Old Newspaper Yields Story of Lincoln Slaying

Big Story on Page 4 Of Old Issue Found In Unclaimed Trunk

The dramatic story of President Lincoln's assassination April 14, 1865, is related in an old copy of the New York Daily Tribune belonging to Mrs. John Rooks, 764 Columbia.

The paper was found in an unclaimed trunk stored in Rooks Transfer Co. It was opened seven or eight years ago.

The April 15, 1865, edition carried all details of the assassination on page 4, while page 1 was devoted to letters from persons, anonymous and otherwise, mostly about the war between the states. Columns on both first and fourth pages were heavily outlined in black. The story was divided into 11 dispatches.

The sixth dispatch started: "Like a clap of thunder out of clear sky spread the announcement that President Lincoln was shot while sitting in his box at Ford's theater. The city is wild with excitement. A gentleman who was present describes the event:

"At about 10 1/2 o'clock, in the midst of one of the acts, a pistol shot was heard, and at the same instant a man leaped upon the stage from the same box occupied by the President, brandished a long knife, and shouted, 'sic semper tyrannis!' then rushed to rear of the scenes and out of the back door of the theater. So sudden was the whole thing that most persons in the theater supposed it a part of the play, and it was some minutes before the fearful tragedy was comprehended."

Other dispatches described how at the same hour a horseman rode up to Secretary Seward's home and, dismounting, announced he had a prescription to deliver to the Secretary in person. Admitted to the room, the assassin immediately cut the Secretary's throat from ear to ear. Fortunately the jugular vein was not severed. Seward's son also was attacked.

The eighth dispatch said the assassin gained entrance to the President's box by sending in his card requesting an interview. The villain drew his pistol across Mrs. Lincoln's shoulder and fired. Col. Parker, another occupant of the box seized the assassin but he wrestled himself from his grip and sprang down upon the stage. His spur caught in the American flag as he descended and threw him at length. He unloosed the spur and dashed to rear, brandishing his knife and revolver.

The 11th dispatch said: "The President is slowly dying. The brain is slowly oozing through the ball-hole in the forehead. He is of course insensible. There is an occasional lifting of his hand, and heavy stentorian breathing; that's all."

Tribune editors wrote: "We give the above dispatches in the order in which they reached us, the first having been received a little before midnight, for we know that every line, every letter will be read with the intensest interest."

The last bulletin: "The accounts are confused and contradictory. One dispatch announces that the President died at 12 1/2 p.m. Another, an hour later, states that he is still living, but dying slowly. We go to press without knowing the exact truth, but presume there is not the slightest ground for hope. Mr. Seward and his son are both seriously wounded, but were not killed. But there can be little hope that the Secretary can rally with this additional and frightful wound."

John Van Eerden To Fill Unexpired Term of Alderman

Fifth Ward to Serve Two Months Before New Term; Follows Holwerda

John Van Eerden, who was elected alderman of the fifth ward in last week's primary election, was appointed by Common Council Wednesday night to fill the unexpired term of Raymond Holwerda.

Holwerda had resigned his position as fifth ward alderman to be a candidate for the Charter Revision commission, a race in which he was victorious. The term continues until May when the new council takes over.

Other business in the 50-minute session was largely routine. Mayor Bernard De Pree presided.

A request from William Van Regenmortel, representing the DAV, for council consideration in allowing disabled (amputee) veterans free parking after meters are installed was referred to the Public Safety commission. Van Regenmortel explained that Detroit and Grand Rapids allow such privileges for amputees whose cars bear a sticker provided by the city.

City Attorney Peter S. Boler said a bill is pending in the state legislature for a uniform law for just such matters. He suggested the city withhold final action until the state bill is studied.

A second request from Van Regenmortel to hold the Michigan DAV convention in Holland in 1950 was referred to the Chamber of Commerce committee. This three-day event would attract 2,000 to 3,000 delegates, it was estimated.

Council approved Ald. John Beltman's recommendation to advertise for bids for a new roof on the main grandstand at Riverview park. This expense, estimated roughly at $600, would come from the Riverview park reserve fund. Bids must be filed with the clerk's office by 4 p.m. March 16.

A bid of $144 offered by Henry Buscher, 345 West 17th St., for the city-owned house at 64 West Seventh St. was accepted. Buscher's bid was highest of the six submitted. Lowest was $59.01. Approval was given Ald. A. A. Nienhuis' recommendation of the Public Lighting committee to place street lights at 28th and College, 29th and Washington and 29th and Van Raalte.

A petition with 18 signatures requesting a time limit on parking on Seventh St. between Central and College was referred to the Public Safety commission. Residents in that area protested day-long parking and blocked driveways and pointed out that Ninth St. has restricted parking.

A letter from Willard C. Wichers, Tulip Time manager, requesting use of Riverview park, 19th St. playground and Kollen park for 1949 Tulip Time events was referred to the Playground commission and Park department.

Ways and Means committee announced it will introduce at the next regular meeting ordinance No. 4121 termed "annual appropriation bill of the city of Holland for fiscal year commencing third Monday in March."

Quotations from two suppliers for Tulip Time suits for aldermen were referred to the Ways and Means committee. Lowest bid was from the firm which supplied costumes last year.

Council confirmed retention of George Sidwell, Lansing expert on charter revision, as consultant for the local commission at an estimated cost of $1,250, as outlined in Sidwell's letter to council Dec. 10. It also was announced that the commission will meet each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. beginning March 10, open to the public.

City Clerk Clarence Greengrove presented several oaths of office for city officials and charter revision commission members.

A letter from State Sen. William C. Vandenberg acknowledging receipt of a letter pertaining to refunding of intangibles taxes to municipalities and requesting information whether the city would favor a 4 per cent corporations tax was filed.

Flooded Stove Causes Blaze

A "flooded" gas stove caused an estimated $1,100 damage this morning at the quonset-type home of Arthur Kruthof, three-quarters of a mile north and a quarter mile west of the north US-31 city limits.

Mrs. Kruthof was in the kitchen in addition to the house getting ready to wash. The oil stove also was in the kitchen. She went to make the beds in another room and when she returned the kitchen was a mass of flames.

Fire shot into the living room of the house but did not reach the bedrooms, firemen said.

Two Holland township fire trucks answered the call and used fog to quell the fire. They stayed on the scene for one hour.

Kruthof estimated the $1,100 damage was $700 to the house and $400 to contents.

