Board of Public Works Proposes Charter Changes

Utility Group Seeks To Revise Chapter On BPW Operations

Holland city voters will have a chance to vote whether to keep the changes installed in the Board of Public Works by the new charter or whether to retain the board under the old charter set-up, if Common Council approves a request by the board to include the question on the April ballot.

A special council meeting has been called for Jan. 29 at 7:30 p.m. to consider several measures including rewriting of chapter 12 of the new charter.

In an accompanying letter to council signed by vice president J. H. Klompars, the board points out the successful operation of utilities during the past 57 years, and expresses the belief that most citizens didn't want to change that set-up when the charter commission was elected in 1949.

"We have prepared a charter amendment which has been based on the practices under the former charter and has incorporated the form of the new charter," the letter reads. "We earnestly petition (council) to allow this to be placed on the ballot April 2."

Included in the amendment are provisions to keep the board's name as Board of Public Works instead of Board of Public Service, and to elect rather than appoint board members.

Under state law, council must approve placing amendments on the ballot 60 days prior to the general election.

The board's letter to council says further, "We believe that most of the people in Holland are not only satisfied with the operations of their utilities but are proud of them and had no intention of changing them when the question of a charter revision was originally proposed in 1949."

"Unfortunately, the people did not have a chance to express their wishes on this separately when voting for the charter revision and we believe they should be given an opportunity to do so immediately before incurring unnecessary expense and disturbing the organization which is now so busily engaged in a major construction program."

City Clerk Clarence Greengood pointed out that the special council session was not called primarily to consider the proposed amendments. It was called to consider letting contracts for the new turbo-generator unit and surface condenser for the James De Young power plant, and possible consideration and action on the appointment of a new city treasurer.

Donnelly Elected Chairman of SSP For Coming Year

This Year's Pledges 30 Per Cent Increase Over 1949-50 Total

John F. Donnelly was elected chairman of the Single Solicitation Plan committee at a meeting Tuesday, succeeding O. W. Lowry, chairman for the past two years.

The appointment of a new vice-chairman was left open, while Burr Patterson was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding himself as secretary and Henry S. Maentz as treasurer. W. A. Butler at present is vice-chairman.

At the same meeting, outgoing chairman Lowry announced that pledges for 1950-51 exceeded those of the previous year by 30 per cent. Last year, $22,708.72 was pledged, and this year pledges totaled $29,487.80.

In a report to the committee, Lowry pointed out that 2,689 employees in Holland plants will participate in SSP this year, an increase of 38 per cent over last year. Forty-five plants are under the plan, compared with 42 last year. Average contribution this year is expected to be $11 per employee, including the management's 50 per cent share, compared with $11.80 last year.

The appointment of Mayo Hadden to act as accountant for SSP funds and keep all records was approved by the committee. Hadden will receive $360 for his year's work.

Before leaving office, Lowry urged the committee to try to sign up more plants under SSP, and to seek new members of the plan in plants already under SSP.

Lowry pointed out that there are 2,800 workers now in Holland not members of SSP. To sign up 80 per cent of these, he added, would mean $22,000 more for the plan, bringing SSP's collections near the $50,000 mark.

The committee discussed drawing up bylaws for SSP with an eye to formalizing the organization.

Allegan Farm District Gives Annual Report

Allegan, (Special)—Cover crops, pasture improvement, tree planting, and drainage were top items in soil conservation practices adopted by farmers in the East Allegan district during 1950, the members learned at their annual meeting Monday night.

Joseph V. Spreitzer, route 2, Allegan, was elected a director replacing Roy Wilcox, Hopkins. Varnum Dille, Lacota, was re-elected a director of the Allegan district with headquarters at Fennville. Monday afternoon. Both boards will meet soon to elect officers.

The annual report, prepared by Edward Brandeberry, farm planner, revealed that 202 farm plans have been prepared during the East Allegan district's five years of operation, with 347 farmers having made applications. The planners are able to complete about 40 farms a year.

The directors last year borrowed $500 personally to finance purchase of 100,000 Scotch and Norway Spruce pine seedlings for a nursery. The trees will be ready for sale to co-operators in the spring of 1952.

Some 50,000 Red Pine seedlings bought last spring by the district will be ready for distribution soon.

The emphasis on farm tree planting has resulted in 42 acres of seedling woodlots this year, and 7,927 acres have been planted in the five years. It is a project expected to grow larger as more seedlings become available.

A trend toward neighborhood conservation projects, including several farms, has greatly increased interest in the district's activities this year, Brandeberry reported. Ten such groups were organized, comprised of 81 members.

A total of 422 acres of pasture was improved during 1950 in line with recommended practices; 210 acres of over crops planted; 539 acres of farmland given drainage; 12,300 linear feet of tile drain installed, and nearly five miles of open drains built.

The district, which covers the east half of Allegan county, showed expenses of $1,407 for the year, including costs of supplies and upkeep of equipment. Sale of trees brought in $171 and rental of tree planter $30.

Fennville Firm Gets War Orders

Fennville, (Special)—Recent orders from the Defense department for canned Michigan cherries have been received during the past several weeks by the Michigan Fruit Canners company of Fennville.

Company spokesmen estimate that altogether orders for 90,000 cases of canned cherries have been received, at an estimated worth of $5 per case.

Not all of the $450,000 orders have come directly from the government, officers point out, with some of the jobs coming through jobbing houses.

The Fennville company has received orders for both No. 2 and No. 10 size cans. There are 24 No. 2 cans in a case, and six No. 10 cans in a case.

Spokesmen estimated that the company has received heavier orders for the smaller cans, estimated at 50,000 cases. The rest of the orders have been for the No. 10 cans.

Added up, the orders total about 1.5 million cans, the company said.

Car and Bicycle Involved in Wreck Near South Olive

Motorist Claims That He Didn't See Bicyclist in Time

Charles E. Rosendahl, 16, was pronounced dead on arrival at Holland hospital late Wednesday night after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle on North 120th Ave. (Waverly Road). The accident occurred directly south of South Olive Christian Reformed church, in front of the John Vander Zwaag home.

The tenth-grade Holland high school student was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion J. Rosendahl of 1741 Van Buren St., route 2, Holland.

Investigating Sheriff's officers fixed the time of the accident at 10:10 p.m.

Driver of the car was 18-year-old John Oliver Van Der Myde of route 2, Holland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Der Myde.

Van Der Myde, who was alone in his car, told officers that he was traveling about 40 miles per hour and did not see Rosendahl until he was "right on top of him." He added that he swung to the right in an effort to avoid hitting the bicyclist.

Deputies have not determined if there was a light on the bike or not.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water said the body lay 48 feet from the point of impact and the bike lay 130 feet from where it was struck.

The car knocked down three mail boxes and smashed through a fence before coming to a stop in a ditch, 190 feet from the point of impact.

Chief Deputy Clayton Forry and Jim Flint investigated. They will meet with the prosecutor, coroner, Van Der Myde and any other persons involved Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the prosecutor's office to determine if there will be an inquest.

Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers, James of Dearborn, Robert of South Shore Dr. and Hugh at home.

Foul Hampered Dutch Team Kills Halftime Deficit

A foul-hampered Hope college basketball squad came from behind in the third quarter Saturday night to stop a tough Ferris Institute five at Big Rapids 82-77.

The Dutch chalked up 34 personal fouls in the game, many of them early in the fracas, which kept the caution flag flying a long time and ultimately led to four men benched because of fouls.

And the Dutch, who trailed during most of the game, had to pull out of a first half hole to take the game. The Hope squad trailed 39-33 at the half and didn't catch the Ferris men until the score was in the fifties.

The fouling in the game caused positional shuffling for the Hope squad, Coach Russ De Vette said, so that most of the Hope team was at one time or another playing out of its usual slot.

Another factor adding to this shuffling was the two center system of play used by Ferris. De Vette said the unorthodox twin pivots caused the Hope team trouble, but by shuffling the squad lineup, the Dutch were able to force the victory.

The game was the second victory for the Hope squad this season, having beaten Ferris in previous competition at the Armory. The season's record for the Dutch now stands at two won, nine lost.

The problems Hope faced against the Ferris club in that first game at the Armory were about the same as those Saturday night. Carrington and Kimmel, the two Ferris aces, racked up 20 and 17 points respectively to lead the Ferris scoring and generally to spark the enemy's attack.

For Hope, it had to be everyone in the lineup and particularly the reserves, who were called in to play early in the game because of the heavy Hope fouling. Several non-starters on the Hope team showed well. Beerthuis and Visser were called to action and showed up well. Piersma and Bauman, also called out, gave good account of themselves in the unusual lineups and combinations of players De Vette used.

The fouling finally put Junior Bremer, Ron Bos, Ken Van Regenmorter and Fuzz Bauman on the bench for good and left the team on the floor with an average of about three fouls apiece.

The Hope squad was somewhat hampered by not being accustomed to the unusual Ferris gymnasium. The fan-shaped backboards caused certain problems to a team not used to them. Also, the floor is surrounded by a chest-high wall that must make the floor appear smaller than it is.

From the starting Hope lineup at the end of the game, only two men remained, Vande Wege and Jacobson, who dropped in 10 and 14 points respectively. Ron Bos was high pointer for the Dutch squad, with 17, but Piersma and Visser each had 10 and generally the scoring was scattered. Junior Bremer, usually a high scorer, was held to a meager three points.

Mrs. Eleanor Hettinger exhibits one of the Xenopus frogs which is used in tests at Allegan Health Center laboratory, one of the few small hospitals to offer the newer, faster pregnancy test in this area. The frogs live in a small water-filled tank and are fed twice a week.

Frogs Imported From South Africa Used in Allegan Center Laboratory

Allegan (Special)—Six lazy, slippery frogs in the Allegan Health Center laboratory play an important part in making the hospital a leader in up-to-date medical services.

Ugly-looking as they are, they nevertheless get tender care from the center's laboratory technician, Eleanor Hettinger. For these are Xenopus frogs from South Africa, used in essential tests by physicians in a wide area surrounding Allegan. The Health Center is one of the few small-town hospitals providing the service in Western Michigan.

The Xenopus test is used when an early diagnosis of pregnancy is needed. It's fairly inexpensive, fast, and accurate.

The frogs cost $7 by the time they are sent air-express from the east to the local hospital. But they may be used again and again, which isn't true in the more widely used Zondek (mouse) and Friedman (rabbit) tests.

Diagnosis is made within 24 hours, sometimes an important factor in a patient's case. It has been found to be better than 98 per cent accurate.

The Xenopus method is particularly suited for the small hospital, Mrs. Hettinger explains. The frogs are easily cared for, asking little more than about an ounce of meat twice a week, fresh water now and then, and a ration of Cod liver oil and vitamin B once in a while.

A frog produces a positive test indicating pregnancy by laying eggs shortly after an injection. It may be used again after 30 days, or, in the case of a negative reaction, within seven days.

The frogs live for fairly long periods, up to a year or so in laboratory use. Their greatest danger lies in the position of their long finger-like lungs, which are easily punctured if the spot for injection is slightly misjudged.

The health center laboratory makes about 75 such tests a year for patients in this and nearby counties. It adopted the method shortly after it became available for general use in 1946.

Parke, Davis Official Traces History of Medical Developments

"I have it from medical authorities that we are on the threshold of a great discovery in the field of medicine—something that will carry us through old age without being crippled," said Dr. Harvey M. Merker of Parke, Davis and company Tuesday night.

The superintendent of manufacturing at the big drug company spoke to 140 members of the Holland Lions club, their wives, guests, local high school and college faculty members, city officials and service club representatives in the Tulip room of the Warm Friend Tavern.

Dr. Merker issued the above statement after outlining the discovery and uses of the new wonder drugs ACTH and cortisone. He cited as proof the clinical records of many arthritis sufferers already cured after application of the new drugs.

Throughout his talk, in which he outlined the "Romance of Medicine" from ancient history, to modern times, Dr. Merker drummed on the important role of research laboratories in the United States.

"Research is the secret of medical success," Dr. Merker said. He pointed out that Parke, Davis employs 200 researchers at its home plant in Detroit besides supporting research work in almost every medical and pharmaceutical college and university in America.

"Research has become a big business and the basic work is being done by young men who some day will be doctors and bacteriologists," he said.

He explained that 80 per cent of medicinal chemicals used today were unknown 10 years ago.

Dr. Merker also explained the steps leading to discovery of chloromycetin, which will be manufactured at the Holland factory when it begins production early next summer.

Parke, Davis and company decided to find a new antibiotic after the development of penicillin and streptomycin. The company sent 7,500 samples of earth to Yale university where 20 were separated after showing signs of activity the firm was looking for. These were returned to the Detroit factory where further research led to synthesis of the compound by Dr. Mildred Rebstock.

The drug is used to treat such diseases as typhoid fever, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, urinary infections, certain stages of mumps, whooping cough and measles.

Dr. Merker outlined the history of medicine and pharmacy from the year 3700 B.C., date of the earliest known prescription, to the present era of antibiotics, sulfa drugs, ACTH and cortisone.

He divided his talk into six divisions:

Ancient period—This was crude accompanied by much superstition, mysticism, and witchcraft. The achievements of Hippocrates and Galen were supreme for 18 centuries.

Botanical period—This dealt primarily with extracts from roots, barks, leaves, herbs, etc., and was the beginning of research in medicine.

Biological period—This was introduced by the discoveries of sterilization, immunization, and pasteurization by Louis Pasteur.

Glandular period—This was given impetus by discovery of the first gland hormone from the suprarenal gland—called adrenalin.

Vitamin period—This resulted in discovery of the necessity of vitamins to human health.

Antibiotic period—This introduced many new products such as sulfa drugs, antibiotics, antimalarials, etc.

