JAY WALKER TO BLAME FOR HALF OF THE DEATHS BY AUTO

MANY a motorist whose car has figured in a fatal accident will be able to present a clear sheet to Saint Peter when his time comes, when one considers all the contributing factors outside of the driver's own fault. A total of 1,390 auto fatalities on record with the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, covering a period of seven months, shows that in 727 cases the fault was clearly the pedestrian's fault and cannot be put down to the driver, the weather or unavoidable circumstances.

The careless pedestrian's footsteps lead him to the grave by six distinct routes, says the Safety Council and the most travel-worn of these is jay walking. Sixty-two per cent of the 727 auto fatalities just referred to were due to streaking across busy streets without using the intersections. Children's playing in the streets was responsible for 31 per cent and coasting for another 3 per cent. Confusion on the part of the pedestrian, not hearing whistles and turning back in his tracks, brought about 9 per cent of these 727 deaths, while physical disability and intoxication rate 3 and 2 per cent respectively.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES COMPETE FOR STANDINGS

That scholarship is not a forgotten ideal in Holland High is shown by the increase in the list of students reaching the coveted place on the honor roll for the third quarter. The number of students listed as good has reached the total of 105. The present senior class owns 34 of these, the juniors 36, and the sophomores 35, while one student is unclassified, but may be counted as a senior. This equal distribution of honors is unusual. Seventy of the honor students are girls, the eight highest on the list being of the "weaker sex".

Lois Marjelle, sophomore, leads the list for the third time. The students having an average of 90 or above are Lois Marjelle, Helen Eberhart, Isabelle Zuber, Evelyn Beach, Alice Brunson, Marie Driscoll, Genevieve Dykhus, Shirley Fairbanks, Evelyn Albers, Anita Anderson, Harriet Baron, Helen Barre, Cecil Mae Bazan, Margaret Beach, Mary Elizabeth Beery, Adella Beeuwkes, Marian Plake, Velda Blair, Cornelia Bolte, Nathaniel Brouwer, Allen Brunson, Margaret De Groot, Georgia De Weerd, Geneva Dogger, Lois Dressel, John Dyke, Marie Dykstra, Mabel Essenburg, Ruth Everhart, Alberta Geers, Edythe Gieblin, Florence Harper, Mary Harper, Olive Harris, Evelyn Hyffron, Jean Heneveld, Evangeline Horning, Romaine Howlett, Gladys Huizinga, Manual Huyser, Eunice Hyma, Edna Johnson, Jeanette Karsten, Marvin Karsten, Celia Klaassen, Frederic Kolenbrandt, Janet Kollen, Marie Kulte, Marion Lordahl, Marion Ludens, Maurice Marcus, Donald Martin, Peter Mass, Victor Maxam, Joseph M. HINGA MUST HAVE TWO NEW PLAYERS

With the passing of Cook and Overweg, on Saturday night after the Grand Rapids South game, Coach Hinga will be forced to make some changes on his varsity squad. De Weerd will go to Cook's position and Japinga and Breen will hold down the forward jobs. With Captain Van Lente and Netting in their regular places Holland high's team will still be a sweet-looking outfit as De Weerd has developed fast and has had some experience. Just who the two new men will be, is still undecided as the Chapman crowd have all had a turn at taking the honors. Huyser was held on the varsity for the first few games and he may again find a berth on the first squad. Bouman, Arendshorst and Du Mez also look good and there are several others that have had close watching of late. The men who show their wares in the best style is the South and Union games are almost sure to win the coveted places.

A fast pace will be set for the Grand Rapids team Friday night and no doubt John Tuedales' crowd will be right up in the race every minute. Coach Hinga will start his regulars with the exception of Overweg, who may replace Japinga.

The prelim will start promptly at 7 o'clock.

MR. GETZ OF LAKEWOOD FARM WRITES FROM JAPAN

Mr. George Getz who with his sons is making a trip around the world, sends to Holland a Japanese postcard, showing the beauties of the cherry blossom country with its unique little bridges.

Mr. Getz writes from Yakohoma, Japan on the date of January 1, 1926 and says: "Ben Mulder, we are having a wonderful trip, the outing is far beyond our expectation. We are now in Japan, a very strange country, but we are all enjoying ourselves to the fullest extent. Wishing you and your family and also all the people of Holland, a Happy New Year, I remain with personal regards,

PROSECUTOR SAYS SO IN LETTER TO WESTERN SOCIAL CONFERENCE

Answers Body of Ministers Who Praised Both Judge Cross and Him

Holland voters will be rather surprised to hear that the name of Prosecutor Fred T. Miles will not appear on the ballot in the Ottawa county primaries next August, as a candidate for prosecuting attorney, a position he has held for the past ten years. Had Mr. Miles continued to be a candidate he would have been in the race for the sixth term. However in a letter to the Western Social Conference Mr. Miles expressed the desire to withdraw at this time from the office of prosecutor of Ottawa county and in the following letter gives his reasons:

January 22, 1926
Western Social Conference,
Ref'd Churches in Michigan,
Gentlemen:

I have received through Rev. Schippers your kind statement relative to my work as prosecuting attorney during the past nine years. I assure you that I appreciate very much the thoughtfulness with which this communication was offered.

The last nine years (during which I have held the position of prosecuting attorney) have been, it seems to me, perhaps the most trying of any in the history of this county—it has been the period of road building, involving many new and vexing problems; the period of the great transition in travel, during which time the automobile has become as common on the highways of the county as donkeys on the streets of Cairo and Alexandria; the war period, creating many complex problems; and our entry upon the policy of prohibition of the liquor traffic, creating problems which at times have threatened almost to overwhelm us.

I might add that the "criminal age" in the last ten years has been reduced from at or near thirty years to at or near twenty years, bringing about an entirely new situation requiring new methods in handling crime and criminals. The movement toward universal academic education, especially since the war, accompanied as it has been by great religious controversies tending to upset many of the former ideals, curbs and sanctions, has brought about many ruderless ships—derelicts on the ocean of life.

I am glad to have lived in this age and to have been active during this time in lending what assistance I have toward the solving of the various problems as they have arisen.

It is therefore with pleasure that I note that your conference has taken note and appreciate the problems involved and the energy and earnestness, with which these problems have been met in this county by our exceptionally fine Circuit Judge and your prosecuting attorney. In spite of the pleasure, however, that it has given me generally to meet and solve as best I may, the problems presented to me, I have decided not to offer myself as a candidate for re-election this year, but I assure you that during the year remaining my energy will not be abated in any way in relation to the problems that I may be called upon to meet.

Sincerely yours,
FRED T. MILES,
Prosecuting Attorney.

SHANNON DE- FINES EXCHANGE CLUB IN VERSE

SAYS LUNCHEON CLUB IS CLEARING HOUSE OF OUR BEST AND NOBLEST UNDERTAKINGS

An unexpected guest at the Exchange Club luncheon yesterday was Dr. Shannon, who is in this city for the week, and was brought as a guest by his old friend, Dr. Davidson of Hope church.

Chairman Pelgrim could not refrain from putting Dr. Shannon on the program for a short talk, even though he was not listed as a speaker.

Dr. Davidson neatly introduced his old friend at the request of Mr. Pelgrim and Mr. Shannon very shortly told what the object of an Exchange club was.

He said it was the clearing house of some of our best and noblest undertakings. He says it was a place where better understandings were reached between men, where a more kindly consideration was felt for one's fellow man, and it was a place where man could find himself, could know his limitations, could see the good qualities in others without being blinded by prejudices. He said that we so easily and readily misunderstood one another, but in a club of this kind one gets into the larger place of understanding, men get out of their groove and deviate to things more worth while. A man is engaged with the fraternal spirit, because of his closer relationship with men he thought he knew and didn't know and because of this contact many of his imaginary prejudices are swept away.

As a fitting parallel Mr. Shannon quoted the poem "Circle" by Edwin Markham:

He drew a circle that shut me out
Heretic, renel, a thing to clout;
But Love and I had the wit to win,
We drew a circle that took me in.

DOROTHY TODD INSTRUCTOR IN GYM WORK

REQUESTS GIRLS IN HER GYM CLASS TO MAKE POSTERS

Miss Dorothy Todd who two years ago came here from Grand Rapids, but who is a regular Hollander by this time, is a very popular girl in the gym classes and her series of health talks to her pupils are listened to with a great deal of interest, and as a rule followed rigidly by the students.

Miss Todd during the past month has requested all students to make health posters, and for some time the corridors of both high school and Junior high school were filled with them. Many of them were real works of art and all gave good health lessons. A large number of them contained original drawings and some were painted. Others were made from pictures taken from magazines arranged to illustrate the subject of health. All of the pictures were accompanied by health slogans.

The posters differed very much in the subject chosen to suggest health. The girls could avail themselves of this opportunity to show their originality and were also given permission to secure the help of their parents. There were more than 300 posters in the Junior high school alone and a large number in high school.

The posters were left in the halls of the two schools for one week and a special invitation was extended to anyone that would like to come in and see them. There was no specified time and visitors were always welcome.

Miss Todd stated that an award or prize was going to be given to the student that made the two best posters but this is undecided.

SHOES DOWN BUSH & LANES SCORE, 10-0

FEDERALS OUTSCORE GUARDS IN FREE HITTING CONTEST

About five weeks ago the Holland Shoe Indoor team was defeated by the Bush & Lane nine. Steffens, who twirled for the losers had 17 strikeouts in that affair and the students that took the hits Wednesday night, however, the Shoes got sweet revenge when Peterson's men knocked Prins for a total of 10 runs. For the first two frames the battle looked even but the third inning saw Hoover's followers bite the dust. Steffens, Peterson, Brightwell and Van Dyk were good for base hits about every time they stepped to bat and Prins found the going very rough. Steffens was steady all the way and looked fine in victory. Steffens has a lot of stuff and plenty of speed.

The Federals had a good time with Rowan and Lievens, Guard hurriers as the final count was 12-2 in favor of the stamping concern. Kramer and Jarvis were the best for the winners while Japinga and Kemper were stars for the Guards.

TRADE PAPER SAYS CITY WAS SHORT SIGHTED

EDITOR E. A. STOWE OF THE TRADEMAN SAYS WE ARE SAVERS AND MONEY MAKERS

E. A. Stowe, editor of the Michigan Tradesman, printed in Grand Rapids says some pointed things in that trade paper in the issue of January 20.

He says some nice things about us, but he also tells of some of our short-comings, as he sees them.

Under the heading "Out, Around—Things Seen and Heard on a Week End Trip," Mr. Stowe writes as follows:

"My first visit to Holland was in the fall of 1871, when nearly every building in the town worth while was a heap of ashes. I could not see then how Holland could ever rally, but 54 years have wrought a marvelous change, creating a city whose steady growth is one of the marvels of the age, considering the meager resources of the town at the beginning. The original settlers in Holland were not rich people. They were mostly poor as the proverbial churenmouse, but they had thoroughly learned an important lesson—that patient industry is the truest road to success and that it does not pay any one to quarrel with his bread and butter. No people ever worked harder to put a town on the map and start her on the road to prosperity and happiness than the original Dutch settlers of Holland, including the faithful few who came from the old country with Father Van Raalte and the many who came later.

In building a city of schools and churches, factories and business places, Holland has overlooked the most important natural advantage God bestowed upon her by neglecting to reserve a park area on Black Lake. Instead of securing a mile frontage on the lake front for a public park, she has utilized the lake as a dumping ground for sewerage and other refuse which has contaminated the water, denied the shores and made the upper end of the Lake more like a cesspool than a body of live water capable of almost indefinite use as a playground and sport area. The same narrow vision is seen in her failure to secure a half mile frontage on Lake Michigan as a permanent playground for her children and a bathing place for her adult population. She could have accomplished this latter result at insignificant expense by securing an enabling act from the legislature, but the short-sightedness of her people has deprived subsequent generations of the greatest asset she could possibly possess. It may be too late to accomplish something along this line. If so, the wheels should be set in motion without another day's delay.

"I can overlook this neglect on the part of the people of Holland, because they are essentially a class of money makers and money savers—too much engrossed in their intense ambition to acquire riches and gain a competence for themselves and their children to see very far into the future—but I cannot excuse the same lack of vision on the part of Traverse City, which nature has favored so prodigally that she ought to take rank as the Miami of Michigan. She has every thing necessary to become a great resort headquarters except one thing—the initiative of her people, which is a minus quality. With a water front of 100 miles on Grand Traverse Bay, which is conceded to be as beautiful a body of water as the Bay of Tokio or the Bay of Naples; with wonderful inland lakes in every direction; with hills and valleys in Leelanau county which cannot be excelled in attractiveness anywhere in the country; with good roads spreading out in nearly all directions; with fruit orchards which are the envy of the world and a capacity to produce fruit which is unequalled anywhere in flavor, color and keeping qualities, Traverse City has only herself to blame that she is not now a sturdy city of 50,000 people, growing at the rate of 5,000 per year. Instead of investing her savings in summer hotels, which will bring in an influx of summer visitors, she puts her money into questionable manufacturing enterprises, which nearly always fail; instead of holding out a welcoming hand to summer resorts she permits the supervisors in the Grand Traverse region to deliberately rob the people who would make their district rich by assuring their summer homes at two or three times what they are worth and five times as high as they assess relative values in farm property. The natural result of these policies is mediocrity and stagnation, whereas Traverse City ought to be the fastest growing city in Michigan. This is not the first time I have called the attention of Traverse City to the golden future they are permitting to slip through their fingers because of their lack of foresight and criminal indifference to the advantages

CHIEF BLOM TELLS HOW TO BUILD A CHIMNEY

CHIMNEYS ARE CAUSE OF MORE FIRES THAN ANY OTHER AGENCY

Fire Chief Blom who has been an efficient fire fighter for nearly forty years, says that more fires are started in dwellings thru the chimney route, than through any other agency.

