The 40-foot fishing tug "Cheerio" was headed for Waukegan, Ill., today after it was freed from its ice-bound position about 6 p.m. Wednesday by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew, 165-foot ice breaker which came to the "Cheerio's" rescue from Milwaukee. This picture was taken late Wednesday afternoon by a Sentinel photographer shortly before the Sundew dislodged the tug by means of a cable after breaking a path through the solid ice. The tug and cutter are about a mile away, looking southwest from Laketown park. Rescue operations took about nine hours, much longer than was first expected. The "Cheerio" headed for Waukegan to dispose of its load of fish because harbors on that side of the lake are clear. The Sundew headed for Muskegon. The ice-bound tug, caught in cross currents and drifting ice Monday night, were first sighted by local Coast Guardsmen at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Holland personnel sent food and fuel to the crew aboard.

Holland Hospital Given Provisional Approval by ACS

College of Surgeons Will Send Inspectors For New Evaluations

Holland hospital has been granted provisional approval by the American College of Surgeons in its 31st annual hospital standardization report, it was revealed today.

Holland hospital is among 3,150 approved hospitals in the United States, Canada, and a few other countries, at the end of 1948. Hospitals surveyed totaled 3,947, making the approval percentage 79.7 per cent. In 1947, 3,900 hospitals were under survey of which 3,143 were approved. Of the 3,150 hospitals on the new approved list, 2,820 or 71.4 per cent are fully approved and 330 or 8.3 per cent are provisionally approved.

Grand Haven Municipal hospital also is provisionally approved and Allegan Health Center is fully approved.

According to American College of Surgeons statistics, Holland hospital has a capacity of 60 beds and 20 bassinets. Grand Haven has 44 beds and 18 bassinets and Allegan has 40 beds and 13 bassinets.

John Fenlon Donnelly, chairman of the Holland hospital board, said that this is the first time Holland hospital has sought approval from the American College of Surgeons. He said the application was made about two years ago and the hospital was provisionally approved after a visit from inspectors. Another inspection will be made before full approval is given, he said.

A new development in hospital standardization applied for the first time in 1948 is a point rating system, an attempt to achieve some precision in evaluating hospitals, with emphasis on the quality of professional services and care of the patient.

Fundamental principles of the standardization program follow:

1. Modern physical plant, assuring the patient safety, comfort and efficient care.
2. Clearly defined organization, duties, responsibilities and relations.
3. Carefully selected governing board with complete and supreme authority.
4. Competent chief executive officer or administrator, well trained in all phases of hospital administration, with authority and responsibility to interpret and carry out the policies of the governing board as authorized by the governing board.
5. Adequate and efficient personnel, properly organized and competently supervised.
6. Organized medical staff of ethical, competent physicians and surgeons.
7. Adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities under competent medical supervision.
8. Accurate, complete medical records, readily accessible for research and follow-up.
9. Regular group conferences of the administrative staff and of the medical staff for reviewing activities and results so as to maintain a high plane of scientific efficiency.
10. A humanitarian spirit—the primary consideration being the best care of the patient.

Many Changes Made in Charter Of Grand Haven

Grand Haven, Feb. 3 (Special)—Grand Haven city council Monday night passed a resolution effecting several changes in the city charter. These changes will be submitted to a vote of the people at the primary election Feb. 21.

The resolution provides that the fiscal year commence July 1 instead of Oct. 1 to conform with the fiscal year of state and federal governments. It also provides that taxes be collected in two installments.

Mayor and aldermen will receive salaries of $250 a year. Previously the mayor was paid $50 and aldermen nothing. A national survey determined average salary for an alderman at $300.

The resolution also provides that Grand Haven will operate as one ward instead of five inasmuch as there is only one office (constable) elected for each ward. It is felt that it is unnecessary to have the city divided into wards; but any changes in present boundaries will have to be submitted to the voters.

The new system provides that the city manager purchase all supplies on competitive proposals under precise specifications, with petty purchases not to exceed $100. Heretofore, the manager was allowed to make purchases only up to $25 under a provision adopted in 1915. The resolution also provides that the manager make no purchases more than $500 without consent of council. Previous figure was $100.

It also provides that the city clerk operate as comptroller of the city as well as clerk and chief accountant.

The city's representation on the Board of Supervisors will consist of the mayor, city attorney, city assessor and one or more tax paying electors appointed by council. If the 1950 census shows Grand Haven's population has increased to provide further representation on the board, the present charter did not provide how such an individual could be appointed or elected.

Common Council Gets Resignation Of Ald. Holwerda

First Step Is Taken To Convert Property Into Parking Space

Common Council accepted Raymond Holwerda's resignation as alderman from the fifth ward with regrets at its regular meeting Wednesday. Mayor Bernard De Pree thanked Holwerda for his service to the city on behalf of council members.

Holwerda resigned to become eligible as a candidate for the charter revision commission. He announced his intention to quit council at the last meeting.

No city official is eligible to become a member of the charter commission, according to the law.

In other action Wednesday night, council took the initial step toward converting city owned property on West Seventh St. into a parking lot. On recommendation of the Public Safety commission, the Buildings and Grounds committee will study the matter of removing a city owned house from one of the lots and report back to Council at the next regular meeting.

A house on the other lot was taken down last summer.

The building inspector's report for January showed 17 permits totaling $29,400. The fire inspector's report revealed 89 inspections and 24 warnings.

The health inspector's report for last month listed four cases of measles, seven of scarlet fever, three of whooping cough and 11 instances of chicken pox.

A letter from the Holland Furnace Co. asking the city to extend the curb nearer to the sidewalk for parking in front of its office, was given to the Street and Crosswalks committee and the Public Safety commission.

Council authorized the city clerk to give the Michigan Municipal league salary and wage data about Holland, as requested in a letter.

The clerk was instructed to pay a 24th St. paving bond and interest in the amount of $1,320 which was due Feb. 1.

A BPW request to buy a truck-load of poles at a cost of $1,100 was granted plus another BPW request to purchase five 50 kilowatt transformers from the Westinghouse Electric Co. at a cost of $1,877.80.

Claims and accounts totaled $22,165.45. Other claims were: hospital board, $8,610.74; library board, $397.13; park and cemetery board, $3,212.78; hospital building fund, $8,693.55; Board of Public Works, $20,059.27.

BPW reported collections of $31,082.33 and the city treasurer reported collections of $35,742.10 and fall tax collections of $1,383.04 for a total of $37,125.14.

Ald. John Beltman gave the invocation and Mayor Bernard De Pree presided at the meeting.

St. Joseph Ekes Out Narrow Win Over Christian

Fourth-Period Rally Nips Holland Quintet; Local's Defense Good

St. Joseph high's quintet avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Holland Christian Friday night as it stopped the Maroons on the Bears' home court by the score of 37-28. The game was much closer than the score indicates, since the winners managed to eke the victory in the final minutes. Otherwise the game was nip and tuck—a typical St. Joe-Holland Christian meeting.

However, it was an improved Holland aggregation which stuck with the Berrien county lads for 28 minutes of the contest. Regaining some of the confidence which was missing in recent tilts, the locals displayed alert basketball—their best performance of the season.

The two guards, Glenn Petroelje and Ken Mast, were responsible for most of the offensive punch, while Preston Kool and Herb Otten turned in good performances under the basket, even though the two lanky boys found difficulty hitting the hoop. Defensive honors went to Pete Holstege, who held Oscar Ziemba, one of the leading scorers in the Big Seven loop to just two baskets and a pair of free throws. R. Dorow and Frank Marutz were outstanding for the Bears.

