Tax Payers Are Given Longer Time To Pay

KNAPP PETITION FOR BUILD- ING ON RIVER AVENUE AGAIN COMES UP

On resolution of Alderman Prins the common council unanimously extended the time for paying taxes to and including February 17, which will undoubtedly be pleasing to those who have delayed their payments up to this time.

The mayor's proposal in a recent message to grade the Chamber of Commerce lots with welfare workers was adopted by the council. The work will be done entirely by the unemployed.

The petition of John Knapp again, bringing up the rezoning of River avenue, was considered but another consideration from the appeal board, which is making still another investigation, will delay the Knapp proposal until the next meeting of the common council when the new report of the appeal board is submitted. The aldermen are awaiting this report before deciding whether a public meeting will be held.

The matter of placing a light on Twenty-fourth and State streets at the Longfellow school was left to Alderman Huyser, who will appoint two other aldermen as a committee to decide whether a light is to be installed. For the safety of the children this busy corner should either have a stop light or possibly a traffic guard will be placed on guard during school hours, selected from the men now unemployed.

Two unusual requests came from men who wanted a contract with the city to cut wood on shares. The matter was left to the welfare committee. Two others wanted to work out their taxes, which was impossible at this time with no money already on the welfare list. The total amount of welfare amounted to $5,407.44. The report stated that $2,111.25 were orders from the previous system so the welfare actually, according to the report, was $3,296.19. It is still too early, it is said, to indicate fully what economies the new system is bringing about but, undoubtedly this will be brought out fully as reports come in from time to time.

Protests of John Vander Veen, of the Holland Furniture company against payment of taxes for paving of Seventh street between River and Pine avenues were received in a communication. Mr. Vander Veen explained he had just paid an assessment of $521.21. A protest was first registered in 1929, he said, because abutting property owners were asked to pay for a street council authorized in order to shift traffic from Eighth street, making it a public improvement. He said he did not object to paying part of the assessment. The complaint was given to the street and ways and means committee, which are to report at the next meeting.

Council confirmed Mayor Bosch's appointments of Charles Kirchen, Otto P. Kramer, D. B. K. Van Raalte, Prof. Wynand Wichers, George Polgrim, Arie Vander Hill and Alderman John Woltman to the industrial or bonus committee which serves in negotiations with prospective factories. The mayor and City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker also will be members of the committee.

PETITIONS OUT FOR WILLIAM VANDENBERG

Petitions are being circulated for the nomination of William C. Vandenberg as alderman of the third ward in the primary election here March 6.

Mr. Vandenberg is a member of the citizens' welfare advisory committee and is at the head of the campaign to reopen the local beet sugar plant. He retired as third ward alderman without seeking reelection a year ago, after serving four years.

Mr. Vandenberg, who was born in Holland, has been a resident here all his life with the exception of the period from 1903 to 1919, which he spent in Indianapolis, Detroit and Grand Rapids.

REGISTERING MILK BOTTLES

Few persons know that the Department of State is charged with the duty of registering names and distinctive markings of milk bottles. This duty is conferred by Act 361 of the Public Acts of 1927. A company desiring exclusive use of words or marking on milk bottles must first file a copy of the desired marking with the county clerk of the county in which the company is located. Then it is mandatory under the law for the company to advertise its intention for three weeks in some newspaper of the county. Upon certification of these facts to the department, the words and markings are registered.

MOLE MUST EAT EVERY THREE HOURS TO LIVE

The mole does not limit itself to three square meals a day, but is ceaselessly hunting for food. It is said that this animal cannot endure hunger for more than three hours at a stretch and that no other animal is more intolerant of thirst.

Miss Margaret E. Van Wert of Montello, Edg is visiting her mother, Edgar Wilson, and family of Manitowish, Wisconsin, for a few weeks.

Miss Sue Plaggenmeyer will entertain the Gleaners' class of Third Reformed church tonight, Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marcus, 155 West Fourteenth street.

CAT EATS CHEESE FROM MOUSETRAP

A cat may look at a king. A cat may also—if she is a Technocratic cat—look at a mouse trap as just so much machine competition, according to Lieut. Fred Drexel of the Dearborn police, Detroit.

Rosie is the feline friend of the Dearborn police. She is pampered, fat, useless.

Recently mice have evinced an interest in Dearborn crime statistics to the extent that their criminological hunger has made lace curtains out of police records.

Saturday night a trap was carefully baited with cheese and placed in the record room. To make doubly certain that the midnight frolic of the mice would be cramped Rosie was ushered in also.

Sunday morning Lieut. Drexel investigated, found that Rosie had carefully sprung the trap and was eating the cheese.

"I guess she has heard about technocracy," he said, "and decided to nip any technological unemployment of cats before it got under way."

ANNUAL MERCHANTS' FELLOWSHIP SUPPER MONDAY NIGHT

Arrangements have been made by the Holland merchants for an annual fellowship supper to be held at the Woman's Literary club Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock. It will be a modest luncheon with a good program of speaking and music.

The program committee gives the following official program:

Brouwer, retiring president of the association; piano solo, "Solatuna Op. 20 No. 1," by Kuhlau, Miss Shirley Shaw; violin solo, "Lengende," Wieniawski, by Master Ned Shaw; vocal solo, "The Hills of Home," Fox, by William Van Der Ven; violin solo, "Souspir," Drlia, by M. FRUIT MEN HAIL COLDER WEATHER

Colder weather has made the fruit growers of this section happier. The weather has not been severe enough for the proper wintering of fruit trees and the buds have had a tendency to start.

WESTERN MISSIONARY RECOVERING

Rev. Herman Vanderploeg, Reformed minister 37 years, is making satisfactory recovery from a recent serious operation in Hollywood hospital at Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Vanderploeg was stricken while assisting in mission work in one of the suburbs. He was a classmate of Rev. Cornelius M. Steffens, who died a few days ago in Chicago, in Hope college and Western seminary.

TEMPERATURE MARK OF 46 DEGREES IS RECORD FOR FEB. 1

"Heat" records were shattered on February 1 when the Ottawa county weather bureau reported a temperature of 46 degrees at 7 a. m., the highest temperature for February 1 ever recorded at the local office. The former record was made in 1892 when a temperature of 43 degrees was recorded.

A heavy rain storm broke in this vicinity last night with a fall of 87 inches recorded.

LAKE SHORE EGG EXCHANGE OPENS

The Lake Shore Egg Exchange was organized during the past month in Zeeland, headed by Mr. John Van Dam, manager, who will open a market for eggs in Zeeland on a basis to warrant a great expansion in the poultry industry in the South Ottawa and North Allegan districts.

The organization has been planned for several weeks and it has come into active form this week and the buying of eggs has begun. The new firm is located at the Zeeland farm bureau exchange, having also taken over the business formerly handled by the Michigan Egg exchange in Holland.

MAKE VOLUNTARY CUT IN SALARY

(Zeeland Record)

The Zeeland board of education was very happily surprised last week, Thursday afternoon, when its members were called into special session by Supt. M. B. Rogers to act on a resolution presented by the teachers offering a voluntary reduction of 10 per cent in their salaries for the remainder of the year, which is the full half year or second semester of the school term.

This voluntary contribution will mean a saving to the district of $2,227.45, and it is needless to say that the board of education not only gladly accepted the offer but in turn resolved to express their appreciation to the teachers for their patriotic and generous attitude.

FISH SPEARERS JAILED IN ALLEGAN COUNTY

Edward Unger and Floyd Siegel, both of Monterey, were arraigned before Justice Fidas E. Fish Monday afternoon charged with spearing fish in Dumont lake. Both pleaded guilty and were assessed fine and costs of $27.25 each or 20 days in jail. They were unable to pay and were taken to jail. The arrests were made by Conservation Officer Harry G. Plotta.

Survey Of All Welfare Work In Ottawa County

HOLLAND SHOWS THAT IT HEADS LIST: IS LARGEST CITY IN COUNTY

Grand Haven's Average Per Person Is 44c Per Week.

A survey made of welfare conditions in Ottawa county and what each committee is paying along these lines is approximately shown in a recent compilation. This was brought out at a meeting of the board of supervisors' welfare committee of which Carl Bowen is the chairman.

A report shows that nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been spent in the past year for the support of 6,421 families, and there are 210 families expected to be added to the lists within the next sixty days.

Grand Haven has taken care of 261 families, including 1,035 persons at a total cost of $457 per week, which averages 44 cents per week per person, which is among the lowest costs per person in any township or city. Holland has taken care of 600 families, including 2,700 persons for $3,000 per week, with an average cost of $1.11 per person per week; Zeeland City has taken care of 50 families, including 200 persons for $4 per week at an average cost of $2 per person; Spring Lake township, 247 persons at an average cost of 80 cents per week.

