How is Your Watch Running?

Is it always fast or slow? Never quite on time? Perhaps the watch is capable of very accurate running but is not in perfect order. You know the mechanism of a watch demands that each of the dozens of little parts, springs, wheels, jewels, etc. be just right or good timing is out of the question. Watch repairing has always been a hobby of ours and we believe we can do you a better job than you ever had before. Bring it in.

Leonard & Sons and Charles F. Higgins have filed a suit against Slagh & Zuidewind and Marshal Fred Kamferbeek in the circuit court. It is claimed by the plaintiffs that on January 31 they took possession of the bazaar stock of J. W. Brown of Holland under chattel mortgage, and that as they were removing the goods the property was seized by Slagh and the Marshal under a lien held by Slagh, which the plaintiffs allege is void. Vernon King of Holland presided as temporary chairman, and immediately after the appointment of Messrs. Menton, Detroit, Hanson, Holland, and Walker, Grand Rapids, as a committee on credentials, the question was raised as to the power to vote proxies. In order that the matter might be thoroughly discussed, Chairman King ruled that only delegates personally before the convention bearing paid up dues cards were entitled to vote.

It is reported that Capt. Thomas Honner's of Grand Haven mission in the south is to inspect some of the southern river boats, he going there in the interest of the Grand Rapids Board of Trade. The latter body intends to put a boat line on the river the coming year and it is possible that a southern river steamer will be secured for the route. Capt. Honner will undoubtedly gather some valuable pointers for the Grand Rapids people to aid them in navigating the Grand.

A small crowd attended the patriotic cantata given at the M. E. church Monday evening by the Model Entertainment Co. entitled "Pleasure Before Business." Mr. Bogardus delivered two readings, "The Child and the Star" and a telephonic conversation. The songs by Alpha who sings with pictures cast on a canvass, lost its affect upon the audience as the slides of the lantern failed to work on several occasions. The feature of the evening was the quartet from this city composed of Martin Dykema, Magdalene Dykema, Mrs. H. Agard and Willis VanderLaan.

The city of Holland did not have a single delegate present at the recent county convention and the Republicans of that city were hit rather hard upon the subject of loyalty by delegates who had come many miles through the storm from the country north of the river. When the election of delegates to attend the district judicial convention was announced, Probate Judge Kirby stated that it has been requested by telephone that Mayor Henry Geerlings of Holland be elected to head the delegation, Mr. C. Van Loo of Zeeland, he of political hatred toward Holland, was on his feet instantly. He spoke sharply and heatedly stating that as Holland had not shown enthusiasm enough to be present, they deserved no consideration whatever and he moved as a substitute that George A. Farr be elected to head the delegation. Mr. Van Loo's motion was carried enthusiastically. The convention will be held on February 23.—Grand Haven Tribune.

A. F. Everett has been here for a few days the guest of Capt. L. B. Upham. He showed interest enough in his work of last summer to get out and inspect the new pier while here. As it was put in late in the season the severe storms played sad havoc with it. If it had been built earlier in the season the sand would have had time to drift up around it and became solid before bad weather came. This misfortune will prove a heavy loss to the contractor who will have to stand it.

CONDEMNED WOMAN RECEIVES RESPITE

DEATH WARRANTS FOR MRS. EDWARDS AND ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE WITHDRAWN.

BOARD OF PARDONS FINALLY ACTS ON PLEA

Pennsylvania Executive Advised by Body Grants Her a Continuance of One Month—Rehearing for Negro Greason—Record of His Case.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 15.—On recommendation of the board of pardons Wednesday Gov. Pennypacker withdrew the death warrants in the case of Mrs. Kate Edwards, the white woman, and Samuel Greason, the negro, who were under sentence to hang together in the Berks county jail at Reading, Thursday morning for the murder of Mrs. Edwards' husband in 1901. The case of Greason will now be again taken to the Pennsylvania supreme court, and if that tribunal refuses to reopen the case the attorneys for Mrs. Edwards and Greason will have to appear before the board of pardons next month.

The supreme court room was crowded with spectators when the board of pardons convened at ten o'clock to take up the cases and other routine business. In the crowd were many members of the legislature, and also the Ohio delegation of women who presented a monster petition to the governor Tuesday in behalf of the condemned woman.

Pardon Board Meets.
When the pardon board, which is made up of W. M. Brown, Lieut. Gov. Frank M. Fuller, Secretary of the Commonwealth Hampton L. Carson, the attorney general and Isaac B. Brown, secretary of internal affairs, went into session, some minor cases were disposed of, after which the Edwards case was taken up. Elwood H. Deysher, of counsel for Mrs. Edwards, made a motion that the case of Mrs. Edwards be continued. He made this motion, he said, because Mrs. Edwards had confessed that she had committed the crime, and that Greason had no hand in it, and because counsel for Greason wanted to take depositions and also examine Mrs. Edwards with regard to the authenticity of the confession. Counsel for Greason, he said, would not be able to do this if the case of Mrs. Edwards was not continued, because they were both under sentence to hang Thursday morning. John H. Rothermel and William H. Sadler, attorneys for Greason, supported Mr. Deysher, and also pleaded for a rehearing in the case of their client. Mr. Sadler informed the board that he had four witnesses in behalf of Greason who had never been examined.

Decides to Continue Cases.
The board retired, and after deliberating 20 minutes returned to the bench and announced that the board had decided to take up both cases, and immediately continue them.

The lawyers for Greason will now apply to the supreme court for an order opening his case in order to hear the four new witnesses found by his attorneys. If the supreme court grants the order, the case will go back to Berks county for retrial. In the meantime Mrs. Edwards' case will be continued. But if the supreme court refuses the order, then the board of pardons will have to decide the case at its next meeting, which will be the third Wednesday in March. Greason's case has been in the supreme court six times, and twice before the board of pardons.

Mrs. Edwards Gets News.
Reading, Pa., Feb. 15.—When the news of the rehearing in the Greason case and a continuance for Mrs. Edwards was sent to the jail, Mrs. Edwards was lying on her cot, moaning and sobbing and giving full sway to her feelings. After she had become more composed Mrs. Edwards said:

"Thank God! You couldn't have brought me better news. I knew that

Health of American Women

A Subject Much Discussed at Women's Clubs—The Future of a Country Depends on the Health of Its Women.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen Miss Mattie Henry

At the New York State Assembly of Mothers, a prominent New York doctor told the 500 women present that healthy American women were so rare as to be almost extinct.

This seems to be a sweeping statement of the condition of American women. Yet how many do you know who are perfectly well and do not have some trouble arising from a derangement of the female organism which manifests itself in headaches, backaches, nervousness, that bearing-down feeling, painful or irregular menstruation, leucorrhoea, displacement of the uterus, ovarian trouble, indigestion or sleeplessness? There is a tried and true remedy for all these ailments. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more American women to health than all other remedies in the world. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can. For thirty years it has been curing the worst forms of female complaints.

Such testimony as the following should be convincing.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I can truly say that you have saved my life and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For two years I spent lots of money in doctoring without any benefit for menstrual irregularities and I had given up all hopes of ever being well again, but I was persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three bottles have restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Miss Mattie Henry, Vice-President of Danville Art Club, 439 Green St., Danville, Va., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Many years' suffering with female weakness, inflammation and a broken down system made me more anxious to die than to live, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored my health and I am so grateful for it that I want every suffering woman to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for her."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. No other medicine in the world has received such unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine for you need the best.

A light heart, a cheerful countenance, and all the charms of grace and beauty are dependent upon proper action of the bodily organs. You cannot look well unless you feel well.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

I've done a great wrong, but I'm not such a bad woman at heart. I thank God again, and I thank all my friends."

PROTOCOL AT WASHINGTON

TREATY WITH SAN DOMINGO IS RECEIVED.

