Big Exposition Building Sold To 'Seven-Up'

LARGE BUILDING, NORTH RIVER AVENUE, WILL BE IDEAL FOR THIS ENTERPRISE

The 7-Up Bottling Co. of Western Michigan, through negotiations made possible by the Chamber of Commerce, has acquired the two-story brick building at 99 River Avenue, formerly the Ottawa Exhibition Building. The 7-Up Company has purchased a complete new set-up of modern bottling machinery and equipment and starting next month will produce for the Western and Central Michigan trade, at this plant, the company's requirements of 7-Up. This concern, which began selling 7-Up in this territory in 1934 has met with unusual success, and the local Chamber of Commerce states that it is another one of those small progressive companies which add much to the substantial yearly payrolls and general well being of any community.

The 7-Up Company is under the management of Phillips Brooks of this city, who has built the sales of this product from a modest beginning to over three million bottles a year, and from all indications, the concern's 1937 sales may far exceed their anticipation. 7-Up is a nationally known product, their extracts being furnished to territorial bottlers under franchise agreements. One of the most interesting machines to be installed in the new plant is an automatic bottle washer and sterilizer. This outfit will at top speed turn out 48,000 sparkling clean bottles per day and each bottle is kept in immersion for eight minutes, there being 856 inside the steaming sterilization tanks at all times. The company operates eleven, 1 1/2-ton panel delivery trucks in Western Michigan.

It can be readily seen that with a large force in the mammoth exhibition building, augmented by eleven truck drivers and an office force, a substantial working force will be housed in an ideal building, which has been empty for years. The building some time ago was built by the Ottawa Furniture Company as a sales room and for a time as a retail store. It housed several exhibitions during Tulip Festivals of Holland manufactured goods under the name "Made in Holland" and visited by thousands.

Manager Phillips Brooks, has been an enterprising citizen always and since coming to Holland he has taken a deep interest in civic affairs. The growth of his enterprise has been tremendous and it has always been his desire to have it located here permanently and this has at last become a fact. "Phil" has a product worthwhile as the growth of the business indicates. Mr. Brooks is the brother of former mayor and present State senator, Earnest Brooks.

COUNCIL NOTES

Mayor Geerlings opened the meeting with prayer, and the meeting lasted twenty minutes, and the prayer ten seconds.

A communication was read from Alfred DeWeerd of Hudsonville in which the village of Hudsonville asked the co-operation of Holland in petitioning the state highway department for the improvement of M21. The communication was turned over to the Chamber of Commerce committee.

A resolution was read by Clerk Peterson from Secretary of State Case in which the legislature presented congratulations to Holland on the recent celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of the setting of west Michigan by the Dutch. The resolution pointed out that it was a fine gesture on the part of the Hollanders, who, in pioneering in Michigan had brought the state a wonderful citizenry. The solons in Lansing also passed

BAND CONCERT NEXT WEEK TUESDAY

Mr. H. J. Karsten, President of the Holland American Legion band, presented a communication to the Mayor, Common Council and other city officials asking them to attend the winter band concert in Holland High School auditorium next week Tuesday at 8:15 o'clock. There is going to be an excellent program. Mr. Karsten states, brought about by faithful practice during the fall and winter.

The common council voted unanimously to attend on the night of February 23.

Our local band is the pride of the community. Its summer concerts are looked forward to by both citizens and tourists and they give of their services freely and unstintingly on every public occasion; and what is more, they are a fine prize winning organization. What is more inspiring than to see this fine body of men, well uniformed, swing down the street playing Sousa's march music? No organization in Holland deserves our encouragement more than does this one.

The admission is free, but be sure to have something in your pockets for the collection plate. The net results have sometimes been rather "scrimpy." But, whatever you do, come anyway. You will find the program elsewhere in this issue.

These resolutions in deference to Ernest Brooks, State Senator and Nelson Miles, State Representative, both from Holland.

Ed Zwemer asked for the privilege of holding an auction on North River Avenue, disposing of the rest of his second-hand goods at a fire sale Saturday. It was granted. The building in which Mr. Zwemer did business was damaged by fire recently.

The ordinance committee, composed of Aldermen Prins, chairman, Damson and Smith, asked for more time on the traffic ordinance which is a "mile long." There are fourteen columns of fine print and each alderman was given a copy to read at his leisure, and there is plenty of room alongside of each copy to write suggestions or changes. The reading of the ordinance and discussion will take at least a day, so undoubtedly it will be done piecemeal.

Prof. Roland Shackson of Hope College made an impression before the council when he asked that the council prohibit the dog warden from slaughtering dogs in the presence of school children. His point carried and the city is taking other measures.

City election inspectors appointed for the March primaries are as follows: 1st Ward, Richard Brandt; 2nd Ward, John Wolman; 3rd Ward, Peter Brusse; 4th Ward, William Lawrence; 5th Ward, 1st Precinct, George Deur; 2nd Precinct, Bert Tinnholt; 6th Ward, Herman Steggers. Polls will be open from 7:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m.

Members of the common council, Wednesday night, approved the employment of the Walter H. Flood Co., of Chicago as inspectors of materials used in the paving of Van Raalte Ave., North of 20th St., to Ninth St., and Lake St., between Eighth and Ninth Sts. Since the company had carried on previous inspections satisfactorily, recommendations were submitted by Alderman Jacob Bultman and Alderman George Damson, that they again be employed and that the P.W.A. be asked to approve the action. To carry out the necessary inspection work the company submitted the following bid: Concrete base, 5 cents per square yard; asphalt binder and top, 4 cents per square yard; concrete curbing and gutter, 3 cents per square yard.

History And 13th Figures In Surprise

SON OF FORMER PRESIDENT OF HOPE COLLEGE CELEBRATES

It is quite a coincidence that Ed Scott, living just north of Holland, should celebrate his 71st birthday anniversary on February 9, the date of the coming of the Holland pilgrims. There is even more significance to the anniversary just celebrated, since Ed Scott was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, who came to Holland in 1866 right after the Civil War and became President of Hope College, then rather a modest institution. He stayed at Hope until the time of his death, when Dr. G. J. Kollen followed as the head of the institution.

Anyway, a surprise was planned on Ed to take place on February 9, but the gentleman who was to be honored was so much taken up with the program of the coming of the Hollanders on that anniversary at Hope Memorial Chapel, that the planners stayed off to Saturday night. Another unusual coincidence was the fact that there were thirteen guests present and the date was also Saturday, February 13. But that was not a deterrent to the pleasure of the evening. The guests remained and were welcome, despite the superstitious number.

Ed says he cannot qualify as a Dutchman, not being able to trace his ancestry back to The Netherlands. He is, however, deeply interested in Holland and its history since his father took a leading part in developing the local college and took a deep interest in Holland's civic and religious welfare.

Ed, too, is a graduate from our public schools, and has been a staunch Holland supporter all his life. He married into a family of sailors who had a great deal to do with the commerce into this port in the days of sailing vessels. The Thompsons, father and son, sailed "before the mast" for a good many years and their grandfathers always hailed from Holland's port. A few weeks ago, in its Fifty Years Ago column, the Holland City News gave a review of one of the Thompson ships sailing in a severe snow storm, and the sailors, among them the Thompson boys, were literally covered with ice and frozen to the wheel and the decks. It was a vivid, "Great Lake" story of the hardships that a seaman, with only sails to set the vessel going, had to endure.

The Thompson family settled in Holland in 1857 and Ed Scott married into that family. Having allied himself with the Dutch through adoption, he celebrated his 71st year with the Norwegians, and as we have said before, a fine, hardy class of people, just as thrifty as the Hollanders, who cast their lot with this community when Holland was still a struggling, pioneering city. They have made for a fine citizenship. In the early days they followed the lake and that was a mighty important position, considering that most of the merchandise necessary to sustain Holland came by sailing vessel, and by the same token, lumber, leather, staves and wood had to be transported from this port, also by boat. That much for the Norwegians.

Possibly when Ed becomes 72 he will call in the Scotch Irish, for that is the family tree of his illustrious father, a most lovable man who was very unselfish in whatever he did. No Scotch stories, so rampant these days, as this relates to "a tight Scot," could possibly apply to President Charles Scott and the most lovable Mrs. Scott.

The writer remembers them well. They lived in a fine old home with large pillars on the north side of 9th Street, between College and Columbia Avenues. It was located on a hill and might have been the replica of a Southern plantation home, and just as hospitable.

Anyway, the party was held on last Saturday and Ed Scott was the recipient of several gifts from thoughtful relatives and friends. One trick present was secured, bound in many newspapers, and wound with endless string. When Ed got to the bottom he dug out a labyrinth of objects including soap, washing powder, tooth paste and last, but not least, a bunch of grapefruit. Anyway, with the bundle, genial Ed could nearly start a grocery store.

After the wonderful repast, supplied by the ladies in the party, the evening was spent playing buncie, pink pong and other interesting games. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Helen Thompson Labadie and the men's prize by Mr. H. Knutsen.

The guests present were Mrs. Helen Labadie, Mr. William Anderson, Mr. Victor Hanson, Miss Gunhild Anderson, Mr. Henry Knutsen and daughter, Mrs. Ruth. Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Anderson and daughter, Shirley Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott and son, Jerry, and the guest of honor, Mr. Ed Scott.

HOLLAND COAST GUARDS COME HOME

Forrest Slaughter is the only Holland coast guardman to remain in the flood area. Four members of the crew and two boats returned to the local station Tuesday. Capt. E. J. Clemons, who accompanied C. V. Slaghuys and Kenneth Leslie to Evansville, Ind., Jan. 21, has not returned as he is confined to the Evansville marine hospital as the result of a minor operation.

