DIRECT BOAT SERVICE TO BE RESUMED SOON

Unless the season is unusually late it is expected that direct boat transportation between Holland and Chicago will be resumed within about two weeks. The Goodrich company is planning on resumption of transportation early in March, as early as possible, because the company is anxious to give the local shippers the benefit of direct service at the first possible opportunity.

Direct service was discontinued a few weeks ago when the fields of drift ice on Lake Michigan in the pocket that the shoreline makes in this section of the lake made it impossible to give the quick service that shippers have learned to expect.

The winds have been prevailing northwesterly for some time and so considerable ice has collected in this part of the lake but it is expected that conditions will improve sufficiently by the early part of March so that the vessels can get through not only in safety but quickly enough to insure prompt service.

Although direct service is greatly preferred by both the shippers and the transportation company, local shippers have been very well served by the system of transferring freight to Grand Haven by truck and loading it on the Goodrich boats there. For instance, the freight that left the Chicago dock Thursday night, everything collected on the dock up to six o'clock that night, was being delivered to the merchants in Holland between seven and eight on Friday morning, service that is almost as prompt as direct service from Chicago to the Holland dock.

The management of the boat company expressed satisfaction with the support that has been given by the local shippers and merchants in providing a volume of freight for the vessels. Business has been quite satisfactory in spite of difficulties and the patronage of the local shippers has encouraged the company to put forth its best efforts to give good service.

Caucus No. 1 to nominate candidates for village officers of Sauquoit was held at the village hall, Caucus No. 2 was held at the same place a day later. At the first caucus, J. J. Brown was nominated to succeed himself as trustee, but declined to be a candidate, as did Dr. H. E. Krenner, who also was nominated for trustee. At the second caucus, no nominations were made for village clerk or assessor, the first caucus having placed in nomination the present incumbent of those offices, James M. Brown and Martin Bennett, respectively.

Each ticket is headed as the nominee for president by a man who has had experience in the office. Dr. H. E. Krenner, being ticketed No. 1, is completing his second term in the office. While Clarence A. Lynde, candidate of the second caucus, has in the past served the village several terms in the same capacity.

The women voters were recognized by being given the nomination for treasurer on each ticket.

Baron Elliott, former mayor of Grand Haven, and Miss Ethel Balgovean, also of Grand Haven, received severe scalp wounds Friday night when a car driven by Mr. Elliott was struck head on about three miles out of Grand Haven by a Greyhound bus, which was towing another disabled bus.

The accident occurred about 7:30 while Mr. Elliott was driving a party of six to Holland to attend the Grand Haven-Holland basketball game.

The force of the collision demolished the car, but other members of the party were uninjured. Mr. Elliott and Miss Balgovean were taken to Hattson hospital, where their condition was reported as not serious.

An icy road, billed so high with snow that Mr. Elliott was unable to turn out far enough to avoid the bus, was held responsible for the accident.

John Vanderluis has a wall at his home a beautiful new painting that was presented to him by the members of the community chorus of Grand Haven, which organization he has been training the past winter. The chorus a few days ago gave a concert in Grand Haven which was so well attended that standing room was at a premium.

After the concert a committee of the chorus presented Mr. Vanderluis with the painting in appreciation of the work he has done. It is called "The Haven of Peace," being a picture of the town of William Tell, and it is by the famous Swiss painter Rudolf Kappeler. The picture is five feet by six inches.

The concert was so successful that it was a great success. The chorus was a very fine one, and the painting was a beautiful one. The committee was very happy to present it to Mr. Vanderluis.

College Men's Glee Club To Sing In Grand Haven

The Hope men's glee club is to give a concert in the First Reformed church of Grand Haven on Friday, Feb. 26. The music department at the local institution is surely forging ahead this year. The glee club under the supervision of Mrs. Venton and the orchestra directed by Mr. John Kollen are to give concerts in Muskegon, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids and other communities throughout the spring term.

HEINZ EMPLOYEES HOLD BANQUET MONDAY NIGHT

The annual banquet of the employees of the H. J. Heinz company was held at the Masonic temple Monday night and about 300 took part in it. The banquet was put on by the Star of Bethlehem chapter No. 10. The banquet was a most delightful affair and it was notable because, with one exception, the program was furnished by the employees themselves.

Mr. Harry Kraft, foreman of the bulk pickle department, was presented with a gold medal for ten years of faithful service. The presentation was made by Manager J. A. Hoover on behalf of the Heinz company.

Alfred Gordon pronounced the invocation. Mr. Hoover served as toastmaster. A committee headed by R. A. Howlett had charge of the program which was a delightful one of 25 numbers, containing many vocal and instrumental selections, readings, declamations, impersonations, dialogues, recitations, and a playlet, "Buck and Wing." Music was furnished by Von Ins orchestra.

Those who took part in the program were: Misses Jansen, Churchill, De Jongh, Stuystra and DeWitt, Ben Derkse, Mrs. Wm. Gordon, Henry, Louise and Chessie Van Hooven, Mr. and Mrs. H. Von Ins, H. Cook, Elizabeth Heyboer, Messrs. Schoonard, Beeson, Stegenga and Curtice, W. Schumacher, Elsie Terpsma, Elsie and Margaret Beeson and Mildred Walberg, F. Schoonard, Hilda Bonge, Harriet De Neff, Misses Jansen, Churchill and Mrs. Ben Mast, Theresa Van Hooven.

The annual banquet of the Heinz employees is an event of importance to the people who make up the Heinz family here and the banquet of Monday night was one of the best ever held.

On Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 22, the members of the Woman's Literary club will have an opportunity of learning something of the work of the Camp Fire Girls. Miss Ethyl Dykstra, who is the director of the local group, has provided a program of particular interest, having secured Mrs. Marion Pampel Trail, Camp Fire executive of Grand Rapids, to speak to the club women. Music will be furnished by members of the Holland chapter and a demonstration of a ceremonial meeting will also find a place upon the program.

The Past Presidents club of the Woman's Relief Corps gave a one o'clock luncheon for the corps member at the home of Mrs. Van Zoeren, West Ninth street. The home was beautifully decorated with flowers in keeping with Valentine's day. The center piece for the table was an exquisite bouquet of American Beauty roses. Judging from the attendance the club members are popular hostesses and hope to provide many more pleasant afternoons for the corps.

The average age of six of their oldest members who were present was eighty-two. In the evening the husbands were entertained.

Parents and friends, attention! Is soap "unlucky for dirt"? It will be unluckily for you, too, if you fail to see that amusing comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," at the high school auditorium on the evenings of March 2, 3, and 4. The play is given under the auspices of the P-T association of Holland, for a very worthy cause. Part of the proceeds will help defray the expenses of the coming P-T convention during which time nearly a thousand delegates will be entertained in this city, and the remaining amount will be equally divided among the five graded schools.

Dodgers bearing the above message are being printed and will be distributed at all the schools together with tickets which the pupils will offer for sale.

If you do not happen to be approached by one of the school children, do not be discouraged, for tickets may also be purchased at the door. No one can afford to miss a whole evening of fun and amusement. The cause merits your support, the play is a splendid one and your hearty co-operation is solicited.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Salisbury visited Pontwater Thursday, calling on H. L. Brewer in connection with a forgery charge. Brewer is ill but a settlement was made in which the costs and the amount of the forged check were paid.

TWO MILES OF RESORT LAND IS SOLD AGAIN

The purchase of more than two miles of Lake Michigan shoreline lying just north of Grand Haven by Worn and Vercoe, a Grand Rapids development company, was announced today by the Lincoln Real Estate company who acted as brokers in the deal.

The property was purchased from a Michigan City syndicate which in turn had purchased it several weeks ago from the company which developed Long Beach, a large frontage development near Michigan City, Ind. The Grand Haven property already has been platted out similarly to the Long Beach development and includes provisions for lots varying in width and depth with a minimum beach frontage of 50 feet, golf links at the back end of the lots and concrete roadways throughout the development.

Beginning about one mile north of the Grand Haven piers, the entire piece extends along the lake shore for 12,000 feet, or more than two miles and runs back from one-quarter to one-half mile in depth. It includes some spots which are fairly well timbered, sand hills and picturesque dune land.

Actual development of the property in preparation for its sale for summer resort purposes will be started within the next few weeks. It is expected that some of the hills will be washed down by the application at the base of streams of water, with a resulting leveling of the property into lots suitable for building purposes, while the portions farther back from the lake shore will be cleared up and all made accessible by paved roadways throughout the entire development, it is planned.

Engineers are now working on a detailed plan for the laying out of 2,800 lots into which the property will be divided as well as the other features which will go toward changing it from the untouched waste it has been for hundreds of years into a desirable place for a summer home.

The double transfer of two White River farms with frontage on Lake Michigan totaling about a half mile was announced Saturday by T. H. Leafstran, Clyde Hendrick and Homer O. Bailey, of Muskegon.

The property which included the entire Sanford Watson farm and the frontage on the Fred Groth farm, was sold to a Holland syndicate by Mr. Bailey who secured it through Leafstran and Hendrick.

Lying just off the Old Channel Trail and north of the White Lake channel, the frontage is accessible by improved road out of Montague. Much of it is wooded and extends from one-quarter to one half a mile back from the beach.

It is adjacent to the north by the Klunder property, a piece with about a half mile of frontage which has been divided into from 20 to 25 plots. It is understood, by a Chicago syndicate which plans to build a club house and other developments upon it.

Just north of this half mile piece is a site owned by a Chicago business man who has already put in about $50,000 worth of improvements and a summer home.

Definite plans as to whether or not the Holland syndicate will develop the newly sold tract are not known at this time.

Holland high school debaters are receiving much fine publicity in the state press. The Detroit Free Press, the Kalamazoo Gazette and the Grand Rapids Press print stories about as follows:

"Holland high school debaters have achieved the best record in debates among the schools of southwestern Michigan. The local teams led with 15 out of a possible 16 points in four victories. Kalamazoo Central scored four victories with 14 points. The team is composed of Hendrick Nobel, Raymond Steete and Stanley Verhey. Holland will clash in five more debates before the finals at Ann Arbor."

Mrs. George E. Kollen and son John Lloyd Kollen provided the program at the meeting of the Grand Rapids Woman's club on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Kollen will read Edna Ferber's "Minch" and Mr. Kollen gave the musical numbers on the program.

Preceding the meeting, Mrs. Kollen and her son were guests at a luncheon in the Rowe hotel. The luncheon was given by the entertainment and dramatic committee of the club. Places were marked for Mrs. Kollen, Mr. Kollen, Mrs. Grace Williams, Mrs. Ethel Bower, Mrs. L. A. R. Solost, Mrs. Mary Keeler, Mrs. Elizabeth Beadle, Mrs. Grace Churn, Mrs. Wanda Force, Mrs. Blanche Steete, Mrs. Gladys Walker, Mrs. Bertha Cronz, Mrs. Harvey L. Weeks, Mrs. Caroline Hazard, Mrs. Grace Richards and Mrs. Burdelle Cady.

An added income of $417,080 a year is enjoyed by Ottawa county farmers indirectly as a result of keeping cows, according to the Lorraine Institute of Animal Economics. The income is in the form of more fertile soil due to the manure of the dairy cows in this county. On the basis of practically a $20.00 fertilizer valuation per animal per year, this means a total of $417,080 added to the richness of the soil in this county every twelve months.

Chest Clinic To Be Held The First Thursday in March

The regular bi-monthly chest clinic will be held on the afternoon of the first Thursday in March—March 4—in the W. L. C. hall. The clinic will open at 1 o'clock and continue until five. Dr. Wm. Via of Grand Rapids, tuberculosis specialist, will be here to do the examining. All persons in and around Holland who desire a physical examination are invited to come to the clinic.

