March Roars In With Loud Thunder In Holland Areas

Upper Peninsula Has Worst Storm Of Winter So Far

March roared in like a lion today on the wings of a nasty storm Wednesday night which rolled up the worst of the elements in one package. Most persons stayed at home, but those who were out experienced torrents of rain, sleet, hail, snow and plenty of pyrotechnics in a big electrical storm.

Fortunately, highways were dry today and the sun battled with a raw wind to give Western Michigan a tiny hint of a spring to come.

The Upper Peninsula fared worse. A raging blizzard lashed the area with furious winds that piled up six-foot-deep drifts along roads. Snow that fell in spasms for three days poured down in thick masses that cut visibility to zero in some areas.

The weather bureau said the blow was barreling eastward from Houghton through Sault Ste. Marie and Grand Marais. At Houghton where snow storms are a daily affair, Sheriff Fred Paulson described the storm as the worst this winter. Winds reached an estimated 45 miles per hour.

Thunderstorms drenched Detroit and the southern portion of the Lower Peninsula. Northwest Airlines halted operations in three states. Regional prep basketball tournaments were called off in many Minnesota towns and schools were closed at several cities.

In the far west, the weatherman made history by flatly predicting snow for San Francisco today. It was the first time such a forecast ever was issued for the Golden Gate city. Schools dismissed classes so children who had never seen snow could frolic in the unpredictable snow which fell Wednesday. A television station televised the rare phenomenon. Lines were jammed as everybody telephoned everybody else to take a look.

Actually, February was warmer in Holland and had considerably less snow than either January or December. Average temperature was 28.1 degrees, or two degrees above normal. Average temperature was 27 degrees in January and 25.4 in December.

Snowfall measured 11.1 inches, bringing the season's total to 86.9 inches, according to records compiled by Charles A. Steketee, official weather observer for Holland. Snowfall totaled 21.8 inches in January, 33.4 inches in December and 20.6 inches in November.

Maximum temperature for February was 54 degrees and the minimum was 3 above. Average maximum temperature was 35.2 degrees and average minimum temperature 21. Precipitation totaled 2.18 inches, or .38 inch above normal. It fell on 11 days.

The February snowfall was far below the amount four years ago when 31.6 inches fell during the month. It was during Centennial year in 1947 that a heavy snowfall rivaled the 100 years earlier when Holland's founder, Dr. A. C. Van Raalte, first set foot on land which became Holland city.

Hope Five Meets Calvin Tonight

The Hope cage squad travels to Grand Rapids tonight for a game with the Calvin college Knights in the Civic Auditorium.

The game is the last tilt of the season for the Dutch. Until a few days ago the Hope squad was to have played Adrian here March 6, but the game has been called off.

The Dutch edged past the Knights in the first meeting of the two clubs this season 75-70, in a thrilling game. But that tilt was played on the Armory floor, and gave Hope a slight advantage.

Tonight, the two teams should play a fine game, both clubs having been burning up opponents with regularity during the past month of cage play. Hope won six of its last eight starts, while Calvin scored seven straight wins with a loss early in the season, and since then has won five of its six latest starts. Game time tonight is 8 p.m.

Theft Reported

Personal property valued at $50 was reported missing by Milton De Zwaan, 256 South Maple St., Zeeland. De Zwaan told Holland police that thieves took a box of tools, flashlight and camera from his car parked on East Eighth St., between 9 and 9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

NEW MORTICIAN

Grand Haven—Harold M. Boon, former student at Hope and Western Michigan colleges, has passed the state board of examinations in mortuary science, and now is a licensed embalmer and funeral director.

Dr. John H. Kitchel, president of the North Ottawa Rod and Gun club, advanced individual township decisions on Sunday hunting instead of in counties as he testified at a special hearing on conservation problems in the house of representatives chamber in Lansing Wednesday night. Dr. Kitchel was one of six Ottawa residents testifying. There were 200 present. Jackson and Ingham counties were faced with similar problems. (Sentinel photo)

Sunday Hunting Issue Aired at Public Hearing

Lansing (Special) — Ottawa county's red-hot Sunday hunting issue is in the laps of the state senate and house conservation committees today following a public hearing Wednesday in Lansing.

The pros and cons of the proposed Sunday hunting ban were aired by six Ottawa citizens, along with spokesmen from Jackson, Ingham and Wayne counties at the hearing in the spacious house of representatives chamber.

Rep. Emil Peltz, chairman of the house conservation committee, presided and promised the audience of 200 persons that committee probably would reach a decision by the end of next week.

The hearing also included views on proposed bans in Ingham and Jackson counties.

Ottawa county spokesmen included: Dr. John H. Kitchel, president of the North Ottawa Rod and Gun club; Pete Murdoch, secretary-manager of the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. H. J. Kruthoff, secretary of the Ottawa county Farmers Union; Joe DePree, member of the Holland Fish and Game club; Felix Rjltinski, Robinson township, and Clarence Reenders, chairman of the Ottawa county Board of Supervisors conservation committee.

Murdoch said, "This ban is discrimination against the minority. If legislation passed against the minority, I fear it will spread to other forms of non-commercial recreation."

He cited Grand Haven state park more than 1.5 million people enjoyed picnics, outings and swimming last year.

"That's 20 per cent of the state park attendance of the state," he said. "I doubt if you'd want to ban swimming on Sunday."

Kitchel urged a township-by-township referendum on the issue instead of the proposed county-wide referendum. He presented petitions that included 1,500 names supporting the township-by-township issue. Rep. George Van Pearsen will turn the petitions over to the committee.

It was pointed out that the Marne Conservation club and other Ottawa county groups also are circulating petitions urging the township-by-township vote.

"We have many religious groups in Ottawa county," Kitchel said. "Some observe Saturday, some Sunday and some attend church early on Sundays and then go out hunting."

"We recognize their convictions and don't bother them on Sundays," he said. "We don't feel as though the situation has been canvassed enough."

De Pree said, "We don't want small pressure groups putting on the ban."

Reenders said he favors a vote by townships.

Mrs. Kruthoff cited vandalism of hunters. She also said that the state plants pheasants on farm land and doesn't provide feed for the game birds.

Jackson county spokesmen said they are on record as favoring Sunday hunting, but now are for a protection ban. The sportsmen and farmers from Jackson said they are surrounded by counties that ban Sunday hunting. Therefore hunters swarm all over Jackson county Sundays and that group includes many "hoodlums."

An Ingham county labor spokesman said that Sunday is about the only day when the working man can get out and hunt.

Conservation Commissioner Harold Glasen said, "You're not getting rid of the 'hoodlum' by banning Sunday hunting. He's there every other day Monday, Tuesday Wednesday, etc."

"This Sunday closing is like a cancer and it's going to keep spreading until you don't have

Woman Teacher Fatally Injured In US-31 Crash

Grand Haven (Special) — A Kalamazoo woman was fatally injured when her car collided with a large oil truck at 11 p.m. Friday on US-31 about four miles south of Grand Haven, near the M-50 intersection.

Mrs. Ruth C. Walmsley, 40, of 1749 West Michigan, Kalamazoo, died at 7:45 a.m. today in Municipal hospital of a skull fracture. Driver of the truck, Alvin Ash, route 2, Holland, was apparently unhurt. The truck is owned by Holland Oil Transport Co.

Sheriff's officers were at a loss to explain the accident since there were no skidmarks. The Walmsley car was a total wreck with major damage on the right front and side. The left front of the truck was damaged. Yet, both vehicles came to rest on their own side of the road.

Mrs. Walmsley was on the way to Muskegon to visit a friend. She was thrown out of her car to the pavement by the impact. Ash, who was taken home by a passer-by, was to be questioned later.

Mrs. Walmsley was state co-ordinator for instructing teachers at Western Michigan college. She has a mother in New Jersey, according to reports.

The body was taken to Kammaraad funeral home.

'Security Secrets' Cloak Bungling

By Junius B. Wood

"Our nation has won two wars and twice lost the peace," the Senator said. He was from an eastern state. It was one of those "off the record" talks so popular in the national capital where an official edifies a small audience with startling statements but does not accept responsibility for any of them.

The Senator explained that the peace was lost on each occasion for lack of planning. "Win the war and forget it," Washington had said. "Why bother planning for the future. The future will take care of itself," was the brushoff.

With two such costly lessons and a third war rising over the horizon, the natural question was: "What are our plans if and when we win the next one?" Nobody answers. Washington's plans, if it has any, are security secrets. A glassy-eyed owl may be wise or it may have nothing in its head. Official Washington is the same. The Senator talked freely on party politics. Joked about other officials and touched on passing sensations but did not express an opinion on the vital question—the future of our nation.

