Old Photographs To Be Exhibited In Local Museum

One of the features of Founders Day Saturday, which marks the 110th anniversary of the founding of Holland, will be a display of old photographs at Netherlands Museum.

Museum Director Willard C. Wichers, a member of the Founders Day committee, is asking local persons who are willing to lend old photographs to bring them to the museum at 12th and Central for display purposes.

The exhibit will open Saturday and all persons are invited to view the special display. There is no admission charge at the museum during the winter months.

The Old Photograph display is only one feature of Founders Day ceremonies in Holland this weekend. Events will get under way Friday with appropriate programs in local schools and at Hope College.

Saturday's ceremonies will open at 11 a.m. with a public unveiling of a new historical marker in Centennial Park near the 11th St. entrance off River Ave. This will be the first marker to be placed in Michigan in connection with a $25,000 legislative appropriation for such markers.

The new marker pays tribute to the pioneering spirit of the Dutch in Holland, Zeeland, Graafschap, Overisel and Vriesland. Speaker at the brief outdoor ceremonies will be Dr. Willis F. Dunbar of Kalamazoo, president of the Michigan Historical Commission.

Another public meeting is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the new music building on Hope campus with Dr. Dunbar and Dr. Wynand Wichers of Kalamazoo, former president of Hope College, speaking. In case of overflow crowds, the program will be put on in Hope Memorial Chapel.

Boy Scouts, who are observing Boy Scout Week also are participating in the city's 110th anniversary by placing a wreath on the grave of Holland's founder, Dr. A.C. Van Raalte, in Pilgrim Home Cemetery. Headstones of Dr. Van Raalte and his wife have been restored and a historical marker has been placed on the site bearing a condensed version of the closing lines of Dr. Van Raalte's 45-minute address delivered on the 25th anniversary of the colony's founding.

Local ministers have been requested to commemorate the anniversary at services Sunday.

Red Cross Office To Move to Old Resthaven Home

Red Cross headquarters, for many years located at 6 East Eighth St. in Holland, will move Feb. 12 to the old Resthaven Home at the corner of 10th St. and Central Ave., according to an announcement made at a meeting of the board of directors of the Ottawa County Red Cross Thursday night.

The large residence has been utilized as a rest home for several years. At one time it was a fraternity house for Hope College.

A report on Red Cross activities in the Hungarian relief program was given by Ruth Miller, new field representative for southwest Michigan. She said the $5,000,000 relief program is supervised by an International Red Cross committee of Swiss citizens which handles all relief supplies from western countries.

Miss Miller explained she supplies first are forwarded to Vienna, and then sent to Budapest in escorted convoys to be stored in a central warehouse on the outskirts of Budapest. These supplies are distributed to Hungarian Red Cross workers with strict impartiality and without discrimination. Inside Austria, the Red Cross has been caring for 35,000 refugees in 10 camps.

Miss Miller also explained President Eisenhower's Safe Haven project and told how transportation is provided and what the refugees may expect at Camp Kilmer.

Already Ottawa county has sent more than $3,000 to national headquarters for Hungarian relief. The quota was $2,800.

The Junior Red Cross delegates, Barbara Kamphuis and Ann Herfst, reported on activities last summer.

Dutch Bothered By Zone Defense In Losing, 52-44

Muskegon High's basketball team threw a chain around the basket in the form of a zone and Holland couldn't find the weak link as the Big Reds trimmed the Dutch, 52-44 in the season's home finale for Holland at the Civic Center Friday night before 1,300 fans.

It was a frigid game all the way between two evenly-matched, but not too classy clubs. Holland's total equaled its lowest output of the season in taking it on the chin for the ninth time in 10 games. The Dutch also made 44 in losing the opener to Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills by four points.

In setting up the zone, Muskegon forced Holland to shoot from outcourt. Valuable time was often lost as the Dutch attempted to pick a hole in the zone and Holland got off only 49 shots.

Muskegon, the smallest team to face the Dutch, may not know how to do much well but what they do, they do correctly. When Holland did break through the zone, the under-the-basket clamping tied up the shooter.

The Big Reds' offense was nothing to brag about as they hit only 18 out of 77 shots for a shameful 23 percent. Holland wasn't much better but because of the fewer shots they had a higher percentage — 29 percent on 14 field goals.

The game was close for two and a half quarters. After knocking the score at 33-33 with 4:54 to go in the third period, the Dutch let Muskegon take the offensive honors until it was too late. The Big Reds tallied 15 points while Holland made two.

The biggest margin of the game was 50-36 with 3:09 to go and Muskegon Coach Lloyd Hartman chose to insert his subs. This allowed the Dutch to creep within a respectable distance, thanks to Terry Otting, who scored the last six points of the game on two long one-handers and a pair of free throws.

Holland scored the first six points of the game and Muskegon scored the next 10. The teams jockeyed the remainder of the first period which ended in a dead heat of 12-12.

Alternating flurries featured the second quarter with Muskegon having a run of nine points followed by Holland's seven in a row. Clayton Rice's one-hander with four seconds left brought Holland within a point, 16-25 at intermission.

It looked as though Holland was going to be shut out from the floor in the second quarter. After hitting a field goal at 1:21 of the first period, the Dutch couldn't connect again until 3:05 mark of the second canto. During that 7:16 famine, Holland missed 10 shots.

Muskegon had two short rallies in the third quarter, one of five and another of eight points. The game's high point man, Don Stewart, paced both drives with six of his 16 points. Muskegon scored the final seven points of the period close.

to lead 41-33 at the quarter's end. Rog Klunhof's 10 points was high for Holland, the least total needed to lead the Dutch this year. Les Overway followed with eight. Dave Hilbink, the team's leading scorer, failed to hit a field goal and was limited to two charity tosses. Bob Randall followed Stewart with 15 for Muskegon.

Holland's free throw shooting wasn't responsible for the defeat. They converted 16 of 22, with Gene Boerman getting five out of six and Plagenhoef, four of five. The Big Reds 16 out of 25.

Holland travels to Benton Harbor next Friday night for the first of five straight road contests. The Tigers were walloped Friday night by Muskegon Heights, 73-44.

The cards virtually covered one entire wall and dozens more had to be stacked on the floor. Muskegon Nips Holland Reserves

A basket with 30 seconds to go by Bob Clapper gave the Muskegon reserves a 48-45 win over the Holland seconds Friday night in the Civic Center in a contest that was a nip-and-tuck all the way.

For Holland it was the third loss in 10 starts and the first loss of the season at home.

The Dutch, behind 36-35 at the end of the third quarter, caught Muskegon with 4:20 to go in the fourth period on Dave Wehrmeyer's one-hand shot. That basket tied the score at 40-40.

In the next two minutes, Holland made what it hoped would be enough to win, taking the lead twice on baskets by Ron Dorgelo and Jim Overbeek. But each time the Little Reds countered.

Overbeek sent Holland ahead 46-44 with 2:20 remaining but Muskegon came back and tied it up before Clapper's winning basket.

Muskegon, playing a zone defense throughout, led at halftime 23-20 after taking a 9-3 first period lead. Holland, especially cold in the first quarter, ended with 18 baskets out of 61 shots for 29 percent.

Ted Walters returned to top the point parade with 12 for Holland while Dorgelo and Overbeek had eight each.

Wehrmeyer and Jim Van Putten had six each and Jack Hulst, Chuck Ritters and Hub Harrington each had two points. Clapper had 16 for Muskegon.

Maroon Reserves Romp to Victory

GRAND RAPIDS — (Special) — Holland Christian's Little Maroons posted their 10th win of the season here Friday night as they whipped the Creston reserves, 52-34. Christian turned the second half into a rout as all 11 players on the traveling squad saw considerable action.

After a close first quarter which saw the Hollanders on top, 12-11, the locals started to pull away. Creston switched to a zone defense which the locals broke with ease to take a 26-16 halftime lead.

