Cost of Primary In City Is Around 19 Cents a Ballot

Cost of Spring Voting Halved With No Need For Election in April

It cost the city approximately $471, or 19 cents for each of the 2,449 ballots cast in Monday's primary.

Cost of the spring voting is halved, however, as all contests were settled in the primary and there will be no need for a general election in April.

Compilation of the election expenses also brought out the observation that if all Holland's registered voters, some 6,500, had participated in the primary the cost per ballot would have been reduced roughly to 7 cents.

Payments to the 31 members of the election boards in the six wards will total in the neighborhood of $338; election ballots, supplies and advertising of notices cost $67.38; erection of voting booths by the city engineer's department cost $47.48; janitors at the polling places will be paid $3 each.

(The $67.38 for supplies and advertising includes $10 for two registration and two election notices in the Holland City News, $41 for ballots and $16.38 for applications for ballots, statement books and similar supplies. Work of setting up and dismantling the booths involved ten men and two trucks.)

Under a 70-cent-an-hour rate adopted by common council for election boards, each of the regular election officials received an average of $10.50 for 15 hours' work, plus $1 for meals. Average working time was from 6:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Lumping the personnel costs for an average, such costs in each of five wards amounted to $57.50. In the sixth ward, where four full-day officials were assisted by 64 hours' work by two part-time officials, the cost was $50.55.

The hour rate was decided upon when, under state law, the polls were open until 8 p.m., instead of the usual 6 p.m. closing time in the past. The city charter provided $6 each for the election board members under the earlier closing schedule. The 70-cent rate is the lowest rate paid regular city employees.

Members of Monday's election boards were:

First ward—John Wolman, Henry Te Roller, Marvin De Vries, Lou Bouwman, and Peter Prince.

Second ward—William Lawrence, Ben Steffens, James A. Brink, Mrs. Mary Stekettee and Miss Rose Slioter.

Third ward—John F. Vander Ploeg, Bertal Slagh, C. Roos, Jock Van Patten and William Prince.

Fourth ward—Jacob Grassemyer, William Visser, Ben Wiersma, Stephen Karsten and Peter De Kraker.

Fifth ward—Wilson Diekema, Donald Slighter, Gelmer Boven, Simon Pool, Cornelius Klaasen.

Sixth ward—G. W. Kooyers, Burton Welton, William Meengs, Mrs. Jennie Huyser, David Damstra and John Onk.

Charged With Failure to Have Car Under Control

Raymond R. Tanczos, 22, route 3, Fennville, was given a summons on a charge of failure to have his car under control as the result of an accident about 4:30 p.m. Monday at 15th St. and Washington Ave. involving his Hoeksema, 30, 85 East 16th St.

According to police record, Hoeksema's car which was traveling south on Washington was "wrecked." Tanczos' car which was being driven east on 15th St. was damaged on the front end.

Witnesses told police that Tanczos was driving between 35 and 50 miles an hour and that marks on the pavement showed his car slid about 42 feet. Witnesses were Clarence Cramer, passenger in Tanczos' car; Jerry Hulst and Carl Meyers, passengers in Hoeksema's car, and Thelma Vander Tuuk, 347 Washington Ave.

Slash in Student Training Ranks Includes Hope Unit

"Business as usual" at Hope college was the theme of Lt. John E. Moore's reaction to army announcement of preparations to withdraw more than 100,000 student-soldiers from colleges and universities by April 1 in order to help meet a shortage of 200,000 in army inductions.

Lt. Moore, adjutant for the local army specialized training unit at Hope, said no official word on the new order had been received from the war department and emphasized that the 250 trainees here will continue regularly scheduled classes until such notification is received, perhaps "studying right up to the day they leave."

Only a few days ago, according to Lt. Moore, notification was received from a reliable source stating the program would definitely continue. This assurance gave no definite word on Hope's status, but it was assumed to include the local unit, he said. His explanation was that "the army may have changed its plans since then."

No estimate was available on the number of men affected here, but all Hope trainees are in basic engineering.

College officials had no comment on the possibility of releasing faculty members used in connection with the ASTP.

Capt. Homer Morgan is commanding officer for the local unit. He was ill and could not be reached for comment.

Washington, February 24—According to war department announcement the drastic slash of the ASTP was decided on because of "the increased tempo of offensive operations together with the mounting casualties demanding immediate replacements in the field."

The cut will trim ASTP enrollment to 35,000 from an authorized strength of 150,000. Those remaining will be mainly trainees taking advanced medicine, dentistry and engineering courses.

The cut will not affect the 17-year-olds in the army specialized training program reserve, the authorized strength of which is 25,000.

