Polio Epidemic Worst Ever Felt In Wolverine State

Pre-Exposure Care Appears to Determine Severity of Attack

Poliomyelitis reached an all time high in Michigan in 1949. The 2,896 cases reported during the year were more than double those of the previous high year—1940 when 1,226 cases were reported. Michigan's poliomyelitis incidence was third high among the states in the nation.

These facts were revealed in an analysis of data now available in the Michigan department of health.

All are groups from under one year to age 68 were affected. The greatest number of cases appeared at age two and the second greatest number at age five.

Age distribution of cases was similar to that of other years. More than 70 per cent of the cases were in children under age 15 and more than 60 per cent in children under age 12.

The increase in poliomyelitis cases occurred three weeks earlier than usual, but the peak incidence occurred and decline began three weeks early, making the period of high incidence no longer than usual. Cases began to increase the first week in June and the greatest number of cases appeared in the week ending August 20, when 298 cases were reported. This followed the national pattern.

Of the 2,896 cases reported, more than half—1,616 cases—showed no indication of paralysis at any time. Less than 15 per cent of those who had some indication of paralysis may be crippled permanently. More than 50 per cent of those who had some paralysis have recovered completely. A total of 75 per cent of those who showed paralysis may be expected to recover sufficiently so that they will not be handicapped.

The 1949 case fatality rate was low, less than seven per 100 cases. The normal case fatality rate is five to 25 per 100 cases. The death rate from poliomyelitis was 3.3 per 100,000 in comparison with death rates of 25 per 100,000 for tuberculosis and 13 per 100,000 from pneumonia.

Michigan's outbreak reaffirmed national studies which indicate that exhaustion and chilling in the three days before onset of the disease in large measure determine the severity of the paralysis.

With parents giving more attention to the prevention of exhaustion and chilling of children during poliomyelitis outbreaks, and with improved methods of physiotherapy it is probable that the amount of crippling from poliomyelitis will be reduced, according to Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the division of disease control, records and statistics.

Charter Revision Group Discusses Budget, Taxation

Discussion at the charter commission meeting Thursday night centered on finances as the group went over chapters dealing with "Budget Procedure and General Finance" and "General Taxation."

All except two sections for the budget chapter were approved for final draft.

The commission balked at a section that would set tax limitations. After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to let it go for further study.

A draft of this section submitted at Thursday's meeting would set a one and three-quarters per cent tax limitation. This would include street maintenance and improvement. The present charter calls for a one and one-half limitation for general expenses and adds another one-fourth of one per cent for streets.

Under the proposed new charter, the city fiscal year would begin July 1.

The Board of Review under the new city law would be made up of two officers of the city, and three taxpayers who have lived in the city for at least three years.

The meeting ended on a section titled "tax payment schedule." This section sets the penalty rate for not paying taxes before deadlines. After much discussion and con, the commission voted to refer it back to George Sidwell, charter consultant, for redrafting.

Chairman Vernon D. Ten Cate presided. Raymond Holwerda John F. Donnelly and Bruce Raymond were absent.

The charter commission will meet with the Ottawa county bar association next Thursday.

Dame Winter Is A Mite Ornery To Mere Mortals

Mother Nature these days is a bit like the vitriolic Man Who Came to Dinner—one character who broke his leg and stayed and stayed and when he was ready to leave broke his leg again.

And Dame Winter, with characteristic feminine caprice, seems to be having trouble deciding what to dish out next to luckless mortals.

Today's portion seemed to be a fluffy 2 1/2-inch snowfall, which when added to the messy snow-icy formations already on the ground gives the snow shovelers a good six inches to displace. Today's snow followed a round of snow, rain and sleet which got off to a good start with a winter gale Monday. The temperature was 30 at 11 a.m., and predictions called for continued light snow and little change in temperature.

But today's snowfall was deeply appreciated at Caberfae where an influx of ski-hungry enthusiasts descended after having denied their favorite sport all season. Caberfae, near Cadillac, reported all 16 major runs working, two beginners areas in operation, the slalom bowl and ski jumps covered with five inches of light powder snow over a deep, heavy base.

Boyet mountain, which has had more luck than most resorts the last few weeks, reported excellent skiing with light snow still falling over a 10-inch powder topping a six-inch base.

Mrs. Alice Enders, 63, of 67 West Ninth St., sustained a hip injury Wednesday evening when she was struck by a car at the crossing of 17th St. and Pine Ave.

The injured woman was taken to Holland hospital.

In another mishap reported Wednesday, cars driven by Earl Kragt and Paul Dunkler of 29 East 16th St. collided at the crossing of 11th St. and Lincoln Ave.

Kragt, who was traveling south on Lincoln, told police he didn't see the other car in time to stop. Dunkler said he was pushing another car.

Kragt was given a summons for not having his car under control.

The new novelty is known as the "Boy Bank" in which girls register at a teller's window and a like number of male students take their chances in drawing the names. And a newer twist yet is an arrangement whereby some local snack places are providing refreshments on the house for the lucky or luckless victims. ## Railway Proposes Flasher Signals At Local Crossing

Safety Commission Asked to Make Study; C & O Fools Bill

The Public Safety commission will decide whether the city goes along with a Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. request to replace a watchman at the 11th St. crossing with modern flashing light signals.

The C and O made its request known in a letter read at the Common Council meeting Wednesday night. The railroad asked council to approve the request that must go before the state Public Service commission for final okay.

According to a further communication, the railroad would foot the bill.

At present, a watchman is at the crossing from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

A petition, signed by five property owners, requesting scrapping of a street and laying of sewers and water mains in 30th and 31st Sts., between Pine and Maple Aves., was read. The matter was referred to the Street and Sewer committee, the Board of Public Works and city engineer.

