Man Who Brought Van Raalte Here Is Well Known

NEWS HEARS OF HISTORIC EDITION FROM FLORIDA

Great Grandchild of Harrington Writes

The historic edition of the News, issued during the 90th Anniversary of the Hollanders, in February, has created much friendly comment and the supply of extra copies printed at that time have long been depleted. Requests for copies came from as far as New York this morning, and the News is endeavoring to pick up a few here and there to supply the demand.

A correction, however, comes from Miss Lulu Harrington of St. Petersburg, Florida. In one of the write-ups of the Old Mission in Fillmore Township, where Squire Fairbanks and missionary George Smith were mentioned, it appears that the Harrington family was omitted.

Miss Harrington states that the News said that when Dr. Van Raalte came to Holland there were but two white families, namely, Fairbanks and Missionary Smith, who conducted the Old Wing Mission, near what is now Ebenezer. The fact is, the Harrington family was also here. Great, great grandfathers of the Harringtons of today, namely George Harrington, went to Allegan and brought Dr. Van Raalte to the present site of Holland. The Harringtons came to Fillmore in 1845, two years prior to the coming of Dr. Van Raalte.

When Hope College had their parent's score of years ago, the first scene in that memorable event on the college campus was George Harrington with a team of oxen bringing the Van Raalte family, supposedly over terrible uncharted roads, from Allegan to Holland; in fact, there were no roads. Undoubtedly streams were to be forded, swamps and bogs had to be skirted and this trip must have been a trying one.

The father of Austin Harrington, who was also by the way, George S. Harrington lived on this same farm where his father settled. Hub Harrington, son of E. J. Harrington, is a grandchild of George Harrington, Sr., and Miss Lulu Harrington of Virginia Park is a great grandchild. The late Wilson Harrington was also a son. In fact, all the Harringtons who have played such an important part, not only in the rural districts of Holland, but also in the upbuilding of this community, are all descendants from the George Harrington who drove the founder of Holland to the shores of Black Lake where this beautiful city was built in a location that would be difficult to surpass.

Holland is called "the city of churches" and we can point with pride to that. We can also point with pride to one of the finest educational centers in the nation. We can point with pride to a great many other things which is common knowledge. We owe it all to the foresight of such men as Van Raalte, Fairbanks, Harringtons, Posts, Koppels, Cappons, Visschers, Plaggenmeyer, Van Puttens and a score or more of the early pioneers and the children and children's children of these trail-blazers.

The Holland City News, in referring to the files on the date of the pageant mentioned above, finds George Harrington and the bringing of Van Raalte and the head of Black Lake well chronicled, which is conclusive evidence that the Harrington family can be numbered among the first white folks living in this vicinity. It must be remembered that most of the denizens at that time were peaceful Indians at Hamiltion, a village south and west of Kollen Park, a tribe at Waukasoo, Saugatuck, Port Sheldon, and Fillmore; in fact, there were little villages scattered in many places where there was access to water, which in this case was Macatawa Bay, meaning "black waters." Undoubtedly, in the reason the government, in its survey, named it Black Lake, the American name to Holland saw to it recently to have it renamed Lake Macatawa, which is correct, more romantic, and smacks of Indian lore.

HOLLAND MEN OFFICERS OF NEW GRANDVILLE BANK

A new Grandville bank has been organized and will occupy the beautiful structure, formerly occupied by the old bank some years ago. Among the directors are Attorney Daniel Ten Cate and Mat Pellegrom of Holland. Fred McEachern, who also conducts the Hudsonville bank, is President of the new Grandville bank, and Grant F. McEachern, former bank examiner and an able banker, is to be cashier.

The capital stock of the newly organized bank is $25,000.00. The capital is largely from Grandville and Hudsonville stockholders.

A jury was accepted at 11:45 a. m. Thursday to hear the evidence in the case of Andrew Vander Ploeg, West Central Ave., Zeeland, who went on trial in the Ottawa circuit court on a charge of two counts, charging him with negligent homicide and manslaughter. The charges resulted from the death of Dick Siskman, residing east of Zeeland, who suffered fatal injuries last Jan. 17 when he was struck by a car driven by Vander Ploeg while walking along Ottawa County Road 452, one-fourth mile east of Zeeland's corporate limits. Members of the jury are John Frederich, Crooktown; August F. Fischer, Grand Haven township; Alend K. Brouwer, Olive township; Martin Van Wieren, Park township; George Hulbert, Port Sheldon township; Ralph H. Dickinson, Tallmadge township; Nick Meyer, Zeeland township; James Weaver, John Fisher, James Vander Zalm and Martin Erickson, all of Grand Haven.

AMERICAN HUNTERS PAY $10,000,000 FOR SPORT

Sportsmen in the United States and Alaska paid nearly $10,000,000 for hunting license and Federal migratory bird hunting stamps in 1935, the last year for which figures are available. Of that sum $9,256,768.94 went for hunting licenses and $446,919 for the duck stamps, which sell for $1 each.

GIRLS LEAGUE TO HOLD BANQUET

The Girls' League for Service of Zeeland will hold a banquet at the Second Reformed church of that city on April 16, at 6:30 o'clock. A very interesting program is being arranged.

Suit For "The Tailor-Made Man" Finished

FINAL PREPARATIONS FOR SENIOR CLASS PLAY NEXT WEEK ARE MADE

With the curtain call for "A Tailor-Made Man", Holland high school senior class play, scheduled for next week Monday night, the cast and stage staff are busy putting finishing touches on the sparkling comedy that is to be the class play. Performances will be given Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, March 15, 16, 17, and 18. The play, which requires three different settings and a great deal of ingenuity on the part of the stage staff, tells an amusing story of an ambitious young tailor's hand, John Paul Bart, while the audience and other members of the cast worry over his success. John Paul "crashes" a reception and meets influential men. Although he ingratiate himself with these men, complications arise, for those who knew him in the tailor shop have a habit of appearing unexpectedly. The complications that arise provide many comic and dramatic situations which make the play one of the most popular ever written.

The title role in the comedy is played by Lemuel J. Harris Jr., Tanya Huber, the heroine, is played by Yvonne Weststrate. The cast, which numbers 25, also includes Paul Houtman as Mr. Huber, the old German tailor; John Mokma as Peter McKonkie, his narrow-minded assistant; Jay Zuidema, as Dr. Sommer, a scholar; Milton Verburg as Mr. Rowlands, a newspaper man; Merle Eilers as Mr. Jellicot; Fred Bertsch as Pomeroy; Donald Kramer and Mary Van Kollen as Mr. and Mrs. Stanlaw; Jean Wismeier as their daughter; Corinne Elton Gogolin as Wheatling; John Den Herder and Ruth Homfeld as Mr. and Mrs. Fitzmorris; Russell Jesiek as Bobbie Westlake; Gordon Bessel as Mr. Carroll; Jane Anne Vischer as Mrs. Kitty Duhaury; Lois Jane Te Roller as her daughter, Bessie; Herbert Chapman as Mr. Nathan; Lester Dogger as Grayson, his secretary; Ruth Klassen as Miss Shayner; Julian Arndorst as Mr. Whitcomb; Gerald Van Dyke as Mr. Russell; Clifford Lightheart as Mr. Cain; and Edward Hindert as Mr. Flynn.

