Rebates Set For Street, Sewer Costs

ZEELAND — Property owners paying for a 1974 sanitary sewer and street special assessment project were given some happy news by City Council Monday.

Council approved a credit or refund to property owners in the south west district amounting to 95 cents a foot or an average of $95 per property because of investment earned during the construction period.

Council referred a rate increase for sewer services to a committee to study the need after financial reports of various city operations were reveiwed.

The superintendent and clerk treasurer said the sewer utility was operating on a marginal cash flow basis and an increase in sewer utility rates might be necessary.

Council approved a recommendation of the Cemetery Board to establish rates for the sale of cemetery lots in two newly developed sections of the cemetery. Lots in the sections were priced at $90 each including perpetual care.

The city attorney was directed to research procedures to be used in requiring three property owners to improve structures on their properties or remove the structures.

Vernon Lokers was appointed to fill a vacancy on the nominating commission.

Four Arrested In Truck Hijacking

GRAND HAVEN — Four persons were under arrest today in connection with the alleged hijacking of a semi-trailer truck carrying $100,000 worth of copper along US-31 two miles south of Grand Haven Thursday morning.

Ottawa County deputies said they had two persons in custody in connection with the hijacking itself and Grand Rapids police were holding two others for receiving and concealing stolen property.

Det. Lee Posma said the driver of the truck was forced off the road at gunpoint at 8:45 a.m. Thursday by subjects riding in a car. He declined to release additional information pending arraignment of the four subjects.

The truck carried 40,000 pounds of copper and the truck itself was valued at $34,000.

Detectives said a deputy acted as the driver of the truck for the safety of the driver and the arrests climaxed a month-long investigation. The truck was enroute from Muskegon to Sycamore, Ill.

Small Shack Burns

A small shack at 955 Lincoln Ave., built by some boys in the neighborhood, caught fire Sunday at 6:30 p.m. Firemen said an electric portable heater left on apparently started the fire. The loss included a sofa in the shack.

STATION BURNS — Craig Kuipers and Hans Suzenaar escaped injuries when a light bulb burst and ignited fumes from a flamable liquid they were using in the garage at South Shore Dr. and Myrtle Ave. at 9:22 a.m. Saturday. The flames burned out the inside of the cement block structure and destroyed a station wagon inside. They managed to move a pickup truck from the garage to safety. Kuipers had been using the former service station since last fall. The building was owned by Abel Sybesma and constructed in 1950. Holland firemen said damage estimates were not immediately available. No injuries were reported. The building was next door to the Myrtle Ave. fire station. (Sentinel photo)

'Holland—A City Alive!" in Nation's Bicentennial

Mayor Looks to Past, Present, Future

Mayor Lou Hallacy took a look at the past, reviewed present functions in Holland and took a brief look into the future as he spoke on "Holland — a City Alive!", at a capacity crowd at the monthly Chamber of Commerce Early Bird breakfast Tuesday in Warm Friend Motor Inn.

In America's Bictentennial year, the mayor looked back 100 years for a look at the city of Holland, a city that did not become beautiful and serene by chance . . . but the total result of careful planning, wise implementation during development and dedicated attention to continuance of an ideal community.

In 1876, the mayor said, Holland had a population of about 3,000 and it was still recovering from the disastrous fire of 1871. The city was served by two railroads, several small factories, water transportation, five schools, Hope College, nine churches, eight newspapers, five bands and musical societies and eight taverns. Streets were being improved, a waterworks system was inaugurated, electric power was supplied by the city and telephone service was beginning.

Records in 1876 indicate the mayor was paid $100 and Council members $50 annually. In 1976, the mayor is paid $200 a year along with Council members' $15 per public meeting.

March of 1876 saw the improvement of "Market Square," erection of a "Centennial pole," planting of 270 trees and a new name "Cenntennial Park." With 1876 marking the 10th anniversary of the incorporation of the city, then Mayor John Van Langeland's look into the future listed the first and constant aim of Council as low tax rolls, watch local expenditures, plan more Centennial Park improvements, cooperate with the National Centennial Committee, repeal all resolutions giving powers to committees to let jobs under $20, and more gravel for Eighth St. "but if bids are too high it will be out of the question."

Today, the mayor said, the city of Holland is fiscally sound, but probably faces the greatest challenge of its 129 years of operation in its 1976 - 77 budget which must be adopted in May. Because revenue sharing may come to an end in December, 1976, Council must adjust its budget by almost $300,000.

Because it ies in two counties, Holland has had may problems — two equalization directors, duplicate agencies, welfare problems. "We realize that neither Ottawa nor Allegan county wants to lose the city of Holland, but research will begin this year on a solution, probably through the state legislature, the Boundary Commission or by the electorate," the mayor said.

He spoke of hospital needs for many renovations, its various studies and said Council is slated to take action Feb. 17 on the expansion program. He said an area hospital authority is under study, and he said he will ask City Council to create a speakers bureau to represent the hospital and city in discussing and exploring pros and cons with interested local governmental entities, service clubs and citizens.

"At this point," he said, "I consider it extremely important that factual information be disseminated to the public on such an important issue. This bureau should consist of representatives from City Council, the City Manager's Office, Hospital Board and Hospital Staff."

Hallacy said several members have asked to be replaced on the Windmill Advisory committee, and he plans to establish a permanent advisory committee of rotating terms with instructions to develop a ten - year plan for improvements and expansion, if warranted.

He said Holland cannot permit the insidious influence of apathy to affect the body politic, and there must be constant stimulation of civic pride and a growing interest in government affairs by the people. This related to Thomas Jefferson's statement that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"Let us move together, my fellow citizens, proud and unafraid, confident of our abilities to meet the challenges of today, and fully aware of the infinite potential of tomorrow. As long as we have faith in God, in ourselves and in our fellow citizens, we can face the future with confidence, courage and commitment," he concluded.

During the breakfast period, Hallacy showed slides of Holland's float and other activities at the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena Jan. 1. Instead of klompen, he was presented with a photo album for the California pictures.

Fails Goal But Raises Most Money

United Way At Record Levels

"It was an interesting year for the Greater Holland United Way," said 1975 campaign chairman Donald H. Hann at the awards dinner and annual meeting of the GHUW Thursday night "because of the failure to meet the campaign goal and yet to raise the most money during a campaign."

