails. Chemically pure sugars, starches and fats contain no ash whatever. Hence a diet entirely of these substances, if such a thing were possible, would furnish no food for the bones. The ordinary mixed diet, it is generally considered, contains a sufficient amount of ash constituent for the needs of the body. One of these ashes is phosphorus which is an element of brain and nerves. Another element is sulphur which is required in the growth of bone, hair and nails. Of this there is so much in the yolk of an egg that silver is blackened by contact with it. Curd of milk and cheese are also rich in sulphur. Lime is found in all grains, particularly in wheat and also in milk. Bread and milk are for this reason an excellent diet for growing children, as they supply not only heat and muscle making elements but the lime for the growth of the bones. Salt also exists in many articles of food and plays an important part in the creation of digestive juices.

Men and races grow in proportion to their skill in combining heat and muscle making foods. The hardy Scotch use oat meal largely, which is rich in nitrogen. The Irish, who endure a large amount of hard labor on cheap fare, eat potatoes, oat meal and milk. The English add bacon (heat producing) to beans rich in nitrogen, and to rice which abounds in carbon, add milk and eggs which feed muscle. The Italian eats macaroni, principally starch, with cheese, rich in nitrogen.

The use of Domestic Science in cooking is to teach how to supplement one kind of food for another which contains the essential elements which the first lacks. For instance venison contains 15 per cent nitrogen to 52 per cent carbon or as 1-3½ whereas the ratio should be 1-5. To make it a perfect and satisfying food we have only to supplement it with something rich in nitrogen as wheat bread, oat meal, potatoes or rice.

The woman who has access to a good market finds her problems hard enough but the farmer's wife has a much less variety from which to select her dietary, although the well-filled potato bin, the barrels of apples, the shelves of jellies and canned fruits, the pans of rich milk and cream, the fresh eggs and the always available poultry may well be the envy of the city marketer. However the latter is always greeted with fresh fruits, greenhouse vegetables, with all kinds of meats and fish and the possibilities of cream, eggs and poultry from the country. The farmer's wife who is not near a market varies her menu with a round of visits to the pork barrel, the smoke house and the corned beef supply returning often to the pork barrel. If her pin money is not too dependant upon the labors of the hens, eggs form a most acceptable variation to the menu and if the creamery does not make too great a demand fresh milk and cream are a satisfying part of the bill of fare.

The following is a day's menu on the farm table not uncommon and by no means unappetizing:

Breakfast—Salt pork, potatoes, pancakes, milk gravy, bread and butter.

Dinner—Ham, eggs, potatoes, tea, bread and butter, squash, turnip or cabbage, and pie or pudding.

Supper—Creamed potatoes, hot biscuit or Johnny cake, apple sauce, cheese or cottage cheese, cake or cookies.

Milk forms a complete food for infants and a comfortable one for adults for a limited time. The principal foods derived from milk as cream, butter, cheese and whey, have special values and help to make a balanced diet.

Beef and mutton on the farmers table are largely replaced by salt pork. However the farmer needs material for building muscular tissue such as is found in lean beef as well as he needs the energy yielded by salt pork. So far as scientific investigation shows, pork from healthy animals is a wholesome meat and whether or not it agrees with one is a purely personal matter. A dinner of salt pork and boiled cabbage is nearly perfect for an out of door laborer in cold weather. The cabbage is rich in nitrogen, the pork in carbon. Bacon is thought to be more easily digested than fat salt pork and ham still more so. Lean pork is directly comparable to beef and mutton, and is a tenderly fibered meat. All meats contain fat. Veal the least and pork the greatest amount. Fresh fish contain a large amount of refuse and water. The per cent of nutrients in dried fish is much higher than in fresh, as is the case in any dried meats, such foods having been concentrated by the evaporation of the juices originally present.

We cook meats, largely, to loosen and soften the tissues that the digestive juices may act the more readily upon them. Cooking also kills mould and other micro-organisms. To cook or roast meat properly requires no little skill and practice. Too slow cooking toughens meat, too fast cooks it unevenly, too little makes it unpalatable, too much causes loss of nourishment.