Curtailed of the ASTP follows a similar sharp cut in the army air forces college training program. On Jan. 29 it was announced that 70 colleges and 14 civilian contract schools would be released by the air forces as soon as current courses at those institutions were finished. This affected a substantial part of the air forces' college training program.

The services initiated their college training program last spring. Enrollment figures for last November showed some 140,000 in the ASTP, 10,000 short of authorized strength; 70,000 in the pre-flight training courses of the air forces, and 78,000 in the navy's college training program—a total of 288,000 students attending more than 400 colleges and universities.

The navy thus far has announced no curtailment of program.

Latest figures showed that 223 colleges and universities offered ASTP courses. Those giving advanced medical, dentistry and engineering courses, and some giving area and language courses, were expected to be retained, but those giving only basic courses will be released, it was understood. An exact figure of the colleges which will be eliminated was unavailable.

No April Voting With All Primary Races Decisive

Schepers Is Elected Mayor; Klomprens On Board of Works

Holland today had a new mayor and a new member of the board of public works.

Elmer J. Schepers, 172 West 20th St., carrying all wards in Monday's primary except the incumbent's own second ward, was swept into office as mayor with a majority of 341 votes over Mayor Henry Geerlings, 90 West 14th St., 1,386 to 1,045.

James H. Klomprens, 59 East 26th St., present sixth ward alderman, defeated incumbent Joseph H. Geerds, 574 Lawndale Court, for a place on the board of public works by a majority of 71 votes, 1,213 to 1,143.

All contests, including two races for aldermen, were decisive, eliminating the necessity for a regular election in April.

Laverne C. Dalman, 610 State St., defeated Frank Jilison, 111 East 17th St., for the position of sixth ward alderman by 55 votes, 243 to 188. Dalman will succeed Klomprens as alderman in the sixth ward.

Ald. Gordon Streur, 231 West 18th St., was reelected fourth ward alderman, polling 211 votes to 147 for George Slikkers, 486 Washington Ave., and 38 for Earl P. Vanden Bosch, 247 West 20th St.

Total vote cast in the six wards was 2,449, about 350 under City Clerk Oscar Peterson's prediction of 2,800.

Votes cast by wards were as follows: First, 362; second, 468; third, 367; fourth, 399; fifth, 413; sixth, 440.

Unopposed and automatically reelected were Treasurer Henry J. Beckfort, who polled 2,239 votes; Supervisor John Gallen, 2,152; Aldermen L. Philip Van Hartesveldt, 304, first ward; John D. Bontekoe, 412, second ward; Bernard De Pree, 331, third ward; George Damson, 356, fifth ward; (full two-year term) and Donald Slighter, 339 (one-year term).

Beckfort, who was elected to a one-year term in 1937, has served three consecutive two-year terms and will begin his fourth full term when the new officers are installed. Supervisor Gallen was appointed last July and will start his first full two-year term. Ald. Van Hartesveldt, Bontekoe and De Pree all have completed one term. Damson has completed three years as alderman of the fifth ward and four years as alderman of the former fourth ward. Slighter was appointed alderman of the fifth ward last July to succeed Mayor-elect Schepers who resigned when he moved from the ward for a time.

Had Geerlings been reelected, he would have set a record of service as mayor of Holland. As it is, he and Nicodemus Bosch both have served ten years. Geerlings served two one-year terms from 1904 to 1906 and was returned to office in 1936 and served four consecutive two-year terms. Bosch served two one-year terms and one two-year term from 1912 to 1916, served one two-year term in 1918 to 1920 and two terms from 1932 to 1936.

Geerlings established a record for the longest consecutive service. The late Isaac Cappon established another kind of record in serving Holland as mayor on four different occasions, serving four separate one-year terms.

The new mayor who based his campaign platform on more active participation in the civilian war and postwar efforts, an aggressive campaign for a youth center, a retirement plan for city employees, and a place for young men in city government, served one full term and part of another as alderman of the fifth ward.

Schepers, 45, was born in Holland in 1899 and has lived here ever since. His grandparents came to Holland in 1847, his grandfather being pastor of a church which stood at Michigan Ave. and 22nd St. He was graduated from Holland high school, attended Hope college for two years and completed business training at Holland Business college. He is office manager at Holland Motor Express. He is a veteran of World War I, having served in the quartermaster's department at Camp Meigs, Washington, D.C. He has a wife and two sons, one of whom is in the armed forces.

Klomprens, the new member of the board of public works, was appointed alderman of the sixth ward last summer, succeeding John Emmick who moved from the ward. He is a local building contractor and was defeated by a narrow margin when he ran for the BPW position two years ago. He is active in the work of Trinity Reformed church and is a member of the Kiwanis club, having

ASTP Group Will Stage Premiere

'Hope for the Best' to Be Offered in Holland Theater Next Month

Holland residents will have an opportunity to see a different type of war bond premiere when members of the 3674th service unit, army specialized training program at Hope college, present their all-soldier show March 10 in Holland theater.

