G. Rivera, 32, Dies In Hospital

Emmet Brown Being Held for Investigation Of Murder in Slaying

A rural Holland man today is being held by the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department for investigation of murder following the fatal shooting late Wednesday night of a Holland man at a home north of town.

Dead is Gilberto Rivera, 32, of 252 East Ninth St., who died at 3 a.m. today in Holland Hospital.

Held in the slaying is Emmet Brown, 36, of route 4, Holland.

Ottawa County Deputies and Holland detectives said the slaying occurred at the home of Mrs. Katherine Simpson, 40, of 5289 North 136th Ave., about six miles north.

Brown first told officers he was demonstrating a fast draw with his .38 caliber, six-shot Smith and Wesson revolver when his thumb accidentally slipped off the hammer and he shot Rivera, sitting in a chair about five feet away.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen, conducting the investigation, said Brown later wrote a statement saying that Rivera was trying to force whiskey on him when he pulled the gun to scare Rivera and it accidentally discharged.

Also at the home, besides Mrs. Simpson, was Mrs. Rosine Marshall, 53, who lives with Mrs. Marshall. Both women told officers they did not witness the shooting.

Medical Examiner Dr. Edwin Vander Berg said Rivera died of an exploratory operation in which the slug was removed. He said the bullet entered the lower left abdomen and angled across Rivera's body to lodge in the right hip.

The medical examiner said death was caused by extensive damage to the lower abdomen, shock and loss of blood. He said Rivera's left leg was paralyzed by the slug hitting a nerve, and said the upper parts of both legs were extensively damaged.

Mrs. Marshall said Rivera came to the home about 10 p.m. He had been drinking quite heavily, according to Sheriff Grysen.

Mrs. Brown, who had just arrived, Brown and Mrs. Simpson all said they called Holland police immediately to report the shooting, which occurred about 10:20 p.m.

Deputy Merlin Timmer of Zeeland, the first man on the scene, said that as he walked up to the house, Brown stood at the top of the front door steps and said, "I could shoot you right there."

Timmer said Brown stood with his hands held ready to draw, with the loaded revolver stuck in his belt, in front.

The deputy quickly covered Brown with the 30 caliber, collapsible paratrooper's rifle he was carrying, and then moved up the steps and disarmed him.

The small living room and bathroom were smeared with blood. Several pools of blood stained the rug beneath the chair where Rivera later had been laid down. Blood smeared the walls and bathroom, where Rivera had gone when he was first shot.

Brown and Mrs. Simpson were first taken to Holland city jail, and at 1:30 this morning, transferred to Ottawa County jail. Mrs. Simpson was released this morning after signing a statement for Sheriff Grysen and County Prosecutor James W. Bussard.

Holland Detective Dennis Ende, at the police station, when the call came in, assisted in the investigation. Further investigation is being continued today by Grysen and Bussard.

Sheryl Achterhof Has Successful Operation

Sheryl Achterhof, 6 year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Achterhof, 234 West 11th St., successfully underwent serious heart surgery Tuesday in Blodgett Hospital, Grand Rapids.

The 8-hour operation closed a large hole in the inner wall of the heart, Sheryl, who expects to remain in the hospital two or three weeks is a patient in room 254.

Meanwhile, contributions for the Sheryl Achterhof Heart Fund have been coming in slowly, according to promoters of the fund. Canisters have been placed in several downtown stores and other places in the city and friends may also leave donations at the Peoples State Bank.

Mrs. Hattie Achterhof of Baldwin, Wis., Sheryl's grandmother, is staying with other children in the home while the parents are in Grand Rapids.

Rural Van Raalte School PTA were hosts at a soup supper last Friday evening with Mrs. George Wedel and Mrs. Tom Lohr as co-chairmen. All the mothers in the district donated. The proceeds will be used for purchasing equipment for the school. The PTA also made arrangements for parent-teacher conferences to be held the afternoons of Feb. 26 and 27.

SCENE OF SLAYING — Sheriff Bernard Grysen examines the spot where Gilberto Rivera, 32, of Holland, was sitting when fatally wounded by a slug from a gun held by Emmet Brown, of route 4, Holland, Wednesday night. In his hand Sheriff Grysen holds the weapon, a .38 caliber Smith and Wesson police special, six-shot. Rivera was sitting in the chair above, Grysen said, when he was shot from a distance of about five feet. Some of the extensive amount of blood Rivera lost can be seen on the floor and in the handprints on the wall left by the victim. In the background is Holland Detective Dennis Ende, in the kitchen, questioning Mrs. Rosine Marshall, 53, who lives at the home with Mrs. Katherine Simpson, 5289 North 136th Ave. (Other pictures on Page 2.) However, Van Puseur, contacted by telephone, refused to comment on the reports.

"I can only say no comment," Van Puseur said.

Van Puseur left Holland shortly after noon today for Lansing where it is expected the Zeeland representative will make a formal announcement.

Supreme Court Upholds Maplewood Annexation

LANSING —Annexation of 3,120 acres of Allegan County's Fillmore Township to Holland was upheld today by the State Supreme Court.

The court denied an appeal by a group of property owners led by John H. Schurman, Allegan County.

The court, in an unusually brief opinion, said in effect the property owners should have acted within 30 days after the June 3, 1958, annexation if they wanted to appeal.

"The bill (by the taxpayers) disclosed no ground for intervention of equity and fails to disclose inadequacy of the legal remedy," the court held.

The high court's ruling upheld a ruling by Circuit Judge Thomas N. Robinson.

Petitions signed by 71 property owners in Maplewood area seeking to restrain Holland city from exercising jurisdiction over the area were filed in Allegan County Circuit Court Aug. 1, 1958, a day or two before annexation for that area became legal. The election favoring annexation had been held June 3.

City Atty. James E. Townsend intervened on behalf of the city and filed a motion to dismiss the case some days later. On Aug. 22 there was a 32-minute hearing on Townsend's motion in Allegan Circuit Court before Circuit Judge Tom Robinson of Benton Harbor.

Attorney Leo Hofman of Allegan contended that the 71 petitioners own 1,500 acres in unplatted land and declared that the power exercised by citizen groups in determining boundaries involving vast areas of farm land was arbitrarily unreasonable and unconstitutional. Townsend contended that petitions should have been filed within 30 days of the election, whereas about 60 days had elapsed. He briefly outlined work the city had already done in the Maplewood area and its plans for servicing the area.

Judge Robinson allowed time for filing briefs and on Sept. 19 Judge Robinson ruled in favor of Townsend. On Oct. 16 Hoffman appealed to the Supreme Court.

Earlier this week the State Board of Education announced decision on litigation in the Maplewood school district, favoring the Maplewood Board of Education. The Maplewood Board had opposed action taken by the Allegan County Board of Education in transferring certain areas including some areas within the city to the newly organized Hamilton consolidated district.

Dutch Have Easy Time With Adrian

Taking another step toward its third straight MIAA championship, Hope College's basketball team romped to an 81-66 decision over Adrian College Wednesday night before 1,800 fans in the Civic Center.

It was the 10th MIAA victory in 11 starts for the Dutch and pushed its season's record to 15-2. Hope now has scored 24 straight wins at home and 17 league wins at home.

The Dutch will make their final home appearance of the season Saturday night against Hillsdale in another MIAA game. Hope finishes the regular season on the road with a game at Olivet next Thursday and Albion next Saturday.

Hope put on another fine exhibition of basketball in whipping the Bulldogs and never actually had much of a contest. The Dutch completely dominated play.

However, several times early in the second half Adrian picked off some rebounds, especially some of the long rebounds that bounced away from the basket several feet. Hope led 18-13 at the 10-minute mark and moved the score to 20 points at halftime, 46-26. But when a team has a lead such as that it usually experiences a letdown and Hope didn't do much early in the second half.

Adrian hit five of eight basket tries and picked off most of the rebounds and outscored Hope 10-2, but then with Ray Risema and Paul Benes grabbing the boards the Dutch quickly jumped to 62-44 lead at the 10-minute mark.

Coach Russ De Vette retired his four regulars at this point and left only Risema in for a couple of more minutes. And in that time the 6'6" junior put on quite a display of snagging rebounds and hooking with his left hand. He hit three quick baskets and ended with 17 points and 12 rebounds.