Hann said the record amount was reached despite the economic difficulties and the lateness of the campaign start thanks to the campaign workers "who threw their bodies into the fight and came up with record breaking results."

He said it was through the efforts of the volunteers and the contributors that what could have been a tragic year was turned into a great year.

GHUW president Lawrence J. Overbeek said the 1975 campaign raised $260,440 or 92.2 per cent of the $282,439 goal but was 1.6 per cent over the amount raised in 1974.

Overbeek presented the President's award, recognizing the employe group with 15 or more employes with the highest per capita gift exclusive of the corporate gift, to the employes of the Raphael Co. whose gift averaged $47.47, up nearly $6 from last year when they also won the award.

More than 100 business firms and employee groups were presented the "E" awards for their contributions and financial support of the campaign.

Floyd Folkert, retail division chairman, and Junior Nyhof, construction division chairman and Bill Lamb of special gifts were cited for reaching their divisional goals.

Also recognized were Sonja Boeve and David Meier who were co-assistant chairmen to Hann.

Other divisional chairmen were Jack Marquis, professional; Lee Van Aelst, public-civic, and John Tysse, commercial.

At the annual meeting, Hann was elected president of the GHUW for 1976, Gary J. White, vice president; Wayne V. Wyckoff, treasurer; Paul M. Van Kolken, secretary, and other members of the executive committee Mrs. Boeve, James Brown and Chester Harmsen.

New members of the board serving three year terms are Martin Glaser, Richard Haworth, Meier and Carolyn Young.

Zeeland Sets Bond Vote For School

ZEELAND — The Zeeland Board of Education Tuesday adopted resolutions setting March 29 for a school bond election for construction of a new high school.

The date was approved by the Ottawa County election committee.

School district voters will be asked to approve a $4.8 million bond issue for a new high school and options such as a swimming pool, auditorium and athletic field which would push the total cost to $6.38 million.

In addition the board adopted a motion calling for funds from the sale of the old high school buildings to be applied toward the retirement of the debt. An appraised value of the present high school buildings was not available.

The board also reaffirmed its 1972 policy granting the Christian school use of any of the facilities in the new high school.

Contracts were awarded for the purchase of two school buses. R. E. Barber of Holland was given the contract for two chassis at $9,177.49 each and Hoekstra Truck & Equipment for the bus bodies at $6,433 each.

Board member Bruce De Pree was named delegate to the Ottawa Intermediate School District budget hearing Feb. 26 in Grand Haven.

The board set a special meeting March 23 to evaluate tenured teachers and changed the date of the April 6 meeting to April 13 to avoid a conflict with spring vacation.

Mrs. De Pree Seeks Funds for Schools

Bill Slated in Congress After Holland Protest

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON — Many local school districts in Michigan may get some revenue sharing funds from the protest by Mrs. Deanna De Pree, treasurer of Holland School Board, to her congressman, Guy Vander Jagt.

At present, revenue sharing legislation excluded local school districts from direct receipt of general revenue sharing funds. The primary reason, she explained in an interview, is that in some parts of the country local school districts are politically and fiscally independent of the local units receiving the funds.

Mrs. De Pree, wife of Tom De Pree and the mother of three school age children, got immediate results. The congressman is introducing a bill to include two local school district members on the Advisory Commission on Inter-departmental Relations to help make local school districts eligible for revenue sharing funds.

The Holland School Board member stressed the need for more funds due to the $41 million cut in state-wide educational funds. This, she said, is a greater hardship on some other Michigan school districts than on Holland which is 70 per cent financed locally.

Certain other members of the National School Boards Association, who are especially concerned with federal relations are also seeing their congressmen. They recognize that first Congress must renew revenue sharing legislation and hopefully with changes in the basic law to provide direct funding for local school districts.

In First Women's OCS Quantico-Trained Class

By Helen Wright

Whatever one may think of the whole subject of equal rights for women, many of today's young women hail the opportunity to work to their full physical and mental capacities, in contrast to an older generation that has been conditioned not to compete.

Among the new opportunities open to women in many fields, is that of becoming an officer in the U.S. Marines.

Lt. Laurel Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reinert, 150 East 15th St., is currently Holland's only Marine OCS graduate who also happens to be a woman.

A graduate of West Ottawa High School and the University of Michigan, she has been assigned to Camp Pendleton, Calif., with the First Marine Div., after completing Officer Candidate School at Quantico, Va., in the first class to train at the formerly all-male OCS training center.

Lt. Hull is no Amazon, stretching to reach the 5-foot mark, and weighing not much over 100 pounds, but before she received her orders to report to Quantico, she embarked on a daily regimen of running to toughen up for the expected ordeal.

In reminiscing about her experiences, while on a Christmas leave en route to California, she spoke of the trepidation with which she made the decision to be a Marine.

"All the way to Quantico, I worried about the women I would be training with, figuring them all for hefty, tough types and wondering why I had decided to join. Then when I got to Quantico, I found I was with some of the most interesting, intelligent and charming women I have ever met in my life, and this includes those I met in college."

Laurel stressed that during World War II, when women were accepted in various branches of the Armed Forces, that Women Marines were Marines, not Marine auxiliaries, while women in the Army and Navy were considered as separate groups.

"So, in spite of its rough, tough image as a super-macho corps, the Marines hasn't had as much trouble as the other services, in adapting its program to women," she stated.

The training program which Laurel went through at Quantico was no different than the program for male officer candidates, except in some of the physical training which utilizes the stronger shoulder musculature of men and hand-to-hand combat exercises. However, the women qualified in marksmanship and participated in combat problems as observers.

Since they are Marines, a combat infantry corps, women theoretically are prepared to fight, but as Laurel observed, "If a situation gets to this point, the entire civilian population would be involved, too." She noted that every combat infantryman is backed by a large number of support personnel, who never see combat, and women in all branches of service are expected to make up these support groups, in the main.

Pressed to give an opinion on whether she would fight, the new young Marine said, "It's something I don't really like to think about, killing another human being, but in the reality of such an extreme situation, I think I could handle it as a matter of self-defense."

After completing recruit training and The Basic School at Quantico, training in personnel administration at Parris Island prepared her for her present post at Camp Pendleton, adjuntant in the headquarters company of the First Marine Division, where she is assigned to the Divisional Administration Assistance Team, a job that will entail a lot of travel to Marine bases as a "trouble-shooter."