The Document Will Immediately Be Transmitted to Senate—Its Provisions.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The protocol or treaty between the United States and San Domingo drawn up by Mr. Dawson, the American minister, and Mr. Sanchez, the foreign minister for President Morales' government, reached Washington Wednesday and was taken by Secretary Hay immediately to the white house. It was necessary to read the document carefully to make sure that it agreed precisely with the outline of its provisions received by cable and with the amendatory instructions of the department of state. So the president and Secretary Hay went over the treaty very carefully and found that it was in good shape for immediate transmittal to the senate. Briefly stated, it provides that the United States shall collect the customs revenues of San Domingo and turn over to President Morales' government a specified percentage necessary to meet the expense of administration, and disburse the remainder among foreign claimants. The United States undertakes to respect the integrity of San Domingo and the protocol or treaty must be approved by the United States senate and the Dominican congress.

In anticipation of the arrival of this convention, a letter has been prepared at the president's direction to accompany the document, when it goes to the senate. This is something more than a mere letter of transmittal, but it does not undertake to discuss broadly the constitutional questions involved in the conflicting claims of the executive and the senate as to treaty-making powers which have grown out of the treatment of the arbitration treaties. It is devoted entirely to a statement of the reasons which led the president to enter into the negotiations with the government of San Domingo as a basis for the proposed treaty. The history of previous attempts on the part of the state department to secure a settlement of American claims against Dominica, which have been pending for many years, are set out, and particular stress is laid on the status of foreign claims, the collection of which might cause a clash with European governments. Finally the details of the present arrangement are described and the reason for them told.

HORROR AT A HANGING.

Rope Breaks When Raising, Wife Murderer, Is Executed at Bridgeton, N. J.

Bridgeton, N. J., Feb. 15.—Frank Raising was hanged here Wednesday for the murder of his wife. The drop fell at 10:04. The rope broke as the body rebounded and the back of Raising's head struck a crossbeam of the scaffold and broke Raising's neck. The physicians present said death was instantaneous. Raising was not officially pronounced dead until ten minutes later. When the rope separated Constable Tumy and others quickly caught the cord and lifted the body clear of the ground, but a quick examination by Dr. Stites revealed the fact that the neck was broken, and it was therefore not necessary to raise the body again to the scaffold.

A shudder ran through those who were assembled to witness the hanging as the rope parted and Raising's body fell to the ground. Nearly everyone present turned his head from the gruesome sight.

Sheriff Dement said after the hanging that he was unable to account for the snapping of the cord, as it had been tested with a weight more than 100 pounds heavier than Raising's body. Raising made no statement on the scaffold, simply saying, as he passed through the sheriff's office: "Good-by, boys."

SUNFLOWER AND VIOLET.

A sunflower grew in a garden bright,
"Mong, the flowers and grasses green;
He seemed to delight in his towering height,
As he gazed on the floral scene.
A violet grew in the grasses low,
Where she sought to hide her face;
She raised her head, when the winds would blow,
And stood as an emblem of grace.

When the day grew bright, the sunflower bent,
And turned his face to the sun;
But never a scent from the sunflower went,
Though he gazed till the day was done.
Whether in bud, or whether in bloom,
The violet nestled there—
And whether in gloom, her sweet perfume
She gave to the ambient air.

When the day is bright the sunflower seems
Full both of pride and grace—
While the sunlight gleams, reflecting beams
Of gold from his bearded face.
There's a modest pride of the violet, too,
(Not the pride of the haughty and bold),
In the delicate hue of those leaves of blue
And her heart of virgin gold.

There are many who stand, as the sunflower stood,
With thoughts that are lofty and true;
And the sweet maidenhood of the pure and good
Finds its type in the violet blue;
And so, we see, the good shines out
Of many, when all is serene;
But never a doubt is there about
The pure and modest of mien.

AN AIRCASTLE CONQUEST

By ADA M. KRECKER

"GOOD-BY, Miriam; let me know how the crops are doing."
"O, yes, to be sure, Bertie, good-by. It's going to be a dreadful lonesome vacation among the corn and haystacks—O, O!" as the young fellow slipped off the moving train to join the chattering band of Miriam's friends on the platform below, whence they called up last words of parting and repartee, and finally flourished hats, handkerchiefs and parasols to the nodding face in the vanishing car window.

With the last fervent survey of her friends, wherein the idol of her heart was singled out from all others, the girl turned dreamily to a sightless contemplation of her environs in the car. "He loves me," she murmured, "just enough to dally about me, and so long as there's no grand chase after me by some dangerous rival he will never say a word to me, not a word. Perhaps he will never, never speak!"

Russel, Kan.—Dear Bertie: This is where you can address me, although the farm is nine miles away from town, railways, and all signs of civilization. I never knew before where "the other end of nowhere" was, only there is no end to it. It's fairly limitless with the beginnings of fields, cattle meadows, and other features of howling wilderness like things. No, they are not alive enough to howl. That is left for me to do in the secrets of my pillows at night. Not a bit of news even about crops to tell you, but my journey! The most adventurous, romantic, altogether jolly happening that has ever happened to an everyday girl like me out on a prosy sleeper from Chicago to Kansas. Late in the afternoon I was struggling with the window shade to pull it down or raise it or something or other to get it comfortable, I got so scandalously red and excited over my efforts that I can't remember now what it was. At all events none of the train officials were about to help me. But a young fellow sitting somewhere in the remote parts of the car took pity on my afflictions. He fixed the shade most charmingly, and as he finished his eyes fell upon my name card on my bag.

"O, I beg your pardon," he began, hastily, "it is extraordinary for me to address a young woman with whom I am not acquainted, but the name Miriam Leddy is the name of a cousin of mine whom I have never met. She lives in a suburb of Chicago." Imagine, Bertie! And I from Evanston. It was inevitable; of course I had to speak, and we talked over the matter for some time, and at last found out that I was not his cousin. He gracefully excused himself for having intruded and retired to his seat, and I had not minded the intrusion one particle, for he was such a gentleman all along and a splendid handsome one at that. At dinner, when the dining car was crowded to the last inch, as the kind stars ordained it, the butler happened to show him a seat at my table. So we fell to talking again, to be sure. I learned that he was on his way to Hays, on a farm a few miles west of Russel. He did a few little things for me in the evening, and the next morning helped me out at Russel with all my traps, and O, Bertie, meeting him did make such a difference in the journey!

What an endless letter! What are you all doing in the dear old town? I want to hear about the university frolics. Pity that my head frightened the doctor just before the last spurge of fun. As always,
MIRIAM LEDDY.

To Mr. Bertie Buggins, Chicago.—Dear Bertie: It was so good of you to write me immediately. Don't be alarmed about my digressing in meeting "soundless strangers on a train." Mr. Carl Fenelon—isn't it artistic and euphonious, and you know I have a penchant for attractive names—is a gentleman born and bred, a Harvard man out for a summer on the prairies to give him muscle before beginning law next autumn in matchless New York, and so polished, handsome, dainty and entertaining. One reads of men like him oftener than one meets them. A minute ago I had a neatly worded note from him, asking me whether he may run over to my farm and compare "lots" with me. His "lot" this summer, he says, seems like a continent. Isn't it lovely of him to want to come? I am famishing for some one that can talk of something besides poultry and pens. Now fins for this morning. I must have my note for Mr. Fenelon ready for my cousin to mail when they ride to Russel with the eggs. You say nothing about the hop? As ever,
MIRIAM LEDDY.

Dear Bertie: You seem so blue! I am most dreadfully sorry and will try to cheer you with some bright news of my gayeties. It was such folly for me to dread the summer in Kansas. Kansas! It's the name for everything good that's going. All it needs for any place to be jolly is a good companion, and that I have in Mr. Fenelon. He feels just as you do about my meeting a stranger on a train and has produced all sorts of evidence in the way of letters and cards which confirm all that his lovely manners, delightful mind and kind, good heart would lead me to suppose about his family and breeding. We've been doing the sights and shows of Russel as if it were Paris, although the time passes quite as charmingly when we're driving in uncle's buggy or going up the cherry trees, talking the while. He knows so much and talks like a novel. Now, don't be blue with all Chicago to draw upon, and you're having just the cool sort of weather you like. Very cordially,
MIRIAM LEDDY.

