Council Favors Purchasing New Aerial Truck

ALDERMAN OPPOSES, BELIEVES IN ECONOMY FIRST; FAVORABLE CLEANING CITY DEBT FIRST

Nine out of Ten Aldermen, However, Point out Possible Accidents That Might Prove Serious for Lack of Aerial Equipment

"One life is worth more than that money," Ald. Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., said at common council meeting Wednesday night, referring to an estimated $15,000 which council favored spending for a new aerial ladder for the fire department. After an earnest debate, council passed Ald. Henry Prins' motion to instruct the ways and means committee to provide ways and means for a new truck in next year's appropriation. Ald. Martin Oudemool cast the only dissenting vote as the measure was passed, 9 to 1.

Ald. Oudemool explained during the discussion of the motion that he opposed the purchase on economic grounds, not because he is opposed to getting better fire-fighting equipment. "Pay as we go" is the policy that the third ward alderman favors, he said.

"Once we get the city out of debt, we can buy that fire truck with the amount that we are paying in interest, in some three years," Ald. Oudemool stated.

"Mr. Oudemool doesn't have to climb that fire ladder," Ald. Kalkman shouted. "If he did have to climb it, with two or three men and a hose above him, and the others were injured or worse, he might change his mind." The gallery laughed.

The purchase of a truck was introduced when City Clerk Oscar Peterson read a communication from the board of police and fire commissioners stating that at their meeting Monday they had decided to recommend the purchase of a Seagrave service aerial ladder truck at an estimated cost of $15,000. Ald. Prins then made a motion that the ways and means committee be instructed to include $15,000 for a truck when drawing up the budget next month. Ald. Henry Kotel pointed out that use of the name "Seagrave" is premature.

Ald. Prins first proposed that $15,000 be the amount set for budgeting the truck, but later changed the wording when it was found that there was a possibility that the truck might not cost quite that much. He stated that in any event surely the money would not be lost. Ald. Prins did not suggest the purchasing of any specific make of truck but stressed the fact that a certain amount should be provided for so that negotiations could be made for one.

"We are exposing the lives of our firemen every time they use this present equipment," Ald. Edward Brouwer said. "I appreciate that the Mayor has made an investigation as to whether the present equipment can be put in shape, and I believe that it has been found that it cannot be."

Ald. Kalkman said, "If anyone is killed, it would be on our shoulders." He proposed that $7,500 be put up this year, and the same amount next year, to pay for a truck. This idea was later dropped when City Atty. Clarence Lokker called the attention of council to the fact that the present incumbents are not allowed to make promises which will be binding on their successors in office.

"But we are so nearly out of debt," Ald. Oudemool said, pointing out that the city's indebtedness amounts to only a few thousand over $150,000. "Three times the people have said 'no' to proposals for bonding. Let's pay as we go."

Ald. John Menken said, "I agree with Mr. Oudemool on the other issues, but this is different from the others. This is an absolute necessity." The life of one man or injury to two or three might cost the city the price of a new truck, he said.

Ald. Prins remarked that the same argument in favor of purchasing the truck.

Ald. James A. Drinkwater also spoke in favor of buying a fire truck and that it was an absolute necessity. Mayor Henry Geerlings, who presided, stated that he was hesitating about recommending the purchase because he had asked for a report of the expenses necessary to repair the old equipment, and it has not yet been given me. "I'm just simply inquiring," he said. "Figures are easy to put down, but you've got to pay."

Ald. Brouwer quoted Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, Jr., in an article recently published, indicating that new fire-fighting apparatus is a necessity.

Ald. Brouwer, while also pleading for economy, said that the truck was a necessary and money was a secondary consideration. It meant protection for the firemen who work on fires and a first-line insurance for the city of Holland, and Holland's financial condition was not such that these imperative necessities could not be taken care of. Should anything happen, he reiterated, the responsibility of a fatal accident among the firemen or injury would surely put the blame upon the council members' shoulders, who were urged to purchase equipment that would prevent just such a thing.

Ald. Albert P. Kleis cited the case of the fire at the Bolhuis Lumber and Manufacturing Co. last December as an example of the need for equipment. Andrew Klompars, a lieutenant in the Holland Fire department, was asked to speak from the audience. He cited the case of the Colonial theater fire several years ago, "where we could have saved the price of a truck right there," and a fire last week in Syracuse in which eight firemen were killed using side-wall ladders.

"When we don't have to use the present ladders, it isn't dangerous," he said.

Council Notes

Alderman Peter Huyzer and John Vogelzang were absent as City Clerk Oscar Peterson reported a quorum present at the regular meeting of Holland common council Wednesday night in the city hall. Mayor Henry Geerlings opened the meeting with prayer and the flag was saluted.

Bidders for contract No. 2 on the city power plant, consisting of bids for turbine-generators, exciters, condensers and closed feed water devices, were given insufficient time to submit their prices, a letter from the board of public works stated. The board recommended that all bids be rejected, still sealed, and new ones requested by 7:30 p. m. March 3. The letter was signed by Gerrit Appledorn, clerk of the board. Council approved this recommendation, so Clerk Peterson distributed ten bids to various members of the gallery whose companies had submitted them. The advertisement for these bids will be found on the last page of this issue.

On the motion of Ald. Henry Prins, seconded by Ald. Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., a number of building permits were granted, subject to the approval of the city engineer and the fire department.

Henry De Visser was granted a permit to collect junk. The motion was made and seconded by Ald. Henry Prins and Ald. James A. Drinkwater.

A request from Gerrit Schutten that 27th St. between River and Pine Aves. be included in the city's sanitary sewer system was referred to the sewer committee upon the motion of Ald. Albert P. Kleis.

Vernon Ten Cate, president of the Tulip Time committee, signed a letter received from the committee urging council to give possible aid to The Netherlands Museum as an institution aiding Tulip Time, the only available source of information as to such matters as the authenticity of costumes, a means of preserving records and relics and an institution of learning. The request was approved and filed on the motion of Ald. Edward Brouwer, seconded by Ald. Frank L. Smith.

Ald. Smith reported that a section of the street on Pine Ave. between 20th and 21st Sts. had never been deeded to the city, and is owned by a number of individuals, for whom Otto P. Kramer is trustee. The delayed transfer of the property was approved by council in exchange for cancellation of lien part of the improvements assessment which would have been due on that property.

Approval was granted to erection of a culvert on the north half of Cherry St. under arrangements similar to those which were made with property-owners on the south half of the street in the fall of 1937. Owners there, who plan to build residences, agreed to pay $120 each over a period of five years.

Ald. Brouwer introduced a request from a special committee of the Tulip Time committee, which wants to use city property east of Central Ave. between 12th and 18th Sts. as the site of the Little Netherlands exhibit next summer. Subject to the approval of the executive committee, the smaller group plans to make the miniature layout, which was housed in the armory last year, an outdoor exhibit. A wall, which Ald. Brouwer said would be made attractive, is to be erected around the site and eight feet back from the sidewalk line. He emphasized that the site will be prepared at no cost to the city. On his motion, supported by Ald. Kleis, use of the property was approved.

