Jay Walking
Out of Hand
Near Schools

Holland High students walking the two-block stretch from the school to Third Reformed Church has developed into a hazardous problem, and police are going to do something about it.

Students formerly walked on designated sides of streets in sort of a one-way traffic movement, the northbound staying on the east walk and the return on the west walk. But soon there was wholesale jay walking and of late as snowbanks mounted, a practice of walking in the streets with openly defiant attitude. Car drivers on Pine Ave. seemed to have few, if any, rights.

This attitude is not confined to the Pine Ave. stretch. But exists in areas surrounding most secondary schools.

To bring back orderly pedestrian movement (and possibly a void tragic accidents) city police have been instructed to police the areas and if necessary arrest and charge the offenders with disorderly conduct. This charge fits the situation more adequately than a jay walking ticket since the practice virtually amounts to obstructing traffic with intent, authorities said.

Persons 17 and over will appear in Municipal Court. Those under 17 will be referred to Probate Court. It is expected Kenneth Bosman, county juvenile agent, will consult parents of offenders under 17.

This program was worked out jointly by school and civil authorities.

Wiring Causes
Fire in Store

A fire which resulted in only minor damage and was believed caused by a short in the wiring Wednesday at 1:40 p.m. brought three city fire engines rushing to the Essenburg Electric Co. at 52 West Eighth St.

Firemen first went up ladders to the roof, where smoke was seen pouring from a skylight, but could not reach the fire from there.

Working from inside, the fire was halted by firemen who crawled up into the space above the ceiling and played water on the blaze.

Accidents in the city of Holland during 1958 resulted in damages totaling $163,503, according to statistics released Wednesday by the police department.

This figure, of course, does not include the costs and suffering of the 160 persons who were injured and the two persons killed in city accidents during the past year.

Police said $126,937 damage resulted from the 303 major accidents recorded in 1958, while minor accidents cost a total of $36,566.

In breaking down into age groups the number of persons involved in auto accidents, police found that 18-year-olds qualified as the most careless drivers, being involved in 34 accidents.

Nineteen-year-olds weren't much better, being involved in 31 crashes. Behind them came the 17- and 23-year-old groups, each involved in 28 accidents.

The accident rate was found to be generally high through the 26-year-old group, after which it dropped steadily to a low in the forties' group.

The latest police tally on accidents in the city thus far this year has reached 120, including 42 major accidents and four persons injured.

Chicago Negro Youth
May Not Be Made Page

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Embarrassed Northern Democrats wondered what to do today about a would-be page boy — a Negro — left on the Capitol doorstep by an elusive Chicago congressman.

The boy — 14-year-old James A. Johnson Jr. of Chicago — flew to Washington under the impression that Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill.) had arranged an appointment for him as a House page boy.

But all indications were that he would not get the job. Key Democrats denied that O'Hara had the job to give. Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the Democratic Patronage Committee said he informed O'Hara of this last Friday.

Zeeland Regains First in Kenewa

Chix Defeat Sparta, 46-37 For 7th Win

ZEELAND (Special) —Zeeland High's basketball team regained undisputed first place in the Kenewa League here Friday as they topped Sparta, 46-37 in Zeeland High gym.

The victory was the fourth in league play for the Chix against one loss. Fremont wasn't scheduled Friday and Coopersville had its game with Comstock Park postponed. Each of these clubs has a 3-1 Kenewa mark. Sparta is 1-4 and Comstock Park 0-4. Zeeland is 7-3 overall.

Sparta, coached by Bob Fitch, former Western Michigan University basketball player, tried to slow the game down and was moderately successful in the first half. The Spartans jumped off to an 8-1 lead and used a control offense, of working the ball in for one shot. Sparta led at the close of the first period, 11-5.

But Sparta, although continuing to work the ball in, was failing to hit in the second quarter and the Chix were grabbing the rebounds and going down on the fast break. Zeeland grabbed a 17-14 halftime lead.

The Chix were in command throughout the second half and coach Paul Van Dort was able to use each one of his players but only eight entered the scoring column.

Zeeland held a 29-24 third period lead and enjoyed a six-point margin in the fourth quarter. Although the spread was not big, Zeeland held the upper hand despite Sparta's attempt to control play.

The Spartans have three big boys, Dave Mutcheller and Dave David, 6' 2" but the Zeeland zone defense gave them trouble. Only Mutcheller did any scoring, making 11 points, while David hit only one basket and Andrus failed to connect from the floor.

