214 Leave Ottawa For Pre-Induction Detroit Physicals

Examination Group Includes Virtually All Men Aged 20

Grand Haven (Special) — A near-high total of 214 men, including virtually all the 20-year-olds in the country left Wednesday for Detroit to take their pre-induction examinations.

The quota includes all men born during 1930 up to mid-October, as well as some born during 1929.

The Detroit trip is a two-day affair, with the men returning to Ottawa county sometime Thursday. It is the largest group to go for exams since August, when 220 took their physicals.

Meanwhile, the county board has received the March pre-induction quota for 80 men on March 6. Included in this group will be the rest of the 20-year-olds and some 19-year-olds, chief draft clerk Mrs. Vincent Morford said.

The March induction call for 36 men has been received for induction on March 19. This call will clean up the small backlog and cut into the 20-year bracket, Mrs. Morford said.

The draft clerk said in explanation that men married after Nov. 1, 1950 are being included in induction calls. The board set the Nov. 1 date last October, anticipating a rush in marriages among draft-aged men, she said.

Men who were married between Aug. 9, when the board sent its first quota, and Nov. 1, the later deadline, were given the chance to prove their marriage plans were made prior to Aug. 9. If the wedding was arranged after Aug. 9 then the men are being drafted anyway, Mrs. Morford said.

Case Settled

Grand Haven (Special) — The case of the Heidema Box and Lumber Co. and Komejan Box and Lumber Co. against Adrian Komejan of Zeeland, which was to have been heard before Judge Raymond L. Smith without a jury Tuesday, was settled late last night.

Mrs. Gertrude Levandowski of Burnips can laugh with her family now at the dress she wore only two weeks ago when she weighed 600 pounds. Surgery and hospital treatment in Allegan Health Center brought her down to 296 pounds and she expects to lose more. She underwent an operation for a tumor which caused a liquid secretion in body tissue.

'No Cause' Ruled In Long Disputed Singapore Case

Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith today filed an opinion of "no cause for action" in the long disputed case of the Singapore road in which Allegan road authorities sought to declare a public right-of-way on the property of David A. Bennett, millionaire perfume manufacturer, located on the north bank of Kalamazoo river near Saugatuck.

This means the right-of-way will be closed to the public. Judge Smith said he delayed his opinion until parties in the action had an opportunity to consider a settlement. He complimented attorneys for their efforts to bring about a settlement beneficial to public interest, and said it was no fault of the attorneys that the settlement failed.

The two-page opinion covers the history of the case, dating back to 1844 when the now buried village of Singapore was platted. The history of the village is well known and by 1900 no one lived in the village and the sands of Lake Michigan had almost completed the last rites of burial of the ghost village.

Judge Smith said testimony from plaintiffs failed to establish evidence that any work was done on the road by public authority or that the use of the road was accompanied by any act which would give owners notice that their title was denied.

"The only evidence of public proprietorship is the claim that on a single occasion in 1934 or 1935 there was some gravel placed on the first 200 feet of this road. The inference is strong that this gravel was placed on this road to keep cars of fishermen from getting stuck in the sand. At present, an inspection by the court, it is apparent that no passable roadway exists to the northwest. The claimed public proprietorship is not such as would put a private owner on notice that a public right of way was claimed," the opinion read.

The opinion pointed out the north pier of the breakwaters can now be reached only by climbing a live dune 55 feet high which extends into Kalamazoo river. The defendant is owner of more than 400 acres of land bordering Lake Michigan and Kalamazoo river channel. A main dwelling and several cottages constitute improvements claimed to be worth $100,000. A narrow cement road which connects the main house with the cottages ending in an oval at the western extremity was built by the Cooks, predecessors in defendant's chain of title, about 1918.

Judge Smith's opinion covered only that part of Singapore road lying west of the encroachment, since evidence was overwhelming that the dug-out road or east portion of Singapore road is a public highway.

Tulip Time Asks Council Aid in Rest Room Issue

Common Council was asked Wednesday night to help solve one of Tulip Time's biggest problems—adequate rest room facilities.

In a communication from W. A. Butler, president of Tulip Time Festival, Inc., council was asked to consider installing adequate facilities on the tannery lot.

As a second suggestion, council was asked to consider pay stations and as a third possibility keep all service stations open on Sunday and provide competent help to service the rest rooms.

The request was referred to the civic improvement committee with suggestion that it meet with the Tulip Time committee.

In other business, the safety commission reported that the state highway department will carry on a traffic survey with a view to recommending a traffic signal at Eighth St. and Lincoln Ave. within the next two months. It was also announced that a similar survey at 32nd St. and Washington Ave. would be delayed until the highway widening is completed.

The problem of whether to allow construction of two service stations on West Eighth St. was again referred to committee for further study with instructions to report back to council. A communication from Mrs. Helena Winter, secretary of the Planning commission, stated that plans of the commission were not far enough advanced to give a recommendation in this particular situation but suggested that the city give a careful study to the number of stations already in Holland.

The two applications under consideration call for service stations on West Eighth St. at Mill St. and at Pine Ave. Attorney Vernon D. Ten Cate, representing the realtor on the Mill St. property, said the Sinclair Refining Co. has offered $16,500 for the property at Mill St. owned by Ray Knooihuizen, and that the company has offered to withdraw its plans for erecting a service station at Eighth and Washington if the city okays the new site which measures 165 by 132 feet. Attorney Peter Borer pointed out that the owner of the property at Eighth and Pine has torn down a dwelling and is waiting for council action.

The matter was referred to the license committee and Alderman Lloyd Maatman, member of the planning commission, with instructions to report back to council with the understanding that a special meeting may be called if the time element becomes an issue.

New Treasurer Takes Oath at Council Meeting

14 City Employees Under Compulsory Retirement Provision This Year

Alden J. Stoner was sworn in as city treasurer in a special ceremony during a regular meeting of Common Council Wednesday night. Stoner was to assume his duties today, succeeding the late Henry J. Beckfort who died unexpectedly Jan. 10.

City Clerk Clarence Grevengeod read the oath to the new officer. Stoner was appointed by council at a special meeting Jan. 29 for an indefinite term subject to the city manager and council as provided in the new city charter.

The clerk also presented two other oaths of office from J. J. Brower and Russell Boeve as members of the Planning commission for three years.

It was announced that 14 city employees will come under the compulsory retirement provision of the retirement act as of May 1, 1951. This clause becomes operative after a municipality has been in the retirement system for five years.

Those reaching compulsory retirement age are Abe Nauta and William S. Shaffer of the Board of Public Works; John Hooyer, Gerrit Slagh and Klaas Van Dyken of the street department; Peter Zeldens, park department; Allen F. Harris and Dick Langejans, cemetery; Teunis L. Dykstra, hospital; Cornelius van der Meulen, municipal judge; O. S. Cross, city attorney; William Achterhof and Sam Koning, street; and William Hollier, cemetery (70 in August).

The clerk further presented excerpts from minutes of a board meeting of the retirement system, approving drafting of legislation providing changes in the act which would permit elective or appointed officials to continue in service after 70 under certain conditions. The clerk was instructed to notify the department heads under whose supervision these men are working.

Council approved adjustments in price on cemetery lots in cemetery No. 3.

Claims and accounts totaled $26,314.15. Other claims include hospital, $9,766.98; library, $678.80; park and cemetery, $4,782.04; BPW, $67,654.87. Acting Treasurer William Koop reported BPW collections of $32,964.97, miscellaneous collections of $33,969.96 and fall tax collections of $2,121.40. Koop was given a vote of thanks for his interim service as temporary treasurer, work he supervised in addition to his regular duties as city assessor.

