Search Continues For Body of Man Believed Drowned

Pentwater Youth Victim of Tragedy Near Saugatuck Oval

Saugatuck (Special) — Holland Coast Guardsmen continued today to patrol the icy shores of Lake Michigan in search of the body of a young commercial fisherman, washed off his boat Tuesday noon and presumed drowned.

Victim of the tragedy was Lloyd Horton, 23, Pentwater, who was aboard the fishing tug Alice along with its owner, Ralph Cross, about 50, of Cross Village.

Believing a boat to be useless in search for Horton's body, the Coast Guard sent two men to patrol the icebergs along the shore. They had not found the body at 2 p.m. today.

Meanwhile, Cross was under a doctor's care for possible ill effects due to his part in the drama. The accident occurred at about 12:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Alice was the last of six fishing boats returning to Saugatuck after a morning on the lake. Near the Saugatuck oval, the engine stalled and the two men lost control of the boat.

The heavy sea battered the 38-foot wooden structure against the icebergs, and Horton tried to leap to safety on the floes but missed. Cross successfully made the jump to the icebergs, but failed in his attempts to help Horton from the churning waters.

The battered boat was broken into pieces and quickly sank. After crawling along the ice to the shore, Cross then walked about one mile over the oval road to the "ferry" on the Kalamazoo river and shouted across it to workmen at the Sewers fisheries, who heard him and went to his aid.

The search for Horton continued through most of the afternoon. Fish boxes and other battered pieces of the boat began rising to the surface throughout the afternoon.

The two men had been fishing out of Saugatuck harbor for about four weeks, coming here from Pentwater and Cross Village. The Alice was registered out of Charlevoix harbor.

Cross and his wife occupied an apartment in Saugatuck, and Horton roomed with a local family.

Unlike Saugatuck and Holland where boats went out Tuesday as usual, fishing activity was halted at other lake ports because of the high winds and heavy season. Activity was practically at a standstill at St. Joseph, Grand Haven, Muskegon and other ports.

Horton was rescued from drowning twice before during the winter of 1950. He fell through the ice once while skating and once while fishing on Pentwater lake, but both times was saved by Coast Guardsmen.

Cross is one of seven brothers famed for their fishing exploits on Lake Michigan. His brother, Clyde, rescued 17 men when the Novadock went down near Pentwater in 1940, although two men were killed in the tragedy.

The Horton family arrived in Saugatuck Tuesday night.

Three Accidents Occur in Holland

Three car accidents occurred in Holland city today and Wednesday, two of them caused by slippery streets.

At 8:58 a.m. today, cars driven by Winifred A. Swarthout, Niles, and Bernard J. De Vries, 29, route 4, collided at the six-corner intersection of State, 21st and Central. The right front of the Swarthout car, going south on Central, was damaged to the extent of $200. The right side and rear of the De Vries car, headed north on State, was damaged to the extent of well over $525. De Vries told police his attention had been drawn to a third car on State St.

Three vehicles were involved in an accident at 7:03 a.m. Wednesday at 15th and Van Raalte. The front end of a car driven by Robert Sloothaak, 18, of 1211 Fairbanks, was damaged when it collided with a pickup truck driven by Bront Veenstra, of 272 East 11th St., which in turn hit the standing car of John E. Russell, 29, route 1, which was only slightly damaged. Sloothaak received a ticket for failure to have his car under control and Veenstra for no operator's license.

At 7 a.m. Wednesday, cars driven by Allen Trospier, Jr., 29, of 125 East Ninth St., collided with a car driven by Bradford M. Gwaltney, 29, of 42 East Sixth St., at 13th and Van Raalte. The accident occurred when the Trospier car skidded on the ice while making a left turn. The Gwaltney car was only slightly damaged but the front end of the Trospier car was damaged to the extent of $200. Both cars were headed south on Van Raalte.

Local Man Serves On Ike's Staff

Lt. Col. C. J. Weststrate, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Weststrate, 44 West 17th St., is back on General Dwight Eisenhower's staff in Paris these days as supply officer.

During World War II, "Kelly" Weststrate became Ike's supply aide. When Eisenhower returned to civilian life, Weststrate followed. The local man worked for a while as chief of the supply division for Veterans Administration in the Chicago area and in 1949, began work for Holland Furnace Co., heading the Seattle, Wash., branch.

On New Year's Day, 1951, he received a telephone call asking him to rejoin Ike's staff in Paris. He again donned his uniform and went to Paris where he now deals with supply experts from about a dozen countries.

Weststrate, a graduate of Michigan State college, was drafted in 1939 and served a year at Fort Custer before receiving a commission. Maj. Gen. Mark Clark made his aide at Indiantown Gap, Pa., and shortly after they shipped overseas. He went to England, then Africa and Italy with Gen. Clark. When Clark became a deputy to Eisenhower, Weststrate followed and stayed on with the supreme allied commander's SHAEF headquarters in France and England.

Mrs. Weststrate, the former Marjorie Klompars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klompars, 80 West 14th St., is with her husband in Paris. A son, Jack, 14, is living here with the Klompars family and attending Holland Junior high.

Gardens to Open Holland Display

The New York Botanical garden, in anticipation of the forthcoming visit of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, will open a new show Friday, called "Holland in Tulip Time," where more than 5,000 tulips will bloom in a typically Dutch setting.

Queen Juliana will present to this country an authentic Dutch Carillon, a gift from her people as a token of national gratitude for liberation and post-war aid. In recognition of this gift, the Botanical garden will feature as part of their exhibit an old Dutch church from whose belfry will come the muted music of the famous Dutch Carillon bells.