Potatoes appear on the farmers table in a great many houses, three times a day, although they do not contain nourishment in proportion to their bulk, being over 75 per cent water. But they are readily digested and rank high as a food. Well cooked meaty potatoes are more digestible than poorly cooked ones. It is much better to cook them with the skins on. Baked potatoes are more nourishing than those cooked otherwise. Nearly all farm tables have besides potatoes some other vegetable, often in winter only those which keep well, such as turnips, beets and cabbage, while green vegetables are confined to their season. The latter afford a pleasing variety but have not much nutriment. The large amount of water which they contain and the salts are beneficial to the system. Cabbage and beans are excellent for the laborer.

In a housewife's cooking probably the most important article is the bread. The ingredients are few but the art lies in the right management of the dough and the baking at the right period. The fermentation may be arrested too soon and tough bread follows or fermentation may be allowed too long and sour bread is the baneful result. While too old flour, adulteration, or bitter yeast may be the cause of trouble. Bread made from good flour should be porous but not too much so and should have consistency and firmness. Wheat bread does not contain nitrogen enough for a working man's diet and butter does not supply the lack. Some kind of lean meat is needed to make a perfect food. Corn bread is better in cold weather. Pastry, biscuit, puddings, and cake are prepared on the same principal as bread but with various proportions of fat, sugar, flour, eggs, etc. These are for the strong and only a temptation to dyspeptics. Of the food from grains oat meal is the heartiest. Like buckwheat it is best suited to persons much out of doors. As a cereal it is much used in the northern states and is often poorly cooked in hotels and boarding houses when it becomes a trial to the consumer. Wheat breakfast foods contain more protein and are more easily digested than oats. Corn meal mush and milk is a wholesome old fashioned dish which deserved more popularity than it has at present. Rice forms a valuable part of the bill of fare. It contains more starch than other cereals and if properly cooked (steamed) it is very digestible. The addition of butter prevents the kernels from gathering in a pasty mass. When eaten with meat the lack of protein is supplied. Combining with milk and eggs as is done in puddings also supplies the protein.

It is refreshing to have a safe indulgence and fruit is like a gift of the gods. It refreshes, it stimulates, it regulates, it nourishes. It is as desirable in its abundant and cheap varieties as in its more costly kinds. In general cooked fruits are valuable with a meal, while fresh fruits are often most beneficial taken alone or before or between meals.

"We live not upon what we eat but what we digest," says one. The humble cottager with his cheap cut may gain as much nourishment as the sumptuous dinner from a tenderloin roast. The latter with all his variety still has protein, fat and carbon, and the thrifty housewife with her humble fare may by study provide simple food which will nourish and at the same time furnish less opportunity for deranging the system.

The ingredients of food are not all the conditions necessary for digestibility. Variety in preparation, and tasteful serving are other arts of the cook which often supply the place of an impossible variety of food. The appetite is sometimes teased back to a normal condition by a change of cook, a delicate seasoning with herbs and spices, or by dainty garnishing. Cheerfulness at the table is the most successful condiment to introduce into the bill of fare. The lack of it with worry and fatigue lessens the value of very good food.

And too we must look to the kitchen. It should be well lighted and airy. The cooks surroundings should be cheerful. Her utensils should be of the best and convenient. Lastly the cook herself must consider her work a pleasure and not a duty.

Cooking is a science. People should be trained to it as to any other profession. When our cooks are as wise as our physicians, our physicians will all turn cooks. Their old occupation will be gone. The cooks of today makes, the physician mends. But alas; the cook makes so ill, that most often the physicians mending is of no avail. But we are gradually being pushed toward the combination which will lighten expenses, labor and make possible the many good things known only to a few.

The Tale Of The Attempt To Get The Argo Off The Beach.

The attempts to release the steamer Argo has been a story of hard luck seasoned by a couple of serious mistakes.

The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company sent an outfit over here expecting to jerk the steamer loose in short order and the steamer might now be cozily resting in the dry docks instead of lying helplessly on the sandy bottom if it was not for the unusually bad mistake of this company. The mistake occurred on the day that the tow line stretched to the Argo was cut, right in the hour of approaching victory. On that day the tug had a good strain on the line and with every lurch made by the waves the Argo crept over the sand a few inches lakeward. In an hour at the longest the steamer would have been floated, when, the waves began to get a little too large for comfort, and the order was given to unloosen the tow line. The men to whom the order was given refused to do so, for they did not think the waves were high enough to warrant them running away. Again and again was the order given but they still refused, when one of the numerous officers in charge lost his temper and seizing an axe cut the line, and the tug steamed to the harbor. It was a mistake to quit on account of the sea then rolling for it was not large enough to bring danger but was really a help, for it is easier to release a steamer when there is sea running than when the water is as still as a mill pond. If at that time the tug had hung on an hour after the hower was cut the work would have been accomplished and the Great Lakes company would be ahead the price of the job, instead of being behind, not only the price, but a $500 howser that was left on the bottom.

