Top Officers In Holland For Signing

'Welcome Beech-Nut'
Signs Displayed; Many Functions Scheduled

"Welcome Beech-Nut" signs blossomed on downtown windows and Beech-Nut displays of products appeared on several scenes as news of a new Beech-Nut plant in Holland became known Tuesday.

It was a day full of activity for Beech-Nut representatives, Holland's HEDCOR and Chamber of Commerce, city officials and representatives of utilities and transportation.

Events got under way at 7:30 a.m. with a breakfast in Hotel Warm Friend for Beech-Nut representatives and HEDCOR board of directors. A press conference followed at which contract signing pictures were taken. An informal coffee on the second floor of the hotel followed at 9:45 a.m. for representatives of other industrial firms in Holland as well as civic leaders.

Mayor Nelson Bosman presided at a noon luncheon at Carousal Mountain for City Council, city officials, Chamber of Commerce board of directors, and representatives of schools, utilities, etc.

At this luncheon the following message from Alger B. Chapman, president and chairman of the board of Beech-Nut, was read by Sherman A. Morse Jr., vice president in charge of production: "Please give my warm greetings to all our prospective neighbors in Holland. I am sure they are aware of the painstaking search and the weighing of many factors that preceded our selection of a midwest plant site. Since we now know that we made the wisest possible choice, Beech-Nut Life Savers, Holland's newest corporate citizen, expects to be one of its most productive and happiest."

"I regret my inability to be with you all today, but I fully expect to be on hand for the formal ground breaking. I look forward to it and to the opportunity to meet and thank all of those who have cooperated so generously in arranging for today's ceremony."

Events closed with a dinner at 7:15 p.m. in Phelps Hall on Hope College campus.

Beech-Nut representatives in Holland Tuesday are Sherman A. Morse Jr., vice president, production; Robert J. O'Connor, manager, confections production; Harry M. Koblitz, manager, industrial engineering; Booth B. Miller, director, industrial relations, and John Mason Harding, attorney.

Dutch Score 109-92 Win In MIAA Play

Hope College's basketball team grabbed undisputed first place in the MIAA Wednesday night with a brilliant 109-92 decision over Albion before more than 2,000 fans in the Civic Center.

The win set up the anticipated championship showdown next Wednesday night against Calvin College in the Civic Center. The Knights whipped Alma Wednesday and face Kalamazoo Saturday.

A win over the Hornets would bring Calvin into the Hope game with an 8-2 league mark, identical to Hope's present record. The Flying Dutchmen close Feb. 27 at Kalamazoo while Calvin finishes at home the same day with Olivet.

The Flying Dutchmen gave their finest offensive showing of the season in knocking Albion out of a tie for first. It was a combination of splendid shooting and determined defense.

The winners hit their season's high scoring mark of 109 and Clare Van Wieren's 35 points was the best individual scoring performance of any Hope player this season.

This was part of the offensive show while on the defense, Hope outbounded the Britons, 56-24 and Floyd Brady picked off 24 himself, as many as the entire Albion team. Van Wieren was credited with 14. In the first half, Hope had outbounded the losers, 27-12 and Brady had 12 and Van Wieren, eight.

Continuing with the offensive performance, Hope sank 51 per cent of its shots, with 42 baskets in 82 tries. This included halves of 23 of 46 and 19 of 36.

Van Wieren had 14 baskets in 24 tries, including five of 11 and nine of 14, while Carl Walters, who made 21, enjoyed halves of six of 11 and four of six.

Sub Bill Potter was at his best this season as he popped 19, including seven of eight tries in the first half and two of four in the second.

Analyzing the game, Coach Russ De Vette felt Hope's rebounding and offensive movement made the difference. He pointed to Hope's first half defense which committed only five fouls while the offensive game caused the Britons to have four players with three fouls each in the first 20 minutes. Hope made only six second half fouls.

De Vette noted Hope was able to get position on the boards or on rebounds and often Albion players were a step behind and nicked a Hope player. This resulted in Hope making 25 of 35 free throws, including 11 of 14 by Brady and seven of nine by Van Wieren.

After a wild first half in which the lead changed 11 times and was tied another 11 times, Hope grabbed a 58-52 halftime margin. Van Wieren got 11 points in the first 10 minutes and Potter scored 17 and Walters eight in the next 10 minutes to pace Hope's first half attack.

Hope broke the game open in the second half. Using a switching defense from zone to man-for-man, Hope confused the Britons and they lost their first half shooting touch when they had hit 59 per cent on 23 of 59.

Albion also had trouble with its defense and this was Hope's opportunity. Van Wieren went on a spree and Walters and Potter followed. Van Wieren scored five baskets, Walters three and Potter two. Brady added four free shots and with 11:20 left in the game Hope led by 20 points, 86-66.

The Britons made one last attempt and scored 10 points in less than two minutes to cut the score to 86-76. Van Wieren got the next four points to put Hope 14 up but Hope went about four minutes without a basket.

The winners enjoyed 10 to 17-point leads the rest of the game. Brady's rebound tip put Hope over the century mark with 2:29 left and his underhand layup a minute later made it 103.

Van Wieren added his final basket and Brady two free throws in the final minute to conclude Hope's scoring. Aided by good shooting by Larry Downs and Don Genson, the Britons sank 17 of 49 in the second half and ended with a game total of 46 per cent on 40 of 88.

Albion made 12 of 13 free throws, including Genson's eight straight. Genson led the losers with 26 and Downs had 18.

It marked the 14th straight year Hope has defeated Albion in Holland. Albion's last win was the 1950-51 season. Albion's loss gives them a 7-3 MIAA mark.

Hope, 13-4, has now won nine straight at home since the opening game loss, and faces Wheaton on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center.