Junior High Observes Brotherhood Week

Students of Holland Junior high school last week carried out an active observance of National Brotherhood week. Blackboard decorations, pictures and posters illustrated the theme throughout the building.

In some classes students made inquiries in the city concerning prejudice, library resources were conducted and programs with speakers and films were carried out.

The film, "The House I Live In," was followed by a discussion on racial prejudice. Film strips from the junior high film library were used as subjects of group lessons. In one class, the record, "Ballad for Americans" was followed by a discussion on "Tolerance in Holland—Does It Exist?" Debates were conducted on "Racial Prejudice," "Religious Tolerance," and "Practices in Holland."

Among speakers were Mrs. Edward Donovan of the senior high library, who read works of the Negro poet, Paul Lawrence Dunbar. Lawrence Fabumi of Nigeria, West Africa, Hope college student, spoke to several classes.

Conclusions of debates and discussions were that Holland does have problems in race relations and tolerance in spite of the homogeneous population and that many advances are still possible in making newcomers welcome in churches, schools and the community.

Hope Five Downs Michigan Normal For Second Time

Revised Lineup Fights Back to Overtake Normal in Final Period

Hope college's basketball team returned to Holland Sunday with a split record after its two-game road trip. The Dutch rallied late in the second half Saturday night to take a 65-59 decision from Michigan Normal Saturday night at Normal's gym in Ypsilanti.

Hope dropped its final MIAA game to Alma Friday night.

With a lone game left on the schedule, the Dutch now have a season record of 10 wins and six defeats.

The Dutch had to fight hard to overtake Fred Jackson and his Michigan Normal mates. The tricky Normal pivotman connected for 11 field goals and three charity tosses for a total of 25 points.

Hope started fast against the Normals and went ahead 12-4 and 23-17 before Normal struck back. The home team racked up 10 points while holding Hope scoreless just before the half ended. The teams leveled off at 31-29 in Normal's favor, at the half.

Michigan Normal, paced by Jackson, stepped ahead to a nine-point lead midway in the second half before Hope was able to get back in the ball game.

With eight minutes to go, Nick Yonker was forced out via the foul route and replaced by Bill Hinga, June Bremer took over center in place of Paul Muiyken and Jack Marema replaced Bud Van De Wege on the front line.

This revised lineup fired the hoop and narrowed the lead to a few points. Hope finally overtook the leaders. The Dutch were out in front by three points with three and a half minutes left in the game.

With the clock running out, the Dutch pulled a stall that not only held Normal but netted the Dutch three more points.

Heck Buter paced Hope with 13 points. Paul Muiyken came next with 12 points, all in the first half. Jun Bremer found the hoop for 11 points during the second half to tie the Moose Holwerda in the scoring column.

Earlier this season, Hope edged Normal 51-50 at the Armory.

Larry Hildore received an injury to his right arm when he was wounded as a paratrooper in France. Surgeons saved the arm, but it hasn't regained all its onetime skills. It won't, for instance, let Larry take lecture notes as fast as he'd like. That's why he uses a wire recording machine at some of his classes.

Professors Can't Talk Too Fast For Freshman

Most college students associate lectures with note taking. But not so with Larry Hildore, Hope college freshman from Hudsonville. To Larry an hour long lecture means a mile and a half of thin wire, a relaxing 60 minutes and assurance of complete coverage.

Larry is a 25-year-old veteran with a disabled right arm, the result of shrapnel received when he landed with the 517th combat team as a paratrooper in southern France. Before this invasion he had served with the same crack team in Italy. In the sixth month following Sept. 29, 1944, the date on which he was wounded, Larry moved from hospital to hospital. Three of them were in France, one in Italy, one in Africa, one in Florida, and one in Cleveland. He finally settled down for a two-year stay at Percy Jones, in Battle Creek. Surgeons saved his arm but not for writing notes at the rate required by most college professors.

When Larry started Hope in September of 1948 he had difficulty keeping up the pace set by his history professors. Larry wants to major in history and become a teacher. So J. J. Van Vessum, of the Veterans administration regional office in Grand Rapids, went to bat for Larry, and got him a wire recorder. This equipment enables Larry to get every word of his lecture on a spool of wire that stretches a mile and a half for each hour of discussion. When he gets to his room Larry plays back the lecture and takes notes at the pace he sets for himself. Upon completion of the lecture a playback erases the magnetic record and the spool is good for another recording.

So far this semester Larry has needed to use the recorder in only one of his classes, History of Civilization, taught by Metta Ross. He sets the recorder in front of the class, plugs it in (the college provided the classroom with an out let), and sits back to absorb as much as he can without taking notes.

Before entering Hope, Larry attended an advertising school in Chicago, but decided he was more interested in teaching. So far the recording project has worked out.

"And who knows," said Larry, "I may be starting a fad with this recorder that will revolutionize educational methods."

Holland Library Joins Observance Of Special Week

Free Booklets List
50 Notable Books;
Urge Library Use

Holland's public library is joining libraries throughout the state in observing "Know Your Library Week" this week through Saturday.

The Michigan library association is sponsoring the special week in an effort to arouse more interest in library use and to encourage expansion.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams in launching the week said, "The accumulation of experience in the use of books is the foundation of civilized society. Our civilization progresses according to the degree to which this treasury of the ages is made available to each generation through our libraries."

Special free pamphlets, listing the 50 notable books of 1949 as selected by the American Library association, are available at the local book arsenal throughout this week.

"It is hoped that through these booklets, we can lure more users to our Holland library," Librarian Doris Schermer said.

Michigan was one of the first states to recognize the importance of libraries to the life of communities. More than 100 years ago, the state founders wrote a provision for state sponsorship of libraries into the constitution.

Today, free public libraries exist in every part of the state. They offer a treasure of books for circulation plus recorded films, maps and pictures.

With some state assistance, but mostly with local support and administration, libraries have been established in all but five of Michigan's counties.

This special week is to call people's attention to the cultural potentialities of our library system.

Health Committee Hears Discussion

At the monthly meeting of the city schools' health committee Feb. 23 in Junior High school, results of the "Massachusetts vision testing program" carried out in local public and Christian schools were reviewed.

Of 2,904 pupils tested, 483 failures to measure up to normal vision were reported, according to Miss Bernice Bishop, committee chairman. An effort has been made to follow up the failures, and referrals were reported by the county health department through their nurses checking in the various buildings. It is hoped that by the end of the school year each failure will have been reported to the proper doctors, Miss Bishop said.