Looking back on her training, Lt. Hull is obviously proud of her ability to push herself to the limits of her physical strength, which she said was augmented by "more stubborness than stamina."

Typical of the new breed, Lt. Hull feels women should have the opportunity to work at whatever interests them and fits their capabilities, but in the Marines, as in other fields, she says, "Women who are entering now must expect to prove that they are at least twice as good as the men with whom they are competing. That's tough, but is also just as tough for the men."

In glowing health, the bright-eyed new Marine officer is proud of herself for earning her lieutenant's bars, but more proud of being part of the Marine tradition in the new women's Spirit of '76, 1976, that is.

Her California address is: Lt. Laurel A. Hull, 446 Canyon Dr. No. 5, Oceanside, Calif. 92054.

Tells of Gen. Arnold's Ill-Fated Canada Trek

By Helena Winter

"To be remembered as a traitor, one must first have been a hero," said Douglas Marshall about the ill-starred Revolutionary War figure, Benedict Arnold.

Speaking of Arnold's heroic days as commander in 1775 of the expedition leading 1,000 American soldiers north to claim Quebec as the 14th colony, Marshall, curator of maps at William L. Clements Library at the University of Michigan, retraced this hazardous journey in 1973 with five companions and three canoes for Century Club Monday night.

One would be hard put to say which trip was less successful —the 18th century or the 20th century one — for both were fraught with danger, disappointments and lack-luster results, but the telling of the adventures, and misadventures, by the droll, fast-talking Marshall made a marvelous evening of watching and listening.

Marshall began his illustrated lecture with the difficult 90-mile upstream journey on the Kennebec River, then 65 miles of lakes and shallow streams, polluted with logs and other materials, broken by 45 miles of portage across the Maine boundary into Canada; and 120 miles of downstream travel on the Chaudiere River, losing two of their canoes before reaching their destination.

Arnold's journey, similar in route, but in winter rather than summer, in war-time, joined midway by General Richard Burgoyne for support, but arriving sans boats, supplies or artillery, and on the last day of the year, failing to take Quebec. Arnold, injured in the battle, lived on to play other roles in our nation's history.

Jane Vanden Berg, violin student of Terry Moore, accompanied by Cheryl Blodgett, deftly played the lively "Zigeuner Weisen" (Gypsy Airs) by Pablo d'Sarasate.

Dinner and punch were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Donnelly and their committee. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. R. C. Oudersluys.

President W. C. Wichers gave time for the introduction of the guests: Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Dedossky, Dr. and Mrs. Tunis Baker, Miss Doris Muller, Miss Barbara Lampen, Dr. and Mrs. William Vander Lugt, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Nyenhuis, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Bedell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. De Bruyn, and the history and geography students of Hope College and the three local high schools who were present.

Hope Professor Addresses ASWA

Guest speaker at the American Society of Women Accountants dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Warm Friend Motor Inn was Dr. Melvin W. Marju, assistant professor of economics at Hope College.

His topic was "Growing Needs and Shrinking Resources — A Need for Decision." He cited U Thant's statement made a decade ago at the UN that needs were growing, resources shrinking and that a decision would have to be made to solve the problem. Although material progress is normal, this progress has been limited to a small part of the world, the speaker said. In the U.S. we have used resources thinking the supply was endless.

The speaker cited current shortages of energy, food and material and stated that growth will have to slow down and perhaps actually recede. He suggested "person to person" help and restructure of industrial, political, economic and social institutions.

During a business meeting conducted by President Esther Bareman, Miss Shirley Baas reported on tours for high school bookkeeping students on Feb. 2, Feb. 16 and March 1 at Hope College business office, Haworth Corp. and First Michigan Bank and Trust Co. in Zeeland. Sheriff Meets With Holland Labor Council

The sheriff assured the group that when he spoke of the potential dangers of unionizing law enforcement in Michigan he was speaking of the current drive of the Teamsters union to obtain this goal.

He stated it is important that law agencies, unions or any other organizations should not be judged by the actions of some who would discredit their organizations through questionable associations and actions.

"The county sheriff's department," Grysen said, "is the one law enforcement agency which is still directly controlled by the people."

He stated it was his desire it remain that way.

SMOKING BAN

The Michigan legislature is on the verge of passing laws that will ban smoking in parts of various kinds of establishments. They are bills that have been long in coming since the dangerous aspects of smoking were publicized. But now they are virtually law and non-smokers consider themselves just a bit more comfortable.

The bills would curtail smoking in food stores, restaurants and hospitals. Not the entire establishments would be off-limits to smokers, but parts of all kinds of establishments would have places for smokers and leave the rest of the building clean for non-smokers.

There has been some opposition to the proposed laws, especially as they apply to restaurants, because many feel that the imposition against smoking will cut down business. Then there is the somewhat unreasoning insistence of smokers that they should have the right to smoke wherever they are and that non-smokers may leave if they find the smoke unpleasant.

It is a sad commentary that laws must be passed about this sort of thing when it would be so simple to accomplish the same end with a little consideration and some good manners. That, however, seems impractical, and so the laws will have to go on the books. The smoker may feel put upon, but the non-smoker will feel that he is finally being recognized as having some rights also. Once everyone gets used to the new regulations, there should be little hardship and a great deal of contentment for everyone.

Pioneers Turn Back Panthers

By Roger Kuiken

West Ottawa was one point behind before the basketball game even started Tuesday evening, then went on to lose to East Grand Rapids 72-62. A technical foul was called against the Panthers in the pregame warm up for touching the rim.

Although the Pioneers led throughout most of the game, the Panthers did tie the game in the third quarter on a niee shot by steady Jim White at 38-all.

Both teams showed good hustle and a fast brand of basketball, but it was East's two guards in Hank Gignac and Pete Canepa that put on a show. Both guards worked well in the steady press that the Pioneers put on the Panthers.

Coach Chuck Thompson stated that his team's 7-8 record was the worst in some time for an East team, but the Pioneers didn't look like a mediocre team on this night. East took a 20-12 first quarter lead on some fine fast breaks.

The Panthers came storming back and narrowed the gap in the second period however on some nice shooting by White and Clark Laarman, cutting the halftime markin to 35-30 and a good ball game.

The Pioneers gained a little at the end of the third period as they really moved th ball well and were able to get off three or four shots because of their quick rebounding. East owned a 50-42 lead at the end of the third period.