In connection with claims and accounts, the city clerk called attention to an invoice from Harrington Coal Co. pointing to section 3.13 covering business dealing with the city by officers. Mayor Harrington submitted a statement setting forth his interest in the concern and that furnishing a crane and operator at a cost of $8 an hour was to the general welfare of the city. Action was approved by unanimous vote, whereas the charter calls for a two-thirds vote to approve such action.

Local Soldier Awarded Bronze Star For Heroic Action on Korean Front

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION IN KOREA—A Holland soldier has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for exposing himself to extremely heavy enemy fire to make possible the success of his unit's mission.

He is Corp. Nicholas Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wagner, 197 East 8th St., Holland, Mich.

Corp. Wagner was awarded this decoration for heroism in action against the enemy on Sept. 13, 1950 near Shindo, Korea, while a member of the U.S. First Cavalry Division.

While his company was attacking an enemy hill position, according to the citation accompanying the decoration, it came under and was pinned down by intense enemy fire which mortally wounded three members of Corp. Wagner's machine gun crew.

Electric Power Sales Continue High in Holland

Sales of electric energy continue to climb at record speed in Holland according to the Board of Public Works. Sales in January were 16.2 per cent over the same month a year ago which is considerably more than the normal 10 per cent load growth average for many years.

If this growth continues, plant capacity will have to be doubled every six years instead of every 10 years as before, officials said. The average increase in energy sales for 1950 as compared with 1949 was 14.5 per cent. Largest percentage increase in 1950 was in sales to power customers which rose 18.5 per cent, while city residential sales rose 12 per cent.

Although sales in 1950 increased 14.5 per cent, the revenue received increased only 10.3 per cent, indicating mostly an increased volume of business rather than the addition of new customers.

Since the additional use of electricity comes at the lower steps on the rate, the revenue does not increase as rapidly as the sales.

Total revenue received from the sale of electricity amounted to $844,458.82 in 1950 and the number of kilowatt hours sold was 40,236,839. Net profits cannot be determined until the books are closed and audited, but indications are that they will be more than for the previous year when sales amounted to $163,483.82.

The BPW also reports that both the turbines at the James De Young steam plant have been put in first-class condition and have been operating for more than a month without any indication of further trouble. The breakdown in December has been attributed to a combination of several factors and steps have been taken to prevent the recurrence of any of them.

In the water department the increase for the year was small and amounted to less than 2 per cent more water pumped. This probably was due to the amount of rain in 1950.

Trains Move in City; Mail Embargo Lighter

Increased activity was marked today on the mail and rail fronts in Holland.

C & O spokesmen said that trains 2, 3 and 8 would run today, but train 7 was indefinite. Train 3 runs through Holland to Chicago at 12:23 p.m., and train 2 runs from Chicago through Holland at 4:10 a.m. Train 8 also is from Chicago, and arrives in Holland at 10 p.m. Freight trains have been running all day, the spokesmen said.

Meanwhile, the Holland post office revealed that the two-pound limit on air mail has been removed and Upper Michigan mail is acceptable. But other regulations are unchanged.

Regulations are expected to change at any moment, postal authorities said.

Continued cold and more snow were the forecasts for the Holland area for tonight and Friday. Low temperature tonight was supposed to be five above zero in the city and zero in the suburbs.

Because of the blustery weather, more rural schools closed for today. Among those that canceled sessions were West Crisp, Nordloos, Harlem, Owen, Coopersville, West View, Ventura, Beaverdam, Townline and Huyser.

A minimum of nine above was reached Wednesday and snowfall measured 10 inches on the ground, according to Hope college weather observers.

State conservation officials revealed that the cold is beginning to take a toll of deer and fish. Inadequate grazing lands in the northern sections of the state for deer, and inadequate oxygen supplies in certain lakes for fish have been taking their toll of wild life.

City Committees On Price Controls Asked by DiSalle

Holland Among Cities To Receive Messages From Price Stabilizer

Mayor Harry Harrington was one of 1,523 mayors in the United States who received telegrams Monday from Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle, asking them to appoint volunteer committees to inform the public on price controls. The messages were sent to cities of 10,000 or more population.

The telegram read: "The office of price stabilization is convinced that those laws and regulations are most respected which are best understood and easiest to observe. It is essential in this national defense mobilization emergency that every citizen be acquainted with all measures being taken for the common good, and be informed of the steps each individual may take to carry out his part."

"The Office of Price Stabilization of the Economic Stabilization agency, therefore, requests that you consider appointing immediately a volunteer emergency stabilization co-operation committee with a chairman to be named by you. The purpose of this committee would be to provide means of assisting regional and district offices of price stabilization in encouraging general public knowledge and observance of regulations adopted in the interest of a sound national economy."

"In appointing this local volunteer committee, it is respectfully suggested that you draw its membership from community leaders representing principal publications, radio and television stations, advertising clubs, civic, labor, educational, veterans, industry, employers, retail and other organizations, and that its members be asked to await recommendations for their co-operation with the plans of this agency to explain and clarify its activities in the public interest."

"Request is also made that the composition of your committee, when appointed, be forwarded to your district price stabilization director so that our requests for specific assistance may be directed through proper channels."

Mayor Harrington, who received the message Monday, said he was considering appointments to comply with the request.

Waukazoo Mothers' Club Joins Farm-to-Prosper

The Waukazoo Mothers' club will join the Farm-to-Prosper contest, it was decided at a regular monthly meeting Thursday night after representatives of The Sentinel outlined the program which has been in operation about a dozen years in five west Michigan counties.

Mrs. Titus Van Haisma, president of the club, will appoint a committee to study projects and make recommendations to the club.

Background and purposes of Farm-to-Prosper were explained by Dick Collins of the Sentinel, who said the idea originated in Memphis, Tenn., several years ago. It is primarily a program to promote wholesome community spirit at the grass-roots level, one which encourages improvements such as beautification, social discussions, safety programs and any other project which might tend to improve community activity, he said.

Some suggestions for activity for the Waukazoo club were outlined by Miss Cornelia Van Voort of The Sentinel, listing such possibilities as promoting a PTA organization, school grounds beautification, encouraging further study of music in the school and community projects. Both speakers were introduced by Dick Millman.

Two Sentinel sound films, one taken during the 1950 Tulip Time festival and the other a fantasy on Michigan seasons, were shown.

During the business meeting, the club voted to purchase a new electric stove for the school kitchen. A second stove was considered necessary in the not lunch program.

Eight second and third graders put on an exhibition of folk dancing under the direction of Mrs. Arnold De Feyter.

Five volunteers of the club will assist next month when the Ottawa County Health department will spend a day at the school giving inoculations and booster shots to the pupils.

Two Townships Want to Withdraw Sunday Hunt Ban

Grand Haven (Special) — Petitions requesting that Grand Haven and Robinson townships be eliminated from the bill proposing a Sunday hunting ban in Ottawa county were submitted to State Rep. George Van Pusem and State Senator Frank E. McKee Monday.

Petitions ask that the issue be submitted on a township basis only, and not on a county-wide basis, each township to make its own referendum. Should the new request be granted, the issue would become a township affair with cities not voting.

Bills requesting the Sunday ban were introduced Jan. 26 in the House and Senate after the Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution Jan. 10 to submit the issue to the legislature.

Requests for the ban had come from Mrs. Henry J. Kruithof, secretary of the Ottawa County Farm Union; the Rev. Frederic C. Dolfin, president of the Tri-Cities Ministerial association, and the Ottawa Christian League.

Passage of the bill by electors of the county would make Sunday hunting and the possession of firearms on that day illegal in Ottawa county.

There were 481 signatures on the petition from Grand Haven township and 248 from Robinson township.