Beech-Nut Executives Pleased With Welcome

Nature Center Plans Approved

City Council Wednesday night officially approved plans for development of a nature center on city-owned property on Graafschap Rd. at 26th St. Plans for development were drawn by representatives of the Holland Garden Club, the city park department, Hope College, private and public high schools, the Bird Watching Society, PTA Council, and various interested organizations in consultation with the Michigan Conservation Department.

The six-acre plot, known generally as the Cammenga property, has varied terrain, sandy arid slopes, semibog, bog, a pond and a meandering creek. It is in a residential area and readily accessible to all schools is an outdoor classroom for ecological studies in botany and zoology.

The area is small, but the nature trails winding along the creek, through bogs, grasslands and small woods will provide a real experience of the outdoor world. Here a class or a family can learn to share their natural heritage and develop an awareness, appreciation and affection for nature.

Development calls for a parking area for easy accessibility, enlarging a pond in which a family of muskrats is already flourishing, restoring the creek to its natural channel, providing a stagnant pool for specialized biological use, replacing present willow thicket with plant material to provide shelter and food for birds and animals.

Plans also call for planting adaptable species and plant types to gain maximum use of the entire area, lay out paths, use present building for a study and briefing center, increase knowledge of conservation and management of natural resources, curb vandalism, and develop the beauties of nature.

Mrs. Harold Thornhill of the Garden Club explained some of the Nature Center aims and Roger MacLeod, a member of the finance committee, presented development sketches.

Persons associated with the development are Garrett Adler, Dr. William Arendshorst, Dirk Bloemendaal, Mrs. J. J. Brower, Mrs. Nelson Clark, Donald Cochran, Mrs. Carl Cook, Dr. Philip Crook, Jacob De Graaf, Mrs. J. D. Jencks, Mrs. Donald Kingsley, Mrs. Robert Lichtenheldt, Roger MacLeod, Robert Mills, Mrs. Donald Recto, Mrs. Jerena Rooks, Mrs. F. W. Stanton, Mrs. Harold Thornhill, Mrs. Harry Tueting, Dr. William Van Appledorn, Mrs. Calvin Vander Werf, Paul Van Fassen, Mrs. Harry Wetter, Mrs. W. G. Winter Jr., Mrs. Earl Wright and Arthur Wyma. Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf said some work has been done on the site by his men after hours and some repairs were made to the roof of an existing building. Otherwise little or no expenditure of cash has been made on the site.

Council voted to exercise options for the purchase of certain properties adjoining the Cammenga property which would be necessary for the orderly development of the nature center. Options were signed by Mr. and Mrs. William Van Ark,

Mr. and Mrs. John Kortman and Martin Dyke. Purchase price of the Dyke and Kortman properties is $2,000 each and the Van Ark option involves an exchange of property and a driveway easement. Funds for the purchase were available in the capital improvement fund.

Nut Life Savers, gum and the newest line of sours will be manufactured here. The building will have approximately 300,000 square feet. Cost will be in excess of $10,000,000.

Beech-Nut Life Savers Co. officials Tuesday expressed great satisfaction with the warm welcome they received in Holland.

Vice President Sherman A. Morse Jr. and Industrial Relations Director Booth B. Miller both cited the vitality, high moral tone and personal reliability of local residents. These factors, they said, played a large part in the selection of Holland for a new plant.

Earlier Tuesday Beech-Nut announced plans to build a $10,000,000 confections plant on a 100 acre HEDCOR site on 48th St. and Waverly Rd.

The Holland Economic Development Corp. (HEDCOR) Tuesday night hosted a dinner for 154 HEDCOR members and company officials at Phelps Hall at Hope College.

Miller said the warm welcome Tuesday was only a continuation of the meetings held during the past year.

"I would like to express appreciation to those here for the aid in bringing our search for a plant site to a successful conclusion."

Miller especially praised the work and aid of Roscoe Giles, John Van Dyke, Henry Maentz, Wilbur Cobb, George Stevens, Gordon Van Putten, Ken Folkertsma and Harold Denig.

"Our primary objective is to operate a successful business. To do this we must maintain a balanced approach. In this the human factor is very important. We pay fair wages for skills. Our wages won't be the highest nor will they be the lowest. We offer insurance, retirement plans and other benefits to our employees."

"In the matter of unions some of our plants are organized, some are not. We feel the unions

Congressman Griffin Lauds Holland, Company

WASHINGTON — Congressman Robert Griffin Tuesday extended his congratulations to Holland and Beech-Nut Life Savers Co.

He sent the following message: "I should like to congratulate the Beech-Nut Life Savers Co. as well as the city and people of Holland upon this important decision."

"The construction of this plant in Holland is bound to provide a significant and desirable boost in the economy of the whole area. It adds impressive proof to the statement that Western Michigan is a great place for industry as well as recreation."

are here to stay. We have been relatively free on labor problems," Miller said.

Miller said Holland is fortunate in having the fine men that work for HEDCOR.

Morse pointed out that the workers to be hired here will need considerable knowledge because of the wide variety of items that will be produced in the Holland plant.

"The search for a new plant site is very difficult. The feeling that we gained during our many contacts here indicated we would be welcome. This had a great deal to do with our decision to locate here," Morse said.

Giles, secretary of HEDCOR, who acted as toastmaster introduced the HEDCOR directors and Chamber of Commerce board. He praised Jay Pette for his leading role in organizing HEDCOR.

HEDCOR President John Van Dyke and Hope College vice president John Hollenbach both welcomed the company to the community and offered any aid and help the firm required.

Earlier Tuesday the Chamber was host to 60 city and civic officials at a luncheon at Carousal Mountain.

Mayor Nelson Bosman presented the traditional pair of wooden shoes to five Beech-Nut officials.

Bosman said "This is a red-letter day for all of us, the day when Beech-Nut officially announced their plans to establish a plant in Holland."

"It gives me a great pleasure on behalf of the citizens of Holland to welcome those officials of Beech-Nut who are here today."

"We of HEDCOR, the city and Chamber of Commerce are extremely pleased that your company has found our new Industrial Park favorable to your expansion program."