The entire exhibit will represent a Dutch landscape including a 30-foot windmill, cottage, apothecary shop, flower market and other settings. Girls in native dress will be in attendance daily from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

The display will be open to the public through March 23. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Holland Furnace Issues Its Annual Financial Report

Holland Furnace Co. reported net sales during 1951 amounting to $34,155,032 compared with $36,376,898 during 1950, in a financial statement made today by P. T. Cheff, president.

Net income last year was $1,818,410, equivalent to $2.02 per share compared with $3.176,875, or $3.53 per share for 1950.

Cash dividend payments during the year totaled $1,801,768, representing $2 a share on 900,894 shares of outstanding stock.

Current assets amounted to $18,556,214, including $6,759,633 cash. Current liabilities were $5,056,377. Working capital amounted to $13,499,837. The ratio of current assets to liabilities is 3.7 to 1.

Expenditures for improvements during 1950 totaled $685,216. Of this amount, $316,144 went into buildings and factory improvements; $263,944 for machinery and equipment and $105,128 for new cleaner trucks and motors. The company's current investment in land, buildings and equipment amounts to $4,534,047.

Federal income taxes for the year 1951 amounted to $1,869,931 and $740,242 was incurred for social security, state and local taxes. Total taxes of $2,610,173 equaled $2.90 a share. This compares with $2,955,439, or $3.28 per share for 1950.

Cheff pointed out that the company operates almost 100 per cent in the old house market, getting business by correcting mistakes, replacing damaged units and old-fashioned plants.

Restrictions during the last war that specified only burned out or destroyed parts of heating equipment could be replaced, resulted in many abortive and miserable repair practices. This order would not permit causes of such burnouts or damages to be replaced. During this period, new men came into the industry who knew and learned nothing else. This procedure continued from 1942 through 1946 and accumulated shortages were backlogged until 1949.

Since then, the industry—at least the Holland Furnace Co.—has engaged in an intensive training program to provide men capable of servicing the public in a manner that the public demands, Cheff said.

Holland Furnace is the only company in the heating industry that retails.

The local firm's branch system throws complete responsibility for all actions of personnel, as well as functioning of equipment, on the company.

"Clearly, our 15 million customers have found this policy gratifying," Cheff said.

"During the past year, expenses have been brought more in line with current conditions," Cheff said. "We are continuing in a conservative way, and as suitable personnel becomes available, are acquiring better territory coverage by opening new branches. The program we have had in effect for so many years of bringing in our own scrap iron still is proving of great benefit and eases our raw material problem noticeably. We here in the home office know our field organization to be an extremely capable one. Enthusiasm and optimism are especially high. Unless something unforeseen at the moment occurs, 1952 should be a good year."

Council Tables One-Way Traffic Recommendation

Petitions Presented Protesting Move; Old US-31 Included

Common Council Wednesday night tabled a recommendation of the City Planning commission for one-way traffic on Seventh St. from Lincoln to Pine Aves. after several persons in the audience opposed the proposed change. About 30 visitors were present.

Council tabled the recommendation "indefinitely" although Ald. Lloyd Maatman, a member of the planning commission, questioned some visitors near the end of the meeting and learned that there was no particular objection to routing trucks over the street. It was the one-way traffic that brought the main objection.

The specific recommendation was to establish one-way traffic west on Seventh St. and maintain north and south truck route on River Ave., keeping eastbound trucks on eighth St. but diverting westbound trucks to Seventh on Lincoln, west to River and south on River. The commission last week had voted 5 to 3 on the measure.

It was further recommended that council confer with the county to route northbound trucks north on River on old US-31 to cross over to the new US-31 at the Port Sheldon east-west crossing. The entire recommendation was tabled.

Charles E. Knoohuizen presented a petition opposing one-way traffic signed by some 40 taxpaying merchants and individuals all closely associated in the Seventh St. section. Also expressing opinions opposing one-way traffic were Louis Van Huis, Holland Co-op; Al Knipe, service station operator; A. B. Melton, Mac-Bay Boat Co.; Leonard Steketee, tire dealer.

Alderman Anthony Nienhuis suggested council postpone action until Mayor Harry Harrington returns from Florida, but council approved Alderman John Van Erven's substitute motion simply to table the matter.

Under another section of business, City Clerk Clarence Greengood read a letter from Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, confirming abandonment of River Ave. from Eighth St. north to the city limits as a state highway. The section is .7 mile. The report was filed.

Council also approved several resolutions opposing certain bills in the Michigan legislature which concern city government. One resolution covered House Bills 90 and 94 and Senate Bills 186 and 318, all dealing in depriving or limiting revenue now being received from state-collected taxes, with copies to be sent to Governor Williams, Senators Clyde Geerlings, Edward Hutchinson, Rejs, George Van Puseum and Ben Lohman, and John Huse of the Michigan Municipal league.

Council's vote was 6 to 4 opposing the bills. Alderman A. W. Hertel said as a civil leader he would hesitate to reduce revenue coming into the city but as a citizen it was time to face the situation realistically and realize that state administrative problems must be met too, and citizens of Holland will have to pay their just share. Voting "no" with Hertel were Robert Notier, Rein Visser and John Belman.

Alderman Bernice Bishop, in speaking in favor of the sales tax return to schools, said the situation in Holland was greatly relieved by the original legislation allowing a return to local school systems.

