Three-Day Event Expected to Lure Estimated 5,000

Proceeds earmarked for Exchange Club's Goodfellow Foundation

The newest in the automotive industry — the thrilling new 1956 models — can be viewed and reviewed for the next three days by all those to whom new cars is a subject dear to their hearts.

The Holland Auto Show opens at Civic Center tonight for a three-day run in which some 5,000 persons are expected to view about 15 exhibits by members of the Holland Association of Automobile Dealers and affiliated lines.

Sponsored by the Goodfellow Foundation of Holland Exchange Club, the show opens officially at 5 p.m. tonight. Hours on Thursday and Friday are 5 to 10 p.m. and Saturday, 2 to 10 p.m.

The entire main auditorium of the Civic Center will be used as a display area for some 24 cars of all makes, plus the much talked-about X-100, Ford's experimental car. Featured in the Civic's north display area will be cutaway car models, showing the mechanical performance and intricate design of the automobile "beneath the hood."

In the basement of the building, displays have been set up by local banks on automobile financing, the Holland association of insurance agents, an oil company and others.

Throughout the three-day event, a host of entertaining features will be provided on stage. Thrilling performances by professional entertainers will be highlighted each day.

Tonight will feature barbershop quartet singing; Friday night there'll be the Promenaders, a square dancing routine group, a professional aerial act, professional juggler and a Swedish team of seven gymnastic artists. Most of the acts will be repeated Saturday night. Various local musicians will provide background organ music throughout the entire show.

Climaxing the gigantic affair Saturday night at 10 will be the awarding of a 1956 automobile. George Pelgrim will be emceeing the show.

The Goodfellow Foundation is sponsoring this show through the Exchange Club Aims and Projects Committee of which A. W. Hertel is chairman. Goodfellow activities, which are entirely benevolent and charitable, cost about $800 each year. This sum has been provided by the Community Chest, but the Foundation hopes, that through this project, it may become self-supporting. Benevolences of the Foundation include such things as milk for children, tonics, medicines and other medical expenses and other worthy aids to needy families in the community.

Serving as chairmen for the show are: Advertising, Alvin Cook, poster distribution, Dr. Lester Kuyper, radio publicity and Rylee De Weerd and Hertel, newspaper; advanced ticket sales, Ted Hoeksema; lunches and refreshments (exclusive of the Civic Center concession), Russell Bouws, personnel, Dick Martin, and building preparation and display, Adrian Klaasen.

More than 2,000 advance tickets were sold by the Exchange Club and attendance for the three-day event is expected to reach 5,000 or more.

Thousands of Lake Trout 'Doing Fine'

LANSING (UP)—The Conservation Department said today 650,000 lake trout eggs gathered in Lake Superior by commercial fishermen have eyed out and are "doing fine."

The eggs are now undergoing processing at the conservation department's Oden and Marquette hatcheries.

When the young trout reach fingerling size, they will be returned to Lake Superior.

Accident Injures Man

Jim Knoll, 29, route 1, was in good condition at Holland Hospital today after he was injured when a tractor he was driving turned over plowing him underneath. The accident occurred shortly before noon today one mile southwest of Graafschap. Full extent of his injuries was not immediately determined.

Billy Graham Finds India a Nation Of Friends, Fascinating Contrasts

By BILLY GRAHAM

MADRAS, India (UP) — During the past week in Madras I have seen India at its fascinating best, for Madras is a city of startling contrasts.

Here is a vacationer's paradise with bright sun, a nearly cloudless sky and temperatures which in January rarely reach 90 or drop below 70, even at night.

En route to a beach we drove past maharajahs' palaces and tiny grass mud huts. We saw modern trucks and scores of two-wheeled wooden carts pulled by cattle.

Gaudy movie theater marquees advertise American films next to tiny shops dispensing ancient herbal medicines.

Almost naked children jostle well-dressed businessmen on the sidewalks.

Out of this welter of sights and sounds several impressions have formed in my mind:

First, I believe the people of India love and respect America. Everywhere I found people enthusiastically friendly. I have gone into tiny villages, met them in churches, shops and restaurants. They go out of their way to demonstrate kindness, hospitality and affection.

In all my travels I have never experienced anything like this. People brought many small gifts but more than their gifts I have appreciated their smiles, for when an Indian smiles his entire face lights up.

The people's interest has been reflected by the attendance at our meetings in Madras. The evening public meetings averaged approximately 35,000 attendance. The 7 a.m. meetings for ministers averaged more than 8,000.

The second impression is that the same simple message of salvation through Christ such as I have preached in America and Europe is eagerly received here as well. Although the culture is vastly different, the basic problem of spiritual hunger is identical.

At the Madras meetings we saw more than 5,000 persons respond to the invitation to commit their lives to Christ.

The third impression was that we Americans need more personal contact with the people of India. They are hungry to know us and our country. Eighty-eight per cent cannot read newspapers and all they know is what they hear others say.

It is expected, however, that he will give an indication of his government's intentions on what Japanese call "the problem of the two Chinas." The two Chinas are Nationalist China and Communist China. Japan maintains friendly relations with the Nationalists and has no diplomatic relations with the Reds. It seems certain that good relations with the Nationalists will continue. But closer relations with the Communists seem certain also.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is to make a brief visit to Hatoyama and Shigemitsu on March 18, on his way home from a conference of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in Karachi, Pakistan.

That visit is bound to be an important one. It is indicated that Hatoyama will emphasize to Dulles that closer Japanese relations with Communist China are essential.

Accidents Kill
Two in Michigan

An Ottawa Lake man died and his brother was injured critically and a Detroit pedestrian was killed early today in separate accidents in Detroit.

James L. Black, 23, died and his brother, Monroe, 32, was injured when their car's steering apparatus failed and the vehicle veered into a utility pole.

Police said James was pinned under the dash of the car and Monroe was thrown clear. They estimated the brothers were traveling about 45 miles per hour in a 30 mile per hour zone when the accident happened.

