Like Tulip Time? Write a Letter To Express Views

What trend do you want Tulip Time to take?

Holland residents will be given an opportunity to express themselves on this subject in letters to the Holland Tulip Time Festival, Inc., following a discussion at the "Our Town" adult evening class series Wednesday night. Letters should be sent to Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

According to the Tulip Time commission, the entire course of Tulip Time depends on whether the populace wants Tulip Time to continue to be a festival which annually attracts hundreds of thousands of visitors, or does Holland want to tailor the present program and gradually have Tulip Time just for the enjoyment of the local people.

This and other phases of the nationally famous festival were discussed by commission members. President John H. Van Dyke, president, Manager Willard C. Wichers traced the history of the festival since the time Lida Rogers suggested that the town adopt the tulip as its flower and plant them en masse to beautify the city. He traced festival development mentioning the work of Ernest C. Brooks, William Connelly, Vernon D. Ten Cate, Mrs. John E. Telling, J. J. Riemersma and S. H. Houtman.

A. W. Hertel, Tulip Time chairman last year for the Chamber of Commerce, related some of the problems and said it was getting increasingly more difficult to delineate between whole-hearted civic co-operation and the tendency for persons to put their efforts to revenue projects.

"When Tulip Time ceases to be a spontaneous civic event, then it will have lost its flavor," he said.

In an uncritical way, Wichers pointed to worthy organizations which heretofore had lent their efforts to features like scrubbing now sponsor revenue projects. "We have no criticism of these organizations, but it becomes increasingly harder to carry on the festival," he said. He also pointed to rising costs, and the trends calling for hiring workers for tasks formerly done by volunteers.

It was pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce underwrites losses incurred during the festival. Finances last year broke just about even, it was said. The 1948 budget operated on about $22,000.

Merchants and industries share in this expense through increased allotments to the Chamber of Commerce, it was explained. Considerable discussion followed on whether certain persons who derive large profits from Tulip Time should share with Tulip Time in a more equitable way.

Supt. C. C. Crawford said that for the most part the children love Tulip Time and are glad to lend their talents and efforts without some return. Last year, the committee arranged a special entertainment at Riverview park for school children in appreciation of their great contribution.

John Fenlon Donnelly, vice president of the board, definitely favored a return to a simpler program. William H. Vande Water explained the recent incorporation of Tulip Time, an act brought about mainly to protect the use of the name.

Not a Switching Yard, It's Just a Model Train

Building or assembling miniature trains, planes, ships and cars has become an absorbing hobby for an increasing number of local men, and these hobbyists will have an opportunity to display their wares at the first annual Holland Hobby show in Netherlands Museum March 7 through 19.

First it was assumed a half dozen men followed the hobby, but a casual survey in connection with the hobby show revealed close to 60 fellow model building as a hobby.

Arthur Sas, in charge of the models displayed, said it is hard to determine in advance what the response will be, so he is urging model hobbyists to list available models for display and Sas' committee will decide later how much can be displayed. Perhaps entrants can display an entire train, or perhaps only a single car, locomotive, ship or plane.

In assembling model trains, all equipment is built to scale. Most popular size is the H. O. scale based on 1 inch to the foot. Parts come in kits. Manufacturers offer different lines, but mostly the hobbyist paints his own cars and follows his own prototype. Sas has named his line the "Grand Valley Line" and has designed his own trademarks. He is carrying this general theme on the entire setting. Stores, mills, homes and landscape follow the same scale of 1 inch to the foot.

Other scales are the T-T table top model based on 3/32 inch to the foot, and the O-gauge of 1 inch to the foot. Sixty per cent of the model builders use the H. O. gauge, it is estimated.

Some hobbyists spend as little as $50 on a layout and some have been known to spend $10,000 on permanent displays. Layouts are often limited to space available and the patience of the housewife.

Airplanes also are built to scale. Some are carved, others are powered by rubber bands, some are gas models for stunt and speed flying and still others have carbon dioxide cartridges. Precise scaling sometimes must be sacrificed for operations. For instance, a gas-motored plane must pivot from a central wire or line, just as the racing cars. The record for speed in a gas-powered model is 160 mph, Sas said.

Racing cars are usually operated on a tennis court.

"The hobby show will be open free to the public daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will be open Monday and Thursday nights the first week and Tuesday and Friday nights from 7 to 10 p.m. the second week. Persons also will be invited to inspect museum exhibits on the second floor. The entire first floor and basement will be turned over to hobbyists. Entry blanks, which will be available at the Chamber of Commerce and Netherlands Museum as well as appearing in The Sentinel, must be turned in to Chamber headquarters not later than Feb. 24. March 2 is the date entries must be taken to the museum.

The show is sponsored by the community service committee of the Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with the museum. Louis Mulder is chairman. Committee members are Alleene Fisher, arts and crafts; Mrs. C. C. Wood, weaving and textiles; Hugh Rowell, stamps; Art Sas, models; Ernest Penna, photography.

Local Driver Found Dead in Truck on US-31

Willard W. Kuhlman, 45, of 107 East Ninth St., was found dead in a Holland Motor Express truck with engine running early Tuesday on US-31, six miles north of South Haven.

Kuhlman, a driver for the local company since June, 1944, was returning to Holland with a light load, and normally would have reached home at 2 a.m.

Coroner F. E. Calvin of South Haven said that the cause of death was heart troubles.

State police said it appeared Kuhlman had pulled his truck off the highway to take a nap and was overcome while he slept. Company officials said Kuhlman was a cautious driver and had been driving four years without an accident.

He was born in Chicago but lived in Holland for 35 years. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. William Kuhlman, Sr.

Surviving are the wife, the former Jean Brandt of Holland, a daughter, Miss Ruth Kuhlman of Grand Rapids; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Frank Piersma of Holland; a grandson, Steven Piersma of Holland; three sisters, Mrs. Max Welton and Mrs. Robert Doyen of Holland and Mrs. John Scharf of Muskegon, and two brothers, Clarence Kuhlman of Holland and Russell of Muskegon.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the Dykstra chapel with the Rev. Henry Mouw of Sixth Reformed church officiating. Burial will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery.

Kuhlman was a veteran of World War II. He also was a member of the Eagles and the Moose.

Local Scouters Plan Programs

An estimated 75 scout leaders attended the monthly round-table meeting of the central district of the Ottawa-Allegan Boy Scout council Tuesday night in Third Reformed church hall.

After dinner, the leaders split into groups for meetings to discuss various phases of the coming month's program.

Eugene A. Vande Vusse led the Cub Scout section and pack three gave the opening and closing ceremonies. Pack 49, under the leadership of Chet Kramer, gave a model boat demonstration. Theme for next month is "Inventions."

Troop 33, under the direction of Jess Kool, opened and closed the scout leader's meeting. In keeping for next month's theme, "Camping Skills," troop 30, directed by Don Hamlin, gave a dramatization titled "Getting the Troop to Camp."

Scout leaders discussed how to make a camp bed and Troop 18 of Douglas gave a showing of lashing.