The total annual cost to the county was $247,260 for the support of 6,421 persons at an average cost per week of 74 cents.

The following is the complete list of families, number of people and total cost per week in each township:

Allendale, 15 families, 90 people, $35; Blenden, 7 families, 35 people, $20; Chester, 3 families, 9 people, $3; Crockerly, 41 families, 328 persons, $28.50; Georgetown, 47 families, 329 persons, $85; Grand Haven township, 14 families, 84 persons, $22; Holland township, 100 families, 450 persons, $150; Jamestown, 34 families, 136 people, $40; Park township, 98 families, 392 persons, $120; Polkton, 16 families, 96 persons, $53; Port Sheldon, 6 families, 18 people, $5; Robinson, 8 families, 64 persons, $20; Spring Lake, 50 families, 247 persons, $200; Tallmadge, 15 families, 60 people, $18.

Grass Burning Harms the Birds

Due to the open winter, Michigan is having many more grass fires than usual. Almost every day numerous blazes may be observed when driving along the state highways, to say nothing of the side roads. This condition is becoming alarming to sportsmen, and at least one of them, C. Walter Healy, of Detroit, is trying to have something done about it.

Mr. Healy points out that these fires destroy food and cover for birds, and if they reach trees, destroy them by scorching and burning the bark. When snow is on the ground birds depend upon the weed seeds and grass tops for food and when the fires destroy this, the birds must either starve or migrate, perhaps never to return.

According to Sec. 5783 of the compiled laws of 1929, permission must be obtained for burning in the woods, but no regulations cover grass fires. Mr. Healy suggests that many of these fires are kindled by persons who have no interest in the land itself, merely to furnish a bit of excitement. While this is both ignorant and thoughtless, nevertheless the damage is done. He would have the law so amended that such fires might be kindled only by the owners of the property and at periods fixed by the Department of Conservation, when such fires will be least destructive.

Need Protect Hen Pheasants

"Bird hunters wouldn't complain about pheasants being scarce if the killing of hens could be prevented," says Elliott Hughes of Detroit.

"In my opinion pheasants were not as plentiful in 1932 as they were when the first open season was declared in 1925. The pheasant is a hardy bird and a law calling for the protection of the hens should have made birds so plentiful that no hunter would have had any difficulty in bagging his limit of four."

"Being a large, conspicuous bird the pheasant brings into the field thousands of hunters who never shot birds before and to many of them one less hen pheasant doesn't make much difference so long as it is meat for his table. The hunter never stops to think that there are thousands with the same idea of rearing in the killing of much of our potential breeding stock."

"I believe that at least 10,000 hunters shoot at least one female pheasant and this means a loss of at least 80,000 young birds the year following."

"Although the Conservation Department has done fine work in propagating pheasants their efforts will never result in enough birds to go around until hen killing is stopped. If this could be accomplished two years would find our game covers filled with pheasants."

A ROAD RUNNER WOULD RATHER RUN THAN FLY

The road runner, a curious bird of the cuckoo family found in the arid regions of the Southwest, can run about as fast as a horse can trot and seems to prefer traveling on its long legs to using its wings. It rarely takes to flight unless hard pressed.

Miss Jean Van Zyl is spending a few weeks at her home in Iowa.

Future for Michigan Pear Is Brighter

FENNVILLE PEAR DISTRICT WILL ESPECIALLY BE BENEFITED

Michigan is advantageously located to become one of the most profitable and leading pear growing sections of the country, in the opinion of Marc C. Hutchinson, of Fennville, president of the National Farmers Association. Its short haul to leading markets makes it possible for orchardists in this state to obtain higher net prices for their fruit than producers on the Pacific coast, who have a long haul at high freight rates to eastern markets.

Hutchinson emphasized Michigan's favorable location by citing prices received by Kieffer pear growers in Southwestern Michigan this year. He said the Michigan Fruit Cannery, Inc., with three packing plants, paid orchardists as much for their Kieffer pears as canneries in the Pacific Northwest paid growers for Bartlett's, a superior quality fruit.

Michigan canneries do not pack many Bartlett's. The state's proximity to large consuming centers in the Middle West and East has supplied growers with a good fresh fruit market for Bartlett's and most canners have felt they could not afford to compete with fresh fruit buyers for the crop. Bartlett prices in 1932, however, were abnormally low and several thousand cases were packed by canneries.

Keep in Storage

Most of the 1932 pear pack was of the Kieffer variety. A cannery in Benton Harbor still is operating on Kieffers. Hutchinson said this packer does not expect to complete its pear run until about March 1. A large tonnage of Kieffers was stored at harvest time and the fruit is being withdrawn as needed.

Stored in the same manner as Bartlett's, Hutchinson said, canners have found that Kieffers will keep perfectly. This has made it possible to prolong the canning season three to five months after the harvest. In some instances, he said it is necessary to place the pears in a ripening room to complete the coloring before processing.

Until recent years, Hutchinson said, the Kieffer pear was considered greatly inferior to the Bartlett. William McEwing, of South Haven, was credited with giving the horticultural world a new appreciation of the Kieffer. He found, it was explained, that by storing Kieffers in a cold place and ripening them as needed, the fruit was nearly comparable in canning quality to the Bartlett.

Improve Kieffer

McEwing has co-operated for years with pomologists at the South Haven Experiment Station and Michigan State College in efforts to improve the Kieffer. An attempt is being made to overcome the grittiness around the core. When this improvement has been accomplished, canners predict the

Two Million Jobs Hidden in Forests

National forests of the country can supply work for two million men for a period of one month, according to the American Forestry Association, which quotes Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde to that effect. To open this store-house of work, the secretary estimates an expenditure of 150 million dollars would be needed. Wages are based on the rate of $3.60 a day in the West and $2.40 a day in the East.

Work in the national forests is designated as of two classes: First, projects or activities for which appropriations would normally be made, including construction of telephone lines, roads, trails, landing fields, fire breaks, lookout towers, range fences, water development, improvements, reforestation and insect and tree disease control. While this work would not be self-liquidating, the Forest Service feels it is of sufficient value to carry costs on its record as an investment. Class B work includes activities of similar character, but of less importance. This estimate is confined entirely to the national forests.

HARBOR BEACH CLUB FEELS 400 DUCKS DURING WINTER

About 400 ducks are being fed by the Harbor Beach Sportsmen's Club of Harbor Beach this winter. The ducks are on the state sanctuary, and are making a habit of remaining there throughout the winter. Last year from 700 to 800 ducks remained there.

CAMELS EAT ANYTHING; THEY'RE EASY TO KEEP

One of the most desirable characteristics of the camel as a beast of burden in desert areas is that its food requirements are meager, the animal being able to eat what ever vegetation the desert affords. It seems to make no difference to these animals how dry and tasteless is the vegetation upon which they must subsist, and thorns appear to be no obstacle to them.

MOST DESERT ANIMALS DO WITH LITTLE WATER

The animals that live on the desert have developed a protective coloring to make them less conspicuous to their enemies. They have also learned to subsist on a very little water or to store it within their bodies. Some of them manage to get along without any direct water supply.

Kieffer will rank beside the Bartlett as the leading canning varieties.

Breeding work is being concentrated upon the Kieffer as this variety has been found immune to fire blight and unusually hardy. The Bartlett is very susceptible to blight and is none too hardy. The Kieffer bloom is self-fertile and will not set fruit unless conditions are favorable for cross-pollination. —Detroit News.

Vans' Chemical Plant Doubles Its Capacity

AT LEAST ONE OPTIMISTIC STORY THAT CAN BE WRITTEN

The metropolitan press, it seems, could occasionally give a few "clouds with silver linings" instead of constantly spreading the opposite. The News today can give at least one optimistic story about Van's Chemical plant, of which very little is heard; however, it is tucked away just north of Holland, east of US-31.

This plant has doubled its capacity, taken out all its old machinery, replacing it with new and has also put in a conveyor system leading to all parts of the factory. The remodeling process has been going on for several months, requiring 14 men.

President Dick Miles of Holland states that the plant now has a capacity of 20,000 tons of fertilizer a year, equivalent to 1,000 cars. Engineers have been at work with the management to put in the most modern plant it is possible to install for the management anticipates resumption of better times and are now prepared to take advantage when these times arrive. All the products of this company are sold in Michigan and are shipped by truck or by car. The company has a fleet of three trucks and substitute others when necessary.

The output of the plant has been approximately $250,000 in fertilizer a year. It is the only fertilizer plant in this vicinity, and Mr. Dick Miles is president and Mr. Ernest Poest is vice president. The plant is affiliated with the Smith Agricultural Chemical company of Columbus and Indianapolis.

