EXPANSION PROJECT — Bell Telephone Company's recently announced $926,000 expansion plans for the Holland area started this week with the laying of new conduit along River Ave. from 10th to 14th Sts. The workman shown here is tearing up sidewalk along the west side of Centennial Park, from 10th to 12th St. and digging a trench for the conduit. Other workmen (background) are laying the conduit in the trench. The new conduit will accommodate cable south from the central office on 10th St. and tie in with previously laid cable between 14th and 16th St. The new conduit will also accommodate the cable between the downtown central office and the Macatawa central office in Central Park (Edgewater exchange.) ## Council Places Three Proposals On April Ballot

Three charter revisions will appear on the spring ballot April 3, according to action taken by City Council Wednesday night.

One provides an increase in remuneration for mayor and councilmen, calling for a mayor salary of $1,250 per year and councilmen to be paid $750. Payments would be made quarterly. If passed, the increase would affect only those officers starting a new term. The charter provides that no salaries may be changed for either elective or appointive officers during terms.

The second would change the deadline for filing petitions for city primaries to allow necessary time for setting up elections, voting machines, reservation of polling places. The new proposal calls for a deadline six weeks before the primary election whereas the present law calls for only three Saturdays before the primary, in effect only two weeks.

The third proposition would increase membership in the Hospital Board from five to seven members, the two extra members to be appointed by mayor with consent of council with terms ending June 30, 1969 and 1971.

Terms on the hospital board would continue to be five years.

The three changes were proposed by a special charter study committee consisting of Morris Peerbolt, chairman, City Attorney Gordon Cunningham and Richard W. Smith.

A previous proposition to increase the mayor's pay to $1,500 and councilmen to $500 lost in the Nov. 3, 1964, election by a vote of 3,466 to 5,509.

Councilmen and mayor presently are paid $5 for meetings attended with a maximum of $180 a year. The mayor receives an additional $100.

In introducing the three propositions, Peerbolt said the city has become much more complex since the charter was passed in the early 1950's.

He said the proposition, if passed would affect the mayor and four councilmen for the next two years, involving an increase of approximately $3,400 a year.

The change in deadline for filing petitions for city officers would provide sufficient time for necessary election work in the clerk's office. City Clerk D. W. Schipper said the new proposition calls for filing petitions six weeks in advance of the election, whereas the state constitution calls for seven weeks.

As a case in point, this year Feb. 4 is the deadline for filing petitions for the Feb. 20 primary. Candidates have until the following Tuesday (Feb. 7) to withdraw, thus allowing only 1 1/2 weeks for setting up the election. This involves ballots and machine strips printed, machines set up, election workers are supposed to be appointed 20 days in advance of the election, a difficult task in view of the fact that elections may not even be held in certain wards.

The committee recommended the first and second proposition. Peerbolt said the committee had no strong feelings pro or con on increasing the hospital board, but included it on request of the hospital board.

A three-fifths vote of Council is necessary to put such propositions on the ballot. All were approved unanimously. Later in the meeting the special committee was discharged.

Applications for senior citizens tax exemptions have been lagging in Holland, and City Assessor Alvin De Haan emphasized again today that such applications should be made as soon as possible, with the middle of March the very latest.

He said applications must be made each year. Last year was the first time that such exemptions for senior citizens were effective.

Veterans eligible for tax exemptions also should make applications soon.

So far, about 300 persons have filed applications. In 1966 there were 835 senior citizen applications and about 1,000 are expected this year.

To qualify for exemptions, senior citizens must have lived in Michigan for five out of the last 10 years, and at least six months of the year in the home for which the exemption is sought. Combined income for couple for 1966 may not exceed $5,000 from all sources.

Homestead assessment may not exceed $10,000 in state equalized valuation. This reduces to assessed valuation of $5,400 for city residents in Allegan county and $5,500 in Allegan county. Cash value of all real estate owned in Michigan and outside the state must be declared.

De Haan reemphasized that the burden of filing for tax exemption rests entirely with the applicant. The assessor's staff, however, will make out the applications. The assessor's office is on the second floor of City Hall.

Applicants must have been 65 years old by Dec. 31, 1966. Income of all co-owners may not exceed $5,000 for 1966 including social security, retirement benefits, public assistance and interest earned from investments. Applicants must own and occupy the homestead on tax day Dec. 31.