Mr. Blom states that it is of the utmost importance that wood members be properly separated from chimney construction and not come into contact with any part of it. Ample space should be provided to permit the insertion of fire-stopping materials to prevent radiated heat from affecting wood-work, and also to guard against settlement in the masonry after construction is completed. One requirement which most building ordinances contain is as follows:

"No wooden beams, joists or rafters shall be placed within two inches of the outside face of any chimney, whether the flue in same be for smoke or for other purposes. The space between the chimney and wooden joists or beams shall be filled with loose cinders, loose mortar refuse, gypsum block or other porous, incombustible material to form a fire stop. Such material shall be supported by strips of sheet metal or metal lath."

The method of accomplishing this result is readily obtained from any reliable contractor or architect.

No wooden studding, furring or lathing should be placed against any chimney, and all lumber-built construction should be set away from the chimney. In ordinary masonry wall construction it is quite usual to imbed nailing strips, such as lath, in the joints between the courses of brick work to which furring strips, or trim, are nailed. This practice should never be followed in chimney construction. Mr. Blom contends. No combustible material of any kind should be placed in joints of units making up a chimney. Plastering should be directly on the masonry or on incombustible lathing and furring material. Furring strips around chimneys when used to support base or other trim should be insulated from the masonry by the use of asbestos paper, or equivalent material, at least one-eighth of an inch thick.

It is often necessary to erect a chimney with a stud wall on one or two sides making it impossible to place plaster directly upon chimney construction. Mr. Blom says. When this is the case, the lumber studding and the joists should be insulated and separated from the chimney.

SHIPLEY WILL BE SENTENCED HERE FRIDAY

JUDGE CROSS WILL SENTENCE LONG LIST OF CONVICTED LAW VIOLATORS ON FRIDAY

It was announced Wednesday morning that circuit court Judge Orien S. Cross, would pass out sentences to convicted law violators on Friday morning starting at ten o'clock and the sheriff's officers were today handed lists of persons whom they must notify of the impending doom, cautioning them to be on hand at the appointed hour.

Around twenty law violators will be notified by the officers of their coming sentences and Judge Cross will have quite a job before him to pass sentence upon the goodly number of violators. The list is slightly larger than usual and beside liquor law violators and others, will include George Shipley, confessed Marne bank bandit.

STRANGE FIRE STARTS AT GRAND HAVEN

A fire at Grand Haven did about $45,000 worth of damage to the Gasoline pump at the garage of Ed Smith. The gas pump had frozen up and was thawed out by using hot water which caused a short circuit in the lighting wiring and started a fire which caused a short circuit in the pump to ignite and then caught a can of gasoline near the pump. The fire department was called and the blaze was put out quickly.

which God has given them.

It is the irony of fate that the greatest success achieved by any citizen of Holland was not by a native Hollander, but by an Americanized German—Germans by descent, but American in thought and action. His meteoric career was made possible by financial contributions from local investors who can now cash up on their investment on a ration of about 100 to one, based on the original amount at stake. Other local industries have prospered greatly, but none have approached in growth and magniture the institution created by the adopted son of Teutonic ancestry.

I had the pleasure of shaking hands Saturday with one of the oldest friends of the Tradesman—Mr. Notter, who will be 80 years old in March. Mr. Notter was engaged in general trade at Graafschap under the style of Notter & Lokker in 1883 and I subsequently saw much of him as the manager of the Crystal Creamery. He is still keen in mind and active in his work as a clothing salesman. If he does not round out a hundred years of usefulness and honor, I shall be greatly surprised.

VAN ESS SPEAKS AT EXCHANGE CLUB LUNCHEON

ALTHOUGH A REPUBLICAN LAUDS PRESIDENT WILSON AS GREAT AMERICAN

Possibly the most interesting Exchange club meeting held for some time was the luncheon at Wm. Friedland Tavern, Wednesday noon, which was on this occasion served in the private dining room, on the second floor, of the hotel for the reason that more than 200 Holland Furnace men were occupying the regular dining hall.

Yesterday was a day for illustrious guests it seems. Martin Ver Hage of Zeeland, many time mayor of that city and president of the Exchange club there, was present during the presentation of the flag to the local Exchange club yesterday and thanked the local members for their efforts in bringing about an Exchange Club movement in Zeeland which now has 55 members.

Dr. F. F. Shannon of Chicago was also one of the guests, coming with Dr. Davidson. Rev. Euden and his brother of Lawrence, Kansas, who were the guests of John S. Dykstra, were also present. Mr. Euden has taken an Eastern charge but is always welcome at the Exchange club.

Rev. Van Ess, guest of honor, a product of Hope College, and a missionary for many years in Arabia, was introduced by his former classmate at College, Neil Vander Meulen, who in a witty manner dragged in several of the other prominent pastors present, including Dr. J. B. Kutzenga, who at one time was his instructor, and proceeded with an introduction that brought several good laughs.

Mr. Van Ess is now the missionary who is known throughout the country, acknowledged the introduction with some side-splitting takeoffs.

In seriousness he stated that the American people, although quick to grasp things, never got a correct conception of the Eastern situation. He stated that the American press, or in other words, the subsidized press through propaganda colored conditions to suit themselves and for ulterior motives. He was very national in his remarks mentioning names of newspaper correspondents and papers who were responsible for these things, as personally observed by him.

He said that we Dutchmen are naturally prejudiced to England, the Boer war and other reasons have made us a natural enemy, but in reality it is Britain, who is really doing something in that country.

England is dealing out even-handed justice as it were and as it has always done. The Britisher may not be so smooth and clever as the Frenchman, but all countries know that she deals fairly.

It is not all that Britain wants, as the propagandists will say or would have, for England possesses more oil than it even now uses, and would not jeopardize her interests and the interests of her people for a questionable oil field, when she has any number that are now not yet even developed.

Mr. Van Ess says that America does a great deal for the Near East. It is vitally interested in the Armenian people. Guarding them with armies against the unquenchable Turk, so called, would cost us billions.

America could do this job much cheaper by transporting the entire nation to the Western Hemisphere to an undeveloped field and watch and protect these people until they get a successful start. We have transported four million soldiers in a comparatively short time in the cause of humanity, why not one million Armenians. All that remain of these oppressed people?

He stated that the Armenian might object to be taken away from their Mount Arrarat and its other shrines, but the American people would have a good excuse to offer, for our forefathers were driven from the Old World to a wilderness in the new world and they were not transported.

Mr. Van Ess although a republican, expressed great admiration for the late President Woodrow Wilson and felt that he was a much misunderstood and maligned man in his own country by men of opposite faith, but that Mr. Wilson's presence in Europe, when the Eastern situation was gone into, brought dignity and respect to a morally debased situation. Mr. Wilson was looked upon as a man filled with the great American spirit, not alone but with a great Christian spirit as well.

MUSKOGON CELLULOID FACTORY BURNS DOWN

The celluloid plant of the Brumwick-Balke-Collender company at Muskegon was destroyed Wednesday afternoon at a loss of about $5,000. Fire is believed to have started from static electricity, and the building, a small structure, was destroyed quickly.

The celluloid plant at the Brumwick had been destroyed frequently during the last few years. It is set apart from the remainder of the buildings, thereby minimizing the danger to the larger buildings.

GEORGE SHIPLEY MAKES A COMPLETE CONFESSION OF THE MARNE BANK ROBBERY

The dramatic legal battle that seemed in prospect to convict George A. Shipley of plundering the bank at Marne last May was brought to a sudden halt Tuesday afternoon when Shipley, through his attorney, Charles H. Misner, announced in circuit court before Judge O. S. Cross and formally pleaded guilty. Shipley's trial was to have begun in the afternoon but as a result of the confession the trial is wiped off the slate and the most dramatic part of the court calendar is eliminated.

Shipley's confession apparently came because he was convinced that Sheriff Fred Kamferbeek and Prosecuting Attorney F. T. Miles had a dead sure case against him. On Monday afternoon Mr. Kamferbeek and Mr. Miles took the prisoner into Mr. Miles' office at the court house and they so impressed him with the strength of the evidence that they had collected against him, buttressed step by step with facts that admitted of no other interpretation, that he pulled the Marne job, that he came clean and made a complete confession.

The prisoner's confession was committed to writing immediately and he voluntarily and freely signed it, making a clean breast of the whole affair and leaving no particle of doubt about the whole affair from the day when the bank robbery was committed on the 24th of May until Shipley was arrested in the Ottawa county jail.

The confession covers 20 typewritten pages and goes into the minutest details of the robbery band that plied the Marne bank in detail. Monday morning Shipley sent for Prosecutor Miles and asked him to let him make a clean breast of it. The prosecutor of course could not make any promises for the judge has nothing came of the interview. But in the afternoon Shipley again asked for Mr. Miles and this in the presence of a stenographer, who took the confession down as it was given, he told the whole story from beginning to end, later signing the document in the presence of witnesses.

The confessed in substance that he and one Harry Brackett, with whom he had several aliases, with whom he drove from California in a big Cadillac car last spring to Grand Rapids. They registered at the Hotel Leland and stayed there for a week or two, looking for prospects. After that they went to the Marne bank they drove to Lansing where they spent one night at a hotel to give the impression that they had left this community. Then they went back to Grand Rapids and registered at the Hotel Leland and stayed there for a week or two, looking for prospects. They then drove to Marne. The women took the Cadillac and drove to the Marne bank. After the robbery the men joined them and from there drove to Indianapolis where a relative lived. This move was made to establish an alibi if it should prove necessary.

The next move was to Cincinnati, where the two men divided the money which consisted of $2,400 in cash and $500 in Liberty bonds. They divided the money equally. Shipley declared, but Brackett refused to let the Liberty bonds be divided. He then furnished the guns and the cash.

After the division the Shipleys and the Bracketts parted and Shipley claims that he never saw Brackett and his wife again and never heard from them again. Mr. and Mrs. Shipley went to New York city where they spent several months.

Shipley's father, according to the confession, lives in Alabama where he has been in the penitentiary for forgery. He has escaped twice, the confession reads, and has been in various difficulties. According to Shipley the elder Shipley furnished the money with which Mr. and Mrs. Shipley were to go into business in Richmond, Va. It was there that Sheriff Kamferbeek arrested Shipley after following his trail for months all over the continent.

The confession shows that substantially the Ottawa sheriff followed the trial closely and that there was no man was without a flaw.

Shipley in his confession claims that the two women in the party knew nothing about the robbery and had nothing to do with its planning or execution. Shipley claims never to have committed a crime for which he had not been punished. He admits that he was in trouble three times in California, once for vagrancy, once for petty larceny and once for receiving stolen goods. But he declares he has served for all three of these.

The taking of the confession was a long drawn out affair. It took until some time after six o'clock, when the story finally ended and was signed by Shipley's signature. Shipley will probably come up for sentencing some time this week. He evidently hopes that the confession will make the sentence lighter.

March 15 to 19 are the dates set for the Allegan county milk campaign that is part of the home demonstration agent's program in this county for this year. It is part of the plan to reach every school district in the county. State and local speakers will help carry this out. In connection with the campaign a demonstration to show the value of milk to growing children is being conducted in one of the school districts in that county.

A campaign of this kind naturally follows the tuberculosis eradication program that is being taken up in Allegan county.

OVERISEL BOY DROPS DEAD AT PRACTICE GAME

John Vander Wall, aged 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert VanderWall, living just north of Overisel on the road between Overisel and Zeeland, dropped dead Monday evening in the community hall in Overisel when he was practicing basketball. The young man's death was due to heart failure. It was not known that he had a weak heart. With others he was on the basketball floor, just beginning a practice game and his exertions were not more strenuous than is usual in practice. He suddenly sagged to the floor and was dead before medical aid could be called. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced but it is likely that the funeral will be held on Friday.

The Holland high school band has at last become a fact. After some wait the band instruments have arrived and the new organization is ready to start under the direction of John Van Vyven, who directs about every band in the city and does it well.

The band is comprised of sixty-one students selected from both the Holland and Senior high schools, twenty-five from the former and thirty-six representing the latter. Much enthusiasm is displayed by the boys and many are fitting themselves as players by taking lessons on the various instruments. Further preparations are well under way and it is planned that regular practices will be held on Monday afternoons.

It was through the thoughtfulness of the board of education that the school authorities were enabled to launch this band project so soon. The board willingly advanced the money with which to purchase the instruments. The board of education has also hired a director, who took the confession down as it was given, he told the whole story from beginning to end, later signing the document in the presence of witnesses.