An accompanying request asked that alleys between 30th and 31st Sts., from Pine to Maple Aves., and the alley between 29th and 30th Sts., from Pine to Maple, be closed. This was referred to the Street committee and city engineer.

Oaths of office were received from the following members of the newly created Planning commission: Marvin C. Lindeman, John J. Brower, John Galien, Helena V. Winter, Jacob Zuidema, Cornelius De Waard and Russell Boeve.

A BPW proposal to purchase a new chlorinator for the sewage disposal plant for $4,800 was okayed. ## Bad Foul Tossing Costs Christian Loss to Fremont

Maroons Outscore Packers on Floor; Visitors Have Boards

Poor foul shooting and failure to control the backboards cost Holland Christian's basketball squad a 38-35 decision to the Fremont Packers Friday night. The contest was played on the Armory court before a near capacity crowd.

Coach Arthur Tuls' squad missed 10 out of 13 foul shots, while the winners were collecting 14 out of 24. Meanwhile the Dutchmen outscored the Packers in field goals 16-12. Fremont also had complete control of the backboards with Center Bill Smith doing a superb job.

The Maroons had little trouble in cracking the Fremont zone defense, getting plenty of opportunity for clear shots from outcourt. However the locals failed to avail themselves of the openings on many occasions. The fact that Ed Altena, one of the key men in the Dutch offensive strategy and usually a good shot, missed 10 successive shots gives some indication of the Maroons' difficulty.

It was a nip and tuck ball game all the way with neither club ever holding a commanding lead. Coach George Lewis' club proved themselves excellent shots while on the move, and countered sometimes from seemingly impossible angles.

Fremont took an early lead in the first quarter, but the Dutch bounced back to move out in front 12-10 at the first quarter horn. Henry Holstege, left open by the gap in the packer zone defense, connected for six tallies during the period.

The second quarter didn't match the first in tempo of play, although the winners did manage to pile up their game winning lead in this period. They outscored the Hollanders 10-3 in this frame. Hugh Jones sunk an expensive basket just as the first half ended, giving his club a 20-15 lead.

Christian managed to narrow the margin on occasions in the slow halless third quarter, but still trailed 26-21 at the period's end. Tuls was substituting freely, looking for the combination which could hit consistently.

The Dutchmen narrowed the count to one point twice during the final period. However each time the Packers came through with a two pointer to hold their precarious lead. Tuls used a flock of new men in the closing stages of the tilt, but the fresh crew came three points short of knotting the count. They did give the Packer bench some anxious moments in the final two minutes.

Holstege led all scorers with 15 markers, while Jones, a clever shooter, paced the Fremont club with 13 tallies. A total of 19 fouls were called on the locals compared with eight on Fremont.

Local Ninth-Graders

Maintain League Lead

Coach Bob Stupka's Holland ninth-grade basketball team won its ninth Ottawa county league game Friday afternoon against Coopersville at the local gym. Final score was a whopping 58-6.

The locals stretched to a big lead in the opening quarter and stayed way out from the rest of the game. Stupka used his reserves a good share of the game. Holland was ahead 22-2 at halftime. As a matter of fact, Coopersville hit just two field goals in the game.

Ron Isaacs and Mark Mulder split scoring honors for the local ninth-graders with 14 apiece. Bleeckley and Rothwell each made two points for Coopersville.

Speaker Discusses Resort Business

In order to maintain Michigan's economic well being, resorters during the summer months should be treated with extra consideration, Chester Wells, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort association told members of the Holland Rotary club at its Thursday noon luncheon meeting in the Warm Friend Tavern.

Wells disclosed figures proving that $400 to $500 million are brought into the state yearly by resorters. Highway Commissioner Ziegler has estimated that from six to seven millions in gasoline tax are paid by resorters alone; in our own county of Ottawa, figures during the resort season show a considerable increase in tax monies, he said. For instance, last March, Ottawa's tax revenue was $117,000. In August, during the height of the season, the revenues jumped $52,878, for a total of nearly $170,000, which meant a $1,763,633 increase in merchandise sales, he explained.

Wells said the resort industry is supposed to be the second largest business in the state. If Michigan is to maintain this massive income yearly, it must enter heartily into the competition being set forth by other states, 45 of which are competing. The state allotment for publicity is $250,000. The rest of it is up to the resort operators and businessmen, he concluded.

Rotarian Larry Towe was presented with a Rotary Code of Ethics by the Rev. Marion de Velder.

President John F. Donnelly presided.

CENSORING INGRID

The movement toward censoring the pictures in which Ingrid Bergman appears is not too intelligent. Censorship of any kind is seldom intelligent; in the long run it almost invariably does more harm than good, and the cure is usually more dangerous than the disease. That is one of the reasons why any suppression of movies or any other work of art should stand on firm ground.

It is easy at the moment to pump people up emotionally so that they declare against allowing the showing of pictures in which the Swedish star has a part. For the time being that is the only way in which people can implement their outraged moral feelings. They pump for coercing their local government to make it impossible for the public to see the Bergman pictures, no matter how moral or innocent those pictures may be in themselves. They are looking around for a club with which to belabor the erring star.
We don't blame them.

But is censorship necessary. It is entirely all right for people to penalize Ingrid Bergman if they so desire; they can stay away from her show, no one can blame them for that. But that's not enough for them. They want to compel everybody else to stay away. But who gives them the right to be the judges of the movie going morals of others?

Moreover, if we subscribe to the doctrine that a work of art must be suppressed because the artist does not in his personal life
meet the standards we demand for him, a lot of the art will have to go by the boards which is now considered respectable.
Don't let people have a chance to see a Shakespeare play; we know enough about Shakespeare's personal life to be sure that it did not meet the standards of many communities. And by all means don't let young people read the poems of Lord Byron. Those poems themselves are fairly innocent and moral, but Byron led a life that would make the doings of Hollywood's most sensational citizens seem like white in comparison.

