Vander Jagt Describes European Trip

By Rep. Guy Vander Jagt
A recent trip with a Congressional group to inspect scientific space installations in Western Europe was one of the most valuable experiences in my career.

What I saw confirmed a feeling I had that we can save American taxpayers millions of dollars by having European countries build their own satellites. We would save a lot of money and yet share all the scientific knowledge gained by European scientists.

Furthermore, such a program would require other countries to make substantial purchases of American-made equipment, which would significantly reduce our current balance-of-payments problem.

Although much of our trip was ordered as "classified" by the State Department, I can report on some of the activities we witnessed, without violating national security. My report is in two parts. Next week I will describe the second phase of our 13-day trip.

The first installation we inspected was the Jodrell radio-telescope outside of London, which is operated by the University of Manchester. We obtain vital information on a contract basis without having to invest millions of dollars in our own installation.

This powerful listening post, among other accomplishments, has discovered that Russian satellites are photographing virtually every inch of the United States.

The free work facility gives us a valuable method of keeping track of all hardware floating around in space.

Working with American experts and using equipment built in our country, the university scientists are doing a remarkable job. And, the "rent" we pay for use of the listening post in England is an excellent investment.

Near Paris we inspected the French space center where satellites are built. They are shot into space from Cape Kennedy using our rockets. The system works well. We share the knowledge and research.

It was gratifying to note the extensive use of American-made equipment in France and all the other countries. America's technological superiority was demonstrated to us by the extensive use of American-made equipment in all European space programs we inspected.

It is unfortunate that President Charles de Gaulle doesn't share this splendid neighborly attitude of the French people. We heard widespread criticism of Mr. de Gaulle. The people of France we talked with believe their leader is too interested in his own grandeur and personal power. They think he is out to wreck the economy of our country, which they highly respect, particularly for saving France from Hitler.

I was dismayed, by the way, to see what a poor job President Johnson's Department of Commerce is doing in France and other countries to promote travel in our land.

Instead of restricting the freedom of Americans to travel abroad, the Johnson Administration would be better advised to carry out the orders of Congress to actively and regularly encourage Europeans to visit our country.

European scientists told us that they believe America is ahead of Russia in the space field. They pointed out that the Russians put all of their effort in one spectacular project at a time, while we have a more broadly-based, comprehensive space program.

Next week I will report on scientific space installations we inspected in other European countries, including one of America's vital facilities located in a desolate hard-to-reach site in Spain.

Sgt. Dorgelo Gets Oak Leaf Award

Sgt. Larry J. Dorgelo, who in June was awarded the Army Commendation Medal for heroism in the Republic of Vietnam on April 1, 1967, received another award, the First Oak Leaf Cluster Army Commendation Medal in October, it was revealed following his return to the States Jan. 9. He was in Vietnam for a year.

Sgt. Dorgelo at present is spending a 34-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dorgelo, 368 West 20th St., before returning to his new station at Fort Carson, Colo.

Dorgelo, who had been in several major battles in Vietnam, received the second Army Commendation Medal, First Oak Leaf Cluster with "V" Device, on Oct. 31.

The letter accompanying the Certificate of Commendation reads as follows: "For Heroism: On July 18, 1967, Specialist Dorgelo was serving as a machine gunner for his company which was called on to assist an infantry unit engaged with a numerically superior insurgent force. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Specialist Dorgelo exposed himself to intensive enemy fire as he moved to a forward position from which he could place devastating fire on the advancing insurgents.

"His unit quickly gained fire superiority and forced the insurgents to flee in complete disorder. Spec. Dorgelo then participated in a sweep of the area to insure the total withdrawal of the enemy. His bold initiative and undaunted courage significantly contributed to the defeat of a large Viet Cong force. Sp/4 Dorgelo's actions are in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, the 1st Infantry Division, and the United States Army."

The message was signed by J. H. Hay, Major General, USA, Commanding.

Hamilton Stops Maple Valley

MAPLE VALLEY — Hamilton High's basketball team trounced Maple Valley, 67-42, here Friday night in an Expressway league game leaving Hamilton with a 3-0 league record compared to Maple Valley's 0-3 mark.

Hamilton held the lead the entire game scoring 15-9, 32-20 and 54-30. During the first quarter Hamilton utilized a full court press but secured only a 29 per cent field goal percentage.

The third quarter saw Hamilton come to life by outscoring Maple Valley 22-10. Larry Sternberg netted six baskets during the third period and pulled down 12 rebounds in the game. Teammate Cliff Haverdink grabbed 18 rebounds to be top rebounder of the game.