A list of the members of the band and the instruments assigned them to play follows: Cornets: Earl Landa Water, Donald De Goede, Bernard Klinefelter, Larry Lappinga, Victor Maxam, Lloyd Maatman, Willis Arnold, Bernard Plakke, Ernest De Fouw, Paul Dykstra, Kenneth Woldring, Kenneth Stauffer, Fred Miles, William Baron, Harold Mokma, Preston Shaffer.

Not only is the entertainment committee of the Holland Masons going to provide an opportunity for another one of those old time dances at the temple but it is also going to give those who do not know the old dances a chance to learn them before the dance begins.

The dance Friday night is scheduled to begin at 8:30. From 7:30 to 8:30 a school of instruction will be held on the dance floor for all the other cooperatives associations in the county have done. The same board of directors were elected as last year with one exception.

LOCAL MAN HAS HAND CUT OFF BY PUNCH PRESS

Albert Lamberts, employee of a local factory was seriously injured while operating a punch press in one of the departments. In some way not yet explained, the man's right arm slipped under the punch and the descending plunger caught the member and so mutilated it that physicians had to amputate the right hand. Lamberts is at Holland hospital and his condition is fairly satisfactory.

OTTAWA MAN HANGS HIMSELF IN HIS BARN

Coroner William Vande Water of Holland was called to Chester township Monday morning to act officially on the death of Samuel Austin, a young farmer 28 years old, who was found hanging in a barn on the Austin farm at Conkling.

Austin, who lived with his aged mother on a 40 acre farm, took dinner with her as usual Sunday morning. He disappeared soon afterwards and was not found until Monday morning, when Guy Lockwood, who had gone in search of Austin at the request of his mother, found his body hanging from a rafter. The authorities in the neighborhood immediately called Sheriff Kamferbeek and coroner Vander Water.

A note left by Austin said, "Leave all my money to my mother." No cause could be ascertained as to why the young farmer took his life, although circumstances surrounding the case would indicate that he had planned to do this rash act for some time. No hint of money trouble or a love affair, it is said, had anything to do with the tragedy.

The Good Fellowship club, composed of trainment and other employees of the Grand Rapids, Holland and Chicago railroad, held a supper and dance Monday night in the Odd Fellows Hall in Grandville. About 60 couples were in attendance. Following the supper and preceding the dance was a short program composed of instrumental and vocal selections which were provided by George Forcht, John C. Muste, Ruddy Willemsen and Billy B. Mink.

Mr. L. E. Hollar, general superintendent of the Michigan Railroad company, was toastmaster. George Gable of Vriesland gave a short talk. Noggles' orchestra furnished the dance music. Special cars from Grand Rapids and Holland were donated by the company. Entertainment, George Forcht and John C. Muste; transportation and tickets, Ruddy Willemsen; publicity and supper, Floyd C. Fisher. Officers of the Good Fellowship are: President, George Forcht; secretary and treasurer, Ruddy Willemsen.

The consent of G. J. Diekema has been secured by the Holland Merchants association to act as toastmaster at the annual banquet of the association to be held at the Masonic temple. Diekema's decision to accept the invitation completes the program and rounds out one of the best banquet entertainments that the merchants have so far had. The banquet is to be held on Tuesday evening, February second.

The speaker of the evening will be Lee H. Bierce of Grand Rapids. The Dutch-Irish comedian, Hogan, will be the funmaker of the banquet, and a good program of music has been arranged for. The tickets are going fast and it is likely that long before the date comes around, the seats will have been sold out.

Candidates for different offices are beginning to bob up here and there, although the spring primaries are some distance off. Mayor Kammeraad, without a doubt, will be unopposed. Nick Sprietsma, former shoe dealer, has made his announcement to run for treasurer in place of Mr. Bowmaster, who under the charter cannot serve again.

Another candidate for treasurer has loomed up, in the person of John Karreman, former jeweler of this city who sold his business more than a year ago, because of ill health.

Mr. Karreman is much improved in health and feels that he is able to make the run. His friends are circulating petitions that are to be filed with the city clerk.

"The Feast of the Little Lanterns," a Chinese operetta, is to be given by the pupils of the Junior high school on Thursday evening, Jan. 28, at 7:30 in the high school auditorium. The operetta will consist of many charming choruses and solos. Wei Ling, maid of the princess, who is always in trouble, and Ong Long, stern governor, who wants things her own way, help much toward making the entertainment a very good one.

The high school orchestra will assist in the program. In addition to the performance for the general public there will be a special matinee for the children of the grades on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 26, at four o'clock.

Mrs. Julia Terprata of Holland left Thursday on her second visit to St. Petersburg, Florida, this time to meet her grandson, Mr. Edward Mc Cann, who was recently married to Miss Dorothy Witteveen, also of Holland, and a granddaughter of Mrs. Terprata. Mr. Mc Cann is a wealthy young man from Maine and owns a considerable amount of property in Florida. The happy young couple are now staying at the Poinsett Hotel at St. Petersburg, Florida.

TELLS YARNS OF LIFE IN THE ORIENT

That the missionary in the orient has as he wily as the serpent in addition to being as gentle as the dove was humorously brought out by Rev. John Van Ess, D. D., in a charmingly informal address Monday night before the Century club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ogden. Dr. Van Ess could not get the word of a Turkish government official because the latter demanded a bribe of 10 pounds. But of course his profession made it impossible for the missionary to give a bribe. It so happened that his friend, a medical missionary, had treated the Turkish official at the mission hospital, which was intended to be free of charge. Dr. Van Ess, however, got him to make out a bill for ten pounds for the treatment and when next he went for the government official's stamp he presented that bill. The stamp was affixed to the document without anything more being said about a ten pound bribe.

That was a fair sample of a large number of anecdotes narrated by the noted missionary before his audience Monday night. For about an hour and a half he kept nearly a hundred men and women listening closely to his stories of missionary life. Practically every one of the yarns had a humorous slant. It brings out clearly the differences in point of view between oriental and occidental civilizations. Dr. Van Ess has gone up and down Arabia for a quarter of a century and he knows it as perhaps no other man knows it. He speaks Arabic like a native and he has often lived for months like a native without ever seeing a white face. He knows the oriental from the inside and his stories were taken from his own experience with the people among whom he is spending his life.

The musical program of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. E. J. Zell and it consisted of two violin solos charmingly released by Master Jack VanderMeulen, accompanied by Mrs. Martha Robbins, and several vocal solos by Miss Trilzie Moore, accompanied by Miss Cooper.

Postmaster E. J. Westveer has received a warning from Fred J. Schlotfeldt, U. S. District Director of Naturalization, to be on the lookout for Martin P. McNichols, examining and was sent to Leavenworth for fraud. After his release he went into the business of impersonating a naturalization official, going through country records or school records, sometimes examining the foreign pupils in schools all for the purpose of gaining the confidence of the country clerk, the teachers, or sometimes local officials and then having them cash his check.

He has victimized a great many people in other cities and he may be looked for in Holland. Mr. Westveer is passing this warning on to the public so that they may be on their guard.

Mrs. N. Hofstede, in charge of the Junior Red Cross in Holland, has received a letter of thanks from George A. Dorman, business manager of the Roosevelt American Legion Hospital, for the check received by the Junior Red Cross of Holland to the hospital.

The letter says: "In behalf of the patients of the American Legion Hospital, I wish to thank you and the members of your organization for the check received at Christmas time. This money was placed in the gift fund where it will be used to the care of the personal wants of the men not drawing compensation. Your kind thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated and mere words fail to express our sincere gratitude."

By producing a better quality butter and selling it direct to retailers, mostly in Grand Rapids, the Conklin Farmers' Co-operative Creamery association of Ottawa county was able in 1925 to pay its patrons the highest price for butter-fats in the history of the company. President James Chittick reported to the annual meeting of the stockholders there.

The average price paid for butterfat during the year was 50.4 cents a pound or 5.2 cents a pound more than in 1924. The association erected a new creamery building during the year and has been operating the new plant since Dec. 1. The company has 450 stockholders, all farmers.

Directly elected at the meeting are: James Chittick, Emmet Collier, James Pratt, William Rasch and John Wiltburg. Perle Gillespie is manager.—Grand Rapids Press.

At the installation of officers of the Royal Neighbor Juveniles the installing officer, Mrs. Leona Norlin and Ceremonial Marshal, Mrs. Anna Zietlow, were introduced by the marshals, Clarence Smith and Raymond Zietlow. Others installed were: Ruby Smith, Junior Oracle; Doreen Dore, Junior Past Oracle; Ruth Smith, Junior Vice Oracle; Elizabeth Norlin, Junior Chancellor; Fayne Koop, Junior recorder; Lucille Halladay, Junior marshal; Mildred Huesting, Junior assistant marshal; Kathryn Witt, Junior inner sentinel; Marie Van Raalte, Junior outer sentinel; Mrs. Anna Zietlow, Juvenile director; Mrs. Grace De Witt, assistant director and musician. The installing officers and musician were presented with a gift by the juveniles.

The R. N. A. J's are boys and girls whose mothers or guardians are R. N. A.'s. The girls are filling offices this year while the boys are going to put on a fancy drill. All members of Royal Neighbors are invited to attend all Juvenile meetings, which are held every two weeks on Monday at 7 o'clock. January 25 is the next meeting.

MOTHER OF TRIPLETS DIES ON SATURDAY

Death took a mother of nine children Saturday night when Mrs. Andrew Dykema passed away at her home at 51 East 19th street, after a lingering illness. On June 25th last year Mrs. Dykema became the mother of triplets. The event attracted a great deal of attention, it being the only case of triplets born in Holland for many years. One of the babies died in July but the other two are living and in good health.

Mrs. Dykema was 38 years old. Besides her husband and nine children, two sisters and two brothers survive her: Mrs. Richard Scholten of Jamestown, Mrs. H. Strovens of Fremont, Walter and Nicholas Scholten of Fremont.

The I. O. O. F., 192, held installation of officers Thursday evening. The following were installed: W. F. Shaffer, N. G.; A. Palmer, V. G.; D. Hansen, sec.; H. Damson, treas.; Frank Davis, warden; Geo. Vander Hill, conductor; Guy Pond, R. S. N. G.; O. Hallert, S. N. G.; A. Hornig, R. S. V. G.; George Slocum, L. S. V. G.; Ray Lighthouse, chaplain; H. Norlin, R. S. S.; J. Picart, L. S. S.; B. Van Dam, O. V.; A. Terprata, I. G.; R. Simpson, P. G.; H. Vander Warf, Alex. Vander Hill and Horning, finance committee; Ed Vanden Berg, trustee for three years to succeed himself.

The following is by Mary A. Shaw in the "Christian Intelligencer": The immigration authorities do a great deal to safeguard and care for the newcomers who enter the United States through the gate of Ellis Island; but there is a theory that those who come through Hoboken as second cabin passengers are able largely to take care of themselves. Like many other theories, however, this one does not always work out. Rev. John Sietsema, who is the representative of the Board of Domestic Missions to meet the passengers on the Holland-America vessels who come second cabin—as almost all the arrivals from the Netherlands do come—finds that the things these passengers need are varied and numerous.

From now until April there will be only two steamers a month from the Netherlands. At some other times in the year they arrive more frequently. Sometimes these who come over do know their way about so that they stand in need of little help; but on other occasions, when Mr. Sietsema, towards the small hours of the night takes the last train for his home in Little Falls, N. J., where he is pastor of the Second Reformed church—he is a tired man in brain and body.

Specifically, Mr. Sietsema acts as a connecting link between friends waiting at the dock and immigrants on the vessels; he acts as interpreter for the inspectors and the travelers. He sees that the travelers get the right railroad tickets, and sometimes gets tickets exchanged so that they can leave on earlier trains. He escorts them to the trains, pausing by the way to help in the selection of requisites for a lunch en route.

This they must obtain at a bakery restaurant, since there are no box lunches to be bought on a pier. He sends off telegrams, and helps the travelers to get money changed, and stands between them and the too friendly bus and taxi drivers.

Sometimes Mr. Sietsema has the interesting duty of marrying two young people who want to set up a new home. The ceremony usually has to be performed in a dingy hotel room on West street or one of the other streets near the docks; but at least there is privacy there, and the blessing of the minister of God upon the union.

Most of the people whom Mr. Sietsema helps last year, went on their way to Chicago, or to Grand Rapids or Kalamazoo. A few went to California and other far Western States. Mr. Sietsema answers questions, as far as he can, about the places where they are going. He also urges them not to forget the Lord in the new homeland. In the course of the last year he had letters from several people, who wrote to tell him how much they appreciated the aid he had given them.

The Eagles Auxiliary, No. 1594, winners, were entertained by losers in a membership contest, captain Eschbagger's side, winners; captain Zietlow, losers. Captain Eschbagger was presented with a gift from the losers for bringing in the most members.

The evening was spent playing games and stunts such as a peanut race, a fat woman's race, and thin woman's race. Prizes were won by Ruth Burman, Mrs. Garbrecht, Mrs. Flanagan, Mrs. Weychede, Mrs. Lake, Mrs. Bowen. Refreshments were served and all went home with the intention of getting new members for the new drive which is on now. The slogan is, "Let's Go."