Or to turn back to the flickers,
don't ever let there be a revival of a Charlie Chaplin picture. Most of those pictures were as innocent as a baby's smile, but Charlie was involved in some episodes that at the time shocked a good many people.

The motivation of most censorship is a very human desire to compel others to be moral. But when people are moral for such a reason they aren't moral at all. If their own moral sense persuades
them to boycott the Bergman
pictures, it's quite another matter than accepting morality ready made from others does not seem to be the answer.

Sunday School Lesson

February 19, 1950

The Fight for Christian Freedom
Acts 15:1-6; 22-29; Galatians 2:16
By Henry Geerlings

Every now and then the church faces important decisions. For example, a local congregation may have put before it the question of opening a Sunday school in some newly developed district not very far away, or the question of doing work in the slum district of a large city may come up.
The general bodies of the church often face momentous decisions. Shall a new mission field be opened? Shall a certain field that is not doing so well be closed?
Shall a well established and flourishing mission be allowed to govern itself? Such questions need careful consideration and prayerful thought, for a mistake
may lead to serious consequences that may cripple the work of the church for a long time.

The church has always had problems of this kind to face.
Away back in the early days of Christianity an important issue arose. The solution to which the church came in that issue may help us to solve other issues today.

In order to understand the content of the letter sent from the council of Jerusalem to the churches in Syria and Asia Minor, we must know something of the events that led up to the calling of the council itself.

The first disciples were Jews
and for a time most of the Christians were Jewish people. They quite naturally observed the Mosaic laws under which they had been brought up. After a time however many Gentiles became Christians, especially through the missionary work of Paul. The question soon arose whether it was necessary for these Gentiles
to obey all of the Old Testament laws or whether it was sufficient that they believe in Christ and live Christian lives.

It was decided finally to call a council to settle the issue. The council was held in Jerusalem.
There was considerable discussion,
both sides presenting their reasons for the positions they had taken. Then the leader of the council, James, arose and suggested a solution. It was not necessary for Gentiles to follow all the legal rights, required of the Jews;
but it was necessary for Gentiles to be genuine Christians and that meant that they must not do four things. They must not worship idols; they must not engage in pagan, immoral practices; they must not eat strangled animals; they must not be contaminated with blood of beasts.

When this solution had been agreed to, it was decided to send a committee to the churches with a letter setting forth the decision which had been reached. The letter was written in a beautifully Christian spirit. It was straightforward and sympathetic. It was courteous. In effect the letter stated the following—A Gentile, in order to be a Christian need not first become a Jew; but he dare not remain a heathen. He must give up his heathen practices
when he accepts Christ and live
according to Christian standards alone.

This decision was a most important one for the life of the church. Had all Gentiles been compelled to become Jews before becoming Christians and to accept Jewish customs and practices it is doubtful if the church would ever have won the Roman Empire and the allegiance of millions of men throughout the centuries.
The decision at the council at Jerusalem was a wise, a fair, a progressive decision.

About the time that Paul wrote a letter to the Galatians in which he refers to the Jerusalem decision he states that the decision was thoroughly in accord with the position he had taken all along.
What concerns us most is the way
this problem was handled.

1. A council was called to discuss the problem and both parties were given a fair hearing. In any issue before the church this should be given a fair hearing. In any issue before the church this should be done. Only when all the facts are known and men have had a chance to state frankly their honest opinions can a decision be reached that will be permanently satisfactory.

2. Nothing essential to Christian faith and life was sacrificed.
Neither party was asked to give up anything that was a genuine part of Christianity. No issue in the church is ever really solved
when people are compelled to give up something that is truly vital to their faith and life.

3. Non-essentials had to be sacrificed for the maintenance of essentials and for the sake of peace in the church. That is still true today. We cannot keep all our pet opinions and pet practices, if they interfere with the advancement of Christ's work. Men should be ready to sacrifice personal ideas and customs, when they see that they stand in the way of progress.

4. The council sought to find the will of God and the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Where this is done, good decisions are reached.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Farmers who are interested in purchasing a large, expensive farm machine for special jobs, can often interest neighbors in joining on a co-operative basis to share expense and work.

CLEAN BARN YARD

The remedy for muddy barn
yards is a hard surface. Michigan State college extension specialists say that cattle that have to wal-low knee-deep in mud can't produce properly and are hard to care for.

So far, it has been a nice mild winter, but Monday
Jack Frost let loose with a vengeance and treated Holland to a taste of real Michigan winter. Hard east winds whipped at coats and hats and swirled hard dry snow into cold whirlwinds. Bucking that wind; this mother and child were not aware their picture was being taken. The Sentinel photograph-shot from the corner of Eighth and Central. The Tower building a short block away was so obscured by the blowy snow, it had to be outlined a bit to show in the picture.

Life Must Have Joy and Color, Judge Maintains

Ottawa Teachers Hear Noted Memphis, Tenn., Jurist at Institute

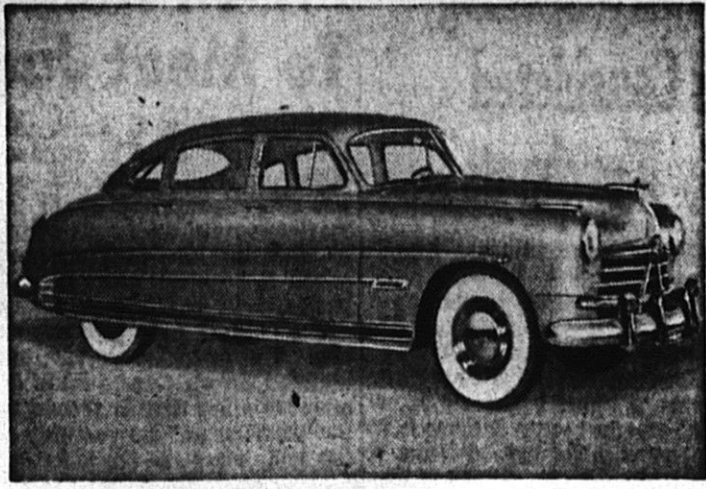

Judge Camille Kelley, outstanding woman juvenile judge of Memphis, Tenn., who addressed Ottawa county teachers at an annual institute in Holland high school Friday, is a small witty person who believes confidently in the children and youth of today.