MISSION WORKERS LEFT TODAY FOR THE ORIENT

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Van Eyck Stegeman left Tuesday noon for Japan where they will begin their second term of missionary work. Mr. Stegeman will teach in Meiji Gakuin Theological Seminary in Tokyo, an institution under the joint auspices of the Reformed and Presbyterian churches. He will occupy the chair of New Testament language and literature, succeeding Dr. Albert Oltmans, who has reached the age of retirement. Enroute to the coast Mr. and Mrs. Stegeman will visit churches in Hoppers, Ia., and Yakima, Lynn and Oak Harbor, Washington, and Los Angeles, California. Their steamer address will be: "In care of the Tokyo Kisen Kaisha, S. S. Co., San Francisco, Cal. S. S. Siberia Maru, sailing March 30th."

Last year about this time the Hope College girls' glee club was traveling through New York state giving concerts in the various Reformed churches. They were cordially received and gave splendid concerts wherever they appeared. Some of the friends of the local institution were so enthralled over the work of the girls that they have asked for their re-appearance this spring.

However, owing to the fact that a similar club from Central college is contemplating a trip to the eastern churches of the denomination, the authorities have decided not to send the girls out again this year.

That does not mean that the Hope songsters will not be heard in and around Holland, however. Nearby cities and the smaller villages want to hear the girls' club, and numerous concerts are planned this spring.

Anyone interested in having the girls appear in their community should get in touch with Miss Wilhelmina Sprick or Miss Helen Van Ess at Voorhes Hall.

Sea scouts are destined to play quite a prominent part in boy scout activities in Ottawa county. Plans are under way for the organization of a ship in both Grand Haven and Holland. The sea scout committee, which met in Grand Haven several days ago, hopes to provide a boat and other necessary equipment for each ship. The proposed boats will be equipped with eight oars and sails. It is planned to buy the boats knock-down and have the scouts assemble them.

The sea scout program is for older boys above the age of fifteen. It offers the older boy a distinctive program and uniform, and all the wholesome adventure which a boy of that age demands. To the scout movement it provides a means of holding a boy under the influence of scouting several years longer. Though scouting is one of the boy's strongest influences upon the boy, it is recognized that the influence will be much greater if the boy can be held a year or two longer. What the sea scout program really does is to bridge the gap between the time when a boy wants to quit scouting and the time when he may be an adult scout leader.

The county sea scout work is fortunate in having such competent leadership. O. T. Schubert, of Grand Haven is commodore and chairman of the sea scout committee. He is a former naval officer. The other members of the committee who rank as vice commodores are C. L. Beach of Holland, E. P. Donnelly of Holland and Fred Reus of Grand Haven.

Eventually it is hoped to have a sea scout unit wherever there is a regular scout troop.

South Haven officially became a United States customs station this week, according to information received by Representative John Ketcham from Lincoln, Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury. Ketcham had appeared before the treasury department and urged that business development at South Haven required establishment of a port of entry. The department compromised and agreed to make it a customs station. Ships going into South Haven will not have to stop for inspection at Grand Haven hereafter.

Vivid recollections of the terrorizing of Cassopolis by bandits runs several months ago, together with the sudden clanging of the First State bank burglar alarm at Allegan shortly after Friday midnight, sent residents returning to their homes from social functions there scurrying to cover.

Urgent telephone communications kept the sheriff's office busy and deputies were dispatched to investigate.

But even Saturday morning no evidence of a bandit attack could be found and bank officials, who recently had a new alarm system installed, were ready to blame the excitement to a short circuit. Grand Rapids Press.

MARRIED AT WAYNE, MICH., ON SATURDAY

A very beautiful wedding took place Saturday evening in Wayne, Michigan, when Miss Ruth von Bach Scherer became the bride of Charles Ely and Duren of Holland. The ceremony was performed at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vilnius, Park Place, Wayne, at eight o'clock in the presence of the families of bride and groom and about 100 guests. Rev. Mr. Jacobs, pastor of the Congregational church of Wayne, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride and groom were stationed in an alcove backed by Easter lilies and smilax and festooned overhead so, the couple stood in a bower of greens. On each side was a tall wroughtiron candlestick holding a cathedral candle.

The Episcopal ring ceremony was used. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Kingsbury, of New York, who also played the wedding march some years ago in Washington, D. C., when Miss Wilson, the daughter of the president was married.

The bride was beautiful in a gown of white duchess satin, trimmed with an all-over pattern of pearls and crystals. She wore a veil of Brussels point with baby duchess lace, and carried a shower bouquet of yellow butterfly roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Vilnius, daughter of the host and hostess, was a school friend of the bride, wore a green georgette gown, trimmed with an all-over pattern of pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink Dorothy Perkins roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Prof. Arthur Van Duren of the University of Michigan. The ushers were Harold De Free and Adrian Van Putten of Holland, friends of the groom.

Sixteen members of the Delta Theta Pi fraternity of the University of Michigan law school, of which Mr. Van Duren was a member, were present, and a large number of the sorority of the literary department of the university, of which the bride was a member and also present. The faculty of the university were represented by several members and their wives.

There were also guests from Ann Arbor, Detroit, Wyandotte, Holland, Wayne, and from the eastern states. The bride and groom were showered with telegrams and other messages of congratulation from California, New York, Iowa, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Indiana.

Dainty refreshments were served by the Walker catering company of Detroit. The many beautiful presents were in charge of Miss Helen Vilnius, daughter of the host and hostess.

The bride's traveling gown was navy blue tulle with an underdress of fuchsia silk and she wore a navy blue hat of crocheted straw. The bride and groom left for a wedding trip and they will be at home at the Warm Friend Tavern early in March.

Mr. Van Duren graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan two years ago. Mrs. Van Duren took a postgraduate course in the literary department, majoring in journalism, and graduated in February.

Holland will have at least one representative in the amateur boxing tournament which is being held in Muskegon this week, as "Mr. Post, the proprietor of the Billiard academy and a very enthusiastic boxing fan, has entered young Nells in the middleweight division. Should Nells make good in this contest he will be eligible to the state tournament which will be staged in Grand Rapids next month.

The Muskegon tournament is being given under the auspices of the American Legion, promoted and managed by Al Massey, the well known light-weight boxer.

It was through the personal friendship of Mr. Post and Mr. Massey that the local boy gets the opportunity at this time to show his ability as a boxer.

A special program is to be given on Friday afternoon at the W. L. C. hall by the W. C. T. U. The meeting will be for the mothers of young children, and the child welfare committee has sent out about two hundred invitations. This committee is composed of Mrs. R. B. Champion, Mrs. Habing, Mrs. Wm. Vander Schel, Mrs. George Steffens, and Mrs. P. Therman. They have secured Clara Wheeler, corresponding secretary of the state P-T association as the speaker of the afternoon.

A playlet, "When John Was a Baby," will be in charge of Mrs. Carl Shaw. A number of well known actors will take part in this play. The music will be in charge of Mrs. Boshka of Macatawa. The pupils of the sixth grade of the Freehold school will give an exercise, "The Flags of All Nations." Tea will be served by Mrs. John Kookier, Mrs. J. Knudson, Mrs. G. W. Kooyers, Mrs. A. Kronemeyer, Mrs. T. Kuiper, Mrs. P. Leenhouts, Mrs. H. Looman, Mrs. B. Welton and Mrs. H. Hopp.

Elimination of sewage and industrial wastes in the lakes and streams of Michigan is expected to be a boon to fishing. Homer Murphy, chemist connected with the state department of health, contends that the death of 25 per cent of the fish in the lakes and streams is due to pollution.

"Fish must have oxygen, and sewage in the water starts a chemical action, which uses the oxygen," explained Mr. Murphy. "The result is that there is not sufficient oxygen in the water to support life and the fish die."

"When the water is frozen over, less oxygen is obtained and that is the reason that we find the most serious condition about the time of the break up in early spring. You have noticed countless dead fish along the shores of lakes and rivers in early spring. The cause of it can be traced to pollution."

Mr. Murphy believes that once the sewage is eliminated from the lakes and streams that there will be little difficulty in providing

LOCAL BANK WILL HAVE EXPERT INCOME TAX ACCOUNTANTS

Cashier Wynand Wichers of the First State bank states that the local bank has secured the services of Seldeman & Seldeman, nationally known accountants and tax experts, who will be at the First State bank on March 4 and 5, Thursday and Friday, in order to aid customers in filling out income tax blanks for 1925.

These services are to be given to the customers of the bank free and all blanks that are necessary will be on hand for the convenience of those who wish to have their income tax matters taken care of.

HOPE FRATERS HOLD ANNUAL STAG MONDAY

The Fraternal society held its annual Washington stag last night at the Fraternal hall on the campus. After a sumptuous dinner, the Fraters were called to order by their president, James F. De Free. He presided to the times of "When Good Fraters Get Together," and then wittily introduced the remaining speakers.

In a toast that amply took care of the ladies, who though absent were thought of, Frater Richard Mallory toasted to "Its Always Fair Weather." Frater James Ten-Brink was given "The Ocean Waves May Roll" to toast to, and it was done very pleasingly. The Fraternal quartet, composed of Fraters C. Geerlings, R. Huizenga, T. Luidens and J. Walleke, gave several selections.

Frater Adrian Buys showed how "Fraters Paths May Sever," and he emphasized the fact that, although the paths severed, they were never forgotten. Frater Chester Yntema, a senior, spoke for the seniors, who will graduate in June, and he based his toast on the subject, "Farewell, For We Must Leave Thee."

Maurice Elwyn Avery, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Avery, 450 West 32nd-st., died Saturday after an operation. He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Vernon Elsworth, Carlton Laurice, Mildred Alverg, Veltriona Elouise. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home and at 2 o'clock at the Third Reformed church. Rev. James M. Martin and Miss Nellie Churchford officiating. The deceased was a member of troop 2 of the boy scouts.

Celebrating their annual mid-winter stag, the members of the Knickerbocker society of Hope college met at the Warm Friend Tavern on Wednesday evening. The organization has the custom of meeting for this event in connection with the observance of Washington's birthday.

Forty-eight members, and a goodly representation of the society alumni enjoyed the excellent dinner. The enjoyment was continued by the program which followed the meal. At this time all the members noted the novel programs which had been made up in the form of a booklet, which was appropriately colored and contained the picture of the Father of our Country. Further observance of the day was contained in the program of the toasts which were given. Following the inaugural address by the president, Alvin Nevel, a toast to "Entangling Alliances" was given by Roy Nattress. Musical selections were rendered by the Knickerbocker ensemble composed of Ray Fieldhouse, Norman Vander Hart, and Fred Olet. "E Pluribus Unum" was the topic of a toast presented by Frank Brokaw. Raymond Smith continued the trend of patriotic thought by toasting to "The Three Cornered Hat." Compiling the musical part of the program, Art Smith gave a few banjo selections and answered a hearty encore. The senior group was represented by Gerrit Kemme in his toast entitled "Farewell Address."

The main address of the evening was presented by Rev. Harry Hoffa, "14." The old Knickerbocker member is among the founders of the organization and inspired the members with a pep talk on "Walters, Rumors and Fliers." All of the speakers drew thoughtful suggestions from the life of Washington. Jack Ver Meulen, 24, gave a few of the entertaining incidents which he experienced during his recent stay in China. To complete the evening's celebration the members sang the Knickerbocker song, of which Rev. Harry Hoffa was author.

Mrs. J. Meulendyk, aged 69 years, died February 17th at her home in Rochester, New York. Mrs. Meulendyk is well known to the older residents of Holland. She was the daughter of Mr. Kroes and lived in Holland as a girl. She was a sister of Mrs. Wm. Moerdyk, wife of the late Rev. Wm. Moerdyk of Zeeland. She had been ill with heart trouble since Christmas.