That is typical of Washington. Anyone who reads knows the national capital is a bedlam of talk. He sees a modern version of the Biblical tower of Babel—warring political parties, officials scrambling like ants, one idea today and a new one tomorrow, fighting for the spotlight, grinding out statements, sounding off for the public and, more appalling, each one competing with all the others. From a president and cabinet with other cabinets pyramided on top, down to hundreds of Congressmen and lesser officials, each has his own act. The man on the flying trapeze stays up in the air as long as he attracts attention and applause from the juggling act in another ring. The public doesn't know where the country is going or why but it is on the way.

The citizen whose part in public affairs is limited to a vote on election day and paying taxes everyday wants to know. That is his right in a democracy but he waits in vain for Washington to let him in on the secret. Instead, his attention is diverted—investigations of elections, of city crime, of missing millions and of loyalty, new projects and new proposals, debates over wages and prices, feuding between President and congress, arguments, personalities and wisecracks—whipping up emergencies but never a promise of what our world will be when the next emergency ends.

Official confusion spreads across the country. Business does not know what is ahead and humble households are helpless. They deserve more than the owlish alibi "security secret." They answer the country's call in lives and taxes. The young and the aged, the city workers and farmers, the businessman and every other taxpayer can ask: "And what are we to have after the fighting ends?"

"Another war may be in the making. Why not tell the people now what we will get out of it?" was the big question which the Senator did not answer. Stalin was looking ahead in the last war as we've found out. But the world's troubles today are due to the lack of planning by others who sat in those big conferences. Their slogans were good. The new ones are today. Slogans disappear like paper posters after an election.

In wars, a few get profitable contracts, federal funds are spread in favored districts and colonels become generals, the dollars of others melt faster than they are earned and thousands of

Deer, Deer, Deer Create a Stir In Holland Areas

Mayor Harrington Proclaims March Red Cross Month

Mayor Harry Harrington today proclaimed the month of March as Red Cross month and urged all citizens of the community to contribute without reservation to the 1951 Red Cross fund through the local chapter.

"In these critical times this great humanitarian organization must be maintained at full strength," the mayor said. "This symbol of man's humanity must remain bright as a guide to those who turn to it in time of need."

Although the Red Cross campaign officially opens Thursday, many volunteer workers already are busy making their calls. Peter Van Domelen, Jr., is county chairman this year. The Inter-Club council, consisting of all local service clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is canvassing downtown business places.

Mrs. Andrew Klompars, city residential chairman, has four zone captains, Mrs. Balfour August, Mrs. William J. Brouwer, Mrs. E. Duffield Wade and Mrs. S. Tiesenga. They will be assisted by a large corps of workers, and the home canvass is expected to raise a good share of the $12,828.16 quota assigned Holland city.

Mrs. N. J. Danhof is directing the campaign in Zeeland city. Township chairmen in the Holland area are Mrs. Don Myaard, Holland township; Henry DeJong, Port Sheldon; Mrs. Esther Jacobsen, Olive; Mrs. Martin Geerlings, Zeeland; Mrs. J. De Weerd, Georgetown; Mrs. H. Hubbard, Blendon; Gerald Bos, Jamestown; and the Rev. Herman Rosenberg and Mrs. H. P. Harms, Park.

New York (UP)—Defense Secretary George Marshall, speaking at a huge Madison Square Garden rally opening the 1951 Red Cross fund campaign Tuesday night, said America will be able to achieve peace only through strength. "All the strength we can mobilize,"

"We Americans have always been a peace-loving people," he said. "Even today with our sons in combat our thinking and our efforts are directed toward peace. So far as the Department of Defense is concerned, we're really under way. Given a little more time, we'll have the military establishment organized on a broad base from which we can expand in any direction should it be necessary."

The rally was climaxed by a short radio address by President Truman who urged all Americans to "give to the limit" to the Red Cross drive for $85 million. He praised the Red Cross as a voluntary organization whose activities are closely knit with national defense.

"Voluntary action by people who believe in a common cause is still the greatest force in the world," he said. "It is far more effective than any form of tyranny or despotism."

Among the galaxy of entertainment stars at the two-hour rally was the President's daughter, Margaret. Miss Truman did not sing. She made a brief appeal for support of the fund raising drive.

In Detroit, Red Cross workers announced a goal of $408,000 which will be added to the $1,257,000 already allocated to the Detroit chapter by the Torch fund.

Rites to Be Held Here For Elmer E. Groters

Funeral services will be held in Holland Saturday for Elmer E. Groters, 37, who died unexpectedly Wednesday morning at his home, 89 Marston St., Detroit. Cause of death was a heart attack.

Surviving are the wife, Beatrice; the father, John T. Groters, route 4, Holland, and an eight-year-old nephew, Nelson Groters, who has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Groters since the death of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Groters. They and Mrs. Olive LaPrue, mother of Elmer and Burt Groters, were killed in an automobile accident last August.

The body will arrive Friday morning at the Nibbelink-Notier funeral chapel, where services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday. Burial will be at Pilgrim-Home cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral chapel Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Hope Frosh Win

The Hope college freshman basketball team won a 61-55 overtime victory from the Kalamazoo frosh in Saturday night's preliminary at the Armory. The score was tied 55-55 at the end of the regular playing period.

Our young people never return. Everybody knows that Washington, now sounding a third call to war, might tell the people what they can expect after paying such a terrific price.

Six deer spent most of Friday morning loping around the countryside northeast of Holland, creating for the Sentinel and its readers a "wild deer chase."

The six deer were first seen ambuling eastward — and then southward and northward, for that matter — along the north edge of the city, leaving in their wake a string of telephone calls to the Sentinel.

"Casey," said the city editor, "get out there and get a picture of those six deer for our readers." Casey got out.

Casey drove out to Riley St. where he met Mrs. Simon Alofs. Mrs. Alofs was first to report the deer, and she pointed Casey off in the direction of several acres of Western Michigan. "Out there," she said.

Casey traveled first by foot, looking for the coy deer, but when this proved fruitless, repaired to his vehicle and continued onward.

The deer were finally spotted munching corn north of Riley St. and east of 112th St.—about two miles northeast of the center of Holland.

They stopped munching when Casey got out his camera, but they steadfastly refused to pose for pictures. They waved bushy white tails and headed off in the direction of the main street of Zeeland.

Casey reported six deer in the group. Dewey Huizenga of East Eighth St. said when he saw them at about noon that there were two bucks and four does in the group.

Mrs. Alofs was piqued because she and her husband and two friends had traveled about 1,100 miles last fall looking for deer in the Upper Peninsula, but had to return to Holland empty-handed. To have six of them hold a track meet in her back yard was irony of the worst kind.

Co-op Fire Damage Kept to Minimum

Burnips (Special) — Quick action on the part of the Salem township volunteer fire department kept damage to a minimum when fire broke out Wednesday in the office of the Wolverine Electric Co-op, located three-quarters of a mile west of Burnips.

The blaze is believed to have resulted when gas fumes ignited while employees were cleaning some rags in an adjoining room. The interior of the office was damaged and a hole was chopped in the ceiling to check the spread of the blaze. Marshall Simmons is fire chief.

The Co-op was built 14 years ago as an experimental station under the Rural Electrification program. Its headquarters is in Newaygo and the local station serves an area north of here.

The blaze did not interrupt service.

Young Pranksters Halt Freight Run

What could have been a major accident was somehow averted Saturday morning when a group of young boys playing on the railroad tracks at the 16th St. crossing flagged a freight train to an emergency stop.

The Chesapeake and Ohio engineer said that four small boys were playing on the tracks as the train approached, and gave an emergency stop signal. He applied the brakes, but the only damage caused apparently was a broken coupling between two of the freight cars. The train was headed for Chicago.

"It could have been a lot worse," a C & O spokesman said. "An emergency stop could have thrown several cars off the track."

After the prank, the boys fled and outran the train's fireman, who chased them. Questioning of neighborhood boys turned up two eight-year-olds who admittedly were involved in the incident.

The boys were given stern lectures by the police department and by their parents.

Traffic was tied up about 30 minutes while the train was halted, at 10:20 a.m. Saturday.

Substitute Polls Set For Use in Primary

Two substitute polling places again will be used in the March 12 special primary. City Clerk Clarence Grevenog reported today.

Froebel school again will be used in the third ward, and Trinity church for the second time will serve as a polling place in the sixth ward. The church consistory granted permission to the city this week.