Reports also were made by Robert Stupka and Mrs. Virginia Borgman of the physical education department, on all pupils who were excused from the physical education classes by their physicians.

The principal discussion at Wednesday's meeting centered around new and approved health teaching practices in Michigan, special emphasis being placed on what is being done in the field of social hygiene. Mrs. Georgia Hood, consultant with the state health department attended the meeting and led the round table discussion. Representatives of the county health department, Christian and public schools and parents form the health committee.

Dr. Mulder Talks On Church History

Dr. John R. Mulder, president of Western Theological seminary, spoke on the church history of Holland before the Kiwanis club Monday night at the Warm Friend Tavern.

In relating the history of the local churches Dr. Mulder pointed out the interesting fact that the Methodist church was represented in Ottawa county before the Reformed church with the coming of Isaac Fairbanks in this vicinity in 1844.

Dr. Mulder also told about the origin of the Reformed church dating back to 1848 and the organization of the Christian Reformed church a few years later.

The speaker also told briefly about some of the 12 one-church denominations in Holland as well as interesting historical facts about the 15 Reformed and Christian Reformed churches of the community.

Dr. Mulder pointed out that according to statistics compiled by sociologists, which show there should be one church for each 1,000 population, Holland apparently is an over-churching city with its 27 congregations. He also related the unusual fact that there are no Congregational or Presbyterian churches in this community.

The speaker was introduced by Jack Plewes, program chairman, Dan Vander Werf, club president, who is in charge of the meeting. Group singing was led by Robert Weener accompanied by Franklin Van Ry.

Holland Christian Maroons Are Wary of Allegan as Tourney Foe

Although Holland Christian cagers are aware of the strength of their opponent in their final round tourney game Wednesday, it was a determined squad which went through its final preparations Monday. There seemed to be plenty of confidence in the Maroon line while awaiting the invasion of Coach Ken Otis' Allegan Tigers on the Armory court Wednesday night.

Allegan has a good ball team, and no club knows it better than Holland Christian. In two games this year, the two clubs battled on even terms throughout with each earning a victory. The Tigers won the first contest on their home court, 49-47 in a hectic affair, while the Dutchmen took the second tilt by a 41-38 margin two weeks ago.

Coach Otis has a veteran ball quintet this year—flooring a team which has played as a unit for several seasons. It is a fast, high scoring club with good reserve material. Allegan, too will be out for revenge. There is good reason, since the Hollanders have eliminated the Tigers from tourney play in the last three years.

However, Coach Arthur Tuls' lads are just as determined to make it four years in a row over the Otismen. Christian has rebounded in great shape after a somewhat shaky start and will definitely be "up" for the coming

The Parables of Jesus
Mark 4; Luke 15:11-14
By Henry Geerlings

The disciples were eager to know just what Jesus meant by the parable of the sower. They might have speculated about it and argued among themselves as to what he intended the parable to teach. But they did not do that. It would have been foolish for them to have done so, when they were with Him and He was so willing to explain the story to them.

In answer to their query He went over the story again, making the explanation step by step. He meant by the field any person who received the message of God, but, as in a field, so among persons there are differences. All receive the same word of God, but not all are able to take it in and allow it to grow, producing in them the rich fruits of good living. Some allow evil habits and prejudices to keep the word from getting into their lives. They hear it, but refuse to receive the truth. It is snatched away from them and they fail to produce anything worth while in character and conduct. Others may appear to be glad to hear the word and make great promises at the start, but they keep secret sins and practice them. It is not long until their good intentions fail and they lose everything. They do not produce a harvest. Some pay so much attention to the things of the world, are so busy with worldly matters that they do not leave room for the good to grow in their lives. They think more of gold than of God. They produce nothing.

But many keep their lives in such condition, their faith so ready to receive, their will so ready to obey that God's word has a chance to grow and produce fruit. Jesus added something that must not be overlooked and that is that not all of us can produce alike. Even the good soil was not alike. Some parts produced more than other parts. But the soil that did the best it could deserved to be called good.

It must have been a good home, with many of the comforts and advantages that go with having plenty of possessions. Above all it had a wonderful father, whose great fault was that he was too lenient with his younger son. According to custom the estate would be held intact until the father's death. This did not please the younger son. He had a disposition to roam, to see the world, to go out for himself. He wanted freedom from the home rule. He felt the restrictions were handicapping his privileges. He was bold enough to suggest a division of the estate. This was hardly a request that would indicate a thoroughly respectful and obedient son. It showed a spirit of rebellion, a desire to have his own way, regardless of the feeling of others. Just why his father yielded to that has all the evidence of a foolish desire the story does not tell. Just how much persuasion was used to deflect him from his futile aim, is not recorded. To what desperation the father was driven by the determined son does not figure in the story. All we know is that after his rebellion he went away from home. The departure must have been a tragic event for the old home.

Spending lavishly and not storing up anything end in a depleted treasury. This happened to the prodigal. He lived high. It was costly. He had a good time but he paid for it. He had friends while his money lasted and he gave generously. But when his money was gone and a famine came he found himself both friendless and foodless. Not trained to any special task, he took the only job available. He hired out to a citizen of that distant country and became a swineherd. There was hardly a more despicable occupation in that day. But it was the only way the prodigal had of making a living, extremely unsatisfactory as it proved to be. His former friends deserted him. They gave him nothing. Then came memory of home, father, servants, and all that he had left behind. Then something pulled him homeward. He had retained his faith in his father's love, and was sure there was a welcome for him there. Then came his decision, the first noble note in the account of the prodigal's attitude. He would return and throw himself on the love and mercy of his father.

The return trip was in contrast with his coming. Then he was rich. Now he is poor. Then he was on a venture. Now he is the victim of his own folly. Then he worshipped his future. Now he is wearied of it all. Then he was dependent on self and satisfied. Now he is despising himself and sorrowing. But he was on his way back. He would build on a hope that his father would be glad to see him, or at least would give him a slave's place and a slave's work somewhere on the old homestead. He got back. His round trip had been made. Though much changed, he was back where he started from. The father was waiting. One thing remained. The father's love and forgiveness had not been destroyed by his heartless, cruel, sinfulness. There was a ready welcome for him, and before he could express his penitence, the delight of being forgiven was thrust upon him.

Jesus told this story to show that God's love never cuts us off. He wants us to be with Him. He seeks to pull us back from sins. He puts a premium on repentance. No matter how far we have wandered or what we have done, if we sincerely repent and return to God we will find welcome and restoration.