Peck on Probation; Watts Sentenced

Grand Haven (Special) — Jack Peck, 24, Grand Haven, who was found guilty by the court Jan. 24 of a charge of felonious assault was placed on probation Monday for three years. Conditions provide he abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors and from frequenting places where it is sold, pay $100 costs within 90 days, $5 a month oversight fees, find employment and keep employed, and cannot leave the state without permission of the court.

In placing Peck on probation, Judge Raymond L. Smith said, "Ordinarily a young man who has been adjudged guilty of the offense with which you have been charged could be sent away for a long time. You were under great emotional strain and were attempting to drown your sorrows in liquor. You had an opportunity to commit the offense of robbery, but you didn't go through with it. The court feels you are not a person of very strong character and that through your drink you have lost your wife and child."

Oren A. Watts, 71, route 1, Spring Lake, was sentenced to serve 5 to 10 years in Southern Michigan prison at Jackson after pleading guilty to a charge of incest involving his 20-year-old daughter.

In passing sentence, Judge Smith said, "The nature of the offense disgusts the community and we have here in this court a strong policy to discourage such activity and I see no reason under the circumstances to make any exception in your case. This sordid and disgusting conduct is not to be tolerated and we must treat it in such a manner as to serve notice upon all who may contemplate such conduct that they will be partially dealt with."

He opened his program with "La Folia" by Corelli, arranged by Leonard, and continued with four classics. These were "Meditation" by Gluck; "Rondo" by Mozart; "Grave" by Fr. Bach; and "Praeludium and Allegro," Pugnani.

Services are held in churches, hospitals and prisons. Special programs have been prepared for children in many places. The traditional offerings, which exceeded $255,000 last year, are divided between the National council's divisions of home and foreign missions.

This year's theme was chosen by church women in Germany from 1 John 4:18. The theme is chosen each year by a different national group. Mrs. Welthy Hon-singer Fisher of New York City, chairman of the World Day of Prayer committee, said, "The people of the world today are fearful of each other, and their distrust can bring about the destruction that they fear. Mrs. E. Ryder Honored On 72nd Anniversary

A group of neighbors staged a surprise party Monday afternoon for Mrs. E. Ryder on her 72nd birthday anniversary. The event was held at the home of the honored guest.

A group gift was presented and refreshments were served. Attending were the Mesdames Ben Ten Cate, Peter Schuppa, Ben Elferink, Miles Folkert, George Regnerus, Woodruff and Peter Talsma; also Mrs. Ryder's daughters, Mrs. Al Lamberts, Mrs. Bert Shumaker and Mrs. Pearl Allen of Benton Harbor.

Demand for natural gas may rise and fall with the seasons, or with variations in the temperature. So natural gas companies put away a surplus to be used when needed. More than 100 billion cubic feet are stored each year, in depleted oil or gas wells near points of the greatest consumption.

Wayne Fieldhouse, member of the Knickerbocker fraternity of Hope college, spoke briefly on the Foster Parents plan. The Knickerbockers have been supporting a young Greek boy whom they adopted several years ago through the plan.

Mrs. Albert Timmer, Camp Fire executive director, told the group of a doll project in connection with the foster friendship project. Camp Fire girls and leaders will make cloth dolls and clothe them for children in European countries who never have owned dolls. Most groups already have begun the project which will be completed during the Camp Fire National Birthday Week observation in March.

Mrs. Peter Kromann, Camp Fire council president, briefly discussed new sales policies set up by the national organization.

Refreshments were served from a table attractively decorated with a valentine centerpiece and red tapers. Mrs. Adrian Van Putten was in charge of refreshments which featured cakes made by mothers of Federal school.

Voice Recital Highlight Of Woman's Club Party

Miss Helene Hekman of Chicago was the principal attraction at the Woman's Literary club annual birthday party Tuesday afternoon when she presented a song recital. Formerly of Grand Rapids and a summer resident of the Holland area, Miss Hekman has become a full-fledged artist, and delighted her audience with her lovely singing and charming platform manner.

The occasion was the celebration of the club house dedication on Feb. 7, 1914. Mrs. Clyde Geerlings, who presided, commented on the significance of the day, and Miss Martha Sherwood told about the Kate Garrod Post education fund which has helped 86 girls secure a college education since it was established in 1915. Contributions were made to the fund at the birthday party annually until the total reached $5,000 about four years ago.

With Mrs. W. Curtis Snow of Hope college faculty at the piano, Miss Hekman sang four groups of songs, beginning with the aria, "O Sleep Why Dost Thou Leave Me," Handel; "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," arranged by Quilter; "But the Lord Is Mindful" from "St. Paul" by Mendelssohn; and "Prepare Thyself Zion" from the Bach Christmas oratorio.

Three Russian numbers formed the second group, "The Hills of Gruzia," Mednikoff; "Ah Twine No Blossoms," Gliere, and "None But the Lonely Heart," Tschai-kowsky.

"A Green Cornfield," Head; "When I Bring You Colored Toys," Carpenter; "In the Yellow Dusk," and "The Bird of the Wilderness," both by Horman, followed. Miss Hekman then sang "Velvet Shoes," a charming song by Thompson; "Fear Not the Night," Hagaman; "A Birthday," Woodman; "The Little Shepherd Song," and "Joy," both by Watts. Her encore was the Negro spiritual, "Were You There."

Tea, arranged by Divisions 3 and 4, followed in the tea room. Chairmen were Mrs. Harold Niles, Mrs. Harriet Cook, Mrs. E. M. Herpolsheimer, and Mrs. Paul Jones. Members of the Education committee poured. An attractive floral centerpiece was arranged by Mrs. Harold Van Tongeren.

Mrs. Geerlings appointed a nominating committee to report Feb. 20. Members are Mrs. Orrie Bishop, chairman, Mrs. H. J. Knutson, Mrs. M. L. Hinga, Mrs. Peter Notier and Mrs. Willard Wichers. A payment of $1,500 on the mortgage was also announced, leaving a present indebtedness of $1,000 on the club house.

Mrs. Stewart Presents Program on Decorating

"Color Harmony and Interior Decorating" was discussed and illustrated for members of the Holland Camp Fire Leaders association Monday night by Mrs. Mary Stewart, local interior decorator. Mrs. Stewart outlined fundamental principles of decorating and choosing colors for a "happy home," one which suits all members of a family and fits the individual personalities.

Using her large supply of fabric and wall paper samples, Mrs. Stewart "created" two rooms for the audience. She matched fabrics for draperies, and furnishings and wall colors. She also discussed individual decorating problems posed by various members of the association.

Wayne Fieldhouse, member of the Knickerbocker fraternity of Hope college, spoke briefly on the Foster Parents plan. The Knickerbockers have been supporting a young Greek boy whom they adopted several years ago through the plan.

Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups report varied activities during the past few weeks. Plans for Valentine parties and winter time activities continue to hold the spotlight for the girls.

The Flying Blue Birds of Washington school met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Charles E. Laitsch. The afternoon was spent making felt Blue Bird pins.

Carole Risselada reports that the Singing Blue Birds met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Don Kraai. The girls finished the gifts they were making for Mother's Day. Mary Ann De Kraker furnished the treat.

The Cheerful Blue Birds enjoyed a roller skating party Saturday afternoon at the Coliseum. On Monday they met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Egbert Gerritsen and explored the art of making cookies. Plans for a toboggan party also were made. Ruth Gerritsen is the scribe for this group.

The Federal school Gypsy Blue Birds, under the leadership of Mrs. C. Vande Water, elected the following new officers: President, Mary Jo Dokter; secretary, Lois Heideema; scribe, Cheryl Shina-barger. The girls also had a doll show. Each girl told a short story of her own doll. Mrs. Vande Water served hot chocolate and cookies.