WELL-KNOWN WOMAN PASSES; WAS PIONEER TELEPHONE OPERATOR

Mrs. J. Leo Kymmer, aged 66, residing near Virginia Park for many years, died last evening at her home in Grand Rapids. She was formerly Miss Emily Stevenson, sister of W. R. Stevenson of this city.

Mrs. Kymmer was the second woman telephone operator in Holland when the Michigan Bell was established here. The late Mrs. J. B. Mulder was the first.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Ethel Kymmer of Grand Rapids; two brothers, Mr. Stevenson of Holland and Harry Stevenson of Montana, and a sister, Mrs. Louise M. Thurber of California.

Mrs. Kymmer attended Grace Episcopal church while at the park here. Until the past year, she had spent her winters in Florida. Her late husband was a Grand Rapids business man on Monroe street.

CLOCK ON STRING TRAPS SHOP THIEF

Frank Morris, clerk in a cigar store at 39 Monroe Ave., Detroit, has had to alter the alarm clock because of the threatened abduction of the store's timepiece.

John Jones, 36 years old, who said he had no home, shuffled into the shop Friday and, while Morris was busy in the rear room, slipped the clock under his coat and started out. He took only three steps when the clock was yanked from beneath his coat, hit the floor and set up sufficient clamor to get the attention of Detective Lieut. Edward Radke, who was passing. The clock was fastened to the counter by 10 feet of cord.

Jones was released on the request of Morris.

"He didn't really get anything," Morris said. "And on dull days it's a lot of fun seeing the boys try to carry off the clock. It rings every time it hits the floor and you ought to see their embarrassment."

SEASONS GET TWISTED, HAND OUT NOT ONLY SUN AND RAIN, BUT THUNDER

The fourth January thunderstorm in 43 years broke during the heavy rain which occurred early Sunday morning, adding another item of spring and summer weather to the exceptional January weather enjoyed this year. The records here date back to 1890 and but four thunderstorms had been recorded.

The temperature yesterday mounted to 54 degrees, which equaled the record made in 1909. The thermometer had dropped to 37 degrees this morning but the bright sunshine makes the weather extremely pleasant. Fog hung over this section Saturday afternoon and during the night.

Rain Sunday night registered 37 inches at the local weather bureau.

BIRDS TAKE PLACE OF ALARM CLOCK

When Dr. Frederick M. Gaige, of the University of Michigan Museum opened a bird feeding shelf at his home in Ann Arbor little did he think that it was going to cause him any loss of sleep. The birds began coming in, and now, the hungry rascals are coming so early that Dr. Gaige is getting up before daylight each morning in order to silence the half dozen blue jays which clamor for food loud enough to wake up the neighbors.

"The female cardinal is the first to come to my feeding shelf," says Dr. Gaige. "For a long time I was unable to tell in the dark whether or not it was the brilliant male or the dusky female, but I am now certain it is the female which comes first." He says that the greatest fun of running this outdoor cafeteria is in compiling a list of the bird visitors. Every new bird furnishes a new thrill.

Jacob Oosterbaan has filed his nominating petitions in the race for treasurer of Holland township.

LICENSE PLATES ARE GOING VERY LOW

Henry Prins, who is in charge of license plates for lower Ottawa county, stated that thus far 1,200 license plates for trucks and passenger cars have been issued. The number issued in other years was approximately 8,000. The state gave an extension to March 1, which leaves 23 days to still get license plates before the dead line.

Last Saturday was the dead line before the extension came. Mr. Prins states that the rush was so great it was difficult to handle the crowd but now since an extension is given application for plates have fallen off and undoubtedly there will be a last-minute rush again just before March 1.

Michigan plates for 1932 will not be honored in Indiana, effective today, Mr. Prins said.

The bureau is open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

George Mooi Of Holland Heads The Boy Scouts

WILLIAM HATTON OF GRAND HAVEN MADE HONORARY PRESIDENT

William Hatton of Grand Haven, president of the Eagle-Ottawa Leather company, and president of the Ottawa-Allegan council, Boy Scouts of America, for the past two years, was made life-time honorary president of the Ottawa council at the annual council meeting at the Presbyterian church house Tuesday evening.

George Mooi of Holland, former vice president of Holland, was elected active president for the coming year, and Al Joldersma was chosen to succeed Mr. Mooi as vice president. Rev. J. Waltrink of Forest Grove will succeed M. B. Rogers as vice president from Zeeland. Peter H. Norg will continue as area executive; Stephen Mead as commissioner; Henry Winter as treasurer; and Jacob Braak of Spring Lake; George Laug of Coopersville, and L. H. Waugh of Saultaugust as vice presidents.

Following a supper prepared by the ladies of the local Presbyterian church, William Hatton, who presided, took charge of the program. Presentation of colors by sea scouts of ship 41, Grand Haven, under First Mate George Barnard, preceded the banquet. Harry Hanson of this city gave the invocation. Robert Warnar, assistant scoutmaster of troop 23, led in community singing.

Dean Jackson of St. Mark's cathedral of Grand Rapids was the main speaker, and he took as his subject, "The Boy Scout Program." "The right spirit is the spirit that lacks no loyalty and that is the spirit of Scouting," said the speaker. "The scout program stands for all that is embodied in Jesus Christ and scouts are brought to realize the spirit of Christ in the spirit of neighborliness. Be a good neighbor and be a good scout," he concluded.

Eagle badges were presented to Mr. Bilz, Benjamin Harris of troop 10, Holland; Donald Stivers of troop 3, Grand Haven, and Earl Faber, troop 10, Holland. The Eagle badge is the highest award attainable by an ordinary scout. Ten scouts were presented with their scoutmaster certificates.

The silver beaver award, an annual award in the council to some adult who has been outstanding in sponsoring the scout movement, was given for 1932 to O. T. Schubert of Grand Haven. Mr. Schubert is one of the organizers of the council and is its second president. At present he is sea scout committee from the American Legion post of this city.

Scoutmasters' training certificates were given Fred Benjamin, Louis Mulder, William Lundie, Isaac DeKraker and Chester LaShagway of Holland, Herbert DeKline of Forest Grove, D. R. Mow of Hudsonville, William Vandewater of Zeeland and Gene Simonson and Rowland Howard of Saultaugust. Preston Bilz of Grand Haven received a Scoutmaster's key for outstanding work in training.

A council survey was presented by Prof. E. Winter of Holland, a member of the executive board. Mr. Winter said there were 67,789 boys of scout age in this area. Only 675 are scouts at present. Mr. Winter explained the 10-year membership plan, the

It's a Cash Crop

The beet sugar industry in Michigan should be encouraged and Holland just now is awakening to that fact because of its idle factory. Last season 14,000 farmers harvested 1,840,000 tons of sugar beets from 121,000 acres of land. The cash value of the crop will be well over $6,500,000 and places Michigan in third place as a beet sugar producing state. There should be no diminution of effort until first place is reached.

Wherever sugar beets are raised there is prosperity in that particular farm community. Many farmers are finding that this cash crop is helping them to solve their financial problems. Stimulation of a home market for beet sugar by the housewives of Michigan, backed by remedial legislation in congress, will result in over 200,000 acres being planted this year, it is said. Factories which have been closed for several years will be opened and millions of dollars in new wealth for agriculture created. Holland is in line for such a picture with a factory ready for the beets.

A SUBJECT HAVING TO DO WITH SCHOOL TAXES

Focusing attention on the need of Michigan's public schools for funds to take the place of those previously available from the general property tax, petitions are being circulated in the more than 6,000 school districts of the state.

It is expected that early in February the signatures of hundreds of thousands of Michigan voters will be laid before the governor and the legislature, asking the state to provide some means of school support to relieve the severe burden on property, and to provide sufficient revenue so that the public schools of Michigan may be maintained at least on the 1923 level of operating costs.

The petition leaves the choice of method entirely to the lawmakers, but mentions various other taxes as possible sources of revenue, including the sales and graduated income taxes.

The text of the petition is as follows:

TO THE GOVERNOR AND LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN:

"RECOGNIZING that a crisis exists in maintaining public schools in Michigan, we, the undersigned voters and supporters of the public schools of Michigan, hereby approve the principle of the freer support of public schools by the state with an equal reduction of local taxes on property.

"WE ENDORSE THE PRINCIPLE of raising future revenue for the support of the state government and public education by the means of such taxes as the inheritance and gift taxes, the graduated income tax, sales tax, utility tax, truck and bus tax, and any other tax which may be feasible, except a property tax.

"WE REQUEST that the above taxes levied for education be placed in the primary school fund, and a central state school fund for the purpose of equalizing school costs, and be used to replace present taxes collected on the home and on the farm.