"Medical science has just about won the fight against child diseases, except polio, which I don't think will be for long," he said.

Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, presented the speaker a pair of wooden shoes following the talk on behalf of the Lions club.

Ray Dangremond, club president, presided. Peter Elzinga, program chairman, introduced several guests. Among them were Parke, Davis employees who will be in charge of operations at the new Holland factory. Rollie De Weerd introduced other guests and Gerrit Wiegierink led group singing.

UNESCO Board to Sponsor Projects

At a meeting of the executive board of the Michigan council for UNESCO, held Saturday at Jackson, the board agreed to sponsor certain projects and movements for the increase of international understanding.

The board, of which Dr. Ella Hawkinson of Hope college is president, favored stimulation of the student ambassador program guided by the Experiment in International Living, Inc. This program, since its beginning in 1932, has provided about 300 students the way to make enduring friendships in 25 countries. Under this plan, each individual has the opportunity to live half the summer as a member of a selected family in another country. Usually a group of 10 in one vicinity live with different families. To each group is assigned a qualified leader who serves as a friend and adviser. During the second half of the summer the hosts and guests travel, camp and study together.

In 1950, Colgate University set the precedent of granting three to six hours academic credit for a successfully-concluded experiment summer in a language speaking group. Many community groups in New York, such as churches, service clubs, youth organizations and others, promote the raising of funds for this international experience. In turn a contract is signed with the selected student that he provide them with a program the following year in addition to carrying goodwill from his community.

The board also favored co-operation with the State Department of Public Instruction in enlarging the scope and means for international education, encourage-ment of various projects in schools and communities for increasing international understanding, support of teacher education through conferences, institutes and summer workshops in international and inter-group understanding, and stimulation of regional UNESCO conferences in various areas of the state this spring.

Newly-elected board members are Dr. Hawkinson, president; Dr. Stanley Cain of the University of Michigan, vice president; Miss Edythe Gonne of the Detroit public schools, treasurer; Miss Loraine Shepard of Michigan State college, recording secretary; Osmond Kelly of Flint, Dr. Edythe Mangle of Western Michigan college, Kalamazoo, and Barney Hopkins of Detroit, directors-at-large.

The Michigan Council of UNESCO seeks to act as an agency working through existing organizations and to serve as a liaison between the national and international bodies of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural organizations.

The river bank at the rear of the stores in the distance some day will become a landscaped off-street parking lot, according to plans under consideration by Allegan's city council. Barring a material shortage, work probably will begin this summer, financed by parking meter-revenue bonds. The lot will extend 1,200 feet along the Kalamazoo river bank at the rear of Hubbard and Brady St. stores.

River Bank to Provide Parking Lot in Allegan

Allegan (Special) — Downtown parking is Allegan's No. 1 problem, and the city council and manager have put the solution—a new off-street parking lot—as 1951's No. 1 project.

Residents are watching developments for the proposed lot which will extend 1,200 feet along the river bank which lies to the rear of Hubbard and Brady St. stores, a section that was barred to constant view when the new Marshall St. bridge opened.

Plans call for simultaneous beautification of the Kalamazoo river bank, a project started a year and a half ago when citizens started putting pennies and nickels in parking meters. The meters will be paid for this month and a $9,000 fund will be set aside for launching the parking lot project.

After City Manager Philip Beauvais, who also is city engineer, completes drawings, right-of-ways must be secured, and the council must set up legislation toward issuing meter-revenue bonds. Barring material shortages, actual construction could start next summer. Double lines of parking, a drive for delivery and fire route, ornamental lighting, and shrubbery planting are intended for this spot.

According to public sentiment already expressed to councilmen and Beauvais, the '51 project is likely to become the most popular of the present city administration's several programs.

Expanding the city's electric power output to meet a constantly growing demand is practically top on the list for consideration. With a hydro-electric plant, a diesel in operation, a second diesel about to be installed, it's not difficult to believe a third diesel may be needed before the year is through. Allegan's annual $170,000 business in providing power to its residents would be increased considerably if some would-be customers could be accepted.

A new pump and pump house in Pingree park also are needed to modernize the water system. The Pingree well was shut because of dangerous flooding, but would nevertheless provide excellent emergency service. Then in case of a breakdown or serious fire, water would never be lacking.

Beauvais also points to needed sidewalk repair or topping (the city had three sidewalk damage suits last year), a new fire truck, some remodeling of the fire hall, and some paving which includes resurfacing of Williams Bridge road and at least a part of Pine St.

Crashes Damage City Light Poles

Two city light poles were victims of traffic accidents during the week-end.

Pole No. 1 was damaged Saturday at 4:15 p.m. on East Eighth St., between College and Columbia Aves. George Schumack, 63, of 195 East 16th St., left a parking lot and swerved to miss an approaching car, he told officers. After hitting the pole, he backed up and drove away.

Some children nearby noted the license number and told police, who traced Schumack through his auto's registration. He appeared in Municipal Court this morning and was ordered to pay $27 fine and costs for leaving the scene of an accident.

Pole No. 2 was snapped off at the corner of River Ave. and Eighth St. Sunday at 10:50 p.m. when hit by a truck driven by Clarence Kooman, 23, of route 3, Hudsonville. Kooman told officers he couldn't control his truck because of icy roads.

The second light pole was snapped off for the second time in six weeks, with icy intersection and turning truck causing the accident early in December.

Both poles will have to be replaced, Board of Public Works officials said. They estimated cost of each pole at more than $100.

Brouwer Estate Split Five Ways

Grand Haven (Special)—The will of James A. Brouwer, Holland resident who died Dec. 16 gives all of his real and personal estate to be divided into five equal shares, to his three daughters, Gertrude J. In the will, the son and one of the daughters, Mrs. Stuart, were appointed executor and executrix, but action of the daughter, who declined to act, has turned the administration of the estate to the son.

Scoring Antics Of Harlem Aces Stop Legion Five

Paced by Dick Nieuwsma and Ken Schippers, the Holland Legionnaires put on a strong second half Saturday night, falling only four short of tying the crowd-pleasing Harlem Aces, as the traveling quintet took the 56th victory of their current road trip, 59-55.

The visitors showed their scoring punch in the first half, highlighted by the longshots of Watts and little and bald-headed Waughttry, and then settled back to confuse the locals, and put on a show that brought roars of approval from the crowd. Despite their unorthodox ball-handling, the visitors built up a 45-24 halftime lead.

The second half started with Lancaster centering the ball to Patterson, who dropped-kicked from under his own basket and came inches short of a two-pointer. A moment later they "blocked out" umpire George Zuverink, and began "feeding the ball to referee Dell Koop. In the meantime the Legionnaires were narrowing the gap whenever the Negro speedsters relaxed their strong defense.

The Aces' repertoire of basketball nonsense consisted of spinning the ball on the point of a finger, bounce-shooting the ball, one man stalling the ball while the rest went for a drink, stopping to lead a number played by the American Legion band, passing the ball for several minutes without even stopping or holding it and dropping in field goals from a fellow players' shoulders.