"We offer you our cooperation in any way and make available our staff at the City Hall for any help you may need at any time," Bosman said.

High Court Appeal Is Sought

Attorneys for P. T. Cheff, former president of Holland Furnace Co., and two other company officials charged with criminal contempt involving alleged deceptive selling practices, today prepared to take appeals to the U.S. Supreme Court after the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago Thursday rejected motions for a new trial.

In denying the motions, the court ordered Cheff to surrender Feb. 23 to begin a six-month prison term, and upheld the $500 fines levied against Richard J. Koerner and Alvin W. Klompars, former sales managers. The sentences were pronounced Jan. 28.

But the court gave the company an additional 30 days in which to present arguments on its appeal of a $100,000 fine. In its petition for retrial the company said alleged offenses were committed before the present management took over.

The case which involved an order by the Federal Trade Commission for the Holland firm to cease certain practices has been in litigation about three years.

Attorneys for Cheff, Klompars and Koerner have 30 days to file with the Supreme Court. Decision on whether the high court will hear the case may be forthcoming in another 30 to 60 days.

Items Sought For Museum In Allegan

ALLEGAN — The County Historical Society is seeking old fashioned country store items vital to completion of one of three new rooms in the Historical Museum at Allegan.

Society President John Van Erkel and Museum Director John Pahl anticipate that, with the help of the public, the rooms will be ready for viewing at the re-opening of the museum in May.

In addition to the old time country store, a period laundry room with its many tortuous "labor-saving devices" and a 19th Century court room are being readied by society members.

Items still needed for the country store include a mail rack (pigeon-hole type), a pot-bellied stove, and old style barrels (without the pickles).

A progress report of the Historical Society shows that more than 2,000 people toured the museum since its grand opening last May.

Tour guides, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Teed, Miss Cornelia Pack, Mrs. Frank Reams and the Hjalmar Andersons, all of Allegan, have been unusually active during the winter when the museum has been officially closed except to special groups. Schools, Scouts, church organizations and others have availed themselves of the special tour service.

According to Pahl, two other "lovely but quite immobile ladies" have joined the Museum staff, through the courtesy of Allegan clothing merchant Willis Hiatt.

"Bertha" is currently modeling a 1910 skirt, 1920 hat and 1930 jacket. Her most "pressing problem" is a lack of hair; so she continues to wear the close fitting cloche of the "roaring twenties" no matter how often the rest of her attire is changed.

Little "Duley" is "about 4 years old" with blonde curls and so far has been very well-mannered and quiet.

In April, the Historical Society announces it will stage "a uniquely different" style show. Anyone owning a period outfit will be welcomed to join their "professional" group, they say. Meanwhile, members would like a little advance notice of intention to model, as their "fashion consultant" must make her plans.

A special program, featuring an outstanding movie of the history of Michigan, sponsored by the Consumers Power Company, is scheduled by the Historical Society for this coming Wednesday, Feb. 17.

For this occasion only, the lower lounge of the Griswold Building, Allegan, will be used. Members are urged to bring guests to view this unusual film.

Views From The Campus

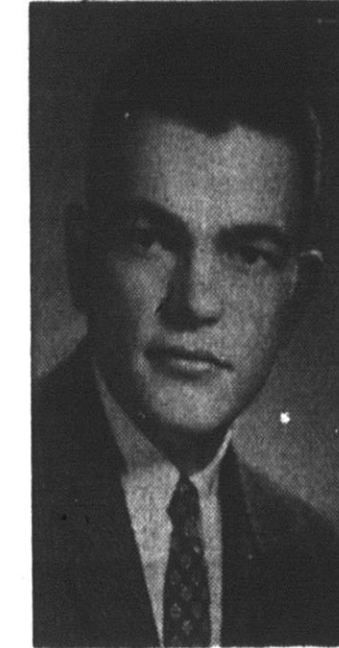

(Dr. Douglas C. Neckers joined Hope's faculty in September, 1964 and is assistant professor of chemistry.)

He received his B.A. from Hope in 1960 and earned his Ph.D. at the University of Kansas in 1963. He also had post-doctoral experience at Harvard University during the 1963-64 school year.

Dr. Neckers has published several booklets in collaboration with other chemists, and holds membership in Sigma XI, Phi Lambda Upsilon, American Chemical Society and the American Association of University Professors.

Neckers is a native of Clymer, N.Y. and is married to the former Suzanne Evans. —Editor's note.)

James Bryant Conant, contemporary critic of the public educational system in America and erstwhile chemist, is attributed with saying that scientists spend all to much of their time reinvestigating old principles and far too little of their time discovering the new and exciting still hidden secrets of nature.

The implication is that, even though the volume of chemical and scientific literature is doubling about once in seven years, the quantity of valuable discovery in this vast amount of new material is minimal. Surely this is not the place to argue the merits of current research thinking. However, the essence of the thought—that the world's scientists are frequently too intellectually stereotyped and unimaginative—deserves most serious consideration.

If the world's scientists are uncreative, does not this lack of imagination pervade all human thought?

The educator is the person to whom the responsibility for alleviating the waste of human resources must be delegated. The educator, whether he be a professor in a large state or private university or in a liberal arts or teacher's college, faces the task of giving his students that imaginative spark which appears to have been somewhat lacking in former years.

He must inspire his students to be dreamers, but he must also provide them with the initiative and desire to carry their dreams through to reality. He must no longer be satisfied with simply providing his students with a large collection of loosely related facts and with laboratory skills so that they can perform routine experiments in the molded ways of their predecessors.

His task is now one of giving the student that combination of skepticism and optimism that makes the individual truly creative. He must inspire his students to be critical of their own results as well as those of others.

How can the chemical educator accomplish this end? What are the best methods for bringing out the creative instincts of young people?

