Trinity Scouts Hear Schutmaat

About 75 persons attended the annual parents' night dinner of Boy Scout troop 12 Monday night in Trinity Reformed church. The annual meeting featured a potluck dinner and program.

The Rev. Alvin Schutmaat, principal of an American missionary school in Bogota, Colombia, described customs and manners of the children of South America. He said in some ways Colombian courtesy is superior to American manners and in other ways inferior. He spoke of the Scout program carried out in Bogota and of the big Scout rally which attracted 1,000 youths there. A lively question and answer period set the program 20 minutes beyond schedule.

Retiring Scoutmaster Ward Hamlin was presented with a gift from the Scouts and the troop committee with presentation in charge of Karl Fehring, Roger Essenburg received the Star Scout award. His mother, Mrs. Jack Essenburg, participated in the ceremony. Earl Vanden Bosch received a 10-year service award.

Other program numbers included a brass duet by Harvey Nies and Bob Hungerink, a reading by Wells Penna and trombone solo by Jack Carr. Gerrit Wiegink led group singing and Wilbur Brondyke, institutional representative, gave the invocation. William H. Vande Water, chairman of troop committee, presided, and Dr. H. D. Terkeurst gave closing remarks.

Closing ceremonies were under the direction of Ernest Penna, acting Scoutmaster.

The dinner was in charge of the Mothers' club with Mrs. Ed Boerigter as chairman. Miner Mindertma of Zeeland, district commissioner, represented the Scout council.

First He Caught Perch, Then He Fished for Car

Charles De Jonge, of 340 West 14th St., went fishing for perch on White lake at Whitehall Saturday and wound up fishing for his car.

Sharing his "gone" feeling was Donald L. Griener of Grand Rapids whose car also broke through the eight-inch ice into 30 feet of water.

The two cars parked with six others on the ice near the shoreline were recovered by wreckers a few hours later and now repose in a Montague garage awaiting repairs and drying-out. De Jonge's 1947 model appeared undamaged aside from scratches of hooks, but the Griener car will require additional repairs.

De Jonge and his two sons, Charles, 11, and Billy, 10, together with a neighbor, Wally De Weerd, had gone to Whitehall for the outing. They were a considerable distance away when the cars broke through and were not aware it had happened. Having caught their limit, they returned to a big hole in the ice and hundreds of spectators gawking at the spot where two cars had been standing.

It was believed that a hole had been spudded through the ice near the cars through which water bubbled up when the weight of eight cars on a concentrated area became a factor.

De Jonge said he parked the car on the ice because the area was so crowded with fishermen there was no available parking place. He had no idea the water was so deep in the area. He estimated 1,000 to 1,500 fishermen on the ice that afternoon.

Mrs. De Jonge was in Chicago for the week-end and learned of the submerged car for the first time when she returned home Sunday evening.

De Jonge's fishing party, plus the catch, returned home Saturday afternoon with John Blanksteyn of Holland, who also was fishing on White lake.

As for the fish, De Jonge wasn't interested. He gave them away.

Her husband died in August, 1948, and she had been living with her children since that time. She was a member of Beechwood Reformed church.

Sen. Vandenberg's Recovery From Operation Slow

He Still Grins Despite Constant Pain, Worry About Wife's Illness

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuffy

Washington—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg's recovery from his lung operation is a painful and slow process.

A constant pain stabs him in the back and no corrective treatment seems to alleviate it.

"It takes time," his battery of physicians and nurses tell him but the October operation, which he describes as "completely successful," seems a long time ago to the Michigan Senator.

One blessed thing, he can sleep. So the nagging of the pain during his waking hours is relieved by frequent naps on the big couch in his office. (Hanging on the back is the robe that belonged to the late Sen. William E. Borah.)

At home he is pained sympathetically by the illness of his wife, who now has an attack of her chronic sinus trouble to add to the discomfort of her long, drawn out convalescence from her operation.

But the Senator can still grin. With a laugh, he said he had received 25 letters that were "proof of his importance."

At least that many worried people went ahead with their own needed lung operation after reading in the papers that he walked out of the hospital in two weeks.

Typical is a letter from New Jersey. Mary Condon, who wrote him they had a lot in common. She was a Republican and since she had always followed him politically, she followed his decision and had the same operation. But she was having some severe aftermath pains!

The Senator responded that misery liked company and he, too, was having "those pains."

Everyone is trying to lessen his legislative load. He has given up everything, including the Atomic Energy committee, except the Foreign Relations committee activities. He sees few people and didn't even manage to hear his daughter, Miss "Betty" Vandenberg, play the piano in a recent concert in Washington. But his ear was close to the radio!

Democrats Organize For Fall Elections

Allegan (Special)—Aiming at a full county ticket in the fall elections, Allegan county Democrats have organized a club to work with the existing Democratic county committee.

With 60 attending the session, the club did not vote in support of any candidates so far announced in the race, though four or five are reported to be planning a campaign for nomination as fourth district congressmen.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Hydrogen Bomb

"Until the beginning of the 20th century, the United States had little to do with atomic development, but since then has played a major role in this science," Dr. Harvey Kleinheksel told the Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Warm Friend Tavern. Dr. Kleinheksel is professor of chemistry at Hope college.

Beginning his explanation of the hydrogen bomb with a discussion of nuclear fission, the speaker outlined problems involved in splitting an atom. He explained the intricacies of a cyclotron.

Uranium 235 was first split in the 1930's, he said, when the fundamental principles of nuclear fission were established.

Dr. Kleinheksel presented the hydrogen bomb theory and concluded his speech with a discussion of the functions and possibilities of an atomic pile.

President John F. Donnelly conducted the meeting.

Ninth Street Church Collects Polio Gifts

A total of $476.44 was collected in two offerings Sunday in Ninth Street Christian Reformed church for the polio campaign in Holland.

Gabe Kuite, local campaign chairman, said the gift brings the campaign total to within a few hundred dollars of the assigned quota of $10,500 and said he expected the drive would go over the top in a short time.

The polio cause has been particularly close to Ninth Street church ever since one of its members, Mrs. John Cooper, was stricken more than four years ago. Mrs. Cooper, an iron lung patient who returned home from Holland hospital just before Christmas, was present at the morning worship. Her wheel chair was placed in a rear vestibule.

$33,000 Verdict Still Pending in Allegan Court

Allegan (Special)—The largest personal injury verdict ever given in Western Michigan is still in court pending outcome of a motion for a new trial.

The Hamilton Farm Bureau Co-op and Purin Tanis, truck driver for the co-op, were defendants when a jury last November awarded Steven Lasecki of Detroit $33,000 for injuries in an accident in January, 1946.

Monday, Circuit Judge Raymond Smith filed an opinion on the co-op's motion for a new trial in which he allowed 30 days for the plaintiff to make the next move toward solution of the case.

The court considers $24,000 a fair verdict," Judge Smith wrote. "If within 30 days, the plaintiff files a remittitur of $9,000, the verdict and judgment will be sustained. Otherwise, it will be set aside and a new trial granted."

"The case was ably and cleanly tried by experienced counsel on both sides. For an outsider to come into this rural community and obtain a verdict of this size from a defendant with the high grade reputation of the Hamilton Farm Bureau leads the court to the conclusion the jury was impressed with the rightness and justice of plaintiff's cause and extent of damage and injury."

The court is in sympathy with the finding of liability. There remains only the question of damages."

The defendants based their appeal for new trial on the judge's charge to the jury in which he set up factors for determining a verdict, if any. In his opinion, the judge admitted erring in the factor figure, but stated he believed the jury used its own means for determining the $33,000 anyway.

"The plaintiff has shown the loss of $11,385 between January, 1946 and Nov. 3, 1949," the judge said. In computing future damage on a basis of 20 years, he set the $24,000 as a "fair verdict."

The following municipalities and districts will be benefited as follows (the first figure representing the census children and the last figure the amount to be received):

Water Is Life Of Netherlands, Visitor Finds

Coffee Ration Reduced To Quarter Pound for Six Weeks Per Person

Following is the sixth of a series on "A Dutch Odyssey" prepared by Peter Veltman, former Holland high teacher who is taking postgraduate work at the university in Amsterdam under the Fulbright plan in which exchange students attend American and Dutch colleges.

By Peter Veltman
WATER IS THE life of the Netherlands. I suppose that is a redundant statement here, but one doesn't realize really how true it is until he travels throughout parts of this country. One is amazed at the genius, the "know-how" of the Dutch which keeps part of this land from sinking into the sea at any time.

For instance, when the former Zuider Zee is filled in eventually, a lake will have to be left alongside Amsterdam to separate it from the polders because the piles on which Amsterdam is built might rot out if this is not done. Water does not rot piles, but air and water do.

Rumor has it that it has been suggested that The Netherlands should send large tank ships to America to exchange that water for dollars which the Netherlands so much needs. This in view of the New York water shortage.

AND WATER ALWAYS makes one think of ships which especially have been responsible for the position the Netherlands has always enjoyed among the nations of the world. On Feb. 14 the Nieuw Amsterdam, the ship which carried us from the United States over here, will pass through the Panama Canal. The owners will have to pay $17,000 for the privilege, the largest amount paid by any ship for lock use since the war. The ship is so big that about three or four yards clearance remain on either side as pilot ships guide the ship through.

And talking about water, the canals are a constant source of danger. Cars parked about the canal banks sometimes slip into the water and have to be fished out. Virginia and Donna were much perturbed, as I recall, at Christmas time when Marian came home with Christmas tree decorations. She had spent an hour in waiting and search for whole ornaments. All went well until she crossed the street over the canal nearest our home when—whooosh—the wind blew the ornaments into the canal. That has been our canal casualty so far.