Along the regular basketball line, Nieuwsma showed up considerably as he scored several tip-ins against the lanky Lanny Lancaster, six feet nine center, Ken Schippers, who alternated with Paul Fortney in the local lineup, began hitting from far out in the final period and pumped five through the nets before the visitors began to tie him up. Schrotenboer was unable to hit through-out most of the encounter, but the entire Legion squad showed considerable fight.

Harlems' Watts played only three minutes of the game because of a bad cold, but managed to score six field goals.

The Legionnaires hit the league wars again Thursday, with a WMBL tussel with Ludington.

THE PROBLEM OF THE KILLERS

As a result of recent particularly atrocious murders in Michigan,
the people of this state will have to face another capital punishment discussion during the present session of the legislature.
That such a bill will be introduced appears certain.

After considerably more than a century during which capital punishment has been barred in Michigan, it seems improbable that the death penalty will be adopted down on capital punishment more than once during the past decade.

It seems certain, however, that many citizens have changed their minds as a result of recent events.
But it is clear that capital punishment will not decrease the number of murders. The record in capital punishment states conclusively proves that as a deterrent the death law gets nowhere.

But many earnest citizens who formerly were against such a law on that score are swinging to the position that atrocious killers have forfeited the right to live and that asking decent people to continue to feed them is outrageous. If informal discussion of the subject may be trusted, it is remarkable how many reasonably humane citizens have developed the feeling that the irresponsible killers such as have been operating in Michigan lately should simply be rubbed out—not as a deterrent but as a matter of simple justice.

They feel this way all the more
—and in that feeling they are on solid ground—because of our parole system. They are convinced,
on the basis of simple history,
that the term "life sentence" is a joke and a fraud. They have swung over to capital punishment because they are convinced that it is the only way to keep the killers out of circulation. Capital punishment may not stop them
from committing similar crimes,
but at least it prevents actual killers from ever having the opportunity to repeat. The murdered persons cannot be brought back to life by capital punishment, but the murderers can at least be placed on a level with their victims.

The least the Michigan legislature can do in the face of recent murder atrocities is provide a law that will make the term
"life sentence" mean just that and not a comma or a period less. Unless something of that sort is done, and unless it is done rather promptly, it is certain that the sentiment for capital punishment in Michigan will increase. It is not enough for the legislature or the people of Michigan to say "No"
to capital punishment. They are up against the necessity of saying
"Yes" to a life sentence law that will mean what it says. What do you think. Write your elected officials or write us 300 words.

Jesus Teaches Concerning the Kingdom
Mark 4:26-34
By Henry Geerlings

Lives that build and work together accomplish most. John the Baptist's work would soon have perished had not Jesus taken it up and carried it forward. The labors of our Lord would not have been so resultful had not John laid the foundation and prepared the way. It is not only a question as to who was the greatest. It is only a question as to co-operation in the supreme task of making righteousness prevail. Only as we labor together will the kingdom
be established.

We have little idea of how busy
Jesus was in His public ministry.
He was teacher, preacher and healer. In this threefold way He brought the kingdom of God to men and thus revealed its means and its power and its value. He made a tour of cities and villages doing the very things that He was going to ask His disciples to do. He showed them how to be teachers and preachers and heal-
ers. He taught by example as well as by precept.

One wonders if those men hesi-tated to do what Jesus did, after they heard and saw him. Pupils usually feel their own weakness and inability in the presence of a great teacher. And yet Jesus must have so encouraged them to have so vitalized them with His own spirit that they have gone to their great mission with joy and enthusiasm and courage.

It is interesting to note particularly Jesus' method of proclaiming the kingdom of God. He taught in their synagogues. Here
he could best reach the people on the Sabbath day. Here they had gathered for worship and instruction. Here He found His opportunity to unfold their Scriptures to them in such a way as they had not known before and to give them a deeper insight into the great truths about which they and their ancestors had been thinking. He doubtless would give them a more intimate knowledge of God and would make them feel the warmth of His great heart and the power and glory of His purpose concerning them.

We believed He would take the great teachings of the prophets and show their rich meanings and their fulfillment in Him. He no doubt made them feel how living and warm a thing religion is and what a power it can be in daily life. We can imagine with what interest the people heard Jesus.
Possibly they did not always agree with Him, possibly they felt uncomfortable under some of His searching truths, doubtless they were moved at times with great emotions, maybe they were even angered at His stupendous claims and His revolutionary ideas.

At least we know that such reactions were given His teachings at time and we know that the people of today give such varied reactions to the illuminating and penetrating preaching of the gospel. In this respect human nature is the same the world over and the ages through.

Jesus also preached the gospel of the kingdom. We are not anxious here to make a careful distinction between teaching and preaching, but let us say that less formally and more generally as opportunity offered itself He heralded the good news of the kingdom of God. He called attention to the fact that it was at hand and it was the duty of people to repent in order to become citizens of this new spiritual kingdom. It was a call to a better and larger and more useful life. It was a challenge to see and do and make regnant among men greater things than they had ever known in their religious experience.

Jesus was making a personal relation of God and was declaring God's will concerning individual men and human society. He had a message that the world had never heard before and an equal or greater one it has never heard since. He was trying to show men how much like Himself God is in all time and how anxious He is to have men think His thoughts after Him and live in constant fellowship with Him.

The gospel of the kingdom which He was preaching was in deed good news—the good news
about a new order of things among men, the good news of a fuller and more gracious and satisfying understanding about God,
the good news about the great possibilities of life and its purpose and its service and its continued existence in the fulness and power of being Jesus had much to tell the people in His preaching. He did not feel a poverty of theme nor was He embarrassed with a scarcity of thoughts. He preached out of a rich mind and a loving heart.

Jesus healed all manner of disease and all manner of sickness.
He did this because of His tender sympathy with people in their distress. His great heart moved Him to it. But I think He did it too show that He had power over the total man—over mind, body and spirit. He was proclaiming a kingdom that is interested in the welfare of the total man. So He did everything to demonstrate the meaning and the power and the value of the kingdom of God among men. He thus started it on its way to become a world power
more and more here among us.
We have a great responsibility in proclaiming this kingdom.

In 1949, the U. S. produced 1, 403,605,000 pounds of creamery
butter, and Minnesota led the way with a total output of 248,200,000 pounds.

Henry Hidding, son of Mrs. Mary Hidding of 140 East Ninth St., and husband of Neola Hidding of Grand Rapids, finds plenty to do these days in Korea. He is field director of the American Red Cross and as such heads a three-man team that administers the needs of Fifth Air Force personnel. He has been overseas since last fall. Holland Man Plays Important Role
For Fifth Air Force Men in Korea

Fifth Air Force Headquarters
(Special)—One of the more popular men around Fifth Air Force
headquarters and on the fields with pilots in Korea is Henry Hidding of Holland, American Red Cross field director.