The council also approved a written request from the Globe Construction Co., Kalamazoo, holders of the street improvement contract, asking permission to pay all laborers by check.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Just think of it, the bear did not see his shadow last Wednesday and winter is nearly over in consequence—Note: Fifty years ago the woods were full of bear—but since the hunter has nearly cleared "Bruno" out, the weather man had to fall back on a poor little "ground hog" for a shambles. Poor substitute it would seem, for Mr. Bear has some shadow to look at and further the bear does really awaken from his winter sleep in February. On the other hand the ground hog in reality hibernates until March and regardless of sunshine or clouds, the little fellow has not seen his shadow at any time until the March winds blow.

The volunteer firemen of Holland City enjoy the comforts of a new $10,000 establishment west Wednesday street in the way of a new building for their use with $100 per year to each company. So many of them have resigned because they were refused $25.00 each feeling that the building and the pay was not enough. The department is therefore badly disorganized. The city thinks of making them a present of Ottawa county with "a fence around it" — An Allegan Paper.

That was an kindly cut on the part of the Allegan newspaper. Judging from the size of the companies at that time the pay was not over $10.00 per man per year, not enough to pay for possible soiled clothing at one fire. Just think of it—constantly on the alert for 365 days and nights for $10.00 and the equipment was poor indeed —man-driven hosecarts and ladder wagon. Holland has been blessed with two volunteer companies such as few cities have and as to the fire from the small article appeared in the Allegan newspaper 50 years ago, until now, there has never been any pay that would attract men to this work aside from the fact that the firemen we have had have served as a labor of love. They felt a deep loyalty to their wonderful city and wished to play a part in protecting it from a similar fire which swept into the city, destroying it during the summer of 1871. Hats off to the Holland firemen covering a period of 50 years and more. The writer did not know that the axiom "with a fence around it" existed 50 years ago.

We stated in our last issue that Mr. H. Postma had manufactured 35,000 cigars during 1886. It should have been 60,000 and valued at $1,500. Note: His factory was located on West 7th St., where Van Dyke once had his bakery. This item brings home the unusual sense of proportion and changes covering a period of 50 years. Undoubtedly the News had the number of cigars incorrect, but even then 60,000 or 35,000 and a total volume of $1,500 for a year's business would be "out of line" now. Considering buying of stock, rent, fuel, auto and paying employees the above named amount wouldn't go far these days. Then too, 35,000 cigars a week for a small shop would be nothing to "crow over" today.

J. H. Nibbelink on 9th street, Livery stable keeper, was added undertaking to his business and is prepared to take charge of funerals. Note: After the death of Mr. Nibbelink his son Seth continued the livery and undertaking. The advent of the automobile left only the undertaking. At the death of Seth Nibbelink a son, James, and Peter Notier took over the enterprise and the firm now is Nibbelink-Notier, Mortuary. In the days of the Senior Nibbelink, the person was more or less a noted citizen the horses were ornamented with large plumes over their heads. The other conveyances were either hacks or carriages, horse-drawn. Today everything is motor driven, fire turnouts but not nearly as imposing and dignified as the slower horse-drawn funeral parade. The first all motor driven funeral occurred some 15 or 16 years ago. This was at the time when the automobile salesman had passed away. Most of the vehicles in that funeral parade were automobiles, however, not so dependable as those of a score of years later. The writer remembers self starters were few on cars then and the progress of the funeral was halted frequently enabling drivers to crank cars which had been idled down too much. All this has been remedied in the motor car of today. Even 20 years ago rigs had to be hired by the mourners to take care of the relatives and friends who wished to go to the cemetery. Today scores of cars are secured from friends, generally without charge. This item would indicate that the Nibbelink funeral establishment is a half century old.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Gong Mun, Chee Mon Wou and Yin Orr, the three chinamen whom U. S. Marshal Whelan and Ben Mulder, of Holland, a deputy, took to San Francisco recently for deportation for China, have been having troublesome times when they reached the Far East. Both Mr. Whelan and Mr. Mulder received some fine souvenirs from the Celestials and it appeared that when they reached China that an endeavor was made to draft them in the Chinese army. It seems since that they fled to Japan. One of the Chinese in question had been a restaurateur in Indianapolis and had grown well to do when it was discovered he had entered the country without getting his "Chalkchee" (citizens papers). He wore a diamond of two carats, a beauty, and had been in business several years before he was found out. He was well educated, spoke fluent English and was the interpreter for the other two, who, if we remember right, were smuggled over through Canada, near Detroit, in sacks.

Dr. J. Talmadge Bergen, former pastor of Hope Church, was re-elected to state, has been offered the presidency of the Albert Lee University of Minnesota. Note: When Mr. Bergen left Hope Church his first charge was Dubuque, Ia., where he remained for some time. Dr. Bergen was one of the most beloved men in this city when he lived in Holland. He went into the highways and byways in the old saloon days, picked up not a few hungry derelicts, asked them to go fishing or boating with him and through the "great outdoors" and constant association he brought many a Holland man back to self-respect, good citizenship and religion. Dr. Bergen occasionally comes to Holland even now to attend Hope commencement exercises and to be the guest of his children, Mr. and Mrs. C. "Neil" Bergen, 29 East 14th St.

Only the old timers remember the town of Singapore across the river from Saugatuck where once stood a thriving little "saw mill" city. All along the log booms and docks were streets lined with "company stores," rows upon rows of boarding houses, used also as hotels, saloons, a bank, a post office, a church and school. The business street was filled with hustle and bustle day and night. Today a large sand dune covers it all and not a vestige of the small town remains except a gigantic sawdust heap, the residue from the lumber mills. Now this is to go, since the Chicago test oil factory has bid $4.00 for the heap through a representative of the plant. Note: Apparently the factory did not get the sawdust since during the World War Uncle Sam purchased it for considerable more money, using it in the making of "gun cotton" for its fleet. Singapore has figured in song and story as the Pompeii of Michigan, being buried with sand from Mt. Baldie at Saugatuck rather than with lava from Mt. Vesuvius. It has been a mystery city and has made good newspaper copy for more than a half century.

Zeeland school has held a month of fire drilling. The first try two schools were cleared of pupils in 75 seconds and Jan. 17, 1912, East Building 60 seconds; high school, 50 seconds.

The girls' basketball team of Holland High is a fine looking set of young folk and not alone that they are able basketballers. They have just defeated the strong Lovell girls' team by a score of 16 to 8. The girls will play South Haven two weeks hence. The Holland line-up as follows: Florence Mieser, Esther Meengs, forwards; Cornelia Glerum, Gertrude Steketee, center; Etta A. Tawood, Frances Bosch, guards; Marie Haberman, substitute.

At 8:30 Saturday morning fire was discovered in the barn of John R. Bouws at Graafschap where John was carrying his horses. John states that he does not realize how the fire started—he personally does not smoke nor does anyone else on the farm. With difficulty the horses and some tools were saved. However, a valuable colt, 5 cows, 2 calves and 9 hogs and all the hay and grain and some tools as well as the buildings were destroyed. The loss is estimated at more than $2,500 with insurance in the Farmers' Mutual of Allegan for $1,500.

Changing Name Of Local Park Not New Thing

ALDERMAN VOGELZANG BRINGS IN COMMUNICATION ASKING FOR CHANGE

Alderman Vogelzang of the 6th Ward presented a communication to the Common Council last night which is self-explanatory. The Holland City News adds some history to this communication. The thought of the 6th Ward alderman is found below:

Holland, Michigan, February 17, 1937.

Honorable Mayor and Common Council:

Gentlemen: Since Holland and Western Michigan have just celebrated the coming of Dr. Van Raalte as well as the Hollanders to these parts, I was wondering if it would not be fitting and appropriate to re-name Centennial Park. Other citizens have spoken to me from time to time; there have been comments on it in the local newspapers; and even a monument of Dr. Van Raalte, to be placed in Centennial Park, has been suggested and drawings were even made to begin a movement of that kind.

I understand that Centennial Park was so named during the centennial anniversary in 1876, when everyone was enthusiastic about the one hundredth birthday of our nation. A World's Fair was held at Philadelphia, and there were many commemorations throughout the nation. But, that name has lost its significance. The nation is now a century and a half old.

I am suggesting that the City of Holland honor Dr. Van Raalte by calling Centennial Park "Van Raalte Park." Centennial, I feel, is out of date, and Van Raalte, founder of our beautiful city, can never be anything else but appropriate and deserved. I do not ask you to hasten your decision, but give the suggestion thought, and if it meets with general approval, I would then further suggest that you take action accordingly. Respectfully submitted, John Vogelzang.

The Holland City News has felt for a long time that the name of this park should be changed and has come out editorially telling the reasons why. Holland was one of those cities celebrating the century mark of our nation's birth in 1876, and Centennial Park then a veritable wilderness and a rendezvous for grazing horses and cows of the neighborhood, was rather a disheveled-looking park with yellow sand, plenty of sand bars and no paths, flowers or beauty aside from the young trees. The Northwest corner, as has often been stated, contained a two-story, frame building, fire station with fire bell on top and the meeting place for the aldermen once every two weeks or so the second floor. The remainder of the time it was a gathering place of the volunteer fire department. There was a lean-to at the rear that was the city "calaboose." A great deal could be written about that jail, but that does not enter into the picture just now.

There was a cannon shed at the rear, one of Civil War days which belonged to the celebrated Fox Battery from Kent County and was given to Holland after the war. Some seven years later it was blown to pieces.