Applicants receive a $2,500 exemption in state equalized valuation, which reduces to $1,365 in Ottawa county and $1,388 in Allegan county. There may be a slight variation in these figures since 1967 rates have not been determined. According to 1966 figures this amounts to a tax savings of $86.77 in Ottawa county and $92.23 in Allegan county. The applicant pays the difference between these figures and his total tax bill.

Veterans exemptions are much like the senior citizens exemptions except this program is based on a $7,500 state equalized assessment and a tax exemption of $2,000. This exemption reduces to $1,110 in Allegan county and $1,091 in Ottawa county.

In applying for tax exemptions, senior citizens must present a deed to the property, birth certificate and social security number. If this is a repeat application, this evidence is not required.

Veterans should submit a current veterans check. If applying for the first time they must bring discharge papers and a deed to the property.

Taxes exempted in these two programs are reimbursed by the state of Michigan to the various taxing authorities.

Council Has 35-Minute Meeting

Considerable business was transacted by City Council at a 35-minute session Wednesday night.

An application from Gulf Oil Corp. for a permit to erect a service station at the southeast corner of 32nd St. and US-31 bypass was referred to the city manager for study and report.

Council approved a request of Holland Tulip Time Festival Inc. requesting renewal of the lease on the "Little Netherlands" property on the northeast corner of 13th St. and Central Ave. under the same terms as contained in the present lease, allowing the site to be used for Tulip Time functions and activities reasonably incidental to these projects.

Also approved was a new service agreement with the Insurance Audit and Inspection Co. for insurance services for the year beginning March 9 at an annual fee of $400.

A communication from the Liquor Control Commission advised that if there are any objections to renewal of licenses to sell alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises, that Council should adopt resolutions to this effect or else these licenses would be automatically renewed. The communication was referred to the city manager for study and report.

A Library Board report on a gift of $50 from The Holland Evening Sentinel through the Greater Holland Community Foundation for books of a scientific and technical nature was accepted with thanks.

Council adopted a recommendation of the city attorney approving a settlement with the International Salt Co. with respect to anti-trust litigation to recover damages from salt suppliers amounting to $2,500. The city attorney was authorized to execute the necessary settlement documents.

Claims against the city were filed on behalf of O. Lenora McFarland, 27 West 18th St., and Robert S. Galien, 270 West 25th St. They were referred to the city's insurance carrier and the city attorney for consideration and action.

A communication from Municipal Judge John Galien thanked Council for appropriating additional funds for a new probation officer and announced that Thomas A. Carey, counselor at Holland High School, has been appointed to fill the part-time position effective Feb. 1. His appointment also will be approved by the Department of Corrections.

Introduced for first reading were four ordinances prepared in cooperation with the Department of Environmental Health, one amending the animal section of the public nuisance ordinance, another amending the building code, another the housing code, and one to repeal the existing sign ordinance since signs would be covered in the amended building code.

All will be discussed at second reading two weeks hence.

The city attorney also announced that recodification of ordinances is under way and during the next two months several such matters will be brought before Council.

Mayor Nelson Bosman presided at the meeting. All councilmen were present. Invocation was given by the Rev. David L. Clark of Grace Episcopal Church.

MORE WINTER — Mr. Groundhog, cautiously surveying the outside world at the Kalamazoo Center, ran into six inches of new snow today and predicted winter is here to stay. The groundhog saw his shadow in the Holland area about 10 a.m. The most famous of all weather seers, the Punxsutawney, Pa., groundhog, emerged from his cozy lair at Gobbler's Knob, saw his shadow at 7:25 a.m. and returned to his hole for six more weeks. Legend has it that the Punxsutawney groundhog has been wrong only once in 69 years. (UPI telephone)

Another 5 1/2 Inches of Snow Falls on Area

Intermittent sunshine, an omen generally not favored on Groundhog Day, greeted Holland today in the wake of another snowfall which dumped 5 1/2 inches on the area Wednesday night.

City plows were out early, trying to find places to pile up snow—not an easy task following last week's big snow which buried the town under some 23 inches.

Holland fared better than many other cities. Many parts of Michigan had up to nine inches of new snow in a 60-mile band which extended from Benton Harbor to the tip of the state's thumb. Hazardous driving warnings were issued in many areas where the snow turned to sleet and freezing rain in the early morning hours.