He is the son of Mrs. Mary Hidding of 140 East Ninth St., and the husband of Mrs. Neola Hidding who teaches grammar school
in Grand Rapids.

Hidding is a familiar sight on Fifth Air Force airstrips. Where-ever Fifth Air Force airmen work and need assistance, Hidding and his two-man team are available.
His team included Corwin
Quinn of Boulder, Colo., and James Quigley of Chicago. These three have handled more than 650 cases for officers and airmen in the last three months despite frequent moves and difficult working conditions.

They form a vital link of communication between the fighting man and his home. They gather information to aid the commander in determining whether a man should be returned, to his family
be verifying emergency conditions and also take care of the air-men's dependents if need arises.
Hidding left on his Korean assignment Aug. 29, 1950. He has been active in Red Cross work
since January, 1942.

He attended Holland public schools and Hope college. He later was graduated from Western Michigan college at Kalamazoo.
His wife formerly taught in Holland grade schools.

He is a lifetime resident of Holland and a member of Trinity Reformed church.

Fire Damages House
Southwest of Dorr

Dorr (Special)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ryan, located two miles southwest of here, was considerably damaged
by fire Monday night. The fire is believed to have started from sparks from the chimney landing on the roof. Fanned by a strong wind, the fire soon spread.

The blaze was extinguished by volunteer fire departments from Dorr and Burnips which received the alarm about 8:30 p.m. Firemen were out about 1½ hours.

Deaths from tuberculosis decreased to a new low in 1950.

It was a great day for newspaperboys Monday evening when the Sentinel's delivery squad—47 strong—took off in two chartered buses for the Shrine Circus in Grand Rapids Civic auditorium. That they enjoyed the big show was evident from the expressions on their faces as they were joined

Polio Campaign
Yields $4,000
In Local Area

Polio donations in the local area
neared the 4,000 mark Monday
following an auspicious beginning which brought about $850 on the March-of-Dimes plank in Holland and Zeeland alone. Goal for southern Ottawa is $16,500.

On display at the plank Friday
and Saturday was the iron lung which employs of a Chicago firm
made in their spare time in 1949 and presented to Mrs. Vera Larson, iron lung polio victim in Holland hospital. The lung also was taken to Zeeland for a plank Saturday from 5 to 9 p.m., but a re-in-storm reduced shopping crowds to a minimum.

The plank in Holland Friday night yielded $251.60 and up to 5 p.m. Saturday, $488.65. Zeeland collections yielded $107.85. The same schedule will be followed next week-end.

Before the plank opened officially in Holland Friday night,
William Kruihof whose daughter contracted polio last year started off the campaign with a $100 bill.
A $50 contribution came from John Muller.

On Saturday, Mrs. A. Norris,
90 years old, living at 91 East
18th St., sent over her contribution to the plank—a collection of dimes she had saved all year.

The Kiwanis club has several other projects in operation to raise funds. Among them are canisters resembling iron lungs, dimes in the parking meters (each meter bears a reminder), special gifts, and a polio dance Jan. 27 in the VFW hall, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce
auxiliary. At the dance, the hall and orchestra will be donated.
Music will be provided by King
Bosworth's orchestra of Grand Rapids.

Ernie Bates, Michigan field
man for polio, has asked Lt. Verne
C. Dagen and Charles Bugelski, co-chairmen for Ottawa county,
to send the national share up as soon as funds are received, since the National Foundation is desperately in need of funds.

pound fracture of the lower right leg."

He was struck by a car driven by Albert Bluckamp, 55, of 188
East 29th St., at 6:30 a.m. Monday on Seventh St., 30 feet west of the Central Ave. intersection.

Bluckamp, driving west on Seventh St., told officers that the bicyclist made a right turn in front of his auto, while headed in the opposite direction.

Legionnaires Stop
Lytell Ironmen
In Exhibition Tilt

The Legion ace, Gene Schrotenboer, swished 26 points through the hoop in the Legion-Lytell Iron exhibition game at the Armory
Thursday night to lead his team
to a 61-53 victory.

Schrotenboer set an all-time individual scoring record in the Armory a week ago when the Legionnaires downed Grand Rapids
Creston Body. At that time,
Schrotenboer dropped 45 points.

The Legion club didn't have the Lytell game all the way, however, and at the half was behind 33-29. They had led in the first quarter, 16-10, but the continued shooting of Lytell's Stewart and Van Seen gave the Ironmen the halftime lead.

In the third quarter, the Legionnaires bounced back to grab a three-point lead that was never torn down after that time.

Heinz Will Build New Boiler House At Holland Plant

One-Story Structure Housing Three Boilers Modern in All Details

Construction of a modern one-story boiler house, incorporating the latest automatic developments, will be started here this spring by H. J. Heinz Co. as the latest step in the firm's modernization program for the Holland plant, it was announced today by C. B. McCormick, factory manager.

The new building, expected to be completed next fall, will contain three huge boilers which are expected to double the plant's present steam-making capacity. It will be located on the lake front.

The boilers will be equipped with fully automatic operating devices and the most modern system of smoke controls.

The present boiler room will be dismantled upon completion of the new structure.

Building of the new boiler house follows the Heinz construction policy in Holland of continuing to equip the factory here as one of the most complete in this country. Announcement of this year's construction project follows the completion of the company's all-

Exchangeites Entertain Wives at Annual Event

Members of the Holland Exchange club and their wives met for the annual Ladies night program in the parlors of Hope church Monday night. The feature of the evening was presented by Mrs. J. J. Potuznik of Muskegon. Her subject was "Czechoslovakia in Story and Song."

Mrs. Potuznik gave her talk in a pleasing and informal way. She is a graduate of the University of Prague but is a native-born citizen of the United States. She learned the Czech language when left by her mother with a family a short distance from Prague.

Mrs. Potuznik dresses in the costume worn by the women of Czechoslovakia on Sundays and holidays. The dress, which is decorated with hand-made lace, has its beginning when the young girl is about twelve years of age. Each garment has a different pattern of lace and the last to be added is the linden love lace which is sewed to a gayly-decorated apron and announces the girl's engagement. The tool for making the lace is made by her young man from a branch of the linden tree.

Amusing incidents were told by Mrs. Potuznik to give intimate glimpses of the life of the young people of Czechoslovakia before the Soviets took over. She spoke of these young people as being exceedingly generous. She also said that the supreme wish of 95 per cent of them was to become an American citizen.

To inform her audience what it means to be under the regime of the Soviet Union, the speaker related a true incident happening to her own family. Her parents had acquired a house in Czechoslovakia. Since the Soviets have taken over, the property has had to be sold. The money had to be deposited in a Czech bank. If a deposit is not touched for six months it becomes the property of the government. The owners were not allowed to take it out of the country. They could claim it by renouncing U. S. citizenship and going there to live. A cousin visiting Europe last summer succeeded in getting the money and distributed it to the underground church movements.

During the talk Mrs. Potuznik sang several Czech songs and closed her talk with the national anthem of Czechoslovakia.