Arnold Believes Ottawa Farmers Favor Irrigation

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, believes farmers of Ottawa county will consider irrigation of crops more and more each year. Results obtained by farmers who have installed irrigation systems justify the increasing interest in this practice.

Within the past two years Michigan farmers have stepped up irrigation of highland farms from about 2,000 to 4,000 acres. Some are now irrigating pastures and meadows as well as cultivated crops. In some cases the acreage is small, four to five acres.

In one case yield of corn was stepped up 33 bushels to 54 bushels; in another 22 bushels to 49 bushels through application of two inches of water at the right time. In another case where four inches of water was applied yield went up from 25 bushels to 101 bushels. On sugar beets, on one farm, the yield increased over five tons per acre.

Arnold says many farmers have a cheap source of water, creeks, and rivers. The movable type of pipe irrigation cuts costs greatly.

An irrigation meeting is on the extension schedule for March 9 at which time specialists will come to the county to give advice on types of irrigation, costs, etc.

Extension service and Soil Conservation service are urging better pastures. They would like to see a few farmers try out irrigation. These could serve as demonstrations for all farmers.

Martin Stevens, Conklin, proved the value of irrigation on melons and cucumbers in 1948. He harvested over 1,100 bushels of melons from three acres of irrigated land. Without this added water his yield would have been down considerably. His entire cost was only $500 for the system.

Farm-to-Prosper Attracts Ottawa

Increased interest in the West Michigan Farm-to-Prosper contest is being shown this year in Ottawa county. John A. Chisholm, executive secretary of the contest association, found on a recent tour of the county.

One new organization has definitely enrolled for 1949. Others contacted by Chisholm expressed favorable interest. The new Holland Community Farm bureau took definite action toward participating in the 1949 contest at its meeting last week.

"We are going after that Sweepstakes prize of $100," said Mrs. Edward D. Koops, secretary.

Seven Ottawa county rural community organizations participated in 1948—the North Chester and Huyser Farm bureaus; North Ottawa Junior Farm bureau; Ferrysburg and Marne Parent-Teacher associations; Coopersville and Conklin Granges.

The Ottawa County Farm bureau has been organizing several new community farm bureaus this winter.

"I'd like to see these enrolled in the contest," Gerrit Elzinga, of Hudsonville, secretary of the county organization, told Chisholm. Elzinga, along with others of the county organization, has been a consistent supporter of the contest as promoting community advancement in Western Michigan.

Many Hear Successful Hope Orchestra Concert

The charming and descriptive music of Mousorgsky, as set down in his suite, "Pictures at an Exhibition," highlighted the enjoyable concert presented by the Hope college 50-piece orchestra in the Memorial chapel Thursday night. The orchestra is directed by Morrette Rider of the music department.

Mousorgsky wrote a series of pianoforte pieces after viewing an exhibition which included such pictures as "The Gnome," "The Troubadour," "Tuleries," "A Polish Ox Cart," "The Chicks," "Catacombs," "The Old Witch," and the "Great Gate at Kiev." These were combined with a striking recurring theme which he called "Promenade." These pieces were arranged for orchestra by Marion McArthur.

Adding interest to this feature of the program was an exhibit of paintings on display in the chapel first floor rooms. Talented students of the college art classes taught by Dirk Gringhuis had done the paintings after listening to recordings of the music, thus reversing the Mousorgsky procedure.

The orchestra did its best work in the Mousorgsky number, which was enthusiastically received by the audience of several hundred students and townspeople.

The program opened with "Suite from the Water Music," by Handel-Harty, seldom heard here. They also played the Ravel "Pavane Pour Une Infante Defunte" and the polka from the "Bartered Bride" by Smetana.

Next musical event on the Hope college calendar is the faculty recital Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. Miss Hazel Paalman is the soloist.

All sorts of things can happen when a speaker addresses a crowd, but Dr. William Gouloze of Western seminary, speaking at a Hope college assembly, was hard put to continue when an alarm clock burst forth just as he was nearing his climax. The clock was finally located in the rose window. It isn't known who was responsible. Incidentally, the chapel has a new gadget on the speaker's stand. It's a little light, not seen by the audience, which shines green until two minutes of the time limit, then turns yellow and finally red. It's supposed to be a wonderful gauge for speakers who forget the time.

This story—it may or may not be true—is told about Joe Shashagay, the genial guy who knows all about machinery, pipe fitting, engineering and what have you. It seems Joe had a bad cold and went to his doctor. The physician said he couldn't do anything for Joe but gave this cheerful comment: "Maybe you'll develop pneumonia and we know what to do for that!"

Williams said, "It looks like a couple of lively tombstones have

The liquor commission not so long ago was considered a dead end street for office seekers.

Old coins still roll on.

Mrs. G. R. Combs, 272 West 16th St., has several old coins her husband's father collected when he was a street car conductor.

There is a three-cent silver piece dated 1865, a two-cent German piece, a large one-cent piece of the United States dated 1832, a one-half cent Dutch piece, two guilders the size of a silver dollar dated 1852, a Maximilian coin, a white penny with an Indian head dated 1863, six-pence English piece, a half dollar of the Columbia exposition dated 1893. Other coins are from Canada, Britain, Mexico, Costa Rica, India and oriental coins.

Our friend, Junius Wood of Waukegan, who now hangs out in Washington writing for Nation's Business points out a few discrepancies in a story of the great Holland bank robbery which appears in a current detective magazine.

Junius is wondering about that 70-mile main highway from Holland to Chicago—shorter than flying across the lake. He also questions any viaduct in Chicago over the main highway over a railroad. One is in St. Joseph and two in Indiana he says.

Junius also wonders about the sequence in the shenanigans of the get-away, but we'll be more charitable on that one. The robbers did abandon one car, switch to another, engage in a gun fight with police and scatter roofing nails.

Changing gasoline cans was a new twist, however.

"The robbery of First State bank, now First National bank, occurred 16 years ago last Sept. 29. So far as is known, the robbers were not brought to justice and the $70,000 not recovered.

Speaking of "believing everything you read," some Grand Havenites were quick to believe a fake headline (you can buy 'em for a dollar in some places) in a Florida newspaper that a Grand Haven bachelor dentist, long immune to matrimony, had married a southern belle while vacationing in St. Petersburg.