In Holland, snow started falling after 5 p.m. Wednesday and ceased around midnight. Schools were closed at Portage outside Kalamazoo after a nine-inch snowfall. The new snow caved in the roof of an abandoned garage building in Paw Paw.

Hardest hit was Chicago where another seven inches of new snow complicated problems left by last week's 26-inch snowfall. Housewives were mobbing supermarkets for supplies Wednesday night and businessmen crowded into every available "loop" hotel room.

The storm swept northeastward and heavy snow warnings went up for upstate New York and northern New England. John Roberts, premier of the Canadian province of Ontario, had to cancel a speaking engagement at Windsor, Ont., when snow kept his plane from landing.

Schools in Chicago suburbs and outlying districts of northern Illinois were closed today. For some children affected, there had been no school since Thursday. Chicago public and Catholic schools were open.

Holland's latest snowfall goes on the February record. But January statistics reveal the total snowfall for the month was 45.5 inches. Half of it fell on two days Jan. 23 and 24, following three days of spring-like weather in which temperatures rose to 61 on Jan. 25. A low of -4 was recorded Jan. 19. The average temperature was 35.1 degrees or 1.6 degrees above the January norm.

January precipitation (including that 45.5 inches of snow) measured 4.12 inches or 1.96 inches above normal. Rain and snow on New Year's Day totaled .39 inch precipitation.

Greatest depth of snow on the ground was listed at 20.5 inches on Jan. 28, but drifting in many areas made it appear much more.

Counselors
Plan Tours
Of Plants

Guidance counselors of Holland area schools today started a once-a-month program of visiting local manufacturing plants.

Today's visit is to H. J. Heinz Co. Plant Manager C. S. Speicher is currently chairman of the Chamber's Industrial Council which together with the Chamber's Educational committee is arranging the series of visits.

Plans call for counselors to spend about two hours in selected industries, learning firsthand the jobs open to young men and women in area plants. This aids local counselors in advising students on local job opportunities.

Questionnaires also are being sent to local manufacturing plants for job opportunity listings. Such information will complement the tour program.

Schools participating in the visitation program are Holland High School, West Ottawa, Holland Christian and Hamilton High School.

Car-Truck Crash
Injures Two Men

Two men were injured when a stake truck and a compact car collided on the US-31 bypass at M-40 at 3:53 p.m. Wednesday. Ricardo Garcia, Jr., 26, of Chicago, Ill., driver of the car, was in fair condition at Holland Hospital today with possible internal injuries.

The truck driver, Jerold Huist, 40, of route 5, was treated at the hospital for severe leg lacerations and released.

Holland police said Garcia was making a left turn onto M-40 when his car was hit by the truck. Garcia was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Car, Truck Collide

A flatbed truck driven by Glen Verecke, 32, of 266 West 23rd St., and a car driven by Burrell H. De Young, 52, of 720 Ruth Ave., were involved in a collision on 32nd St. near Washington Ave. at 4:12 p.m. Thursday, according to Holland police. Police said the truck hit the rear of the De Young car.

Area Gets 23 Inches Of Snow

The worst snowstorm of the season hit Holland Friday dumping 23 inches in a little over 24 hours.

Holland shared its woes with southwestern Michigan and a good chunk of the midwest which was similarly afflicted. In Holland, flurries started at midmorning Thursday and increased in intensity. It was estimated six inches fell Thursday and another 17 inches fell Friday.

Whipped by east and northeast winds, the storm left strange new patterns in the local picture. Roads which usually are drifted shut had few troubles and others which usually are open had big drifts. Worst trouble spots were in the eastern section and south of 32nd St.

City snow removal equipment had little trouble in getting through, but as one worker put it, "It doesn't seem to do much good. It all fills up behind us."

There were no trains into Holland from Chicago Friday, and the mail load was correspondingly lighter. Rural carriers made deliveries where possible, and city carriers slowed through the snow on their regular beats.

Postmaster Louis A. Haight asked the cooperation of local patrons to shovel a path for home deliveries and for rural patrons to dig out their mail boxes. Star route service was not made to Hamilton or Saugatuck and Douglas.

Ottawa sheriff's officers said US-31 was open between Grand Haven and Holland and M-21 was open between Holland and Jenison. They described all driving as "generally miserable" with visibility very poor. All secondary roads in Ottawa county were near impassable. M-40 to Hamilton was blocked this morning.