Free throw wise Hamilton netted 17 of 36 for 47 per cent, while Maple Valley made 12 of 24 for 50 per cent.

Hamilton controlled the boards throughout, grabbing 69 rebounds compared to their opponents 35.

In total shooting percentages Hamilton tallied 28 per cent by making 25 out of 90 and Maple Valley hit 15 out of 50 for 30 per cent.

Sternberg took the honors by netting 14 points. Heinze led the losers with 11.

West Ottawa Falls, 52-44 To Maroons

Holland Christian's basketball team nearly saw their unbeaten string vanish Friday night, before downing a fighting West Ottawa crew, 52-44. The game was played in the West Ottawa gym before 2600 fans.

With the exception of brief moments West Ottawa led for three-and-a-half quarters. When the Maroons did lead, their biggest margin was two points until 2:05 left in the game, while the Panthers on three occasions held five point leads.

As indicated by the low score, the game was a battle of defenses, with the Panthers swarming all over the Maroon players, refusing to give them good shots. Meanwhile, Christian held West Ottawa to only 47 shots in the game, which was a key factor in their win.

Dan Brower opened the scoring for the Maroons with the only 15 seconds old. This was countered by Greg Dalman's bucket for the Panthers. Dalman added another basket and two free throws to help the Panthers to a 13-8 advantage, before Bob Van Langevelde and Steve Bushouse scored, narrowing the Panther lead to 13-12 at the quarter break.

Sophomore Les Zomermaand, playing an outstanding game, gave the Panthers a 15-12 lead. Jim Vogelzang and Van Langevelde put Christian one up, only to have the Panthers streak to a 23-18 lead paced by Visser, with a basket and two free throws.

The Maroons again took a one-point lead before West Ottawa took a 27-26 halftime lead.

Christian was held to three baskets in the third period, two of them by Bushouse, and Zomermaand scored three of the Panthers' four baskets, as West Ottawa held a 39-35 margin going into the final period.

Christian's fine defense and poise paid off in the final quarter, as they held West Ottawa to two baskets and a free throw in the fourth period.

With the Panthers leading 41-38, the Maroons took charge, scoring the next ten points. The rally featured baskets by Bob Dozeman, Bushouse's go-ahead bucket at the 4:25 mark, and Jim Vogelzang. With a 44-41 lead Van Langevelde connected on four straight charity tosses for a 48-41 margin with 1:21 left to play.

West Ottawa, with two sophomores and two juniors in the starting lineup did a remarkable job against the talented Maroons, and could be a real power in another year.

The Panthers for much of the game held the upper hand, and had Vogelzang, Bushouse and Brower in foul difficulty as early as the third period. However, Bob Dozeman did a fine job for coach Art Tuls, as he spelled his front line players, and scored eight points.

Both teams had sub-par shooting nights, as Christian hit 32 per cent on 20 baskets in 62 tries, and the Panthers made 16 of 47 for 34 per cent.

The Maroons had a 33-25 edge in rebounding, with Vogelzang getting 13 and Zomermaand 10. Bushouse led the scorers with 17, followed by Van Langevelde with 11 and Vogelzang 10. Zomermaand had 16 and Len Loncki 10 for West Ottawa.

Christian, now 10-0, meets powerful River Rouge next week Saturday in the Civic Center. West Ottawa, with a 6-3 record, plays at Wyoming next week Friday.

PLAYERS FOR MISSIONARIES—The Rev. Harvey Hoekstra (right) a missionary who has worked for four years among the Mesengos in Ethiopia, discusses one of the tape players he will take with him on his return to Africa, with Dr. Ronald Beery, assistant professor of physics at Hope College and the developer of Portable Recording Ministers, the organization supplying the players to Hoekstra. (Sentinel photo)

Missionary to Use Tape Players at Ethiopia Post

When the Rev. Harvey Hoekstra, his wife Levinia and their three youngest children return to the rain forests of southwest Ethiopia next June they will carry with them tape playing devices which they will use in their missionary work among the 15,000 Mesengo indians at Godare River Post, 350 miles southwest of Addis Ababa, the capitol of Ethiopia.

A total of 45 battery-operated, continuous-loop tape players and some 360 tape loop cartridges will be supplied to Hoekstra and his associates in Ethiopia by a missionary service organization, Portable Recording Ministries, that was begun by the Fourth Reformed Church of Holland under the direction of Dr. Ronald Beery, assistant professor of physics at Hope College. Bethel and Trinity Reformed Churches and a number of individuals have also joined in the support of the organization's work.