But there are worse casualties, for just about three blocks from here dragging has been going on in the canal for the past few days, and a mother and father stand hopefully by hoping almost against hope that at least the body of their five-year-old son who was last seen playing on the canal bank will be recovered. Because then at least they will be certain.

LAST SUNDAY we saw a beautiful yellow rosebush in full bloom and rows of pansies out in the open. The last two days have been very cold, there is ice on the lagoons in Vondel park, and the gulls and ducks and swans seem to fight greedily for the little patch of open water that is left.

It is so cold that one cannot help having sympathy for the seven little chicks that were born the other day and whose birth was announced in the papers because the chickens, too, were mixed up.

On the coffee front: Ration reduced to one-fourth pound per person for six weeks. Result: coffee substitutes are numerous on the market again.

Shades of the last war: Three police officers were required to hold back the crowd in downtown Amsterdam the other day when sheets, pillow cases and towels were advertised for sale. Price: $1.25 to 3.70 per meter (about 39 inches). Reminded one of cigarette lines at Peck's and Hansen's during the war.

MORE SHADES of the same: On Jan. 13 a mine was picked up and brought into Scheveningen. Not an unusual occurrence hereabouts.

So water is scarce in America? Electrical current is scarce here. The Netherlands will have 17 hour per day radio broadcasts again. Since Nov. 15 only 15 hours per day had been the rule to save electricity.

On March 2, Z. K. H. Prins Bernhard plans to be in New York. The Amsterdam Symphony orchestra is also making perhaps more than tentative plans to give concerts in the United States this year.

I SPENT A pleasant afternoon recently with The Netherlands Evangelist Jan Sevensma who spent five years at intervals in America. People in Holland, Mich., especially those who know the Netherlands language will remember him. He's still the same "Jan", as he preferred to be called then, except that his hair is whiter perhaps and he is a bit more shaky. He remembers his American friends with gratitude. His address is Reyersloot Straat 27, Amsterdam.

On Tuesday the American students here were guests of Ambassador Chapin at the Hague at a reception held in their honor.

James W. Curtis, Ganges farmer, was highly incensed when he read in The Sentinel early this week that Western Michigan veterans were resenting DP's in and about the area. He's a veteran and he knows several DP families working on farms in southwest Allegan. And so he dropped in to tell The Sentinel about his views.

Allegan Farmer Rises To Defense of the DP's

Allegan Street And Sidewalk Survey Given

Allegan (Special)—Allegan has nine miles of paved street, nearly two miles of blacktop, and 13 miles of graveled streets. There are 14 miles of sidewalks, 20 miles of water mains, and 17 and a half miles of storm and sanitary sewers.

These, and other statistics have been compiled by City Manager Philip Beauvais as the city prepares to buy comprehensive liability insurance on all its property and buildings.

Bids are being advertised, and will be opened at the regular council meeting next Monday night. The city is asking rates on $25,000 bodily or other injury liability for each person, and $50,000 for each accident; plus $3,000 property damage limit to each claimant, with $25,000 limit for each accident.

In his summary, Beauvais said the city comprises 2640 acres, and has a population now estimated at 5,500. He listed 19 city-owned buildings, a cemetery, gravel pit, two public squares, city dump, a 32-mile electrical distribution system, a six-mile transmission line from the municipal dam, and 205 parking meters.

Circuit Court Grants Three Divorce Decrees
Grand Haven (Special)—Three divorce decrees were granted in circuit court Thursday afternoon.

Marjorie Mae Kowalko was awarded a decree from Howard Kowalko, both of Central park, Holland. Custody of the three minor children was awarded to Mrs. Kowalko.

Nancy McDonald Bennett of Coopersville was granted a decree from Gordon L. Bennett of Battle Creek. The couple has no children.

Doris Brown was granted a decree from Duane Brown, both of whom reside in Spring Lake township. Custody of the two minor children was awarded to Mrs. Brown.

Change Made in Time of Poultry Meet at Zeeland
L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, calls attention to the hour of the meeting sponsored by the Holland-Zeeland Hatchery association at Zeeland city hall Feb. 10. The meeting begins at 1 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. as originally announced.

Poultrymen in the county are invited to attend. Specialists will discuss various poultry problems. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

James W. Curtis, Allegan county veteran and farmer-by-choice, rose today to the defense of the displaced persons.

Speaking as an individual, the 29-year-old Dartmouth graduate vigorously protested statements by Lee B. Buer, president of the Kent county United Veterans council, who announced he would ask for a survey to determine how veterans had lost their jobs to displaced persons.

Curtis branded as false any general ideas that DP's are taking jobs away from veterans, or that veterans have been evicted from their homes to make place for DP's. He said any person or organization who sponsors a DP family must agree in writing that these two situations are not violated. Furthermore, Curtis said the agreement must be sworn to before a notary.

And Curtis should know whereof he speaks. He has one DP, a 20-year-old Latvian, on his farm. Besides, there are at least 30 DP families in the southwest section of Allegan which includes a dozen in Curtis' neighborhood in the Fennville-Ganges area.

American veterans don't want to work on the farm, unless it's their own, Curtis said. Therefore, farmers, particularly fruit growers, are becoming more and more dependent on whatever is at hand. Following the day of "the hired man," the farmer was forced more or less to turn to hoboes and transients to harvest his crops. Now the DP's are filling a void and, in Curtis' opinion, doing a good job.

"Of course, there are always stinkers on both sides—some veterans want everything on a silver platter and some DP's are perhaps a bit grabby, but these people who have been pushed around for years and years need some little tooth to get going. And all the Latvians around here are more than just reasonably appreciative," Curtis said.

He explained that Allegan farmers paid "a going wage" to DP's which meant sometimes 60 to 75 cents an hour, plus housing. No American veterans were interested in work of that type. Even at the seemingly low wages, producers found themselves paying the help more than they got themselves during the past season of oversupply and low prices, according to Curtis.

As for adventures in the service, Curtis could say plenty about that too. He entered the Navy shortly after being graduated from Dartmouth in 1942 and was discharged as a full lieutenant 3½ years later. He spent nearly three years on submarines and was on the first sub to enter the Japanese sea. Another time his submarine supplied guerrillas on the Philippines.

Formerly of St. Louis, Mo., he spent all his summers on the family farm at Pier Cove on the shores of Lake Michigan just west of Ganges. He spent a full year there after high school before entering Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H., and then decided on farming for a career. Now he has acquired the family farm from his five brothers and live there with his wife and two children.

And he likes the DP's. "All of our ancestors came from overseas. Why should we get so fussy all of a sudden?" he exclaimed.

Local Persons Attend Hope Alumni Meeting
Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Geerlings and Mrs. John Stryker of Holland attended a meeting of Grand Rapids alumni of Hope college Friday evening. The meeting was held at Central Reformed church of Grand Rapids.

Geerlings is director of alumni and public relations at the college. He spoke briefly during the program.

Principal speaker of the event was the Rev. Fred Wyngarden, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church of Grand Rapids. Harlan Faylor sang, accompanied by Miss Frances Rose. Both are Hope college seniors.

President Milton Spain was toastmaster and Harry Hakken led group singing.

Hicks Says DP's Increase Relief Load Indirectly

Allegan (Special)—The influx of displaced persons from Europe into Allegan County is indirectly increasing the county's direct relief load, Director of Social Welfare Ted Hicks said today.

He cited several instances in which a DP has been hired at lower wages for farm work, laying off the regular hired man, and putting him on relief.

Other cases have been added when men completing their GI training have replaced employees, who then ask for temporary county aid.

Hicks said the DP situation was most serious in the county's orchard section in the southwest area.

A total of 33 cases were added during January, bringing the current load to 161 families. Seven cases were closed during the month.

With the load constantly on the upclimb, the county welfare board will meet soon to consider the new recommendations adopted by the state association of welfare boards, though most of the policies are already in effect here, he said.

He revealed that for six months, relief applicants have had to fill out a complete form, in which they are required to list all types of income, property, pensions, automobiles, and insurance. Their aid is based on the answers in this report, which carries with it liability to prosecution if misrepresentation is made.

Iron Lung Needs Repairs; Second Serves as Standby
Another iron lung arrived at Holland hospital Sunday.

It was brought here on an emergency basis from Blodgett hospital, East Grand Rapids, as a standby for Mrs. Harry Larson, polio lung patient who was brought here in November.

Mrs. Larson, who was stricken in mid-September, will be transferred to the new lung in order to replace a copper pinion on the present lung. A new part to replace the worn pinion is expected from Chicago on Tuesday.

The lung was brought to Holland by efforts of Charles Buglijski of Grand Haven, co-chairman and treasurer of the Ottawa county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Larson is making moderate progress and is able to be out of the lung 10 to 12 minutes at a time.

Judge Camille Kelley

Teachers to Hear Noted Memphis Juvenile Judge

Camille McGee Kelley, judge of juvenile court of Memphis, Tenn., will deliver two addresses at a one-day institute of Ottawa county teachers Friday in Holland high school.

Judge Kelley was the first woman south of the Mason and Dixon line to hold the position of juvenile court judge, and the second in the United States. She has been elected seven times without opposition. Her court is known as the "Heart Center of Memphis."

A native Tennessean, she had three children, one of whom is living. Heiskell B. Kelley, an attorney, is now with the solicitor of agriculture in Washington. A son, Thomas Fitzgerald Kelley, formerly served with the United Press in Shanghai and at the time of his death in 1939 was feature writer in Boston. A daughter, Evelynne Hawthorn McGee, writer and poet, is Judge Kelley's brother.

In January, 1945, Judge Kelley established a counsel guidance clinic in conjunction with her court in Memphis. Here parent, student and child may come in for informal conference before they become entangled in the meshes of the law.

Theme for the institute will be "Our Children of This Crucial Hour." A question and answer period will follow Judge Kelley's address in the afternoon. A get-acquainted period with the judge also is scheduled.