Allegan and Holland will give their annual fair on the same dates this year. Holland announced several months ago they will present their fair on Allegan's regular dates. Secretary Franz Leide and the Holland secretary tried to straighten this out at the state fair meeting in Detroit last week, but Holland refused to change and Allegan will stick by her regular dates, the last week in August—Allegan News.

WIND STORM WRECKS 8TH ST. GARAGE

The terrific wind of Saturday night practically destroyed the new garage built by Frank Sinke and sons on East Eighth street, some distance east of the city limits. The building is known as the Federal garage and had just been completed at a cost of $4,500.

Mr. Sinke stated Monday morning that five men were at work on the first floor when the west wall cracked, broken off at the top of the first story, and came to the ground with a crash.

The men in the building rushed thru exits and fifteen minutes afterwards the entire roof, apparently built in two sections of 25 feet by 60 feet each, was blown from the top, one section falling to the east of the ruined building and the other being carried more than 100 ft., striking the house of W. C. Hogen-dorn and demolishing the porch.

The two large sections of roof are practically intact, and it is said sailed in the air like a kite and then were deposited on the earth.

After the roof had been blown off, Mr. Sinke and his men immediately got busy, taking out the stored cars that were in the paint shop, some finished, others nearly completed. There were ten of these cars and all of them were taken out of the building without damage, but shortly after the last car had been pulled to safety, the front end of the building, that had been tottering for more than an hour, fell with a crash inwardly, smashing up the entire front part of the building including offices and show rooms.

The last crash in reality did the greatest damage, for because of this the greater part of the building will have to be torn down first, before it can be reconstructed.

Mr. Sinke stated that first the men got all the property belonging to other people and then they put out the fires in the stores, so no fire could be started in the building. He said that he was insured for fire, but had automobile insurance of all kinds, he was protected in every way, but the insurance which he really needed he did not have, namely cyclone insurance.

Mr. Sinke stated that he intends to rebuild immediately but does not know what his loss is. It will not be less than $3,000; he thought that naturally it would be a total loss under the circumstances.

Mr. Sinke states that a thorough investigation will be made in order to ascertain how and why a new building like the one in question should have been so completely wrecked. The building stands on the edge of an open field where there is a clean sweep of the wind for at least a mile.

The Woman's Literary club of Holland Friday received ten volumes of a new book by Arthur H. Vandenberg, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, entitled, "The Trail of a Tradition." The books come as a present from Mr. Vandenberg to the club. Recently the Grand Rapids editor delivered an address on nationalism before the club and its guests at Warm Friend Tavern and although he had specified that there was to be no fee he sent a check of $25 as a gift to the club. He sent the check on to his publishers and ordered that it be used for copies of the book to be sent to the local club.

"The book is an exposition of the doctrine of pro-seced Americanism," the publishers announce, "as distinguished from mere Americanism. It is the product of history and experience answering the theory and formula of voices in the air. It is the thrilling record of America's insistence, under almost every president, that America shall captain her own soul. It is the proof that America does not best serve peace by muting its own independent oracles or by shackling its own independent ideals and authority. Nationalism, self-impulsed and self-inspired, has never yet set beacons in the watch towers of America without flashing signals of new hope all around the globe. Nationalism made us what we are and is the gauge of our destiny."

"Mr. Vandenberg's new book sustains this tradition in careers of colorful fact. It is the cumulative testimony of American experience that we want friendly and co-operating intercourse with all the nations of the earth, but conflicting leagues and alliances with none; that we owe no greater obligation to the world than to our own posterity."

"The Trail of a Tradition," follows American foreign policy from the days of Washington and Hamilton down to the immediate present. In terms of immediate application it is not an argument against international judicial agencies but distinctly against the language of America with international politics.

Mr. Vandenberg's new book is the lengthened shadow of his previous works dealing with the life and times of Alexander Hamilton. The present volume is dedicated to Ex-United States Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan.

Miss Wilma Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Meyer, West 12th street, who is taking a course in art at the Parsons School of Art in New York City, has been awarded $25 as a prize for the best cover design for the Art Club Magazine. The prize was awarded to Miss Meyer by the board of directors of the school she is attending.

Are Surprised By Friends on 13th Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wellings were pleasantly surprised Monday evening by a number of their friends on the occasion of their thirteenth wedding anniversary. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jake Wellings, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Essenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Boes, John Essenberg, Laverne Wellings, and Florence Essenberg. A dainty two course luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Wellings were the recipients of some beautiful and useful gifts. A very pleasant evening was spent.

WIND BLOWS OUT PLATE GLASS WINDOW

The gale on Saturday night completely blew down a long wooden garage, built by the Federal Manufacturing company for the purpose of parking machines of employees. The building had no sides but was simply a roof to protect the machines from sun and rain, and for that reason was an easy prey for the wind that blew under the structure, lifting it from its pillars, and depositing the roof several feet from where the structure stood originally.

A peculiar accident showing the pranks of a tempest, when suddenly and without warning one of the large plate glass windows on the fourth floor of the De Vries and Dornbos Furniture company building blew out and crashed to the pavement. This accident occurred at 8:15 while the Saturday night jam was in the street, and that some person in the large crowd was not seriously injured or killed is remarkable.

Men and women dodged in different directions, not really knowing where to go, but one lady whose name could not be ascertained was on the edge of the shattered glass and her hat and clothing were filled with small pieces, but she was not injured in the least.

The accident soon brought a large crowd. The police were soon on the job and kept the crowd moving in order to avoid congestion.

At the last regular meeting of Purdy Camp, No. 3571 R. N. A., the following officers were installed: Orator, Fredrika Hertz; vice, O. Estelle Dore; Past-O., Grace Erick; Chancellor, Rose Raigh; Recorder, Blanche Shaffer; Receiver, Garnet Knoll; Marshall, Gertrude Sherwood; Assistant, M. Sarah Dykhouse; Inner Sentinel, Grace De Witt; Outer Sentinel, Augusta Garbeck; Musician, Anna Zetlow; Master, Minnie Serier; Faith, Nellie Kleis; Courage, Maude Clarke; Modesty, May Bickel; Endurance, Mary Van Duren; Unselfishness, Anna Huesing; Installing officer, Leona Norlin; ceremonial marshal, Belle Smith; musician, Edith Van Ins all were presented with a beautiful bouquet. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the committee.

From Hwa Hmrs. James Osewaarde as chairman of production of the Red Cross has received the following letter: "Dear Madam: Having received a Red Cross bag with your card in it, I am taking this means of thanking you and the American Red Cross for the letter. Every article in the bag is useful in one way or another and it goes to show that some one has not forgotten their country's service men who are stationed across the sea."

On account of the delay in the mails the boys' ship did not receive their bags of good cheer until today (Jan. 2). But they are all overjoyed to have received them and praise the American Red Cross very highly, and also pledge allegiance to its cause. The letter was written by Glen A. Cox on the U. S. S. Whippoorwill.

The bureau of safety of the Holland Gas company held its second annual banquet Thursday night. A good chicken dinner was served to 22 of the employees. Mr. R. Brown acted as toastmaster and Mr. E. P. Davis, manager, gave a very appropriate talk on the importance of safety work. Mr. Davis brought out the fact that one billion dollars worth of property and twenty-three thousand lives were lost thru accidents in the United States last year and that ninety per cent of these accidents were preventable. This was said to show that it was the duty of every man to help prevent accidents.

He also made a few remarks on service to the public, using as his theme, "He profits most who serves best," and he showed that the employees working at the plant are as responsible to the public as is the manager himself.

The banquet was all stag, even to the chef. The dinner was prepared by Mr. John Oonk.

There are 8,992 pleasure cars, 1,615 commercial autos, 23 motorcycles, 111 licensed trailers, and 25 automobile dealers in Allegan county according to the statewide automobile census for 1925, just made public by Secretary of State De Land. This county contributed a total of $122,162 into the license and weight tax fund, of which $54,990 was returned to the county as its share of state award money due on a basis of a $6,000,000 apportionment.

A Warm Friend dance will be given Thursday night after the basketball game in the armory.

Merrick Hanchett has left for Niles where he will attend the funeral Wednesday of his brother-in-law, Lee Hunter.

WELL KNOWN PASTOR GOES TO THE EAST

Rev. R. A. Eusdin, until recently pastor of the Plymouth church at Lawrence, Kans., which charge he left to accept a call to the Eliot church at Newton, Mass., is spending a few weeks with Mrs. Eusdin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dykstra of this city. Mr. Eusdin and family expect to leave for the east the early part of February.

The Eusdins have lived in Lawrence, Kansas, for the past five years and have made many friends there. He was ordained Sept. 15, 1920, and became pastor of Plymouth church at Lawrence, the same year. His five years of ministry have been notable in both spiritual and material ways. He has held many important offices in the Kansas State Congregational Conference, has represented the Congregational churches of Kansas on the Commission on Missions of the National Council and was on the executive committee of the State Council of Religious Education. In Lawrence he was the president of the Ministerial Alliance, which is composed of thirty churches. (Continued on Page Four)

Mr. Eusdin was born in Marne, Ia., of English and Scotch parentage. He attended Tabor college academy, Tabor, Ia., and graduated as valedictorian of his class. After a four years' course in Tabor college he went to Grinnell college for a year, where he received the degree of A. B. He never fails to appear at meetings of the civic clubs for a speech when he is here, and consequently he is well known in this city.

The Eliot church that will be in Mr. Eusdin's charge within a few weeks is one of the Congregational churches in New England. The church has been without a pastor since the death of Rev. A. B. Arnold, who passed away on April 24, 1925.

A recent disclosure in the agricultural appropriation bill, now in the House at Washington, showed that the weather bureau contemplated the reduction of the station at Grand Haven from its present standing to a mere storm warning station. The purpose is claimed as being from a standpoint of economy and a number of other stations will be abandoned throughout the country.

Grand Haven, however, will make a fight to retain its weather bureau meteorological station, the chamber of commerce under Secretary C. E. Gross having immediately wired to Congressman Maffes regarding the matter as soon as it was made known Monday morning. Information was sought by the Grand Haven chamber of commerce before any other action is taken but Secretary Gross indicated that any attempts to remove the weather office would be vigorously opposed.

The Grand Haven weather bureau office is one of the oldest in the service, having been founded in 1871 when the weather bureau was in its infancy. It was a very important station then due to the immense amount of shipping using that port.

In 1903 on July first, the weather bureau office there was closed up and remained so until August 1, 1905, when it was reopened after pressure had been brought to bear by the shipping interests there who were very much interested in seeing the station continue. During the years that the station was closed, however, a storm warning was kept on five mile hill and the signals were posted. The storm warning station would be kept there still under the new plan.

The annual meeting of the Saugatuck Fruit Exchange was held at the Saugatuck village hall recently.

A report of the past season's business was read by Secretary J. W. Prentice which showed that the exchange had enjoyed a very satisfactory year, 136 carloads of fruit having been packed and sold. This, with the merchandise handled, made the total of sales $109,000.

The report also showed that the Exchange had handled eighty-four different varieties of apples. A discussion of this fact was taken up with the idea of inducing the growers to eliminate as many of the undesirable varieties as possible, and it was generally agreed among those present that this was perhaps twice as many varieties as should be grown in that section, and that each grower should center his efforts on standard varieties and eliminate as many undesirable varieties as possible.

F. F. Atwood and Victor Egelkraut were re-elected as directors.

Can Enroll In Industrial Classes In Michigan Schools

The department of industrial education of Michigan, a part of the state Department of Public Instruction, last year enrolled in all industrial schools and classes 24,000 persons. In this state 42 per cent of the working population is engaged in industrial employment. These schools receive state and Federal money, and each year are inspected and approved. It is the plan by which the student receives education while engaged in daily employment, and enrolls many girls and boys, as well as thousands of adults.

HATCHERIES READY FOR THE SPRING TRADE

Hatchery men throughout Michigan were busy this week getting their incubators in shape for the 1926 hatching season. The first eggs will go into the incubators Feb. 1. A number of hatcheries have contracted to make their first deliveries around Feb. 22.

The early chicks command premium prices as they go largely to the broiler producers and to farmers who are anxious to have a good pullet crop for fall egg production. The hatchability of February eggs is often very low, but hatchery men are supplying their flocks with much green feed in the form of sprouted oats and fresh vegetables.

Edward C. Smith, well known garage man of Grand Haven, has made that city a gift of a much needed ambulance. Mr. Smith recently offered the city a fine Dodge machine, which could be readily converted into an excellent ambulance, and his offer was readily accepted. Up to this time the city has had no such conveyance and the need for it has been felt a number of times.

The machine has been taken to the Second ward engine house where Chief of Police Pippel at once began the work of converting it into a suitable ambulance of modern type. Chief Pippel recently showed his skill in this line by converting the old fire truck into a very modern and fine appearance piece of motor fire equipment. The new ambulance will be ready for service within a short time it is expected.