Senior leaders talked about details for their annual dinner party to be held Feb. 19 at the Saugatuck American Legion hall. Sea Scout ship Galipper of Saugatuck will be host for the event.

Charles Gillman, skipper, is charged with arrangements and Ben Mulder of local exploit post, is making program plans.

Involved in Accident

Grand Haven, Feb. 10 (Special)—Mink Kieft, 72, Grand Haven, was issued a ticket by state police for driving to the left of the center line after being involved in an accident at 11 a.m. Monday on US-31 in Norton township, Muskegon county.

Kieft, driving a truck south, was struck by a car driven by John Mellinger, 49, also of Grand Haven, traveling north. The pavement was icy and it was impossible for Mellinger to get out of the way of the truck which was allegedly over the center line. None was injured.

Fire, Smoke Gut Mason's Kitchen

An estimated $2,000 damage was done to a three-story building at 18 East Eighth St., by a fire that broke out late Wednesday night. However, firemen nipped any further damage by dousing the flames just after they had burned a hole through the roof.

"One minute or so later and the entire roof would have been in flames," said Fire Chief Andrew Klomparsen.

A Mr. Visscher, traveling down Ninth St., noticed the flames jumping out of the rear windows on the third floor and notified firemen.

Most serious damage was done to the kitchen in the Masonic hall on the third floor. The room was left in shambles by the flames. The sub-ceiling was ripped down to get at the smoke coming from the attic. The clubrooms in the front part of the building were damaged by smoke.

Some smoke and water seeped down through the second and first floors. The street-level store is occupied by Miller-Jones shoe store. Personnel of the store removed stock from the floor under areas where water was leaking through and later firemen cut a hole in the floor to let the water run into the basement. The shoe store had its grand opening last November after being remodeled.

The second floor was recently leased by the Alexander department store and is in the process of remodeling. A fire door between the second floor and Alexander's prevented any smoke going into the department store.

Firemen used the ladder truck on the Eighth St. side to get onto the roof of the building and watch for any further fire.

The two pumps connected hoses and ran them up to the third floor.

Smoke Damages Temple Building

Holland firemen answered a call at 10:45 Tuesday night at the Temple building where an oil burner in the basement was smudging smoke and soot throughout the four-story structure.

Firemen went into the clouded building with smoke masks and found the trouble was in the basement.

There was no fire damage but smoke and soot seeped through especially the rear sections of the structure.

One third floor couple said they woke up at about 11 p.m. and their apartment was filled with smoke. Firemen reported the inside of the first floor was a "mess."

The engines remained on the scene for a half hour.

Dick Haringsma Dies Day After Car Hits Trees

Wife Killed in Freak
Car Accident in Texas
Less Than 4 Months Ago

The first traffic fatality in Ottawa county this year was chalked up Monday with the death of Richard V. Haringsma, 27, of 299 West 17th St., which occurred in Holland hospital at 5 a.m. Sunday, about 27 hours after his 1949 car hit three trees on US-31 two miles north of Holland.

His companion, Elmer De Maat, also 27, of Montello park, was reported to be improving today, according to hospital attendants. De Maat, who was thrown from the car after it hit the first two trees, received a serious scalp laceration, and possible fracture of the left arm.

Haringsma's death will mark the third funeral in his family since October. Living with his wife and young daughter in Fort Worth, Tex., he came to Holland last Oct. 16 for burial rites for his brother, John, who was killed during World War II. He returned to Fort Worth Oct. 20 and four days later his wife, the former Frieda Peterson, 25, was killed in a freak automobile accident.

Mrs. Haringsma was en route to join her husband at her parents' home where he was repairing an auto when she stopped to give a stalled motorist a push. She pushed the car around the block in an unfamiliar neighborhood and came on an unmarked dead-end street. The impact of the sudden stop did little or no damage to the Haringsma car, but she died of head injuries caused when her head hit the rear-view mirror.

Her parents are en route to Holland for Haringsma's funeral Wednesday.

The orphaned child, 21-year-old Phyllis Lynn, is expected to remain with Haringsma's parents in Holland. The family said Richard's last words before his death were to ask his mother to be legal guardian of the child.

Two weeks after his wife's death, Haringsma was hospitalized in Texas with ruptured ulcers and had not recovered sufficiently to resume work. He remained in Texas for a time to help clear a friend charged with manslaughter, and returned to Holland a short time ago.

Haringsma was a member of Co. D, National Guard, when the company entered training before the outbreak of the war. Overseas in New Guinea, he volunteered with Merrill's Marauders when he learned of the death of his brother, John, May 29, 1943. As a member of the famed Marauders' band, Haringsma survived many hair-raising experiences and was officially credited with killing 29 Japs during four months as a sniper in the Burma-India-China theater. During his many months of active combat, he never received a scratch but was stricken with malaria at least 17 times.

Besides the young daughter, Haringsma is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Haringsma; five sisters, Mrs. Vaughn Harmon, Mrs. E. G. Cook of Oceanside, Calif., Ruth, Doris and Isla at home; a brother, Henry of Holland.

Haringsma was born in Holland Dec. 13, 1921.

Meanwhile, sheriff's officers are continuing their investigation into the crash which resulted in Haringsma's death. Tracks in the snow show the car left the highway on the left side and traveled 174 feet nine inches along the shoulder before hitting the first tree, then 20 feet eight inches to the second tree, and 47 feet five inches across the highway to hit the third tree. The car was traveling south.

Also surviving are three brothers, Henry Winter of Holland, Dr. John G. Winter of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Harry Winter of Hammond, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Leenhouts, White Cloud and Mrs. Rena Miedema of California, and several nieces and nephews.

She Went to Hospital As Matter of Course

Mrs. Minnie Verhoef, 140 West 18th St., broke her right arm when she fell on the ice while approaching a taxi in front of her house this morning.

And the taxi didn't deviate one bit from the route she takes every morning. She works at Holland hospital.

The only difference was that she went to third floor instead of her post in the kitchen.

The names of John Fenlon Donnelly and Louis Brondyke were not listed in Tuesday's Sentinel as candidates for the charter and revision commission. However, both are eligible after having filed petitions at the city clerk's office before the Monday deadline.

Hurricanes Win From Ludington To Even Record

Last Four Minutes Sees Holland Five Comeback To Overcome Advantage

The Holland Hurricanes squeezed past Peterson brothers basketball team of Ludington 59-57 Saturday night at Ludington to even up their season record for the second time within a week. The Canes now have seven wins and the same number of defeats.

Saturday's game was one of those thrillers with the teams matching each other basket-for-basket most of the distance.

With big Ken Van Regenmorter under the board for the Canes, the Ludington five had to resort to long-toms to keep in the game. Their uncanny shots from out in the court kept them along side the locals in the scoring department throughout the game.

The most spectacular part of the game came in the final four minutes with the home team ahead 52-47. Holland came through with 10 points in a final surge that gave it the two-point victory.

In Saturday's relatively "clean" game, the Canes had their best foul shooting record of the season. They counted 11 out of 15 tries from the charity line. Ludington made five out of nine shots from the foul line.