"Hope for the Best" has been selected as the title for the laugh-filled variety performance which includes comedy, music and magic acts, interspersed with dialogue and "stooge" appearances.

Only local soldier talent will be used and no girls appear in the "all-star" cast. "Any girls in the show will be disguised G.I.s," said Pvt. Ernest Black, publicity chairman.

At a meeting Monday night of army chairmen, local officials and club presidents, admission to the show was set at a $25 war bond the purchase of which will assure the buyer a reserved seat.

Bonds may be purchased at any of the three bond centers, Peoples State bank, Holland State bank or Ottawa County Building and Loan association and tickets may be exchanged for reserved seats at the theater box office. Bonds with show tickets are scheduled to go on sale early next week.

A similar show on a smaller scale was presented last fall by ASTP trainees and college students who collaborated on a variety program for an all-college mixer which met with hearty approval.

"Hope for the Best" will run approximately 24 hours under the direction of Supply Sgt. Albert Gorchoff, chairman for the local unit's contribution to victory.

Other trainees in charge of the show are Pvt. Paul Meyers, toastmaster, and Pvt. Roy Barry, social service officer for the unit. Pvt. Bob Weatherall is in charge of costuming and properties.

Originally scheduled for March 31, the show has been pushed up in view of the possible moving of the ASTP unit in accordance with a war department announcement to drastically cut the training program for student-soldiers.

Rare Coyote Shot in Robinson Township

Grand Haven, Feb. 24 (Special)—Conservation Officer Forrest Lavy reports that Ben Berghorst of Robinson township, while in company with Peter Kuypers and his son, Egbert, and Fred Jelsma, also of Robinson township, shot a male coyote a mile south and a half mile east of the Yellow Jacket in the township Friday afternoon.

Lavy stated that this is the first coyote shot in recent years. Berghorst will collect the $15 bounty from the state for shooting the coyote.

ing served that organization as past president. Geerds, his opponent, served on the board of public works for six years, having served one year before election to a full five-year term.

The new mayor and BPW member today made brief statements of appreciation.

Schepers said, "I want to thank all my friends for their support and will do my best to carry out plans for the city as outlined in last Thursday's Sentinel."

Klomprens said, "I am pleased beyond measure and will try to be worthy of the confidence of the people of the city."

Hundreds of telephone calls poured into The Sentinel office starting around 9 p.m. Monday and four lines were kept busy giving out information. The vote in the board of public works race was close and until corrected votes were given, many persons were informed the first half-hour that Geerds had "apparently won."

It was established later that Klomprens was elected by a 70-vote majority.

Sideswipes Two Cars Near City

Mattawan Resident Charged With Drunk Driving; Given Fine

located eight miles east of Paw Paw, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving when arraigned before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith last Monday and was assessed a fine of $100, costs of $4.35 or given an alternative of 90 days in the county jail. Harrison was attempting to raise the money for the fine.

Harrison was arrested by sheriff's officers Sunday morning at 24 West First St. They had been looking for him ever since an accident at 4:05 p.m. Saturday in which Harrison traveling west on Park road allegedly sideswiped cars driven by Mrs. Edith Vesper, route 1, East Saugatuck, and Seth Hamlin, 104 East 22nd St., and then continued on his way without stopping. The accident occurred near the Fred Bertsch residence between Holland and Central park.

According to officers, Harrison first hit the Vesper car, damaging it slightly and then hit the Hamlin car which was shoved about five feet off the highway into a snowbank, officers said. The Harrison car then careened across the highway, snapped off a mailbox and a pole, righted itself and continued west.

Accompanying Mrs. Vesper were two sleeping children, one aged 24 months and the other four years old, neither of whom awoke in the crash.

Hamlin stopped an oncoming car carrying two girls and started west looking for the hit-run driver. Hamlin said they spotted him weaving on the road near Virginia park and got his license number. A check established Harrison as owner of the car and officers in his home town were asked to pick him up.

About 6 p.m. Hamlin reported he had seen the same car north of Holland but was unable to catch it. Searches on roads in the locality by Holland and Grand Haven officers failed to locate the car.

Then Sunday morning, a telephone call to Holland police by a man giving his name as Jack Harrison said that his Indian companion, Joe Brandt, had stolen Harrison's car keys and wallet and had skipped. Sheriff's officers immediately arrested Harrison and confined him to Holland jail where officers said Harrison signed a statement admitting that both he and the Indian had been drinking. Officers said Harrison told them he remembers nothing of the accident, but remembers being in Macatowa park where he said the Indian took the wheel.