When Dr. Van Raalte assigned that plot in the heart of the city he really intended it for a public square or market place as they have in Europe in nearly every city. He had Market Street, now Central Avenue, running right to it. For many years it was called Public Square, with a liberty pole in the center where the stone fountain now is.

Mr. Van Raalte designated another place as a fish market where our baseball park is now located. He had a street running to it called Fish Street, now Columbia Avenue. Undoubtedly the dominion knew that Holland was surrounded by water, Lake Michigan being a veritable sea, Black Lake an inland bay, filled with fish. In The Netherlands there were large fleets of fish scuddies going out to sea, returning with fish that simply filled the small craft. In the old country they had a market place for these fish—where? Well, it didn't turn out that way. Fishing wasn't so prolific and methods were different and navigation to the baseball park wasn't "so hot." It would appear that Dr. Van Raalte, in a measure, followed the ways of the Netherlands, but instead of the market place, the Square has now become one of our most beautiful possessions and the surprise of the tourists who visit this city. The fish market has become an ideal spot for recreation, namely, Riverview Park, and the site of our most profitable institution, Holland's water and electric light plant. Thanks to Dr. Van Raalte!

Some years ago a monument for Dr. Van Raalte was advocated by several citizens, the prime movers being the late Anthony Rosbach, one of the first rural mail carriers, and the late Dr. J. B. Nykerk. The matter had gone so far that possibly the most eminent sculptor in the United States, the late Lord Telford, was asked to make drawings of a suitable monument. Dr. Van Raalte, the founder, The Holland City News still has those photographs in its possession.

There was talk at that time to have the monument placed at the entrance to the park at the Northwest corner. Later there was a provision made in the will of a prominent man here in Holland, a public-spirited citizen, who stipulated that a monument be placed directly across from the City Hall, facing the street. The stipulations

FIFTEEN CANDIDATES FOR CITY TREASURER, FIVE FOR MEMBER POLICE BOARD

For the next two weeks the "political pot" will be bubbling hot, for there are fifteen candidates for treasurer alone and a sprinkling of opposition for nearly every other office including some ward contests for aldermanic positions. The only offices for which there is no contest is City Clerk, Oscar Peterson, two years; Elbert Parsons, City Attorney, two years; Health officer, Dr. Wm. Tappan, two years; James A. Drinkwater, alderman second ward, two years; Ben Steffens, alderman fourth ward, two years, John Belder, a candidate for the same office withdrawing, leaving a clear field for Mr. Steffens; alderman fifth ward, Peter Huyser.

For constable there is a contest in every ward except the fifth, where William Steketee is unopposed. There is opposition in every other office: five for board of police and fire commissioners; two for board of public works; six for aldermanic candidates in the sixth ward; three for Justice of the Peace. All these names will be found in the official ballot as it will be handed to you at the polls, March 1, found on the next page, in fact, it is a facsimile of the ballot.

The question has been asked the News several times whether one or another candidate has preference as the first name on the ballot. For instance, for treasurer there are fifteen to be voted for. If you look at the ballot on the next page, you will find Georgia Atwood Mills at the top, Neil De Cook comes next, Henry J. Beckforst follows, and so down the line, with John C. Westrate last.

This is not the case on every ballot. Georgia Atwood Mills will be first on the first ballot, but, on the next ballot handed to the voter, Neil De Cook will be at the top and Georgia Atwood Mills will be last, and on the next Henry J. Beckforst, first, and so down the line. The fifteenth ballot given to voters will find John C. Westrate at the top, and so there is an endless rotation of the ballots. The names of every one of these candidates appear at the top of the list every fifteenth time. The printer alternates these names by stacking each ward's requirements in fifteen piles. Each pile is printed with fifteen changes of names. After these are printed the piles are alternated, stacked into one large pile and then the ballots are numbered. By this operation everyone of the fifteen candidates find their name at the top the same number of times as any of the other candidates.

This alternation process goes on just the same where there are less candidates, as in the board of police and fire commissioners, where there are five candidates in the field. But the matter has come up so often that the News felt an explanation was in order. In plain words, all these fifteen candidates will find their name at the top an equal number of times through the system of rotation, and that is true whether there are fifteen or five or two. There is an exception, of course, where there is only one candidate in the field.

Anyway, turn to the next page where the ballot, as it is to be voted, is found complete with all the names, only the names in these columns the names are not rotated, which would be impossible.

B.P.W. To Build Elevated Water Tank Shortly

SLAUGHTER OF DOGS IN SIGHT OF CHILDREN MUST STOP

Despite the shortness of the council session, a great deal of business was done. Alderman Steffens presented the following resolution: "Gentlemen: Your committee, to whom was referred the recommendation of the Board of Public Works to construct improvements to the water system, including an elevated water tank at a cost of not to exceed $7,500, report recommending that the action of the Board be approved."

That means that the City of Holland is to be safeguarded against a shortage of our fine water supply, a water that is second to none anywhere. The present standpipe has a capacity of 147,000 gallons of water, entirely inadequate during the dry season. This tank, which has just been overhauled, will remain in use, but the elevated tank, with a capacity of 500,000 gallons, will simply be an added water supply in reserve. The pumps which are idle during the late evening, midnight and early morning, can be put to use filling and re-filling both the standpipe and the elevated tank. Instead of having a quarter of a million gallons in reserve, as now, we will have more than three quarters of a million gallons in reserve when the tank is completed.

The Board of Public Works has the money to spend and aldermen of Holland did a very businesslike thing when they unanimously passed the request of the Board of Public Works to preserve our fine, fresh water supply. The storage of water in this way will extend the day, if Holland grows to any proportion, for quite a long time.

The water sheds, from which our water comes, are still producing a great deal of water, and the night pumping and an elevated reservoir is a wonderful solution, surely better.

Zeeland Bank Chooses Son Of Late President

EDWARD DEN HERDER NAMED PRESIDENT WHILE BROTHER OF HOLLAND BECOMES DIRECTOR

Due to the recent death of Christian J. Den Herder, president of the Zeeland State Bank, there was a complete reorganization of the board of directors at the meeting held for that purpose on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Edward M. Den Herder, youngest son of the late Mr. Den Herder, was honored by being elevated to the office of president of the bank to succeed his late father which was well taken by the citizens of Zeeland and vicinity, who holds the young man in the highest esteem.

Edward Den Herder is one of the youngest men in Michigan, if not the youngest, to hold this honored position as president of a bank. Although he has been employed in the Zeeland banking institution for sixteen years and has held the position of assistant cashier for several years, he is still a young man comparatively, but his experience has qualified him for this responsibility.

The death of Mr. Den Herder also left a vacancy on the board of directors, which has been filled by the election of Mr. Jay H. Den Herder, the eldest son of the family, to the position of director, and he has been given the official title of chairman of the board of directors. He is a member of the law partnership of Lokker and Den Herder of Holland where he is also a vice president of the Peoples' State Bank of Holland. Because of his legal experience and close association with bank problems during the past few years, it is felt his addition as a new member and officer of the board will prove most beneficial to the interests of the bank. Holland thinks a great deal of "Jay" and are pleased to hear of his deserved honor.

Adrian C. Vanouwen Bosch, director and cashier, was named executive vice president and cashier, and H. Baron, director and assistant cashier, was named a vice president. Herman Miller, who was vice president, will continue in that office, while William D. Van Loo of Zeeland at one time county treasurer, will continue as assistant cashier.

The new officers wish to go on record as desirous of continuing the same conservative and helpful personal relationship to their many customers and the same public spirited policy towards the community as always existed when the late president, Mr. Christian J. Den Herder, was still in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. VanSickle of Holland, left today by automobile for Florida. They will spend the next six weeks touring the South with headquarters at Sarasota, Florida.

John Vander Veen, head of the Holland Furniture Company, who was stricken at the Warm Friend Tavern where he resides, was taken to Holland hospital, and at this writing is doing very nicely. It is expected he will be about again in a short time.

Are such a monument of that kind may come eventually. That was some years ago, but nevertheless, it indicates that in different ways Dr. Van Raalte, the founder of Holland, was thought of in connection with Centennial Park.

Mr. Vogelzang, in his suggestion, indicated that the matter should not be hurried along, but that the aldermen should give it careful consideration before action was taken. The News feels that the suggestion is a good one, for old "Mr. Van" has waited all this time for proper recognition as the founder of Holland, and a few weeks or months, more or less, will make no particular difference. But, we have not changed our mind during all these years and we still feel that the proper name would be "Van Raalte Park."

It might interest our readers to know that it was the advocacy of the Holland City News at least forty years ago that brought the first $2,000 with which to turn a cow pasture into a beautiful park, and we surely received criticism for advocating such reckless expenditure of money. We are wondering.

For the next two weeks the "political pot" will be bubbling hot, for there are fifteen candidates for treasurer alone and a sprinkling of opposition for nearly every other office including some ward contests for aldermanic positions. The only offices for which there is no contest is City Clerk, Oscar Peterson, two years; Elbert Parsons, City Attorney, two years; Health officer, Dr. Wm. Tappan, two years; James A. Drinkwater, alderman second ward, two years; Ben Steffens, alderman fourth ward, two years, John Belder, a candidate for the same office withdrawing, leaving a clear field for Mr. Steffens; alderman fifth ward, Peter Huyser.

For constable there is a contest in every ward except the fifth, where William Steketee is unopposed. There is opposition in every other office: five for board of police and fire commissioners; two for board of public works; six for aldermanic candidates in the sixth ward; three for Justice of the Peace. All these names will be found in the official ballot as it will be handed to you at the polls, March 1, found on the next page, in fact, it is a facsimile of the ballot.