Up to the present time emergency cases have been handled by private vehicles, which have been called into service to carry persons injured and ill to Hatton hospital. For longer transportation it has been necessary to call in an ambulance from Muskegon or Grand Rapids. Outside ambulances or suitable private vehicles are not always available when needed and this situation has sometimes been rather embarrassing, and discomforting for persons interested.

Mayor Kammeraad has received a complaint from a Grand Rapids citizen about the unguarded, open places on Black lake. Mr. Kammeraad took the matter up with the police department, but since it is out of the jurisdiction of the city police, the matter has been referred to the sheriff's department. But the mayor decided to bring the letter to the attention of the public as it may serve as a warning and thus prevent accidents. It was written by John Merryweather, the manager of the Grand Rapids electric piano Co., and reads as follows:

"I have a little matter which I would like to bring to your attention, which I think is of vital importance, which is existing on Black lake opposite Jensen Park, where they have all the fishing shacks and the boat house. I had occasion to go down to Holland yesterday to see a man on business. He happened to be in one of the fishing shacks, and the only way I could get over to the place was to go over on the ice. On the lake were pieces of ice from three inches to 10 inches square. Across these pieces of ice they had planks so the people could walk across to get to the fishing shacks. Between these cakes of ice it was not frozen, but very dangerous for crossing."

"I was quite anxious to get this business attended to so I crossed on the ice to get to the fishing shack. As I was crossing I came very near going into the channel. When anything like this exists it ought to be brought to the attention of somebody. Some of these day you will be fishing someone out of the channel in the near future. I thought this ought to be brought to attention, and that is the reason I am writing you this letter. If this is received with your approval, all right, if not, let it pass."

The teachers and officers of the Trinity Reformed church Sunday school and members of the Normal class held their first annual banquet Friday evening in the basement of the church. A delicious banquet was served and 65 persons took part in the gathering.

Steketee; introduction of toastmaster, Prof. G. Van Zyl, by Mr. D. Damsstra, superintendent of the Sunday school. Miss Bertha Michmer-Trinity quartet; five minute talks by Wm. Westervelt, superintendent of the Trinity Reformed church Sunday school, Miss Bertha Michmer-shulzen, and H. De Neut; violin solo, Harriet Henevelt; closing prayer, Rev. C. P. Dame.

"Is America Fulfilling Her Mission?" was the subject of an address by Rev. J. E. Kuizenga at the regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union on Friday. The speaker thought this a fitting subject for debate, with good points on either side but himself favoring the positive side, at least an indirect influence. Revolutionary times there was no thought of benefit to others, but to take care of themselves, to form a strong free people. In the constitution they placed the foundation for equality of all men, capacity and duty of self-government, obligation to support all constitutional processes of the government, obedience to the courts, protection of the weak and high and lofty ideals. In these principles America has made good, has largely met the ideal for a wonderful government for the development of common man. We are a religious nation, have the best public school system, are almoners of the world and have shown in the Spanish and World Wars our altruistic spirit. The speaker thinks the time is here to exert a more direct influence by entering the world court as all petition. He urged all to work for law enforcement and for the high ideals of a Christian nation.

Mrs. P. H. Hinkamp presented items of recent interest in world news in a clear and convincing way. Mrs. G. Tyase led devotions and Miss Geraldine Walwood played two piano numbers. The next meeting will be on Lincoln day.

Mrs. R. J. TenHave, Peter Slagh, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slagh were in Byron Center Thursday to attend the funeral of their nephew, Peter Goudswaard, aged 31, who died in Detroit as a result of being overcome by gas in the bath room of his boarding house.

The young man, who was a motorman on the street railway in Detroit, went home at midnight after his run and was taking a bath when something went wrong with the gas and he was overcome. He had served in some of the heaviest fighting in the front line trenches in France where he had been gassed and that was the reason why he was more susceptible to gas than a normal person would have been. A woman and a baby in another part of the house were also overcome but they were resuscitated. The pulmotor was used on Mr. Goudswaard for two hours but with no results.

Goudswaard was boarding in the home of his conductor. The conductor remained at the car barns for awhile after the run straightening out his accounts. When he came home no one answered to his ring and he broke open the door. He found his wife and baby in a stupor and breaking into the bath room he found Goudswaard dead in the bath tub. Medical aid was immediately summoned.

Mr. Goudswaard, who has frequently visited in Holland and was well known here, is survived by his parents, six sisters, and three brothers.

Joe Pieters of Fillmore, who was operated on for appendicitis at Holland hospital last Tuesday, is improving very satisfactorily.

William Wagenaar, manager of the Arctic Ice Cream Co., in Detroit to attend an important business meeting to be held for a few days.

Hiram Klomparsen, a prominent citizen of Fillmore, died Friday afternoon in his home at the advanced age of nearly 83. He was a pioneer of 1847. At that time only a boy of ten, he lived through and could tell of many of the struggles and hopes and conquests of early colonial life. Two brothers survive him: Henry J. and John H. both of Hamilton.

Mr. Klomparsen was a man of sterling Christian character. To meet him was to love him. He served the Reformed church of Overisel as elder for a long period of years and always took an active part in Sunday School and church activities, until declining years made this impossible. He was beloved by all in the community.

Besides the two brothers, he leaves a daughter-in-law, Mrs. P. Thman, grandchildren and several great grandchildren. The grandchildren are: George, of Fillmore; Marion of Rochester, N. Y.; Rev. Francis P. of Mohawk, N. Y.; and their two sisters, Hermine and Alice, still at home in Holland.

DIRECT RUN STOPPED BY BOAT LINE

Principally due to the severe ice conditions in the southern end of Lake Michigan from Holland south, the Goodrich Line has found it necessary to discontinue direct service into Holland for the next four or five weeks. Last Saturday morning the Steamer "Illinois" found it impossible to get to St. Joe's pier on account of miles of heavy ice, so it came to Holland where the breakwaters and piers were so full of ice which was packed to the bottom that it prevented the boat from getting thru while the wind was off the lake, which kept a pressure on the ice field.

After Saturday night's blow the wind went north which while not off land still took much of the pressure off, thus freeing the "Illinois" and enabling her to get in and up to the Holland dock at 6 a. m. Every trip has meant a heavy loss since the holidays but the company has been very game and hung on, expecting that all conditions would improve, and make it possible to continue all winter. With a view of making this winter navigation into Holland a success, the best steamer on the Chicago-Milwaukee run was put on the Holland run, the steamer "Illinois," one of the best ice breakers on the lakes. It is necessary to make Benton Harbor and Holland together which ran is covered by all steamboat men as the hardest on Lake Michigan.

As this is only a temporary arrangement the Goodrich Co. desires to keep Holland open, and will for the time being handle freight to and from Holland via Grand Haven steamer, so that the service will remain just as good as before and at the same rates.

A large fleet of trucks will keep freight moving without any delay. It was tried out last year and worked very successfully. The boat days, however, will be Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Instead of Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Freight will be cleaned up every day and it is expected that all shippers will take advantage of this arrangement. At Grand Haven and Muskegon steamers have had no trouble this winter, due to the fact that the shore line runs out further, and does not form a pocket, as is the case between Holland and St. Joseph.

Christian Intelligencer—One-half the families in the membership of Van Raalte Church, Holland, Mich., are young married people. Many of them with one or two little children. Perhaps this proportion is greater than any other church in the denomination can show. Everything about Van Raalte church is new; it was organized sixteen months ago, in the southwest of Holland, where most of the houses are less than five years old, and where more new homes are continually being built.

The pastor, Rev. Edward H. Tams, entered last June upon his first charge, and almost all the members are still in the energetic and optimistic years of life. Van Raalte is the eighth Reformed church in Holland; the fifteen families of its organization have grown to forty, and the average attendance at the services is 125. In such a community the number of unmarried young people is small in proportion; practically all the boys and girls of suitable age have been received into church membership.

An amendment to the state tax laws to compel township treasurers to pay collected taxes to county treasurers promptly was recommended to the state assembly last June upon the report of a committee headed by O. B. Fuller, and approved by Lansing Tuesday.

Gov. Greenleaf indicated he would favor a change to prohibit township treasurers from delaying payment to the county treasurers in order to deposit the collections in bank and collect interest as long as possible.

According to Mr. Fuller, 352 township treasurers have made no report. Some of them assume the attitude that the state should not insist on prompt payment "because the state seems to be in no hurry about getting the counties money due them."

The Perry Male Quartet of Perryburg, Mo., consisting of 14 men under the direction of J. Vanderplas, will sing at the Sixth Reformed church next Sunday evening. These men were prevented from filling their engagement a few weeks ago on account of the severe snow storm but it is hoped they will be able to come next Sunday. The public is cordially invited.

Many Holland radio fans spoke Monday morning of hearing Rev. P. C. Cheff, former pastor of Hope church, deliver his Sunday message at Omaha, Neb., from station W. O. A. H.

Mr. Cheff had selected his sermon text from Genesis 1:26, the subject being "Man's Place in God's Divine Economy."

Mr. Cheff's voice transmits well over the radio and every word could be plainly heard. In closing he extended best wishes to his many friends in Holland and Zeeland, Michigan, where he had served as pastor for so many years. The fans say the sermon was most eloquent and interesting, and the music also was a treat.

Mrs. W. M. Tappan returned Saturday night from Rochester, Minn., where she went to visit her $4,000, or approximately $18,000 more than in 1924.

The report was issued Tuesday by Capt. Elmer J. Bandgren, clerk of the department, and showed that the city suffered no big fires during 1925.

Teachers' Assembly To Be Held March 29, 30

Special rates on all railroads in both peninsulas for the 400 delegates who will go to Detroit on March 29 and 30 for the annual Representative Assembly of the Michigan State Teachers' association have been obtained through the association office, according to R. T. Cameron, Executive Secretary. The rate will be one and one-half fares for the round trip, tickets to be on sale beginning March 26 and good when valid for return from Detroit not later than April 5. The same rates will apply for the Department of Superintendents and School Board members, which also holds its annual meeting in Detroit on March 30 and 31.

MANY VISIT ICE BERGS AT LOCAL RESORT

Sunday was almost like a mid-summer day in the matter of automobile congestion at Macatawa park. During much of the day the road between Holland and Macatawa was crowded with autos, and at the park it was difficult to find parking space.

Large numbers of people went to the park to take a look at the lake after the worst storm of the season and to see if the "Illinois" still foot in the ice. Many also went to have a look at the icebergs that line the shore south from the pier almost as far as the eye can see. These icebergs present a very impressive sight at present. They are from 15 to 20 feet high and extend for a couple of hundred feet into the lake all along the shore.

Mrs. William Meyers, 210 North Third street, Grand Haven, passed away at her home late Friday night. She had been ill but a few hours and her death was totally unexpected. Mrs. Meyers, accompanied by her husband, went to the home of friends to make a call during the evening. While there she became ill and had to be removed to her own home. Death followed within a few hours.

The Peerless Press of South Bend, Indiana, each year prints a beautiful art calendar, giving cuts of business men in northern Indiana and Southern Michigan and short statements of the business creeds of these men, one cut and creed to each month in the calendar.

This year the month of August is being given to Gerald J. Bosch, son of former Mayor and Mrs. N. Bosch, who is represented on the calendar as secretary and treasurer of the Western Machine Tool Works.

Mr. Bosch's business slogan reads as follows: "My conception of business: Always so to business that not only shall income win the race with outgo but so that finally, when my summons shall come to join the immortals, I may feel that I have built a life."

The Young Men's Alliance is again busy putting on a number of its lecture course, which is scheduled for Friday evening of this week. This is the third number of the course.

The offering is a concert by the Greenfield Orchestra quartet, composed of a family group of musicians. The Misses Greenfield, Max Greenfield is their father and L. Greenfield is their uncle. The program to be given Friday night is promised as one of real entertainment.

With first-rank artistry the quartet presents classical and semi-classical ensemble selections, varying with popular numbers. The program will contain solo songs, piano solo duets, etc. Saxophones will be used in the instrumentation but they will not be used as jazz instruments. It will be shown that the saxophone is capable of beautiful harmonic effect.

The Shannon meeting at Hope church Thursday night will begin at 8 o'clock instead of at 7:30 as announced. Since Dr. Shannon comes here mainly to meet Hope College students it is therefore very desirable that these students be given an opportunity to attend the public meetings also.

Inasmuch as the students meet in their prayer groups from seven o'clock until eight o'clock Thursday night, the desire has been expressed that this change be made and many of the students no doubt will take advantage of the occasion and be present.

The meeting at Hope church tomorrow night is open to the public. In fact, all are cordially invited.

Last evening Dr. Shannon spoke to an audience that taxed the capacity of the First Reformed church at Zeeland, and it is said that many who endeavored to enter the church had to be turned away for lack of room.

Mr. Shannon is a forceful speaker and is heard every Sunday over the radio. Last Sunday, in making his announcements in the Chicago church, he also broadcast the fact that he was going to Holland for the week to take charge of the prayer week exercises at Hope College.

Though Muskegon's fire loss last year was heavier than that during the preceding year, it totaled only $60,000, or approximately $18,000 more than in 1924.

The report was issued Tuesday by Capt. Elmer J. Bandgren, clerk of the department, and showed that the city suffered no big fires during 1925.