Substitutes finished the rest of the game and maintained the margin. Bob Reid and Bill Vander Bilt each made two baskets in the final minutes.

Benes again was getting off his feet and leaping higher than he has previously. This resulted in a couple of tip-ins. On one jump ball he tried to tap in the ball from the foul line but fell short.

The Hope captain led his team with 19 and pushed his MIAA scoring total to 224 points in 11 games for a 20.4 per game mark. He had 10 rebounds.

Wayne Vriesman didn't start but came in as a sub and hit five buckets, four in the first half, and two free shots for 12 points.

Warren Vander Hill hit four baskets and one of them was a two-hand set shot from about 30 feet out. This is the first time this season Vander Hill tried a set. He made them consistently as a freshman. He ended with 11 points. Whitey Beernik did a good job of ball handling and feeding the big men.

Bob Howard led the loers with 16 points.

Hope made 32 of 92 shots for 35 per cent and Adrian had 25 of 71 for 36 per cent. The Dutch hit 19 of 43 and 13 of 49 while Adrian had 11 of 35 and 12 of 36. At the charity line, Hope made 17 of 22 shots and Adrian, 16 of 22.

Silage Falls As Men Work Inside Silo

William Vanden Bosch, Arthur Gosen Killed Instantly in Collapse

EASTMANVILLE (Special) Two residents of the Ottawa County infirmary were killed Friday afternoon as an estimated two tons of frozen silage collapsed on the men and buried them as they worked in the silo.

The victims were Arthur Gosen, 42, of Grand Haven, and William Vanden Bosch, 51, of Georgetown Township.

County Farm Manager Thomas Modderman said the two men were loosening frozen silage around the sides of the silo which adjoins the main barn when the accident occurred.

The tragedy was discovered by another farm resident, Marinus Dykgraaf, when he happened to look in the silo at 2:55 p.m. Sheriff Bud Grysen and Deputy Willis Bos, who were cruising nearby, were on the scene a few minutes after the alarm, and helped farm personnel dig for the bodies.

A chain saw was also used to cut through the hard-frozen silage. Deputies and farm residents reached the bodies after 45 minutes work, buried under about 20 feet of silage.

Medical Examiner Dr. John Wenger said the men died instantly. Gosen of a crushed skull and Vanden Bosch of a broken neck. Gosen, who had lived at the infirmary since last May, was recovered first, and Vanden Bosch, who had lived there five years, was found shortly after.

Youth Admits Breakins Here

Holland detectives and Ottawa County deputies solved a number of recent burglary cases with the arrest Wednesday of Lorin L. Van Gelderen, 18, of 173 East 14th St.

Detectives said Van Gelderen was picked up in connection with the break-in at a private home in Holland on Tuesday, in which nothing was taken.

After questioning, the youth signed a statement admitting the break-in at the City Kitchen on East Eighth St. on Jan. 27, in which about $12 in change was taken from an unlocked cash register after he entered through a window.

Van Gelderen further admitted breaking into the Modern Beverage Co. on M-21 on the night of Feb. 10, and on the same night breaking a door window to get into the Holland Heights Supermarket on M-21, where he said he took about $15 in change from the cash registers, authorities said.

Police said he also admitted stealing a car from a used car lot here in November and taking it for a joyride. Detectives said he will be arraigned in Municipal Court Friday.

The youths were specifically charged with the theft of tires and wheels from two cars on or about Jan. 31. Christian Wins; Holland Edged

Maroons Take 66-48 Victory Over Eagles

Holland Christian's Maroons ground out their fourth straight win Friday night on the Civic Center court by overpowering arch-rival Grand Rapids Christian, 66-48. Another sellout crowd of over 2,500 fans watched the improving Maroons gain revenge for an earlier defeat by the Eagles.

Christian's victory boosted their season mark to 8-6 while Coach Wes Vryhof's Grand Rapids club is experiencing one of its worst seasons with a 3-11 record.

After a close first quarter, the Hollanders were never in trouble and coasted into victory. Coach Art Tuls substituted freely and played his big guns sparingly. Jim Hulst, Christian's leading scorer, who has been bothered with a bad cold played about half of the game, while Henry Sterken and Jack Bouman sat out much of the third period and all of the fourth. Only center Vern Wedeven and Arlyn Lanting played most of the game. Ben Bonselaaar in a reserve role, turned in his best game of the season and netted 10 points.

Once again it was a story of Christian's deadly shooting and potent rebounding which sank the opposition. For the first three quarters the locals hit on better than 50 per cent of the shots. A bad 2-16 in the final period caused the Maroons to end up with a still high 42 per cent shooting average with 24 out of 57 tries. After a good shooting first half, the losers cooled off considerably to end with a 18-72 or 25 per cent average.

With Sterken, Wedeven and Bouman leading the way, the Maroons controlled both backboards. Repeatedly one of the trio would tip a teammate's missed shot through the hoop for a two-pointer.

Grand Rapids is paced by two sharpshooting performers, Ron Venhuizen and Roger Timmer, but lacks their usual rugged rebounding strength. Ken Vander Woude, a soph, played his second game at the center post and shows great promise for the Eagles in the next two years. Contrary to Eagle teams of past years, the Grand Rapids quint plays a much more wide open game and shoots from almost anywhere in the defensive zone.

The Eagles jumped off to a four point lead immediately before the Maroons knotted the count. Wedeven with some beautiful play on the pivot took over for the Christian and hit four baskets to help his club to a 16-13 lead with about six minutes gone. The Maroons continued to roll to take a 21-17 first quarter margin.

Following Sterken's opening basket of the second quarter, the Eagles never got closer than four points again. Bouman continued to hit from the corners and at the foul line to boost the Maroons total to 31-23 with 2:28 left. Christian continued to increase its lead to eventually leave the floor with a 37-27 halftime margin.

On one occasion shortly after the third period started, the Eagles managed to whittle the margin to nine points, but this too was short lived. Paced by Bonselaaar's seven markers in the stanza the Hollanders steadily pulled away to a convincing gap. At the third quarter horn it was 54-37.

Christian managed to outscore the losers by a 12-11 count in the final eight minutes with both teams doing most of their scoring from the free throw line. Christian's big, best bulge came late in the fourth period when they held a 66-43 count. Five straight Grand Rapids points narrowed the lead a bit as the game ended.

Holland continued their great foul shooting as they connected on 18 out of 25 tries while Grand Rapids hit on 12 for 25. Wedeven led all scorers with 16, followed by Bouman with 15. Two other Maroons scored in double figures. Venhuizen led the Eagles with 13.

Dutch Seconds Whip Tigers

BENTON HARBOR (Special) — Hitting its highest point total of the season, Holland High's reserve basketball team romped to its 12th victory in 13 starts here Friday night with a 65-56 win over the Benton Harbor seconds.

The 65 points shower the results of Coach Bill Noyd's move for more drive and scoring power. Noyd inserted Bruce Masselink and Gary Vander Molen into the starting lineup and these boys helped the Dutch pick up more fight, something that the Dutch coach said was lacking in the wins.

A Benton Harbor full-court press fit right into Holland's plans and the Dutch worked through it, taking the lead from the start and never relinquished it.

Holland led 18-10 at the quarter and 35-24 at half. The third period score was 48-34. The Dutch had halves of 11-29 and 6-21 for a game total of 17 for 50 for 34 per cent from the floor.

The Dutch cashed in on 31 of 43 free shot attempts, the best free shooting of the season. Ben Farabee had nine straight free throws and Rog Buurma, who led the scoring with 15, made seven of eight. Farabee made 13 points.

Art Dirks made 10 while Masselink had seven and Bob Klaver and Russ Kleinheksel, six each. Pollard had 15 for Benton Harbor.

Covert Beats Saugatuck

COVERT (Special) — Covert put on a strong shooting display here Friday night, including a 30-point third quarter, and whipped Saugatuck, 87-67 in an A-V League game.

The winners hit on 46 per cent of their shots, including 51 per cent in the first half. They are leading the league with a 9-1 record while Saugatuck is 4-7.