The question has been asked the News several times whether one or another candidate has preference as the first name on the ballot. For instance, for treasurer there are fifteen to be voted for. If you look at the ballot on the next page, you will find Georgia Atwood Mills at the top, Neil De Cook comes next, Henry J. Beckforst follows, and so down the line, with John C. Westrate last.

This is not the case on every ballot. Georgia Atwood Mills will be first on the first ballot, but, on the next ballot handed to the voter, Neil De Cook will be at the top and Georgia Atwood Mills will be last, and on the next Henry J. Beckforst, first, and so down the line. The fifteenth ballot given to voters will find John C. Westrate at the top, and so there is an endless rotation of the ballots. The names of every one of these candidates appear at the top of the list every fifteenth time. The printer alternates these names by stacking each ward's requirements in fifteen piles. Each pile is printed with fifteen changes of names. After these are printed the piles are alternated, stacked into one large pile and then the ballots are numbered. By this operation everyone of the fifteen candidates find their name at the top the same number of times as any of the other candidates.

This alternation process goes on just the same where there are less candidates, as in the board of police and fire commissioners, where there are five candidates in the field. But the matter has come up so often that the News felt an explanation was in order. In plain words, all these fifteen candidates will find their name at the top an equal number of times through the system of rotation, and that is true whether there are fifteen or five or two. There is an exception, of course, where there is only one candidate in the field.

Anyway, turn to the next page where the ballot, as it is to be voted, is found complete with all the names, only the names in these columns the names are not rotated, which would be impossible.

B.P.W. To Build Elevated Water Tank Shortly

SLAUGHTER OF DOGS IN SIGHT OF CHILDREN MUST STOP

Despite the shortness of the council session, a great deal of business was done. Alderman Steffens presented the following resolution: "Gentlemen: Your committee, to whom was referred the recommendation of the Board of Public Works to construct improvements to the water system, including an elevated water tank at a cost of not to exceed $7,500, report recommending that the action of the Board be approved."

That means that the City of Holland is to be safeguarded against a shortage of our fine water supply, a water that is second to none anywhere. The present standpipe has a capacity of 147,000 gallons of water, entirely inadequate during the dry season. This tank, which has just been overhauled, will remain in use, but the elevated tank, with a capacity of 500,000 gallons, will simply be an added water supply in reserve. The pumps which are idle during the late evening, midnight and early morning, can be put to use filling and re-filling both the standpipe and the elevated tank. Instead of having a quarter of a million gallons in reserve, as now, we will have more than three quarters of a million gallons in reserve when the tank is completed.

The Board of Public Works has the money to spend and aldermen of Holland did a very businesslike thing when they unanimously passed the request of the Board of Public Works to preserve our fine, fresh water supply. The storage of water in this way will extend the day, if Holland grows to any proportion, for quite a long time.

The water sheds, from which our water comes, are still producing a great deal of water, and the night pumping and an elevated reservoir is a wonderful solution, surely better.

COMMUNICATION

February 11, 1937.

Holland City News

Holland, Mich.

Dear Sirs—Will you please publish the following as a news item in your paper?

An unusual condition exists in politics in Fillmore township this spring.

Not since the township voted to go under the primary system in the spring of 1930 has it happened that there has been no competition for any of the various township offices, but this year such a condition does exist, and the time for filing petitions having passed, with but one candidate for each office it will not be necessary to hold the township Primary election scheduled for March 1.

As a result the following name will automatically appear on the ballot at the April election: For Supervisor, Guy C. Hehkuiss; for Township Clerk, Justin Kleinheksel; for Highway Commissioner, Henry W. Mulder; for Justice of the Peace (full term), Ben J. Tucker; and for member Board of Review, Jacob Boven.

Respectfully yours,

Justin Kleinheksel.

SPEAKER AT TRINITY

CHURCH FATHER AND SONS

BANQUET TELLS SONS OF

"DADS" SHORTCOMINGS

SOMETIMES

Before one of the largest gatherings of men and boys Friday evening at the Father and Sons banquet of the Men's society of Trinity Reformed church, Chaplain Glenn Carpenter of Southern Michigan Prison gave one of the most stirring addresses to youth and fathers related, in which youth was made to see his failings and bright sides of life and fathers their responsibility to youth.

Following an introduction by State Representative Nelson Miles, Rev. Carpenter drew upon his army experiences in bringing out his subject. He introduced the liaison officer of the army. It was this officer that kept the companies and units informed as to movements of each other so that neither would become lost. Using this as a metaphor of approach, the speaker stated the father and son had to be in liaison with each other. That it was extremely dangerous should they drift apart. He stated that many examples of where the fathers and sons had drifted apart was to be seen at his work in the Jackson prison.

In one talk with a boy in prison the chaplain related how he had quit going to Sunday school. When questioned why he had left the church school, the lad replied that it was not good enough for him. He related the faces of the men confined in Jackson of the young men that are now ruined for life. This agony can be traced back to the time when the fathers of these boys did not have time for the boys. They did not have the time to play with them or take them into their confidence or talk matters over with them. Today the boys are surrounded by four walls, the fathers thinking now about "their" time.

Carpenter continued by saying that the sons appreciate their fathers time although they will not show it. They are restless and forget to show appreciation at the moment but it will come out at a later date. Let the sons confide in their father that will establish a trust that will be more than repaid in the future. The sons must have some one to confide in and it is better to be the father. The father should confide in the son whenever possible.

In talking to the boys, Carpenter related that the boys have no better friend than their dads and that dad should be taken into games and other activities. Dad enjoys games although older, is still a boy and can play them.

In a story related by the chaplain, he recalled a father who was a bondsman, his hobby was stocks, his life was stock and his entire ambition was power. He was very strong until he became elected to a state office. His boy was found in a prison. When questioned why he was in prison and yet his father so powerful, the lad related that his father found out he had a son too late.

Carpenter related that there is nothing in the world like a boy. He is a big fellow in his own home but when he is outside he is a small fellow. He is the showoff at home but outside he is a different fellow. He will try and do what the others want of him. The average boy acts in private or in public as he has seen his father act. The fathers were cautioned that boys grow up different one way and another way, and that boys have a better psychology than some men.

"You can't fool boys" Carpenter stated and no two fathers handle boys the same way. They will react differently but at heart they are all the same. In talking to the boys, the speaker asked that the boys give their fathers a chance, don't condemn them. They may not see the things in the same light that you do but give them a chance. Also boys should believe in themselves and that they should have confidence in themselves. He related that the average boys want to succeed and not fail.

Self pity is the most detrimental to boys. This is one of the most distasteful features in the prison work. The lads in prison pity themselves and make it hard for themselves and others as well.

In relating a story of a recent college graduate, the boy was an honor student. Before receiving his honors, he received permission from the college president to stop the exercises for a moment. Upon receiving permission, the lad went to the back of the huge crowded chapel, found his father and mother and took them to the front. There he turned to the audience who were spellbound and said with a smile, "It is my father and mother that are graduating with honors tonight. It was their work-stained hands that won these honors," and the lad presented his parents. They repaid that compliment by smiles and slight tears of happiness.

Fathers must remember that the boys are better men than they are if they are trained in the right way. Fathers must have some confidence in the boys. Many a time the sons of fathers have been at the cross roads of life and there was no fatherly advice to aid them in seeking the right way.

Relating the story of his trip to the Hoboken shipyards when being sent to France, Carpenter told of his father making excuses that he had business in certain towns enroute in order to be with his son on that seemingly last ride together. At last the father had to leave. The son, Glenn Carpenter was almost asleep when he heard his father say, "I am placing him in your hands, Almighty God." This was true as a short time after reaching France, Carpenter went through incidents which made the statement clear to him.

In closing the chaplain stated that the one thing to do either as boys or men was to live lives in the sight of Almighty God and take him into all confidences and decisions that must be made.

The Power of Jesus Over Death—John 11:32-44.

Henry Geerlings

Jesus had a vast interest in the Bethany home. He loved it and those who lived there. He had enjoyed its gracious hospitality. He had found it to be a haven of rest, a shelter from the stress and storms of life. He found friends there, for every fine nature must have friends. It was a place where he might open his heart and seek out its treasures for the enrichment of others. It was one spot on the earth where there was some measure of appreciation and understanding of Him. It was a place where He was not watched and criticized constantly. It was a trying place for beautiful souls. Here He was just a little closer to the heaven out of which He had come to earth. Here love could speak and get a response.

Therefore when Lazarus died Jesus felt the hurt of it. Of course, every human being was dear to Jesus, but the Bethany family belonged to a kind of an inner circle of friends. He was very tender respecting the great sorrow that had come into that home. That He delayed somewhat His going to the home to minister to the bereaved sisters seems strange and yet it was not because of indifference. His plan was formed and it was to be of the greatest comfort and help to the stricken ones. He knew that He was going to wrest a blessing out of the very jaws of death.

On His way to Bethany Martha met him and later on Mary came to Him too, and they both greeted Him with the words—"Had you been here, Lord, our brother would not have died." It is the giving human voice to great faith in Jesus, but it is a supposition that is not entirely correct. Could not Jesus at a distance have prevented the death of Lazarus quite as readily as close at hand, if He had been so minded and if such prevention were the best order of things? And is death in the last analysis a calamity or the worst thing that can happen to the sons of men? Jesus had already said that the end of Lazarus' death was the glory of God and what is the glory of God but our own highest good. So it looks as if Lazarus would have died if Jesus had been close by.