Jennine M. Kaufman, county superintendent, served as chairman of the planning committee. Fennville Merchant Spears 23-Pound Pike Fennville (Special)—An angler's dream materialized here for Donald Dickinson, local hardware dealer and veteran fisherman, when he speared a northern pike in a western Allegan county lake that measured 44 inches long and weighed 23 pounds. The same day his companion, Art Pahl, local plumber, speared one 36 inches long that weighed 12½ pounds.

Dickinson's prize equals, but does not exceed, a record established several years ago by L. A. Johnson, now Sheriff Johnson, who speared one 46 inches long weighing 23 pounds.

Johnson's fish, however, was really two in one, for inside was a bass that weighed 1½ pounds. It happens once in a lifetime.

Veterans Warned To Check Houses Before Buying

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Washington—Veterans beware! That's the warning issued by Veterans Administration to ex-GIs in the market for a home.

But by observing some simple precautions, the VA says, the veterans will be less likely to buy a "lemon" with faulty construction.

1. Let a lawyer examine the "binding agreement" before signing. This will keep veterans from tossing their legal rights out the window.

2. Have a good engineer survey the house before signing anything. He'll be able to ascertain if the building is soundly constructed. Michigan veterans who have been complaining of getting gyped by builders, the VA says, are not the only ones, but there would be fewer if ex-GIs didn't rush out to buy homes without taking proper precautions.

The VA also revealed that the veteran who gets a construction loan is better protected than the veteran who buys a house already built.

During the building of a new home, VA inspectors make at least three examinations to check the quality of materials the builder is using. But if a home is already built, the VA only makes a casual surface inspection. Hidden flaws, poor quality materials will not be discovered as readily.

According to VA, it should not cost more than $200 to survey a property . . . and considering the size of the investment it would be money well spent."

Dutch-Big Reds Battle for Third

Undisputed possession of third place in the Southwest conference hinges on the outcome of the Holland-Muskegon game Friday night at the Armory.

Both teams go into action with identical 3-3 records.

Jack Rademaker, the Big Red's leading scorer, will be playing his last game. He graduates at the end of the semester.

Rademaker currently is leading scorer of the conference with 80 points in six conference games. Holland's Ken Schippers is runner up for individual scoring honors with 71 points.

In their first meeting this season, at the Big Red gym, Muskegon nosed out Holland by a close 47-44 score.

Needless to say, the Dutch are anxious for revenge.

Holland is in the midst of a home stand by which the Dutch hope to even up their season record. With two in row, Holland needs this one to make it six wins out of 13 starts.

Standings:

Kalamazoo	5	1	.833
Benton Harbor	4	2	.666
Holland	3	3	.500
Muskegon	3	3	.500

Local Riflemen Set New Record

Holland won by 1,459 to 1,434. It was the ninth straight victory for the locals, who haven't been beaten.

Team scores:
Holland—J. Ter Haar 235, R. Kleis 292, D. Prins 291, T. Bouman 291, E. L. Prins 290.

Grand Rapids—D. Dean 289, R. Denton 289, R. Hill 288, H. Dykstra 284, G. Gilligan 284.

Probation Given In Break-in Case

Grand Haven (Special)—Robert Allen, 20, Holland, was placed on probation three years after pleading guilty to a charge of daytime breaking and entering in circuit court Thursday. Conditions of the probation are that he serve 30 days in the county jail, make restitution of damage to the cottage he entered, and pay $5 a month oversight fees.

Allen allegedly entered the cottage of Mrs. Roy Kenyon at Ottawa beach in Kent township Jan. 10. He told the court he picked up some money in the house and an arrow. He said he had broken into two cottages.

It was while sheriff's officers were investigating the Kenyon break-in Jan. 16 that they discovered fire in the G. Mortimer Roberts summer home nearby. The Roberts home was leveled, but township firemen kept flames from spreading to the G. R. Russell summer home 30 feet away.

Legionnaires Top Schultz Motors In League Contest

Big Third Quarter Gives Locals Win; Tied With Besteman's

Holland American Legion did past Schultz Motors of Grand Haven 65-57 Thursday night to move into a two-way tie with Besteman's Produce of Grand Rapids for the second-round lead in the West Michigan basketball game.

Holland and Besteman's each have won two games since second-half play began last week.

Thursday's victory, gained mostly by a third quarter in which the locals outscored the visitors 13-6, also gave the Legionnaires revenge for that 62-49 setback dealt by the Motors earlier this season.

Two field goals apiece by Waggoner and Chuck Hamm of Schultz in the first period helped put the visitors ahead 17-14 when the first quarter ended. Dale Van Dort and Fred Brieve each scored twice from the floor to pace Holland during that opening stanza.

Holland picked up speed in the second quarter and outscored the visitors 20-18. That made the half-time difference one point. Grand Haven still was in the lead 35-34. Ted Kjolhede bucketed six points on three goals for the visiting team.

Dale Van Dort continued to pace Holland during that second quarter as he made two field goals and as many free throws.

Most of Holland's scoring during that first half was from out court. Grand Haven, with Frank Fett and Waggoner, managed to control the boards during most of the first half.

The Legionnaires came through with 13 points during the third quarter while holding the Motors to just six to go out in front 47-41 as the third quarter ended. Holland made seven of those 13 on foul shots.

Russ DeVette set up many Legion scoring plays as he started to feed the ball into big Carl Van Dort. DeVette also made a field goal and two free throws.

And in the last period, Holland managed to outscore the visitors 20-18 to walk away with the 65-57 victory.

Dale Van Dort was high scorer for both teams with 15 points. His total was made up of five field goals and the same number of charity tosses. His brother, Carl, was close behind in the scoring column with 13 points followed by Russ DeVette with 12.

Ted Kjolhede with 11 and Frank Fett with 10 were the scoring leaders for Grand Haven. Don Scholten of Holland deserves a pat on the back for his brilliant defensive work in holding down Fett and Waggoner.

Holland cashed in, on 19 out of 31 foul line tries while Grand Haven made 11 out of 20 tries.

Survey Reveals Cost Per Pupil

By Esther Van Wagoner Tutty
Washington—How much does it cost to send a pupil to public school?

The Office of Education decided to find out. The careful analysis of current expense in 237 city school systems includes per pupil expenditures for full time elementary and secondary schools only. Kindergarten is included. Some 13 cities in the state were studied.

In Detroit, the estimate is $255.31; in Flint $172.54; in Grand Rapids $193.93; in Battle Creek $207.33; Dearborn $291.86; Jackson $215.54; Lansing $190.68; Muskegon $183.81; in Alpena $168.12; Escanaba $160.64; Ludington $199.92; Negaunee $243.73; Muskegon Heights $152.25.

The Office of Education warns the lowest cost isn't always admirable without regard to the quality, effectiveness, facilities, efficiency or adequacy of the educational program offered by the city school system.

Eagles Outclass Holland Christian In Stadium Meet

Basketball Faithful Set Sport Record For Grand Rapids

A record breaking crowd, estimated at 3,200 fans, watched a rangy Grand Rapids Christian quintet outclass the Holland Christian cagers, 48-35 in the Grand Rapids stadium Friday night. Grand Rapids authorities claimed it to be the largest crowd ever to watch a single, regularly scheduled high school game in that city.

The contest was the annual homecoming game for the Grand Rapids school, and was witnessed by many of the old grads. The complete bands of both schools also added to the colorful affair.

As far as the basketball game was concerned, it was strictly no contest after 12 minutes of play. The Hollanders set the pace, while controlling the ball throughout the first quarter and a half. From then on, however, it was all Grand Rapids. At one point in the fray, the Eagles tallied 18 times before the locals could score.

The Dutchmen couldn't find the hoop throughout the tilt, and seldom got more than one shot at the basket at any one time. The exceptionally tall Grand Rapids quintet completely dominated the backboards and scored many tip-in shots. Harold Hoeksema and Ron Veenstra turned in good performances for the winners, while Henry Holstege was the Holland standout.

Coach Arthur Tuils' aggregation played good ball throughout the first period, and carried the play to the Eagles. They were ball hawks working in for good shots.

A rash of bad passes and defensive lapses at the close of the first period gave the Furniture City crew a 10-7 margin.

Holland fought back and tied the score at 11-11 and trailed by one point until midway in the period. Then came the Grand Rapids splurge which netted them 118 points, while holding the Hollanders scoreless. At halftime Coach Wes Vryhof's squad led 23-13.

The Grand Rapids total mounted to 32 before the Maroons were able to score. The Maroons scored six successive points in a hurry, but it was too little, too late. At the end of the third quarter, the Eagles still enjoyed a 37-19 margin.

Both coaches used entire new teams in the fourth period, with the Hollanders showing well to outscore the Grand Rapids 26-16. Diminutive Ben Bouwman was the spark of the reserve attack, getting six tallies.

Henry Holstege led all scorers with 10 tallies, while 6 foot, six inch Ken Ryskamp paced the Eagles with eight markers. The locals connected on nine of 20 attempts from the foul lane, while Grand Rapids hit 12 of 22 tries.

Zeito-Carey Wedding Performed

Mr. and Mrs. George Zeito

Miss Nancy Carey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schumack, 195 East 16th St., and George Zeito of Basrah, Iraq, were married Saturday, Jan. 28, at Zion Lutheran church. The double ring service was read at 7 p.m. by the Rev. G. Luecke. A traditional background of palms, ferns and candelabra formed the setting. Wedding music was played by Eleanor Kilian, organist.

The bride's gown of white satin was styled with a heavy satin bodice with a cut-out sweetheart neckline. Tiny seed pearls trimmed the front. The long sleeves were pointed at the wrists and the full skirt ended in a long train. Her short veil fell from a hat of shimmering netting. She carried a white Bible with white roses and gardenias.