It was still anybody's game in the final quarter, but East's quickness and the guards aggressiveness was the difference. The Panthers had a good night shooting 55 per cent of their shots making 27 of 49. East hit on 39 per cent but took 74 shots, sinking 29 of them.

White had another super game and led the Panthers with 20 points, but not far behind with 17 was Jack Barrett who has been coming on strong for West Ottawa. Laarman had one of his better games, getting 12 points when the Panthers needed them.

Gignac was the leader for the Pioneers with 20 points and Mark Howard had 16 big ones. Howard also had 23 rebounds.

West Ottawa's freshmen dropped their game to East 72-52 and are now 7-6 for the season. Jay Updegraff had 14 points for West Ottawa while Curt Terpstra had 12.

The Panther reserves also lost in a real hard played game to East, 74-70. The little Panthers had a 10-point lead in the third quarter but too many fouls proved costly. Mike Davis had 22 points and Rick Smith 15 for the little Panthers.

West Ottawa travels to league leading Rogers Friday.

West Ottawa (62) — Laarman, 6-0-12; Vander Ploeg, 1-0-2; White, 10-0-20; Barrett, 7-3-17; Hattenhof, 1-0-2; Kelly, 0-3-3; Van Dyke, 0-2-2. Totals 25-7-62.

East Grand Rapids (72)—Gignac, 8-2-20; Canepa, 4-1-9; Howard, 6-4-16; Murphy, 2-0-4; Wolf, 0-2-2; Boyle, 6-0-14; Teakey, 1-0-2; Eaton, 0-2-2; Pachter, 0-2-2. Totals 28-14-72.

Colorful Officers Retire From Force

By Paul Van Kolken

Two colorful police officers, familiar to many Holland residents, have retired from the force and are to be honored by the department at a dinner Feb. 17.

Residents will remember Sgt. Isaac De Kraker and Det. Sgt. Dennis Ende for the work they have done and the contacts made in the course of their work the past 36 and 34 years.

De Kraker will be remembered as one of the examiners in the license bureau when it was operated by the police department and Ende as the tough but gentle detective who was able to bring most any lawbreaker to size with his height and build.

Ende investigated countless complaints including such crimes as homicides, safe burglaries, church robberies, bad checks and more recently narcotics. In addition there were missing persons and lost children.

Ende and his partner, the late Gil Tors, were familiar to many as they were pictured gathering evidence and talking with witnesses or suspects.

His cases included the conviction in 1964 of a Holland auto parts dealer on charges of interstate transportation of stolen autos for which Ende was cited by the FBI and the U. S. attorney.

There was the morals investigation in 1956 that involved City Hall restrooms and the stabbing death in 1957 of an 18-year-old boy by a 17-year-old boy, both from well-known Holland families.

Safe burglaries was one of Ende's specialities and he had enough of them to investigate in the 1950s and 1960s. There was the series in 1958 when Overisel Co-Op, Reliable Garage, Third Church and Brewer's City Coal dock were hit and the series of church burglaries in 1964.

A talkative bandit tossed a brick through a window of a downtown jewelry store in 1962 and stole 22 watches and there was the 1970 shooting of a doctor at his home by his wife.

But Ende has some light moments too. There was the time in 1951 he was pictured on his knees along Eighth St. picking pennies from the curb after a metal container used to collect coins from parking meters got away from another officer and overturned, spilling the coins.

And in 1955, Ende watched as a car, apparently driverless, backed across 12 St., and headed into Centennial Park. Youngsters stopped the car and Ende approached. He opened the door and there was a three-year-old girl stretched out on the front seat. She apparently had crawled into her mother's car, put the key in the ignition and reached the starter with her foot.

And in 1969, Ende traced the theft of two packs of cigarettes to a Hamilton man living in a wooded area of East 32nd St. ending a three-month hideout for the man who was AWOL from the army.

De Kraker perhaps is best remembered by Holland citizens as one of the examiners in the licensed driver bureau when it was operated by the police department.

He would conduct the 15-minute road tests with the applicant.

"If we could make the first half block with an applicant generally we could complete the driver test," De Kraker explained.

There were some times when that half-block was not covered.

There was the applicant whose car was parked in the driveway of the old police station and was asked to back into Eighth St. and prepare for a turn.

"The applicant used a heavy foot on the gas and the car shot backward across the street and almost hit The Sentinel building," he explained.

But De Kraker said he used his heavy foot on the brake and stopped the car before it hit the building. That, he said, was the end of that driver's test.

One of the applicants suffered a heart attack while taking the road test and De Kraker brought the car under control and attempted to revive the person but was unsuccessful.

Then there was the applicant who was asked to read the eye chart which was the size of a bedsheet hanging on the wall.

"What eye chart," De Kraker said the applicant asked.

"And the applicant was serious. At first I thought he was kidding," he said.

The license bureau was operated by the police department until the Secretary of State took over the functions shortly before the police department moved into its present building in 1972.

Before working the license bureau, De Kraker was a patrolman and handled the police desk. On occasion hew as asked to double as a detective before a full time detective bureau was established.

After the driver's license bureau was disbanded, De Kraker became the booking officer in the newly opened jail an was responsible for court arraignments, warrants and jail operations.

In 1975 nearly 400 persons were arraigned in District Court and about 500 subpoenas were issued.

Holland Is Undefeated At Home

By Leo Martonosi

Coach Don Piersma's Holland basketball team was devasting in routing future Big Seven opponent Kalamazoo Central, 77-54 Tuesday night in Fieldhouse.

The Dutch finished their home portion of the 1975 - 76 schedule with a perfect 9 - 0 slate. Holland is now 11 - 3 for the season and the Maroon Giants 3 - 12.

Playing their final home contest for the Dutch were starters Dennis Lawson, Dave Van Wylen, Loren Schrotenboer and Todd De Young. Other seniors on the squad include Tom Borgman, Bill Borgman and Jay Peters.

Playmaker guard T. Borgman didn't start but sparked Piersma's first undefeated home season. Borgman not only set up numerous baskets with fine passes but was six - of - six from the charity lane. And his only bucket, was the most sensational of the evening.

With the Dutch down 28 - 27, T. Borgman drove the entire length of the court to put in two points on a "scoop" shot. His two - pointer gave Holland its first lead of the game. As the shot was in the air, the half time buzzer sounded.

"It was definitely Tom's best game of the season," said a happy Piersma.

