E. B. M. Westerhof has sold his place on Twenty third street to G. W. Kooyers and others, and they also purchased two acres adjoining thereto of J. A. Kooyers. This property is located on the heights overlooking the city and will probably soon be platted and offered for sale by lots or in parcels.

There will be another building boom in Holland this spring. The established manufacturing institutions have increased the demand for dwelling houses and a number will be built, especially in the southwestern part of the city. Owners of property on Eighth street are figuring on erecting several brick buildings.

The entertainment given at the Lyceum opera house last Friday evening was a decided success. It was of a dramatic and musical nature and the different numbers were given by the pupils of Miss Bessie Belle Thew, the elocutionist, and a children's class trained by Miss Stella Clarke. Every number on the program was exceptionally good.

Attorney Frank B. Cook of Muskegon has far from recovered from the terrible injury to his jaw which he sustained by falling into the hold of the steel dredge in Grand Haven last fall. He has lost all of his lower teeth and part of his upper and pieces of bone from the jaw keep coming out. He will have his examination for subordination of perjury in Justice Pagel's court Feb. 15, at Grand Haven.

At a meeting of the committees appointed to canvass the congregations of the Ninth street and the Central Avenue Christian Reformed churches regarding the building of another church for the holding of services in English, the Ninth street church committee reported that sixty-nine people favored the plan of re-organization. Two-thirds of this number are heads of families and the remainder are young people. The Central Avenue church committee did not submit its report but will do so at a meeting to be held next week.

An important position taken by the inspectors of steamboats, is that they may hereafter anticipate the expiration of licenses of masters, engineers and pilots thirty days ahead of the actual expiration and renew the papers during the winter when business is dull. This will enable licensed officers to renew their papers three months ahead of their expiration, or before they leave their home ports in the spring, thus doing away with the trouble and annoyance of returning to the inspectors their paper for renewal. Many of the papers run out in April, May and June and during this time the office force of the supervising inspector is over-crowded and the new move was to shift a large part of this work into the dull months as well as to make it easier for the officers whose licenses need renewing. This new rule will go into effect in about two weeks, or immediately after the proceedings of the supervisors have been complied by the secretary and printed.

Dosker to deliver an address here the latter part of the month on the work of the Dutch Alliance. If he cannot come an effort will be made to secure the services of the Rev. K. Van Goor of the Ninth street Christian Reformed church of that city.—Muskegon Chronicle.

The mystery connected with the insane man who was found nearly frozen to death in Jamestown last week, has been cleared up. His right name is Charles Healey, and he is from Grand Rapids. Healey struck Grand Rapids last November and after working steadily in the Leifelt machine shops, disappeared about two weeks ago. Many of the employees at the shop had noticed Healey's strange manner and his hobby for religion had been commented upon. As soon as the stranger had been landed in jail Sheriff Dykhuis came to the conclusion that he was from Grand Rapids, and he notified Sheriff Chapman of Kent. The latter's deputies after a day's search got trace of the man's identity. The identity of the man having been conclusively proven he was brought before Probate Judge Kirby and after being adjudged insane was taken to Kalamazoo by Deputy Sheriff Hans Dykhuis. As Healey has not been a resident of this county a year, he will be a state charge in the asylum.

Jacob Van Dyke of Laketown has bought the residence of Henry Zwemer on West Thirteenth street. Mr. Zwemer has purchased 300 feet frontage on Eighth street near the Beach Milling company and intends going in the wood and coal business before long, the property being well adapted for a good yard.

A dispatch from Grand Haven says that Grand Haven people have practically given up all hope of the Grand Haven public building bill passing at this session of congress. Every year for 25 years now Grand Haven has had a public building bill before congress and as many times has she been turned down. The town is certainly deserving of a government building. The following federal offices are located in the town: Postoffice, custom house, steamboat inspector's office, superintendent of life saving stations for the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, superintendent of harbors, United States weather bureau, United States marine hospital and a warehouse for government supplies. At the present time these different offices are scattered about the town, paying in some cases a heavy rental.

There has been an intimation from certain quarters that Lieutenant Reynolds' recent visit to Ludington might not be altogether without its significance in the matter of the appointment of two keepers for the new life saving stations which will be opened next season at South Manitou Island and Sleeping Bear Point. It is believed by some that a Ludington man will secure at least one of these appointments. Surfmán Berndt Carlsson, No. 1 of the Ludington station, has been in continuous and faithful service at this point for thirteen years and would probably be the logical candidate for promotion. As yet, however, there has been no official proclamation, only it is known that the work of the Ludington lifesavers in the two recent straddlings of Pere Marquette steamers is fully appreciated by the officials of the life saving service, and it is not unlikely that recognition in some shape will be forthcoming at an early date.—Ludington Record.

Strawberry Culture

By A. G. Van Hoes of Zeeland

Any soil that will raise corn from fifty to seventy five bushels per acre will produce strawberries. Planting strawberries in the fall will usually result in a failure. Plow and manure the soil in the fall previous to the depth of seven or eight inches. If you can subsoil it, so much as ad as the roots go from 12 to 18 inches deep if they have a chance, which is very beneficial in times of draught as subsoiling helps to retain the moisture if the surface is properly cultivated, otherwise it may become an injury.

For field cultivation the rows should be from 3 1/2 to 4 feet apart, for matted rows of 5 to 6 in ches, or three feet apart for hill culture, the plants should be set from 20 to 24 in the row. A narrow spade thrust into the ground perpendicularly and moved forward and backward make the best kind of a hole to plant in. The roots must be spread out and poked solid. Much complaint is being heard of plants dying after being set, the probabilities are that this is due to the plants being exposed to the wind and sun. A few moments of such exposure will kill the roots. If plants that have an imperfect flower are used as the Bushack, Crescent, Greenville, Warfield and Sample etc., at least every third row should be planted with a bisexual variety, some have good results by mixing them in the rows. To have good success with the fertilization of the different varieties care must be taken not to use early varieties with the late, as the Clyde and Crescent is good. For the Bushack take Parker Earl, and for late, the Michigan for the Sample, and for the Warfield and Haverland take the Wm. Belt or Cumberland. In propagating plants from plants which have not had any fruit, there is danger that the plants have a tendency to sterility or impotency and may have lost vitality, and it is very dangerous to take plants for a new planting from an old fruit bed which has run out. The best way to propagate plants is to do it yourself, get some pedigree plants from a trustworthy dealer and keep the plants which show fruit buds and mark them which have to be taken out to start new plants.