The Canes paced off a 18-11 lead in a high-scoring initial quarter. The locals combined sharp passing and rebound work to gain the advantage.

However, the home team rallied with 13 points to 10 for the Hurricanes in the second frame. The tally as the teams left the floor for halftime was 28-26 in favor of the Canes.

Peterson's came back raging in the third canto and hit the meehes for 18 points while the Hurricanes had to be content with 11 points. The total pushed the Ludington cagers out in front 44-39 as the buzzer sounded the end of the eight-minute period.

Then came that last quarter and the Canes 10-point rally to come from behind in the final four minutes.

Much of the credit for the Hurricanes victory must go to big Ken Van Regenmorter for his savage work under the boards.

Russ De Vette led the Canes in scoring with 18 points followed closely by Van Regenmorter with 17. Harve Butler tallied 14 to come in third in scoring. Gankewitz was high for the Ludington quintet with 10 points.

The Canes play Kalamazoo Upjohns Tuesday night at the Armory for the benefit of the March of Dimes campaign.

Members of the Holland Tulip Garden club and their guests met in the Tulip room, Warm Friend Tavern, Thursday afternoon, to hear Prof. H. L. R. Chapman who has been in charge of the Beal Botanical Gardens of Michigan State college since 1926. His subject was "I Fashion a Garden."

He chose to build his home on high ground where it "would not be lonely and the view would change and be interesting." He asked his listeners to think twice before cutting down trees. He said he was not too interested in evergreens, except as specimen trees, but urged the gardeners to plant shrubs and flowers that would not only be a delight to people but to the birds, which could use the berries as food.

Prof. Chapman emphasized the learning of the history of plants to be used. With kodachrome slides he illustrated the suggested species as he lectured and fashioned the garden around the home. His lecture was practical, educational and pleasing.

Hope Hoopsters Wallop Knights By Lopsided Tally

Dutchmen Come Back In Second Period To Score 40 Points

Hope college's basketball team rebounded with 40 points in the second half Thursday night to overwhelm the Calvin college Knights 65-43. The game was played before the largest crowd of the current season at the Armory. Fans jammed every nook and corner of the local basketball arena.

The win skyrocketed Hope's season record to seven wins out of eleven games and sent Calvin further down the losing side with four wins and six defeats this season.

It was an unusually slow-starting game. After a full 10 minutes play, the teams were knotted at 3-all. With five minutes left in the initial half, the score was at a low of 13-7 count in Hope's favor.

However, Guard Nick Yonker began to hit before the period was over. His long shots pulled the Dutch out in front with 25-18 lead at the intermission. Yonker hit the hoop six times for 12 points in the first half.

The other Hope players and all five Calvin hoopsters were having trouble connecting. There was some good ball handling in that first half by both teams, but they couldn't seem to hit the bucket.

Toward the end of the first half, Hope broke away from Calvin's "slow" game and started to race the ball down the floor. Up until that time, the Knights kept the fray in check with their deliberate offense.

Then came the big second half. Hope speeded up the game and peppered the basket with shots from all over the floor. Herk Butler led the assault with eight field goals for 16 points.

Capt. Bill Holwerda of the locals was able to get more than his share of rebounds by sheer fighting under the basket. With accurate down-floor passing the Dutch whipped the ball down the floor and into the waiting hands of "open" men near Calvin's basket.

With the count at 44-28, Coach Russ De Vette started his parade of subs to relieve the first-stringers.

Duane Rosendahl of Calvin and Paul Mayskens of Hope matched each other even in the scoring department until the local pivot man was taken out. However, "Rosey" did a masterful job of getting rebounds.

Toward the end of the game, Jun Bremer was given the task of guarding Rosendahl. Both played out last year's Holland Christian team.

Buter with 17 points led scoring for both teams while Yonker came next with 15. Rosendahl was able to count repeatedly in the waning minutes of the battle to end up with 14 points.

Bud Van De Wege came next for Hope with 11 points. Hope made 13 out of 29 tries from the foul line while Calvin connected nine out of 22 times.

The win tagged De Vette's squad as a team to watch in the second round of the MIAA race. Any team that can rack up 40 points per half is a threat in any league.

Weisenburger and Co. Defeat Pure Oil Five

Holland's Pure Oil basketball quintet lost a 56-51 thriller at Muskegon Friday night when it bowed to a fast US-Bar-B-Q five. The contest, played as a preliminary tilt to the Muskegon Junior college-Bay City Junior college contest, was nip-and-tuck all the way.

Both squads played even for the first quarter with the period ending in a 12-12 deadlock. Muskegon managed to forge ahead in the second quarter to lead 29-25 at halftime. Each team garnered 13 tallies in the third period to make the count 42-38, the Muskies still leading. The final quarter was evenly played, but Muskegon's margin was too great for the Hollanders to overcome.

Bob Altana of the locals was high scorer with 15 points. He was followed by teammates Gene Schrottenboer with 13 and Vern Beelen with 10. Jack Weisenburger paced the winners with 14 tallies.

Pennies and Nickels Buy Phonograph for School

A penny here, and a nickel there . . . Sometimes a group of youngsters really can accomplish something.

So it is with the 107 pupils of Pine Creek school who now are enjoying a new radio-phonograph combination, purchased with money they earned in various projects.

and conducted paper drives. A newly organized Camp Fire group also assisted.

Besides entertainment provided by the radio-phonograph combination, the school also is enrolled in a film service and educational sound movies are shown once a month.

$100 Reward Is Offered In False Alarm Cases

A reward of $100 for information leading to the conviction of person or persons turning in false alarms was offered today by the Public Safety commission, following two such alarms 15 minutes apart Thursday night.

And the safety commission and the fire department mean business! Fire Chief Andrew Klomprens pointed to the state law which terms such an offense a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum of $100, a jail sentence up to 90 days or both. The chief also said state law provides punishment for persons who chase fire trucks.

Last year, there were 11 false alarms, the chief said.

Persons who consider this doubtful practice good sport should think just a bit further, he said. He said each alarm brings out fire fighting equipment valued at $70,000, 33 firemen including many volunteers in their own cars, besides other cars which legally should not be on the scene.

He pointed to hazards in connection with such alarms. For instance, the two runs made last night were on routes over slippery streets. The first alarm at 10:40 p.m. was at the corner of 20th and Michigan, and the other was at 16th and Van Raalte.

Klomprens also mentioned a fire truck was smashed in Grand Rapids on a false alarm and in Chicago two firemen were killed on such an alarm.

He said he did not believe children were responsible, since the prevention program the past few years has brought between 700 and 800 youngsters into fire stations each year to hear talks on fire prevention, with proper emphasis on false alarms.

THE DEAD RULE MICHIGAN

For all practical purposes we the citizens of Michigan are being ruled by people who are in their graves. Many of them have been dead so long that they could not have had the slightest conception of the needs of today or of the conditions that would govern our life. When they established the rules of the game, a very large percentage of the people of the state were children, or at least too young to have much of a voice in things, and millions had not yet been born.