"WE REQUEST THAT ECONOMIES BE EFFECTED that will place the total operating costs of the schools of Michigan on a basis comparable with those of 1922-23, and that a cash income for such amount be provided.

"WE HEREBY PETITION the governor and the legislature of the state of Michigan to enact laws in accordance with the foregoing."

Relieving property tax of a large portion of the cost of education has had the endorsement of the state's leading educators for years. The shifting of the main burden from the local property owner will in effect bring the major responsibility for the schools' support back to the state, much in accordance with the original concept of the framers of the constitution.

Maintenance of the present primary fund would be fundamental. The creation of a central state school fund would be part of the plan to equalize educational costs and opportunities. The petition asks the state to provide sufficient revenue so that the public schools of Michigan may be maintained at least on the 1923 level of operating costs.

HANDWRITING DISCUSSED AT LITERARY CLUB

The regular meeting of the Women's Literary club was held Tuesday afternoon in the club house.

Henry Geerlings, secretary of the board of education, spoke on the school situation. He urged all members of the club to sign the petition which will soon be circulated asking the state legislature to lower real estate taxes and levy other taxes for the benefit of the primary school fund.

Mrs. J. E. Telling gave a brief report of the progress being made on the Tulip Time Festival. A trio composed of Mrs. J. D. French, violin; Miss Edna Mooi, cello, and Mrs. Harold Karsten, piano, played "Duetto," and "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn, and "Why," by Schumann. Mrs. French arranged the group.

Mrs. C. M. McLean then introduced the speaker, Mrs. Bertha W. Hall of Chicago, who spoke on "Handwriting." She stated that the science of graphology or handwriting was an old study. She showed how writing reveals the character by means of a blackboard.

FEE SYSTEM FOR DIGGING GRAVES IS CHANGED

At the monthly meeting of the members of the park and cemetery board Monday evening it was decided that the $10 fee for the digging and filling of graves at Pilgrim Home cemetery must be paid in advance at the city treasurer's office.

Under the former arrangement the fee was charged to the account of the funeral directors. The directors were required to make payment to the city regardless of whether they were reimbursed by the individuals who arranged for the burial.

ONLY 500 AUTO PLATES SOLD AT COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE; DEADLINE MAR. 1

(Grand Haven Tribune) The sale of automobile plates at the county clerk's office has not been brisk at any time, only approximately 500 plates out of a possible 5,000 having been sold to date. The sale got under way fairly well on Saturday with a record sale of 75 plates, but the story in the Grand Haven Tribune telling of the time limit being extended by the secretary of state, Frank D. Fitzgerald, to March 1, shut down the sale immediately and there hasn't been a sale since.

Thus far about one-tenth of the usual sale of plates has been made in the northern half of Ottawa county, which looks as if the office would do a record business during the next few weeks, if the sales are anywhere near the usual mark for this section. William Wilds said today that the attendants are prepared for the rush and will endeavor to give everyone service before the final date, March 1.

Holland City News, Jan. 31, 1933, Holland, Mich. Dear Sir:

Owing to a letter received this morning it is necessary to change some dates in the publicity I sent you yesterday.

The joint growers' meeting date will be February 14 instead of the seventh, as the article stated. Kindly make this correction.

Also please omit the article on the Allendale meeting. It has been necessary to cancel it. I hope these changes will not cause you too much trouble.

If you have suggestions at any time about the articles I write for your paper please suggest them. I shall welcome any suggestions that will make the work or the news items more successful.

Sincerely yours,
C. P. MILHAM,
County Agricultural Agent.

FENNVILLE READY TO ELECT VILLAGE OFFICERS

Fennville is looking forward to another municipal election. Mayor James E. Bale has held office for one year as has Ernest Crane, city clerk. It is not likely there will be any opposition from their own party. Three members of the council will have to be elected to take the positions now held by Sam J. Beagle, Donald H. Dickinson and Lionel E. Becker. Caucuses will be called soon.

The council this last year cut taxes to the lowest Fennville has paid for city government in many years and they were almost 100 per cent paid in.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING HELD HERE

The annual congregational social of the Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church was held Tuesday evening. The program for the evening included musical selections and readings, distribution of the annual report, a social hour and refreshments.

C. J. De Koster led the song service. Raymond Moww entertained with several marimba solos followed with a reading by Miss Elsie Bontekoe. Other numbers included a cornet solo by Robert Kouw; selections by a quartet, composed of Miss Agnes Zwier, Miss Leona Brightall, Miss Ada Ver Schure and Miss Theresa Breen; violin solos by Gerald Appleford, accompanied by Raymond Bontekoe; selections by a guitar trio composed of Fred Ver Schure, Miss Ada Ver Schure and Miss Grace Schreier, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Richard Schaddelee.

The church budget for 1933, according to the report, is about one-half that of 1931. Total for this year is $4,380. Last year it was $6,845, and in 1931 it was $9,120.

The report showed receipts of $6,455.91 and disbursements of $6,434.73 in the general fund during the past year, receipts of $2,329.87 and disbursements of $2,219.47 in the benevolence fund, balance of $19,564.27 in the sinking fund and receipts of $1,937.18 and disbursements of $1,924.99 in the mission fund.

Through a recent change in its schedule, the local post of the American Legion will meet the second and fourth Wednesday evenings of each month instead of the first and third Wednesdays. The next meeting will be Wednesday evening, February 8, in the city hall.

Survey Of All Welfare Work In Ottawa County

f a m i l i e s, 60 persons, $17; Wright, 18 families, 108 persons, $70; Zeeland township, 10 families, 40 persons, $30.

While these figures are not exact, according to D. M. Cline, as he gave only an estimate of conditions in Spring Lake township, he stated, it gives a fairly accurate picture of welfare costs in the county and shows wide discrepancy in costs throughout the county. The only township which was not listed in the group was Olive. The balances in the township funds for this cost are found to be overdrawn in many townships, some having dipped into the general fund. Grand Haven has a balance of $7,548. Holland has recently borrowed $30,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and has a balance of $20,000. Allendale has a balance of $100; Blenden, $178; Crockery, $400; Zeeland City, $300.

Participation of Ottawa county in the state plan for welfare relief on the state highway in which the labor is to be financed by funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will be deferred until after the meeting of the board of supervisors in April. This action was taken by the committee on welfare appointed at the last session at a conference held in the road commission office on Monday.

Under the plan submitted by the state, each city and each township in Ottawa county would have to make separate application to the state for participation in the R. F. C. highway projects, which includes a complete statement of the financial situation of the municipality. The proposal would include a state highway work program on the various state highways in Ottawa county. The estimate by the highway department for this county called for a total of $36,000. The local townships and cities would be obliged to pay the entire cost of these projects except the payroll of the indigent labor.

The state would use the loan money secured by the application of the townships and cities for these payrolls and would repay the loan to the R. F. C. from anticipated federal aid money over a future period of years. While the state department estimates that the indigent labor payroll would be 75 per cent of the total cost of the proposed projects, it is possible that this estimate is high. An analysis of the last 35 jobs on state and county roads in Ottawa county carried on principally for the purpose of furnishing employment, showed an average of 24.3 per cent for labor.

After considerable discussion it was decided that since there will be a regular session of the board of supervisors in April and immediate action on this loan would not jeopardize the chances of future participation, and that a special meeting of the board would entail considerable expense and the technical red tape as directed by the state is so complicated that the committee did not recommend entering into the plan at the present time.

APPOINT MRS. BAUMANN TO SUCCEED HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Ida Baumann, widow of the late Peter Baumann, supervisor from Port Sheldon township, has been appointed to succeed her husband, the first woman to ever hold a seat in the Ottawa county board of supervisors. She was appointed by the township board to fill the unexpired term of her late husband. Mr. Baumann's term would have held until April 1.

E. J. Stankey, township clerk, notified William Wilds, county clerk, on Saturday. Many times when an incumbent died at this time of year, it was not considered necessary to appoint a successor, stated a township officer, but due to the large amount of welfare work, which each supervisor must do at this time, it was necessary to appoint an officer in place of the late supervisor who died suddenly from pneumonia January 20. He attended the final meeting of the board this year in January.

Eastern Women First to Make Use of Fans?

The history of the fan goes way back into legendary days. The origin of the first screen fan is attributed to China, and the story goes that the daughter of a powerful mandarin accidentally originated the fan while attending the Feast of Lanterns. The room became very warm, it is said that she unloosed her mask, and while keeping it close to her face, kept moving it to and fro. From this incident, it is related, the screen fan became popular, the court beauties taking to the custom readily.

The first folding fan is said to have come from Japan. The widow of a noble in Kioto while acting as a nun in the temple of Miedl, aided in the care of an abbot who had fever, by folding a paper and using it as a fan. This was the first folding fan. We are told that to this day the priests in the temple of Kioto are skilled in the manufacture of fans and that there are many shops for the sale of the fans.