"Persons who are good without joy, critical without being kind, and who lead a life without beauty or color are too heavy to carry," Judge Kelley stoutly maintains.

She said in school life the child is full of fun and himself, yet no normal child is bad or wants to do anything which will not be approved of by the group to which he belongs.

Judge Kelley enters her courtroom where she has heard more than 50,000 cases in more than a quarter century with flowers in her hands and a prayer on her lips for the people she loves, whether they be good or bad. She has formed a belief that while smoking is a matter of personal taste when a person is fully grown, yet drinking is something which should never be indulged in, for it has led to 90 per cent of the dissipation in those who pass through her courtroom.

Wearing flowers, speaking fluently and using her expressive Shown is the new 1950 Hudson Custom Commodore Series sedan. Hudson last week announced price reductions ranging from $87.50 to $166.50 on all models in its Super and Custom Commodore Series. Although these cars are only five feet high, they provide full road clearance and more head room than any mass-produced car, due to the exclusive "step-down" design with recessed floor. Both lines have a wheelbase of 124 inches and are available with a choice of the 123-horsepower, high-compression Super-Six or 128-horsepower Super-Eight engine.

The low-built look of the Super and Custom Commodore models is carried out by a curved full-vision rear window. Interiors are roomy with both front and rear seats wider than the car is high. Seating room measurements are 64 inches in front and rear. The instrument panel is finished in dark walnut tone as are the window garnish moldings.

Willard Haan is the local Hudson car dealer. Stop in and inspect the new model in the modern show rooms at 29 West Ninth St.

Dutchmen Trim Adrian Bulldogs To Even Record

Hope Five Explodes With 78 Points; Highest of Season

Coach Russ DeVette of Hope college had his Hope college basketball machine primed for assembly line-like point production Saturday night at the Armory. After the machine was shut off, the scoreboard read 78-44 in favor of Hope against the out classed Adrian Bulldogs.

The victory balances the Dutch scale for the season so far at seven wins and the same number of defeats. It was the second time this season the Dutch defeated the Bulldogs.

It was the highest number of points in any one game this season by the Hopeites. As with any high-producer, it takes time to get going. The Dutch dilly-dallied for the first few minutes of the game. Then Jun Bremer, playing in place of Jerry Jacobson at forward, hit two foul shots. Gregg Arbaugh evened things up with a long-throw. Paul Muyskens meshed a flip from the charity line and from then on, the game was a walkaway for the Dutch.

The count went to 10-3, and then soared to 24-12 and 29-16 and the half ended with the locals way out ahead 31-20.

In the beginning stage of the second half, the teams swapped even for a brief few moments before Hope again started to pull away. With the scoreboard reading 45-27, DeVette started to substitute his second-stringers. But, they were as good as the regulars in point making against the tiring Bulldogs.

Led by huge "Stretch" Wagner, acting captain, the Dutch simply pulled away. Others figuring in the scoring were Ken Van Regenmorter, Jack Marema, Duane Peekstok, Bill Hinga and Nick Yonker. About the biggest thrill of the game for the locals was breaking 70 points, then trying for 80.

The Dutch made 27 field goals in the game and 24 out of 44 foul tries. Adrian made just 16 field goals and 12 out of 25 charity tosses.

Adrian salvaged some laurels when the scoring columns were added. Guard Gregg Arbaugh, a classy ball player and dead-eye from out court, was high-point man with 18 on eight field goals and two foul shots. Bud Vande Wege was high for Hope with 13. Hope lost Jun Bremer early in the second half on fouls. Adrian lost Forward Tom Gilman, and later Guard Regin McConnell, John Stepp and Center Duane Belmore.

It was the third straight victory for the Dutch.

Noted Organist Presents Recitals at Hope Chapel

Several hundred persons heard the distinguished organist, Carl Weinrich of Princeton and Columbia universities, give a brilliant recital in Hope Memorial chapel Monday night. Mr. Weinrich, who is deservedly famous, also presented an assembly program for Hope college students this morning and was to talk to several student groups. His appearance here was sponsored by Hope college.

The artist's program, mostly classical, ranged from the 17th century to the moderns. His discriminating musicianship showed evidence of a light and easy skill, a clean and polished technique. Opening with a "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" by Brahms, he continued with another 17th century piece, a chorale-prelude on "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star," by Buxtehude.

Five short chorale-preludes by Bach, were followed with one of that composer's virtuosos pieces for the organ, the brilliant "Prelude and Fugue in A Minor," in which the organist demonstrated his complete mastery of the instrument.

A charming interlude was "Andante in F," by Mozart, written for a small mechanical organ popular in the 18th century. A similar piece by Haydn was later played as an encore.

Mr. Weinrich gave his audience an opportunity to hear what is being written for organ by contemporary composers in his final numbers. The "First Sonata in E Flat Minor" by Hindemith was one of these and included interesting and graceful rhythmic patterns. Also modern was third movement from "The Ascension," by the young French composer, Messiaen.

In addition to the Haydn encore, Mr. Weinrich also played another Bach prelude.