Unanimous approval was granted the proposal to extend the sanitary sewer to Water St. between 10th and Van Raalte Aves. when no protests were received verbally or in writing. Wednesday night had been announced as the date for a hearing. Jacob Zuidema, city assessor, explained that Water "Street" is a strip from the extension of Kollen's park to the Su-ous," he said. He invited the members of council to inspect the present climbing gear, which consists of a 50-foot ladder, a 40-foot ladder, and several shorter ones. Mr. Klompars said:

It was understood that the successful motion to instruct the ways and means committee to appropriate funds out of next year's budget gives the fire truck appropriation precedence over all other spending in the budget to be prepared.

A truck with a 65-foot ladder was mentioned during the discussion as being about the size needed.

Ald. Ben Steffens, chairman of the ways and means committee, held out that there should not be any specified amount, for it might be such a thing that the truck might cost less.

Ald. Brouwer again spoke and said that it wasn't so much whether the city owed $155,000, which is a paltry sum based on the valuation of the city and its holdings, but the vital question was the need of a truck to bring about more efficient fire-fighting and at the same time safeguard the men who are called upon to do this fighting.

Ald. Ben Steffens in a final proposal asked that the matter of raising the money be left to the ways and means committee, and if it becomes necessary to propose a bond issue.

The final vote in the council on this aerial truck matter stood as follows: Yes—Aldermen Prins, Kleis, Drinkwater, Kalkman, Brouwer, Steffens, Kotel, Menken and Smith; No—Alderman Oudemool. Aldermen absent, Vogelzang and Huyzer.

Evidences Of Revolution Yet Noticeable

RUSSIAN PALACES TOO EXTRAVAGANT BUT BEAUTIFUL

Some Details of Upheaval in Russia Remain History's Mysteries (By Dr. A. J. Brower)

The Kazan cathedral in a Greek style of architecture is of great interest. The Winter Palace, the former residence of the Tsars, is today the revolutionary museum, a gorgeous place, surpassing even Buckingham Palace in London, to my way of thinking. It faces the great open square in the center of the city, and covers about six or more acres, and it is here where this historic bloody Sunday took place during the Romanoff days, where the peasants gathered to ask for bread, but hundreds were killed by Russian soldiers at the time. The appalling story has long since been history.

European countries have many buildings that are beautiful beyond description. There is the Mohammedan Blue Mosque, a rival to St. Sophia's Blue Mosque of Constantinople, which is the most beautiful in the world. The thing that impressed me, and especially in Russia as well as in other countries, is the extravagance shown in all these things with wealth untold in structural work, which is seen constantly by the poorer class, and it would seem that this peasantry could not help but contrast this wealth with their own poverty. One must really see these things to be impressed with it all, but at that, the palaces of the old regime are show places for all the public, whether they be peasant or traveler. I sometimes felt that in Russia the extravagance was overdone. I am wondering sometime if it hadn't been a contributing factor bringing on the revolution nearly a score of years ago.

The fortress of Peter and Paul, built in 1750, was intended by Peter the Great to be the center of the future capital. It was later converted into a prison in which political prisoners were incarcerated, and surely a horrible place it was, where most of the prisoners were in solitary confinement, places for meditation and punishment.

From there we went to Peterhof, about 20 miles from Leningrad. It is the oldest of the imperial summer residences, and it was built by Peter I in 1709. In this vicinity one can see the villas and palaces of former Russian royalty and aristocracy. Along this whole road the scars on property left by the peasants during this stormy revolution are still in evidence, dating back to the World War days. The revolutionists played havoc with life and property. What happened in those days is history, and the regime since then has well enough known publicly that reputation is not necessary.

The owners of private property, revolutionists considered, were their enemies, and they were destroyed by the pent-up and enraged peasants who took possession—unless they escaped to other countries. It was a repetition of the bloody Sunday years before at the Winter Palace, only on this occasion the revolutionists were the victors. Peterhof, with its luxurious palaces and numerous fountains, has been called the Russian Versailles. The Tsar of that day had iron trees, benches, chairs, statues, etc., all constructed so that they could be used as fountains as well, and when in play the fountains came from the Versailles. France, built during the reign of the Napoleons and Louis, before the French revolution.

It all seemed extravagant; however, in the olden day, the peasantry got little chance to see, since then everything was closely guarded by soldiers or cossacks. In the grounds and near the boat landing is a small one-story Dutch palace called Monplaisir, a favored abode of Peter I. Next came Pushkin, named after the famous Russian poet. This was first known as the

TO THE VOTERS OF HOLLAND

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of this city who five years ago saw fit to nominate and elect me on the board of police and fire commissioners. The work has been a real pleasure to me, and I feel that we have received the cooperation of colleagues as well as citizens. Five years is quite a long time to remain in office, and the members of the board have seen fit to also name me as chairman, and altogether it has been an experience that has been real worthwhile and educational.

I believe that these positions should be passed around so more citizens could become versed in municipal activity. Often trying questions come up, but on the whole there is coordination in the board and from the public, and if these questions are approached in a straight forward manner they can be taken care of amicably.

Thanking the members of the board for their kind cooperation and for their best wishes to my successor, whomsoever that may be, I remain

Mutually,
John F. Donnelly.

Jefferson Davis' book of memoirs is to be published next spring simultaneously in New York and London with French edition in Paris. Note: The book was published in which the life of the Confederate President and especially the Civil War, when he headed the south as a divided country when Abraham Lincoln was the President of these United States. It was an Allegan soldier, General Pritchard, who was in the northern detachment, who captured "Jeff" Davis in a small camp as he was endeavoring to escape. When soldiers approached the camp he was making his way to a brook carrying a bucket, presumably to get some water. His head was covered with a sun-bonnet. However, the North soldiers saw a spur on a boot protruding from under the long full skirt. The old lady, supposedly, was told to disrobe and the Confederate President, by the way a fine looking Southern gentleman, came to view and he was taken a prisoner. The war soon ended after that and the President of the South, under the "stars and bars," was freed with the rest of the war prisoners taken in the South.

Our correspondent at Hamilton says that Mr. E. B. Wheaton has resigned his position as depot agent at Hamilton and Mr. J. Huntley has taken his place. Business is increasing on the railroad to this station and merchants are doing a good business. Note: The railroad was then the Chicago & West Michigan and according to the time card there were two trains to and from Allegan which included stops at Hamilton. The schedule shows that the passenger would reach Allegan from Holland in just two hours flat, a distance of 22 miles. The engines pulling cars at that time were of the wood-burner type with large balloon-like stacks covered at the top with spark-catchers. Old engineers remember that on the Allegan-Holland division, trains would stop often in the middle of a field to load up the tender with six-foot wood split by farmers along the right-of-way and sold to the railroad company. Running on schedule time sixty years ago was out of style—a train on time was a coincidence. The local agent at that time was "Billy" Baumgartner. One of his sons still lives in Holland. After his railroad days were over he conducted a barber shop in a small frame building on the southeast corner of College and 8th st., then known as Cedar and Main.