Council voted unanimously to oppose House Bill 340 on annexation by cities on a ratio vote, and House Bill 446 which would require an additional three inspectors in each polling place.

Mayor Pro Tem Robert Notier presided in the absence of Mayor Harrington who is in Florida. Alderman Lavern Rudolph gave the invocation. All aldermen were present. Council voted to extend congratulations to the mayor who married Gertrude Stroeve of Holland last Saturday.

Lincoln School Dedication Draws Overflow Crowd

Head of School Board Receives Gold Key in Impressive Ceremony

The new Lincoln school was formally dedicated Wednesday night when an overflow crowd taxed the gymnasium and corridors for the ceremonies. More than 300 heard the program which featured presentation of a gold key to Ernest W. Hartman, president of the Board of Education, by Malcolm Williams, a representative of Warren S. Holmes Co., architects.

Supt. Walter W. Scott spoke on "Research Unlimited." Emphasizing character building, he compared present day advantages and learning with that of former years. In matters of human relations, he presented the following solution to character development: Scientific method, plus ethics of Christian religion, plus research unlimited will yield a greater generation.

The Lincoln school orchestra under the direction of Carleton Kelch, opened the program with two selections. The Rev. Henry A. Mow, pastor of Sixth Reformed church, gave the invocation after which the Lincoln school chorus with Miss Margaret VanVyn as director sang two numbers and as a surprise the group sang a "Thank You All" song written by Miss VanVyn. Miss Fannie Bultman was accompanist.

Karen Cumerford, Dale Conklin, and Lois Brondyke played as a violin trio and Clifford Strabbing and David Kleis gave a trumpet duet. Representatives of each room with Dan Hubbard as spokesman shook hands with Hartman immediately after they accepted the gold key. They were: Amette Atwood, Susan Barkel, Sheryl Nykamp, Sue Anne Moders, John Vander Brook, Janet Wichers, Veryl Rowan, Joyce De Ridder, Carol De Waard, Ann Herfst and Shirley Weysschede.

The program closed with the Rev. Bastian Kruitthof, pastor of First Reformed church giving the benediction.

George J. Lumsden, of the Holland high school speech department was master of ceremonies and introduced Williams, Hartman, Supt. Scott, Russell H. Welch, principal of the Lincoln school, Mrs. John Vander Brook, Jr., and Revs. Mow and Kruitthof. He also introduced special guests Bert P. Bos, superintendent of the Christian school, E. E. Fell and Carroll C. Crawford, former superintendents of Holland schools.

After the program visitors inspected rooms with the following children acting as hosts and hostesses: Jack and Janice Dokter, Theron Wierenga, Patsy Lee Wierenga, David Tuberg, Judith Van Eerden, Daniel Scholten, Sharon Diekema, Ronald Conklin, Carol Kraai, John Daiman, Genevieve Van Putten, Kenneth Kilgore, Karen Mokma, Jerry Buremsa, Jane Vereke, Harley Hill, Gretchen De Weerd, Michael Kiner, Patricia Pelon, Roger De Cook, Mildred Enstam, Harold De Vries and Gretchen Schonefeld.

Refreshments were served. Bouquets of flowers and palms decorated the stage and the lobby.

Judge Addresses Local Kiwanians

Circuit Judge Raymond Smith addressed the Exchange club Monday on the topic "The People Versus Crime." The club met for luncheon at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Judge Smith presented information concerning the volume and nature of work handled by the court in the Ottawa-Allegan circuit. Last year 121 cases came to Circuit Court, all sent by the prosecuting attorney, he said, and fully one-third of these are in the field of domestic relations.

He explained that an individual appearing before the judge for sentencing may be sent to prison, may be fined or put on probation, or be sent on his way. The judge expressed opinion that in most cases the public good does not require imprisonment and that probation is a better solution.

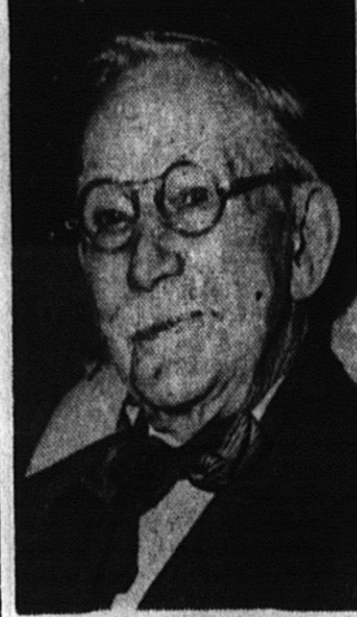

The judge said decisions of this kind are not easy to make and he studies a man's criminal record as compiled by the FBI and local police and makes a thorough study of his background before deciding the outcome.

Albert H. Meyer, Pioneer Merchant, Dies at Age of 93

Was Holland's Oldest Business Man, Began Career Here in 1872

Albert H. Meyer, Holland's oldest business man, died at 6:15 p.m. Friday at his home, 4 West 12th St. He was 93.

A pioneer on the local business front, Mr. Meyer and the late James A. Brouwer were recognized by the Chamber of Commerce in 1949 for their outstanding contribution and service in the advancement of civic betterment. They were the first ever to be given such an award by the local Chamber. C. B. McCormick, then president of the Chamber, made the award at a special ceremony and paid tribute to the two, both charter members.