NEIGHBORING TOWNS.

West Olive

It was the ground hog that made your correspondent homesick of cutting wood. Someone ought to shoot the hog in order to keep the roads open so we can go to church.

Mr. Friedrich is certainly doing more business this winter than any other man around here. Four carloads of stone and a large amount of lumber and shingles arrived Monday for his barn which will be 40x50 ft. It is said that hundreds of people from Chicago will spend the resort season at Friedrich Point, which is the name of the place. We will need a company of mounted Irish policemen if the rush is overwhelming.

Fred King an employee of the Holland City Mills is at home near Port Sheldon this week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe King.

Abeyersand Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ver Hoeks returning Monday.

The Methodist church is still alive and well. The revival conducted by Rev. W. H. Holcomb at the Ottawa school house last month was very successful. One reason is that some of the people keep Saturday and then others are at loss to know which is the right day to keep. When denominations quarrel among themselves they can't expect to make converts.

John Jackson, one of Olive's veteran bachelors is living in Fred Lick's house this winter. It is far better for us not to visit him on account of his dog, who is ready to give anyone a mark of the beast, old maids included.

A prayer meeting was held at the residence of Wm. Marble by the Adventists Tuesday night.

Who will be our next president, Roosevelt or Schley?

James Kole of Holland was looking for sugar beet stock in our township last Wednesday.

The boys of Mr. John Schuurman are mourning over the loss of their ferret. It was a very nice animal and of great service in hunting rabbits.

Our sick people are slowly recovering. Some are able to be around again.

Ventura

Sleighting is good.

A merry crowd from here went to Holland last Monday evening to call on Al Van den Burg, Sixth street. The evening was passed in playing games and listening to music and singing. Elaborate refreshments were served. All had a delightful time and returned to Ventura in the early morning. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cochran, E. Whaley, Miss Whaley and Miss Nellie Dolph.

Henry Whaley has returned to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. E. A. Whaley is visiting friends in Grand Rapids.

"In three weeks our chubby little boy was changed by Pneumonia almost to a skeleton," writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, O. Gentlemen: some personal experience enables me to heartily recommend the use of Henry & Johnson's Arnica and Oil Liniment. For external application in cases of sprains and bruises it is unquestionably excellent. It takes hold and gives relief. This is not a guess, but a word of testimony.

EDWARD HAWES, D. D.
Dr. Hawes was for many years pastor of the First Church, Burlington, Vt. His testimony is the testimony of all who use the Arnica and Oil Liniment. It never fails to give satisfaction. Sold by all druggists at 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage, given by Emulous Brown of the township of Olive, Ottawa, State of Michigan, to John D. Everhard and George E. Kollen, of Ottawa County, Michigan, dated the fourteenth day of April, A. D., 1899, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ottawa County Michigan, on the 17th day of April A. D. 1899 in Liber 69 of Mortgages on page 197 on which mortgage contains a power of sale that has become operative by said default which also contains a stipulation that in the event of non-payment of the principal sum and the interest, or any part thereof, at the time and in the manner and at the place specified in said mortgage to be made, then the interest thereon shall become principal and sixty days thereafter the whole amount shall become due and payable. And whereas default has been made in the payment of the principal and the interest, as set forth and specified in said mortgage, and part of said principal and said interest has been in default for more than sixty days after the same became due and payable, therefor the entire amount of three hundred sixty six dollars $366 has become due and payable, together with twenty-five dollars attorney fee, provided for by law and in said mortgage; and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been had to recover said amount so due or any part thereof. Now therefore, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the mortgaged premises at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the third day of March, A. D. 1902, at three o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the north front door of the Ottawa County Court House, in the city of Grand Haven, Ottawa County, Michigan, to satisfy said sum due on said mortgage, with costs of foreclosure and sale.

Said mortgaged premises are situated in the township of Olive, Ottawa County Michigan and are described as the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 8, township 3, north of range 15 west, containing 80 acres of land.

CITY IN ASHES.

Fire Sweeps Paterson, N. J., and Brings Loss of $10,000,000—Business and Other Houses in Ruins.

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 10.—A great fire swept through Paterson Sunday, and in its desolate wake are the embers and ashes of property valued in preliminary estimate at $10,000,000. It burned its way through the business section of the city and claimed as its own a majority of the finer structures devoted to commercial, civic, educational and religious use, as well as scores of houses. There was but small tribute of life and injury to the conflagration, but hundreds were left homeless and thousands without employment. A relief movement for the care of those unsheltered and unprovided for has already been organized, and Mayor John Henschel said that Paterson would be able to care for her own without appealing to the charity of other communities and states. The great manufacturing plants of the place are safe, and the community, temporarily dazed by the calamity, has already commenced the work of reorganization and restoration.

TREATY IS MADE PUBLIC.

Text of the Agreement for the Cession of Danish West Indies to United States.

TO BE A LAW AFTER RATIFICATION.

Contain Careful Safeguards for the Protection of the Future of the Islanders—Residents Permitted to Continue Allegiance to the King if They So Desire.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The text of the treaty for the cession of the Danish West Indies to the United States has been made public. It provides that the islands shall become the property of this country immediately upon the exchange of ratifications of the treaty. Careful safeguards are thrown about the safety of the islanders, an especial provision being that they need not forswear allegiance to Denmark.

The treaty is signed by Secretary of State Hay in behalf of the United States and by Minister Brun on the part of Denmark. It says:

The Agreement.

His majesty the king of Denmark agrees to cede to the United States immediately upon the exchange of the ratifications of this convention the islands of St. Thomas, St. John and Saint Croix in the West Indies, with the adjacent islands and rocks, comprising in said cession all title and claims of title to the territories in and about said islands over which the crown of Denmark now exercises, asserts or claims jurisdiction.