Further investigation by sheriff's officers revealed that the Indian had hired a local taxi to take him to the east limits of Zeeland where he was last seen thumbing a ride for Grand Rapids. Officers are now seeking Brandt.

Sgt. Woodall's brother, Marine Pfc. Donald Richard Woodall, 19, veteran of Guadalcanal and Buna battles, was killed in action Nov. 29, 1943, in the Pacific area, possibly at Tarawa. There are two other brothers in the service, James, now in Hawaii, and Charles Darwin in California.

Holland high school despite a last quarter drive that netted 9 points to its opponent's 5, was defeated by Benton Harbor, 42-39, in Holland armory Friday night. An overflow crowd which jammed even available standing room witnessed the conference contest.

During the last two minutes of the third quarter and the final quarter, Holland scored 17 points while holding Benton Harbor to 5. The rally, was not good enough to overcome the lead the Tigers had built up midway in the third period on five successive baskets, three of them one-handed push shots by Ed Klum.

It was an uphill fight for the locals all the way as they were behind 10-6 at the end of the first quarter, 23-16 at the half and 37-30 at the end of the third.

The entire Dutch club played well, but still could not overcome the deadly one-handed pokes of Ed Klum or the continuous aggressive style of Benton Harbor's outstanding sophomore, Jack Forrester.

Earl Borr, Louie Van Dyke and Kenney De Waard were especially good on all-around basketball play, while Alvin Van Meeteren, Scooter Schippers and Earl Folkert all turned in exceptional floor game for the locals, taking the ball away from the Tigers time after time.

The Dutch held control of the ball well over 50 per cent of the time and even more so on backboard balls especially under the B. H. basket. The Tigers scored few points on dog-shots but hit continuously on one-handed push shots from the right side of the floor.

Holland's late drive started when Earl Borr connected with a basket from near the foul circle, making the score 37-24. Louie Van Dyke then scored on a dog-shot and, after missing a foul, scored on another dog before Borr tallied again making the score 37-30 as the third quarter ended.

In the final quarter Kenney De Waard dropped in two fouls before Benton Harbor broke its jinx with a free-throw by Brown. Kenney De Waard then scored on a short push shot making the score 38-34 with only three minutes remaining.

In the last three minutes Van Dyke dropped a free throw, Griender of Benton Harbor scored a bucket, Forrester of B. H. scored on a free throw and then De Waard, Folkert and Van Meeteren all scored for Holland on free shots, making the score 42-39.

With only about one minute remaining, Holland had three fairly favorable shots at the basket but failed in each attempt, the ball in each of the cases hitting the outer rim and dropping short.

Local Officer Leads Attack on Enubuj Island in Marshalls

1st Lt. Gerald Helder

An almost hidden paragraph in a metropolitan daily Saturday Feb. 12, informed Mr. and Mrs. John J. Helder, 25 East 21st St., that their son, 1st Lt. Gerald Helder, was the officer who gave the passwords and maps for the attack on Enubuj Island on Kwajalein atoll.

The Helder family had not heard from their son since three weeks ago at which time he was not at liberty to say where he was located, although it was evident he was on combat duty somewhere in the Pacific. All dates including postmarks were completely obliterated.

The newspaper article was dated Feb. 11 (delayed) "aboard a transport in the Marshalls."

Lt. Helder is not the only member of his family serving his country. His sister 1st Lt. Lyda Mae Helder, who joined the army nurse's corps before the attack on Pearl harbor, who has been overseas almost two years is now located at a hospital in New Caledonia. A brother, Pvt. Julius Marvin Helder, 19, was inducted into the army just a year ago this month and is now serving as a test driver for tanks in the mechanized division at Aberdeen proving grounds in Maryland.

Lt. Gerald, better known as "Bub," is a talented artist and before entering the service was employed in the office of the Holland Furnace Co. serving as commercial artist in the advertising department and as assistant editor for the Fire Pot, company publication. He was employed in the furnace office for three years, starting as office boy.

In his high school days, he was a star art pupil of Mrs. Louise Krum, head of the art department in the public schools. His hobby was horses — sketching, drawing, painting and riding. As a horseman, he vied with his brother, James of Waukegon, well known horseman.

Bub entered service Aug. 26, 1942, and after basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala., he attended officer's training school for infantrymen at Fort Benning, Ga., where he was commissioned as a second lieutenant. At 21, he was the youngest in his class of 226 and rated in the first ten.