Mr. Meyer was born in Grand Haven Nov. 23, 1858, to the late Mr. and Mrs. Hans Meyer. He first became interested in local business in 1872 while working for his father in the Meyer and Brouwer furniture store and undertaking business. In 1877, he joined the firm of Meyer and Brouwer, which was enlarged into separate units in 1899. At that time, Mr. Meyer took the piano and sewing machine business and Mr. Brouwer, the furniture business.

Although never engaged in politics, Mr. Meyer was a member of the old Merchants association from which the Chamber of Commerce grew. In the early days he was instrumental, along with other pioneer business men, in getting industries to locate in Holland.

Mr. Meyer was active in his business establishment, now known as Meyer Music House, as late as 1949, when he received the Chamber of Commerce award. He still reported for work at the store each day.

He had been a member of First and Third Reformed churches and served as a consistory member at both churches for a total of 12 years. He was active in church and civic affairs throughout the years.

Surviving are the wife, the former Helen Yonkman; five daughters, Mrs. Peter N. Prins and Mrs. R. J. Nichols of Holland; Mrs. Wilbur J. Mills of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Morris O. Reed and Nella Meyer of Holland; two sons, Harris Meyer of Kalamazoo and Frederic A. Meyer of Holland; 12 grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

Holland to Vote On First Plans For Civic Building

Measure, If Approved, Would Allow $5,000 For Preliminary Plans

Holland citizens will have an opportunity to vote at the April election whether Common Council shall spend up to $5,000 for preliminary plans for a municipal auditorium.

Wednesday night's action by council followed a report from the municipal auditorium committee stating that plans drawn for a municipal auditorium as a postwar project are much too extensive and costly, and other studies should follow, particularly as to seating capacity needs and possible enlargement. The report said sites also should be studied with particular regard for possible daily use by schools.

The recommendation that council retain an architect and that the committee continue to function was tabled, but Alderman Bernice Bishop's motion to submit the issue to a vote of the people for preliminary action followed immediately.

Alderman Raymond Howlerda questioned whether council could not go ahead and hire an architect without a public vote, and was informed council could do so provided necessary provision is made in the budget.

When the subject was brought up again at the end of the meeting when Alfred Kane, route 1, a visitor, criticized council for spending money for blacktopping parking lots while being reluctant to spend some money for a municipal auditorium.

Mayor Pro Tem Robert Notier explained carefully that already some $19,000 has been expended in plans for a municipal auditorium, and council feels extremely reluctant to spend more on plans unless it is sure the people really want such an auditorium. "A big roll of blueprints stored in a closet certainly doesn't do the city any good," he said.

Council approved the 1952-53 budget for the Holland Public Library, calling for an outlay of $16,510.90. With anticipated receipts listed at $11,133.13, a total of $5,377.77 will be appropriated in the city budget.

The city clerk presented a letter from the Michigan Trust Co. as trustee under the will of John J. Cappon, deceased, and a copy of the order of probate court whereby March 11 has been set for a hearing. The will left $5,000 to a sister, $5,000 to Hope college, $5,000 to Hope church and $25,000 for a monument to be erected in Centennial park. However, Cappon's investments declined sharply during the depression, and when the will was probated following the death of his wife some time ago, there remained less than $6,000. City Attorney O. S. Cross was instructed to represent the city at the probate court hearing.

Council okayed requests from the Board of Public Works for purchasing a chlorinator, booster pump and scales for the water department at a cost of $2,600; four chemical feeders for the water department, $1,420; one auxiliary drive for No. 1 boiler at 5th St. power plant, $1,310.

Council approved certain recommendations of the city manager on adopting an ordinance to cover city contracts and purchases and the procedure to be followed. The city manager and city attorney were instructed to draw up the ordinance including recommendations as set forth in the manager's message.

A letter from the Liquor Control commission requesting action on a request from Clarence J. Redder and Harry J. Plaggemars, of 217 East Eighth St. for transfer of ownership of a 1951 SDD license from Neal and Dorothy Zeerp was referred to the city manager for investigation and report.

Grand Haven (Special)—Miss Catherine Fons, 59, operator of Ferry View hotel, Grand Haven, waived examination when she appeared before Justice George Horfer Tuesday on a charge of selling beer to a 19-year-old minor Feb. 22. She furnished $1,000 bond for her appearance March 13.

Miss Fons was arrested on complaint of Officer Dennis Ende of Holland who charged the beer was sold to Dwayne Lyons of Holland.

On Sept. 22, 1951, Miss Fons paid $100 costs on a similar offense in Ottawa Circuit Court.

Ralph H. Miller, 60, Succumbs in Florida

Saugatuck — Ralph H. Miller, 60, died Tuesday in Florida where he was vacationing. Death was caused by a heart condition.

It's exciting enough to be twins, but when your birthday comes only once in four years, then it's doubly important. Jean Ellen and Joyce Elaine Boeve, four-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Boeve, route 3, Holland, celebrated the big event at a family party Friday.

Frank Kars, who spends his summers at Waukazoo and his winters in Orlando, Fla., is 60 years old this year. He was born Feb. 29, 1892, and formerly was a farmer at Bass River. He is now retired.

John R. Lubbers, route 2, Zeeland, was 32 years old Feb. 29 but held no special celebration for his eighth anniversary. He is a farmer and part-time mail carrier.

Two-Family Home Damaged by Fire; Loss Hits $2,500

Fire that began in the basement and swept upward to the second floor caused an estimated $2,500 damage to a two-family house at 176 East 18th St. late Thursday afternoon.

Defective wiring near the basement furnace apparently was the cause of the blaze which traveled through partitions to the first floor, and from their upward to the second story apartment.