Hoekstra has been a missionary in Africa since 1948, working mostly except for the last four years, which he spent in Ethiopia, in the Sudan, where his assignment was to translate the New Testament into Anuk, a language that up until that time had only been spoken. The project took 13 years and was published in 1962 by the Bible Society.

When Hoekstra was expelled with all other missionaries in the Sudan in 1962, he heard about the Mesengo tribe in Ethiopia and applied for visas to enter the country and find them. With the aid of the crown princess, Haile Selassie's daughter-in-law, who is interested in the missionaries' work, Hoekstra received the visas and made arrangements to reach the Mesengos, a primitive tribe that had never been exposed to white men.

Hoekstra first found the grounds of the tribe, which is semi-nomadic, with the help of six mules, two horses and about 200 carriers, most of whom would only carry within definite areas of the forest and had to be replaced as different areas were entered. The trip took ten days.

Hoekstra said that the main work of the first years was the building of an airfield, which allowed the Missionary Aviation Fellowship planes to land with supplies instead of dropping them into a clearing at the site; clearing the area for permanent buildings and making contact with the people; generally, the physical problems of starting a post.

One of the helps used by missionaries in making contact with the people, Hoekstra said, is the phonograph with records of music and recordings in the language of the host community or tribe. The use of phonographs is extensive, but the impracticalities of them—possible breakage of either the machine or records, technical problems when used by inexperienced field workers, relatively short life span of the records, the rather short playing time—have been mimimized with the introduction of the tape player.

The use of the tape player in place of the phonograph and records was the "brain child" of Dr. Beery, who said that the idea came to him when Hoekstra was speaking at his church.

Dr. Beery explained that the continuous-loop tape player is unique in that it cannot record nor can the tape be erased. It uses a new 1/4 inch tape in an endless loop cartridge and is operated by simply inserting the cartridge straight into the player, turning the player on. Removal of the cartridge turns it off. The only adjustment to be made is in the volume, which can be amplified by attaching a speaker.

Dr. Beery is designing and constructing special recording and duplicating equipment which will allow the preparation of ten minute tapes to be made in appropriate tribal language. ALso, Gospel Recordings, Inc., through a cooperative agreement, can offer their entire 3,500 language record library to missionaries through Portable Recording Ministries, Dr. Beery said.

Hoekstra, a graduate of Hope College, and his wife, who is originally from Holland, will be returning to a metal roof, cement floor home when they go back to Ethiopia for a five year term, and their three youngest children, Carol, 14, who was born in Ethiopia, a freshman at Holland Junior High School, Mark, 12, and Paul, 6, both students at Van Raalte School, will attend Good Shepherd School, a co-operative missionary school in Addis Ababa, and will return to Holland for Christmas and summer vacation.

The Hoekstra's other children, James, 19, a sophomore at Hope College, and David, 18, a senior at Holland High School, will remain in Holland and another son, Dennis, 25, is married and is working with the Missionary Aviation Fellowship in Africa.

Hoekstra said that the Godare River Post presently is equipped with a medical clinic operated by an Ethiopian male nurse, and a school taught by a trained Ethiopian teacher. His two major objectives now are evangelistic and agricultural. Much of the work at the post, Hoekstra said, was accomplished with the help of American volunteers who gave their time to its development. Two of the volunteers from this area who worked with the Rev. Hoekstra are Bill Van Eenennaam, of Zeeland and Ted Wuyngarden of Vriesland.

Rev. Hoekstra said that he is encouraged by the response of the Mesengos, and also by the response of other tribes in the district, many of which have shown interest in Hoekstra going to their villages. Hoekstra said that one Indian leader told him he would have a path cut through the jungle from the Godare Post to his village if Hoekstra would return from the United States.

Holland Wins Over Grand Haven

Even Grand Haven's intentional "slow down" game couldn't stall the fast breaking Holland High basketball team as they squelched the Buccaneers attempt 70-55 Friday night in the high school fieldhouse.

The game itself was a strategic reversal of the two teams previous high scoring, fast moving game when Holland won 102-71. But it was a reversal readily anticipated by the Dutch.

As expected senior guard, Dan Shinabarger was the team's leading scorer with 28 points as well as maneuvering the Dutch offense and multiple defenses.