In addition to the 25 members of the cast, 65 other seniors are actively engaged in staging the play and taking charge of business arrangements. Ticket sales are being conducted by two teams, which include all of the members of the class. Gerald Van Dyke heads the team which now has a two point lead on that headed by Bill Blanchard. The ticket campaign continues throughout the week. Ticket salesmen are notifying all those who purchase tickets that tickets purchased for one night may be exchanged for any other night at the door. Tickets may also be purchased at the door. The doors of the auditorium will not be open until 7:15 o'clock.

The play will be augmented by music by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Eugene F. Heer.

The play is being directed by Miss Mary E. Ervin of the speech department. Ervin has been given full faculty supervision.

See fine picture of cast on page one, section two.

Jim Voss, manager of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., who has been ill at his home, 327 College Ave., since last Saturday, is convalescing.

Daniel Ten Cate was at the court house in Grand Haven, Wednesday, on business.

Miss Nellie Vander Bie who has been spending the past few months with Mrs. C. Vander Bie on West 12th St., has left for South Haven where she will spend the spring and summer.

Members of the Woman's Literary club enjoyed a delightful reading, Tuesday afternoon, given by Mrs. George E. Kollen of the popular play, "Victoria Regina" a biographical drama by Lawrence Houseman, which has been experiencing an exceptionally long run on the Broadway stage in New York. Opening with the scene showing Victoria as a young queen under the leadership of Lord Melbourne, she was seen declaring her mind in the choice of a husband, her naive interest in the affairs of married life, and her desire to be supreme authority, even over the man she really loved. Inconsolable after her husband's death, Victoria continued with her interest in the affairs of state, and her guidance by and interest in Lord Beaconsfield was clearly seen. The closing scene showed Victoria, an elderly woman, surrounded by her family at the celebration of her diamond jubilee. Mrs. Charles K. Van Duren presided. She announced the meeting next week to be the annual election of officers. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Albert Diekema and Mrs. Fred Beuwies.

Expects More Than Dozen Planes Here

THOUSANDS OF AIR-MINDED PEOPLE WILL BE HERE ON THURSDAY OF TULIP FESTIVAL

Last night at Grand Rapids there was quite an aviation meet held at the Rowe Hotel when 100 members were guests of the Grand Rapids Wing of the National Aeronautical Association. William Connelly of the Chamber of Commerce and Peter Prins of Holland, who is very much air-minded, were invited guests.

It was evident that a large number of Michigan airmen and women plan to be in Holland Wednesday and Thursday during the week of the Tulip Festival, when Holland's new airport will be opened officially; and the Tulip Time committee, at that time, has arranged to set Thursday aside as aviation day when one of the features of the program will be the showering down of tulips from the skies on the City of Holland. Mr. Connelly said this morning that he was sure that there would be at least a dozen planes in this tulip brigade.

Anyway, he was given the opportunity at the banquet last evening to give a resume of the Tulip Time program during the week and the air fete in particular. Many expressed the desire of coming and undoubtedly there will be many planes here aside from those who shower the tulips from the sky.

It is expected that some army planes from Selfridge Field will swoop down on Holland for the day. It will be remembered that Gov. Frank Murphy has promised Mr. Connelly and the Tulip Time committee on Wednesday of the parade day, which will undoubtedly please the chief executive. A dinner will be tendered the Governor on the evening of that day at Warm Friend Tavern.

The Tulip Time committee set Thursday as Aviation Day since on that day there was no other large program. This surely will be a pleasing innovation, different from other years. It simply means that on Thursday there is going to be another big day and air-minded folks especially, will come from some distance.

The meeting in Grand Rapids was tentatively to arrange for the air circus to be held in the future city June 12 and 13 when the Fordson-Brown Troop, with many of their stars of recent national air races, will be on the Grand Rapids program.

At the banquet it was evident, according to the Grand Rapids papers, that members of the group will also participate in Holland's air day, May 20, during the Tulip Festival.

Major Fred L. Smith of Washington, D. C., national representative of the Aeronautical Association, outlined the national program. "Our first objective is to obtain standing committees on civil aviation in both houses of congress; second to obtain a continuing civil aviation policy; third, to provide air defense; fourth, the training of youth in aviation; and fifth, expansion of contest activities," he said.

Maj. Smith declared constructive legislation alone can end the "Orphan" plane status of civil air transport—in other words, day and night, and that until formed committees cannot end the "stop-gap legislation" that has hampered progress.

"Our civil air transport," he said, "is the best in the world, but it is not one-tenth or one-hundredth of what it should be, and leadership is a hollow thing if it only means better trained men and better equipment than when the Baker board made its recommendations, but we have no more men, and we do not have enough. We want no part of Europe's strife, but we should be prepared so that we need not worry about it." Maj. Smith also discussed the contest work of the NAA and outlined a policy for extending that phase into the model airplane competition for boys.

"America started this aviation business and we should see to it that America stays ahead in civil and military air progress," he concluded.

Mr. Connelly and Mr. Prins both stated that the evening was a very instructive one and the speakers brought a great deal of information to bear on aeronautics, as this relates to America, that were known by few, who are not in close touch with this new line of travel and warfare.

Mrs. A. Elferink, who resides near the Ebenezer church on rural route No. 5, celebrated her 83rd birthday anniversary Thursday. Mrs. Elferink is enjoying fairly good health and finds great pleasure doing her duties in keeping her home and is very active. She delights very much in having her many friends, relatives and neighbors call on her and she is pleased when she can serve them with a cup of coffee and a couple of her favorite home-made ginger cookies. She is a life long member of the Ebenezer Reformed church. Despite her advanced age she reads her Bible daily together with church papers and daily newspaper. She now makes her home one-half mile from where she was born in a log cabin. Her husband, A. Elferink died 37 years ago and six months later a son, Henry, also passed away. She is now living with her two oldest sons, Gerrit and Albert Elferink, who have been her constant companions all these years. The other children are Mrs. M. Wabeke, Mrs. Henry Kooijers and Herman Elferink.

Gerrit Dogger is a step-daughter of Mrs. Elferink and her four children are the latter's step-grandchildren. There also are two great-grandchildren.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The annual expenditure for City poor (now called Welfare) for the year 1885 and 1887 was $661.50. This was for 52 weeks. Those on the relief were mostly old widowed ladies.

Dame rumor says that a prominent business man of this city, who lost his wife some years ago, will shortly be married to a widow residing here. Note: It appears we will have to notice closely future file copies to see whether the "dame" and the rumor "came through."

If the marriage of Anarchist Spies to a Dutch girl should take place it would indicate that it is but a step from the altar to the halter. Note:—Spies was hung with five other anarchists for the murder of a dozen policemen during the "Hay Market" riot at Chicago. At that time the gang threw a bomb in a group of officers who were adding to stem the riot in Haymarket Square. In the square the monument of a police officer stood for years on the spot where 50 years ago several were blown to bits while they were on duty.