Ron Mitchell made 26 for Covert, 20 in the first half while Bill McGee had 25, 16 in the third quarter. Bob Brackenridge sank 19 for Saugatuck but fouled out midway in the third period. Bill Figley followed with 18.

Covert led 22-10 at the end of the first quarter and 47-36 at halftime. They exploded in the third period and held a 77-57 margin.

The Saugatuck seconds lost to Covert, 49-16 Doug Pierce had six for Saugatuck and Roosevelt Davis made 17 for the winners.

Saugatuck plays two games next week at home. They host Gobles on Friday and Lawton on Saturday.

Dutch Drop 56-54 Game To Tigers

BENTON HARBOR (Special) — Holland High's basketball team put on a strong finish here Friday night but it wasn't quite enough to take care of revenge-minded Benton Harbor and the Tigers grabbed a 56-54 win before 1,700 fans in Colfax gym.

The Tigers were out to avenge Holland's victory last month. But they had some mighty anxious moments including the final minutes. Although Holland trailed by seven points at half, 35-28 and five points at the end of the third quarter, 47-42, they came back strong in the fourth quarter, picked up the deficit and almost pulled out the win.

Twice in the final minute Holland got shots which just missed the mark. Ron Maat made a two-pointer to make the score 56-54 with 2:11 left.

And that turned out to be the last point of the game. For the next minute and a half the two teams scrapped for possession of the ball with Holland's Jack Hulst fouling the Tigers' Charley Williams with about a minute left.

Williams missed his shot and Holland snagged the rebound and were off on a fast break. Maat fired the shot with 33 seconds to go but it fell short of the mark.

Benton Harbor grabbed the ball and tried a shot but Dave Wehrmeyer snatched and called timeout for Holland with the clock reading six seconds to play. Coach Bob Connell set the play and Maat drew the firing assignment.

Holland had the ball at midcourt, and Maat took the pass and fired with the ball hitting the rim and falling off at the horn.

The Dutch outscored the Tigers 12-9 in the fourth quarter, making six baskets, two each by Maat and Jim Overbeek and one each by Ted Walters and Glenn VanWieren. Mickey Yarbrough, the lone player from the Class A finalist team last season, made all nine of the Tiger points. He hit from around the basket and from a few feet out. He made three other baskets and three free shots in the game and ended with .8 for high point honors.

Holland had a 6-4 lead with four minutes gone in the game and then were tied 6-6 and 8-8 but rallied again until the third period. The Tigers led 18-16 at the end of the first quarter and 35-28 at half.

Twice during the second period the Tiger lead was 10 points, the biggest margin of the game. The Dutch sneaked back in the third quarter while the Tigers were relaxing and Ron Dorgelo's layup tied the score 38-38 with 2:50 left. Maat and Williams exchanged baskets for the second tie of the quarter at 40-40. But the Tigers added six points, including two baskets in the last 20 seconds, to Holland's one basket, to take a 47-42 third quarter lead.

Trailing 51-44 with 5:44 left, Holland scored eight straight points on Maat's basket. Two buckets by Overbeek and a Walters two-pointer to take a 52-51 lead with 3:30 left, the first lead since the opening minutes. Then Yarbrough hit a free shot and two baskets before the hectic final two minutes.

Maat, who displayed some fine driving in the game, led Holland with 17, including five of six free shots. Dorgelo and Hulst followed with eight each.

Williams, a fancydan guard, was the first three quarters and hit seven baskets for 14 points while Nate Wells sank 11 points in the first half and couldn't score in the second half.

Holland made 20 of 60 shots for 33 per cent while Benton Harbor had 25 of 72 for 35 per cent. At the free throw line, Holland hit 14 of 24 and the Tigers, six of 16.

The Dutch play at Grand Haven next Friday night while Benton Harbor plays in Kalamazoo tonight. Holland is now 7-6 and Benton Harbor is 7-4.

Wrecking Crew Takes Wrecked Snowplow In

A Chesapeake and Ohio wrecking crew Friday spent a large part of the day putting wheels under the wrecked snowplow near Fillmore and putting it into condition to be towed to Holland.

Railroad officials said it arrived here after 6 p.m. Friday, and today it will be taken to Grand Rapids, where it may be possible to repair it. There are still no estimates on damage to the snowplow and wrecked diesel engine, officials said. Three men were hurt Wednesday as the snowplow derailed and, after upending, smashed down upon the diesel engine.

DERAILED BY SNOW, ICE—Derailed by heavy snow and ice, this C and O snowplow Thursday dug its nose deep into the earth along the track south of Fillmore and crashed down upon the diesel engine. Five men riding in the plow were uninjured. Other engines Thursday night pulled away the four cars and the wrecked engine, and today railroad wrecking crews are attempting to remove the snowplow to Grand Rapids. Railroad officials said the plow may be damaged beyond repair, and could not immediately estimate the damage to the diesel engine. (Sentinel photo)

THREE ESCAPE CAB — Three men riding in the cab of the wrecked diesel engine shown above escaped what would appear to be a certain death when the snowplow being pushed ahead of the train derailed and smashed down atop the diesel Thursday near Fillmore. Trainmen said the plow was derailed by heavy ice and snow on the track as the six-car train headed for Allegan at 15 to 20 miles per hour. (Sentinel photo)

Dr. Kuyper Visits Excavations In Old Testament Jericho

(This is the last article written by Dr. Lester J. Kuyper in the Holy Land before leaving Feb. 9 to go to the Netherlands where he will begin a lecture schedule Feb. 24. Dr. Kuyper is on a year's leave of absence from Western Theological Seminary.)

By Lester J. Kuyper

Jericho is important both in biblical history and in archaeological research. We at the American School were looking forward to viewing the site since we were to have the services of Kathleen Kenyon who is the outstanding authority since she has been in charge of the excavation during the last five years. She came in from Britain for a month this winter and our director, Dr. Winnett happily engaged her to guide us through the elaborate digs at O. T. Jericho.

It needs to be pointed out that O. T. Jericho is about two miles from the site of N.T. Jericho and that present day Jericho is located near the fertile Jordan valley which has the date palms and the wonderful orange and citrus orchards.

Miss Kenyon drove down in a jeep owned by the British School of Archaeology and gave us a free pass into the O. T. site which has been enclosed by a barbed wire fence. The large mound has many deep trenches cut into it so that different levels can be seen and compared with each other. The dating of levels is done by the types of pottery found and by the wall and color construction. Only trained observers have any competence here.

Since Miss Kenyon has the advantage of previous digs, she has come to some new understandings. She shows us walls and levels of times before Joshua which go back in pre-historic times. Radio carbon test was made of some charcoal in the lowest levels and that test shows occupation at 7800 B. C. It required about 30 feet of digging to reach that level, so one can see how much debris has covered the site over the millennia.

Thirty years ago the archaeologist Garstang claimed he had found the wall of Joshua's time. That was of great interest and helped set the date of the conquest under Joshua at the beginning of the 14th century B. C. Miss Kenyon has now clearly shown to the satisfaction of other archaeologists that Garstang was wrong and that now there is no evidence at this place of Israel's occupation. To be sure, in other places west of Jericho where Joshua fought there are good evidences of Israel's occupation.

We had lunch that day in the center of the lush valley of the Jordan about two miles from the mound. We sat on the cement wall of a large reservoir into which water was pumped from a nearby well. This water was channeled through the many gardens and orchards which were producing abundantly. Fruit from these groves is our main dessert at our school and we enjoy it immensely.

Dr. Winnett who worked at N. T. Jericho in 1952 gave us the benefit of his knowledge as we tramped over that site in the afternoon. This is much smaller and had less excavation. We saw, however, some of Herod the Great's walls and masonry. Herod had been in Rome and there he saw a square-faced brick with a wedge-shaped back. These were set in fresh cement to make a wall of diamond shaped pattern. This is the Herod of the time of Jesus' birth who was known for his many buildings, one of which was the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem. Since this site has no fence around it, we attracted many boys who followed and became a general nuisance by their begging for "kakshesh."

A few weeks later our school drove to the site of Jerash, ancient Gerasa. Although this name does not appear in the Bible, yet the Decapolis (Mark 5:20), a state of ten cities in which Jerash was, is mentioned in the gospels. It is about 20 miles east of the Jordan and 50 miles north of the Dead Sea. This site is famous for its many fine Roman ruins which date back the centuries before and during the N. T. times.