Mrs. Meulendyk is survived by her husband, two daughters, and four sons. The funeral was held Friday afternoon and interment was at Rochester, N. Y.

At a meeting of the Actuaries club of Indianapolis, of which George Van Duren, formerly of this city, is president, Mr. Van Duren gave an address on "The Use of Punched Cards in Life Insurance Work." An Indianapolis magazine says of it: "Mr. Van Duren has made a close and extensive study of this subject and ably demonstrated that he is master of it. Specimens of card forms in use by the State Life Insurance company in various departments were distributed and thoroughly explained. There have been few meetings of the club at which subjects of such practical importance have been discussed. Punched cards for sorting and tabulating various kinds of information are coming into general use among life insurance companies, but few have any conception of the extent to which they may be profitably used."

WILL DISMISS DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST WELSH

A short time ago Prosecutor Fred T. Miles of Holland filed a damage suit in this county against Lluet-Governor George Welsh charging that the editor, K. C. Clapp, of the Grand Rapids Chronicle, in October, 1924, had printed slanderous articles involving the Ottawa county prosecutor. The articles had to do with the so-called "Hobbsman township booze ring," of which a great deal was published at that time. It was claimed by Mr. Miles in his charges that the articles appearing in the Grand Rapids Chronicle were printed after circuit court Judge Neil E. Reid, who presided at the grand jury, had exonerated Mr. Miles. The findings of Judge Reid, given shortly after the grand jury had completed its work, were published in full in the Holland newspapers as well as in the Ottawa county and Grand Rapids papers.

Not only does Mr. Welsh, in his retraction, published fully the decision of Judge Reid, but in a column article he retracts the different statements made upon which the damage suit for $10,000 was based.

The matter was to have come up in the March term of circuit court before Judge O. S. Cross, but Mr. Miles contended all along that he did not seek the money but did demand a retraction, and since this was forthcoming from the Grand Rapids Chronicle, without doubt the case will be dismissed in the Ottawa county courts.

Nick and Peter Van Tinnen, who pleaded guilty to stealing chickens in circuit court, were sentenced by Judge Cross. The two Wayland men will pay costs of $7.50 each and spend from two to five years in Ionia, with recommendation of the former. The money received by them for the chickens, sold in Battle Creek, was divided among the three persons robbed—$103.

Vernon C. Beebe, in a letter to the Saugatuck Commercial-Record, gives his reasons for the decline of fishing there. He says:

"One of the greatest appeals of Saugatuck, and one which induced me and many others to build homes in your midst, has been fishing. Many of us have noted during the last couple of summers that the fishing seems to be gradually giving out. Various reasons have been advanced for this, including the following:

"First—The continued dumping of sewage into the river, due to the lack of septic tanks and increased population in summer.

"Second—Too much seining and spearing, in winter as well as in summer.

"Third—Presence of an increased number of nets set in Lake Michigan, not far from the mouth of the river.

"It would seem that this matter is so serious that an investigation should be invited by the state department, and steps taken to stop objectionable operations, whatever they are, which are gradually killing the place for an real fishing during the resort season.

Muskegon hosts a family of undertakers—the only family in Michigan in which the father and more than one son are following the profession.

The family is that of Coroner Tiede Clock, the three male members of which are practicing morticians. It stepped into a class by itself a week ago, when Thomas C. Clock, the second son, was granted a license by the state to practice embalming. The first son, Theodore G. Clock was given his license in June, 1924.

Mr. Clock has been an undertaker since 1897, when he started business in Muskegon. With the growth of his sons, they started taking an interest in the business.

Theodore started his apprenticeship in 1919. He enrolled at the Worham Training school, Chicago, in 1923, and was graduated 18 months ago. He received his license immediately.

Thomas served an apprenticeship for two years, and enrolled at the same school last spring. He completed his course early in December and received his license a week ago.

The firm operates the Clock Funeral home, a rapidly growing establishment, and moved into a new $40,000 building at Grand-av. and Sandford-st., a few years ago. Its fleet of ambulances, hearses and other motorized equipment is being enlarged constantly.

Mr. Clock has served as coroner of Muskegon county, and was again elected to that post at the 1924 election.

Mrs. Martin J. Cook, aged 63, died Wednesday at her home at 127 West 17th street. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. N. Vanden Berg of Fremont, Mrs. Peter Verschuure of Holland, Mrs. George Siltner of Muskegon, James, Melvin, Mrs. I. Colton and Morris of Holland.

NOT AGAIN TO RUN FOR THE LEGISLATURE

The special session of the legislature that is now being held will be the last work of Representative G. W. Kooyers as the representative of this district of Ottawa county.

Whether the reappointment bill is contested or not, Mr. Kooyers announced today on leaving for what he expects will be the final week of the special session that he will not be a candidate again for that office no matter what might happen.

There has been some talk in some parts of the state of contesting the reappointment bill. If that should be done, which seems somewhat unlikely now, and even if it should be successful, Mr. Kooyers will not run again "I am positively through," he announced, "and I would not again accept a nomination to the office no matter how things might go."

Mr. Kooyers substantially said the same thing even before the reappointment bill was passed. He felt then, as he does now, that he had held the office long enough. When the bill was passed he announced that he would not make a contest for the single seat that Ottawa county will have under the terms of the bill and that he would leave the field open to Representative Fred McEachron, the other member of the Ottawa county delegation in the Michigan legislature.

Mr. Kooyers said that this week will see the end of the session. About all the legislature has been doing is twiddling its thumbs and, according to Mr. Kooyers, the members are tired of inaction and are anxious to plow through the work and have it over with so that they can return to their regular work. Mr. Kooyers does not believe that there will be much chance for the governor to divert the county road funds to the state funds. Protests similar to the resolutions sent by the Ottawa county road commission have been coming from all parts of the state and it does not seem likely that the governor's plan will prevail. Mr. Groesbeck is hoping to secure county funds with which to match federal funds but the legislature at this time does not seem in a mood to grant his wish.

The automobile men of Holland are leaving their stores unguarded to make the first annual auto show at the armory a success from every angle. The spaces have not yet been allotted up to this time, although many local car merchants and accessory men have signified their intention of making exhibits. The armory will be well crowded with the latest makes of cars, and prospective buyers or interested spectators will be able to see their favorite automobile demonstrated from every angle.

The automobile men are buying souvenirs, shooters and other gimmicks, many especially for the youngsters, while some very valuable antique souvenirs are being offered to the older folks. The price of admission to the show is twenty-five cents for adults and children ten cents. The armory will be well lighted and decorated for the occasion, the show will be open from 1 o'clock P. M. until 10 o'clock in the evening.

All arrangements for continuous music have not yet been made but it is expected that the Colonial orchestra and Van Duren's orchestra will give the music during the show which is to be held on March 3, 4, 5 and 6.

The Willard G. Leenhouts Unit No. 6 of the American Legion Auxiliary, in making use of benefit movies to increase its soldier memorial fund, has endeavored at the same time to sponsor pictures that on a Holland theater can show with pride and that the Holland public can witness with special benefit to themselves. In many instances these pictures have had war themes or have been of some patriotic or historical nature. The picture now sponsored by this organization, however, thru the courtesy of the Strand theatre, is of essentially a religious character and one that challenges a community to show whether its preference is for wholesome, uplifting pictures or those of a lower plane and verging on immorality.

This picture is "The Fool," written by Channing Pollock and very successfully staged in New York. The crowded houses that greeted it at every performance were a direct rebuke to those producers who excuse their obscene, vulgar offerings with the statement, "We give the public what it wants." By full houses for the screen showing of this picture at the Strand theater Holland will show its desire and demand for the untainted higher type of movie.

The American Legion Auxiliary will be allowed to keep all money received by them for the sale of tickets. The theatre is depending on meeting all expenses thru winning of the picture. The Auxiliary members are now selling tickets at both afternoon and evening prices and will appreciate the purchase price of such tickets as an addition to the memorial fund and also the support of this splendid type of picture.

THROWS OUT A CHALLENGE TO SEN. BORAH

At the very moment that Senator Borah was making an attack on the world court in Chicago, G. J. Diekema was throwing out a passionate challenge Monday evening to the Idaho senator to prove that America's adherence to the world court was a departure from the policies of George Washington.

Mr. Diekema referred to the Borah address, which was being delivered at about the same moment, and he proceeded to answer Borah on the basis of a careful analysis of what George Washington had actually stood for in his life.

The address, which was one of the most eloquent ever heard from Mr. Diekema in Holland, was delivered before the Century club when it met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. McLean, Washington did not at all stand for complete isolation of America, Mr. Diekema asserted. He warned against political alliances, and that policy America has followed for 150 years. But his whole life was warant for the fact that he would favor a policy of co-operation in world service. He was one of the most unselfish men who ever lived and he would not want America to be selfish but to put "the shoulder the wheel" in serving mankind everywhere in the world in the fight against disease, in the battle for better social conditions, in the fighting of wrongs, working for a happier and a better world.

The claim of Mr. Borah, Mr. Diekema said, that Washington had advised complete isolation and not merely against political entanglements is a complete perversion of the words and spirit of Washington.

Mr. Diekema's address was on the subject, "The Legacies that Washington Left to Us." He first quoted a long list of great men of Washington's day and our own day who expressed their opinion of Washington and then showed how the legacies are that Washington gave to his country and to mankind.

Most important was the legacy of character, the example of a great and good life that challenges all the world to emulation. A second legacy is political, the establishment of the two term tenure of office of the presidents. It has been a much greater safeguard in present times than we usually realize, Mr. Diekema declared. Another great legacy is the constitution of the United States, for no one can read the details of the first constitutional convention without being convinced that the great human document could not have been passed had it not been for the influence of Washington.

A fourth and one of the greatest legacies Washington left was his farewell message. In it he enjoined upon the American people to remain united, warning them that in division lay danger, as was shown later by the tragedy of the Civil war. He told them that a nation is built on education, morality and religion, a fact that has been a source of strength throughout our history. He warned the American people to preserve the independence of the legislative, the judicial and the executive branches of the government, a warning that is now in danger of being repudiated because the independence of the legislative and the judiciary is being threatened. He warned them, and practiced what he preached, that under the most trying circumstances, that America must remain free from entangling political alliances, and that has been a legacy of great value to us. But his whole life showed that he was not a selfish isolationist and that his great principle of nationalism that started the tradition which has kept like a golden thread throughout our history, was not a call to refrain from helping humanity wherever we can in a spirit of co-operation and goodwill. For unselfishness was the very essence of the character of Washington.

The music, in charge of Mrs. A. Leenhouts, consisted of piano solos by John Lloyd Kollen; vocal selections by a quartet, Mrs. Arthur Vischer, Miss Anne Vischer, Miss Mabel Anthony, and Miss Janet Mulder, accompanied by Mrs. Martha Robbins; violin solos by Walter Ritter, accompanied by Mr. Kollen.

He will fill the place of Arthur R. Shigley, who last week declined reelection in order to engage in business in Lansing.

A large and enthusiastic audience that taxed the capacity of Van Raalte school auditorium met Tuesday evening to listen to a well balanced parent-teachers club program in charge of Miss Dyar's room. The program given was as follows: community singing; reading by Miss Lindsey; song by group of children of 1st and 2nd grades; dialogue, "An Apple Pie," by J. Gallen and A. Fausen; group of songs by Maple Ave. church quartet composed of the following members: C. J. De Koster, Albert Aerts, Ben Veldman and Peter Veldman; selections by Vander Nien's orchestra.