Well, the Great Lakes fleet steamed away, and the job was turned over to the Reid Wrecking Co. Could this company have put its best wrecking outfit at work here the Argo would be floated with short shrift. But this was not possible. The flower of Capt. Reid's fleet was bound for Lake Superior, where Capt. Reid had contracts to release four of the big steel trust steamers and had options on contracts to release two others. Everything that looked like a pump was up there, so were the Reid divers, the howsers, in fact all of the equipment. So were all of the tugs, excepting two, the Salvor and the Diver. But when Reid got the job, which, by the way, he did not expect, nor care greatly for, he did the best he could. He hurried the tugs Salvor and Diver here and purchased the pumps and other wrecking equipment owned by the Murphy estate in Detroit. This equipment was not familiar to the men, it was not as good as it might be either, but they plunged boldly into the work. The pumps broke down two or three times while the men were trying to get them in shape but finally they were gotten to work with something like perfection, when it was found they were not of sufficient capacity. Then Tom Mahon, the Grand Haven diver who is working with them, hurried a pump from Grand Haven. This pump, although it was received jokingly at first owing to a story that it was put together for a trial in Mr. Murphy's woodshed at Ottawa Beach, proved to be the right stuff. It was put together for a trial in the Pere Marquette warehouse and showed that it can throw a stream as large as a man's body.

Hard luck has pursued the Reid Wrecking company. Up to the first of this week, there has been but one day that was really favorable for wrecking purposes. There has been more than one day of offland breezes, but excepting on this one solitary fine day these offland breezes meant nothing, for a heavy southwest storm about ten miles out would send a ground swell to play a tattoo on the sides of the steamer and work was impossible. But give the Reid outfit a half a show so far as weather is concerned and the Argo will soon float. One of the tugs can dredge a channel for her in a half day and then they can snake her off in a short time.

Of course the Reid force had to make their mistake. They pumped the Argo nearly dry one night and a heavy sea came up, threw her a little farther inshore and listed her badly. But another storm came along and righted her and now all is ready for the weather to allow a good trial.

This trial should mean success, and, admiring the pluck of the Reid crew, and feeling an interest in the Argo, the people of this shore are hoping that success will be speedy.

Another stroke of hard luck has visited the Reid Co. Custom officers at Grand Haven have received notice from the tugmen's association of Chicago that the tugs Diver and Salvor, of the Reid Wrecking Co., are Canadian tugs and not permitted by marine laws to tow American vessels. The matter has been referred to the department at Washington by the custom officials. The American-Canadian navigation laws prohibit foreign steamers from trading or towing between local ports. A Canadian steamer may carry a cargo from a Canadian port to an American port, or from the American port to a Canadian port, but a Canadian steamer may not carry cargos from one American port to another American port. The steamer which violates this restriction is liable to confiscation. The same regulation is true in regard to towing by foreign tugs. If such foreign tow boats are seized, they are liable to a fine of fifty cents a ton on the tonnage carried. It is very probable that Captain Reid has arranged for using the tugs and that he is perfectly well acquainted with the law upon the matter. Satisfactory explanations of the affair may be made.

Two Suits Commenced.

Vander Veen for the recovery of $213, the amount of bills rejected by the board at previous session. David F. Notes Of Sport.

Doc Morigrity, the crack eastern league pitcher was given a taste of Michigan dash and go at the Auditorium in Grand Rapids last Friday night. He picked up a team of Grand Rapids fast indoor base ball players and proceeded to annihilate the Holland Interurbans. He did not proceed far enough, however, and he and his pickups were walloped by a score of 11 to 10.

The Indoor Baseball game between the Battalions of Grand Rapids, champions of Michigan, and the Interurbans played at Jenison Park, resulted in a score of 22 to 5, in favor of the former. The Interurbans of Holland expected to loose this game against the team which has only been beaten twice this season and deserve credit for holding them down as they did. The attendance was 350 a third of which were ladies who are taking a great deal of interest in the indoor sport. The next game will be played at Jenison Park Wednesday Jan. 31, when the Grand Rapids Medical College team will be on hand.