Friday Opening Is Considered By Merchants

Holland merchants are considering a change to a Friday night opening in Holland, following a 2½-hour coffee kletz session this morning at the Dutch Mill.

However, before effecting any change, a signed ballot will determine whether such a move is in keeping with the best interests of the trade. Such questionnaires will be circulated this week and the results will be made known at another kletz session a week from today.

The questionnaire will be distributed according to the same procedure last fall when the change from Saturday to Monday night was effected. Considerable dissatisfaction was voiced on the present Monday night opening after its initial 1½-month trial, and the consensus was that a change to Friday might result in the desired unity, thereby preventing threatened splits on opening, two nights.

In other business, Carroll C. Crawford, president of Tulip Time, Inc., and Willard C. Wichers, fiscal manager, talked on the merchants' part in the coming festival May 17 to 20. They asked for a merchants sub-committee to correlate such business as affects commercial interests. Merchants were asked to have their clerks wear Dutch costumes and continue the sidewalk scrubbing on the mornings of the festival. Use of floats in parade also was discussed along with suitable window displays. Merchants also will operate hospitality centers.

Subject to approval by Tulip Time, Inc., merchants voted to distribute souvenir Tulip Time coins which would be worth 25 cents during the festival.

George Good, president of the Retail Merchants' association, presided. It was announced that the slate of nominees for the four positions on the executive committee would be presented at the March meeting. About 60 attended.

Former Chicago Man Dies At Daughter's Home Here

John Shepherd, 64, died early Sunday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Anderson, 9 West 35th St. Shepherd, who with his wife had moved from Chicago a week ago to live with the Andersons, had been ill with a heart condition several months.

Shepherd had lived at 2209 Carmen Ave., Chicago, and was an automobile mechanic in charge of maintenance of truck fleets. He was born in Manchester, England, and came to this country at the age of 21.

Surviving are the wife, Olga; the daughter, Mrs. Anderson; a sister, Mrs. Helen Mair of Van Nuys, Calif., and several brothers and sisters in England.

The cause of sunspots is unknown, but they are known to consist of conical "tornadoes" which are sometimes 20,000 miles high.

Prison Inmates Flock To Meet Judge Smith

Judge Raymond L. Smith paid a visit to his "boys" at Southern Michigan prison Monday. The day was a legal state holiday and the judge was freed from court duties, so he visited the world's largest prison to confer with inmates from Ottawa and Allegan counties.

The "boys" were glad to see him. The prison grapevine had heralded the visit and a lot of inmates of other circuits showed up for interview and sat patiently as the long hours of the afternoon drained away. The judge saw them all, but spent little time with the men from outside the Ottawa-Allegan circuit.

This was Judge Smith's first visit "on his own" since becoming judge of the 20th Judicial circuit. He has made other visits to the prison under other auspices.

The visits were started a number of years ago by Judge Fred T. Miles. From the interviews, the judge can determine progress of inmates and can prepare recommendations for the parole board. Monday, Judge Smith saw inmates who were committed by Judge Orin S. Crox many years ago. Most had been sentenced by Judge Miles.

Like most grapevines, the prison setup erred. So at least two-thirds of the inmates who waited to see Judge Smith, were outside his jurisdiction and interest. Still, he saw them all. Many were first degree murderers committed from Wayne county. Each still hoped that by some fluke of justice he could regain the liberty he lost by his crimes.

The judge expects to continue the visits because he feels the time is well spent. And the psychological effect on inmate: cannot be measured, but such visits must have a tremendous influence on morale of men whose crimes have separated them from society.

In the judge's party were Prosecutor Wendell A. Miles, Probate Judge Frederick T. Miles, Anton Winterhader of Zeeland, and Kenneth Allen of The Sentinel.

While the judge met with inmates, others in the party were conducted on a tour of parts of the prison by Dr. Vernon Fox, assistant deputy warden.

City Leaguers Host Visitors

Three city league teams have scheduled formidable opponents for games at the Armory Wednesday night.

The regular schedule is complete, but the three local units take on visiting teams. Downtown Nash, a team that is being coming along fast, will try and gain revenge against Casemiers Market of Grand Haven. The Havenites defeated the Autos 59-36 in an earlier game at the Armory.

And the league champions, Pete's Barbecue, host a Decatur club that defeated them earlier this year at Decatur. Pete's are over-anxious for this one and figure they have the stuff to stop the Decatur club.

In the nightcap, Allen's Radio plays Robbins Studio of Grand Haven. The Robbins team has appeared in many prelims in Holland this season.

The schedule of starting times is slightly different this week. Games begin at 7, 8 and 9 p.m.

Nick Yonker Sinks Winning Basket For Hope Victory

Locals Take Second In MIAA League Race; Four Straight Wins

Alma—Here's the setting. Kirk Hamilton had scored a field goal to put Alma ahead of Hope by a score of 40 to 39 with a minute and 46 seconds left to play. Alma got the ball and moved to the attack, using care to protect the lead. While passing the ball around to use up the time, Alma bobbled a toss and Nick Yonker intercepted.

He dribbled down the floor to the foul circle, poised and shot. The ball went true and Hope led 41 to 40 with 46 seconds left to play.

The win was No. 4 in a row for Coach Russ DeVette's cagers and moves the Dutch into second place in MIAA standings with a record of five wins and two setbacks.

The victory was doubly sweet for the Hopes who were playing at a disadvantage on the narrow Scot floor, where both baskets are close to end walls. DeVette started his aggregation out on a zone defense to offset floor disadvantage, but as the game waxed hotter he loosed the restraints and Hope gave going for doing in a hard fought, though exceptionally clean game.

The score was Alma 14, Hope 11 with 10 minutes left to play in the first half when the Dutchmen exploded. With Bud VandeWege getting ski points, the Dutch ran the count to 25-14 in their favor. The stunned Scotsmen rallied and at halftime the score was 29-21, with Hope in advantage.