In Allegan county, state and county equipment was concentrating on primary roads. Trucks were out early and in some cases plowed roads to the homes of employees who were snowbound. Several motorists were stranded in Allegan overnight, but there were no reports of emergencies. Snowfall in Allegan county early this morning was estimated at 15 to 19 inches. Snow removal in some areas was a foot-by-foot proposition.

Holland schools remained open Friday as did West Ottawa Junior-Senior High School and Spring Lake schools. All other schools in the area were reported closed.

West Ottawa Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte had two persons in cars checking roads early today and concluded early buses could get through. Exams were scheduled and 93 per cent of the students were present. He explained that bus drivers usually encounter trouble on the second runs for elementary students because cars get stuck in the meantime. He said elementary runs were cancelled mainly because he did not want small children waiting at bus stops for extended periods of time.

Transmitter trouble caused by the snow kept radio station WHTC-AM off the air from 7 p.m. Thursday to 6 a.m. Friday.

The second shift at Holland Die Casting was cancelled Friday as was the Heinz night shift production line.

J. Serene Chase
Succumbs at 79

FENNVILLE — J. Serene Chase, 79, died Saturday at his home on Fennville route 2.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; one grandson; several nieces and nephews.

He was born in the same home in which he died. He was a retired farmer.

Mr. Chase was a member of the Ganges Methodist Church, was a retired fruit farmer and was graduated from Michigan State Agricultural College in 1914. He also was a member of the Michigan State Horticulture Society.

Hits Parked Auto

A car driven by Frank Espinoza, 23, of 135 West 16th St., struck a parked auto owned by Allen N. Baker, 20, of 19 1/2 West 17th St., at 5:12 p.m. Thursday on Ninth St. near Washington Blvd., according to Holland police. Police said Espinoza backed out of a driveway and struck the parked auto.

Ticketed After Mishap

Holland police charged Gay Bos, 37, of route 3, Holland, with failure to yield the right of way to through traffic following a two-car collision at 16th St. and Cleveland Ave. at 3:36 p.m. Saturday. Police said the Bos auto collided with a car driven by George Oudemolen, 36, of 23 West 32nd St.

Staggered Parking Is Asked Here

The street department Tuesday continued clearing and widening streets in the city, opening alleys and generally improving the picture of a city hit hard by one of the worst winter storms ever to sweep southern Michigan.

City Manager Herb Holt asked for cooperation in staggering parking on streets narrowed by huge banks of snow.

"We don't like to limit parking unless absolutely necessary," he said, "and if we don't get any more snow we should be able to weather the difficulties. Courtesy and consideration often solve a lot of troubles."

To be fully effective, parking limitations would require "no parking" signs on the restricted side, a task much greater than it seems. When parking is restricted, it usually is on the side of the water hydrants, thereby allowing greater use of parking on the opposite side.

City Engineer Harold Derks said some complaints have been received of ice accumulations on roadways causing bad bumps. He said the department has been salting such spots and then returning after the ice has softened to scrape clear with regular equipment.

Derks said his office would appreciate calls on such icy humps in roads that have not been corrected.

Holt also suggested that it is a good time to put flags on car aerials again, particularly on small foreign cars. Banks of snow are high at some intersections, and a moving flag over a bank can be a safety factor for all parties concerned.

The public generally was most cooperative throughout the big storm in which snowpiles became stuck in the snow almost as often as cars, Holt said.

Hunting Mishap Fatal To Youth

NUNICA — A Muskegon youth was accidentally shot to death Wednesday at 5:20 p.m. while hunting with a friend near here.

David Vander Kooi, 17, was pronounced dead on arrival at a Muskegon hospital. State police said Vander Kooi received gun shot wounds in the back, just below the base of the neck.

Troopers said Gary Olsen, 15, of Muskegon, fired his shotgun at a rabbit that ran between the two youths and the blast struck Vander Kooi.

The two boys were hunting alone at the time of the shooting. State police are continuing their investigation.

The body was taken to Sytsema funeral home in Muskegon. The victim is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vander Kooi, 4329 South Virginia Dr., Muskegon.

Freedom Is Basic Issue In School Aid

The issue of individual freedom was the crux Wednesday night of a debate in Civic Center on the question of using public tax monies to aid, directly or indirectly, non-public schools.