Full Sovereignty.

This cession conveys to the United States the said islands and appurtenances in full sovereignty entire and unencumbered except as stipulated in the present convention, with all the dominion, rights and powers which Denmark now possesses, exercises, asserts and claims therein; it being, however, understood and agreed that the consummation of said cession does not import the transference to the United States of the financial claims now held by Denmark against the colonial treasuries of the islands.

Retain Rights of Property.

Danish subjects residing in said island may retain therein or remove therefrom at will, retaining in either event all their rights of property, including the right to sell or dispose of such property or its proceeds. In case they remain in the islands they shall continue, until otherwise provided, to enjoy all the private and municipal rights and liberties secured to them by the laws now in force. If the present laws are altered, the said inhabitants shall not thereby be placed in a less favorable position in respect to the above mentioned rights and liberties than they now enjoy.

May Reserve Allegiance.

Those who remain in the islands may preserve their allegiance to the crown of Denmark by making before a court of record within two years from the date of the exchange of ratifications of this convention a declaration of their decision to preserve such allegiance, in default of which declaration they shall be held to have renounced it and to have accepted allegiance to the United States. But such election of Danish allegiance shall not alter the lapse of said term of two years as a bar to their renunciation of their preserved Danish allegiance and their election of allegiance to the United States and admission to the nationality thereof on the same terms as may be provided according to the laws of the United States for either inhabitants of the islands.

Promise $5,000,000 in Gold.

In full consideration of the cession of the islands in full sovereignty, entire and unencumbered except as stipulated in the present convention, the United States agrees to pay within 90 days from the date of the exchange of the ratifications of this convention in the city of Washington to the diplomatic representative or other agent of his majesty the king of Denmark duly authorized to receive the money the sum of $5,000,000 in gold coin of the United States.

Formal Delivery.

Formal delivery of the territory and property shall be made immediately after the payment of $5,000,000 by the United States, but the cession with the right of immediate possession is, nevertheless, to be deemed complete on the exchange of the ratifications of this convention, and any Danish troops which may be in the islands aforesaid shall be withdrawn as soon thereafter as may be practicable, but not later than six months after the said exchange.

Isn't it Worth 25c. To Be Cured of Constipation

People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and this and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and enfeebled and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidneys and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure.

Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine.

It tastes good. Children like it and ask for it.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 123 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 208 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

The Biblical Conception of the Church

The second lecture of the Seminary course of lectures was delivered last Tuesday evening at the Seminary chapel, by the Rev. J. P. DeJonge, of Zeeland. A large number of friends availed themselves of the opportunity of hearing the speaker's able presentation of thoughts deduced from the theme: The Biblical Conceptions of the Church. Several members of the Western Social Conference were also in attendance, a fact which pleads for an even more general attendance of the public upon these lectures of timely and important subjects.

The speaker gave a brief view of this exceedingly broad subject under the three-fold division of, what is the Church, what her beauty, and what does Scripture teach concerning the Church. Below we give a few excerpts:

The purposes of Revelation are complete. No mortal can ever add to the revelation of the Infinite. The parts are all there. All we need to do is to put the parts together, as the child with its picture puzzle. The grandest conception ever given man for meditation is the church—that spiritual creation of God—a company of believers, a holy congregation, built on the rock of Peter's confession of the Christ. The church is composed of innumerable such believers as Peter, in fact, it is an assemblage of all ages, and is the kingdom of God. The church is the army of the Almighty in deadly conflict with a common foe, it is the light of the world and the salt of the earth. The congregation of the Old Testament was a prophecy of the church of the New Testament. In a fruit tree the periods of birth, bud and blossom, prophecy a period of fruit-bearing, yet the fruit, although latent and hidden, was always there in germ. So the church was always there. Today we live in the glorious fruit period.

The beauty of the Church is a beauty of love, and a beauty of appreciation. The oracles of God are the great equipment entrusted to the church, an equipment received as the diamond receives the stray beams of light and are beautiful. The transmission of this holy light is the great aim. Error in life or doctrine, then would prove treason to God's holy cause, and be fatal to the grand mission of manifesting the power of the Son of God over Satan. The saved soul is that vessel made to hold God's truth. As the snow holds down millions of microbes, so the church must hold down the many poisonous germs of sin and error. To this end are necessary a thorough training in home, school or society, and a separation from the world in life and in doctrine. The church is not infallible, the truth must keep her free.

Jesus Christ is the only head of the church. He is the captain of that grand army. As such the Church is beautiful in the sight of the Lord, for he, even now, sees her as she shall one day stand before him in perfection. That beauty was the subject of the poets of Old Testament times, but when sight, sense, mind, and the aesthetic faculties are all purged, the graces and properties of that church will delight the faculties beyond comparison, and her beauty will be such as the Angel of the Lord showed unto John of Patmos. Another figure of the beauty of the Church is Paul's idea of the building, the temples, the home, where God himself dwells, and as such the Church is the household of God, whose beauty is commensurate with perfection. Rembrandt's picture of Paul stood the wear and tear of four centuries without a war, but the Church has stood the test of the ages, and her beauty is beyond compare. She is the bride of Christ, whose beauty fades not. Here the church is confronted with many trials. The converted individuals join the Almighty's host of earth to battle the hosts of hell for a season, that the manifestation of the evening's strength may add lustre to the grand and glorious victory in store for the church, when the church militant shall become the church triumphant, for which the Lord will prepare a new heaven and a new earth, that city of God that baffles all description.

The Growing South

In the matter of increase of population in the different portions of this country the inevitable has come, and it is welcome. The South is reported by the Director of the Census to have shown during the last decade, relatively a greater rate of increase in population than either the North or the West.

The awakening of Southern energy, the restoration of self-confidence and the stimulation of ambition, and the consequent spread of industry, have at last brought the South to its own as a fertile and resourceful portion of the Union. The country rejoices that the South is so sharing in the national prosperity.