MINSTRELS IN BIG SHOW FOR THE LEGION

It was with some misgivings that Mr. Dave Henley started to put on a minstrel show in Holland. He came to town just two weeks ago and succeeded in interesting the Willard G. Leenhouts Post, American Legion, in his "Minstrel Chances."

There were so many things doing in Holland in the way of plays, boxing shows, lectures that Mr. Henley was nearly discouraged in getting the talent together.

Ten days ago, after the hardest kind of work, he completed his cast and it must be said that as a packer of talent and whipping that talent into line Mr. Henley has few equals, judging from the show given last night. From beginning to end, from circle to circle, it was a real minstrel show, and one that has not been surpassed by any former production of that character in this city.

"Minstrel Chances" is a real minstrel cocktail and has a musical swing to keep one's feet going from a quarter after eight until ten-thirty.

Clarence Lokker, as the interloper is always there with the ready wit and since he has been in amateur theatricals often, no one better could have been selected for that place.

The five shills, Chuck Van Lent, Bill Schumacher, Ben Rutter, Dots Slag and Heine Kastan, dressed in richly in Spanish costumes with Bobo, fitted well in the picture, contrasting decidedly with the end men, Hap Bronkhorst, Russ Rutgers, Bung Miller, Roy Young, Peene Dalley, and Orris Gies who were of the "Honky Tonk" type.

Others in the circle dressed in Spanish style were Ben Laven, Morris Huyser, William Schumacher, Heine Kastan, Chester Van Loon, Ben Rutgers, Chuck Van Lent, Butts Slag, Arthur Smith, Stewart Van Loon.

Space forbids giving individual credit for the work of the men in the circle, but their numbers brot applause to the audience.

Arthur Smith, with his tenor solo, "A Cottage in Spain," made a reputation as a tenor soloist. While a professional artist had nothing on him Miller as a clog dancer and performer of the Charleston, which was surely a surprise to the audience.

Miss Margaret Beach and her songfully dressed chorus of contraltos, showed trained chorus work and their dance numbers, intermingled with song, brought them back repeatedly after prolonged applause from the audience.

Clyde Geerlings and Rutherford Ruzema put on a monologue and song that kept the audience in good humor for at least fifteen minutes. They were repeatedly called back for added numbers with which they were generous.

Minister Henley also came in for some stage work in the second act, where he was assisted by a duet by Miss Laverne Essenberg, when the two gave very creditable "A Banquet For Two." They were assisted in the duet and dance that followed by the following young ladies: Mary Elizabeth Beery, Margaret Van Loon, Mildred Essenberg, Margaret Beach, Dorothy Haan, Marie Kles, Margaret Roter, Vera Muller, Janet Van Spiker, Ruth Koppel, Alyda Spiker, Lila Hietje.

The show wound up with a north pole chance that included Sherlock Holmes detective, a couple of desperados, a wise con, a beautiful young lady, an Eskimo and several other interesting characters. It had to do with the kidnapping of a beautiful young lady. In the person of Jack Knoll and the kidnapper demanded a reward that was to be hidden behind the north pole, which was plainly in sight and would appear not a difficult thing to discover.

Anyway, there seemed to be a hopeless snafu, with the detective hiring the kidnapper to catch the kidnapper and kill him on sight. In order to do that the kidnapper was compelled to catch himself and commit suicide to complete the job.

Anyway, it was a most laughable stunt in which Chester Van Tonzern as "Lyle Lyle" did very creditable work, Margaret Essenberg as "Dot Wilson" was a most vivacious girl and Peene Dalley as the detective was a scream.

The man who really made the hit of the evening as a real actor was Jack Peterson, a negro amateur in black face work; and the many ridiculous positions he found himself in every few seconds simply kept the audience rocking with laughter. Peterson is a "real card." Bill Schumacher, the villain, in the north pole plot, came to grief in the play as villains always do.

Musical numbers ran all through the play, coming in at fitting intervals, and the two choruses in this work were the Eskimo maids, comprising the following: Mary Elizabeth Beery, Margaret Van Loon, Mildred Essenberg, Margaret Beach, Dorothy Haan, Marie Kles, Margaret Roter, Vera Muller, Jane Spiker, Ruth Smeenge, Helen Johnson, Lois Keppel, Alyda Spiker, Lila Hietje. Also the Detectives chorus composed of the following: Misses Mildred Essenberg, Helen Shaw, Helen Raffan, Helen Hayden, Crystal Van Anrooy, Lucille Verschuer, Elma Stephan, Virginia Kooiker.

Pupils Give A Farewell Dinner For Miss McVea

Tuesday night the 6-2 class of the Lincoln school entertained the teachers with a farewell dinner in honor of Miss McVea. The table decorations were orange and blue, the colors of the school, and the centerpiece, a parting gift of the pupils, was a beautiful basket of forget-me-nots. A delicious meal was served, followed by a program and games. Everyone present had a most enjoyable time.

CENTRAL PARK PASTOR GIVEN A SURPRISE

Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Van Dyk of the Central Park church were completely surprised Tuesday evening when the members of the consistory and their wives appeared suddenly at the parsonage, door just as the minister was about to leave the house to make some pastoral calls. These were postponed for the being and a most enjoyable time was spent in the rooms of the parsonage which had recently been very beautifully decorated throughout. At the proper moment Mr. Klaas Koster, the senior member of consistory, addressed the "dominie" in very fitting words and presented him with a handsome sum of money in gold as a token of appreciation and esteem. The ladies also had presented Mrs. Van Dyk with a beautiful comforter. The delighted minister and his wife responded in a spirit of deep gratitude and urged the continuation of the splendid spirit of co-operation and goodwill which has been so characteristic of the work at Central Park church.

Charles Cunningham, who stood trial in circuit court at Grand Haven Tuesday on the charge of selling liquor to some boys at a basket ball game, was found guilty Tuesday evening at about seven o'clock, a jury after it had been deliberating on the case for nearly half an hour.

The trial took all afternoon and a number of witnesses were examined. The arrest was made on Jan. 15 by Deputy Sheriff Egbert Beckman. The case went to the jury at about 6:30. Cunningham will appear for sentence on Friday of this week.

On Thursday evening at 7:45 the Holland Christian high debating team will debate versus the Chicago Chicago team in the local gymnasium. Chicago's negative will meet Holland's affirmative here while Holland's negative team is traveling to Chicago to meet their affirmative team there.

The question for debate is: "Resolved, that the Monroe doctrine be discontinued as part of America's foreign diplomacy." This question has a direct bearing on the World Court problem as it is now being debated on the floor of congress. It is a question of immediate importance because of the growing resentment on the part of South America republics toward this doctrine established since 1823.

The members of the local debating teams are: Affirmative: Wm. Frankema, John Veltkamp, Elizabeth Van Vliet; Negative: Cornelius Plantinga, Leo Peters, Glin Fyneveer.

The judges are Prof. Irwin Lubbers of Hope college, Mr. J. J. Riemersma of the public high school, and Mr. J. H. Den Herder, local attorney. Mr. James Hietbrink will officiate as chairman.

The team leaves for Chicago on the Greyhound bus at 10:30 Thursday morning in company with the basketball team. The basketball team plays against Chicago for the Selles cup on Friday evening. The boys, in company with Mr. Muskegon and Mr. De Graaf, will spend Friday and Saturday night in Chicago, returning on the Greyhound Saturday afternoon.

Counties of the state will receive 23 2-10ths per cent of the total amount to be proportioned of the state reward money to be paid this year, it was announced.

The total amount due on state reward roads in counties amounts to $8,445,743; the amount to be distributed includes county rewards on roads already completed under state approval. Payment will be made soon. The total amount to be paid Ottawa county amounts to $12,102.23.

A third candidate for city treasurer entered the list today when the petitions were put into circulation for Fred L. Woodruff. The petitions were being liberally signed. Woodruff's friends and many more signatures will be obtained than necessary to qualify for a place on the spring primary ballot.

Mr. Woodruff has a considerable following in the factories. During the past few years he has been the victim of considerable bad luck in health and several operations were necessary both at Mayo Brothers, Rochester, Minn., and at other places. Mr. Woodruff has been unable to work for three and a half years and he is forced to use crutches.

There are now three candidates in the race, Nick Spritsma, John Karreman and Mr. Woodruff.

The Muskegon Knickerbocker society will consider the question of taking over the sponsorship of the Muskegon-Holland Home for the Aged, a society, an old organization and a branch of the society of the same name in New York, was recently revived, having been inactive since the war.

The matter of sponsoring the home was brought up at a meeting Monday night, but was tabled, pending the election of a number of additional members to fill the roster. Candidates for membership will meet with the old members Feb. 10. The society is made up of persons able to prove Dutch ancestry.

H. O. ASKS THE HELP OF THE PUBLIC

Health Officer D. G. Cook called attention to the fact that there are quite a few cases of German measles in Holland and he asked for the co-operation of the public in controlling the situation. The danger of this disease lies not in the disease itself but in the fact that sometimes a case of scarlet fever will look very much like a case of German measles and cannot be distinguished from it except by a physician.

As a result it happens sometimes during an epidemic of German measles that a case of scarlet fever that develops remains undetected until it is far advanced. While there is no adequate cure on measles because people regard it lightly and usually do not call a doctor, the health officer stipulated today that every child who has suffered from German measles must report to the health officer and secure from him a permit before being allowed to go back to school

SAYS U. S. IS CONCERNED IN THE NEAR EAST

Speaking straight from the shoulder to a very large audience gathered in 3rd Reformed church Tuesday night, Rev. J. Van Ess, D. D., prominent missionary of the Reformed church in Arabia, declared that "God is bringing about the consummation of the Kingdom of His Son" in the Near East.

Dr. Van Ess, who speaks from a most intimate knowledge of the internal functioning of the controlling councils of Near East politics, stressed strongly that the religion of Jesus Christ and the dynamic going with such a personal faith is the only factor which ever will bring to the Near East a satisfactory solution of its intricate problems. The speaker's subject for the evening was "The Kingdom of God in Near East Politics."

We are vitally concerned for the Near East, the speaker maintained. Our boys fought in a war that originated in Near East problems. Our Christian religion is cradled in the Near East. Our salvation was wrought out there. In bringing about this consummation of the Kingdom of Christ the Christian missionary comes upon three very potent factors working in the Near East. These three forces are already upon the field working very largely hand in hand with crooked politics and personal ambitions. The forces are nationalism, caliphate agitation, and bolshevism. As to nationalism, the speaker clearly outlined the development in Syria, Turkey, Persia and other countries along the lines of social reform and political leagues. "The only possible solution to Syrian conditions is the religion of Christ," speaking of the British mandate over Turkey, Dr. Van Ess declared that "it has been carried out sincerely and with honesty of purpose, for the good of those who are mandated."

"We have in Turkey," continued the speaker, "the spectacle of a great important militant nation trembling in the balance. Perhaps she will go back into nothing, perhaps she will be won for Christ."

Persia is politically and economically independent and is feeling after the dynamic of Jesus Christ. The speaker brot out that God is working within the very walls of Islam itself to bring about its own destruction. "We as a nation are nationally closing our door to other nations by refusing so long to enter the World Court," declared the missionary.

At the meeting Tuesday night Dr. J. E. Kutzenga, president of the seminary, presided and devotions were conducted by Rev. Jas. M. Martin, pastor of Third church.

The William G. Beenhouts Unit, No. 6 American Legion Auxiliary, was hostess Wednesday to delegates from all units in the Fifth district. A luncheon was served at 12 o'clock in the new Armory to seventy-eight women, including members of the Holland unit. The regular meeting was called to order in the Legion Auxiliary room at 2 o'clock, Mrs. George Peckman presiding and conducting installation of district officers. The officers for 1925 who were installed are: president, Mrs. Pearl Phillips of Coopersville; vice president, Miss Martha Karsten of Zeeland; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Marie Loomes of Grand Rapids; chaplain, Mrs. G. J. Van Duren of Holland.

The Zeeland post of the Legion is making plans for the celebration of their fifth annual Lincoln day banquet. The affair this year promises to eclipse anything of its kind ever attempted in Zeeland. The post has been fortunate in securing a speaker of national fame, known in both this country and in Europe. This distinguished personage is the Dutch ambassador to the United States, Jonkheer A. De Graff. Adjutant Geo. Meengs this week received a letter from the Dutch minister assuring the Zeeland post of his presence in Zeeland on Feb. 11 to speak to the banquet. The banquet will most likely be held in the high school auditorium and indications already point to a crowded hall. The Exchange club has heartily endorsed the event and at their last meeting all promised to attend.

John H. Vandervon of Holland is the head of a family with an unusual record.

There are 12 children, six sons and six daughters. The births have alternated in such manner that the children were divided equally as to sex at four, six, eight, ten and twelve.

The family records show no twins and no deaths. All the children are at home. Some attend school and college and others who have completed their courses are teaching school.

At a congregational meeting of the Van Radt avenue Reformed church, of which Rev. Edward H. Taulis is the pastor, the consistory was enlarged from six to eight. Herman Mool was promoted from deacon to elder, and two new deacons were elected, Bert Ter Haar and Gerrit Bax.