The constitution that governs us and to which the laws passed by our representatives at Lansing must conform was drawn up in 1908, and while many changes have been made since that time in the form of amendments, its basic structure was imposed on the state in the horse-and-buggy days and it is geared to a horse-and-buggy economy. According to the most recent decision of the state supreme court a majority of the people of the state voted against drawing up a new constitution that would meet the requirements of today. So the dead will continue to govern us.

There is nothing to be said. The people of Michigan have a right to be governed by the dead if they so desire, but at least they should understand that they are not governing themselves, no matter how many representatives they may send to Lansing. It is doubtful if all of those who voted against a revision of the constitution knew this.

The argument is advanced that the constitution of the United States is much older than the state constitution and hence it is all right to be ruled by the dead. The analogy is not a real analogy. The constitution of the United States is made up of basic principles that are good for all time and that can be expanded as conditions change. The Michigan state constitution is in effect a conglomeration of laws aimed to take care of temporary conditions.

What did the people of 1908 know about the needs of this atomic age? At that time even the first World War was years in the future. The airplane was hardly more than a dream; the state's highways were of gravel construction; no one had ever heard a radio voice. Ninety per cent of the problems that confront the legislature today were completely unknown to the people of that day.

But it is those dead people who tell our legislatures today what they can do and cannot do. Any private business that let its board of directors of 1908 do its thinking would go to the wall. That's what we are doing with the business of the state.

Jesus Faces Opposition
Mark 2:3-8; 16, 17; 3:1-6
By Henry Geerlings

Fellow feeling for sufferers is not uncommon. It is natural, and, therefore, never surprising. But when this feeling reaches the determination to help the sufferer and when one sufferer elicited the united efforts of people we pause to note it and commend the helpers. Kindly feelings cannot be seen. Sympathy is quiet, shut up in the heart. But without it acts of kindness cannot be. Men must feel before doing.

The Christian church puts forth a studied, concerted activity for the relief of many kinds of suffering. How many lives have been blessed by these ministries of serving love can never be calculated. There are long lists of institutions that are maintained for this unselfish service. But it must not be forgotten that back of all this kind of work is a united sympathy for the suffering and a sincere hope that in some way all sufferers may be brought under the immediate influence of Christ. A Christian is moved by the sight of physical or mental suffering but far more by the fact of spiritual suffering.

Man cannot see faith, but Jesus can. It's invisibility make it often a doubtful thing, but Jesus knows where it is, what kind it is and how much use He can make of it. Our quickest way of proving our faith in by saying something or doing something. Have we faith in the power of Jesus to heal and to save? Then why conceal it as a great doctrine, when the privilege is ours to make it live gainfully in the lives of men? There is comfort and challenge in the knowledge that Jesus sees our faith—comfort, for we know that faith pleases Him; challenge, for we know that faith without works is dead.

Both faith and unbelief amazed Jesus as He saw and knew men. But the amazement at faith gave a glow to His faith, while the amazement at unbelief threw Him into a slough of despondency. The former meant success for Him, the latter failure.

Healing a paralytic, or forgiving his sins, which is more miraculous? From our inability to do either, which miracle will we call the greater? Shall we put them in contrast to answer the question? Jesus demanded an answer from the scribes, but they were silent. In fact, all the assurance they had of the forgiveness of the man's sins was the saying of Jesus that it was done. They were not concerned about this miracle as a help for the man. They had no faith in the invisible processes of the power of Jesus. They wanted to see evidence.

The healing of the body carried its own proof. The helpless man took up his bed and walked. They saw this and must believe it. But Jesus was more concerned about the other miracle, that of forgiving sins. He could do both. He healed and forgave. Both helped the man, who had been helpless in body and soul. The double ministry of Jesus appeals to us today. We want both continued and try to share in carrying them on. The two seem to go together, though so different, showing such a contrast. Probably we are often in danger of doing more to relieve hurt bodies than to bring unforgiven sinners to Jesus.

When Jesus came into the world there were diseases and sicknesses everywhere. He could have despatched all His time curing people of their physical afflictions. We are given to understand in the gospels that He cured sick people without number. They would go to the trouble to bring their most helpless friends and relatives to Him because they knew that He had power to make them well.

It took power to bring health back to those who were afflicted. But it took something even greater and that is love. We are in danger of seeing in these cures only the manifestation of power, but that Jesus wanted people to see was His compassion. He was aiming to reveal the heart of His Father. We are in danger of killing this beautiful spirit when we professionalize the art of making people well. No man can question that it was the ministry of Jesus and the exercise of His boundless tenderness that put love into the heart of the world for the afflicted. There is no other class of people in our midst now who are more solicitously looked after and cared for than are these. Societies of one sort or another have sprung up to make infirmities bearable.

We would expect the church to specialize in works of this nature. The unbelieving world would have some reason to abandon its skepticism toward the church if it paused long enough to take account of the vast sums of money that are spent annually in the name of Jesus to relieve sickness and suffering and poverty. If we were to consider the matter in time we would prevent no small amount of the sickness and disease in the world. It is in line with the will of God that we should give early attention to the health and strength of the body. The laws that govern the development of the body are as important as those that govern the wellbeing of the mind.

Holland In 1915

"The Problem of Our National Defense" was the subject of exhaustive study of how well or how poorly the United States is prepared to defend itself against a foreign invader, read before the Social Progress club Monday evening by R. H. Gilbert, according to a story appearing in the Tuesday, Nov. 23 issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1915. Mr. Gilbert dissented from both the extreme pacifist and alarmist, taking the middle ground that the United States should prepare itself for defense but not for aggression. That this country is hopelessly unprepared in many ways in case of attack from other countries was quite clearly demonstrated. In order to be prepared, the United States should have a navy as large as that of any other country, declared Mr. Gilbert, with the exception of England. He gave several reasons why war by England against the United States is so unlikely that it is not necessary to prepare for it.

The brief underline was as follows: "The Sentinel need say nothing to commend the man whom the citizens of Holland love, honor and respect. A great many of the state papers and a host of friends are doing this for us. May his ambition be realized."

Forestry Talk And Fire Film Attract Crowd

About 175 persons gathered in Washington, school gymnasium Monday night for a talk and discussion on forestry in Michigan and a color film on the big Maine fire. The meeting was the second of a series of "Michigan, My Michigan," an adult evening course sponsored by the public schools and the Michigan Department of Conservation.

George S. McIntire, assistant forester for the conservation department, said the two main functions of the forestry division is to administer work of the largest state forest in the country, and to improve the quality of the wood. The latter work is carried on with private lumbering concerns as well as the state and federal program.

He said Michigan has 3½ million acres in state forests and the federal government has 2½ million acres. He described a million acres as the size of three ordinary counties containing 16 townships.

Purpose of the department is to produce wood, provide public recreational use, and develop resources resulting in employment and tourist "dollars."

McIntire said Michigan forests were badly squandered in the past, and if the present reforestation program carries through properly, the forests may return to the original peak in 50 to 100 years.