Center Dave Gosselaar, always dependable on the boards, muscled in 16 points while tussling junior guard, Dave De Witt, tossed in 14, giving the Dutch balanced scoring.

Holland scrambled to an early lead after enduring almost two minutes of slow-down ball by Grand Haven. Starting forward Dave Hoekstra sparked the Dutch in the opening quarter with four points and sharp defensive play.

Grand Haven's scoring threat, represented in the hands of Ike Nietring was less than potent. After scoring 36 points against the Dutch in their first game, Nietring was held to only 18 points, and just two in the first period.

Holland entered the second period with a 16-9 lead. It was Shinabarger's quarter as he poured in three 20-footers, two lay-ups and tossed in one foul shot.

Midway in the period Grand Haven trimmed the Dutch 12-point lead as they scored eight consecutive points. But Holland reciprocated by coming back with seven consecutive points. The halftime score gave Holland a 37-28 lead.

Each team scored 12 points in the third period to maintain the Dutch edge at the quarter's close, 49-40.

Dave De Witt provided Holland with the needed scoring in the fourth quarter as he netted seven points, five on foul shots.

Both teams suffered foul difficulties in the fourth quarter. Shinabarger left the game with 4:29 remaining. It was the first time this season that Shinabarger had more than three fouls. And with :47 remaining Holland lost their senior forward, Bob Pete, on fouls.

With 1:00 remaining Grand Haven's guard Larry Wlodar, who had scored 17 points left the game on fouls. Ike Nietring followed with :39 left.

Holland hit well from the floor in each of the quarters, shooting 16 of 28 in

'Time Capsule' Set in Partition Of Bell Tower

A wooden box has been placed in the partition of one of the walls in the bell tower of Third Reformed Church which is being restored at the present time in a remodeling program.

Sponsored by the Junior Youth Fellowship of the church, the box has been captioned the "1968 Time Capsule."

OUR U.S. MAIL AND RECENT CHANGES

It is rather hard to understand just why Postmaster General O'Brien feels that now is the time to change the movement of first class mail. If all first class mail is to travel via air then why do we need to use the 10-cent air mail stamp? He is reported to have said that he will ask Congress to authorize this change and then eliminate the new 10-cent
air mail rate.

Times change and if the movement of mail via air will help reduce the cost of operation of our postal system then all well and good. Postmaster O'Brien reports that some 500
cities are now interconnected so that 50 to 75 per cent of the first class mail is only a day in transit.

The next question many people are asking is about the junk mail. This is the place there should be raised so that the U.S. Post Office would at least break even on the handling. The time is long past that allows the junk mail to be handled at a loss.

So write your Congressmen,
ask them just what they are doing to reduce the waste and government deficits.

The Savior and the Lost
John 4:7-14, 31-35
By C. P. Dame

In the topic of this lesson
are two words that should receive special attention. The one word is "Savior" and the other is the word "lost" and the reason is that both words are often ignored in some churches and their meaning watered down. We need to recapture our concern for the lost.

I. Jesus is concerned about individuals. Last week we studied the conversation Jesus had with an intellectual, upstanding churchman, in this lesson
we will consider his conversation with a frustrated, lost woman.

The Lord was on His way from Judea to Galilee. Most Jews, in making this journey, crossed to the eastern side of the Jordan, and thus avoided
hated Samaria — turn to II Kings 17 and read about the origin of that hate which had lasted 400 years. Jesus took the shorter route for "He must needs pass through Samaria"
in order to win a lost woman.
This must be not evident enough today—the must to win the
lost.

"Jesus therefore, being wearied with His journey, sat down by the well." The Bible records several interesting scenes at wells. While sitting there a Samaritan woman came, alone, and it was noon.
Usually the women came in groups and never at noon. Perhaps this woman came at that time in order to avoid the remarks about her morals.

Jesus did a most unusual thing in beginning a conversation with a woman in public,
with a Samaritan woman, with an immoral woman. Why a rabbi would not even greet his wife on the street!

II. Winning souls calls for tact and persistence. Observe the method of Jesus. First note, He began the conversation by asking for a favor, appealing to sympathy, being a suppliant. Note that the Creator asks for a favor from one of His creatures. And note next,
He aroused the curiosity of this woman. Most women are curious by nature.

Observe also that Jesus appealed to a need and that He claimed able to meet that need. Jesus also appealed to her conscience when He said,
"Go call thy husband and come hither." Jesus did not wish to upset her but rather to make her face up to her sin so that she might repent.
This woman who was religious after a fashion was told that she had an inadequate religion and needed a better one. Even in this tolerant age there are times to speak up and say,
"Ye worship that ye know not;
we worship that which we know; for salvation is from the Jews."