The story spread faster than an old wives' tale at Ladies Aid. Everybody pressed the Tribune to run the story, but the editor smelled a mouse when no one knew the bride's name.

Two telegrams to local vacationers brought curt replies. "It's somebody's practical joke. Rumor about wedding denied."

Rose Bowl Films To Be Shown Here

Northwestern university alumni are cheering the news that Holland will have the first showing in Michigan of the Tournament of Roses and Rose Bowl color films.

O. W. Lowry, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said the film would be shown at the Woman's Literary club Thursday.

Assisting in arrangements are Bill Brace, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steffens, Miss Eileen Ackerson, Mrs. James Brooks, Miss Wilhelmine Haberland and Homer Barber.

Bob Clifford, Northwestern freshman football coach, will bring the film to Holland. Proceeds, after expenses, will be used to establish a scholarship for a Holland boy who will attend Northwestern.

"This film is more than a football contest, Holland, and its love of flowers, should be interested in seeing the parade pictures. Every float is made of live flowers. The largest float is 125 feet long and cost $27,000. Holland will love this film. It shows the entire parade in color," Lowry said.

Marvin Mepians to Talk At Drama Club Meeting

Hudson designers made installation of rear fenders a simpler job. For example, in the event that a rear fender is damaged, installation of a replacement fender takes less time on the new models than it did on pre-war and immediate postwar models with a resulting saving in labor costs. While Hudson fenders give the appearance of being a single unit with the body, they actually are separate from the body and are easily removed or installed. This saving in labor costs is in sharp contrast to the expense involved when fenders are not bolted to the body but are welded to, and form an integral part of the body panel. Willard Haan of Haan Motor Sales, Inc., 29 West Ninth St., is local Hudson dealer.

Christian Cagers Limit Zeeland To Three Goals

Low-Scoring Tilt Sees Maroons Dominate Play With Tight Defense

Holland Christian cagers closed their regular season play Thursday night at the Armory by taking an easy 30-14 decision over the Zeeland Chix. It was Christian's second win over the Chix this year. Coach Arthur Tuls' club finished its 16-game card with seven wins and nine losses.

The contest was a dull affair with neither club playing up to par. It was obvious that the Maroons were still a bit weary from their grueling fracas with Grand Rapids South just two nights before. Coach Arthur Tuls' club took an early lead and were never threatened in the contest.

A bright spot in the Dutch performance however, was their airtight defense. In fact, the Zeelanders garnered just one basket in the first half and only three in the entire contest. The losers failed to take one layup shot in the first half as the superb Christian defense kept all of the shooting from far out court.

Holland had a height advantage on the Zeelanders, and allowed them just one peg at the hoop before taking possession. But Kool was the outstanding backboard man of the evening, coming out with the ball on almost every occasion. Howard Meyer, Zeeland forward played outstanding ball under both baskets.

Zeeland's Tuuk Kroil opened the scoring on a long one-hander within the first two minutes to give his club its only lead. The Chix failed to score another two pointer until the third quarter was almost half gone. Holland soon forged into the lead, and by the end of the first quarter led 7-3.

Christian outscored the losers 10-0 in the second period, by completely dominating the play. What few shots the Zeeland quint did get went wild. Meanwhile Kool, Mast and Petroelje were boosting Christian's total to 17 at halftime.

Play in the third quarter was slow and ragged with Coach Arthur Tuls using his reserves freely, while Coach Howard Elzinga was still trying to find a combination which would click. The Maroons led 23-8 at the third quarter horn.

Fourth period play wasn't much better, with numerous fouls and jump balls being called. Christian reserves, with the exception of Butta Kool played practically the entire last period. Kool was ejected from the tilt with five minutes left on five personal fouls. Joe Kramer, reserve guard, scored Holland's final tally on a free throw in the closing minute of play.

The Hollanders connected on 10 out of 18 foul tosses while the Elzinga crew hit on eight out of 18. Glenn Petroelje led his club with 13 tallies, while Howard Meyers and Ray Wagner each had four for Zeeland.

In a thrilling preliminary tussle, a good Zeeland reserve club edged out a 38-35 decision over the Christian seconds. Both clubs played good basketball with the winners spurring in the final quarter. Christian led 14-12 at halftime. Schrotenboer, sharp shooting Zeeland guard, led both clubs with 17 tallies. Ralph Boven paced Christian with 10.

CHS Juniors Present Washington Assembly

The Junior Class of Holland Christian high school presented a Washington Day assembly Friday afternoon. Peter Van't Slot, class president, presided.

Junior class band members, directed by Herb De Vries, played "Stout Hearted Men" and "Washington Post March," following the salute to the flag. Junior class choir members sang "To America." They were directed by Marvin Bass, choir director.

A moving picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence was shown. The choir then sang two more numbers, "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Navy Hymn."

During chapel exercises Friday morning, Miss Carol Marquess, secretary of the senior class, read a resolution requesting Raymond Holwerda, principal, to remain with the local school. Holwerda has received an appointment as superintendent of the Bellflower Christian school in California. A double quartet sang, "Song of Rejoicing" and Holwerda responded to the resolution.

Don't hide your talent under a bushel! The basket in the middle of this display is symbolic of the hesitancy many persons feel in bringing out their hobbies in the open. In this case, the "bushel" hides ceramics, model railroad cars, carvings and many other talents. Other hobbies shown in the Chamber of Commerce display show paintings, weaving, silk screen, models of boats and churches, mounted bugs, stamps, metal work, model airplane and photography. Dust Off Your Hobbies, Display 'em Next Month

What's your hobby?

Committee members promoting the first annual Holland Hobby show in Netherlands Museum March 7 through 19 today were seeking entries from hobbyists particularly in the classes of metal work, boats, leather work, model railroads, ceramics "or anything."

Several entries have been received in the art division, but there is still room for more. Louis Mulder, chairman of the hobby show, said all entries must be brought to the museum on or before March 2. Receipts will be given for all articles. Entrants also must submit the value of each item for insurance. This means the intrinsic value, not the sentimental value.

The show, mainly for amateurs, will be open four nights during the two-week period. The first week, open nights will be Monday and Thursday and the second week Tuesday and Friday. Arts and crafts will be demonstrated during the evening sessions and persons interested in trying their luck at art will be given an opportunity to sweep a paint brush across canvas, work with clay, or work with whatever else is being demonstrated.

All entries will be enclosed in glass cases except photography and paintings which will be mounted on stands.