The debate, first of a series of four between Citizens to Advance Public Education (CAPE) and Citizens for Educational Freedom (CEF), featured Dr. John Vandenberg, vice president and dean of Calvin College, for the affirmative and Dr. Duncan Littlefair of Fountain Street Church in Grand Rapids opposing the issue.

Vandenberg warned against establishment of a state philosophy by supporting one set of moral and spiritual values to the neglect of others. Since non-public schools serve the public welfare, he said, they should receive public support.

American education today, Vandenberg said, restricts the liberties of minorities. Freedom must include educational choice — choice without economic penalty.

Vandenberg argued that Americans must have the freedom to teach their children ideas consistent with their own philosophies. "When government places its power and financial support behind a particular philosophy, the coercive pressure on other philosophies is plain," he said.

Littlefair said he believed private schools would get public money. "I am defeated now," he said.

Littlefair was opposed to using public monies to aid private education for fear that government controls would wipe out one of the remaining vestiges of individual freedom in the United States.

Deploping the loss of individuality, Littlefair said that if private schools get public money, everyone will be losers. He blasted big government as the grinding nature of civilization. "There is no time or room for individuals."

"You who want government money are selling out," he said. "You are giving up your freedom."

"Government money will mean government control," Littlefair said. "You can't have all the privileges of government money without government supervision. You cannot be exempted from government regulations if you take government money."

Describing the Reformed Church as one of the few great pockets of freedom, Littlefair said it was not logical to expect that the government would impose regulations on secular schools and not impose them on private schools that receive government money.

Littlefair described present aid to education — bus service for private school youngsters, book fees, etc. — as "deceptive nibblings." He said the "demise of small schools is inevitable."

Both speakers were given 20 minutes for their presentations and 10 minutes for rebuttal. A half-hour question-and-answer period followed the formal debate.

Administering the program will be Dr. Miner Stegenga and Capt. William D. Stuart with Miss Henrietta Veltman as secretary. Support was recommended following exploration of all possibilities for establishing a workable program for Golden Agers in the community. The program lists an information and resource center, located in the Salvation Army Citadel at Ninth and Central; Golden Agers Club for social and recreational functions; accessories for comfort and convenience (hospital beds and wheel chairs); meals on wheels, counseling and helpful advice, and a visitation program for shut-ins.

Native Authors Provide Wealth of Literature

Choosing a cross section from a list of 121 Michigan authors, Mrs. Henry Steffens outlined accomplishments of only a few authors who have lived in Michigan and made important contributions to literature and those who have written about Michigan, at a literature seminar Tuesday afternoon in the Woman's Literary Club.

Starting with Indians and frontier life, she spoke of James Fennimore Cooper who lived in Michigan while writing some of his best known books, and Simon Pokagon of the Pottawatomie tribe, one of the best educated and most distinguished of his race, and writer of oldtime birch bark books. Chief Pokagon was an honored guest at Holland's 50th anniversary celebration in 1897.

Other authors listed were James Oliver Curwood, a native of Owosso who wrote 26 books in 19 years; Harold Titus, who wrote timber stories; Rex Beach, a native of Atwood, author of "The Spoilers" and known as the Victor Hugo of the north; and John Voelker, member of the Michigan Supreme Court who resigned to write such books as "Anatomy of a Murder" which was made into a movie. Voelker writes under the name of Robert Traver.

Mrs. Steffens pointed to two Pulitzer Prize winners, Ray Stannard Baker for his eight-volume biography of Woodrow Wilson, and Bruce Catton, author of "Stillness at Appomattox" and other fine Civil War stories.

Close to home is Paul de Kruif, native of Zeeland who attended Hope College Preparatory School and graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in bacteriology. In his crusade for preventive medicine, he wrote many books, and Mrs. Steffens read portions of his "The Sweeping Wind" which is autobiographical. De Kruif currently is living at Wake Robin on Lake Michigan south of Holland.

Mrs. Steffens also listed Dr. Willis Dunbar of Kalamazoo for his monumental work "Michigan," the new "Story of Grand Rapids" edited by Z. Z. L. Dens; Henry Lucas for his "Netherlanders in America" and the late Arnold Mulder for his "Americans From Holland" in the "People in America" series.

Particularly, she emphasized the wealth of tourist guides and travel books on the great state of Michigan and urged the people to read up on Michigan during the winter months and go visit the state in the summer, or to reverse the pattern if winter sports enthusiasts are involved.