River Street will be Paved.

A large assembly of tax payers on River Street gathered at the council rooms last evening to discuss the pros and cons of paving River street. Arguments were heard for and against the question and everything was thoroughly thrashed over, after which a vote was taken, and resulted 16 to 10 in favor of the proposition. What kind of paving will be used was not decided upon, but one thing is certain as the tax payers on that street expressed themselves, "We want the best there is and the best is none too good. We want a street that we can point to with pride."

Mr. Bussy representative of Warren Brothers Co., of Boston, who has his head quarters in Detroit, was present at the meeting and gave the property owners a talk on the merits of "Bituminous Macadam" paving. His company has paved in several cities in the state, and the council will soon appoint a committee consisting of aldermen and property owners to investigate the durability of this kind of paving.

FUNERAL OF MARSHALL FIELD

Remains of the Great Merchant Interred in Chicago—City Pays Remarkable Tribute.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—In a silent memorial hour between 12 and 1 o'clock, Friday, during which the wheels of industry ceased to turn and business was largely suspended in Chicago, the last rites were said over the body of Marshall Field. State street stores were closed. Business houses throughout the city ceased operations. The telephone company, as far as possible, suspended service. Flags on public and private buildings floated at half-mast. The closing of business places was a spontaneous movement voluntary on the part of the business men and accomplished without any organized procedure. In the wholesale district of New York, according to a long-distance telephone message, the same honor was accorded the great Chicago merchant.

After a brief service by Dr. John Archibald Morrison at the Field residence, No. 1905 Prairie avenue, at which only members of Mr. Field's family were present, a public service for family and friends was held at 12 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, Indiana avenue and Twenty-first street. The burial at Graceland cemetery was private. The cemetery gates were closed to others than the members of the Field funeral party in carriages at the time of the funeral.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Chippewa Falls, Wis., says: Six men killed, three severely injured and several less seriously hurt are the casualties resulting from the explosion of a boiler at the sawmill of John Lagermaier, seven miles southeast of Holcom, Monday afternoon. Seriously injured: Arthur Behnke, face blown off, fatally hurt; Jerry Beck, arm broken and internally injured; Joe Johnson, leg broken and internally injured.

The mill was entirely demolished by the explosion, the cause of which is not known. Bert Lamb was the only married man among those killed. He was a large property holder near Estella and last winter ran a sawmill of his own.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

"I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He put the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making a finish of me. Some time before this a Mr. Young, of St. Louis, was in our town. He saw my condition, and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart

I concluded to try it, and am pleased

ENVOYS ARRIVE AT CAPITAL

IMPERIAL CHINESE COM-MISSION MET BY OFFICIAL.
Distinguished Foreigners Are Studying Conditions in America--Sixty People in the Party.
Washington, Jan. 23.--The imperial Chinese commission, sent to this country by the emperor of China to study American social, political and industrial conditions arrived here Tuesday morning on a special train from Chicago. They were met at the station by Mr. Denby, chief clerk of the state department, who will look after their comfort during the ten days that they will be in the capital. Mr. Denby was chosen for this work on account of his knowledge of the Chinese language and customs. The commission consists of about 60 people, several of whom are servants and secretaries.
The leaders of the commission are Tuan Fang, the governor of the Shan Si province, and Tai Hing Tse, one of China's leading scholars. Yung Kwai, the secretary-interpreter of the Chinese legation in this city, accompanied the commission, having gone to Chicago to meet them, and the party traveled under the care of Prof. Jenks, the economist of Cornell university, who was appointed by the United States government as its special representative to receive the commission in San Francisco and look after their interests while in this country. Prof.
Jenks resided for a long time in Peking, and is in close personal touch with the leading men of the Chinese empire. The party at once took the carriages which were waiting for them and drove to the Arlington, the Chinese legation not being large enough to contain room for so many guests.
The members of the commission spent the morning resting from the fatigue of the long trip. In the afternoon they called upon Secretary of State Root and visited the state, war and navy departments.
BANK ROBBER SLAIN.
Shot Dead While Attempting to Plunder an Institution at Fort Worth, Tex.
Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 23.--An unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the vault of the bank at Montague, Tex., Monday morning, and as a result one of the robbers is dead, another is believed to be wounded. Early Monday morning G. W. Bradley, who has sleeping apartments in the bank building was awakened by the muffled report of an explosion. On approaching the room where the vault is located, he was fired on by parties from within.
He returned the fire, killing one of the robbers. Two of the men ran from the building and escaped, one apparently being wounded. The body of the man killed was that of Patsy Flannan, declared by the police to be a Chicagoan. The robbers are being pursued by a posse who have trailed them to this city. No money was secured.
Steamer Sunk; Crew Saved.
Boston, Jan. 23.--The loss of the steamer Trojan, of the Boston & Philadelphia line, in collision with the steamer Nacoochee, of the Savannah line, in Vineyard sound last Sunday was reported here Tuesday by the Nacoochee, which arrived having on board the captain and crew of the Trojan. The accident was due to fog. The Nacoochee struck the Trojan amidships, and the latter steamer went to the bottom within three-quarters of an hour, but Capt.
Thatcher and the crew of 27 men of the Trojan were taken off by men from the Nacoochee. The Nacoochee sustained only a slight damage to the boat.
Dyke Bursts.
Beloit, Wis., Jan. 23.--The breaking of the dyke of the old Brooks mill, in the eastern part of the city, Sunday poured a great flood of water out against many houses in the neighborhood and made many families make a hasty retreat for higher ground or remain prisoners in their homes until relief could be taken to them. Many houses at the east end of Broad street and the tract known as Athletic park are still inundated. The loss is great.