The bride's sisters attended her. Miss Alice Carey, maid of honor, wore a rose satin gown with lace trim. Carol Schumack, as junior bridesmaid, wore an aqua satin gown with an overskirt of sheer French organza. Both attendants carried colonial bouquets.

Cal Eshoo attended the groom as best man. Ushers were Tom Carey, brother of the bride, Tom Maentz and Danny Hazebrook. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith were master and mistress of ceremonies.

About 125 guests from Holland, Allegan, Grand Rapids, Rockford and Grand Rapids attended the reception in the church parlors.

The bride, a graduate of Holland high school, has been employed at Crampton Manufacturing Co. The groom was graduated from Hope college last June and is now attending the University of Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Zeito will live in Ann Arbor.

A RETURN TO THE ## DARK AGES

Every now and then there is a return to the dark ages of the most fantastic superstition. One such return was reported from Stockholm the other day when certain English musicians protested against the playing of Tchaik-ovsky's "Pathétique" because someone is always supposed to die during the performance. The director of the Nottingham, England, orchestra had placed a permanent veto on the selection. The director of the Stockholm Concert association, apparently more civilized than his British colleague, insisted on including the "Pathetique" in a concert program. And lo and behold, halfway through the concert a player died of heart failure!

To any number of people, among them many who in every other respect are citizens of the twentieth century, that was proof positive.
There was a "curse" hitched to the performance of the "Pathetique" and it was therefore in order to place a permanent ban on the piece if the musicians engaged in the project wished to stay in the land of the living.

About 20 years ago there was a similar superstition, connected with the discovery of King Tut's tomb in Egypt. The theory was that the Egyptian king who died some thousands of years ago had placed a curse on those who should disturb his remains. That was not unusual, placing such a curse.
Even so late as Shakespeare's day, a verse was placed on the tomb of the great poet cursing anyone who should "disturb these bones."

In the case of the King Tut excavations, certain persons did die.
But a recent authoritative historian of the case has pointed out that there was no greater average rate of fatalities in the King Tut case than in other similar investigations of Egyptian tombs. In such work, in a country of stifling heat, some casualties may be expected.
When those casualties occurred in other cases, no one thought anything of them. There was just another heart failure or a death due to high blood pressure, or from some other cause. But any death in connection with a tomb that had the reputation of having been "cursed" was "proof" of the working out of said "curse."

The hold that superstition still has on the people of the scientific twentieth century is nothing short of astonishing. And not on ignorant people alone. High-grade businessmen consult soothsayers, and high-grade musicians are afraid of a "curse." The dark ages have not by any means given way to the age of enlightenment.

The Gospel Moves Westward
Acts 13:4 to 14:28
By Henry Geerlings

Paul was a leader of remarkable qualities. He was extremely conscientious, and gave himself without any reservation to whatever he was sure was the will of God. His conversion was under striking circumstances. His purpose prior to that had been the persecution of Christians. After that he was bent on just one thing and that was to preach the gospel.

Under divine call he went into the distant places of the earth as these places were then known and lived and wrought as a foreign missionary. What he accomplished under great difficulties amazes us.
We wonder how one man could do so much. The explanation, as he gives it, was that he could do all things through Christ who strengthened him.

Antioch was an important city.
It became a strategic center for the church. From the little Christian group at this wicked city went forth the first missionaries. Immigrants had reached Antioch from many places. Among these were leading Jews who had turned Christian, and became teachers and preachers. There was a broad spirit manifest in this church for in some way there had grown up a willingness to look with favor on Gentiles as fit to receive the gospel.

Jerusalem was the true center of the church and its leaders were slow to extend the offers of the gospel to Gentiles. Naturally foreign missionaries would not be selected from the church there.
But God's plan needed men who were able and willing to go anywhere and proclaim Christ.

Among the five special teachers at Antioch were two qualified for selection by God to undertake the spread of the gospel to distant lands. These were Saul and Barnabas. God called them and the church commissioned them to the new and mighty task of evangelizing the world.

The starting day arrived. The little church had acceded to the plan of God and had given Barnabas and Saul their God-speed on their new work. But it was not the church that sent these men. It was the Holy Spirit. It is He who must be back of all successful undertakings of the Christian church. Only when men go forth in the name of Jesus with divine power can they succeed. Antioch was not far from the Mediterranean Sea. The seaport was Elymas. Cyprus was the former home of Barnabas. It would be a homecoming for him.
His companion, Saul, would find it a new land, offering him new experiences. They began preaching at Salamis, and kept up their missionary work as long as they remained on the island.

When they had crossed to Paphos, the capital of the Roman province, they had a bitter conflict with Elymas, a magician, who had won a place of influence in the life of the ruler of the island.
The opposition which he raised to the missionaries was detrimental to the gospel. He tried his utmost to prevent their winning the faith of the proconsul in Jesus.
These oppositions tended to strengthen the determination of the missionaries.

Barnabas and Saul began a movement in their day, nearly nineteen hundred years ago, that has been continued until our times. I wonder if they had the remotest conception that such a stream of missionaries would succeed them in that holy office.
When they started the work it was on a very modest scale. It was in a rather obscure part of the world. There were only a few Christians in that area. The foundations of the church had yet to be laid.

Not any general sentiment in favor of missions had yet been developed. It was a huge undertaking. But they believed with all their souls in what they were doing, and Jesus was the only One to whom they would bow down and worship.

A church is judged by its leaders. The Antioch church had four leaders plus Saul whose name was added because he was the last to come, a stranger, with the distinction of being a Roman citizen.
From these the Spirit called two and asked the church to consecrate them for a special work that was to be assigned them.

Oddly enough, as it may have seemed to the church, Saul was called. He was an untutored man, but promising and fully trained by Barnabas. A period of worship was conducted under the Spirit's orders. The call and the consecration and a farewell service seemed to be united in one brief worship.
So urgent was the need that no time was used in preparation. At once they went out under the orders of the Spirit.

The first missionary journey into Gentile territory started from a church that was predominantly Gentile. The church had been founded by laymen who had been scattered abroad at the time of the persecution when Stephen was martyred. It was a church that grew in numbers and spirituality. It was from this group that the first missionaries were recruited.

The Spirit can and does endow men today with like gifts and make them as powerful instruments in His hand as the men of Antioch were. What we need is clear teaching on this matter, and hearts willing and eager to receive the missionary of the Spirit in His fullness. We will have great missionary workers and movements only after we have churches that believe in the power of the Spirit.

He Just Can't Keep Out of Jail

Grand Haven (Special)—Marshall Rogers, 29, who was released Thursday from Southern Michigan prison at Jackson after serving three years, is back in jail—this time in county jail.

Already arraigned on two counts and awaiting a third, Rogers is scheduled to serve at least 30 days as the result of a minor accident which developed into a chase.

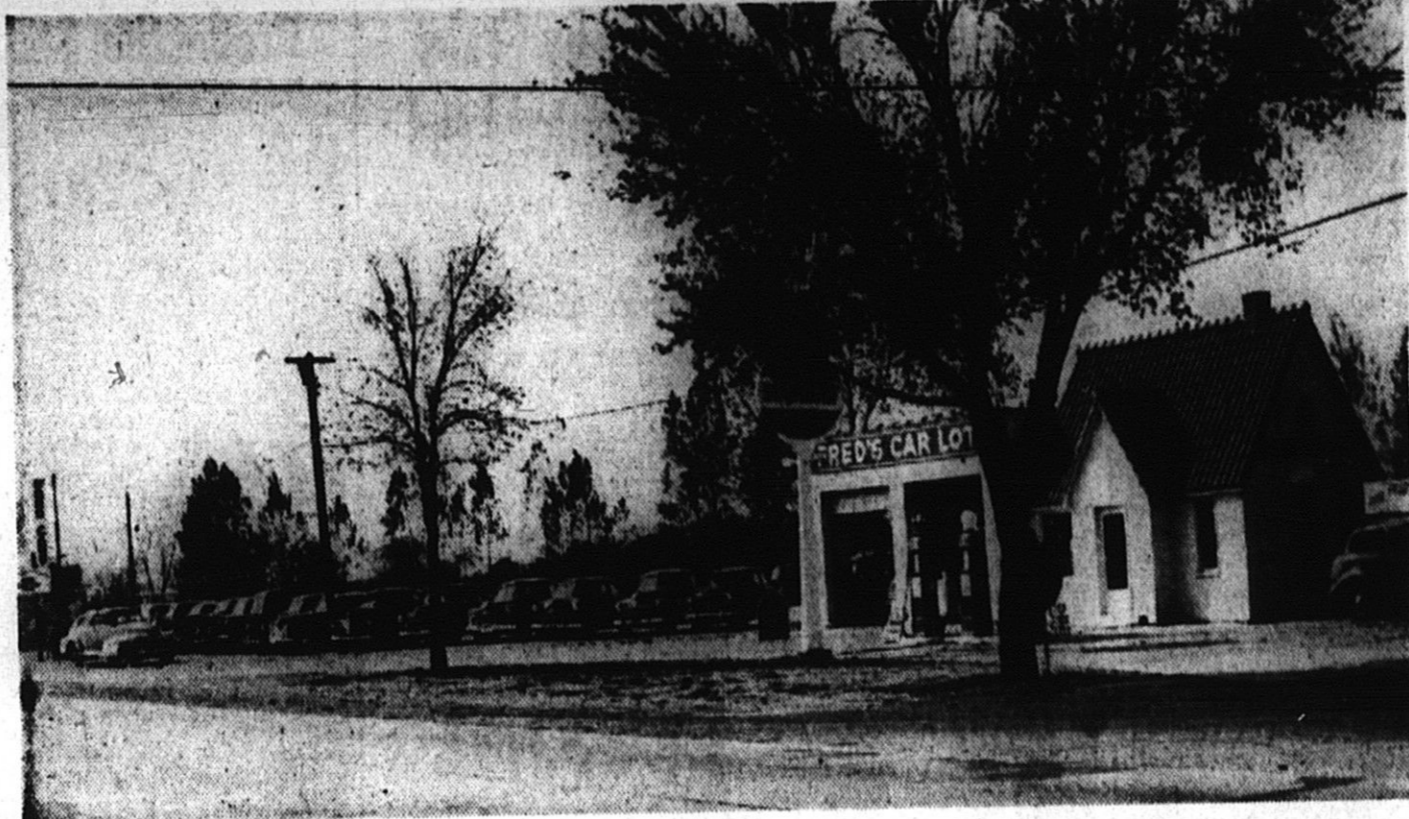

The chain of events started at 5 p.m. Friday when a car Rogers was driving collided with one driven by Howard Klintworth, 38, route 2, Spring Lake, at the junction of US-31 and M-104 near the state police post. Rogers told Klintworth he would pull off the side of the road, but instead sped off for Grand Haven.