Perhaps the turning point of the contest was when Coach Arthur Tuls was forced to remove Butts Kool at the start of the fourth period because he was nearing danger mark with four personal fouls. Christian lost some of its backboard strength long enough to allow three rapid Bear counters.

Christian jumped to an early three point lead in the contest on Butts Kool's three foul shots. St. Joe scored after three minutes. The lead changed hands several times in the quarter before Coach Bus Burgoyne's club went out in front, 11-8 at the quarter mark.

A basket and a free throw by Macholtz gave the Bears a 14-8 lead before the locals came roaring back. Ken Mast and Petroelje countered on long shots while the winners netted another bucket. A basket by Kool and another by Mast brought the count to 15-15 with five minutes left. Shortly afterward, Mast again broke loose to give the locals a 17-15 lead. Two foul shots knotted the count for St. Joseph before Ziemba gave his club the lead with his first basket.

However, Chuck Aardema, subbing for Kool, looped a beautiful one hander to knot the count 19-18 at halftime.

Both clubs set a furious pace in the third quarter with the lead again shifting hands. Mast and Petroelje shared the scoring honors in the period, which saw the Dutch move out in front 25-24 with a minute left. However Ziemba's second counter gave the Bears a 26-25 lead at the end of the third period.

With just six minutes left in the fray, the locals slipped momentarily to give the Bears three quick baskets on follow up shots and one intercepted pass. Holland again narrowed the margin in the closing minutes, but the lead was too great and time too short. St. Joe's final points were garnered when the locals desperately left their men to go after the ball, thus accounting for the nine-point margin.

Although the Bears were taller than the Hollanders, Kool and Otten took good care of the rebounds, giving Christian control at various points in the tilt.

Holland connected on eight out of 17 foul attempts while the winners hit on nine out of 20. Frank Marutz, playing good ball for the smooth working Bears, was high man for the evening with 12 tallies. Ken Mast led the local attack with 12 points also.

Kalamazoo Seconds Win Over Holland Reserves

Kalamazoo's reserve team made its season record seven victories out of eight starts Friday night by tripping the Holland seconds 34-28. It was the rangy Kazooks second win of the season over the Dutchmen.

The initial quarter ended at 11-7 in Kalamazoo's favor. The locals came to life in the second period and tallied eight points while holding the visitors to three. The little Maroons surged into the lead again in the third canto and the scoreboard read 27-22 in their favor. Holland stayed on even terms with the visitors in the final period but the five-point lead was too much.

Ron Jackson scored 10 points for the Maroons while Bill Kramer made eight for Holland.

In a warpath to the second team game, the Holland ninth graders walloped the eighth graders.

Alfred Arwe, Hope college biology student, examines a microscope specimen to add information to the parasitology of fish of Lake Macatawa. Arwe is conducting a serious study of the cause of death among fish.

Fish Innards May Yield Secrets in Parasitology

Any fishing enthusiast would give a lot to possess what Alfred Arwe, Hope college junior does.

It's a year-round fishing license, good for any type, size, number, color, sex or character of fish, no limits enforced. His hobby? Cleaning fish! Whereas all other lovers of the sport live for that sudden jerk on the line, or that strike that sends the reel spinning, Arwe lives for the moment when he can cut open the fish and examine its interior.

Alfred is a resident of Boonton, N.J., and is a biology major at Hope college. He intends to continue his work in parasitology when he graduates, but right now he's getting plenty of practical experience doing this special research project for Dr. Tenuis Vergeer, head of the biology department at Hope. Arwe catches fish with a gill net, then examines them for parasites to determine whether any infection is causing an alarming number of deaths. He also stated that growths of a particular nature might have some bearing upon the time and place of fish runs.

The experiment began last summer when Dr. Vergeer became curious to know if parasites were responsible for serious infection and death of fish in Lake Macatawa. Since that time over 100 specimens from 80-odd fish have been examined. From the skin, fins, gills, mouth cavity, stomach and intestines, liver and heart have come thousands of parasites. Some are fairly large, but the majority are so tiny they can barely be seen with the naked eye. The parasites are classified and placed upon glass slides for further study under the microscope. Detailed charts furnished by the Michigan conservation department are filled out with all the known facts.

Arwe said that until the survey is completed nothing definite can be determined, but it is possible that many of the parasites have never been classified. Facts uncovered may also be significant to commercial interests.

Eight years ago a similar experiment was conducted by the conservation department, but it wasn't conclusive enough for Dr. Vergeer. So he asked Al to do the work as a parasitology project. Dick Gierum, a senior biology major has assisted Arwe, and much help has been given by the University of Michigan, the Michigan state department of conservation, and the Holland Fish and Game club. A complete paper on the results will be published upon completion of the work, according to Dr. Vergeer. That is if Al doesn't get tired of cleaning fish!

Kalamazoo Central Drubs Dutch Five By Lopsided Tally

Holland High Cagers Throw Wild Passes Throughout Contest

Holland high's basketball team absorbed a 54-34 drubbing from Kalamazoo Central Friday night at the Armory. The game was the start of second round Southwest conference play for both teams.

The Dutch played their poorest game of the season and never threatened the visitors after the Kazook team spurred to a 5-0 lead. Holland players repeatedly threw wild passes and didn't get off their feet under the boards. However, Kalamazoo deserves a lot of credit for its "almost" airtight defense which wouldn't open to let the Dutch work the ball into the area immediately around the basket.

Time-after-time the Dutch threw the ball wildly down the court and into the hands of Celery City players or out of bounds. Timing on passes was poor and pass receiving erratic.

"It was just one of those nights when nothing went right," said veteran basketball observers. Coach Malcolm Mackay must have sensed what was coming because he used his reserves freely from the start after seeing the regulars were having an "off" night.

However, even the reserves couldn't show much improvement. The game continued to go Kalamazoo's way. The Maroons used effective screening along with "long-toms" to sway the lead in their favor.

Kalamazoo grabbed onto an 11-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and never lost it. Mainly with shots from well out in the court, the Maroons stretched the lead to 24-16 as the teams left the floor for a rest.

Kalamazoo really poured it on in the third period and peppered the meshes to go out in front 42-21 as the buzzer ended the frame.

The final canto was just as bad as far as Holland was concerned. Kalamazoo went out in front 50-25 as the referee signaled the automatic three-minute timeout.

After the pause, the Dutch came back to hit the hoop for three straight field goals before Kalamazoo went ahead 54-31. Holland tallied three more points before time ran out.

Dick Noble of Kalamazoo led in the scoring department with 13 points followed by teammate Garth Stickney with 12 and George Heinrich with 10.

Ken Van Wieren paced the Dutch with nine points followed by Dave Kemper with eight.

The highly-touted Jim Wenke did not accompany the Maroons to Holland because of graduation exercises Friday night at Kalamazoo. However, Bob Topp ably filled his shoes at the center position.	Box score:

The Grand Rapids team is big and fast. They rely on speed to outscore their opponents and use very few set formations.

Coach Dell Koop's Hurricanes will be bolstered by the return of Russ De Vette to the lineup. De Vette hasn't been in a Hurricane uniform for the last three weeks because of conflicting schedules of his Hope college team and the Hurricanes.

Koop, although pleased with the locals showing at Niles last Saturday night, said today his team will be at a disadvantage in the height department.

The local mentor plans to start Ken Van Regenmorter at center. De Vette at one forward slot and either George Dalman or Earl Holkeboer at the other. Harve Butler and Vern Kraai will be on the back line for the locals.