Wacker Drive was built 10 years ago. Haymarket Square was done away with and the statue of the policeman in stone was moved elsewhere. The Dutch girl spoken of was a young and wealthy heiress of 20 and the News at that time gave several columns on this strange love affair. The wheels of justice were even then working tremendously slow. It was two years after the riot that four of the bomb throwers were hanged, namely, August Spies, Louis Engler, Adolph Fisher and A. R. Parsons. Louis Lingg, supposed brains of the gang and maker of the bomb, committed suicide by snapping his teeth on a cartridge and thus his head was blown off while he was in his cell. Chief Van Ry of the Holland police force, was then a sailor on the "Waters" a schooner from this port. Frank says the sailing vessel was tied up near Rush Street bridge which was not far from the Haymarket. He states that he heard the bombs explode and saw the commotion. He said feeling rather high against the anarchists at that time.

On Monday, Dave Blom and Harry Nies again started to fish carp in Pine Creek Bay, after receiving a permit from the state. Deputy Game Warden Cornell Dornbos will supervise the fishing.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Rev. J. Mokma, Pastor of the Christian Reformed Church at Overisel three years, has accepted a call extended to him by the Christian Reformed Church at Munster, Indiana.

Born at Zeeland, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maatman; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vandervorst; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John T. Vandenberg; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Rosema; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Elenbaas.

R. De Vries, who for 45 years conducted a repair and blacksmith shop at Drenthe, sold the shop and building to A. Bredeweg for $1400. Mr. De Vries is 72 years old and as his assistant he had H. Telgenhof to shoe the horses. Note:—That was about the time automobiles began rolling and undoubtedly this has turned into a garage long since.

The Holland interurban will go back to summer running time after March 15, with hourly trains to Grand Rapids and hourly trains back, when June 1, there will be a half hour service to and from Grand Rapids and an hourly service to and from Saugatuck. Note:—That was real service twenty-five years ago. Miss one later another was available. We all remember, too, when Charlie Floyd had the theatre cars all waiting at Grand Rapids until all shows were over.

The county roads were in poor condition because of the snow storm and for that reason Tony Kuite, mail carrier on Route 8, was delayed when his horse, when stepping in a deep snow bank, in some way cut the artery of the foreleg. Note:—It is apparent that twenty-five years ago rural carriers were not yet provided with automobiles.

It is suggested that February 29, leap year, be made a legal holiday. The plan has the hearty approval of every school boy and girl in Holland. That would mean an extra holiday every four years.

John Henry Boeve of Fillmore lost a valuable horse. The animal had been kicked by another horse. Mr. Boeve was compelled to shoot the equine.

Conductor William F. Yonker, who was burned in the wreck on the Pere Marquette Railroad at Bangor, south of Holland, died. He was the son of Dr. Fred Yonker of this city and he is survived by a widow, a three-year old child and two sisters, all living in Holland. The caboose of the freight, which had shortly before passed through Holland, was partially turned over in the wreck, which was a head-on collision between two freight trains. It overturned an oil lamp and set fire to the tail-end car in which Yonker was sleeping. Stunned, he was hauled out of the car, but he was so severely burned and overcome by smoke and gas that death followed. The funeral was held from Dr. Yonker's home on the corner of 13th St. and Pine Ave., Holland.

John VanderSluis, the Holland fisherman, as well as a merchant, had a narrow escape from complete "dunking" last Friday, while angling through the ice on Black Lake. His extreme length was the only thing that saved him and fortunately he touched bottom before his head went under.

Joe Kooiker, local jeweler, sold six building lots in Zeeland.

Thursday three residents of Zeeland celebrated their birthday anniversaries. D. Wiersma did so for the fourteenth time in her life though she was 60 years old; Mrs. John Schippers was 40 years old and it was the ninth time she was able to celebrate the event. G. J. Nykamp, age 56, celebrated his birthday anniversary just thirteen weeks. The events of these leap year births were commemorated with three parties at the respective homes of those who were born on February 29.

Wietse Douma gave a phonograph concert at the North Holland school. Note: Today a concert of that sort wouldn't go over very big, although at that time, the item says, the school was crowded.

Dena Busses and John H. Overweg were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Busses, in this city.

Chaplain James Ossewaarde of the Philippine Islands is on his way to Zeeland to join Mrs. Ossewaarde. Note:—For many years Mr. Ossewaarde was Chaplain in the United States army. He remained on the islands for some time and was also stationed at San Francisco for a time. He was a graduate from Hope College Seminary and was a Zeeland boy. Mr. Ossewaarde died while Chaplain of the Federal prison on the Island of Alcatraz in Golden Gate Harbor. Today the nation's worst offenders are sent to that island. Al Capone, possibly the most publicized criminal in the United States, is confined there. Mr. Ossewaarde passed shortly after the real Armistice Day, ending the World War, in 1919 on the last day of the year. Mrs. Ossewaarde is today living in this city on West 13th St.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

On Monday, Dave Blom and Harry Nies again started to fish carp in Pine Creek Bay, after receiving a permit from the state. Deputy Game Warden Cornell Dornbos will supervise the fishing.

Henry Winters, cashier in the Peoples State Bank, left Saturday afternoon for Florida where he expects to spend a week or two on a long deferred vacation. From Florida Henry contemplates visiting Cuba.

The following election inspectors were chosen to function at the coming Primary Election: 1st ward, Jacob Lokker; 2nd ward, Egbert Beekman; 3rd ward, Herman Mepelink; 4th ward, Gerrit Wolman; 5th ward, Fritz Yonkman; 6th ward, Adrian Kouw.

Mayor E. P. Stephan, being away on a vacation trip to California, Mayor pro-tem, Frank Brieve, presided over the council meeting Wednesday evening. Frank is the alderman from the second ward. Note: Mr. Brieve passed away some six years ago. He was held in high esteem by citizens in all walks of life.

Adrian Van Putten and Edgar Landwehr have returned from a three weeks' trip to Cuba by the way of Florida. It was rather unusual to see a coat of tan at this season of the year, but both young men have it all ready for next summer.

The Graafschap church, which was the cause of quite a legal battle some years ago when the church building was literally moved down the hill from that "dorpje" to Central Park, is again in print. Only matters are much more tranquil. The contention then was that more members could be secured at Central Park and Graafschap folks wouldn't have far to go anyway; but the Graafschappers stated that their village was the ideal place to have the church remain. In the end it was moved and is known as the Central Park Reformed church. Rev. Paul Hinkamp of Hope College will remain in charge for three months. It appears that the congregation is growing. Last Sunday members participated in communion service and it was a pleasing sight to see seven young ladies and five young men partake of the "Lord's Supper" after confession of faith. The following participated: Misses Matilda DeWitt, Marlon Harkema, Dorothy Stroop, Evelyn Sundstrom, Lottie Teunink, Bertha Zeedyk, Evelyn Velden; Messrs. Arthur Neerkin, Richard Harkema, Laverne Sandy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeWitt and children of Second Reformed church, Zeeland, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Velden of Grace Reformed church of Grand Rapids brought membership letters from their respective churches. Luke Lagers and Gerrit Heneveld are president and clerk of the church. Note: Rev. Fred Van Dyke is now the popular pastor.