Miss Koerte, city nurse, gave a talk about the health of and the care that should be given our children. Mr. Fell was called on by the president of the club and he responded with a few remarks regarding the new Washington school project.

All the clubs of the city know what it is to have George Wolferding in their gatherings. He was called on for remarks and he showed marked oratorical ability in describing the play, "It Pays To Advertise," which is to be presented by the parent-teachers clubs of the city. He surely proved to be some advertising manager.

Clarence Fietstra and Miss Jean Systma of Grand Rapids were the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Boss of 36 W. 18th St. over the week end.

THE BEST

club men should warn the youth at an early date to keep themselves in check. There is too much idleness and waste of time, too much so-called recreation, that cannot be called such in the true sense of the word.

"The Bible teaches us that we cannot squander time, in fact, the time is all too short. The happiest man is the Christian. He is the best man, the safest man and the most useful man in the community because God gives him strength to work and not to squander his time."

"Another motive in life is money. Mankind does much to gain wealth also in a measure self preservation, having away something for a rainy day. A very commendable attribute when not carried too far. A man must not stultify himself in money making, he must not forget his Lord and Master because of his greed for gold."

"The fifth and last motive in life is prayer. In this we should follow the example of Jesus Christ. His life was a prayerful life. His life was one filled with work, not for greed, not for self-gratification, not for home, not for money, not for self-preservation, but his prayer was for the good of man, and the ending of that life was for the salvation of mankind."

"You business men, do you ever stop in your daily grand sales and prayers? It is the greatest relief from the weariness of your toil, the world's greatest good deed were men of prayer—that is why they stayed multitudes. Men must not live in idleness. A preacher who does not sweat on the pulpit is playing a losing game. God said that in the sweat of thy brow thou shalt eat thy bread, and God meant what he said."

"Let us rejoice in the welfare of others. No doubt that is a hard thing to do. It is easy to grieve and be in sympathy with those who are in sorrow. It is more difficult to rejoice with those who are successful, for here always the element of jealousy enters in."

"It would be difficult for a merchant who is a failure to rejoice over the success of his neighbor. It is even hard for a minister of the gospel with his stinging charge to rejoice over the success of a pastor in a church a block away."

"All you men here, and I know you are that kind of men, must do as Jesus did, come down to the level of the people. We must have a love for the common folk, don't play to the aristocracy and forget the lower strata, for this is a democratic government, and if Jesus was on earth today he would mingle with the meek and lowly, and Lincoln has said, 'God must have loved the common people otherwise he would not have created so many of them.'"

It does not matter so much what church you belong to, or where you lift up your voice in prayer, the all important matter is, are you one with Jesus Christ? We should devote ourselves to prayer, not alone in our bed chambers, but in the circle of our family."

"I do not know if this address is appropriate, but I feel that the message of Jesus Christ is appropriate anywhere, and I sincerely hope that the influence of this wonderful club may be felt along religious lines just as greatly as the tremendous influence you have shown in a civic way, in developing this our beautiful little city of Holland."

"When Rev. Masselink had finished his discourse, Chairman Geo. Pelgrim said, the message of Jesus was appropriate anywhere, and that we can conceive the child Jesus as a playing boy as well as the Saviour of man. He said that Jesus as a boy must have enjoyed the pursuits of life. If there were games he played them, he played them fair. He must have been a wonderful uplift to his young associates as great in fact as when he preached to the multitude when a God man."

One of the oldest establishment in Ottawa county changed hands when negotiations of the purchase of the Turner Abstract company's business were completed. The new owners took immediate charge of the abstract office at the court house, and business started Tuesday morning under the new ownership.

The Grand Haven business was established many years ago. Many years ago the abstract book were acquired by George D. Turner of that city, who had been clerk of Ottawa county for several terms. Mr. Turner operated the office until the business was purchased shortly after the world war by Major George L. Olsen and Orrie J. Sallier, who have continued it under the name of the Turner Abstract company. The records and abstract books of the company are now very valuable, and the company is doing a very extensive business. No change in policy is announced by the Michigan Trust company, the new owners.

"MR. BOB" IS TO

The Epworth League will repeat its play "Mr. Bob," in the W. L. C. hall on Thursday night of this week. This play was given very successfully once before and many requests came to repeat it. There are some startling situations in the play and many good laughs.

Robert Brown, clerk of Benson & Brown, is sent on a secret mission to a country house. Before his arrival another Mr. Brown shows up and becomes the victim of a double mistaken identity. He is taken not only for the clerk but also for Mr. Bob. The latter is thought to be the sweetest of Katharine Rogers. Before Clerk Brown can establish his identity he is involved in some funny situations.

CROSS PLAN OF INTEREST IN DETROIT

A Detroit News representative was in Holland recently in order to get information about the suppression of news concerning divorce actions until a trial actually begins in court. It has been known for some time among the judges in Detroit that Judge Cross has been following that rule, and now the jurists there, eleven in number, have just what Judge Cross has been advocating and demanding for some years back.

While eleven judges in Detroit believe in the Judge Cross idea, one of them believes in full publicity, while another was noncommittal.

Judge Cross' rule provides that access to papers in a divorce suit shall be denied everyone except those directly interested until the final decree has been filed. The rule was instituted in 1916 and since that time no divorce news has appeared in any Ottawa county newspapers except after a trial.

Two of the Detroit judges interviewed expressed themselves as in favor of holding divorce hearings in the judge's chambers, with the public barred.

The Detroit News representative interviewed Attorney Elbert Parsons, who gave the Detroit News a correct version:

"A representative of the Detroit News called at this office recently stating that he was here to ascertain the attitude of the attorneys in this circuit toward the local circuit court rule, adopted by Judge Cross, prohibiting access to divorce case files by all others except the parties to the case and their attorney, until after a decree in the case has been entered, without a special order of court. This rule, said the newspaper man, operated to keep all news of divorce cases out of the newspapers until after the case was disposed of, by which time the matter was more or less stale news. He said he was here to learn whether the rule was strictly enforced, how the attorneys liked it and whether there was any sentiment for its change, this being the only circuit where such a rule prevailed, as far as he knew."

"I told him that, under the statute, sixty days must always elapse after a divorce case was started before there could be a trial of the case. The purpose of this is to give the parties time to think over carefully the seriousness of the step they were taking and its consequences and to become reconciled and drop the proceedings if they desired. In other words, that the policy of the law was to encourage people to refrain from divorcing and sixty days to think things over was the legal method of furthering that policy. I said that I had never discussed the rule with Judge Cross or with other attorneys and that it was accepted as a matter of course by attorneys here and by the newspapers; that I understood the purpose of the rule to be an encouragement and help to reconciliation between parties to pending divorce proceedings, by preventing the humiliation attached to newspaper publicity in matters of family trouble, and that people were much more likely to become reconciled and save their home life by forgetting their differences and by mutual forgiveness, if nobody knew about the affair except the attorneys and the court officers, than they were if the whole matter, with a statement of charges and counter charges, had been paraded before the public in the newspapers; that our own local papers had never been hard up for news without printing details of divorces and family troubles until after the case had been tried; that Judge Cross was as willing as the average to grant divorces of divorce in proper cases. But this court rule was in effect notice to the public and to the newspapers in particular, that while the case was pending, in his court, reconciliations were not to be discouraged or prevented by making a public matter out of a private tragedy. The Detroit newspaper man went away expressing himself as convinced that the matter had its good points and that his paper would probably have to waver alone without premature divorce news from Ottawa and Allegan counties."

C. OF C. NEEDS CONFIDENCE AND CO-OPERATION OF ALL THE CITIZENS

A chamber of commerce is valuable as much for the mistakes it prevents as for the successes it secures for a city. That was one of the outstanding facts brought out in a very informative address delivered Tuesday evening by J. C. Beukema, secretary of the Muskegon chamber of commerce, at the meeting of the Holland chamber of commerce in the city hall.

Mr. Beukema described a number of instances of concerns that tried to locate in Muskegon but that had been turned down because the chamber of commerce looked upon it as one of its important duties to save local people from backing concerns that are without good business standing. Mr. Beukema pointed out that the same state of affairs exists everywhere today because of the period of deflation that followed the war. Factory buildings are to be had everywhere and the competition for concerns that are really worth while is so tremendous that it is beyond the conception of the average citizen. There is much opportunity to secure concerns that nobody wants but the fact that nobody wants them is a very good reason to be conservative in accepting them.

The really desirable concerns that want to locate in a city are looking for the co-operation not only of the merchants but are interested in the manufacturing business. It is to a factory to have another factory of its own kind in a city. No factory is self-contained and it depends for success partly on other factories of the same or allied industries. Also they depend on the attitude of the banks and financial interests. It is to show a hospitable attitude and see the end of industrial growth, the chances are increased for landing new industries.

In this and in all other work of the chamber of commerce, the faith and co-operation of the individual membership is indispensable. Mr. Beukema declared. The work cannot be left to the secretary or the board of directors. A chamber of commerce will be what the members make it. If they show the right spirit, the chamber of commerce will be what the city needs. If they have vision the chamber of commerce will grow and the city will grow. If not, the reverse will be the case. He gave a number of examples of cities whose growth had been retarded because of the lack of vision of the people in seeing the opportunities. Once St. Louis was larger than Chicago and it might have continued larger if the people had had the foresight of the leaders in Chicago. And there are a number of other cities like it. An organization of business men like a chamber of commerce can definitely and concretely affect the growth of a community as these illustrations prove.

Contrary to the usual opinion, Mr. Beukema said, cities are not built where nature has provided advantages but where men build them. Many of the greatest cities are not in places where natural advantages are great but where there were men who had vision and determination.

He called upon the people of the community to exercise patience in judging their chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce deals in intangibles, he said, not in plastic material like a manufacturer, and it takes a long time to evolve a well organized chamber of commerce. The greatest danger is that the home folk can expect too much the first year. Every citizen should remember that he is individually responsible for the success of the chamber of commerce. Many people are willing to take the fruits of progress but are unwilling to contribute anything to it. Unless all contribute their share in service, the chamber of commerce cannot rise to its highest opportunities. Faith and patience were the two qualities stressed by Mr. Beukema and a third added to these was co-operation.

He spoke for an hour to an audience of about a hundred. Vice-president Champion opened the meeting and Con De Pree presided. Mr. De Pree backed up Fred Pantland about the probable growth of Holland. Eight years ago, he said, Holland was a little country city smaller than Holland and now it is a great city. But few of the natives took advantage of it and now it is too late. Even Holland has made big strides, and the time has certainly come to take advantage of the opportunities here by the home people. Mr. De Pree told of one piece of property that a few years ago sold for $25,000 and for which a few weeks ago $97,500 was received. It is the same building but the increase in population has added the value. He compared it with Florida and showed how Western Michigan has many advantages Florida lacks. He told of a number of manufacturing plants in Holland that have greatly increased their business, one of them to the amount of $3,000,000 last year. All these increases are equivalent to a number of new factories, Mr. De Pree said. One Holland concern last year increased its output 244 per cent. Such growth is better than the coming of a new factory and it explains why the population of Holland is increasing all the time and why new houses are being built all the time.

Speaking of new factories, Mr. De Pree said that in Muskegon the C. of C. investigated 140 propositions in one year and accepted out of that number just one new factory. Mr. De Pree pointed out that the chamber of commerce is not doing its duty if it does not protect the city against concerns that have gone broke elsewhere and that merely wish to float loans here to pay their debts in another city. He made a strong plea for the confidence and co-operation of the chamber of commerce work.

The Sixth Reformed church will sing at the evening service of the Sixth Reformed church.

The sales convention of the Holland maid company which was attended by the managers of their several branches from the states of Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio, ended with a big banquet given Saturday evening, and the last few members of the organization left for their several territories yesterday.