Play around the pivot post can have a lot to do with determining the way the game goes. Broene, one of the classiest cage players ever turned out in Grand Rapids, is a difficult man to stop, according to Koop. However, Ken Van Regenmorter can match the Grand Rapids star for height.

The main event Thursday begins at 8 p.m. A preliminary game will see Pete's Barbecue against the Calvin college freshman team.

Chuck Boit, who holds down a guard position on the Pastoor five, is head cage coach at Calvin.

St. Joseph Reserves Beat Maroon Seconds

St. Joseph's Little Bears remained undefeated in nine starts this season when they engaged the Holland Christian seconds 39-24 in a preliminary tilt on the winners' court Friday night. The contest was close throughout the first half, but the winners managed to pull away steadily in the third period.

The Hollanders had more difficulty hitting the hoop than the Bears but managed to trail 10-6 at the end of the first quarter. The Bears outscored the locals an 18-11 lead at the intermission. Third period found the bigger lads leading by a commanding 32-21 margin.

Ralph Bouwman and Ed Altena led the local offense with nine and eight points respectively, while Ross led the winners with 11 tallies.

Strong Pastoor Ford Quintet Plays Holland Hurricanes Here Thursday

One of the strongest independent teams in the state will appear at the Armory Thursday night.

The Pastoor Fords of Grand Rapids come to Holland for a return game with the Holland Hurricanes. Fords defeated the Canes 55-43 in the locals' debut at Grand Rapids last Nov. 20.

Since that time the Furniture City team has piled up an impressive record against the strongest basketball teams in the state. Their record is marred by a single defeat—to the Dow Chemicals of Midland. However, the Fords earlier downed that same team in the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium.

Thursday's game will be somewhat of a repeat of a former Calvin college-Hope clash. Pastoor's starting lineup includes four ex-Knight stars. Holland's lineup is stacked with former Hope college cagers.

Gene Broene, with an average of 20 points a game, leads the Fords at the center slot while Marve Bysma and George Worst are on the front line. Louie Lang and Chuck Boit start at the guard slots for the Pastoor five.

The Grand Rapids team is big and fast. They rely on speed to outscore their opponents and use very few set formations.

Oil Paintings of Former Local Man on Display

Richard J. Mouw, former Holland man and brother of Harold Mouw, principal of Harrington school, is having a "one-man" show of 36 oil paintings at the Rockford Art association galleries at Rockford, Ill., during February.

Mr. Mouw attended Holland Christian high school and taught in the schools of Allegan and Ottawa counties for seven years.

Some of the artist's earlier paintings were of Dutch scenes and tulips. The show in Rockford includes varied subjects from landscapes to portraits with hand made frames. Local Game Club Plans Clubhouse At Annual Meet

Funds Are Earmarked To Finance Project; Site to be Named Later

The Holland Fish and Game club took the initial step toward building a clubhouse Thursday night at its annual membership meeting. A total of $5,000 was earmarked for the project.

No further action was taken on when or where to build. The club owns several acres of land-scaped property, including three ponds and a spring-fed creek on M-21, two miles east of Holland.

Members voted unanimously to write Gov. Williams endorsing W. A. Butler, publisher of The Sentinel, for reappointment to the State Conservation commission in April for a full six-year term. Butler was appointed a year ago by Gov. Sigler to fill the unexpired term of Harry Whitely of Dowagiac who had resigned.

In the annual election of directors 17 candidates were nominated of which Hine Van der Huel, George Vrieling, John Jousma and Wally De Waard were elected. Membership fees were set at 50 cents and the cost of banquet tickets at $1.50. The latter are to be sold only to club members.

Lawrence Dayton of Grand Rapids, game supervisor of a five-county area, spoke on rabbit hunting. He explained in detail how the dates of the rabbit season had been changed from year to year in the effort to keep most of the hunters happy. Hunting seasons are set by the legislature, said Dayton. He told how tularemia, a rabbit disease highly contagious to man, could easily be spread by the importation of game for stocking.

Ponds Chairman Sam Althuis reported he had planted an additional 1,000 pine trees on the club property and that pond number three would again be used to store winter shiners for summer sale to anglers.

Carp-fishing Chairman Neal Klassen reported that the fall seining operations resulted in 40,000 pounds of obnoxious fish being removed from Lake Macatawa with a net profit to the club of $700.

Fish prizes were awarded as follows:

Ray Johnson for a 174-pound northern pike measuring 42 inches; John Tiesinga for a three-pound seven ounce large-mouth black bass; Richard Streur for a five-pound 15 ounce small-mouth bass 22 inches long; Sipp H. Houtman for a six and a half pound 27 1/2 inch rainbow trout; George Tubergen for a brook trout measuring 14 1/2 inches and weighing one pound and 14 ounces.

Hine Van der Huel for a brown trout two pounds 14 ounces 19 1/2 inches long; John Tiesinga for a bluegill of 13 ounces measuring 16 1/2 inches; Arthur De Waard for a perch of one pound and 31 ounces.

Allegan Polio Chapter Receives National Aid

Allegan, Feb. 3—Because of the sharp increase in the number of polio cases last fall, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is now conducting the annual March of Dimes campaign, has sent a check for $1,800 to the Allegan county chapter.

The funds were forwarded at the request of Irving J. Tucker, chairman of the Allegan County chapter, who made the appeal to national headquarters because the local treasury had been depleted. He turned the check over to C. Frank Peck, chapter treasurer.

"The entire state of Michigan experienced an unusual increase in the number of polio cases during the last months of the year when the normal epidemic season was thought to be over," Tucker explained.

"Allegan county was no exception, and on December 9, we found ourselves with only $250 in the chapter treasury and nearly $1,800 in hospital bills waiting to be paid. We had paid out $8,400 so far that year."

"It should be reassuring to everyone in the county who contributes to the March of Dimes to know that their money is being well spent for the treatment of infantile paralysis victims."

"It should also be reassuring to this county to know the national foundation stands ready to send financial aid to any locality where an epidemic strikes. No one yet has been able to forecast where and when this terrible disease will strike."

One of the good uses to which March of Dimes funds are being put will be demonstrated next month when 11-year-old Annette Lent, of Plainwell, is sent to Warm Springs, Ga., for clinical treatment and study.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lent, Annette was stricken with the disease in 1947 and as a result, has lost the use of both legs. At Warm Springs, it will be determined if the child can be enabled to walk again.

Nineteen persons in Allegan county received hospitalization in 1948. Many of these were boys and girls who contracted the disease in 1946 and 1947 and who still require regular treatment.

In Allegan county, the March of Dimes campaign will continue until Feb. 12. Tucker said the chapter will receive contributions after the formal campaign is concluded, however.

Word has been received from Clark Raymond at the St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, Minn., that he has successfully undergone an operation on his hip at the Mayo Brothers clinic.

Pete's Five Wins Overtime Battle

Pete's Barbecue basketball team scored a thrilling overtime 52-49 victory over the Calvin college B team Thursday night at the Armory.

Pete's broke a 46-46 tie in the extra time by scoring six points while holding the little Knights to three points.

The winners were ahead at the end of the first frame by a 15-10 tally, and still held the margin at halftime.

The little Knights came back strong in the third canto and went into a one-point 35-34 lead as the buzzer ended the quarter. In the hectic last period, the teams played neck-and-neck and ended with 46 points apiece.

Big Carl Van Dort led Pete's to victory with 17 points, including four in that overtime period. Ron Forney and Don Moeller each racked up eight points for the winners.