Jesus addressed this woman six times and He got an answer from her six times. And note—it was to this sinful, unhappy, disappointed woman that Jesus said that He was the Messiah about whose coming she spoke to Him. This was the first time Jesus openly professed His Messiahship.

III. There is a ready harvest facing us. The woman believed and got busy and told her townsmen who also believed first because of the testimony of the woman and then because of personal experience.
Note the growth of this woman—first she looked upon Jesus
as a tired traveller, a Jew, then a prophet, and then as the Messiah, whom her townsmen called the Saviour of the world.

When the disciples returned
they were surprised to see Him talking to a woman. They had brought food but the Lord
was not interested for He said,
"I have food to eat of which you do not know." He had won a lost person and He told the disciples that the fields were
"white already unto harvest."
Well, we too face a harvest of souls.

Brady Gets 40 in Win Over Adrian

ADRIAN — Hope College's
basketball team gained a commanding hold on first place in the MIAA basketball race Saturday by defeating Adrian College 76-64 before a standing room only gathering here in Ridge gymnasium.

The Hope victory, coupled with Alma's 90-76 upset decision over Kalamazoo, put the Flying Dutchmen at least two full games ahead of every other MIAA team. Hope stands 4-0 against league foes while Albion and Adrian share second place with 3-2 marks while Alma and Kalamazoo stand 2-2.

Once again it was Hope's Floyd Brady who made the difference. The 6-3 senior poured 40 points through the hoop and hauled down 14 rebounds as the Flying Dutchmen posted their fifth straight victory and upped its season

mark to 10-2.

It was the fourth time this season that Brady has scored 40 or more points in a game.
The performance upped his season average to 32 points per game and made him the second all-time high scorer in Hope history.

He is only 65 points from the all-time mark of 1,741 set by grad Paul Benes during his career in 1955-59.

Brady scored 25 points during the first half as the Flying Dutchmen raced off to a 44-29
advantage.

The lead traded possession 11
times in the first eight minutes before Hope went ahead to stay 17-16 with 11:58 left in the first half. The Flying Dutchmen scored eight straight points in the next minute to go ahead 25-16 and were never headed by the host Bulldogs.

Brady scored 15 of Hope's
first 19 points and connected on 10 of 15 field goal attempts during the first half. The Hope co-captain finished with 13 baskets in 23 tries and sank 14 of 20 free throws.

Hope's biggest lead was a 51-31 advantage with 17:18 left to play, but Adrian, depending mainly on a full-court press,
came back within 11 points, 54-43, with 12 minutes showing on the clock.

The closest the host Bulldogs came during the rest of the game was ten points and that on three occasions.
Besides a team encounter the game was a personal showdown between Brady and Adri-an's Vince Giles. Both have won most valuable MIAA honors—Brady last year and Giles back in 1961.

Giles, who celebrated his 30th birthday Saturday, finished with 22 points and 10 rebounds.
He was assigned Brady on defense, but the Hope senior was able to easily mix jump shots with layups and tips to spark
the victory.

Gary Rypma and Bruce Van Huis both scored 10 points for the winning Dutchmen while teammate Tom Pelon added eight. Behind Giles in the Adrian scoring were Paul Martini and Al Werbish with 10 points apiece.

The Flying Dutchmen finished with 29 baskets in 63
attempts for a 46 per cent clip
while Adrian sank 26 of 70
tries for a 37 per cent clip.

It was the free-throw line that made the big difference as Hope made 18 of 30 tries
while Adrian sank 12 of 17
attempts. The losing Bulldogs lost Werbish and Bob Mills with five personal fouls while Van Huis exited early for Hope.

Hope dominated the boards
against the taller Bulldogs with a 55-40 edge in rebounds. Van Huis and Rypma both hauled down 12 rebounds while Pelon gathered in nine.

DOUBLE TEAMED—Two Adrian College defenders try to stop the scoring effort of Hope's Floyd Brady during their MIAA contest in Adrian Saturday night. Adrian's Bob Mills (back-ground) was whistled for a foul on the play. Other Adrian player is Al Werbish (22). Brady scored 40 points as Hope won its fourth straight league decision, 76-64.

Concert by Opera Star Shortened by the Flu

An appreciative audience in Holland Civic Center Thursday night applauded the artistry of Phyllis Curtin, Metropolitan Opera soprano, unaware that the opera star was suffering from the flu.