Traditionally the creative process has been most stimulated by the university professor at the graduate level. The neophyte receives his first initiation in the frustrations and exhilarations of research as he obtains scholarly information and data or his doctoral dissertation. Somewhere during the process of graduate training, the research director presumes that the student will see the creative light and will become imaginative as well as productive. All too often, however, thesis research becomes but a routine process of data collection, and the entire purpose of the advanced degree, to create an original scholar from a successful student, becomes negated.

Gradually, the responsibility of inspiring creativity is funneling downward, so that now most students are expected to have participated in some form of original activity during undergraduate years. Our conviction is that the sooner in the student's educational experience he is introduced to original thinking, the greater opportunity he has to make the magnificent scientific discovery or the great

How about helping somebody else?

The plea has gone out for more volunteer workers in the coffee shop at Holland Hospital which is staffed by volunteers of the hospital auxiliary. There usually is quite a turn-over a couple of times every year and this is just such a time.

Shifts operate from 2½ to 3 hours between 8:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. You may work as many or as few shifts as you wish so long as it is on a regular basis.

Additional information may be obtained from any of the day chairmen, Mrs. Clarence Klassen, Monday; Mrs. G. J. Rocks, Tuesday; Mrs. Nick L. Klungle, Wednesday; Mrs. Justin Scholten, Thursday; Mrs. Herbert Van Harn, Friday; Miss Jeanette Veltman, Saturday; Miss Sena Grevenoged, chairmen for evenings.

Service of this kind is usually more rewarding than it appears. The program calls for eight volunteers a day. Some women work more than one shift in the course of a month, and the total involves in excess of 150 women. One meets many people in the course of a 2½-hour period, and usually a number of friends or acquaintances.

This is a chance to do work that is fun and rewarding at the same time. Proceeds all go for hospital equipment and the latest gift has been an external defibrillator - electrocardiograph which cost $1,525.

Cong. Charles E. Goodell of New York, speaker at the Lincoln Day banquet in Zeeland Wednesday night, was a bit nonplussed when he was presented with a handsome table (card table size) by Charles R. Sligh Jr., on behalf of local furniture manufacturers.

"How will I explain to my people back home in Jamestown, N. J. that's supposed to be the furniture capital of the country — or was until Grand Rapids took over," he said.

Sligh had the best quip: "Use this table to table any bills that would impinge on individual freedom."

Don't forget to vote Monday. All registered voters may vote on the councilman-at-large post. Voters in the third and fifth wards also will nominate candidates for their wards. The two getting the highest vote will appear on the April 5 ballot.

On April 5, all voters in the city will vote on all candidates. This will take in mayor, first ward councilman, municipal judge and associate municipal judge.

Do you know that Michigan law at one time made provision for slavery?

That State Cyclopaedia dated in 1901 which Bob Kowd dug up some time ago states slavery began almost with the settlement.

The Indians who gathered near Fort Detroit brought with them captives taken in battle, and some of these were transferred to the French. Most of the Indian slaves were from the Pawnee tribe, and a few from the Osage, Choctaw and other western tribes, who had been captured in war and sold to French and English residents. The Indians made excellent servants and commanded good prices. At the time of the capitulation by the French to the English it was stipulated that the French inhabitants could keep their negroes, but they were to restore those belonging to the English.

The importation of slaves was discontinued after Sept. 17, 1792, the Canadian Parliament, by law of that date, directing that no slaves should thereafter be introduced, and that all born thereafter should be free at the age of 25. The ordinance of 1792 had previously provided that slavery should not exist in the Northwest Territory. At that time, however, this region was not under control of the American government, and there was no barrier to the holding of slaves at Detroit. After its surrender in 1796, slave owners at Detroit continued to hold their slaves under the Jay treaty of Nov. 19, 1794, which provided that the inhabitants of the Territory surrendered to the United States should be protected in their property. The question as to whether slaves could be legally held was adjudicated in 1807.

The official census showed 17 slaves in Detroit in 1810. The 1830 census showed 32 slaves but by 1836 all slaves were either dead or unaccounted for. Advertisements for runaway slaves medical breakthrough. Still the question remains: How?

The answer lies, in my opinion, in the professor's own desire, his initiative, his interest, his imagination. The spark in the imaginative man's eye can alone serve to kindle the fire in others. Not every man can be a Lincoln or a Shakespeare or an Einstein, but every educator can dare to think imaginatively. This he owes to his students.

No longer does the major portion of his obligation involve the transmission of the myriad facts of modern knowledge. Instead, it involves the transmission of a way of thinking, of an idea, of a way of thinking about ideas. Will we accept the challenge?

Rolls of Paper Fall Off Truck, Tie Traffic

Traffic at Eighth St. and Pine Ave. was tied up for about 30 minutes Thursday night when seven 900-pound rolls of newspaper, bound for The Sentinel, rolled off a truck and into the street.

The mishap occurred when the power lift at the back of the truck failed, causing the truck's tailgate to drop. Holland police directed traffic at the scene between 9 and 9:30 p.m. while a wrecker picked up the huge rolls of paper and brought one by one.

Hamilton School Taxes Explained

HAMILTON — School finances and a comparison of total expenditures per pupil and taxes with other school districts in the area were explained by Dr. Raymond Lokers, superintendent of Hamilton schools, at a parent-teacher meeting Thursday in the high school.

The Hamilton district, Dr. Lokers said, has the lowest operating tax of any school in Allegan county or nearby Ottawa county. The Hamilton tax rate for operation in 1964 was 9.55 mills while the average for Allegan county high school districts was 12.02 mills. Operating tax of neighboring Ottawa county and Allegan county high schools was 11.92 mills while the state average for operating tax is 14.5 mills, according to Dr. Lokers.

In 1962, Hamilton district voted 1 mill for three years for operations which has now run out. Assuming the same allocation from the Allegan county tax allocation board for 1965, the tax would fall to 8.55 mills. This would not only result in a decrease in local revenue but also a decrease in state aid. By law, at least 9 mills must be levied in local taxes to fully participate in state monies for schools. In 1963-64 the state contributed 55 per cent of this operating money received by the Hamilton district.

