10 Cents for Letters, 8 for Cards

Postal Rates Go Up on Saturday

New postal rates, originally scheduled for Jan. 4, will go into effect Saturday, March 2, Postmaster Louis A. Haight said today.

In general, the rate for first class letters will be 10 cents an ounce, up 2 cents from the present rate. Post card rate will be 8 cents, up 2 cents from the present 6-cent rate.

Air mail to European and most other foreign countries will be 26 cents a half ounce, up 5 cents from the 21-cent rate. Letter mail to Central America, South Africa, the Caribbean Island, Bahamas, Bermuda, St.

Pierre and Miquelon will be 21 cents per half ounce. The 21-cent rate also applies to American Samoa, Guam and the Philippines.

The new program also calls for small increases in parcel post rates or fourth class mail, as well as second class (news-papers) and third class mail (bulk mailings).

New rates are effective at midnight Friday, Haight said. Stamps of 10-cent denominations have been on sale for several weeks. The post office also has what it terms an adequate supply of two-cent stamps.

Urban Problems Seminar Covers Broad Spectrum

There were more problems than solutions at two sessions of a symposium on Urban Problems at Hope College Wednesday, but the subject was aired from a variety of viewpoints and a few rays of light were introduced in changing trends. Much of the discussion centered about mass movement to the suburbs from the city and the attendant problems in both places.

Dr. Renze Hoeksema of the college faculty moderated the two sessions attended mostly by college students and featuring a four-member panel who covered the subject from broad outlooks on the federal level to urban problems on the local level. The afternoon session concentrated on problems and the evening session on solutions.

Dr. Charles L. Orlebeke, dean of the College of Urban Sciences at the University of Chicago and former deputy to HUD's George Romney, covered broad aspects, mainly the urban crisis, ecological problems and what he termed the breakdown of the educational system, one that threatens to turn out a generation of illiterates instead of high school graduates. But he doesn't believe the cities are dying, and pointed to slight trends in returning from suburbs to the city, decrease in birth rates and better police protection.

James L. Caplinger, Kalamazoo city manager, put urban problems into five categories, (1) fragmented governments, (2) decaying downtown areas, (3) government officials not well prepared, (4) citizen alienation, (5) the gulf between planning and implementation. He favored "metropolitan" government such as the Indianapolis, Dade county in Florida and Toronto programs, but recognized citizen opposition to such plans.

He spoke of the downtown mall in Kalamazoo, the first in North America, but said malls must be well planned with consideration for the proper flow of traffic. In lessening the gulf between planning and implementation, he said Kalamazoo now has its planner as an administrator, making him the No. 2 man in city government. He also favored greater use of college students and faculty in city work and research.

Dr. Robert F. De Haan, who has directed urban studies for the Great Lakes Colleges Association students, valued cities as repositories of culture but said the action lies in the suburbs and it is there where the most work must be done in controlling political and population growth while reaffirming democratic values rooted in the Christian tradition. He said suburbs must be opened up to poor people and suburbs must share the burdens of poor people.

He said the church has been more effective in inner city problems than most people think and pointed to the phenomenon of a Christian school operating in Roseland, Ill., with an all-black enrollment. He felt the neighborhood concept is the best answer to crime in the streets.

Mayor Lou Hallacy of Holland approached local problems from the feet-on-the-ground attitude, pointing out such needs as streets, storm sewers, sanitary sewers and proposing a general obligation bond package to provide pressing needed improvements. He acknowledged social problems, the need for closer cooperation with townships and counties, proposed downtown improvements and said Holland is fortunate in many ways in coping with social and financial problems. He saw the forthcoming cable television in the city as an added aid for improved communications.

Providing additional comments from the platform were former Mayor L. W. Lamb Jr., Dr. Philip Van Eyl, Dr. Russell McIntyre and Dr. Stephen Partington of the Hope faculty.