Every phase of the meeting was successful. Every sales manager went home filled with pep and enthusiasm, determined to make the Holland Maid the king of the washing industry.

The banquet went over big, and how could it have been otherwise, seeing that the principal talk was given by the vice-president, Hon. C. J. Diekmann, and when the toastmaster's chair was occupied by that able gentleman, Mr. Con De Pree?

Some of the other speakers at the banquet were: Mr. Charlie Landwehr, of the Holland Fur and Leather company, Mr. D. F. Boonstra, a director of the Holland Maid company, Mr. H. M. Eosworth, secretary of the Holland Maid company, Mr. H. L. Bullman, manager of the Indiana Division, Mr. August Taub, manager at Saginaw, Mr. H. Hartwell, manager at Grand Rapids, Mr. E. W. Meyer, manager at Bay City, Mr. W. Steinhilber, manager at Flint, Mr. H. Gallier, manager at South Bend, Indiana, Mr. N. Bartholomew of South Bend, Indiana, Mr. Donald Emerson, manager at LaPorte, Indiana, and Miss Brinkler, manager at Springfield, Ohio. A little musical program was given by Mr. Bert Miller, manager at LaPorte, Indiana and Miss Gibbons of Indianapolis.

The convention started Friday morning, February 19th, at 8:00 o'clock on the sixth floor of the Warm Friend Tavern. The meeting was called to order by the general manager, Mr. Carl E. Gschwind, who gave a brief outline as to the purposes of the convention, what had already been accomplished in the past, and the unfinished problems of the future. To this Friday morning was devoted.

In the afternoon, Mr. L. F. Allen, of the Sheldon department of the Woodward-McLachlan Institute of Grand Rapids, gave a very fine talk on "Selling." He left with the audience that one great thought, "The Humanity of Salesmanship."

On Saturday morning session was again called to order by Mr. Gschwind, and several talks were given by the division managers of the Holland Maid company. After that Mr. Charlie Landwehr took the floor. It is doubtful if a more enthusiastic and forceful speaker has ever been seen in the city.

Mr. Landwehr inspired every person who listened, and aroused every salesman with the result that they all vowed to make 1926 the greatest year for the Holland Maid company.

On Saturday afternoon the managers visited the Holland Maid plant and were certainly pleased with the facilities at hand for producing Holland Maid Washers.

Every detail of the convention was a success. Everything was done in a happy and enthusiastic way and it is needless to say that the sales organization of the Holland Maid company will do its very best to show their appreciation of the hospitality shown and to put the Holland Maid company at the head of the washing industry.

Sheriff Fred Kamferbeek has returned to Grand Haven after several days while on a trip to Kissimmee, Florida, after David Stegman, aged Chester man who is wanted for wife desertion. The sheriff said the Florida weather was great. He was taken to a nearby orange grove by officers at Kissimmee.

The Blom candy factory on W. 8th street has been sold to Gerrit Van Dyke and Edward Van Tatenhove. The new proprietors have already taken possession and are in charge of the plant now. Mr. Blom will stay with them as long as may be necessary for them to become thoroughly familiar with the business.

The name of the new concern will be "The Dutch Maid Candy Co." There will be no immediate changes but the new proprietors will continue the same policies of the former owners. The deal was made through Smith & Visser.

An ambitious program in pagantry will be given at the First Methodist church Sunday evening, Feb. 28. "The Call of the Homeland" involves a large number of characters and is a pageant of real worth. It presents many of the problems which America faces today. In meeting these live issues Christianity challenges her to accept her high privilege as world leader. It is expected a crowded house will witness this truly patriotic and intensely religious presentation.

The city of Muskegon now has a radio broadcasting station and it was heard in Holland for the first time Tuesday evening. R. B. Champion was one of the local radio fans who succeeded in getting Muskegon on the air. The station is known as WHHM and its official name is the Muskegon County Radiophonic Broadcasting station. It is located at the Occidental hotel. The equipment includes two microphones, an amplifier and an aerial. The last named has been placed above the new portion of the Occidental hotel and is sixty feet in length.

Hope orators are being coached by Prof. John B. Nykerk for the annual Michigan oratorical league contest to be held next week Friday at Ypsilanti.

Stanley Alberts of Hamilton will carry Hope's banner in the men's contest and Miss Harriet E. Henefeld of Holland will represent Hope in the women's contest.

Eight colleges will be represented. The women's contest will be held during the afternoon and the men's contest in the evening. Hope will send a large delegation.

CARFERRIES, HAVING LESS TROUBLE WITH LAKE ICE THIS YEAR

The Grand Trunk carferries out of Grand Haven Harbor have been able to make a large number of trips this year across Lake Michigan, ice conditions having been better than in years.

The ferry Grand Haven, sometimes known as the "greyhound of the lakes" because of its speed, has made 111 trips in 53 days and the Milwaukee, a slower ferry, has made 106 trips in the same time. This is a round trip every 24 hours. In past years sometimes it has taken two weeks for a ferry to go across to Milwaukee.

PETITIONS IN ELECTION ARE NOW ALL FILED

Petitions filed in the coming Grand Haven city election for candidates were few and by Saturday there were no additions to the list of candidates for the higher offices within the gift of the city. Mayor H. H. Hillman, Treasurer J. C. Lehman and Aldermen John Hoffmann and John Lowe had their petitions filed while Joe Wieringa, aspirant for a seat in the council, also had his petition filed by friends.

Bernard Cook's petition for justice of the peace to succeed Hugh E. Lillie, had been filed and petitions for constables in the third and fifth ward were filed. Jack Spang had filed in the third and Lawrence De Witt, Grand Haven patrolman, in the fifth. Mr. De Witt formerly lived in Holland.

Chief Deputy Marvin Den Herder and Deputy George Denbury and Eysenga made a sudden raid on the home of Bert Pryszucha, age 43, at Grand Haven, arresting Pryszucha for violation of the prohibition law. The officers said they found distilling apparatus, five and a half gallons of moon and some beer and mash.

When arraigned before Justice Hugh E. Lillie, Pryszucha was bound over to the March term of circuit court after he had waived examination. $300 cash bond was required and this was furnished. It is believed that this case will mark the start of a determined effort on the part of officers to eradicate the booze evil there as much as possible.

"Doc" Paul, the funniest and cleanest of all comedians is coming to Holland next week with his 22 people musical comedy company. The show comes well recommended from all Michigan towns and this week are breaking house records at the Regent Theater in Muskegon. The show carries a carload of beautiful scenery and some of the most gorgeous costumes ever seen in Holland.

The big beauty chorus is one of the big features of the show and the Radio-Cast quartette is going to be heard in person. The quartette have been singing over the radio in Chicago for the past season.

One of the most pleasing numbers on the local lyceum course is the Farnum Trio, which is to appear here Thursday evening, March 10, under the auspices of Y. M. S. A. in the Christian high school gym.

In the company there are three artists of exceptional ability: Doris Farnum, interpretive reader, contralto and pianist; Edwyn Haines, violinist; and Darlelle Yost, violinist. Miss Farnum, who heads the company, is a well-known local entertainer. She is a gifted reader of character and sketches are always outstandingly popular.

Mr. Haines is a young Australian violinist who is widely known in his native country. He is a graduate of the Melbourne (Australia) University Conservatory. Mr. Haines possesses rare artistry, based upon a nicety of phrasing and a keen depth of feeling. Miss Yost has technique and interpretative ability which make her a valuable member of the trio. The type and variety of entertainment rendered by the Farnum Trio place them in a class distinctive in lyceum offerings. This will be the fourth number of the course.

Thursday night will be a gala night for all Knights of Pythias in Holland. This is the annual event for all past chancellors of this lodge when they will assume entire control of the lodge for the evening. There is no other organization of its type which is more proud of a long and successful and helpful career. Many of the men who twenty or twenty-five years ago were in the executive chair will again be on hand. The present officers will step out of their offices for the evening and all the routine and special work will be assumed by past chancellors.

Among the men who will be honored Thursday evening are: Capt. A. H. Harrington, Arthur Van Duren, G. A. Stegman, Ben Van Raalte, Jas B. Hadden, C. Vander Meulen, Otto P. Kramer, E. P. Davis, Andrew Hyma, Ben Jensen, Oscar Peterson, Geo. A. Pelgrim, Henry Wilson, Wm. Westmeier, J. Westver.

Many of the past chancellors are at present out of the city but in addition to the former executives there will be a full attendance of the regular membership. Work will be put on in the second tank. After the meeting there will be informal talks by some of the old timers and light refreshments will be served by a committee.

In connection with the showing of "The Fool" March 1, 2, 3 and 4 as a movie benefit for the American Legion Auxiliary for its soldier memorial fund, the Strand theatre has offered to the person selling the most tickets a prize of a season's pass to all Strand performances. The generosity of this offer can only be appreciated when it is fully understood that the Auxiliary receives every cent of the money paid them for tickets. The Auxiliary therefore is offering a second prize to the person being highest in the number of tickets sold. For those not knowing an Auxiliary member from whom to buy tickets, they will be available at the Model Drug store.

Mr. Harry Weener has completed his work at William Meussen and is now helping his father at home. A very pleasant surprise was told on Mrs. J. W. Nienhuis last Sunday night in honor of her birthday. The group had planned to meet at the Crisp school at 7 o'clock and then marched in on a group of forty to fifty marched in. There were both old and young people in the group and they showed their old time pep by playing games with the young people. It is stated that the young people were out-done on this occasion. Dainty refreshments were served by the young people. They all returned home at a late hour. The school board meeting will be held on Monday night instead of Wednesday night.

Mr. Herman Weener who has been doctoring with Dr. Samson of Holland for his eyes is improving nicely.

Miss Magdelene Prins visited her friends in Holland a few days last week.

Mr. Elsie Seekman of Zeeland now employed at Chicago as telephone operator was present at the birthday surprise of Mrs. Nienhuis last Monday evening. Miss Seekman has many friends in North Holland and Crisp and also visited Miss Della Vander Luyster and Sarah L. Nies at the East Crisp school. She left for Chicago Tuesday noon.

Mr. Gerrit G. Goenevoud of Holland, county school commissioner was the principal speaker at the Parent-Teachers club meeting held last Tuesday evening. A fine program was arranged which was enjoyed by all. A large crowd turned out and refreshments were also served.

LOCAL

Castle Lodge No. 153 will attend special services at Grace Episcopal church Sunday morning, Feb. 28, at 10:30 A. M. Father Douglas will be in charge of the service. Members of the order are requested to be at the lodge room at 10 o'clock and attend in a body.

A home demonstration meeting will again be held in the town hall in Fillmore township March 2 at 10 o'clock. The home demonstrator agent, Miss Amanda Hill, will give the third lesson. It will be on neck binding and set in pockets. All the ladies of the township who are interested are invited to come. They are asked to bring their dinners.

M. C. Lindemann has severed his connection with the Ray View Furniture company to accept an interesting position with the H. & J. Stevens & Co. of Grand Rapids, general advertising agents. The new position which Mr. Lindemann will assume on March first offers opportunity in the advertising field for talent and initiative. Being an enthusiast for Holland, Mr. Lindemann will continue to make his home here but will have an office in Grand Rapids in the Murray building.

H. & J. Stevens & Co. is an advertising firm that is nationally known. It is one of the strongest concerns of its class in Michigan and has contracts to produce the advertising for several large manufacturing concerns in Michigan and also with many concerns in other states.

Mr. Lindemann has been with the Ray View firm for three years but the advertising field proved so attractive that he was prevailed upon by the Grand Rapids firm to join their ranks.

The last week before the presentation of the play, "It Pays to Advertise" on March 2, 3 and 4 is a busy one for the cast, which is rehearsing every evening and putting on the finishing touches so that those who attend the performance may be assured of a splendid evening's entertainment.