The first floor apartment was unoccupied at the time of the blaze, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Hulst were the occupants of the second floor dwelling.

The damage was more extensive in the Hulst apartment, where flames and smoke gutted the kitchen and part of an attic. Most seriously damaged on the first floor was a closet full of clothing and a bedroom.

The ground floor apartment was being readied for occupancy, which was expected later Thursday evening. The fire started about 4 p.m. and firemen were on the scene for 1½ hours.

Efficient work by firemen was credited with holding down the amount of damage. Firemen said the blaze had "quite a start" when they got there.

4-H Club Agent Describes Work Of Group Briefly

Members Take Part In Community Projects; Agents Guide Groups

Grand Haven (Special)—"It is difficult to describe the 4-H club program of Ottawa county briefly," says R. A. Campbell, 4-H club agent but he came up with a good try.

"4-H clubs of the county are organized groups of young people who are learning to use the findings of science and research for better farming and homemaking. Members take active parts in community activities. These young people are aided and guided in their efforts by co-operative extension workers and local volunteer leaders."

Campbell says that any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 years who agree to learn to do, by doing, may enroll. The groups elect their own officers, plan and conduct programs based on the needs and interests of members, hold regular meetings and take part in community activities.

This county's 4-H work is a part of the national system of co-operative extension work in agriculture and homemaking in which the United States Department of Agriculture, Michigan State college and Ottawa county contribute co-operatively," Campbell explains.

Club work has helped to develop 15 million young citizens since its beginning. More than a million of these come from Michigan. The program is designed to increase farm incomes, improve standards of living, increase the satisfactions from community life and prepare young people for living in a changing world."

Allegan Winds Up Flawless Season By Downing Chix

Allegan (Special) — Allegan high school polished off an undefeated basketball season Friday night by running past Zeeland 63-42 in the final athletic event of the now-defunct Tri-County conference.

OPENING THE DOOR

Efforts by a committee of the Michigan Press Association to get meetings of the University of Michigan's board of regents and Michigan State College's board of agriculture open to news reporters are meeting with some success, in the initial stages at least. Both control boards have expressed a willingness to talk over the situation with the editors' committee. One such meeting has been held.

The State Board of Agriculture, the governing body of the state college, invited the editors to an informal session. It was agreed to continue discussions in search of a solution. Later when the University's board of regents met, President Harlan H. Hatcher laid the editors' request before it. The board talked it over in a closed session and afterwards President Hatcher announced: "If the representatives of the press care to exchange views with the regents they will be most hospitably received." Of course the editors want to talk things over. An exchange of views is set for the regents' March meeting.

Meanwhile the state board of education, the governing body of the state's normal colleges, has announced it has no objection to letting the public in on its discussions. "We haven't nothing to hide," said Charles G. Bourns, board member. We've always gotten along with newspapers very well." Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the board summed matters up this way: "There are personnel problems that it would serve no purpose to publicize. However, I believe the newspapers should be informed of them and allowed to make their own judgments."

Dr. Thurston hit the nail on the head. The affairs and policies of the University of Michigan and Michigan State College, because they are supported by state funds drawn from the people in the form of taxes, are public business. The public is as much entitled to know how these funds are spent and why as it is to know how any public money is spent. The public also is entitled to know how the policies of these institutions of higher education are formed, and why they are what they are.

There is no doubt that these institutions of higher learning are doing good work. They probably could do better work if the public was more fully informed about it. Certainly more complete information in the hands of the public would make more understandable the institutions' worth and their financial needs.

Open sessions by the control boards can promote better public understanding; a refusal of them would be harmful.—Adrian Daily Telegram.

Sunday School Lesson

March 9, 1952

Paul

Philippians 3:4-17

By Henry Geerlings

It would be interesting to attempt to discover the secret of Paul's power and success. It is not probable that his physical bearing had much to do with his strength of personality, for there is general agreement that his stature was small and that his physical appearance was a handicap rather than an advantage. However, we are certain that he possessed a strong intellect.

History indicates that he was well trained and highly educated. This is evident from his literary efforts. His early education fitted him for leadership among the Jews. The same training served him well after his conversion to Christianity. He was schooled in Greek philosophy and literature as well as in Jewish lore.

His conversion was marked and unique. At times we are inclined to think that the most effective leaders in any field are those who have been converted from one view to another. It seems that such a conversion lends itself to a significant enthusiasm. This is probably not a fact, for those who are reared in a faith can be just as effective as those who come into it from without.

A conversion may produce a different type of service but not necessarily more successful effort. Saul, the enthusiastic Jewish persecutor of Christians, becomes, through his conversion, the active missionary of the Christian cause. His sense of having wronged the Christians may have made him so much more zealous to render the cause good service.

His life was one of courage, enthusiasm and devotion to a cause, marked by a singleness of purpose, and of a surrendered trust in God. On these qualities he built his work and no doubt to these characteristics he owed his success.

His activities included teaching, preaching, pioneering in church building and, when necessity demanded it, working at the trade of a tent maker. He was versatile in his preparation and this proved valuable to him in his varied life. A record of his life would be incomplete which did not call attention to his literary achievements. Although an active missionary he was called upon to engage in much writing. A large portion of the New Testament consists of his literary efforts in the form of communications to newly-formed churches and congregations. This correspondence gave form to the doctrines of the new religion and laid the foundation for the practical conduct of the congregations.