Reason for the switch is construction work going on at the regular polling places. Lincoln school in the third and Longfellow in the sixth.

Grevenog said Longfellow school will be ready for use once more as a polling place for the April 2 general election, but not in March.

Holland Area Man Remains Critical Following Crash

The condition of John Nienhuis, 19, of route 5, was reported "very critical" by Zeeland hospital authorities at 1 p.m. today, following a traffic accident Wednesday south of Zeeland.

Nienhuis is being treated for concussion and chest injuries, and still was unconscious at 1 p.m. He remains under an oxygen tent.

Three other persons were injured in the same accident, which occurred at the corner of 96th Ave. and Adams St., two miles south of Zeeland.

Chief Deputy Clayton Forry listed their injuries.

Martin Nienhuis, 45, of route 5—head injuries and broken collarbone. The hospital reported his condition as "very good."

Donald Lamoraux, 28, of star route, St. Ignace—body bruises. The hospital reported his condition as "very good."

Robert Hobeck, 21, of 1899 South Shore Dr.—right leg and body bruises. He is released late Wednesday afternoon.

Forry said Lamoraux was driving east on Adams St., with Hobeck as his passenger. Martin Nienhuis was the driver of the second car, with his brother John as passenger. The Nienhuis car was headed north on 96th Ave.

Both cars were forced from the road. The Lamoraux vehicle ended up against a pole in a field, a short distance from the intersection, while the Nienhuis car came to rest in a ditch beside the road.

Both cars were listed as total losses.

Adams St. is an extension of East 16th St. in Holland, and 96th Ave. is an extension of South State St. in Zeeland.

Dogs Are Fewer Than Last Year

Apparently there aren't as many dogs around Holland as there used to be.

At least that's the idea you gather from the number of dog licenses sold through the city treasurer's office from year to year.

Before the deadline Wednesday, Treasurer Alden J. Stoner had processed only 721 licenses for cines. This is about 250 below last year's totals, but well below figures of former years that reached well over 1,000 per year.

The fees in Holland are moderate compared to some other cities. One Holland woman was taken aback when she found out that the fee for male or unsexed dogs is only $1, with the levy for females $2. Where she lived last year, she said, fees ranged from $4.50 to $8. That was in Buffalo, N. Y.

Meanwhile, sheriff's deputies warned dog owners to keep special watch on their pets during thawing weather. Numerous complaints have been received about dogs ruining shrubbery, landscaping and flower beds.

The law states that dogs must be kept tied or under control at all times.

Funeral Rites For Benjamin Laarman

Funeral services for Benjamin Laarman, 60, who died Monday morning, were held today at 2 p.m. at Dykstra funeral chapel with the Rev. Bastian Kruthoff and the Rev. James A. Wayer officiating. Burial was at Restlawn cemetery.

Laarman died at Holland hospital. He had been ill about a year. He was born Sept. 28, 1890, in Holland township to the late Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Laarman. He had been employed by the city street department as a mechanic for the last 26 years. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the American Legion. He attended First Reformed church.

Surviving are the wife, Ida Mae; three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Looman of Holland, Mrs. Conrad Van Hoven of Zeeland and Anna Laarman at home; three sons, Henry and Bernard of Holland and Harry, at home; four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. John Sjoerdsma of Holland, and a brother, Mannus Laarman of Holland.

All Three Stores Destroyed; Blaze Keeps on Burning

Firemen Use All Available Trucks; One From Covert Stands By

South Haven (Special) — Fire roared through three buildings in the center of this city this morning, destroying in rapid succession a hardware store, a paint and wallpaper store, and an electrical appliance building.

The fire, which started at 7:30 this morning, was still raging at 12:30 p.m. today. The South Haven fire department still had all its equipment on the scene at noon, and one truck from nearby Covert was standing by.

Damage to the three buildings was estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. Owners Sol and Leo Goldberg said they didn't know what started the blaze, which was first reported at 7:30 this morning.

A fireman at the scene said smoke was so thick in the downtown area that he couldn't see more than half a block.

The fire department was hampered by having to use a five inch pipe pumping water out of Lake Michigan. The downtown hydrants have not been working this winter, and the pipe has been used in their place.

The fire started in the hardware store and quickly spread to the paint and wallpaper store before finally enveloping the electrical appliance shop. The hardware and electrical stores were frame structures with brick veneer fronts, while the paint and wallpaper store was of brick veneer. The three buildings covered about 200 feet of mid-city street frontage.

Firemen said the blaze was "under control" at noon, but that the wreckage was still burning.

Four nearby buildings suffered smoke and water damage during the blaze.

The three buildings formed the core of the Mid-City Supply company, owned by the Goldberg brothers. They said a new shipment of refrigerators and television sets were received only yesterday at the electrical store and these were all destroyed.

Above the center building, the Moose chapter had its lodge. No one was injured in the blaze, so far as is known, firemen said.

The two-story center structure is at present a shambles, twisted wreckage lying in a heap in what was formerly the basement.

Father of Police Officer, Ill Several Weeks, Dies

Charles James Martin, 68, of 66 West 16th St., died at 7:20 a.m. Friday in Blodgett Memorial hospital, East Grand Rapids, where he had been taken Monday afternoon. He had been ill since January.

He was employed at the light plant of the Board of Public Works for several years. He came to Holland 29 years ago.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Heath Goodwin of Albion; two sons, Hector Munro of Chicago and Police Officer Charles B. Martin of Holland; nine grandchildren.

Heart Ailment Fatal For Local Resident

Mrs. Margie Van Wyck Leep, 76, of 153 West 24th St., died in Holland hospital at 11:30 a.m. Friday. She was taken to the hospital Tuesday, ill of a heart condition.

She was born June 27, 1874, in the Netherlands. She came to Holland about two years ago from Indiana. She was a member of First Reformed church and the Ladies Aid society.

Surviving are the husband, Edward K. Leep of Highland, Ind.; a brother, Henry Van Wyck of Maywood, Ill.

NEA President to Meet With Ottawa Teachers

Grand Haven (Special) — The Grand Haven Teachers' club will sponsor a dinner meeting Saturday, March 10, in First Presbyterian church house with Norma Mowrey, president of the National Education association, as speaker. Margaret Stevenson, Michigan director of NEA, also will attend. Sandrine Schutt, director of area H of the Michigan Classroom teachers' is in charge of reservations.

Ottawa county teachers also are invited to attend a summer extension course on the conservation of natural resources Aug. 6 through 24. It will be held at the Ottawa county 4-H camp in Grand Haven township with L. R. Shoenman of Michigan State college as instructor. The class will be limited to 50 persons.

MSC Forester Discusses Trees Invading Pasture

Task of Removing Undesirable Trees Is Made Simple

Undesirable trees often "invade" pasture land and cause trouble. John Fields, Michigan State college extension forester, says you can control hawthorn, honey locust and similar trees with some of the anti-weed sprays.

This may make a good first step in a pasture improvement program for your farm, he suggests.

Sprouts of hawthorn, sassafras, elm, honey locust and other trees that begin to grow in your pastures or other cleared land can be controlled when they are young with the ester sprays of 2, 4-D or 2, 4, 5-T.

Fields says the best way to kill out trees that are more than four to six feet high is to first cut them down. This job can be done in winter when other work is slack. Then early the next summer the new sprout growth can be sprayed with the foliage sprays described above.

One spray application should do the job, but some resistant trees may take two or more. Ash, maple and oak, not ordinarily found as pasture weeds, are hard to kill.

Another method is to put ammonium sulfate crystals on the freshly cut stumps. There is a poison that will kill the stump and prevent the sprouts from developing.

One good reason for cutting down the trees before you kill them, Fields says, is that green wood is a lot easier to cut down than the dead wood after the trees have been killed.

Farmers Try Nitrogen Fertilizer

Farmers in some sections of the county are trying out a new practice, the application of a nitrogen fertilizer on wheat early in the year, from late February to March 15. Results in many cases have been good.

Nitrogen is dormant in the soil until the ground warms up. Thus the wheat is stalled for a time whereas if nitrogen is made available growth will start. Tillers are produced during this period.

Good results are more apparent after the previous season of moderate moisture. Much of the available nitrogen is used up during the growing season. A dry season will tend to hold the nitrogen in the soil. For this reason 1951 should show good results.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, hopes some Ottawa farmers will try out this practice, if only on a small scale, say one or two acres, then observe results. One hundred to 200 pounds of ammonium sulfate or ammonium nitrate is advised. Due to the fertilizer situation the farmer may not be able to secure this product in 1951.