In turning a piece of oak timber into a "twist" for furniture at the Michigan Toy & Novelty Co., it was found to contain two leaden bullets. As near as can be estimated by Manager Lane Van Patten the lumber came from Tennessee and the bullets are undoubtedly relics from Civil War days. Note: The carving works mentioned was then in the building now occupied by the Diekema garage on West 8th st., which served many purposes. Originally it was a blacksmith shop, a planing mill, a novelty works, a skating rink and now an automobile repair shop.

Bricks Blown From Chimney Damage Cars

Two automobiles, parked in the courthouse parking area were considerably damaged when bricks and sheets of galvanized iron were torn away from the tall chimney on the courthouse building at Grand Haven in the 55-mile gale that swept in from the west.

The cars belonged to Mrs. Alfred Matzen, employed in the county clerk's office and Miss Harriet Swartz, register of probate. Two heavy bricks went through the roof of the Matzen car, and another went through one of the fenders of the Swartz car. Both young women had gone into the building and no one was in the cars. The door on the Swartz car was dented and a hub cap was sheared off as the flying bricks were hurled about in the terrific wind.

Those in the courthouse were startled. The bricks are heavy and the force with which they fell was indicated by the car damage. The two bricks that came to rest in the roof of the sports model and landed on either side of a flash light that was not even scratched. A deluge of rain totaling 1.17 inches accompanied by a severe electric storm was part of the freak weather that hit Michigan. The Grand Haven thermometer dropped from 49 degrees to a low of 14.

Religion In Government

The Congress of the United States recently decreed that each morning session shall be opened with prayer, not that prayer of the asking of God for divine wisdom had been forgotten altogether, since prayer was said with the opening of session, but these sessions often continued for days and weeks without a lapse. Prayer was said at the opening, and the next day's session was simply a continuation of the preceding day's session without prayer.

Today, every morning has its period of devotion at the outset, and we imply from that that many of our congressmen and senators are beginning to feel, and undoubtedly, many always have, that God plays an important part in the destiny of a nation. The asking for divine guidance, if it comes direct from the heart rather than as routine in an order of business, this new rule of prayer and devotion will have a potent influence not only on the legislature but the citizenry of a nation as well.

How devoid public relations, generally, have been of religion is being pointed to almost daily through the press and from the pulpit. Dr. John R. Mulder stressed this point Sunday morning in a wonderful sermon at Hope Church. The Detroit Free Press in an editorial on the late Pope Pius, under the caption of "God and Government," has the following:

The Catholic University in Washington announces, as a memorial to the late Pope Pius XI, a national "crusade for God in government."

American Catholics are invited to pledge themselves voluntarily to "defend the Republic against atheistic propaganda, to maintain respect for rightly constituted authority and obedience to lawful administrators, and, finally, to combat fearlessly every invasion of the rights of any citizen or any group of citizens."

That is a pledge to which all Americans, Catholic or Protestant, should be willing and glad to subscribe.

Government in this country has gotten a long way from God, and is asking the people, who look to it for guidance, an extremely bad example, even in common honesty, truth and decency.

Any movement to check the trend away from God and religion is a blow struck for the ideals upon which this country's greatness was built and upon which alone that greatness can be sustained.

Augmenting this train of thought, which is rapidly taking root, we give here excerpts from an address by the Hon. A. Leonard Allen of Louisiana, member of Congress, which he delivered in Washington, D. C. February 7, 1939 and appears in the Congressional Record. He said in part as follows:

"If I were to choose a subject for my remarks, I would call it the 'Faith of America.' We all do know, gentlemen, that one's environment in life plays a tremendous part in his ideals, philosophy, and action in life. In order that you may the better understand and appreciate my remarks, permit me to say to you that I hail from the deep South. I am a hillbilly, and I come to you with the philosophy of a hillbilly. Perhaps some of you know what a hillbilly is. I am not ashamed to say that I was born and reared in a log cabin, was brought up by parents who still cling to the faith of their fathers, and I am very happy to tell you that I have tried not to depart from it."

"In the deep South we still have tens of thousands of homes where the heritage of faith—faith in God, faith in our government, faith in our institutions, faith in our fellowman—is still the guiding principle. There are still many other things we do not have in the great Southland, but I can say with pride that I do not believe there is any other place in the world that can boast of a greater degree of faith than my beloved Southland."

"One hundred and fifty years ago our forefathers settled this great country of ours and founded there a government that all of us honor and love. It was faith and the desire to exercise that faith according to the dictates of their consciences that brought the hearty pioneers of Europe to this Western Hemisphere. Our forefathers came with definite ideas and philosophy; there was no quibbling, no vacillation, no doubt concerning the great issues of life in their hearts and minds. The poet has well said in his immortal lines, 'What sought they thus afar, the wealth of seas, the spoils of war? They sought a faith's pure shrine, they were willing for the sake of those principles to say goodbye to the homes and loved ones and start out across the uncharted seas and face the rigors, privations, and dangers of a new land. They brought with them certain concepts which they have handed down to us as a glorious heritage. They believed, my friends, in the philosophy, in the teaching of the fatherhood of God. They came here to establish the liberty of thought, conscience, and action.

"It is little wonder, therefore, that we find these men and women making faith the chief pillar of this government. They do not hesitate to proclaim to the world their belief in Jehovah of Hosts. Yea, they let the world know that the government not only subscribes to that principle, but sought to perpetuate that faith that had driven them to the primeval forests in this hemisphere. They even engraved upon their money that they issued, the very coin in your pocket, 'In God We Trust.' The founding fathers decreed that Congress shall be opened with prayer.

"Not only that, my friends, but these founders have established churches, schools, civic organizations. One need go but a short distance to find the footprints of men whose names are immortalized in this country. Just a short distance down the historic Potomac we find the home of the great George Washington, by whom this city was established and for whom it was named. Just across the river we may go into the church to which the founder was not ashamed to repair on Sunday morning and worship the God of the earth. As I go over this country, I see numerous churches, old and worn, some of them having been used for a hundred years, all of them eloquent evidence of the consecration of our forefathers to lofty ideas and eternal truths. This beautiful city of Washington is filled with monuments, but the greatest of them all is that little parchment, old and faded, a monument to a great faith and a young democracy—the constitution of the United States."

The discourse of the Louisiana representative continues at some length, and in closing, he says:

"Time was, gentlemen, when every man and woman had profound respect for the Lord's Day. Time was when no one would dare be caught desecrating that day. Public opinion was such that the day was universally observed. But, my friends, I am sorry to say that this new day that has come upon us has brought many advantages, many conveniences, but has also brought many unsavory influences. I am not a pessimist. I don't want to be a pessimist. I must prefer to look upon the bright side of life. A sunny day is always more beautiful than a cloudy one, and yet blind is the man indeed who cannot see certain conditions existing about us. I cannot see anything to be gained by sticking our heads in the sand and saying they do not exist, for they do exist."

In closing, Mr. Allen said, "I am not perhaps as old as some of you; but my head is white, and it grew white getting some of the experience gained from the time as a barefoot boy I worked in the cotton fields, as student, as teacher, lawyer, and now as national legislator, it is my firm conviction that America and all the world needs most of all a great spiritual awakening, a return of faith."