Youngster Backs Car Into Parked Vehicle

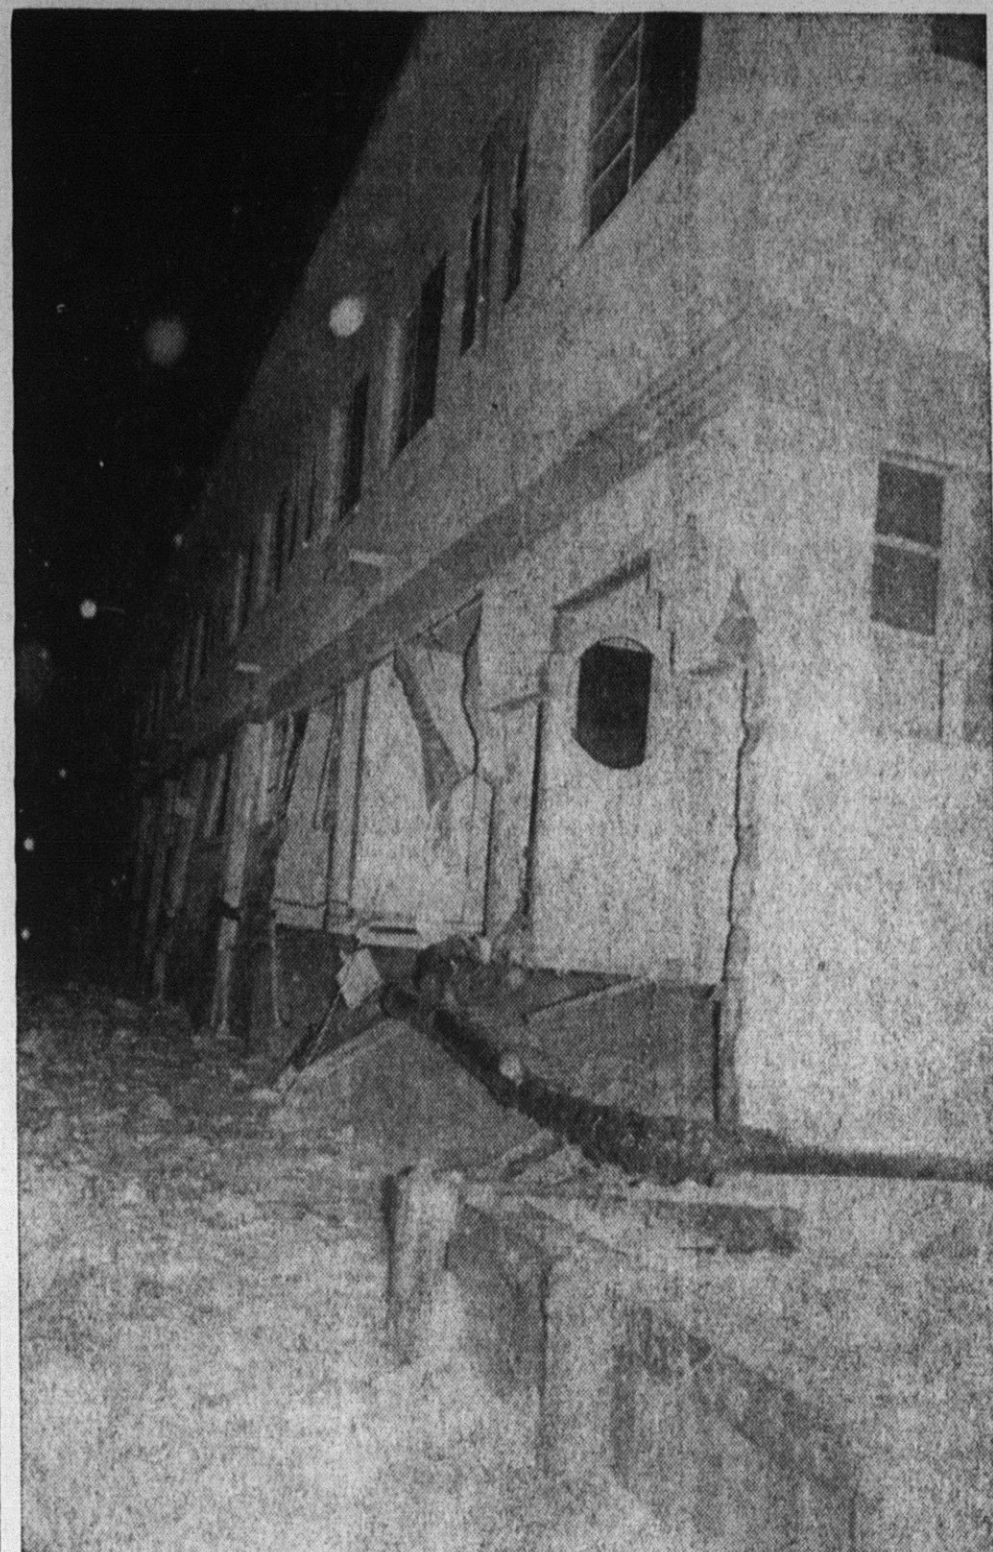

Michael Richard Thelemann, 3, of 125½ East Ninth St., left unattended in a parked car on Eighth St. 200 feet west of College Ave. Monday at 4:08 p.m. managed to start the engine and put the car in reverse.

Police said the youngster turned the wheel enough to allow the car to back from the parking space and go across Eighth St. in a loop where it struck a parked car registered to Evelyn J. Schipper of 205 East 28th St. Officers cited the youngster's mother, Evelyn E. Bosma, for leaving the vehicle unattended.

Margaret Mannes, 60, of 27 South Lindy St., suffered minor injuries when the car she was driving south on Central Ave. and a car operated west along Seventh St. by Michael Harris Westerhof, 29, of 127 West 31st St., collided at the intersection Wednesday at 3:19 p.m. She was to seek her own treatment.

SAVE GASOLINE — William Smolenski, Automobile Club of Michigan's Holland manager, joins the Auto Club's "Mr. Think Tank" in urging motorists to reduce gas use 25 per cent to save enough fuel for recreational travel in Michigan. Smolenski pins a fuel pump symbol on the map at Holland to show Holland is one of 122 cities being checked each week for gas availability. The report on gas availability is distributed to news media.

WALL COLLAPSES — Slush ice builds up against the Bil-Mar Beach Hotel on the Lake Michigan shoreline at Grand Haven after pounding surf and ice undermined the foundation and collapsed a section of the southwest wall of ground floor rooms. No injuries were reported and none of the affected rooms was occupied when the wall collapsed at 4:30 p.m. Friday. Patrons of the nearby Bil-Mar Inn Supper Club reported seeing items from the rooms floating in the Lake Michigan seas after the wall fell away. The hotel had been within 20 feet of the water the past month and strong winds Friday drove the waves against the building. (Grand Haven Tribune photo)

Bil-Mar Hotel Section Falls

Pounding Surf Breaks Building

GRAND HAVEN — A lake front section of a popular Lake Michigan resort hotel, the Bil-Mar, was undermined by pounding surf Friday and collapsed, exposing some ground floor rooms and sending furnishings out to sea.

No one was reported injured and it was not believed any of the rooms affected were occupied. The collapse was reported at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Bil-Mar owner Harold Meyer believed ice that floated from Grand River was pounded against the building, breaking the cement block structure apart. The hotel had been within 20 feet of the water the past few months.

The damage section was the southwest third of the first floor rooms. Meyer feared other sections could collapse, including some of the second floor which lost some supporting members.

Observers said shortly after the wall fell, slush ice built up and acted as a buffer to prevent further damage from the surf. Meyer's Bil-Mar supper club nearby was not damaged. A seawall had been constructed last summer to protect the restaurant but none had been built at the hotel.

The Coast Guard at Holland reported winds of 55 to 60 knots out of the north-northwest Friday afternoon that kicked up 17 to 20 foot seas. Little or no property damage was reported along the lake shore in the Holland area.

The Coast Guard said a light structure at the Michigan City, Ind., pier was washed off the pier during the storm Friday afternoon.

Vehicles driven by Jay R. Vander Meulen, 49, of 427 Hazel Ave., and David Edwin Boneck, 23, of 285 Garfield, collided along Columbia Ave. 250 feet south of 16th St. Wednesday at 4:42 p.m. Police said Vander Meulen was stopped southbound when struck from behind by the Boneck car.

Hope Overcomes Albion, 78-76

ALBION — Hope College's basketball team overcame a 51-36 deficit in the second half to nip Albion College, 78-76 here Wednesday evening in the season finale for both clubs.

A three-point play by Willie Cunningham, who scored 17 points, gave Hope the lead for good, 77-74 with 55 seconds left in the tilt.

Jim Knudson, who tallied 12 points for the Britons, hit a bucket bringing it to 77-76 but Brian Vriesman of the Dutchmen, made a free throw with six seconds to go to lock up the game.

Albion had a chance to send it in overtime, but guard Jack Klunder closed his career in fine fashion by swiping the ball from a Briton cager.

The victory brought Hope to 11-11 for the season and 4-3 in the MIAA while the Britons finished 8-12 overall and 5-7 in the league.

Vriesman led all scorers with 21 counters while Dwayne Boyce checked in with 14 and Jim Hovinga 12. Scott Clement, Spencer Goodyear and Paul Cryderman of Albion scored 18, 17 and 15 points respectively.

Hope won the game at the charity stripe, as they swished 14 of 22 shots while the Britons were only good on six of 15 from the same spot.