The poster contest which aroused a great deal of interest, has come to a close and the following contestants have been pronounced the successful ones: In the high school, Helen Eberhardt is the winner of the 1st prize, donated by Holleman-De Weerd Auto Co.; Chester Hop won the 2nd prize of $5, given by Meyers Music House; and Benjamin Mersman, the 3rd prize of $2, donated by the Shady Lawn Florists.

The prizes in the junior high school are as follows: the 1st prize of $5, given by the Yonker Plumbing and Heating company, is won by Heister De Weerd; the 2nd prize of $3, donated by P. S. Borer & Co.; by Arthur Pete; and the 3rd prize of $2, given by the Federal Bakery by George Smeets.

In the grade schools Esther Johanson of Horace Mann wins the First State Bank's $5; Gordon Grinwis of Longfellow school receives the $3 award of the Warm Friend Tavern; and Adelaide Koorler of Froebel, the third prize of $2, donated by the De Pree Hardware company.

Miss Gertrude Sprietsma and Miss Elenora Ryan, judged the work of the high school and junior high students, and Miss Anna Boot and Miss Elsie Bosker judged the posters of the grades. The judging was very difficult because of the many excellent entries; the clearness and directness of the posters' message played a large part in the decisions, and artistic values, neatness, and adherence to the rules of the contest were also taken into consideration.

The prizes will be awarded to the successful high school students between the acts of the play on Tuesday evening, to the winners of the junior high at the second performance and to the winners of the grades between the acts on Thursday evening.

The prize-winning posters may be seen in the windows of the business houses, offering the prize.

Mr. A. M. Galentine and son "Bud," Fred Sagh and Ben Mulder motored to Grand Rapids Tuesday afternoon to take in the Auto Show.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vischer were Grand Rapids visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Nienhuis and family and Miss Sarah L. Nies visited over to Mr. Phil Vinkemulder last Wednesday for the purpose of sewing curtains for the East Crisp school. They reported a very pleasant evening.

Mr. Bert Kraal and Floyd Prins motored to Grand Haven last week. The pupils of the primary grades of the East Crisp school were most pleasantly entertained by their teacher, Miss Della Vander Luyster last Friday afternoon.

Mr. John Bouwman of Borculo was kind enough to drive the pupils in his Ford truck over to Miss Vander Luyster's past where they live on a Salver road north of Zeeland. Benjamin Altena and Bill Boes accompanied Mr. Bouwman on the trip. The pupils enjoyed the afternoon by playing games and listening to the radio. After a splendid supper was served by Mrs. Vander Luyster they returned home. On the return trip they found the road drifted with snow and they had considerable difficulty in plowing thru with the loaded Ford truck. They took the North Holland road up there and back.

Bert Kraal and Floyd Prins visited the local school last week.

Mr. Harry Weener has completed his work at William Meussen and is now helping his father at home. A very pleasant surprise was told on Mrs. J. W. Nienhuis last Sunday night in honor of her birthday. The group had planned to meet at the Crisp school at 7 o'clock and then marched in on a group of forty to fifty marched in. There were both old and young people in the group and they showed their old time pep by playing games with the young people. It is stated that the young people were out-done on this occasion. Dainty refreshments were served by the young people. They all returned home at a late hour. The school board meeting will be held on Monday night instead of Wednesday night.

Mr. Herman Weener who has been doctoring with Dr. Samson of Holland for his eyes is improving nicely.

Miss Magdelene Prins visited her friends in Holland a few days last week.

Mr. Elsie Seekman of Zeeland now employed at Chicago as telephone operator was present at the birthday surprise of Mrs. Nienhuis last Monday evening. Miss Seekman has many friends in North Holland and Crisp and also visited Miss Della Vander Luyster and Sarah L. Nies at the East Crisp school. She left for Chicago Tuesday noon.

Mr. Gerrit G. Goenevoud of Holland, county school commissioner was the principal speaker at the Parent-Teachers club meeting held last Tuesday evening. A fine program was arranged which was enjoyed by all. A large crowd turned out and refreshments were also served.

Mr. Lindemann has severed his connection with the Ray View Furniture company to accept an interesting position with the H. & J. Stevens & Co. of Grand Rapids, general advertising agents. The new position which Mr. Lindemann will assume on March first offers opportunity in the advertising field for talent and initiative. Being an enthusiast for Holland, Mr. Lindemann will continue to make his home here but will have an office in Grand Rapids in the Murray building.

H. & J. Stevens & Co. is an advertising firm that is nationally known. It is one of the strongest concerns of its class in Michigan and has contracts to produce the advertising for several large manufacturing concerns in Michigan and also with many concerns in other states.

Mr. Lindemann has been with the Ray View firm for three years but the advertising field proved so attractive that he was prevailed upon by the Grand Rapids firm to join their ranks.

The last week before the presentation of the play, "It Pays to Advertise" on March 2, 3 and 4 is a busy one for the cast, which is rehearsing every evening and putting on the finishing touches so that those who attend the performance may be assured of a splendid evening's entertainment.

The poster contest which aroused a great deal of interest, has come to a close and the following contestants have been pronounced the successful ones: In the high school, Helen Eberhardt is the winner of the 1st prize, donated by Holleman-De Weerd Auto Co.; Chester Hop won the 2nd prize of $5, given by Meyers Music House; and Benjamin Mersman, the 3rd prize of $2, donated by the Shady Lawn Florists.

The prizes in the junior high school are as follows: the 1st prize of $5, given by the Yonker Plumbing and Heating company, is won by Heister De Weerd; the 2nd prize of $3, donated by P. S. Borer & Co.; by Arthur Pete; and the 3rd prize of $2, given by the Federal Bakery by George Smeets.

In the grade schools Esther Johanson of Horace Mann wins the First State Bank's $5; Gordon Grinwis of Longfellow school receives the $3 award of the Warm Friend Tavern; and Adelaide Koorler of Froebel, the third prize of $2, donated by the De Pree Hardware company.

Miss Gertrude Sprietsma and Miss Elenora Ryan, judged the work of the high school and junior high students, and Miss Anna Boot and Miss Elsie Bosker judged the posters of the grades. The judging was very difficult because of the many excellent entries; the clearness and directness of the posters' message played a large part in the decisions, and artistic values, neatness, and adherence to the rules of the contest were also taken into consideration.

The prizes will be awarded to the successful high school students between the acts of the play on Tuesday evening, to the winners of the junior high at the second performance and to the winners of the grades between the acts on Thursday evening.

The prize-winning posters may be seen in the windows of the business houses, offering the prize.

MEDIUM OF ADVERTISING IS WASTED

The Western Michigan Tourist and Resort association is doing some excellent work in advertising Western Michigan to the outside public as the playground of the nation. Naturally another valuable means of advertising has been coming from the people who visited here, and there are thousands of them, and they are telling the folks at home what a wonderful playground it is.

Advertising Michigan outside is another medium that has been neglected greatly and that is by the stationery and pamphlet route. It seems that a small, button-shaped like the state of Michigan, with the words "Michigan, the playground of America," would prove very effective if printed on the flap of an envelope in a color or on the side or bottom of stationery, or on circular matter away from the advertising itself. It would be a reminder to all those outside of Michigan who receive mail from business houses in Holland, Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, and Muskegon and other towns along the east coast, that there is a 400 mile coast line in Michigan, on the East shore where wonderful recreation can be had in the summer time.

This little slogan would be a follow-up to the reminder of the advertising that has already been done, and those who receive business mail in that way would be set to thinking, and when vacation time does arrive it is dollars to doughnuts that he nose of the automobiles from the prairies and the mud-lake districts of Ohio and that will be turned northward to that little pocket on the map which they call Michigan, surrounded by big lakes and dotted with thousands of little lakes.

It seems that a small cut of Michigan about the size of a thumb nail will do some very effective advertising, and would not detract from the stationery in the least.

One concern in Holland alone sends out nearly a half million letters annually. Supposing that every business house on the West Michigan pike from the Indiana line to the Soo would start this little stunt, the effect could not help but be tremendous and the cost would be little or nothing, for the small Michigan cut could be easily located when the stationery and circular matter are printed.

The Normal class of the Sixth Reformed church held its regular monthly business meeting Wednesday night in the basement of the church and decided to hold a membership drive. Two teams were chosen. Louis Dalman was captain of one and Herman Klekaveld of the other. The drive is to close with the April meeting and the losing team is to give a supper to the winning team.

A fine program was given Wednesday night consisting of an instrumental and vocal duet by Miss Anna De Groot and Leonard De Groot; violin solo by Gerald Sagers, accompanied by Miss Minnie Vandewater; duet by Miss Jennie De Groot and Mrs. Steinkamp. The singing was done by Miss L. Dalman and Mr. and Mrs. Chris De Wit.

The time limit on filing petitions for a place on the spring primary ballot will expire a week from next Tuesday but so far there has been no great activity to get into the game and it looks as if the scramble for office this spring will be a very mild one, if it can be called a scramble at all.

It seems likely that there will be no contest at all for the office of mayor. So far no one has been mentioned to run in opposition to Mayor Kammeraad and there is still plenty of time for a candidacy to develop. Two years ago however, when the present mayor was in the field for the position he now holds, there were other booms that had already developed fairly large proportions at this stage of the game. At that time it was common to hear the candidate's majority campaign discussed at social gatherings and to hear candidates favored or opposed by the voters. But this year no one seems to be paying any attention to the principal office in the gift of the people and it seems to be assumed that Mayor Kammeraad will be returned to his present position without a contest.

If there should be the case, the chief item of interest will be taken out of the spring campaign. The office of mayor is one of the offices that has power to stir up a real political fight in Holland and in the past some warm battles have been fought over this office. Occasionally a battle also develops over the office of alderman in a ward but at present there seems to be comparatively little chance of a fight over this office. At least the prospective candidates for the six vacancies are not making themselves very vocal as yet.

Some contests may be expected to develop at the last minute, as is often the case, but at present it looks as if this will be distinctly an off year in Holland politics in spite of the fact that usually a campaign is warmer in a majority year than in a year when no mayor is being elected.

FORMER HOLLAND MANUFACTURER DIES IN LANSING

Word has been received in Holland that Mr. Edsel Brown, of Lansing, Michigan, died of blood poisoning. Mr. Brown will be remembered as the former superintendent of the Brown-Wall Engine & Pulley company of Holland, and before his death was superintendent of the Ideal Power Lawn Mower company of Lansing. Mr. Brown had many friends in Holland and was associated here with Frank Wall who was also interested in the local company.

Play Draws A Good House At Carnegie Hall

A good sized house greeted the play, "The Sons of the Revolution," at Carnegie hall Friday evening. The play was arranged for by the lecture course management and was by a cast of New York players, organized and coached by the Redpath bureau's New York production department. The author of the play was Captain Conrad West. It was full of sparkling humor and "The Sons of the Revolution" that came to see it.

So greatly were the members of the Michigan State Society of the Sons of the Revolution impressed with an address on the world court made by C. H. McBride at their annual banquet at the Warm Friends Tavern Monday night that they ordered it placed in the archives of the society. The address was scholarly and it covered the ground thoroughly. Mr. McBride compressed into a half hour's talk a volume of information about the world court that would be hard to match.

Referring at the end to the fact that the world court has no means of enforcing its decisions Mr. McBride said, "The very spirit in which the world court was conceived should prevent the necessity of force in carrying out its edicts. It was no less than Alexander Hamilton who questioned the authority of our own supreme court, but Mr. McBride showed the reality of all courts lies in public opinion and that that is also the great but intangible force back of the world court."