Here we saw a large open forum in the form of a circle with large columns around its border and huge seats in the center where the cases and disputes were heard. All this was a stone pavement which led off to a Roman street also lined with columns. This street originally had 520 columns of which 71 are still standing. At the main intersection of this street by a cross street a large tetrapylon was built. This is made of four pillars with arches built from one to the other pillar and a magnificent dome built over the arches.

I should mention the elaborate temple of Artemis with nine of its original columns still standing in front of it. We saw two huge theaters that could accommodate 5,000 people each, and several public baths. The Christians left ruins of at least five churches, one of which had rich mosaics on the floor. The old mosaic had been taken into their museum, and a new mosaic was placed in its stead. At another place we saw the ruins of what was first a synagogue, and later became a Christian church. Many of the stones of these ancient buildings have been taken by the natives to build their houses. This, of course, is no longer allowed because the government is developing this site for the benefit of tourists. One still can see many pillars half submerged in the sand that drifted over the place. This also shows how much has been done to bring these ancient pillars to sight. Tourists will soon have the benefit of a new well built road from Amman which we noted along our trip.

Only a few days ago our trip took in the sites of Tekoa and Herodium. Prof. Marshall of our school had arranged with the Arab Lutheran pastor in Bethlehem to have a guide from the Tammir tribe which made the first discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls and have subsequently searched the many caves for more of these precious finds. We drove to Bethlehem where the Arab pastor took us into his cold office where he seemed to be quite comfortable. The guide had come but could not find the pastor's office. We went back into our car standing in the sun to keep warm while search was made through Bethlehem for the guide who finally was found.

We set out for Tekoa which is about five miles south of Bethlehem to see the place where Amos the prophet lived. It was a very barren place with some Bedouins living in caves. We saw a few sheep which may have been offspring of Amos' sheep and we saw the ruins of a church with a large stone baptismal font still standing.

Then we followed a very rough road over which we crawled to get to the great high hill known as Herodium, a few miles northeast of Tekoa. This summit can be seen from many places. It appears to be an artificial cone which Herod the Great built on top of a high hill. The cone is 300 feet high and has a 35-degree slope. On the top he made a huge bowl-shaped arena with a well built fortress to the east and semicircular forts at each point of the compass. Here he had a commanding view of southern Palestine with Jerusalem to the north and the Dead Sea to the east in clear view.

After this arduous climb our Lutheran pastor had arranged to have tea with the sheikh of the tribe. This tea turned out to be a "mensaf" which was a large platter of rice with delicious pieces of lamb crowning the platter. Through the Arab pastor, our host was urging us to eat more for he said that "you tease your enemy by eating much, but you please your friend by eating much." Since only an hour before we had had our own lunch, we had some difficulty to please him. He was

Miss Marcia Ann Yntema Married to Jay E. Datema

Two large bouquets, palms and ferns, offset with spiral candelabra, was the setting Friday evening in Lee Street Christian Reformed Church in Grand Rapids for a double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Marcia Ann Yntema and Jay Eugene Datema.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Yntema, 1653 Leestma, Grand Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Datema, 130 Dartmouth, Holland. The Rev. Leonard Weesies, pastor of Calvary Reformed Church of Holland, performed the ceremony.

A floor length gown fashioned of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin was worn by the bride as she was escorted to the altar by her father. Scalloped lace edged the gown above the elongated basque bodice to form a delicate sabrina neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls. Long tapering sleeves came to points over the wrists. The bouffant skirt featured lace panels falling into the fullness of her skirt centered by a design of pleated tulle. Complementing her gown was a matching lace capulet adorned with seed pearls which secured her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of white carnations surrounded by stephanotes and miniature ivy.

Maid of honor was Miss Barbara Datema, sister of the groom. Her waltz length gown of red velvet and taffeta was designed with a velvet bodice featuring cap sleeves and a scoop neckline. The bouffant taffeta skirt was enhanced with a pleated cummerbund with a large bow in back extending into streamers. Her headpiece was a red leaf band with a white face veil. She carried a white velvet muff with red carnations and white pompons, miniature silver hearts and ivy.

In similar attire were the other attendants, Miss Gloria Heuvelhorst, cousin of the bride, and Miss Patricia Heyboer, another cousin who were bridesmaids and Lynda Klynstra, the groom's cousin, who served as junior bridesmaid.

Jerry Pyle assisted the groom, as best man and Harvey Mast and James Bylsma served as ushers. Jerry Lee Yntema, brother of the bride, was junior usher. "God Save Me You," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Dale Ver Meer, accompanied by Mrs. Roger Rosena, who also played appropriate wedding music.

At a reception for 150 guests in the church basement Mr. and Mrs. David Tubergen served punch and Miss Marilyn Siersma, David Kingma, Miss Joyce Mulder and Marvin Dykstra were gift room attendants. Miss Esther De Weerd was in charge of the guest register and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Peuler, aunt and uncle of the bride, served as master and mistress of ceremonies.

The bride was wearing a white wool knit suit with blue accessories.

"THE POINT OF NO RETURN"

The famous air-service phrase, "the point of no return," applies with equal force to tax legislation such as Michigan is facing at the present moment. Whatever form the new tax program takes, the people of Michigan should be fully aware of the fact that it will be a "point of no return."

Any tax, no matter what its form, is hardly ever repealed, reversed, or reduced. The only thing that is done, if change there ever is, is to increase the tax.

Whatever your personal conviction may be as to what type of taxation should be adopted to carry the great state of Michigan away from the brink of bankruptcy where it now finds itself, you can be dead sure that all suggestions that are made that after the crisis has passed there may be a return to normalcy is a delusion.

If we adopt a state income tax, well and good, if there is no other way out, but don't be deluded by the suggestion that such a tax may be abandoned some years hence. Don't even be deluded by suggestions that the initial tax rate will be maintained. The whole history of taxation shows that such is seldom the case.

That point was made also, for instance, in connection with the intangibles tax. When it was up for consideration the people of Michigan were practically assured that three percent would be the top figure. Before you knew it, that had been raised to three and a half percent, and you can look for a further raise later on.

The state sales tax was passed at three percent, and now the tax hounds in Lansing are bawling the fact that the constitution itself has placed a limit so that the rate cannot legally be raised. But even that need not and in the end probably will not stop the tax fixers. There are ways of getting around such things as a state constitution.

Always when a new tax is under consideration the people are told that the cost will be small, and often they are also told that things will be better later on.

The only rock-bottom fact that the citizen can rely on is that things will never be better tax-wise later on, that any form of tax that is adopted will be for keeps. A pronouncement by Senator Geerlings is worth quoting: "Michigan citizens should give the Governor's proposal a very long look before being led down a path that gives no assurance of future economies."

Do we want a balanced budget? Do we want less government service? Do we want the tax dollar duplication and waste stopped? We the people must answer these questions.

Write your elected and appointed officials. They need to have your opinion.

We have a great state. It is bad that we allow our financial affairs to become so badly messed.

Jesus Teaches About
The End of the Age
Mark 13:1-10; 13:32-37
By C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

We know some things about the future but not enough to satisfy our curiosity. One thing we may be sure of and that is that Christ's cause will be victorious and he will rule completely and forever. I. All things are destructible here. During the last week of his life Jesus was often in the temple. He delighted to be in his Father's House. Once as Jesus was leaving the temple one of the disciples spoke to Jesus about the "manner of stones" and the buildings of the temple area. The apostles were small town men and they were impressed by the big buildings connected with the temple—its courts and colonnades. For fifty years the rebuilding of the temple had been going on and they were still working at it in the days of Jesus. Visitors from far and near admired the buildings in Jerusalem. The buildings filled the hearts of the disciples with pride.

The Lord knew what would happen to them in the future and therefore he spoke with sadness in his heart when he said, "Seest thou these great buildings? There shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down." About thirty-five years after Jesus spoke these words of doom this prophecy was fulfilled. Great hearted people are more important than big buildings.