After the rest period, the Almas again pressed to the attack and after five minutes of play the score was 30-30. From then till the final horn, neither team was able to tilt the score by more than a few points at a time. Alma outscored Hope in the final half six baskets to five.

While Hope was nipping the Scots, Kalamazoo continued to head the MIAA standings by scoring a resounding 75-35 victory against the hapless last place Adrian Bulldogs. It was No. 7 for the Hornets.

Legion Tackles Schultz Thursday

In a game that promises to renew a heated Ottawa county rivalry, Holland American Legion plays Schultz Motors of Grand Haven Thursday night at the Armory.

This is the "rubber game" of a three-game series between the two teams.

Schultz won the first by a decisive 62-49 tally. Holland finished strong after a nip-and-tuck second game to score a close 65-57 victory. This is it.

The Grand Haven quintet currently is burning up the West Michigan basketball league. Last week, Schultz edged out a narrow 58-57 victory over the powerful Besteman's Produce team of Grand Rapids. The Havenites scored the game-winning basket after the final horn had sounded. It was a foul shot.

And to top off a successful week, Schultz edged Peterson Bros. of Ludington Saturday night 56-52. Big Frank Fett accounted for 23 of his team's points.

Coach Vern Kraai's Legionnaires have been idle for the last week, but are itching for action. Kraai will have Herk Buter back in uniform at forward for Thursday's game. Buter recently returned to Holland from a business trip to many western states.

The rest of Holland's starting lineup will include Dale Van Dort at the other forward opposite Herk Buter, Carl Van Dort at center. Guards will be Russ DeVette and Don Scholten.

The main event begins at 8 p.m. A prelim starts at 6:30.

PEO Group Hears Concert in Chapel

Next meeting will be Feb. 27 in the home of Mrs. Harold Haverkamp. Election of officers will take place.

Crash Ties Up Allegan Traffic

Allegan (Special) — Traffic was tied up four hours on M-40 just inside Allegan city limits Tuesday night following an accident which involved three vehicles.

A Holland Furnace Co. truck, driven by Leonard Ellander, 38, Holland, collided head-on with a car driven by Edward Belgraph, 43, Allegan, who was about to turn into a roadside restaurant. The big truck jackknifed and then struck a car driven by Al Dangremont who had stopped when he saw the accident about to happen.

Cars and trucks lined the road, unable to turn off because of road conditions. Five Holland Furnace trucks were included in the delay.

Belgraph was the only person hurt. He broke his glasses and got glass in his left eye.

Ice Closes Schools

The Peruvian Incas built their great walls without mortar, but the stones are so closely fitted that a knife blade cannot be inserted between them.

5 More Teachers Authorized for Christian School

Authorization to secure five additional teachers for the Holland Christian schools was granted by the board of trustees at its monthly meeting Tuesday night. Increasing enrollment was the major factor in the decision to hire the additional teachers, Supt. Bert P. Bos said.

Four of the teachers would be for the grade schools and the fifth for the high school. New vacancies created by the increasing enrollment include a sixth grade teacher for the Fifteenth Street school annex; assistant to first and second grade teachers in the South Side school; departmental teacher in grades seven and eight and a commercial teacher in the high school. Bos was also authorized to secure a vocal music instructor for the grade schools.

In reporting on the enrollment problem, Bos outlined other measures to be taken to alleviate the crowded conditions in both the grade and high schools. Some of the discussed measures included the possible use of a church room for extra classes, transfer of certain students from one school to another and the sending of some bus pupils to the Central Ave. school. Bos said much of the difficulty will be cleared up when the proposed West Side school is completed some time during the school year 1950-51. He said a conservative figure for the grade schools alone would increase the present total by at least 40 at the start of the next school year.

The board also took action to ease the high school situation which also is suffering from an increasing influx of students. The group decided to continue to allow study hall pupils to remain at home for study during the convenient hours. They also discussed the possibility of seeking permission to use several rooms in the Prospect Park Christian Reformed church for instrumental music and other classes and choral work if necessary. The use of the gym as a study hall was also discussed. "It is obvious that the estimated enrollment for September 1950 will exceed 500, since there will undoubtedly be more entering the ninth grade than there will be graduates this year," Bos said.

The reappointment of present teachers was recommended by the superintendent.

Following reports on other administrative matters, the superintendent announced that $521.82 was collected in the Christian schools for the campaign against polio. Figures included $220.93 in the high school, $210.15 in the Central Ave. and Fifteenth Street schools and $90.74 in the South Side school.

The Rev. Louis Voskuil, president of the board, presided.

Holland Well Over The Top in 1950 Polio Campaign

Holland has gone over the top in the polio campaign.

Gabe Kuite, local campaign chairman, today announced that $12,566.79 has been collected to date. All reports are not in and the total is expected to be increased.

Holland's assigned quota was $10,500. Kuite said it was the first time in the six years that a campaign has been operated here that the quota has been reached.

Grand Haven also is well on the way to reaching its $7,775 quota. Already a total of $6,585.09 has been turned over to Treasurer Charles Bugielick. The factory solicitation is expected to be completed by Thursday and all reports completed by Saturday. This figure included $508 from the Eagles and auxiliary and $1,200 from the Elks.

Breakdown of Holland figures follows. Plank, Gabe Kuite, chairman, $1,165.48; wishing well, Fred Verschure, $332.26; theaters, Jack Plewes, $472.28; iron lung boxes, George Jacobs, $802.59; schools, Clara Walker, $761.52; individuals, George Schreur, $1,049.50; organizations, Dan Vander Werf, $940.06; churches, Rhine Vander Meulen, $1,281.82; industrial, Wilbur Cobb, $3,195.55; merchants, Bill Draper, $1,897.03; rural, Bert Gebben, $1,584.75; clubs, Jack Grasmeyer, $380; parking meters, Bert Slagh, $130.