Hindu Legend of Souls in Purgatorial Flight

Two kites fly 1,500 miles each day, according to Hindu belief in south India. The two high fliers are supposed to be two old men who lived such wicked lives in a previous existence that they have been sent back to earth as birds of prey. The kites are said to dip in the holy water of Rameswaram, in the extreme south of the peninsula, early in the morning. They then start on their laborious journey northward. They halt for a while for a midday meal on a hillock near Madras after flying 450 miles in one hop. The priest of the local temple ceremoniously offers them a meal in the presence of a number of devotees. The kites then resume their onward journey, and the same night reach Benares, the holiest place of pilgrimage for Hindus, 1,500 miles away. They resume their return journey the next day.

Explained

"Yes," said the business man, in answer to a telephone message, "we did order those goods from you yesterday."

"But," came the reply, "although we have had the pleasure of dealing with your firm for a number of years, this is the first time we have received one of your letters bearing the signature 'R. J. Smith, O. B. E.'"

The boss thought for a moment, and then, deciding it must be the office boy, replied, "Yes, we have a man named Smith on our staff." Later on, he sent for the office boy, and, after ascertaining that he had signed the letter in question, asked him why he had used the letters O. B. E.

"They were meant to explain my signature," said the youth—"Only Blighter 'Ere."—London Answers.

Indian Children Whipped

There is a curious paragraph in Father Dablon's book "Relation" for 1673, which reads: "This year, our Hurons, having seen that, in the school at Notre Dame de Ste. Foye for French children, those who misbehaved were chastised, came to the conclusion that, in order to train their own children properly, it was necessary to chastise them for their faults, as was done with the French children. That is why the captain has formed the habit of now and again going around the village shouting at the top of his voice for the fathers and mothers to make known to Father Hechon the faults of their children so that the boys may be whipped by the French schoolmaster and the girls by a good matron."

Real Beauty

After love, that is, friendly friendship and unselfish affection, beauty is probably one of the most important things in life—beauty in all its forms. The only real beauty, like the only real truth, is that which can stand the test of time. Generally speaking, those things only deserve to be called beautiful which men of taste in all ages have regarded as lovely, and which men of taste in our time still regard as such. A very important task is therefore to preserve what is beautiful and destroy what is ugly. Heaven knows it is difficult enough in these days to do either with much effect!—Marquess of Tavistock.

The Brown Creeper

The brown creeper is a methodical bird and one which covers the field of its endeavors with great detail. This bird, somewhat smaller than the English sparrow, is brown and gray on the back and upper parts, making it largely color protected when working a tree. It is an energetic feeder upon larvae and usually starts at the base of a tree and, spiraling around it, works its way up to the top, feeding upon all the larvae it can find en route.

System

Jumbled thoughts are much like jumbled efforts. They result in plenty of activity without getting very far. System needs both brain and hand for real results. Well-arranged time is the surest indication of a well-arranged mind.—Grit.

Water Buffalo a Fighter

The wild buffalo of Asia, sometimes called the Indian buffalo, is rapidly becoming very rare. Like the African buffalo, it is very dangerous. It is found most often wading on river bottoms and flood plains, frequently wallowing in the mud. It formerly ranged the low country along the Ganges and Brahmaputra rivers, and also in the southern part of Ceylon. Large herds are no longer seen, and there has been local interbreeding between the wild and domestic stock. On account of its semi-aquatic habits it is very useful in the rice fields.

Splendid Collection of Old Art in Cleveland

Among the legacies that have come down to us from that little-appreciated period of the world's history, the Middle Ages, are the enameled objects that have been preserved for the most part in the treasuries of cathedrals and in museums. Rare as these are, the Cleveland Museum of Art has had the good fortune to acquire for its collections a really distinguished group of such objects, writes I. T. Frary in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The art of enameling, although known in antiquity to the Egyptians and the Romans, reached its highest development during the Byzantine period, and the enamellers of the eastern empire carried that influence from Constantinople to many parts of Europe, particularly to Rhenish Germany and the Meuse valley of Belgium. A splendid reliquary and a large cross, in the museum's collection, illustrate the type of enamel work most commonly used in this period.

This is known as champleve, a process which involved taking a copper plate and, after drawing on it the design to be enameled, cutting away the surface of such parts as were to receive the enamel.

The First Parosol

The Biblical expression, "The shelter which defends from the sun," would almost suffice to demonstrate the oriental origin of the sunshade. But in China, where it is said the parasol was used 2,000 years B. C., there is a legend that fixes the invention with the wife of the carpenter, Lou-pan.

"Sir," said this incomparable spouse to her husband, "you make with extreme cleverness houses for men, but it is impossible to make them move, whilst the object which I am framing for their private use can be carried to any distance, beyond even 1,000 leagues."

And Lou-pan, stumped by his wife's genius, then saw the unfolding of the first parasol.

Far From Madding Crowd

The world's loneliest couple, a shepherd and his wife live in a desolate stone hut a few miles from Newton Stewart, Scotland. Their primitive habitation is located on the hills of Galloway and cut off from the world by impassable moss bogs. The inhabitants of Bargrennan, the nearest village, know the couple are still alive only by the weekly visits of a weather-scarred pony, which ambles into the village and halts at the door of the general store. The storekeeper loads up the primitive pannier on its back and sends it off to the solitary cottage on the hillside with the week's provisions. The pony is the only living thing that can pick its way through the deadly bogs.

Historic Old Devon

The English city of Devon might be called the cradle of American history, for though neither Columbus nor Cabot had any associations with that county, by far the greater number of explorers and colonizers of Northern America were born and bred there, and set sail from their ports on their adventures in the New World. The very countryside reflects in its contrasting beauties the imaginative genius and unyielding determination which were the chief characteristics of those old-time sea kings, for the coastline has a soft brilliance of contour and coloring which is in fascinating contrast to the wild magnificence of the breezy, rolling uplands and granite towers of Dartmoor.

Spanish Olive Wealth

Spain grows an immense quantity of olives. Spanish olives supply close to a quarter of a million tons of olive oil each year. That is about one-third of the olive oil produced in the world. Some of the oil from Spanish olives is used in making olive soap. This soap has the name of a large region in Spain. Many fruit trees are "old" at the age of thirty, but the olive tree at thirty has hardly started on its career. Olive trees live through the centuries, some of them being from five hundred to seven hundred years old. Olives picked green are not fit to eat until they are soaked in a liquid containing lye, washed clean, and placed in salt water.

HAMILTON

Gerrit H. Boerigter passed away at his home last Sunday night after a lingering illness caused by cancer. Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home. Burial will be at the local cemetery. The bereaved are his wife and one son, Edward J. of Holland.

Mr. Boerigter came to this country from Benheim, Germany, in 1891, and has resided in this vicinity for more than forty years. During the last twenty-six years he has lived on a farm about three miles southwest of town.

The community extends sincere sympathy to the bereaved family. Ray Maatman has recovered sufficiently from a serious illness that he is able to be up and around, but he will not be able to return to work for several days.

The dramatic trial, presented by the Anti-Saloon League last Thursday evening at the local community hall proved to be very popular. The large hall was too small for the crowd that gathered and several folks were compelled to go back home without witnessing the presentation. The following lists the cast:

Judge, George Schutmaat; sheriff, Derk Brink; bailiff, Chester Voorhorst; defendant, Merton Dangremond; defendant's mother, Mrs. Strabbing; boarding house proprietor, Herman Maxam; coronor, Herman Brower; bootlegger, Benjamin Koolker; wife of "Earl Wright," plaintiff, Mrs. George Schutmaat; children of "Earl Wright," plaintiff, Wayne and Lucille Schutmaat; jury, Mrs. Voorhorst, Mrs. Haakma, Mrs. J. Brink, Mrs. M. Koolker, Mrs. J. Drenten, Mrs. H. Brower, H. Nyhoff, H. Schutmaat, R. Van Dyk, J. Hagelkamp, H. Lampen, H. Nyhuis; prosecuting attorney, Rev. Woltman, Detroit; lawyer for defense, Mr. S. A. Probst, Detroit. The lawyers both gave stirring addresses in regard to prohibition and the Anti-Saloon League.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Reformed church joined in a union meeting with the Overisel society at Overisel Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. A. Roggen, Mrs. B. Voorhorst and Mrs. Henry H. Nyhuis attended the conference of the presidents of the missionary societies of the Holland classis which was held at the home of Mrs. Kollen at Holland last Friday afternoon.

Prof. and Mrs. Arthur Koechele and family of Allegan visited at the home of Mrs. B. Voorhorst on Sunday.