A Lover's Crime.

New York, Jan. 23.--Enraged because he was told to cease his attentions to Lillian Murphy, aged 17 years, Paul Deltz, a youth of 18 years, employed a revolver at the girl, her brother George, 16 years old, and the mother, Mrs. Della Murphy, in their apartments on Wales avenue, the Bronx, wounding all three dangerously. The girl can hardly recover; the others tempting to shoot himself.

Hagerman was inaugurated governor of New Mexico at noon Monday in the

A Synopsis of the Proceedings Day by Day, in the National Congress.
Washington, Jan. 19.--There was an echo of Wednesday's stormy session in the senate Thursday when Senator Tillman presented his resolution directing a senatorial investigation into the removal of Mrs. Minor Morris from the White House. The resolution provoked no debate, and Senator Tillman contented himself with a brief statement in which he said that he would not have introduced the resolution but for the taunts of Senator Hale. When he concluded, Senator Daniel moved that the resolution be laid on the table, and this disposition was made of it by a vote of 54 to 8.
Washington, Jan. 19.--The house passed a bill providing for the final disposition of the affairs of the five civilized tribes in the Indian Territory. The bill provides for concluding the enrollment of Indians of the tribes and the allotment of lands to them.
The enrollment and allotment is made the subject of many restrictions and provisions.
Washington, Jan. 20.--Reform in the matter of making deficiency appropriations agitated the house Friday, and the entire time of the five and a quarter hours' session was devoted to its discussion, with the exception of a short speech for free hides by Mr. Perkins (N. Y.).
Washington, Jan. 22.--Abuses in the expenditure of appropriations was the text of the discussion in the house Saturday during the consideration of the urgent deficiency bill. Little progress was made with the bill, which will be the topic for Monday. The $2,615 Knox portrait was again a topic of unfavorable comment and department heads generally came in for criticism. The most animated debate took place on the amendment to increase the amount for the transportation of silver coin. The amendment was lost by a vote of 70 to 74.
DIPLOMATIC CHANGES.
Luke Wright, Governor General of the Philippines, to Be First American Ambassador to Japan.
Washington, Jan. 20.--Luke B.
Wright, of Tennessee, governor general of the Philippines, is to be the first ambassador to Japan, if the senate approves the nomination which President Roosevelt will next Monday submit to it. The announcement was made Friday by Secretary Root. Gov.
Gen. Wright will be succeeded in office at Manila first by Henry C. Ide, the senior member of the commission and vice governor and at present acting governor general while Gen.
Wright is on leave of absence in this country. When he retires on June 1, James F. Smith, of California, a member of the Philippine commission, will succeed to the office of governor general.
It was further announced that David E. Thompson, former ambassador to Brazil, will be sent to Mexico, and Lloyd Griscom, former minister to Japan, will be sent to Brazil.
A DISASTROUS FIRE.
Flames Destroy City Hall and Other Buildings at Quincy, Ill., Causing Loss of $300,000.
Quincy, Ill., Jan. 19.--Fire which started in the livery stable of Fred E.
Harnst destroyed the huge plant of the J. B. Schoo Saddlery company, consisting of five brick buildings, ranging from three to five stories in height.
Flames spread across the street and almost completely destroyed the city hall, a handsome building four stories in height. The wholesale house of the Aldo Sommer Drug company was badly damaged by fire and water. Several persons were slightly injured by the falling walls of the Schoo building.
Eight horses were burned in the Harnst stables. The total loss exceeds $300,000. Insurance is nearly equal. The city records were in the vaults and are believed to be preserved in reasonable condition.
JURY GIVES DAMAGES.
Verdict of $750 Is Returned Against Sanitary District of Chicago.
Peoria, Ill., Jan. 19.--The jury in the case of W. R. Curran and Congressman Joseph W. Graft, vs. the sanitary district of Chicago, Thursday brought in a verdict giving the complainants damages in the sum of $750. The amount sued for was $55,000. This is the first of a series of suits against the drainage district, the total of which aggregate $450,000. The plaintiffs claim that by reason of the immense volume of water turned into the Illinois river from the drainage district, their lands have been submerged, and great damage resulted. The case was stubbornly contested on account of the effect it would have on the other cases. The hearing lasted seven weeks and four days.
Fatal Explosion.
Chicago, Jan. 23.--The explosion of an old boiler in the Windermere hotel, Fifty-fifth street and Cornell avenue, Sunday morning, cost the life of an engineer, caused a panic among the guests of the hotel, wrecked the dining room and engine rooms, and threw the building out of plumb.
Little Girl Killed.
Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 23.--Lucille Fleischmann, the three-year-old daughter of Louis Fleischmann, of this city, was fatally shot by a toy rifle in the hands of a playmate, the bullet piercing the child's heart.