Boyce took down 12 rebounds and Cunningham 10, as Hope had 45 team caroms to 40 for the losers.

With the game tied 23-all, the Dutchmen were outscored 10-1 in the last 2:40 of the first half to trail at the intermission, 33-29.

ALL SIZES, COLORS, AND SHAPES—Mrs. Joe Roerink holds one of her favorite miniature violets, standing among the rows of brightly colored blossoms in her basement.

Her husband has put up special greenhouse lights and made other accommodations to insure the greenhouse atmosphere.

Violets are Her Full Time Hobby

By Anita Wallgren
For most of us, thoughts of gardening are still far away, but for Mrs. Joe Roerink, 514 Butternut Dr., they're as close as her basement.

Every day she tends her "garden" of 200 African Violets and other assorted plants that fill her house. All types of violets — single bloom, double bloom, miniatures, and variegated — are in various stages of development in her modified basement greenhouse.

Scattered throughout the rest of her house are many other plants, some with quite unusual names — a Lipstick Plant, a Goldfish Plant, Burro's Tail, Rosary Vines, Fluffy Ruffles, and her new addition, a Devil's Tongue.

The violets are her pride and joy, however, each one carefully labelled and cared for. Mrs. Roerink started growing a few violets in the 1930's, but during those busy years, she didn't have enough time to tend them and gradually eliminated them.

In the late 60's her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Kimball of 345 James St., gave Mrs. Roerink two of her violets. "They did really well," she says, and soon she was totally involved, this time on a much larger scale.

When the Tulip Time Flower Show came around in 1971, Mrs. Roerink entered four plants, "for the fun of it." She went home having won two first places and two second places.

The next year was highlighted by two trophy winners in the Tulip Time Show and three firsts and a second at the Douglas Show.

The criteria for showing violets is stringent, each plant being judged on its symmetry of growth, how clean it is, the fullness of the plant, and the color and size of the blossoms. In addition, Mrs. Roerink adds, the plant must be clean, with no water spots, no brown spots (caused by dryness), no diseased leaves or suckers of any kind, and no neck (that is, with no large stem visible).

When asked how she manages to raise such consistent prize-winners, Mrs. Roerink says there is no specific answer. "Conditions are variable depending on the light, the pots, and the individual plants," she says.

If a plant doesn't do well in one type of soil, Mrs. Roerink will try another, or add minerals, and sometimes even a dilute acid solution. She may alter other conditions on individual plants, depending on how well they develop.

Her garden workshop in the basement has been adapted to provide the best possible growing environment for row after row of violets.

The temperature in her basement is regulated at 70 degrees, with about 45 per cent humidity. Special fluorescent greenhouse lights are adjustable to give soft, even light over the three rows of benches that are completely enveloped in violets. With such an extensive collection of plants, Mrs. Roerink keeps each one scrupulously clean, to prevent insects. She sterilizes the pots and even the soil before she uses them.

Much of the credit for the special accommodations belongs to Mr. Roerink, who has done most of the handiwork. Among other things he has tracked up plastic sheeting on the ceiling which reflects light and minimizes dust.

Mrs. Roerink does not sell any flowers, but keeps them for the enjoyment of watching them grow. She takes pleasure in giving them as gifts and starting new shoots from mature plants. Perhaps this is the key to her "green thumb" as she says, "You talk to them, you sing to them, and you do anything to help them along."

FRIENDLY DEMONSTRATION — Jan Meinel, local director of the Dial-A-Ride system in Holland, demonstrates equipment on one of the minibuses for her husband, Denny, who visited his wife's place of employment recently.

Mrs. Meinel has garnered compliments from all associated with DART for her capable, comprehensive and propelling leadership.

Spunky Lady Supervises Holland's DART System

By Ann Hungerford
Her husband describes her as "super lady."

Her colleagues stress her knowledge and spunk.

And her immediate supervisor staunchly emphasizes her abilities.

Still the "super lady" herself, Holland's DART director Jan Meinel, does have her faults as her husband willingly teases.

"She gets in my way in the shop," Denny Meinel chides his wife. The shop is in his father's home where Denny designs and constructs furniture for their own home.

"I help with the upholstery but Denny usually redoes about 50 per cent of my work," Jan admits.

Jan's interest lies mainly in Shaker furniture, a fascination she avidly wishes her husband shared. Mrs. Meinel, who is actually intrigued by the entire concept of Shaker living, also enjoys entertaining, old movies on television which for her are great "escapism," reading, needlecraft and crewel. Her husband pursues his interest in motorcycles, an attraction Jan appreciates but doesn't share.

"We each lead such different lives that we talk about everything when we get home," Jan explains. Both commute from their home in Ferrysburg. Jan to her administrative assistant post in the Holland City Manager's office and Denny to the Grand Rapids furniture manufacturing firm where he is employed.

Jan's association with the city government of Holland began as an intern in 1971 during her senior year at Grand Valley State College where she majored in public service. She returned in the summer of '73 to direct the extensive process of microfilming city records and documents, a project which still occupies some of her time.

After carefully evaluating her abilities, City Manager William Bopf appointed Jan to supervise the new and vague concept of Dial-A-Ride through its inception and initial months of operation.

Working within the bureaucracy of the state is frustrating, she concedes, but justifies part of the difficulties because DART is so new. "It was difficult to get someone in Lansing to confirm anything but then it was new for them too," she diplomatically declares.

Jan is "the reason" DART got off to such a great beginning in Holland, says Michael Dewey, transportation consultant from Ford Motor Company. In numerous other cities where he has worked on Dial-A-Ride programs, Dewey confides, the directors were not as well informed and lacked the spark with which Jan tackled the formidable assignment.

Dewey's enthusiasm for her accomplishments is matched by parttime DART bus driver, Fred Overkamp, who underscores Jan's abilities with "she really knows her business."

"Jan is an encyclopedia of knowledge on transportation systems regulations, specifications and numerous other bits of information she considers pertinent to her assignment."

Though the hours were rough getting DART off the ground, working Saturdays, evenings, very early mornings, and out of town trips, she credits her husband with keeping things going. "The meals and housekeeping suffered, but Denny pulled his weight and understood," she says.

The Meinel, who haven't lost the newlywed glow, were married July, 1972 following a long romance which began when she was a freshman, and he, a junior in Grand Haven.

Twenty-three-year-old Mrs. Meinel divulged that she and her husband are both family oriented and hope to begin a family in a few years.

Despite her family longings Jan maintains a cool professional air when working that parallels the predominantly male administrative staffs of the city.

Though she doesn't expound on women's lib planks, Mrs. Meinel does exemplify them with the highest professional standards, whether addressing City Council, talking with State consultants or conducting informational luncheons with local merchants.