Both men worked as acoustic installers in Dearborn.

A man tentatively identified as Alvin J. Mahen, 45, was struck and killed by an auto.

Peter N. Christy, 55, of suburban Riverview, told police the man ran in front of his car. He was released pending a statement later today.

Polio Activities Continue Here

The polio campaign for funds continues in Holland with all efforts pointing to the climaxing event Saturday when mothers will march on polio.

Proceeds from the polio plank and wishing well operated on two week - ends this month netted $1,308.38.

This fund was made richer by $3.50 through gifts from two girls, Dawn Joy Vandenberg, 12, and Brenda Joyce Michaelson, 11, who last summer staged a penny carnival at the Vandenberg home on Butternut Dr. They collected comic books, jewelry and other household knickknacks, besides arranging dart games and guessing contests.

So successful was the neighborhood project that the girls already are planning one next summer to include pony rides.

The peanuts - for - polio project carried on by the Junior Welfare League netted $275.

Dick Den Uyl of Macatawa Park is arranging a public coffee kletz in the Tulip Room of the Warm Friend Tavern Friday from 8:30 to 11 a.m. with proceeds going for polio.

In Grand Haven the Ottawa County Health Department announced today that polio vaccine is continuing to come in but not in sufficient amounts to supply the demand. National authorities have advised that the vaccine be limited to giving as many first doses as possible, feeling that a large number of partially protected susceptibles have a greater public health significance than a smaller number of completely protected susceptibles.

Mid-Year Graduations
Spur Enlistment Plan

DETROIT — Mid-year high school graduations have spurred enlistments in volunteers for the new eight-year reserve enlistment program which calls for just six months of active duty, according to the Chief, Michigan Military District, Fort Wayne, Detroit.

There were a total of 43 such enlistments in the Grand Rapids area and 18 in the Muskegon area. Both include Holland.

Many high school graduates wish to enroll in college for the fall term. By taking only six months active duty, these men have the opportunity of completing their active duty military obligation before entering college next fall.

Kalamazoo's Schedule

Valparaiso and Wayne have been added to Kalamazoo's College's 1956 football schedule, according to Athletic Director Rolla Anderson. Six MIAA opponents make up the balance of the eight-game schedule.

Minister Invents Folding Partition

The Rev. Theodore Schaap, pastor of Unity Reformed Church in Muskegon, formerly of Holland, has proved that ministers can be practical on the business front too.

Back in 1950, he toyed with an idea to partition the church parlor's house with a minimum of expense, and designed a folding wall-door partition particularly adaptable to church and other institutional buildings. Doors of similar type were and are on the market, but Rev. Schaap's door incorporated innovations which made the product outstandingly popular.

The inventor brought his idea to Cornelius and Jacob VerVeer, owners of a Muskegon upholstery and decorating firm, and to John E. Medendorp, former Muskegon mayor who is president of Economy Tool and Machine Co. This group formed Foldway Corp. and started manufacturing doors on a small scale.

The E. H. Sheldon and Co., manufacturers of laboratory furniture and equipment, recognized potential of the new folding doors and in October, 1952, acquired Foldway as a subsidiary, reorganizing it on a separate basis as Extender Corp.

Demand increased month by month, and last summer the firm expanded the operation in conjunction with a $200,000 expansion of the Sheldon Co. plant on Nims Ave. The firm currently has 125 distributors nationally and representatives in Europe and South America.

By Feb. 15, the entire plant will be remodeled, renovated and equipped for use by the Extender firm. By the end of 1956 the work force is expected to be 100, twice the current total.

Rev. Schaap is a member of the board of directors of Extender Corp. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Schaap of 435 College Ave. His brother, Rev. Raymond Schaap, is pastor of Allendale Reformed Church.

County High in Bond Purchases

Ottawa County residents purchased $2,135,700 worth of U.S. Savings Bonds in 1955 according to Noble D. Travis, state chairman of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division.

Bond purchases in the county were equivalent to 102.9 per cent of the 1955 goal of $2,073,880. Purchases totaled $2,045,489 in 1954.

The county's purchases helped Michigan to exceed its quota for the year and make a new 10-year high for the sale of Series E and H bonds, according to Travis.

County Savings Bond Committee chairman is Clarence L. Jalving of Holland.

Travis said that Michigan had exceeded its 1955 goal by $325,833.35, with sales of series E and H bonds totaling $325,633.35.

Delmar V. Cote, state sales director for the savings bonds division, has announced that Ottawa County's quota for 1956 has been set at $2,131,950.

According to Cote, Michigan's 1955 bond sales record was somewhat more favorable than that for the nation as a whole. The 1955 national sales of E and H bonds exceeded those of 1954 by 10 per cent, but missed the year's $4.5 billion goal slightly. Final tabulation showed sales of $5,368 billion.

Nationally, sales of the two series exceeded redemptions of matured and unmatured bonds by $716,834,000, compared with $444,652,000 in 1954, and $210,928,000 in 1953.

Cote said during December the cash value of outstanding E and H bonds passed the $40 billion mark nationally, establishing a new all-time record.

Michigan's share of this national financial reservoir is more than $23 billion and the interest on savings bonds owned by state residents exceeds $80 million a year, Cote said.

Miss Virginia Boeve Wed To Randall Vande Water

An altar arrangement of white chrysanthemums, carnations and snapdragons with a background of palms, provided the setting for the marriage ceremony of Miss Virginia Boeve and Randall Paul Vande Water at Western Theological Seminary Chapel Saturday at 4 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Boeve, 805 Lincoln Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vande Water, 62 West 22nd St., are parents of the groom. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gordon De Pree of Zeeland, presently serving as a chaplain in the Armed Forces.