Holland Men Call on the President

William Alden Smith called upon President Roosevelt Saturday accompanied by the Hon. G. J. Diekema and Simon Kleyn of Holland, and presented to the president a resolution adopted by citizens of this city at the recent public meeting, asking the president to use his influence with England in bringing about honorable peace between the South African Republics and England.

Mr. Smith also presented a petition signed by 840 voters of Holland, which was transmitted to him by the Rev. J. T. Bergen and Wm. O. Van Eyck, of Holland, asking the president to lend his good offices for the same purpose, and to prevent the sale of horses from this country to English officers. The president told Mr. Smith he would carefully consider the resolutions.

Band Will Give a Concert

The West Michigan band is making arrangements for a grand concert to be given the third week in March at the Lyceum opera house. Besides the regular numbers by the band, musicians from out of the city will give selections.

Joseph Thurman, the Grand Rapids clarinet player who made such a good impression at the last concert, has been engaged and will give three numbers. A cornet soloist has also been engaged and negotiations are pending to secure Miss Margaret Tate, the elocutionist.

The concert will be worthy of patronage and should be attended by a large crowd. It is to the interests of the city to make it a success as the future plans of the band depends upon the financial results.

Just Cause For Fear

"Did you know that all the newspaper correspondents are sending out a story today that you have the smallpox?" asked a member of William Alden Smith of Michigan.

Mr. Smith gasped and seized a pad of telegraph blanks. Then the other congressman watched him write "message after message."

"Fraid the folks at home will worry?" was the next question.

"It isn't that," replied Mr. Smith, "but think of the trouble there will be in my district if the report gets out that I have the smallpox. There will be twenty candidates for my place before night and every one of those fellows will be praying that the disease will result fatally. Up in Michigan a case of smallpox makes more trouble for a congressman than does loss of favor at the white house when your party is in power."—Chicago Daily News.

DOXOLOGY AND BENEDICTION

This institution is connected with the Reformed Church of America. It has been growing in success and importance for several years, and at the present time its roll contains the names of nearly one hundred students. A sermon was preached by Prof. Crispell to the Senior class of the Theological Department, on Sunday evening last.

Another Fish Story

"You must be on your good behavior this evening, Charlie, for the minister is to take dinner with us," said Mrs. C. R. Wilson to her worst half as he got home from Orion last Thursday.

"What have you got for dinner?" queried the husband.

"Well, I know he is fond of fish, so I bought quite a string of small river fish and several large ones from the dam."

"I'm not much at doing honors when we have a minister at the table," said Charlie, "but I guess we can get through with it all right."

Half an hour later they were seated at the table and a blessing had been asked by the minister. A little nervously the head of the family began dishing out the vegetables and turning to the guest, said: "Will you have some of the little river fish, or would you prefer some of the dam fish?"

The warning kiel under the table from his wife was unnecessary. He knew he had blundered, and cold beads of perspiration started out on his forehead.

"I mean," trying to repair the damage, "will you have some of the dam river fish or some of the big fish?"

Worse and more of it. His daughter slyly pulled his coat tail to bring him to his senses.

"That is would you like some of the river fish or some of the other fish?"

The deep carnation spreading over the good lady's face didn't mend matters a bit, and with a gasp he plunged in once more:

"Ahem! Which of the dam fish do you prefer anyway?" Oxford Teacher.

Architect Price has prepared plans for the buildings to be erected on Eighth street by Walter Walsh and L. S. Sprletma. The Sprletma building will be one of the handsomest in the city, and the front will be ornamented with bent glass each section of the glass costing $400.

J. C. Duntun, of Grand Rapids, is in the city today trying to organize a land syndicate. He has 400 acres on the north side of the bay in which he would like to interest Holland capital to a certain extent. If successful he will organize a stock company who will see to it that streets are put through and also that the North side will be incorporated to the city of Holland giving those that buy homes there the benefit of electric light and sewerage.

An interesting meeting of the Western Social Conference was held in the First Reformed church last Tuesday. Papers were read on the "Distinguishing Features of the Reformed church" and on "The Practical Use of the Songs of Solomon. Officers were elected as follows:

President—Dr. J. W. Beardslee.
Vice president—Rev. M. Kolyn.

On account of the intended retirement of Dwight Goss from the United States district attorney's office Walter I. Lilly of Grand Haven has decided to accept an appointment to the position of assistant, and District Attorney Covell has recommended the appointment to the department at Washington. It is expected the appointment will be confirmed within a few days and as soon as the official information is received by Mr. Covell the change will take place. It is desired by all concerned in the office that if the change is to be made this month to will take place within a day or two so the new assistant can "learn the ropes" before the session of the March term of court.—G. R. Herald.

Holland Road Not Affected.

Benj. S. Hanchett, Jr., vice president of the Grand Rapids, Holland & Lake Michigan Rapid Railway company wired from Detroit to a friend in Grand Rapids as follows:

"Holland road and its employees all right. Andrew's failure affects some banks holding bonds, placed by Andrews but not the road itself, which was turned over by Detroit Construction company January 1. Andrew's fall is due to copper stocks and not at all to interurban investments, out of which he made much money. Personally I am not involved one dollar in any way."

Olympics vs. Saugatuck.

Last Wednesday evening Hope's Olympics met the Saugatuck basketball team in the college gymnasium and though reports would have it that the Saugatuck men expected the game to be close because of the hard practice in which they had engaged since their recent defeat of 74-4, nevertheless there was little difference in the dose which the Olympics managed to administer to them in the second game of the series. To be sure the game was more fiercely contested and considerable improvement was evident in Saugatuck's playing, but a team can never win without team work, no matter how well or fierce each player may play. Perhaps the roughness of the game is most easily accounted for by the fact that each Saugatuck player tried singly to win the game, instead of combining their efforts as the Olympics did. Saugatuck men are good individual players but they lack system and team work. The Olympics were in good trim for the game and each player did fine work. A large crowd of spectators was present and each game shows an increase of interest in the sport. A game is being arranged for with the Holland Basketball Team and also with the Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A. team. Dates will be announced later.