Bert Hofmeyer returned home Sunday after a week's visit with relatives in Grand Rapids.

The Hamilton basketballers dropped an exciting game with the Overisel Independents last Friday evening by a 33-to-34 score. Maxam, star guard for the local team, was out of the game and the visitors took advantage of the opportunity to score a large number of baskets so that the first period saw the visitors leading 32 to 12. The score was taken as an insult by the locals who turned the tables over and upside down in the last half, setting a bewildering pace and shooting with deadly accuracy, but the whistle sounded a trifle too soon for them to take the game from the older and bigger opponents. As it was the fans were given one of the most exciting games of their lives. Marvin and John Kaper led the locals in offense, while Wallace Kemper played a strong defensive game in the last half. Overisel was held to a single basket, while the locals garnered 10. Meyers and Albers starred for the visitors.

Adelaide Maatman of Holland visited friends last week.

Gladys Lubbers spent the week-end with Angie Zwerger of Holland.

Mrs. William Ten Brink visited at the Dewey Bombers home at Holland last week, Thursday.

Hamilton fans will be given a double treat at the Community hall when the basketball team meets the East Ends of Holland and two local volleyball teams will play the first game of a series for the city championship. It is expected that the champions will challenge the Hope college professors in the near future.

The Woman's Study club met at the home of Mrs. John Illig. A program on Japan was presented. Mrs. B. Voorhorst and Mrs. Dena Schutmaat read papers and showed pictures of eastern customs and countries.

The county garage in the north end of town, has been completed by Contractor Herman Kuite. The building will be used for county trucks, graders and snow plows. It is a neat and substantial building. Now we wish that we would get a lot of snow.

A regular meeting of the P. T. A. was held Tuesday evening at the Community hall with about seventy-five people in attendance. Mrs. J. A. Roggen presided. Community singing was in charge of Harvey Zeepir. Rev. J. A. Roggen offered prayer. The Wooden Shoe trio of Holland presented a program of instrumental and vocal music. Rev. J. Vander Beek of Sixth Reformed church of Holland gave an instructive address on "Athletics in a Community." At the close a volleyball game was played by two hand-picked teams. The result was unknown and the winning team was satisfied as well as the losers to forget the score. A social hour followed.

A meeting of the Athletic association was held at the Community hall Monday evening. Herman Nyhoff is president of the association. It was decided to put on a membership drive. John Brink, Jr., and D. L. Brink became managers of the volleyball teams. The program of games will be under strict supervision of two managers every evening. On Friday evenings a basketball and volleyball game will be staged.

Mrs. Minnie Hagelskamp, 78, died Tuesday noon at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Immink in Overisel. Mrs. Hagelskamp has been a resident of Overisel all her life and was one of its early settlers. Call of the Wild and the Not So Wild

There are 54 species of turtles found in the United States.

Although the bald headed eagle does not reach maturity until it is three years old, a year-old bird appears larger than its parents.

The dromedary, used as a pack animal in desert travel in Africa and Asia, can make 50 to 75 miles a day.

A young, insectivorous bird requires much more food in proportion to its size than a meat-eating hawk.

The chimpanzee when walking on all fours does not walk on outspread palms but on the knuckles of its hands.

It is from the mallard duck that nearly all varieties of domestic ducks have been derived.

Though the red-winged blackbird often does damage to various grain crops it makes up for this largely by its destruction of caterpillars of the kypsy moth and other agricultural pests.

Despite the fact that the hippopotamus is an aquatic animal it does not eat fish.

The snapping turtle, the largest species of turtle found in Michigan, has a maximum weight of 20 to 30 pounds.

The blowing sound made by the ostrich sounds very much like the roar of a lion.

One of the troublesome problems in keeping snakes in captivity is to keep them free from mites, which in the wild state are scraped off in the sand or underbrush.

The arboreal green and gold lizard found in the Panama Canal Zone is called "chicken of the tree" by the natives because when properly prepared it tastes much like chicken.

Half-Masting the Flag

The custom of flying the flag at half-mast is said to have arisen out of the old naval and military custom of lowering the flag in time of war as a sign of submission. The vanquished always lowered his flag while the victor fluttered his own flag above it from the same staff. To lower a flag therefore was a sign of respect for one's superior, and a sign of mourning and respect. It is said that in the Seventeenth century Spanish ships displayed a flag at half mast as a signal of distress.

Ever an Experience Like This?

A few weeks ago the front door was gently opened and in came a little old man. He tottered to the desk and was about to present his case, when his eyes lighted on the picture of Lincoln. "Ah!" he said as he removed his hat and saluted the picture, "my old friend Lincoln. I remember him well. Glory and honor to his name, the grandest name this country ever knew." When he concluded that he had brought us to the point of weeping and begging him to accept the few dollars of change in our possession he made the touch on behalf of a widowed sister who was his only support.

It didn't work — probably an off-day for his victim — the old man was exceedingly clever. He was seen in Kalamazoo a few days later working the street in much the same way. We would not be surprised if he were financially able to buy out any business establishment in Decatur.

Telephone Users

In Canada there are 13.15 telephones for every 100 persons. This number is exceeded only by the United States ratio of 16.4 telephones per 100 population. But in the Dominion in 1931 the Canadians took the world record by averaging 1,880 calls per telephone. In Germany and Great Britain, including North Ireland, there are more telephones than in either the United States or Canada, but the density of population brings the average down to 5 and 4.3 telephones per 100, respectively. France has only 2.8 telephones per 100 population.

Statistics are not always interesting. But these items about telephones and their use in some of the great nations of the world give us new light on our good neighbors to the North. If we have been inclined to think of them as reserved and quiet, we can now realize that they beat the world in 1931 as telephone conversationalists, whether for business or social purposes. Though the record may not mean that they are over-voluble; merely that they are practical and prefer to conduct their affairs with the speed and dispatch made possible by the telephone.

Increased Stature of Americans in Prospect?

Physiologists tell us that the conditions of American life, with its traditions of youthful exercise and abundant nutrition, tend to increase the average height of our people and they also point out that tall people, who have plenty of room for the development and expansion of their organs, are the healthiest. If this circle, beneficent rather than vicious, were followed to its logical conclusion it would seem that the possibilities for linear growth are practically limitless. Perhaps the time will come when the six-footer will only be Jeff to the national Mutt. As for the matter of regional size, in the Civil war the tallest fighters came from New England and Kentucky. "Long John" Wentworth, Chicago's famous seven-foot mayor, was a New Hampshire man, and Lincoln still stands as prototypical of Kentucky ranginess. Mark Twain once remarked that westerners probably never achieved an extreme average height because of the weight of weapons they insisted on wearing around their waists.—New York Herald Tribune.

At Scratch

Mrs. Renwick and her husband were ardent golf enthusiasts; they spent all their spare time at the club, and all their time at home talking about what they did at the club. On Sundays, not being devoid of religion, they stopped on their way to the links to leave their little daughter, Jean, at Sunday school.

"Remember your Golden Text, dear," Mrs. Renwick said, kissing the child good-by. "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament sheweth his handiwork."

It was no wonder, then, when Jean rose proudly to recite the verse, she should have announced: "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth his handi-cap."—Kansas City Times.

Southerners Who Made Homes in South America

Most of the southern sympathizers who moved to South America after the Civil war settled in a few colonies, chief of which were Para, Espiritu Santo and Sao Paulo. One of these in the province of Para was situated at the mouth of the Tapajoz river. Many of these settlers eventually returned to the United States. There were a few, however, who remained and who were apparently successful. A larger and more prosperous colony of southern exiles were situated 300 miles north of Rio de Janeiro in the province of Espiritu Santo. However, the largest number of Confederate settlements were made in Sao Paulo and it is believed that ultimately these settlements were the most prosperous. The colony at Santa Barbara in Sao Paulo was so successful that even in 1927 and probably today there were several traces of its existence. It was known as the Villa Americana, but nearly all persons of North American birth or lineage have moved to cities or purchased plantations in the rural districts.

Bee Figures Largely in

Passages of Scripture

The strange liking of bees for skeletons no doubt gave rise to the opinion of the poet, Virgil, in the fourth of his Georgics or country poems, that bees were produced from dead bodies of animals!

Their Promised Land was described to the early Israelites as a "land flowing with milk and honey," because of the numbers of swarms of bees which stored honey in its rocks and hill-sides, and the luxuriance of its pasturage for milk animals, such as cows, ewes, goats, sheasses, etc. Jonathan, the popular crown prince during the reign of King Saul, came near to losing his life by eating of honeycomb he happened to come across, during a battle in which his father, unknown to him, had promised death to anyone who tasted food until the day had been won for Israel.