II. Jesus stresses the importance of loyalty to him. Four apostles, Peter, James, John and Andrew asked Jesus privately about the words he had spoken about the buildings. The Lord in his reply first of all warned them of the danger of being misled and of being disloyal to him. History tells us that many of the heretical teachings against which the Church had to battle centered around the person of Jesus. The apostles were told that many would come in the name of Jesus and therefore they should take heed lest any man should deceive them. It is important to note that Jesus spoke of the coming dangerous times and of the need of remaining loyal to him even in troublesome times. In the answer Jesus foretold of the fall of Jerusalem and the end of the world and the wars and rumors of wars which would come.

III. The Lord will return at an unexpected time. No one knows when the Lord will return—only the Father knows. In spite of the plain teaching of the Bible that no one knows when Jesus will return there have been those who have set a definite date and deceived people. Instead of speculating when the Lord will return it is far better to take heed and "watch and pray." The disciples should be alert and watchful. Note the words, "take heed," "watch," "pray," "watch ye therefore." It is much better to do what these words suggest than to bicker and quarrel and make divisions in the church as some have done about the Lord's return.

We are here to work for the Lord. To watch does not mean to sit idle but it implies working, being active. Watching and working go hand in hand. In these days it is wicked to waste time and ignore opportunities offered us to be useful. It is the duty of every Christian to be alert, watchful, active, and thus always be ready for the coming of the Lord. Let us have less speculation and more service.

Vandenberg-Dollez Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Koster Vandenberg, Jr. (Princess photo)

Miss Bertha Zizi Dollez of La Ferte, St. Aubin, France, and Terrence Koster Vandenberg, Jr. were united in marriage Feb. 7 in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Bernard Vanderbeek, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

The groom's father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Vandenberg, Jr. gave the wedding at their new home, 1388 Waukazoo Dr. Vows were exchanged before the fireplace banked with ferns, white gladioli, mums and candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by the groom's father, wore a short white satin dress with Empire lines and lace over the satin bodice. She wore a simple tulle veil and carried a white Bible with a white orchid and Stephanotis. The couple was unattended.

The new Mrs. Vandenberg arrived from Paris, France by plane on Jan. 3. The groom who is associated with his father at Vandenberg Buick Inc., is a graduate of Culver Military Academy. He also attended Vanderbilt University at Nashville for a year.

Serving as ushers were Tom and Bill Vandenberg III, brothers of the groom. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Len Eilander and the soloist was Mrs. Jack Daniels, aunt of the groom. Assisting at the reception for approximately 35 guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kahler, Mr. and Mrs. Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sandberg Jr.

Following a honeymoon to Fort Myers, Fla., the couple will make their home at 1388 Waukazoo Dr. For traveling the bride chose a white simulated fur dress, black coat with white fur lining and black accessories. She also wore a white orchid.

Deciding that 1926 hats were so similar to 1959 hats that there was little difference, Mrs. Andrea E. Francis of Saginaw changed her subject to lamps at a regular meeting of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon. She had been scheduled to give a lighthearted presentation on hats.

With her extensive lamp collection—all of them small—displayed on three tables, Mrs. Francis who appeared in a wine velvet colonial costume (cap circa 1790) told a series of interesting stories of early American women, each story geared to a lamp of that era.

She spoke of early living in New England in the 1600's when almost everything was a sin to the strict Pilgrim fathers. In those days it was a sin to have a baby on Sunday, and this law was changed only after the preacher's wife gave birth to twins one Sabbath.

There was the story of courageous Annie Hutchinson, driven out of her New England town and murdered in New Rochelle by Indians along with all her 16 children except one daughter Susanna. Mrs. Francis said the 1896 witchcraft trials in which 20 women were hanged on gallows was a blot on American history. There were stories on miserly Hetty Green who left $100 millions but was too stingy to provide medical care for her son whose leg was finally amputated, and a wonderful story on Lydia Pinkham who at 54 concocted a compound (with some alcoholic content) which was good for what ailed women.

With humor and whimsy, Mrs. Francis strung along these lighthearted stories providing excellent entertainment and a round of laughs for the members. She included one Dutch lamp in her collection, one so precious she ordinarily does not take it from home. This Delft lamp was similar to one advertised in a trade publication in 1896, priced at 75 cents.

Mrs. Francis was introduced by the club president, Mrs. Clarence J. Becker, who also announced the nominating committee which will present a slate of officers for the coming year at a forthcoming meeting. On the committee are Mrs. Lincoln Sennett, chairman, Mrs. H. K. Alexander, Mrs. Francis Drake, Miss Clara McClellan, Mrs. Sidney Johnson, Mrs. Henry Visser and Mrs. Forrest Gibson.

cas. Marty Hardenberg, Chet Oonk and Jack Oonk. There will also be a surprise act featuring a member of the Holland High faculty.

Crashes Here Set New Mark

Holland police Tuesday revealed there have been 38 major accidents in the city in the first two weeks of February, a total larger than any ever recorded in the city previously during the entire month of February.

Police statistics show there were 35 accidents in the city during February, 1958, just 12 during the entire month in 1957 and 14 in February, 1956.

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff repeated that icy streets cannot be used as an excuse for just plain carelessness, and urged local motorists to be particularly careful while streets remain in hazardous condition.

In attempting to pinpoint the causes of accidents so that they may be more effectively combated, police broke down by occupation the persons involved in the 303 major accidents in the city during 1958.

The study showed that students were far ahead of all other groups in the number of accidents in which they were involved. Police said 102 students were involved in 303 accidents, with 78 housewives forming the next largest group.

Next in the accident-prone listings came laborers with 69 cases, and then salesmen with 43 instances. Truck drivers tied for fifth spot with mechanics at 32 accidents each.

In 1874, Rhode Island became the first state to make a holiday of Decoration Day, which is now Memorial Day.

Typical Court Room Scene Features HHS Production

A jury of six men and six women, picked from the audience, returned a verdict of "guilty" Monday night in a jury trial which was the plot of the Holland High School Senior play, "The Night of January 16th," by Ayn Rand.

The cast played to a good-sized audience for a first night performance. The typical court scene revolved around the trial of a young secretary, Karen Anden, ably played by Mary Gail Elenbaas who was being tried for the murder of her employer.

The play went off in fine form despite the fact that several substitutions were made due to the illness of one of the leads. Substituting for Rick Smith as District Attorney Flint was Pete Eppinga who came through with a good performance and the audience was little aware of the fact that his notes contained the script of the play. The part of Judge Heath, originally played by Eppinga, was taken by Bob Morrison. Supporting roles were played by Dave Kleis as defense attorney, Darlene Nyasas who played the part of Nancy Lee Faulkner, wife of the murdered man and her father John Cookin.

The play was repeated Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday under the direction of Le Verne Stillwell with Charlotte Butler as assistant director.

Hope College has accepted an invitation to participate in the Great Lakes division of the NCAA regional college division basketball tournament, it was announced Tuesday by Harvey C. Chrouser, athletic director at Wheaton College and tournament manager.

Chrouser extended the invitation to Hope Monday and the acceptance was announced Tuesday. It will mark the second straight year Hope will compete in the tournament.

The tourney will be held Friday and Saturday, March 6-7 in Glen Ellyn, Ill. High School. Glen Ellyn is located about two miles northeast of Wheaton, Ill. The gym is reported to seat between 3,000 and 4,000 fans.

Wheaton College has also accepted a bid to the four-team tournament, Chrouser announced. The Crusaders won the regional with a 104-93 win over Hope and were defeated by Evansville 95-93 in the consolation game in the national tourney.

Chrouser reported that the four teams selected this season will all be at large. Last season, three of the teams were at large and the fourth team was the winner of the Illinois College conference, which was Wheaton. The Crusaders, with an overall 17-3 record, are leading the Conference again this year. Wheaton is ranked fourth in the nation in the UPI small-college poll. Lee Pfund is Wheaton coach.

Hope has a 14-2 record with its losses to Valparaiso, 90-86 in an overtime and Calvin 66-62. The Dutch are leading the MIAA with a 9-1 record. Hope has been rated 17th and 20th in the UPI small-college poll this season.