Near midpoint, Miss Curtin who previously had announced her numbers in a gracious, informal manner, revealed she had a "very sore throat" and was coming down with the flu,
and that she might have to curtail her selections.

She had just sung two groups
of Rossini and Schubert songs
and would sing her "first encore" while she was able, and she sang "One Fine Day" from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly"
to be greeted by deafening applause.

Her return after intermission brought the news that she would omit the scheduled Strauss and Berlioz numbers and sing some English songs, among them the familiar "Songs My Mother Taught Me," "Ich Liebe Dich"
and "Greensleeves."

The concert was over by 9:30 p.m., but in that short hour and a quarter, Miss Curtin, despite her illness, displayed a rare talent with consummate artistry.
Ryan Edwards was her accompanied.

Thorgevsky Writes Book

Michel Thorgevsky, summer resident of Waukazo, has written a book of memoirs, according to a column in the Miami Herald.

It is a beautifully bound book printed on elegant thick white paper with fascinating pen-and-ink illustrations by the author.

It tells how he got his name. When he was born, the 10th in the family, his brother Serge said, "What a cute little bear," and thus he was named Mikhail Ivanovich Thorgevsky, but called "Mischa" which means "bear."

The book tells of his childhood in Tiflis, capital of the Caucasus; the severity of army life in Russia and how he was wounded twice in World War I, and his hairbreadth escape with other White Russians to Turkey and finally to Paris.

Here, he learned that his little Russian bride had died of diphtheria. He sang in night clubs and the opera, and it was in Paris that he met Margaret Gold, widow of Egbert Margot of Chicago and Holland, and married her. They were married 37 years ago and the book indicates they have lived happily ever after.

The Thorgevskys live at Bal Harbour, Fla., and at Waukazo on Lake Macatawa at Holland.

FATAL SCENE—Police inspect the 1960-model car (foreground) that was totally destroyed in a three-car accident that claimed the life of a rural Fennville woman Saturday afternoon. The car, owned by Carl Mears, 50, of route 3, Fennville, collided with a 1965 station wagon (seen in left background) driven by Carl Reisig, 37, of Glen Ellyn, Ill., at 16th St. and the US-31 bypass. Mears' wife, Florence, 46, was pronounced dead at the scene of burns. Her death marked Ottawa county's first traffic fatality for the year. The first traffic fatality in 1967 was recorded on Feb. 17. (Sentinel photo)

Woman, 46, Dies In Fire at Crash

Ottawa county marked its first traffic fatality of the year when a rural Fennville woman was burned in a three-car collision at 16th St. and US-31 bypass at 4:14 p.m. Saturday. Four others were injured.

Mrs. Florence Mears, 46, of route 3, Fennville, was pronounced dead at the scene by medical examiner Dr. William Westrate Jr. Death was due to burns received when she fell into a pool of gasoline which had spilled from a ruptured gas tank and ignited.

Mrs. Mears was riding in the car driven by her husband, Carl, 50, when it collided with a car driven by Carl Reisig, 37, of Glen Ellyn, Ill. The impact caused the Reisig car to spin around and hit a third car driven by Helen Marie Dekker, 58, of route 2, 120th Ave., Holland.

Patsy Mears, 27, a daughter-in-law who resides on route 2, Allegan, was admitted to Holland Hospital for treatment of severe scalp lacerations and body abrasions. She was reported in "satisfactory" condition today by hospital officials.

Mears and his 15-year-old son, Ervin, were both released from Holland Hospital after treatment for facial abrasions.

Reisig was also released from the hospital following treatment for a scalp laceration.

Holland police said the Reisig car was headed north on US-31 when the Mears car, southbound on US-31, turned east onto 16th St. and crossed into the path of the Reisig car.

The impact spun the Reisig car into the Dekker car, westbound on 16th St., which had stopped for a red light, police said.

Neither the Dekker woman, nor her passenger, Grace Vrieling, 60, of 276 Fairbanks, was injured.

Police speculated the gas tank of the Reisig car ruptured and ignited when the left rear side of the Reisig car collided with the front end of the Dekker car.

According to police, the Mears car travelled 39 feet from the point of impact.

Both Mears women were thrown from the car. Mrs. Florence Mears was found, lying face down, two feet from the right side of the car, police reported. Patsy Mears was found about 20 feet from the victim. Holland police and a nearby gas station manager, Calvin Daining, used fire extinguishers and blankets to smother flames on the victim.