Among entries already listed are hand-made miniature tools designed by Ed Prins, head maintenance engineer for the public schools; pastels by Mary Berry; waffle weave rugs by Frank Bolhuis; sea shell craft work by Mrs. Hebert Colton. Other entries list miniature barns, carved swans, painting on glass, stamps and photographs. The Photography club will have a kodachrome projector on the premises to show prize winning color slides.

To promote the show, local merchants also plan to display hobby materials during the period. Entry blanks are available at the Chamber of Commerce and the Netherlands museum.

Pete's Quintet Nips All-Stars; Canes Drop Two-Point Decision

Warren's Sporting Goods of Kalamazoo squeezed past the Holland Hurricanes by a close 64-62 score Friday night at the Armory. The game was a rough-and-tumble affair and the Canes figure theirs was a moral victory after the one-sided lacing they absorbed at the hands of Warren's earlier this season.

Huge Mel Van Dis, who puts the ball DOWN through the basket during practice, dominated offensive play for both teams with a total of 11 field goals and two free throws for 22 points.

Harve Buter was the big gun for the Canes as he swished the net for one less field goal and two free throws for 22 points. Both teams started at a fast clip. The Hurricanes forged ahead early in the game only to have Warren's rally and overtake them. Van Dis' scoring punch accounted for the visitor's 15-10 lead at the end of that initial quarter.

Kalamazoo showed strong indications of turning the game into a rout during the second quarter as they fanned the basket enough for a 12-point 40-28 lead at the end of the first half.

Elmer Reynolds teamed with Van Dis to give the Kazoo cagers that commanding lead.

Led by Buter, the Canes came back in the third quarter to keep the basket sizzling and boost to within four points of the Sports team. With two minutes remaining in the quarter, the Canes finally pulled even to make the count 47 points apiece. Van Dis again came through to give Warren's a 49-47 lead as the buzzer ended the quarter. In that third period, the Canes outscored Warren's 19 points to nine.

The final period was a nip-and-tuck affair: Both teams hit consistently. Although the Canes snatched a 62-56 lead toward the end of the game, it didn't last. Warren's put on a last-minute offense that carried them to the two-point victory.

The Hurricanes travel to Grand Rapids tonight for their third game of the week. The locals clash with the potent Creston Body quintet of the north end. Russ De Vette will be missing from the Canes' lineup again tonight.

Big Carl Van Dort's charity toss with four seconds left in the game gave the city league champion Pete's Barbecue quintet a one-point 47-46 victory over the city league All-Stars Friday night.

The game was part of a double-header at the Armory.

The Stars started the game by giving every indication of repeating their standout performance of last Wednesday night. They spurred ahead 3-0. However, Van Dort led Pete's back into the ball game and the fury started. Led by Mike Van Oort, the Barbeques stepped off a 13-7 lead at the end of the initial quarter.

Pete's kept on piling up the score in the second quarter to boost their lead to a 31-24 count before the first half ended. Zeeland's Howard Elzinga kept the Stars in the running with his deft hook shots from under the bucket.

The All-Stars lived up to their name in the third period. This time it was Louie Van Dyke doing most of the scoring. Van Dyke led his team up the ladder until they climbed over Pete's to take a 10-36 advantage at the end of the third quarter.

In a wild, action-filled fourth quarter, the teams fought even with Pete's getting the edge in the point department.

Then came Van Dort's game clinching free throw that sewed up the victory for the Barbeques. Mike Van Oort was high-point man on the floor with seven field goals and three free throws for 17 points. Van Dort came next for the winners with nine points.

The All-Stars split scoring honors. Howard Elzinga had nine; Walt Bradley, Gene Schrotenboer, and Louie Van Dyke each had eight points.

Eight Stars saw action in the contest while Pete's used just six.

Holland High Has Chance of Tying For League Title

Dutch Outscore Bucs In Thrilling Contest; Israel Is Standout

The 1948-49 Southwestern conference cage season is completed. Only a minor "technicality" stands in the way of a three-way tie for the league crown between Holland, Muskegon and Benton Harbor.

With Muskegon Heights' Leroy Green declared ineligible Friday afternoon by the executive committee of the Michigan high school athletic association, an arbitration panel of the Southwest conference must decide whether the Heights must forfeit six league games that Green participated in. The Tigers won all six.

That arbitration board, which likely will take about a week before handing down its ruling, is made up of principals from three member schools.

Holland clinched its slice of the gravy Friday night by downing Grand Haven 55-48 at Grand Haven's gym. Muskegon nosed out Benton Harbor 43-42 to force the teams into the three-way tie.

The Dutch had a fight on their hands all the way against the Bucs. Friday's victory by the Dutchmen made it 16 straight over Grand Haven teams. The last time Grand Haven came out on top was back in 1941.

Lanky Gerrit Israel was the hero of the evening as he crushed the Buc's defense and racked up 19 points. His all-around play not only inspired his teammates but dampened Grand Haven hopes time after time.

However, Friday's game was halted for foul shots 60 different times. Holland was detected 36 times while Grand Haven was called 24 times. Officials were calling them close on both teams because the traditional rivalry could easily get out of hand—and they knew it.

Grand Haven cashed in 22 out of 40 tries from the charity line while Holland hit 13 out of 32.

Holland's ability to hawk the ball and tie up Grand Haven men was the most important factor in the victory. The locals fought hard for every rebound and nudged the ball down the floor to catch Grand Haven's defense napping on several occasions.

Both sides made many points on long-tosses, especially Grand Haven. Holland's alert play was able to break men in for several dog shots too.

Grand Haven's defense held in the initial canto and Holland had to rely on long shots to grab its 13-10 first quarter lead.

In the high-scoring second period, the Dutch counted a major share of their 16 points by tipping the oval in after garnering rebounds. Grand Haven swished the long ones to get 13 points and make the halftime tally Holland 26, Grand Haven 23.

The Dutch dominated play so much so in the third period that they were called 12 times for fouling. And Grand Haven took advantage of the gift tosses by making 10 out of 12. Those 10 points together with only one field goal during the quarter pulled the Bucs up to within two points of the pace-setting Dutch.

The score stayed fairly even for a few moments of the fourth quarter until Holland began another point spree. The Dutch counted 18 points to 13 for Grand Haven in the final stanza to cop the win.

Ron Appledorn came behind Israel in scoring with 12 points. Bob Freifeld was high for Grand Haven with 10.