Northern Michigan, the team which defeated Wheaton, 78-61 this season, is a strong probability as the third at large team. The Wildcats are coached by Stan Albeck, former Alma College coach, and have dropped four games in 16 starts this season. Northern played in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City, Mo., last season.

The other at large team will be chosen from six possibilities. Chrouser said. This team will be named in the next week. The team will be selected from Wisconsin or Illinois.

The winner of the Great Lakes regional moves to Evansville, Ind., for the final tournament, March 12, 13 and 14. The winners of eight regionals will be in this tourney. Besides the Great Lakes they include Northeast, East, Midwest, Mideast, Southwest, South Central and Pacific Coast.

Kalamazoo's Stall Doesn't Stop Hope

Dutch Win 47-37; 9th MIAA Victory

Hope College's basketball team overcame a frustrating experience in the Civic Center Saturday night as Kalamazoo College slowed the game but only succeeded in keeping the score down as Hope won, 47-37 before 2,500 jeering fans.

It was Hope's ninth MIAA win in 10 starts and its 23rd straight home win and 16th in the league at home. The Hornets are now 5-5 in the MIAA and 7-10 overall. Hope now has a 14-2 overall mark.

Coach Ray Steffen decided the only way he could battle Hope on somewhat even terms was to slow the game completely. So as soon as the Hornets gained possession of the ball after Hope scored they began a rotating offense, passing, screening and cutting and kept this up for five minutes before Walt Maser drove in for a shot and missed.

But his strategy was somewhat offset right at the opening tip. Hope center Paul Benes tipped to Ray Ritsema who fed Warren Vander Hill who connected on a jump shot with the game 12 seconds old.

This gave Hope a 2-0 lead and definitely was the most important basket in the game and they didn't have to go after the ball.

Steffen had planned to draw Hope's big men, Benes and Ritsema, away from the basket with the reserve. But here his plan was stymied because the big men, although rotating with their men on a man-to-man defense didn't pull away far enough from the basket for the Hornets to sneak through.

Benes was fouled and made a free shot to make it 3-0 with 14 minutes left before Bob Brice connected for Kalamazoo with 13-27. Benes scored on the return up floor and Hope led 5-2 at the 10-minute mark.

Each team scored seven points in the next 10 minutes. Hope led 11-9 with 59 seconds to play before Ritsema threw in a free shot 15 seconds later. Kalamazoo revolved for the rest of the half and Maser missed a one-hander at the horn to give Hope the 12-9 halftime lead.

The teams played deliberately in the second half, working for the good shot. Each team had good luck on its shots. Hope hit seven of its first nine in the second half. Ritsema and Benes each made three baskets but Bob Fletcher, who had three baskets, and John Thompson, who sank two, all from outcourt kept the Hornets challenging.

Hope led 23-15 with 16:30 to go but the Hornets narrowed it to two points, 28-26 with 10:37 left. Ritsema added his third basket and Benes a free shot to pull Hope out in front 31-26 at the 10-minute mark.

Hope kept the five-point spread and increased the bulge to eight points, 40-32 with four minutes to play.

The Dutch added seven straight points in the next three minutes and shoved the margin to 47-37. Kalamazoo scored five points in the last minute to narrow the final score to 10 points. Vander Hill led the last drive with eight points on three buckets and two free shots.

Ritsema and Benes did a good job of getting off their feet in the game and snagged several rebounds off each other. Ritsema

Evergreens On Display At Library

Cuttings of a few cultivated evergreen trees have been placed on display in Holland Public Library by the Holland Garden Club.

The display emphasizes that these decorative trees are of great value for substance, line and color to background plantings.

Two spruce, the Blue and the Colorado Blue, have beautiful shapes and grow to great heights. The Colorado Blue has the blue new growth although not so intense as the Blue spruce.

The Concolor Juniper is the darkest green of the junipers. It is a compact pyramidal tree which grows 18 to 20 feet high and does not turn brown in the winter. The Silver Juniper has a bluish gray foliage and grows about 20 feet high. Junipers are male and female and both are needed to produce the blue berries, favorite with the birds. They need alkaline soil and sun.

Gold Tipped Cedar (Juniperus Virginiana Elegansissima) has a definite place in the color scheme because the new growth is gold colored. It can be kept trimmed to the desired size and shape.

Concolor (white) Fir (Colorado) is one of the most satisfactory of the cultivated evergreens. It is conical, full branched and needs space for it grows to forest tree proportions. It may grow 10 to 15 inches annually. The Pyramidal yew, contrary to popular belief, needs sun at least half a day, and will grow to 20 to 50 feet tall. If kept small it must be sheared severely. Yews are the darkest green of the evergreens.

American Holly (Ilex Opaca) is a beautiful, broadly pyramidal, slow growing tree. They are male and female and both are necessary to produce the berries which persist through the winter. They are expensive and should be purchased by named variety while in berry and planted in the spring. Acid soil is a requirement.

Eight members of the Detroit Lions football team talked football and signed autographs for Holland and Zeeland area football fans Saturday night prior to their exhibition basketball game with the Zeeland Texaco Oilers in the Zeeland high gym.

Prior to the appearance at the gym, the Lions were feted at a dinner in Van Raalte's Restaurant. Included in the group were Bob Miller, Joe Schmidt, Gene Cronin, Stan Campbell, Daris McCord, Jerry Reichow and Charley Ane.

Each one of the group gave his feeling about the prospects for 1959 and all agreed that the addition of Nick Pietrosanti, Notre Dame fullback is going to make the Lions stronger.

"That will give us two big running and blocking backs," Cronin said. "Pietrosanti will play fullback and John Henry (Johnson) will play one of the halfbacks," Cronin, one of the Lions big defensive linemen said.

Bud Erickson, assistant general manager of the Lions, who does the booking for the group and accompanies them in a master of ceremonies role, felt that if the rookies came through the Lions would be in the thick of it again next fall.

He too, pointed to Pietrosanti and added the name of Mike Ray-bow, Indiana guard, as a good-looking prospect. Erickson said Lion coach George Wilson chats with other coaches in the league three or four times a month but Erickson was mum on any trades the Lions might make.

Ane, 260-pounder, was the most personable member of the group while Jerry Reichow proved to be the best basketball player. Ane said the Lions lost a real "team

Lions Feel Notre Dame Back Will Make '59 Club Stronger

Eight members of the Detroit Lions football team talked football and signed autographs for Holland and Zeeland area football fans Saturday night prior to their exhibition basketball game with the Zeeland Texaco Oilers in the Zeeland high gym.

Prior to the appearance at the gym, the Lions were feted at a dinner in Van Raalte's Restaurant. Included in the group were Bob Miller, Joe Schmidt, Gene Cronin, Stan Campbell, Daris McCord, Jerry Reichow and Charley Ane.

Each one of the group gave his feeling about the prospects for 1959 and all agreed that the addition of Nick Pietrosanti, Notre Dame fullback is going to make the Lions stronger.

"That will give us two big running and blocking backs," Cronin said. "Pietrosanti will play fullback and John Henry (Johnson) will play one of the halfbacks," Cronin, one of the Lions big defensive linemen said.

Bud Erickson, assistant general manager of the Lions, who does the booking for the group and accompanies them in a master of ceremonies role, felt that if the rookies came through the Lions would be in the thick of it again next fall.

He too, pointed to Pietrosanti and added the name of Mike Ray-bow, Indiana guard, as a good-looking prospect. Erickson said Lion coach George Wilson chats with other coaches in the league three or four times a month but Erickson was mum on any trades the Lions might make.

Ane, 260-pounder, was the most personable member of the group while Jerry Reichow proved to be the best basketball player. Ane said the Lions lost a real "team leader" when they traded Bobby Layne to Pittsburgh. He felt Layne could get more out of the players than anyone else although he regarded Tobin Rote as a better runner.

"The Lions realize they pulled a blunder," was the way defensive captain Schmidt described Layne's loss. "He will be playing for two or three more years," Schmidt said, "and will be just as great."

Quite a football great in his own right, Schmidt passed off his line-backing ability as "being set up by the way the defensive line funnels the ball carrier into a spot."

Schmidt is noted for coming up and making the stop and is the leading tackler on the team.