He not only gave a clear idea of the provisions of the world court, but what that document means, but he gave a very interesting history of the world court idea, going back in American history for several generations and showing how the idea grew and developed long before the league of nations was ever thought of. In spirit and intentions the United States has been committed to the world court idea for 30 years, Mr. McBride showed.

The banquet Monday night was the 31st annual meeting of the Michigan society. C. E. Brooks and Mr. Tyson were in charge of the decorations. E. J. Yoemans, local representative, presided and welcomed the guests. Mrs. Martha Robbins furnished a piano solo.

The following officers were elected: president, David E. Keys, Grand Rapids; vice president, W. H. Beach; secretary-treasurer, Dr. A. C. Van Raalte; registrar, Edward J. Yoemans; historian, R. G. W. Van Verst; marshal, Simeon L. Hinkle; board of managers, Ernest C. Brooks, Chester L. Beach, and Geo. A. Davis; general delegate, Hoy G. Post of White Plains, N. Y.

The state society went on record as favoring an amalgamation of the Sons of the American Revolution, the amalgamated order known as "The Sons of the War for American Independence."

Sunday, Feb. 28, has been designated by the general synod of the Reformed church in America as foreign missionary day.

An effort will be made to wipe out the deficit of the foreign mission board, which has mounted to $48,631.46 in five years. The board has recommended that every member contribute one day's income for the purpose. The deficit is due to reduced receipts, increase of salaries, new missionaries and an increase in foreign exchange rates.

The heaviest snowfall in four years occurred in Ottawa county during last week when 7.2 inches of snow fell within the period named. The previous heaviest snowfall was 7.6 inches on March 20 and 21, 1922. The fall was not by any means a 24 hour record but is one of the heaviest in a long period. This is the report from the Ottawa county weather bureau.

Mrs. Cora Bliss Taylor has returned to Saginaw after attending the banquet given by the Art Institute of Chicago to the successful artists in its annual exhibit. The portrait of Mrs. Bliss and also of Joy, together with 2 landscapes, will be on exhibition there until the middle of March. One of the latter paintings was sold by the Art Institute for $200 shortly after it was hung.

Playing a strong defensive game in the first half but changing their tactics in the second period the Holland Christian High and local high reserves tangled in a fast game Thursday night. The De Graaf men won in the final half when Steggers and Bouman annexed 15 points between them.

Arendshorst and Huyser outshone their mates for Chapman's crowd but they were unable to stand the sneaky way set by the winners. The game was pretty even in the first half the score being 4-4 in favor of Christian High. This is the second victory this year for De Graaf's men over the reserves. The reserves have another hard game tonight and their mentor used ten men during the 32 minutes of play.

The Jamestown Y Five looked very fast defeating the Holland Shoes Monday night. The count being 24-14. In Bush the Y men have a few days more to go. The Y men have been found satisfactory in cleanliness, morality and health. The Y men's rank factories were included in the inspection and both were found much above the requirements.

LOCAL FIRM ADDS $10,000 IN MACHINERY

Improvements that mount up to about $10,000 have been made at the Holland Rusk company during the past month or two and the new machinery is now working to capacity at the East Eighth street plant. As a result of these improvements a transformation has taken place that makes the plant an interesting one to visit.

Before the new machinery was installed, the mixing room in which the dough was mixed by machinery was in the basement. The plant was small and it was up to the state law requirements but the company was not satisfied with it and they replaced it with what is called a daylight mixing room on the first floor where the best possible daylight lighting conditions prevail and where it is possible to obtain sanitation about one hundred per cent perfect, instead of being in the basement, the mixing room is now in the best part of the building where visitors can come and inspect it at any time.

In this mixing room three automatic electric mixers have been installed each of which has a capacity of 800 lbs. of flour at one time. The flour is first put through a blending machine where the different grades from the different mills are mixed. Then it is carried up to a sifting and cleaning machine where it is cleaned of any stray thread that might conceivably be in it as it comes from the mills. After leaving this machine it is once more put through a sifting machine of another kind before it is fed into the large hopper that is run by electric power over the high mixing bins.

These mixing machines are operated automatically by electric power and the mixing is done on the most scientific principles. After the dough is ready it is carried by a system of belts to another department in the building where it is cut into pieces large enough for a bun, which in turn is equal to two Holland rusk. These bits of dough are carried over another system of belts, without being touched by human hand, to a rising room.

From that room the large pans of buns are fed into a "traveling oven," which is also very fascinating. The pans keep on moving in the oven and when they arrive at the other end the rusk are done, the temperature and speed of the carriers being regulated automatically. The whole plant interior is of white enamel which is kept clean with almost hospital precision.

The idea of the management of the Holland Rusk company was to make that institution as nearly perfect in the matter of sanitation and in the matter of producing quality in their goods as it is humanly possible to make it. To attain this idea no expense has been spared. It was not a case of mere living up to the state requirements, which was being done before the improvements were made, but to go far beyond the requirements and to make the Holland Rusk company as well equipped an institution of its kind as is to be found anywhere.

The Holland Rusk company is now turning out approximately 100,000 rusk a day. These are packed by uniformed girls into waxed paper packages and the packages in turn are packed into large cartons in which the rusk are shipped to the dealers. There are forty employees in the place to handle the firm's output.

The modern method of baking rusk is far different from the way it was done some fifteen or twenty years ago. At that time all the work was done by hand. The dough was cut by hand, each piece was weighed individually, and after baking the buns were cut by hand. Now everything is done by machinery and the whole process is automatic, so that he hand hardly touches the rusk until they are finally packed in waxed paper bags.

The Holland Rusk company has staged a fine come-back after its disastrous fire of a year or two ago. The company is enjoying a business that is making it one of the important institutions of the city, and its installation of $10,000 worth of new machinery is merely to make it possible to keep up with the demand for its product and to make that product the best that effort can make it.

Staging a brilliant come-back in the second half, the Holland Furnace team grabbed what looked like a sure defeat, out of the fire Thursday night and won by a 44-33 score. After seeing Cuyler's team pass up and down the floor in a pass up, yet masterful fashion, most of the fans were convinced that Holland was in for a nasty defeat.

It takes a great club to make a stand against such a great team as Cuyler presented and the local men deserve much praise for their fight and determination. Heading the Flint five added much to the local reputation as this team has a string of 45 wins out of 55 starts. They lost by a 40-44 score Wednesday night to Pat Driscoll's team in Chicago.

Coch Chapman's reserve men took revenge also on Grand Haven's team Friday night and got a 12-11 verdict. The locals were behind in the last 20 seconds by a 10-11 score, but Huyser saved the day with a half court fling which spelled defeat for Grand Haven. Holland was ahead at the quarter 4-2, due to Bouman's clever floor work and shooting. The big center rang the bell twice with long tries and he followed the ball closely on defense. Dirkse and Boyink put Cohr's team ahead 7-5. The half ended, the score being 7-5. Holland's defense was pretty but the Chapman crowd failed to take advantage of their opportunities.

The Hope reserves won a return game at Sparta, carrying off a 28-14 verdict. Schouten seems to have hit upon a splendid combination and the men are all freshmen and sophomores so Hope can look for many more wins.

Holland High tackles another stiff team Friday night when Sturges plays here.

SPORTING Notes

After winning seven straight games against the best opposition in the west, the Holland Furnace team finally was downed, the 20th Artillery quintet of Chicago turning the trick. Holland was minus the services of Fred Spitznagel, but the visitors were a better team and while Fred might have turned in a few points it is hardly probable he would have played a better defensive game than that put up by Whip Johnson. The Artillery aggregation was about as fast as they make them and although playing their fifth game in five nights, the men appeared to be in top form. Driscoll, the nationally known football player, played a fine game at guard, but he was far from being the best court player as Hooker, Varney and Stillwell looked like polished tossers and their ability to score spelled defeat for the Drew five. Holland was not as hot on the rim as usual but they turned in 31 points a pretty fair sized score against such a great team as the Soldiers are rated to be. The Furnace workers were on top of the mess twice during the first half but after the third period got under way it was quite easy to see who was going to win. Mehalak started things for the visitors by filling his place like a veteran. He was followed by Varney and Miller and Japenga retaliated and the count stood eight all after five minutes of play. Hooker, said to be the best tosser in the "Windy City," showed the fans why he enjoys such a reputation, by displaying some very neat and shifty floor work. He rang up five field goals, and played at three different positions during the set, each time filling his place like a veteran. Holland was behind, 24-17 at the half. Hinga and Miller each had three two-pointers to their credit, while Mehalak, Stillwell, Varney and Hooker contributed the points for the visitors. While Holland was adding 18 points in the last two periods, Chicago was gaining goals and Dick Japenga sank two, while Miller was only able to score once. The passing and general offensive work shown by the Artillery men during the third quarter, for a while it seemed as if the locals might overtake their opponents. Hinga tallied 3 more field goals, but the best seen here this season, as it was hard for the man to man defense put up by the locals, to stop one man from always getting a short try under the hoop. Holland was downed, the Chicago five is a nationally known team and very seldom forced down in defeat. The local team this season has earned a great name for itself and all the visiting players speak in high regard of the ability of the Drew men. Perhaps one more road game will be brought here to keep the locals in shape for the Hope series which will be played, starting the second week in March.

Friday, Feb. 26, Christian high's tossers will battle Zeeland in the Christian high game. The locals have suffered one defeat at the hands of the Zeeland five and now the return of Steggers to the line up, are out for revenge.

Thus far, the return of Steggers to a successful season, having been defeated but once. By defeating both Grand Rapids and Chicago, Christian high's Holland Christian won the Selles cup for the second successive season and is entitled to permanent possession of the trophy.

But two games remain on the schedule, Grand Rapids Chr. High there on March 5, and Coopersville either the 12th or 16th.

The Holland high court team made merry with its old time rival, Grand Haven, Friday night and after 32 minutes of brisk battling had elapsed the scorer's sheet showed a 37-11 verdict for Hinga's team. The teams went to the mat on apparently even terms but the locals were not long in showing their superiority which was clearly demonstrated throughout the contest. The game was featured by the phenomenal shooting of Holland's men as they tallied from all distances and angles. Cohr's team had a stiff defense which forced the locals to take many long tries and the floor work of the visitors was precise and fast.

The Holland Hudson-Exess Co., staged quite a parade Saturday. A dozen tooling cars came down the principal streets and painted on the door windows of each car was a large lettered and the cars were arranged in the five of them in a row spelled the word E-S-S-E-X.

THE DUTCH COLLECTION AT THE U. OF M.

(When an autographed portrait of Queen Wilhelmina was presented to the University of Michigan, The Sentinel asked Mrs. Cornelia Steketee Huidt of Grand Rapids, secretary of the association that has been providing the Dutch collection at the university, to write a general article on the presentation and the growth of the collection. The article was unavoidably delayed but it is of such great general interest to Holland-Americans that it is as timely now as it was a week ago. Mrs. Huidt's article is printed herewith.)

On Saturday, February 13, those who have been working to help in equipping the library of the University of Michigan for studies in Dutch history, literature and art, passed a happy milestone on their way when the Minister of the Netherlands in Washington, Jhr. A. C. De Graeff, congratulated the University on what has been accomplished there and presented an autographed portrait which Queen Wilhelmina had sent in appreciation of the contribution to Dutch history recently made there. The book so highly appreciated is The Christian Renaissance, by Dr. Albert Huysmans, and it presents material of great value to Europe and America, as well as to Holland, on the early reformation and education. It has received much recognition in this country as well as abroad.