The front line of center Loren Schrotenboer, Lawson and Van Wylen tallied 55 of Holland's 77 points. Schrotenboer led the way with 21, Van Wylen gunned in a career high 19 and Lawson contributed 15.

Guard Tim Clysdale, in his first start of the season, managed 12 for the Maroon Giants.

Kalamazoo Central hit on 50 per cent of its attempts from the floor in the opening quarter, to grab a surprising 18 - 14 lead. However, with T. Borgman working his head off, the Dutch battled back to hold the upper hand at the intermission.

The second half was all Holland, as they outscored the visitors, 19 - 9 in the third stanza and 29 - 17 in the final eight minutes.

Schrotenboer matched his uniform number by tipping in a missed shot at the outset of the fourth quarter to make the score 50 - 39 in favor of Holland. B. Borgman closed out the scoring for the Dutch by sinking two baskets.

The red - hot shooting Dutch, connected on 32 of 59 tries for a blistering 54 per cent clip. The Maroon Giants were 23 of 65 for 35 per cent.

There were only 23 total turnovers in the well played game. Holland had a season low 10 and Kalamazoo Central 13.

"I really don't know why it seems to take us a while to get going, I'm just glad that eventually we do get things to go our way," Piersma commented. "Kalamazoo's slow down offense was very effective against us in the first half but once we started to run it was another ball game."

Former Hope College and Kalamazoo Central cager, Brian Vriesman was sitting four rows behind the Maroon Giants bench.

The Dutch journey to Niles Friday night.

Kevin Beerthuis and Del Dozeman dropped in 18 and 16 counters in that order for the Dutch, now 10 - 4 for the season. K. C. is 13 - 1.

CLASS MEMERS REVIEW INSTRUCTIONS BEFORE TAPING INTERVIEWS

Local Citizens Learn Cablevision Techniques

By Susan Gates

With CATV, a new cablevision system to serve Holland and Zeeland, scheduled to start broadcasting sometime in mid-March, local residents are boning up on how to use the service to its fullest extent.

CATV will offer three community channels reserved for local educational, governmental and community individuals and organizations. To help the community utilize these channels, the Hope College Communication Department is offering a workshop in Community Television Programming and Production.

Area school teachers, government employes, library workers, ministers, and people active in church and community organizations such as the Junior Welfare League, and the League of Women Voters, plus a liberal sprinkling of Hope College students, comprise the greater number of persons participating in this program.

Many of the students were recruited when Hope sent out some 125 letters to community groups inviting them to participate. The 15 - week course costs $70 per credit hour for college credit or $25 per semester for audit credit.

None of the townspeople have had tv broadcasting experience although many have been interviewed on tv programs such as Accent, according to Dr. Ted Nielsen, associate professor of Communications at Hope and course instructor.

Dr. Nielsen, who has had professional experience in both broadcast and cable communications, said that the class is set up to give participants experience operating tv cameras, interviewing, being interviewed, writing, producing, and directing.

The class members will participate in three projects. The class is divided into groups of two for the first project, with members interviewing each other for five minutes while the rest of the class takes turns operating cameras and sound equipment and directing.

For the second project, each person must prepare a seven-minute demonstration or illustrated talk, providing the director with a television script and camera instructions.

Nine teams will be organized for the final project, a 15-minute program with students choosing their own topic relevant to the Holland community and presenting it in a structured television format.

The past couple of weeks, the class members have been working on their first projects, taking turns interviewing their partners in Hope College's studio.

"You're really nervous at first but after awhile it goes away," said Jodi Syens after being in front of the class cameras. "Its worse while they're setting up, you just sit there with the lights on you" she stated.

Mrs. Syens, the administrative aide to the city manager, mentioned that the city is planning to produce "some kinds of productions, televising council meetings, etc."

Tom Slikkers, a part time student at Hope didn't find using the television camera too difficult technically. He said "you only use two or three shots, once you get that set you just switch back and forth. The rest of the time you just stand there."

The hard part about operating the tv cameras is figuring out when to do what. "It's crazy, commented Ray Riedsma, "you hear everything that's being said over the head phones and you have to sort out what you're supposed to do."

Riedsma is currently the personel and sales manager of the Board of Public Works, and is also the secretary of the Holland Cable Advisory Commission, which functions as the liason between City Council and Continental Cablevision, Inc.

The commission is made up of representatives from community government; education, Hope College, local public and Christian schools; minorities and other groups, Reidsma said.

"The original thrust of the Council - appointed commission, according to Donald Ihrman, its chairman, "was to review the contract between Continental and City Council. It ironed out details, made recommendations and presented the contract to the city."

When the cable system starts opperating, the commission will "make recommendations about programming and rate increases; study, assess and evaluate any details of operation, or of the contract" Ihrman said.

A representative of Continental told Reidsma that customers could expect to start hooking up within a month. He also said the supporting cable was all laid and when one third of the regular cable is laid, the company will start broadcasting. This is estimated to be completed by mid - March.

It is not known who will be in charge of coordinating the operation of the local channels, or when and how organizations and individuals can obtain air time. According to Dr. Nielsen some stations have a program director and others have a board to decide these things on a day to day basis.

"The company will bring in 12 channels, all the stations around here; Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek; three independent stations, (one from Detroit and two from Chicago), plus provide Holland with three channels, one each for municipal government, education and public access," said Dr. Nielsen. It will also provide a studio, cameras and air time for citizens for programming on a local origination channel.

Nielsen sees cable broadcast becoming increasingly important as more tv broadcast frequencies are needed for emergencies.

Another reason for the increased popularity of cablevision, according to Nielsen is that it is a lot cheaper to set up a cable studio.

"We (at Hope) really have the only set up studio in town. Our cameras downstairs are not technically capable of going on the air but they are fine for cablecasting," Nielsen commented.

He concluded "the easy part is the electronics, the hard part is allocating time and deciding what kind of thing goes on."

Christian Ends Losing Ways

By Rich Wolters

Holland Christian returned to the Civic Center Friday night after playing five of its last six basketball games on the road, and found the friendly home court to their liking. The Maroons ended their three-game losing streak by defeating Hudsonville Unity Christian, 74-67. In the season opener Christian downed Unity by nearly an identical score, 75-67.

Except for a 2-2 tie the Crusaders, paced by Brian Van Tubergan, were in the lead the entire first quarter, which ended 17-13. Van Tubergan tallied nine points in the period.