Dr. Lokers also pointed out that since 1959 the total school tax for Hamilton Community School, including operation, building and site, and debt, has decreased from 16.80 mills to 15.45 mills. During the same time, county taxes allocated for operation have increased from 4.51 to 5.36 mills.

The superintendent said information concerning geographic and population centers for elementary children has been forwarded to Western Michigan University where Dr. Harold Boles is conducting a study which will result in recommendations for location and size of elementary building needs.

Trinity Guild Has Potluck

About 125 women attended the meeting of the Trinity Women's Guild for Christian Service Tuesday evening. Members and guests were greeted by Mrs. Jacob Bultman and Mrs. Joe Kramer.

Mrs. Otto Schaap pronounced the invocation at the potluck dinner which preceded the program and business session. Tables were centered with miniature cherry trees trimmed with red velvet bows which were done by Mrs. Lincoln Semett. The Mesdames James Hoeksema, Eldert Bos and Corrie Koetzier were general chairmen for the dinner, with arrangements being made by the Hoffman and Korver Circles, Miss Helen Kuite and Mrs. Theodore Koww, chairmen.

The devotional service which developed the theme of the Holy Spirit was given by Mrs. Myron Van Ark. Miss Lucille Kooyers was the accompanist for group singing.

Mrs. Paul Vanderhill, guild president, conducted the business and introduced the program speaker.

The program was planned by the DeWeerd Circle. Mrs. Bastian Kruitthof gave a review of the book "Full Circle" by Grace Lumpkin. Mrs. Kruitthof presented the story in the first person as a dramatization. It is a composite of the author's experience as a member of the Communist party for many years. The possible realization of her tragic mistake and a return to God as the motivation in her life, concludes the moving accounts.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, February 21
Jesus the Christ
Matthew 16:13-28
By C. P. Dame

This lesson tells us about a conference Jesus had with His apostles. At that conference Peter, the spokesman of the twelve, made a confession which is still accepted — more so now than ever before. And there are also many who disbelieve in Peter's confession.

I. People have different opinions about Jesus. They have always had differences about Him. About six months before His death Jesus took His apostles "into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi" which was located about 25 miles northeast of the Sea of Galilee. Its population was mostly non-Jewish and a good place for a retreat.

Jesus was much talked about. He knew what people were saying about Him. For the sake of His disciples He asked them two questions. The first one was, "Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?" The religious leaders said some unkind things about Jesus but these the apostles did not mention but they did tell Him that He was John the Baptist, others Jeremiah or one of the prophets. They had an inadequate idea of Jesus, just as many people have today. Jesus was a controversial person. He still is.

II. A personal question needs a personal answer. "But whom say ye that I am?" This was personal. "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God" so spoke Peter the spokesman of the Twelve. In a nutshell, Peter said that Jesus is the Messiah whose coming is foretold in the Old Testament. In making this confession Peter separated himself from the religious leaders of his time.

Jesus complimented Peter and told him that the Lord God had revealed this truth to him and added, "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Protestants believe that the Lord would build His church upon Peter's confession. Jesus promised to give the keys of the kingdom to Peter.

In Matthew 18:18 it is recorded that Jesus gave this authority to all the disciples. The disciples received the authority to declare what is lawful and what is not lawful to believe. When Peter preached at Pentecost he opened the door of the kingdom to 3,000 souls and when he preached to Cornelius and his family he admitted them into the kingdom. By preaching the gospel the doors of the kingdom are opened.

III. Temptations return. Jesus told the disciples about His coming suffering and dying and resurrection. Peter tried to rebuke Jesus who turned to him and said, "Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art an offence to Me: for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men." Jesus was so stern to Peter because Satan used him to present the temptation to avoid the cross. Today sometimes those who are closest to us tempt us to shun the path of duty and follow the easy way.

IV. Discipleship costs. This truth is overlooked by many. Discipleship involves cross-bearing, which means to suffer, give up, or endure losses for Christ. Only Christians bear a cross. We save life by losing it for the Lord's sake.

Beech-Nut Picks City For Plant

Beech-Nut Life Savers, Inc. will build a new confections manufacturing plant in Holland at an estimated cost in excess of $10,000,000, it was announced Tuesday by Alger B. Chapman, president and chairman of the board. The company signed a contract at 8:30 a.m. today in Hotel Warm Friend to purchase a 100-acre site from Holland Economic Development Corp.

The 100-acre site is in the new industrial area which HEDCOR acquired to attract new industry to Holland. The area fronts on 48th St. with Waverly Rd. on the eastern boundary. Part of the site adjoins the Allegan line of the C and O railroad.

Signing the contract for the land purchase were John Van Dyke Jr. and Roscoe F. Giles, president and secretary of HEDCOR, and Sherman A. Morse Jr., vice president of Beech-Nut. Construction is scheduled later this year with production slated for late in 1966.

The plant will be a single story masonry building with a brick exterior containing 300,000 square feet. It will employ initially about 350 persons, almost all of whom will be drawn from the local area.

Products to be manufactured include Life Savers candies and mints, Beech-Nut cough drops and chewing gum, and Beech-Nut Sours, the company's new roll candy product.

"The construction of the new confections plant," said President Chapman, "is a further step in Beech-Nut's continuing expansion program designed to provide increased production facilities to satisfy the growing demand for our products. The new plant will make possible a 50 per cent increase in our production of candies and chewing gum. A new baby foods plant also is planned for this site."

The confections plant is so designed that future expansion can take place without disturbing the appearance or character of the facility. Plans include attractive landscaping and a suitable parking lot for employees and visitors. A second plant for processing baby food is planned in four or five years.