The Dutch continued to shatter the Creston zone in the third quarter and built up a 41-20 margin with three minutes left in the period. Reserves began to filter in at this point, with the Dutch still holding a 46-25 quarter lead. Play in the final quarter was on the slow side with Creston outscoring the locals 9-6. An all ninth grade team played most of the finale.

High man for the Dutch was Jim Hulst with 19, followed by Vern Wedeven with 14, Jack Bouman with nine, Arlyn Lanting with six, Bob Kapenga and Paul Rillema with two apiece. Nameth led Creston with eight.

THE HUNGRY LEOPARD — Mary Borden. The hungry leopard which crouches beneath the polite exterior of all of us is the theme of this quite absorbing story. The action circles around a packet of old letters which many people want for just human reasons. It is one of these "must-read-one-more-chapter" books.

HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH SPEAKING PEOPLES—VOL. II—THE NEW WORLD. Sir Winston Churchill. This volume starts with the Renaissance and the Reformation and ends with the flight of James II from England. Events of great significance pack this period, covering the always fascinating Tudor and Stuart dynasties. The period covered is almost too big for the length of the book, but in describing the mighty events of the Reformation, the execution of Charles I, and the Restoration of the monarchy and founding of the new colonies Sir Winston rises to great heights of style. Perhaps a true historian would shake his head at this skimming of the cream, but it is fine reading for the busy and non-academic reader.

THE CENTER RING — Robert Lewis Taylor. Taylor brings to this story of the Ringling North circus, the vivid and highly colored writing which made his biography of Sir Winston Churchill so entertaining. One has the impression that a camera with a telescopic lens has been brought to bear on the scene and that the characters are more like the Greek and Roman gods disporting themselves in Olympus than ordinary persons. In fact the book is painted rather than written. However if only half of what he says is true, circus people must be the most fascinating people in the world. Imagine a man who dines at 8:30 a.m. on a large glass of whisky and huge breakfasts, followed by a gallop for half an hour on a $5,000 stallion, and sitting up all night drinking and conducting business with acumen. That is Jon Ringling-North, at 50 years of age. The story of his financial deals would make a banker's head swim. Good reading, exciting informative — and chastening.

GOOD BEHAVIOR — Harold Nicholson. Such a circuspect title may frighten off the seeker after light entertainment but don't let it. This is for the most part delightful reading, philandering, roaming over space and time and meditating over the manners and customs of the present century, the Greeks, the Chinese and Europe, with no attempt to moralize. Great bedside reading, and with much wit scholarship and profound thinking hidden in the easy tolerant style. All the above books are to be obtained from Holland City Library.

Rev. John Botting

New Faith Church Installs Pastor

On Jan. 27, the Rev. John Botting was installed as pastor of Faith Christian Reformed Church of Holland. Taking part in the service were Dr. J. T. Hoogstra, Dr. William Hendriksen and Rev. H. Vander Ark participated in the service.

Dr. Hendriksen preached the sermon which was based on I Corinthians 3, verses 12 through 15, under the title "Building Properly." Rev. Vander Ark read the charge to the pastor and to the congregation, adding his remarks based on John 3, verses 29 through 30.

Rev. Botting was in charge of the evening service and chose as his theme "Ambassadors for Christ" using as his text II Corinthians 5:20. He effectively presented the work of the ministry under two divisions: 1. The Ambassador's Commission, 2. The Ambassador's Message.

Thieves Overlook Church Collection

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — City police Monday were investigating two break-ins in Grand Haven.

One occurred at First Presbyterian Church near the court house in which a $1,200 check made out to the building fund was taken from the top drawer of a four-drawer safe file. The thieves overlooked collection money estimated at $1,000 to $1,200 in another drawer in the file. Some 45 cents in change in the top drawer was not taken but about 25 cents in nickels was taken from another room. The file had been pried open with a three-foot crow bar which was found on the scene.

Also entered was the Ace Manufacturing Co., at 410 North Griffin St., where $68.03 was taken in cash from the front office. The factory was entered through a window in the rear sometime between 4 p.m. Saturday at 7:45 a.m. today.

Dog Notes

By Peter Boggs

No Two Dogs Are Alike

I have hammered away, repeatedly, on the need of using common sense in training dogs. Nowhere else can it be better shown than in studying a pup's nature. To use harshness on very sensitive puppies is to ruin them. Dogs resemble children in that no two of them are exactly alike in temperament. I remember how the worst punishment my mother could inflict on my young sister was to deprive her of a good-night kiss.

At the same age the withholding of a kiss was no deprivation at all to me. Nothing but a good whipping would serve the purpose. It is the same with young dogs. You can get less results out of whipping one dog cruelly than by a stern rebuke to another.

And if you lick the wrong kind of pup, you are liable to make him cringing and worthless. Even if he recovers, the memory of it will stay with him. I once bought a two-year-old pointer. I never punished him in any manner. One day, after I had owned him about five years, I picked up a stick in the woods, to throw it out of the path. The pointer was with me and the minute I had the stick in my hand he dropped to the ground trembling in terror. No, I had never taken a stick to him, but undoubtedly some one had — and used it most unmercifully — before I had owned him. For five long years this dog had remembered.

Old 'Hit Tunes' Captivate Century Club Audience

Century Club members and guests were captivated by the music and charm of Mrs. Herman J. Hoek when she presented a musical monologue entitled "I Hear America Singing" on Monday evening in the Hope College Music Auditorium. Mrs. Hoek, accompanied by Mrs. Benjamin Van Oss, told the story of "the people's choice" of music throughout the years.

Opening with the first "hit tune" of this country, she sang only two stanzas of the 193 stanza version of "Yankee Doodle" so popular in 1770. Only mentioning the Mother Goose songs, the famous "Home Sweet Home" of John Howard Payne, and the many, many hymns of Lowell Mason, she then sang the song that made the terrific impact on the people of 1852—Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home." Mrs. Hoek said that with-out benefit of juke boxes and television, "pianos and guitars groaned with this song both day and night" state the historians. Her next selection was "Beautiful Dreamer" which Stephen Foster composed only a few days before his death.

She then took the audience into the Civil War period when more than 500 songs were written about Abraham Lincoln, and she sang Mr. Lincoln's favorite, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." In the 1870's when all the world wanted to forget the war and croquet became the most popular of games, the Fiske Jubilee Singers came north on a money-making tour and taught the North how Negro spirituals should be sung. From this group Mrs. Hoek chose "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

From the period of the Gay 90's, Mrs. Hoek selected "In the Good Old Summer Time" and asked the audience to join her. Briefly the story of Victor Herbert was told, and from his great collection, Mrs. Hoek chose "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Mrs. Hoek urged her audience to review some of the song hits of days gone by before condemning modern youth's choice too harshly. To illustrate she did snatches from the old favorites, "Jade, Jade" and "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

Special tribute was paid to Carrie Jacobs Bond for her great contribution to American music, and Mrs. Hoek sang her own favorite, "Just a Wearyin' for You." During World War I, hearts were heavy, but America kept singing, and the audience was again invited to join her in "Keep The Home Fires Burning." From the great flood of songs of Sigmund Romberg, Mrs. Hoek selected "Alice Blue Gown" after paying fitting honor to that great musician.

The 1930's witnessed the great depression, the 40's another world war, and all through those years Irving Berlin had been composing hundreds of songs. In fact, for 50 years he had been turning out hit tunes. He was ready for retirement when World War II broke out, but he could not resist composing war songs. During this period, Kate Smith asked Irving Berlin to compose a new song for her to sing at an Armistice Day program, which he had composed some time before but had never presented to the American public. Mrs. Hoek closed her program with that song which has become almost a second national anthem, "God Bless America."

Farm Forum Set In Kalamazoo

Farmers will be told the full story on the marketing problems confronting experts at the second annual Farm Forum of the Kalamazoo City Farmers' Club Feb. 20.

The program — which includes a talk by the man who directs the nation's research for foreign agricultural markets and a parade of more than 100 new agricultural products developed recently through research — will be held at the County Center Building, Recreation Park in Kalamazoo beginning at 10:15 a.m.