From India

A letter from Rev. J. Bannings of India gives the following: We have now spent four Sundays here and by the grace of God are in good health. Luckily thus far we have not come in contact with snakes and tigers with which this country abounds. This would be a nice locality to live in were it not that we are so far away from loved ones at home. In a short time the hot season will begin and then it will not be so pleasant.

One evening we rode several miles from home to a place where there are several water wells or lagoons used in dry season to irrigate the soil. Our two companions had their guns with them and went hunting while we sat under the trees. The natives huddled all around us inspecting us from head to foot as if we were curiosities, which they indeed thought we were.

By way of these wells we found a small town. The houses were all made of mud with roofs of reed. They all look alike and stand close together. In front of the door of a great many there were women grinding corn and preparing the evening meal. The babies were carried around on the hips of either an older brother or sister.

We also found a heathen temple in the village. It is highly colored affair and in front of the entrance is a wooden horse. We have already learned several words in the language of the country and do not as yet find it so hard a task.

Linguists say that the Tanulche language is more difficult than either Latin or Greek. It has 240 letters and do not differ from one another very much but are made combining two or three of them together. Our teacher's name is Munchie, we like him very well. We recite our lessons to him twice a day. He wears no shoes or stockings and has a turban on his head. He has a mustache and his back hair is clipped short while in the middle of the head it is left to grow long.

One thing that we are bothered with, that is mosquitoes.

Rev. Bannings writes several words in Tanulche. The letters are very odd and in some respects similar to the Chinese.

Hope College News

Last week Thursday evening the Y. M. C. A. held its annual business meeting. The retiring President, Henry DePree, according to custom read his annual report in which he took a general survey of the work done during the past year and concluded by five very good and practical suggestions for the welfare of the association. The various committees reported on their work done and in almost every respect it was evident that the association had enjoyed a very prosperous and helpful year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

President—John A. DeHollander.
Vice Pres.—Edward J. Strick.
Rec. Sec.—Jacob G. Brouwer.
Cor. Sec.—Edward Krutzenga.
Treasurer—Willis Hoekje.

The president elect together with Willis Hoekje and C. Van der Schoor were delegated to the state Y. M. C. A. convention which is now being held at Battle Creek. The delegates to the national students volunteer convention to be held at Toronto are Messrs. Ed. Strick and H. Van der Naald.

Friday afternoon the Hope College Base Ball association met for the special purpose of adopting a new constitution. The enthusiasm manifested in the approval of a revised constitution shows that the students are determined to make this coming season of baseball the best ever enjoyed at Hope college. Two teams will be organized so that systematic practice can be made possible, and according to the new constitution it will be compulsory for the College team and its substitutes. Hope made a fine record and it hopes to do even better this coming season, because of the improved grounds and certainty of a stronger team. More games will be played some of which have already been arranged.

At the annual business meeting held a few weeks ago the following officers were elected:

Manager—Wm. DeKlein.
Sec. and Treas.—C. Van der Mel.
Mascot—John DeHollander.
Member of choosing committee—John Huizenga.

Last Saturday evening brought somewhat of a disappointment not only for the public but especially for the Olympic Basket ball team. A game had been arranged with Saugatuck, but because of the dreadful storms, traffic on the electric line was blocked, and so the Saugatuck team could not come. The Olympics desirous to make some amends for the unavoidable disappointment managed to secure a game with a pick up team composed of some of the best players at college. A large and enthusiastic crowd of spectators was present to witness the game and it is the verdict that, in spite of the disappointment, they were well satisfied. They became better acquainted with the game and consequently more anxious to see the game between the Olympics and Saugatuck.

The first half of the game was very interesting and close, ending with a score of 8-3. In the second half the Olympics struck their usual pace, and succeeded in throwing ten baskets, over against one opponent, making the final score 38-5. Capt. Niesink at forward was again the hero of the game, making 24 of the 38 points. Yet it must be remembered that this was only possible with excellent team work behind him. Individual honor is not aspired to for each man feels that the success of the team depends upon team work, that is on each man doing his duty and helping others, not on individual playing. The guards, as usual, played their game well, only one basket being scored against them. Pleune, from his position at guard, threw a basket which called forth much applause. Poppen and Yntema for the pick-up team played excellent ball.

London, Feb. 12.—Japan and England have signed a five-years' treaty guaranteeing to prevent dismembering of Korea or China. In case of war they are to stand together against aggression. The announcement made in parliament Tuesday night that England had abandoned its splendid isolation and entered into a defensive alliance with Japan has created a tremendous sensation here. The negotiations had been conducted with so much secrecy that the news was an absolute surprise to even those close to the government.

Announced in Parliament.

The announcement was launched in the form of a parliamentary paper, giving the text of the agreement. It was concluded in London ment and notified Secretary Hay of the signature of the treaty between Great Britain and Japan, made public Tuesday in England, binding the two nations to join the action to maintain the integrity of China and Korea. The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but it is pointed out that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the state department, as fully disclosed in the notes published by it from time to time. It is again stated that there has been no joint action as between the United States and the two powers named, yet it is a fact that the preamble to the new treaty might be regarded as almost a paraphrase of the position of the United States toward the Manchurian question as enunciated in Secretary Hay's note to the Russian ambassador here.

Purposes of United States.
It is made very clear here by the official statements, that the purposes of the United States all relate to commercial and industrial phases of the Manchurian question. With the political phase we have little concern. The sovereignty of Russia or China over Manchuria would be to us an immaterial issue so long as American ships are free to sail into Manchurian ports on even terms with Russian ships, so long as American products may be entered in Manchuria at the same tariff rates as Russian, and so long as American railroad and mining projects may operate in Manchuria as freely as those of any other nation. In other words, between Lord Lansdowne, secretary for foreign affairs, and Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, and was forwarded by the former on January 30 to Sir Claude MacDonald, the British minister at Tokio. In explanation, the paper says the agreement may be regarded as an outcome of the events of the last two years. Throughout the Boxer troubles Great Britain and Japan had been in close and uninterrupted communication and actuated by similar views.