Robert Van Voorst, brother-in-law of the bride, sang "Because" preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Earle Tellman accompanied him as he sang "God Gave Me You" and "The Lord's Prayer." She also played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloists during the reception.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her uncle, R. Stanley Boeve of Hudsonville, chose a gown of imported chintilly lace and net which featured a portrait neckline with iridescent sequins and pearls. A three-tiered skirt with inserts of hand-clipped chintilly lace ended in a chapel-train. The French illusion veil was held in place by matching chintilly lace and net half-hat trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a tailored colonial bouquet of white carnations and roses.

Mrs. Myron Van Ark was matron of honor, wearing a peacock blue gown with strapless velvet bodice with full flare crystal skirt and matching velvet jacket. The head-dress was an open-banded cap of matching velvet accented with rhinestones. She carried a tailored colonial bouquet of pink carnations and roses. Misses Marilyn and Sandra Boeve, sisters of the bride, wearing gowns and headpieces identical to those of the matron of honor, served as bridesmaids.

Norman Japenga assisted the groom as best man. Guests were seated by Jarold Groeters. Myron Van Ark and Kenneth Hulst of Jackson.

Jodi Japenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Japenga, was the flower girl. She wore a pink flowered nylon organdy gown with lace trim over a pink taffeta ruffled petticoat. A matching headband and mitts completed the costume. She carried a white lace basket and scattered rose petals. Dickie Boeve, nephew of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boeve, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother, selected a two-piece brocade turquoise dress with sequin and pearl trim, white hat and black accessories. The groom's mother wore a dress of hand painted blue print with matching hat and gold accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 175 guests was held in the chapel commons room. Guests were served from a buffet table with a centerpiece of pink carnations arranged around a white candle tree with pink candles. Miss Elaine Barveld and Mrs. Robert De Weerd poured.

Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Paul. Mrs. Kenneth Boeve was in charge of the guest book and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Van Ry arranged the gifts. Ronald Boeve and Miss Sonja Bouwman presided at the punch bowl and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Ry cut the cake. Assisting around the room were Mrs. Donald Schreier, Mrs. Arthur Boeve, Jr., Mrs. Vernon Overway, Mrs. Ivan Compagner, Miss Jean Mast and Miss Elaine Van Voorst.

During the reception, the Rev. John Hains, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church welcomed the guests and sang "Without a Song." Dr. John Van Peurssem of Zeeland gave appropriate remarks and Rev. De Pree pronounced the closing prayer followed by the singing of "O Perfect Love," by Mrs. Paul.

For her going away ensemble, the bride wore a self-designed sapphire velvet dress with matching hat and navy accessories.

The couple left on an Eastern wedding trip and will be at home at 364 Van Raalte Ave., after Feb. 1.

The rehearsal dinner, for 25 guests, was given on Friday evening by the groom's parents in the Centennial Room of the Warm Friend Tavern.

MACATAWA LANDMARK COMING DOWN — The 60-year-old Macatawa Hotel will soon be only a memory. Wrecking crews Jan. 16 began tearing down the old buildings (extreme left) that housed the post office and several stores. Next to come down will be the grocery store and soda fountain and a structure that provided quarters for summer help. From there the workers will move to the hotel and then finally to the dining room (left of the hotel) which was the first hotel and erected 71 years ago. Manager Dick Den Uyl said there are no present plans to rebuild. (Sentinel panoramic photo)

Library Adventures

—Arnold Mulder

I have been reading the letters of Maxwell Perkins, brought out in a volume after the death of the most famous literary editor of our time. They are so revealing that they would probably astonish many people who think of editors in book publishing houses as being concerned exclusively with picking manuscripts that will sell a hundred thousand copies.

Maxwell Perkins was the editor of Charles Scribner's Sons who recognized and developed an astonishingly large number of writers whose names have become familiar to many. They are writers such as Ernest Hemingway, latest Nobel prize winner, Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, F. Scott Fitzgerald, James Boyd, Thomas Boyd, Will James, Stark Young, S.S. Van Dine, and many others.

His greatest discovery, and the one that turned out to be the most dramatic in his career, was Thomas Wolfe. The story of how he discovered Wolfe and nursed his work into greatness has become legendary in American publishing. It resulted in heartbreak for both Wolfe and Perkins, but it also resulted in the publication of a series of some of the greatest novels of our time.

It was in the late twenties that Wolfe, then completely unknown, dumped an enormous mass of typewritten copy on the desk of Scribner's editor-in-chief. At first it seemed hopeless. There was so much copy that no one could ever hope to confine it between the covers of a single book. And it was hopelessly unorganized.

A merely routine editor would simply have had the office boy wrap it up and send it back to the author with a polite printed rejection slip. But Maxwell Perkins was not a routine editor. He saw immediately that the manuscript was that mysterious "something" that for want of a better name we call "literature."

Thomas Wolfe was a native of Asheville, North Carolina. He had put into fiction form his life as boy and young man, under the name of Eugene Gant. All the passion, all the sense of frustration, all the youthful ecstasies, all the callow, all the juvenile testings of Wolfe himself were in it — not necessarily literally but the spirit of them was there. It was a picture of what many American youths have passed through, and are passing through, in our confusing century.

The author had called the pile of manuscript "O Lost." Perkins saw immediately that that would never do — he points out in many of his letters that a title is the most important element of a novel. On his advice, Wolfe changed the title to "Look Homeward, Angel," a quotation from Milton's "Lycidas." Under that title it became one of the most famous, if not one of the most popular, books of the past 30 years.

But that was not the end of it. Day after day, night after night, month after month, Perkins sat down with Wolfe to try to whip that incoherent mass of copy into publishable form. Perkins himself did not believe the book would sell, but he was passionately sure that it ought to be published.

Somewhat surprisingly it attracted the attention of the reading public in a big way. Not the public that buys books in hundreds of thousands, but big enough for practical purposes. And Wolfe's name became one of the greatest in contemporary American literature.

The sequel was almost tragic. After several other books, Wolfe deserted the publisher who had nursed him. Maxwell Perkins, to the very end, remained Wolfe's friend. And on his deathbed Wolfe himself wrote a letter of reconciliation that is almost heartbreaking.