Wayne Schout led Zeeland with 12 points while Jack Van Dort had 11. Van Dort led in rebounding with 15 while Schout snagged 24 and Marv Feenstra, 12.

Bob Browner, who usually hits in double figures from his forward spot, was inserted at guard for about half the game to offset the Sparta height. He did a good job in the spot and scored eight points. Zeeland made 18 of 37 shots from the floor for 27 per cent and the Spartans had 10 of 40 for 25 per cent. The Chix hit on only 10 of 28 free throws for 36 per cent and Sparta sank 17 of 34 for 71 per cent.

Volleyes

Yes, it was a red letter day for two busy doctors.

Those twin brothers, Dr. William G. Winter and Dr. John K. Winter, marked their 50th birthday anniversary Friday by observing their usual busy work schedules.

But two days earlier, there was a celebration in the surgical wing at Holland Hospital, Mrs. Henry W. Tenpas provided a birthday cake and the staff and all surgical workers shared in the happy event.

For laughs, the docs each received a gift. Dr. John got a toy oil well (he's always talking about oil) and Dr. Bill got a toy sports car.

Wot's the old saying? The first 50 years are the hardest?

Main topic of conversation these days in Holland is the weather... more specifically the snow. And there was plenty of the latter. So far this season, Holland has had about 85 inches of snow... and winter is only a little over a month old. Anyone with a jeep fitted with snow removal equipment has had more work than he could ask for.

Biggest problem now is finding place to put the snow. Those banks along the street curbs are getting higher, higher and higher. City trucks hauling snow from the downtown area are really giving the city dump a new look.

Stories of people whose cars get stuck in their own drive ways are legion these days. The Holland Music Association which is carrying on a membership campaign this week has had more than its share of bad luck on this score. Officers got around this one by doing most of the work by telephone. Of course, there were several heroes and heroines who managed to get through, and do an extra bit of work for the cultural cause.

Emergency parking for the duration of "the big snow" went into effect early today. Just don't park on the north or east sides of city streets except in areas where permanent parking restrictions already are in effect. Boulevards, of course, are not affected.

If you're one of those persons who get mixed up in directions (who doesn't occasionally) there is an easier way. Just don't park on the side of the street where the fire hydrants are.

It's newcomer time again. In December, the city hostess paid calls to seven new families.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Martin and four children including four-year-old twins sons of Chicago, have moved into a home at 540 Colgate Ave. Mr. Martin is employed with R. E. Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jacobsgaard and three children of Dwight, Ill., have purchased a home at 40 West 37th St. Mr. Jacobsgaard is with the DeKam Agricultural Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pastoor of Grand Rapids have purchased a home at 74 East 32nd St. Mr. Pastoor is with Holland meat Co. Their children are grown.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Bates and five children of Detroit are living at 304 Central Ave. Mr. Bates is with Progressive Engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leach and two children of Marion, Mich., are living at 70 West 29th St. Mr. Leach is a technician with Michigan Gas Storage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith and two sons of Port Clinton, Ia., are living at 172 West 26th St. Mr. Smith is a speech teacher at Hope College.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Molenaar and young son of Kalamazoo are living at 342 West 20th St. Mr. Molenaar is employed in the claims department of Holland Motor Express.

Delwyn Dekker reporting seeing a mourning dove at his feeding station at the Dekker home on Graafschap Rd. earlier in the week. Delwyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dekker, said the brown bird was the size of a bluejay with long slender tail and black specks on head and wings.

Christmas seems ages ago, but it's only a month really. Here are some Christmas chuckles we almost forgot.

In filling out a blank at Hope College for family Christmas plans, Dr. D. Ivan Dykstra wrote: "Read 26 term papers, make out six final examinations, make plans for second semester, shovel snow."

For more Christmas flavor... the crew at Saugatuck post office went out of their way to wish their patrons season's greetings. They sent post cards to all patrons wishing a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year "and our sincere thanks for your cooperation every day." Postage was paid too — 3 cents on each card!

S. E. Paulus, one of our good buddies who occasionally contributes something for this column, writes from Dallas, Tex. He wrote: "Maybe you don't think that Holland, Mich., made an impression on an 11-year-old relative of ours last summer!"

"This lad, Henry Murphy, of Dallas, visited us for a few days last June and just loved it. We gave this boy a monogrammed shirt for Christmas... H. M. for Henry Murphy. When he opened the box Christmas morning he shouted, 'Look, a swell new shirt from Aunt Helen and Uncle Syl and it's got Holland, Mich., on it!'"