Schmidt said he did not "key" on one particular ball-carrier, but observed how the backs were lined up and then tried to diagnose which way the play was going. He also calls the Detroit defensive signals.

All of the Lions felt Earl Morrall, former Michigan State All-American, would develop into a good pro quarterback. "He has been with three teams in three years," Ane said, "but if he can stay with one club long enough to develop with that club he will be a good pro quarterback."

Terry Barr, Grand Rapids native, didn't attend the pre-game dinner because he was visiting his family and friends, including his Michigan teammate Tom Maentz, in Grand Rapids. He arrived for the exhibition. At 197, Barr was the smallest of the group.

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy didn't appear because he was scheduled to undergo nose surgery in Detroit Sunday. The Lions plan to play about 25 such exhibitions this winter.

A dessert luncheon at 8 p.m. was followed by a social evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Miller, accompanied by Holland friends, attended the Boat Show in Chicago over the week end.

Clyde Sisson has been ill the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards and family of South Bend, Ind., spent the weekend here in the Alva Hoover home and with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Edwards. Mrs. Westveld who had spent the week in South Bend returned with them.

The Ganges Grange will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Gladys Chapman.

Mrs. Kenneth Sargent entertained a group of friends and neighbors at her home on Monday evening. The occasion was a pink and blue shower in honor of Mrs. Shirley Babbitt. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee was served by the hostess following the opening of the gifts and contests at which prizes were given.

A number from here attended the annual business and dinner meeting of the South Haven Fruit Exchange Saturday at the South Haven Methodist Church. The Chord Counts of Holland were the entertainment feature of the afternoon program.

Miss Janet Margot was guest of honor at a bridal shower held on Friday evening at the Ganges Methodist Church. About 100 guests were present. Hostesses were Mrs. Orrin Ensfield Jr. and Mrs. Earl Sorensen. A program was presented in place of game. A skit, paraphrasing the Courtship of Hiawatha, was presented by a group of the young people and Sunday school girls. Mrs. Walter Wright gave two of her usual amusing readings. Miss Loretta Siremler played two selections on the clarinet. Miss Jane Van Hartesveldt, accompanied by Mrs. Mae Winne on the piano, sang two selections. Mrs. Ensfield was mistress of ceremonies. Miss Margot opened the gifts in a Valentine setting of pink and white featuring pictures of the young couples who will be married on Valentine's Day. A decorated umbrella and flowers added to the setting. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream with pink hearts in the center, decorated cake, cookies, coffee, tea and punch were served by the hostesses, assisted by several of the young people of the church.

The Bit O'Fun club was entertained on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nye.

Lions Entertain In Exhibition

ZEELAND (Special) — The Detroit Lions basketball team had lots of fun cavorting around the Zeeland High gym Saturday night and 650 fans enjoyed watching the oversized pro football players try basketball.

The pro gridders looked especially big in basketball suits and the fans received a good idea of their size. The Texaco Oilers won the game, 58-50 for their 13th win in 16 starts.

Included in the Lions antics was a football formation where all eight of them lined up, gave the ball to Terry Barr and he went in for a layup.

They also tried a fake field goal and Jerry Reichow passed to Barr, who was perched on Stan Campbell's shoulders, and Barr dunked the ball. The Lions had from five to eight players in the game at a time.

The Oilers jumped out 18-8 at the quarter and led 35-23 at halftime. The third period score was 48-34.

'Around the World' Dances Delight Holland Audience

An attentive audience viewed with interest the intricate dances of Carola Goya and Matteo in "A World of Dancing" Monday night in Civic Center, the fifth presentation in the 1958-59 series sponsored by the Holland Civic Music Association.

Adherents of ethnic dancing rather than classic ballet, Goya and Matteo took their audience around the world with their unique repertoire of colorful dances of Scotland, India, Portugal, Italy, Bavaria, Cuba, Java, Thailand, Japan, the various provinces of Spain, Hawaii, Tahiti and Latin America. Each dance had its own distinctive costumes, some elaborate and some simple.

Particularly striking were the rhythmic Spanish dances in which Carola Goya demonstrated the full possibilities of the castanets as musical and interpretive instruments. Miss Goya used these clacking little percussion instruments in several dances. For one dance both Goya and Matteo used castanets, standing still and using only arm movements in an unusual number. The varied program, opened with a dance, "On the Bridge Path" with both dancers in riding clothes. Costumes became more colorful and elaborate as they danced their way through the various countries. Effective lighting aided the various presentations, although there was a general feeling that the audience favored those dances in which the stage was brightly lighted.

Raymond Sachse, musical director and pianist, appeared in a solo presentation, playing "Viva Navarra" Larregia, and for encore, "Dance Lucumi," Leconora.

Matteo in several short informative talks explained the folklore behind the dances of exotic lands, and gave an unscheduled interpretation of Joyce Kilmer's "Trees."

The influence of the classic ballet was reflected in an 18th century Spanish dance by Miss Goya. Comic relief came in a schottische which was the rage of Europe in 1890. The program closed with two gypsy dances.

Teachers Attend Night Class To Study Effects of Radiation

Each Wednesday evening a group of Holland area teachers gathered at the Senior High School to study the effects of radiation on life, with the aid of a shipment of laboratory rats from Upjohn and Co. in Kalamazoo.

The instructor of the 12-week course is David E. Scobie, a science teacher at Thomas Jefferson School and radiological defense officer for Ottawa County.

Representing Holland schools in the class are Russ' Hornbaker, Dirk Bloemendaal, Arthur Johnson, Leonard Dick, Robert Van Voorhees, Mrs. Nona Penna and Miss Ethel Herrick. Larry Park, Herbert Morgan and Donald Van Der Kolk teach at Grand Haven High School, and Dan Krueger teaches at Fennville High.

In their experiments, rats are injected with such radioisotopes as phosphorus 32 and iodine 131, and later killed and used to make radiographs.

This is done by placing the rat on x-ray film and permitting the radioactivity to expose the plates, which then are studied to trace the path of the isotope and its effects.

Hornbaker has worked with phosphorus 32 in making radiographs of the skeletons of goldfish in demonstrating the manner in which phosphorus seeks out the bone structure.

Others are using the scaler-radiometer to trace and measure the effect of iodine 131 on the thyroid of the rat, and others are checking the organ distribution of phosphorus 32.

Scobie said that information gained from the experiments will be used to acquaint high school students with the effects of radiation on life.

Holland Hunter Runs Smack Into Wild Pig in Arizona

Arnold Branderhorst of 486 Lakewood Blvd., noted for his interest in hunting rabbits with a good pack of hounds, recently turned his interest to comparatively rare and elusive Arizona game.

While vacationing in Phoenix at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Drs. Ray and Joyce De Haan, he participated in a hunt for wild pig or javelina.

Javelina is found in several of the desert areas in Arizona. It is reported by most of the native hunters to be very wary and capable of inflicting serious injury with its two inch razor sharp tusks. Although usually weighing less than fifty pounds, it will on occasion charge man without warning.

Branderhorst, although not licensed to hunt javelina, consented to participate in a pig hunt and act as "guide," helping to locate game with the aid of binoculars.

On the day of the hunt, after careful preparation, Branderhorst led the hunting party across an almost dry river bed up a steep hillside partially covered with cactus and sage brush. Upon reaching the rise, he stopped to scan the area. His attention was drawn to some rushing under a cactus where he witnessed a sight rarely ever seen by javelina hunters. Within 40 feet three large wild pigs were feeding, accompanied by two young. Looking over their two inch tusks were three pairs of beady eyes.

After an exchange of a couple glances in which Branderhorst held his ground, he pointed out the game. One shot from a 3006 rifle by Dr. Ray De Haan disposed of one of the pigs. Fortunately the others turned tail rather than charging the unarmed informant.

In true guide fashion, Branderhorst then produced the knife for dressing out the game—a combination nail file and knife probably used for field dressing cottontail rabbits.

While returning with the game to the car, he met a local Arizona hunter with a pronounced limp which resulted from last year's encounter with Arizona's little known game animal, the javelina.

St. Joe Stops Little Maroons

ST. JOSEPH (Special) — Holland their sixth game in 15 starts here when they bowed to St. Joseph's reserves 38-22 in a wild ball game. The Little Bears became the only club to whip the locals twice this season by virtue of the win.