The story is not new but it is worth regarding as a dramatic publishing legend.

Geerlings Favors Escheat Action

State Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland introduced a bill in the Senate this week that would allow the state to escheat unclaimed trading stamps.

"There are millions of dollars worth of such stamps that are never redeemed," Geerlings said. "Some trading stamp companies even have borrowed money from banks on strength of such stamps that are not redeemed."

"This would work no hardship on retailers or customers, but simply allow the state to cash in on assets which actually do not belong to trading stamp companies since they have been paid for by the merchants."

"At the present time, New Jersey has such a law and has sued one of the trading stamp companies for more than a million dollars. The suit was settled by a circuit court in favor of the state but now has been appealed to the supreme court by the trading stamp concern."

Group Visits Animal Shelter

About 20 persons interested in the newly organized Ottawa County Humane Society paid a visit to the Kalamazoo animal shelter Friday to obtain information on what is involved in designing and maintaining a model animal shelter.

The Kalamazoo establishment is considered one of the best shelters in the area and it was on suggestion of Douglas Culmer of Flint, head of the Michigan Humane Federation, that the Kalamazoo shelter be visited before plans for any new shelter for Holland are made.

The local delegation was particularly impressed by the well designed Kalamazoo shelter which has a fairly large business office, three areas for dog and cat kennels including one room for boarding animals. The shelter has its own ambulance for pets.

Of particular interest to the men in the party was the execution chamber where dogs and cats are destroyed and the crematorium where carcasses are disposed of. The vacuum chamber system of execution is considered more humane than the gas chamber. The establishment also has a kitchen, storage, etc.

Women were particularly interested in procedures in bookkeeping, fees, and general paper work of such an organization. And naturally, everybody was interested in the "guests," nearly all of them dogs and just a few cats.

The first meeting in the interests of organizing a local humane society was held here Jan. 6 and the organization known as the Ottawa County Humane Society filed articles of incorporation shortly afterwards. Although general aims of humane societies are far reaching, the local organization will start out with improvements at dog pounds, etc. A good share of activity of the society will be educational.

Dowagiac Scores Startling Upset On Home Floor

DOWAGIAC (Special) — Time ran out on the Holland Christian cage squad here Friday night as the Maroons were edged by Dowagiac, 48-47 in a real thriller. The loss gives the Dutch a 6-4 mark for the year, while the Chieftans now have a 4-4 mark.

Trailing by three points with 22 seconds left, Center Dave Vander Hill put in a layup after the Dutch had stolen the ball with a surprise all-court press. Then with just three seconds left the Dutch intercepted another pass with Vander Hill passing to Herm Tuls who stood all alone under the basket, but the gun went off before Tuls could get the shot away.

Just previous to the late rally, the Maroons had fought back from a nine point deficit in three minutes time. However, some timely shooting and an effective stall prevented the Dutch from getting control of the ball for any length of time, other than a steal off from the press.

Taking full advantage of their pint-sized court, Coach Walt Wilson's Dowagiac club employed a collapsing defense on the Maroon forward wall, permitting very little movement on the offense. With the only alternative to shoot from out, the Dutch did just that. But here is where the story is told in shooting statistics. Although the Maroons were getting excellent shots from the foul lane, they only managed to hit 15 for 61 tries for a poor 24 per cent. Good examples were the shooting totals of the Dutch's two high scorers, Warren Boer and Vander Hill. Boer hit on one out of 16 tries and Vander Hill on three out of 17. Vander Hill, however did a tremendous rebounding job on both boards.

While the Dutch were having shooting difficulties, the Chieftans were finding their home court to their liking, hitting several outcourt baskets at crucial times. The two big guns in the Chieftan attack were two of the fastest guards the Dutch have faced all season. They were hard - driving Larry Jenkins and Lonnie Pompey. These two boys, both vets, kept the Dutch defense in trouble all night. When they didn't score on their own drives, they usually had the Maroon defense so off of position that they could easily pass off to their 6'5" center, Jack Gould for an easy layup.

For three quarters the contest was a nip-and-tuck affair, but the Dutch never could get a hot streak to pull out to more than a one-point lead. Midway in the first period, the locals trailed 10-4, before Dave Bos connected from the foul lane to give the Dutch a 12-12 tie at the quarter's end.

The second period was a spury affair, with both clubs scoring in furies, but the Dutch always had to come from behind. Behind 22-16 near the close, Christian tallied six of their own to tie the score. A basket just before the half ended gave the Chiefs a 24-22 advantage.

Christian held one point leads on three different occasions in the third quarter but a basket on the third stanza buzzer again gave the Orange and Black a 34-33 lead.

Dowagiac broke a 36-36 tie with a nine point rally to start the final period. But when all seemed over, seven straight of their own. Then came the hectic final two minutes of the tilt.

From the foul lane, the Dutch hit a very good 17 out of 23. Bos hit 10 for 10 in the first half. Dowagiac hit on six out of 17 tries. Bos led all scorers with 23 tallies while Jenkins led the winners with 13.

Christian's next game is at St. Joe on Friday.

Christian High Debaters End Season With Victory

Holland Christian's debate squad, under Coach Hero Bratt, closed one of their most successful seasons Friday afternoon by taking two decisions from Otsego debaters in Otsego. The wins gave the locals seven victories in eight debates.

Christian, by virtue of their season's record, now qualifies for the state tournament rounds, sponsored by the Michigan Forensic Association. To qualify for the final rounds, a school must have won at least five decisions out of eight debates.

In Friday's debates, the Christian negative squad composed of Rich Hertel and Larry Dykstra defeated the Otsego affirmative team of Pat Krueger and Dave Brown. Holland's negative team of Carl Van Appledorn and Phil Damstra defeated the Otsego negative team made up of Martha Wallers and Jim Brown.