Mark Van Dyke and Dave "Leemo" Van Langevelde scored quickly for the Maroons to knot the score. Unity came right back with four points by Doug Haveman. Christian again tied the game at 21, 23 and 25, before Van Langevelde gave his team the lead for the first time, 30-29, by hitting a pair of free throws. Gary Lokers countered for Unity with a couple from the stripe to put Unity on top for the last time. Van Dyke's third bucket of the period allowed the Maroons to hold a 32-31 halftime edge.

Deadly accuracy at the free throw line kept the Crusaders on top most of the half, as they connected on nine of 10 at the stripe. Christian also hit well, making six of nine.

Two baskets by Tom Zoerhof and one each by Van Dyke and Joel Vogelzang upped Christian's margin to 40-33, and although Unity scored the next five points, Christian spurted to a 14-4 advantage for the remainder of the quarter, making the score 54-42 after three periods of play. Van Dyke hit three buckets in the surge, and Van Langevelde and Vogelzang two each.

The Crusaders made a couple of runs at the Maroons to close within five, but Christian was not going to be denied the win. With 3.57 left Vogelzang scored the Maroons' final basket of the game, making the score 64-57. Unity, in trying to get back in the game, repeatedly fouled the Maroons in the closing minutes, and Christian came through at the line for their last 10 points. Christian connected on 14 of 16 free throw tries in the fourth quarter.

Van Dyke, who lost his starting job this week, may have won it back, as he turned in his best game of the year, scoring 21 points and taking down 11 rebounds. Van Langevelde, playing below par with a back injury sustained in the Creston game Tuesday, still popped in 16, 11 in the first half, and when he tapered off in the second half, Vogelzang picked up the slack with 12 of his 16 counters. Vogelzang also took 13 off the boards, tops for both teams, as he, too, had one of his best games in recent weeks. Zoerhof also hit double figures with 10.

Van Tubergan had a game-high 22 for Unity, including nine in each of the first and fourth stanzas. Haveman helped with 12 and Bob Brink ended with 11.

Christian hit on 27 of 64 shots from the floor for 42 per cent, and made 20 of 30 free throws. They committed 16 turnovers, and hauled down 41 rebounds. Unity was 24 of 65 for 37 per cent, and 19 of 25 from the line, with 18 turnovers and 31 rebounds.

Unity's reserve team eked out a 53-51 verdict over the Maroons. Christian held a 14-11 quarter lead, while the Crusaders led 30-27 at the half and 45-40 at the end of three periods.

Jim Aukman paced Unity with 20 points. Craig Wierda took scoring honors for the Marons with 13. Brian Broekhuizen and Jim Tuls were right behind with 12.

Holland Christian (74) — Van Langevelde, 6-4-16; Vogelzang, 7-2-16; Geerlings, 0-0-0; Boeve, 3-5-5; Zoerhof, 5-0-10; Van Dyke, 9-3-21; De Jonge, 0-4-4; Vander Ploeg, 0-2-2. Totals 27-20-74.

Jenison Bombs Panthers 72-54

JENISON — West Ottawa played on even terms with the Jenison Wildcats for one period, then faded out and lost their 11th basketball game of the season against two wins Friday night by a 72 - 54 score.

The hard press put on by the Wildcats caused West Ottawa to turn the ball over 35 times in all and the Panthers shooting at 27 per cent didn't help matters either.

Jack Barrett kept the Panthers even in the first quarter on some fine shooting with the score deadlocked at 13 - all. But the Wildcats moved the ball well and they jumped out to a 37 - 27 halftime lead that West Ottawa couldn't overcome.

Jenison displayed a good fast break in the third period along with an effective press and moved well out in front, 59 - 40. The big gun for Jenison was Steve Van Surksum who ended up with 21 points on some fine outside shooting.

Defensively, the Panthers Jim White played an outstanding game on the boards and also led West Ottawa in scoring with 17 points. Barrett scored all 13 of his points in the first half, and Clark Laarman had his best night hitting for 12 points.

Jenison's record in the Big Red Division now stands at 6 - 3 to keep them in contention. The Wildcats have been a hot and cold team this season. However, they have beaten the Panthers twice.

Both of West Ottawa's wins have been over Rockford, who has yet to win a conference game. The Wildcats shot 0 of 7-4 for a respectable 42 percentage overall and were guilty of 19 turnovers in the game.

The West Ottawa reserves lost 70 - 56 to Jenison. In the prior meeting of the two schools, the Panthers won. The reserves now have a 3 - 10 record for the season.

The good news for West Ottawa was the playing of the freshmen team of coach Randy Johnson. The Panthers beat the Wildcats 60 - 50 and it was the first loss in seven games for the little Wildcats. Jay Updegraff led the Panthers with 18 points.

West Ottawa (54) — Van Dyke, 0-2-2; Haltenhof, 0-3-3; Klein, 1-0-2; White, 7-3-17; Barrett, 6-1-13; Vander Ploeg, 0-5-5; Laarman, 5-2-12. Totals 19-16-54.

Grant Awarded Hope Professor

Brooks Wheeler, assistant professor of classics in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures at Hope College, has been awarded a $500 grant by the committee on Classical Humanities in the American Republic of the American Philological Association.

The grant will allow Prof. Wheeler to bring lecturers to the Hope campus during 1976 to discuss aspects of the classical influence on early America. The grant will defray expenses of the main speaker at the spring meeting of Michigan Classical Conference, state organization for teachers of classics.

The grant reflects Prof. Wheeler's concern for strengthening of programs in classics on small college and secondary school levels. In 1972 he was a participant in a national conference, sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities, on teaching innovations in the smaller classics department. He has served on the executive committee of the Classicists in the Great Lakes Colleges Association of which Hope College is a member, and has held a variety of positions in the Michigan Classical Conference.

Two Board Of Public Works Employes Retire

A customer service clerk who greeted thousands of Board of Public Works customers in her 30-year career is one of two persons who retired from the BPW Friday.

Marguerite Boer, known to many as Marnie, began with the BPW Nov. 24, 1945, and in her role as receptionist in the City Hall offices probably has greeted more newcomers to Holland than any other person.

Also retiring was Otis Stepp with nearly 24 years of service with the electric distribution department. He began May 1, 1952 and for many years was responsible for changing street lights and traffic signals.

Marnie Boer came in contact with newcomers who went to the BPW offices for utility service.