Holland firemen hosed the cars down. Both the car owned by Mears and the station wagon driven by Reisig were totally destroyed.

State police and Ottawa county sheriff's deputies assisted Holland police.

Mrs. Mears, the former Florence Cooper, had been born in Iowa, Kansas, and was married to Mears Aug. 2, 1938, in Russell, Ark. The couple moved to Fennville, from Newport, Ark., in 1956 and belonged to Chicora United Brethren in Christ.

Mrs. Mears had been employed by the Michigan Fruit Canner.

Besides the husband, she is survived by seven sons, John A., Carl A., Kenneth R., all of Fennville, Billy W., Charles E., Ervin Lee and Eddie D., at home; four daughters, Mrs. Melvin (Etta) Marr of Dowagiac, Mrs. Richard (Lola) Davis of Fennville, Miss Martha Mears and Miss Thelma Mears, both at home; two sisters, Mrs. Claude Lappian of Caldwell, Idaho, and Mrs. Posten Davis of Kalamazoo; two brothers, Bert Cooper of Cascade, Idaho, and Clarence Cooper of Jackson Port, Ark.; 11 grandchildren. A daughter, Marcela Mears, died in 1959.

Attempted Jailbreak Fails in Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN — An attempted jailbreak at the Ottawa county jail Saturday night failed to get off the ground. The three prisoners in the cell plotting an escape ended up in separate cells after the excitement was over.

It happened about 11 p.m. that Turnkey Bert Van Dyke heard over the intercom about an escape. He called the sheriff who was on the second floor and the open wire also led to city police and state police who converged on the scene.

The three (late teenagers) had started a fire from some tissue paper in the cell, but that was all that happened. In any case, Sheriff Bernard Grysen was grateful for prompt help, even though it wasn't needed.

He stated that students are now in the process of publishing course evaluations made during the fall term. Acting dean of students Donald Hall told the board that applications for admission to the fall term, 1968, were running more than 100 ahead of applications last year. Hall also reported that a group of male students are interested in forming a fraternity on campus and have had a constitution of the proposed organization approved by student government.

The board approved appointments of Richard Dean, BVSC graduate, as part-time tutor in English; Donald C. Chrysler, principal in the Grandville Public Schools, and Marvin Hiddema, principal of Wyoming Junior High School, as part-time supervisors of student teachers, all for the winter term, 1968.

Carvers Edge Tackers, 143-141

Charley North made two free throws with one second of playing time remaining, to give the Holland Carvers a 143-141 victory over the Grand Rapids Tackers Saturday night.

A crowd of 1,600 witnessed the game played in the Civic Center.

The win narrowed the Tackers' first place lead over Holland in the Western Division of the North American Basketball League, as both teams now have lost four games, with Grand Rapids recording 11 wins against eight for the Carvers.

Tacker player-coach Nick Mantis set the stage for North, as with the Carvers holding a 141-135 lead, he connected on two successive three-point field goals in the last minute of play to tie the score at 141-141.

A typical Carver-Tacker contest, the game was close throughout, with the lead changing hands many times.

Hubie Marshall got the Carvers off to a fast first quarter, by notching five baskets and six straight free throws for a total of 16 points, which helped the winners to a 41-34 first quarter advantage. Marshall received help from Willie Merriweather and Doug Sims with eight points each in the quarter, while center Bob Woollard had nine for Grand Rapids.

Behind John Berends' ten points the Tackers came back in the second period, managing to gain a 71-71 tie at the intermission. Bob James paced the Carvers in the quarter with nine points.

Woollard, playing perhaps his best game of the season, again gave the Carvers trouble in the third quarter, scoring 11 points, which included five field goals. Mantis contributed eight, as the visitors took a three-point, 108-105 edge into the final period. Billy McGill kept the Carvers close with his 12 points, along with eight for Marshall.

In a hectic fourth quarter neither team could pull away to safe margins, as M. C. Burton kept the Tackers in the running, scoring 11 of his team high 29 points, to go with 10 by guard Bob Wilkinson. Meanwhile, Henry Hughes came through with some real clutch baskets, and recorded 13 of his 17 points in the final period. This paved the way for the final minute feats of Mantis and North.

The Tackers, outscored from the field, 58-52, remained close by getting three three-pointers, and converting 34 of 46 charity tosses. Holland made 27 of 33 at the free throw stripe. Willie Jones of the Tackers and the Carvers' Gene Visscher both left the game on six fouls.