"A few weeks ago the United States News, published here in Washington, wrote me and asked me to give my opinion on 'How America Can Heal Its Frictions and its Class Wars.' I gave the following answer, which it carried in its issue of December 27:

"More nationalism, less internationalism."

"More Americanism, less un-Americanism."

"More love, less hate."

"More religion, less atheism."

"More understanding between capital and labor, less greed."

"More regard for the rights of all."

"More regard for the sanctity of laws and private and public obligations."

"More decentralization in wealth, government, and power."

"More of the faith in man and God which existed in the 'horse-and-buggy days.'"

"Two thousand years ago a little group of men had followed a teacher for nearly 3 years. The populace, having eaten the bread which He miraculously supplied, and having learned that He came to set up the great spiritual kingdom instead of a temporal kingdom, began to turn away. A little group of His personally selected followers were left standing with Him, and the Teacher turned and said to them, 'Will ye also go away?' An old fisherman, assuming the position of spokesman for the Twelve, said to Him, 'Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life.' That little band had reached its extremity."

"My friends, in this day of chaos, of broken faith between men and nations, has man not about reached his extremity? I call upon America to return to the faith of our fathers. Certainly our wisdom has failed, certainly the best-laid schemes and plans of men have gone astray. Hate and greed are in the ascendancy. Is this idealism more so than old-fashioned? No, my friends, it is practical! My friends, having tried almost every other plan to save this country and to help this country, people will have the wisdom now to go back to their first love, restore faith, confidence, and God's plan. Let us invite the Prince of Peace to our council tables. May the faith of America bloom again."

"Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget."

The above is really a remarkable discourse; in fact, a sermon in sermons are not so often found. It Christianity in public places has not entirely flickered out, but let us hope that the light of religion on and that it soon may be a beacon light and a guiding star, directing the destiny of a wonderful nation."

Auto Tag Deadline Final Kelly Warns

If the motor vehicles now registered in Michigan are to "get under the wire" by March 1st, the deadline for the purchase of 1939 license plates, or half year permit plates, an average of 50,000 motorists per day will have to purchase their plates after February 16, it is estimated by Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State.

With only ten days left in which to purchase plates, Kelly stresses the fact that Section 6A of Act 270 of the Public Act of 1937 prohibits any officer or municipality from extending the time to purchase new plates.

The 1939 plates which were placed on sale last October 27th have been selling at the rate of less than 3,000 per day. The total plates sold by the middle of February is estimated at 400,000, with total registrations of 1,558,286.

"It will take the department to issue 50,000 sets of plates per day, but if the bulk of the applicants come in the last few days, every one can't be served," Kelly said, adding, "The deadline is March 1st, but if too many people wait for it, it simply won't be possible to handle the business."

Kelly has ordered all branch offices in the metropolitan areas to remain open until 9 p. m. to take care of the last minute buyers.

Going the Way of Buffalo

Whitefish of the Great Lakes were, up until a few years ago, a highly important source of food and employment. Deep trap nets, taking hundreds of tons from the waters where the whitefish had always been safe, have almost wiped out the species. The United States Bureau of Fisheries declares that the whitefish, and other fresh water species, will be commercially extinct in a few years unless strict conservation measures are applied at once. The painting of the Whitefish, for Wildlife Week stamps, was done by Fred Everett.

This will be the 23rd annual senior play to be given in the month of March. This performance now is considered the highlight of the spring school program.

Greetings In Dutch Feature of Tulip Time

A HAND SHAKING "WELKOM" AFTER DOUSING AND SCRUBBING

Ten years ago, in 1929, this Dutch town proclaimed its hospitality by inviting its neighbors to view the largest display of tulip blooms in this section of the country; in 1939 the invitation has been expanded to include all the world and the theme again is "Dutch Hospitality." To prove that it means this "Welkom" the city has adopted several additions to the programs of the past to spread goodwill and provide comfort for its visitors.

Little Dutch Delegates are to be chosen in a photographic contest and sent to surrounding festivals to say hello from Holland, Michigan. It is hoped that some practical plan may be found to have a double row of seats down on the curbs on the parade route. It is also planned that the Street Scrubbers, upon completing their task, shall step to the sidewalks and as they work their way toward where they join the parade, shake hands with as many as possible of the guests. A program containing a large map with all points of interest to Tulip Time guests, as well as photographs and detailed information regarding the scheduled events and exhibits, will be available without cost. Potted tulips in store windows and on lamp posts should help to dress up the downtown area.

Upon the suggestion of Ernest C. Brooks the committee voted to invite Governor Fitzgerald here on the second Saturday of the festival to officiate at the Band Trophy Awarding Ceremony. Mr. Brooks also suggested a popular picnic dinner in the evening in honor of the State Executive.

An outdoor location for an enlarged Little Netherlands, an Industrial Fair under the Junior Chamber of Commerce, a dramatic spectacle, "Tulip Tales" at Riverview Park, strolling minstrels, Dutch Farms and more dog-drawn milk carts were also adopted as new features for 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Price, 22 Cherry st., have returned from a trip of a fortnight to California.

Third Commemoration of Holland's Founding Also Proves Success

Despite bad weather, the third observation of the anniversary of Holland's founding, started so auspiciously two years ago, was a great success. The auditorium of the high school was crowded to capacity last Thursday in commemoration of the 92nd anniversary of the time when Dr. Van Raalte, the founder, and his intrepid little band set foot at the head of Macatawa Bay, then Black Lake, and in the wilderness began the building of this beautiful city of culture, of institutions of learning, of churches, and of happy homes. A more ideal location could never have been chosen.

Dr. Wynand Wichers, president of the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical Foundation, was the speaker of the evening, and his remarks were short, since a large program had been arranged for, including moving pictures of the Netherlands, together with a travogue given by C. H. Ravelli, U. S. representative of the Netherlands Railroad, New York City.

The programs heretofore were different, and were staged in Hope Memorial Chapel. Willard Wichers, secretary of the "Foundation" and his aides have endeavored to put on these annual programs each year differently. The other programs comprised speaking, tableaux, pantomimes, and the seeing of old relics having to do with the everyday life of our forebears who pioneered in western Michigan. This first collection was the nucleus from which our Netherlands Museum was created, which is located in the old Masonic Temple. This humble beginning made our home folks and those interested in this Netherlands Foundation become intensely interested in the Museum, and constantly the collection received two years ago has been augmented with new exhibits of different types and typifying the coming of the Netherlands to these United States with headquarters at Holland, Michigan.

Dr. Wynand Wichers stressed this fact and traced the work of the "Foundation" during the last two years.

He announced that the local museum has just received five medals of Dutch sea heroes. They are the gift of J. J. F. Beynes of Haarlem, The Netherlands, and were sent here by W. K. von Weller, at-

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schuitens of New Groningen was the scene Wednesday evening of a surprise birthday party for John Zigmeter of Douglas. Joe Prantle of Douglas sang "My Dear Family," accompanied by Mrs. Rena Deters, and Mr. Zigmeter responded by giving a reading in Dutch, "Rijs-Soep." Games and refreshments were other features of the evening's entertainment.