Kuite said it was the many "little things" which added substantially to the drive. He pointed to the youngster who came up to the plank with an old-fashioned pocketbook with a lot of change. He emptied it on the plank and said, "This is my gift for some other boy."

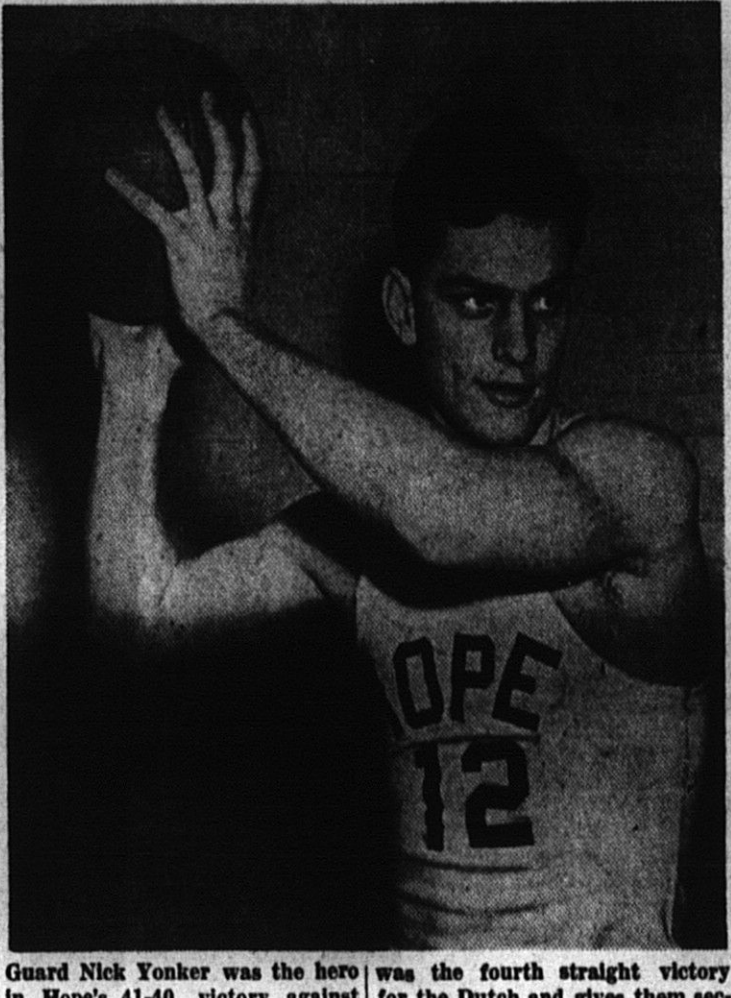

Kuite also pointed to the operators of the telephone company who saved their lunch money for the polio drive, the benefit basketball games both city and rural, the Junior Chamber benefit dance, and auction sales where profits were donated to polio.

Basketbells Defeat Beechwood Cage Team

Harrington Basketbells defeated the Beechwood girls 18-15 in a close game at the Beechwood gym Tuesday. It was the fourth game in the series.

Tris Bos was high scorer for the victors with six points.

Capt. Donna Brunzell of the Basketbells and Hermina Beckfort had two apiece.

Guard Nick Yonker was the hero in Hope's 41-40 victory against the Alma Scots Tuesday night at Alma. Yonker intercepted a Scot pass with 46 seconds to go and popped in a field goal that pulled victory out of the bag for Coach Russ DeVette's team. It was the fourth straight victory for the Dutch and gives them second place in MIAA standings. Yonker didn't start last Saturday's game against the Adrian Bulldogs at the Armory because of a flu attack that kept him out of action most of last week.

Farm-to-Prosper Enrollment for 1950 Underway

Chisholm, Secretary, Wants More Groups To Compete in Contest

Rural groups are now being enrolled in the 1950-Farm-to-Prosper contest by L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, Arnold reports four such groups already enrolled. A letter and forms has been sent out to all groups which were enrolled in 1949, a total of 11 groups.

John Chisholm, secretary of the association, hopes that more groups will compete in 1950. Any rural group is eligible. At close of contest in December, each contesting group lists its endeavors and accomplishments.

This is a community contest wherein groups show what has been done to assist in community activities. Number of meeting social events, projects for the community — in fact anything which helps in rural life adds to the score.

Arnold believes more PTA's should become interested. A final Round-Up Day is held in Muskegon. Five cash prizes amounting to $125 are distributed to the first five in each county. Money is donated by Chambers of Commerce, Service clubs and others.

A grand prize of $100 extra is awarded to the sweepstakes winner. The governor of the state presents the winners to the group at round-up.

Further information will be given to any prospective new groups. Write L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, Grand Haven.

Scours Prevention Helps Save Calves

Approved feeding and sanitation practices will do much to prevent heavy calf losses this winter, according to L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent. Prevention of scours is the number one job.

The agent lists these pointers which come from the American Foundation for Animal Health. First, remember that there are two types of scours. One kind is due to digestive upsets, while the other is contagious, and may sweep swiftly through a herd.

The non-infectious type usually is brought on by overfeeding, feeding from dirty utensils, irregular feeding, sudden change of feed, or chilling. In some cases, it is caused by the milk itself.

At the first sign of trouble, owners should obtain a veterinary diagnosis to determine which type of scours is present. As a safety measure, the scouring calves' rations should be cut in half, until a course of treatment is worked out.

Infectious, or white scours is much more dangerous than the type caused by digestive upsets. The healthy calves should be immediately isolated from the sick ones. Quarters which have housed sick animals should be scrubbed with a lye solution, and the litter should be burned.