The biggest problem facing the American farmer, finding greater markets to absorb the nation's expanding agricultural production, will be covered from all angles.

Two marketing specialists will tell producers what they can do themselves to help solve the problem. Ralph Eastwood of the National Dairy Council will describe what one farmer's organization is doing through research and promotion to boost domestic consumption of milk.

Gwynn Garnett, administrator of the Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service, will outline what his agency is doing to sell more American farm products overseas, what the stumbling blocks are to exports, and the outlook for future development of foreign markets.

Highlight of the Forum is the presentation of "Research on Parade" in the afternoon by Frank Teuton of the Agricultural Research Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Teuton will display over 100 new products that research has developed from agricultural crops.

The criminal o one who seems to have criminal tendencies is not looked upon as a person to be punished, but rather as an individual in need of treatment, the speaker continued. Such treatment is intended to help the patient to help himself and to help him to a feeling of respect. This treatment is preceded by friendly interviews with the patient and his parents or others in the home environment.

Final details for the Automobile show which opens Thursday at the Civic Center, were explained. Exchange Club president Ray Smith was in charge of the meeting and Mel Van Tatenhove introduced the speaker.

The two Scouts crawled out to within about three feet of the open water on the thin ice and while Tom held onto Clint's skates, Clint passed one of the sleeves of his jacket to the victim. THE SMELL OF
PRINTER'S INK

It used to be said in the newspaper trade that anyone who ever got the smell of printer's ink in his nostrils never quite felt satisfied with any other job. That was before the day of schools of journalism, when newspaper men grew up from "printer's devil" to editor.

Now the director of the Michigan State University School has said the same thing in more fancy language, in an address to the Michigan Press Association. Dr.
Paul J. Deutschmann put it this way:

"The average Michigan newspaperman prefers his job to any other because of its variety, excitement, challenge, and freedom." And the professor added that he based his statement on a survey in which workers on 461 papers were asked to express an opinion. Most of them expressed a devoted liking for their job and advised journalism school students to get into the newspaper game.
This a device may have been considered useful because of the fact that an increasing number of journalism students appear to believe that publicity side issues are more desirable than the rough and tumble of straight newspaper work. A large number of such people go into jobs what are often known as "publicity directors," or in more fancy terms still, as "public relations specialists."

But there is a good deal to be said both for the unofficial declaration of an older day about the smell of printer's ink and for the pronouncement of the school of journalism professor. The professor himself of course went into a side issue, but his pronouncement seems to hint that he remembers
somewhat nostalgically the "variety" and "excitement" and "challenge" and "freedom" of his newspaper days.

Every working newspaper man knows that there are plenty of things that could be said against the newspaper job; but this is true of every job. But all the qualities mentioned by the East Lansing
professor are actually to be found in the newspaper profession. Not all men and women are suited to the newspaper job and not all would enjoy those satisfactions.
But for a journalism student the advice is good to get into the newspaper "game" rather than into the side issues. In those side issues the worker frequently trades his freedom for the mere right to be referred to as a "specialist." The on the job training program has worked for the Sentinel. We think more training in connection with our schools, colleges and Universities can be the answer.
The time is now.

The Warning and Invitation of Jesus
Matthew 11:20-30
by C. F. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)
There is a marked difference between a warning and an invitation. There are both warnings and invitations in the Bible. In our day we read and hear much about the warnings but not much about the warnings in the gospels.

1. Some people and cities and communities are more privileged than others. The privileged people often forget their responsibilities.
Jesus had done considerable work in the cities of Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum. Peter, Andrew and Philip came from Bethsaida and Jesus lived for a time in Capernaum. We have no account of the work Jesus did in Chorazin.
Jesus says that if he had done in the heathen cities of Tyre and Sidon what he had done in these Jewish cities they would have repent long ago in sackcloth and ashes. It was the custom of mourners and penitents to wear a coarse hair cloth and to throw ashes on themselves. But the Jewish cities did not repent. Jesus pronounced a woe upon those hardened cities.
He said it would be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon, those wicked, immoral cities of the past,
than for these favored Jewish cities in the day of judgment. The truth that is proclaimed here is that the more light a person or community has the greater the responsibility.

Jesus singles out Capernaum because he had ministered there in person. The Lord said that if the mighty works which had been done
there had been done in wanton Sodom it would not have been destroyed. The sin of Capernaum was greater than the sin of wicked Sodom because it had greater light than that ancient city. God measures sin by the light a person or a community has. There are degrees of guilt and responsibility and punishment. How about our responsibility and judgment in view of our privileges?

II. Jesus extends an invitation to people. When Jesus was here the poor responded to him while the so-called intellectuals rejected him.
There are so-called "high-brows"
among us who look with contempt upon Jesus. The Lord thanked God for God's revelation to the babes — the people who humbly and in a childlike manner accepted him and his teaching. The person who wants spiritual understanding must first show humility.
Jesus made great claims for himself. Note the words: "All things have been delivered unto me of my Father" — all things meaning all truths, doctrine, power, authority, wisdom — in fact everything. This is one claim. The other is that no one knows the Father save the Son. And the third claim is that only the person knows the Father to whom the Son reveals him. Only by knowing Jesus do we know the Father. It is through Jesus that we become sons of God. From these truths which Jesus uttered we can see how essential it is that we should know Jesus. Only by realizing the claims of Jesus do we fully understand the gracious invitation that follows. No mere person could extend an invitation like that.

Jesus invites the people who labor and are heavy laden to come to him and find rest. Everywhere people are seeking peace, contentment, rest, happiness, but are failing to do so. It is worth noting that Jesus promises rest and offers people a yoke. The yoke of Jesus differed greatly from the yoke of legalism and ritualism by which many people were burdened in those days. His yoke would lighten their burdens. Today many people wear the yoke of pride, selfrighteousness, conformity, materialism. Jesus offers all his yoke which means peace and pardon.

Cab Torn Apart
As Diesel Engine
Strikes VehiclePieces of Truck Found
100 Feet from Tracks;
Third Death in County

A Coopersville man was fatally injured at 4:30 p.m. Monday when a diesel switch engine smashed into his stake truck at the 72nd
Ave. crossing three miles east of Zeeland.

William Eisen, 36, route 2, Coopersville, died Tuesday in Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids
of a fractured skull and multiple fractures.

Eisen had turned off the westbound lane of M-21 onto 72nd Ave.
and the front end of the truck was barely on the tracks when the engine crunched into the cab.

The resulting impact virtually blew the truck's cab apart. Witnesses said pieces of the cab and truck flew through the air in all directions.

Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek and Deputies Peter Meelwisen and Ed
Kampen said they had never seen a vehicle in such a demolished
state.

The truck's bed and pieces of the cab including the twisted steering column and wheel were upside down in a ditch 100-feet away.

The motor lay 20 feet down the tracks in pieces. All that remained inside the cab were pipe frames which held the seats. Everything else was ripped out.

The front wheels were torn from their mounts and hurled down the embankment. Other chunks of the cab were scattered in all directions.

The best way to describe the scene was the question of a passing motorist. "What was it, a truck or car?" From the pieces it was hard to tell.

Deputies said that when the engine hit the truck it pushed it sideways on the tracks for a dozen feet and then shoved it off and down the embankment into a directional sign and telephone and power poles.

The engineer of the train was identified by deputies as Lloyd Chambers of Grand Rapids. The engine was hauling a single cara caboose.

Deputies said Eisen was enroute back to Marne from Drenthe where he had just delivered a load of lumber. He was employed by Blink Brothers Lumber Co. of Marne.

This was the third fatality to occur in Ottawa County this year and the third accident involving a train and motor vehicle in four months at crossings east of Ze-land.

In addition to his wife, the former Bernice Howard, he is survived by four sons, Robert Lee, 14, George William, 13, Charles Raymond, 11
and Frederick, 9.

Also surviving is his mother,
Mrs. Mable Farnham of Chicago;
six brothers, Albert, Lawrence, John, Gerrit, and Joseph all of Chicago and Frederick of Baltimore, Md.; one sister, Mrs. Joseph Tenzillo of Chicago.