Brasser had 10 for the Calvin bunch while Jacobsma, Van Tongeren and Van Der Bilt each had eight.

Zeeland Cagers Win League Tilt

Otsego, Feb. 3 (Special)—In a rough game, the Zeeland high school cagers defeated the Otsego five at Otsego Friday night 37-30 in a conference contest.

The Papermakers took an early eight-point lead in the first period but in the waning minutes of the quarter, the Chix found the hoop for three buckets making the quarter score 8-6 for Otsego.

Early in the second period the Elzinga coached five tied up the end and went into the lead. They traded baskets during the period with the Chix holding their three-point lead as the half ended at 16-13 count.

Both teams put up a tight defense in the third period and the Chix managed to hold their lead throughout the entire period. During this frame the Papermakers threatened to go out in front several times but when the quarter court was over Zeeland held a 27-26 lead.

Shooting from all angles and combining good defensive work, the Elzinga boys held the Otsego clan to four points while scoring 10 in the final period.

Ed King, guard for Otsego, was high with nine and Irv Post and Ray Wagner forwards, were high for Zeeland with eight each.

The Zeeland reserves lost to Otsego seconds 33-29.

Mrs. Alice Stegenga Succumbs at Hospital

Mrs. Alice Stegenga, 74, of 90 Gordon St., died Sunday morning at Holland hospital, where she had been confined five days. Death followed a heart ailment.

Mrs. Stegenga was a member of First Reformed church, the Ladies Aid society and Ladies Missionary society.

Surviving are two sons, Martin Hacklander and James Hacklander, both of Holland; one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Mouw of Grand Rapids; eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren; also two brothers, Manus Laarman and Ben Laarman, and a sister, Mrs. Grace Sjoerdma, all of Holland.

Guilty Plea Entered

Grand Haven, Feb. 3 (Special)—John Bremer, 220 West Eighth St., Holland, waived the reading of the information and pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor to minors "by agent, servant or employee" as a licensee, when he was arraigned in Circuit Court this morning. The alleged offense occurred Jan. 5 involving 17-year-old Dale Borgman. Bremer will return Feb. 21 for disposition of the case.

Hurricanes Win For Second Time Over Mutual Club

The Holland Hurricanes made their season record of five wins against six defeats Saturday night at Battle Creek. The locals defeated the Mutual Athletic club of Battle Creek 57-47 for their second win of the season over that team.

Although the first half was slowed down with foul shooting, the game settled down after the intermission and not a personal foul was called against the Canes during the entire second half.

The Canes held the lead throughout the game, although they never pulled too far ahead of the fighting Mutual five.

Holland paced off a slim 16-12 lead at the end of the first canto and were on the long end of a 29-23 score at halftime. Harve Buter and Jack Tirrell kept the Canes in the game during that first half with 10 and nine points respectively.

Tirrell played an outstanding game for the Canes. He repeatedly countered with those "chicken-hop" dog shots. That's the type where a player leaves the floor at the foul circle and keeps going up toward the basket until he lets go the ball.

Both teams hit the meshes for 20 points apiece in the third period. However, Holland's total for the third frame must be considered more brilliant because of the fact that Ken Van Regenmorter personally made 15 of his team's 20 points.

It was the steady play of Buter and Van Regenmorter that kept Holland out in front throughout the game.

After the high-scoring third period, both teams ran into a streak of tough luck and Holland made only eight points while the Mutual quintet counted only four points.

Harve Buter of the Canes paced scoring for both teams with 18 points while Ken Van Regenmorter was close behind with 17. Howard Lett of the Mutuals tied Van Regenmorter in the scoring department with 17 points.

Lloyd Heneveld, who is home for between-semester vacation, donned a Hurricane uniform Saturday night and counted nine points on three field goals and as many free throws.

The Canes play Schultz Motors at Grand Haven in a benefit game tonight. Proceeds of the game will go to the annual March of Dimes campaign.

Earlier this season the Canes eked out a 62-58 win over the Grand Haven quintet:

Hurricanes Lose By Two Points To Pastoor Fords

Frequent Fouls Mar Anticipated Clash Between Ex-College Foes

The highly-touted Pastoor Fords eked out a 50-48 decision over the Holland Hurricanes Thursday night at the Armory. The victory gave the Fords a season record of 11 wins and one defeat.

Frequent fouls by both teams kept the score down and turned the fray into a free throw battle. A total of 21 fouls were called against the Canes while 23 were assessed against the Fords.

Holland cashed in an 16 out of 28 chances from the foul line while the visitors made good 10 out of 21 tries.

The Canes threw a scare into the Grand Rapids team with a 20-point rally in the third period that put the locals ahead by three points. The final quarter was nip-and-tuck all the way until a six-point spurge by Pastoors put the game on ice.

The local players were tense in the first period and frequently let the visitors slip past to get clear under the bucket. Passing for both teams, especially Holland, was ragged throughout the game.

Pastoors went ahead in the first quarter by a 10-6 margin as the Canes had trouble finding the hoop with their long-toms. The Fords controlled both boards most of the first quarter and had things pretty much their own way. However, they too, missed many shots.

The Grand Rapids Autos spurred ahead in the second stanza and were on top 25-10 before Holland narrowed the gap with a last minute five-point flurry. Score at the intermission was 25-16 in favor of the Autos.

Early in the third canto, Holland was trailing 30-19. Then the locals exploded. They hit the meshes for five field goals and four free throws to go ahead 33-30. Holland maintained that three-point lead until the end of the third quarter and the score ended 36-33.

The final frame was close all the way. Five points was the biggest difference between the teams. The Autos went ahead in the final three minutes until the count was 50-45 with only 35 seconds remaining in the game. Holland tallied one free throw and a field goal to pull within two points but the time ran out before the locals could do anything about it.

Gene Broene lived up to his advance billings by taking high scoring honors for the evening with 17 points. Broene is considered one of the best ball players ever turned out in the Furniture City.

Ken Van Regenmorter, although going out of the game with five personal fouls in the final minute, had 12 points. Harve Buter had 13 for top local honors. Art Slager did a standout job for Holland under the boards throughout the last half.

George Worst went out on fouls in the third period.

Like Winter Choruses? Install Feeding Stations

Do you like the cheery chirp of the birds during these cold winter months?

Would you like to encourage their presence so that you can have a morning chorus outside your breakfast windows?

Then put up a feeding station and be rewarded with visits from a wide variety of winter birds.

Birds common to this locale during the winter are the cardinal junco, sparrows, brown creeper, nuthatches, chickadees, downy woodpecker, golden-crowned kinglet. In the suburban area may also be found the pine grosbeak, cross-bills, snow buntings, bob-whites, grouse, pheasants, hawks, little screech owl, barn owls and others.

Dr. Teunis Vergeer of Hope college, who keeps in close touch with the feathered friends, said bird feeders may be obtained from local seed stores or made by father and son in the basement or utility room.

The red cardinal and its dusky mate are not the only birds to visit your station. Juncos, with their white outer tail feathers, may be seen feeding with the sparrows.

Three birds can be recognized by their behavior. The brown creeper, smaller and more slender than the sparrow but with a long curved owl-like bill, lands at the bottom of a tree trunk and keeps spiraling upward, supporting itself with the long stiff tail against the trunk. When it reaches the branches it usually flies to the next trunk, starting again at the bottom. While most common in spring and fall, many winter around here.