Seth Van Der Werf of Holland conducted the morning service of the First Reformed church last Sunday while Rev. I. Scherpenisse took charge of the afternoon service. H. H. Funeral services were held at the Dykstra Funeral Home, and burial was in Riverside cemetery at Saugatuck. Mr. Berelle conducted the hotel by that name for 15 years. He was born in Manchester, Michigan, in 1870. He also was a musical director and conducted a twelve-piece band and was an able player on piano, flute, cornet, and other instruments. He moved to Saugatuck fourteen years ago. He is survived by a widow, two sisters and one brother.

taches of The Netherlands consulate in Detroit.

The medallions, Dr. Wichers said, are a part of a series of 12, all designed by the well known sculptor Jac J. van Goor upon commission of The Netherlands government. Mr. van Goor has previously made the series of 24 medals of the members of the House of Orange, several of which were presented to The Netherlands museum last year.

The donor, Mr. Beynes, is one of the outstanding young business executives of The Netherlands. He is the head of the Royal Beynes in Haarlem, largest manufacturer of Pullman cars, Diesel trains, and truck and bus bodies in The Netherlands. He visited in the United States in the summer of 1938. Mr. Beynes, about 35, met with an accident when a youngster which left him completely deaf but through lip reading he can follow conversations in several languages.

The medallions portray Jacob van Heemskerck (1567-1607), Pieter Pieterszoon Heyn (1577-1629), Maarten Harpertzoon Tromp (1598-1653), Michiel Adriaenszoon de Ruyter (1607-1676) and Willem Joseph Baaron van Ghent (1672).

Dr. Wichers said that in the past year there have been 12,949 paid admissions at the museum, 5,017 school children have visited it along with 421 in society groups, for a total attendance of 18,387. He further reported that there have been 353 donors, giving 3,719 catalogue objects and about 15,000 uncatologued specimens. He said the present foundation membership is about 500 members.

The speaker also praised the work of those connected with the museum. Mr. Dorothy Meyer, supervisor of the state-wide university museum project of the University of Michigan, one of those thanked for interest in the museum, was present.

Dr. Wichers said the purpose of The Netherlands Pioneer and Historical foundation is to accumulate, disseminate and preserve the Dutch lore brought about through the settling of Holland and western Michigan by the Dutch immigrants. He stated that the educational program for school students has been of great benefit.

Holland Trips Havenites In S. W. Contest

DUTCH PILE UP 14 TO 3 ADVANTAGE AT HALF TIME; SECOND HALF RALLY BY LOCALS FAILS, 29 TO 20

(Grand Haven Tribune)

After reaching a peak in the Muskegon game a week before, Grand Haven High's basketball tossers hit a slump on the big armory floor Friday night at Holland and succumbed to the Dutch prep tossers in an exciting game, 29 to 20.

The local defense fell apart early in the game, allowing Holland to roll up an 8 to 0 lead at the end of the first quarter and 14 to 3 advantage at half time.

The victory for Holland put the Tulip Towers on the top rung in the Southwest Michigan conference race for 1939; Holland is hoped to continue on to the championship to repeat the 1938 annexation of the class A league trophy.

Holland jumped to a 8 to 0 lead at the end of the initial stanza and added another bucket in the second before the county seaters were able to part the meshes for the first time.

The locals were still far off the mark in the second period. Grand Haven's guards were being caught outcourt, Holland's fast and accurate shooting forwards sneaking in for easy "dunks" time after time. Apparently too many blue players chased down under the Holland basket, allowing three of the Haven goal against two guards. This left one Holland player open for easy shots.

Things were different in the third period. With the score 14 to 3 against them in this frame the locals scored six points in rapid order and with five minutes of the period elapsed the score was 14 to 9.

Rycenga sneaked in for a bucket for the locals and was awarded a free shot. He made it and the score was 18 to 12 after Holland sank two goals.

Grand Haven retained a four-point lead and at the end of the period the score was 20 to 16. De Witt made a free throw at the start of the last period and the battle became bitter as the score was 20 to 17. Holland made a pair of goals and Balts made three free shots in a row to make the score 24 to 20. In the last minute Holland made a free throw and a field goal.

Rowan, a guard, led the winners with eight points. Grand Haven made only three field goals but sank 14 out of 19 free shots. Holland made three out of eight.

Holland Reserves defeated Grand Haven in a prelim 16 to 8. Thomas made five for Holland and Cook led the locals with four. Holland led at half time, 6 to 5.

Tsar's village, and more recently as the children's village. It is about 15 miles from Leningrad, and today it is used largely for everyone, especially for children. Here are the palaces of Catherine and Alexander. The latter was built by Queen Catherine for her beloved grandson, Prince Alexander, who later became a Tsar. The Catherine Palace is an edifice of great magnificence. The amber room, the walls of which are completely encrusted in amber, is unequaled in beauty. Near the Catherine Park is the Alexander Palace, surrounding the Alexander Palace which contains the living rooms of the last Romanovs is now a museum. Everything in it has remained exactly as it was in imperial days.

It will be remembered that the Tsar and his family were at Tobolsk, near Siberia, where a Soviet regime was set up, but the vast social upheaval all over Russia found its reflection in the conduct of the detachment of soldiers then guarding the Tsar and his family. They became more insubordinate, hostile, and suspicious towards the imperial family. The family spent their last days in that vicinity. It is told that the Tsar and the Queen and his daughters and one son ate bad food, black bread for breakfast, no tablecloths on the eating tables for meals, while the princess slept on the floor for lack of beds. The ruling Tsar naturally was held responsible for all of Russia's tribulations.

What finally happened to the Tsar, the Queen and the children on a midnight in July nearly 20 years ago is told in many versions. One has it that they were destroyed in a basement of an old house, and another has it that they were taken to a woods together with some of the servants, and the family physician, and were shot to death. The stories reported to be true and published often in the American press with different versions are too gruesome to be told in this travelogue. It was said to be the means of the revolutionists to do away with every trace of the imperial reign that had ruled Russia with an iron hand for centuries.

A story has recently been published, giving the details of this gruesome ending of the ruling power, that one of the daughters, Anastasia, then 17, had escaped. Columns have been written about her still being alive, and endeavoring to establish her identity. This story has been going around for the past ten years, but it appears that none of the facts have been fully substantiated, and it is destined to be one of the mysteries or legends of history.

Mrs. Vern Bronson and George B. Speet were married recently. Mr. and Mrs. Speet are now established at their residence at 386 West 20th St.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The regular meeting will be held Wednesday, February 22, 1939.

The American Legion division number 3, Mrs. Henry Klomprens, chairman, held a potluck supper Friday night in the club rooms.