At present, Michigan imports more than half of the timber used here and produces only one-eighth of what it used to produce, the forester said.

He said work of the forestry division is co-ordinated with other departments and often co-operates with the hunting department to provide the proper cover for game. The department also co-operates with the U.S. Forestry service and with the extension service of Michigan State college.

During the open discussion, McIntire spoke briefly on the Christmas tree harvest, commented on virgin timber in Michigan.

The sound film showed the destructive fire in Maine which raged 11 days before brought under control. Titled "It Can Happen," the film emphasized carelessness of smokers.

The next "Michigan, My Michigan" meeting will be Feb. 21 with Paul Barrett of the Conservation department speaking on land use and Ted Black on Michigan game.

Century Club Reminded Of Changing Patterns

Faith in the American people to tackle the problems of a changing world was expressed by Dr. Willis Dunbar, director of public affairs of a Kalamazoo broadcasting company, in a talk before Century club members Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Wichers.

Speaking on the subject, "The Changing Pattern of American Life," Dr. Dunbar listed the ways in which "the fabric of the past is tearing apart." He said there is a noticeable change in the characteristic American spirit of adventure. From a nation constantly expanding, there is now a shying away from imperialism. Immigration has been restricted. From a waste of natural resources, there is now emphasis on conservation.

There has been a change in American foreign policy from the former popular isolationism, he said. Rugged individualism and voluntary co-operation have always been a part of American life. Now is seen the increase in the role of government, he said, with a growing restriction of liberties in the effort to make more people free.

"But with these changes we find we want to preserve much that is our heritage," he said. Americans want freedom, or "liberty under law," they want opportunity, religious faith, integrity of the family.

Americans must face the problems of change with the characteristic ingenuity of the past. Will the new plan work? If not, what will? The country needs to build a vigorous conservatism which does not oppose reform, but offers an alternative plan, he said.

Preceding Dr. Dunbar's talk Robert Kranendonk of Hope college, accompanied by Herbert Ritsma, sang a group of songs, including "Thine Alone," Hebert, "When I Think Upon the Maidens," by Head, "Because," of Hardslet, and the encore, "I Love Life," Manna Zucca.

Dr. J. Harvey Kleinhekel presided. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. W. M. Tappan.

The investiture service was in charge of William Vande Water, assisted by scoutmaster Ward Hamlin. Eight new scouts were welcomed into Troop 12. They are Frank Klomprens, Bob Hungerling, Paul Wiegierink, Douglas Dykstra, Wells Penna, Jim Kuiper, Jack Carr, Paul Van Kojken. A second class award was presented to Dave Vande Vusse by the scoutmaster.

Second Half Rally By GR Christian Downs Local Five

Grand Rapids' Van Enk Tops in 16 Points To Lead High Scoring

A sizzling Grand Rapids Christian quintet staged a great second half rally Friday night on the huge Burton gym to sink Holland Christian's Maroons 47-32. A capacity homecoming crowd witnessed the traditional clash.

The whole story of the ball game was the fact that the Eagles hit with amazing accuracy in the second half, while the locals were having trouble with the hoop. Both squads played good ball in the first half.

Although Preston (Butts) Kool was able to match lanky Ken Ryskamp's nine points, it was shifty Peter Van Enk who spelled disaster for the locals. Van Enk couldn't miss as he dumped 16 points through the mesh from seemingly impossible angles. It was his single handed offensive punch late in the third quarter which sparked the Furniture City five to victory.

Grand Rapids Christian opened the scoring on a foul toss, but soon trailed after Holland's Butts Kool laid up a tip-in shot. From then on it was a real ball game with both squads setting a torrid pace. The lead changed hands with every basket and finally ended in a 11-11 deadlock at the first quarter whistle. Most of the scoring was done from far out with Glenn Petroeje and Ken Mast counting on long toms of the Maroons.

Grand Rapids moved out in front in the early stages of the second period, but Coach Arthur Tuls' lads managed to keep abreast of them in the scoring department. With three minutes remaining in the period, the Grand Rapids club was boasting an 18-13 lead. But the determined Dutch fought back to narrow the count. Two quick baskets gave the winners a 22-18 margin at the intermission horn.

Van Enk took personal command of the third period for the Eagles. In quick succession he scored three baskets—all one handers from practically all positions, to boost the Grand Rapids lead to 32-20. From then on both clubs played on virtually even terms with the Dutch trailing 36-28 at the end of the third quarter.

The last quarter was practically all Eagles, although the Hollanders fought desperately. Nothing seemed to roll in for the Tulsmen during the slowed-down last quarter. On one occasion, the Maroons took six rapid shots at the hoop without counting.

Although Coach Jack Boelens' lads held a height advantage, the rebound department was about equal. Kool, Herb Otten and Pete Holstege turned in excellent performances on the boards, while the 6' 6" Ryskamp was doing most of the work for Grand Rapids.

Dutch 'B' Team Loses to Calvin

The Calvin college freshman team gained a 39-29 victory Thursday night over the Hope "B" team in a nip and tuck battle at the Army. The Knight's height proved the difference between the teams.

Calvin went into an early lead and held the margin throughout the first quarter while limiting the Dutch to two baskets. Score at the close of the initial frame was Hope 4, Calvin 10.

Hope racked up five points to six for the Knights in the second stanza and the teams left the floor at halftime with the count 16-9 in Calvin's favor.

Ken Hulst of Hope led a barrage at the basket for the locals in the final third period. Calvin matched the Dutch with 12 points to make the count 29-21 as the buzzer ended the period.

The final frame saw Hope pull up repeatedly within striking distance of the Knights but a final spurge led the game.

Hulst led Hope with eight points while Paul Van Erden counted 14 for the winners.

Muskegon Heights Trounces Holland To Stay Unbeaten

Dutchmen Keep Astride Of Conference Leaders Until Second Half

Muskegon Heights' juggernaut continued on its unbeaten path toward the Southwestern conference basketball championship Friday night by rolling over Holland high 47-30.

The game was played before a sellout crowd of about 600 persons at the Muskegon Heights junior high gym.

Coach Oakie Johnson's Tigers clawed their way from behind just before the first half ended and went on to dominate play the remainder of the game.

Holland stayed even, and a little ahead, of the undefeated Heights for the first half. However, that third quarter "jinx" caught up with the locals again last night and they fell too far behind to come back.

Although Holland displayed championship-form in the first period, it had to settle for a 10-10 tie at the end of the frame.

In the second period, Holland went ahead 18-14 before Muskegon Heights put the damper on held. The Tigers gnawed their way into a 21-18 lead at half-time.

Muskegon Heights really came to life in the third canto. The alert Tigers stopped Holland at every turn and froze the Dutch out with a meager four points. Meanwhile, the home team sizzled the meshes for 18 points to take a commanding 39-22 lead as the buzzer ended the period.

In that quarter, Holland hit just one out of 18 field goal attempts.

Both teams sacked eight points in the last period. However, Holland was able to control the oval most of the time against the Tiger reserves toward the waning moments of the fray.

In the final quarter, Holland hit two out of 16 field goal tries.