The addition of the Holland plant will bring to 13 the number of baby foods, confections and beverage plants operated by Beech-Nut Life Savers, Inc. "Life Savers" are now made in Port Chester, N. Y., San Jose, Calif., and Hamilton, Canada.

Beech-Nut chewing gum is made at the company's plant at Canajoharie, N. Y. The Port Chester plant also makes Beech-Nut Sours and Beech-Nut and Pine Brothers cough drops. Other plants and products include Beech-Nut Baby Foods in Canajoharie, and Rochester, N. Y., and San Jose, Calif.; Tettley tea at Williamsport, Pa.; Savannah, Ga., and Bletchley, England; Martinson coffee in New York City; Beech-Nut Coffee in Brooklyn, N. Y.; Bustelo coffee in the Bronx, N. Y. A corrugated box plant is operated at Fairmont, W. Va.

In addition to baby foods, confections and beverage products, Beech-Nut Life Savers, Inc., recently entered the cosmetics and toiletries field through the purchase of the Lander companies. Lander Co., Inc. has manufacturing facilities in Binghamton, N. Y., St. Louis, Mo., Los Angeles, Calif. Its Canadian affiliate has such facilities at Scarborough in the Toronto area.

At the contract signing ceremony today, Vice President Morse said, "This new modern facility will enable Beech-Nut to increase its overall confection products by more than 50 per cent and is required to meet requirements of a rapidly growing market, particularly in the Midwest."

Morse said one of the principal factors in selecting Holland was the availability of raw materials for baby foods, particularly the wide variety of fruits in the southwestern Michigan area. Other determining factors, he said, were excellent transportation facilities, and the water, waste disposal and other services available.

He praised the work of Van Dyke and Giles of HEDCOR, the Holland Chamber of Commerce, the mayor and other city officials for their cooperation and interest in helping the company acquire the land and helping to arrange for necessary transportation facilities and utilities.

Morse figured the total employment of 350 would be about 60 per cent women and 40 per cent men, drawn from all levels requiring college graduates as well as production workers. He said when the baby food plant is added, Holland will have one of the largest Beech-Nut installations.

The new plant is being designed by Beech-Nut engineers and Lockwood-Green Engineers, Inc. of New York City. It will contain the latest in processing and packaging machinery and will feature "in line" production, from raw material receiving and storage to distribution. A feature of the new plant will be enclosed production areas with glass windows which will permit visitors to view operations of the plant without interfering with production, while enabling the company to maintain the strict sanitary controls necessary in making confection products.

When production is under way locally, the name of Holland, Mich., will be added to the familiar label of Life Saver candies. Currently, San Jose, Calif., and Port Chester, N. Y. are on the label.

The Beech-Nut company was founded in 1891, and Life Savers company in 1911 or 1912. In the earlier years Beech-Nut put out a flat candy product without a hole. Due to sugar shortages during World War II, the company concentrated on the manufacture of gum. In August, 1956, Beech-Nut purchased the Life Savers company and reentered the candy and mint business.

Morse said Beech-Nut has put in two years of study on a site for its midwestern operations, concentrating mainly on Michigan although sites in Indiana and Illinois were considered.

Allegan Council Studies Downtown Renewal Plan

ALLEGAN — More than 100 residents turned out for a public hearing on Allegan's proposed downtown parking assessments, Monday night at the Griswold Building.

Mayor T. E. Malila, City Manager Kenneth Bollinger, City Assessor Clarence Wise and all council members were on hand to answer questions from the floor.

The hearing had barely gotten underway when council was presented a petition purportedly carrying signatures of 20 downtown property owners opposing the plan. A second such petition signed by "more than 300 interested tax payers" was presented near the close of the meeting.

Council indicated it would withhold action on petitions until signatures could be checked for legality and source.

Bollinger, following the meeting, said petitions could not affect the council's decision to proceed with downtown renewal "other than from a standpoint of practicality or public opinion." After a cursory glance at petitions, Bollinger said he thought the second petition had, for the most part, been signed by those who believed tax money or general funds should not be used for the program.

Several council members rose to state their resolution to proceed with the parking plan which had differed from the usual city ordinance in that it stemmed from public demand and petition for improvement. It was further stated that petitions, in order to be legal, must be approved in form and submitted to the city attorney prior to a meeting.

Council's parking plan resolution, passed in January, originated from a petition presented in the prescribed manner by more than 50 per cent of downtown property owners.

According to the city charter, more than half of Allegan's business property owners would have to sign a legal petition and, following that, four-fifths of the Council would have to vote the proposal down, in order for the present resolution to be declared void.

Opinions voiced at the hearing were mostly prefaced by comments favorable to the general plan to raise several unsightly vacant buildings and to replace them with landscaped peak-load parking areas. Boundaries of the assessment area and scepticism about individual benefits remained primary targets for debate.

Mayor Malila attempted to reassure one objector with the comment "The project may not help your business volume right away, but eventually it will, and increase value of your property too."

Councilman Leo Hoffman, in explaining how the assessment area was defined, said only property deemed to benefit directly or indirectly had been considered. "We can't extend the assessment area legally and we can't satisfy everybody," he added.

One Planning Commission member expressed optimism at the general response. He noted that the meeting was called "primarily to hear objections" and that many property owners who favored the plan had not thought it necessary to attend.

An attorney, Walter Moore, asked why businessmen could not be assessed in direct proportion to benefits they would receive. Wise answered that legally, no one could be assessed more than 25 per cent, based on property evaluation one year prior to implementation of the parking plan.

Responding to a question about future expense of the project, Bollinger said no additional funds would be needed for maintenance or lighting that could not be absorbed by the general fund surplus. Assessor Wise told the audience that taxes will not be raised specifically to cover a loss resulting from raising a few old buildings.

Councilmen variously defended the plan as "necessary to compete with continued growth at the city's outskirts, to keep pace with neighboring communities, and to be prepared to meet demands of the future."