The Carvers held a 66-59 edge in rebounding with Visscher and Burton each gathering in 18. Marshall paced the scorers with 30 points, and McGill added 28 for Holland. For the Tackers Burton led with 29, with Woollard getting 26 and Wilkinson 24.

Wednesday the Carvers play the Battle Creek Braves in South Bend, Ind. In other league games Saturday Pontiac defeated Chicago 137-113 and Columbus topped Lansing 150-131.

ATTEND SPORTS DINNER — The Holland Elks Club heard three members of the Detroit Tigers baseball organization Tuesday night at the annual sports dinner. Don Lund Says Tigers Look Great for 1968

Three members of the Detroit Tigers were in Holland Tuesday night in the persons of Don Lund, Lenny Green and Mickey Stanley at the annual Elks' Club Sports dinner.

Don Lund, Detroit farm director, said that players are not judged by the type of spring playing they do but on the previous year's performance. Lund also said that the most important ingredient on a ball club is a good attitude.

"Eddie Matthews has brought to the Detroit club a good attitude and has a great influence on the players. This is why Matthews is considered an important asset to the club. He blends the club," Lund said.

Lund reported that Green and Stanley are good ball players because they have a good attitude and try hard putting a 100 per cent out in everything they do.

Don lauded Stanley as being one of the best centerfielders in baseball today. As for Lenny Green, a veteran of 10 years experience, Lund said that Green is fast becoming a great Tiger player and that he is looking forward to a great season from him.

Green when asked how the season would go this year replied, "This season we ought to do a lot better than last year because of the experience we gained from last year's good, hard and close competition for the pennant race. There is only one difference this year, though, and that is we will win it this year."

Stanley, an outstanding defensive player, said, "I am looking forward to a fine season and am sure Detroit will give a hard race for the pennant this year."

In conclusion Lund gave some advice to all young ball players. He said that sports are relative. "You must play all you can when you are in high school and play all sports actively. And only when you are in college start specializing in the sport that you can excel in. Success comes hard. You have to work at it," he said.

Lew Borgman was master of ceremonies for the event. Earlier Tuesday afternoon the Tigers were in Grand Rapids for a press day. Attending were manager Mayo Smith, general manager Jim Campbell, Toledo manager Jack Tighe and players Ray Oyler, Hank Aguirre, Bill Freehan, John Hiller, Joe Sparrma, Gates Brown, Stanley Green and coaches John Sain and Wally Moses.

Mayo Smith said that as a ball club the Tigers have grown up both as players and as men as a result of last year's close competition. "This year the Detroit Tigers are going to have a fine ball club and be in the race all the way," Smith said.

Campbell said relief pitching is the most valuable position on the team. "Last year one of the big contributing factors to our loss was the absence of good relief pitchers. But this year I think we have the situation in hand."

The general consensus of the entire team was that Detroit was going to have even a better year than last year. This year 'Detroit has a lot of good young talent' to put it in the words of Mayo Smith and a 'good farm club to back the Tigers up,' according to Tighe.

GVSC Singers Provide Entertaining Program

The Grand Valley State College Singers, a choral group of 50 students under the direction of William B. Beidler, presented a pleasing program Tuesday afternoon for the Woman's Literary Club.

The versatility of the director who has had several years of training and experience in the fields of music and dance was reflected in the selections of the choir ranging from folk songs to Bach cantatas.

Beidler explained that GVSC does not have a school of music as such, and the students are members of the choir because they want to be. He described Tuesday's concert as a workshop performance although the grouped choir remained in a single position on risers instead of groups on a gym floor.

Perhaps the choir's finest performance was the choruses from Bach's Cantata No. 63, although the conductor threatened to steal the show with his tenor solos of Scottish and Irish songs, with accompaniment on a zither-like instrument.

Other selections ranged from an American folk mass with guitar accompaniment to rhythmic numbers with hand clapping, antiphonal effects, and even an Ogden Nash ditty on "I Think That I Shall Never See a Billboard Lovely as a Tree."

Mrs. Joseph Lang, club president, announced a nominating committee which will report in February for the election of officers in March. Serving on the committee will be Mrs. William Winter, chairman, Mrs. Bernard Donnelly, Mrs. Robert Gordon, Elizabeth Brummel and Mrs. Walter Hoeksema.

Announcement also was made of an Armchair Tour of London Jan. 30 by Mrs. Wendell Miles and Mrs. William Jesiek.