Dear Bertie: The very idea! It is so astounding! I thought you were going east for your two weeks' recess to see the spectacles of Boston town and be with your mother at Swampscott, and now to think that you are planning a trip to the wild and woolies! and after all you said about Kansas! I am so surprised I scarcely know what to write or say, but of course possibly and probably you are joking. Mr. Fenelon, the other day he said I should call him Carl, had me out to a Sunday school picnic the other day, but we picnicked mostly to ourselves. Groves are sentimental things, are they not? Cordially, as ever,
MIRIAM LEDDY.

Dear Mr. Buggins: Your last note quite took my breath away. I declare, you are amazingly presumptuous, I ought to say. It fairly leads one to infer that you fancy that by some mysterious miracle I belong to you. Please, Mr. Buggins, be kind and polite and confess that neither you nor I have ever written or said anything that gives you any such formidable right over me. Very truly,
MIRIAM LEDDY.

P. S.: Don't be a scold, Bertie.

"You really came! O, Bertie!"
The moon was shy, the sky was dark, the air was gentle, the farmhouse doorway was shadowy, Miriam's heart was glad as she stood in the threshold to greet Bertie when he sprang from the carriage to the steps.

"Miriam," he whispered, as soon as he could catch his breath, "you shall never again have the chance to say that neither you nor I have ever spoken anything to each other that gives me a right over you. Girl, you are mine, all mine, and you know it. All I want now is a chance to show that Fenelon so. Where is he?"

Miriam waited an instant.
"He—he's had a telegram and had to go east this morning."

She had not quite summoned the resolution as yet to reveal to her hero that the enchanting Carl Fenelon was a myth of her mind, a man of her imagination, whose knightly role had been the leaving of his airy castle to deliver a maiden out of her sore distress.—Chicago Tribune.

Never Saw a Chalybeate.

An American engineer and architect, Col. Charles Nichols, has recently returned from England, where he spent several years, mainly in constructing and remodeling pretentious country seats.

"One of my employers," said Col. Nichols, "was a London tradesman who had amassed a fortune, and contracted with me to alter a country place he had bought to retire to. On it was a fish pond that he decided to clear out. When it was drained we found at the bottom a spring of colored mineral water. I told my employer that he had found a chalybeate."

"I'm glad of it," said he, "as I never saw one. Put it in the basket with the other fish and I'll be over to look at it directly."—N. Y. Herald.

DRESSING A HOG.

Details of Scalding, Scraping and Hanging Up a Carcass.

In scraping a hog a strong table built for the purpose would be a very desirable thing on which to work. At the time the hog is scalded the water should be at a temperature of 185 to 195 degrees. If the water is too hot the hair is likely to set, causing even more trouble than if too cold. If the water is boiling when taken from the stove and put into a cold barrel the temperature will be about right. If the barrel is hot, as it would be ordinarily for the second hog scalded, add a half pail of cold water. A small shovelful of hardwood ashes added to the water aids materially in removing the scurf from the body, though it has no effect in loosening the hair. A lump of lime, a handful of soft soap, a little pine tar or a tablespoonful of concentrated lye has the same effect.

The hog should not be scalded before life is extinct or the blood in the small blood vessels near the surface of the skin will be cooked, giving a reddish tinge to the carcass. While being scalded the hog should be kept moving constantly to avoid cooking the skin. Occasionally it should be drawn out of the water to air, when the hair may be "fried." As soon as hair and scurf slip easily from the surface scalding is complete. If it is suspected that the water is too hot, scald the hind end first; if too cold, the front end, in order to always get a good scald on the head, which is difficult to clean.

When the hair starts readily, remove the animal from the water and begin scraping. The head and feet should be cleaned first, as they cool quickly and do not clean so easily when cold. The head can best be cleaned with a small round tool called a "candlestick" scraper. The hands and a knife will answer where such a scraper is not to be had. The feet and legs are easily cleaned by grasping them firmly with the hands and twisting around and back. Clean the body by pulling out the long bristles by hand and removing the scurf and fine hair with a scraper, a long corn knife or other tool. Rinse over the entire carcass with hot water, then shave it with a sharp knife. Clean the ears and nose thoroughly and the feet clear to the hoofs. Raise the gambrel cords, insert the stick and hang up the hog. Wash down with hot water, again shave over any unfinished patches and rinse with cold water.

A Hint About Laying a Board Walk.

If it has not been already done it is a wise plan to get all walks into good condition for service through the winter if possible. In case these are plank walks the following suggestion from the Farm Journal is worth noting:

Whether it be for the farm or for the roadside the sidewalk should be so constructed that moisture cannot be retained beneath the planks. The life of the average plank sidewalk is shortened one-half because of this trouble. Where the planks rest upon broad sleepers the moisture is long retained between the two surfaces, and decay soon begins, especially if the wood be hemlock. Let the sleepers be of the shape shown in the cut, and the walk will at once dry out after every rain.

Live Eggs For Sale.

A new practice of selling live eggs which is now receiving some attention in England is mentioned by an exchange. It seems that when the eggs are about three or four days from the hatching time they are packed very warmly and shipped sometimes hundreds of miles to those who buy them. When the eggs are thus far along in incubation they are hard to kill by a variation in heat, and this is taken advantage of in the method described. The prices of these eggs are somewhat higher than those which are obtained for the eggs that are untried as to their fertility, for the risks that are run when the trains are closely timed and the eggs sent accordingly are small.

Something Wrong

Until a few years ago it was the proud boast of the Pere Marquette railway company that it led most other railway organizations in the absence of disastrous accidents. But of late a change has been noticeable and so fast has accident followed accident that the Pere Marquette is now pointed out as an object lesson of the deplorable effects of the accident hoodoo.

When a thing of this kind is noticed from afar little attention is paid it, but when it is brought nearer home acute interest immediately results. Monday the hoodoo was brought directly to Holland's doorstep, when in the midst of the cold and snow, one train crashed into another bringing injury to Holland residents and unhappiness to Holland homes.

With the catastrophe at our very doorstep we are prone to regard matters in a different light than if it were far away, and to give free rein to condemnation.

And there is no mistaking that out of the buzz of the condemnatory language will arise the query "what is wrong?" And like a flash will the answer come that there certainly is something wrong with the P. M.

Time was when the P. M. was proud of its record. Today it is not. What causes the change. Is it hard luck or is it poor management?

County Convention.

Friday's Republican county convention was called to order at three o'clock with about 100 delegates present. Because of the snow blockades the Holland contingent did not arrive.

Charles M. Moore of Polkton was the temporary chairman and Jacob Glerum temporary secretary. Committee on credentials consisted of Chas. K. Hoyt, C. Bosman of Polkton and Len R. Patterson of Spring Lake.

The following delegates were elected to the state judicial convention at Grand Rapids:

H. F. Harbeck, Grand Haven.
W. I. Lillie, Grand Haven.
Geo. W. McBride, Grand Haven.
N. J. Whelan, Holland.
L. R. Patterson, Spring Lake.

C. E. Stearns—Robinson.
C. Van Loo—Zeeland.
M. Durham—Polkton.
James Phillips—Allendale.
H. H. Avery—Polkton.
A. Lahuis—Zeeland.

The new members to the county committee elected to fill vacancies were: C. Nyland, Fourth ward, Grand Haven, and James Phillips, Allendale.

The convention adjourned at four o'clock. There were 115 delegates present.

The following delegates were elected to attend the district judicial convention at Holland on February 23:

G. A. Farr—Grand Haven.
M. A. Soocy—Zeeland.
J. J. Danhof—Grand Haven.
M. E. Taylor—Spring Lake.

Judge E. P. Kirby—Grand Haven

Charles M. Moore—Polkton.
Charles McBride—Holland.