Grasses, Legumes Valuable on Farm

The values of grasses and legumes in the farming program are many, agricultural agents report.

As an example, some ten-year experiments that show that a year of alfalfa in a crop rotation is worth about $45, in addition to the value of the hay or pasture the legume makes. Information on the experiments comes from R. L. Cook, Michigan State college soil scientist.

In a five-year rotation, a year of alfalfa resulted in increased yields the year following of corn, sugar beets, or barley, great enough to give these returns.

One year of alfalfa has been as good as two years, Cook's report showed. The tests are made at the Ferden farm in Saginaw county and include rotations with alfalfa-brome, clover-timothy and sweet clover as soil building crops.

Stock Brings Good Prices at Farm Week

Although the price for the grand champion fell below that paid in 1950, average prices paid for swine at the auction following the Farmers' Week show at Michigan State college were high.

Harry Moxley, extension animal husbandry specialist, reports an average price of $27.41 a hundred for the swine sold. That was about $5 a hundred above market price that day. Normally the auction price is between $2 and $3 above the market at Farmers' Week swine auctions.

The grand champion sold for $11.0 a pound in 1950 and but 90 cents a pound in 1951. The average price of $36.31 paid for steers entered for championship honors was not outstanding, MSC livestock men say.

Municipal Court News

Two speeders and two parkers paid traffic fines in Municipal Court Wednesday. Willard Beelen, 131 Lakewood Blvd., paid $17 fine and costs, and Rex Tabler, 1330 South Shore Dr., paid $12 fine and costs on the speeding charge. Paying $11 parking fines were Clarence Rankin, Hamilton, and D. Vaupell, 57 East 13th St.

Representative of the local winners in Saturday's solo and ensemble festival was this cornet trio of Junior high school which took first division as an ensemble, and then capped the climax by having each youth take first division in solo contests. Many Young Musicians Receive Top Ratings

A total of 294 soloists and ensemble groups will compete in a state contest in Ann Arbor late in March after winning first division ratings in an all-day solo and ensemble festival in Holland Saturday.

More than 1,000 young musicians from six counties in this area converged on Holland to participate in events in senior and junior high schools and at Hope college. Judged by 12 adjudicators. Local arrangements were in charge of Arthur C. Hills and Bert Brandt of Holland.

Muskegon had the most entries, ending with 63 receiving first division, 56 second division and two in third division. Holland received 35 first division ratings, 31 second division and five third division. Muskegon Heights received 26 first divisions, 28 second and four third. Grandville received 21 first, 15 second and three third.

Dutch First Half Proves Too Much For Hornet Five

On the strength of a 19-point first half lead, Hope college's basketball team withstood a second half Dutch "cooling-off" period—combined with a sharpened Kalamazoo college attack—to win the third MIAA decision of the season for Hope, 83-71. The conference game was played Saturday night at the Armory, and gave Hope's team its sixth win in the past eight starts.

Coach Russ De Vette's cagers seemed able to do nothing wrong the first half, with passes clicking and more than half their out-court shots whizzing through the nets. Meanwhile, Don Grow's Hornets seemed able to do nothing right, with the result that Hope held a comfortable lead throughout the first half, ranging as high as 29 points at a couple of spots.

But the tables were turned the second half, and the Dutch cooled off while Kalamazoo sharpened up. The Hornets closed the gap to a five point margin at 75-68 with about six minutes to go. But with the Hope regulars back in the lineup once more, the Dutch added a few buckets here and there to come out on the long end of the final count.

Sparkplug of both the Hope offense and defense was forward Jerry Jacobson, who was high point man for the evening with 19 markers. Jake paced himself well, scoring nine points in the first half and 10 in the last half. The drive and rebound work of Ken Van Regenmorter paced the Dutch in the first half, along with 10 of his 16-point output for the evening and second scoring honors.

For Kalamazoo, standout performances were turned in by two boys well over six feet tall—forward John Stommen and center John Sentz. Each scored 15 points, and they combined on the boards to keep the Dutch in hot water most of the second half.

De Vette used second stringers through much of the action, and early hopes of bettering Albion's record record setting scoring spree of 101 points faded as the Hope mentor substituted frequently. Later in the game Kalamazoo had more to say on squelching any Dutch hopes of setting a new record.

The win gives Hope an MIAA record of three wins and six losses, just half a game behind Kalamazoo in third place with four wins, six losses.

Holland Reserves Take Title Share With Heights Win

Holland high school's reserve basketball team won a share of the Southwestern conference title Friday night with a second half 46-41 victory over the Muskegon Heights seconds at the Armory.

But the Junior Dutch must share the title with the Little Reds from Muskegon, who assured a title share by murdering Grand Haven, 53-28. As befits co-champions, the only team to defeat each was each other.

In the Heights contest, an inspired visiting team rolled to a first period 16-7 advantage before Holland caught its breath. In the second quarter, coach Bob Connell's crew doubled the score on the invaders, 16-8, to trail by one point at the half.

Dave Moran with nine points and Dean Vanderwall with eight paced the Dutch in the first half to keep them in the game.

In the third stanza, the reserves moved ahead to stay by outscoring the Junior Tigers, 12-8, paced once more by Vanderwall's four field goals. The home team maintained the advantage, 11-9, to come out with a scarce 46-41 triumph helped along by stalling tactics in the closing minutes.

For the evening, Vanderwall was high point man with 17 markers, while Moran had 10 and Jack Kempker eight for Holland. Rangy center Bill Mauch led the losers with 12 points followed by Bill Ochs with nine.

The win gave Connell's charges a conference record of 9-1, and an overall season's mark of 12-2.

Maroon Reserves Lose to Central

Coach John Ham's Holland Christian reserve squad pulled down the curtain on their 1950-51 season by dropping a 28-25 decision to the Grand Rapids Catholic Central reserves. The loss gave the Hollanders a 7-10 record for season play.

Christian managed to jump to an early lead in the first quarter, and led 9-4 at the quarter's end. Catholic came to life in the second period, however, as they passed the Dutchmen and moved out to a 14-11 intermission lead. The locals never managed to snatch the lead again, although they did knot the count at 25-25 with two minutes left in the fray. A quick Catholic basket however dashed any Holland victory aspirations.

Ron Nykamp paced the Holland scoring with seven tallies while Erhardt led Catholic with eight.

Zeeland Cagers Rip Plainwell; Take Loop Second

Zeeland's basketball squad ended its 1951 season by beating Plainwell on the Zeeland court Friday night, 63-34, to take second place in the Tri-County league.

The contest was more of a ball game than the score would indicate, with Plainwell leading during most of the first half. At the end of the first quarter, the Plainwell club led 16-11, and continued its march toward victory until about a minute and a half before the end of the half.

At that time the score was 24-19, Plainwell. Then something happened to the Zeeland club and in that minute and a half it scored 10 points to post a 29-24 half-time score.

The third period was all Zeeland, with the score being 41-29 at the start of the fourth quarter. For Zeeland, Bern Raterink, center, was high with 19 points while Al Bragton had 12 for Plainwell.

The win ends the Zeeland season with an over-all record of 7-8 and a league record of 6-4.

The Zeeland reserves also won their game against the Plainwell reserves, 42-31. The win gives the reserves an 11-4 season record, and they've won all but one of the league games played to take the reserve team title in Tri-County competition.

SUNDAY HUNTING

LOCAL OPTION

Two Ottawa county townships, Grand Haven and Robinson, want local option on the question of Sunday hunting. The majority opinion in the county as a whole is for a law against hunting on the Sabbath. So the people of the county as a whole are proposing to impose such a law even on the townships that don't want it.

The time seems to have come to do some clear thinking on this proposal now before the Michigan legislature.

Wherever the sympathies may lie on this question, it seems illogical for the majority of us to impose our wills arbitrarily on the minority, no matter how small that minority may be. Protection of minorities is at the very heart of American democracy.

A law against Sunday hunting is not a law of the state as a whole, and it seems clear that such a law could never be passed.
So a small sub-division, a single county, proposes local option on the question, and that is plainly such a county's privilege. But if a sub-division of the state can demand local option, why not the smallest sub-division, namely the township?

Those people's rights are guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, as are the rights of all of us. We may think it wrong for people to hunt on Sunday, but unless such hunting becomes a public nuisance, what right have we to force others to think as we do? There are people who see nothing wrong in hunting on their own land, or on un-posted land, on Sunday. We may think they're wrong, we may even think they're sinning. But who gives us the right to be the guardians of their conscience simply because we are in the majority?