Christian's negative team won all four of their debates this season while the affirmative squad won three out of four. Question for debate this year is: Resolved, that the Federal government should guarantee higher education to qualified students by means of grants to colleges and universities.

Judges for the debates at Otsego were Professors Dedde Herman and Charles Halgeson, both of Western College. Dick Colwell is the Otsego coach.

Victim of Shark Well Known Here

Missionary Les Burton of Grand Rapids, who died Jan. 16 in Nicaragua after he was attacked by a shark while swimming in San Juan River, was well known to leaders of the Immanuel Church Boys Brigade here. Two months ago, Burton met with Immanuel leaders in the interests of boys' work. He was active in organizing the Brigade here in 1948 and also worked in Brigade headquarters in Chicago.

Just before the missionary, his wife and their three children left Grand Rapids two weeks ago, he met with Brigade leaders at Yankee Springs. Wesley Bauman and other local Brigade leaders were at the meeting.

The family was en route to their assigned missionary station in Costa Rica. They stopped for customs at the Nicaragua-Costa Rica border and while waiting, Burton and his son, Charles, 14, decided to take a swim. The man was almost immediately attacked by a shark which severed his leg at the knee. He reached shore but died of loss of blood. The son did not enter the river.

Rep. Hoffman Will Seek Re-Election To His 12th Term

ALLEGAN, Mich. — Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, one of the oldest members of Congress, revealed Friday that he will run for another term, his 12th, this year.

The fiery 80-year-old lawmaker disclosed his intention to seek re-election when he described himself as "a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressmen at the August primary" in a newsletter to his constituents.

That was the only reference Hoffman made on his political plans and some observers wondered whether he intended to announce his candidacy in that manner or whether he did it unintentionally.

Hoffman started the newsletter

off by saying his "guess — it is nothing but a guess" is that President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon will make up the GOP ticket this year.

Then he revealed that he would be a candidate, adding that "if nominated and elected I intend to give, as I have in the past, vigorous support to the administration's legislative program."

"That does not mean, however, that I will either speak or vote for everything and anything that may be suggested by anyone and everyone who presumes to speak for the administration," Hoffman said.

"If all congressmen followed that course, there would be no need to elect congressmen. Just give the elected president blank ballots and let him fill them in as the occasion might arise.

"Who wants a rubber-stamp congressman?" asked Hoffman who likes nothing better than a good fight, regardless of whether it involves members of his own party or Democrats.

Hoffman will be 81 next Sept. 10.

He said, "We need roads; we need schools; some of our unfortunate, some of our aged need additional assistance; our farmers will need help in extricating themselves from the farm policies given us during the war by the Democratic Administrations. In my humble judgment, there are not enough dollars to take care of our own needs and to pledge billions of dollars each year for the next ten years to aid other nations.

"Since World War II, we have given other nations $38,000,000,000 for economic aid, $17,000,000,000 for military aid, a total of $55,000,000. (Additional billions of dollars worth of military property was given to friendly and enemy countries in the closing days of the war.) It is doubtful if today even one of these nations will wholeheartedly go along with us in any program where it thinks its own interest might adversely be affected.

"Until our tax rate can be lowered, our national debt reduced, the farm problem solved, the needs of our own people more adequately met, I cannot by my vote promise to, for 10 years, each year send billions of dollars abroad. Regardless of the desirability of such a program, this Congress cannot bind future Congresses to make appropriations.

"Let us first take care of the needs of our own folks, make adequate our program for national defense. Doesn't home work come first?"

New Entrance Solves Problem

ALLEGAN (Special) — A serious labor problem was solved by officials of the Crescent companies by constructing a new entrance to their plant on M-89, just east of Allegan.

Addition of the door, and leveling of a second parking lot made it possible for some 50 employees of the Crescent Machine Company to go back to work Friday without crossing picket lines set up by the 30 employees of the Crescent Pipe and Nipple Company.

Both firms occupy the same plant and, when pipe company workers went on strike Tuesday, employees of the machine company refused to cross their picket lines. A separate entrance and parking lot was established on the east side of the building for the pipe company allowing the other workers to enter the plant without crossing the picket lines.

Both union and company officials stated they were not far apart in their negotiation efforts. The union's demand for a closed shop is the main issue at bargaining sessions.

Meanwhile, at the L. Perrigo Company's two plants here, the city's first major strike in its history will be two weeks old Monday with no agreement in sight. The closed shop is a major issue in this deadlock as well, but reports indicate the company has made no effort to open negotiations. An official of the AF of L Carpenters Union, local 2619, indicated the dispute was "now in the hands of a federal mediator." No date has been set for a meeting between the company, the union and the mediator, however.

Ford Would Ease Limit on Income

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr. (R-Mich.) this week introduced a bill to change social security provisions and allow a widow with minor children to earn up to $3,600 a year without losing survivorship benefits.

The present earning limitation is $1,200 a year.

"I don't think a widow with minor children should be limited to earning $1,200 a year to receive survivorship benefits which her deceased husband has helped to finance," Rep. Ford said.

"Many women in this category find it difficult to get along under such stringent provisions."

Ford said the $1,200 earning limit refers only to earned income, and that the widow at present does not lose those benefits which come to the family because of the children if she earns more than that amount.

He said he was prompted to introduce the measure by a widow in Belmont who talked with him while his "mobile office" was making a tour of his Fifth Congressional District between the 1955 and 1956 sessions of Congress.

Kazoo Wallops Hope Quintet

Dutchmen Lose Their Foothold On Second Place

A determined, smooth working Kalamazoo College cage squad knocked Hope out of second place in the MIAA, Saturday night by handing the Dutch a convincing 76-63 defeat on the Civic Center court. A near capacity crowd turned out to see the clash between the two arch rivals.

By virtue of the Hope defeat, Hillsdale takes over the runnerup spot in the league standings, boasting a 5-2 record. Hope's loss was its second in a row in conference play against four wins. Kazoo now has a 5-3 record.