Coach Malcolm Mackay started out with a revamped lineup and used his subs freely but was unable to stem the furious Muskegon Heights onslaught. Ken Van Wieren was the only local player that could hit with any consistency. He racked up high honors for the Dutch with 11 points.

Individual honors must go to aggressive Leroy Green of the Tigers who seemed to be in the right place at the right time most of the game. His 16-point total topped both teams. Chuck Zorn and Frankie Howell each made eight for the winners.

The Tigers made good nine out of 15 times at the foul line while Holland hit 500 with six out of 12.

The loss shoved Holland into a tie for the cellar of the conference standings with Kalamazoo. Both teams have a record of two wins and five defeats.

Holland's reserve team really went to town in the preliminary game and whipped the Muskegon Heights seconds 48-29. Fourteen personal fouls were called against the local reserves to two against the Heights.

Roger Eggers had 13 points for Holland; Bill Kramer 11 and Bob Tasma 10.

Club Discusses Charter Revision

At the regular luncheon meeting on Monday, Exchangeites Peter Kromann and Vernon Ten Cate laid before the members of the Holland Exchange club the need for a charter revision for the city of Holland and the proposed plan by which such revision might be accomplished. Exchangeite Kromann spoke at length on the inconsistencies of the present situation.

"Our duty as citizens is to go to the polls and vote for the revision and also elect a charter commission," he said. This commission will work with an expert from outside the city and will recommend a charter which will not only be up to date but will also contain provisions for any needed future changes. This revision is to be submitted to the voters for approval or rejection.

Exchangeite Ten Cate said that this charter is not a new idea, but that this is the first time in the history of the city that city council members have all said they were willing to give up their rights of office to whatever committee or group their rights might be assigned by this commission.

This change, he said, is not necessary because of bad government in the past, but is to give to duly elected officials those basic powers which will enable them to take advantage of developments that will protect the city in the future.

Niles Five Whips Canes for Second Time This Season

High-Scoring Visitors Run Up 13 Points Before Canes Get One

Power plus red hot basket shooting by the Niles American Legion spelled defeat for the Holland Hurricanes Friday night by a score of 62-45. The well polished Niles outfit outplayed and outfought the Hurricanes throughout.

Niles started off with a bang, with John Jorgenson, one of the best basket players seen on the Armory floor this season, scoring four baskets. With the help of his teammates he made the score 13 to 0 before the Hurricanes found the basket. Art Slager opened Holland scoring with a free toss and Holkeboer sank a basket to net the Hurricanes three points, their first quarter total. Neil Bedford found the hoop again for Niles, scoring twice and the quarter ended with Niles in front 20-3.

Niles continued its fast pace, hitting from all angles in the second quarter and ran the score to 29. The Hurricanes put on a final first half spurt, led by Ken Zuverink and brought their total to 15 as the first half ended.

Beginning the third period Jorgenson and Zuverink traded baskets and then the Niles Legionnaires went on another scoring rampage. When the smoke had cleared the Hurricanes found themselves on the short end of a 38-19 count. After a basket by Slager the Niles team continued its spree and ran up seven more points, on long toms by Bob Franz. The third period ended with Niles 47, Hurricanes 23.

The Hurricanes began to pick up in the final frame as Russ De Vette found the hoop. Rusty hit for four baskets, Zuverink a couple. Then Jorgenson and company again struck and managed to keep their 20-point lead. Play see-sawed back and forth in the remainder with Zuverink and Bedford leading the final attacks. The contest ended with the Niles quintet 17 points out in front.

Ken Van Regenmorter, local center was injured slightly in the third period of the game and his loss was felt by the Hurricanes as Van Regenmorter had been a "bear" on the boards all night.

Ken Zuverink, found the basket for 14 tallies to lead the local scoring, followed by Russ De Vette with 12 markers. John Jorgenson led the Niles American Legion outfit with 17 points and was a mainstay on the boards and set up numerous other plays for his teammates. Neil Bedford grabbed second spot for Niles with 15 points.

In a preliminary game the Downtown Nash quintet of the Holland City league defeated the Davenport-McLaughlin by a score of 53-29. Several Holland men performed for the Davenport squad.

Kalamazoo Cagers Beat Hurricanes By 69-63 Score

Locals Miss Substitutes Against Kazoo Five; Foul Shooting Faulty

The Kalamazoo Upjohns plastered the Holland Hurricanes 69-63 Tuesday night at the Armory. The loss was the Canes eighth for the season against seven wins. It was a benefit game for the March of Dimes.

Playing without the services of such standouts as Russ De Vette, Vern Kraai, Bob Greenhoe and Earl Holkeboer, the Canes had trouble finding the hoop and were impotent on the foul line. The locals connected only nine times out of 23 tries from the charity line.

In the initial period, the lead swayed back and forth until the Celery City team splashed out in front 9-5 with the benefit of two field goals. Despite the determined Hurricane bid, the Upjohns hung on until the end of the period and were ahead 15-12.

The Hurricanes really began to blow in the second quarter and after knotting the count at 16 points apiece, went on to lead 27-22 before the visitors rallied. Kalamazoo came back with a furious attack and overcame the Canes to go ahead 35-29 as the half ended.

In the third canto, Kalamazoo opened the scoring with two quick buckets before Ken Van Regenmorter tallied for the locals. After that, Bill Perrin and John Rafferty pushed the Upjohns into a 10-point lead. Before the quarter ended the Canes were able to narrow the margin to eight points.

Upjohns stepped out in front by 14 points early in the final stanza to ride atop a 62-48 margin before the determined Canes came back. The Hurricanes chopped the lead down while putting up a stiff defense and narrowed the count to 69-63 as the buzzer sounded the end of the game. Van Regenmorter was the big gun for the Canes on their final offensive spurt.

However, Coach Dell Koop felt the loss of reserve strength and on more than one occasion wished he had such stalwarts as Russ De Vette or Vern Kraai in the lineup.

Pete Van Sweden, giant Upjohn center, paced scoring for the evening with 20 points followed by Perrin with nine points. Ken Van Regenmorter and Harvey Butler divided honors for the locals with 14 points apiece followed by Jack Tirrell with 13.

Both teams hit 27 field goals. The leaders of the American division of the Kalamazoo city league cashed in 15 out of 26 foul shots.

In a preliminary game, the Allen's Radio quintet of the city league downed Van's Electric of Zeeland by a close 30-24 decision. It made the second time within a week that the Radios were able to overcome the Zeelanders.

Saugatuck Edges Holland Quintet

Holland high's ninth grade team bowed to Saugatuck's varsity by a narrow 38-34 score Tuesday night on the Saugatuck hardwoods.

Despite Frank Van Dyke's nine field goals and five free throws for 23 of the local's 34 points, Holland faded in the closing minutes to lose the game.

Holland shot from all angles in the opening quarter and went out in front 12-8 as the period ended. The locals bogged down in the second stanza and watched the Saugatuck cagers pull even and go ahead 18-15 at halftime.

A nip-and-tuck third canto made the teams even as the buzzer sounded.