If we claim that right, are we not logically driven to carry it through to the point of entering the very homes of citizens and dictator what they shall do or not do on Sunday? The old Puritans did that back in New England, and they arrested people who did not go to church. They were at least logical. But are we to do likewise?

And looking specifically at Ottawa County, if it is illegal to hunt on Sunday, why isn't it il-luminally illegal to fish on Sunday?
Is the board of supervisors ready to prohibit the taking of perch on the Macatawa and Ottawa Beach breakwaters on Sunday? The question almost answers itself.
And even if the board of supervisors should be ready to impose such a prohibition, does anybody in his senses believe that it could pass the legislature?

But from the point of view of public morals, what's the difference between Sunday hunting and Sunday fishing? Write us your opinions. 300 words please.

Wayide Ministries of Jesus
Mark 10:35-45

By Henry Geerlings

There are some journeys utterly without any great significance.
They are just goings to be goings. There are some restless people who must be on the go all the time else they think they cannot live. Life to them without going somewhere would induce a state of perpetual ennui.

How strikingly in contrast to such goings is this last journey of Jesus to Jerusalem. He was going to His death and He knew it. It was not just the common death to which we must all go sooner or later. It was to be a death out of which was to come life. It was a death out of which were to come redemption and new inspirations for greater living by all who were willing to follow Jesus in His way of life. No journey ever was laden with such destiny and ever was motivated with such sublime unselfishness.

He was going to Jerusalem to die that truth and goodness might triumph. It was possible for Him not to make the journey and yet it was necessary for Him to go if He were to accomplish the great purpose of His life. There are certain things which we may escape if we do not care about the moral necessities and aims of our life.
Love lays upon our hearts inescapable duties, but we can escape them if we want to be disloyal to love.

Honor lays upon our hearts great necessities but we can escape them if we cease to care for honor.
There is always a way of escape, but now pitiable the way. Jesus went to Jerusalem perfectly conscious of what was going to happen there, but He was driven on by the great urges of a pure and noble and consecrated soul.
He was not afraid of Jerusalem or anybody in that city. He knew that the power of state and church would be against Him, but He feared to His own soul and its convictions.
Therefore He went gloriously on and souls today with His spirit are going too to their Jerusalems.
Jerusalem is an abiding city in the spiritual world of man.

Before finally going to Jerusalem Jesus craved the opportunity once more to tell His disciples the significance of the journey. They were slow of heart and mind to understand. They were spiritually confused. They were in a fog.
There was no doubt about their love and loyalty—as much as they were capable of. He told them the sad story again, but it did not go fully home. It aroused them to a consciousness that something terrible was going to happen, but just what it all meant in all of its reaches they did not get.

Their lack of appreciation is seen in an incident which happened. An ambitious mother with her two sons came to Jesus asking a favor. This mother was the mother of James and John. She and they were asking for the two places of honor and power in the new kingdom which Jesus proposed to establish. It seems like an inopportune time to be self seeking when Jesus was in the process of surrendering His life for people and truth. But let us say for them that they did not understand. They did not know that their ambitions in that hour were like the noise of a saw mill over against the music of a symphony orchestra, like asking that the will be read before the cemetery receives its own.

We are all guilty, more or less, of ineptitudes in the most solemn moments of life. We no doubt would be grieved and shocked if we were suddenly made conscious of how crude we have been when we did not understand. Doubtless these two disciples thought that Jesus would finally get the upper hand in the Jerusalem situation which He had pictured to them and then he would set up the kingdom about which He had spoken so freely and frequently. Since that might happen they felt that they should act without delay and press their claims. Evidently they did not want to be outwitted by the rest of the apostles. They wanted to be in on the ground floor.

They were selfishly ambitious, it is true, but we ought to give them credit for a mixed motivation. Good motives may lie alongside of evil motives in the heart.
We human beings are mixed in some things. We can be selfish even when we want to do good.
We may be perfectly desirous of doing a friend a favor and at the same time we are not losing sight of the possibility of some good for us in the offering.

Let us hasten to say then that these two men desired to help Jesus in these two positions which they craved. Some one or ones would have them. Why not they?
Perfectly logical according to our modern thinking in our modern world, Jesus' answer was searching, but here again they did not understand. They show a childlike naivete. They could drink of His cup. How little did they dream of what was before their Master and what.

The Rev. John Vander Beek read the

Firms and bouquets of gladioli,
snapdragons and baby breath
were arranged with the candelabra
to form the setting.

Prelude music was played by Miss Alma Brower, pianist. She also played the wedding marches and accompanied Warren Plag-gams, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's
Prayer."

Miss Elaine Lemmen assisted her sister as maid of honor.
Bridesmaids were Miss Jeane
Brower, sister of the groom, and Miss Elaine Barveld. Gordon
Brower, the groom's brother, was

nylon net over satin, fashioned sleeves and full skirt with train. A seed pearl tulle held in place her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, which was edged with lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

The attendants wore gowns which were identically styled of tulle in graduated shades of blue. They carried bouquets of white and pink carnations. The flower girls gown was a replica of the bride's and she carried a basket of rose petals. The ring-bearer wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

One hundred and twenty guests
were invited to the reception which followed the exchange of vows. Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Hoffman served as master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Helene Veltema and Karl Nykamp presided at the punch bowl and Misses Gertrude Rozeboom and

gifts. A brief program was presented. Out-of-town guests came from Gary, Ind., Grand Rapids,
Hudsonville and Zeeland.

roses. Upon their return March 12, they will be at home at 374

Miss Betty Jeane Lemmen
Wed to Clarence Brower

Miss Betty Jeane Lemmen,
daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit J. Lemmen, 374 Lincoln Ave., and Clarence Brower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brower of Dorre, were married in a double ring ceremony Saturday night at the American Legion club house.

The Rev. John Vander Beek read the rites by candlelight at 8:30 p.m.
Firms and bouquets of gladioli,
snapdragons and baby breath
were arranged with the candelabra
to form the setting.

Prelude music was played by Miss Alma Brower, pianist. She also played the wedding marches
and accompanied Warren Plag-
gams, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's
Prayer."

Miss Elaine Lemmen assisted
her sister as maid of honor.
Bridesmaids were Miss Jeane
Brower, sister of the groom, and
Miss Elaine Barveld. Gordon
Brower, the groom's brother, was best man and David Holkeboer and Roger Brower, also brother of the groom, were ushers. Little Karen Brower and Sherwin Brower, niece and nephew of the groom, were flower girl and ring-bearer. Kenneth Lemmen, the bride's brother, lighted the candles, preceding the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon net over satin, fashioned with a lace yoke, long pointed sleeves and full skirt with train. A seed pearl tulle held in place her
fingertip veil of bridal illusion,
which was edged with lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.
Her only jewelry was a pearl
necklace, gift of the groom.

The attendants wore gowns
which were identically styled of tulle in graduated shades of blue. They carried bouquets of white and pink carnations. The flower girls gown was a replica
of the bride's and she carried a basket of rose petals. The ring-bearer wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin
pillow.

One hundred and twenty guests
were invited to the reception
which followed the exchange of vows. Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Hoffman served as master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Helene
Veltema and Karl Nykamp presided at the punch bowl and Misses Gertrude Rozeboom and Marilyn Kleinhessel arranged the gifts. A brief program was presented. Out-of-town guests came from Gary, Ind., Grand Rapids,
Hudsonville and Zeeland.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Brower left for Florida, where they are honeymooning.
For traveling the bride wore a gold suit, navy accessories, an aquacat and corsage of white roses. Upon their return March
12, they will be at home at 374
Lincoln Ave.

Three pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride. Hostesses were Mrs. Tony Brower; Mrs.
Gerrit J. Lemmen; Mrs. Burrell
Hoffman and Mrs. Herman Brummel, and Misses Elaine Barveld, Marilyn Kleinhessel and Gertrude Rozeboom.

Court Co-Operates With Attempts to Save County Roads

Truckers Reminded Of Limits on Loads On Blacktop Roads

Truck owners and drivers who might be tempted to overlook the recent announcement by the Ottawa county road commission about enforcing load limits on county roads might do well to look over the docket of Park township Justice C. C. Wood.

Appearing before Justice Wood this week was Chester Door, of Moline, who paid $7 fine and costs for driving an overloaded truck on the Byron road, east of the Jamestown-Salem road. Door was arrested by Grand Haven deputy William Jenkins.

Earlier in the week, the commission announced that all blacktop roads in the county had been placed under loading restrictions, due to breakups caused by heavy loads on light-surfaced roads.