"Actually he wasn't too happy to be reminded that his initials are H. M. and that the monogram was not for his summer woodland, Holland, Mich."

Hope Coach Doesn't Think MIAA Will Widen Goal Posts

Russ De Vette, football coach at Hope College, thinks it would be "ridiculous" to change the width of the goal posts and he is certain that the width won't be changed in the MIAA.

"I think it is ridiculous to change the width of the goal posts," De Vette said. "That four feet 10 inches won't make that much difference and I'm sure the MIAA will keep the rule intact." The goal post question is one that is sure to come up at the spring meeting of the MIAA, held during the field day, May 16 in Kalamazoo.

The NCAA made the change from 19' 2" to 24 feet at its recent meeting and Fritz Crisler of Michigan said the reason for the change was to give the kicker a better angle.

Every rule passed by the NCAA is discussed by MIAA schools and then the group usually makes one of three choices. They go along with the NCAA, choose the NAIA ruling or make their own ruling and stick by it in MIAA games.

"If they had decided to move the goal posts up to the goal line that would have made a big difference," De Vette said. "Such as if it was fourth and 10 to go on the 20, now a pass would be tried while if the goal post was on the goal line, a field goal would probably be attempted," De Vette said. Two games in the MIAA last season were decided by field goal. Hope beat Hillsdale and Alma edged Kalamazoo.

De Vette felt that most field goals in the MIAA ranks fail because they are not kicked far enough and not because of the width of the goal posts.

The MIAA stuck with its own rules of one point last season when the NCAA chose to give two points for an extra point scored either passing or running.

The two-point rule was decided with the non-league before the game and Hope will probably follow the same rule with the goal post. If the MIAA votes to remain the same as in 1958 with its goal posts, teams playing here that use the wider posts will have to be notified prior to the game.

If it should happen that the Michigan high schools vote for the wider goal posts, then the River-view Park uprisings would have to be changed and in either case a movable extension could be placed on the crossbar. High school teams all use the fields used by the MIAA teams.

Dr. P. G. Crook Discusses Use Of Fluoridation

There is a proved, safe remedy for the most common of all diseases, Dr. Philip G. Crook of Hope College Thursday told the Rotary Club at the Warm Friend Hotel, but we here in Holland are not using it.

The most common disease, he explained, is tooth decay — cavities. It costs two billion dollars a year to repair the damage done by it. The proved remedy is fluoridation of the water. But Holland isn't using it, he said.

"Fluorine in the water will not prevent all tooth decay; it is only a partial answer. Both heredity and diet are factors which help cause or lessen its attack. But for more than 70 years, it has been known that fluorine definitely will prevent in some cases and lessen in most others the effect of tooth decay," Dr. Crook said.

Just exactly how fluorine works is not known, the speaker said, but experience and tests during these 70 years have shown positively that it is powerfully effective in preventing a sizable share of tooth troubles.

Dr. Crook cited half a dozen cases ranging from Colorado Springs to Grand Rapids. In cities where fluorine is put in the drinking water, tooth decay drops remarkably. In neighboring communities with no fluorine, decay is general.

He refuted a number of popular misconceptions about the treatment. It helps adults as well as children. It has no effects whatever on the system aside from lessening tooth trouble. It works best when in water. It does not affect foods.

He said one widely voiced objection to it is that fluorine is a poison. But, he pointed out, so are chlorine and iodine, both of which are accepted as additions to water and food. And fluorine is used in much smaller proportions than either.

Snow Creates New Problems

Holland Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff said Saturday he has received a number of complaints in the past few days concerning the dumping of snow into city streets or onto other persons' property, a practice contrary to city ordinance.

Many of the complaints the chief said, are against the private snowplow operators with their jeeps, who often shove their loads of snow across the street onto someone else's lawn, or leave it right in the street, creating a traffic hazard.

Chief Van Hoff cited the city ordinance, which reads in part, "No person in removing snow from private property shall deposit it on any sidewalk or street, nor in any area between the sidewalk and curb except such area as is adjacent to one's property, and then only in such quantity as will not create a traffic hazard."

Concerning the last point, Chief Van Hoff asks businessmen, such as service station operators, and residents to keep the piles of snow at city corners low enough so that motorists can see over them to see approaching traffic.