Bob Kruijthof, playing pivotman for the Dutch more than half the game, did a masterful job in holding big Don Johnson to a lone field goal for the evening. And Dave Kemper must be commended for his outstanding job of setting up shots for his Dutch teammates.

Appledorn and Ken Van Wieren along with Russ Rescorla of Grand Haven were forced out of the game via the foul route in the final quarter.

In a thrilling preliminary tilt, Roger Eggers sank a field goal with eight seconds to go to give Holland a one-point 32-31 victory. The game was a lively scrap right down to the final whistle.

One-Boy Crime Wave Ends Furious Chase

Grand Haven, March 2 (Special)

—City police Sunday morning ended a one-boy crime wave when they finally stopped a 16-year-old Fremont youth who paced the officers in an 80-mile-an-hour race through the business section.

Alerted by Muskegon officers, Grand Haven police spotted the youth in a stolen car at the swing bridge and followed him through the heart of the city with sirens screaming. The furious chase ended on Grant St., just west of US-31.

When taken into custody, the youth was armed with an automatic pistol. Police said he admitted an attempted armed holdup of an elderly woman, the theft of a car, driving away from a service station without paying for gasoline, and a chase with a state police cruiser.

Mrs. Catherine O'Connor, Muskegon, reported to police that she was stopped on her way to church by the youngster who flashed a gun and asked for her purse. She told officers he attempted to throw her to the ground, but she eluded him.

Shortly after 9 a.m., Willie Lipps of Muskegon told police his car had been stolen from in front of his home which he had entered only two minutes before. A short time later a service station attendant phoned sheriff's officers a youth had driven away without paying for $3.37 worth of gasoline.

By 10 a.m., the youth was captured. He was later turned over to the state police who held him for Muskegon authorities. Juvenile court was to be consulted.

Detroit — A total of 1,371,000 trucks and buses were produced in 1948, exceeding the 1947 record by nearly 11 per cent.

Coach Art Tuls and his Christian high Maroons kickoff the class B district tournament at the Armory tonight with a game against Allegan. The teams have split two games this season and tonight's is rated a tossup. Aggressive Pete Hodge, above, might be the key to Christian's offense tonight. So far this season, the pint-sized forward has been one of the Maroons' most valuable assets. His work "close-in" with Butts Kool has accounted for a good share of Christian's points this season.

Mrs. Geerlings Is New Woman's Club President

Mrs. Clyde Geerlings was named president of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon in the annual election of officers. Mrs. J. J. Brower presented the slate as chairman of the nominating committee and Mrs. Clarence Becker was chairman of the tellers. Mrs. John K. Winter presided.

They will take office at the close of the club year early in April.

Mrs. Winter introduced her friend, Lucile La Chappelle of Evanston, Ill., who entertained the club with her fascinating talk entitled "Conversations Yours."

Mrs. La Chappelle named speech as man's greatest achievement and traced its development from early times. She described the four tools used by man to satisfy his desires—the voice, the body, words and "what you talk about." In her charming and amusing way, the speaker impersonated various types and their typical conversations. The gusher, complainer, the vital conversationalist, the bore, the chatterer, the "It's" and the "Won't talkers," all were imitated to the amusement of the audience.

Mrs. La Chappelle described a cheerful man as one who has "learned to co-operate with the inevitable."

She also discussed the therapeutic value of "art of listening," illustrating with pertinent anecdotes. "Gossip" is best forgotten, she advised.

Of the many characteristics that make for a good conversationalist, one should develop a sincere interest in other people and a sense of humor. "It is not always what we say, but how," she said in closing her thought-provoking talk.

At noon, the board of directors honored Mrs. Abel Smeenge, house manager for many years, at a luncheon. Mrs. Smeenge is retiring this spring after her long service for the club. She was presented a gift.

Charter Unit Studies Types of Government

Holland's newly-elected charter revision commission held its initial meeting Tuesday night and scheduled what may prove to be its most important session.

The commission voted to meet Thursday March 10 to discuss, and possibly decide, on a type of government to propose for the City of Holland.

It was explained at Tuesday's organizational session in the Common Council chamber that the type of government adopted will form a framework of entire new charter that finally is readied for the voters.

And the nine-member group urged the public to attend as many meetings as possible—especially next Thursday.

George Sidwell, charter consultant from Lansing, was at the first meeting and will return at the next session to explain types of city government in detail. Sidwell also plans to outline the duties of various city officials at the next gathering.

Next most important business considered at Tuesday's opening was the manner of procedure.

The charter commission will hold its meetings as a committee of the whole until final drafts are made. At that time the group will meet as the charter revision commission for any conclusive action.

Any action taken must pass by a majority vote.

According to state law, City Clerk Clarence Greengood presided at the first meeting. Vernon Ten Cate was elected permanent chairman of the group and Bruce Raymond was named chairman pro-tem.

Daniel Vander Werf, Jr., was elected secretary to aide Greengood in clerical work pertaining to the commission. Greengood will keep record of all minutes and send copies to each member as soon as possible after meetings.

Meetings will be held each Thursday, starting March 10, and get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the Common Council chamber on the third floor of city hall.

The charter commission will recommend to Common Council that George Sidwell be retained as a consultant.

New Greenhouses For Experiments Being Built at MSC

Artificially Controlled Climate to be Feature; Will Be Finished by Fall

Work has started at Michigan State college, on experimental greenhouses which will provide 40,000 square feet more space under glass.

Scheduled for completion in late summer or early fall, the greenhouses are being located on Farm Lane, south of the new agricultural engineering building. Although the size of the project will more than double the greenhouse space on the MSC campus, a recent survey showed that total facilities would still be below the average for agricultural colleges of comparative size.

Facilities in the new greenhouses will be provided for study of insects, plant diseases, soils, fruits, vegetables, flowers, bulbs, nursery stock, sugar beets, beans, cereal crops and the entire agricultural field.

Specially designed, the greenhouses will have artificially controlled climate with temperatures, humidity and light being varied to speed up investigations.

The facilities will cost nearly $400,000. Dean E. L. Anthony of the school of agriculture, credited the federal bureau of plant industry and the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar association, Saginaw, with assistance.

A regional laboratory for the study of diseases in sugar beets was assigned to East Lansing and three federal men have been here more than a year conducting studies. The federal government will assist in payment of costs through yearly rental of some facilities. The Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar association is also advancing a part of this cost.