Al Joldersma of Holland, high ranking officer in finances in the Michigan department of the American Legion, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Zeeland Lions club in the city hall on Monday evening. Joldersma forcefully told his listeners of the many subversive activities being directed by Communists and other groups against the American government and brought home to them the necessity for taking such movements seriously and attempting to combat them. Joldersma declared the American people have too long been too tolerant of radical elements that have only destruction of this greatest of all nations as their aim. The speaker substantiated his remarks with data and did not hesitate to verbally lash several Americans holding high public office. Mr. Joldersma's speech was roundly applauded. He was introduced by George Meengs, Zeeland Legionnaire and a member of the Lions club. President Dave Van Ommen presided and conducted a short business session, after which Secretary Kenneth Folkertsma showed motion pictures of the recent Zeeland State Bank fire and other Zeeland “shots.” Before the dinner, Folkertsma took motion pictures of the Lions “in action” at the table.

The program was as follows: a piano solo, “Minuet in G” by Miss Blanch-Richter; a reading on the life of George Washington by Elaine Van Doornik; piano solo “The Cowboy's Dream” by Harriet Van Doornik; a reading “Ice-Skating” by Mildred Strabbing; Lucille Schutmaat then read a gypsy story and sang a song dressed in the gypsy costume; Hope Schutmaat, in Dutch attire, recited a poem about Holland; “In the Garden of Tomorrow” accompanied by Evelyn Schutmaat at the piano; Betty Ann Dowd sang “The Farmer Boy's Song” accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Scherpenisse. A poem “My Captain, My Captain” was recited by Ruth Morganstern. Other guests present were: Mrs. Leighton, Mrs. De Maagd, Lois Lugten, Evelyn Den Uyl, Mrs. Harold Dange-mond. Following the program a most delicious two-course luncheon was served by the committee in charge.

Carp removed from Lake Mac-tank car for New York, where they were sold. There were thirteen tons of them. The loading was done under the supervision of officials of the Holland Fish and Game club.

The carp are delicacies among Jew-shipped in alive and prepared by a carp are often called Jew fish.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

The World Day of Prayer which originated in 1930 and which always comes on the first Friday in Lent, falls this year on February 24th.

A group of representatives from the churches in Holland have met and planned a helpful and inspirational service for that day which will be held in the 3rd Reformed Church at 2:00 o'clock with Dr. W.
W. Thoms of Arabia as the main speaker.

All women of the community are invited to attend this service and join in this circle of prayer around the world in which Christians of every race and tongue will participate.

HOLLAND MAN REPORTS
GALE DAMAGES

AT SOUTH MANITOU

The 60-mile southeast gale Thursday night inflicted damage estimated at $9,000 on the launchway and dock at the South Manitou Island coast guard station. Chief Boatwain's Mate Fred Wendell, formerly of Holland, officer in charge, reported the damage to 10th district headquarters by telephone and said immediate steps were being taken to repair the launchway so that the station boats could be launched in emergencies. Beside demolishing the launchway, the high seas tore away 70 feet of dock. Mr. Wendell was formerly a Holland man and in this coast guard station and later in charge of Grand Haven station and left about two years ago to take charge
at South Manitou.

Hudsonville To Have A
Water Works

It was an ideal day for election and the largest vote ever cast on a bond issue at Hudsonville was the result. Some of the ladies left their washing in order to vote early. At 11 o'clock there were 45 votes cast and voting was continuous all day.
There were 196 votes cast on whether Hudsonville would bond for a water works or not and results were 139 yes and 57 no, leaving 7 votes over the two-thirds majority needed for passing of the issue. The village council will work on this immediately. After the vote was won, people called out the fire truck and held a celebration.

Operating cost on a water works per year is $400; interest on bond, $600; total $1,000. Income of 100 customers at $12 per year, $1,200.
Fire hydrant revenue, $240. Total revenue, $1,440. Surplus would be $380, according to campaign circulars sent out.

Mission Month
Brings Out Many Great Speakers

ALSO COMMEMORATION OF 50th ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARABIAN MISSION.
DR. ZWEMER AND
DR. THOMS TO SPEAK

The Reformed Church in America is observing the month of February as Foreign Missions Month.
The main feature of the observance is the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Arabian Mission founded in 1889 by Drs. Cantine and Zwemer.

The Reformed Church centers of western Michigan are going to have an opportunity of hearing
Dr. Samuel Zwemer and Dr. Thoms, a medical missionary, at a series of men's mass meetings and dinners. The itinerary is as follows:
February 20, Grand Rapids
February 21, Muskegon
February 22, Kalamazoo
February 24, Zeeland

Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, missionary, traveler, author, and editor,

DR. SAMUEL ZWEMER

is a graduate of Hope College in the class of 1887, of New Brunswick Theological Seminary in the class of 1890. In the summer of 1890 he sailed as a missionary to Arabia, and after some months of travel and investigation, he and his colleague, Dr. James Cantine, settled at Basrah, Iraq, the first station of the Arabian Mission. He served in this Mission until 1915, when he went to Cairo, Egypt, under an arrangement with the United Presbyterian Mission of Egypt and the Nile Mission Press.
During the period 1915 to 1930, with headquarters at Cairo, he traveled to all parts of the Moslem World, and at conferences with Moslem workers did much to develop knowledge of the Moslem situation, and to inspire the workers in Moslem lands. In 1930 he received a call to Princeton Theological Seminary, to its Chair of Missions, which he accepted. In 1937 he returned from active service as a professor and is now devoting himself to speaking, lecturing, and writing.

Dr. William Wells Thoms is a son of missionary parents, his father and mother having been among the first doctors appointed to the Arabian Mission. He was born in the United States when his parents were at home on furlough. When he was ten years of age, his father met his death by accident at Matrah, and the family returned to the United States. His early education was in the public schools of Indianapolis. He attended college at Hope and Kalamazoo Colleges and then entered the Medical School of the University of Michigan.

DR. WILLIAM WELLS THOMS

After his internship he was appointed to the Arabian Mission in 1930.

He is now at home after an extended term of service, first at Basrah, and then at Kuwait. Dr.
Thoms is an excellent physician and surgeon. He has made four tours inland. In 1937 he spent two months in Riyadh, capital of the kingdom of which Abdul Aziz bin Saud is king.

Neil De Cook of 5 West 15th
St. will run again as county supervisor from the city in the primary election Mar. 6, and Albert P.
Kleis of 225 Lincoln Ave. will seek reelection as first ward alderman, according to petitions filed this week with City Clerk Oscar Petersen.

Aerial Truck
Gets Airing
At Board Meet

MAYOR TALKS ECONOMY TO POLICE BOARD MEMBERS;
MEMBERS OF BOARD FEEL THAT NECESSITIES ARE NOT ECONOMIC MAT-TERS

The board of police and fire commissioners at its regular meeting Monday night accepted a report of its committee and went on record as favoring the purchase of an aerial truck for the fire department in spite of extensive debates concerning the city's ability to pay for the new equipment at this time.

Urged by Mayor Henry Geer-lings to exercise economy, the board nevertheless favored the purchase, which was brought up at common council meeting Wednesday. The board did defer action on the proposal to send a Holland police officer to the Northwestern university traffic institute at Evanston, Ill., at a cost of $100, in response to the mayor's plea for curtailed expenditures.