Policemen have been instructed to begin issuing tickets to persons disposing of snow in an illegal manner, the chief said.

THE CRIME OF BEING STUPID

Secretary of State Dulles has very properly added the crime of being stupid to the list that has long caused crisis after crisis to afflict this unhappy world. It is probable that stupidity does more harm in the long run than active viciousness.

Dulles aimed the charge of stupidity at Russia in that country's proposal to turn a federated Germany into a kind of vassal state whose function it would be to keep East and West out of each other's hair.

Such a plan is not only doomed to failure, it is packed with dynamite that would sooner or later blow up the world. Said Dulles: "Germany cannot be smothered under the kind of blanket the Soviet Union has in mind."

Theodore Roosevelt, years ago in connection with an entirely different matter, voiced about the same principle that Secretary Dulles has now enunciated. Stupidity in international affairs, said Roosevelt, does more harm than out and out viciousness.

The world has had many tragic examples of the justice of this principle. It was the stupidity of the Versailles Treaty that blossomed into World War II. Millions of human beings died, and billions of dollars were wasted, not because of direct viciousness on the part of statesmen in 1919 but because they were criminally stupid.

But statesmen never seem to learn, not only statesmen abroad but here at home as well. Immediately after World War II Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morganthau proposed to turn Germany into a vast European cow pasture, stripping it of its industrial capacity. Fortunately there were others who had actually acquired wisdom and the plan was rejected, but for a time it was seriously considered. Imagine what would have happened to the world if it had been followed.

But Russia is still stupid, in spite of Khrushchev boasts that the Soviet economy will "bury democracy." It is in the nature of dictatorships to be stupid. And stupidity is a crime — a crime unfortunately from which many are doomed to suffer who are themselves not responsible for it.

More power to Secretary Dulles for calling international stupidity by its right name.

Jesus Questioned About the Tribute
Luke 20: 19-26
By C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)

Some of the questions people asked Jesus when he was upon the earth were asked in order to obtain information and others were asked in order to trap him. The question about the tribute money was asked in order to get him to say something which would discredit him.

I. The subject of paying the poll tax was a live one in the days of Jesus. Every male had to give this tax annually. The Jews hated to do it. The tax was one denarius, about the wages of a common day laborer. On Tuesday of the last week of the Lord's life the leaders of the Jews sent a few of their disciples with some Herodians to ask Jesus a question about paying tribute money. The opponents of Jesus were determined to trap him. They challenged his authority to teach, they asked him about paying taxes and about the future life about which there was a difference of opinion. The question about the tribute money is in all the three synoptic gospels.

The questioners were coached before they approached Jesus. They flattered Jesus saying that they knew that he spoke and taught rightly without fear or favor. What they said about Jesus was true. The question was, "Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or no?" The question was a good one but the motive of the questioners was bad.

II. We all have an obligation to the state. Jesus knew the craftiness of the spies and asked, "Why tempt ye me? Show me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it?" They answered and said, "Caesar's." And then followed an answer such as they did not expect. "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's." We receive from the government, we are under obligations to the government.

The state is imperfect but its citizens are also. The Jews, by using Caesar's money, acknowledged his authority. They got benefits from the government and therefore they should pay. We owe more to the state than taxes.

III. We all have an obligation to God. Many people in our day ignore all the obligations which we have towards God. We owe God reverence, obedience, worship and service. In some lands the state takes the place of God. The Communists say that there is nothing higher than the state. The Christian objects and asserts that God is above the state. If there is a conflict between loyalty to the state and loyalty to God, the Christian is determined to be loyal to God.

What we owe to the state and to God will make a good subject for discussion. Christians are conscious of being citizens of two worlds. Our loyalty to God should govern all our actions and determine our relationship to the state. We are members of a society and we all have obligations in it. Some church members think they should withdraw from all political affairs because of the sin and corruption often associated with these affairs. It is the duty of all Christian citizens to remember that they are citizens of God's kingdom and of a nation.

The answer of Jesus was so wise that no one could find fault with it. He did not dodge the issue, he met it fully and answered in a forthright manner. People marvelled and his enemies were silent. And today we feel grateful for the answer which tells us about two great obligations.

Reek said polio officials are optimistic about making the $25,500 goal in Holland city and Holland and Park Townships. Laff for the day:

At an alumni meeting of New York public school 14, a member of the class of 1910, now balding and affluent, reminisced, "Do you fellows remember a skinny little shaver named Hughes from our class?" His family was poor as church mice, but he had an instinctive business sense, and we all just knew he'd make the grade. When he got out of the Army in World War I, he bought himself an old pushcart and began buying and selling old bones, bottles and rags. And what do you think Hughes is worth today?"