Miss Maxine McBride is the young lady who will represent her Alma Mater at the State Oratorical contest to be held at Alma. Hope will be strongly represented. Miss McBride will have as her subject, "Backgrounds." She is a member of the Junior Class at Hope. Note:—Today Miss McBride is a writer of note and her contributions of fiction are found in the leading magazines of the nation. She is the daughter of At. and Mrs. Charles McBride of Holland. For several years she has made her home in the East and has been on the staffs of the leading metropolitan newspapers.

Indian Names Explained by Allegan Paper

ALLEGAN EDITOR GIVES "BILL" CONNELLY SOME INTERESTING INDIAN HISTORY

Edwy C. Reid, editor of the Allegan Gazette, in his publication, tells some Allegan Indian history that cleared up in the mind of Wm. Connelly, director of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, just how Indian names dovetail in that neck of the woods. Mr. Connelly, when he gave his talk before 200 guests, suggested among other things the building of an Indian Village on Allegan's new lake of six by one mile, created by the new power dam. Mr. Connelly in his talk admitted that he was in doubt as to the meaning of the Indian name Allegan and suggested that the meaning might play an important part in the "Red-man's Village," if such an attraction were built.

However, Edwy Reid, a newspaperman in Allegan for over 60 years and who is 84 years old, knows everything, as this relates to Allegan county, and he, in the Gazette, puts William of Holland right on the history of the Indian tribes of our neighboring county in the south for the past century.

Mr. Connelly gave Allegan folks some very excellent suggestions in the way of starting the new resort right insofar as building codes and fire protections are concerned, pointing to other resorts and its fire losses, where distances between buildings was not observed and followed. Mr. Reid explained. As to the origin of Allegan's Indian name, Reid states as follows:

"Mr. Connelly admits he is somewhat confused as to the meaning of the words Allegan and Kalamazoo, the latter as applied to the river. He thought Allegan might have been a derivation from Algonquin, but is not the fact. After some years of 'digging' the writer believes he knows the origin of both names. Allegan is slightly abbreviated from Allegany which was the name of a small tribe at headwaters of the Allegheny river in western Pennsylvania near New York state; and from thence came some of the first men to call the Allegany were members of the famous Six Nations of New York; but if so they were a sort of sub-tribe. None of the Six Nations bore that name.

"Mr. Connelly thinks Kalamazoo means 'boiling kettle' and that comes pretty close to the fact. The real translation is 'river that boils like a pot.' This may come from the great boiling spring where the river begins in Hillsdale county; or from the fact that in its rapid current seem to boil upward constantly.

"The Indians of this county and vicinity were Pottawatomies, every one of them, and not Allegany. Let it be said, too, that they were most peaceful people. There never was even the slightest trouble with them. A lot of them did journey to Detroit to help in Pontiac's siege of Detroit, but they soon returned taking no part and lapsed into their habitual peacefulness in Allegan county."

FRANKLIN "CAPPY" CAPPON IS GUEST SPEAKER IN THIS CITY

More than 125 persons attended the Lions club honor banquet Wednesday evening for the Hope College basketball team, at which Coach Franklin Cappon of University of Michigan was the principal speaker. Guests besides the team coach were Coach M. L. Hinga, Faculty Athletic Manager E. P. McLean, Director Jack Scholten, Dr. Wynand Wichers, president of the college, and DeGay Ernest, college advocate of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic association.

The dinner was served in the Hope Church parlors last evening at 6:30 o'clock and the highlight, naturally, was "Cappy" Cappon, assistant athletic director and coach of the basketball team at Michigan, Ann Arbor.

"Cappy" will be remembered, was Holland's athletic star in most every game, whether that be football, basketball or baseball; and he was the best in the football lineup when he was a student at Ann Arbor.

Cappon was introduced by J. J. Riemersma, principal of Holland High School, who introduced him as "the flying Dutchman." Mr. Riemersma is a brother-in-law of "Cappy."

Cappon recalled the days when he first had contact with Hope college athletic teams. "I used to sit in knee pants on the porch at Carnegie gym, waiting to shoot baskets at the intermission of a Hope ball game," he said.

In those days athletics were run by the students, and basketball is "the one game that has kept going." For a while Hope was feared as a basketball school, and the teams played games with M.A.C. the Illinois Athletic club and the Detroit Athletic club.

"George Veenker once got four baskets the first half against the Detroit team, and one of their players asked him if he wasn't a little hot on the hoop."

"George agreed, and the other player said, 'do you know I have seven? Remember you only have to score one if you hold your opponent scoreless.'"

Cappon recalled this incident, and said that he had learned a lot of basketball from Veenker before he went to high school. Since those days, Cappon declared, he has been close to Hope college.

"This winter I saw Hope play Michigan State, and Van Alstyne greeted me saying that I was the first coach to compliment him by scouting his games. I had to spoil it all for him, because I had come to see Hope."

In reminiscing over high school

ACTION COMES FROM GRAND HAVEN BRAWL

The Guerber murder trial has led to a civil suit. Also a damage suit brought by Edward Van Hall against Robert O. Roberts, proprietor of the tavern, is a sequel to the stabbing. Edward Van Hall is the other brother who was stabbed but not fatally so. The license of "Bob's Place" was revoked some time ago.

A pair of pants with alleged knife holes in them were admitted in evidence by Judge Miles over the objection of the defense. Sitting beside Guerber was his foster father, Charles R. Guerber, of Toledo, Ohio, who said he adopted Guerber when he was six years old.

TELLINGS ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. William Telling of this city entertained a group of friends with a house party over the week end at "Sunset Terrace" on Macatawa drive. This is the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Telling.

The guests were largely from Grand Rapids and included Mr. and Mrs. W. Karl Schmidt, Jr.; Miss Jane Collier; Miss Phyllis Crabb; Mr. Conrad Thornquist; and John Telling, Jr.

A total of 400 employees of the Hart and Cooley Manufacturing Co. is affected by the wage adjustment that will add $50,000 to the annual payroll of the office and factory employees. Announcement of the adjustment was made, Thursday, by officials of the company. In addition, a standard working week of 50 hours is being established for the factory employees. Pay at the rate of time and a half will be paid for any work in excess of the 50 hours. It was pointed out that the adjustment is based on base rates and does not cover any certain percentage.

A meeting of the Virginia Park Woman's Club which was to be held Wednesday at Harrington's school has been postponed until next week.

Miss Audrey Bouwman, who will become the bride of Henry Menken in April, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower Friday evening given by Mrs. H. J. Bouwman, Mrs. John Bussies, Mrs. Nelson Boeve and Mrs. Foster Bouwman at the John Bussies residence. Games furnished entertainment and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Fred Kolenbrander, Miss Julia Wiersma and Miss Bouwman. A two-course lunch was served.