Officers believe Rogers became panicky over the accident and in seeking escape cut off at the first corner in Grand Haven city limits, narrowly missing a pedestrian and gasoline pumps. He was apprehended a short time later by city police.

Arraigned Saturday before Justice George Hoffer, Rogers was assessed $50 fine and $6.55 costs on a charge of reckless driving or serve 30 days, and $5 fine and $5.45 costs on a charge of no operator's license, or 30 days, the sentences to run concurrently. Rogers had no funds for the fines.

He will be arraigned later by state police on a charge of failure to report an accident. Meanwhile officers were to check with the parole board.

The three-year prison sentence was in connection with a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Employment Gains in State

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The unemployment situation in Michigan is still improving, according to William Batt, chairman of the bureau of employment security. Batt conferred with Gov. Williams.

With exception of Muskegon, the picture looks bright, Batt said. Unemployment continues to decline in those areas where the number of jobs reached a critical point. There is little chance they will be reclassified as "E" areas, Batt stated.

But the situation in Muskegon is "still rough," Batt warned. He saw no immediate route that would lead to reemployment of workers who lost jobs through the "collapse of the foundry industry."

Batt admitted the situation in the Upper Peninsula is serious. But he doubted redesignating the area "E" would help. (E areas are briefed by government officials on techniques for getting more federal orders).

Big Red Forward Ends His Career As Hero of Game

Jack Rademaker Scores Winning Field Goal; Game Is Rugged, Rough

By Dick Collins
Forward Jack Rademaker of Muskegon, wrote a fabulous ending to his high school athletic career at the Armory Friday night. Rademaker, who was playing his last game before graduation, was the hero of Muskegon's thrilling 48-47 victory over Holland.

The Dutch were ahead 47-46 with 39 seconds left in the game. An overflow crowd was going crazy with excitement. Rademaker took a pass and dribbled across the centerline and let go just past the Muskegon side of the center circle. The ball didn't even touch the rim as it swished cleanly through the strings for the game-winning two points.

Muskegon players took the game ball with them to the locker room to present it to their hero as a keepsake.

The game was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way. The score was tied 10 different times and the biggest difference between the teams was five points for a brief moment early in the fourth quarter.

After a slow start, the teams got rolling and the first period ended with the Dutch on top 12-11.

Muskegon outscored Holland 15-13 in the second quarter to take a 26-25 halftime lead. It was Rademaker who broke a 25-25 deadlock just before the intermission with a foul toss.

Then came the hectic third quarter. Fans saw almost as much football as they did basketball toward the end of the third period and during most of the fourth quarter.

Muskegon grabbed a 40-36 lead at the end of the third quarter. And from the start of the fourth quarter until the automatic, there was only one field goal made by both sides, that by Holland. The Dutch made four other points on foul shots while Muskegon made just two points, both from the foul line.

Tim Beerthuis of Holland and Gordon Sigen of Muskegon were bunched for scuffling in the rough fourth period. Bruce Bosma of Muskegon was put out with five fouls and before the game was over, Bob Tasma of Holland was on the bench for the same reason.

Referee Dan Deabold expected to have a black eye today from a punch by a spectator, he told reporters.

The teams ditched the rough stuff somewhat after the automatic and Ed Morrall, Harold Scarff counted field goals for the visitors while Roger Eggers and Ken Schippers plunked in field goals for the Dutch and Bob Tasma made one of two foul shots.

Scoring honors for Holland were divided between Eggers, Bob Armstrong and Willard Kramer with 10 apiece. Rademaker's 12 were high for Muskegon.

Holland made 15 out of 23 foul tries and the Big Reds cashed in 12 out of 22 times.

The victory gives Muskegon undisputed possession of third place in Southwest conference standings. The loss breaks Holland's budding two-game win streak and gives the locals a season record of five wins in 13 games this season.

Holland Seconds Win in Overtime

Holland high's second team handed the Muskegon reserves their first defeat of the season in a rough and tumble overtime contest at the Armory Friday night. Final score was 42-37.

Alden Klomparsens, Dave Moran came through with field goals for the locals in the overtime and Frank Van Dyke added two foul shots. The best visitors could do in that extra three minutes was a foul toss.

The win gives the local reserves a record of seven wins against four setbacks.

Holland surged way ahead 11-5 at the end of the first quarter. But Muskegon crept up to make the halftime score 18-16, still in Holland's favor.

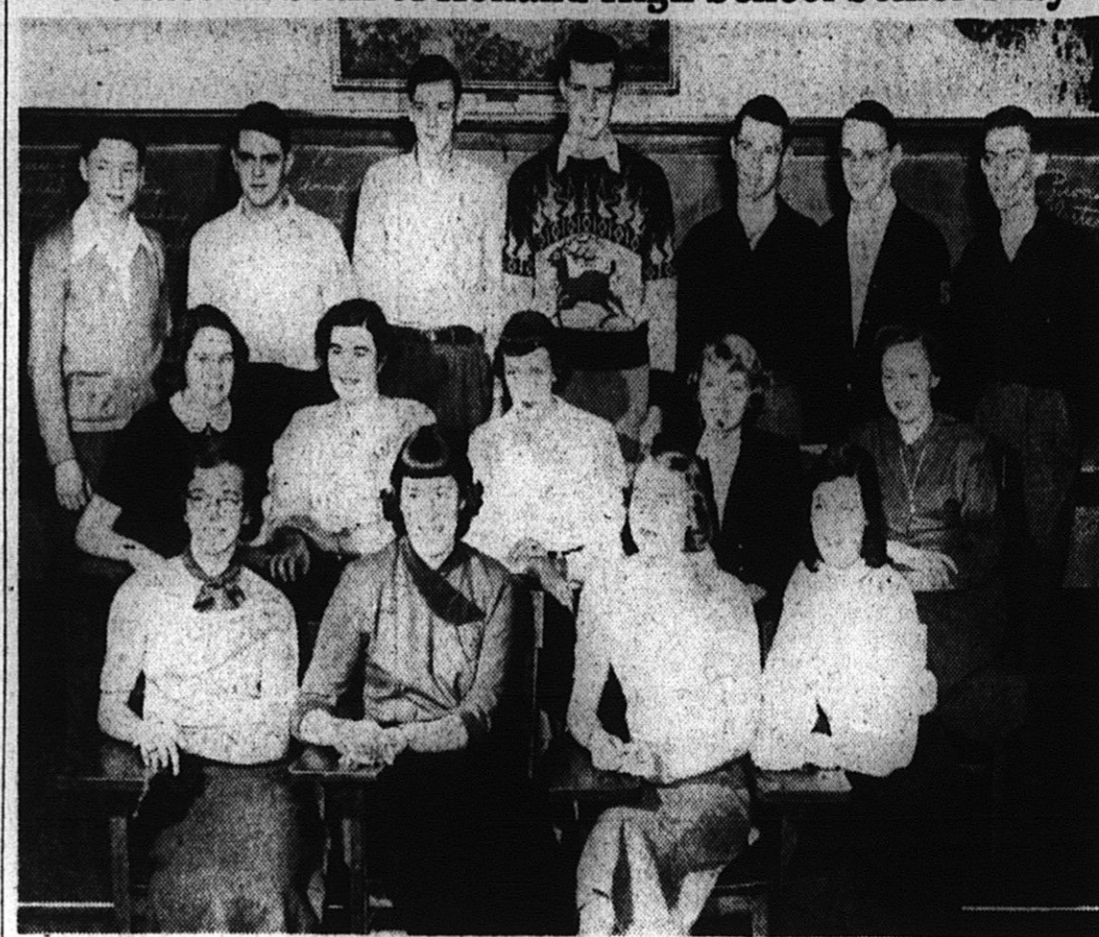

The locals fell behind in the third quarter. Both side started to rough it up in the third and fourth quarters. Players from both sides were benched because of too many fouls. Officials were calling technicals as well as personal.

At the end of regulation play, the count stood at 36-41.

Enthusiastic Audience Attends Band Festival

An enthusiastic audience of 400 heard the fourth Ottawa County Band festival Thursday night in Holland high school. Participating bands were from high schools in Grand Haven, Zeeland, Hudsonville and Holland.

Highlight of the evening was the 90-piece massed band led by Kenneth Bovee, guest conductor from Oxford high school, which boasts one of the best bands in the Midwest. In a brief talk, Bovee complimented the young musicians for a job well done and commended the parents for their co-operation in having their children "recognize the finer things of life."

Bovee, in his position as one of the directors of the Michigan All-State Band, Orchestra, and Choral groups, spends each summer at the National Music camp at Interlochen and has previously worked with young Holland musicians.