The restricted blacktop roads will be posted for a maximum axle loading of 13,500 pounds, or 525 pounds per inch width of tire for normal loading. During periods that require a further restriction in loading, the maximum loading per axle will be 8,775 pounds, and the load in pounds per inch width of tire will be 341 pounds.

The commission has a pair of official truck weighing scales and may stop and weigh any load on county roads. When the loads exceed the limit, a ticket will be issued, pursuant to state-granted authority. Then the driver goes to court.

Justice Wood pointed out that a scale for offenses had been set up, and is based on $1 per 100 pounds over the allowable limit. On top of the fine, court costs are added.

In other cases in Park township, the house, owned by William Vander Wall, route 2, Spring Lake, was being torn down in readiness for a new home. Plaster had been knocked off walls and a number of windows had been removed.

The house was formerly owned by James Cross estate. No estimate of damage was determined.

Young Couple Takes Brief Dip Into Lake

An Air Force man on furlough went swimming with his companion Saturday morning in icy Lake Muskegon—but it was all by accident.

Pic. Ivan Huyser of Holland and Miss Jackie Medendorp of Muskegon were fishing on Lake Muskegon when the pair went through the ice into 35 feet of water. Both could swim, so they rolled back onto the ice to safety.

The young couple's spirits were undampened by their brief dip, however, and after changing clothes they went back to catch their limits.

Huyser leaves Wednesday for Fort Dix, N. J., after completing Air Force schooling in Colorado.

Scarlet Fever Hits Ottawa Again

Grand Haven (Special) — Ten cases of scarlet fever have been reported to the Ottawa County Health department the past week. No areas are without the disease. Many cases are light and it is believed several are not brought to the attention of the health department, nor are the victims receiving medical care.

All children who have sore throats should be isolated and placed under medical care. These cases may be very light scarlet fever.

Within the last two weeks, 16 cases of whooping cough were reported, most of them in the Grand Haven and Hudsonville areas. Several cases do not have the characteristic whoop but are suspicious because of the persistent cough. This presents a problem since these children who are not unduly ill are likely to expose others. The only real safeguard against whooping cough is to have the children immunized.

During the last week, 24 cases of chicken pox and 19 cases of mumps were reported, also spread over a wide area.

Soft drinks for diabetics are now available containing a synthetic sweetener instead of sugar.

Young GOP's Hear Proposals to Erase Party Lines

Coalition Outlined
By Sen. Carl Mundt
At GOP Convention

Washington (Special) — The destiny of the Republican party depends on political surveys from "grass roots" levels by leaders of the Young Republican national federation, Senator Carl Mundt (R) of South Dakota told the national Young Republican convention Saturday.

Mundt's speech outlined a "blue-print for victory" based in a coalition proposal intermingling both major parties.

James White of Holland, national committeeman for Young Republicans from Michigan, will begin sounding out reaction in Holland and the rest of Michigan to the coalition proposal. White now is en route home.

As it now stands, some Republicans are strongly for and some strongly against the coalition proposal.

Mundt told the convention, "The way to save freedom and protect individual and property rights in this country is to develop an election formula whereby the people of both political parties, on each side of the Mason-Dixon line, enjoin their forces and their votes in a great national effort to elect a president and congress dedicated to restoring the federal government to its proper sphere of activity."

"This," Mundt declared, "would put a permanent end to today's drift toward goals of national socialism under the banners of fair dealism."

The five-point program passed by the convention which White will sound out in Michigan includes:

1. A proposal to hold the GOP national convention after the Democrats for the first time since the time of the century.

2. Allow "states-rights" Democrats to walk out of the Democratic convention and then "talk turkey" with the Republicans about candidates and platforms.

3. Arrange for GOP candidates to be placed on southern ballots as "states-rights" standard bearers.

4. Pool seniority rights of southern Democrats with those of Republicans after a GOP victory so as to give the conservative coalition a working majority in congress.

5. After the presidential election, hold a national convention for the formal establishment of a coalition party.

The object of the coalition as outlined by Mundt would be to develop a blueprint for victory in the 1952 elections so that those who think and act alike in America—and whose senators and representatives vote alike—could vote for the same presidential candidates regardless of geographic origin.

Mundt mentioned as possible GOP choices General Dwight Eisenhower, Republican Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, and Democratic Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia and Richard Russell of Georgia.

Mundt predicted that the Democrats in 1952 would nominate Truman for a third term, "or someone to the left of Truman who believes in a program of nationalization and socialism."

Eunice Aid Society Has Annual Hostess Supper

More than 400 persons attended the 15th annual Washington hostess supper Thursday night in Christian high school gymnasium, sponsored by the Eunice Aid society. Tables were decorated with red and blue runners and were centered with groups of American flags. The speakers table was decorated with red, white and blue flowers. He added, however, that today more and more people in America think freedom and democracy mean nothing more than the absence of all possible restraint. The speaker said, "We believe our children should be educated in an atmosphere as citizens of His kingdom so they can use all their talents in the service of our King. We believe in freedom in order that we may serve our God." Dr. Jellema said, "Our schools are not un-American—we are not poorer Americans because we believe in God. The true basis of democracy lies in a God-fearing people. That's the only guarantee for the preservation of America."

Mrs. Edward Wolters, Eunice Aid president, presided. Toastmaster for the event was the Rev. William Haverkamp. Opening prayer was led by Dr. Clarence De Graaf and the Rev. A. Hoogstrate led devotions.

Dutch in Final Home Appearance Of Cage Season

Holland high school's basketball team took a dandy decision from Muskegon Heights in the final home appearance for the Dutch this season Friday night at the Armory, 57-49. The victory puts a tighter hold on third spot in the Southwest conference, with a final league mark of 6-4.

Holland took a first period 13-5 lead and maintained a near-10-point lead through the contest. Coach Fred Weiss cleared the bench to give every player in uniform experience before the approaching state tournaments.

Roger Eggers was high point man for the evening, with 23 points that assured the Dutch forward of second place in the individual loop scoring race behind Ron Jackson of Kalamazoo.

Second honors for Holland were taken by guard Tom Maentz with 12 points. Besides holding his individual guarding assignment to one point for the evening, Maentz continued on his recent trend toward making points.

Holland built a comfortable 29-17 lead at halftime, but the Tigers outscored the winners, 32-28 in the last half. The game was comparatively free of fouls with only 13 called against Holland and 17 against the Heights.

The first period saw Holland assume a 13-5 lead with Bob Armstrong's four points and Eggers' three leading the way. Louis McMurray scored four of the Tigers' five points.

Holland again outscored the losers, 16-12, in the second period, with Maentz contributing seven points and Eggers four. Gordon Johnson paced the Heights with five markers.

In the evenly-matched third stanza, the invaders outpointed the winners, 19-17. Dick Valuck got hot with four field goals, and Jim Jackson scored three times from the floor. Eggers held up Holland with three baskets and four free throws.

Once more in the final period, the Heights enjoyed a two-point advantage, 13-11. McMurray's six points was high for the losers, while Eggers had six for Holland.

Holland hit on 13 of 20 free throw attempts, with Eggers connecting on seven out of eight. The Heights completed 11 of 16 tries from the charity circle.

It was the final game of the conference season for Holland, and completed a creditable conference record, with victories over each league foe but Kalamazoo.

The Dutch returned to action next Friday night by closing the season against Ottawa Hills at Grand Rapids. Holland won the first game with the Indians, 69-42, in the season's opener for each school.

Road Commission Ready to Appeal Singapore Ruling

Allegan (Special)—The Allegan County road commission took initial steps toward appealing the recent court decision closing the Singapore road Thursday following a meeting of the commission. Saugatuck township board and about eight interested lake shore residents.

The board authorized its attorney, Chester Ray, to file a claim of appeal before the Feb. 27 deadline. The board plans to meet again after further data has been gathered concerning the case against David Bennett, owner of the land at issue.

Judge Raymond L. Smith recently ruled a no cause of action in the commission's suit to establish the road to old Singapore and the north pier on Lake Michigan as a public highway.

Saugatuck and Hamilton residents who suggested a condemnation proceedings as an alternative to appealing the suit, were told that such action was outside the road commission's authority.

The road commission members also are members of the separate county parks board, which can only maintain and repair parks already established. The group was told that condemnation proceedings, if any, would have to be instituted by the county Board of Supervisors or the township board if either wanted some of the Bennett land for public use.