The speaker, Dr. G. Kemme, showed a movie and slides on his summer trip which included the World's Fair. He was introduced by Melvin Greving. The club presented the Rev. and Mrs. William Swets a farewell gift in appreciation for their help in the Fellowship Club. Rev. Swets closed with prayer.

Dutch Take 74-61 Win; 10th Victory

Holland High's basketball team strengthened its hold on second place in the LMCA Saturday night with a 74-61 decision over Traverse City before 1,290 fans in the Holland High fieldhouse.

It marked Holland's sixth league win in eight starts while the Trojans dropped their fifth contest in eight games. Holland is 10-3 and the losers are 4-11.

Although the Dutch were in command throughout, they didn't play well and this enabled the losers to make a game of it including the last two minutes when Traverse City got within six points, 65-59.

Coach Don Piersma felt it was Holland's most ragged performance this season, probably more ragged than the 58-55 win over Muskegon Catholic, Jan. 5.

The Dutch expressed confidence in themselves and knew all along they could beat Traverse City. But they didn't break the game open at any time even though they did enjoy margins of up to 17 points.

Lawson's final basket came with 1:51 left in the game and the first field goal the Dutch made in the last quarter. The basket gave Holland a 10-point spread and wiped out Traverse City's upset plans which had soared when they got within six, 65-59 with 2:21 left. Bob Brolin got two free throws before Lawson's basket.

Larry Pete got Holland's other fourth period basket as the Dutch made only two of 12. It was Pete's only basket. In the third period, Holland made only five of 16 and Leenhouts had three of the baskets and all were made from underneath the basket. Holland led 60-46 at the third quarter's close.

Holland made only 33 per cent of its shots on 20 of 61 including four of 17 and nine of 16 in the first two quarters. But at the free throw line, Holland won the game as they made 34 of 51, since the losers had four more field goals.

Traverse City lost three players on fouls and committed 36. Steve Lockman, who left with 4:44 left, led the losers with 24, including 11 baskets.

The Trojans made 36 per cent from the floor on 34 baskets in 67 tries and had periods of 4-17; 8-20; 6-13 and 6-17. The losers made 13 of 27 free throws and Holland was called 20 times.

Holland's leading scorer, Cal Beltman, scored only one basket and sat out much of the game as he picked up three early fouls.

Piersma was hoping his club would really roll against the Trojans because Holland has finished its home season and the remaining games are away from home including the battle for second place next Friday night at Muskegon Heights.

Despite the overall poor performance, two players turned in outstanding games. Seniors Randy Johnson and John Leenhouts were at their best. Both hit their season's scoring high as Johnson made 14 and Leenhouts, 10.

Johnson's hustle was the high point of the game. He instilled some of it among his mates, especially on defense, where the Dutch worked an effective three-quarter court zone press and a zone under the basket.

The 6' Johnson stole the ball six times to set up Holland fast breaks and he grabbed two fumbles. Johnson hit six of seven free throws. He had 12 points in the second quarter, including six straight free shots.

Leenhouts made eight of his points in the third quarter and was Holland's top rebounder. The Dutch were credited with 45 and Leenhouts picked off nine. Traverse City had 23.

Mike Lawson used his 6'10" frame to tie the Johnson for scoring honors. He hit 12 of his points in the first half as he led the Dutch to a 17-10 first period lead and a 43-31 halftime margin.

Allegan GOP Group to Expand

ALLEGAN — Allegan county Republicans are doing their best to eliminate the "exclusive club" concept of political activity.

GOP County Chairman Fred Hilbert announced a recent decision of the executive committee to enlarge the Allegan County Republican Committee to "at least 100 members."

The executive committee also voted to include all officers of the Allegan County Republican Women's Club and the county Young Republicans organization.

Fourth District Congressman Edward Hutchinson, of Fennville, and former Congressman Clare E. Hoffman, of Allegan, also will be invited to join the committee.

Also included will be all former members of the legislature and "immediate past officers" of the committee.

Welfare Provisions Are Revised

ALLEGAN —Uniform standards of assistance have been adopted by the Allegan County Department of Social Welfare, effective Jan. 1.

The policies were made public in a report to county supervisors Tuesday.

Persons applying for county welfare will now fall into one of two categories: those temporarily unemployed and the ill, handicapped, or those incapable of self support. Any apparently employable person claiming disability must now have a written statement from a licensed medical doctor or osteopath, that he is unable to work.

Persons applying for assistance must now file a written application in a manner prescribed by the department. As part of the application, a resource check authorization must also be signed. Each application will be subject to investigation to determine eligibility and need. Temporary help will be given in cases of dire emergency, but only in an amount deemed necessary until a department case worker can make a home call. In no instance shall emergency assistance exceed one week's allowance as figured on current budget standards.

Employable members of families will now be required to maintain active registration with the Michigan Employment Security Commission office. This must be done monthly and clients must present evidence that the MESCC office has been contacted.

Mothers with children over 14 years of age are to be considered employable. Those with children under 14, will be expected to seek employment if there is an adequate care plan for their children.

If the husband in any case is unable to work, but the wife is considered employable, and not needed at home, the case will be considered subject to policies for temporary unemployment cases.

It is further stated in the report that employable persons shall be required to accept any work available. Eligibility will not exist if a person fails to accept a bona fide offer of employment.

If work relief is available, employable persons shall be required to work out the amount of assistance given.

The report continues to state that all applicants and members of the family group apparently eligible for any state or federal program, will be required to take the necessary steps to qualify.

Special mention was made in the report concerning estrangements, non-payment of alimony, illegitimacy, non-resident children, ability of responsible relatives to assist the applicant, and annual review of unemployable cases.

Other requirements for those requesting assistance concern establishing ownership of real property. A homestead or farmstead should be described as that property where the applicant is living. Any other unused or vacant property must be listed for sale locally at a reasonable price. Evidence must be presented to show this provision has been carried out before other than emergency assistance can be granted.