Death is the gracious part of the eternal scheme of things. And while it is tragic to us, oftentimes well-nigh breaking our hearts, certainly shattering our dearest relationships and wrecking our fondest hopes, yet it is good wrapped in mystery.

up in a forbidden package. Jesus knew both sides of death—the sorrowful side and the glad side, the shadow side and the shining side. He could weep and rejoice over it. So He wept with the Bethany sisters over the sorrow that had come to their home. But He did more than weep with them. He likewise revealed His mind to them. Thinking of death He declared Himself to be the resurrection and the life for those who die. To prove this He called Lazarus forth from the grave. This miracle is a concrete demonstration of the theory of the continuity of life. In the power of Christ over death and the grave we have the assurance that the end of a human being is not the cemetery.

It seems to be the fashion in some quarters to deny the fact of the raising of Lazarus from the dead. It looks very foolish to do this for it is just like Jesus to perform such a miracle. Why shouldn't He have done it? Surely the human heart wants to know that there is a greater power in this world than that of death. Why all these generations of people brought into life on this planet and asked to suffer any sorrow and struggle and laugh and play and achieve if the grave is to be sealed forever? What is the meaning of the world and what is the purpose of life if death is the end? Who would choose to journey toward a cemetery and a tombstone, however beautiful and costly, as his final goal? Who would choose to live even in a world like ours with its many goods things, if there were not another world into which he might pass through that gateway named death. Three score and ten years do not have enough compensations to lure one into this life if he had the choosing. Better no earth life at all if the Lazarus story is a myth and the tomb in Joseph's garden still holds the Man of Galilee. We believe that resurrection and life are the abiding order of the universe and death is only a phase of that program for the sake of more life. Death is a necessary pre-requisite to life. One's curiosity leads him to wonder what Lazarus' experience was while he was gone and what he had to say about it. So far as the record goes, he said nothing. Is not silence about life beyond the grave significant? Does not this silence suggest the fact that there is a place quite luring and thrilling enough for us. It looks as if the biggest thing that can be said about the beyond-life is "In My Father's house are many mansions—I go to prepare a place for you."

EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE FATAL TO ALLEGAN GIRL, 14

Violet Opal Ellison, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ellison of Allegan, was fatally burned yesterday morning when, attempting to start a fire in the kitchen range, she threw gasoline into the stove by mistake.

Exploding gasoline enveloped her in flames, which burned her clothing and hair, and she died in a hospital at 7 p. m., 11 hours after the blast and fire which swept through the interior of the little home on Western Ave.

The girl was alone with two younger brothers, 5 and 4 years old, at the time of the explosion. She apparently believed the oil can contained kerosene instead of gasoline. Harold Haight, driving past the house, first saw the flames and called the fire department. Arriving firemen found the girl rolling in the snow outside, after having run into a bedroom where she had rolled on a bed, setting fire to the bedding.

Born this morning at Holland hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wyrick, rural route No. 1, Holland, a son.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

Our next meeting will be held next Wednesday, Feb. 24th. Carinus Kule and his group have several numbers arranged for our entertainment.

Rumors are being circulated that the membership contest winners are about to be awarded their prize. But it will take more than rumors to create more than a casual eyebrow lifting; we've heard so much already that we can do nothing.

There seems to be an epidemic of plague or injured fingers lately. The latest cases, while from different causes, are Mrs. Neil Tiesinga who attempted to pick up the second bowling ball instead of the first one—result, a crushed digit. And Charles Miller with a sliver in a thumb.

Information has just seeped in that Andy Rutgers committed an error. Andy, in his hurry, read off the wrong total at our last meeting; and having just found his mistake is terribly upset by it.

The season is fast approaching when we will be using the regulation Legion shirt out of doors. If you have not yet ordered one, do it now, everybody in uniform.

Lefty Vande Bunte also has Club Room keys. Get yours now and make use of the rooms and equipment.

What we need now is a contest to see who of the regular attendees can bring the most members out to a meeting; not just report and run but stay for the evening.

A pot-luck supper was held Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock in the Legion clubrooms. A division of the American Legion auxiliary headed by Mrs. H. Stanaway and Mrs. H. Poppen entertained their husbands. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. J. Kobes, Mrs. M. Kammeraad and Mrs. H. Geerds.

The boats are being unloaded at the Mart from flat cars.

The cutter is expected to return to Grand Haven with the local boat after unloading the life boat used in the flood district to the Holland station.

ter than going to Lake Michigan, which would cost millions, not considering the chemical mixtures often used to make water fit to drink.

The next all important matter was a protest brought by Alderman George Damson. It seems that Jacob Kole, Holland's dog warden has been moving from one place in the city to another, and wherever he moves, the dogs follow him. There have been previous complaints that dogs in the pound, not claimed, are butchered near where Mr. Kole lives. The last place where Mr. Kole resides is at Maple Ave. and 19th St., and soon complaints began to come in that there was a wholesale killing of dogs going on in a residence neighborhood.

The matter came to such a pass, that Prof. Roland Shackson, at 161 West 20th Street, introduced a petition containing 107 names, protesting against the wholesale slaughter of dogs in that neighborhood. The names were secured in an hour and a half and it is doubtful if there is one missing.

George Damson made a motion that the dog warden be relieved of his position until some other place could be found where dogs could be dispatched without the whole neighborhood being annoyed. It was pointed out that dead dogs with throats cut were lying around the yard and that bodies of dogs were interred in that vicinity. It was further contended that the neighborhood was annoyed by dogs howling the entire night, awaiting execution the next morning.

It was the contention of Mr. Damson, that not until a place was found suitable for slaughtering dogs, should the dog warden continue his work. Alderman Prins protested, stating that Mr. Kole was not to blame for the condition, but the city was to blame for not providing a suitable place.

City Clerk Oscar Peterson read the petition and the aldermen and audience were abased to find out that such a gruesome thing was going on in the sight of children and where more than 100 people live. Every alderman, including Mr. Prins, felt that this condition should not continue. However, Alderman Prins made a motion that the dog warden be not discharged, but that he continue in his work, but that the City of Holland provide a place away from civilization. When the vote on Prins' substitute motion received a tie vote, then the original motion was put, and that too, was tied. Mayor Geerlings decided with Alderman Damson to suspend the warden's job temporarily until a suitable place was found to dispatch dogs not claimed by owners.

He appointed a committee to take up the dog question immediately and report at the next meeting of the common council. The committee appointed was Alderman De Cook, Damson and Smith.

Men who spoke on this question were Alderman Damson, Alderman De Cook, Alderman Prins, Alderman Steffens and Mayor Geerlings. Prof. Shackson, in a calm, dispassionate way, pointed out the conditions and every alderman present felt that this nuisance should be abated.

MAY CHANGE JUDICIAL COMPLEX IN HOLLAND

Common Council met in special conference after the council meeting last night to go into the proposal of changing the Charter, eliminating Justices of the Peace and place in their stead a municipal judge; in other words, one judge to take care of all the justice work. The City Charter would provide a salary for such judge, but on the other hand, all fees so collected would directly go into the City treasury, which today goes to the justices.

Mayor Geerlings named a committee to go into this matter to find out the details and the workings of a municipal court in other cities. Alderman Damson, Steffens and Prins were named on this committee.

It was also proposed that the City Attorney could qualify as a judge of the municipal court. City Att. Parsons stated that he would draw up the proposed change in the Charter should the committee appointed bring in a favorable report. The matter would come up at the April election and if the proposal is acted upon soon, there will be ample time to submit it then and be within the thirty-day time limit exacted by the state law.

Should such a proposal pass, there would be no Justices, but one judge. The present Justices are John Gallien, Raymond L. Smith, Nicholas Hoffman, Jr., and Elbert Parsons, who would undoubtedly serve until their terms expire. Mr. Parsons' term expires April 1, but he did not ask to be placed upon the primary ballot.

Candidates for Justices of the Peace will be voted for at the March 1 Primaries. They are Sam Miller, Gerrit W. Kooyers and Vernon Ten Cate.

Should such a move be consummated, undoubtedly the court room will be on the second floor of the Police Department building.

The matter of changing the name of Centennial Park to "Van Raalte Park" was left to the Park Board for consideration.

City Clerk Oscar Peterson was confined to his home Thursday with a severe cold.

Merchants and business men presented a petition to the common council to take necessary action to protect the businesses of legitimate merchants from future auction sales. The petition asked the council to enact a new ordinance or to make an amendment to the existing law to give them better protection than what the ordinance in force now affords them. They pointed out that the Kalamazoo ordinance was the best law of that kind that had thus far come to their notice; and undoubtedly the "city fathers" will go over that ordinance carefully. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee by a motion presented by Alderman George Damson and supported by Alderman Neil De Cook.

FORMER ZEELAND MAN DIES UP NORTH

William DeKruif, 78, uncle of the famous writer, Paul DeKruif, and descendant of a pioneer Zeeland family, died Sunday at his home in Levering, Mich. He was a former resident of Zeeland and went to Levering 35 years ago where he engaged in the mercantile business.

He was a grandson of Jannis Vandeluyster, one of the earliest Zeeland settlers, who came to western Michigan with the Rev. Vander Meulen. William DeKruif's father, Hendrickus, was owner of an implement store at Zeeland and was widely known throughout Ottawacounty. He and his brother, the late Henry DeKruif continued the business and it proved to become one of the largest enterprises of that type in Western Michigan.

His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickus DeKruif, lived on a farm two miles northeast of Zeeland where Mr. DeKruif spent his early life. While living in Zeeland, Mr. De Kruif was prominent in musical circles and was one of the leaders of the music union about 1890. He remained very active until his sickness and death. He was in Zeeland less than two weeks ago to attend funeral services for Mr. Chris Den Herder, Zeeland banker, leaving shortly afterwards to visit his brother in Grand Rapids.