Nuthatches are about the same size, bluish-gray above and whitish or rosy underneath but much broader built with shorter beaks and short stout tails. They often travel head downward, start near the tops and work toward the lower branches of the trees.

Dr. Vergeer encourages every lover of beauty to plant more evergreens in their backyards. The Vergeer yard, adorned with yews, blue hills spruce, Colorado blues, Chinese and American arbor-vitae, Pfizer junipers and several kinds of other juniper as well as hemlock is as beautiful in winter as during iris time in June. Birds appreciate the winter protection.

If you like a little noise and bright blue glashes, try putting ears of corn on garden stakes. The blue jays will become regular visitors.

THE HEX IN THE 20th

CENTURY

The twentieth century looks with amused condescension on the middle ages when the world had not yet come into the enjoyment of modern science. It is commonly taken for granted that the people who are alive in the present century are actually living in it. Now and then something happens that reminds us that many many live behind the iron curtain of superstition—people who live in the twentieth century only chronologically but whose actual life is a thousand years in the past.

Such an incident is that of the Fennville citizen who has reported that he was balked out of $8,000 to remove an "evil curse"— sometimes referred to as a "hex"— from his two-year-old daughter. The interest of that story does not lie in the capture and conviction of the alleged confidence man; it lies rather in the blinding light it throws on the mentality of an average American citizen in good social standing. If such a thing can happen to a normal member of an average community, is there anything too fantastic for belief?

If a movie scenario writer had exploited such an incident in a movie he would unquestionably have been denounced as a literary liar. Paying casual acquaintances $1,000 "to remove a hex" and then $7,000 more "to put the finishing touches" on the exorcism, and then attempting to borrow $4,000 more to round off the "cure," is so incredible a happening in our twentieth century that it would never be believed unless it had happened in a real community near enough to us to seem real. The incantations of the Medicine Men of the Indians in early American history were "scientific" compared with such a thing.

In all such incidents it is of course the business of the public authorities to bring the crooks of peace to justice and lodge them behind the bars, if possible. Also, it is the business of authority to recover as much of the loot as possible. But the emphasis should not all be on that side of the case.
Or rather, public sympathy for the victim would seem to be more or less misplaced. If such a person does not get his money back, the public can console itself with the reflection that there is a sort of poetic justice in the situation.

Anyone who in the twentieth century is capable of paying out $8,000 for the removal of a "hex" would probably have lost the money in other ways if these confidence men had not been the first to put the touch on him. The tears that are shed over such cases are more or less wasted.
When a person has lived in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries for 59 years and then still believes in a "hex," the chances are that nothing short of losing his money can set him right. With the money now returned and justice done we hope all have learned their lesson.

Anybody Wanna Fracture?

Rosema Could Spare One

Zeeland, Feb. 3.—A Hudsonville man has scant reason to be thankful, but he's glad he still has the use of one arm.

Ben Rosema, 56, route 1, Hud-sonville, was taken to Huizenga Memorial hospital Sunday night
after he was hit by a car on M-50 at Pearlina. Examination revealed he had fractured both legs and his left arm.

Hospital attendants described his condition as "fairly good" and said both legs had been placed in casts. His left arm was to be put in a cast later. He will remain in the hospital for a considerable length of time.

Wayne M. Tanis, 18, route 1, Jenison, was the driver of the car.
The accident occurred when Rosema, a pedestrian, crossed the highway to attend church. The driver was not held. State police investigated.

Jesus Teaching and Healing

Mark 1:14, 15; 32-39; Luke 4:16-21

By Henry Geerlings

Though we may not have time for more than a reference to it, nevertheless we ought to call attention to the regard Jesus had for the Jewish institutions of His day. There was much in them that was wholly out of order. The monotony and formality of the synagogue service must have distressed Him. The absurd Sabbath laws which had been imposed upon that holy day by the rabbis must have stirred within Him a spirit of rebellion. And yet He was a faithful attendant at the services in the synagogue. He traveled long distances to be present. And He observed and had high regard for the Sabbath, as God gave it to Moses. He did not set these institutions at naught because they had been robbed of much of their spiritual power.
They had a place in His life, and He used them.

The aim of the gospel is to destroy the works of the devil. We do not know exactly what the monstrous possession was like, but we do know that it is possible for Satan to take possession of the human heart. He can degrade and at last destroy the body and the mind and the spirit. He walks on our feet, he works with our hands, he speaks with our lips, sees with our eyes, and thinks with our mind. Our personality may become the slave of his personality.
This is not God's will. Jesus came to drive Satan out of our lives.
To know Christ and to keep company with Him is the sure way of escaping the bondage that leads to death. If we become the servants of Christ we can never be the servants of Satan.

Returning to Nazareth was the most natural course for Jesus. He had entered on His work, and had won a few followers. His words and works had given Him exceptional standing. Reports of Him had already reached this town.
This particular Sabbath turned out to be remarkable but it was a fatal day for Nazareth, due to the jealousy, prejudice and stubbornness of its people.

Privilege to read the lesson for the day was granted to Jesus.
This in itself was an honor to Him, and a recognition of His worthiness. He stood before the people to read the lesson. The content of the reading was not novel, but the interpretation Jesus gave it was what a thrill it must have been to Him as He read and realized that the message of the prophet was fulfilled in Him.
The reading finished, He assumed the posture of an authoritative teacher. He had something to say based on the Scripture just read.
He acknowledged that He was controlled by the Spirit and made the challenging declaration, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears." No doubt He said more, but we have no record of His sermon. We are told the effect of His preaching.

The questions raised about Him were most natural. These were home folks who had known Him as He grew up in Nazareth. It was not odd that some suspicious that He was, as we would say, putting one over on them, and others doubted that this boy of their town could indeed turn out to be the Christ. He was a problem to them.

Apparently there was no loud talking, but Jesus knew their minds and entered on a discussion to disprove their doubts and to make an honest attempt to pursue them to believe on Him.
He made use of two proverbial statements in the hope of correcting their false opinions. He could, and here did, use sarcasm that silenced quibbling. He accused them of refusing to be enlightened. He put them in an undesirable class.
They were in the way of prejudice. Their was a narrow view leading to hatred.

Jesus was more than a match in a discussion that involved Him and His mission. He based His claims on what the Scripture said.
They could not question the Scriptures. Their only other course was to believe Jesus, or to do something drastic to silence Him and get rid of Him. Discussions nowadays about Jesus are never profitable unless there is strict adherence to the testimony of the Scriptures. Personal opinion puts us in the dilemma of accepting Him or denouncing Him. But personal opinion can always be right by being guided by the Scriptures.

Tragedy followed the stubbornness of Nazareth. The people let wrath make fools of them. Self control was dismissed, and judgment was sacrificed to anger.
Jesus had challenged their unbelief, and it set no limit to its attack on Him. They laid hands on Him, intending to kill Him, but His supreme personality slipped from them unhurt. Of course He lost their loyalty, their acceptance of Him, but they lost far more. He eagerly risked all to fulfill His mission.

In holding up the ideal of Christian living, Jesus chose the poor and unfortunate as recipients of Christian charity and kindness.
The regard of this unselfish kind of special service was made clear by Him. Today the church carries on a great, good work as its mission. It ministers to the poor and the lonely and to the discouraged. It takes the gospel to people who otherwise might not know about it, or might think it was not intended for them.

Holland

In 1915

Last night a mass meeting was held in the assembly room of the high school, as the weather conditions made an outdoor meeting and bonfire impossible, began a story in the Friday, Nov. 19, issue

the students held their mass meet-excitement over tomorrow's game by parading over Eight street

School Building

Program Boosted

From Our Washington Bureau

Washington, Feb. 3 (Special)
—Michigan ranks sixth in the list of states which have earmarked large sums to build new schools in the last three years.