Loans Cover Farms, Stock and Farm Tools, FHA Report Reveals

Allegan (Special) — A total of $749,086 has been loaned to qualified Allegan county farmers to buy stock and farm tools, and another $104,510 loaned for purchase of farms by the Farmers' Home administration. This report and other statistics of the local program were given participating farmers at their annual meeting here today.

The figures represent loans made since the office was opened here in 1942, according to Clark Hill, county supervisor. Hill, with his assistant, Leslie Tobin, Ralph Wilson, Lansing, state appraiser, and County Agent A. D. Morley were speakers on today's program.

The program, which deals with farmers whose financial status disqualifies them for loans from conventional sources, added a new field recently allowing farm owners to borrow for land and building improvements.

During the past year, $18,500 was loaned for purchase of stock and tools and a total of 327 individual loans have been made in nine years for this purpose, Hill said. These borrowers have repaid $457,806 on the principal and $79,000 in interest.

In a summary, the average farm loan was shown to be $8,476, and the average annual payment on the loan $716. Farmers in the group showed an average gross income of $9,205, with about $2,289 left after farm and family expense, including payment of debts, was taken out. The average farmer paid $800 during the year for capital goods, such as machinery, appliances or stock.

Lecture on Williamsburg Heard by Woman's Club

An interesting and informative illustration of Williamsburg, the "Restoration of Williamsburg," was presented by Mrs. Noyes L. Avery of Grand Rapids, before the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon.

The restoring of Williamsburg was the dream of Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector of Bruton Parish church and was brought about by the support of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The compelling reasons for its restoration lie in the rich historical background of the city and in the intrinsic simplicity and alluring beauty of its architectural forms, Mrs. Avery said.

Mrs. Avery gave some of the interesting historical background that led to the establishing of Williamsburg and pointed out many instances which gave the town political importance from the years 1699 to 1780. Her slides gave the audience a glimpse of the beauty of the restored buildings and gardens.

Mrs. Clyde Geerlings, president, conducted the meetings. Mrs. O. A. Bishop introduced the nominees for office. Election will be held next week Tuesday.

Hostesses were Mrs. Nelson Bosman and Mrs. Otto Dressel.

Oil Production Drops Slightly In 13 Counties

Allegan County Leads Area in Production, According to Survey

Allegan (Special) — Oil production in the 13 counties of Southwestern Michigan dropped 200 barrels a day during 1950, while the number of wells increased slightly. The report is made by Bernard Ackerman, head of the state geological survey office here which serves this area.

He said 959 producible wells pumped 3,778.6 barrels of oil a day. In 1949, the daily rate was 3,954.9 barrels.

Allegan county led the area with 1,767 barrels of oil produced daily, and 2,446 barrels of brine as a necessary by-product.

The area picture showed an average of nearly four barrels of oil a day per well to 11.20 barrels of brine. Almost all the brine, or 95.73 per cent, was returned to formation through 35 disposal wells, Ackerman said.

In the field report, Walker field in Kent and Ottawa counties led the list for production, where 378 wells brought in 825 barrels of oil per day. Bloomingdale in Van Buren county had 76 wells producing 354 barrels daily; Salem, Allegan county, 148 wells, 347 barrels; and East Pullman, Allegan's newest field, showed the biggest average where 20 wells drew 358.5 barrels.

Hopkins village, which once had an oil boom, reported only one well at 2.5 barrels a day. But South Hopkins has 24 producers totaling 91 barrels.

Some of the other fields are: Clear lake, Van Buren, 8 wells, 122 barrels; Diamond Springs, 13 wells, 34; Dorr, 7, 14.5; Fillmore, 34 wells, 83 barrels; Geneva, Van Buren county, 27 wells, 115.

Hope, Barry county, 32 wells, 148; Monterey, 29 wells, 62; Muskegon, 23 wells, 54; Overisel 41 wells, 89; Rockford, 14 wells, 112; South Lee, 6 wells, 29; Trowbridge, 13 wells, 65; and Wayland, 27 wells, 257.

Rotarians Hear John R. Dethmers

The Hon. John R. Dethmers, state supreme court justice, addressed Rotary club members at their Thursday noon luncheon meeting in the Warm Friend Tavern. Dethmers, who was introduced by L. W. Lamb, Sr., presented an appropriate address in observance of George Washington's birthday.

The speaker based his talk on the basis on which our country was founded, that is, faith in God. He said this faith is important for upholding the moral principles of our citizenry. He said in the past several years our country has been trying several new ideas and has slipped in our faith in God, which has caused moral decay.

Dethmers said it is important that the youth of our country be taught these democratic principles to make strong moral fibre among the citizenry of our country.

Kenneth De Pree, vice president, presided at the meeting. Guests were Circuit Judge Raymond Smith, Prosecuting Attorney Wendell Miles, Fred T. Miles, Dr. Theodore J. G. Locher of the University of Leiden, the Netherlands, and guest professor at the University of Michigan, Dr. Wynant of Shanghai, China, the Rev. Groundwork was laid Monday by the air raid warden service of the Civil Defense program to catalog information concerning Holland, and its residents. data that would become necessary in case of enemy attack. Seated, left to right, are: Jack Shinsaber, Harold J. Haverkamp, Don Crawford, and Bernard Arendshorst. At rear are Earl Borlace and Kenneth J. Weller. Two others in the warden service group, Don Thomas and Jim Hallan, could not attend the meeting.

Civil Defense Work Lags in Holland; Urge More Action

Holland leaders met Thursday afternoon and discussed methods of "setting a fire" under lagging workers to get the city's civil defense set-up functioning.

Civil Defense Director Edwin Rackes met with his advisory committee, headed by Carl C. Andriessen, in the second floor room of the police station.

At the hour-long meeting, Rackes outlined work already accomplished in Holland and cited the need for stepping-up the process.

Previous to that, Andriessen reported on the statewide meeting of civil defense officials at Lansing Wednesday. Andriessen and Rackes represented Holland at the day-long meeting.

He said Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie are well along on defense plans and that Detroit has plans to provide emergency food and clothing for more than 300,000 residents in the event of atomic attack or another disaster.

Andriessen said the federal government is working funds loose under the new national appropriation and they should be available to states and cities on a matching basis in the near future.

Andriessen said general theme of the Lansing meeting was that "this is not play acting."

On the other hand, Andriessen said, "It was pointed out that this atomic bomb isn't a supernatural thing, but is certainly fatal for all persons within a half-mile radius of the point where it strikes."

He said defense leaders speaking at the Lansing meeting compared the firepower of one atomic bomb to six trainloads, of 80 cars each, loaded solid with TNT. At the meeting Friday, John Fenlon Donnelly, who earlier had been appointed head of the control center, said he would have to resign to devote all his energies to Holland hospital. He is chairman of the Hospital board and said the board is working on civil defenses for the hospital.

A replacement is being considered.

The annual spring thaw, coming a little earlier this year than usual, is causing the usual havoc with Holland city streets and Ottawa county roads. The worst spot in the city, according to Engineer Jake Zuidema, is at the corner of Eighth St. and River Ave., where repeated passage of big trucks tear up the intersection. Shown above is a city street crew busy on another bad spot—North Pine Ave., near the De Young power plant. Harm Van Ark is shown on the truck, while Heine Terpstra (left) pounds down the repair material, and K. Van Dyken evens it out with a shovel.

Holland Has Hangover From Winter's Freeze

The long, cold winter appears to be over in Holland, but its results will be with us for awhile.

The worst weather in many years has caused much damage to city streets, and employees of the street department are working at every available chance to repair holes and cracks in paved roads left by snow and sub-zero temperatures.

The worst spot in the city, according to Engineer Jake Zuidema, is at the corner of Eighth St. and River Ave., which bears the brunt of truck traffic through the city. All trunklines are bad, Zuidema said, and gravel roads at the edges of the city need many repairs, too.

Almost every block of the city's 32 miles of paved streets need some sort of repair due to the recent deep-freeze.

An indication of the extent of damage caused by the elements can be gauged by the amount of coal patch material used in street repair. Five tons in the fall and five more in the spring is the usual quota.

The five tons were used in the fall all right, but since then 17 tons have been used and five more are on order.

The post-thaw patching work followed a winter of busy activity for the street department. Cost of snow removal and sanding processes exceeded $12,000 in labor alone, according to figures released by Zuidema.

Snow removal cost $9,959.82 in labor alone, while sanding cost the city $2,556.03 in labor. Cost of the equipment was not figured in the amount, because it is all city-owned.

Seventy tons of chloride were used for sanding, compared with the usual winter load of 45 tons.

Most of the street upkeep was concentrated in the downtown areas, but the snow plows worked on city sidewalks, too.