Dr. John R. Mulder, vice president of the Exchange club, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speaker. Mrs. Potuznik was accompanied by Mrs. Cheasley.

At the beginning of the evening, the group enjoyed a banquet served by the women of Hope church. Paul Kronendick, a seminary student, sang three numbers, one from Gounod's "Faust," one by Handel, and "Kitty O'Toole" by Protheroe. His accompanist was Miss Catherine Sharpe. Clarence Jalving led in group singing.

Powers Faces Two Civil Suits

Allegan (Special)—Melbourne Powers, serving a term in Southern Michigan prison at Jackson for manslaughter, was named a defendant in two civil actions today, based on past-due notes totaling $3,300. A third suit was begun against Mrs. Betty Strampel, his daughter, who figured in the trial in which Powers was convicted of manslaughter in fatally shooting his son-in-law, Albert Strampel, last July.

Barrett R. Clark, Chicago, named both Mr. and Mrs. Powers and Mrs. Strampel defendants in a suit for a $3,000 note which he claims has been overdue since September. Mrs. J. N. Clark, Zeeland, seeks collection of $300 from Mr. and Mrs. Powers.

Mrs. Strampel is the only defendant in action begun by Alfred Lundberg, Saugatuck, who holds a $500 note.

All three actions were filed by Chester Ray, former prosecutor, who tried the criminal case against Powers. Ray said that Benjamin Klaynick, Douglas, who has been negotiated to buy the Blue Lantern tavern, had been served a writ of garnishment authorized by the court, an action aimed at securing some of the purchase payment for the three holding notes against the Powers, Ray said.

Car, Truck Crash

A car driven by John F. Hollowed, 60, of Manistee collided with a truck driven by Albert Witteveen, 41, of route 4, at the corner of 10th St. and College Ave. at 10 a.m. Saturday. Damage of $500 was estimated to Hollowed's 1950 model car. He was ticketed for failure to observe due caution and Witteveen was cited for failure to yield right of way.

SSP Allocation Group Earmarks $3,500 for Polio

The allocation committee for the Single Solicitation Plan fund Thursday afternoon earmarked $3,500 for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, now conducting its annual drive for funds to fight polio.

The meeting was called to consider apportionment of 1950-51 pledges to the various agencies benefiting under plan. Amounts to agencies other than polio also were discussed, based on budgets submitted, but no final determination of exact percentages was made.

It was pointed out that because of the war emergency, it was difficult at the present time to determine needs, particularly those of the newly reorganized USO, and other agencies associated in war service.

The figures, when determined, will represent the proportionate contributions from payroll deductions of employees plus matching funds from 4 industries in Holland.

Present at Thursday's meeting were Robert Kouw and George M. Good, representing Community Chest; Dr. O. van der Velde and Peter Van Domelen, Jr., Red Cross; Lt. Verne C. Dagen and Wilbur Cobb, polio.

O. W. Lowry, representing the Single Solicitation Plan, served as chairman and Beth Marcus as secretary.

Man Found Guilty Of Topsy Driving

After deliberating 40 minutes, a six-man jury brought in a verdict of guilty Thursday afternoon in the trial of Alfred Eding, 38, Grand Haven, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Municipal Judge Cornelius van der Meulen sentenced Eding to serve seven days in the county jail, pay $60 fine and $37.50 costs, or serve a total of 45 days.

The alleged offense occurred the night of Jan. 6 as Eding was attempting to leave a parking area east of Model laundry, and almost hit a car driven by John Flieman who was in the process of backing his car into a parking space.

Appearing as witnesses for the prosecution were Flieman and his companion, Lorena Looman, and Officers Richard Bonge, Harold Bremer, Henry Hoekman and Simon Steketee. Appearing for the defense were Eding and his companion that night, Clara Lawrence of Grand Haven.

City Attorney O. S. Cross conducted the prosecution and pointed to Eding's previous record of 13 arrests on drunk charges, here and in Grand Haven. Defense Attorney Carl Hoffman contended that since only the front wheels of Eding's car were in the street or gutter that the respondent should not be charged with drunk driving on a public street.

Judge van der Meulen said he would allow five days in case of appeal before the jail sentence is effective. Meanwhile, Eding's bond of $200 was continued.

Freezing Fog Causes Nine-Car Pile-Up at Otsego

Allegan (Special)—Heavy fog, which froze on the pavement, caused a pile-up involving nine cars early Friday morning near Otsego. Deputy Robert Ball, on his way to his job at the county jail, investigated the mishap after he avoided joining the snarl by running his car off the shoulder.

Officers reported the Otsego-Plainwell area severely hit by the frost-fog combination, and several other minor accidents occurred during the early morning.

The trouble began east of Otsego when cars driven by Edward Tourangeau, 23, route 1, Otsego, and William Wheeler, 41, Plainwell, both skidded on the highway and collided, practically demolishing both cars. Harry A. Hennes, 42, Kalamazoo, hit the wreckage, and was hit in the rear by Lyle Galbreath, 22, Pullman. A fifth car skidded sideways up to the scene, while Ball took off over the side of the road.

A few minutes later, Louis Luplow, 56, route 2, Allegan, apparently applied his brakes upon seeing the roadside flares, and was hit by David Nichols, 20, Plainwell, who was hit by a Shears Dairy truck driven by Howard Kisinger, 54, Otsego.

Continuing on his way to Allegan, Ball came upon another accident west of Otsego where a car driven by Mrs. Mary Knox, Allegan, was hit by a car driven by Wayne Livingston, Otsego, who had skidded into her rear fender and then into a guard rail.

Annual Play Is Selected By Holland High Seniors

"Fly Away Home" by Dorothy Bennett and Irving White will be produced by the Holland high school senior class next month. The traditional presentation, again directed by Miss Ruby Calvert of the Holland high speech faculty, will open Feb. 19 in Holland high school auditorium for four nights.

Taking its theme from the nursery rhyme, "Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home, your house is on fire and your children will burn," the play stars Russell Picard as James, Ed Kellogg as Armand and Billie Houtman as Nan, the three leading roles.

Supporting members of the cast are Warren Plaggemars as Harmer; Bette Brewer, Buff; Eleanor Slagh, Linda; Don Jacobusse, Carney, Emily Vinstra, Penny; Elaine Lemen, Tinka; Roger Wiersma, Johnny; Lucille Rowell, Maria; Jimmy Maruri, Gabriel, and Bernard Stremler, taxi driver.

Action begins when the four Masters children, ranging in age from 14 to 19, are enjoying the early weeks of their usual summer sojourn at Provincetown. Without much enthusiasm, but with indulgent good humor, the four are looking forward to the marriage of their mother to the professor who summers in the next-door cottage. Word comes from their mother, a dress designer in Hollywood, that she has invited their own father to visit them to make arrangements for a divorce.

James Masters, the father, who hasn't been with his children for 12 years, arrives, but, as a solid citizen and rather conservative, he only antagonizes the children with his strait-laced reception of their easy-going ways. The professor, on the other hand, is received with enthusiasm, a source of hurt and jealousy to the father.