It took the Hornet offense a while before it got rolling, but once it did they were too tough for the locals. Using just two substitutes in the game, the Kazoo club just wouldn't be denied and definitely appear to be on the upgrade after a slow start this season.

Sparked by Holland's own Dave Moran and teammate Gary Morrison, the invaders gave the huge crowd the impression that they knew what they were doing all night long. Regardless of the type of defense the Dutch used, zone, or man-to-man, the Hornets broke through with comparative ease with some fine passing, and floor work, Moran, particularly in the first half, was the troublemaker for the Dutch, shooting with either hand and displaying aggressive all around play.

Hope, meanwhile just wasn't having a good night, both shooting and otherwise. Coach John Visser substituted freely in an effort to find the right combination, hoping that someone would light the fuse on a scoring rally. Aside from the first few minutes of the tilt, the Dutch never could get a sustained scoring drive underway.

Perhaps the biggest factor in the Hope defeat was inability to control the boards. Coach Ray Steffen's Kazoo club with 6'7" Doug Steffen leading the way, did a fine job in keeping Hope's Paul Benes away from the boards, while smaller teammates would grab the rebounds. The occasions were few and far between that Hope got two successive shots at the hoop. With Benes sitting out almost half the game because of three fouls in the first 10 minutes, the Dutch had trouble getting clean rebounds on the defensive boards to start their fast break.

With Harold Molenaar leading the way in the first few minutes of the tilt, the locals moved out to a 10-2 lead and appeared to be off. However, at this point, the winners started to hit against the Hope zone and soon had the lead whittled to 14-12. Both clubs traded baskets until Benes left with nine minutes left and Hope leading 19-18. The Dutch went out of their zone and the Hornets started their screen plays to move into a five point lead.

Reserve Jun Buurman then hit three from outcourt in the next few minutes to help the Dutch take a 28-27 lead. Moran and Morrison took over at this point to send the Hornets out in front, never again to be headed. By halftime the invaders led 41-34.

Kalamazoo opened the second half right where they left off in the first, and soon built up a 51-37 margin with less than four minutes gone. From then on they upped their margin to 17 points before the Dutch began to whittle. By the 10 minute mark, Hope was still in a threatening position, trailing 63-51.

But the Kazoo lads were not to be denied as they matched Hope basket for basket in the final 10 minutes. They began a semi-stall with four minutes left and coasted into the win.

From the foul lane, Hope hit on 15 out of 22 tries while Kalamazoo connected on 12 out of 25. Whitey Riemersma paced the Dutch with 15 markers followed by Molenaar with 13. Steward led Kazoo with 18, followed by Morrison with 17. Hope next journeys to Manchester, Ind., on Tuesday night. The two clubs were in the same Thanksgiving tournament at Richmond, Ind., but did not meet. Manchester defeated Kalamazoo 86-72 in their only other appearance against a Michigan club.

Talk of Tax Cut Heard Following Surplus Forecast

Legislature Receives Bill to Ease Load On the Businessman

LANSING — The State Legislature was offered a chance to give the businessman a tax cut today, and it may do it before the session ends.

Rep. John W. Fletcher (R-Centerville) introduced a bill calling for a 15 per cent reduction in the business receipts tax.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has estimated the tax, increased by the 1955 Legislature, will produce 70 million dollars during the next fiscal year compared with an estimated 56 million for the current fiscal year.

This sizeable increase has started the Republican leadership thinking that a tax cut might be in order, especially in the light of Williams' statement that the state's general fund will show a 2 million dollar surplus this year.

This is an election year, making the possibility of a tax cut even more appealing to the Legislature than other years.

Fletcher's proposal would knock 15 mills off the rate on which business receipts tax payments are figured, reducing the rate to five mills. The 1955 Legislature increased the rate from four mills to the current 6.5 mills.

The reduction would affect 74,000 business firms which now pay the tax and would cut revenues by more than 10 million dollars.

The business receipts tax rate on public utilities of 1.5 mills, increased one half mill by the 1955 Legislature, would not be affected by Fletcher's proposal.

Rep. Harry T. Emmons (R-Byron Center) would make auto owners who do not have personal liability or property damage insurance coverage guilty of a misdemeanor if they were involved in an accident.

A bill prohibiting school bus drivers from stopping on a highway to discharge or receive passengers unless the bus is visible for 500 feet in both directions was introduced by Rep. Cyril H. Root (R-Bangor).

The Senate started debate on a bill offered by Sen. Don Vander Werp (R-Fremont) to permit introduction of chemical tests as court evidence in drunk driving cases, but postponed further consideration until next Monday night.

Grand Rapids Duo Wins Exhibitions

Art Sweeris, open division singles table-tennis champion of Grand Rapids, defeated Martin Stahel of Holland in an exhibition match at Longfellow School gym Wednesday night, 21-15, 25-23, and 21-18.

Stahel was novice champion of Holland in 1954 and was beaten in the 1955 tournament by Gary Witterdink, the 1955 open division champion. Witterdink won from Bill Allen, three-time open division champion of Holland.

In the second game of that three-out-of-five match Stahel was ahead by a 11-4 score and had an add advantage three times before dropping the decision.

Don Williams, present open division-doubles champion of Grand Rapids topped Holland's George Moes, in another singles exhibition match, 21-17, 21-17, 19-21 and 21-18.

Moes in the 1948 doubles champion of Holland and was defeated by Fred Lubben in the 1955 tournament. Lubben subsequently was defeated by Stahel.

Mrs. Ver Plank Speaks to Society

Release from the drudgery of household tasks to a world of lovely thoughts was effectively demonstrated Wednesday night as Mrs. Marvin Ver Plank of Zeeland treated 70 members of Trinity Ladies' Aid society to imaginary views "from her kitchen window."

As escape from the complexity of modern life and opportunity for personal evaluation, Mrs. Lindbergh recommends a quiet time alone in prayer, meditation and "inward looking."