HIS MEMORY GROWS PRECIOUS AS THE YEARS ROLL BY.

Integrity and Independence.

"We each desire," says Lord Lansdowne, "that the integrity and independence of the Chinese empire should be preserved, and that there should be no disturbance of the territorial status quo, either in China or the adjoining regions." He continues:

"The discovery that their far eastern policies were identical resulted in each party to the agreement expressing its desire that their common policy find expression in an international contract of binding validity."

Lord Lansdowne further says: "The British government was largely influenced in entering upon this important contract by the conviction that it contains no provisions which can be regarded as aggressive or self-seeking." He says it is concluded merely as a measure of precaution, and that it in no way threatens the present position, or legitimate interests of other powers. "His majesty's government trusts that the agreement will be of mutual advantage to the two countries and make for the preservation of peace. And, should peace unfortunately be broken, it will have the effect of restricting the area of hostilities."

Not Directed Against Russia.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, who signed the treaty in behalf of Japan, in an interview published Wednesday declared that the Anglo-Japanese treaty was not directed especially against Russia, but undoubtedly Manchuria was within its scope. It was solely meant to maintain the status quo. The Manchurian question, however, was at present the subject of negotiations between Russia and the United States, representing the interests of all the other powers and as the minister trusted the negotiations would bring about a state of affairs in Manchuria which would not be prejudicial to the other powers, it was unnecessary to prematurely discuss that question. The present treaty has no collaterals in the shape of treaties between Japan and other powers, but it does not exclude the possibility of a similar treaty between Japan and Russia, of course with the full knowledge of Great Britain.

Offensive and Defensive Alliance.

Yokohama, Feb. 12.—The premier, Viscount Katsura, announced in the diet Wednesday the signature of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, which is here regarded as being practically an offensive and defensive alliance.

The foreign minister, Kamoura, made an identical announcement in the lower house.

The news of the signing of the treaty has been received with enthusiasm throughout Japan.

Notifies Hay of Treaty.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister to Washington, Wednesday called at the state department and notified Secretary Hay of the signature of the treaty between Great Britain and Japan, made public Tuesday in England, binding the two nations to join the action to maintain the integrity of China and Korea. The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but it is pointed out that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the state department, as fully disclosed in the notes published by it from time to time. It is again stated that there has been no joint action as between the United States and the two powers named, yet it is a fact that the preamble to the new treaty might be regarded as almost a paraphrase of the position of the United States toward the Manchurian question as enunciated in Secretary Hay's note to the Russian ambassador here.

MARQUIS OF DUFFERIN DEAD.

Passes Away at His Residence in Ireland—Career of Distinguished Englishman.

London, Feb. 12.—The marquis of Dufferin, former governor general of Canada, and who had filled many high diplomatic posts in the English service, died at 6:25 o'clock Wednesday morning at his residence at Clondeboyne, County Down, Ireland.

Lord Dufferin had been long in ill health. He passed away peacefully, after a night of total unconsciousness.

Lord Dufferin never wholly recovered from the shock which he experienced as the result of the death of his son, Lord Ava, in South Africa, and the failure of the London and Globe Finance corporation (limited), and kindred concerns, of which he was a director completed his break-down. With the exception of his youngest son, Lord Hamilton-Temple-Blackwood, who is with his regiment, the Ninth Lancers, in South Africa, all the family were present at the deathbed. Lord Clondeboyne, the eldest son, who is a clerk in the foreign office and who married Florence, daughter of John H. Davis, of New York, succeeds to the title and another American joins the ranks of the peeresses.

The funeral of Lord Dufferin will be private. His remains will be buried in the graveyard at Clondeboyne February 15.

Extension of Postal Privileges.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The Egyptian postal administration has advised this government that post offices for the receipt and dispatch of registered mails have been established at Khartoum, Fashoda and 25 other places in the Sudan. Postmasters throughout the United States have been instructed to be prepared to receive and register mails to and from these places.

Trial of A. M. Hunter Begun.

Mount Airy, Ia., Feb. 12.—The trial of A. M. Hunter, charged with the murder of Homer Holland, one of the best-known college athletes in Iowa, opened at nine o'clock Wednesday. Hunter shot and killed Holland November 9, 1901, after a quarrel over money lost at cards. It is also said they were rivals in love. The defense pleads self-defense.

Can Now Try Fire Chief Redell.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 12.—Judge Keyser, in the district court Wednesday, dissolved the restraining order that prevented the board of fire and police from trying Fire Chief John Redell for alleged mistreatment of firemen, thus leaving the board free to go ahead and try Redell on the charges as preferred.

PASSES A GOOD NIGHT.

The Condition of Young Theodore Roosevelt Is Reported as Much Improved.

MRS. ROOSEVELT MORE CHEERFUL.

President Will Probably Return to Washington on Thursday Night or Friday Morning If the Improvement Continues — Dr. Parkhurst Calls Upon President at Groton.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 12.—"Young Theodore passed a very good night and his condition shows much improvement this morning."

This was the announcement made by Secretary Cortelyou at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning regarding the condition of the son of President Roosevelt, who has been ill with pneumonia for several days at the Groton school here. The night had been uneventful, and, except upon one occasion, about 1:30 o'clock, no one had been seen moving about the sick room. At this time one of the physicians was summoned to look at the boy, but he stayed only a few moments and after that all was quiet until daylight.

The statement made by Mr. Cortelyou was, as he said, "a general one," and would be supplemented by another soon after the morning examination by the physicians.

From expressions made by the school authorities and those most interested in the case, it is believed that the boy's condition, while not removed from the dangerous stage, has assumed a more favorable aspect.

For the first time within a week the weather changed Wednesday morning and although the sun was shining there were signs of disagreeable weather.

President Visits the Sick Room.

President Roosevelt left the home of William A. Gardner, where he is staying, at eight o'clock Wednesday morning and visited his sick son and his wife at the infirmary. In a short time he returned, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, and they breakfasted at the Gardner house. Mrs. Roosevelt remained for an hour and then went back to the infirmary alone. She seemed to be more cheerful than at any time since her arrival and said:

"My boy shows much improvement and rested well during the night."