He was born in Chicago, Nov. 22,
1920, and married Miss Howard on June 8, 1941. He had lived in Coopersville since 1931 and worked for Blink Brothers for the past three years.

He was a Navy veteran of World War II and served overseas in both the Pacific and Atlantic Theaters.
He was a member of the Coopersville American Legion Post 308.

Challenges For The Strong
Luke 12:22-30
by Darrell Franken

To the Leader: How does one learn to become strong? How does a person turn weakness into strength? Let us look at a few figures in history and seek to discover how they became strong. After you read each of the stories, see if the audience will discuss how they think each of these men became strong. Remember, you will be discussing real people, and not just abstract ideas. Therefore, you will be carrying out a "situation-centered-discussion."

Demosthenes
Demosthenes lived in Athens,
Greece in the fourth century B.C.
His physique was not that of a typical Athenian, developed by gymnastic training. He was weak and awkward, a poor friend, and not pleasant to look at. He stammered and stuttered. His father died when he was very young. His guardians squandered his inheritance. His mother, however, was able to give him a good education. He studied law and speech. As a boy he went out to the beach and put pebbles in his mouth while he talked to overcome his speech defects. Early in life he began to write speeches for people who had to defend themselves in court. When the city of Athens was threatened by conquerors, he delivered orations to arouse the people to defend their democracy. The people did not listen to him and were defeated. It is said of him that, "when he died Athenian democracy died with him."

(Discussion questions) What were some of the forces at work in his life which made him the strong man he was? Were they good and favorable? If not, why then did he become an Athenian Hero? Do we have some of the same unfavorable circumstances to overcome? How do we overcome them?

John Bunyan

The life of John Bunyan begins in conflict and ends in victory. His early life fell under the influence of the Puritan conscience of his forefathers. Yet his outward, visible life was that of a reprobate.
His idle time was spent in cursing, blaspheming, gambling, and whoring. One day he overheard three people talking about their joy and happiness in the Christian life. This jolted him, and convinced his Puritan conscience. This touched off a mental struggle that lasted almost 20 years. Ten of those years were spent in prison for refusing to obey the government. During that time he wrote 11 books. After he was released he preached to thousands, and wrote Pilgrims Progress, which has become one of the ten greatest English classics.

(Discussion Questions) What
caused John Bunyan to become so famous? Was it success, joy, and happiness? Was it his faith?
Why does the combination of faith and misfortune often cause one to become great? Do you have trouble, mental turmoil, and spiritual struggle? God may have a plan for your life too.

For more personalities who overcame misfortune to become victorious, look up the lives of George Frederick Handel who wrote the Messiah, Glen Cunningham who became an American track star, St. Francis of Assisi, Michael Faraday, and others. Then think of Jesus Christ, whose triumph over suffering and death, has never been nor ever will be surpassed.

Hope Quintet Hits Century Mark in Victory Over Ferris

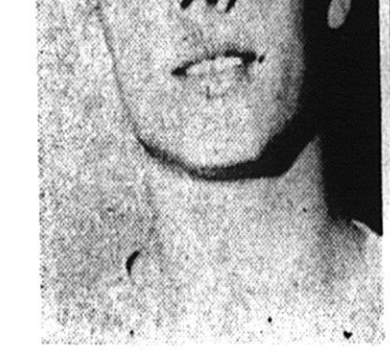

Dutch Have Easy Time Winning 10th Game of Season

Hope College's basketball team hit the century mark for the first time this season Saturday night at Civic Center with a 100-64 decision over Ferris Institute and today looked forward to the tough second round of MIAA play.

The Ferris game ended non-league competition for the Dutch, who must now face seven straight MIAA foes, the first being Albion here Wednesday night. The college leaders defeated Hope in December, 73-72, on a last second basket by George Vivlamore. Hope has a 10-4 overall mark and 4-3 in the conference.

Although Hope was holding a comfortable 40-29 halftime edge against the Bulldogs, no one in the crowd of 1,600 partisan fans guessed the Dutch would hit three figures.

They weren't playing that well and had had quite a shaky start. It wasn't until midway in the first half that Hope began to hit and as late as 6:11, Ferris was just two points down, 25-23.

Paul Benes

... puts in 30 points

But the team that had scored 99 points against Adrian last time out had different ideas.

They were climaxed when Jack Kemper, former Holland High cager who paced the Hope subs with 10 points, drew a foul with 25 seconds to go and sank the 99th and 100th points.

Coach Russ De Vette had injected his reserves after the first stringers, with Paul Benes and Warren Vander Hill leading, had pushed the margin to 71-44 at the 10-minute mark.

And the reserves picked up right where the starters left off and reached 85 with five and a half minutes to go. Then thoughts moved to the century figure and the Hope subs, putting on their best scoring exhibition of the season, did everything to get through the Ferris press. And for the most part they were successful with hit the 95 point mark with two minutes left.

Resting on 98 with one-minute remaining on a Roland Schut basket, Ferris tried to stall. Hope, egged on by the crowd, went after the ball recklessly and the Bulldogs picked up four free tosses in about 30 seconds. Schut had a clarity chance but missed. Kemper came along about 20 seconds later and cashed in.

The Hope reserves received their opportunity thanks to another tremendous scoring exhibition by the first stringers, namely Benes and Vander Hill.

The two scored 51 of Hope's points before sitting down. Benes equaled his season's high mark of 30 points including a crowd-pleasing "dunk". Hope seemed to go as the big 6' 10" center went and as his rebounding and scoring picked up in the first half so did the score. The same was true in the second half as the Dutch pulled out of reach quickly.

Both Benes and Vander Hill had seven baskets each in the first half. But it was the big fellow in the second half. Four minutes after the center jump, Hope had pushed its lead to 57-35 and Benes, who really grabbed the rebounds, picked up four baskets.

Ferris then came in for four points by Rog Vander Laan, ex-Grand Rapids Christian ace who led the Bulldogs with 19 points. But out to show up his fellow prep alumnus, Benes countered with three more baskets, added three straight free throws and with 11 minutes to go Hope enjoyed a 71-39 advantage. Ferris narrowed the count to 71-44 at the 10-minute mark. Then came the subs and the march to the season's high point.

Following Benes and Vander Hill was Jun Buursma, who had 12. He aided in the early second half splurge with four outcourt buckets. Kemper was the other Hope double figure scorer.

Ferris, which has a 2-9 record, had Jim Tetzlaff, who made nine out of 10 free throws, in the run-up spot with 17 points.

A shade under the shot percentage compiled against Adrian, the Dutch hit 41 out of 101 for 40 percent. Ferris made 19 out of 80 for 24 percent. Hope had 19 out of 53 in the first half and 22 out of 48 attempts in the final 20 minutes.

Ferris didn't have a foul called for 8:17 of the first half and Hope only got three free peeks in the first half, making two. Hope hit a pleasing 18 out of 23 free shots but Ferris did even better, getting 26 out of 34.

Local Residents Attend Recreational Workshop

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tregloan, Mrs. Preston Shaffer, Miss Dorothy Bradish, Jane McDonald, and Verne Kupelian attended a workshop on recreation and school camping at Higgins Lake Conservation Training School, Roscommon, Friday to Sunday.

The agenda included a lecture on the importance of school camping by Donald J. Richards, Conservation Education Consultant of the Michigan Department of Conservation. Charles M. Leeson, Region 3 Supervisor, Conservation Department, pointed out the limitation of Michigan's recreational facilities in the state parks. He emphasized the fact that the income from our state's largest industry, "tourism," will be seriously affected by the lack of sufficient funds to meet the increased demands for recreational services. This lecture was augmented by a field trip to Higgins Lake State Park.

Another outstanding feature was a talk by J. W. Kinny, resident engineer of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, presenting the problems involved in the construction of the Straits Bridge.

This workshop was in cooperation with the faculty and administrators of the Wayne County Public Schools.

Farmers Urged To Join Group

Jud Branderhorst of Zeeland is trying to drum up interest throughout the rural areas of Ottawa County—especially the southern sections—in the Centennial Farm Owners organization which embraces all of Michigan.