Gretchen Schonfeld reports that the Ecetu Camp Fire group met at the home of their leader, Mrs. W. Pluim. The time was spent making invitations for the girls' parents and teachers to their Valentine Day party. They also practiced their play, "The Queen of Hearts," which they plan to give at the party.

The Luta Camp Fire group met at Federal school on Jan. 29. The time was spent knitting and making plans for a dinner on Jan. 30. Elizabeth Ver Hey is scribe for the group.

The Odakonya Camp Fire group met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Andries Steketee. They started on the new Camp Fire project, "Dolls to Foster Friendship." The girls are to make dolls for children who have never had any, and will be sent to such countries as England, France, Holland, Italy, Greece and China. While some of the girls were cutting patterns and ironing out materials to be used, the rest of the girls were playing games.

The Tittabawassee Camp Fire group didn't even notice that it was zero weather on Monday evening, Jan. 27, when they met at the American Legion hall for a meeting of tobogganing. During the week they plan to check their memory books for honors earned and to be awarded at the Council Fire next week. Mrs. Pippel, Mr. Yntema, Mr. Klaasen and Mr. and Mrs. Poll accompanied the Camp Fire guardian, Mrs. Becker, for the tobogganing.

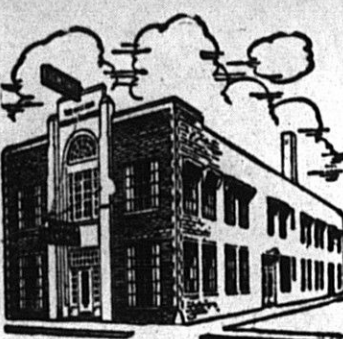

Last week the Wachewee Camp Fire group, under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Van Raalte, visited the City hall. Clarence Greven-goed, city clerk, took the girls on a tour of the building and explained different procedures that go on in the various rooms. The girls also went on a sleigh ride party during the week. Each girl took her own lunch. The group divided in half and the two groups reported to the Camp Fire office and made their memory books.

Zeeland Reserves Edge Maroon Subs

An effective zone defense put on by the Zeeland reserve squad enabled the Little Chix to eke out a 29-27 victory over the Holland Christian Little Maroons in the Armory Tuesday night. The contest was close throughout although Zeeland led most of the way.

The Zeeland defense kept the Maroons from getting close shots, forcing them to shoot from out. Christian didn't have too much success in the way of outcourt shooting

BOY SCOUT WEEK

We take time out to pay tribute
to Boy Scout Week on their 41st anniversary. According to our information more than 17,750,000
American boys and men have sworn by the Boy Scout oath and laws. These millions have all benefited from their association and scout activities such as living in the out of doors. Further statistical information lists more than 2,750,000 boys and men enrolled
in more than 75,000 different units.

This is a fine record and it should be kept moving along. If you are not in scouting and you wish to have a part, contact the
local scout area leader Judson G.
Leonard, Area Field Executive,
Chippewa district, 80 East 18th Street, Holland, Mich.

This is just another anniversary
week but it provides an excellent opportunity for every father and mother to help their sons to participate actively in the Boy Scout program.

OLD AGE GIVES ADVICE

A press association reporter
whittled a beautifully sentimental
story out of the 107th anniversary
of a Michigan Negro. It was inevitable that the colored man,
who lives in Pontiac, should be asked to give advice on the toughest problem that faces mankind
today. The sentimental notion is widespread that somehow mere
number of years will give wisdom.

Uncle Joe Clowese, of Pontiac,
was not at all backward in ob-
liging the reporter; such people
never are. When asked what he had to say and advise about the crisis in Korea he came up with the following profound analysis:
"There wouldn't be no trouble in Korea if folks would do more
praying and lovin'."

In one way Uncle Joe had something there. It would doubtless be wholesome if folks would do "more praying and lovin'." But it is hard to see how this could have much
relevancy to the Korean situation. For it is of course obvious that the "praying and lovin'"
would not be done by the Korean or Chinese Reds. At least Uncle Joe seemed to have in mind that it should be done by those who are now engaged in a desperate
gamble to blast some "praying
and lovin'" qualities into the Reds by methods that are far removed from those tactics.

The mental picture that Uncle Joe seemed to have in mind is that of the peace loving peoples
of the world going all out in praying, and in loving even those who are in the very act of shooting the daylights out of the praying and lovers. If Uncle Joe had come up with some method of persuading
those same Reds to do at least
some of the praying and loving,
he might be worth listening to.

Now Uncle Joe is only a 107
year old ex-slave and Civil War
veteran. By this time he is probably so mixed up mentally that he does not quite understand what it is all about. If he was the only one who indulged in advice of
that kind the pronouncement
might be ignored with a tolerant smile. But the fact is that exactly the same wisdom is heard
again and again from all sorts of rostrums and is spoken by all sorts of "social psychologists."

We are all agreed that more
"praying and loving" would be a good thing. What most of us really want to know is how the world's aggressors are going to be encouraged to do more "praying and lovin'." In World War II
we "persuaded" the Nazis and Fascists and Japanese with cannon blasts and bombs. At the moment that seems the only way to
"persuade" our former allies, the Reds. If you think you have a better way write 300 words.

Appeal Reduces Fine

peal hearing in Lansing, the penalty against Boulevard Bar-B-Q,
route 4, Holland, was reduced to seven days suspension and fine of $100 by the Michigan liquor control commission. The original disposition on an offense of selling
beer to minors, was a 15 days suspension and $150 fine.

Jesus Meets Human Need
Mark 6:34-44
By Henry Geerlings

The religion which Jesus promulgated has an intensely practical side. He had much to say about what one should believe,
but He did not stress that at the expense of what the outward and
active side of our life should be like. Perhaps it is, scarcely possible to stress the matter of our faith too strongly, but it is possible to lay too little emphasis
on the necessity of good works.
If there is one sermon on Lord delivered that is stamped with
the imperatives of good works it is the Sermon on the Mount. Of course He never forgot faith, for hidden in with what we are to do
there is always to be discovered
what we are to believe. It can be said that in the gospels each is given its proper place.

Here we are carried to the very opposite of what our lesson indicates. The golden rule may sound
very much like the rule of gold,
but they are as far apart as the
poles. The rule of gold deliberately shuts the door in the face
of those teachings which our Lord
both practiced and made imperative in the lives of those who would be His followers. He was apparently not concerned with things as such but He was deeply concerned with them insofar as they might contribute to the establishment of His kingdom.

No one would for a moment
say that He did not care whether they were sick or did not have
it, whether they were oppressed
or not; but He was most concerned about the opportunities
they had, about their inner life,
their conception of God and what
their duties to Him were, and
what their duties to one another.
These do not loom large where
the rule of gold is in the saddle.

When the church is at its best
it is careful to place its faith and
its practice alongside each other.
We may point with pardonable
pride to the story of the church
in this respect through the centuries. Some times this aspect of its life has overshadowed that of
its faith and at other times the
changes have been rung on faith
while the practical side has been overlooked and neglected.

The New Testament preserves
a balance between the two and
that is what Jesus would have.
It is unfortunate that we have allowed this largely practical side
of faith to fall mostly in the hands
of secular societies. The life of Jesus and of His apostles and of the early church leaves no doubt
as to the proper relation between faith and works. That lesson is written large over the records
of the early church has left for us.