It is thought that Isaiah 7:18 and Zechariah 10:8, "I will hiss for them"; "The Lord shall hiss for the bee that is in the land of Assyria," has reference to the peculiar hissing whistle with which to this day orientals in Bible lands strive to attract swarming bees and induce them to settle, as people do today by ringing bells and clanging pans.

House Committee That Has Important Duties

The committee on ways and means in the house of representatives is the most powerful and important of all the standing committees of congress. The Constitution provides that all bills raising revenue and imposing taxes must originate in the house, and all such bills are considered and approved by the ways and means committee before they are taken up by the house as a whole. This means that all tariff legislation must go through this committee. It considered and approved the Liberty loan acts to finance the World war and it dealt with the refunding of all the debts of the various countries owed the United States at the close of the war. Formerly the speaker of the house appointed the members of the house to the various committees. When the Democrats organized the house in 1931, they placed this responsibility in the hands of the Democratic members of the ways and means committee.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Astronomy's Importance

Does anyone still ask—what are the uses of astronomy? As one instance, American scientists with their telescopes provided the means of combating the Zepplins, had the World war lasted a few months longer. They first discovered non-inflammable helium gas in the sun, then extracted it from the Texas natural gas wells, and when the armistice was signed hundreds of cylinders of compressed helium lay at the docks for shipment to England, where it would have made the allied dirigibles masters of the air.—Exchange.

Pavement Pounding

Death has just taken the last of the town criers in Provincetown, Mass., Cape Cod Mecca for artists and actors. However, it has been five years since the crier gave up his job of wandering through streets and lanes calling out town announcements and items of news. He was 78 years old at the time, and said he was resigning principally because the cement sidewalks which had replaced the old fashioned boards made his feet sore.

Cement is the most practical path surface we know for cities and other settled communities. Yet the town crier's lament could be echoed by those who walk very much about a city.

Walking is splendid exercise. Germans and English, especially, have a keen interest in walking for pleasure. Shod in stout shoes over light woolen hose, they get out into the country to feel yielding earth beneath their feet. This makes the milestones seem closer together and brings only a natural fatigue at the end of a day's tramping. The town crier's sad testimonial reminds us that even walking requires proper equipment and the right roads.

New Testament Writings

The New Testament was originally written in Greek. It is not claimed that any of the manuscripts written by the apostles themselves are in existence, but numerous early copies in use in the Christian churches of Europe, Asia and Africa, from which the New Testament was translated into Latin and other languages, are preserved in the Vatican library at Rome, in various monasteries, and other places. The Scriptures were first translated into English by John Wicliffe between 1374 and 1380 A. D.

'Worst' Celery and Onions

Most Popular on Market

That old story about the American consumer always wanting the best in foodstuffs is the bunk, according to Seth Coburn, veteran celery and onion grower at Hudsonville. The consumer invariably selects the "poorest" grade of these two commodities, he said.

Most much crop growers consider short celery as cull stock while the extra large jumbo stalks are the best grade. Coburn says most consumers nowadays reverse the order of the celery standards. To them the short stalks are the best and the jumbo bunches are the poorest. This change in preference is revolutionizing the production of this commodity in Western Michigan. Breeders, instead of trying to develop larger strains of celery, now are searching for superior strains of short celery.

Coburn said in a recent celery grading experiment he sorted his crop into three grades. The short or cull stalks were put in one grade, medium size celery in another and the large jumbo stalks into the fancy grade. As he was shipping to three Chicago brokers, Coburn decided to send the short celery to one dealer, the medium grade to another and the large stalks to the third. To his surprise, Coburn said the returns from the short celery were the highest while the check from the jumbo pack was the lowest.

Coburn switched the grades going to the dealers, and with each switch the dealer receiving the short celery made the best returns while the lowest prices were paid by the firm handling the large celery.

"That was proof enough that American consumers want celery hearts or short celery," said Coburn. "It also has convinced me that if Michigan growers will produce the kind of celery consumers want and pack it as they want it, we can compete with growers anywhere."

Coburn said the onion deal is an entirely different story. Consumers want the largest onions, he explained, although most growers know that the smaller sizes are the best for cooking and general use. The housewife invariably will select the large onions with thick skins and hard shells, this grower observed. This fact, Coburn added, is making it impossible for growers to sell small onions. Large quantities have been given to welfare agencies.

Observations similar to Mr. Coburn's also have been made by Mrs. John De Weerd, who is now making her home in Jamestown, has been visiting relatives and former neighbors in this community for the past week.

The regular meeting of the Senior Christian Endeavor society was well attended Sunday evening. John Swerenga played trumpet solo, "The Holy City," by Stephen Adams. Edna Berkompas playing the accompaniment. Judd Kromeyer led the meeting on the topic "What Our Church is Doing." Many took part in the discussion that followed. About thirty-nine were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Den Berg were hosts to an informal gathering in their home Tuesday. The occasion marked Mr. Van Den Berg's retirement from the office of deacon in the church, which office he has held for the past seven years. He will be ordained as elder next Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rosendahl, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Boerema, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Kromeyer, Mr. and Mrs. William Appledorn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Munson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Den Berg and Rev. F. J. Van Dyk. Delicious refreshments were served.

The regular meeting of the district school board was held at the Harrington school Monday evening.

Miss Florence Ten Have, teacher at the Harrington school, sustained a broken arm while in attendance at a skating party of First Reformed church of Zeeland Christian Endeavor society at the local rink Monday evening.

DIES AFTER ILLNESS OF
ONE MONTH.John P. Kolla, of the Holland

on the shores of Black lake, after an illness of nearly a month, at the age of 72.Mr. Kolla came to Holland more than a quarter of a century ago
with A. H. Landwehr and G. C.
Bouwman, who established the Holland Furnace Company. Mr.
Bouwman remained with the company for some time as its manager and then returned to Columbus, Ohio.The plant was established in the spring of 1906 when these men came here, and impressed by the beauties of the city they decidedto cast their lot with it and establish what is now the Holland Furnace Company.Mr. Kolla and Mr. Landwehr moved their families here from Akron, Ohio, and began an uphill fight to lay the foundation of the "Warm Friend" plant. The original unit of the first factory was 50x200 feet, one story, which building is still in existence. The factory started with 12 employees and from this humble beginning the large enterprise internationally known, with all its branch plants and two branch factories with headquarters in Holland is the result.Mr. Kolla, who himself started from the bottom of the ladder
as a miner in France, knew what hard work was—knew the problems of the laboring man and for that reason was close to his employees. Despite the great industry with which he was connected he was able to appreciate the humanitarian side of the enterprise.During the World War he was a

done a great deal for our Holland

local organization received engage-

Kolla paid a visit to their native village in France. There he again got in touch with his associates of yesteryear when they were laborers and miners together and the couple received due honors at the hands of the villagers.Mr. Kolla was born in Hayange, Alsace Lorraine, a French mining village, on September 29, 1860. He was instructed by French friars in his early schooling. Planning a career as an architect, he began studying for this profession, but changed his mind and went into the De Wendel iron mines. Previously he studied music, and after three months of practice was playing in the village band.As a youth he came to America, settling at Massillon, O., and becoming a naturalized citizen early.
He followed mining for a number of years and later went to Akron, O., where he was employed in a number of factories, including the Twentieth Century and Wise Furnace companies, where he obtained practical knowledge of the industry in which he later was to become a leader.His musical ability served in good stead during the depression of 1903 when as first cornetist in Akron's leading orchestra he was engaged as leader at a nominal salary. He also played and was assistant conductor in the Eighth regiment band of Akron, called "McKinley's Own," and one which McKinley asked to accompany him to Washington when he became president. He also was for eight years a member of the Ohio na-

he was wed to Miss Caroline Me-

Time Extended
Until March 1*EVENTUAL SLASH IN FEE IS ADVOCATED BY FITZGERALDSecretary of State Frank D.
Fitzgerald Saturday extended the deadline for obtaining 1933 automobile license plates to March 1.
At the same time, he advocated a reduction in the fee as soon as the legislature determines that the local governments can operate on reduced state aid.Late in December, the secretary of state extended the time for purchasing plates to Jan. 31 under authority granted him by the lawmakers two years ago. However, fewer than 140,000 licenses have been sold.Believing that automobile owners have been tardy because of inability to pay the tax, Mr. Fitzgerald decided that another month should be allowed. March 1 is the final deadline permitted by the statute.1,000,000 Have Old Tags Almost 1,000,000 cars are operating with 1932 tags, State Department records revealed. In the peak year of 1929, there were 1,220,000 passenger automobiles and 176,000 trucks registered in Michigan. This total has been declining at the rate of 60,000 cars a year, and in 1932
the registration had dropped to 1,001,000 passenger cars and 135,- 000 trucks."Study of the steady decrease in the number of automobiles in use on Michigan highways discloses that the present weight tax is too high under present conditions and as a result of the high taxes thousands of citizens are deprived of the use of their property and the state is deprived of the revenue it would receive from the gasoline tax, if all automobiles were in use," Secretary Fitzgerald said in a statement.It does not appear feasible to make any change in weight tax law as long as the local need for relief from highway taxes is acute.
At the present time, the entire weight tax is being returned to local governmental units for retirement of highway bonds and reduction of local highway and bridge taxes.Favors Drastic Reduction"As soon as the present acute need for local tax relief passes, I believe there should be a drastic reduction in weight taxes. Pleasure cars should be allowed to operate on payment of a greatly lowered license plate tax. Trucks used by farmers for hauling their own produce and by small business concerns in a manner incidental to the main business should pay a lower tax than do trucks that are in almost constant use on the highways."
"Such a change in the law would greatly increase the revenue from the gasoline tax and would provide welcome relief to more than one million citizens each year."The secretary urged every citizen who is able to do so to obtain 1933 license plates as soon as possible.TUBERCULOSIS TESTS