Certain provisions have been made in the report for listing of personal property by those requesting assistance from the Welfare Department. Negotiable assets such as cash, bonds, bank accounts etc. must be exhausted before eligibility for assistance is established. In cases of temporary unemployment, value of personal property may be disregarded if the property is necessary in earning a livelihood.

Use of cars must be limited to transportation for families living in rural areas to the extent they are essential to livelihood.

Provisions were made in the report for Bureau of Social Aid cases, convalescents, and burials.

Maroons Set Scoring Mark Of 88 Points

Holland Christian's basketball team turned in one of its finest efforts of the season and set a school scoring mark in the process Friday night in the Civic Center when the Maroons trounced the St. Joseph Bears, 88-67 before 2,400 homecoming fans.

In taking its ninth win against six defeats, Coach Art Tuls' club was impressive as it led all the way. When forward Paul Steggerda sank the second of two foul shots for the 86th point, the Maroons shattered the old mark of 85 points also set against the Bears last season.

Christian's margin of victory was surprising particularly since guard Tom Deur, the club's leading scorer, sat out all but 30 seconds of the second half, while forward Tim Wedeven played only three minutes of the second half both because of foul trouble. Despite the long rest, Wedeven was still high scorer with 17 markers in what Coach Art Tuls called "Tom's best all around game this season."

The bench strength of the winners really showed itself with subs Jack Kalmink and guard Les Hulst turning in fine performances, particularly against the zone press put on by Coach Ray Haack's Bears. They both hit well with Kalmink getting 15 and Hulst, nine.

Christian led by Harold Alferink, Wedeven and Steggerda outrebounded the much taller Bears, 58-46. Alferink led 18 rebounds while Steggerda had 12. The game's top rebounder was St. Joe's big 6'6" Tim Fenderbosch with 19.

A 56 per cent second-half shooting mark paved the way for the Maroons' 52 points in the last two periods. Coupled with only a fair first half mark, the winners ended with 43 per cent on 34-80 tries. The losing Bears hit on only 23-78 for just under 30 per cent.

St. Joseph had all kinds of difficulty getting off good shots in the first half against the sticky Maroon defense but improved in the second half. Holland's passing was far and away its best of the season with both Deur and guard Larry Klaasen setting up several easy baskets with beautiful "feeds." Klaasen again turned in a good all around game against the Bear pressing tactics.

Coach Haack's team was led by the fine play of guard Dan Knuth and Fenderbosch. Knuth possesses a variety of shots and is deadly if not guarded tightly outcourt.

It was a slow moving first quarter although the winners held the upper hand throughout. Christian led 6-3 at the midway point before the scoring picked up on both sides. Led by Wedeven and Klaasen, the Maroons upped the count to 15-8 and then had to settle for 17-12 at the quarter.

Christian started to pull away slowly but steadily in the second period. With Deur bombing from out and Klaasen connecting on the fast break, the Maroons built up a 29-18 margin at 3:46. It was nip and tuck until the end of the half with the Maroons managing a 36-26 count at halftime.

Scoring 16 points in less than four minutes at the start of the third period, the winners put the game out of reach in a hurry. Deur picked up his fourth personal in the first minute but Wedeven hit seven points before he left the game at the five minute mark. Kalmink really took the slack as he hit for 11 points in the period. The Maroons led by 24 points on several occasions in the period before finishing out in front 65-45 at the end of the quarter. Knuth hit for nine markers to lead the St. Joe attack.

The last period was another high scoring affair for both clubs with the Maroons out-pointing the Bears, 23-22. Christian managed to hold the 20-point margin during much of the last stanza and led 78-57 with 3:58 remaining. Tuls cleared his bench in the final two minutes with Steggerda finally breaking the record with one minute left.

The Maroons hit 20 out of 35 charity tosses while St. Joseph connected on 19 out of 30. Christian had five players in double figures led by Wedeven while Fenderbosch chased the Bears with 18 markers.

The third meeting some of our people will be interested in is the Cattle Feeder Day. This year it will be held on April 15th, rather than in late summer. The reason for the advancement of the date is to give those in attendance a chance to see the cattle on feeding trials. This event will be held at the Cattle Research Center, MSU.

Some new bulletins and folders have arrived. One of these which we have had many questions on is regarding the feeding of dairy animals for beef purposes. All information on this has now been put into a bulletin entitled "Dairy Beef—Producing Meat from Dairy Animals." Those of you who are feeding, or thinking of feeding, this type of animal will want to have this bulletin. For our sheep people, a folder entitled, "Three Crossbreeding Programs for commercial lamb production in Michigan" will be of interest, and the "Michigan Laws on the Sale of Cattle," a leaflet which covers both dairy and breeding cattle; feeder and grazing cattle, and slaughter cattle.

Conservation Talk Given at Exchange Club

At the regular noon luncheon of the Holland Exchange Club, the members were addressed by Carl T. Johnson of Cadillac, a member of the Conservation Commission of Michigan.

The speaker was secured by Russ Bouws who was appointed by Gov. George Romney to the new committee for the reorganization of the conservation department.

Mr. Johnson's topic was "Conservation Is Everybody's Business." He said the average person thought of conservation mostly in terms of hunting and fishing, but those fields are only a small part of it. There is work to be done in conserving the water supply and preventing its pollution, in salt mines, parks, all wild life, forests and many others.

All citizens of Michigan should acquaint themselves with the needs of the Conservation department, he said. "We must take care of our natural resources. If we do not, Federal agencies will take over and we will lose control. We need more information on how to make the best use of our land and keep down land loss. We are in the midst of the greatest water supply on earth and yet we have water shortages especially in industrial areas. We also need to know the effect of pesticides on wild life," the speaker said.

Mr. Johnson touched briefly on the value of the state parks. It is estimated the parks at Holland and Grand Haven brought campers who spent over four million dollars last year.

President Charles Shidler presided.