Branderhorst attended a meeting of the group at Kellogg Center on Michigan State University campus in East Lansing Thursday and came away with a good deal of enthusiasm.

The organization, embracing 800 farms in the state at present, is open to owners of farms which have existed for 100 years or more. Branderhorst points out that there are many such farms in the area.

The group approved a motion at Thursday's meeting to have a joint membership arrangement with the Michigan Historical Commission.

Branderhorst was elected to a nominating committee to draw up a list of officers for next year and points out that if he can get more area farmers interested perhaps an officer can be elected from this area.

Kent County farmers take an especially active interest in the organization.

Mrs. Ronald Lee Dalman (Beatrice Zwaan photo, Detroit)

Miss Fiesselemann Wed To Ronald Lee Dalman

The marriage of Miss Jessie Sabina Fiesselemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friedrich Fiesselemann of Muirland Ave., Detroit, and Ronald Lee Dalman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne C. Dalman, 610 State St., was performed Saturday at 3 p.m. in the All Saints Episcopal Church in Detroit.

Dr. Burton S. Levering officiated at the service which was performed in traditional atmosphere with the bride wearing the traditional wedding gown which also had been worn by her sister. The gown was fashioned of ivory satin with an Elizabethan collar of imported antique lace. It was cut with an illusion shoulder and yoke and panels of satin formed the train which was bound with matching antique lace. A small lace peplum flared from the waist. She wore a lace Elizabethan cap with a full length illusion veil. Her cascade bouquet included white orchids and stephanotis centered with white heather, sent from Scotland by her aunt. She also wore a sixpence in her shoe. The heather and sixpence in the old tradition were symbols of happiness and good luck.

Mrs. John Carlisle Zabriske, served her sister as matron of honor and Miss Mary Ellen Dalman of Holland, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid. Sorority Sisters, Mrs. Robert Smith of Royal Oak, Miss Katherine Sundberg of Ann Arbor, Miss Mary Ann Jordan of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. William A. Preisch, also were bridesmaids. Their gowns were fashioned of cream and gold satin. They wore matching hats and carried bouquets of deep purple-blue iris.

Lydia and Lisa Fiesselemann, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Fiesselemann of Birmingham, and nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore yellow taffeta with white organza pinafores and strewed petals from tiny baskets in the path of the bride. They wore circlets of flowers in their hair.

Nathaniel W. Stroup of Culver Ind., served as best man and ushers were Fritz Fiesselemann, brother of the bride, of Birmingham, John Carlisle Zabriske of Detroit, K. Don Jacobusse of Holland, Dean S. Lewis of Sturgis and Jered Mays III, of Springfield, Mass.

About 250 guests were greeted by the newlyweds at a reception following the ceremony at Birmingham Country Club.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fiesselemann chose a Dior blue taffeta dress with white sequin hat and matching purse and a corsage of orchids. The groom's mother was attired in a smoke green silk gown with white and green hat and a corsage of green orchids.

For going away the bride wore a Cornflower blue wool costume suit with matching hat and contrasting accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalman will resume studies at Ann Arbor where the groom is a law student and the bride is taking a graduate course. Their wedding trip will be delayed until the spring vacation when they expect to go to Florida. The couple reside at 402 Fourth Ave., in Ann Arbor.

Immediately following rehearsal Friday the groom's parents entertained at a dinner for 23 guests at Botsford Inn in the private dining room.

Primary Election Officially Slated In 4 City Wards

Councilman at Large, Mayor Won't Be on Ballot Until April

The city primary election will be held Feb. 18 in wards one, two, three and five, City Clerk Clarence Greengood officially announced Monday.

Six candidates have qualified for the primary in ward one, and three in each of the other three wards. The city charter reads that a primary shall be held whenever there are more than twice the number of petitions filed than offices to be filled.

Those who have qualified are: Ward 1 — Eugene Batema, Russell J. Dyke, Hester L. Gronberg, Lawrence H. May, Ernest H. Phillips and D. Fred Zeerip.

Ward 2 — John H. Naberhuis, Henry Steffens and Harold B. Tregloan.

Ward 3 — Nelson Bosman, Richard J. Nykamp and John K. Vander Broek.

Ward 5 — Ernest H. Johnson, John Van Eerden and Riemer Van Til.

Since Mayor Robert Visser is unopposed and just two petitions have been filed for the one councilman at large berth to be filled, these offices will not be on the February ballot.

The two candidates in each ward who receive the highest number of votes will be entered in the April 1 ballot, along with the mayor and councilman at large candidates.

Although the voters in the primary will nominate the candidates from their wards, the names of candidates for all the city offices will appear on the April ballot. All registered electors in the city may vote in the April election for all offices — mayor, councilman at large and councilmen of the first, second, third and fifth wards, Greengood said.

Also on the April ballot will be the nominees for the state offices to be filled.

Teachers Told Of Mental Health

Miss Esther Middlewood, chief of the Mental Health Education section of the Department of Public Instruction, met Wednesday in a series of meetings with the staff of the public schools.

She discussed mental health and its relationship to the students with members of the guidance council in the morning and followed it up at noon by answering questions from the administrative staff. Later in the afternoon she spoke on "Teacher Personality as it Relates to the Pupils" in a general teachers meeting.

"Educators must determine where the educationally handicapped become an intellectual handicap to the class and students must be evaluated in the light of how much they have achieved as individuals," Miss Middlewood said.

She felt the guidance program and counselors have an important job in seeing that the goals set for students are in relation to the abilities of the students.

Miss Middlewood emphasized the importance of Parent-Teacher groups on the secondary level and added that this can provide a good method of discussing the school program and the children's needs together.

"The more we think of mental health in the schools the more we must think in terms of individuals. I am very optimistic for growth amongst people and their understanding of mental problems," Miss Middlewood said.

"Emotional problems many times get in the way of a successful teaching experience. We do not see happiness in a learning situation," she added.

Eugene Scholten, school diagnostician, made arrangements for the meeting and Russell Welch, Lincoln School principal, was chairman.

Boys Combine Novelties, Musicianship in Concert

Combining novelties, horseplay and true musicianship, the Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus charmed a full house in Civic Center Tuesday night in the fifth of six scheduled concerts for the Holland Civic Music Association.

In cowboy jeans, the boys were beguiling in a program of classics, folk songs, western songs and show tunes sung with a superb blend of fine young voices. Their own highly original arrangements of songs of the Great Southwest, spiced with comedy and seasoned with calf bawls and coyote calls, gave the program a distinctly American flavor.

From the musician's standpoint, the group did its best work in the earlier numbers which included Handel's beautiful "Where'er You Walk" and the Russian Easter hymn, "Hosposi Pomiloi." Lovinsky, in which the theme is repeated 75 times. Exceptionally well done was "Alleluia," Randall Thompson, which was written at the request of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky for opening exercises of the Berkshire Music Center, and for encore Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer" with tiny blond Terry Grimbale as soloist.

Having proved their talents as

License Plates Going Begging, Cherven Reports

Nineteen - fifty - seven license plates won't be sold on a clearance basis after the March 1 deadline, Holland bureau manager Frank Cherven said Tuesday, and he reminded vehicle owners that plates will cost as much then as now. Besides, the way plates have been selling, there's going to be a huge last-minute line to create a bother as the deadline approaches.

Cherven said, sales are running "way behind" last year's and pointed out that 911 less plates have been sold this year than at this time in 1956. So far, 6,403 have been purchased, a little more than a third of the 17,500 that will have to go out of the Holland office before March 1.

Plates went on sale Nov. 14, and Cherven said the average daily sale has been about 130, just about half the average in 1956. The first number issued this morning was NU-7404. Still to go are the NUs through 9950, NW-1501 to 9950 and NX-1001 to 1400.

The passenger auto plates are running far slower, but the commercial plates are even farther behind, Cherven said. He cited as a reason, the requirement that all commercial vehicles must present new weighing slips before plates can be issued.