Yet even with her unquestionable value to the city, Jan's position will likely be cut from the city budget (several departments are cutting back to help reduce the total budget) after August when state funds to pay her for DART run out.

City Manager Bopf is currently working on two possible projects which would bring in additional funds to the city and extend Jan's tenure: federal aid to urban highways and educational material in the city of Holland.

"I don't have to sell Jan to the City Council because they are aware of her capabilities. I have to sell the programs," Bopf said.

Currently Jan is taking intermittent classes for her MA in business administration at Grand Valley. Whether employment with the city of Holland is continued or not Jan hopes to stay in civic employment for a while and return to it after she raises her family.

A city official reported that though she could easily ride the DART buses around town for free she pays her 50 cent fare. It's private testimony such as this that underscores Mrs. Meinel's most valuable contribution to the community: scrupulous dedication.

LOTS OF LAUGHS — There were a lot of laughs during the two benefit basketball games Thursday night in Civic Center and one of the reasons was the big halftime battle here between the Holland City Council and Holland Ministerial Association (Holy Hoopers). On this play Paul Colen-brander (left) grabs the ball with Don Oosterbaan and Jim Vande Poel falling all over him. The Holy Hoopers won by a 21-15 score. The Hope College faculty defeated the Police Department, 52-43 in the main event.

Hope, Holy Hoopers Win Benefit Games

By Leo Martonosi

The Hope College Faculty and Holland Ministerial Association (Holy Hoopers) won in benefit basketball action Thursday night in Civic Center but the big winner was the Youth for Christ campaign program which annually sends young people to camp.

Police Community Relations director Keith Houting reported today $446 was received in donations before the largest crowd in the three years of the tilt.

Houting said, "We hope to send at least 18 youngsters to camp this summer. One hundred and five of the $446 was donated by the radio sponsors."

The total purse is almost double of that of last year, according to Houting.

"I would like to thank everyone who had anything to do with this for making this year's project a success," Houting added.

Lots of laughs took place Wednesday and a lot of very sore fellows had a hard time in making it to work today.

In the main attraction, the Hope College Faculty made it three straight over the Police Department, 52-43 even though they failed to score in the third stanza.

Coached by Norm Japinga, assistant Mr. everything at the college, the faculty enjoyed 22-5, 36-31, 36-31 quarter margins.

When the Police battled back to make a game of it in the fourth period at 37-37 with 4:16 left, Japinga put his regulars back in and they ran past the tired Police.

Mike Gerrie of Hope wore a hockey face mask at times while Hubert Timmer of the Police had a pig mask.

Avery Baker was in a colorful Keystone Cop police costume and put Glen Bareman in jail (on the stage) for "being a traitor to his profession."

Three Dutchmen tied for team scoring honors. Glenn "Showboat" Van Wieren, Dave "Sweetheart" Vander Wel and Ray "UCLA" Smith each tallied 10 markers.

Leading the Police attack was quick Jim Stilles with 14 and big Jack Langeland with 12.

Others who scored for the winners were Bob De Young and Jim Bultman six each, Bill

Murdoch's Only Points Win Contest

By Roger Kuiken

West Ottawa shocked the Rockford Rams and gave the fans a thrilling finish here Friday night when Jack Murdoch went to the charity line and sank his only two points with nine seconds on the clock to win its fifth basketball game, 67-65.

It was a big win for the Panthers who were behind most of the game, sometimes by as much as 14 points. West Ottawa started out like a house afire for the first three minutes, then sort of retired until the final two minutes.

The game was tied at the end of the first period 14-14, thanks to the torrid shooting of sophomore Mark Bosma. However, the Rams took a 38-26 halftime lead.

The third period was much the same but the Panthers really put on a show in the final two minutes. With 1:40 to go in the game the Panthers were down by six after some great shooting by Norm Walker. Walker then sliced the lead to four points with 1:26 left.

It should be mentioned here that three of West Ottawa's big men, Mark Visser, Bosma and Jim Cross were all out on fouls.

Bruce Visser then canned a shot with only a minute to go and cut the lead to 65-63. The Panther bench came on real strong as they stole the ball with only 40 seconds to go and Mark Scheerhorn sank a late goal to tie it up.

A costly turnover, gave the ball back to the Panthers and Murdoch was fouled in the act of shooting. With nine seconds to go, Murdoch hit two free throws and the Rams came down the floor. Rockford shot and Kelly Vander Ploeg came down with the big rebound and the clock ran out.

Coach Jerry Kissman was one happy man indeed as he saw his team come from behind to notch the win. "I was really proud of the way the juniors came off the bench and played their hearts out," replied Kissman.

This was the first time this year that all three West Ottawa teams, the ninth grade, reserves and varsity won their games.

West Ottawa was guilty of 18 turnovers in the first half but had only six in the last half and shot a red hot 47 per cent overall. Walker was high with 16 points followed closely by Bosma at 15.

The Panther reserves won their second game of the year, 64-57. It was a well played game that saw three Little Panthers in double figures. Jim White had 18 points followed by John Van Eenennaam at 14, and Mike Eilander with 11.

'Dracula' Swaggers In Zeeland High Production

'Dracula' Swaggers In Zeeland High Production

By Gretchen Derksen
A youthful audience composed primarily of middle and lower high school students failed to respond to the Zeeland High School production of "Dracula" Thursday night until the closing scenes.

The production failed to jell to its full potential due in equal parts to an inhibited audience and to the stilted performances of several of the players.

Though the play about the Transylvanian nobleman, Count Dracula, a 500-year-old vampire, is slowed by a wordy script in the first act, the pace quickens with each appearance of the Count, played by Jeff Machiele.

Machiele's disappearance on stage during the third act brought the audience in tune to the approaching fun conclusion.

The three gentlemen, played by John Ozinga, Jeff Wyngarden and Kevin Vanden Bosch, is search of a vampire, armed with flashlights, an obscure smelly weed and a wooden peg and mallet, stalked through the audience to Dracula's vault.

The vampire had been accosting Miss Lucy Seward, a local English lady, played by Ruth Huhta.

Others falling under the spell of the Count were a maid, played by Andrea Barry, and a lunatic, played by Shannon Lowe. Miss Barry, who has made notable appearances in prior productions, continued her high quality work. Lowe's antics dominated many scenes as he appeared comfortable on stage.

Kevin Mokma's portrayal of a mental sanatorium keeper was particularly effective with his well-rehearsed cockneyed accent. Mokma's on-stage friend, a small white mouse, was an audience rouser. A slightly less alive, slightly slower but completed the cast.

Crucial to a credible "Dracula" production is effective make-up and in this play was applied by Dick Taylor, Kitty Flaherty, Nancy Nordstrom, Andrea Barry and Helen Bartels. Helping to create the Dracula image was the Count's majestic and eerie cap designed and created by David Van Heest who also made his directorial debut at the high school.