Mrs. Abby Aldrich Rockefeller was presented as a striking example of a woman who learned to live with wealth and who teaches the valuable lesson that justice, truth, wit, charm, gaiety and the love of people are far more important than material possessions. The important relationship between individual principles and conduct was emphasized by Arnold Bennett in his "How to Live on 24 Hours a Day" which also provides much material for self evaluation.

In an adventurous mood, Mrs. Ver Plank chose a bright snowy day to view Mr. Everest's peak through her kitchen window. Reviewing the exhilarating passage from "Tiger of the Snows," she read Tenzing's breathless description of his and Hillary's view from Everest's lofty height. In attaining success on his seventh attempt, the Sherpa guide felt the mountain no longer was a lifeless mass of ice and snow but a warm, friendly living thing.

Collections of Edna St. Vincent Millay's sonnets and letters, sentimental gifts from the speaker's husband, provided a delightful excursion into the realm of poetry as Mrs. Ver Plank read the touching "Time Does Not Bring Relief." Albert Schweitzer's renunciation of personal pleasures and securities for the rugged life of a medical missionary well proved the adage, she pointed out, that "He who loathes his life shall save it."

A glimpse into the make-believe world of the theater with an amusing anecdote from "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A" by Richard Aldrich provided a "smile to complete window views gleaned by the speaker in the precious "golden hours so often lost each day."

Hostesses for the meeting were the Mesdames John Overway, John Percival and Ben Rutgers. Mrs. John Spyker correlated current news headlines with her devotional thoughts as she urged that America return to God. Pianist was Mrs. Miner Stegenga.

Mrs. Ada C. Naber of 'New Gronigen spent Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nieboer.

Alert Local Girl Thwarts Attempt To Pick Her Up

Remembers License, And Make of Car; Man Hospitalized

The alertness and memory of a nine-year-old Holland girl furnished police with information that led to the arrest of a man who attempted to pick up the youngster.

The girl was walking home from school Friday afternoon when a man attempted to entice her into his car, parked at the curb.

She refused to go near the car and walked on. The man quickly drove off but not before the girl had noted the make, model and license number of his car.

The youngster walked the remaining eight blocks to her home repeating the license number to herself over and over. She didn't forget.

The girl's mother immediately called police and told them what had happened and gave them the information her daughter had remembered.

Police traced the license number of the car, which had been sold a half dozen times, before finding the present owner, a Holland man.

The 25-year-old married man admitted the attempt and agreed he needed hospitalization.

The man was immediately taken to a hospital in Grand Rapids.

Although a warrant was sworn out charging the man with molesting he was not arraigned in court as yet.

Police said the warrant is still in effect and when the man is released from the hospital he could be charged with the crime.

Officers said the hospital will not release him under any conditions, except to them.

The man's identity was not revealed since he was not charged in court with a crime. When he is arraigned the man's name will be made known.

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff was high in his praise of the youngster for remembering so accurately the information she did and for not getting into the car.

Van Hoff said that many adults when phoning in complaints do not have the correct information as the girl did.

He urged parents to again caution their children never to accept candy, money or rides from strangers. If their youngsters are approached he requests that police headquarters be notified immediately.

Committee Wants Land Returned

A committee of Ottawa County citizens met at Robar School recently and adopted a two-pronged resolution urging the federal government to return federal land to the county to local tax rolls and that the government return title to said land to a local committee.

The resolution will be forwarded to the United States Congress for further action, according to the committee.

It proposes that parts of the federally owned land be used for residential areas because expanding population has pushed home construction on all sides of the land. It also said some of the land should be returned for agriculture use, especially blueberry production. The committee feels some of the land is needed by local governmental units to expand recreation facilities and some should be made available for industrial and commercial use.

It points out that the added income through taxes would result in better roads, increased school revenues and drain taxes would be collected, thereby leading to necessary drainage ditches.

The committee asks that the land be returned to the county board of supervisors, 15 committees selected from each of three Ottawa townships having government land within their boundaries.

It proposes in turn that the local committee supervise selling and transferring the land in the most equitable manner possible.

Those signing the resolution were Marion Van Slooten, Clarence Reenders, Edward Measom, Lester Fuile, Albert De Ridder and William Taylor.

250 Attend Annual Meeting

A record attendance of 250 farmers and their wives attended the annual meeting and election of officers of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District at Allendale Town Hall Saturday.

Directors re-elected were Clarence Reenders and William Sinderman. Both men have served for a number of years. Reenders is one of the original board members and has a perfect attendance record since he has not missed a regular meeting since 1938. Other candidates were Arnold Schaeffer of Chester Township and Matt Adema of Tallmadge Township.

The noon meal provided by the ladies of the Beaverdam Reformed Church was one of the high spots of the day. It was voted to continue this type of meeting next year. The possible acquisition of two new tools was discussed by the group. One of these is a pasture renovator that will seed and fertilize native grass land with no previous ground preparation.

It was pointed out that there are thousands of acres of such lands in the county that are in need of being planted to a good legume such as alfalfa or birdsfoot trefoil. The possible purchase of a post peeler was also discussed. Dick Machiele, County Agent pointed out that many of our pine tree plantations in the county are now approaching the size where some of the trees could be thinned for fence posts. Peeling and treating of the posts would be necessary before they could be sold. Considerable interest was shown by many members present. It is planned to have a general county meeting at a later date to discuss these tools further.

Music was furnished by the Christian Reformed School of Allendale and a magic act was provided by Merlin Terrill.

Holland All-Stars Lose to Visitors In Polio Benefit

A fourth quarter rally by the Holland All-Stars fell one point short Saturday night as the locals bowed to the Grand Haven All-Stars 79-78 at the Armory. The game was played for the benefit of the Polio fund.

Behind 62-55 going into the last quarter, the Dutch outscored their Ottawa County rivals by six points, but it wasn't quite enough. Ken Bauman, R. A. Van Dyke, and Al Nelson sparked the last ditch drive that fell short.