The board approved the membership of Chief of Police Ira Antles in the International Police Chiefs' association at a cost of $10. Chief Antles said that he plans to pass on the information about police work which he receives from the association's publications to the other members of the force.

An allowance of $80 per member of the fire department for new uniforms was requested by Chief Cornelius Blom. The board deferred action until next meeting.

The members of the police department recently were allowed money for uniforms, and Chief Blom felt that the faithful "fire laddies" who had no uniforms or well-worn ones deserved them also.
Andrew Ruiter's oath of office
as special police officer was filed.
Applications for positions on the police force from Isaac De Kraker, 24, and Henry J. Japenga, 33, both of Holland, were filed.

A petition from William Jekel, manager of the A & P Super market at 10th and River, and Henry Mass of the Mass Furniture Co., in which the two asked the board to rule that cars may park only for one hour on River Ave. between 10th and 11th and on 10th St. west of River Ave. to the Methodist church was presented City Clerk Oscar Peterson. The board turned the matter over to Chief Antles, who will investigate his findings as to the length of time during which cars are habitually parked in that vicinity.

Officers' fees collections of $4.80
for January were reported by Justice Gerrit W. Kooyers.

"How much will it cost to have the present equipment put in condition for temporary use?" Mayor Geerlings asked during the discussion about a new truck. "I think that if the present equipment can be fixed up it should be done. If we wait a year, perhaps the city will be in better financial condition."

Much of the parts needed cannot be bought because the truck is so out of date, Commissioner Herman Prins said. The trucks and ladders are obsolete, he said,
and unsafe in some cases.

The mayor expressed doubt that voters would approve a bond issue for purchase of a truck at this time, and said that funds might not be available from the department's regular allocation of monies.

Estimates of the cost of a certain service aerial truck would amount to approximately $15,000.
Chief Blom estimated the aerial truck, with all extra equipment, at about $15,000. He added that his recommendation did not include the purchase of an aerial truck, but a service truck; however, the committee who went on a tour of investigation were much impressed with an aerial truck, and as was stated before, largely because of the safety it would bring to the men. An aerial truck does not lean against buildings, but streams can be played on fire away from a burning structure, thus avoiding any hazard of falling walls, which so often happens.

Mayor Geerlings again stressed the fact that the Board of Public Works was the "good helper"
of the city, pointing out that a minimum of $60,000 had been taken from the earnings, each year to help along the budgets of different departments, and if it wasn't for that we would be in a sorry financial condition. He stated that at least $5,000 extra will be needed this year to cover the expense of running the two departments, namely, police and fire.

Commissioner Andrew Hyma
pointed out that for the past few years the budget of the police and fire department had been reduced constantly, and that it was simply

DR. DIMMENT DELEGATE TO PITTSBURGH CHURCH MEET

The Rev. Dr. E. D. Dimment of Hope College, Holland, is a delegate to a meeting at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, February 28 and March 1 which officially represents the 13,000,000 Presbyterians of Canada and the United States.
This will be a conference of the Western (American) Section of the World Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian Churches. Dr.
Dimment is an official delegate of the Reformed Church in America.

An authoritative declaration is expected to be made by the Pittsburgh meeting on what the Presbyterianism of America believes in this day of world confusion, attack on the Church, and organized
"Anti-God" agitation. This deliverance will be based on open discussion at Pittsburgh and on the investigations of several Western Section commissions which have been at work for many months.

Speakers of international reputation from the Continent of Europe, Canada and the United States are to address the gathering. Their topics include Church creed, worship and world-wide missions, refuge problems, social conditions and others.

The 175 delegates have been appointed by the following branches of the Presbyterian family in Canada and the United States: Presbyterian Church in Canada, Presbyterian Church in the United States, Presbyterian Church of North America, Reformed Church in America, and Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Western Section is the American part of a World Alliance which has its world headquarters in Edinburgh. Membership and adherents of the World Alliance total 60-000,000. Of these about 2,500,000 are in Canada and more than 10-000,000 in the United States.

The French classes of the Holland high school had a Mardi Gras party at the Woman's Literary club. Miss Margaret Randels is the teacher. All came in costume and a program was given.

Mrs. Bernard Windemuller, the former Miss Janet Knoll, was honored Friday evening at a surprise miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. P. Knoll in Crisp. Mrs.
Windemuller received a number of lovely gifts. Mrs. Knoll and Mrs.
Harry Branden served refreshments.

Mrs. Gerrit G. Groenewoud, W.
15th st., wife of the county school commissioner, has returned to her home from Holland hospital very much improved in health.

Rev. William G. Flowerday delivered a special sermon to Boy Scouts at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, and more than 100 attended. His subject was "Forming the Character." This is Boy Scout Week anniversary.

impossible to stay within that amount.

City Clerk Peterson pointed out that the valuation of property in Holland has been reduced greatly, as everywhere else, and by the same token it has decreased the tax income.

In referring to Mayor Geer-lings' mention of the help of the Board of Public Works, Commissioner Prins injected that help from one department to another department was found not in public affairs alone but in private business as well. The Board of Public Works, being city-owned, like in private some of its funds are naturally diverted to departments where there are no earnings. Still, in those same departments one might spend $100 and save thereby $500.

Commissioner Kamferbeek pointed out that the Board was not asking for luxuries, but absolute necessities, beneficial to the entire city.

Commissioner Cornelius Steketee
pointed out that the city paid $40 per hydrant annually, which he said came out of the fire department fund, which naturally curtailed the amount of the budget after that was deducted.

Mayor Geerlings reiterated that much of this money was returned through the $60,000 received from the Board, since a portion of that goes to each department, including the board of police and fire commissioners.

Surely economy was the watchword at the police board meeting, for it was noticeable not only in the buying of the truck, but the sending officers to a school of instruction and even the buying of uniforms for six firemen who absolutely need them and should have them.

Commissioner Fred Kamferbeek acted as chairman in the absence of Commissioner John Donnelly.

MILES WOULD RESTRICT LIQUOR SALES IN POLICE
AREAS

The Grand Rapids Press prints
the following Lansing dispatch:
The first effort of the Michigan
Anti-Saloon league forces to dry up Michigan by legislation came Tuesday in a bill that would abolish rural drinking places.

Prepared for introduction by Representative Nelson A. Miles, Holland Republican, the measure would restrict licenses for sale of liquor, beer and wine for consumption on the premises to cities and villages. Roadhouses and other drinking places along the highways would be abolished.

The measure also would serve the purpose of many in the administration who are eager to reduce the number of licenses. Miles is chairman of the committee on liquor traffic that will consider the bill.

The legislature Monday night received a resolution calling for an April 3 deadline on introduction of bills other than those for appropriations and taxation. Introduced by Representative Audley Rawson, Cass City Republican, the measure went to the committee on rules and resolutions.