The Ladies Aid society presented the church with $50 to be applied on the price of the lot purchased by the congregation. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boeve left Tuesday night for Akron, Ohio, where Mr. Boeve will represent the Holland Furnace Co. They are making the trip by auto.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kammerand, 130 W. 18th Street, a boy, Kenneth Jay.

TO MAKE FOR BUSINESS ANOTHER TRY

Two visitors were in this city Friday representing the Michigan Railway company. One was L. E. Hollar, division superintendent, and the other was Paul E. Ward, district freight and passenger agent. The men stated that the Holland Interurban was going to make one more try for Holland business to see if it could not establish those fine business relations that have existed so long and before the trucks came.

Nearly a year ago superintendent Collins made arrangements with all the draymen of Holland and Zeeland to establish a free delivery service of all interurban shipped goods. Mr. Collins at that time spoke before the merchants' association, when he told of the tremendous amount of taxes the interurban paid into the coffers of the Holland treasury, how the Holland Interurban not only paid taxes but paid for street paving thru the city, and how at least 60 Holland Interurban employees lived in and in the vicinity of Holland and spent their money here. He added that the car barns and work shops west of Holland are an added Holland industry, depending upon interurban service, and Holland should remember that a discontinued service which might be a forced put, would mean a loss of all that to the city.

The merchants at that time felt that the interurban surely was entitled to this patronage, as they told Mr. Collins at the meeting. The free delivery system was put on for a time, merchants will remember, but freight business of Holland Interurban, as far as Holland freight is concerned, cannot be called rushing.

Mr. Paul E. Ward has been working in the city for the last ten days and has been getting some results, but Friday Mr. Hollar and Mr. Ward announced that there will be no further improvement in the freight service. In order to ascertain whether Holland wants to stick with the interurban, as they put it.

They state a freight car will leave Grand Rapids 12 o'clock noon, will arrive in this city at 1:30 P. M., and that the draymen of Holland will have the freight at the doors of the stores not later than 2 o'clock of that afternoon. This new system went into effect Friday and the two men appeared to be well satisfied with the results for the day.

They state that this train will bring Detroit freight to Holland one day earlier than before, and merchants get considerable freight from that city. There will also be an addition in the passenger schedule. There has been a gap in this service in the morning, between the passenger trains going at 7:45 and 9:50; there has been too long a wait, and beginning Monday there will be an 8:45 leaving Holland for Grand Rapids. Out of Grand Rapids in the morning there will be a 9:05 A. M. arriving at Holland 11:20. This new arrangement practically means hourly service from 5 o'clock in the morning until 10:10 at night, much the same as in the days of Jack Busby and Charles Floyd.

Mr. Hollar also states that the Sunday half fare for round trip will continue as heretofore, Holland passengers being able to spend their Sundays in Grand Rapids returning the same day at the price of 85 cents. These cheap Sunday rates have been very popular and interurban cars are well patronized on that day, and the well filled seats for the week days when automobiles and motor busses were not so plentiful.

The Holland Interurban men stated that the company was going to make one more try to give the citizens of Holland the best they had and they hoped that their efforts would be crowned with success for they felt they were entitled to liberal patronage from Holland.

Word has been received in Fennville of the death of John F. Norris, 87, in Palm Beach, Fla. Mr. Norris was the last of the 15 members of the original Elks lodge and has been in the Providence, R. I., lodge for many years. He had lived near Fennville for the past 10 years, owning a small farm east of town.

For 40 years he was on the stage with Mrs. Norris. For some time he played in a troupe of which the parents of George M. Cohen were members.

Charles West, Harry Mc Clure and James Carew, the trio of 17-year-old boys who were taken by Grand Rapids police for Grand Haven officers on a charge of stealing Dr. Mieras' automobile, were arraigned before Justice Lillie on Thursday and bound over to circuit court. Ball was not fixed and the cases will undoubtedly be tried in the present term.

West and McClure are Muskegon lads and are on probation for car theft at the present time. It is Carew's first offense and his father, an aged gray-haired man, visited the boy in his cell at the county jail Thursday night. The boy's mother is a school teacher and the family is known as hard working and respectable altho the youth came into company with the other boys and got himself into the scrape. The father, with tears streaming down his cheeks, pleaded with his son to "go straight" if he got out of the present difficulty and it is said that there will be an effort made to put young Carew on probation.

Myron Slentz of Clyde township, Allegan Co., arrested for trapping mink out of season, was arraigned before Justice Pildus E. Fish Thursday, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and cost of $7.88.

Slentz, a bachelor of about 45, told the justice he was short of funds, did not have much to do until spring and would pass the time in jail.

"Give him hard work to do," the court instructed Deputy Sheriff Phillips.

R. N. DE MERELL PASSES AWAY IN THE WEST

A telegram was received Thursday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Archie Johnson, 39 E. 9th Street, announcing the death of their uncle, R. N. De Merell, Wednesday at San Diego, California. The news of the death of the former prominent local business man came as a shock to a large circle of friends here who were under the impression that the balmy climate of California would help him to return to Holland next spring much improved in health and strength.

Death was due to a general breakdown in health which induced heart failure. Mr. De Merell has been failing in health for a year or two. Last fall, on the advice of his physician, he and Mrs. De Merell went to California to escape the rigors of the Michigan climate. No details about the death of Mr. De Merell have been received and nothing is known as yet about the funeral. Presumably the body will be brought to Holland for burial.

Mr. De Merell, who was 73 years old, was born in Canada. He came to this country many years ago, becoming a resident of Holland soon after the big fire in 1871. He conducted a marble shop on Eighth street for many years and later conducted a similar shop on West 7th street. He was closely affiliated with the business and social life of Holland during all the time he lived here and he had a host of friends. He retired from business about ten years ago.

Mr. De Merell is survived by his wife, two brothers, Sidney De Merrell and N. De Merrell of Lansing, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Neesnich of Kalamazoo.

Thursday night more than 200 members of Hope church gathered in the parlors of the church to attend the annual meeting. Treasurer G. Van Schelven had a complete financial report which he read to the members present. His report shows that the total receipts for the year 1925 amounted to $38,965.96. To this should be added amounts raised by the Women's Aid society amounting to $3,034.19, also the amount raised by the Women's Missionary society totaling $2,948.39, making a total sum of nearly $44,000.

Included in this total are individual gifts to Hope college, Western Theological seminary, as well as gifts to the Near East Relief fund, the latter amounting to $983.96. After Mr. Van Schelven had read his report, the secretaries of the different church organizations gave verbal reports as to the conditions of these societies. Hon. G. J. Diekeema was called upon for a short talk, while Mrs. Arthur Visscher very pleasantly sang a group of songs and was accompanied by Mrs. Martha Robbins.

The guests of the evening were 58 new members who joined two Sundays ago, and added materially to the growth of the church. It was pointed out that further evidence of the growth of Hope church was the fact that twelve little children were baptized last Sunday.

Dr. Davidson, the pastor, was in charge of the meeting, and as usual was in good humor, displaying a great deal of Irish wit from time to time.

The members of the Woman's Literary club were very fortunate in having Rev. Mr. R. A. Eusden review for them Tuesday, "My Religion." This brilliant and stimulating book, which came from the English press a few weeks ago, consists of contributions made by outstanding present-day novelists on their own religious convictions.

"There is a vast difference between religion and theology," stated Mr. Eusden. "Although most of these writers have interpreted religion as theology. 'Religion is life lived under Christ's control, while theology is the science of the existence and character of God.'"

The ten novelists who contributed to this book are Arnold Bennett, Hugh Walpole, Rebecca West, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Compton Mackenzie, J. D. Beresford, Israel Zangwill, and others.

When thinking for himself overthrew all of his beliefs, and after many wanderings, he formulated a religion of his own. While this group who contributed to "My Religion" is not in any sense complete, since no mention is made of Hutchinson, Wells, or Sir Philip Gibbs, yet it is interesting to know that these men are interested in religion—a religion of a certain type. They represent a decided revolt against dogmatic religion, seeking rather an expression of religion consonant with the life of today.

Mrs. L. N. Tyner and Mrs. C. Vander Meulen had charge of an exhibit of beautiful pottery.

The next meeting will be the club's birthday celebration, when donations to the Kate Garrod-Post scholarship fund will be received.

Mrs. Post stated that since the establishment of the fund in 1916, 27 girls have been able to continue their college education because of the assistance received. The work merits a most generous response.

SPORTING

The Holland Furnace five gave a wonderful exhibition, of professional basketball Thursday night before a large crowd which packed into the armory. Some of the highlights of the game were the rate the Drew tossers were stepping and the locals had no scruples whatever in downing the New York Nationals.

The visitors surely passed brilliantly and accurately enough to defeat most teams but their usual half court shots were lacking. Holland, the Nationals' center aided by Mollen a shifty forward, scored most of their points, several of their shots bordering on the phenomenal. The final score was 52-26.

The Jamestown Y players, until Thursday night, undefeated, saw their winning list shattered when the Holland Shores handed them a 29-7 set back. The Shores won but how they won is a different story, as the Farmers staged such a comeback in the final period that had the game lasted much longer the verdict might have been different.

A few surprises were in order on Saturday night at the Holland high gym when the city league basketball teams were in action. The Ottawas, last place contenders, were bound to win and they took the Stokete-Van Huis five into camp, 22-12. The printers were completely upset as they were ahead 12-10 at the half but failed to score in the second period.

The Y aggregation, with S. Huyser starring, nosed out the Warm Friends by a 9-7 score. This victory put the two teams in a tie for second place and makes the race very close.

The Shores maintained their hold on first honors by knocking off the Heinz five, the score being 32-9. The league is drawing good crowds and the class of basketball is of a high order as many high school performers are members of the different teams. The Stokete-Van Huis team which was fighting for third place, now rests in the cellar, showing how closely the teams are tunched.

Playing stunts and showing both good and bad basketball, the Holland high reserves defeated the Roanoke of Grand Rapids by a 16-6 score. Although Chapman's team was always in the lead, they slumped many times and had the visitors beat them accustomed to loss they could have made the game much closer as they were comfortably away at the mark.

Coch Buck Read's Kazoo Normal outfit proved its superiority over the Hope college five Friday night at Kazoo by trouncing the latter, 31-15. Never in danger the Normals maintained a safe lead and held the Orange and Blue tossers well in check. Capt. Abers and Kleis were the outstanding figures in Hope's play while all the Normals shared in the victory.

The Hope reserves were nosed out, playing the Jamestown Y. M. C. A. aggregation. The score 22-22 indicates just how close and hard fought the battle was. Jack Paken, Veldheer and Khasen shone brightly for Hope while Fish and Smalleagan divided the winning honors. The local reserves are way ahead in their average for the season and are a strong quintet.

Running true to form, the Hinga coached aggregation walked away from Normal high Friday night by a 28-19 margin. Read Waterman had his boys primed for battle and did not until the 3rd quarter did Holland get a comfortable lead. Nine husky lads tried to grab the victory from Holland and every tosser displayed form which speaks highly of their coaching.

Holland high plays Union high of Grand Rapids next week, Friday night on the local court. Lineup and summary: Holland Kazoo

NUSS WINS OVER DARCY

It is estimated that more than 1200 fight fans crowded the new arena Monday night to witness the boxing card ever put on in this city by any organization. The athletic contest was given jointly under the auspices of the Willard G. Leenhouts post, American Legion, and the national guards of Holland, and judging from the comments heard on every side the entire program was up to anything put on at Grand Rapids, where nothing but the best as a rule comes.

Captain Henrie Geerds opened the show by stating the reasons for the contest and the worthy purposes to which the money derived will be put, needy soldiers and their families being not the least of these.

His introduction of Emerson Dickerson brought an ovation for Dick, sport-writer of the Grand Rapids Herald, who always has been popular in this city. Mr. Geerds also announced the events as they were pulled off, the first being two local boys, namely Martin Siegers and young Kraai.

The two young Holland chaps were enthusiastically received by the Holland fans, and a fourth round followed, with young Kraai coming out a shade the best in the entire go. The first round was easily Kraai's, and so was the second. Siegers came back strong in the third, however, and landed frequently. It might be said that this was the one and only round where Siegers excelled Kraai. In the fourth and last round Siegers missed several opportunities to do damage, and when the gong sounded both men appeared very much fagged.

The next event was between Freddie Beal of Grand Rapids and young Berlenbach of Detroit. It was Beal's game fighting against a heavier man and his modest appearance in the ring that took with the crowd. The first round was uneventful, there was much lightning, and Berlenbach had a shade the best in the first round. The second round was easily Beal's, he landed three strong punches. The third round, was rather an exciting event, with Beal starting in well, but in the middle of the round Beal ran into a left of jaw which felled him to the count of seven. Both men were fighting strong when the bell rang. The round could be credited to Berlenbach.

In the fourth round Beal came back strong with a score of rapid blows, dealt in trip-hammer style. It was easily Beal's round, which delighted the audience. Round 5, Beal did not fare so well when he was knocked down twice by Berlenbach but came back each time as referee Dickerson had reached the count of seven.