But seasonal customers who vacationed in Holland during the summers would send her a note a few days before arriving to request electrical service be restored to the cottages.

Holland residents heading for Florida for the winter would contact her for assistance if needed to assure a safe home.

In 1945 when she started there were 5,700 residential electric customers and today the number has nearly doubled.

Mobility of people has caused an increase in the number of orders which she processed in a day. It was not uncommon for her to take care of as many orders in a single day that might have been written in a month 25 years ago.

GUESTS OF HONOR — When the local DAR chapter celebrates America's Bicentennial on Feb. 15, the event also will honor these three women who have given a total of 178 years of service to the DAR. Seated is Mrs. Almon T. Godfrey, 61 years a member, and standing, at left, Mrs. Richard F. Keeler, 62 years, and Mrs. Harold P. McLean, 55 years. (Sentinel photo)

Years of Service Bring Honors to DAR Members

It is proper and fitting that one of Holland's early Bicentennial celebrations this year is being staged by local members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, all of whom trace their ancestry to that struggle for freedom which enabled the U.S. to have birthdays.

And it is proper, too, that three venerable members of local Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter, DAR, will be honored at that affair. Their combined service and devotion to the DAR and its principles total 178 years.

Mrs. Richard F. Keeler, Mrs. Almon T. Godfrey and Mrs. Harold P. McLean will be appropriately honored when the DAR stages a community Bicentennial celebration Sunday, Feb. 15, at Holland High School. Featured will be the Living End Singers in a lively patriotic concert. Mrs. Dwight Yntema is chairman of the membership awards committee.

Longest membership, 62 years, belongs to Mrs. Keeler. The former Grace C. Corrazzi, daughter of Harry B. Corrazzi and Nelia Almira Rogers, she was born in Detroit March 22, 1884, and came to Holland in 1927 when her late husband became manager of Mead-Johnson Co. in Zeeland. A graduate of Eastern Michigan University, She taught school in Reed City, Geneva, N.Y., and Evansville, Ind.

She joined DAR in 1913 and has five times served the local chapter as regent. Mrs. Keeler traces five of her ancestors to Revolutionary service. One of them, Hugh Jameson, born in Belfast, Ireland, with ancestors traced to Glasgow, Scotland, came to America in 1740, first settling in Londonderry, N.Y. He was an original settler of Starstown, N.H., now called Dunbarton, a name probably associated with Dunbarton Castle, from which his ancestors came.

An expert on genealogy, Mrs. Keeler was honored by the Holland Genealogical Society last year as a pioneer genealogist in the area. She still continues her research and deserves credit for supervising recording of all cemeteries in Ottawa county and some in Allegan. She has contributed much valuable genealogical material to the State, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Holland libraries. She also is an expert authority on flag etiquette.

Zadock Turner, a private from Northfield, Mass., is the Revolutionary ancestor of Mrs. Godfrey, who joined the local DAR chapter in 1914 and has been active for 61 years.

She was born Harriet M. Free in Russell, Pa., on March 29, 1882, to Andrew Paton Free and Hattie Noble Turner Free. She came to Michigan in 1884 and attended Hope Preparatory School here.

It was her husband, Dr. Almon T. Godfrey, whom she married in 1904, who sparked her interest in DAR. He was interested in genealogy and had traced his own family tree. Her DAR friends, Maibelle Geiger, Laura Boyd and Lida Rogers, whose community contributions are remembered by many, also encouraged her membership.

Rena Raven McLean, a native of Holland was born June 27, 1893, to John Hamilton Raven and N. Katie Holmes Raven. Her Revolutionary ancestor was Miles Cook, a private and drummer from Connecticut who served from 1780 to 1783. Her grandfather, Lucien J. Raven, was a Michigan pioneer who lived most of his married life (70 years) on a farm near Hartford. He was friendly with the Indians and was appointed an interpreter for the Indians by the government.

Mrs. McLean attended Holland Schools, including Hope College, and was graduated from Western Michigan University. She taught in Lansing and Holland. In 1920 she married Harold P. McLean, whose mother, Ida Sears McLean, organized Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter, DAR, in 1908 and served as its first regent until 1913. Rena's sister, Floy Adele Raven, was an early member, and her daughter, the late Mary Kathleen McLean, also was active in the local chapter. Mrs. McLean has been an active member for 55 years.

The regent's pin, worn by Mrs. McLean in the picture, belonged to her mother-in-law, and has "Ida Sears McLean" engraved on the back.

The same ideals of service to their country which led to founding of the DAR in 1890 has motivated these three longtime members to continue their devotion to and active participation in this honored organization. They are dedicated to the preservation of American history and heritage, the promotion of patriotism and providing of broader educational opportunities.

Not only do these and other DAR women look back with pride on DAR accomplishments in these areas, but look forward with determination to further these interests and to guard zealously the freedoms which their ancestors and others dearly bought but which are constantly challenged from within and without the nation.

Cornies Corner

For a change of pace, let's pick up some stories from past columns which may stir some memories and even jimmy the funnybone. The column started in the late 40s when the late Ken Allen was city editor of The Sentinel. After he left in 1950 for Minnesota, the staff kept the column going.

In the early days, the column was called Volleys from Ambush and had a fancy logo, courtesy of Verne Hohl. When the plate was tossed into the scrap one sad day, Volleys from Ambush appeared in less classy artwork. Then for a time, it ran under Volleys.

Then around early 1973, a good guy of the composing room suggested "Cornie's Corner" and lots more contributions trickled in. After changing the name, the composing room makeup man has observed that the column often failed to make a corner.

A column in September, 1974, about Watson Spoelstra, former Holland chap who started out as a Sentinel carrier, then worked on sports and news here before going to Detroit where he hit bigtime in sports, probably brought more response than any other item through the years.

Waddy, who organized baseball chapel for the major leagues, quit sports writing in 1973 to devote fulltime to his own public relations business as well as handling publicity for Evangelist Bill Glass. It was in 1957 that he completely changed his lifestyle, joined church and gave up drinking, after his daughter Ann was miraculously cured of what had been diagnosed as a critical brain hemorrhage.

It was late in 1972 that genial Bill Wichers was absoluteiy stopped.

That was when Dr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale of New York City came to Hope College for the dedication of Peale Science Center. Sitting over coffee in the Presidents room in Graves Hall, Dr. Peale was looking at portraits of past presidents and spoke of the marked resemblance between Bill Wichers and Dr. Wynand Wichers, a former Hope president.