Since there will be no "mark-down" on plates this year, the only incentive for the buyer is that this year he will be getting two plates for the price he paid for a single plate in years past.

"He can save some time, though, by coming now instead of in the last week," Cherven said.

The Holland office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Cherven said the hours would be increased to 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. between Feb. 18 and Feb. 28.

Extension Branch Opens in Zeeland

ZEELAND (Special) — The Zeeland branch of the State Cooperative Extension Bureau opened Tuesday morning on the second floor of Zeeland City Hall. The office is being manned by George Stachwick and Richard Machiele, county agricultural agent. Machiele will divide his time between the Zeeland and Grand Haven offices, and said he will be in Zeeland every Tuesday.

Stachwick, who has been assigned the Ottawa - Kent district, will advise area farmers on problems of marketing vegetables. He expects to spend most of his time with Ottawa County farmers at the start, since Kent County farmers are largely engaged in hot-house agriculture, he said, and aren't having severe marketing troubles.

Marketing, Stachwick said, includes everything from the farm to the consumer, and his work will be in all phases of the operation. He will probably work principally with the individual producers and growers' organizations, he said.

Machiele said "marketing is the greatest problem the farmer faces," and Stachwick added that despite the country's surplus of agricultural products, "there is no surplus of quality goods."

The reason for the Zeeland branch, Stachwick said, is to provide the farmers in the southern part of the county with extension and educational facilities.

The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Fennville Wins Al-Van Tourney for First Time

PLAINWELL (Special) — Playing in the Al-Van Tournament finals for the first time in history Saturday night, Fennville High School took the championship with a thrilling, low-scoring, 31-30 victory over Gobles.

Forward Bob Coffey stepped to the free throw line with eight seconds to play and his team trailing, 30-29, and sank both tosses to clinch the game for the Blackhaws.

It was a come-from-behind win all the way for Fennville. The trailed 6-4 at the close of the first quarter, 19-14 at the half and 28-22 at the three-quarter mark.

Both clubs turned in low shooting percentages in a clean game marked by only 13 fouls. Fennville had a poor 22 percent and Gobles had 31 percent. The Tigers took only five free throws in the game and missed all five. Fennville capitalized on five of 12.

The Tigers had only eight fouls charged against them, all coming in the second half. Fennville picked up three in the first half and two in the second. The three officials, Ned Stuits, Don White and Ken Cavanaugh, didn't find many opportunities to blow their whistles.

Once again, Coach Sam Morehead heaped praise on miniature guard Mickey Morse, who controlled the ball throughout the game for the winners, and added four points.

Doug Allan had 13 tallies to lead Fennville and Goffey and Jerry Smith each scored seven to account for all the scoring.

The winners picked up a 4-0 lead on two baskets in the first minute of the game, but Gobles grabbed the next six as Fennville went cold from the floor.

In the second period, Gobles pushed ahead on scoring by Bill Wesler and Dan Stretch. Allan and Coffey each sank five points in the third stanza, but six by Wesler, who led the losers with 12, gave Gobles their biggest lead.

The teams went into the home stretch nip and tuck. The Blackhaws scored twice in the first minute to close the gap to 28-26. They then missed a free throw. With 3:30 to go, Allan tied it 28-28.

Gobles came back with a 20-foot jump shot for a 30-29 margin. Coffey drove in for a layup with 10 seconds remaining, was fouled and won the game with his free throws.

"We're pretty happy, pretty proud," Morehead said after the game. "We played like champions, even if we didn't score like them."

Morehead now takes his team back into regular league competition. The Blackhaws are in second place, one game behind Martin. They meet Lawton, a team which defeated them a couple of weeks ago, Friday night.

Parking Lot Meters Will Also Take Dimes

Parking meters in the city parking lots are the only ones that will accept dimes, Police Jacob Van Hoff said today.

All other meters on Holland streets will only take pennies or nickles, depending upon their locations, Van Hoff said.

The city parking lot meters will accept pennies, nickles or dimes, he said. Dimes dropped in other meters will not ring up parking time and will result in the loss of the dime.

300 Sign Guest Book At Library Open House

Approximately 300 people signed the guest book at Holland City Public Library Wednesday when Mrs. Hazel Hayes, head librarian, and her staff held open house. Flowering plants lent by the Park Department, augmented the regular display, and a tea table decorated with Valentine hearts, and flower arrangements, Mrs. Eldith Walwood and her helpers dispensed coffee and home made cookies from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Owing to the unexpected death of her mother, Mrs. Hayes was unable to be present, but her staff headed by Miss Dora Schermer, in addition to performing their usual duties, conducted visitors on a guided tour of the various sections and pointed out the additions and improvements, which include new shelving to accommodate 12,670 books, and the removal of some magazines to a room across the hall to release shelving for 2,310 more books. It was pointed out that in 1953, 24,000 books were available at the library, and today the number has jumped to 34,000.

The children of the public schools made favors consisting of grown paper flower pots with red flowers, and every visitor was presented with one. In the children's section lollipops were provided for the young visitors, many of whom spent the afternoons there. Among the visitors were the staffs of the offices in the City Hall.

Serving coffee, and presiding over the guest book were Mesdames J. Westerhoff, E. Ruisard, Nettie De Jong, Morris De Vries, Lavern Rudolph, Nelson Bosman, Minnie Marsijle, Irene Ver Hult, Marsha Pelgrim, Benjamin D. Mez, William Vander Schel, Paul E. Hinkamp, Henry J. Engelsman, and the Misses G. Lieverse, Nellie Herrema, and Mabelle Geiger.

'Ann of Ava' Reviewed By Miss Laura Boyd

The Women's missionary group of the Third Reformed Church Guild met Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. Tea was served by the hostesses Mrs. Robert Crookery and Mrs. John Wesslink.

Following the social hour Mrs. G. H. Dubink conducted devotions giving highlights from the Founders Week Conference held at Moody Institute. Mrs. Dubink particularly emphasized facts from an address by Dr. Wall, on the subject "Light and Life." Dr. Wall developed a thought that in all the levels of life from the mineral to the spiritual not one level can raise itself higher. Each must be assimilated or listed by a higher form of life. So men, too, must be lifted to a higher spiritual life by God, through Jesus Christ, the speaker said.

Mrs. Jack Leenhouts accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Veldman, sang "O Master Let Me Walk with Thee" by Olie Speaks. Mrs. Veldman, president, introduced Miss Laura Boyd who reviewed the book, "Ann of Ava," by Ethel Daniels. Hubbard. She portrayed this first American woman to become a foreign missionary, as a frail woman physically but dynamic and dauntless in spirit.

After the business session the meeting was closed with all members repeating "An Old Chinese Hymn" by Pastor Hsi and prayer by the president.

Christian Faces Another Tough Test at Allegan

Holland Christian's basketball squad will attempt to rebound from two straight losses Friday night when they invade the small Allegan gym to take on the Allegan Tigers. The Dutch will be out after their eighth win against six losses this season.

The Allegan game opens a big three weeks for the Maroons which sees them take on four rough foes. Next week they will be at home to entertain two class A foes, Niles on Tuesday and Grand Rapids Christian on Friday. Then the following week comes St. Joseph, to be followed by another class A game with Muskegon Catholic.

This will be the second meeting for the locals and Coach George Van Wagoner's Tigers. In the first encounter, the Dutch handed the Allegan quint their first defeat of the year—a 58-43 lacing. At present the Tigers have an 8-2 season mark and are tied for the lead in the Wolverine league with Portage. Allegan's only other loss was a decisive whipping by hot and cold Western State High of Kalamazoo.

The Maroons have been working out extra hard on defense this week as Coach Art Tuls warned his charges that "almost every shot is a good one in the small Allegan gym." Allegan is a tough outfit and boasts some excellent shooters in John Stroud, Loye Eddy and Larry Grewe. These three boys have been bearing the brunt of the Allegan scoring so far this season.