The body arrived in Zeeland Tuesday evening for funeral services which took place Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in the Baron Funeral home. The Rev. Richard J. Vandenberg, pastor of Second Reformed church officiating. Interment was in Zeeland cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The rites were largely attended.

Surviving are the widow; a daughter, Mrs. J. Packard of Ann Arbor; three grandchildren, and two brothers, Peter of Los Angeles and John of Grand Rapids.

Grand Haven Light Plant to Be Santa Claus

An offer to assume the city's share of the cost of erecting the proposed $100,000 municipal hospital, was extended to the Grand Haven city council by the board of public works, operators of the municipal power and light plant. Under the present plan of erecting the building as a PWA project, Grand Haven would pay $55,000 and the federal government the balance.

The board proposes to begin repaying the obligation and interest to be in the form of either bonds or notes, in 1939, as its surplus next year will be needed to defray the cost of an expansion program which is to double the plant production capacity. The offer was made known to the council and representatives of the hospital board at a meeting recently held.

The board's offer is an alternative to the plan offered by Alderman James Van Wessem, chairman of the council finance committee who suggested a special tax of a mill and a half be levied for two years to produce an estimated $20,000 with the council paying part of the additional $35,000 from its budget for the two years and the board of public works the balance.

An application was filed by Henry Elferdink, 338 River Ave., with City Clerk Oscar Peterson Monday for a building permit to repair the bathroom of his home at a cost of about $54.

Martin De Jonge, taxidermist, is displaying a partial albino muskrat which he mounted at the Albert Zagers hardware store in Jamestown. The muskrat was caught near Jamestown by Kenneth Richardson, 17, in December, during the open trapping season.

Except for the head, front legs and hips, which are brownish gray, the rat is white. The tip of the tail is white and the animal, which is exceptionally large in size, has dark eyes unlike that of a true albino.

Holland Man and Wife Make Hobbies Pay

MR. AND MRS. TROMP RAISE WILD BIRDS AND STUFF THEM FOR SALE

By Floyd C. Peterson
(Grand Rapids Herald)

It has been said that one who has no hobby to ride does not enjoy life to the fullest extent. This may be true, for most everyone has a hobby of some kind... a pastime which in leisure hours brings pleasure, rest and freedom from the worries that infest the business day. However, few are privileged to follow their hobbies to the extent that they can make a business out of doing that which they like best. It is a foregone conclusion that one does best what one likes to do and it is for this very reason that Rube Tromp and his wife have made an outstanding name for themselves, for they have been following their individual hobbies which, although diversified to a great extent, blend together as far as the public is concerned.

To find such a couple one has to go no farther than Holland, for that is where Mr. and Mrs. Tromp live. They have surrounded themselves with an atmosphere that both enjoy... a modern home situated on the very shore of Lake Macatawa where, from their living room, they can watch the activities of the anglers and study the wild water world from the time they nest in the spring until they are put to route by the first bombardment of lead with the opening of the season. But let's go back and start at the beginning.

Their Hobbies
Before Rube got all tangled up in his hobby both he and Mrs. Tromp lived the life of ordinary people. Rube had his job to do daily and Mrs. Tromp was kept busy with her duties as housewife. With their daily duties completed, both turned to their respective hobbies for recreation — Rube to the raising of pheasants, Mrs. Tromp to the life-like mounting of game birds and animals.

Starting in with just a few birds, Rube continued his study on the raising and breeding of pheasants. Food, living conditions, size of pens were all taken into consideration until he felt that he had overcome some of the bugaboos that cause the managers of big game farms to sit up nights and bite their fingernails. His initial brood grew larger and stronger until he felt confident that he could enter into the fancy stock end of raising pheasants with success equal to that he had experienced with those known to every Michigan hunter.

Fancy Birds Now
Today, Rube has a business of his own, a business built up from a hobby, for if you will but travel along the north shore drive of Macatawa lake you will discover a large pheasant farm owned and operated by Rube Tromp and F. Hass and called the North Shore Pheasant farm.

Instead of one small pen with which Rube started, you will find 21, each measuring 12 feet by 18. Instead of a small flock of ring-necked pheasants, you will see fancy birds with gorgeous plumage. There are Golden, Silvers, Reeves, Amherst and Mutants strutting around in their finery making as colorful a picture as one could ever hope to see. His stock for next year in the ring-necked class consists of 50 hens with 10 roosters.

Besides all these birds, he also has about 100 bantams and 35 game chickens, including 15 light ring necks. The bantams are used to hatch some of the pheasant eggs for Rube, through intense study, is sold on the idea of balanced incubators.

Besides the 21 pens mentioned, he also has a large rearing pen and in all has 10,000 square feet under wire. Visitors are always welcome, says Rube, and if they have a yen for pheasant for table use, he has 'em.

But while Rube was busy making his hobby into a business, Mrs. Tromp was not resting at the oars. Her hobby happened to be taxidermy and she left no stone unturned in finding out the various successful methods in preparing birds and animals for display. The fact that she is well versed in ornithology came to her aid in helping her to make the mounts life-like and natural to the "nth degree. Her frequent visits to museums, including the world-renowned "Fields" have yielded her a world of valuable information.

Her recent mounts of pheasant are of a more modern type for instead of having the bird perched on a log as is the usual custom, Mrs. Tromp has placed her birds in flight so that they may be used for wall ornaments.

While pheasants and other native birds and animals of Michigan are her specialty, she has a large collection of rare South American and tropical birds which she has prepared. Besides birds she has a very fine collection of animals... one outstanding piece of work being that of a shrew... mounted in a life-like manner that will make even an expert stop to examine. Another example of her taxidermy-ability is a hummingbird in flight gathering the nectar from a flower. In this piece of work she has caught both the gracefulness and beauty of this tiny visitor without sacrificing any of the minute details.

Thus from two hobbies, a business was born to two people who were willing to ride their hobbies to the end of the race which spells success and while what they do might be work to many, it is a pleasure and relaxation as well as a pride with them to be able to do one thing and do it well.

Mrs. Mary A. Mellon and son Reilly have moved from their farm home in Ganges to the cottage they recently purchased from H. H. Van Syckle at Douglas.

His Majesty in Flight

Mrs. Rube Tromp displays her new method of mounting pheasants so that they may be used as wall decorations instead of the usual bird standing on a log type which so many taxidermists employ. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tromp have turned their respective hobbies into paying enterprise.

King of the Flock

He rules the roost of his own little flock but he is no more important than many of the other gorgeous pheasants found at Rube Tromp's pheasant farm near Holland.

POLICE COVER COMMERCIAL DISTRICT THOROUGHLY TO PREVENT STORE ROBBERIES

Members of the board of police and fire commissioners discussed and made some suggestions in the matter of the nightly police patrol at the regular meeting, Monday afternoon, in the office of City Clerk Oscar Peterson, in the city hall as a result of a robbery, last Thursday night, at the Vanderlinde and Visser store, 50 East Eighth St. According to Police Chief Frank Van Ry, the police officers carried out their regular duties on that night. He stated that the front door was found intact at 2:45 a. m., Friday, and that the robbery took place some time after that.

Mayor Henry Geerlings who was a visitor at the board meeting said that he had received numerous complaints of various electrical machines in the city causing interference to radio program reception. He was informed that the matter of purchasing paint for the city streets was again brought before the board.

By action of the board, it was recommended that the purchase of the paint be divided between Henry Bontekoe and William Selles.

It was suggested that specifications should be obtained and then the two be required to present bids, the lowest bidder to receive the contract for furnishing the paint.

A letter of appreciation from Capt. John Bremer, commanding officer of company D was read by City Clerk Peterson. Mr. Bremer expressed his appreciation to the board for granting full pay to the two police officers, Jay Dalman and Ernest Bear, while they were engaged in riot duty at Flint. The two officers also expressed their appreciation in a telegram, which was read by Mr. Peterson.

A report from James of Peace Raymond L. Smith showed that $7.20 had been collected in officer's fees for the month of January.

Bills of the fire and police department were approved and certified to the council for payment. Those present at Monday night's meeting were Commissioners Henry Ketel, chairman, John Donnelly, Andrew Hyma, Cornelius Huizenga and Fred Kamferbeek, Police Chief Van Ry, Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, City Clerk Peterson and Mayor Geerlings.

Man Guilty of Leaving Scene, Says Jury

Alfred Matzen, Grand Rapids, was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident, property damage, by a jury of six men. The defendant was fined $50 and charged with costs of $26.05. The trial was held at the court house before Justice Howard Erwin of Coopersville.

Matzen was charged with leaving the scene of an accident on US-16 on Jan. 30 after he had collided with another car driven by Forrest Easterly, Nunica. Easterly claimed the force of the collision forced him into the ditch where the car turned over and it was with difficulty that he extricated himself from the wrecked car and succeeded in getting out with his companion, Fred Wickert, a neighbor. The men were going to Grand Haven to sell some farm produce including a quantity of eggs.

Matzen claimed he stopped after the collision but he failed to see the other car and believed it had gone on as he stated he saw the tail light of a car some distance down the road. He was picked up later at a garage, where he was arrested by Sgt. Earl Seriat of the state police post after he had been notified by Easterly of the accident. John R. Dethmers, of Holland, county prosecutor, conducted the trial. The jury was out about 15 minutes.

The marriage of Miss Helene Klaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Klaver, to Bernard Coster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coster, was solemnized Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Coster will live at 164 West 17th St. Mr. Coster is employed at the Hart and Cooley Manufacturing Co.

The injured boys included "Hap" Risselada, a bruised hip; Pete Mulder, cut over the left eye, bruised arm and knee; Cliff Stefens, bruised shoulder; "Luckie" Lambert, a strained back; and Barney Poppema, who has been under the doctor's care with a swollen jaw and injured side. The iceboat was damaged beyond repair.