One person thought they were cousins, another was sure Bill was a nephew. Then Dr. Peale called over to Bill, "Bill, is Dr. Wynand Wichers your son?" The late Dr. Wichers really was Bill's uncle.

From April, 1949:

When Coach Lars Granberg of the Hope College track and cross country team called the college library, he asked, "Is Collins Ottipoby in the library?"

After an unusually long pause, the student librarian said, "It is not listed under Collins or Ottipoby, so I guess we don't have it."

Ottipoby said, "I refuse to be put on the shelf."

From July, 1952:

Young Chang Chun, who was a student at Western Theological Seminary when war broke out in Korea in 1950, writes from Pusan that most of the 50 tulip bulbs sent the previous fall, had bloomed and caused quite a sensation.

He had planted them in the yard of Rev. Kim, also a Western Seminary graduate. Even the secretary of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry asked to have one tulip displayed in his office.

Chun had left almost immediately for Korea when the war broke out and it was some time later that he found his wife and two children. At the time he wrote, he was working in a hospital dispensary and preaching.

From January, 1953:

The visit of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard was a highlight of 1952 in Holland. Thousands of people lined the streets for their arrival. Brief outdoor ceremonies were held at City Hall where school children sang and klompen dancers performed. More than 1,500 crowded into Hope Memorial Chapel for a reception. It was in this chapel where Juliana, then a princess, received an honorary degree in 1941.

(Prince Bernhard was awarded a degree in the same school when he visited Holland in 1965 for the dedication of Windmill Island.)

The Volleys potshot which attracted the most attention in 1952 was a gem contributed by Junius Wood, the former foreign correspondent, from his retreat in Waukazoo. Wrote Junius:

"Is this W—O—O—D?" spelling out the name.

"That's right," the spelling being correct.

"Sorry, but it's too old to change now."

"What do you want me to do about it" thinking this was a new baby sitter gag.

A pause followed without the expected advice to turn out the light or go out and look at the moon.

"No, it's Wood in Holland."

"Is this WOOD — TV?"

"No, Wood-JB."

That may have improved the picture. The telephone clicked and the caller was gone.

Some 1952 Daffynitions from the Pontiac Press:

Diplomat: A man who can make his wife believe she would look fat in a fur coat.

Highbrow: A person who likes a thing so long as he knows you don't.

Profits: Yesterday's good will — ripened.

Hamilton Nips Eagles To Even Out Cage Mark

HAMILTON — Hamilton's basketball team evened out its season slate at 7-7 by nipping Hudsonville, 73-71 here Friday night.

The win was the second this season over the Eagles. Hamilton is now 6-3 in the league and Hudsonville 4-5.

Hudsonville enjoyed 10 point leads in the first, second and third periods before Hamilton's wicked press coused the Eagles to turn the ball over.

"Roger Rooks did an outstanding job in making our press work," claimed Hamilton mentor Wayne Tanis. "Gary Immink, Matt Folkert and Jerry Overbeek did the job on offense for us."

Overbeek gunned in 10 field goals for a team high 20 points while Immink scored 14 of his in the second half. Folkert, who was nine-for-nine from the charity lane, finished with 19 counters.

Joe Shoemaker poured in 22 points, Wink Vanden Heuvel 16, Dave Schut 15 and Gary Van Geest 10 for the Eagles.

The first period ended 14-14 and the second had Hudsonville up by one point, 35-34. After three periods, the Hawkeyes led, 59-56.

Once again, the Hawks won the game at the free throw line, as they made 13 of 17 compared to only seven of 13 for Hudsonville. Hamilton had 17 fouls and Hudsonville 18.

Hamilton's reserves won its eighth game in 14 starts, 57-50. Dan Sale and Dave Clason scored 17 and 16 points respectively for the Hawkeyes.

Hudsonville's fine freshmen team (13-1) trimmed the Little Hawks, 66-54. Randy Kalmink, Don Schra and Randy Klingenberg tallied 15, 14, and 12 markers in that order for the Hawks, now 7-7 for the winter.

Piersma Hopes Results Are The Same After 10th Victory

By Leo Martonosi

Coach Don Piersma and his Holland cagers, hope that the results will be the same as they were after they first played Portage Central.

Back on Dec. 9, after the Dutch smashed the Spartans, 67-36, Piersma's outfit smashed off eight consecutive wins. And eight in a row at this time, would give Holland the Big Seven championship and a torrid 17-3 record heading into the state district tournament.

By the way, the Dutch ripped the Spartans for the second time Friday night in the Fieldhouse, 62-40. The victory gives Holland a 7-1 league and 10-3 overall mark. The losers are 1-6 in the loop and 6-8 for the season.

Friday's win for Holland, was not as easy as in the first meeting. It was pretty evident that the Dutch were still smarting from that crunching two point loss to Grand Haven on Tuesday.

After hitting on 50 per cent of their shots in the first period, the Dutch only managed two of 11 in the second quarter for an 18 per cent clip. At the half, Holland was on top, 27-23.

Portage Central swished three quick buckets at the start of the third stanza when Piersma switched his club to a zone defense. After that, the Mustangs only hit eight of 36 shots. The Dutch were 15 of 29 during that time.

Dennis Lawson's steal for a basket, put Holland up 37-31. Russ Van Duine's two-pointer closed the margin to 37-33. However, Portage couldn't hit the side of a barn as the Dutch pumped in the next 14 points to grab a commanding 51-33 advantage.

Two of Holland's substitutes—Frank Petersen and Steve Van Tongeren laid in pretty fielders in the closing seconds. Petersen's came on a nice move and Van Tongeren's on a tip in.

Loren Schrotenboer finished with 17 points, Lawson 15 and Dave Van Wylen 12. The 6'8" Van Duine dropped in 19 for Portage.

Holland ended the evening with a 44 per cent mark from the field (24 of 54) compared to an icy 28 per cent for the Mustangs (19 of 67).

"We definitely were down from the Grand Haven game," said Piersma. "Our zone defense did the job again and the funny thing is, we don't even practice it."

Coach Don Johnson's reserve Dutch team got revenge from an earlier defeat by tripping the Mustangs, 42-39. David Cyrus threw in 13 points and Kevin Beerthuis 10 for Holland.

The reserves are 9-4 for the season.