Paul Krone, Michigan State college floriculturist is chairman of the faculty committee working out arrangements. Dr. H. B. Tukey, head of the department of horticulture, Ray Hutson, head of the department of entomology; C. E. Miller, head of the department of soil science; Roy Decker, head of the farm crops department, and Dr. W. B. Drew, head of the botany department, make up the committee.

"Problems of the farmer, fruit grower, vegetable grower and others may be solved by field tests alone, but the process is often too slow," Dr. Tukey pointed out. He expressed belief that the new experimental greenhouse facilities, along with other research centers being developed on the college campus would provide facilities to get the answers to many baffling problems.

New Pamphlet Is Out on Ag Policy

How much of the consumers food dollar does the farmers receive? Who gets the rest? Should the farmer get more, and if so, how can it be done?

These are a few of the questions that are in farmers' minds right now as prices decline. They are the topic of the latest Michigan State college pamphlet on agricultural policy, according to Dale Hathaway, MSC marketing specialist. This is the fourth of the series of discussion pamphlets, "Open Meetings on Agricultural Policy," which deal with economic problems faced by Michigan farmers in the years ahead.

County agricultural agent L. R. Arnold reports that this publication is available at his office. Meetings for discussion of this topic may be arranged for by groups who wish group discussions.

Gains Shown in 1948 Barberry Removal Work

A battle which was begun in 1918 in an effort to protect oats, wheat, barley, and rye from stem rust is being won in Michigan.

Co-operation between the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Michigan Department of Agriculture, and Michigan State college has reduced the annual stem rust loss from 2,600,000 bushels to less than 200,000. To eliminate stem-rust of grains, the carrier of the disease—rust-spreading barberry—must be destroyed.

C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry for the state department of agriculture, says that barberry eradication helps improve the conditions under which small grains may be produced. The barberry provides a place where the rust may develop during the spring just before infecting grain plants and grasses.

During 1948, project workers destroyed more than 3,900 such barberry bushes on 391 rural and city properties. An additional 970 previously infected properties were inspected but no new growth was found. A total of 1,416 square miles was surveyed.

M. E. Turner, in charge of eradication work, reports that no further organized work is needed on 88 per cent of the land area of the state.

Farmers are asked to help in the job for the benefit of their own grain crops by destroying any rust-spreading barberry bushes they find. Farmyards, creek banks, fence rows, orchards, woodlots, and wasteland are a few of the places where the bushes are found.

Proper Caution Needed In Farm Shop Work

With the increase in farm shop work in the state, farmers are being urged to consider a few of the precautions needed when using tools and power equipment.

Carl F. Albrecht, agricultural engineer at Michigan State college, points out that goggles or face shields should always be used when grinding or chipping metal. A shield is a necessity when doing arc welding.

For some jobs certain kinds of clothes are desirable. It's a good idea to wear gloves when handling heavy pieces of iron or rough lumber. But loose gloves should not be worn when drilling with a press drill or using a table saw. Snug fitting clothing is less likely to get caught in moving parts of machines.

Titled, "Production of Maple Syrup in Michigan," the booklet gives details of equipment needed, tips on tapping trees, evaporation, canning, and packaging the finished product.

Putnam W. Robbins, MSC forester who prepared the booklet, has for many years been connected with the operation of the college sugar bush. Floor plans for an ideal sugar house are also shown.

Copies can be obtained from county agricultural agents or by writing to the bulletin office, department of public relations, Michigan State college.

Variety of Oats Good for Seeding

Ottawa farmers are now interested in varieties of oats to be seeded this spring. Data in the extension office show that several varieties run rather close together in yields, also in test weight.

The Eaton, a fairly new oat developed at Michigan State college, has proved popular in Michigan. The Huron is an old oat. Many Ottawa farmers complain about its tendency to lodge. The Kent, a very recent variety, is showing up well.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, believes that growers find differences mostly due to types of soil. The Eaton has a stiffer straw, good yield, good weight.

The Kent is as resistant to rust as any other oat adapted to lower Michigan. It has resistance to one race of rust to which the Eaton is susceptible. It has great advantage over Huron which lacks rust resistance. The Kent is weaker in straw stiffness than the Eaton, but better than the Huron.

To sum up the Kent oat, it is high yielding, early maturing, heavy test weight, resistant to most rusts and smuts, has a white kernel, quite plump. Seed is not available for general distribution, but will be in 1950.

Arnold has had reports from some growers stating that the Clinton has given fine results. Others like the Marion. It is Arnold's belief that the farmer can best determine which oat gives best results on his farm. He advises obtaining certified seed every few years.

REPAIR PARTS SCARCE

Some farm repair parts and steel supplies such as barbed wire haven't been out of the hard-to-get category since the war. Word comes that they may be even harder to get in 1949.

Bring Spring Into Your Home

It may be 20 degrees below zero outside but it's spring in the house when you decorate with forced branches of spring-flowering shrubs. Any variety with leaf or flower buds and an interesting shape makes a good subject, says a farming magazine.

Cut and bring in the branches the first time the weather permits. Store in water until you want them. When you need an arrangement, immerse the branches completely in farm water for an hour. Then arrange them in a vase of water in a warm room. The buds will soon burst into bloom.

For earlier flowers and vegetables this spring, plan to sow seeds inside. You can start now to make the containers. Shallow, rectangular, wooden boxes are best. Make them three to three and a half inches deep with openings between the bottom slats for good drainage. Sow the seeds in rows in good garden soil.

Sow the seeds in a layer of vermiculite from a seed store for the best results. Put a layer of soil in the box. Add a layer of vermiculite. Scatter the seeds and cover to usual depth with more vermiculite. Water from the bottom up.

Don't sow the seeds too early, however. If you do, the plants will be stunted waiting to be set outdoors. As a rule, plant them six weeks before your first frost-free date.

Walnut Seeds Available From Michigan State

Stratified walnut seeds to insure continuing crops of walnut throughout the state are available from Michigan State college, according to Ira Bull, MSC forester.

Both World Wars required large amounts of walnut for gunstocks. Cabinet making also takes a large quantity of the wood. A continuing planting program, plus the harvesting of mature trees, is needed to maintain our supply.

Timberland owners who wish to plant walnuts are advised by the forester to place their orders now. Blanks may be obtained from county agricultural agents or by writing to the forestry department at Michigan State college.

Planting can be started as soon as the frost leaves the ground. Complete instructions will accompany each shipment. "Growing Walnuts for Profit," a publication prepared by the American Walnut Manufacturers association, is also available by writing to the MSC forestry department.