She called attention to a forthcoming book to be published later this year by Dr. Wynand Wichers who will be 81 Feb. 15. Dr. Wichers, former president of Hope College, was commissioned to write a book on the history of Hope College which marked its centennial in 1966.

Mrs. Emma Young spoke briefly on "Whistle Up the Bay" written by her daughter, Nancy Stone, based on a story of three orphaned brothers in Antrim county.

Mrs. Steffens closed with a brief discussion of Ernest Hemingway, a "giant" among Michigan authors who used Michigan locales for many of his stories. A book, "Hemingway in Michigan," by Constance Montgomery, was recommended.

Coffee and dessert preceded the book discussion. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Robert De Nooyer. Mrs. Henry Hekman poured.

Three Area Men Begin Building Golf Course

ZEELAND—Work has begun on a new 18-hole public golf course to be located on a 158-acre site near Ottagan Rd. and 46th St. about three miles south of here.

The three owners, Alvin Sneller of 4681 46th St., Holland, Norman Sneller of 10595 Paw Paw Dr., Holland, and Calvin (Kelly) Meengs of 29 South Park St., Zeeland, began preliminary clearing of trees last week. William Matthews of Newaygo, the architect, is drawing up final plans for the course.

The course, to be known as Winding Creek Golf Course, is tentatively scheduled for completion by the spring of 1968. Full scale work on developing the land will begin this spring. The course, according to Norman Sneller, will be more than 6,000 yards long, and will feature large greens and watered fairways.

The layout will take advantage of the natural variety and beauty of the land to make a scenic and challenging course, Norman Sneller said. The land is rolling and covered with fir and other trees. The Black River snakes back and forth across the area.

Most of the land was formerly part of Chris Ver Plank's Winding Creek Farm. The white colonial farmhouse on Ottagan Rd. will be used for the clubhouse when the course is completed.

The three men purchased the land for the course last summer, and preliminary drawings were started, Norman Sneller said. "We feel there is a real need for a course that will challenge the average golfer, and we intend to provide one."

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Feb. 5
The Danger of Hypocrisy
Luke 11:37-44; 12:29-34
By C. P. Dame

Drivers of cars are warned constantly. The Bible is full of warnings for us all lest we are hurt by dangers which threaten us all the time. This lesson is a warning against hypocrisy, warning we all need, for it is a real danger.

I. Religious hypocrites are ever with us. A hypocrite is a person who pretends to be what he is not. One day a Pharisee gave Jesus an invitation to dinner. Now Jesus was a sociable person and accepted it. The Pharisee marvelled at Jesus because he "had not first washed before dinner"—that is Jesus had neglected the ceremonial washing of the hands in a certain way, not just once, but even between the courses. The Pharisees considered this a sin — Jesus did not.

Jesus noted the surprise of the Pharisee and said: "Now do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness." There are two kinds of cleanliness. The Pharisees were concerned about ceremonial cleanliness of the skin, but Jesus was interested much in the cleanliness of the heart and mind. Who revealed the mind of God? "But rather give alms of such things as ye have," said Jesus, implying that liberality cleanses, not water. When the heart is right the whole of life will be clean, that is, acceptable to God.

II. Jesus pronounces woes upon religious hypocrites. Woe is a warning word. The lesson contains three woes Jesus pronounced against the pious Pharisees. The Pharisees tied even the smallest herbs of their gardens. Jesus commended tithing but he objected because they were so scrupulous about little things and ignored the important, "judgment and the love of God."

Jesus also objected to the base motives, the pride, and self-seeking of these Pharisees. They sat in the front seats, which were considered then the best seats in the synagogues, so that every one could see them and they found great delight in being greeted in the market places and praised for their piety.

Jesus said that the Pharisees were "like the graves which are not seen." In Numbers 19:16 it is stated that if anyone touches a grave he is unclean and will be debarrd from worship services. Jesus said that the religious leaders were exerting a corrupting influence upon the people by giving them wrong ideas of God. Today some religious leaders are doing the same thing—giving people a wrong idea of God.

III. God deserves to be trusted. The second part of the lesson text is for disciples. Three groups are mentioned in the text, the Pharisees, the disciples and the nations of the world. Three times the word "seek" is used in the last part of the text.