The first and second quarterly payments of the state aid grant have been made to the Zeeland Public School library by the State Board for Libraries. These payments amount to $106.87, and under the provisions of the law establishing state aid for libraries, the money can be used for salaries of personnel, purchase of books or equipment, extension of library service—in fact, any purpose except for the construction or remodeling of buildings, and the payment of interest or principal on debts. Although state aid grants to the libraries were advocated by the Constitution of 1835, the 1937 legislature was the first to make an appropriation for this purpose. It set up an annual grant of $500,000. The amount of the grant for this year has been reduced to $375,000 to be distributed to libraries throughout the state which meet certain conditions, the most important of which is that the local community must appropriate for the support of the library an amount equal to or greater than the sum granted by the state.

COUNTY FARM AGENT TELLS OF HOW TO HELP WHEAT

Field demonstrations for determining value of top dressing grain crops in spring with ammonium sulphate were carried on in 1938 by Smith-Hughes students in cooperation with the agricultural instructors, agricultural agents and crops department of the college. Four boys in Ottawa County were in the project.

Results turned in by 49 boys from eight counties show an average increase of 3.08 bushels of wheat per acre because of the use of the fertilizer. There was also quite a noticeable increase in amount of straw harvested. Four boys in four different counties obtained an increase of 6.3 bushels in oats and three boys an increase of 7.8 bushels rye because of application of the sulphate.

Application should be made early in the spring before warm weather starts. At that time nitrogen is not available in the soil. The fertilizer starts early growth, increases the root system, thus allows the plant to feed much heavier on plant foods later on.

Application of the sulphate is particularly beneficial in those cases where the stand is poor. This added food may bring a poor looking stand into a good productive one later on.

Application of 75-100 pounds superphosphate per acre to wheat early in the spring gives a boost to the crop and generally pays well. This practice has been advocated by Ottawa County Agricultural Agent Arnold during the past three or four years. A poor looking field of wheat may often be brought out to a good field through this practice. Application of the fertilizers allows the plant to have access to nitrogen at a time when little nitrogen is available in the soil. Later when the soil becomes warmed up nitrogen does become available but through this application early in the year the crop gets a decided advantage.

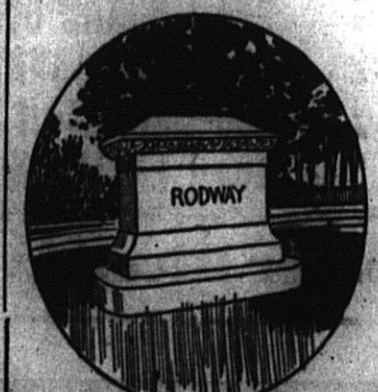

Top dressing of wheat and rye during the winter with manure fresh from the stables is a practice to be encouraged. Although manure lacks essential balance and is low in phosphate there are many pounds of plant food per ton as contained in a 125-pound bag of commercial fertilizer. One might follow the rule "spread the same number loads of manure per acre as the bags of fertilizer which you think you can afford."

One method of saving plant food is through the use of superphosphate in the stable gutter. Two pounds per day for each cow or horse will form ammoniated phosphate and thus save nitrogen which would be lost. Even with careless methods of manure management the phosphate loss will be slight, almost negligible. With manure hauled and spread directly from stable to field the value of phosphate-reinforced cow manure and straw bedding was increased 68 cents per ton exclusive of cost above the value of the same manure not treated, as measured by the increased yields of 45 cent corn, 60 cent wheat and $8.00 clover hay, over 40 years of testing at Wooster Experiment Station, Ohio.

Amos 6:1-6; 1 Peter 2:11, 12; 4:1-5
Henry Geerlings

Amos was a man from the country. He was the son of the soil. He lived close to nature. Though he prophesied in the northern kingdom he lived south of Jerusalem. He made his living chiefly as a shepherd. He was a real thinker. And he has much to tell us today. While he was doing his daily tasks, the materials for his convictions built into his soul were gathered on his journeys to the markets of Samaria and possibly Damascus. While he was a country man he kept his keen and busy eyes open when he got to town. Then when he came home and was out in the quiet of the fields he thought upon what he saw. He meditated upon the weaknesses and wickedness, the daring follies and the reckless abandon of men and women in the twilight of Israel. He saw behind the life of wild and fast life of those in high places the certain processes of national disintegration.

This honest and earnest and sincere man of the desert cared nothing for the shams and whirlwinds of the fast and furious life of the city. He wanted only the simple life, the life that is inspired by high ideals and that keeps close to God. He saw that they who live only for the gratification of the senses are building highways that lead ultimately to terrible doom. He had his eye on tomorrow and the next day. The men whose measure he was seeing eyes had taken were thinking only of today. Tomorrow could take care of itself.

The shepherd prophet was trembling for the coming tragedies of the avenging future. The city people cared only that they might eat and drink and be merry today. Amos to tomorrow—oh, well! Who should care for tomorrow? This philosopher-seeer spied the dancing ghosts across the wrecks and ruins of hopes of Israel and the city people saw only the bewitching apparitions of the banquet halls of today's revelries.

So with his soul burning with righteous indignation and his mind horrified at the utter recklessness of those who should be leading Israel to righteousness and to places of national security and prosperity, this countryman comes to town and lets loose his invectives and fier denunciations. He spared nobody. Social prestige and political power and vulgar wealth cannot awe or silence him. With terrible swiftness he calls down woes upon the heads of the mighty. With exasperating daring and tantalizing composure he rebukes them for their sinful and luxurious ease, for their vulgar extravagances, for their swinish drinking and for their utter indifference to the sufferings of the nation. And he tells them with awful frankness that the farther they put off the evil day that is surely coming upon them the nearer they bring the seat of violence. They were just like other sinners—trouble may overtake other wrongdoers swiftly, but not us.

It is strange how we build around about us walls of supposed security, but we see very clearly that others are in imminent danger. Ah, yes, nothing can ever happen to us.

The second part of the lesson is taken from the epistle of Peter. The apostle makes mention of fleshly lusts which war against the soul. When he speaks of our conversation being honest among the Gentiles he undoubtedly means to say that our behavior is always to be honorable. It includes what we are as well as what we say. We all know that we cannot always keep people from speaking evil against us. They may do that even though our walk is upright. But we are not to give them occasion for it. Our way is to be marked by good works, so that even our enemies will say in due time that we have lived well.

We can choose whether we will live to the evil desires of the flesh or to the will of God. The latter course will not be easy but it is in that direction that Christ calls us and it is only by heeding his call that we can make the most out of our lives. The battle is no easier now than it was when the apostle wrote to the Christians who were suffering for the sake of the truth. We have our fight to make. No other can make it for us. And whatever the past may have been, it is a life of Christ for us to see the way to follow with all the power at our command. We have a helper in Christ and by his grace we can conquer.

THERE is not so great a variety of fish at this season as there will be a few weeks later but fillets, steaks, smelts, clams and oysters are plentiful and reasonable in price.

Poultry, eggs and butter are all low for the season. All meats but pork are lower and none are high. Vegetable supplies with the exception of green beans, are normal and prices attractive. The small southern peas are considerably cheaper than the large western ones. Salad greens, avocados and tomatoes are plentiful and reasonably priced.

Citrus fruits, apples, bananas, pears, strawberries and pineapple are abundant and inexpensive.