CHILDREN BORN TO 2 BRAAK FAMILIES ON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

The Braak family is well known in the community and elsewhere as the Braak bakeries are among the best known business places in Grand Haven and Spring Lake.

Jacob Braak, a leader in boy scout activities, is delighted that at least one of the new grandchildren will make a future boy scout and he is certain the little girl will become a girl scout. Mr. Braak is president of the Ottawa Allegan boy scout council.

Holland Wins By Eighteen Points Friday

GRAND HAVEN TEAM SMOTHERED BY DUTCH OUTFIT IN S.W. GAME, 37-19

(Grand Haven Tribune)

Grand Haven high school lost its first basketball game to a Holland team in three years Friday night at the Holland armory, taking a 37 to 19 shellacking at the hands of Fred Weiss' much improved Dutch outfit.

Holland showed rare form in beating the Havenites, passing smoothly and accurately and putting up a strong defense, built around their tall center, VanDort. Essenburg was the key man in the Holland offense. He went in as a substitute in the second period and speared six goals and two free throws for 14 points.

VanDort was effective in following up shots under the rims and made five buckets for 10 points. Maddocks used his side-court overhead hook shot effectively and led his team with eight of its 19 points.

Reserves Win Again
In the prelude the Grand Haven Reserves did not have the map it had in the first meeting with the Holland second team but managed to beat the Dutch for the second time this season, 31 to 22; Grand Haven Reserves won the first meeting, 42 to 7, on the local court. It was the Bosworth crew's 9th victory in 11 starts.

The local Reserves led at half time, 18 to 7, and increased the margin to 20 to 10 at the end of the third quarter. Holland scored several goals and half way through the final period the Havenites took time out with the score in their favor, 20 to 16. Here Bill DeWitt and Felt came through with several much-needed goals to put the game on ice. DeWitt and Balts paired up with 11 points each for the Havenites and Felt made eight. Dalman led Holland with eight points on three buckets and two charity tosses. Grand Haven made seven out of 12 free throw attempts and Holland cashed in on two-fifths of their shots, making six out of 15.

Holland's first team, led by a giant center, VanDort, a sophomore, showed great possibility all season but did not appear to cash in on the potential strength until last night. The Dutch held a 12 to 5 lead at the end of the first quarter and outscored Grand Haven in the second to lead, 26 to 10, at half time. Again in the third period Holland outscored the visiting team, 11 to 4, but was held scoreless in the last canto when Grand Haven made five points. Grand Haven's free throw record was poor, making seven in 17 shots; Holland made five in 12.

Coach Gus Cohrs had no alibis following the game and he proved he can "take it" by complimenting the Holland coaches, Weiss and Rex Chapman, on the fine play of their team. Two of Cohrs' mainstays, however, were indisposed during the past week; Weber ran on a sprained ankle and this slowed him up and Botten has been out of school all week with the flu.

It is hoped Grand Haven's team will be back in shape next Friday night when they play Benton Harbor at the Berrien county fruit capital. Both teams will make the trip, each boasting a victory over their rivals in Kalamazoo Jan. 15. The following week Kalamazoo Central comes here for a South-west conference game and on March 6 Grand Haven opens its class B tournament warfare in a district finals game with Fremont at Fremont. Grand Haven will be gunning for the class B title, taken from them by Detroit St. Theresa's team last year at Grand Rapids after Grand Haven held it for three years in a row. The state finals will be held at Flint this year in all four classes.

TOWNSHIP WILL USE PRIMARY SYSTEM TO SELECT NOMINEES FOR OFFICE

Robinson township is now among the townships of the county which have discarded the old caucus system and will employ the primary system to select nominees for township offices.

It has been reported that Fred Graham has definitely decided not to run for reelection to the board of supervisors. He has been a member of the board for about 14 years and he believes he has served a sufficient length of time, he said.

The township will be divided with two tickets in the field, the Progressive with Bernard Berghorst as a supervisor candidate, and the Citizens ticket with Casimer Szopinski as a candidate for supervisor.

It is reported that Rene Schippers will run for justice of the peace and John Bethke, Jr., for clerk on the Progressive ticket.

Albert Heyn will be a candidate for clerk and Cort Pelton for justice of the peace on the opposing ticket. There appears to be no opposition to Fred Fritchen for treasurer.

Fred Graham has had several hot election battles during the past several years. Last year he escaped defeat by running on slips. He failed at the caucus because he had not made it known that he would be a candidate. The primary election is March 1 and petitions must be filed by Tuesday at 6 p.m.

Spring Lake, Robinson and Grand Haven township, nearby townships, are all under the primary system. Spring Lake and Robinson voters decided to make the change at the last general election.

HOLLAND C. OF C. AIDS SCHOOL PLEA

The Holland Chamber of Commerce, through Manager William M. Connelly, is working in co-operation with the Pine Creek board of education, which is seeking a new school, by sending to the PWA headquarters in Detroit a letter of endorsement of the efforts of the school board. It is proposed to construct the school with PWA funds.

The letter in part reads: "The need of added school facilities in this district has come through our strenuous efforts to bring about complete industrial recovery in Holland. We have succeeded in our efforts. Nearly one hundred new homes have been built in the Holland area in the past year. All skilled labor has been given employment and unemployment among the unskilled has been reduced to a negligible number.

"Our co-operation with the administration warrants your giving this project more than ordinary consideration."

Used Cars Buyers Get Tip From Case

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, has warned all persons who have purchased used automobiles during the past year that the fee for transferring the 1936 license plates must be paid before 1937 plates or stickers may be purchased.

The State's motor vehicle law provides that the purchaser of a used car shall, within 10 days thereafter, file the assigned title with the Secretary of State and shall transfer the license plates to himself as well. A fee of $1 is charged for each of these two transfers.

The only exception is when the purchaser of a used car shall make application for a new title and 1937 license plates within 10 days after date of purchase. By doing this and turning in the 1936 license plates, the purchaser only pays $1 for the transfer of title. However, a used car buyer, wishing a 1937 sticker, must transfer the 1936 plates and title, $1 for each transaction, regardless of the date the car was purchased.

Many people defer the transfer of title until the deadline for purchase of succeeding year's plates or stickers has passed, thinking thereby to avoid the charge for the plate transfer. This fee is not only collected before new plates or stickers are issued, but the applicant faces a delay in the transaction thereby, Case points out.

ZEELAND DAIRYMAN GETS HIGH RATING

Zeeland Record

Ottawa county dairymen won high rating in dairy judging at Michigan State College, East Lansing, during Farmers' Week, according to results released by the college. The Ottawa team, consisting of Harold Kober and Emil Kober of Conklin and Harold Keppel of Zeeland placed third among the many county teams participating in the judging. The Ottawa team was very close on the heels of the first and second place winners, less than 100 points behind the winning trio.

The three Ottawa men are leading dairymen in our county and have always been much interested in promoting the raising of better animals in this county.

OTTAWA BOARD OF SUPERVISORS WANT A CCC CAMP TO PROMOTE REFORESTATION

The board of supervisors of Ottawa County met in special session recently to hear a report of the delegates to the meeting of the state association of supervisors which was held recently in Lansing. All Holland, Park and Holland township supervisors were present except Wm. Brusse who is in Texas.

The delegates were appointed a committee at the 1st meeting by the board to prepare resolutions relative to the welfare and tax question which the state convention adopted and which they requested that boards over the state take some action upon immediately.

The committee on conservation met with Leo R. Arnold, county agent and William H. Loutit, where matters pertaining to reforestation were discussed. Efforts are being made to secure a CCC camp in this county which will promote the work of reforestation which has been supported by the board for several years. Peter Damstra, chairman of the committee, has devoted the past 10 years to building up sentiment on the board for support to this work in the county.

The board has appropriated funds during the past several sessions for the purchase of land where already seed beds have been established and with the development of the trees much reforestation in the barren places of the county will be done in years to come.

Sand blows in this county have long been a problem. The conservation committee has advocated planting of heavy grasses on sand blows and making effort to educate property owners to the menace of the moving dunes, which have already done great damage to fertile sections over the county.

Discussion was held over the distribution of county money to the several banks of the county. At the present there are only a few banks that hold county money. A short time ago the finance committee, through letters, ascertained that several of the banks did not want the funds. The finance committee was instructed to again inquire as to whether the banks wished to be designated as county depositories at this time as financial conditions have improved over the time when the first inquiry was made. It is understood the matter of paying interest was involved.

Members of the conservation committee are Peter Damstra, Holland, Frank Garbrecht, Port Sheldon and Frank Hendrych, Grand Haven township.

The board of supervisors, meeting in special session at the court house Tuesday afternoon, voted 19 to 5 to adjourn to another special session on Feb. 23 to act upon the resolutions as passed by the state association of Supervisors at the recent state convention.

A resolution was passed to have copies of the resolutions, as presented by the board's representatives at the convention, sent to the board members in order that they may make an individual study of the questions involved before taking action either for or against them.

The board met Tuesday to discuss the resolutions, 11 in number, some pertaining to the future welfare setup, taxes, increase of terms for supervisors and many other important items.

The board members argued on the advisability of a future meeting, pointing to the expense of a day's meeting which totals over $400 per day. Many were of the opinion that the board's representative could be informed of the members' opinions and act for the board in accepting or rejecting the resolutions made by the state group and which will be presented to the legislature for action.

A communication was received from the Veterans of Foreign Wars suggesting that the war memorial monument erected in the yard in front of the Washington street entrance to the court house be moved to the site of the old city hall where, it was pointed out, it would be seen much better and would enlarge the grounds in front of the entrance. The letter was placed on file.