Particularly well received was the closing number of the massed band, a medley of Romberg's popular "Student Prince." Other selections were "Kumm Susser Tod," Bach; "Two Moods Overture," Grundman, and "Storm King March," Finlayson.

Holland high band under Arthur C. Hills showed considerable improvement over earlier appearances this season. The 70-piece organization played "Glory of the Gridiron March," Alford; "Richard III Overture," German, and selections from "South Pacific," Rodgers-Liedzen.

The 88-piece Grand Haven band under Bannister Merwin played "Marcho Poco Concert March," Moore; "Sequoia Tone Poem," LaGassey, and "Vanguard Overture," Curzon.

The 68-piece Hudsonville band under Bert Brandt played "National Emblem March," Bagley; first movement from "Unfinished Symphony," Schubert, and "Argentine Overture," Buchtel.

The 37-piece Zeeland band, John Kinnison conductor, played "Salutation March," Seitz-Scott; "Spring Madrigal Overture," Skorniecka; "Moods Interlude," Fred.

The annual festival is held primarily to promote a friendly feeling through music with neighboring schools and provide an incentive for fine musical performance. Bovee also served as adjudicator for the bands to provide aids for coming appearances in district and state contests.

About 20 members of Hills' Holland high orchestra are in Grand Rapids today for an orchestra clinic in South high with Victor Kolar as guest conductor. The 125-piece orchestra will present a concert tonight in South high.

Holland Christian Reserves Walloped

Grand Rapids Christian reserve squad kept its undefeated record Friday night when it whitewashed the Holland Christian seconds 60-23. Grand Rapids leads the City league and definitely showed why. They have a club which averages six foot two and plays exceptional ball for a reserve club.

The winners jumped to a 11-0 lead in the fray before the Hollanders managed to score. They went on to take a 21-4 first quarter margin. Holland came back somewhat in the second period to up their total to 10 while Grand Rapids raised theirs to 31 at the intermissions. Score at the end of the third quarter was 44-19. Subs played a great share of the tilt for both clubs.

Earl Schipper, Jerry Schipper and Jim Kok tied for Holland scoring honors with five points apiece while Ezinga paced the victors with 13.

Holland Christian Downs State High In Return Contest

Revamped Maroons Tie Up Cub Offense With Tight Defense Game

A rejuvenated Holland Christian basketball squad played smart basketball Tuesday night to down the Western State high school quintet 26-24 on the Western Michigan court in Kalamazoo. The win snapped a six game losing streak for the Maroons and gives them sweet revenge for an earlier 38-37 loss.

For Christian it was a well deserved win. Coach Arthur Tuls' club resorted to its old control style play, shooting only close-in shots. However, the Dutch had plenty of trouble with the hoops, accounting for the low score. Flashing a smooth passing attack and floor game, the much smaller Dutch controlled the ball 70 per cent of the time, sometimes for as long as two minutes at a stretch.

Tuls started a lineup which included two new players. Tony Diekema just up from the second team, and Ben Bouwman, 5 foot five inch guard. Both turned in stellar jobs. Ralph Bouwman, Ed Altena and Henry Holstege rounded out the lineup.

Ken Mast is ineligible for the rest of the year and Ken Knott did not make the trip.

One of the features of the fray was the spectacular defense of the Dutch. Another was the terrific rebound work of Holstege and Altena on the boards. The two literally were all over the backboards against the rangy Kazoo forward wall.

Christian drew first blood in the tilt and led 4-1 midway in the period before State high connected on two hook shots. The losers garnered three more tallies in the quarter, while the Dutch were muffing opportunities at the foul lane, missing eight straight.

The second quarter found the Cubs move out to a 15-8 lead before the Hollanders hit their stride to narrow the margin to 15-12 at the intermission. Christian was improving, while Coach Al Bush's five was finding it increasingly tough to crack the Dutch defense.

The Tulsens narrowed the State high lead to one point on several occasions in the third quarter, but still trailed 22-18 moving into the final stanza.

Ed Altena sparked the final quarter drive of the locals, garnering five straight tallies to send the Dutch into a 24-22 lead with five minutes left. They increased their lead by a tally in the next minute and held it until the automatic timeout.

The Maroons then put on a great display of ball handling to practically freeze the ball for the entire three minutes. State high got two foul shots in the final minute and Christian, one. A tribute to the Maroon defense in the final period was the fact that Kalamazoo boys connected on only two foul shots.

Western State hit on six out of 11 foul attempts, while the Dutch scored on 10 out of 22. Ralph Bouwman and Altena led the Holland offense with eight points apiece while Jim Pore was high for Western with nine. Coach Art Tuls used just five men in the fray.

He said the Reformed Church in America is working hard to bring the gospel to these people.

Mrs. Baar led closing devotions. Lunch was served from attractively decorated tables.

Bad Final Period Costs Chix Five A Hardcourt Loss

Zeeland (Special)—A lapse into sloppy play during the fourth quarter Tuesday night cost Zeeland a 50-45 basketball game at Paw Paw.

The win moves the Redskins into fourth place and Zeeland stays in third place with a record of three league wins in seven starts. The loss also shoves Zeeland behind the 500 mark for the season with five wins and six setbacks.

Going into that final quarter at Paw Paw Tuesday, the Chix were ahead 36-34, but fizzled out in those last eight minutes.

Coach Joe Newell's charges showed effects of their between-semester layoff during the first quarter and had trouble finding the hoop. Zeeland passes frequently were intercepted during that time.

Paw Paw led 17-10 as the horn sounded the end of the initial period. However, the Zeelanders started to roll in the second quarter and pumped in 14 points to just seven for the home team. That knotted the scoreboard at 24-all as the teams went to the locker rooms for a rest.

The Chix kept up their scoring pace in the third canto and were on top 36-34 as the quarter ended. After all was said and done, Zeeland had scored 19 field goals to 18 for the Redskins. However, the Chix cashed in only seven out of 23 foul shots.

Ray Wagner paced the Zeeland scoring column with 12 points followed closely by Gerald Kiekover with 10 points.

Redskin scorers shaded the Chix. B. Dreed made 18 and his mate H. Price came second with 14 points.

In the prelude, the Paw Paw seconds took a thrilling 51-49 overtime victory from the Chix reserves. Howard Geerlings was the hotshot for Zeeland as he bucketed 20 points.

M. Swindell and C. Morland each made 13 for Paw Paw.

Woman's Club Honors Two on Anniversary

Mrs. George E. Kollen and Mrs. J. P. Oggel, the only two founders who are still active members of the Woman's Literary club, were honored Tuesday afternoon when they were presented life memberships as the climax of a program in celebration of the club house birthday. Mrs. Clyde Geerlings, club president, made the presentation on behalf of the board of directors as they were "pinned" with corsages by Mrs. Alvin Bos and Mrs. Kenneth De Pree. Both Mrs. Kollen and Mrs. Oggel responded.

Mrs. Kollen served as president of the club from 1899 to 1909 and again from 1915 to 1917 and Mrs. Oggel was club president from 1912 to 1915, at the time the club house was planned and built. Both have figured prominently in the club's development from a small circle to a modern organization of 500 members.

The program, which celebrated the anniversary of the dedication of the club house on Feb. 7, 1914, consisted of a dramatization, "Our First Ladies," written and directed by Mrs. Henry Steffens. In introducing the program, Mrs. Steffens reviewed activities of the Bay View Reading circle, organized in 1894, the forerunner of the present club. The Woman's Literary club was organized in 1898.

As the curtains parted on the first scene of the dramatization, eight women, in gowns of the period, were found in old Bergen hall in February of 1899, attending a typical meeting of the newly formed Woman's Literary club. Role of Mrs. Kollen, president, was taken by Mrs. Bos and Mrs. Oggel was impersonated by Mrs. De Pree. Others in the cast were Mrs. William Winter as the late Mrs. J. C. Post; Mrs. Clarence Klaassen as the late Mrs. R. N. De Merrell; Mrs. Millard Weststrate as the late Mrs. W. J. Garrod; Mrs. Marion de Velder as the late Mrs. G. J. Diekema; Mrs. Sidney Tiesenga as the late Mrs. George W. Browning and Mrs. Carl Harrington as Mrs. John Vander Veen, now living away from Holland.

Features of the program presented were a vocal solo by Mrs. de Velder (Mrs. Diekema) accompanied by Mrs. Weststrate, (Mrs. Garrod) and readings from "Evangeline" by Mrs. Bos (Mrs. Kollen).

Scene two was laid in the living room of Mrs. Oggel's home in May of 1913. Members of the board had been called to consider plans for a club house. Unanimous decision to build the $8,000 club house on the $3,000 property was evidence of the courage and foresight of these civic-minded women. Action of the board included decision that each of the 160 club members purchase her own chair, dishes and silver for the club house.

Characters in this part of the dramatization were Mrs. De Pree as Mrs. Oggel; Mrs. Bos as Mrs. Kollen; Mrs. Winter as the late Mrs. J. C. Post; Mrs. de Velder as Mrs. Albert Diekema; Mrs. Tiesenga as the late Mrs. Henry Winter; Mrs. Harrington as the late Mrs. L. M. Thuerber; Mrs. Klaassen as the late Mrs. E. J. Blekkink and Mrs. Weststrate as Mrs. W. A. Van Syckle.

Stage settings were in charge of Mrs. Tiesenga and Mrs. Weststrate arranged the music.

Mrs. Geerlings, who presided, announced that the club will take an active part in Tulip Time this year by the serving of Dutch lunches in the tea room. Mrs. J. D. Jencks and Mrs. Ralph Eash have been appointed co-chairmen.

A gala birthday tea followed the program. Arrangements were in charge of the education committee of which Miss Martha Sherwood is chairman.

Holland Christian's reserve squad dropped a thriller in the preliminary tussle on the Western court Tuesday night, bowing to the State high Cubs 27-25. The tie was broken in the last minute of play on a long one handed shot from side court.