The extent of winter damage around the state is high, Zuidema pointed out.

Farm-to-Prosper Trustees Re-Elect Officers for 1951

The board of trustees of the West Michigan Farm-to-Prosper Contest association meeting Monday night set the time of the 1951 Round-Up between Christmas and New Year's, and elected officers for the year.

Only change in the officers was election of Charles Anderson, of Scottville as vice president for Mason county. He is chairman of the Mason county Farm Bureau. Anderson succeeds John A. Butz, of Pere Marquette Grange, Ludington.

Officers re-elected are C. D. McNamee, Muskegon, president; W. A. Butler, Holland, vice president for Ottawa county; Merrill Eady, Grant, vice president for Newaygo county; Edwin O. Bankert, Shelby, vice president for Oceana county; John C. Beukema, Muskegon, treasurer, and John A. Chisholm, Muskegon, secretary.

Twenty-five members attended the meeting, held in the Occidental hotel, Muskegon. Edwin W. V. Anderson was added to the board. He is president of the Muskegon county Farm-to-Prosper committee, and master of Muskegon county Pomona Grange.

A total of 49 rural community organizations in the five counties already are enrolled for the 1951 contest. Latest announced are Cloverville and Trent, Granges, Evans and Gordon PTA's Muskegon county; Lakeview PTA, North Chester, Farm Bureau, Ottawa county; Fremont Grange, Newaygo county; Ransacker and Elbridge Farm Bureaus, and Otto Community club, Oceana county.

With about 85 organizations having been enrolled in 1950, sights were set this year at 100. The 49 already enrolled is far ahead of any previous enrollment this early in the year.

Beukema, wiring from Florida, expressed the sentiment of the meeting:

"Enrollment of 85 farm and neighborhood organizations in 1950 Farm-to-Prosper contest should inspire us to secure an enrollment well over 100 in 1951. Contest is developing into a mighty force for promotion of community betterment and improved city-country relationships in Western Michigan. This would not have been possible but for the enthusiastic and loyal support given the movement by the press of the five counties. Thanks too must go to the various Chambers of Commerce who have so loyally financed the activity. I hope every participant will elevate his sights for more intensive competition and an even larger achievement in 1951."

The board also heard the sentiment as expressed in the report of one competing organization, the West Grant Farm Bureau, Oceana county.

"We feel Farm-to-Prosper is stimulation, awakens new interests, stirs up competition, gives new ideas to other communities, make us strive together to better ourselves and our community, communities that worship God, work and play together, help each other in times of sickness and trouble, who live simple orderly lives do more than presidents, governors, legislators, and clergymen can do in making a nation strong."

Pays $37 Fine

The moline truck driver was appeared in Park township justice court last week charged with driving an overloaded truck on restricted county roads paid $37 fine and cost instead of $7 fine and costs as reported in Saturday's Sentinel. Chester Door pleaded guilty to the charge, and the heavy fine was imposed in co-operation with the county highway department's campaign to save county roads.

Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, and Vermont each can claim the title of "the most Republican state." Each has a solidly Republican delegation in the 82nd Congress.

The easiest way to get rid of old tree stumps is to rot them out, some farmers contend.

Christian Five Bows to Catholic Central Quintet

Holland Christian's Maroons dropped their second close ball game in three days on Friday night at Grand Rapids, bowing to a strong Catholic Central quintet 45-42 in the last minute of the tilt. The game was the last on Christian's regular schedule, giving them an 8-10 record for season play.

It was no disgrace for Coach Arthur Tuls and his ball club to lose to the Cougar five. The Hollanders were leading 41-40 with less than two minutes in the tilt, but three successful foul shots by Don Olejniczak gave the host club the winning margin. Catholic's final basket was a disputed one, it was scored as the final horn was sounding. The Maroons had excellent chances to tie the count in the last 30 seconds, as two layup shots rolled around and off the rim.

Coach Art Tuls' club controlled the ball consistently against the hard-driving Parochials. Coach Don Lennon's club employs a fast break, so the Dutch strategy was to control the ball as much as possible. It worked to perfection throughout the first half as the Maroons never trailed. Catholic started shooting as soon as they crossed the center line in the second half to break the contest wide open.

Hailed as the best team at Catholic in recent years, the Furniture City clerk has added height and polish since their first meeting with the Dutch. Should any club be induced to play Catholic's style of racehorse basketball, the Cougars could be a tremendous threat in state tourney play. They know their style and have the height to control most backboard play.

Play opened exceptionally slow with Christian doing most of the ball handling, waiting for easy shots before shooting. The Dutch stepped out to a four point lead, but the Catholic club knotted the count at 6-6, midway in the period. At the end of the first quarter the Maroons were leading 10-6.

The Maroons looked as if they were going to make it rout as they quickly moved out to a 15-6 margin, before the stalled Grand Rapids club began to creep back into the battle. Up until this point, with the game 13 minutes old, not a personal foul had been called against the Hollanders. Although Catholic narrowed the count, the Dutch still managed to hold a 19-15 halftime lead.

Catholic scored eight times before the Hollanders could connect in the third period. Trailing 23-19, the Dutch again spurred to a one point lead in the final stages of the quarter. The count was knotted at 27-27 at the period horn.

The winners jumped ahead to a five point margin at the start of the final quarter, but Holland came right back to tie the game at 34-34. Catholic pulled ahead 38-34 and 40-36, but the determined Maroons again rallied to lead 41-40 with 1:30 remaining. Olejniczak sank three charity tosses to give the Blue and White a 43-41 lead. Tony Diekema had a chance to knot the count with two foul shots with 45 seconds left, but could not steer one through the hoop.

The Dutchmen hit on 14 out of 26 foul attempts while Catholic scored on 15 out of 25. Jim Black paced the Grand Rapids scoring with 15 markers while Ben Bouwman, Olejniczak and Jim Manas all left the contest on five personals in the final minutes.

He was reported missing from his home, a mile south of Allegan, about 8 p.m. when police started the search and followed his tracks part of the way in soft mud. The child had wandered into the swamp land about two miles west of Allegan, near the river, when he was found by rescuers.

Red Cross Campaign Under Way in Holland

The 1951 Red Cross campaign got under way in Holland at a kickoff meeting Monday night which attracted 140 volunteer workers to Hope church parish house. Volunteers came from Holland city, and Holland, Park, Zeeland and Olive townships.

Peter Van Domelen, Jr., Ottawa campaign chairman, explained mechanics of the campaign and described various services of the Red Cross, emphasizing the blood bank, home service assistance, swimming program, first aid and home nursing instruction, gray lady service, clothing and household articles to the needy and fire victims, and many other services.

The Rev. Herman Rosenberg of Central Park, who will head the campaign in the south half of Park township, gave a brief pep talk describing the Red Cross.

"The Red Cross is doing a tremendous work in the world and don't let anybody kid you. You'll probably be hearing all kinds of little stories since no organization can be perfect, but we as Christians have a definite obligation to mankind, and we must always be ready to lend a helping hand," he said.

Van Domelen said the campaign is scheduled for the month of March, but he hoped it would be completed in 10 days, at least in the cities where bad roads are no factor. He explained the operations of the Single Solicitation Plan, in operation in 45 local industries, which also contributes to the Red Cross. He said each person contributing to the SSP pays $1 to Red Cross which provides one membership. He suggested other members of the family might like to contribute.

The Inter-Club council of which Dan Vander Werf is president will solicit business houses on Eighth St. and River Ave.

The house-to-house canvass in Holland city will be done by a large corps of volunteers under the direction of Mrs. Andrew Klomprens, city residential chairman. Her four zone captains are Mrs. Balfour August, Mrs. William Brouwer, Mrs. E. Duffield Wade and Mrs. S. Tiesenga.

Red Cross quota for Ottawa county is $35,631 of which $25,101 remains in the county and $10,530 is sent to the national organization. Holland city's quota is $12,828.16.

Korean Casualty Known Here as Tree Trimmer

Word was received here Friday of the death of Homer Burt, 22, of Newaygo, who was killed in action serving in the Army in Korea Jan. 14.

Burt was well known in the Holland-Fennville areas as a tree trimmer employed by the Smith Tree Trimming Co. of Lansing. He worked in the local areas for Michigan Bell and for power companies. Last year he and his wife, the former Marcene Slowinski, lived in a trailer north of Holland.

He was known as "Pancho" Burt, and seldom used his real name. Surviving are the wife and a year-old daughter, Catherine, who was born in Holland. Mrs. Burt lives with her mother in Newaygo.

He entered service last September.