Grand Haven started out with a bang and before the smoke had cleared, had a 26-17 lead. Then it was Bauman and Nelson hitting and the two teams left the floor at halftime with Holland on the long end of a 41-35 score.

With Fred Kalsbeek and Bud Berg pumping from all angles, the Bucs went wild in the third session and ended up with their seven-point margin going into the last quarter. Then came Holland's last late period drive.

Bauman led the Holland scoring with 22 points followed by Nelson with 16. Other Dutch pointmakers were Van Dyke 10, Ken Schippers, John Mulder, and Ron Nykamp, 8, and Jack Kempker with 6.

Also hitting for 22 points were Grand Haven's high point men, Kalsbeek and Berg. Phil Clark ended up with 13, Bob Van Shelvan and Bob Teasley 6, and Frank Maggiore and Ed Molenkamp 5. These same two all-star teams will play a return game in Grand Haven on Thursday, Feb. 3 in the Senior High School gym.

In the pregame game, H. E. Morse defeated General Electric 61-41. Ron Bekius of Morse was high in the game with 22 points.

Economy Risks Top Position

First place Economy I.G.A. (5-1) puts its top position on the line Wednesday night in the feature game of the Holland City League card in the Armory. Holland Beverage (4-2) will furnish the opposition in the 7:45 game.

The opener at 6:30 pits Sears (4-2) against Barber Fords (2-4). The nightcap will bring together H. E. Morse (3-3) and the VFW (0-6).

A win for the Beverage lads would throw them into a tie for the league lead. In their previous encounter, the Grocers were the victors.

Sears could also slip into first by beating the college-laden Ford team, although they must receive an assist from Hollander. Barber won the last time they met.

Favored H. E. Morse could move right back into the thick of things if they can beat the winless Vets.

Volleys

There have been a few occasions when we mentioned the possibility of changing the name of this column to "Over the Coffee Cups" or some such title, feeling it might be more in keeping with local anecdotes (most of which are picked up over the coffee cups) than the pithy "Volleys From Ambush" which somehow got shortened lately to "Volleys."

Most persons seemed agreeable to a change, but lacked real conviction. It was more of a so-so yes-yes approval.

It remained for our good friend Julius B. Wood way off in Washington to give us, a real answer . . . a sharp rejoinder with no shilly - shallying. He wrote:

"Possibly there are personal or editorial reasons for changing the name of Volleys. It will destroy continuity and confuse those who customarily read it. Publishers fight against 'hanging the name of a column or cartoon strip even when the author dies or gets a better job."

"Volleys is unique and descriptive of the contents. 'Over the Coffee Cups' is a worn cliché, varying only as to what's in the cups, and suggesting housekeeping and feminine gossip, even though coffee drinking is a Sentinel dissipation from top brass down."

"It might be pepped up with a half - column cut of yourself or a less smudgy line drawing in a lighter vein — a gal taking notes, a gnome with a gun in one hand and the other behind his ear, or W. A. Butler shooting a stuffed shirt (pick the target) or what the local humorists may suggest as an eye-catching identification."

"With hopes West Michigan's greatest news source survives the terrible crisis . . . Junius."

Thank, Junius. "Volleys From Ambush" it remains!

The local Red Cross office which each year sends out Christmas gifts to U. S. servicemen on the high seas has received several acknowledgments of gratitude.

John E. Pease, home town Fort Wayne, Ind., wrote: "The gifts were received aboard the USS Mitchell which was carrying us to Korea. Strange enough, the ship passed the International date line on Dec. 24 at which time we jumped to Dec. 26. So you can see, such gifts really make our eyes pop. To be frank, I never appreciated the work of the Red Cross until now. Most certainly your work is to be praised."

Donald C. Thayer wrote: "Thank you very much for the Christmas gift. It made me feel like I was home opening my presents instead of on a ship for Korea. Thanks again a million."

Dennis Nellermoe wrote: "It was nice to know that even if we are 3,000 miles away from home we aren't quite forgotten. I can make use of everything except the tobacco pouch — I don't smoke. Thanks again and may God bless you in the wonderful work you are carrying out throughout the world."

There was some brisk salesmanship shown just before the last school board meeting. Scholarly Lester Kuyper was first to come up with a handful of yellow tickets for the Exchange Club auto show. At that moment Carl Andersen arrived and topped them all. "Anybody want a ticket for the $100 Eisenhower dinner?"

Ladies Night Held At Exchange Club

William Skadden of Springfield, Ill., was speaker at the annual Ladies' Night banquet of the Holland Exchange Club Monday night. His topic was "You Can't Miss It."

Mr. Skadden has lectured in every state in the nation and has traveled by almost every method of transportation known to the American people. As a result he has been able to see this country more intimately than most people.

"There are some characteristics that an extensive traveler cannot miss," he said. "For one thing ours is a magnificent country in size. It is also a beautiful country."

Greatly impressed by the productivity of the soil, he said that industrial capacity is the talk of the world. The greatest single characteristic is the people. The entire nation has become one great melting pot — a miracle that has occurred in no other country. Then too, the average American is optimistic about his own and his nation's future, optimistic in spite of his habit of worrying about things, 85 percent of which never happen and 15 percent he can't do anything about anyway, he said.

Preceding the address, James Nevel sang three solos accompanied by Miss Ann Bloodgood. Both are students at Hope College.

John Van Dyke, Jr., presided at the meeting and vice president, Ray N. Smith, introduced the speaker.

It takes a GIANT...

It takes a giant to develop the massive amounts of power today's production requires.

It takes no less a giant to generate the sales power your advertising requires. That giant is newspapers.

Last year advertisers spent $2,695,000,000 in newspapers—more than they spent in radio, TV, magazines and outdoor combined!

Newspaper circulation is at an all-time high. Over 55,000,000 newspapers are bought daily by people in all walks of life.

Today, every selling job is a giant selling job. Use a giant to do that job. Use the newspaper!

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.