If there is nothing in our religion except a beautiful theory
we may as well dismiss the whole matter. But there is more in it than that, and the beautiful and merciful side of it has been many times manifested. There are hosts
of people who are exhibiting the spirit that Jesus showed when He stood before the multitudes that
were hungry and gave them food
to strengthen them for the day's tasks. If there is anything that will save our social order from decay it is the cultivation of the mind that was in Christ toward others. This mind is desperately needed not only for us who have something to share, but also for others whose very life depends on the type of ministry we can render.

This sharing embraces more than money. Of course money is included. We must possess money
before such sharing can be experienced, but it does not require much of it. A man once remarked that when he had accumulated a million dollars he would begin distributing it among others. The hard fact is he never began distributing because he never saw
even a sizeable fraction of a million. Such foolish promises are so utterly senseless that they fail to impress anyone. He misses one of the secret joys of life who has
not learned to share by practicing
it.

Now and then one hears of a person who says that he enjoyed
making money, but never knew what joy really was until he began giving it away. One can reason himself to the conclusion that it is more blessed to give than to receive but to be able to say that
giving is one of the profoundest
joys of life is going even further.

The miracle of the feeding of
the five thousand is reported in all four of the gospels, but John
alone tells us that it was a lad
who furnished the five loaves and
two fishes which became the basis of the miracle. One wonders who taught that boy to give. It was a very simple act, and without show
too. He manifested did not expect anything in return. It was an act
that seems to have been spontaneous. While others were accumulating and saving and hoarding
he was working at the giving end.

It should scarcely be necessary
to pause here long enough to indicate that unless the generous spirit is put into the hearts and minds of children and youth there will be little of it in mature manhood and womanhood. The lad
had only a few loaves and fishes,
while others around him had nets
full of them, but it was He who gave while others were driving hard bargains. Unless we have learned to give we have scarcely
learned to live.

The death of Sinclair Lewis
once more calls attention to the idea that there ought to be a classification in fiction that is lacking today. In the various publications and radio reports since Lewis died in Rome he was invariably referred to as a distinguished novelist. For all practical purposes that designation was accurate enough. After all, he was the first American novelist to win
the Nobel prize, and in the citation given by the Swedish Academy he was described as a novelist.

It is necessary, however, if we wish to call things by their right
names, to qualify the word "novelist." For Sinclair Lewis was not a novelist in the same sense in which Henry Fielding and Jane Austen and Charles Dickens and Thomas Hardy and Theodore Dreiser were novelists. All those writers, and many others, whether they were primarily realistic or
romantic in their attitude, wrote
novels that were their own justification as reflections of life. Sinclair Lewis was primarily a satirist
who used the novel form to dramatize his satire.

This statement does not mean
that Sinclair Lewis was less great
as a writer than any of the others named. A satirist may be as great
a creative writer as a realistic
novelist. Some satirists, like Jonathan Swift for instance, have been incomparably greater as creative
writers than others who wrote
what we call novels proper. But no reader in his senses would call Swift a novelist. He merely used
the story form to point up his satire.

That was true, to a smaller degree, of Sinclair Lewis. His books
come much nearer to the novel
form than the books of such writers as Swift. But any reasonable criticism will keep in mind that there is a difference between
books in which satire is primary
and books of which the primary purpose is to paint life for the

"good of the things as they are,"
to use Kipling's famous phrase.

When Sinclair Lewis won fame
and notoriety with "Main Street,"
in 1920, there were many charges
that his portrait of the American small town was distorted. And of course those critics were right.
But that was nothing against Sinclair Lewis as a creative writer.
For "Main Street" is not a novel,
in the proper sense of the word,
it is a literary cartoon. We don't condemn a cartoonist for painting
pictures of Uncle Sam or John Bull or John Q. Citizen or the bloated capitalist or, more recently, the equally bloated labor
leader because those figures are
not what is called "true to life."
They are not meant to be true to facts, they are meant to reveal
the inner truth of things.

That's true also of "Main Street," and of most of Sinclair Lewis's other books. They are not photographs or portraits; they
are caricatures, literary cartoons.
Applying to them the standards
of criticism that are applied to
novels that are truly novels is talking beside the point. No matter how often you prove that Sinclair Lewis distorted the American businessman in "Babbitt,"
the American doctor in "Arrow-
smith," the gospel minister in
"Elmer Gantry," you have proved
nothing whatsoever.

Yet that is what has constantly
been done ever since Lewis became an issue in contemporary American literature. And that is what is being done today in the various comments called out by Lewis's death. He is condemned by some on the ground that he did not do what they believe he should have done. But a writer is entitled to be judged by whether or not he did well the thing he intended to do, not the thing his critics say he should have done.
There would be no trouble if we had the same kind of word in fiction that we have in the art of
drawing—something comparable to "cartoon."

Holland
In 1916

(Following is the 493rd in the series of weekly articles taken
from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 35
years ago.)

The executive committee is not
sparing in their praise of those who were instrumental in making
the 56th annual convention of the Michigan State Sunday school association a success in Holland, began a story in the Tuesday, Nov.
21, issue of the Holland Daily
Sentinel published in 1916.

A useful gift has been made to the Holland high school by James Price of Grand Rapids, an architect formerly of this city. It is a load of scenery to be used in the high school stage for the different
plays presented by the classes and organizations.

Marriage licenses have been
issued to Clarence Breen, Holland, 22, and Florence Fisher, 21, Grand Haven; Adolph Erickson, Norton
township, 25, and Jessie M. De Witt, 22, Spring Lake.

The Rev. Lambertus Veltkamp,
who has been pastor of the Franklin Street Christian Reformed church for 10 years, has declined the call extended to him
by the church at Douglas Park, Chicago. The Rev. Garret Hoek-
sema of Bethel Christian Reformed church has declined the call
from the Maple Avenue church of Holland—G. R. Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kollen
entertained the members of the board of education and their wives
Monday evening at their beautiful home on West 13th St. A sumptuous six course dinner was served
after which Mrs. Kollen and E. E.
Fell gave their respective reports
on the doings at the Playground
Congress, held recently at Grand Rapids.

A newspaper, that when printed, was sold for five cents, is now
in the possession of James Annis.
106 East 13th St., who has refused $25 for it, began a story in the Wednesday, Nov. 22, issue. It is a copy of the first newspaper published in Michigan and in a few months will be a century old. The late Mrs. Elmore Annis, mother of the present owner, secured it
long ago from a traveling musician.

What imagination has done for
the world was interestingly described by William E. Vander Hart in a paper read before the Social Progress club Tuesday
evening entitled, "A Flight of the Imagination." The meeting was held at the home of Supt. and
Mrs. E. E. Fell, 33 West 11th St.

Marriage licenses were issued
to Herman Kok, 24, Jamestown,
and Miss Ada Verways, 21, Grand Rapids.

The Rev. H. J. Heynen has been ordained as pastor of the Christian Reformed church at Beaver-
dam recently vacated by the Rev.
A. Keizer, now pastor of the church at Overisel.

The first meeting of the Hope college week of prayer was held Wednesday morning when Dr.
Willets of the First Methodist church, Grand Rapids, spoke on the subject "The Sincerity of Christ." He chose for his topic,
"Thy Father Seeth in Secret."

That Holland shall experience
an evangelistic movement of no
mean way early next spring, is
the burden of a plan being worked upon by the churches of this city, according to a story appearing in the Thursday, Nov. 23,
issue. In pursuance of that aim,
the first real action will be an enormous mass meeting of all the churches of Holland to be held in the Third Reformed church next Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m.

On Thanksgiving Day the annual Holland High-Alumni game
will be staged on the 19th Street
gridiron. Under the captaincy of Roy Ashley, a squad of old high school football flames has been perfecting its signals and loosening the kinks in the running apparatus and by next Thursday
will be in a position to give the
school team a real drubbing.