The National Biscuit Co. on East 8th St., are replacing floors in their factory at cost of $50,000. There have been many building and repair permits granted lately, which all means, collectively, a great deal more work for the carpenter and the laboring man. FARMERS CAME TO HOLLAND 250 IN NUMBER

Ottawa and Allegan farmers, 250 strong, met in Holland High School Auditorium last Saturday to discuss electrification on a co-operative basis. It was decided at this meeting to make surveys of the two counties to determine the number of farmers who have homes without electricity. If the surveys disclose that a co-operative is feasible maps will be compiled, projects written and all submitted to the REA at Washington.

Claude Van Dyke, farmer of Allendale, acted as chairman of the mass meeting. Redmond M. Burr, president of the Mich. Electrification Rural Association and O. J. Falkenwald, Federal Project Adviser, discussed the co-operative plan in detail. Mr. Gallagher, representative of the Consumers Power Co., explained details of the utility plan. Farmers were thus able to make comparisons.

At the conclusion of all discussion farmers voted to proceed with the co-operative plan. Township committees were appointed to take charge of survey work in the various townships. Names of Ottawa committee members are:

Allendale, Claude Van Dyke; Blenden, Roy Westveldt; Crocker, Emil Lindberg; Georgetown, C. J. Moss; Grand Haven, Herman Berg; Holland, G. Bosch; Olive, G. De Witt; Park, G. Dryer; Polkton, Frank Vanderveen; Port Sheldon, Abe Anys; Robinson, Art. Brems; Wright, John Dietrich; Zeeland, T. DeJongh.

Each assistant committeeman will call upon 10 farm homes with questionnaires, distributed by County Agent Arnold, which concern the formation of a co-operative group in the two counties. This survey will determine how many farm homes are without electricity and how many desire to join the movement.

All records are to be turned in at the agricultural agent's office, March 11. Mr. Falkenwald, committeeman and the agricultural agent will then map the county and write up the project. Two previous surveys of the county were made in 1936. However, for several reasons, no co-operative resulted. At present time all obstructions to organization of a co-operative have been eliminated. Money for such co-operatives is available providing the project submitted is approved. In case the project is approved work will start within six months.

MANY CASES OF SCARLET FEVER BUT NO DEATHS

Contagious disease cases have continued at about the same rate since the first of the year, with reference to scarlet fever and whooping cough. Scarlet fever has occurred at the rate of about one case a day. At present there are 17 cases in quarantine. There have been 97 cases since January 1. No deaths have occurred, but many of the cases have been severe, followed by abscesses in the glands of the neck.

At present there are 14 cases of whooping cough. There have been 93 cases since January 1 with at least two deaths reported.

There are a few cases of measles and mumps, the outbreaks being localized to a few school districts.

Chickpox is still quite widespread with 16 cases at present, and 83 cases since the first of January.

There has been no diphtheria reported in Ottawa County but at present 67 cases have occurred since January 1 in the State.

There have been more cases of scarlet fever this year than there have been since the organization of the Health Department in 1931. Scarlet fever and whooping cough are still present to such an extent that it is necessary to warn the public regarding the importance of prompt reporting of cases and strict isolation of cases as well as actual cases, and that all of them be under supervision of the physician and the Health Department.

TO PRESENT "THE MILESTONE" HERE

The plot of the play concerns Sirah, a daughter of a wealthy Pharisee, who befriends the leper, bringing him food and wine. One night her father discovers that on one of the visits she has found another attraction, Claudius, a Roman soldier, who also makes these nightly visits. The scene is laid on the rocky hillside overlooking Jerusalem at the time of the ministry of Jesus.

Theodore Boot takes the part of Father Time and Henry Kleinhelk portrays Death. A crippled leper is played by James Terkeurst and Claudius, a Roman soldier, is taken by George Esenburch. Peter Veenstra takes the part of Tirus, a friend of Claudius. Dorothya Van Saun appears as Sirah's daughter, a wealthy Pharisee. Clarine Elenbaas is her servant, Tamar, and Maurice Dale Schepers is a child of the lepers. The part of Sirah's father is taken by Malcolm Barlow and his servants are Harold Ringholdus and James Terkeurst.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

March 14, 1937.
Jesus Praying for His Disciples.
John 16:5-7; John 17:14-26.

Henry Geerlings

Conscious of the fact that He was going back to heaven and that His disciples would be alone in a friendly and very antagonistic world, Jesus took occasion both to warn and encourage them. The power of darkness would break loose when He would take His departure. The twelve had depended on Him so much that they could hardly realize what they would have to face when He was no longer with them. But even before the blows fell He gave them an idea of the Satanic hatred that would be heaped upon them.

Jesus expressed surprise that the disciples were asking questions that were calculated to fill their hearts with sorrow. He wondered why they did not turn to the joyful side of His going away and inquire where He was going, what His glory would be like, and what the nature of the home he intended to prepare for them. They were thinking too much of themselves, as well as too much of the present. It is true that there were the joyful elements in what He said, but the joyful elements also, and from these latter they seemed disposed to turn away.

Jesus proceeds to instruct them regarding the provision He was making to meet all their needs after He had returned to His Father. Jesus had completed His work, or was about to do so; but instead of leaving them alone upon His retirement He would send upon them the Holy Spirit who would carry on the work Jesus had accomplished. The subjective work of the Spirit depended on the completion of the objective work of Christ. If it is true that the Holy Spirit could not have done the work of Christ, it is also true that Christ could not do the work of the Holy Spirit.

Two things happened when Jesus gave the world of life to the disciples—First, they ceased to be identified with this sinful world in that they became members of the kingdom of God; and second, the world hated them, even as it hated Jesus, for the reason that He and they did not agree with the world.

It was not the thought of Jesus that the disciples should at this time accompany Him to the heavenly home. Instead, they were to be His representatives here on the earth. They were to carry on the work He had begun. They were to grow in character as they preached the gospel to others and sought to overcome the evil that was in the world. It will be seen that the world was in use here in several senses. In verse 14, it is used in the sense of sin and wickedness, while in verse 15 it is used in the sense of the earth. They were not to be taken away from the earth and from their place in it.

Jesus did not mean to say that His disciples were perfect, but that they had in them that principle of life which made them strangely like Himself. In that sense they were no more given over to the evil of the world than He was. Satan could not claim them because He claimed them. They had ceased to be the children of the world and had become the children of God.

At the same time Jesus realized that they had to become more and more separated from worldly practices, and from the spirit of those who were the children of Satan. To sanctify means to set apart and to consecrate. As they came to know more of God's truth they would give themselves more devotedly to Jesus and His work. When He spoke of the truth He had in mind the Word of God. It is by means of this Word that we become less worldly and more and more Christlike.

In like manner Jesus sent His disciples into the world. As He came to preach the gospel, to show men the error of their way, and to lead them into the kingdom, even so did He give the disciples to understand that their mission here was precisely the same. They had been with Him three years, and they were acquainted with His message, His spirit, and His method. They were to do as He had done.