After winning his commission, he was transferred to Texas, then to California and then to Seattle, Wash. He left Seattle in July, 1943, for Alaska and was attached to a combat unit participating in the Attu and Kiska campaigns. From there he went to Hawaii. Sometime after the Kiska campaign, he was promoted to first lieutenant. He is now serving as a staff officer.

His sister enlisted in the first call for nurses about three years ago and entered the service with the rank of second lieutenant. She spent about two months at Fort Custer and then was transferred to Fort Brady in northern Michigan. From there she went to San Francisco and then to the Pacific area, serving in New Guinea and New Zealand before going to her present post in New Caledonia which is located about 1,250 miles from the tip of Australia and about 1,500 miles from Guadalcanal.

She has been in New Caledonia for about a year and a half. She writes to her parents regularly and during the period she has been there she mentioned having met at least a half dozen soldiers from Holland including Stan Van Otterloo, a navigator and Bob Winter, a pilot.

About four years ago Lyda won women's water ski championship in a national contest held on Lake Macatawa. She took her nurse's training at Blodgett hospital, East Grand Rapids.

Pvt. Julius Helder, the third member of the family, who entered service a year ago, was inducted before being graduated from Holland high school, but he received his diploma anyway. He was first sent to Fort Sheridan, Ill., then to Camp Grant, Ill., Fort Knox, Ky., and Camp Campbell, Ky., before going to the Aberdeen proving grounds.

A son-in-law of the Helder family, Richard Pettinga, was inducted into the service Feb. 2 and reported at Fort Sheridan.

Soldier Is Home From Aleutians for First Furlough Since Entering Army

Pfc. Harold (Hap) Risselada who was only 60 miles from Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians when it was bombed by the Japanese in June, 1942, was glad to be back in Holland today to spend his first furlough since he entered service almost three years ago, two years of which were spent in Alaska and Aleutians.

Given a furlough of 20 days, Risselada is spending two weeks with his father, George Risselada, 308 West 15th St., and other relatives here before reporting to a rehabilitation center in Oregon for further assignment.

Although he took part in the two major campaigns on Kiska and Attu, the local soldier failed to see any direct action. He and others in the landing force were very disappointed upon landing at Kiska in August, 1943 to find that the 10,000 Japs had evacuated. During the Attu battle in May, 1943, his company of the infantry wasn't in the right spot for fighting and didn't even land on the island.

Life on Alaska or in the Aleutians is quite different from the States, Risselada explained. There are no trees there and the terrain is rocky and hilly for the most part. Muskeg and tundra, a type of vegetation that is grassy and mossy, are about the only things that grow there.

There are only four native villages on all of the islands in the Aleutian chain, the soldier said. The natives who are the Eskimo type make a living by trapping and fishing, both of which are plentiful. The islands extend in a semi-circle from Alaska peninsula to the Fox group, the Andreanoff group, the Rat islands and the Near Islands. Attu is located in the Near islands which is about 700 miles from the Japanese kurile islands and 1,300 miles from Japan proper.

The islands which number perhaps over 100 are not of much value in themselves, but are valuable positions for strategic military bases, a glance at the map shows. The late Gen. Billy Mitchell once said the power that holds Alaska can rule the world, since that area is the focal point of all possessions north of the equator.

Kiska, scene of a major campaign, is one of the largest islands in the Aleutians. It is about 21 miles long, four miles wide in the widest part diminishing to a mile in other parts. There are about 20 sizeable islands in the chain and many of the others are very small, Risselada said.

Although American troops wore winter G. I. clothing the year around, the weather in summer was pleasant, the mercury climbing often to 60 or better, Risselada said. In winter, it was a different story with temperatures, although never officially announced, going as low as 25 below—"but it didn't bother you much since G. I. equipment was more than adequate," the soldier said. Snow started to fall in October and there was still snow around in July on some of the mountains.

Even though the Aleutians and Alaska peninsula are below the Arctic circle, it was hard to tell directions and keep track of the sun, Risselada explained. In the dead of winter, dawn might break at 10 a.m. and the sun might set at 3 or 4 p.m., resulting in long night patrols. In the summer, one could see the sun set about 2 a.m. and rise again in a half hour just a short distance away.

While on outpost duty, soldiers had many opportunities for hunting and fishing. The Kodiak bear and the Alaskan brown bear were plentiful and often raided the outpost kitchens Risselada said. The ptarmigan, similar to quail, appeared in flocks, quite tame, and proved to be excellent meat. Herds of caribou and a few foxes also added variety for soldiers interested in hunting. Salmon, trout and flounders were plentiful for the followers of Isaak Walton. As for fishing tackle, many soldiers provided their own and some companies made provisions for supplies.