Some guessed $100,000, some a million. "You're all wrong," chuckled the alumnus. "Hughes isn't worth a Confederate nickel. In fact, he never even paid for the pushcart!"

Current Events and County Government Occupy WLC

Current events on the international level were reviewed by Dr. Henry L. Bretton, associate professor of political science at the University of Michigan, at a regular meeting of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Bretton, who appeared before the club six years ago, told the club that the basic approach to world affairs should be a critical analysis of the various sources of news information at the people's disposal. He said newspaper coverage of world affairs generally was inadequate, partly the fault of the publishers who have to make a living, but not entirely their fault.

He said under fascism all newspapers published the same story complete to commens and periods, and said American newspapers are rapidly approaching this practice with virtually all newspapers carrying AP and UPI stories with few variations. This criticism did not include editorials, but even editorials are becoming more and more uniform, the speaker said.

"If a person really wants to dig for information on a world-wide scale, the New York Times has tremendous coverage. There also are excellent books," he said.

"Through the newspapers, you might get the impression there's something wrong with our foreign aid program. There is plenty to criticize in the program, but much of the criticism in American newspapers stems from the fact that foreign aid is a popular target in Congressional circles (anybody can clam foreign aid but not the thing that affects people near home) and not from critical analysis," Dr. Bretton said.

He recommended the book, "The Ugly American," Lederer and Burdick, as an honest attempt to find out what the Asians really think and want, not the American image of what they want.

He criticized the American press tendency to encourage the work of independent forces in other parts of the world. "Just because these forces call themselves independent is no reason to believe theirs is the best answer. This American idea of independence is associated with overthrowing the colonial system at some point," he said.

There also is a tendency in the American press to have democracy compete with communism at every point. While not deprecating missionary effort in any way, he said Christianity was something of a western phenomenon not particularly applicable to oriental cultures. For instance, certain tribes in Africa practicing polygamy could regard Christianity as a social philosophy subversive to theirs, when an American suggests men have only one wife or that tribal dances be eliminated. "To us, things may be non-political, but to them such things are very sensitive," Dr. Bretton said. "They can't reconcile their philosophy with Christianity, and the insistence of our way of life could drive vast numbers of people into the arms of Communism."

Dr. Bretton, during the question period, favored such visits as that of Mikoyan to the United States and felt that America should be courteous. "If Hitler and his cohorts had visited the United States during the late 1930's, it is doubtful he would have plunged into World War II so easily," he said.

Mrs. Clarence J. Becker, club president, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Forrest Barber, vice president, conducted the business meeting. Plans for a Family Fun Night to be held Feb. 24, were announced. Parents visited classrooms and teachers at the close of the meeting.

Prosecutor James W. Bussard of Grand Haven explained government functions on the county level at a meeting of the public affairs group of the Woman's Literary Club at 1 p.m. Tuesday preceding the regular weekly meeting.

In a general outline, Bussard said the board of supervisors is the highest body in the county consisting of one supervisor from each township plus representation from cities on the basis of population and according to city charter. This group meets four times a year, the number of meetings based on the business at hand. Much of the work is done through committees.

Under the two-year term, elected officers are the drain commissioner, perhaps the least known since drains were more important in early colonization than they are today; the register of deeds, who files all birth and death records and all cases for Circuit Court, conducts elections and works with the board of supervisors; the county treasurer, who handles all finances; the sheriff, the most eagerly sought position and the most familiar to the people; the county surveyor; and the prosecuting attorney who represents the county in all civil cases and prosecutes all criminal cases in justice and circuit courts, and even in higher courts in case of appeal.

Two other elected officials are the circuit judge who serves a six-year term and the probate judge who has a four-year term. Salaries for judges are paid by the state butboards of supervisors may pay additional amounts. Probate court takes care of administering estates of deceased persons and also has jurisdiction in cases of juvenile delinquency.

Other agencies in the county which come partly under the board of supervisors and partly under state authorities are the Bureau of Social Aid, Department of Social Welfare, county health department, county board of education and county road commission. A question and answer period followed.

Mrs. Arthur C. Yost, public affairs chairman, introduced the speaker. She announced the public affairs will meet again March 10 with Mayor Robert Visscher speaking on city government.