A crowd of 450 witnessing the opening game of indoor baseball
last night at the high school gym,
between the Chemicals and old
time Interburans for the benefit of Arthur Vanden Berg. The play
was fast and exciting from start to finish with the Chemicals getting the large end of an 8 to 2
score.

The Holland Gun club met
north of the city yesterday on the range and had quite a lively contest. Martin Vander Bie made the highest score at 72, Lee De Feyter coming next, with 69 to his credit, while C. Van Zyl and C.
J. Dornbos had 68 chalked down.
John Hoffman also did creditable
work making a core of 67, just one below Van Zyl.

riage yesterday afternoon. Mrs.
Breen was a former employee at

ces M. De Voe, Tallmadge township; Julius Kar Albrecht and Geerds and Nellie Reitsma, Zeeland.

The high school lecture course,
the C. W. Best Artists' series,
will be concluded this evening by
the third of the three listed attractions. Salvi, the harpist, Hel-

State Pie Baking Contest Scheduled For Feb. 12 and 13

Teen-Age Girls Will Compete for Prizes At Grand Rapids Event

If many Michigan farm folks eating in restaurants these days do not order cherry pie for dessert, here's the reason.

More than a thousand teen-age girls have probably been filling their families to the throat with the delicacy while practicing for the state Cherry Pie Baking contest. It's to be held in Grand Rapids, Feb. 12 and 13.

Neighborhood and county contests have been held to select county entrants from nearly 60 of Michigan's counties. Some counties have had as many as 50 entries.

Mrs. Corrine Ketchum, assistant State 4-H club leader at Michigan State college and member of the committee, thinks this will be the largest contest in history.

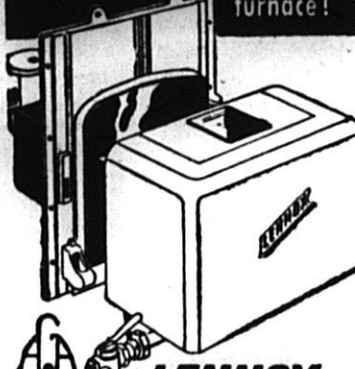

The contest is sponsored by the cherry processors and growers and the State Cherry commission, who offer expenses to the state contest for all county winners and prizes for the first three in the state contest. The state winner also gets a trip to Chicago to compete on Feb. 22 in the national contest.

Educational trips at Grand Rapids are planned for the contestants, too. Winners will be announced at a luncheon, Tuesday noon, Feb. 13.

Girls must be between 15 and 21 years of age and winner of a county contest to compete for the state honor. Their method of preparation and quality of the pie will count 80 points on the final score. The other 20 points will be scored on poise, posture, grooming and ability to express herself in telling how she bakes her pie.

Dutch Pour It On In Initial Half To Score Easy Win

Holland high school's basketball team walked over Benton Harbor, 66-47, in a Southwestern conference game Friday night at the Armory.

A packed house watched a contest that more closely resembled football than basketball in the last half, with both squads opening up with rough house tactics.

Two players were ejected from the game—Roger Eggers for Holland and John Benning for Benton Harbor. Three others left on fouls before the tray was finished.

A total of 46 personal fouls were called, with 24 coming against Holland and 22 against the visiting Tigers. The result was noticeable in the scoring columns, too, with the Dutch collecting 18 points from the charity circle out of 29 attempts, and Benton Harbor gaining 15 points on free throws from 27 tries.

Holland got off to a flying start and built up a nine point lead before the Tigers broke into the scoring column. With Roger Eggers operating from the center of the pivot circle, the Dutch opened up a 17-8 lead at the first whistle.

Benton Harbor moved in the second period, and at one point closed the gap to a five-point margin for the Dutch. But Holland shook off the Tigers' feeble claws and held a 35-24 advantage at the half.

The Dutch cagers rang up 21 points in the third period, with Eggers, Tom Maentz and Ron Bekius leading the way. At the end of the quarter, the scoreboard read 56-32 in favor of the home five.

With seconds remaining in the third stanza, Eggers and Benning had a slight misunderstanding, and the referees called a double foul and waved both players to the showers. Benning would have had to leave anyway, as it was his fifth personal.

In the final canto, the Tiger regulars paced by Roger Findley and Chuck Parrott built up a 15-10 advantage against the Holland second stringers to mold the final 66-47 count.

High point man for the evening was Eggers who meshed 19 counters. For Holland, guard Bob Tasma was next in line with 11, while Maentz had 10 and Bekius nine. Holland hit on 34 per cent of their outcourt shots, connecting on 24 of 70 shots.

Pacing coach D. Farnum's Tigers was Parrott, with 13 points. Benning scored 12 and Bill Michael 10.

The Dutch take to the road for two games next week, meeting Lansing Sexton on Tuesday and Grand Haven on Friday.

"Kalamazoo" means "boiling pot" in Allegan language—and the Kalamazoo river in Allegan has been looking just like a boiling inferno during these cold zero mornings this week. The mist rising from the river coated the trees with fairyland sparkle. Ordinarily, the rapidly flowing Kalamazoo river does not freeze over, the weather this season was too much. It also froze over last year.

Suburban Teams Play Three Games

Harrington school's Suburban League basketball team strengthened its hold on first place Friday night by drubbing Federal, 34-8. The game was the first of three played in the North Shore community hall with all proceeds going to benefit the polo drive.

In the second game, also a Suburban league tilt, Beechwood stopped a Waukazoo team that threatened during the entire game, 18-14. Beechwood led throughout the game, but Waukazoo was fighting all the way.

The third game was a non-league fracas between Lakeview of the Suburban League and New Groningen. Lakeview won, 33-10 and held a lead throughout the game that was never threatened.

Between the games, a group of youthful dancers, led by Mrs. Arnie De Feyter, put on an exhibition of square dancing.

Five Hope Cagers Face Draft Exams

Five members of the Hope college basketball squad leave for Detroit Feb. 8 to take their pre-induction physical examinations. The five men are Bud Vande Wege, Junior Bremer, Ron Bos, Don Piersma, and Ken Bauman.

And because of that the Hope-Calvin college game, slated for the 8th, has been shifted to the following evening, Feb. 9.

Principal Raymond Holwerda of Holland Christian high has kindly consented to take over the Thursday night booking at the Armory and has given the college the Friday night booking.

Originally, Christian was to have played Grand Rapids Christian in the Armory on Friday. But all the Hope college players going for the physicals on Thursday have draft deferments that will keep them out of service until June, and will be available for play the remainder of the season.

Miscellaneous Shower Honors Maxine Van Huis

Miss Maxine Van Huis was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. William De Haan, 791 Central Ave.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. A. Van Huis, Mrs. James Zwiers, Mrs. N. Nagelkirk and Miss Delores Oonk. Duplicate prizes were given to Miss Van Huis.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. John De Haan, Sr., and Mrs. John Van Huis.

Two Bills Offered on Sunday Hunting Ban

Grand Haven (Special)—State Rep. George M. Van Peursem of Zeeland and State Sen. Frank McKee of Muskegon have introduced identical bills in the house and senate to authorize a vote in Ottawa county on the Sunday hunting ban.

The bills, as introduced Jan. 26, call for the following: to prevent hunting for game on Sunday in Ottawa county, to authorize the arrest of persons violating the provisions of this act, and to prescribe the penalty, and provide a referendum.

The bills were offered after a request of the Ottawa county Board of Supervisors which took action a few weeks ago to force a public vote on the question of Sunday hunting.

Cold Wave Was a Piker Compared With '99 Snap

Allegan (Special)—"Not within the memory of men has the temperature dropped so low—it is believed the entire fruit crop of the lakeshore is lost.