Air mail service at some of the posts was very satisfactory, some mail arriving within four days, Risselada said. Not much was offered in the way of entertainment although some USO troupes made a tour of Alaska and the Aleutian. Among those appearing were Bob Hope, Marjorie Reynolds, Errol Flynn and Jerry Colonna. The only Holland soldier Risselada saw during his many months in that area was Pvt. Evert De Graaf who was attached to another outfit.

Risselada was inducted into the army June 4, 1941, and took his basic training at Camp Wolters, Tex. He also was stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark., Fort Ord, Calif., and Fort Lewis, Wash., before leaving for Alaska in February or March of 1942. The soldier is 28 years old and is a graduate of Holland high school. Before entering the service he was employed by General Motors Corp. in Grand Rapids.

'Music of Our Allies' Is Club Program Feature

A charming musical program featuring Rachel Stough Keefe, contralto, of Wheaton, Ill., assisted by Helen Benaroy, pianist, entertained members of the Woman's Literary club in the club house Tuesday afternoon. In keeping with the anniversary of George Washington's birthday, Mrs. Keefe chose to present a program with a patriotic theme, entitled "Music of Our Allies," in which she used musical literature from the Latin-American countries, Russia, China, and England, closing with a group of American songs.

Attractive in a colorful Mexican costume, Mrs. Keefe gave an informal talk on the characteristics of Latin-American music and sang a group of South American songs, including "River, River," a Chilean folk song, "Toward the Sunrise," from Venezuela, "Trinidad's 'Ay, Ay, Ay,'" and the modern "Siboney" by Lecuona, with its typical Spanish rhythm.

Dressed in a charming Russian costume representative of the better peasant class, Mrs. Keefe sang "Slumber Song," and "Over the Steppe," by Gretchenhoff, "The Hills of Gruzia," by Mednikoff and "Hopac," by Moussorgsky.

Her third group was presented in Chinese costume and featured a number of Mother Goose rhymes composed in the Chinese spirit, and other characteristic songs. She appeared in conventional American dress for her final group, and sang the English songs, "Love I Have Found You," Ronald, "Quiet," by Sanderhorn, and two Christopher Robin songs. Her American selections were the always popular "When I Have Sung My Songs," by Charles and "Hills of Home," Fox. Another Christopher Robin song, "Has Anyone Seen My Mouse?" was an encore.

Charges Some Tenants Agree to Pay High Rent

It has come to the attention of OPA area rent office that many tenants are paying more than the ceiling rent because of agreements made with their landlords in disregard of the rent ceilings. This practice is contrary to the CPA rent regulations, according to Eerde W. Hoogsteen, area rent director.

1. No tenant who moved into his present accommodations before Dec. 1, 1942, should pay more than the rent on March 1, 1942, unless a higher rent has been approved by the OPA rent office.

2. A tenant who has moved into rental accommodations since Dec. 1, 1942, should insist on seeing the landlord's copy of the registration and should not pay more than the rent shown on the registration unless the landlord can show that a higher rent has been approved by the OPA rent office.

3. Tenants who are considering renting different accommodations must be shown the landlord's registration statement and, from this, they can determine the legal ceiling rent.

4. Any tenant who has not seen a copy of the OPA registration or who has moved in recently without signing the landlord's registration and a report of change of tenancy, should immediately advise the area rent office, 707 Keeler Bldg., Grand Rapids, in person or by mail.

Landlords who feel that they have a case for a higher rent may file petitions for rent adjustments with the rent office but, until a higher rent is approved, no increased rent may be charged.

Dentists Hear Dutch Refugee

Dr. Herbert Loeb, outstanding dentist of the Netherlands who escaped during the Nazi invasion in 1938, outlined plans for dental rehabilitation in the Netherlands at a dinner meeting of the Holland Dental society Tuesday night in the Warm Friend tavern.

Under Dr. Loeb's plan, which was recommended by the University of Pennsylvania after he studied there two years, outstanding American dental professors will go to the Netherlands after the war and teach dentistry to Dutch students for terms of four months to a year. The dentist has been appointed to the Ivory Cross which deals with dentistry and is one of numerous European organizations similar to America's Red Cross.

Dr. Loeb, a graduate of the school of dentistry at the University of Utrecht, explained that dental study in the Netherlands takes from four to seven years. He also studied in Berlin, Paris and Vienna.

He practiced dentistry in Amsterdam for 15 years and was president of the Amsterdam Dental society. In 1938 he became president-elect of the Netherlands Dutch Association, a high honor. His wife also is a dentist. They have two sons, one in the Dutch army and the other a dental student at the University of Pennsylvania.

When the German invasion swept in from the east, the Loeb family escaped on a flat boat to England, making the trip in 18 hours across the channel. Three miles out they picked up two girls and two Dutch soldiers who also were escaping. After six weeks in England, the Loeb family obtained passage to Nova Scotia and then arrived in New York. Before he could practice dentistry in America, Dr. Loeb studied at the University of Pennsylvania for two years.