A resolution was passed instructing the delegates for Judge Padgham.

State Convention at Grand Rapids Did Not Last Long.

It was to big a job for the weather man.

With the aid of the snow drifts and zero weather he managed to keep many delegates to the Republican judicial convention from attending that meeting yesterday, but he could not chill the enthusiasm of those who got here, nor was he able to keep away enough exulting Republicans to prevent the meeting from being a big love feast.

True, there were one or two inquisitables, as there always are in meetings of Republicans, but when the fireworks were exploded every body joined hands and every one will turn in and work to elect the above ticket.

Only one ballot was taken. That was over the nomination for the regency, for which office W. H. Sawyer of Hillsdale beat Charles D. Lawton of Lawton, who sought re-nomination. Mr. Sawyer had such a preponderance of strength that a motion to suspend the rules and make him the unanimous choice of the meeting was carried before the tally clerks could total the vote. Judge Moore for judge of the supreme court, the Hon. Arthur Hill for regent and W. J. McKone for member of the board of education, were nominated by suspension of the rules, and the action of the secretary. The resolutions were adopted without a dissenting vote, and the little squabble over the regency from the southern part of the state but served to emphasize the good feeling in the convention. The meeting did not come to order until after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but had adjourned before 4 having transacted all its business. State Chairman G. J. Diekema called the convention to order shortly after 11 o'clock. The Rev. George Eliot Cooley of All Souls' church made a prayer, after which the call was read by the assistant secretary of the state committee, Elbert V. Chilson of Lansing, in the absence of Secretary D. E. Alward, who did not come on from Washington.

Mr. Diekema congratulated the convention and the Republican party on the great victory won at the November elections. "We never had a more popular candidate for president than Theodore Roosevelt," he declared. "We never had a less vulnerable candidate for governor than Fred M. Warner. Every effort was made to pierce the latter's armor, but he was found armed at all points and in spite of the hard fight made on him led the party hosts to glorious victory."

He referred to the demand for a law to conserve the purity of the elections and said: "I have confidence that the legislature will pass a bill that will keep all the promises of the party and will be satisfactory to the people."

F. J. O'Brien, Prime Minister to Denmark presided over the convention.

H. F. Harbeck of Ottawa was on the committee on Credentials.

N. J. Whelan of Ottawa was on the committee on Resolutions.

John Whitbeck of Fennville and Walter I. Lillie were both appointed assistant Secretaries.

Demented Grand Haven Man

Joseph Fries left his home on Franklin street late yesterday afternoon and as he did not return home Marshal John Welch was notified. The marshal traced him to the Grand Trunk railroad yards and found where he had crawled under several cars. From further investigation he learned that Fries had started east along the Grand Trunk right of way. Fries is a middle aged man and has been apparently unbalanced for some time and since his fall Sunday morning, grave fears were felt for his safety on account of the exposure to the extremely cold weather.

Marshal Welch with Deputy Sheriff Buxton got a rig and drove over to Spring Lake, hoping to trace back upon the trail of the runaway.

The officers continued their search and soon discovered Fries walking rapidly through the snow. He was not at all willing to come back and stated positively that he was going to Grand Rapids.

Fries was not at all violent but on the other hand he obeyed submissively. His face was slightly frost bitten and the cold had added pain to the injuries received Sunday morning. Otherwise the exposure had not caused Fries any injury.

The demented man was brought here and placed in the jail for safe keeping. Just what will be done with him has not been decided as Probate Judge E. P. Kirby is at present out of town.—Grand Haven Tribune.

Five Men Injured.

Tuesday morning the Pere Marquette sent out Conductor Ford with a gang of 16 men to clean the tracks towards East Saugatuck, and accordingly a passenger coach and a way car were hitched to a small engine and the journey begun. They had proceeded a way up the line and had gone through some minor drifts when they encountered one about seven feet high. Ford sized up the situation and saw that it was useless to attempt going through it until more power was procured. So the train started to back up to Holland for assistance. Sometime afterward another train was started from Holland with two locomotives attached, with Engineers Fogelsen and Knoll and Conductor Robbertson in charge, not having heard from Ford's train it was deemed necessary to send him extra power. Ford's train in the meantime was bucking its way back to Holland through the drifts that had formed since they first went through. Suddenly the blast of a whistle was heard. Ford rushed from the car but had not gone ten car lengths when the engines and plow loomed up through the blinding snow coming at a high rate of speed. The workmen thinking something was amiss rushed to the front end of the passenger coach but not quick enough to escape the crash.

John VanderWal was caught by the arm between the stove and the back of a seat and was held there as in a vice while the red hot stove burned the flesh to the bone. For five minutes he endured the torture when finally the seat was pryed open by his fellow workmen by the use of a jack screw.

Samuel Kerrs, William Prins and John DeBoer, all fellow workmen with VanderWal, and occupying the ill-fated coach, were bruised about the body and had their hands, legs and face scalded by steam from broken pipes. Martin Hacklander, fireman on the head engine of the double header, was also badly scalded. The engine crews all stuck to their posts.

The way car on the work train was completely demolished and the passenger train in which the men were sitting was wrecked considerably. The head engine of the "double header" was also put out of commission. The injured men were quickly transferred to the other train and brought to Holland with the second engine.

Arriving here the injured men were taken to Dr. E. Kremers' office, and Dr. Kremers was assisted by Drs. Mabbs and Cook. Three fingers were removed from the injured arm of John VanderWal, and the doctors have slight hope of saving the arm. The laborers on the second train remained uninjured.

The following are the injured:

John VanderWal, scalded about the hands and head bruised.

Martin Hacklander, fireman of engine No. 99, scalded by steam.

John DeBoer, side badly bruised.

Samuel Kerrs, arms and hands burned.

William Prins, legs and hands scalded, head bruised.

Make Railroad Care for Stock.

Sheriff Woodbury was notified last night that a carload of stock was suffering from the storm at the Pere Marquette yards in this city. He immediately took up the matter with Prosecuting Attorney Dan F. Pagelsen to see what could be done.

Upon investigation Mr. Pagelsen learned that the car contained cattle and hogs shipped from Zeeland to Muskegon and that they had been here since Wednesday evening. They were in an open cattle car and during all of that time they had not been fed or watered.

All through the blizzard their cries had disturbed the people living in that vicinity and they seemed to be suffering from the exposure. Mr. Pagelsen telephoned the conductor of the train and told him to feed the animals immediately. The conductor stated that he would wire the proper authorities for permission but Mr. Pagelsen would hear to no delay and at seven o'clock Sheriff Woodbury, Mr. Pagelsen and Deputy Sheriff Buxton went down to the P. M. yards and found the train crew carrying out their commands. Several bales of hay and some corn had been purchased for the animals and they fell upon the feed ravenously.

The car was moved at one o'clock this morning and reached Muskegon in safety. The same cars were also in Waverly and suffered from exposure. Marshal Kamferbeek ordered them shipped to Muskegon immediately.

THE ANT AND THE ELEPHANT.

In the jungle, jungle, jungle, Where the animals commingle, Came an Elephant, whose single Aim was dignified repose; Till an Ant, in accents painful, Hailed the Elephant disdainful, "Sir, excuse my comments plain-ful, But you're standing on my toes!"

But the tower of brute creation, At this base insinuation (Undisturbed his contemplation), Only blinked and flopped his ear; Gouth the Ant, in mighty dudgeon: "Ouch! you hurt! lift up your bludgeon From my foot, you hulking gudgeon—Are you deaf, or don't you hear?"

Said the Elephant, benighted: "Tut, tut, child! don't get excited—By and by I'll be de-lighted To remove this ground-work fat; All these demonstrations anti-ic, Make me positively frantic." Then he placed one toe gigantic On the Ant—and squashed him flat.

Here's a moral I would tender Unto you, small Retail spender—When a Trust steps on your slender Little toes, don't you squeal; Better offer no resistance, Or the Trust at such insistence Will discover your existence And remove you—with his heel. —Wallace Irwin, in New York Globe.