"Temperatures ranged from 24 to 44 degrees below zero and in some places, the ice was 30 inches thick on the Kalamazoo river."

It is a February newspaper weather report, but it doesn't describe the recent cold snap; the news pertains to a February freeze in 1899.

A man who vividly recalls that bitter winter is Oscar Shaunding, 75-year-old Allegan resident, who worked on a fruit farm that winter.

"We had to take out about five acres of peach trees that had been frozen—the bark turned ebony black. Almost every fruit farmer suffered the same loss," Shaunding recounts.

"But right after that cold spell, the weather turned unseasonably warm, and before we could get all the trees out, we discovered some Crawfords' had buds on them."

"So we let five or six of them stand, just to see what would happen."

"And to our surprise, those trees produced great big fine peaches that year. The trees were loaded. Underneath the black bark, new bark grew a half-inch thick."

The newspaper report bears out Shaunding's recollections of a peculiar weather.

Where calves had been frozen to death on the hoof a few days previous, the weather turned to a balmy 87 degrees.

"There never was even a frost after March—we could have planted corn," Shaunding continues.

"And that next summer was the hottest we'd ever known. It was over 100 degrees and I got the only case of sunstroke I ever had."

The regular meeting of the Royal Neighbors was held Thursday night, Mrs. Leona Norlin, orator, presided.

Cards were played and prizes were won by the Mesdames Ann Rose, Minnie Serier and Alice Rowan. Lunch was served.

The juvenile group will have a potluck Valentine party Monday at 7:30 p.m. The adult group is invited.

Final Quarter Spurt Not Enough To Stop Opponent

The Holland Legionnaires came a long way during the fourth quarter of the game with Whitehall in the Armory Thursday night, but missed the top of the mountain by three points, 51-49.

The Legion closed a gap that had existed from the first quarter and was fighting in the closing minutes of play, but the deficit was too much. That deficit had at one time reached 15 points and generally throughout the game hovered near the 10 point mark.

Holland's problem, during the first half was trying to control the lanky Ed Felt, Whitehall center, around the backboard. The Legion had trouble in the backboard department all night, and as a matter of fact, had trouble under both backboards.

Felt netted 14 points to tie his left guard, Paeson, for high point honors for the winners.

The first quarter was slow, with the Legionnaires contenting themselves with long outcourt shots and with giving the backboards to Whitehall. Score at the first quarter whistle was 16-10, Whitehall. At the half it was 20-22, Whitehall. The third quarter didn't help the Legion cause any, as they dropped another point, making the score 46-37.

Then came the fourth quarter power effort, which the Legion club had seemingly felt would come, eventually, and come it did, but a little late, and not quite strong enough.

High for the Legionnaires was Dick Nieuwsma with 15, trailed by Russ De Vette with 13. No other Legionnaire had over six points.

The fracas was the opening contest in the second half of the WMBL split season. Next game for the Legion club is against Thomasma Bros.

13 Rural Schools Cancel Sessions Due to Weather

An estimated three inches of new powdery snow fell on Holland Tuesday night, according to the Hope college weather station.

The blowing and drifting snow fall, coupled with diving temperatures, had various effects on the Holland area—it closed schools in some rural areas Wednesday and made driving hazardous throughout the area.

At least 13 rural schools canceled sessions here because of the severe weather. These included Harlem, Olive Center, Borculo, Nordeloos, West Crisp, Vriesland, Sherbourne, Ottawa, Maplewood, Eagle, West Robinson, Waverly and North Blendon.

Traffic was tied up for more than two hours Wednesday on South Shore Dr., due to a minor traffic accident. Two cars came together at 6:45 a.m. at the bottom of a hill one-quarter mile west of the Graafschap road, and other early morning commuters had to detour around the scene because they couldn't get enough traction to get up the hill.

Robert Hostlin of Central Park ran into the rear of a car driven by John Brower of Virginia Park, and the two cars were part-way on the road causing the detour. No injuries and only slight car damage were reported.

Manager Reports On Road Money

Allegan (Special)—Approval of the highway legislation sponsored by the Michigan Good Roads federation now being considered by the Lansing legislature, would mean an increase in revenue of about $18,000 to Allegan, the city council learned Monday night.

The report was part of a lengthy agenda prepared by City Manager Philip Beauvais.

The report of the city's state trunk line maintenance return for the last quarter showed $4,156.88 due the city.

A lease between owners of the Harding market and the city, permitting use of the market's large parking lot for public use, was to be approved. The lease calls for a $1 annual payment by the city.

The council learned the city would be host on Wednesday, March 21, for the regional meeting of the Michigan Municipal league.

A gold button, award for loyal service, will be given to M. Everett Dick of 113 West 11th St., at ceremonies in the Masonic Temple at Grand Rapids when the Scottish Rite Masons have their winter reunion, Feb. 13, 14 and 15.

Dick came to Holland in 1901 and in 1902 joined the Holland lodge and became an officer. In 1914 he was made local chairman for the Masons for the western half of Michigan. Holland lodge puts on the 22nd degree.

Others of this area who will attend these meetings in Grand Rapids are Mayor Harry Harrington, Judge O. S. Cross, A. M. Swenson and the Verplanks of Zeeland.

Friends may call today at the Nibbelink-Notter funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. and at the residence Thursday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Icy Corners Blamed For Auto Accidents

Two traffic accidents blamed on icy streets happened Tuesday morning.

At 8:30 a.m. at the corner of Eighth St. and Garrison Ave., cars driven by Albert R. De Weerd, 68, of 172 East 14th St., and Thomas De Vries, 66, of 103 East 21st St., collided.

De Weerd was turning from Eighth St. to Garrison Ave., and slid into the De Vries vehicle, which was turning from Garrison to Eighth. Damage of $150 was estimated to the De Vries car, and $50 to the De Weerd vehicle. De Weerd was ticketed for cutting a corner.

At 9:20 a.m., cars driven by Richard Rossiter, 18, of the Coast Guard station, and Cornelius T. Vermurien, 53, of 549 State St., collided at the corner of 16th St. and Harrison Ave.

Rossiter told police he couldn't stop because of the ice. The Vermurien vehicle was forced from the intersection into an utility pole. Damage of $300 was estimated to Vermurien's car, and $125 to the Rossiter car. Rossiter was given a ticket for failure to observe due caution.

Phil Strengtholt (left) and Robert R. Horner don Dutch costumes to get into the Tulip Time spirit as they check some 250 requests for housing facilities with Dorothy Schuitema at Chamber of Commerce headquarters. The housing bureau is sending out cards to persons who offered rooms last year. Others interested are asked to write the Chamber of Commerce for such a card. Questionnaires also are being sent to outsiders requesting information on housing facilities. (Sentinel photo.)

Tulip Time Housing Bureau Busy at Work

Although today's blustery snowstorm makes Tulip Time seem far, far away, the Tulip Time housing bureau is busily at work.

To date, there have been about 250 inquiries for housing facilities during the 1951 festival May 16 through 19, and housing co-chairmen Phil Strengtholt and Robert R. Horner are acknowledging requests as soon as they come in, assisted by Dorothy Schuitema of the Chamber of Commerce.

As previously, the Tulip Time housing bureau is operating under plans set up by the Holland Tourist council.

The bureau already has sent out double postal cards to persons who listed rooms last year in an attempt to set up local facilities. The return card contains a convenient chart listing the number of rooms, description, first or second floor, bath, rates, and possibilities of providing meals. The Tourist council reserves the right to inspect the rooms.