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst Calls.

The only incident of the forenoon was the arrival of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, of New York. He said that he was on his way from Amherst to Clinton and stopped over to pay his respects to the president and inquire as to the condition of his son. In company with the President, Dr. Parkhurst walked about the school grounds for some minutes, and was driven to Ayer at 10:30 o'clock.

Other Patients Improving.

The physicians report the other two pneumonia patients, Edward Potter, of New York, and William Gammell, of Providence, as improved. The crisis in Gammell's case has not yet been reached, but his condition is encouraging.

The special car in which the president came to Groton from Washington has been replaced by a larger car, arranged to accommodate more people. While no definite arrangements have yet been made for the return of Mr. Roosevelt to Washington, it is indicated that if the improvement in the boy's condition continues through Wednesday and Thursday he may leave Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Physicians Encouraged.

Secretary Cortelyou issued a statement at 11 o'clock, saying that the morning examination by the physicians had confirmed the anticipatory statement he had made at nine o'clock relative to the young invalid's condition. It was, Mr. Cortelyou said, very favorable, with slight improvement, and he added that the lad will probably have passed the danger point within the next 48 hours.

The temperature, pulse and respiration show improvement, but as this condition is always prevalent during the early morning hours, it is expected that a change will occur later during the day. Secretary Cortelyou said Wednesday that the boy has been delirious only once during his sickness, and that was on Monday during a period of drowsiness. Mr. Cortelyou said also that the president would not leave Groton until his son had passed the danger point. He would not in any event be able to get away before late Thursday night or early on Friday.

Communications from foreign governments, said the secretary, are all received at the state department and the text of such messages will not be made public. It was also intimated that no change has been made in the arrangements for the reception of Prince Henry and that if alterations were to be effected they would take place on this side.

TO SUPPRESS ANARCHY.

Such Is the Intent of a Bill Framed by the House Judiciary Committee in Congress.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Chairman Ray, of the house committee on judiciary, Friday presented the report on the bill for the protection of the president and the suppression of crime against the government. The report states that the committee has carefully considered the many anti-anarchist measures and has sought to present a wise, conservative constitutional and effective measure.

The purposes of the bill are summed up as follows:

"First, prevent resistance to and protect the president and vice president of the United States and those by law in the line of succession to that high office; second, protect the ministers and ambassadors of foreign governments accredited to and within the United States; third, prevent the open and deliberate approval of certain crimes and also certain unlawful teachings, which, if permitted, are calculated and intended to breed lawlessness and crime against the government; fourth, prevent the coming to or naturalization in this country of those who teach or entertain such pernicious doctrines; fifth, prevent conspiracies in the United States to murder the rulers of other civilized nations; sixth, provide adequate and uniform punishments for these offenses wherever committed. All the offenses against government and intended to impair or overthrow the government of the United States."

The report makes an elaborate presentation of the powers of congress to deal with the subject; the need of shutting out the lawless who seek our shores, and the care the committee has exercised not to trench upon legitimate freedom of speech and of the press.

BANK DOORS CLOSED.

Suspension of City Savings Bank of Detroit and the Vice President Under Arrest.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 11.—Vice President Frank C. Andrews, of the City savings bank, which has been in the hands of State Banking Commissioner George L. Maltz since Monday morning, was arrested late Monday afternoon and arraigned at 9:30 p. m. on the charge of "willfully, fraudulently and knowingly" securing from the bank, without security and without the knowledge of the other directors, a sum exceeding $1,000,000. He was released on $10,000 bail and his examination was set for February 21. Cashier Henry C. Andrews, through whom F. C. Andrews is said to have secured the money by means of overdrafts and certified checks, is seriously ill at his home with nervous prostration.

PERISHED AT SEA.

Little Doubt Is Left as to the Fate of British Sloop of War Condor with 130 Officers and Men.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 12.—Proof that the British sloop-of-war Condor was wrecked at sea and that the 130 officers and men of the crew perished was brought here Tuesday when the ship Egeria arrived. The Egeria, which went out to seek the Condor, found wreckage of the vessel near Clayoquot, on the west coast of Victoria island. The articles were such that they could not have been torn from the sloop except by the vessel's destruction. The theory is that the Condor either sank or was smashed to pieces by the gale.

HOTBEDS.

Details of Interest to Growers of Truck For the Early Market.

While hotbed gardening has not found any great amount of favor with farmers in general heretofore, the increasing attention given to truck growing in warmer sections of the country, and especially in the south, seems to make apropos all information on the appliances for producing early crops, such, for instance, as onions, tomatoes and cabbages. On this point Texas Farm and Ranch makes the following suggestions:

The construction and care of hotbeds and cold frames is a subject the ordinary farmer knows little about. The correct management of the hotbed is of the utmost importance, for upon this rests the success or failure of a whole season's crop. It is the early crop that brings the highest price in the market, and in tomato culture especially the hotbed is always needed to start the tender young plants into growth.

It is now the best time for planning the construction of the hotbed, for in this climate the tomato seed should be sown during the latter part of December or the first of January. The location for the beds should be selected with the object in view of affording some protection from the cold north winds, and the southern side of a shed or barn is an admirable location.

For ordinary use a hotbed 15 feet long and 6 feet wide is sufficient, for after the plants are nicely started they may be transplanted to the cold frames. A bed 9 feet long and 6 feet wide should germinate enough tomato plants for an acre of ground. These beds may be constructed at very little expense. The soil should be excavated to a depth of about three feet, and the sides may be built up with boards one or two inches thick. This is not an absolute necessity, but the boards check the radiation of the heat from the manure into the surrounding soil.

At the surface of the soil a plank 1 foot wide and 2 inches thick should extend along the northern side. Along the southern side, at a distance equal to the length of the ash, which is usually six feet, another plank, 6 inches wide and 2 inches thick, is run down the length of the bed, the ends are connected by a two inch plank and the bed is ready for use. It is usually best to place crosspieces of 2 by 4 material at intervals of from four to six feet to make the whole structure secure and to hold the ash in position. The soil that is thrown out of the bed may be used to bank up the sides.