A Cup of Coffee

By HERO STRONG

"TEN minutes for refreshments!" sang out the conductor, with a grandiloquent air, as if he were conscious of enunciating a very highly important truth, when he knew, and everyone else knew, that he was telling a downright falsehood, for the ten minutes promised would dwindle into five, and then the warning bell would be struck, and lunchless passengers would boil their throats with scalding tea and coffee, and rush for their seats with the comfortable impression that they had drank it, and saved their money, even if they had got their throats scalded.

George Rossmore knew very well that there would not be half time enough to eat anything in a Christian manner, for he had traveled a great deal in his life; but his head ached, and he was out of sorts generally, and a cup of coffee was all important.

So he left his comfortable seat, rushed into the refreshment room, called for his beverage, and did his best to put himself outside of it when it came. But it was absolutely boiling, and in his frantic efforts to cool it, by pouring it into a saucer, his elbow was jogged by somebody on one side of him, and he spilled the scalding contents of his cup on the lovely silk dress of a lady on the other side.

Rossmore was not a lady's man; he detested women generally. He had been jilted in his youth by a golden-haired little wretch of a flirt, and he had given the sex a good deal of sorrow ever since.

But he must, of course, apologize for ruining her dress, and he turned to do so. The lady turned also, gave one look into the handsome face, so full of concern and so far above her—for she was a little thing, and Rossmore was a six-foot giant—and then with a scream of delight she flung her arms around him, pulled his face down to hers and gave him a series of kisses which fairly knocked all ideas of everything out of his brain.

"Ding! ding! ding! ding!" went the confounded bell, and the lady seized Rossmore's arm and hurried him to the car.

"We shall lose the train, Willie," she said, tugging at his hand, "and that would be so unfortunate. Help me up, do. Where's your manners? I declare! you act like a pig!" And before Rossmore knew how it had been accomplished, he found himself sitting very close to a most ravishing French hat, with lavender ribbons; and peeping out from beneath it, a perilously bewitching face, with blue eyes and lips like a rifted pomegranate. And she had kissed him!

After all, it wasn't so dreadfully unpleasant to think of as it might have been.

"We didn't expect you on this train," said the girl, pulling at the button of her glove. "Dear me, how I detect that kind of a button!—and I was going on before you. Florence will be delighted to see you! Tell me, please, are you going to propose to Florence?"

She crept up very close to him as she asked the question, and laid her little hand confidentially on his arm.

"I—I don't know," said Rossmore. "That is, I don't feel acquainted with her."

The fair unknown laughed. Such a silvery and enchanting laugh as she had.

"You don't? Well, that is good! How long does it take to get acquainted with her? You've only known her 15 years to my certain knowledge. Dear me, you have ruined my dress! The whole cupful went over it, I should say. And I drank mine boiling. I knew it would be just so, but when I am traveling nothing sets me up like a cup of coffee."

By this time Rossmore had got breath, and began to realize that things must not go on as they had begun. He cleared his throat, but he had a fearful time doing it, and his companion grew very much concerned for him.

"My, Willie," said she, "whatever ails you? You must have taken cold, or else you've got the catarrh! You make a worse noise than old Grandfather Hillard!"

"There has been a mistake," said Rossmore. "It was all owing to that infernally hot cup of coffee! Beg your pardon for using the long word, but I shouldn't have spilled it if it hadn't been so hot—"

"Oh! never mind! a dress isn't worth fretting about. I forgive you."

"Yes, but my name is not Willie!"

"Not Willie? What is it, I wonder?"

She had crept up close to him again, and was flicking the cinders off his coat-collar.

"My name is George Rossmore!" he said, slowly.

She turned around and looked at him intently, and as she gazed, the color went out of her peach-blossom face, and left her white as marble.

"There! there!" cried Rossmore, frightened within an inch of his life, and fully believing she was going to collapse and die then and there. "Don't take it so hard! It was a mistake—a most natural one, I expect, else you never would have made it! I—that is, you—dear me! how was it? and what was it?"

His evident distress was too ludicrous. The girl laughed again, and all the color came back to her face. But she had moved quite away from Rossmore, and somehow or other it didn't seem half so nice as it did before.

"I mistook you for my brother, William Danforth," she said, with dignity. "He was coming to Sister Annie's wedding, and he and Florence Lane are to be groomsmen and bridesmaids. You are just Willie's size, and his exact counterpart! I must ask you to excuse me for annoying you so much, and—and I will find another seat."

But Rossmore begged so hard for her to sit still, and impressed it upon her that if she did get up he should be certain she was angry with him, that she consented to sit still.

Of course, you are expecting that there was a collision, or that the car ran off the track, or the engine burst its boiler, but nothing of the kind occurred. There is no shadow of a tragedy in this story, neither is there any moral. At least, I don't know of any, and the individual who discovers one will be a deal sharper than I am.

Rossmore found out that his companion's name was Laura; and in spite of the fact that he detested women, he made himself very agreeable to this one. So much so that he was invited to Sister Annie's wedding, and they all concluded to double the number of groomsmen and bridesmaids—so as to allow Laura and George to participate.

For it turned out that Sister Annie's betrothed and Rossmore were classmates and had always been the best of friends.

Three months thereafter, Laura became George Rossmore's wife—and it was all through the agency of a cup of coffee.

But I would not advise young men to scald themselves at railroad refreshment saloons, and ruin ladies' dresses, under the mistaken impression that they will secure lovely wives by so doing, for the old saying is true in most cases:

"There's many a slip Twixt the cup and the lip,"

Society and Personal

Little Miss Vera Keppel, daughter of A. C. Keppel, celebrated her fifth birthday Tuesday, a number of friends being entertained, while many were kept away by the storm. Features appropriate to the occasion were in evidence and a very happy time was passed, games and refreshments being provided. Miss Vera was remembered with several pretty gifts.

Mrs. George Pardee, wife of Captain Pardee, the new U. S. hull inspector, and little son arrived from Holland Saturday to make their home at the Cutler in this city. Mrs. Pardee is an accomplished lady whom Mr. and Mrs. Haven will be glad to welcome. While in Holland, she was in charge of the choir in the Episcopal church in that city and upon her departure was presented with a gold cross as an appreciation of her faithful services and earnest work, by the ladies guild of the church.—Grand Haven Tribune.

Rev. Adrian Zwemer, living at 531 Central avenue, celebrated his eighty-second birthday Sunday. A family reunion was held Monday evening, but owing to the inclement weather few were present. Among the guests were Rev. J. F. Zwemer and family, and Mrs. S. Joldersma of Grand Rapids. Two of Rev. Mr. Zwemer's children are missionaries, R. V. Samuel M. Zwemer, who is in Arabia, and Miss Nellie Zwemer in China. The former is expected home in April and the latter in June.

Mrs. M. E. King was the hostess at a charming dinner Friday evening, when the following guests were entertained: Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Post, the Misses Amy Yates, Amy Dosker and Lillia Thurber, Robert De Pree, Dr. E. B. Kremers, and Prof. John W. Beardslee, Jr. The evening passed very enjoyably. Mrs. King's guests found great pleasure in inspecting her large collection of curios and souvenirs of the Holy Land and other European countries she has visited.

Capt. Beckman was in Chicago Monday.

A very pleasant birthday surprise was given Miss Maud Fralick at the home of her parents 163 East 7th street Tuesday evening. A very enjoyable evening was spent in games and music. One feature of the evening was an Observation Party. Miss Louise Damson won first prize, Miss Maud Fralick second and Mr. Robert Van Houten the consolation prize. Those present were the Misses Louise and Emma Damson, and Orlis, Claudia Race, Jennie, Te Reller, Blanche Luther, Florence Roest, Oweida Olson, Bessie Flacker, Bertha and Marie Blom, Altes Land, Kittie Fralick, Messrs. Sprague, Arthur Rhodenbaugh, Robert Van Houten.