An oppressive and impressive starkly designed set for the concluding scene in Dracula's vault contained the Count's coffin and assorted ghoulish effects which enhanced the play's best moments.

A HARBINGER?

When President Nixon learned of Richard Vanden Veen's victory in the traditionally Republican Fifth District, he is said to have commented that this turn of events was no harbinger of things to come. That seems like less than an acute appraisal.

So far where any Republican seats were up for grabs, Democrats have managed to get them. The Fifth District is pretty good evidence that even a very strong Republican area can go Democratic under the stress of present political confusion.

The Republican national leadership insists that unemployment due to the energy shortage and other economic conditions are responsible for the unexpected upset in Grand Rapids, but that seems to us wishful thinking. The general opinion in the area is that Watergate and all the accompanying dismay with the present administration could be at the bottom of this political surprise. The registered voters we hope will remember to vote at the next election.

We think the President would be well advised to see Vanden Veen's victory for what it is, a strong statement by a very conservative body of the electorate that the political irresponsibility of the present administration will not be tolerated. Vanden Veen's victory, despite the President's opinion to the contrary, is a visible harbinger, and if the prophecy which it announces is not to come true there should be great and immediate reform in Washington.

Central Trades Credit Union Has Annual Meet

The 20th Annual Meeting of the Holland Central Trades Credit Union was held Saturday at the Holland Christian High School.

Acts 2:1-4, 16-17, 36-47
By C. P. Dame

The church today needs power. We talk about many kinds of power—atomic, electric, political, demonic, soul and other kinds. This lesson tells how the Holy Spirit empowered the early church and moved it to go and preach everywhere. The church received and used spiritual power.

I. Jesus promised the coming of the Spirit. And that was the reason why the members of the early church "were all with one accord in one place." The Jews observed three feasts, Pentecost was one and it came on "the 90th day" after the Sabbath of Passover week and it was a harvest festival called also "Day of First Fruits." Many Jews came from all parts of the world to Jerusalem to take part. After meeting perhaps in the house of Mary, Mark's mother, for a week, praying much, the Spirit came in fulfillment of the Lord's promise.

II. The Holy Spirit came upon the disciples. Suddenly "cloven tongues like as of fire came upon them" and as a result all were filled with the Holy Spirit, and they began to speak with other tongues and thus fitted them to speak to the people who had come from various lands. Today the charismatic movement is among us and some talk in tongues. Paul called the gift of tongues a lesser gift, one of the varied gifts the Holy Spirit bestows upon God's people. The best proof of being filled with the Spirit is to bear fruit (Galatians 5:22-23). The Holy Spirit came upon the church once, but the Spirit keeps on giving to God's people.

III. Preaching by the Spirit-filled gets results. The miracle won attention, and reaction, some were awed, some charged the disciples with drunkenness. Peter gave an explanation, saying to the crowd that this event was in fulfillment of prophecy of Joel. In his sermon Peter addressed his hearers as "Men of Israel!" God's covenant people and then boldly charged his hearers with the death of Jesus, whom God had raised from the dead.

Hearers were convicted and asked, "Brethren, what shall we do?" They were told to repent and be baptized and three thousand responded. Observe that these "devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers." These new converts joined the church, felt the need of instruction and fellowship so that they might be able to grow and win converts.

AAUW Hears Dr. Elder On Problems of Change

Members of the American Association of University Women were privileged to hear Dr. Robert Elder, Associate Professor of Political Science at Hope College, Thursday evening in Durfee Hall.

Dr. Elder was introduced by Mrs. Richard Giordano and spoke on the topic "The Problems of Achieving Change in the Developing World." The family planning program in India was used for his illustrations. He lived in India for one and a half years while doing research, and is the author of the book, "Development Administration in a North Indian State, the Family Planning Program in Uttar Pradesh."

Dr. Elder stated that in newly developing countries, there is a negative correlation between rapid population growth and the process of modernization of many aspects of the society. He said there is increasing pressure on the land in terms of production of a food supply and living space. Rapid population growth tends to cut sharply into the economic development of the country, as medical and educational expenses are met at the cost of new industrial growth and expansion.

However, Dr. Elder noted, there are numerous cultural aspects that place a high value on large families. Various tribal rivalries are intense, and government representation is based on a quota system. The traditional religions do not sanction population control. The necessity of having male children to carry on the work of the family, and to assist with the care of the parents in their older years is important.

Large families are found to be the rule partly because due to poor nutritional and medical care, many children do not reach maturity. Also, the literacy rate among the people is an average of 17 per cent, which poses many barriers to understanding the complexities and long range effects of the situation.

According to Dr. Elder, a sensitive and low-key family planning program would meet with some success. Also that as social and economic conditions progress, there will begin to be a gradual curbing of the population growth. He noted that when the mother in the family became employed, the number of children was limited in many cases.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Harriet Mulder, Mrs.

Dale Benefiel, Miss Elna Stocker, and Mrs. Ray Swank. Membership in AAUW is open to any college graduate. Further information may be had from Mrs. Donald Rohlick.

Olivet Holds Hope To 14 Points At Half in Victory

OLIVET — Olivet College's young basketball team held Hope College to only 14 points at the half in turning back the Flying Dutchmen, 52-46 here Saturday night.

The Comets were never behind in the low scoring game, as they rushed out to a 9-0 lead before Hope countered with a score with 4:50 played when Brian Vriesman connected for a fielder.

The final score was the closest the Dutchmen got, as the Comets finished their MIAA season at 3-9. Hope is now 3-8 in the league and 10-11 overall.

Coach Gary Morrison started three freshmen, one sophomore and one senior in getting revenge against an earlier loss to Hope.

Olivet's defense caused the Dutchmen problems. The Comets went down the floor man-to-man against Hope but went into a zone as soon as the Dutchmen set up their offense.

Hope finished the evening with a 36 per cent percentage (19 of 52) while Olivet was (24 of 48) for 50 per cent.

Vriesman paced Hope with 15 counters while Randy Sharpe had 14 for Olivet.

The Dutchmen had 21 turnovers to 18 for Olivet and were outbounded by the shorter Comets, 32-28.

Dutch Beat Bucs For Second Time

Hesselink Is Game's Top Scorer

By Leo Martonosi
GRAND HAVEN — Holland committed 27 turnovers here Tuesday night and Grand Haven 15 but guess who won the basketball game between these county rivals?

If you guessed the Dutch you were right, as Coach Don Piersma's squad defeated the Bucs of Coach Al Schaffer, 70-64 in a wild affair.

It took like 10 wild men out there at times, as both were throwing their weight around in the rugged contest.