He gave form to the fundamental Christian doctrines of sin and grace, the eternal priesthood and sacrifice of Christ, the person of Christ, the second advent, and the church of Christ. In addition to these doctrinal matters he added advice and instruction on moral questions, including slavery, on church government and pastoral care and on many other practical questions.

Above all else, he was a missionary statesman. The founding of many churches is to his credit. The saving of these groups from disintegration is due to his care and oversight. Inspiring others to carry on the work he founded was an essential part of his effort.

It was no vain boast for him to summarize his life in the words, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." His life as a missionary was fraught with danger, peril and opposition. In the face of these he fought a good fight. He courageously carried on in the midst of great discouragements.

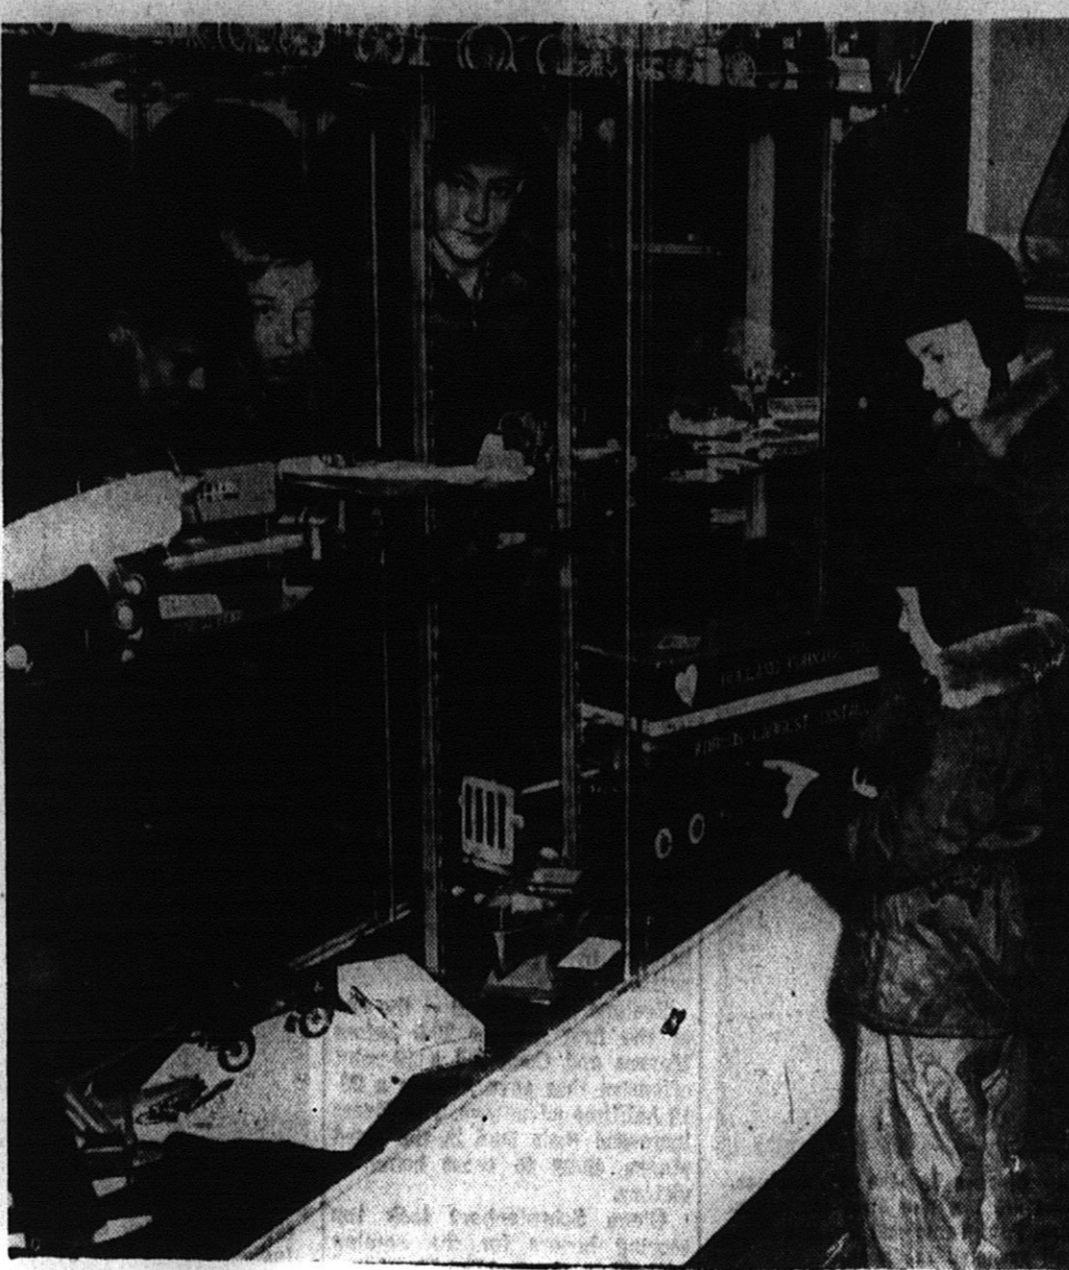

He kept the faith until the end. Various interpretations have been placed upon this statement. Some stress the fact that he did not change his theology or intellectual concept once he accepted the Christian gospel. Others think that the statement means that he remained loyal to God and Christ throughout his life and that the emphasis should be put upon this rather than upon the theological viewpoints that he propagated. In view of the fact that both things are true of Paul there remains little reason for the distinction. He was loyal to Christian doctrine and to the person of Christ.