In answering requests to rent rooms, the bureau is mailing questionnaires establishing the number of persons in the party, the nights they will need lodging, what type accommodations, cooking facilities and mode of travel.

The latter is important since visitors driving their own cars can be placed anywhere in the area and those arriving by train should be placed nearer the center of activities.

In the first recreation "B" league game on Tuesday night's card, the Kopper Kettle quint won a rip-snorter from the Hotshots by a one-sided 40-30 tally.

The winners really poured it on in the first half to pile up a lopsided 21-5 margin over the collegians at halftime. From then on the winners coasted to an easy win as they played their most inspired basketball of the season.

Bruce Ming was the big counter for the winners with 17 points. Fritz Yonkman led the losers with 12.

In the second game, Neil Dykstra led the Independents to a 34-23 decision over Pelon's Sunocos. Dykstra made seven points. Hoffmann paced the losers with six points.

The final game saw the Hoosier Hotshots outdo Elzinga and Volk-ers 31-19. On the winning side it was Jacobs at the head of the scoring column with 14 points. Lugers topped the losers with six points.

Exchangites Hear Talk on Security

Morris F. Cole, president of the Exchange clubs in Michigan, addressed local Exchangites at their regular noon luncheon meeting Monday in the Warm Friend Tavern.

The speaker remarked that the Exchange clubs of this country are held in high esteem by the national government because of their many projects along the line of national defense. At the national convocation of Exchange clubs held last summer in Washington, D.C., top secret maps from the Pentagon were shown to the delegates in a meeting from which the press was excluded.

Cole reminded members that they are now called upon to throw overboard all non-essentials to national security. "Our great danger lies in the fact too many of us take too many of our privileges and blessings too lightly," he said.

Eternal vigilance on our part to ward off signs of internal decay in our society and the sacrifice of many privileges not necessary to our national security is the only way we can discharge our duty to peoples of high and low estate, the speaker said.

He was introduced by Jake Fris, state past president. Dr. John R. Mulder presided. Rex Chapman introduced the Junior Exchangite for the month, Tom Maentz, junior at Holland high school.

Commanders John Bremer and Don Vander Hill of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, were guests. Vander Hill spoke briefly on the VFW project of blood plasma for Korea.

Whooping Cough Hits Ottawa Anew; Precautions Urged

Grand Haven (Special)—A total of 27 cases of whooping cough have been reported in Ottawa county so far this year.

The areas in which the cases occurred are: Georgetown township, 10 cases; Grand Haven township, 8 cases; Grand Haven city, 7 cases; Olive township, 1 case; and Port Sheldon township, 1 case.

It is felt that there are considerably more cases than are not being reported. Parents are urged to report all cases of whooping cough as well as suspicious cases to the health department.

Whooping cough is especially dangerous in infants. There are four steps to follow to prevent them from getting the disease.

1. Keep the well baby away from other people when there is whooping cough anywhere in the community. Don't take the baby shopping or into any crowd.
2. See to it that your baby's immunization against whooping cough is started by the time he is six months of age and completed before his first birthday.
3. Make sure that your baby has a booster shot against whooping cough when he is three years of age.
4. Have your child's immunization boosted again at age five, several weeks before he enters school.

Whooping cough is most communicable before symptoms are recognizable. A child will show symptoms of whooping cough about 7 to 16 days after exposure. First symptoms resemble a cold with little temperature rise. The cough and characteristic whoop usually follow.

State Forester Tells Club About Roadside Program

Chief Forester E. C. Eckert of the Michigan State Highway department sketched for Holland Tulip Garden club members Thursday afternoon the history and scope of the department's Roadside program. The club met in the Hope church parlor.

Michigan's Roadside program, begun 23 years ago, is the oldest in any state, according to Eckert. He explained that it was initiated with the job of controlling the use of the roadways by the public utility companies, to prevent mutilation of trees and protect what was already there. Five years later a tree planting program was begun and work of beautification gradually was broadened to include erosion control, covering road banks and varying roadside planting, he said.

Eckert told of a more recent development, the creation of roadside parks and picnic spots. About 3,100 picnic tables have been placed along our highways, and that this unique provision is appreciated is proved by the large number of letters of appreciation received by the highway department, the speaker said.

Local club members were interested in hearing how various garden clubs throughout the state have worked with the highway department in its roadside program in carrying out special projects in their own localities. The National Federation of Garden clubs has had certain U.S. highways designated as Blue Star Memorial highway in memory of servicemen killed during World War II. Garden clubs of Jackson, Kalamazoo, Litchfield and other cities in the state have made distinctive contributions to this living memorial. US-31, passing through Holland, is part of this project.

Eckert cited the need locally of planting along the new cut-off which connects M-21 east of Holland with US-31 at West Olive. Those working on the roadside program are glad to have local interest co-operation on such projects, he said.

Slides, prepared by the National Council of State Garden clubs, entitled "Protecting Our Highways From Roadside Blight," were shown. These contrasted landscape where zoning and regulations control placing of billboards and buildings with areas where there were no controls. Eckert reported that Maine is the only state which controls what is placed along its highways. Michigan allows townships and counties to establish these controls, he said.

Chamber Steps Up Membership Drive

William J. Olive's team forged ahead today in the second week of the Chamber of Commerce membership drive over the team captained by Phil Strenght.

Membership chairman Earl Price has extended the drive another week and said workers are meeting a warm response from prospective members.

It was pointed out that Chamber membership affords the citizen a chance to take part in the civic and cultural life of the community through participation in Tulip Time, industrial queries, school programs and others.

The Chamber during the last year has been instrumental in bringing three new industries to Holland, has sponsored 4-H club and Farm-to-Prosper organizations and has tried to bind farm activities to city activities.

The Chamber is pushing for Holland harbor improvements—now under consideration by the federal government.

Price also pointed out that the Chamber annually sponsors the hobby show that last year attracted more than 8,000 visitors.

He added that the Chamber sponsored a successful salesman's school and helped obtain a flasher signal for the intersection of M-21 and US-31.

"It's a means of taking an active part in community affairs," Price said.

Local Man Aboard Sunk Minesweeper

A Holland man war serving aboard the ill-fated U. S. Navy minesweeper Partridge which struck a mine and sank in Korean waters Friday.

He is James A. Padgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Padgett of 462 West 16th St.

Altogether four members of its crew were killed, four are missing and seven were wounded, according to the Defense department. Padgett was not listed on the complete casualty list published by United Press.

It was the fourth minesweeper sunk since the Korean war started last June.

The 136-foot, wooden-hulled ship was patrolling off Kangnung in Korea's east coast when it was shattered by an underwater explosion at 11:54 a.m. (Korean time). It sank 12 minutes later.

The department said no information is available on the type of mine which was involved, or whether it was floating or stationary. Survivors were taken aboard the LST Comstock and later transferred to the hospital ship Consolation, which arrived at Pusan Saturday.

The Partridge had a crew of four officers and 31 men.

Padgett, who is an electronic technician second class, was transferred to the Partridge recently, according to his mother. His wife, Maureen, is living in San Francisco.

Padgett enlisted five years ago and was scheduled for discharge last summer, but because of the war, he was not released.

Improper Corn Picking Causes High Losses

Some recent reports of corn picking losses in Illinois are cited by A. J. Bell, Michigan State college agricultural engineer, as examples of how much of a crop can be sacrificed by improper picking.

At a mechanical corn picking contest in Illinois, it was said that 13 bushels was the average loss per acre in corn shelled off and ears dropped. Nebraska losses have been cited as high as 10 per cent at times.

Such losses are possible in Michigan, Bell says. "No farmer wants such losses," he states, "and it can be reduced by proper adjustment, slower speed, better co-ordination of picker and wagon, and other methods."