Besides Van Dyke's outstanding performance, Tom Maentz was a tiger on defense as he repeatedly stopped the Saugatuck offense coming down the floor.

Saugatuck's scoring was divided among Arnold with nine points, Bale with eight points and Knipper with eight.

The Holland eighth-graders wallowed the Saugatuck reserves 42-20 in a preliminary.

Hornets Whittle Out Narrow Win Over Hope Five

Kalamazoo Now Leads In 63-Game Series Between Two Schools

Kalamazoo college's basketball team bumped Hope college by a scant 47-44 margin for the second time this season Tuesday night at Treadway gym in Kalamazoo.

The loss sent the Dutch reeling further into the cellar of the MIAA standings along with Adrian who bowed to Hillsdale Tuesday night. Kalamazoo, by virtue of the win, climbed into a two-way tie with Albion for second place in the conference standings.

Tuesday's defeat snapped Hope's budding win streak at three games and gave the Hornets the edge in the 63-game series with 32 wins against 31 for the Dutchmen.

Although there were only 16 personal fouls called in the fray, they do not give an indication of the rough play. The officials seemed to overlook several fouls, detected by fans of both schools.

Hope parried with the Hornets for the opening half until the count stood at 12-12, then the Dutch began to break away from the slow Kazoo game and spurred out ahead 19-12 and 16-23 before the Hornets made a bid.

The Dutch used accurate passing and team play to whittle out the lead. The locals, Paul Muyskens and Moose Holwerda, had things their own way under the boards.

The Hornets came back in the closing moments of the first half to chalk up four field goals and narrow the difference to one point before the teams went to the locker rooms.

Paced by sharpshooting Frank Walters and Chuck Stanski in the second half, the Hornets crawled into the lead and never let go. The alert Kazoo defenders controlled play under both boards most of the second half.

Hope's passing and shooting was erratic toward the end of the game and despite the narrow difference on the scoreboard, Kazoo had the ball most of the time.

The game developed into a rough-and-tumble affair in the final moments and on numerous occasions two or three players would be sprawled on the floor with the ball rolling loose.

Herb Buter led the Dutch with 13 points, while Paul Muyskens came next with 11 points. Bud Van De Wege garnered 10 points. For the winners, Frank "Bucky" Walters had 13 while Bill Bos connected for 10.

Hope made eight out of 16 charity tosses while Kazoo made seven of 16.

Chuck Stanski deserves credit for his outstanding floor game both on offense and defense for the Hornets.

In the reserve tilt, the Kalamazoo freshmen swamped the Hope "B" team by a one-sided 65-43 tally.

Slippery Streets Cause Accidents

Holland police officers were kept busy Monday answering calls to minor accidents on city streets.

Between 1:45 and 2 p.m. in the afternoon, three minor accidents occurred on Eighth St., between College and River Aves.

In the most serious mishap, a panel truck owned by Ideal Dry Cleaners and driven by Gerold Daining of 1A Pine Ct., and a one and a half-ton truck driven by Earl R. Littrell of Kalkaska, collided between College and Central Aves.

According to police, Littrell was driving in his own lane when Daining tried to avoid hitting a car which made a "U" turn in front of him. Ice caused Daining to skid into the other truck and spilled Littrell's load of poles onto the pavement.

At about the same time three cars were involved in a mishap at the corner of Eighth St. and College Ave., and another two cars came together in front of 66 West Eighth St. However, no one was injured.

Sanding crews reported they went down Eighth St. and other main routes three times in an effort to cut the slippery coat. They said it wasn't until later in the afternoon when the sun thawed some of the ice that cars were able to stop safely.

Several other minor bumps were caused throughout the area by slippery pavements.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

More Michigan Farmers Using Irrigation System

1,000 Farms Watered By Artificial Means; Increases Crop Yield

More and more Michigan farmers are insuring their crops against summer scorching with irrigation systems, according to a farm magazine.

"Man-made rainfall watered 1,000 Michigan farms during last summer's drought," says an article in the magazine. "Pumps tapped nearby lakes, rivers, wells—even Lake Michigan—to give thirsty crops a drink."

The story, pointing out that irrigation isn't exactly new in Michigan, says Otis Klett, Keeler, tried ditching and flooding 17 years ago. His land was too sloping, so he switched to porous canvas hose and then to a sprinkler system. Ways that Klett and Sons now use their system draw comment.

"Clover sowed in dry soil August 20 came up to a good stand after it was watered with sprinklers. Yield of strawberries watered four times ahead of picking and three times during picking was 428 crates an acre on 15 acres. Yield on unirrigated berries was 275 crates an acre. Kletts dissolved 33 per cent ammonium nitrate in water and put it in an orchard sprayer. They took the sprayer hose to a take-off on their six-inch main. The higher pressure in the sprayer forces the fertilizer into the irrigation line."

The story says water rescued a mint crop that was blowing away on muck land of the A. M. Todd Co., Kalamazoo. Dry muck was too loose and powdery for plants to root. Drifting and blowing stopped when sprinklers began spreading water from drainage ditches.

"Higher quality of fruit is an advantage of irrigation stressed by S. Mandel, manager of Rosedale farms, South Haven," the article continues. "Both peaches and apples are larger in irrigated portions of the orchards. Water from Lake Michigan is lifted 95 feet to water the Rosedale orchard."

"Walter Harry, South Haven, used his well and portable pipe to help his cauliflower crop in 1948. He kept plants growing during the dry season and got an early crop of large, good-quality heads."

Soil Testing Labs Set Up

The establishment of soil testing laboratories in about 10 counties in Michigan is the result of increased interest by farmers and agricultural groups in soil testing in the last three years.

Kirk Lawton, soils scientist at Michigan State college, says that this is one of the best moves farmers can make since soil tests are necessary for a good soil fertility program.

The county soil testing laboratory provides a valuable service for the farmer or grower. The results of soil tests in the county laboratory are turned over to the county agricultural agent. He is often familiar with the particular farm area tested and can make soil management recommendations.

The sponsorship of these laboratories has been undertaken by local agricultural groups including the county board of supervisors, farm organizations, the soil conservation district, and local business and civic groups. The soil science department at Michigan State college assists in setting up the laboratory equipment and methods. Soil tests are generally made for acidity, available phosphorus, and available potassium. A slight charge is made to defray costs of labor, equipment and chemicals.

Lawton advises farmers who wish to learn more about a soil testing program to get in touch with their county agricultural agent.

Women 20 to 30 who are high school graduates are being accepted for enlistment in the Waves. Enlistments for ex-servicemen and women and men without previous service in the V-6 inactive naval reserve are again being accepted.

Persons interested may contact the Navy recruiter at the Holland post office every Friday at 1 p.m., without obligation.

Demand for Fertilizer Increases in County

Demand for fertilizers is on the increase in Ottawa county as in most other farming areas, according to extension agent Leo Arnold. Dr. E. C. Millar, Michigan State college, declares farmers have stepped up the amount to 23 times that used before the war. It would be higher if farmers could secure it from dealers.