The debt we owe to Paul includes his example of what a really consecrated person can accomplish for God; what a trained intellect can contribute to the work of the Church; his example of a courageous man who worked in the face of discouragement; a thinker who gave his best thought to developing Christian truth; a writer who busied his pen for the literary work of the kingdom; a scholar who worked with his hands when it became necessary; a statesman who used diplomacy in a good cause.

Mental Health Series to Start Here on Monday

A new mental health series on "Understanding Our Children" will start Monday at 8 p.m. in Longfellow school for seven consecutive Mondays with Mrs. Mary Weaver of the Michigan Department of Mental Health as consultant.

The series of seven meetings is particularly designed for parents, grandparents, teachers and others interested in youth and their problems. Co-operating groups are the PTA clubs of Holland, Ottawa County Health department, health committee of schools, Department of Mental Health, Adult Education department, Administrative Council of Public Schools, and Child Study groups.

The consultant, Mrs. Weaver, has been working for a year with Esther Middlewood, who conducted a similar series a few years ago. Mrs. Weaver has conducted a similar series in Allegan and at present is conducting a series in Farmington. She is a graduate of Bowling Green university and the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Walter W. Scott will serve as chairman at the meetings. Discussion topics will center around questions and problems brought up at the first meeting. Up-to-date films will supplement lectures each week.

The series was arranged this year following a number of requests for such a course.

Topic listed for Monday's meeting is "Learning How to Better Understand Our Child." The film, "Angry Boy," is dramatization of a case in which a boy caught stealing in school is sent to a child guidance clinic where a psychiatric team learns the boy is suffering from an emotional disturbance. How his mother is helped to understand the boy and how the boy himself learns to accept and handle his feelings through the process of psychotherapy provides the main drama of the picture.

Serving on the planning committee for the series are Supt. Walter Scott, Bernice Bishop, Mrs. Ermy Eby, Mrs. Dorothy LaBouff, Mrs. Deane Van Lare, Chapin McAllister, Mrs. Alvin Vanderbush, Austin Buchanan, Lavina Cappon, Ruth Blekkink, Gerrit Wiegerink and Mrs. Weaver.

Holland Reserves Take Six in Row

Victory number six in a row came to the Holland high school reserve basketball team Tuesday night at the expense of the Ottawa Hills seconds 40-27. The triumph also avenged an earlier reversal to the Indian quintet by a narrow margin.

The decision gave Coach Bob Connell's outfit a season's mark of nine wins and six losses, including seven victories in the last eight games.

The Junior Dutchmen lost no time in showing who was boss Tuesday night by stampeding to a 16-4 lead in the first quarter. Holland maintained its advantage in the second period and was ahead at the half 24-16.

Action slowed down somewhat in the last half, but Holland managed to outscore its opponents in each of the final two quarters 9-5 and 7-6.

Center Ron Israels was top scorer for the Dutch with 18 points. Guard Paul Beukema carded 10, forward Dick Blaghenhof six and Paul Mack, Bob Van Dyke and Bill Sandahl two each. Visser was top man for Ottawa with seven.

Dutch Cagers End Play for Season With 12-3 Record

Holland high school put the finishing touches on one of its most successful basketball seasons in recent years Tuesday night by swamping a cagy Ottawa Hills team at the Holland Armory 70-48, in a fast-moving game.

The victory was number 12 of the season for Coach Fred Weiss' crew, compared with three losses. It also gave Holland a clean sweep of five wins in non-conference games.

The decks now are cleared for Dutch entrance into regional competition next week in Kalamazoo. Holland will open its tournament quest against Grand Rapids Catholic Central next Tuesday at Western Michigan gym.

Tuesday's victory over the Indians saw the home team build up a seven-point lead in the first period, stave off an Ottawa rally in the second stanza, and then pyramid its lead systematically the rest of the way until it reached the 22-point final margin.

Senior center Frank Van Dyke paced the Dutch in the first quarter spurt by whipping through five baskets for exactly half his team's 20 points in the first stanza. Ottawa's Dick Jones sank a two-pointer just before the first whistle to make the score 20-13 for Holland.

Then the Indians closed the gap. Jim Rhodes swished through a long shot, center Ron Laug tipped one in and Jones scored on a dog shot to narrow the margin to 20-19 with 11 minutes gone in the second stanza. But a hook by Dave Moran, tip by Dean Vander Wal and Tom Maentz's score on a stolen pass brought Holland out of danger and helped the Dutch to a 32-24 lead at intermission.

Maentz and Alden Klomprens led the Dutch scoring in the third stanza with eight and six points respectively, while hook shot artist Laug was accounting for 12 of Ottawa's 13-point production for the quarter. Holland led at the third buzzer 52-37.

Both Weiss and Ottawa Coach Boots Taggavia substituted freely in the final quarter, and the Dutch outscored their guests 18-11. Gordon Hulst was top point maker in the final stanza with five.

A sidelight of the contest was the duel for individual scoring honors between Maentz and Laug. The Holland captain, playing one of his best all-around games of the year, came out on top with 11 field goals and three free throws for 25 points. Laug, meanwhile, carded 22 points from his pivot slot.

Van Dyke was second high for Holland with 14 and Klomprens had 10. All but one player in the Holland lineup broke into the scoring column, and Jack Kemper, elevated to a starting guard slot, made up for his lack of point production with a sound floor game.

When the two teams met in the first game of the season in November, Holland once more hit the 70 figure by winning 74-45.