For this locality probably no material is cheaper or more effective for heating purposes than cottonseed hulls. The bed is filled up about two feet with firmly packed hulls, which have been made quite wet in order to cause them to heat. Above these hulls six or eight inches of good rich garden soil is applied and the bed is ready for the seed. If the action of the decomposing hulls is too active and the temperature runs too high in the soil, it is better to wait until the heat has subsided somewhat before sowing the seed, or otherwise the tender roots of the plantlets will be destroyed. This, however, will seldom occur, for if the temperature is too high ventilation will usually prevent injury to the plants. The hulls will retain sufficient heat for four or five weeks, and afterward the bed may be used as a cold frame. In the spring these decayed hulls make a valuable fertilizer. Sow the seed crosswise of the bed in rows about an inch and a half apart. This may be conveniently and quickly done by taking a stick with a square edge as long as the exact width of the bed, press it gently into the soil and sow seeds in the depression. The depth to sow the seeds will depend upon the size of the seeds, but a safe rule for sowing in hotbeds is to cover about five times the thickness of the diameter of the seeds.

After the seeds are sown and covered the soil must be firmly packed over them, and for this purpose a board with a planed side is very good. Press the board firmly into the soil by walking on it.

After sowing the proper watering is an item of importance. The surface of the soil must never become dried after the seeds are sown or germination will be checked and many young plants will be destroyed. On the other hand, the soil must not be overwatered or it will become soggy and sour, insufficient air will be admitted for germination and the seeds will decay.

FACED GRAVE PERILS.

J. B. Fairbank Returns from a Successful Expedition to Dangerous Parts of South America.

J. B. Fairbank, of Provo City, Utah, arrived at New York the other night on the liner Andes from South American ports. He was a member of a party of nine which set out from Provo City to obtain specimens, alive or dead, of the fauna and flora of Central and South America. Others of the party fell sick, and some of them were targets for rebel bullets in the southern portion of Colombia when they attempted to reach the coast in order to seek their way home.

The party left 20 months ago, all on horseback, to collect animals, birds, plants and plants for the Brigham Young academy. After exciting adventures they reached Mexico and proceeded to the interior of the country. In Guatemala four of the adventurers were stricken down with fever and taken to Port Limon. Fairbank and the remainder pressed on, and quantities of valuable specimens were shipped to the school.

Again the band split up, and two, who sought to go down the west coast, intending to reach Valparaiso, were targets for rebel sharpshooters, after they had been warned by rebel officers. Finally all but Fairbank succeeded in reaching the coast, and these found an avenue of escape. All suffered from diseases contracted under the intense heat of the tropical sun.

Fairbank proceeded up the Magdalena river, about 400 miles, and remained with a planter until a chance offered itself a month later to get to Santa Marta, where he took the Andes for New York. Fairbank says that although he has traveled thousands of miles and endured almost untold hardships, the trip was a success from a scientific standpoint.

President Roosevelt has indorsed the report of the board recommending honors for the heroes of the Cuban campaign with one exception, and that is himself.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—After a stormy session lasting until after midnight, during which there was talk of a great national strike, the United Mine Workers of America adopted the report of the joint scale committee made Friday night, thereby reaffirming the scale agreement of last year without change. The report was decided upon at a meeting of the scale committee late in the afternoon. The miners had demanded a ten per cent. increase of wages, but their efforts in this direction had been successfully resisted by the operators.

NEW USE FOR COTTONSEED.

Once a Waste Product It Is Now Used in the Manufacture of Paper.

A few years ago cottonseed was a waste product, and the only use made of it was to compost it and, when rotted, use it as a fertilizer. Its industrial utilization began with the extraction of the oil it contains, and it has now become the raw material of so many important industries that last spring, when it became necessary to replant considerable areas of cotton land which had been flooded by the exceptional spring freshets, it was found that the cleaning up had been so complete by the buyer of the cotton-oil mills that enough seed for between-seasons planting was collected with difficulty.

Hitherto the hull of the cottonseed has had no value, but this is now to be utilized in admixture with flax fiber in paper manufacture. A company organized for this purpose has bought extensive paper-mill properties at Niagara, on the lands of the Niagara Falls Power company. The collection and preparation of the cottonseed hulls for paper stock will be undertaken at mills conveniently located in the south. The material will be used in the manufacture of high-grade papers, and is said to give great strength with beautiful finish. Its advantage over other possible paper-making materials is that it is the by-product of other industries, and is consequently much cheaper than one which has to be grown, gathered and prepared especially.

Probably the most useful steps in mechanical progress, says the New York Times, are those along the line of utilizing the waste products of existing industries.

OVER NINETY MILES AN HOUR.

Fast Time Expected to Be Made Upon the London-Brighton Electric Line.

Faster even than the trains between Philadelphia and Atlantic City, N. J., is that which it is intended to maintain on the proposed electric railroad from London to Brighton, powers to construct which will be applied for next session of parliament. The road will be 47 miles long, and the trains are to make the distance in 30 minutes.

It is proposed to run a 20-minute service each way from eight o'clock in the morning until midnight. The London terminus will be at Lupus street, Westminster, and the trains on leaving the station will cross the Thames by an iron bridge and proceed on a trestleway to Beddington. There the road runs through a tunnel for part of the nine miles to Red Hill. The rest of the way is principally in the open to Brighton. The carriages are to be of the Pullman type.

Policeman's Funny Ruse.

A story is going the rounds of the Jersey City police department that a sergeant recently found out that a patrolman was in a liquor saloon, and stationed himself at the door to wait for the bluecoat to come out. Two undertaker's assistants who had been preparing a corpse on the floor above the saloon came downstairs carrying an ice box. The policeman climbed in and was borne past the sergeant to the undertaker's wagon. After the wagon had been driven around the corner the officer jumped out, snatched slowly back to where his superior officer was standing and saluted him as if nothing had happened. The sergeant looked hard at him for a moment, peeped into the saloon and continued on his rounds.