Round six Beal was knocked to the ropes by Berlenbach, who came back with three upper cuts to jaw. This was easily Beal's round. In the seventh round both men came back strong, with Beal forcing the fight, and in the end of the round Berlenbach was hanging on, sparing for time.

Both men exchanged light blows but both the seventh and eighth rounds in reality were uneventful. The bout can easily be called a draw.

The next event was between Johnny Webber of Detroit and Sallor De Shone of Niles, Michigan. Much was expected in this event and the fans surely got it. Sallor De Shone is a typical pug, with cauliflower ears and is built like a prize fighter. Johnny Webber is more the "gentleman Jim" type but he was there with his "dukes" every minute. The first round started off with some scientific boxing, with Sallor doing the heavy work. The first and second rounds were uneventful; the third round was easily Webber's. The fourth round Webber made much use of his left, although De Shone succeeded in closing one of Webber's eyes. This was De Shone's round.

In the fifth round there was some very fast milling in which De Shone had it over Webber who showed some shifty fighting, and with a bad eye judged distance poorly. The fifth round was a poor round with no brilliant fighting.

Before the sixth Webber's second eye and when the gong sounded both men were up in a flash, and left to jaw of Webber knocked De Shone to the floor, but the Sallor was up like a cat and at it again.

In the seventh round both men did some wonderful scientific fighting, and the honors were even. The eighth and last round was rather tame and the entire event can easily be called a draw.

The major event of the evening was between Jimmy Nuss of Newberry and Len Darcy of Detroit, in a ten round go at 166 pounds. The first round was a rather listless affair with honors even, and in the second round a Darcy blow to jaw struck Nuss to his knees, but he was up in a flash. In the third round both men fought with confidence and Darcy showed that he was a great defensive fighter. The men exchanged blows frequently, but the round was easily Nuss'. Even prize fighters are polite, it would appear for in the 4th Darcy struck low and was reprimanded by the referee and "I beg pardon," was the polite comment between blows. Nuss accepted the apology with an upper cut to jaw, staggering Darcy. This was the most savage round in the entire ten, with Darcy showing slight signs of fatigue.

In the fifth round Darcy came back strong, with a flock of taps to jaw, but Nuss soon evened up on the score. In the sixth round Darcy sent a swift upper cut to jaw, and Nuss looked surprised, blinked, shook himself and smiled. The unexpected tap woke up the Newberry man and for a minute there was a whirl of blows delivered in rapid succession.

In the seventh round Darcy showed wonderful exhibition in scientific fighting and for a time had Nuss dazed, although Darcy showed signs of slowing up. In the eighth round Nuss had a little the best of the fight, but failed to get in an uppercut blow that he had been endeavoring to land all thru the fight. Nuss' second from the side lines kept signaling to deliver, but try as he might, he could not send in the knockout. At the end of the fight Nuss landed a blow which was against the rules, but immediately apologized to Darcy and to referee Dickerson for the incident.

In the ninth round Darcy sent two to jaw and Nuss vainly tried to deliver the uppercut but failed. Both men were still confident of landing and the round ended with honors even.

The last round each man tried to put the other away, with Darcy landing two powerful blows to jaw, but Nuss with six blows to his credit made far the best showing in the last round.

It was the general opinion that Jimmy Nuss of Newberry had the best of the big event at the end of the go, but it was conceded by everyone that Darcy showed the greatest exhibition of defensive fighting ever seen here.

At the close of the program referee Dickerson thanked the audience for its co-operation and said that he was greatly surprised at the large crowd present. He said that it was a demonstration that Holland liked the manly sport conducted along the lines laid down by the Michigan sporting commission under the supervision of the state.

He commented especially upon the purchase of a lot of men, coming from all walks of life, and he predicted that the next event put on by the American Legion would bring even a larger crowd.

The new ring was used for the first time and will become a permanent fixture for future bouts.

TAXI DRIVERS TRY TO GET TOO MUCH BUSINESS

The Holland Furnace company is conducting a school of instruction for taxi drivers, the local plant and also at the Warm Friend Tavern. For the next month representatives from all over the United States will come to Holland, get their instructions and study their lesson.

The result is that every train carries large numbers of them and these are quickly transferred by taxi to Warm Friend Tavern, which is headquarters for the Furnace company family.

The taxi men have been hot on the trail of this business and every taxi cab has been filled with furnace representatives. However, to make as many trips as possible, the boys at the wheels showed very little regard for speed laws, signal lights, stopping street cars and so on.

The result was that Peter, John and Sam Koley, of the White taxi cab company, and Wilbur Horn, driving a yellow cab were arrested for speeding by officer O'Connor. They were arraigned before Justice J. Den Herder, who fined each $5.75 and promised that they would use a little more judgment in the future in getting fares from the depot.

COMMON COUNCIL

Holland, Mich., Jan. 20, 1926.

The Common Council met in regular session and was called to order by the Mayor. Present: Mayor Kammeraad, Alds. Slah, Kleb, Drinkwater, Brive, Lepple, Hyma, Dickinson, Van Zanten, Dykstra, Visser and Vander Hil, and the Clerk. Devotions were led by Rev. C. P. Dame. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Petitions and Accounts.

Holland Gas Co. submitted their operating report for the month of December, 1925. Filed.

Model Drug Co. petitioned for permission to connect the gas drain of their store with the storm sewer on River Ave. Referred to the Committee on Sewers, Drains and Water Courses.

Clark presented communication from the Woman's Literary Club stating that at a meeting of said Club held Jan. 5, 1926, a resolution was unanimously passed endorsing the proposition for a full-time Health Officer and requesting the Council to give the matter due consideration when presented at some future meeting.

Reports of Standing Committees.

The Committee on Ways and Means to whom was referred with power to act on the matter of enacting an auditor for the audit of the City's books reported having awarded the contract for same to Jonathan B. Cook & Co., Muskegon, Mich., for the sum of $375.00.

Approved.

The Committee on Ways and Means reported as follows:

"The Committee on Ways and Means to whom was referred the communication of the Mayor relative to the use of the so-called Army lot at the southeast corner of 9th St. and Central Ave., or the purchase of another lot by the City on which it is proposed to erect a Mission building, has been confronted with an unusual situation. It realizes the importance of the work and the great amount of good accomplished by the Mission. It also recognizes the generosity of our public-spirited citizens in endeavoring to make a new building possible. It believes that every member of the Council appreciates the fact that the Committee is of the opinion that, aside from any legal objection that might obtain, it would be contrary to good public policy for a municipality to become a party to such an enterprise. The Committee therefore recommends that no action be taken on this communication."

Grand Haven Boy Scouts are making preparations for going on a trip to Holland next Monday night to attend the annual convention of the Boy Scouts of America. The convention will be held in Carnegie Gym. of Hope college and an interesting program has been prepared. One of the features will be the appearance of the Boy Scout band of Grand Rapids—Grand Haven Tribune.

Dr. Shannon who has been at Hope college all week, working with the students of that institution, taking charge of the week of prayer here, spoke Wednesday night to a fair-sized audience in the First Reformed church, and tonight he will close his work here by speaking in Hope church, the services beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. The service was kept many away from last night's meeting, but it is expected that Hope church will be well filled this evening. The public is cordially invited.

Bert Slagh will leave Sunday night for Philadelphia where he will attend a week's session of the National Painters and Decorators' convention. At the state convention held some time ago Mr. Slagh was selected as the Michigan delegate.

ICE EXILES TWO MUSKOGON TUGS

EIGHT MEN AND SMALL CRAFT AT MERCY OF PIERCE LAKE GALES

Caught in the center of a dense field of ice, two steam fishing tugs of Muskegon, each with four men aboard, shortly before midnight were at the mercy of one of the worst storms in the recent history of Lake Michigan.

It was believed on shore the boats, both about 35 feet long, and hauling from Muskegon were slowly being crushed by the grinding ice.

To lives of the tugmen are in considerable peril, according to those on shore familiar with lake navigation. The coast guard crew said the craft were too far from shore to reach with the breeches buoy gun.

The Goodrich Transportation company's steamer, Alabama, whose ice-breaking ability long since has become a tradition on the Great Lakes, sought to lend succor to the two tugs, but now she, herself is firmly imprisoned in the pack ice in midchannel, about equal distance from the lighthouse and the fog signal.

The imperiled tugs are the Helen N., owned by the Nadeau Bros. Fishing company, of Muskegon, and the Indian, owned by James Peterson, also of Muskegon. The Indian is a steel hull, the Helen N. wood.

RABBIT SKINS AND WHAT U. S. USES THEM FOR
—United States imports annually about 100,000,000 rabbit skins. About one-half find their way into the making of fur garments; the other half are used in making felt hats.

HOLLAND POULTRY ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS

WILSON IS PRESIDENT; ED BROUWER IS NAMED SECRETARY

The Holland Poultry Association held its annual meeting at the city hall and the following officers were elected: president, Wm. Wilson (re-elected); vice president, A. P. Siersma (re-elected); secretary, Edward Brouwer (rules set aside and re-elected by acclamation); treasurer, Jas. J. De Koster (rules set aside and re-elected by acclamation). Directors chosen to serve for two years are two city officials, namely, Rufus Cramer and Henry S. Bosch. Mr. Bosch was a very able director a few years ago and has again been called into service.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer shows the association to be in a very flourishing condition with a substantial reserve in the treasury. Judging from reports and the letters coming from the outside, Holland's last show must have surpassed anything seen anywhere else.

Poultry shows in other cities do not seem to fare so well, judging from reports, and in many instances have proved a financial failure.

Secretary Brouwer and his aides however seem to have the poultry show business down pat, for both the show and the financial report indicate well balanced proportions from year to year.

MILLION AUTO PLATES MADE AT JACKSON

With 1,000,000 1926 automobile licenses already manufactured Jackson prison officials believe that it will be necessary to produce many additional before the year is over. Preparations are being made for the manufacture of 1,200,000 1927 plates and with the installation of new machinery it is expected that the cost of production can be materially diminished. The 1927 plates will be orange with black lettering. The name "Michigan" will be spelled out below the license number. Commercial and passenger car plates will be the same size.

MUSKOGON WILL HAVE TO FIGHT FOR ITS HARBOR AGAIN

The Muskegon Chamber of Commerce, backing up the efforts of Cong. J. C. McLaughlin, has fought for the harbor breakwater project five years, and as the result of a letter received Wednesday by Secy. J. C. Beukema, will have to jump into the battle again. He decided today to do so.

The letter pointed out that, while Gen. Harry Taylor has recommended the expenditure of $55,000,000 for rivers and harbors work this year, the bureau of the budget is likely to cut the amount to $40,000,000 and that there are well-defined rumors in Washington that the reduction will obviate the possibility of any of the construction work being done that was provided for in the last rivers and harbors bill. Muskegon and Frankfort are in this category, both projects having been approved on March 3, 1925.

WE WISH TO THANK YOU

The Holland Poultry Association wishes to show its appreciation for the untiring efforts of the Holland merchants, the cup givers, in fact all those in this vicinity who aided materially in helping us in our 25th anniversary Poultry show, given in Holland in December.

We especially wish to thank the Holland Daily Sentinel and the Holland City News for their kindest consideration of this association.

The files for years back indicate that these publications have appreciated for a long time what poultry would mean to this district, and they have never been sparing in space to boost the industry. Their cooperation in putting over successfully the 25th anniversary show, was very commendable, we got everything in the way of publicity we asked for, and a whole lot more besides.

Sincerely,
Holland Poultry Ass'n.
Ed Brouwer, Sec'y.

DOES PIONEER HEALTH WORK IN THE WEST

Dr. Wm De Kleine, Hope college graduate and formerly for many years a prominent physician in Grand Haven, will leave the first of February to take up an interesting piece of health work in the west. Dr. De Kleine is now stationed at Mansfield, Ohio, where he has been serving the past two years as director of the child health demonstration of the American Child Health association. The work there came to a close the last of December and beginning in February Dr. De Kleine will direct a similar demonstration in Fargo, North Dakota.

There are now five health demonstrations being conducted in the United States under the auspices of the American Child Health association. One of these is the Mansfield, Ohio, project, which has officially come to a close but a permanent service by local agencies in Mansfield. Two others are in the south, one in Oregon and one in North Dakota. In addition to these there is a similar demonstration being conducted by the same organization in Austria.

The aim of these child health demonstrations is to make America safe for its childhood. It proposes to safeguard the health of children from before birth to adolescence through three main divisions of health service—medical service, nursing service, and a child health education service.

It is pioneer work and the former Ottawa county physician has been chosen as one of the pioneers to devise methods of making the program of the association effective in the lives of the children in the communities chosen for the demonstration. The main idea is to prevent the physical defects in children that are now found in the average school and to give the average child a chance to grow up strong and well as nature intended.

The five demonstration cities and counties are to serve as object lessons for the rest of the nation, the plan being to show that if child health can be effectively guarded there it can be so guarded everywhere.

Alofs, 4½ miles south of Holland, and ¼ mile south of the East Saugatuck graveyard. A long list of farm implements, poultry of all kinds, and milk utensils will be sold at public auction at that time. The farm supplies are all standard make.

Remember the auction will begin on Friday morning, February 5; the usual credits will be given and lunch will be served at noon on the day of the sale.