Tuls is hoping that a few breaks may come the way of his club the rest of the season. Although the Hollanders have dropped six games, their worst defeat was an eight pointer. Three others were two pointers and the other two were by four points. In almost every one of these six defeats, a couple of key breaks at the right time could have brought the game into the win column.

Christian, which operates with a good share of juniors in its lineup in every game, got a big boost last week from junior center, Warren Otto, who pumped in 22 points against Creston. The lanky junior didn't see much action against the Tigers in the first meeting and could well cause the home club some anxious moments before the night is over.

The Dutch mentor indicated that he would start the same lineup which includes Otto at center, Cal Klaassen and Dave Klaver at the forwards and Herm Tuls and Roger Mulder at the guards.

In the reserve preliminary which gets underway at 6:30 p.m. another good game is in prospect. Christian which has 10-3 will be up against the Little Tigers which have won eight while dropping just two.

Dutch Flawless In Clinching Key League Win, 92-63

Hope College's basketball team, doing nothing wrong, went for a romp in what was supposed to be a tight ball game, outdoing Albion at every turn in scoring a resounding 92-63 triumph at Civic Center Wednesday night before 2,000 fans.

The win not only shook the rafters of the Civic, it echoed all around the MIAA, as the Dutch established themselves as the "team to beat."

This is the opinion of Elkin Isaac, Albion College coach. And he's the man that ought to know because right now Albion is tied for first place.

Repeating much the same sentiment was Coach Ray Steffen of Kalamazoo, who asked Hope Coach Russ De Vette after the game "when are you going to cool off?" He ought to know too, because the Hornets are tied with

MIAA Standings

Albion for first, and are the only other MIAA team to stop the Britons this season.

Even De Vette, displaying his widest smile, thought his team was "tremendous." And he had the game statistics to prove it.

Three Hope starters found the 20 point mark. Tall Paul Benes whipped in 25, Warren Vander Hill picked up 22 and Ray Ritsema, the most talked about freshman in the MIAA, netted 20. Each of them had 10 buckets. Vander Hill missed only nine shots.

Jun Buursma sank a one-hander from outcourt with eight seconds gone for the initial basket of the game and the first of 39 Hope hits. Buursma then sacrificed his scoring role and put the clamps on league scoring leader John Hannett, Albion guard, and held him to just two baskets on only five shots in the first half. Hannett came back in the second half and showed his scoring ability, getting 12 points, 10 in a row, and ended as Albion's high man with 19.

Following the opening buck, the Dutch quickly rolled up a 16-4 lead, paced by Benes and Vander Hill. Albion narrowed it to two points, 22-20, at 11:19 of the first half on three quick baskets by George Vivamore but that was the closest the Britons could get.

Leading 25-20 at the 10-minute mark, Hope began to pull away and with the big three (Benes, 8, Vander Hill, 6 and Ritsema, 8) putting in 22 of the 24 Hope scored the rest of the half. The Dutch walked off at intermission ahead 49-32.

Hope increased its lead to 20 at the 10-minute mark of the second half with a 68-48 margin and just kept getting increasingly better to win by the 29 point spread.

Continuing to get fine rebounding out of Benes and Ritsema, the Dutch controlled the boards throughout. Benes, bothered Wednesday morning with a touch of the flu, didn't let it keep him from leaving the ground on almost every play under the basket. And right beside as his handman to grab what was left was Ritsema.

Dwayne (Tiger) Teusink, the most improved player on the Hope club, again sparkled with his passing. Displaying good split-vision, Teusink was able to spot Benes and fire simultaneously. He added seven points. He repeatedly dribbled through the zone press Albion employed.

Hope made its 39 baskets on 106 attempts for a 37 percent mark while the Britons had 25 for 77 and 33 percent. Hope's first half spurge resulted in 21 baskets out of 51 shots for 43 percent.

Virgil Hall followed Hannett in the Albion scoring with 17 and Vivamore, who had 34 against Hope in the first game, including the winning basket in the final second, had 16.

The Dutch, now with a 5-3 record, travel to Alma Saturday to battle the Scots, who have an identical league mark. The record leaves both teams tied for third, one game out of first place. Albion will entertain Kalamazoo Saturday.

NOTES — Paul Benes collected two fouls in the first eight minutes of the game and never got another even though he held his man, Con Stover, without a point. Ray Ritsema's first basket of the second half was a "dunk." It followed a personal foul which irritated him and came after he stole the ball at midcourt. Coach Russ De Vette didn't pull his regulars for good until only two minutes left. He was remembering the Central State game which saw a 20-point lead dwindle to five at the final horn. Ray's brother, Bob, relegated to a reserve role this year, functioned well on the boards. He was the only Hope player who did not score. Hope now has an 11-4 overall record. Halftime music was provided by the Hope College band, directed by Morette Rider.

Mental Health Society Meets

The Mental Hospital Diagnostic Center Act and the need for adequate in-patient services in adult mental hospitals for severely disturbed children were discussed at an area meeting sponsored by the Michigan Society for Mental Health at Kalamazoo State Hospital Monday.

Probate judges, legislators, sheriffs, and community leaders from the Kalamazoo State Hospital District were invited. Board and staff members of the Michigan Society for Mental Health and of the Michigan Department of Mental Health as well as the Superintendent and other staff of the Kalamazoo State Hospital met for discussion with the group. Judge Wallace Waalkes of Kent County Probate Court was Chairman of the meeting.

Judge Waalkes and Charles Wagg, Director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, reviewed the Mental Hospital Diagnostic Act and pointed out many of the difficulties that have arisen for Probate Judges in the interpretation and administration of the act. It was felt by the group that the law should either be repealed or drastically amended.

The Probate Judges stressed the point that they favored the principal of diagnostic centers before final commitment to a mental institution but they felt that the present law was cumbersome and unrealistic and did not make provision for treatment as well as diagnosis in the interim period. It was hoped by the group that the Legislature would study the problem again with a Committee of Probate Judges, hospital personnel and members of the Department of Mental Health.

The need for adequate in-patient services for severely emotionally disturbed children in the southwestern Michigan area was pointed up in the discussion. Harold Webster, executive director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and Dr. V. A. Stehman of the Michigan department of Mental Health outlined the present situation in the state in respect to treatment centers for emotionally disturbed children.

Local representatives at the meeting were Probate Judge Frederick T. Miles of Grand Rapids, Judge Harold Weston of Allegan and Mrs. Donald Brown and Mrs. Robert Horner of Holland.

Dutch Five Treks To Benton Harbor For Game Friday

Holland High fans had better gas up the car if they have any inkling of seeing the Dutch play basketball again this season.

Because starting Friday, Holland will play its final five regular season's games on the road.

Probably the toughest of the five games is coming up Friday at Benton Harbor. This is the club which chose Holland to tee-off on last month and racked up an 83-57 win including a 40-point display by 6'5" Chester Walker.

That 40 points was the most ever scored by a prep player in Civic Center's three year history. The 83-point total was a season's high for the Tigers.

Although Coach Don Farnum's crew has had some tight scrapes, they are still rated seventh in the Class A state poll with a 7-3 record.

Muskegon Heights walloped the southern Tigers last Friday, 67-44 and Kalamazoo Central took Benton Harbor into camp by 16 points earlier in the season. The other loss was administered by South Bend Washington.

On this record of being beaten only by Muskegon Heights and Kalamazoo, No. 1 and 2 in the state, the Tigers were placed in the seventh slot.

The biggest scare the Tigers had was two weeks ago at Grand Haven when they won in the final few seconds on a long shot by sub Don Marler to beat the Bucs, 60-58. Benton Harbor also scored a slim win over Niles (1-9). But in both games Walker was out with the mumps.

Hampered by the lack of practice against the Heights, Walker didn't look too good but he has had a full week now and should be at top strength.

He will team at one forward with Mickey Yarbrough at the other while big Sam Watson will be center. George Peapples and Duane Dunbar will play the guards.

Coach Fred Weiss is expected to go with the same team which started the Muskegon game. They include Dave Hilbink, and Les Overway at forwards with Tom Aye at center. Gene Boerman and Rog Plagenhoef will work the guards with Terry Otting a probable first-line guard replacement or last minute starter.