of the men of this city remember Ward and recall his experience in

We wish to remind the News readers and their friends that they can save a neat little sum this year by trading at the 5 and 10 cent store 55 East 8th street. You have been surprised and will be surprised how many thousands of articles of all description you can buy there at 10 and 5 cents or lower. If there is anything you need call on us.
Bear in mind these two facts that on our first floor we carry no goods that cost more than 10 cents each; while on our second floor we carry goods that sell from 15 cents to 3 dollars. We cannot name everything we sell but request you to look over our goods.

Spring is coming and the merchants are making room for spring goods. After completing his inventory Jas. A. Brouwer found that it would be well to dispose speedily of a considerable number of patterns of Axminster and Velvet carpets to allow him more floor space for the spring shipments. Therefore he arranged to close out these carpets at all hazards and has marked them down to the lowest notch. For instance those Royal Wilton Velvets, 2-toned green and black, rich and up to date, he has cut from $1.35 per yard to 97 cents. Those handsome Axminsters, sold everywhere ordinarily for $1.25 per yard, he has cut to 75 cents and 97 cents. Call and examine these bargains.

At the opening of court Tuesday morning Judge Padgham called for James Walsh and Guy Chellis, two prisoners awaiting sentence at the county jail. Walsh, who pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery, was sentenced to from seven to fourteen years at Jackson. A term of ten years was recommended by the court.
Guy Chellis, the young lad from Oceana county who pleaded guilty to larceny of a horse from Boone's livery at Holland, was sentenced to Ionia for from one to five years with a recommendation for a term of two years. With the close of the Martino case, the criminal calendar for this term was finished and Judge Padg-ham discharged the regular panel from further attendance at the session. The court will probably take up the rest of the week with civil cases.

The 9-year-old son of H. Bulteman, 175 West Seventeenth street, fell into the culvert opposite Capt.
Austin Harrington's house on the corner of River and West 16th street Monday afternoon and but for the aid accorded by J. H.
Tubergen, Arie Zanting and others would have been drowned. The small stream running through the culvert, swollen by the recent rains, swept through the culvert with the force of a millrace and when the lad fell in he could not stand, although the water was but 2½ feet deep. Messrs. Tubergen and Zanting, when notified of his flight, lifted the sidewalk below expecting to pull him from the water when he swept that way. But the boy, instead of coming with the current, threw himself on his back and putting his hands against the upper walls of the culvert slowly worked his way back against the current.
He got to within about four feet of the end when he became exhausted and could go no further. Then Mr.
Tubergen reached under and pulled the lad out. He was nearly overcome and had to be assisted to the bicycle shop of Zanting & Tubergen where he was supplied with dry clothes and later was taken into the house and was given a good rubdown. He will feel no ill effects from his icy bath, but his experience should prove a warning to other small boys who play around the culverts.