The Lord says to His disciples not to seek food, drink, clothes, only the material things of life, which is a pagan practice. This should not be a Christian's main goal in life. It is the goal of many people today. Jesus tells His disciples to seek "the kingdom of God" promising that the things of life would be forthcoming.

Jesus commends work, thrift and foresight, doing one's best and trusting God, the sharing of our goods with others, teaching us that the lasting riches are spiritual.

WATCH IT, IVAN

We wouldn't want to be considered naive about the democratic tendencies in the Soviet Republic, but we can't really pass up some signs that do point in that direction. ## Holland Man Resigns High Catholic Post

John F. Donnelly of Holland, who resigned his post as president of the National Council of Catholic Men Jan. 21 in Washington, D.C., has stirred discussions in Catholic circles over his statement that there is not enough communication between U.S. bishops and the council.

Donnelly who returned home early this week has been quoted widely since he resigned his two-year post as head of the council, a federation of Catholic men's organizations in the United States. The term had three or four months more to run. His resignation was announced at a meeting of the council's board of directors.

"If laymen are to assume the roles that are being offered to them in church organizations, in parishes, dioceses and states, they must be able to speak their minds clearly and frankly," Donnelly said. "An organization like the National Council of Catholic Men is needed to help the layman know his own mind and have the courage to speak it."

"For the National Council of Catholic Men to be such an organization, it should have considerable autonomy and also a close dialogue with the body of bishops so that mutual understanding and trust can develop," he said.

Donnelly said the council is intended to formulate the voice of lay people in the church and society and to carry out specific projects formulated by U.S. bishops. He said Michigan probably has the best relationship between the hierarchy and Catholic men because "there is more genuine lay involvement."

Another handsome "Visitor's Guide" is being planned and solicitations of advertising will begin next week. Publishing deadline has been set for April 1.

Holland Defeats Grandville

A less than sharp Holland High basketball team unleashed enough scoring power to tame the Grandville Bulldogs 78-56, Saturday night in the Holland High fieldhouse.

The Dutch bettered their Valley Coast Conference mark to 8-2, and now stand 8-3 overall.

The Dutch utilized their usually fine fast break but could not work it to their optimum potential at any point. Nor were the Dutch able to maintain control of the boards which they had so effectively done in their previous games.

In their first meeting on Dec. 16, Holland halted the Bulldogs, 91-79.

In game totals Grandville took the edge on the boards, snatching 15 offensive rebounds to Holland's nine, and taking 18 defensive to Holland's 17.

In the opening quarter each team hit on 50 per cent of their shots from the floor with Holland getting five of 10 and Grandville seven of 14. Holland pumped in all seven of their foul shot opportunities while the Bulldogs made two of three. The Dutch held the narrow first period edge, 19-16.

In the second stanza the Dutch forged to a 10 point lead before the Bulldogs managed to connect with 5:30 remaining. From the floor Holland increased its shooting percentage to 58 while Grandville declined to 39 per cent. The half ended with Holland posting a 13 point advantage, 41-28.

The Dutch continued their fine shooting in the third period tossing in nine of 14 for 64 per cent. Conversely, the Bulldogs weakened even more, sinking just three of 10 for 30 per cent. The teams were evenly matched from the free throw line with Holland netting four of six and Grandville four of five.

Dan Shinabarger connected on three long jumpers in the third period, getting six of his total 17 points, to take high point honors in the game. Holland held the third stanza edge, 63-39.

Early in the fourth quarter the demoralized Bulldogs moved into a full court press in their futile effort to gain control of the ball but made several mistakes which the Dutch capitalized on.

Grandville failed to connect in the fourth period until four minutes had elapsed allowing Holland a scoring flurry which gave Holland a 30 point margin, their largest of the game.

Holland's torrid pace from the floor cooled, but the Dutch still managed six of 15 for a respectable 40 per cent. Grandville sank six of 13 for 46 per cent.

Though the Dutch didn't play their usual brand of sprinting ball, they committed only 12 miscues compared to 22 for Grandville.

Coach Don Piersma commended the work of substitute Roger Jones who contributed eight points in the balanced scoring attack. John Thomas added 15 and Jim Fortney had 12.

"We have to sharpen up before the next two games," Piersma said, anticipating Holland's VCC contest Thursday with the number one team in the state, Muskegon Heights in the L. C. Walker arena.

Holland returns home on Saturday for a game with perennial nemesis, Benton Harbor.