Coach John Ham's club had trouble getting started and trailed 10-5 at the first quarter mark and 18-10 at halftime. They began to move in the third period to close the gap to 20-18 going into the final quarter. They tied the game three times in the final minutes, but missed easy chances on other occasions to fumble any victory chances.

Dave Schreuer paced the Little Maroons' offense with six tallies, while Emerson was high man for the Little Cubs with nine markers.

Harrington school Basketball won the third game of their three game series with the Beechwood girls at the Beechwood gym Tuesday. Score was 22-6.

Iris Vandenberg was high for the winners with eight points and Donna Brunzell had seven.

In a game at the North Shore Community hall Monday, the Waukazoo girls team defeated Harrington 11-9.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

Election, Reports Highlight Meet of Ottawa Soil Group

Directors of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district were pleased with the successful annual meeting of the district held at Robinson township hall, Saturday, Jan. 28. More than 125 farmers attended the meeting. The Rev. William Vanden Berg of Hope Reformed church, Grand Haven, gave the invocation and then pointed out the great necessity of a soil conservation program.

An important feature of the meeting was the annual election of directors. The following men were elected: Clarence Reenders, Grand Haven township, and William Sinderman Allendale township were elected for terms of three years. Edward Dinkel, Chester township was elected to fill out the unexpired term of Edwin Schaefer who died in March, 1949.

Hunter Hering, former member and chairman of the district board, gave a review of the past history of this district, pointing out the necessity of a district 10 years ago. He complimented the board and co-operators on the fine progress made since the district was organized.

L. R. Arnold, secretary of the board, gave a report on the past year's activities. He announced that steps are in progress for extension of the district to all townships in the county. At present, only 12 of the 17 townships are incorporated into the district.

Mrs. Hertling, Conklin, gave several musical selections.

District certificates of merit were presented by Chairman Clarence Reenders to Hunter Hering, Frank Garbrecht, and Frank Hendricks for their contribution of time and work to promote the district and soil conservation.

Over 2,000 seedling trees were distributed as prizes to Martin Robutka, Grand Haven, Richard Reed, West Olive, and Mrs. Theron Stone, West Olive. Marvin Schaefer, Conklin sent two bushels of apples for distribution to the group.

A movie, "Fishing in Alaska," was shown.

Coffee and doughnuts were enjoyed at the close of the meeting. Assisting were Mrs. Clarence Reenders, Grand Haven, Mrs. George Maierhauser, and Mrs. Theron Stone of West Olive, and Mrs. Edward Dinkel, Conklin.

Rural and Urban Areas Overlap

"Strictly rural communities of today are difficult to find," George D. Hurrell, director of the Washtenaw county planning commission, told a Farmers' Week audience at Michigan State college last week.

Rural and urban interests now tend to overlap, he stated. Uses of land have become residential, commercial, and industrial in character as well as for farm purposes.

Tracing the growth of the new rural population, Hurrell pointed out that farm communities of thirty years ago were clearly defined and reached right up to the city or village limits. A unity of interest was found in these communities and the main topic of conversation was farm life.

Introduction of electricity and power into rural areas has improved living conditions to a point where it has encouraged the immigration of city people. Good roads, the automobile, the radio, home refrigeration, and other conveniences make it easy for city people to commute back and forth to their job in the city.

The Farmers' Week visitors were told that the social structure has broken down to a point where rural churches have disappeared in some areas, and the schools are filled with children of non-farm people.

Hurrell outlined the reaction of the farmer to non-farm neighbors, stating, "The farmer is inclined to be a little distant or unfriendly to them as a group but likes them individually. He resents having his new neighbors dump rubbish along the roadside, but fails to criticize the township board for not providing a dump or sanitary fill."

Summing up the situation, Hurrell stated, "The farmer considers his new neighbors as a doubtful blessing, but resigns himself to the inevitable which is the merging of city and country interests."

Dry Lot Helps Combat Foot Rot Peril in Cattle

Keeping the barnyard well-drained and providing plenty of straw in the shed are two simple precautions that will help prevent foot rot in cattle. Dr. B. J. Killiam, Michigan State college extension veterinarian, advises.

Foot rot often occurs when cattle stand in barnyard mud for long periods. If lameness appears in one of the cattle, the skin should be checked for sensitive areas.

Various treatments are used. It may help to wash the hoof and keep the animal in a clean, well-bedded stall. In the early stages of infection, the best practice is to have the foot treated by your local veterinarian.

Before you buy any lumber for farm building repair, remodeling or new construction in 1950, look over your farm wood lot. The timber you need may be standing there in your own trees.

Lester E. Bell, Michigan State college extension forester, recommends cutting the trees yourself and having them sawed at a local sawmill, or calling in one of the portable sawmills to saw them right on your farm. A number of such sawmills are in operation in southern Michigan.

If you sell your trees standing in the woodlot, you lose about two-thirds of the income you could have earned for them. The only tools you need for harvesting trees on your farm are an axe, crosscut saw, several wedges and a maul, a tractor to skid and load the logs, and a truck or wagon to haul them to the sawmill.

The trees can be cut any time during the winter months when good weather will permit and you have the extra time to devote to this activity. The logs should then be cut into lumber immediately. Lumber cut in the winter will have a chance to season for four to six months before warm weather brings on insects, stain and disease problems.

If you aren't sure whether your woodlot will furnish the lumber you need, you should contact your county agricultural agent. He can advise you or can give the name of the nearest farm forester, who will be glad to look over the woodlot and advise on your timber harvesting problems.

Dutchmen Trounce Central Michigan For Second Time

Locals Break Loose With Scoring Spree During Second Half

By Dick Collins

Hope college's basketball team sent the Chippewas back to their Mt. Pleasant reservation with another of their cherished records shattered. By dumping the Chips 56-34, the Dutch became the first team in more than two years to defeat Central Michigan twice during the same season.

It was just one week ago that the same Hope team shattered Central Michigan's record of 27 straight wins at home.

The Dutch blasted away with both barrels Saturday night at the Armory to register the impressive 56-34 victory.

Bud Vande Wege, who has played his best two games of the season against the Chips, started things off with one of his favorite one-handers from the side. Then the Dutch watched Central Michigan come back and take a 8-2 lead.

Coach Russ DeVette's crew went ahead 10-9. With 10 minutes gone in the first half, the score was 10-11. Then Nick Yonker hit two field goals and a free throw to put the locals on top 18-12. Hope led the rest of the game.

Hope held a respectable 26-19 lead at the half.

The teams sparred evenly with five points apiece during the first three minutes of the second half. Then the roof caved in on Central Michigan as the Dutch started hitting from all over the place. Before the Chippewas scored again, Hope had built up a 43-24 lead.

During that time, Central Michigan couldn't hit a thing. Their shots hit the rim, but that's about as close as they could come. And Hope's outstanding rebound work limited the visitors to just about one shot each time they had the ball.

Moments later the score was 50-29, and it was all over for Coach Danny Rose's tribe. DeVette let his subs carry on for the rest of the game.

Rose substituted freely throughout the contest and ended up by using 16 different players. However, the best any one could do was eight points. Those were by John Parfitt, the man who broke a Central Michigan individual scoring record against Hope one week ago with 26 points.

VandeWege's 17 points were high for Hope, followed closely by Paul "Merve" Muijskens' 16. Along with Moose Holwerda, Muijskens played a brilliant game under the boards. That duo seldom missed a rebound.

And Jerry Jacobson was a fly in the Central Michigan ointment, despite his mere three point total for the evening. More than once he bottled up the Chippewa attack and started Hope toward a score.

Jun Bremer, playing his first game of the season for the Dutch, capably took over Moose Holwerda's job under the board's midway in the second half and gave local fans a hint that he'll add strength to the Hope lineup.

The Dutch made 10 out of 18 free throws. The Chips cashed in eight out of 13 times from the foul line.

Fennville

(From Friday's Sentinel)

A double tragedy struck last week in the Walter Robbins home. Mrs. Robbins' father, who lives with them, John Ulrich, 81, fell in the kitchen and in attempting to lift her father, Mrs. Robbins injured her back. They were both taken to Allegan Health center where x-rays revealed Mr. Ulrich fractured his hip and Mrs. Robbins broke two vertebrae. She has been placed in a cast for four or five months. Mr. Ulrich's condition is not good.

Several local residents attended funeral services Monday afternoon at the Otsego Methodist church for Mrs. Grace Parrish, 79, wife of Merton Parrish and mother of Mrs. Clare Schultz of Fennville. The Parrish family lived for many years in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Goodwin of Detroit were called here last week by the illness of her father and his daughter, John Ulrich and Mrs. Robbins. They returned to Detroit. Mrs. Goodwin was to arrive Thursday for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Benjamin Thomas of Lansing spent the week-end with her late husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Thomas of New Richmond.

Mrs. Wayer Speaks At Mission Meeting

Members of the Ladies Missionary society of Bethel Reformed church met Wednesday evening in the church parlors. Mrs. C. Reynen was in charge of the business meeting. Devotions were led by Mrs. J. Kuyper.

Speaker was Mrs. James Wayer, vice president of the Women's Board of Foreign Missions. The 75th anniversary of the Foreign board will be celebrated in Holland next week.