After a week-long struggle against the professor and his influence, the father finds things have come to a pretty pass and is trying to straighten out the muddle when the mother arrives. By this time, the children begin to prefer their father to the professor, and another battle begins—to help father win mother back. The final result turns out to be the best solution for everyone, with all learning lessons.

Rehearsals for the production are now underway and production staff appointments are being made.

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

FROM MRS. MARY Steketee comes a clipping from a Racine, Wis., newspaper picturing a man who was quite surprised at receiving a package from relatives in Germany with cans of food for the "poor, starving Americans."

The box came from a nephew living near the Russian zone who wrote he was sorry to hear—via the Russian radio—that America had lost the Korean war, and that Americans were suffering terrible hardships and had nothing to eat.

The nephew sent the box as a gesture in return for packages the Racine man had sent his relatives in Germany shortly after the liberation. In the package were cans of mushrooms, sardines and packages of small smoked fish (which had spoiled in transit).

The Racine man wrote his nephew to stop sending food and stop believing what the Russians tell him.

OF COURSE, IT WAS just one of those things that happen, but Abe Nauta, BPW superintendent, is still hearing gentle cracks about the box of decorated candles he received from some firm as a Christmas present. It was highly unlikely that the donor was aware of Holland's power failure last December, but the gift arrived at a time when all who heard of it got a hearty laugh.

WOMEN accountants heard a lot of interesting facts about credit at their meeting early this week when Casey Van Liere of the Merchants' Service Bureau gave a little talk.

He told one interesting story about a mild swindle which his office was able to squelch. It went something like this:

A local businessman had been making personal loans to an outsider and when the man asked for a $25 loan, the local man asked for security. The borrower offered his wife's wrist watch—a good one—and left to get it.

It occurred to the donor that he might check his friend's credit rating and called the credit office.

We forget now whether the office gave a report, but the next twist was that the office received a call from a prominent jeweler asking about Mr. X who has excellent taste in women's watches.

And within the next 20 minutes, the credit office received calls from four more jewelers.

That was one time they really had all the answers.

THE BURTTIS have done it again—sent a $100 check to Holland hospital.

It was in the summer of 1949 that Mrs. H. H. Burtt of New York City was taken ill while at a local resort and was taken to Holland hospital. Both she and her husband had been in and out of hospitals many times, but particularly enjoyed the service and courtesies in the local institution. When the orange juicer broke in the kitchen on Mrs. Burtt's floor, her husband purchased a new one for the hospital. When they returned home they sent a $100 check to the employees. Last Christmas they sent another $100. The current gift is the third. Yes, one may safely conclude the Burttis really like Holland hospital.

LAFF FOR THE DAY:

A resentful taxpayer addressed an envelope to "Collector of Taxes, Boston City Hall."

Give a woman an inch and she thinks she's a ruler.

His monthly salary runs into three figures—his wife and two daughters.

A CAMPAIGN FOR kindness to animals resulted in the Ionia paper printing four rules to make dogs love humans. It might be interesting to check how you rate with your canine acquaintance.

1. A dog should have lots of love and companionship.

2. Your dog should have regular feeding times and water at all times. A hit and miss feeding schedule results in discontent which leads a dog to be troublesome.

3. A good shelter should be provided which gives warm housing in the winter without drafts.

4. Every dog should be given distemper shots.

The Ambusher draws the conclusion that these rules are just as good for promotion of children's love—with the possible exception of rule No. 4.

At the conclusion of the social hour, the group sang "God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again."

Maroon Quintet Zips From Behind To Take Game

A clever, smooth passing Holland Christian quintet put on a great display of set-up basketball in the second half of its game with Allegan Friday night on the Armory court to down the Tigers 55-41. The win was Christian's fifth against six defeats. It was Allegan's fourth loss of the season although the Tigers still lead in Tri-county league play.

If Christian's second half exhibition can be any criterion, it would seem that the Hollanders have found themselves after a hot and cold season so far. Although down by two points at the half, the Hollanders connected for 34 points in the second half by playing good, orthodox basketball. Paced by lanky Ken Knott and Jim Kok, who were sidelined a considerable portion of the first period with a "dangerous" number of fouls charged against them, the Maroons outgained and out-classed the Allegan club.

There is no mistake about it that the Allegan club is one of the best quintets that the Maroons have played so far this season. Although short on height, Coach Ken Otis has a well balanced, sharp shooting aggregation. Every man is a definite threat from anywhere on the court.

Although the Dutch were outscored the first half they were by no means outplayed. They constantly controlled the ball but were plagued with basket troubles. The Maroons took 50 shots in the first half, which is more than average, but connected on only 10. Coach Art Tuls' men had only three foul attempts in the first half, making good on one.

Ralph Bowman kept the Hollanders in the ball game in the first quarter with three straight outcourt shots. He was matched in this department by Allegan's Frank Cook who dumped in a like total. After the lead had changed hands several times, Allegan managed to hold a 14-12 margin at the quarter's end.

Christian moved ahead temporarily in the second period but Cook and Jack Stegeman soon put the Alleganders out front with one handers. The Tigers were getting their share of the rebounds with Knott and Kok both sidelined. At halftime, the Allegan club still held a 23-21 lead.

The Dutch came out fighting mad in the third period and broke loose with their familiar pass and cut offense for several easy layup shots. Those that were missed were quickly hoisted back in by Knott who sparked his teammates with eight quick tallies. Consequently, after almost four minutes of play, the locals were leading 33-27. Both clubs played on even terms for the remainder of the quarter with Holland holding a 30-31 margin.

Christian quickly dispelled any Allegan victory aspirations shortly after the fourth period began as they boosted their margin to 17 points in a matter of minutes. Reserves took over for the remaining time, with every Dutch player getting into the tilt. Jim Kok left the contest on five personals with five minutes left in the game.

One of the pleasing things for Coach Tuls was the well balanced scoring of his club. Ralph Bowman was high with 14 followed by brother Ben with 12 points. Two others had eight, another seven and the last, six to round out the scoring. Bill Newman led Allegan with 12 markers.

Christian hit on five out of 15 foul attempts compared to Allegan's 11 out of 24.

Heights Seventh Reserve Victim

The Holland high school reserve team added another victim to its rising toll Friday night by winning handily over Muskegon Heights reserves, 43-32.

The triumph was the seventh of the season against no defeats for coach Bob Connell's well-integrated quintet.

Holland built up a 14-6 first period lead and the Dutch were out in front all the way. At halftime, they enjoyed a 22-15 advantage, and at the third buzzer were ahead 32-24.

Connell's charges enjoyed a superior average in shooting. They made nine of 13 free throw attempts, and hit on 36 per cent of their outcourt shots.

Carl Visscher paced Holland with 13 points, while Dean Vander Wall had 12 and Jack Kemper nine. For the Heights, leading scorer was center Mauch with 12 points.