Topping the list is California which has awarded contracts for new schools totaling $94.9 million since 1946. Contracts awarded by Michigan for new schools in this period amount to $45.1 million.

Even though spending for schools and new equipment has run into many millions in the last few years, construction is far behind actual needs. It would take an investment of $11 billion to overcome the critical shortage of facilities throughout the nation, in the opinion of the Federal Security agency's office of education.

This huge backlog is the result of years of underbuilding, plus a rapidly increasing population, FSA explains.

Enrollment in elementary and secondary schools, which totaled 23,300,000 during the 1945-46 school year, had jumped to 24 million—an increase of 1,700,000 —by the fall of 1947. There was a further big gain by the fall of 1948, resulting from the high birthrate in recent years.

When the 1949 school term starts next fall, the office of education expects three million children to sign up. Another 700,000 will be added to this figure by the fall of 1953, USOE officials predict.

Gazing darkly into the future,
they forecast a 1954-55 school enrollment which will top the 1947-48 figure by 6,200,000, requiring some 200,000 new classrooms

Hurricanes Down Schultz Motors For Second Time

Hard-Fought Game Sees Holland Come Back After Trailing Losers

The Holland Hurricanes evened up their season record Monday night at six wins and six defeats by taking a 62-53 decision from the Schultz Motors of Grand Haven in a benefit game at Grand Haven high school gym.

It was the Canes' second win of the season over the Grand Haven independent team. Earlier this year the Canes toppled the Motors 62-58.

The locals had to fight an uphill battle throughout the first period and well into the second stanza before they went out in front.

Art Slager again was the Hurricane's defensive star as he repeatedly came off the boards with the rebounds from Schultz's big Frank Fett. Russ De Vette sparked the Canes offense with 15 points and some "beautiful" ball handling.

The Grand Haven team stepped off to an early lead and piled up a 19-13 difference at the end of the first quarter. Bill Vining, aggressive Schultz forward, fired the drive with three field goals.

Holland was having trouble hitting the hoop with their long toms most of the first period.

In the second frame, the Canes spotted the Motors one more field goal before they started to narrow the gap. A few minutes later, the locals had worked up an eight-point rally to pull even with the Grand Haven bunch.

After that the Havenites went ahead once again before the Hur-

Chamber of Commerce Cautions Local Persons

The local Chamber of Commerce asks Holland citizens to demand credentials and consider listings of an "estate analyst" who has currently been reported operating in the city.

Although the enterprise might be legitimate, the Chamber of Commerce wants to get the man's credentials to protect local persons.

According to chamber officials, the agent usually opens negotiations with a telephone call from Grand Rapids before coming in person. He then appears and asks that persons release their insurance policies to him for further study.

He explains the entire procedure, according to the chamber, by saying he will eliminate the estate tax in making up a will with his method.

ricarzes dumped in 11 points to rest atop a 33-28 lead at the intermission.

Holland strengthened its lead during the third period but the Motors started running and came up to within nine points of the Hurricanes.

Each team swished through 10 points in the final frame. The tilt developed into a race-horse affair, with both teams running up and down the floor after the scoring and the game ended with the Canes atop 62-53.

It was a hard-fought contest. Grand Haven kept within easy striking distance most of the way. However, the Schultz team fell apart momentarily during that second period in the face of the relentless Hurricane attack.

Frank Fett popped in 17 points to lead scoring for the evening. De Vette's 15 points were good for second and Ken Van Regenmorter came third with 11 points.

The Canes made 12 out of 24 foul shots while the Motors cashed in 11 out of 26 times. Bob Greenhoe of the Hurricanes was forced to the sidelines in the final quarter with five personal fouls and Butts Miller of Grand Haven went out in the same quarter.

A complete modernization and remodeling job is nearing completion at Smith's restaurant, 180 River Ave. The establishment, formerly known as Lee's restaurant and more recently as Smitty's has been owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith since April, 1946. The restaurant will open for business on Thursday but the grand opening will be held Saturday.

An unusual lighting system highlights the interior of the restaurant. Lamp posts, resembling those used years ago, are featured. The entire interior is finished with light wood.

Much new equipment also has been installed, including new counters for counter service, and a complete new cooling system. Tables and chairs also have been remodeled.

The restaurant will feature lunches and dinners for business persons and will specialize in fish dinners. Bottle beer and wine also will be served.

The outside of the building has been modernized with yellow brick and Indiana limestone.

The restaurant will be open daily from 8 a.m. until 1 a.m. It will be open Sunday beginning about May 1.

Significant Trend Developing in U.S. Foreign Policy

Truman Believed to Favor World Union; America Taking Lead

From Our Washington Bureau
Washington, Feb. 3 (Special)
—President Truman's "peace, plenty and freedom" speech in inauguration day is still the number one item of speculation in this Capital city of the Western world.

Republicans have generally adopted a "let's watch" attitude. Many Democrats, Speaker Sam Rayburn among them, predict easy going for any Truman foreign policy proposal.

A significant trend in American foreign policy is developing. The United States is slowly moving, perhaps drifting, towards leadership of a limited world government or federation.

In the war, United States was the arsenal of democracy. It still is. But now America is the arsenal of plenty and as such, is tending to draw free nations into its economic orbit.

This trend is not quite as surprising as it seems at first sight. Remember Winston Churchill's speech at Fulton, Missouri, in 1946? Britain's wartime leader then proposed union of England and United States—an unpopular proposal at the time, but Churchill's appearance was sponsored by Truman, who sat on the platform with him.

Because the Churchill proposal was received so unfavorably, Truman has never again directly associated himself with any union-plan.

Consider the Truman doctrine, which announced United States would aid free peoples who were threatened by Communism; the British loan; his strong support of the U.N.; and the Marshall Plan. Collectively, these add up to a significant change in our foreign policy.

Nor is the Chief Executive the only elected official to set off the change. Senator Estes Kefauver, newly elected Democrat from Tennessee, included in his campaign platform a plank calling for world union.

The full impact of all of Truman's program has not been felt yet. Parts of the program have not gone into operation. When they do, the nearness with which they approximate world government will be very apparent. There will be economic agreements, military pacts, all channeled through a supra-national body—the United Nations. And that will be pretty close to a sort of limited world federation.

Advocates of world union hold even this would not be enough. They contend such an organization would be too loose, and that members would be apt to follow courses of individual interests dangerous to the whole. Only by maintaining a preponderance of power, they say, can the Soviets be stopped.

Similarly, they claim the western allies of the last war will not stick together firmly enough to oppose Russia effectively unless there is a world government.

But whether the unionists are satisfied with the speed with which we progress toward such a government, there is little doubt we are moving that way.

Kindergartners of Zeeland public school watch with rapt attention as older students dramatize the story of Snow White and Rose Red in a thrilling puppet show. At left, James Bronner, Alyce De Pree and Joan Whitsett manipulate the hand puppets and emote behind the small stage of the puppet theater. In the rear is Eleanor De Pree, Zeeland artist who supervised the project in puppetry.

Young Fry of Zeeland Thrill to Puppet Show

Zeeland, Feb. 3 — The newest thrill for Zeeland kindergartners this week was a puppet-show with all the trimmings.

The puppet show was strictly a local affair with puppets and stage designed by students of the Zeeland Art center. They also mastered the drama, and spoke their lines with deep feeling as they manipulated the hand puppets.