Henry Vander Lei was in Grand Rapids on business Wednesday.

A very pretty Valentine party was enjoyed Tuesday evening by a large number of young people in Odd Fellows hall. Red hearts formed at active decorations and a byman's orchestra provided good music for the dance. A pretty corner punch was served, a sever little incidents, the tables being decorated with hearts. The grand march was an attractive feature with a diversion provided by the use of colored serpentine ribbons under which the couples marched. The young ladies in charge of the event returned to bed gratulated on its success.

Mr. and Mrs. George Farensworth of Montello Park were the victims of a cleverly planned surprise party Friday evening, a company of their neighbors taking possession of their home before the owners recovered from their amazement. The evening was passed pleasantly at cards, and the invaders had taken good care that the refreshment feature should not be lacking. The guests of a rug further surprised the hosts. The residence at Montello Park had had the jolliest times imaginable this winter, a more congenial company of neighbors would be hard to find. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames H. Boone, Jr., B. N. Tozer, John Van Zanten, John Baxa, Frank Ming, L. S. Spritsma, Albert Diekema, Frank Farensworth, and Tom Van Wert, Mrs. O. A. Byrnes, T. R. Van Wert.

The T. H. M. entertained their masquerade friends Tuesday evening at a Valentine party at the home of Miss Reka Kamfebeek, Graves Place. Hearts were everywhere in profusion, the rooms being prettily decorated in red. Games were played and delicious refreshments served. All those present reported an enjoyable time and look forward to anything the T. H. M. undertakes in the future. Those present were: Messrs. Gerrit Van Peurssem, Gerrit Peurings, Joe Sizoo, John Pracka, H. N. Brinkman, Benjamin Jelsing, A. Drew Stege, Cornelius Vander Schoot, Albert Wubbna, and Isaac Van Westburg. The members of the T. H. M. who were present are: Ananias D. Ke, Getunde Ridsma, Josie Ke khoof, Alice Van Ark, Anna Knoll, M. Thav N. Dyk, Maggie Beekman, Anna Van Ark, Tillie D. Feyter, Reka Kamfebeek.

The Degree of Honor is becoming noted for its successful suppers and one of the most enjoyable events planned by this fraternal order was the supper on Edwin Hall Tuesday evening. Over 60 members of the order congregated at the residence of Mr. Hall on East Eighth street, the surprise of the host being complete. Programmed provided a most entertaining and happy evening won by Miss Jennie Grot-nhuis and B. B. Bina, consolation going to Mrs. Fred Zalsman and a Will Thompson. The prize was a book of value and in the Mr. Hall celebrated his birthday yesterday, and he was surprised with a handsome oak rocker, William Baumgartel making the presentation. Mr. Hall, to which the recipient was only responded. Mrs. Hall served refreshments and the occasion proved a very happy one for all present.

Arthur Rhodenbaugh, who has been visiting the family of Geo. W. Fralick Tuesday evening, returned to his home at Garrett Indiana Wednesday.

Thomas de Vries was in Zeeland Wednesday.

Al Vegter will leave for Mobile Alabama on the speculation business. J. A. Vander Veen left for Los Angeles California to join his wife and little daughter. Geo. Van Landegend was in Grand Rapids Tuesday.

SEED TIME

The experienced farmer has learned that some grains require far different soil than others; some crops need different handling than others. He knows that a great deal depends upon right planting at the right time, and that the soil must be kept enriched. No use of complaining in summer about a mistake made in the spring. Decide before the seed is planted.

PRESIDENT TALKS ON RACE PROBLEM

IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT A LINCOLN DAY DINNER IN NEW YORK.

Also Pays a Visit to the Famous East Side and Is Warmly Welcomed by Its Denizens—Executive Closely Guarded.

New York, Feb. 14.—As the guest of honor at the Lincoln dinner of the Republican club in this city Monday night, President Roosevelt made a speech on the race problem. He appealed to the north to make its friendship to the south all the greater because of "the embarrassment of conditions for which she is not alone responsible," declared that the heartiest acknowledgments are due to the ministers, law officers, grand juries, public men and "great daily newspapers in the south who have recently done such effective work in leading the crusade against lynching," and said that the problem was to "so adjust the relations between two races of different ethnic type that the backward race be trained so that it may enter into the possession of true freedom, while the forward race is enabled to preserve unharmed the high civilization wrought out by its forefathers.

Visits the East Side.
New York, Feb. 15.—After two days of receptions and dinners in New York city, President Roosevelt left Tuesday night over the Pennsylvania road for Washington. The events of Tuesday included a reception at the University club and at night the event of his visit—the dinner given by the Hungarian Republican club at the restaurant, "Little Hungary," on the East Side, where a president has never been before. At the dinner the president made a brief speech in which he told of the duties of an American citizen as he saw them. From the time the president arrived on the East Side until his departure the greatest precautions were taken for his safety. Secret service men guarded his person and policemen in uniform and in plain clothes were stationed all about the restaurant and for blocks on each side so that the crowds of East Side residents who had gathered to see the chief executive of the nation were not able to get within two or three blocks of him.

Why So Tired.

Profit by the Experience of a Holland Citizen.

That constant tired feeling. Tells of kidneys over-worked. So does backache and many other aches. There is one cure for every kidney ill. For backache, urinary disorders, discharges. Let a Holland citizen tell you.

Mrs. D. Van Houten, of 287 West 13th street, says: "I had constant heavy aching pains through the loins, in the muscles of my back and under the shoulder blades. My back tired easily from exertion and if I stooped or lifted anything, heavy sharp twinges caught me in the region of my kidneys. I could not rest comfortably in any position and when I first got up mornings I felt as tired and worn out as I was the night previous. I tried a great many remedies, but if any of them benefited me it was very temporary. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and went to J. O. Doeburg's drug store and got a box. I did not take them long before I noticed an improvement which steadily continued until I was in good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's and take no substitute.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. THE FROST KING IS RELENTLESS

CAUSES AN ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF SUFFERING AND A NUMBER OF DEATHS.

Entire Country Practically in the Grasp of the Cold Wave—Losses of Live Stock Will Be Enormous—Delay to Railway Traffic.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Eighteen below zero, the coldest weather Chicago has had since February 9, 1899, when the mercury touched 21 below, was registered at seven a. m. Monday. In Chicago one man was frozen to death and many persons had feet, hands or ears frozen. Great suffering is reported from the poor, and the authorities are overrun with appeals for fuel.

From the west, northwest and southwest come reports of bitter cold. In many sections the low temperature is unprecedented. Country districts are practically cut off from the world by great snowdrifts and stinging cold. Railroad trains are blocked and country trolley lines snowed under. Telegraph wires are down in many sections of the west. Heavy losses to stock are reported. Sheep and cattle are freezing to death in large numbers.

Six Frozen to Death.
The severest weather in 20 years prevails at Kansas City and throughout Missouri, Kansas and the territories. Six men were frozen to death in Oklahoma. The loss to stock in western Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian territory is the heaviest in years. At Kansas City the mercury went to 22 below. In other portions of Missouri 25 below was reported. In central and western Kansas the wind became a gale, piling the snow high in the cuts, and the temperature went to 30 degrees below zero.

Reports from the west, northwest and southwest show how widespread is the extreme cold, and how universal the blizzard. From 20 to 40 degrees below zero is the temperature recorded at many points. There is a great scarcity of steam coal. Huge snowdrifts have blocked trains.

Coldest in Years.
Points in western Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Indian territory, all report the coldest weather of the winter, and most of them the coldest ever known. A dozen persons have been reported frozen to death in the southwest in the past two days. Winter wheat is covered by snow and is not affected by the cold.

Live Stock Losses.
Wichita, Kan., Feb. 14.—W. E. Bolton, secretary of the Oklahoma Livestock association, says the livestock losses this year will be the greatest since the great blizzard year of 1886. He places the number of head lost on the range in western Kansas, western Oklahoma and the Pan-Handle of Texas at 50,000 head.