Holland dominated the backboards and played tough defense in beating the Bucs for the second time this winter. Earlier the Dutch won in the Fieldhouse, 68-63.

"We played fine defense and did a heck of a job on the boards," said Piersma. "Tim Boeve, who has been one of our most consistent players all year had another strong game for us."

Boeve, Jud Hesselink and Dennis Lawson, who regained his starting center spot Tuesday took off almost every carom that came their way, as Holland gathered 55 rebounds to 25 for Grand Haven. Holland also had the better percentage from the field, 43 to 36 for the Bucs.

The win was Holland's 11th of the season compared to eight losses while the loss was only Grand Haven's third at home in 10 outings. The Bucs now have the same overall mark as the Dutch.

Hesselink bounced back to lead Holland in scoring with 24 points with two of those coming when he fell on his "behind" with 3:33 left in the game and the Dutch on top, 60-52.

Paul Van Oostenburg threw in 16 from his point position while Lawson contributed 12 and showed a lot of hustle. Rick Teunis of the Bucs, who has as good as moves as Darnell Flourney of Muskegon Reeths-Puffer poured in 22 markers. Jim Kalsbeek followed with 10. Hesselink tallied three baskets and Van Oostenburg two and two free throws, as Holland enjoyed a 21-16 first period margin. Boeve's desperation shot from just inside mid-court at the buzzer gave the Dutch their five-point spread.

Boeve's third field goal in a row put Holland in front, 27-18 moments later. The Dutch ended up leading at the half, 35-33, as Van Oostenburg swished another long "bomb" at the horn.

With Teunis putting on all kinds of moves for buckets, the Bucs took a five-point advantage, 43-38 in the third quarter before the Dutch responded

Silver Dollars Taken In Cottage Break-In

A cottage at 2737 Lake Shore owned by William Qualls of Grandville was reported broken into Tuesday at 5:20 p.m. and $20 in silver dollars was reported missing.

Ottawa County sheriff's detectives said the break-in was believed to have occurred since Dec. 31, perhaps the same time two others in the area were entered.

with 15 points to only five for Grand Haven to grab a 53-43 third period lead.

Van Oostenburg's two-pointer gave Holland its biggest margin, 68-54 with 1:16 to play. With both teams playing their reserves, the Bucs battled back to cut the gap to 68-63 with 11 seconds left before Piersma thought he better put Hesselink and Van Oostenburg back in to make sure the Dutch didn't pull another UCLA.

Grand Haven's Little Bucs got even in a big way with the Dutch reserves by taking a 83-55 verdict. The Bucs are now 15-4 for the season with one of the defeats to Holland while the Dutch are 11-8.

"They have the best junior varsity team I have ever seen at Grand Haven," commented Piersma.

Grand Haven had quarter leads of 22-12, 49-20 and 69-40. Todd De Young and Tom Borgman paced the Dutch with 10 points apiece while Dean Coverat had 16 for the winners.

Bil-Mar Owner Acts to Save Hotel

GRAND HAVEN — Efforts launched today to shore up the lake front sections of the Bil-Mar Beach hotel where a pounding Lake Michigan undermined and collapsed a third of the southwest wall of the ground floor units Friday.

Owner Harold Meyer said timbers would be driven through the shore ice and ground and a seawall would be erected to protect the building.

Meyer said work depends on weather conditions and indicated as long as the cold temperatures and ice conditions continue work could be completed. The ice was keeping the lake waters from lapping at the building foundation.

The section of wall, facing the lake collapsed exposing three rooms to the lake. No injuries were reported.

BOOKS OF THEIR OWN — Selecting books of their very own can be a real thrill for children and they proved it at book parties of the RIF (Reading is Fundamental) program on Thursday and Friday at selected area schools. At Harrington School these

Book Parties Arouse Enthusiasm In Early Reading Programs of RIF

By Sue Linn

A little girl sat in the corner of the library reading her newest possession a copy of "Curious George" by H. A. Rey. The book was her first choice in the Reading is Fundamental program which was launched Thursday and Friday in selected area schools.

RIF as the program is called, is based on the premise that children can be motivated to develop meaningful relationships with books if they are given the chance to select and own books of their choice.

The RIF books which ranged in interest from science to fantasy were attractively displayed on school library tables. Many children showed initiative as they searched for just the right book. However, many found it difficult to make a choice. Perhaps they had never experienced the joy of selecting a book of their own. "You mean I can keep it?" was the question most frequently asked.

It was during the selection of books that the "magic" of RIF could be seen. The expression on the face of an excited child, who for the first time selects a book of his choice, is not easily forgotten.

To make the book parties extra special, Gregory the duck, a puppet donated by the Junior Welfare League and portrayed by Sally Bradford talked with the children about RIF. Gregory announced that he would come again in April with more RIF books. Each child's book was stamped with a RIF bookplate so he could mark it as his own.

The second grade class at North Holland School was photographed by Channel 35 cameramen and will appear on television before the next book distribution in April.

The Holland RIF program distributed 400 books in Washington, Harrington, St. Francis, Montello Park, Jefferson, Lincoln, Glerum, Lakewood, and North Holland Schools. Plans call for these children to receive 800 more books in April. The projected goal is to distribute 24,000 books to 600 children during the 1974-75 school year.

Money spent has been donated by Junior Welfare League, Rotary, Kiwanis Queens, Lions, Holland Education Association, West Ottawa Education Association, Preceptor Tau, Xi Delta Pi, Xi Beta Tau, Jaycee Auxiliary and interested individuals.

Funds are continually needed to support this project. Mrs. George Buskirk is the finance chairman.

Miss Joy Muehlenbeck and Mrs. Gerald Van Wyke, reading consultants of the West Ottawa and Holland Public Schools, have worked closely with the RIF committee of AAUW in the distribution of books.

AAUW members helping with the book parties were Mrs. David Linn, general chairman, Mrs. Charles Bradford and Mrs. Ron Buehner, distribution chairman, Mrs. Buskirk, finance, Mrs. Robert Buster, Mrs. Lewis Beem, Mrs. Steven Van Grouw, Mrs. Robert Linn and Mrs. Ray Swank.

According to Mrs. Muyskens, about three percent of the national population is mentally retarded to some degree. About 100 persons from the county are currently in institutions, another 200 attend the Ottawa Area Center for day care activities and another 275 adults require special care within the community.

Mrs. Muyskens works with children and their families. She may be reached at the Life Consultation Center in Zeeland, or through Community Mental Health offices in Grand Haven, Holland or Hudsonville.

Mrs. Blacklock was a lifelong summer resident of Macatawa Park and had a long career as speech and drama teacher in Detroit's Southeastern High School.