The Bears, using four juniors in the starting lineup, opened with a zone defense. Christian led 2-0 and moved the ball around the zone waiting to take only the good shot. St. Joe scored after seven minutes to knot the count 2-2 at the quarter.

Both clubs loosened up a bit in the second period, but the Hollanders couldn't find the range to trail 15-4 at halftime as the Maroons experienced their coldest night of the season. Scoring picked up a bit in the third period but the Maroons trailed 30-13 at the period's end. The Maroons outscored the Bears in the final period, 9-7.

S. Padnos, R. W. Smith Win Primary

Lakeview, Van Raalte Annexation Issues Approved for Ballot

The names of Stuart B. Padnos and Richard W. Smith will appear on the city ballot at the April 6 election as candidates for sixth ward councilman following a primary election in the sixth ward Monday.

A total of 514 votes were cast with Padnos receiving 233 and Smith 178. A third candidate, Lee De Pree, received 103 votes.

Voting was extremely light throughout the day with about a fifth of the voters going to the polls. There are more than 2,400 registered voters in the four precincts.

Padnos ran heavy in the precincts lying in the original city and Smith polled the majority in the Apple Ave. and Maplewood precincts which recently annexed to the city.

Padnos received 35 votes in the first precinct, 140 in the second, 20 in the third and 38 in the fourth. Smith received 25 votes in the first precinct, 56 in the second, 47 in his home district in the third and 50 in the fourth.

De Pree polled 19 in the first, 32 in the second, 7 in the third and 45 in his home precinct in the fourth.

City Clerk Clarence Greengard today estimated election expenses in the four precincts totaled about $500 or roughly $1 a vote. He said this reflected the lack of interest on the part of residents of the sixth ward, since there is just as much work involved in setting up precincts for a 500 vote as for a 2,000 vote.

Carroll Seats Weds Marilyn Boeve

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll R. Seats (Bulford photo)

Miss Marilyn June Boeve became the bride of Carroll R. Seats in a double ring ceremony performed Feb. 7 in Maplewood Reformed Church. The Rev. Abraham Rybrandt read the rites when the wedding party assembled at 8 p.m. before a setting of ferns, candelabra and bouquets of white flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Boeve of 805 South Lincoln Ave. Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Seats of 699 Myrtle Ave. are the parents of the groom.

The bride selected a wedding gown of floor length peau de soie with upper bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace trimmed with pearls. The skirt was designed with a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was held by a lace headpiece embroidered in pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Miss Sandra Boeve, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in an emerald velvet gown featuring short sleeves, a V neckline and full skirt. A matching velvet headband and veil completed her ensemble. Her cascade bouquet was of white carnations. Carmen Seats assisted his brother as best man. Guests were seated by Russel Sandy and Arthur Knoll.

Mrs. Earle Tellman, organist, accompanied the bride's brother-in-law, Robert Van Voorst, who sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Boeve chose a royal blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of red and white roses for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress, orchid accessories and a red and white rose corsage.

The newlyweds greeted 50 guests at a reception at Cumerford's. Mr. and Mrs. Randall Vandewater were master and mistress of ceremonies, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bareman assisted with the gifts. Punch was served by Miss Melanie Seats, sister of the groom, and Herchel King. Miss Jean Mast was in charge of the guest book.

For a wedding trip to Chicago, the new Mrs. Seats wore a navy blue knit dress, navy accessories and a beige coat. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Holland High School, was graduated from the Grand Rapids Junior College Division of Practical Nursing. She is now employed at Holland Hospital. The groom is employed in the service department of Montgomery Ward and Co. He attended Holland High and is a graduate of the DeVry Technical Institute. Mr. and Mrs. Seats are residing at 169½ West 28th St.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents for members of the wedding party Feb. 6 in the Warm Friend Tavern.

RESCUE DEER FROM LAKE — Saugatuck fishing tug skipper Robert Peel (upper left) is shown on board his 50-foot tug, the Thomas C. Mullen, with one of the two deer he and his two crewmen, Bert Rastall and Marvin Demarest, rescued for out in Lake Michigan Saturday. Breaking their way out of the frozen harbor for the first time in a month, they saw the two yearling bucks standing together on an ice floe as big as a city block, four and a half miles out. Chasing the deer into the water by ramming the floe with the boat, Demarest lassooed the first and hauled him aboard. The other was swimming hard out into the lake, but Peel circled until Rastall threw a loop over him. Radio messages to the Holland Coast Guard had Allegan County Conservation Officer Harry Plotts and Deputy Con Zeedyk waiting at the dock. Rastall, (on the boat, top center) Zeedyk and other men hauled the two struggling bucks from the boat. At top right, Peel and Zeedyk each have a firm grip on a buck's ears as they and other men carry him to a waiting pickup. Conservation Officer Plotts and Harvey Busscher of Saugatuck (lower left) load a buck into the pickup, and they were taken to the Saugatuck Golf Course. Carefully, the deer were untied and the men jumped free. (Lower right) Busscher and Rastall stand back as the buck skids on the ice in attempting a fast takeoff. The bucks disappeared quickly among the trees, apparently glad to be on land and free again.

Firemen Nip Blaze In Vacant Home

A fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring Sunday at 3 p.m. caused an estimated $150 damage, mostly in smoke damage, to a vacant house at 393 Douglas Ave., according to Holland Township Fire Marshal Andrew Westenbroek.

Westenbroek said the home, owned by Elmer Ness of Aurora, Ill., was being heated by an oil burner. A real estate agent happened to be showing the home to prospective renters Sunday when an electric cord wrapped around the aluminum oil tube shorted out and burned the tube.

The oil poured out and caught fire, raising clouds of black smoke. One of those in the home ran out to call firemen, but the alarm had already been turned in by a neighbor who had seen the smoke, and firemen were on the scene almost immediately.

The firemen, from the No. 1 station, smothered the blaze with a carbon dioxide extinguisher.

Everse-Zimmer Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gene Everse (Holland Illustrative)

Miss Patricia Ann Zimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival E. Zimmer, 525 Riley St., and Lyle Gene Everse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Everse, 746 136th Ave., were married Feb. 6 in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Charles Vander Beek.

The marriage took place in Rose Park Reformed Church which was decorated with Oregon ferns and spiral candelabra flanking a large heart of pompoms. The pews were marked with pompoms, greens and white satin bows.

The bride approached the altar with her father as Mrs. Len Elander played traditional wedding music. Soloist Bob Kraker sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer." During the reception he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Bless This House."

The bride's gown of swaggy taffeta was designed with a skirt curved like a petal, then folded into cartridge pleats to form a chapel train. Delicate traceries of re-embroidered Alencon, seed pearls and sequins accented the high bodice and skirt. The scalloped fingertip veil fell from a crown trimmed with sequins and pearls. Her bouquet consisted of white spider mums sprayed red on the edges.

Strapless red crystaletta gowns with red velvet jackets with sabrina necklines that dipped to a V in the back with streamers, were worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. James Boeve, sister of the bride, and the Misses Linda Zimmer and Shirley Overway, who were the bridesmaids. The flower girl, Kathy Moore, also wore a gown fashioned like those of the bridal attendants. They carried white fur muffs with red spider mums and tiny red hearts. Keith Overway, wearing a black tuxedo, carried the rings on a white satin heart pillow.

Harlan Everse attended his brother as best man and Vern Overway, brother-in-law of the groom and Dawson Zimmer, brother of the bride were groomsmen. James Boeve and Marvin Vandew Bosch seated the guests.

At the punch bowl were Miss Lavina Brown and Al Blauw and in charge of the gift room were Mr. and Mrs. E. Plaggemars and Mr. and Mrs. A. Behrmann. The groom's brother, Lee Everse, was in charge of the guest book.

The newlyweds will be at home Feb. 21 at 709 Gail Ave., Rose Park, following a honeymoon to Florida. For traveling the bride chose a beige wool blouson dress, mouton jacket, brown accessories and a corsage of two yellow orchids.

The bride is employed at Chris Craft and the groom at the Holland Meat Co. Both are Holland High School graduates.