Under the new plan for dental rehabilitation, it will not be necessary for the American dental teachers to speak the Dutch language, since all Dutch dental students speak the English language and also study American textbooks, Dr. Loeb said.

HOW GOVERNMENT DOES BUSINESS

There are not a few earnest citizens who want to turn all business over to government—social-istically minded people, whether they are actual socialists or not.
They are laboring under the naive conviction that when all business is conducted by the central governmental power, all the people will be stockholders in a nation's business and will receive the dividends that now go to private persons.

On paper it is easy to work out such a conclusion. If all people were wholeheartedly devoted to working for the good of all, and if no one worked for his own selfish interest, nothing could be better than turning business over to government for the benefit of all.
Unfortunately human nature is against it. Also, unfortunately, government is in its very nature
so inefficient, so wasteful, so slow,
so unbusinesslike that turning business over to government would be fatal. Not the government of any particular party but all government—it is the nature of government to be inefficient.

A very small incident comes to land as illustration in the present government of Michigan. It is not important, but it is all the better as an illustration, for that reason. For government is inefficient in small things and in large.
Michigan citizens are just now struggling with the intangibles tax returns. The money will not be due until March 31 and hence no great harm is done by the government's slowness. But in contrast with the state's way of doing business a private concern
would be ahead of demand instead of trailing behind.

When the citizen tries to enter his stocks on the blank he reads
this instruction given by the Department of Revenue: "Enter the par or contributed value of the stocks as shown in the booklets
issued by the Michigan Department of Revenue for the period covered by the return. (Most banks, accountants, and resident examiners for the Department
have this booklet.)"

Depending on this positive assurance, a Michigan citizen reports that he went downtown on February 16 to consult the document. For various reasons it would be impossible for him to make out the return in March; it had to be done early. At several leading banks he was told that the booklet had not yet arrived; at a county tax office he was told that it would probably be available in a week or two. He then gave up the effort in disgust.

The Department of Revenue
snails will doubtless answer:
"What's the rush?" But that's no answer. The state has had plenty of time to get this absolutely indispensable information to the tax payers. A private business asking for money would have seen to it that the information was ready ahead of time. Not the state of Michigan, or any other state, or the federal government. It is not in the nature of government to be prompt and businesslike in its service. Citizens are getting more and more convinced that business entrusted to government should be as small as humanly possible.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Dr. Sidney M. Berry of London wrote wisely as to our churches in war time when he said: "The main work of the churches in time of war is, of course, a quiet and constant one, to keep the spirit of faith alive, to turn men's eyes to God, and to remind the world
in this vast opposition of material forces that the only victory which can bring any lasting good is the triumph of God's will over the contrary desires and designs of man."

Why not accept the invitation
and go to church next Sunday?

Sunday School Lesson

February 27, 1944
Jesus Presents Himself as the Messiah
Mark 11:1-10; 15:18
By Henry Geerlings
Jesus was completing His Per-sean ministry, and was now making His last visit to Jerusalem. There is every reason to believe that He made many visits to the Holy City, but there was none other that carried with it the significance of this one.

He probably reached the city
from beyond the Jordan on Friday.
He spent the sabbath, which was Saturday, with Martha's family in Bethany. At the close of the sabbath He attended a feast made for Him by Martha and Mary in the home of Simon, who had been a leper. It was on this occasion that Mary anointed Him, and she did it gladly.

We are not to suppose that there was anything accidental about this unique visit. He definitely planned it, though it is doubtful if He had revealed His plans to His disciples. The procession started from Bethany on the east slope of the Mount of Olives. Near it there was another town named Bethphage,
the exact site of which is unknown,
though it must have been near Bethany. Bethany is a miserable little town today, indeed none
more wretched in all Palestine.
There are forty or fifty hovels in it, occupied mostly by Mohammedans. It would seem that coming from Jericho the little party reached Bethphage first.

Jesus never posed as an actor.
He was representative of no school of drama. But how dramatic were many of His doings! Not that He resorted to any kind of showing off, but His contacts with people and His steps in Him
istry often threw him into unexpected, even novel, situations
which could not help having a dramatic turn. Perhaps in no scene of His public ministry was this more demonstrated than in what we know as His triumphal entry into Jerusalem.