Not only did He think of the first disciples, but also of their converts, and of the converts of the converts. His prayer was for all believers, of all time, of all nations. The only way the men of the world had of believing on Jesus was through the word the disciples received from His lips. As the church extends, those who believe will differ in nationality, language, culture, and age; but the Lord prays that in spite of these natural and outward differences they shall be one. This unity is the unity of faith in the truth more than outward unity. As a matter of fact there is but one church, which is the Holy Christian Church. The unity of the believers is to be like the unity of the Father with the Son, a vital unity. Our oneness is not alone with one another, but with the Father and the Son also. This unity will convince the world of the reality of the religion of Jesus. The glory of which Christ speaks is to be what He was and what He did—His Love, His Work, His Nature, His Success, these He gave to His own, and as they grew nearer to Him through doing and being what He intended, they would grow nearer to one another and into that unity for which He prayed. It seems Jesus could not think of His person and message being widely received in the world unless those who professed His name were united in the bond of a common faith and love and service. Perfection of the individual comes through union with Christ, but perfection of the group is realized also through the union of individual with individual. The world does not get a very good idea of the religion of Jesus if Christians disown one another and decline all opportunities of fellowship.

Murderer Gets Sentence From Judge F. T. Miles

cause the evidence showed you were guilty.

"Put on your behalf it is urged that Mr. Van Hall had been drinking, and that he was killed as a result of a brawl. It seems to be overlooked that you had been drinking, and that the only brawl was one of your creation. After you struck the two women in their faces and talked about knifing Ed Van Hall, you were struck by both Ed Van Hall and Sam Ennenga. However, you had not the slightest reason to believe that either of these men were armed, and you provoked their assault by first striking the women; this affords you no excuse whatever. And as to Arthur Van Hall, the man you killed, he probably was intoxicated; but as he had not interfered with you in any way, nor even spoken to you, this affords no excuse. It has been said that you did not intend to kill Arthur; that he got in your way while you were trying to kill his brother Ed and Sam Ennenga; but this does not lessen the crime, as you had no provocation to make a deadly assault on anyone.

The law has been very kind to you; it has assumed your innocence until your guilt was established beyond a reasonable doubt. It has furnished a jury of twelve very fair men, who for four days listened attentively to every word of the testimony; you were furnished with an able and enthusiastic lawyer to assist in your defense, and at public expense. The county has spent probably more than four hundred dollars in its effort to bring every shred of testimony bearing on the facts before the jury.

The law will continue to be kind to you; instead of taking your life as would be done in many of our states, and in most of the foreign countries, you will be restrained at public expense for your own good, and the good of the community. An attempt will be made to educate and reform you; you will be given every attention, medically and morally, that science and good will can afford, in an attempt to make some portion of your life useful to society. If you remain in prison during the term to which you are now being sentenced, it will be at an expense to the people of this state of more than $5,000. The people are really not punishing you, but are trying to assist you, and in so doing, they are punishing themselves. This ought to make you appreciative.

"It is not alone the damage you have done here in Grand Haven and in this county that ought to make you pause and think; the kindly Christian people who adopted you and hoped to make a good man of you, are suffering more right now than you are.

"The way you have treated your wife and the wrong that you have done to some of the girls of Grand Haven and other removed places, necessitates time far removed from society to give you a chance to feel the remorse that you ought to and help you to an understanding of the true meaning of life.

"We hope that your life and this last rash act of yours may be of some value to society. It has called attention to the fact that for the license fee of one hundred dollars, permission was given to run a place like that where this occurred; and that many other places of like character may any day have the same thing repeated. Every one must understand by this time that the return of the saloon was an unmitigated evil. Of course no one thought when they were being urged to return licensed liquor, that places such as this would exist at all, and certainly, no one expected that on holidays and Sundays, men, women, and children would be going in these places until morning, as the evidence shows was happening here and at other places. Sunday was never instituted for any such purpose, and I hope that you have hastened the day when the Sabbath may be used for a different purpose than the testimony in this case has indicated.

"Another thing that has shocked this court in this case is the fact that so many fine appearing girls are being led from the high ideals of the great mass of people in Grand Haven by the attractions of a sailor's uniform; they cannot comprehend the possible disease lurking beneath it. Your case ought to be an unforgettable lesson to such girls. The siren voices of ancient mythology could hardly have been more fatal to the lives of sailors than has been your uniform to the moral character of some of our girls.

"In spite of your past life and the crime you have now committed, you are not to be left without hope; but your hope must be in a changed life and a changed attitude. You will be sent where your future will be pretty largely in your own hands. You will be obliged to live a regular life; keep regular hours; do regular work; be punished for your shortcomings, and rewarded for your honest merit.

"It is the sentence of this court that you be imprisoned at hard labor in the Southern Michigan Prison for a minimum term of fifteen years and a maximum term of twenty-five years without recommendation."

GUERBER FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER BY JURY IN HOUR

Two Holland Men on Jury; Judge Miles Told Jury to Ignore Charge of First Degree Murder

Charles R. Guerber, age 24, former fireman on the coast guard cutter Escanaba, was found guilty in circuit court of the second degree murder of Arthur Van Hall, after a four day trial at the Ottawa county court house before Judge Fred T. Miles of Holland.

According to the statutes the penalty carries a life sentence or any number of years which the judge may mete out.

When the verdict was rendered by the foreman, George Leggett, Coopersville, the defendant Guerber hardly moved from the position of calm repose which he has exhibited all during the four days' trial. His father seated next to him had his hand on his boy's shoulder, the only sign of emotion which has been shown since he took his stand beside his foster son whom he adopted when six years old. The mother has not been at Grand Haven due to illness although she has visited her son during the two months he has been confined in the jail.

The case was given to the jury at 3:25 p. m. and in one hour and ten minutes the jury signaled it was ready to render a verdict. Many people, who had attended the trial and heard the arguments and the judge's charge, remained in the court house during the hour and 10 minutes that the jury deliberated.

As the bell rang from the jury room they filed back. Judge Miles, the attorneys and the defendant and his father took their places and there was absolute silence as the clerk, William Wilds, asked the foreman for the verdict.

Three Ballots Were Taken It was learned later from one of the jurors that there were but three ballots. The first, an informal one, stood 11 for second degree murder and one for manslaughter; the second stood the same and the third stood 12 for second degree.

In his charge to the jury Judge Fred T. Miles instructed the jury to disregard the verdict of first degree murder. He explained that the first degree implied malice aforethought and a planned action to take life. There was no testimony to support such a verdict, he stated.

He outlined what second degree murder was, under the law, and also how it differed from manslaughter. He instructed the jury to disregard any consideration of the defendant's condition at the time of the affray.

Judge Miles pointed out that the burden of proof is always upon the people and a man is innocent until proven guilty. He said that the jury must not believe that because the witness did not take the stand that he was injuring his cause. A man has a right to remain silent or testify as he chooses, he pointed out.

Whether Guerber had provoked the quarrel at Bob's place on Dec. 20 and thus stirred up the fights which ensued, he said, was one of the points for the jury to determine.

Prosecutor John Dethmers asked for second degree murder or manslaughter, basing the claim on testimony showing that Guerber admitted slashing a man, that the knife with fresh blood on it was found in his possession the night of the affray, and that he engaged in a fight at Bob's restaurant where he was seen before the fight with a knife.