Minn., where he will attend the meeting of the National Associa-

Rev. Frank Du Mouin, rector of St. Peters Episcopal church, Chicago, gave evidence of his ability as a lecturer at Winan's Chapel last Friday night when he addressed a large audience on "Modern Civilization." His treatment of the subject was broad and masterly and his manner of delivery was earnest, impressive and pleasing. He cited present conditions in Chicago and berated the evils that exist, declaring they were many and grievous. His view of the future, however, was optimistic, but he declared that to get the best out of life and to attain the highest degree of civilization men must realize the great responsibilities resting upon them and fit their lives to accord with these responsibilities.

Jury in Martino Case Disagrees The jury in the Martino case has disagreed, standing six for guilty and six for innocence. The verdict is a surprise as a verdict of not guilty was expected. The case will be tried again, very likely at the March term of court.

Prosecuting Attorney Daniel F.
Pagelsen opened the case for the prosecution and he covered it thoroughly, from the beginning to the end. The organization of the human body and the effects of such shots as Pietro Spagnolo received, upon the body, came in for particular attention.

Attorney Pagelsen occupied the time until the Saturday noon adjournment with his argument, after dinner Charles H. McBride opened the argument for the defense and his argument continued until 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Mr.
Wilkes resumed the argument immediately after Mr. McBride and both of the defense pleas were strong. Walter I. Lillie finished for the state in a strong plea and after that court adjourned until Monday.

Maria Vetere can not be rearrested for the murder of Pietro Spagnolo. When the prosecution asked to be allowed to put the woman on the stand, the defense objected unless she should be discharged completely and not rearrested again. The court therefore ordered that the woman could not be taken again upon any evidence she should give upon the stand.

Maria Vetere, (Mrs. Spagnolo), has gone to Lowell, Mich., to spend a short time with her cousin, Frank Spagnolo before going to Pittsburg to live with her brother, P. Vet re.

The jury brought in its verdict Tuesday morning after deliberating all night.

The disagreement of the jury will cause the return of Maria Vetere, perhaps to the county jail. She will not come as a prisoner, charged with murder, but as a witness for the state against Martino in his trial. A subpoena was issued Tuesday by Prosecuting Attorney Pagelsen and she was located in Zeeland. Joseph Spagnolo, who is also charged with the murder of Pietro Spagnolo will not be tried at present and his case has been continued to the March term.

Maria Vetere, the comely little Italian woman is back in the county jail once more. She was brought here last evening from Zeeland by Under Sheriff Salisbury under a subpoena to appear in circuit court as a witness in the case of the people versus Antonio Martino for the murder of Pietro Spagnolo. The case will not be tried until March. The little woman showed no objection to coming back to the jail and the officers had no trouble whatever with her.

She is now back in her old room, but she is not locked up and probably will not be, unless she shows some disposition to get away. She seems to be much happier since the charge of the murder of her husband has been taken from over her head and appears to enjoy life much more than during the long weeks she remained a captive in the upper cell in the jail.

The imprisoned lives of Tony Martino and Joseph Spagnolo are not as bright as the woman's. Tony asks only that he may be allowed to go home and work. He says that he is sick and his attorneys believe he is.

Joe, too, is weary of his life at the jail and he too, longs to get back to his old position at the Holland Tannery. He is a mere boy, a big unschooled Italian boy without a trace of education, unable to read and write even in his own language. From his actions and from his testimony on the witness stand he gives evidence of having had unbounded affection for the dead brother, Pietro Spagnolo.
When Pietro was sick he took care of him, gave him money and did all that he could to aid him. And when Pietro died the young boy cast himself down beside the body in grief and kissed the dead face.
That was his testimony on the stand in the Martino trial.

Upon the stand Joseph said that he did not know who killed Pietro.
But in the jail before an interpreter, he is said to have told an attorney that he believed the woman might have done it. Still he claimed to know nothing about how the crime was committed.

Aside from the possibility of their guilt, the lonesome position and peril of Tony Martino, Joseph Spagnolo and Maria Vetere with her pretty child, alone in a foreign court of a foreign land, have aroused no small amount of sympathy.