This particular puppet show was entitled "Snow White and Rose Red" and told the story of Snow White, Rose Red, the mother, the long bearded dwarf and the prince who was disguised as a bear. In true fairy-story manner, kindness and goodness of the sisters and the dwarf's greed and ingratitude brought out an every-day moral.

Puppets were made by art students of Eleanor De Pree, who operates the Zeeland Art center. Heads of the hand puppets are made of papier mache molded over a light bulb, and painted after it dries and hardens. Costumes are then made, commentary composed, sets designed and artists learn to emote.

The puppetry project was begun last fall and the first performance was given in the studio Dec. 31. Louise Wierenga, kindergarten teacher, was so impressed she asked the group to put on the show for the kindergartners and for the entire elementary school. Since then, the performance was given four times.

Assisting in the project were four art students, all school age. They are Joan Whitsett, Alyce De Pree, Marlene Hartgerink and James Bronner.

College Surveys Teacher Situation

The education department of Hope college revealed in a recent announcement that there is an increased demand for Latin teachers, while the demand for history and physical education instructors has diminished in high schools.

There is a tremendous shortage of elementary teachers, according to Prof. Garrett Vander Borgh, head of the education department. This shortage stems from the fact that a large number of special certificates have been issued in past years to unqualified teachers to make up the shortage of qualified individuals, Vander Borgh said.

Indications point to a higher range of beginning salaries than last year, especially in the elementary field, the department reported. Large teacher demands are assurance that most Hope education graduates this year will have an opportunity to teach, the department said.

Maroons Get Set For Return Tilt With Eagle Team

Revenge will be uppermost in the minds of Holland Christian's cagers Friday night when they take the large Burton floor to tangle with the improved Grand Rapids Christian quintet. In their first meeting here a month ago, the Furniture City Eagles edged Coach Arthur Tuls' squad, 32-29. The Christian cagers are going through drills this week with renewed spirit following their good showing against the St. Joseph Bears last Friday. Tuls feels that his boys looked the best last week and hopes it is a sign of better things to come. The St. Joe tilt was one of those affairs which could have gone either way. The lead kept changing most of the ball game until the Bears pulled away when Tuls was forced to break up his combination by removing Butts Kool who was near the five foot mark.

Coach Jack Boelema's club promises to be no pushover. Evidence of this was given when his lads stopped a rugged Union quintet in a 41-40 overtime Tuesday night. Tuls scouted the Eagles in this tilt and said there are several boys in the lineup which will be tough to stop. One is 6' 6" Ken Ryskamp who is a bear on the backboards. The Mattoon mentor said the task of handling the giant center will fall to Butts Kool, who did a good job on him in their first meeting. Tuls, however, hinted today that he will change the strategy somewhat in handling the lanky pivot man, Friday.

Another sparkplug in the Grand Rapids starting five is shifty Pete Van Enk, a good shot and an excellent ball handler. Van Enk starts most of the plays for the Boelema-coached "set-up" offense. Jack Thomasma, another guard, will also have to be watched closely. The Holland coach said, Christian did not practice Monday, but Tuesday went through a hard scrimmage on the Armory court. Another session is scheduled for the Maroon gym today and a light shooting drill is set for Thursday.

Everyone seems to be in top physical shape with the exception of burly Charles Aardema who has been missing from school for the last two days. His loss will be felt keenly on the big Grand Rapids floor, should he be unable to play.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wesseling and children of Diamond Springs were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schipper and family of Oakland recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Compagner of Oakland were among those who attended the get-together with Miss Gertrude De Kleine at her home in Drenthe on Saturday.

Special music at the young peoples' society of the Oakland Christian Reformed church was given by Miss Gladys Ver Beek, Mrs. Donald Boersma and Kenneth Ver Beek with Almon Doezema as accompanist.

Mr. and Mrs. Tenuis Van Dam, Arthur Van Dam and Alice Van Dam of Oakland were the guests of their relative, Walter Van Dam on Saturday evening at his home in Forest Grove.

Mary Allis Van Kampen Has Birthday Party

Mrs. Henry Van Kampen entertained at a birthday party Friday afternoon for her daughter, Mary Allis Van Kampen. The party was held in the Van Kampen home at 115 West 28th St.

Each little guest was presented with a gift. The table was decorated in pink and green and instead of a birthday cake, a decorated ice cream "cake" served as centerpiece.

Prizes were awarded to Kent Rowder and Kenneth Taylor.

Guests were Kenneth Taylor, Paul De Jongh, Briant and Kent Rowder, Joan Vande Vusse, Marianne Robertts, Linda and Lenore Elferdink, Barbara Vander Werf, Linda Salisbury and Gayle Van Raalte.

Activity in Full Swing At New Youth Center

Youth activity in Holland has taken a new "lease on life" through recreation and entertainment offered in the new youth center on West Eighth St. just west of the Tower building.

The center, which opened a month or two ago, now boasts of a soaring membership of 400. Last year it took more than three months of the first period to achieve a membership of 275. Open three years last Aug. 1, the club was housed in the Tower building until last summer. It was then known as the Tower club.

The new home is larger and infinitely more suited to the large group, according to Mrs. J. G. Van Leuwen, director. With a five-year lease, teen-agers have a sense of security about the place. The center is one of the agencies sponsored by the Community Chest.

Recreational activity offers pool, billiards, ping pong, table games, dancing and reading from a small library which stocks latest publications. Reading material for the lounge is provided by the Elizabeth Schuyler chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. A piano and juke box are available for music.

One of the principal functions of the Youth Center is to teach youth of Holland creditable conduct at all times. Members seem to appreciate their privileges, and it is a rare occasion that demands discipline. However, on these occasions, disciplinary measures are administered with the sanction of the entire membership.

Membership is limited to those in the 13 to 19 year-old group. Participation in activities is evenly distributed at each end of the age scale. The center is supervised by a youth board and an adult board which meet monthly. On the adult board are Mrs. Adrian Van Putten, president; Mrs. Mayo Hadden, secretary; Henry Maentz, treasurer; Ervin Hanson; Mrs. Peter Van Domelen and Milton L. Hinga.

Mrs. Van Leuwen believes the local center is one of the better equipped teen-age clubs in the area. Equipment includes three pool tables, two ping pong tables, several pieces of furniture (of which more is needed), and coke and candy machines. The center is open from 3 to 6 p.m. on weekdays and 3 to 11 p.m. on Saturdays.

Earlier this fall, there was talk of roller-skating, but the membership overwhelmingly voted the suggestion down.

The center's calendar lists a St. Valentine's dance next month and a ping pong tournament this semester. James De Vries is arranging the tournament.

Other organizations use the center at times. Among them are the Boy Scouts and the high school Horizon class.

Lansing Sexton Defeats Holland By Close Score

Reds Overcome Dutch Late in Third Quarter; Beertuis High Scorer

A field goal by Duke Schuon in the final second of the third quarter put Lansing Sexton out in front of Holland Tuesday night and the Big Reds stayed ahead until the end to win a close 42-38 decision.

The contest was played on Sexton's spacious hardwoods at Lansing.

Both teams played good ball throughout the game. However, officials were calling them close and repeatedly slowed up the game with foul shooting.

The Dutch committed 28 personal fouls while Sexton was charged with 18 offenses. Sixteen were levied against Sexton in the first half and 11 against Holland. The locals were detected 17 times during the second half to twice for the Reds.

Holland cashed in 14 out of 24 tries at the foul line while the home team connected 12 out of 25 times.