MUSKIE CATCH SETS RECORD AT HAMLIN LAKE

John Johns, of Ludington, is a veteran fisherman, but he enjoyed his greatest thrill recently when he was peering through a hole in the ice with a spear in his hand and saw a 46-pound muskellunge nose its way slowly in sight.

Excited as he was, Johns made almost a perfect strike, spearing the huge muskie through the center of the back. Even though the fish was securely held by the spear, Johns had to yell for help in getting the muskellunge out of the water and on the ice of Upper Hamlin Lake. Dick Layton, fishing partner of Johns, aided in the capture.

The fish attracted much attention in Ludington, it being equal in size to the region's all time catch. It measured 53 inches, weighed 46 pounds, the same length and weight as one captured two years ago by Morgan Mason, of Ludington. In January, 1935, George Hackett, of Ludington, took a 45-pound muskellunge from the Upper Hamlin. It measured 48 inches. The State record for muskellunge, according to the State Conservation Department, is 52 pounds, or only six pounds more than the Johns catch.

An ordinary wood lure was used by Johns, who had been fishing only five minutes when the record muskellunge appeared.

"I have had many thrills fishing, but you cannot imagine the feeling that comes over you when you see a 46-pound muskie as you peer into the water," Johns said. "That fish looked as big as a horse to me and seemed to fill up the entire hole."

FORMER PASTOR OF HOPE CHURCH NOW ON NEWSPAPER STAFF

Rev. Paul P. Cheff, who twelve years ago was pastor of Hope Church covering a period of years has his time well occupied in the city of Sidney, Nebraska, thriving town of 9,000 inhabitants. Mr. Cheff is a popular pastor of the Presbyterian Church there and he not only has time to minister to his flock, but is also doing editorial work on "The Telegraph" of Sidney.

In the issue of January 1st an editorial appears from the pen of Dominie Cheff under the caption "Happy New Year." In it he portrays what constitutes a happy new year in a community, and that prosperity is one essential thing, but that no prosperity can come unless there is fair co-operation between all things that make up our livelihood. He draws a picture of a crop failure and as we all know, Nebraska was in the dust bowl.

He sets forth that despite the trials that beset the agriculturalists who have been having a heavy heart, beneath it all there is still courage to go onward. He parallels the business and professional men of that area as meeting adversities with a smile despite the fact that there was only meager returns to sustain a livelihood.

He suggests methods that would alleviate the stress that some of these ills bring. He stressed the fact that the common-sense way of doing business, applied by our forebears might stand them in good stead.

In a following issue an editorial appears on "Work and Play."

In an earlier issue he devotes a column on the subject, "What Will the Archbishop Say Now?" The editorial has to do with the Bishop of Canterbury's denunciation of King Edward and his recent abdication of the throne.

Mr. Paul P. Cheff is the father of Ted Cheff, general manager of the Holland Furnace Company. For many years he was a pastor at Zeeland before he came to Hope Church in Holland. While in Holland he was also on the faculty of Hope College. He was a forceful speaker and commanded an impressive presence. The writer would call him a real dapper dominie.

For the first time since the inauguration of the primary system in Polkton township, it will be unnecessary to hold a primary, as this year only one candidate has filed for each office. The candidates whose names will appear on the ballot at the April election are: John H. Ter Avest, supervisor; A. M. Easton, clerk; Archie Walcott, highway commissioner; Jacob Witcop, clerk; Ed Nixon, member board of review; John Lubben, justice of peace.

The following persons filed nomination petitions for township offices: George E. Heneveld, Supervisor; Albert Kronmeyer, Clerk; Dick Neuwisma, Treasurer; Robert Christophel, Justice; Peter Dykema, Board of Review; Henry Lugers, Jr., Highway Commissioner.

FORMULA FOR FUN

FOR A SLICK bit of entertainment, try a buffet bridge some evening soon. Your guests can serve their own plates from the dining table then trot off to card tables in the living room for the fun of eating informally.

On the dining table place glasses of chilled Tomato Juice and plates of crisp crackers. Arrange a cluster of cunning fat little brown bean pots brim-filled with Oven-Baked Beans, Boston Style, with a platter of baked ham and a bowl of cole slaw nearby on the table. Fresh Cucumber Pickle Slices and stuffed celery will add tart crisp touches of garnish to the plates. And do serve Boston brown bread with Currant Jelly to give an authentic finish to this first course. Apple pie with bits of bity cheese and a comforting cup of coffee may be dining room fare if you prefer.

QUICK COLE SLAW

Now the cole slaw is simple. Just shred about 4 cups of cabbage, then add 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons Pure Cider Vinegar, 1 green pepper, chopped, grating of onion juice and a dash of pepper. Sometimes for variation I like to use 1 tart red apple, diced in place of the green pepper. That gives a special party flare you might like to try here. Mix all the ingredients thoroughly.

PATRICIAN PIE

I wonder, do you have a good recipe for apple pie? Every lady is supposed to have one handed down from the generations of gentlefolk behind her. But they seldom do nowadays. Anyway, here's one with impeccable antecedents. Perhaps you'd like to make it the mainstay of your dessert file. Apple pie (one with 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add 1/4 cup lard, thoroughly chilled, and cut the fat into the flour, using two knives or the tips of your fingers. It's quite easy once you get on to the trick. Do this lightly and deftly so the fat does not melt into the flour. When the fat and flour are blended to pieces the size of peas, gradually add enough cold water to make a stiff smooth dough. Three to four tablespoons will do the trick. Cover and pop into the refrigerator to chill for an hour before rolling, if possible. In the meantime, pare 5 to 6 tart apples, core and cut into slices—about sixteenths. Place apple slices in a bowl and add to them 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg, and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. There you have a goodly array of flavors. Then divide the pastry in half, place one-half on a slightly floured molding surface, pat the pastry lightly, then roll out to 1/4 inch in thickness, and a little larger than the pie pan. Fold the sheet of pastry in half and place in a 9-inch pie plate, then unfold pastry. Press lightly to fit plate, and trim edges. Place apples in the pie shell and dot over with 1 teaspoon butter. Roll upper crust to 1/4 inch in thickness and 1 inch larger than plate. Fold in half and make 3 slits, 1/4 inch in length, in center edge of folded side. Moisten edge of lower crust with a little water and place upper crust in position, and trim, leaving 1 inch on all sides. Carefully fold and press down upper crust under lower crust all around the edge. Finish by making a crinkled edge with the finger tips or by marking with the tines of a fork. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 400° F. and bake until apples are tender—about 45 minutes in all.

Fifty years ago the telephone in Michigan was a laboratory curiosity. Today it is the instrument of a tremendously valuable, widespread public service.

This development represents the practical working out of the vision of the telephone pioneers. Their avowed goal was—the best possible service at the lowest cost—consistent with financial safety. For half a century that policy has guided the telephone's destiny. It motivated every improvement and every expansion; it was behind all the many reductions in rates.

And that far-sighted policy applies just as strictly today as it did two generations ago.

CLAM FISHING NEARLY PLAYED OUT

As a result of over-intensive fishing, Michigan's once rich supply of mussels is probably at its lowest point since commercial clamming began years ago. Fred A. Westerman, chief of state fisheries operations, believes that the summer's take from the shell-producing streams in the southern half of the lower peninsula, which was comparatively small, demonstrates the need of greater legal restrictions.

At one time commercial clambers found the mussel supply a ready source of income, harvesting the shells for the pearl-button industry and selling what few pearls found. In many portions of the producing streams the supply of mussels has decreased to such an extent that the quantities taken far from pay the time spent and cost of operations.

At the next regular meeting to be held at the Vriesland township hall on Thursday, Feb. 18, at 8 p.m., Frank A. Thornton of the Federal Employees' Credit Union, Grand Rapids, will speak on "Credit Unions."

If there shall be any doubt as to the right to assess any person who resides in the City or not and shall be assessed for personal property belonging to such person, the Board of Review, hereinafter mentioned, may decide what assessments shall be made, and said assessment shall be conclusive as to the liability of such person to be assessed in said City for said property.

SECTION 4—REPEALED.

SECTION 6. The said Board shall meet on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May in each year, at such room in the City Hall in said City as the Common Council may designate, at nine (9) o'clock in the forenoon, of which time and place notice shall be given by the Clerk at least two weeks prior to the time of meeting by publishing a notice thereof in one of the newspapers of the City, at which time and place the several assessment rolls shall be submitted to the Board. D. 19____.

Dated: Holland, Mich. _____

Clerk of the Board of Review.

Upon the completion of such rolls, and their endorsement in manner aforesaid, they shall be returned to the Assessor, and shall be conclusively presumed by all courts and tribunals to be valid, and shall not be set aside except for causes mentioned in the general laws of the State relating to the assessment of property and the levy and collection of taxes thereon. The omission of such endorsement, however, shall not affect the validity of any such roll.

SECTION 7—REPEALED.

The Board of Review shall equalize the assessments of the City and the City Assessor shall apportion the several amounts required to be raised as shown by the annual appropriation bill, in accordance with such equalization; and it shall be the duty of the City Clerk to certify to the Assessor, for assessment, the amounts to be spread, giving the amounts apportioned for school and school house purposes in a separate sum within three days after the adjournment of the Board of Review.

On all sums not paid before the tenth (10th) day of January as so levied in the General Tax Roll, the City Treasurer shall add three (3%) per cent. for collection fees, up to the first day of February, and report the same to the Common Council; and the warrant shall authorize the same, and shall also authorize the Treasurer, in case any person shall neglect to pay his tax, to levy the same by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such person.