In Wisconsin.
Milwaukee, Feb. 14.—The cold wave is general throughout the state. Maritime reports that hundreds of deer have died from the intense cold. Charles Krempen, Sr., aged 70, whose home was at Granville, near Milwaukee, died from exposure, being overcome while driving to his home from Milwaukee.

Ice Many Feet Thick.
St. Louis, Feb. 14.—River men state that the ice has an average thickness of three feet and in the vicinity of Eads' bridge extends almost to the bottom of the river. Old river men say the river has not been in such a condition in 35 years.

Fuel Badly Needed.
Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 15.—The train blockade due to the storm has lasted for several days now, and the results are manifesting themselves in a coal famine in a score of larger towns and cities, and food famines in other places. The cry for fuel has become so urgent that the Rock Island and other roads have announced that coal trains will be given preference over all other traffic and passenger service will be practically abandoned.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 15.—In Omaha the fuel conditions have become serious. All of the packing houses have shut down their plants for want of fuel. No slaughtering is being done and only refrigerating plants are operated. None of the city dealers have any anthracite coal and none is coming in.

In the South.
Louisville, Ky., Feb. 14.—With the south and southwest just beginning to recover from the paralyzing blow to wire and rail communications inflicted by the sleet storms of last week, the hopes of the inhabitants have been dashed by a cold wave which has spread with great speed from Arizona to the Atlantic and from the Ohio river to the gulf. In Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee heavy snowfalls are reported. Railroad traffic is seriously hindered by snowfall around Birmingham. In Mississippi, in the central and northern portions, the tie-up of railroads is almost complete. There have been no trains between Meridian and New Orleans for a week.

A California Winter.
San Francisco, Feb. 15.—Californiaans are complaining of cold weather. For several days past the thermometer in this city has fallen as low as 42 degrees above zero early in the morning and some frost has been seen. There has been neither rain nor snow, and in the afternoon, with the mercury above 60, overcoats are unnecessary, and silk waists are worn in the shopping districts. Sufficient rain has fallen this season to insure splendid crops, and the entire state reports that a year of exceptional prosperity is anticipated.

BITTER WORDS BANDIED.

Congressmen Hearst and Sullivan Create a Lively Scene in the House.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Not in recent years has the house witnessed such a spectacle as it did Monday with Mr. Sullivan (Mass.) and William R. Hearst (N. Y.) as the central figures. Both indulged in personalities of the gravest character and so stirred the house as to arouse among certain members a feeling of the greatest indignation. Mr. Sullivan heaped upon Mr. Hearst a tirade of denunciation, while the latter by implication charged Mr. Sullivan with complicity in a murder.

The affair grew out of the recent discussion of the freight rate question in the house, when Mr. Sullivan inquired of Mr. Lamar (Fla.), who was favoring the Hearst bill, why Mr. Hearst did not defend his own bill, this being followed by a criticism of Mr. Sullivan in the New York American and Journal.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The second chapter of the episode between Mr. Sullivan (Mass.) and Mr. Hearst (N. Y.) occurred in the house Tuesday, when Mr. Sullivan again took the floor on a question of privilege and related the circumstances leading to the indictment and conviction of his father and himself for manslaughter. Mr. Sullivan's statement was devoid of any further attack on his colleague and was a straight recitation of the occurrence referred to by Mr. Hearst on Monday. Mr. Sullivan admitted the charge, but said that he himself had only been technically guilty, and was permitted to leave the court a free man without serving a day's imprisonment or being subjected to a fine. His father had been imprisoned a year and a half, but on the introduction of new evidence which presented a grave doubt of guilt his father had been pardoned. Mr. Sullivan's statement was listened to with marked attention, and at its conclusion he was warmly applauded, many members leaving their seats and shaking his hand. Mr. Hearst was not present during the time he spoke.

M'CUE HANGED.

Ex-Mayor of Charlottesville, Va., Pays the Penalty of Wife Murder.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 11.—Without a tremor, J. Samuel McCue met death on the scaffold at 7:35 o'clock Friday morning for wife murder. Nineteen minutes after the trap was sprung McCue was pronounced dead by strangulation. His neck was not broken. He left a statement confessing his crime, which was committed on the night of September 4 last. J. Samuel McCue was 46 years old, and twice had been mayor of the city of Charlottesville. For years McCue was one of the most prominent men in the state. His wife was a member of the Field family. Gen. Field was at one time attorney general of the state, and later was nominated for vice president on the populist ticket. McCue, in addition to his interest in public affairs, was a society leader.

INDICTED AGAIN.

True Bills Returned Against Senator Mitchell and Congressmen Hermann and Williamson.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 14.—The United States grand jury late on Monday returned an indictment charging United States Senator Mitchell, Congressmen John N. Williamson and Binger Hermann and others with having conspired to have created the Blue Mountain Forest reserve in eastern Oregon, with the intent of defrauding the government of public lands and of also conspiring to obtain possession of more than 200,000 acres of public and school lands located in several states of the value of over $3,000,000.

Cortelyou to Succeed Wynne.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The following statement was made public at the white house Saturday: "The members of the cabinet have all tendered their resignations and on the 6th of March they will all be nominated for reappointment, with the exception of Mr. Wynne, who is to be appointed consul general at London. Mr. Cortelyou will be nominated on March 6th for postmaster general."

Building Many New Mills.

Manchester, Eng., Feb. 15.—The heavy crop of American cotton has caused increased activity in mill buildings here. Four new mills are in course of erection, and at the same time a number of new mills are going up for Egyptian cotton. Altogether the capital in these new enterprises amounts to $15,000,000. The new mills will give employment to 9,000 workers.

Statehood Strikes a Snag.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The republicans of the house of representatives decided in conference Friday that the house statehood provision shall prevail or that no statehood legislation will be enacted by the present congress. A resolution which, it is said, sets forth this position, was adopted by a vote of 112 to 33, after three hours of debate.

Disaster in Mexico.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 11.—In a collision on the National Railway of Mexico, which occurred on the San Luis Potosi division between the towns of Carleros and La Ventura, 258 miles south of this city, three persons are known to have lost their lives, and perhaps many others are dead or injured.

Hotel Guests in Panic.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Fire which gutted the Hotel Brevoort on Madison street early Tuesday caused a panic among 275 guests and employees who were roused from their beds and forced to flee to shelter through a boardwalk. Loss, nearly $150,000.

TO THIN PEOPLE.

VALUABLE INFORMATION

Given by Druggist Con De Pree.

Druggist Con De Pree gives the following advice to those who want to gain flesh, and it should be of value to everybody in Holland.

"The quickest, surest and safest way for thin people to gain flesh is to take Vinol, our cod liver oil preparation, and the reason that Vinol is so far superior to anything else to create flesh and strength is because it does actually contain all of the medicinal, curative elements actually taken from genuine fresh cod livers, which no other cod liver oil preparation does, and being without oil or grease to upset the stomach and retard its work it is a great improvement over old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

"Prominent physicians agree that this new cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, is certainly the greatest tissue builder, flesh creator and strength producer on the market. They prescribe it for their patients who are in need of a tonic reconstructer, and to those who want to gain flesh.

"Vinol acts upon the stomach in a beneficial way, enabling it to obtain the necessary ingredients from the daily food eaten to make pure, rich, red blood, create flesh and strength, and so sure are we of its action that we freely offer to return the money paid for Vinol in every case where it fails." Con De Pree, Druggist.

Grave Trouble Foreseen.

It needs but little foresight, to tell, that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by W. C. Walsh druggist, at 50c a bottle.

SEED TIME

The experienced farmer has learned that some grains require far different soil than others; some crops need different handling than others. He knows that a great deal depends upon right planting at the right time, and that the soil must be kept enriched. No use of complaining in summer about a mistake made in the spring. Decide before the seed is planted.