Jim Slagh, Gerrit Israels and Ron Appledorn of Holland plus Ray Smith of Sexton all went out because of too many personal fouls. Slagh saw part of the third and the entire fourth quarter from the bench.

Holland looked like an entirely different team than the outfit that muffed the Kalamazoo game last Friday night. The Dutch were alert and with big Tom Vander Kuy and Dave Kemper getting more than their share of rebounds under the boards, the Dutch had things their own way for two and a half quarters.

Both teams missed many shots during the first quarter and it wasn't until late in the period that Tim Beertuis laced through the first field goal that sent Holland ahead 8-6. The quarter ended 10-8 in Holland's favor. Only three field goals were scored in the initial canto, the other points were charity tosses.

Holland really got rolling in the second quarter. The Dutch hit the mesh for 17 points while holding Sexton to nine. The local hoopsters, led by Beertuis with eight points, held a 27-19 halftime lead.

Sexton began counting long-toms in the third frame and slowly crept up on the Dutch. Sexton pulled even until they went ahead 35-34 after Schuon's side-court shot.

In the low-scoring final period, Sexton made seven points while holding Holland to four. The Lansing quintet froze the ball the final three minutes and only once was Holland able to get control of the oval and score.

Beertuis' 10 points was high for Holland with Vander Kuy next with eight points. Vander Kuy made seven out of nine foul shots in the first half and one out of two in the second half for his eight points.

Schuon tallied 12 for Sexton while Paul Hartgerink made eight.

Holland won a 49-38 decision from the Big Reds in the Motor City Invitational tourney at Flint during the Christmas holidays.

Holland travels to Muskegon Heights to play the league-leaders Friday night. Coach Malcolm Mackay was pleased with the improved showing Tuesday night and at the same time was disappointed that the old last-period jinx still plagued the Dutch.

Holland Gideons Hold Fellowship Meeting

Holland Gideons met in the Dutch Mill restaurant Monday evening for a fellowship get-together. Three of the state officers were present, Coleman Peters from Mt. Pleasant, Michigan state president; Arnt Forslund from Grand Rapids, state field secretary and John Van Puffelen from Grand Rapids, state chaplain.

After the fellowship dinner state officers spoke in behalf of the Gideon program, stating that the greatest need today is to give Testaments to the youth of America, accomplishing the task that "God has given us to do." They also brought out the need for one million service Testaments, as soldiers are again leaving homes today and the Gideons are continuing to send them forth "armed with the Gospel." During the war over nine million Testaments were distributed. One of the new projects for the Michigan Gideons is placing Bibles in tourist cabins in Michigan, starting in the northern section.

Ren Muller of Holland, the International vice president, spoke briefly, citing the need of "distributing God's Word," stating that millions are hungry for the Word of God. He challenged the audience to get behind the Gideon work.

Chester Weener, secretary of the Holland camp and Herman Bos, treasurer, gave reports. Special music was furnished by Mrs. Jacob Westerhof and Mrs. William Valkema with Mrs. Herman Bos accompanying.

Social Progress Club Informed on Furniture

The modern home maker is no longer bound by tradition in the selection of home furnishings, George Pelgrim told the Social Progress club Tuesday evening. In a paper "Fashion Trends in Furniture," Pelgrim traced the historical development of furniture from the table, which he said, was probably the first article of furniture developed more than 6,000 years ago.

"Estimates are that furniture sales continue to be dominated by furniture of 18th century design, but modern pieces are becoming more popular each year. The furniture maker who expects to sell his product must be aware of changing tastes in furniture and be able to accurately estimate what designs will sell," he said.

A trend toward smaller homes and apartment living is giving rise to a new concept of furniture design that combines taste, beauty and durability, he said.

He described in detail a series of tables that will fill the needs of modern home makers. Pelgrim also said that the home is becoming an ever increasingly important unit in democratic living. And homes are becoming more attractive and livable because the modern home maker is demanding and buying furniture that reflects

Unit of Rare Blood Is Taken To Grand Haven

A unit of rare type blood was taken from the Holland Community Blood bank to Municipal hospital in Grand Haven for an emergency resulting from an adult surgery case.

Blood needed in this instance was type 3, Rh negative, an extremely rare type which could not be located in Grand Haven, either in the hospital bank or in the "walking bank."

Holland's blood bank has been in operation since July 1948, operated by the Ottawa County Medical association and the Red Cross. The Grand Haven blood bank opened a month or six weeks ago with all operations done by hospital personnel. In Holland, donor clinics are held at Red Cross headquarters.

The next local clinic will be held Monday from 5 to 7 p.m. with all donors provided by Zeeland city. From 16 to 18 donors are expected from Zeeland Rotary club, with a few from the Lions club. Zeeland periodically sends donors to Holland in keeping with the program which supplies Hui-zinga Memorial hospital in Zeeland with whole blood. The last Zeeland clinic was held here two months ago. Customarily, Zeeland provides donors about once in three months.

Mrs. N. J. Danhof, who heads the Red Cross campaign in Zeeland this year, took charge of recruiting the donors.

Dr. G. Kemme of Drenthe and Dr. D. C. Bloemendaal of Zeeland will be the physicians in charge of Monday's clinic.

Complete Plans For Leper Meet

Dr. Rottschaefer pioneered in a new venture treating lepers at roadside clinics in the native villages of India. The work has now reached such proportions that she treats 1,200 lepers weekly, working out from Wandiwash, 50 miles from Velore, traveling from village to village and living in a tent.

Mrs. Edith Walvoord, presided at Monday's meeting. Mrs. Emil Halverson, missionary to Brazil now on furlough, led devotions, developing the theme of the potter and the clay, illustrating with descriptions of actual pottery-making in the Brazilian interior.

Present officers were re-elected with the exception of Mrs. A. Pommerening who replaces the assistant treasurer, Mrs. M. Low, resigned. Mrs. Peter Slenk reported on the new leper programs which are available to member societies on request.

About 90 women were present, representing 38 churches. icy roads reduced the attendance from outlying churches. Two new societies joined the federation during the past year, it was revealed.

It was announced that a new motion picture, "African Prince," is now available to churches on request from the American Mission to Lepers in New York City. Refreshments were served after the business meeting.

Dutch Chaplain Speaks at CHS

The Rev. J. H. Sillevia-Smith, chaplain in chief of the royal Dutch navy, addressed the student body of Holland Christian high school at an assembly Tuesday morning. Speaking informally following the assembly, Rev. Smith said "The American people are very poorly informed of the state of affairs in Indonesia. Truces have been violated," he said, "and the military leaders of the Indonesian Republic have refused to co-operate with the Dutch authorities. The problem would be much simpler if the United Nations would let the Dutch continue and break the power of these military leaders."

Rev. Smith told the student body about his work in Java and his contact with lepers. He touched on conditions in the Netherlands when he said that in that country "one never hears talk of hope for the future. The shadow of communism is too near. In the United States, opinion is full of bright hope and expectancy," the speaker said in contrast.

In closing, Rev. Smith, using the famous lines of Abraham Lincoln, said "Our worry is not 'Is God on our side' but the question is 'Are we on God's side?' In order to have peace and justice in our nation and in the world, we must have righteousness and justice in our own private lives." Ignorance for a week of speaking engagements.

The speaker was introduced by Principal Raymond Holwerda who told the students about Rev. Sillevia-Smith's life and work. He attended the Free University of Amsterdam and was a missionary in Java before he became chaplain in chief of the Dutch Navy.