Little Maroons Nip Allegan Reserves

A basket by Ron Nykamp with just five seconds left in the contest gave the Holland Christian Little Maroons a 26-24 victory over the Allegan reserve squad on the Armory court Friday night.

The contest was close throughout with Coach John Ham's club coming from behind to win.

With 20 seconds remaining, the Dutch trailed 24-23. Merle Van Dyke was then fouled while going in for a layup shot and was awarded two foul tosses. He made the first, knotting the count, but missed the second. Then after a jump ball Nykamp came through with his game winning shot. Allegan led 8-6 at the end of the first quarter but Christian managed to gain a 17-12 halftime margin. At the end of the third period the Dutch still held a 19-18 advantage.

Both Nykamp and Rich Sharda shared high point honors for the Dutch with eight points apiece. Center Smith paced the Allegan club with 10 tallies.

A small army of women is at work in Holland area doing their bit for Civil Defense by contributing time and efforts to many phases of the Red Cross program.

Mrs. J. J. Brower, chairman of the Volunteer Services committee which is organizing the large program, emphasizes that volunteers are working not for the Red Cross but through the Red Cross for their community and nation.

To date, about 150 women are listed to some phase of the program and more and more are being recruited. The program shifted into action after the local office received dozens of calls from women wanting to do something for the war effort after events in Korea took a serious turn.

Mrs. Brower's chairmen are Mrs. A. E. Hildebrand, home service; Mrs. C. Adrian Bort, production; Mrs. R. Burton, nurses aides; Mrs. A. Weller, member recruitment; Mrs. Ray Swank, recruitment; Mrs. A. W. Tahaney, gray ladies.

Principal work of the Volunteer Services committee at present is organizing training classes for interested women. The program is similar to the home front program of World War II, yet completely organized with suggested improvements learned through experience.

A training course for home service workers is scheduled to get under way soon, according to Mrs. Hildebrand.

A refresher course for nurses aides will start Wednesday, Jan. 24, for all aides training during or since World War II who will be working in the blood program or in case of emergency. Arrangements for the course are in charge of Mrs. Burton.

Mrs. Tahaney announced a training course for Gray Ladies to serve the Veterans hospital at Fort Custer will be given in April. Persons interested may register at Red Cross headquarters.

A course for staff aides also will start in a few weeks. This course consists of an introduction to Red Cross and an orientation into office procedures and policies. These volunteers will act as receptionists, typists and assist with preparations for donor clinics.

The Rev. Walter de Velder took part in the panel discussion Tuesday evening on "Christianity Confronts Communism." His contribution was interesting in view of first-hand knowledge he brought to the subject after working 15 months under Communist occupation in China.

Dr. de Velder was elected to the program planning committee for 1952.

While in Ann Arbor, Rev. Korteling was entertained by his son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. Blaise Leval, who are taking post-graduate work at the University of Michigan.

$50,000 Blaze Destroys Co-op

Burnips (Special)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Salem Farmers Co-operative here early Friday morning, resulting in loss estimated at $50,000.

Fire in the frame grain elevator covered with galvanized tin siding was discovered by Ralph Crisman who lives in a house trailer across the road. Crisman blew the fire siren alerting the volunteer fire crew headed by Marshall Simmons.

Fire departments of Dorr, Jamestown, Hopkins and Oversee also joined in fighting the blaze which at one time threatened a water tower nearby.

Included in the loss were 600 bushels of shelled corn, a large quantity of wheat and considerable equipment. John Brouwer and Kenneth Morris managed to save $2,000 out of the co-op safe and got out of the building just as the roof caved in.

The co-op was one of three such places maintained in Burnips, Dorr and Bentheim. Alois Smith of Dorr is manager.

The board of directors met Friday afternoon to discuss possibilities for rebuilding. Building and contents carried a fairly high rate of insurance.

Holland Rebounds From Loss String To Beat Heights

Muskegon Heights (Special)—Holland high school's basketball team remained in a tie for second place in the Southwest conference Friday night by drubbing Muskegon Heights, 54-44.

The Dutch are tied for second league honors with Muskegon, who nosed out Grand Haven Friday, 41-40. Both teams have a 3-2 league record.

Holland had to overcome its old bugaboo—a pressing defense—to stave off a Heights rally in the third period. Tiger coach Okie Johnson told his charges to press the Dutch early in the third period when the home team had a 13-point deficit.

The ruse worked, and the Heights rallied to come up to a 38-36 mark late in the stanza. But Bob Tasma hit on a layup shot in the closing second and made his free throw when he was fouled on the attempt to give Coach Fred Weiss' boys a 41-36 quarter lead.

Johnson changed the Heights' tactics in the final period, but not for long. After a couple of minutes of regulation defense, the Tigers tried once more to harass the Dutch with the pressing type. But Holland had broken the spell and went on to dominate play throughout the final period.

The eventual winners led throughout the game. At the first quarter the score was 15-6, and stood at 30-17 at the half. Only in the third canto did the Tigers outscore the Hollanders, 19-11.

Friday's contest was a rough-and-tumble affair, and play dragged with 21 personal fouls called against each team. The advantage from the charity circle went to Muskegon Heights. The Tigers made good on 16 of 25 free throws, while the Dutch hit on only 10 of 24 attempts. Holland had 22 field goals to but 14 for the losers.

In the scoring department, Holland displayed a well rounded attack for the first time this year. Everyone but Frank Van Dyke, who played only a few minutes, broke into the scoring column for healthy figures.

Bob Tasma led the parade with 11 points, while Bob Armstrong and Rog Eggers each had 10. Tom Maentz contributed eight markers, and Max Doolittle, Ron Bekius and Tom Carey each hit for five.

For the Tigers, it was the expected duel who caused the most trouble. Guard Stonewall Jackson and forward Dick Valuck each had 14 points to lead Johnson's offensive.

The victory was a team triumph, but observers couldn't help but take special notice of Tasma and Maentz in the final half and Armstrong's control of the backboards throughout the fray.

The Dutch have two games next week. They engage high-flying Grand Rapids Central here Tuesday and play at Muskegon on Friday.

Last Performance Tonight Of College's 'Papa Is All'

The Little Theatre on the fourth floor of the Science building on Hope campus was crowded to capacity Friday night for the third performance of "Papa Is All," a three-act comedy set in the rich atmosphere and color of the Pennsylvania Dutch country. Final performance of the Palette and Masque production will be given tonight at 8:30 p.m.

In addition to being a well written play, the charm and humor of the production lay mainly in the colorful vernacular of the "Plain People" and the heavy-handed rule of Papa, a domineering tyrant whose hateful characterization was so convincing that a less well mannered audience would have booed him on his second or third appearance. Program notes hasten to assure goers that Papa is not at all typical of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

Under the direction of Helen L. Harton, the cast of six members put on a polished performance for its second major production of the 1950-51 season. In the cast were Guy VanderJagt, Amy Silcox, Larry Minuth, Ken Brinza, Lee Fasse and Nancy Smith.