Howard Fant, attorney for Guerber, asked Judge Miles to order the jury to return a verdict of acquittal as he contended the prosecution had failed to show that at any time during the affray had Guerber been within reaching distance of Arthur Van Hall. He said also that Guerber acted in self defense, having been struck so that he was bleeding badly at the time and whatever he did was an act of self defense. Judge Miles denied the motion. Fant claimed that the blood found on the knife submitted as evidence was the sailor's own as the result of the injuries he received. He further claimed that the testimony of Mrs. Edward Van Hall that she heard her husband say "I'm stabbed" and Arthur Van Hall saying "They got me too," came almost simultaneously and that they were not seen near together during the fight.

The trial attracted large crowds to the court room each day of the trial which began Tuesday morning at 9 a. m. There were 15 witnesses for the prosecution and about eight for the defense. The defense claimed that Guerber did not wield the knife that killed Arthur Van Hall, but in the event that he did so, it was in self defense or accidental and unintentional.

The jury was composed of the following: Walter Bleas, Robin

THE BEET GROWERS most Important EQUIPMENT!

Several years ago a successful farmer asked a group of men this question: "What is the farmer's most important piece of equipment?"

The answers varies. Some said the reaper, some the plow.

But to all the wise old farmer shook his head. "It's not a machine at all"—he said. "It's pencil and paper!" His success, he explained, was largely due to advance planning of his work.

Definite planning, in advance, can make you the most money. Put down in black and white a definite cropping system. Plan your farm and work out a systematic rotation, always including a planting of Sugar Beets every year.

Any successful business is based on carefully laid plans and procedure.

Sugar Beets will make you the most money over a period of years.

Sugar Beets have made farmers more money during the last 5 years than any other major cultivated crop.

Acre yield and price levels for Sugar Beets are more constant than that of any major cultivated crop.

You can always market all the Beets you grow.

Sit down this evening. Take your pencil and paper. Figure out right now a plan of Sugar Beet planting for 1937.

For bigger profits grow Sugar Beets every year!

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Olive returned Friday morning from a vacation of several weeks in Miami, Fla. A pretty postal card to the editor from "Bill" shortly before coming home, he regrets that we northerners are shivering in cold and wintry blasts while he was sunning on the Miami Beaches. To his surprise when he rolled into Holland, Friday he found spring, budding trees, robins and the most beautiful Spring weather which has continued now for about 10 days. A benediction on the most "summery" winter ever known in this section. Holland folks need no pity this winter—but last—well that was something else again.

MICHIGAN BEET GROWERS WOULD DRAW MAXIMUM PAYMENTS UNDER PLAN

Virtually all the beet sugar farmers of Michigan should be eligible to receive benefit payments of 70 cents per 100 pounds of sugar content, the highest rate scale to be proposed in the new administration-sponsored sugar bill, it was stated at Washington, D. C., Tuesday. This compares with a rate of 12½ cents under the soil conservation act.

This sugar bill, re-enacting the quota provisions of the Jones-Costigan act, and proposing a tax of three-fourths cent a pound on sugar provides a sliding scale of benefit payments for compliance with the act, the amount of the payments becoming smaller as the farm is larger.

On the first 250 tons the rate is 70 cents per 100 pounds. From production of from 250 tons to 30,000 tons, the benefit payment is scaled downward, reaching only 30 cents per 100 pounds for individual production in excess of 30,000 tons. Inasmuch as Michigan sugar beets are produced almost entirely by relatively small growers, the farmers of this state will in nearly all cases be eligible for the maximum benefit rate.

Effective April 1.
The sugar tax will not be called a "processing tax" as under the old AAA, but instead will be known as an "excise tax" to disassociate it from the outdated levy. The tax will become effective April 1, indicating the administration expects prompt congressional action on its bill.

Another feature embodied in the bill is it is understood, gives broad discretion in altering the fixed quotas. Although quotas closely similar to those prevailing in 1935 agriculture will be authorized "to open the plug" of either imports or domestic quotas to prevent a possible shortage and rise in price of sugar.

The bill also allots to Florida and Louisiana can producers 100,000 tons of the non-duty free Philippine quota.—G. R. Press.

ALLEGAN COUNTY NEWS

The Union school at Ganges, was awarded second place for selling more Christmas seals than any other rural school enrollment in Allegan county, according to a report from the Michigan Tuberculosis association. Grace Dornan is the teacher who had charge of the sale there. Beechdale school was first. "Jimmy" Lamb son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lamb, was operated on at Douglas hospital for appendicitis.

About 280 miles of roads are included in the project in Allegan county, distributed by townships, approximately as follows: Allegan, Ganges, 10 miles each; Casco, Cheshire, Clyde, Dorris, Leighton, Monterey, 12 miles each; Heath, Lee, Martin, Otsego, Wayland, 13 miles each; Laketown, Trowbridge, Valley, 11 miles each; Hopkins, Overisel, each 8; Salem, Watson, each 17; Fillmore, 7; Manlius, 14; Saugatuck, 9.

Mrs. Ida Weed, and Mrs. Ben Harris of Holland, with Mrs. S. M. Thomsen, Mrs. S. E. Hanson of New Richmond, drove to Hartford Monday to call on Mrs. F. Appleton, it being the latter's birthday.

John H. Crane, 75, and his wife, 74, observed their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary this week. Among the guests were Mrs. Cranes sister, Miss Daisy Reeve of Grand Rapids, and a daughter Mrs. Ethel Cole of Chicago, and three sons, Blakelee, Bernath and W. S. Crane, all of Fennville. Crane is identified with the Old State bank, the Fennville Hardware Co. and the Fruit exchange. Mrs. Crane, the first white child born within the village limits, is a granddaughter of Elam Fenn, for whom Fennville was named.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harris of New Richmond, entertained relatives from Holland in honor of Mrs. Harris' birthday. Included among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harris and daughter Ida; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shaughway and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Batema.

Fennville folks have done fine work in behalf of the "Flood Sufferers." First they sent $500 to the Red Cross which was augmented by $200 more—we say that is wonderful. Much credit for Fennville's fine showing is due to the efficient Red Cross solicitors: Mrs. Jas. Michen, Mrs. Clyde McNutt, Mrs. Lionel E. Becker, Mrs. Maurice Martin, Mrs. Donald Dickinson and Mrs. Lawrence Wade. Several Fennvilleites in Florida mailed their contributions to the home chairman, which was greatly appreciated.

A pretty wedding took place, last Friday afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hendricks of Zeeland, when their daughter, Alta Caroline, Grand Rapids, became the bride of Alvin V. Tanis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Tanis of Zeeland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Benjamin Hoffman.

Mrs. Almo Hendricks played the wedding march and Mrs. M. De Jonge and Miss Zelma Hendricks sang. The bride wore an imported French lace gown fashioned on princess lines. MR. ALBERT H. MORRILL

Although the flood is over in the south in the Ohio River district, it is just coming to light—the trials and gigantic undertakings and problems that had to be met. Cincinnati was one of the cities in the wake of the flood and was badly hit.