The best time to remedy wasting conditions in the human body is before the evil is too deep rooted. At the first evidence of loss of flesh

Ottawa County farmers who are holding their potato stock in the hopes of getting a high price for them later, are playing what looks like a losing game. With large holdings in the hands of the dealers prospects for high priced potatoes look rather gloomy.

The old gentleman Van Nuren of Zeeland was seized by a fit of temporary insanity, late last Sunday evening and made such disturbance by striking the "clapboards" of his residence on west Main street with a club, accompanied by moans of anguish, as to attract the attention of neighbors. The old man lived alone for some time, but the following morning relatives took him to Vriesland.

He is now improving steadily and will soon be out again.

It is reported that Mayor Herman F. Harbeck is to announce his candidacy in a short time, for the position of Collector of Customs of the Grand Haven district. Capt. Harbeck has never before been a candidate for anything, other than an honorary office, and if yeoman's work for the Republican party, honesty and straight forward methods count for anything, he is entitled to the appointment. A new apparatus will be added to the equipment of the fire department. Albert Klooster the fire chief has ordered from Larkin and Co. of Dayton Ohio a new type of fire nozzle. This nozzle will throw a solid stream and also a spray. The spray will act as a shield to the pipe men protecting them to a large degree from smoke on entering a building, and also moderating intense heat when fighting a fire at close range. The company sends this nozzle on trial and if it is found to be satisfactory, each department will be equipped with them.

The body of George Brown that has been waiting for three days at the Pere Marquette depot to be shipped to West Olive for burial, was taken there by rig yesterday, no trains going or coming. Brown died from injuries he received in a railway wreck in New York receiving a fractured skull. The body was shipped to his old home in West Olive.

Peter Smith of New Holland became violently insane on Monday and was taken to Grand Haven to be committed to the Kalamazoo asylum by Judge Kirby. On Monday he attempted to commit suicide by striking himself on the head with a spade. He first showed symptoms of derangement on Sunday, John Meeuwse and John Smith took him to Holland Wednesday. During his worst spell he broke windows and furniture in his home. His raving was constantly about drain digging. The man is about 40 years of age and has a wife and five children. His farm is one mile west and one mile south of New Holland. He is a brother-in-law of Henry Groenewoud of this city, and his brother, Jacob Smith, lives at Waverly.

During the coming week the city will be canvassed for the purpose of selling tickets for the Band Entertainment in Winants chapel on March 2nd. It has been the aim of the management having in charge the city instruments to furnish an organization of which the people can feel proud. Further as there is no way to remunerate the boys for their services it is particularly requested by the Trustees for the citizens who own the instruments that the public shall show their appreciation for what has been done towards furnishing the city with a band that shall be a credit to any town the size of Holland. The small sum of 50 cents given for this purpose annually will surely be a hardship to no one. The boys have already spent $150 of their own money for the good of the cause. The local talent appearing on the program give their services gratuitously. Let us all help the good cause along.

There was a small indignation meeting at the council rooms Wednesday evening when the following list of taxpayers made claims that errors had been made in the assessment of their personal property. Mrs. B. Bouwman, $5.03; Lizzie Winter & Co., $17.75; Arie Plaggenmars, $16.75; Westveld Bros., $1.68; Herman Klassen, $5.03; Anthony Schermer, $33.47; David McCarthy, $33.47; John VanderWest, $33.47; Walter Verhoef, $26.79; George A. Covell, $4.19; Thos. Lanning, $25.12; J. Breitmeyer, $4.75; Wm. Spaith and G. Dekker. The aldermen cross questioned them very thoroughly and eventually came to the conclusion that they had no claim. Anthony Schermer claimed that the $2000 on which he had been assessed was given to his brother with which to buy a farm, but the alderman would not consider this and ordered the assessment to stand. The entire matter was turned over to the committee on claims who will finally act in the matter.

Electric Road.

Nothing definite has been done by the Saugatuck council regarding a franchise for the electric road from South Haven to Saugatuck and Douglas. On one point the council is determined that the proposed road shall not come in over the steel bridge connecting Saugatuck and Douglas and on Lake street, to the village as was expressed in a resolution, it states further that the entrance most favored by Saugatuck would be over a bridge to be built by the railway company above or below the place where a ferry is now operated and it was specified that the bridge should be built to provide, a driveway for vehicles and a walk for pedestrians. A forfeit of $1,000 is required in case the road is not completed within a year from the date of granting the franchise.

The entrance over the bridge at Douglas is objected to mainly because it would go along the highway and it is feared that farmers would avoid this road for fear their horses would be frightened by passing cars, and thereby the village would lose considerable patronage. The board is anxious that the new road shall make terms with the Holland Interurban for using its tracks and loop in the village. Citizens object to having cars run on Butler street, the main thoroughfare, and the Holland line occupies Water street. Douglas favors laying the tracks over the present bridge for the reason that any other route may keep the line from entering that village. Dunkley Williams & Bardeen have stated their willingness to enter Douglas and then follow the river bank west to the ferry.

Jamestown Farmers Institute.

For The Holland City News.
Farmers Institute at Jamestown was a complete success in every respect.

The meeting was in charge of President F. P. Peck of Coopersville. Prof. J. H. Kleinheksel gave a very interesting talk on "Do Our Boys and Girls Need An Education?" which was indeed a very instructive lecture and appreciated by all. Mr. N. P. Hall was delayed in coming on account of the late arrival of trains in Grand Rapids so that the subject which was assigned to him was taken by F. P. Peck who showed that he is a dairy man, not in theory but in practice and that the subject "Feeds and Their Value" was not a strange subject for him and it was proved that the feeds were given in the proper way and in the right proportion as he received $169 in the month of Jan. from 21 cows of which 5 were not worth keeping as they were sold a few days ago to a butcher.

At dinner time Mr. Hull arrived just in time to take part at this "Love Feast," which was prepared by the ladies of Jamestown in a very bountiful way. After dinner Elvin Gitchel made a very short address on "Small Fruits" and remarked that there was not much more for him to say then the man did when his friend jumped in the water, "you have jumped in now jump out." Mr. A. Bos led the discussion of the same subject.

The Care and Feed of a Dairy Cow was taken up by Mr. Hull who gave an hour's talk on the subject which was of great interest to those present.

Music was rendered by the Jamestown choir which was very good in every respect.

Mr. J. F. Richardson the local manager for Jamestown, deserves great credit for the good success at this Institute.

Steamboat Springs, Colo

To Readers and Friends.

I see in the News all the correspondents have got to writing, but old Port Sheldon, I would like to see an item from them once in a while. The reason I write a few lines is because I received a letter through Fred Nash from Holland boys, who write asking about this place, and a number of others who have read my letters in the News are also asking for information. I wish to tell all that this is a wonderful country and we have most everything, even to 40 inches of snow on the level, no winds, and still snowing may reach five feet yet. Now for snow shoeing and coasting which is great. All we lack is the railroad and we are now worried over reports that Moffet has sold his new road and if we don't get it why were out there's all, we can't expect to do anything without a railroad. Until this is settled, I advise no one to come here, I had 2 years of it and it is quite enough for me. If this road goes through Steamboat Springs is all we ask, times and everything will be good. There are lots of good places in Colorado to come to and Colorado is all right, but don't go to a place 85 miles from a rail road till your sure of getting one. Some freighters have been 10 days on road and are not in yet, how would you like to freight over mountains. Cattle and horses are fed out doors here, thousands of heads and all do well.

Every place in town is full of oats, no market, unless they commence on railroad in the spring. They are asking for tie makers in Middle Park. They pay 12 cents apiece and the timber to be had here is as straight as a string. This would make some of the old Michigan tie makers mouth water. Oil costs us 45 cents per gallon. Electric lights 40 to 75 cents per week per light. We also have city water with 100 lb pressure right from the mountains. Hope to hear good rail road news before long.

I must close now or Nick will be charging me for space. I hope all old neighbors and friends are well, you bet we think of you here on the mountains covered with snow.