The interest in Dutch history and in the equipment of the University library which led up to this convention held on Feb. 13, began in 1914, when some of the leading citizens of Dutch ancestry in this state met at the invitation of Mr. Steketee to consider ways and means of securing funds for this purpose. Something over a thousand dollars was soon pledged and President Hutchins of the University had decided to appoint an instructor to teach courses in the Dutch language and literature the following year. This was to be Dr. Appelo, then of the University of Kansas. Then the work began and it was felt that all work should be postponed in favor of war charities. Dr. Appelo entered the service and went to France.

In the meantime, two young scholars entered upon the study and history of the Netherlands at the university, working on these for degrees. Dr. Henry Lucas, now of the University of the State of Washington, and Dr. Hyma, who for their studies the library of the university, Dr. W. W. Bishop, began buying books on Dutch history, at first from university funds only, later with additional money sent from time to time by our committee. With rare vision, Dr. Bishop has appreciated what the possession of such books will mean to the university in the future, and in the course of ten years he has assembled an imposing and excellent collection of material on Dutch history, now the equal of any collection on this continent, and soon, we hope, to be the very best, so scholars working in the field of Dutch history can find their source material in Michigan. Prof. Van Tyne, at the department of the department of history, also appreciated the value of such a development, and in 1924 appointed Dr. Hyma to a position in his department, where he is extending the knowledge of the influence that Holland has exercised on general history, and especially on American history. Because Holland has given the world so much of good in political institutions, we feel that we people of Dutch ancestry in Michigan would miss a great opportunity if we did not give the best that we have in our traditions to our state and our country, by contributing the material and means to advance in this way.

The meeting held at the university was a very happy occasion for everybody concerned, and it is only to be regretted that more of our friends could not go to Ann Arbor to attend the convention. It was particularly regretted that Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mulder could not be there, for the editor of the Sentinel, and his wife, have been among our most helpful friends from 1914 to this day. Minister Arboer by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Steketee of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit J. Diekema of Holland, Mr. Steketee having served as the chairman of the committee to secure funds for equipment and Mr. Diekema to take part in the program at the convention. Mrs. Henry Hult, who has served as the secretary to Mr. Steketee's committee, Rev. Henry Beets, D. D., former Church pastor, The Banner, and Dr. J. D. Nierkerk of Hope College, were also of the party.

Before the convention, President and Mrs. Little entertained the distinguished guest and attending party, along with local friends and members of the faculty, at luncheon; and Dr. Bishop conducted the library and the general library where the newly acquired collections were seen. In Science Auditorium, an audience of nearly five hundred professors and students listened with deep interest to the addresses. The Honorable G. J. Diekema presented and introduced the Minister; His Excellency the Minister of the Netherlands, Jhr. A. C. De Graeff, presented the Queen's portrait, with congratulations on what has been achieved; and President Little received this with an address of acceptance and appreciation. The main address of the occasion was made by Dr. A. J. Barnouw, of Columbia University, a representative of Leiden University and the Netherlands-American Foundation, who dealt chiefly with Holland's contributions to civilization.

The committee which has worked to provide equipment for the study of history of the Netherlands at the university now hopes to give assistance for studies in literature and art. A good start has been made in the way of reference books, but these should be richly supplemented, and illustrative material should be provided, in the way of maps, tapestry, silver, pottery, carving, and the like. President Burton has given warm encouragement to the project, and President Little gives assurance that the university will do everything possible on its part to carry the work to completion. In art, in literature, in education, in political institutions, Holland has been, and is, among the great nations, and what she has achieved should be placed within the reach of our scholars, where it can be made of service to coming generations. It is a fortunate feature of this equipment at the university that all material there will be at the service of any person in this state who wants to use it, being lent on application through the local libraries. So, scholars at Hope College and at Calvin College have had the use of these books when they need them.

Our committee feels today that those who have contributed to this equipment may well congratulate themselves that they have helped to enrich this state of ours with a permanent collection that will grow in usefulness and value as time passes, that is even now adding to knowledge, giving added insight into the past, an inspiration and guide for the future. A duty has been discharged to those in the past who built foundations for the present, a duty to those who are to follow, a duty also to the great state which is our home chosen by our fathers and to our university. It is gratifying indeed to feel that at this convention on February 13 scholarship was rewarded and encouraged, our university honored for achievement. It is gratifying indeed to know that in Holland scholars of eminence in history and the Queen herself appreciate that a service to Holland, and to Europe, has been done here, as well as to our own country. Such events are bonds of right sympathy between America and Europe, bridges that span the Atlantic for much that is good to pass, to mutual benefit.

The committee hopes for hearty co-operation in carrying on the work of equipment at the university to completion, and invite contributions and bequests.

Holland harbor is to be surveyed up to the dock at Holland. This welcome information was contained in a telegram to G. J. Diekema from Congressman Carl E. Mapes and it marks the successful culmination of a fight for a deeper channel that has been waged by this city under the leadership of Mr. Diekema and the members of the harbor board. During the recent session of the House and Harbors committee in Washington, at which Mr. Diekema and Mr. Stephan were Holland's delegates, the Holland men made a strong fight to have the survey made, and their fight has been won, as witnessed by the telegram, which reads:

"G. J. Diekema, Holland, Michigan: Board of engineers has issued orders to the district engineer to make the survey of Black Lake up to the Holland dock, as requested." It was signed "Carl E. Mapes." The fight for a survey of Black Lake up to the Holland docks was made against odds because of the fact that the general program of improvements on the piers and so on had already been passed by the board of engineers at Washington when the local men entered the lists to have the Black Lake channel survey made also. Strong objection was made against it on the ground that such surveys are usually made at local expense and that the government could not be expected to do what Holland should be doing. But Mr. Diekema pointed out a number of cases where the government had done exactly the same thing for other harbors that was being asked for Holland harbor, and that the arguments were convincing was shown by their success.

The Goodrich boats, because of the lowering of the lake level, have frequently had difficulty in reaching the Holland dock, particularly in turning around, the promeller striking mud. It is contended that a deeper channel right up to the Holland dock is an absolute necessity. By having the survey made it is expected that the government will include a deeper channel project in its program for Holland harbor improvements and that Holland will presently have a harbor that will be a great deal more efficient for water transportation than it is at present.

Local boat men not but all manufacturers who use water transportation to any extent are greatly pleased with the victory announced in the telegram. "Marine interests are greatly pleased with the news," said J. A. Johnson, of the Goodrich company, commenting on the telegram. "It looks very much as if we are going to get everything here that we asked for. And it was due to the efforts largely of Mr. Diekema that this fine result has been obtained. His very complete report of the needs of the situation here was so convincing that the government engineers could not do anything else than they did. Those of us who have watched the situation closely cannot express too strongly our appreciation of the splendid fight that Mr. Diekema made. Credit is also due to Austin Harrington who has been advocating work of this kind for years."

As to the need of the deepening of the channel, especially at this time of the lake, continued Mr. Johnson, "It is a fact that our boats practically ride on bottom from Central Park to the Holland boat dock. I have letters in my possession from all the boat captains that make this harbor verifying this statement." The authorization of the survey does not necessarily mean that the channel will be deepened, but it is hoped and expected that the survey will have that effect. In any event, the survey is the first step in such a project. U. S. Engineers are expected here within about a week to begin work by taking soundings through the ice.

Mr. and Mrs. John De Witt, 221 West 13th-st., who have been visiting for the past six weeks at Grand Haven and Muskegon have returned home. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Van Loo, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Streur and Mr. and Mrs. J. Van den Berg of Holland made a visit at the home of their brother, Mr. Frank Huizenga Wednesday evening—Zeeland Record. Harry Sierema of Holland was taken to Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids, where he submitted to a difficult operation.

The report shows that 36,169 of these are graduates of the institution while the remaining 26,695 were enrolled by her at one time but failed to complete their work for a degree.

Since the establishment of the university in 1845 a total of 48,973 degrees have been conferred upon 43,817 students, records show. The number of non-graduates is complete only through the school year 1923-24, the total at that time being 38,467 making a grand enrollment figure of 77,223 different students.

MAKE MILK CAMPAIGN IN ALLEGAN CO.

SCHOOLS CO-OPERATE WITH HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT THERE

Mr. Fales, Allegan county school commissioner and the superintendents of various city and village schools in the county are co-operating with the home economics extension work in order to make the county-wide milk campaign a most successful one. This is a part of the nutritional program of the home economics extension work in charge of Miss Amanda Hill, home demonstration agent. The dates of the intensive part of this campaign are March 15 to 19. The schools are co-operating by allowing speakers to come at a scheduled time during this week by arranging a local program to be put on at the time the speaker comes, and inviting the parents in to this program. In a good many cases parent-teacher associations are having the meetings at this time. Many of the teachers are also having their pupils prepare poster exhibits which will be exhibited either in school during the week or in making a survey in her school previous to this campaign so that its results will be available to all who are interested in this work.

Painting a picture of the city of Holland occupying the territory all the way to the shores of Lake Michigan, with Black Lake as the center of the town, Fred Z. Pantlind of Grand Rapids, Tuesday night at the meeting of the chamber of commerce pointed out the advantages that lie ready to hand for the people here. Holland as a city in which the whole of Black Lake will be only like a central park is coming, according to Mr. Pantlind, and the day is not far off. The wise ones will get ready for that day.

Mr. Pantlind urged upon the people of Western Michigan to take advantage of the coming boom and not to allow outsiders to run off with all the benefits. The people of Holland have begun to wake up to the situation, he declared. The passage of the sewage bond issue, he declared, is the best thing Holland has ever done. It shows that Holland is alive to the situation and is preparing to meet the coming boom in western Michigan half-way. Holland should look upon itself as the best city in western Michigan and should look upon its Dutch ancestry with intense pride, he declared, making it count for all it is worth. Though not a Hollander himself, Mr. Pantlind described the Hollanders as among the most desirable people anywhere and he urged the people of Holland to recognize this fact.

He devoted much attention to the Warm Friend Tavern, declaring its erection was a great forward step that has changed the whole attitude of the traveling public toward Holland. Before that every traveling man gave Holland a black eye now everyone has a good word to say for Holland.

He pointed out that we in western Michigan live within a day's drive of half the population of the U. S. and he urged the audience to take advantage of this. He praised Ottawa county for establishing the state park at Ottawa beach and he announced that an appropriation had been asked for this week to begin work on the proposed oval there immediately. He made an eloquent plea to all to think in big terms about western Michigan and thus to help along the coming development to this section.

The Holland Furnace are planning to play return week-end games with the Whiting Owls on Friday and with the Boosters at Chicago on Saturday. The Furnaces Boosters in two games played here and defeated the Whiting Owls 52 to 26.

"Western Michigan is approaching her biggest year in tourist and resort activity," says Frank V. Blakely, field representative of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association.

"And what is more," he continued, "the Michigan Tourist and Resort association is planning its activities in accord with this situation and preparing for unprecedented increase in the number of motorists who, it is expected, will visit the state throughout the summer months. Also, the association is meeting with the best response ever known in its history."

The Wolverine Foundation, an organization of influential Western Michigan business men organized about a week ago, was termed "the greatest single development in the program of The Tourist and Resort association for this year," by Mr. Blakely. He also spoke of the Foundation as "the tail that will wag the dog," referring to the fact that the new organization will be back of the general effort throughout Western Michigan to raise the money which will put across the program of the parent association. It is expected, according to Mr. Blakely, that a general committee including about 150 influential citizens representing every community in Western Michigan will be formed in the near future about who organized the Foundation.

These men in turn will sponsor local campaigns for funds in their own communities in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce, Tourist bureau and Tourist and Resort association representatives in an effort to "dig deeper than ever before" for money to advertise Western Michigan as "The Playground of a Nation."

The Holland Furnace are planning to play return week-end games with the Whiting Owls on Friday and with the Boosters at Chicago on Saturday. The Furnaces Boosters in two games played here and defeated the Whiting Owls 52 to 26.