The varsity game will start at 8 p.m. in the new 2,800 seat Colfax gym. The two reserve teams will play at 6:30 p.m. The Holland seconds are after their eighth win against three setbacks.

Determined Bears Outfight Maroons To Win, 63-59

GRAND RAPIDS—(Special)—A determined Creston basketball squad, that just wouldn't quit, took a hard earned 63-59 win over Holland Christian's cagers here Friday night. The loss gives Christian a 7-6 mark for the season, while the Polar Bears have now won five and dropped six.

Coach Bob Johnson's Bears actually paved the way for victory in the first quarter, but they had to rise to the heights in a pressure-packed second half to preserve it. Despite the defeat, Coach Art Tuls' Maroons lost no cage stature as they wiped out big Creston leads three times in the second half, only to see accurate Bear foul shooting prove the decisive blow.

Creston was a terrific ball club in their own gym Friday night, and certainly played better ball than their season mark would indicate. In recent games, the Bears had also held big margins over strong clubs, but couldn't hold them. This time they were not to be denied.

The two outstanding ball players on the floor were Christian's junior center, Warren Otte and Creston's Don Seckel. Otte, starting only his second game, pumped in 22 markers in addition to turning in a great rebounding game. Seckel is the playmaker of the Creston outfit and bothered the Maroons all night with his fine shooting and driving. When it was all over he had hit on seven baskets and 11 out of 14 free throws for 25 points.

The first quarter was even for about three minutes before the Bears momentarily surprised the Dutch with an all court press to spurt out to an 18-9 lead. Once the Dutch had regrouped themselves and solved the press they were on the short end of a 23-14 first quarter score. To top it off the Bears were hitting just about everything that they threw up at the basket.

Christian got back into the ball game in a hurry to start the second period with Otte and Cal Klaassen connecting to narrow the count to 25-19. Spearheaded by Ray Woolney and Seckel, the Bears again went on a shooting rampage to take a 44-point lead, their biggest of the contest. The Dutch came right back with five points to trail 35-26 at halftime.

The second half was only a minute old before the Dutch had scored five quick points to narrow the gap to 35-31. This was the beginning of a drive, spearheaded by three juniors and two seniors, Herm Tule and Ron Weener, which was to see the locals actually take the lead before the quarter was ended. Creston gained a 40-31 bulge before the fighting Maroons fought back to a 40-36 deficit before the quarter was half over. The Dutch continued to peek away and finally went ahead on a one hander by Weener with 1:16 seconds left. A quick Bear basket knotted the count at 47-41 going into the final hectic quarter.

The clubs played a more cautious brand of ball at the start of the fourth period, with Creston taking over with some good foul shooting, 52-51, at the midway point. They held a narrow advantage before five quick points gave them a seemingly safe 61-53 bulge with a minute left. Once again the Dutch rallied and pulled to a 61-59 count with 20 seconds remaining. Christian then threw caution to the winds in their effort to get the ball. With two seconds left, Dave Annis dumped in the clincher as he roamed unmolested under the basket.

Christian outscored Creston 21-20 from the field, but at the foul lane the winners hit on 23 out of 32 tries. The Dutch collected on 17 out of 27. Following Otte with 22 was Tuls with 10 for the Dutch. Woolney was second high behind Seckel's 25 with 15.

The Dutch return to action next Friday in a return game at Allegan.

Fremont hit six straight points to open the second quarter and picked up an eight point lead which they held the rest of the quarter. The halftime mark was 34-26.

The Chix, showing some of the style used in gaining six straight league wins, staged a mild comeback in the third period and came within two points, 38-36. But again the Packers put the fast break into motion and tore away, scoring 17 points to Zeeland's two to lead 55-40 at the end of the quarter.

well-executed fast break getting most of the points. But the damage had been done and their was no catching the winners.

Dutch Official Explains Position Of Netherlands In West New Guinea

Western New Guinea, an area of mountains and marshes, populated by primitive peoples, is being fought for through propaganda by one nation and educated for self-determination of its future by another.

Indonesia, which gained its independence from the Netherlands in 1949, claims that, because Western New Guinea used to be a part of the Netherlands East Indies, it now rightfully belongs to them.

The Netherlands, which specifically disclaimed Western New Guinea from the territory relinquished in 1949, is equally as insistent that they should bring about a political awareness and economic foundation for the natives to decide for themselves what course they should follow in the future.

Christiaan J. Grader, head of the Bureau for Native Affairs in the New Guinea Capital of Hollandia, said in Holland Friday that one of the main problems confronting the Netherlands is the diverse backgrounds of the Pua-puas, the principal inhabitants.

The natives, some of whom still practice head-hunting and cannibalism, live in 3,500 tiny villages, most of which have less than 100 inhabitants. Added to this, they speak at least 126 languages and in many cases do not even know of the existence of the other tribes or villages. In fact, Grader said, in the interior regions, many have never seen a white man.

It is in this population that the Netherlands government is trying to instill a political consciousness and a feeling of national unity.

At present, about 300,000 of the natives are under Netherlands control largely in the coastal areas. A community center on a rudimentary scale has been set up in many of the villages with an advisory council composed of government personnel and native leaders learning the basic principles of local self-government and control.

Grader explained the ideals of the Netherlands' work in New Guinea, with district and broader divisional councils in the plan for the future. To some degree, these have already been established.

So far, Indonesia has exerted only an outside influence in the form of propaganda, largely by radio, on the populace. They are prohibited from infiltrating the area.

The Dutch hold to the belief that Western New Guinea is rightfully a Pacific rather than Asian territory because of the racial and geographic factors which align Western New Guinea to that section.

As Grader sees it, in time, when the natives realize what they can gain by becoming a civilized race with a nationalized government, they can make one of three choices:

They can associate themselves with Indonesia by their own choosing; They can join with the Netherlands.

They can join with the Netherlands.

Board Endorses State Park Fees

The board of directors of the Holland Garden Club Thursday endorsed the proposed fee system for the use of state parks in Michigan.

According to a report submitted by Mrs. J. J. Brower, legislative chairman, pending legislation calls for a $2 use stamp tax for state parks in Michigan. She said both State Sen. Clyde Ceerlings and Rep. George Van Peursee have expressed themselves as being favorable to this program which has been patterned after the Minnesota program. It is believed such a system would reduce appropriations for state parks by $2 million.

The board also endorsed national legislation which would control the use of billboards on the 41,000-mile network of interstate highways through the United States including several in Michigan. U. S. Sen. Albert Gore is author of the bill.

Other items of business included progress reports on the forthcoming Tulip Time flower show by Mrs. R. A. De Witt and a report on garden plans at Thomas Jefferson School by Mrs. Carl Cook, chairman of horticultural therapy.

Further plans also were made for the district meeting to be held here April 4. Ten board members were present at the meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. Thomas McCormack. Mrs. J. D. Jencks, club president, presided.

The land is made up of old volcanic materials which are not rich in mineral plant foods. Thus, the old government has initiated a farming system in direct contrast with the American method of crop rotation. Instead of varying crops raised from year to year, the farmers move from field to field, clearing the dense jungle to carve out their land. At the same time they plant their edible crop and plant cocoa trees which remain after the farmer has moved on and serve as the nucleus of a plantation.

Keeping control of the area, Grader said, is a "moral obligation" as well as a matter of prestige for the Netherlands.

He believes, that, since Christianity is well established on the island, the incoming of Islam teachings practiced by most Indonesians would not be best for the primitive populace. In addition, he said, the humanitarian aspect of helping the people spur the Dutch on, even though they intend to give up the land.

But, since the Indonesians have been insistent for 10 years that Western New Guinea is rightfully theirs, it is a matter of "face-saving" that the Netherlands remain and finish the job it started. Their position coincides with the human attitude that it's all right to give away something you don't intend to keep, but it's a different matter to have it taken from you.

And thus the Dutch continue their attempts to conquer the stone age culture of one of their oldest possessions.