Jesus was always loyal to His early religious training. He continued many habits acquired during His first years. He went to the synagogue on the Sabbath. His trips to Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover were in accord with the age-old custom of devout Jews.
He purposely gave the Jews first chance to see in Him the fulfiller of Prophecy. He did not deliberately offend any advocate of strict conformity to Jewish rites. What He did was to transfer these rites into a higher use omitting what was non-essential and giving to every part of them an evangelical turn. To His last Passover He went fully aware of what was to befall Him. He faced the most dreadful experiences of His ministry. But His zeal never lessened and His courage showed no wavering. As He was to enter Jerusalem to have part in His last Passover, He was to be acclaimed King of the Jews. Today we think of Him as King of kings.

The day of triumphal entry into Jerusalem found Jesus in charge.
He alone knew what was to happen. Exercising His authority and showing His wisdom, He prudently advised two of His disciples to be his agents in getting ready for this journey. His purpose was not selfish, but to help others, especially His disciples, realize that the kingly marks which Jews expected in their Messiah were in Him. It took the outward display to prove His reality to the people.
Hence the material preparation was needed. He did not little himself by assuming the enforced role of an earthly king.
It was so simple, so inexpensive, so unheralded, and apparently so pur-poseless, that we wonder why all this bother in getting ready for the seemingly meaningless ride into the city.

The preparation was completed. He was in a procession moving slowly toward Jerusalem.
There were many people trying to honor Him, by acclaiming Him King. It was not a studied program for the occasion. It was a spasmodic affair. It took a Scriptural sound as the people shouted words from the Psalms. They made their way to the city gate, passed through and walked along the city streets.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. C. De Fouw and Clifford,
Mr. and Mrs. A. Buurman and Doris Ann, Mr. and Mrs. E. Northuis, Kenneth, Roger, Donald and Paul, F. Zuber and Juanita

World Day of Prayer

We promise

At the top of every War Bond you buy are these words:

"The United States promises to pay..."

Those may not sound like such brave words. But actually they are the hope of the world!

THEY ARE a promise by the country to its citizens, but also a promise by the citizens to the country and to the people of the world; a promise that obligations recognized and accepted will be paid in full.

The millions of us who buy those Bonds, do proudly and solemnly promise:

... that partial victory shall not breed the kind of weakening over-confidence which can rob us of complete victory;

... that unity shall rise above all squabbles, and differences;

... that this war shall be fought through to a finish with all that we have and all that we are;

... that the sacrifices of today, and the larger sacrifices of tomorrow, shall be accepted willingly, in the humble knowledge that they are small when set beside the sacrifices of our men who are fighting;

... that we will not turn our backs on the rest of the world after victory is won; but will reach out the hand of friendship, and assume our proper share of responsibility in seeing that freedom, equality, and orderly justice become possible for all people, everywhere;

... that neither our own fighting men nor any of our allies shall be let down in any way whatsoever now, or in the hard-fighting days to come, or in the peace that will follow victory;

... that we, the people, will dig into our pockets, purses, and savings to make the success of the War Bond program a symbol of our determination.

These things we subscribe to. These things we believe in. These things we promise.

Junior High Has Novel Program

At an assembly Friday afternoon, Junior high school teachers entertained students with a novel program. The nature of the assembly was kept a secret, and not until Miss Bernice Bishop announced the first number did students realize that the "surprise" was an entire faculty performance.

The all-teacher chorus sang "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" and "Mairzy Doots" with students joining in on the last chorus. Chapin McAllister was accompanist.

Eugene F. Heeter amused the audience by his comedy musical act using a clarinet, saxophone, and two violins.

Three solos, "Rain," "Winds," and "The Little Pig," were sung by Mrs. Peter Veltman accompanied by Miss Barbara Lampen.

A one-act play, "When Martha and George Returned" was presented by Miss Donna Eby as Martha, Peter Veltman as George, Miss Doris Brower and Mr. McAllister as the modern couple. At the opening of the play Martha and George stepped out of the picture frames in which they had stood for many years. As the play progressed, they discovered several contrivances with which they were unfamiliar, the telephone, radio, phonograph, light switches, electric lamp, and vacuum cleaner.

Their experiences with these were exciting as was their witnessing of the traffic from a window. Martha felt certain the British were returning. The two stepped back into their frames just as the owners of the home returned from a party. Directors of the play, Miss Adelaide Dykhuizen and Miss Joan Vander Werf, were presented with attractive weed corsages by members of the cast. The spokesman was Mr. Veltman.

A trio composed of Mrs. Peter Veltman, Miss Marion Shackson, and Miss Clara McClellan sang "A Bird in the Hand" depicting three young girls who because they were "too choosy" became old maids. At the point of change the trio turned their backs to the audience and by means of costuming and grotesque masks on the backs of their heads, portrayed their dual personalities.

Mr. McAllister played a solo, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," mimicking a young, inexperienced pianist.

Miss Clara McClellan was general chairman of the event.