According to data there will be a few per cent more tons of fertilizer available to American farmers than in 1948. Some sections far from plants may receive no benefit from increased production.

Figuring needs, and ordering early is advisable according to advice of Arnold, agricultural agent.

Chaff Harmful To Wool Crop

Considerable damage can be done to next spring's wool crop if chaff and other foreign material are allowed to get in the fleece, warns Graydon Blank, Michigan State college extension animal husbandry specialist.

Trouble is often encountered if care is not taken when hay and other roughages are fed. A hay rack having solid sides will prevent grain and chaff from getting into the fleece. Such a rack can be made from plans obtainable from the Michigan State college animal husbandry department.

Blank also reports that it is helpful to place the hay in the racks while the sheep are out of the barn or to spread the hay on the ground in a nearby field before the ewes are turned out. Hay and roughage should never be carried or scattered over the backs of the ewes.

Soiled and badly stained wool will result when sheep are housed too closely in poorly ventilated barns. The wool will be cleaner and the sheep do better if the winter quarters are kept well ventilated. If the doors to the sheep barn are on the side away from the prevailing winds, they should be left open at all times.

Fall Freshening Cows Produce More Milk

Fall freshening cows produce more milk and give larger quantities when base production is being established. That's why George Parsons, Michigan State college extension dairyman, recommends breeding cows and heifers in February for fall freshening.

To work out a program which will bring more fall freshening requires a planned breeding program, Parsons advises. Breeding of some animals must be delayed and for others it must be moved up. While it may be too late now to make too big a change in the program, Parsons says it's the best time to start if you have not already worked on such a plan.

Another advantage of fall and winter freshening is in having calves at an age where they can take full advantage of available grass during the pasture season. Calves will make faster and cheaper growth.

Once the program is adopted to have a larger number of the dairy animals calving in fall and early winter, it is simple to keep it in operation, the dairy specialist says.

Everett G. Anderson, 17, Grand Haven, arraigned on a charge of failure to have his car under control on Feb. 3, after running into the rear of one car and sideswiping another on Washington St., paid $15 fine and $1 costs.

Delbert Doughten, 40, Muskegon, charged with simple larceny upon complaint of Emmons Chittenden, route 2, Spring Lake, from whom he is alleged to have taken a hay rake and cultivator valued at $20, paid $15 fine, $3.50 costs and make restitution of $20.

Doughten, who bought some old iron and other junk from Chittenden, is alleged to have come back later on Nov. 15, 1948, taking the rake and cultivator.

Broken Down Soil Structure Cuts Crop Yield

Broken down soil structure is cutting crop yields on thousands of Midwestern farms by "locking in" plant nutrients needed to feed crop roots, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement committee in a statement issued here.

"Many farmers add a 'pantry full' of nutrients," says the statement, "yet crop yields are low because poor soil structure prevents roots from reaching those nutrients."

"High crop yields are possible only when all the conditions for plant growth are favorable. Fertilizer is essential in giving the soil nutrients to feed plants. But fertilizer must be teamed with other management methods that build and maintain soil structure and keep the top-soil from washing away."

"A soil with good structure 'breathes'. It is porous and grainy. It permits free movement of air and water. It absorbs rains readily. It provides plenty of 'leg room' for roots to spread out for nutrients."

"Soils lose their structure when they lose their organic matter. Too many row crops in succession and too little attention to 'put back' measures burns up organic matter. Then the earth becomes packed and hard to work. Then drainage is clogged and air circulation is stifled. Roots can only partially feed the growing crop."

"The best method for adding organic matter and building soil structure is a rotation that balances row crops with soil improving grasses and legumes. Fibrous rooted grasses do their soil building job close to the surface. Deep-rooted legumes do their work clear down to the 'basement'—18 to 25 inches below. Both add organic matter and help rebuild soil structure. Both need a good ration of plant food to develop a strong root system and dense growth above the ground."

"Organic matter supplies can be further increased if you plow under corn stalks, straw and other crop residue and return barnyard manure to the soil," the committee says.

Know Background of Baby Chicks You Buy

Don't let cold weather keep you from planning about your spring poultry operations, says Howard Zindel, Michigan State college extension poultry specialist. To avoid losses from disease, it's a good idea to know the background of chicks that you buy. They should come from flocks that have a history of producing lots of large eggs.

Shop around now and place your order so you won't have to be disappointed when the time comes to get the poultry enterprise going.

Details Important To Good Farming

Farmers must take advantage of many small details in various enterprises to get best monetary returns. For instance, in poultry production early chicks bring about egg production at that time when egg prices are at their best. L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, says that the following hint by George Parsons, Michigan State college extension dairyman, is worth considering.

Parsons declares that fall freshening cows produce more milk and give larger quantities when base production is being established. To work out a program which will bring more fall freshening requires a planned breeding program, Parsons advises. Breeding of some animals must be delayed and for others it must be moved up. While it may be too late now to make too big a change in the program, Parsons says it's the best time to start if you have not already worked out such a plan.

Another advantage of fall and winter freshening is in having calves at an age where they can take full advantage of available grass during the pasture season. Calves will make faster and cheaper growth.

Once the program is adopted to have a larger number of the dairy animals calving in fall and early winter, it is simple to keep it in operation, the dairy specialist says.

Land Purchased For Camp Site of Allegan 4-H'ers

Announcement of the purchase of a site for an Allegan county 4-H club camp was made last week by Milan Levett, chairman of the camp committee of the 4-H club council, and F. Earl Haas, assistant agricultural agent in the land use planning.

The site of the camp is the Kidwell property, a wooded peninsula extending into the south side of Eagle lake, which is known as Lily point. Located on a woody knoll in the center of the property is old two story resort hotel measuring 30 by 100 feet. The area of approximately 10 acres is surrounded on three sides by water and includes a sandy swimming beach.

Assisting in locating the camp site were a camp committee of the 4-H club council consisting of Ruth Eckert, Robert Immink, Carlton Woodhams, Frank Bastian and Levett. Gerald Fenner, president of the council and Clarence Koopman, president of the Allegan county 4-H leaders association, also were in on the final selection and also the members of the extension staff, A. D. Morley, county agent, Mary E. Bullis, home extension agent, William MacLean, 4-H club and Earl Haas, assistant county agent in land use planning.

The Allegan county leaders association at their January meeting approved the plans to purchase this property and will assist through their local clubs in raising money for the purchase of the camp.

It is hoped that much of this work will be done by older 4-H club members and their parents in time to hold several sections of camp this year.

This project is the benefit of the youth throughout Allegan county and all organizations interested in the welfare of Allegan county boys and girls are invited to participate in the promotion of this camp.

Mineral Use for Dairy Animals Is Stressed

Use of minerals for dairy animals was stressed recently in a series of meetings scheduled by agricultural agent Leo Arnold. Jim Hays, extension dairyman, urged the use of salt containing trace minerals.

Dealers now offer a mineralized salt which contains a small amount of manganese, cobalt, iron and copper. The cobalt may be of particular value to the cow. Hays recommends mixing one pound