Early Chicks Mean Earlier Fall Eggs

"The earlier the better" is the watchword for buying baby chicks, says Howard Zindel, Michigan State college poultryman.

Early ordering means you have a better chance of getting your chicks when you want them. Early-hatched chicks grow faster than those born later, and should be laying well by early fall when egg prices are highest.

By starting early, you can find a reliable hatchery that has the kind of chicks you want. In addition, early chicks are easy to grow and are not bothered so much by disease and parasites.

Planning resumption of normal living with this disaster stricken family of East Prairie, Mo., following mid-January floods is the task of the Red Cross worker. Scenes like this are duplicated in Arkansas and Illinois following floods that drove 30,000 from homes, damaged household furnishings and buildings. Financial aid and planning for future are Red Cross contributions to those without sufficient resources to get back to normal. This is made possible by the generous gifts of the American people.

Disaster Relief Big Item Of Red Cross Budget

Bringing tears to the eyes of its friends is not what the Red Cross seeks in giving service, but last July the organization was responsible for a good cry in the case of Evelyn Lauder, farm wife of Ransom county, N.D. A few days after a vicious tornado had wrecked every building on the farm except the house, the Lauders were visited by a Red Cross worker.

The latter explained that the Red Cross was prepared to help rebuild, repair, re-stock with livestock, or replace machinery as an outright gift, if Evelyn and Everett Lauder hadn't enough resources to help themselves out of the ruins.

Mrs. Lauder looked out at the ruined barn, hen and hog houses, at the twisted stumps of once great shade trees while her husband explained that the Lauders, while grateful, really didn't need help and that they had plenty of resources with which to rebuild, repair, and replace. Then Evelyn Lauder, her eyes filling with tears, said:

"Every year I have volunteered to collect money for the Red Cross in March. I never dreamed they went this far to help folks or that some day they'd knock on our door with an offer of help."

Like many another goodhearted volunteer worker or giver, Mrs. Lauder would have been equally impressed had she studied the figures for disaster relief aid in her home state over a representative five-year period. In North Dakota alone 12 disasters called for Red Cross rebuilding or repair of some 232 homes. In Michigan, in the same period, 286 disaster-damaged or wrecked dwellings were replaced after 26 fires, tornadoes, explosions, or other catastrophes.

Thousands of dollars more were spent for emergency care, medical bills, re-training in new jobs of those whose injuries prevented them from resuming their former crafts and trades. Biggest item in the work, however, is rebuilding and repair which accounts for better than one-fourth of every dollar budgeted for disaster relief.

The work has increased enormously in cost since the Red Cross began picking up the pieces after the great Michigan forest fires of 1881. In those days, day laborers worked for about 50 cents a day. Milk sold in cities for five cents per quart. Early in this century Red Cross records show the average cost of repairing a flood-damaged home at $600 per house. For the past decade or so, the same repairs hover between $1,600 and $1,800 per home.

When 30,000 people evacuated homes in Missouri, Arkansas, and Illinois in mid-January to escape flooding rivers, they left most of their possessions behind. Few, if any, will have flood insurance. Right now Red Cross workers are planning the rebuilding and repair of homes and possessions. Hometown committees will hear the plans, will authorize aid where plans are sound and families' needs can't get back to normal living without help.

Despite the fact that this aid has been going on for nearly seven decades, the idea of help with no strings attached still rocks some disaster victims back on their heels. Like the young refinery worker in Wood River, Illinois, whose home was almost wrecked by a tornado last May. When he received the cash order from a Red Cross worker that would enable him to choose his own contractor for repairing his home the young man grinned and pointed out that the Red Cross had just cost him fifty dollars.

"Fellow down at the plant was kidding me," he explained, "Wanted to bet me you folks would put a rock on my paycheck or a lien on the house before you'd help us. Should have taken him up on it."

"That wagger would have been one of the surest 'sure things' in this uncertain world."

JAWS IMPORTANT

A good point to consider when buying sheep is the length of the jaws, say Michigan State college sheep specialists. If the jaws are of unequal length, it's difficult for the sheep to make the best use of roughage to produce meat and wool.

Stoves Can Be Kept Like New With Right Care

Do you know how to keep your electric range looking like new even though it may be several years old? It can be done with proper care, advises Evelyn Zwemer, who teaches home management at Michigan State college.

Electric ranges finished in synthetic enamel or porcelain enamel require an occasional washing in warm soapy water. It is not advisable to wash the porcelain enamel when the range is hot. It will crack or check the enamel. Chromium-plated parts require only washing, drying and rubbing with a soft cloth.

When an acid, such as vinegar or lemon juice, is accidentally spilled on the enamel surface, wipe it off immediately with a damp cloth. Although progress has been made in producing acid-resistant porcelain enamels, acids allowed to remain on enamel may stain it or remove the gloss.

Foods spilled on closed units must be burned off and is best removed by charring during a regular cooking process. A stiff brush or sharp instrument should never be used because of the danger of injuring the heating coils.

Even shelf supports and heat distributors, if they are removable, may be taken out and washed with soap and water. Spilled food should be removed as soon as the oven has cooled, using a mild abrasive if necessary. It is a good practice to wipe out the oven with a damp cloth after baking or roasting, since greasy deposits will become burned on the lining and are difficult to remove.

Leaflets on Corn Hybrid Tests Available Here

L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, has received leaflets on corn hybrid tests made in Michigan. Any farmer may secure such leaflet upon request.

Trials were made of many different hybrids. There were three divisions—early, mid-season and late hybrids.

In Ingham County, bushels per acre ran from 54 to 69 with only two tests under 60 bushels. This was on early corn hybrids.

On mid-season varieties, bushels ran from 64 to 71 with only two 70 bushels or better