Chicago university last year. He

Trip; Arrangements
Made in ChicagoGrand Haven Tribune: — The cutter Escanaba returned to her home port last night at 7:30 p.m.
after a cross-lake trip to Chicago,
where the ship remained for several days. The boat left here a week ago for the first cruise across the lake since the new cutter came to Michigan waters. She docked at the Navy pier in Chicago.She was visited by newspapermen from the large metropolitan dailies and pictures of the ship appeared in several issues. Comdr.
L. W. Perkins estimated that 1,000 people visited the ship on Saturday and Sunday and there was a constant calling list during the remainder of the stay. Comdr. Perkins was photographed with the commander of the U. S. Coast Guard district in Chicago aboard the ship.Facilities for docking were learned. Means for fueling and taking on supplies were located and the harbor in general was studied.The cutter is the only ship of the kind on the lakes and in fact the only ship of the kind in the world, said Comdr. Perkins today and naturally there was much interest from marine and coast guard men and others. The cutter, in her trip down Lake Michigan at the time she came into this port, was covered with ice which took off some of the freshness of her paint, but the commander said in the spring she will be repainted.Most of the crew had never visited Chicago and the stay was sufficient to give each watch two periods of shore leave, which allowed many of them to get a fair idea of the city. The crew and officers were particularly interested in the Century of Progress fair grounds and buildings which are developing rapidly for the opening of the fair
next May.The trip over was a "bit dirty"
on this side, said the commander,
as they left the port when the lake was still rolling from the 50-mile gale that blew the day before. The return was as calm as a millpond,
he said.Out in midlake, the "man overboard" drills were practiced and other routine drills were performed. From time to time the ship will leave her dock to go into the lake for all the drills necessary to keep the crew at top-notch efficiency, said the commander.HOLLAND CHRISTIAN

the Maroons in scoring with 10

Farm Agent
Continues Work*HEADQUARTERS AT HOME
IN GRAND HAVENAlthough the board of supervisors has discontinued the office of county farm agent, Mr. C. P.
Milham is continuing, undoubtedly on the appropriation allowed by the state and government. Ottawa county as a county does not contribute. The following circular was sent out by Mr. Milham:Agricultural agent work will be continued in Ottawa county this year under the auspices of a county council of agriculture. At a meeting held in Allendale, attended by representatives from thirteen of the seventeen townships in Ottawa county, a temporary organization was set up which will make plans for financing the work in the county. This meeting was arranged and held by farmers interested in continuing the work.
Mr. C. P. Milham has been authorized to set up an office and carry on the work.This office at present is located at his home at 506 Lake avenue in Grand Haven. His phone number is 337-W. Service will be available to all the people of the county whether they reside in rural or city sections. Details of the organization plan will be worked out by the committee, a program of work arranged, policies determined and the work directed and financed by the council of agriculture.Mr. O. I. Gregg, landscape specialist at the college, has been obtained for an illustrated lecture at the Conklin Grange hall Feb. 6 at 7:30 p. m. Many pictures will be shown of homes before and after planting with shrubbery. Several of the pictures he will show
were taken in Ottawa county, where landscape plans have been made for co-operators.Onion growers' meetings will be held at the Vriesland Town hall
February 7 at 2 p. m., and at Hud-sonville High school on the evening at 7:30 o'clock. C. H. Mahoney, vegetable specialist at the state college, will present latest information available on results of experiments which have brought out valuable information on profitable onion growing. On February 8 a meeting will be held at the Allendale Town hall at 2 p. m.
Mr. Mahoney will also present this subject. At all these meetings Agricultural Agent Milham will talk on the opportunities and methods of growing sugar beets for profit to the producers.FENNVILLE SLOW IN GETTING TEACHERSThe Fennville school board have taken no definite action as to the hiring of teachers for the coming year. With all neighboring schools yearning their teaching forces and cutting salaries and with it evident that our income from taxes will be greatly reduced, some drastic reductions in our school budget will be necessary. In looking over some old school records of this district,
it was noted that, before the present school was established, two teachers managed to teach 140 pupils and their total salaries were exactly what is now paid the one janitor of this school. While no one wishes to go back to those early conditions, those who feel that the present teachers have a hard time might well ponder those facts.
They explain why school taxes are now so very high.GUNS AND TRAPS TABOO are obtained.Already Thinking of ester, N.Y., oldest living alumnus,

and from here will go to Chicago,
visit some of the churches in the Cascades, and on to the coast.
While in this country on furlough
he took a leading part in the centenary commemoration of the Reformed Church in America. Mr.

the Reformed mission in China
since 1903.The Fireman's club of Coopers-

What Michigan needs is more trees like those down in Georgia. G. C. Murdock, of Dalton, went hunting the other day and shot five squirrels out of one tree. After picking up his bag his hands put a raccoon up the same tree which hit the ground when Murdock fired. Retrieving this he was about to call it a day's sport when he noticed a number of bees enter a small hole in the tree trunk. Investigation and a small hand saw revealed a cache of wild honey up to the roots of the tree where a family of opossums were whiling away the daylight hours.

SPORTING

The Universal Carloaders of Grand Rapids, one of the outstanding amateur basketball teams in Michigan, will play at the armory this evening in one-half of the double attraction. The Furniture City champs will face the Rutgers Clothiers, city champions of Holland last year, and holder of joint leadership in the league race this season.

In the other attraction the Moser Leathers, formidable team of the local tannery, will oppose the Grand Haven Conoco Oils, one of the best in this section of Michigan. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The Carloaders have made a great record this season, having won the first half of the Central Amateur league from teams such as the Kalamazoo Harriers, Battle Creek Postums, Grand Haven Van Zylens and Lansing State Journal.

Porky Seborn, former Union high star and member of the Green Bay Packer professional football team, is coach of the Carloaders. Among the players are Rudd Formosa, all city and all state player at South high school; Warren (Skinny) Byrum, former Western State Teachers star and Michigan tennis champion; Earl and Harold Glocheski of Grand Rapids Union, junior college and the University of Michigan; Stanley Franzak, Union star and also performer at Ferris Institute; Leon Joslin, captain of South last year; Neil Ludwick, former Creston all star; Fenton Raber, University of Michigan, and Randy Boeskoel, co-captain at Michigan State college last year.

The visitors will present a rangy quintet against Rutgers, only one player being below 6 feet in height. Boeskoel is the giant, being 6 feet, 4 inches. The Rutgers have a rangy team, so it will be a battle of giants.

The Clothiers have been trying to get a game with the Carloaders all season without much success. If the locals stage a good battle against the Universals, they will be immediately booked for a return game at Grand Rapids.

Watson Spodistra, all-M. I. A. A. center at Hope college for three years; Cornie Muyskens, high scorer of the Iowa conference at Central college; Harold Tanis, Leman Smith, Harold De Young, Jim Zwemer, Casey Beltman and others of experience.

The Moser Leathers will present a strong line-up of former Holland and Christian High school stars against the Grand Haven Oils in an effort to stop the victory streak of the county seaters.

Both games will be offered for 25 cents admission. Band music will be provided by the Holland High school band.

Both local high school basketball teams won Tuesday games this week. Holland high downed Grand Rapids Catholic Central here, 18 to 16, and Christian captured its ninth straight game by defeating Western State high school at Kalamazoo, 20 to 13.

Last week, Friday, Holland lost a 24-to-23 tilt to Benton Harbor. The defeat by 1 point made it four games in which the Breenmen have been beaten by a total of 13 points. Christian had an easy time with Watervliet, winning by a 31-to-11 score.

Holland goes to Muskegon Friday for a Southwestern conference game.