Cincinnati, too, is the headquarters for the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. and Albert H. Morrill, President of the company was named Flood Food Administrator for his own city, Cincinnati, by City Manager, C. A. Dykstra, who by the way, is a Hollander and related to John S. Dykstra of Holland.

The system, put on by Mr. Morrill through the aid of the newspapers and the radio, was to prevent a food shortage and to prevent wild buying of foodstuffs by individuals, in which case some would have plenty and some would have nothing. This wild buying was already in progress when Mr. Morrill took hold. He quickly called in all the grocers, meat dealers, retailers, independent grocers' Associations, Independent Meat Dealers' Associations, packers, chain stores, bakeries and milk men, and they voted enthusiastically, accepting a plan suggested by Mr. Morrill.

Through this arrangement, and from a temporary warehouse in the spacious Music Hall of Cincinnati, the only food center not flooded, all retailers in foods in that city were able to obtain sufficient supplies, excepting meat and some other necessities, but plenty of sustaining food so no one need suffer. It was a co-operation of all food interests in Cincinnati, large and small, independent or otherwise, that brought such a satisfactory solution of what would have been a terrible situation.

When Mr. Morrill had the Cincinnati problems solved, almost overnight, Louisville summoned him and by plane he hurried to that terribly stricken city, where he established a systematic distribution of food in that metropolis. He also co-operated in systematizing food distribution for the Red Cross in Cincinnati, Louisville and other districts harassed by the flood.

Clerk presented several applications for building permits.

Granted subject to approval of City Engineer and Fire Chief.

Clerk presented petition from residents and property owners on W. 20th St. between Maple and Washington Aves. requesting the grading and putting in of cinders on this street, also on Harrison Ave. between 19th and 21st Sts., and on 21st St. between Harrison and Cleveland Aves.

Adopted unanimously.

Clerk presented petition from residents and property owners on W. 20th St. between Maple and Washington Aves. requesting the grading and putting in of cinders on this street, also on Harrison Ave. between 19th and 21st Sts., and on 21st St. between Harrison and Cleveland Aves.

Reports of Standing Committees

The Ways and Means Committee gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the Council they will introduce an Ordinance known as the Annual Appropriation Bill. Street Committee reported that the transit now being used by the City Engineer is very badly worn, and that the cost of repairing it would be approximately $85.00. Committee further reported that the present instrument is about 30 years old, and inasmuch as a new modern instrument can be purchased for not to exceed $300.00, it was recommended that the Committee that a new instrument be purchased instead of repairing the old one.

Adopted.

Claims and Accounts Committee reported having examined claims in the amount of $3,414.90.

Allowed.

Civic Improvement Committee reported having received complaints in regard to the unsightly condition of the vacant lot on the n. e. corner of College Ave. and 10th St., known as the former "Godfrey" property.

It was the recommendation that this matter be referred to the City Atty so that he may contact the owner and have the property properly cleaned up.

Adopted.

Reports of Special Committees

Mayor Geerlings reported that he had received several complaints relative to the dangerous corner at the intersection of M-21 and E. 8th St., where M-21 makes a turn for Grand Rapids. This is at the corner where the Vander Berg Bros. Oil Co. has their service station. Mayor Geerlings stated that at night this is a very dark corner and motorists coming into the City from the east often fail to notice that there is a turn in the road at this point. The Mayor further stated that this is located outside the City limits. However, he felt that the City should concern itself by seeing that there is more light at this corner.

Matter referred to the City Atty. with the recommendation that he take this matter up with the authorities of Holland Township to see if they will not install a street light at this corner.

Clerk reported that if there were no objections, the canvass of the vote in the City at the Primary and Special elections held on March 1, 1937, which in accordance with the Charter is required to be made on the Thursday following election, could be taken up at this time.

On motion of Ald. Prins, it was so ordered by unanimous vote.

Adopted.

Clerk reported recommending the transfer from the General Fund to the several Operating funds, Interest and Sinking funds, and Special Assessment funds, covering Delinquent tax monies collected during the past year.

Adopted and transfers ordered made.

Clerk presented communication from Jacob Kole, recent poundmaster, objecting to the statements made by Prof. Rolland Shackson regarding the manner in which he conducted the City pound, and also the manner in which he disposed of the dogs. In remarking upon this petition, Ald. Prins stated that it was his understanding that inasmuch as the petition presented by residents objecting to this pound, they were not acting upon the manner in which Mr. Kole conducted his office or the manner in which he disposed of the dogs, but were simply acting upon the fact that a pound is being maintained in a residential district.

Ald. De Cook voiced the same sentiment stating that so far as he was concerned, there was no fault to find with Mr. Kole's conduct of the office.

On motion by Ald. Prins, Mr. Kole was exonerated from any blame so far as the conduct of his office is concerned.

Adopted.

Motions and Resolutions

Ald. Damson reported on behalf of the special committee appointed to look into the establishing of a municipal court and abolishing the office of Justices of the Peace. Mr. Damson stated that they have spent considerable time in looking into the matter and recommended that the Proposition be presented to the people at the next Annual City Election to be held on April 5, 1937.

Mr. Damson then called upon the City Attorney to explain and read the proposed Charter Amendment. City Atty. Parsons stated that they amended only those Sections of the City Charter that referred to the office of Justices of the Peace and abolished that title in the Charter which provides for the appointing of the office of Justice of the Peace, and in place of this title substituted a new one setting up the machinery for establishing a municipal court and the appointment of a municipal judge to serve until the next regular City Election at which time a municipal judge would be elected by the people to serve for a six-year term.

Mr. Parsons also read a communication from Circuit Judge Fred T. Miles endorsing a municipal court. After considerable discussion by Council members, it was moved by Ald. Damson, 2nd by Smith,

That this proposed Charter Amendment be placed on the ballot April 5, 1937, for determination.

Adopted unanimously.

Adopted.

Holland Industrially Going Ahead

Industrial activities are forging ahead in Holland. The Holland Furnace Company has announced to the Chamber of Commerce that due to great expansion of their business they will shortly put in operation their Fourth Street Foundry. This plant was at one time occupied by the Burke Engineering Company. A large crew of men are at work rehabilitating the plant which has been idle about eight years. Modern grinding and cleaning machinery has been ordered. The plant will be used for the production of furnace castings as a supplement to their main foundry and will employ thirty or more hands at moulding, casting, and grinding. The exact time of putting the plant into operation is dependent upon delivery of new machinery and equipment.

Expanding operations are taking place at several other plants in town. The Holland Hitch Company have erected an addition to their Ninth Street plant which practically doubles their floor space. Hart Cooley Manufacturing Company is now constructing another large addition to their plant on east Eighth Street. This is the second addition within a twelve month period and means a further step up in employment. Western Machine Tool Company is extending their plant to the west to take care of a large increase in business. The first carloads of Valencia oranges arrived last week. Bananas are an inexpensive year round fruit most appreciated at this season when fruits in variety are scarce.

Green and lima beans, peas and asparagus are very high. Broccoli is lower while beans, cabbage, carrots and spinach are cheap.