Allendale Completes Best Season

GRANDVILLE — Allendale finished its most successful regular basketball season here Friday night by defeating last year's Class D state champs Grand Rapids Covenant Christian for the second time this winter, 74-64.

Coach Ken Pierce's Falcons blew the Chargers right off the court in the fourth period. At one time during that span, Allendale led by 16 points after only leading 52-48 heading into the final eight minutes.

The Falcons led 18-17 at the end of the first period and the game was tied at 30-30 at the intermission.

All-state candidate Wayne Van Dyke drilled in 23 points and grabbed 20 rebounds for the winners while teammate Dave Sall contributed 21 markers. Covenant's fine cager Rick Norman had 25 counters.

The win gave the Falcons a perfect 6-0 slate in the Pioneer League and an overall 6-4 record.

"We just had super kids to work with and I can't say enough about them," said a pleased Pierce. "We're definitely looking ahead to the tournaments."

Hudsonville Beats Chix for 9th Win

HUDSONVILLE — The Hudsonville Eagles came up with their ninth win of the season as they downed Zeeland, 75-61 in basketball action here Friday night.

Earlier this season the Chix had problems of falling apart at the closing moments of the games but during the past month those faults were halted, however Friday night must have given the Chix mentor Dan Shinabarger nightmares of earlier contests, as after a 49-49 deadlock at the end of the third quarter the Chix fell apart, coming up with only 12 points, compared to 26 for the Eagles, as they went on to beat their arch rivals.

Prior to the devastating fourth quarter, the game was up for grabs as the score stood at 16-16 at the end of the first quarter, 38-35 in favor of the Eagles at half, and 49-49 after three quarters.

Hudsonville placed five out of its first six players in double figures with Joe Perrin and Dave Schut at 17 and 16 points, Craig Riestler and Paul Van Noord with 11 apiece, and Kent Miller with 10 points. Zeeland had two in double figures as Terry Van Dyke hit for 28 points and Tom Kragt for 10.

Rebounding also hurt the Chix as Hudsonville came up with 54 caroms compared to 35 for Zeeland. Shooting percentage was also important as the Eagles hit on 29 of 65 for 44 per cent while the Chix were 26 of 70 for 36 per cent.

In the JV contest Zeeland came up victors with a 71-60 win over the Eagles while in the freshman event the Zeeland squad captured the unofficial league championship with a win over the Eagles.

Up and Down Hawkeyes Fall to Middleville

MIDDLEVILLE — The up and down Hamilton Hawkeyes were down once again here Friday, as Middleville edged the Hawks, 56-55 for its first win of the 1970s over Hamilton.

"We just couldn't buy a basket," said Hamilton mentor Wayne Tanis.

The Hawks only connected on 23 of 79 shots from the court for an icy 29 per cent mark compared to Middleville's 40 per cent clip.

Middleville won the game at the charity stripe, as they threw in 18 freebies to only nine for Hamilton. The Hawkeyes had four more field goals in going down to their 13th loss in 19 outings.

The Trojans surprised the Hawks by holding 16-9, 34-26 and 42-34 quarter leads. Hamilton made a game of it in the final period by outscoring Middleville, 21-14.

Dave Achterhof tallied his season scoring high with 14 points for Hamilton while Mark Naber chipped in 13 counters. Dave Van Aman had 23 for the winners.

Hamilton's jayvees won, 75-52, as Matt Folkert and Doug Schrottenboer tallied 25 and 19 points in that order while the Hawk freshmen roared to an easy 61-28 decision, as Roger Hooks threw in 20 markers.

Hamilton will close its regular season at home next Friday against Kelloggsville on Parents Night.

Flu Shifts To Other Local Areas

GRAND HAVEN — In the third week of Ottawa county surveillance of a flu - like illness causing high absenteeism, Dr. Paul J. Christenson, medical director of the Ottawa County Health Department, said today that the Holland-West Ottawa area is returning to normal, but there is increased absenteeism in the Zeeland, Hudsonville, Jenison, Grand Haven and Coopersville areas. Absenteeism was greater in the Grand Haven high school than in elementary or junior high schools.

Dr. Christenson said symptoms are variable and appear to be related to gastro-intestinal viruses rather than the influenza-like acute respiratory type. Some people are experiencing acute respiratory symptoms while others have predominantly gastro-intestinal symptoms, he said.

The health department's week-by-week surveillance will continue until the situation abates, he said.

Physical Activity Demonstrated For Longfellow PTO

Featured in the evening program of the Longfellow PTO Tuesday were the fifth and sixth grade students of physical education specialist Gloria Williams. The children demonstrated physical activity important in fitness, skills, body management and aesthetics.

A Longfellow first grade class also took part by presenting the Dutch Dance, directed by their teacher, Miss Betty Cook.

Mrs. Jane Lampen thanked the PTO for having the cushions for the lobby furniture reupholstered and for purchasing several classroom dividers and other classroom aides, a climbing board for the physical education classes and a cassette recorder for the kindergarten.

Those present were reminded that the Longfellow Fun Night is scheduled for March 15 with this year's theme "Candy Carnival." Fun Night is presented with a double purpose: for good family fun and for making a profit with which to purchase additional learning tools for the Longfellow children.

Serving refreshments were social chairman, Mrs. Bruce Ellis, and Mrs. Vernon Hoff, Mrs. Preston Bradley, Mrs. Kenneth Brondyke and Mrs. Robert Elenbaas.

Eagles Top Maroons By 48 Markers

By Rich Walters

Holland Christian's basketball team closed its home season Friday night, probably wishing they had stayed home, as the Maroons were soundly trounced by a very fine ball club from Grand Rapids Christian, 35-37. The Eagles are rated in the top 10 Class A teams in the state, and looked the part Friday.

Three things contributed to the one-sided score. The first, and possibly most important, being that the Maroons were forced to play without the services of their excellent 6'6" junior center, Keith Frens, who sprained an ankle in practice Wednesday. Jon Houseward was moved to the center position and Jack Scholten filled Houseward's forward spot.

This meant Houseward and Dave Van Langevelde, both 6'3" and Scholten, going around 6'1" had to battle 6'4" Jim Holwerda, 6'3" Dave Mulder and 6'5" Dwight Maliepaard on the boards, and it was strictly no contest, as the Eagles came down with 48 rebounds compared to 20 for the Maroons. This was the second major factor in the game. Mulder pulled down 13 while Houseward led Christian with seven.

The third factor was the field goal shooting. Grand Rapids took 72 shots and connected on 38 for 53 per cent, on quarters of 9-21, 7-12, 11-19 and 11-20. Meanwhile Christian, minus Frens, who has been their only consistent scorer this season, took 68 shots, just four less than the Eagles, but made a mere 14 for a dismal 20 per cent. Their quarters showed 3-16, 4-17, 3-18 and 4-17.