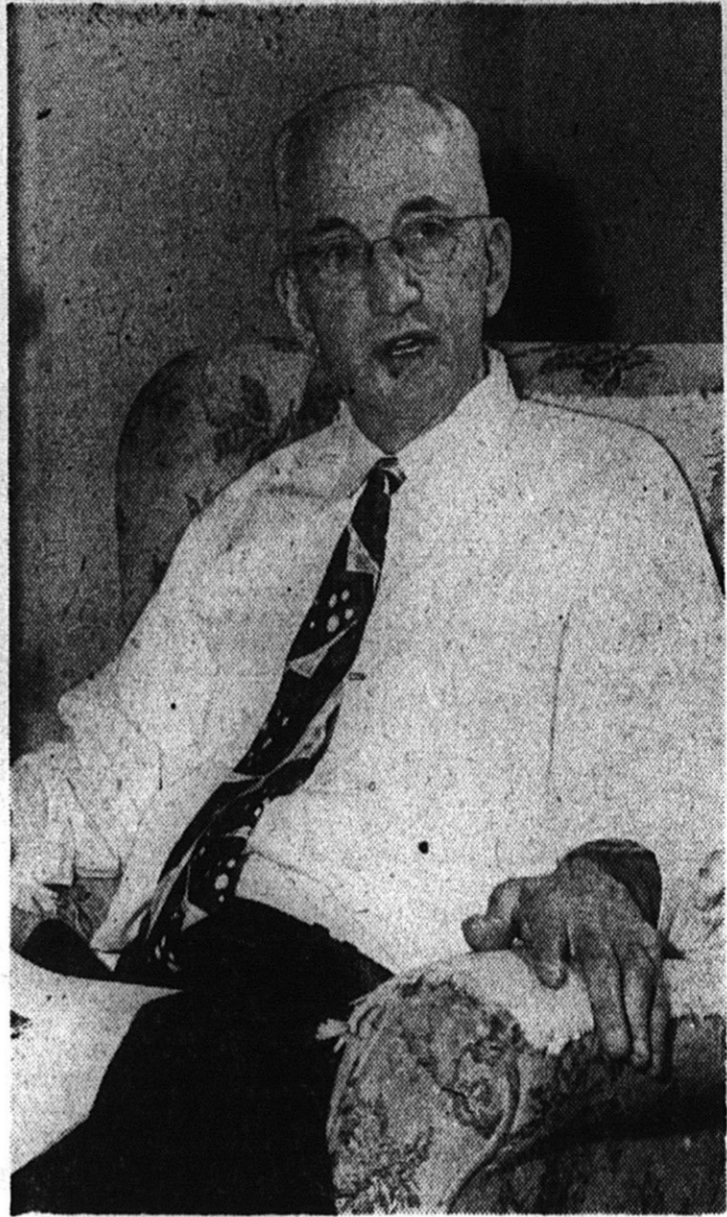

Mrs. Jack Essenburg and daughter, Shirley, sang two duets, "Home, Sweet Home," and "His Love Is Wonderful to Me." Mrs. Alvin Dirks accompanied.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Julius Cook, Mrs. Bert Boes and Mrs. Henry Ver Hulst.

Paul "Merve" Muijskens was a standout for Hope college against Central Michigan Saturday night at the Armory. The Dutch pivot man not only scored 16 points, but played an outstanding game under the boards. His ability to get rebounds more than once started Hope toward a basket. Muijskens scored most of his points with his special pivot jump shot. His other field goals came on tip-ins. The Dutch whitewashed the Chippewas 56-34.

After serving the city as treasurer for three years and as clerk of the BPW for 29 years, Gerrit Appledorn has retired. He plans to rest at his home at 198 West 17th St. His retirement was cheered the other day by the arrival of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Bakker and their new daughter Kristi, from Redlands, Calif. Appledorn had never seen his grand-daughter, born the day before Thanksgiving last year, until the family arrived Friday night.

Long-Time BPW Clerk Watched Modernization

Gerrit Appledorn, who watched the Board of Public Works modernize with the times during his 29 years as clerk, has retired.

Appledorn, who has been ailing during recent months, plans to catch up on some "much needed" rest at his home 198 West 17th St.

He started as city treasurer April 1, 1917, and was appointed clerk of the BPW to succeed Bill Winstrom in 1920. At that time Walter Lane was president of the board. Other members were James De Young, Arthur Van Duren, M. VandeWater and Simon Kleyn.

When he started, there were 2,717 water users and 2,347 electric customers. He watched those figures grow to 8,038 electric meters last year and 4,573 water customers.

Appledorn recalls that bills were rubber stamped when he started. Now the office uses intricate billing machines to do the job. Abe Nauta, present superintendent, who was serving in the same capacity when Appledorn started as clerk, can remember making out bills "with a pen in long-hand."

Appledorn says there were no water heaters when he started and no electric ranges. He recalls how the BPW sold electric ranges to get that service started, then retired from the field in favor of retail dealers.

He said 50 to 75 kilowatt-hours cost as much back in 1930 as almost 500 do today.

Charter Group Continues Work

A city manager for Holland under the proposed new charter would be selected on basis of ability and training alone.

That's what the charter revision commission voted at its 30th meeting Thursday night in the council chamber.

And it was voted that no city officer shall be eligible for appointment as city manager until at least two years have elapsed since the expiration of his term.

All city officers, except the city attorney and city clerk acting as clerk of the boards, would be under the supervision of the city manager.

The nine-member commission voted that no ordinance shall be introduced, or passed, except at a regular council meeting. And there must be at least two weeks between the time an ordinance is introduced and the time that it is passed, except in emergency cases. A two-thirds vote of council would be necessary to label such an ordinance an emergency.

The city shall not have exclusive power to grant an unrevocable franchise except in cases where this power is granted by a three-fifths vote of council.

Common council will make up the Board of Health under the proposed new city law.

These and other sections of the charter were discussed at the meeting. Alfred Joldersma and John F. Donnelly were absent.

The charter commission has accepted an invitation to meet with the Bar association at the Dutch Mill Feb. 16.

Junior Chicken of Tomorrow Contest Getting Underway

Junior Chicken - of - Tomorrow contest entrants in seven Michigan counties are studying production and marketing techniques with hopes of becoming the state's future poultry leaders.

The contest to improve meat-type chickens, already has started in Berrien county and will begin in most of the other counties within three weeks.

All entrants in a county start at the same time and keep accurate records for comparison with other contestants when the top entries are exhibited at the 1950 state 4-H club show. Boys and girls in Lapeer and Isabella counties are entering the annual contest for the first time.

Prof. J. M. Moore, Michigan State college extension poultryman and chairman of the state contest committee, said the records and individual interest of the contestants would receive major emphasis in the judging this year.

Moore said that boys and girls in eight counties participated last year and that he expected the 13-week contest this year to top their marketing total of 10,000 fryers.

"One reason why poultry production in Michigan has not kept pace with demand," Moore explained, "is the lack of accurate record-keeping. We hope to train these boys and girls in the correct way to keep books easily so they may see what a big part it plays in successful poultry production."

Two of last year's winners — Jerry Sietsma, 16, Grand Rapids, and Bruce Bergy, 11, Alto—will be trying for repeat honors when the Kent county program starts in March.

The contest growing period has been reduced from 14 weeks to a 13-week period this year, Aho said, in an effort to get peak results from feed. In last year's contest, 59 contestants started 110,680 chicks and used 149,295 pounds of feed to raise 38,950 pounds of meat in the 14-week period. The birds ate an average of 13.97 pounds of feed each and the feed cost was 23 cents per pound of meat. Total expenses per broiler raised averaged 83 cents, leaving an average profit of 26 cents per bird.

Egg Consumption 375 Per Person

We ate about 375 eggs per person in the U.S. last year—an average of more than one a day—and will probably better that record in 1950 according to Henry Larzelere, egg and poultry marketing specialist at Michigan State college.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture sees eggs in the top spot among plentiful foods for February, Larzelere reports. Egg supplies in 1950 are expected to surpass the record production of 1949, which resulted in sharply lower egg prices.

Steadily increasing egg output per hen, as well as increased poultry numbers has been responsible for making eggs a number one consumer food buy. Records show 1948 production jumped 16 per cent above the 10-year average which covered the war period. Production in 1949 went up another billion eggs—for a record output of 56 billion, 236 million eggs.

Vegetable Growers Set Meeting at Hudsonville

Vegetable growers of several counties will meet at Hudsonville high school Feb. 14 from 10 a.m. to 3:40 p.m. This is a district meeting sponsored by the Kent-Ottawa Vegetable association.

Several specialists from Michigan state college will discuss perplexing and serious problems facing the vegetable growers. Production, marketing, disease and insect control, packaging, and other topics will be aired.

Lunch will be served at noon in the high school. Reservations can be made with Tom Bosgra, Hudsonville, or L. R. Arnold, Grand Haven, on or before Feb. 10. Only enough plates will be ordered to meet the demand as shown by the number of requests received.

Grocers of celery, cucumbers, lettuce, melons, asparagus are invited to attend.

Muskegon County Wins In 4-H Safety Program

Muskegon county has been selected by the state club office as reporting the most outstanding 4-H safety program in Michigan last year. As recognition, the county extension office at Muskegon receives from General Motors an enameled, embossed copper plaque designating the honor.

In the report of the county-wide 4-H safety program, County Extension Agent Eugene F. Dico stated that local club of eight members enrolled in the activity, all of whom made a safety survey, and then corrected hazards. They also wrote many articles on safety for local newspapers.

In addition, the members gave demonstrations on safety in several communities and before the Exchange club.

To Continue Study

Prof. Harold J. Haverkamp, a semester's leave of absence has been granted to Prof. Harold J. Haverkamp of Hope college. It was announced today by Dr. John W. Hollenbach, college dean. Haverkamp, head of the Hope psychology department, will continue graduate study in psychology.

He will leave this week-end for Iowa City where he will work under Dr. J. B. Stroud of the psychology department of the State University of Iowa.

A native of Sioux Center, Iowa, Haverkamp is a graduate of Central college, Pella, Iowa. He received a master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1940. Before coming to Hope college, he taught at Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, and at U. S. Navy Pre-Flight school, St. Mary's college, Calif.