After Maliepaard opened the scoring for the Eagles, Van Langevelde tied the score with a bucket, then gave the Maroons their only lead in the game, 4-2 with a pair of charity tosses. Holwerda knotted the count, and with 5:14 to go in the first quarter Maliepaard put Grand Rapids on top to stay. The Eagles ran up 10 straight points before Dave Tuls connected, and then another eight before Houseward made it 20-8 at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter was fairly even, with the Maroons outscoring by four, 15-11, making the halftime count 35-19. Mulder pumped in six points, giving him 12 for the half, and Holwerda added five to go along with six in the first quarter, as the two forwards contributed 23 first half points.

Van Langevelde and Keith Boeve each netted four of Christian's 11 points. One of Van Langevelde's baskets appeared to be tipped in by Holwerda as he was going for a rebound. It was awarded to "Leemo" as he was the nearest Holland Christian player.

In the third quarter the Eagles scored 18 points to three for the Maroons until Scholten and Ken Dozeman connected in the final half minute. Dozeman scored five of Christian's seven points, as the scoreboard read 57-26 going into the last eight minutes.

Both teams cleared their benches in the fourth quarter, and the Eagles continued to roll, as the subs popped in 28 points. The Maroons tallied 11 with Ray Buursma accounting for five.

The Maroons also dropped the prelim game, 61-46. The score was tied 14-14 at the quarter before the Eagles held leads of 28-25 at the half and 44-34 after three periods. Scott Vanderploeg had 13 and Bob Vander

Literacy Council Hears D. Tyson Of State Group

Members and guests of the Holland Literacy Council met Tuesday evening at the Herrick Public Library. The group was welcomed by Mrs. Bea ten Hoer, outgoing president, who also introduced the new officers: Mrs. Marjorie Hoeksema, president and Mrs. Alice Beery, secretary.

Mrs. Karen McFall who is on the staff of the Good Samaritan Center, serves as executive vice president. She introduced the speaker for the evening, the Rev. Mr. Dean Tyson, president of the Michigan Literacy Council. He serves as the pastor of the Samaria Lutheran Church in Ypsilanti, and is involved in the Washtenaw County Literacy Council. His topic was "Going Forward with Michigan Literacy."

Mrs. Tyson revealed that in Michigan there are 1,300 trained tutors using Laubach Literacy materials in their teaching of slow and non-readers of English. Forty active tutors are to be found in the Holland area. The Michigan Literacy Council is relatively new, having been formed in June 1971. New regional councils are formed in Michigan at the rate of six or seven per year.

Mr. Tyson mentioned the growing need for literacy journalism. Many application forms and much official material is incomprehensible to new readers. Trained literacy journalists in the Michigan Literacy Council are attacking this problem and seeking to meet this very real need.

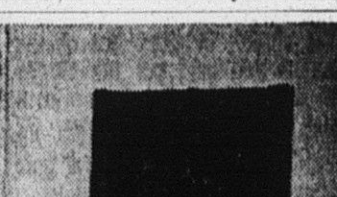

In a closing challenge to Holland's Literacy Council, Mr. Tyson asked that the group commit itself to become an advocate for the new readers in this community. He also announced that on June 7 and 8, 1974, the Holland Literacy Council will host the annual convention of Michigan Literacy at Hope College. Topics of special interest to tutors will be offered in workshops led by noted literacy authorities.

BPW Eyes Future Atomic Plant

The Holland Board of Public Works took an informal long-range look at electrical generation at its meeting Monday and saw possible joint ownership with other area utilities of a nuclear plant.

Superintendent of utilities Ronald L. Rainsford said future costs of coal and lower quality fuel could force the utilities into a nuclear plant. He said litigation has been started designed to give independent utilities part ownership in a Consumers Power Co. nuclear plant under construction at Midland and access to Consumers major transmission lines for exchange of power among the independents.

Rainsford said it was conceivable that Holland, Grand Haven, Zeeland and perhaps Lansing could join in constructing a nuclear power plant.

The board approved the 1974-75 budget which Rainsford said was prepared by the department heads. The budget calls for cost cutting by repairing items rather than replacing them and takes into consideration higher costs for billing due to postal rate increases and additional costs in computer uses.

The board okayed the first of three annual payments to the Chamber of Commerce totaling $1,226.50 as part of the dues structure to pay for a proposed building the chamber plans to construct.

Rainsford reported on negotiations for sale of water to the Federal district of Holland township.

Cornie's Corner

Work seems to be just a tiny bit easier for Henry Vander Plow after that story on parking meters appeared in The Sentinel some time ago.

Henry says many people have told him they had been unaware of the problems facing the chap with the unhappy task of ticketing overtime parked cars, and now understand the ins and outs of parking much better.

Mostly, Henry felt humble and grateful that someone cared enough to write about the work which at times is discouraging, to say the least.

In our current civilization, everybody needs to gripe at one time or another. Parking meters are a favorite object for venting ill humor.

We've identified the owner of that picturesque barn in that winter landscape picture on page 1 in the Feb. 20 issue. It's the farm of Mrs. John Meyerling on 62nd St. about two miles southwest of Graafschap.

The Chamber of Commerce received an inquiry from a woman in Illinois who is thinking of a Dutch theme for her daughter's forthcoming wedding inasmuch as her fiancé is of Dutch descent.

With characteristic promptness, the Chamber office obligingly forwarded Tulip Time, Windmill Island and other local tourist information, plus the names of local seamstresses who often make Dutch costumes.

The writer specifically asked about white Dutch caps and aprons, a boy's vest, shirt, pants and hat, and wooden shoes.

Times have changed...they certainly have!

This bit of information was dredged up at Holland Hospital in a hospital periodical, listing duties of the floor nurse in 1887... all in addition to caring for 50 patients:

1. Daily sweep and mop the floors of your ward, dust the patient's furniture and window sills.

2. Maintain an even temperature in your ward by bringing in a scuttle of coal for the day's business.

3. Light is important to observe the patient's condition. Therefore, each day fill kerosene lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks. Wash the windows once a week.

4. The nurse's notes are important in aiding the physician's work. Make your pens carefully, you may whittle nibs to your individual taste.

5. Each nurse on duty will report every day at 7 a.m. and leave at 8 p.m. except on the Sabbath on which day you will be off from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

6. Graduate nurses in good standing with the director of nurses will be given an evening off each week if you go regularly to church.

7. Each nurse should lay aside from each pay day a goodly sum of her earnings for her benefits during her declining years, so that she will not become a burden. For example, if you earn $30 a month you should set aside $15.

8. Any nurse who smokes, uses liquor in any form, gets her hair done at a beauty shop, or frequents dance halls will give the director of nurses good