Dutch Visitor Finds Local Names Most Fascinating

Netherlands Doesn't Have Television Because of High Cost

A two-day visit to Holland, Mich., late last week was a new experience for George Sluizer of Hilversum, the Netherlands, program director of Radio Nederland.

The radio executive came to America to confer with Netherlands officials in connection with Her Majesty Queen Juliana's visit to this country in April. Sluizer's visit was primarily concerned with radio programs during the state visit to the United States.

It was Sluizer's second visit to this country but his first to Holland, Mich. While here, he was shown the usual points of interest for such visitors. The Netherlands Museum was torn up for the hobby show which opens today, but the visitor saw the bulk of the displays even though they were not exhibited to advantage.

While approaching Holland, his curiosity was aroused by the signposts pointing to Vriesland, Zeeland and such centers then when he saw the Dutch names prominently displayed in Holland's commercial section, he really felt at home.

A survey of the telephone book and its many "Van's" and "De's" really injected the Dutch flavor. He said in the Netherlands, however, the "De" is inserted after the last part of the name, thereby filing De Witt among the W's.

As program director for the overseas transcription service, Sluizer deals mainly in 15-minute programs such as those heard in Holland at 12:15 p.m. Sunday. He is currently working with the Netherlands Information Service in this city and elsewhere on four programs on the scheduled royal visit. One is on the royal family, and others on dikes and polders, friendly folks, and songs around the windmill.

He estimated some 45,000 15-minute programs had been aired in this country since 1947. Sluizer's visit to America was mainly for conference at NIS of fices in New York and Holland and with the Netherlands embassy in Washington.

From here he goes to Curacao, Dutch West Indies, off South America, and plans to return to New York before leaving for the Netherlands.

He said the Netherlands has good radio programming and a large listening public. There has been little progress there in television, mainly because of the large investment. The radio field is not commercialized and is supported by a tax on each radio set, something like 12 guilders a year. Since such income would not begin to finance television, proposals for commercial interests in that field are under consideration.

Fennville Bows To Middleville

Brandt is spending a few days in Holland before making a trip to the Scandinavian countries.

The speaker was introduced by Richard Hambridge, program chairman.

President Jack Plewes presided at the meeting. Group singing was led by Russell Tague accompanied by Franklin Van Ry.

Man Sentenced To Year in Prison For Non-Support

Many Appear Before Judge Raymond Smith In Variety of Cases

Grand Haven (Special)—George Mulder, 31, route 1, Conklin, was sentenced to serve a year in Southern Michigan prison at Jackson when he appeared before Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith on a charge of non payment of alimony. The judge ruled that Mulder "shall serve not more than a year or until he pays arrears of $980 plus court costs."

Mulder's wife had been granted a divorce decree in February, 1950, and was to be paid $20 a week for the support of three children. The husband was hailed into court on several occasions and once was sentenced to serve a year in Southern Michigan prison but paid arrears of $610 plus $7.50 costs.

Probation Officer Jack Spangler told the court he had offered Mulder work on one occasion, but that Mulder declined. Judge Smith, in finding Mulder guilty of contempt of court, criticized the man sharply for his failure to meet his responsibilities.

The prison sentence is apparently part of a stiffer policy recommended by the probation officer on cases in which men make no attempt to support their families.

Mrs. Ethel M. Flower, 48, Kalamazoo, pleaded guilty to a charge of writing a $210 check without sufficient funds, and will return March 10 for disposition. Her bond of $1,000 was reduced to $500.

Harold Winters, 39, who had been living at St. Charles near Saginaw, pleaded guilty to charges of desertion and non-support of his wife and six children, and will return April 1 for disposition. John Dood, of near Grand Haven, found guilty of contempt of court, paid $25 fine and $15 costs for attorney fees for his wife. He was charged with violating an injunction from keeping away from his wife while divorce proceedings are in progress. Complaint was the wife, Averill Lucille Dood, who charged her husband forced attentions on her after the injunction was served.

Lewis H. Dorman, 24, Grand Haven, whose wife was granted a divorce decree from him earlier Monday afternoon, pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. His bond was continued and sentence was deferred until next Monday.

Ronald Hiler, 19, Ferrysburg, pleaded guilty to a charge of entering without breaking in the nighttime. The alleged offense occurred Feb. 2 at the Bouwman Chris-Craft office in Spring Lake. Bond of $2,000 was continued for sentence April 1.

Groups Urged To Join Project

Grand Haven (Special)—L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, urges all rural community groups to enroll in the five county Farm-to-Prospers contest which has been in existence for years.

Each group keeps a record of activities and makes an annual report Dec. 1 of the past year's activities. Five cash prizes are offered in each county. The leading group selected in the five counties received $100.

In 1952 Ottawa county had 17 groups enrolled. It is hoped that more will enroll in 1952 Ottawa was the only county of the five which finished with 100 per cent of reports in.

In 1951 the groups included some from Farm Bureau, Granges, PTA's and Mother's clubs. Enrollments can be made through the extension office, Court House Grand Haven. This is a voluntary program, no fees, etc. just co-operation on the part of groups in keeping records of achievements.

Incidentally this is the only such program in existence in the nation. It has received national reputation.

Fred T. Miles probate judge of Ottawa county, sends in an interesting item from the Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal that he thought might interest local persons. Miles currently is on a two-week vacation in the southlands.

Here's the item:

Something Different
Word is that Sweden has returned to the United States $11,000,000 she received under the dispensations of the Marshall Plan. The reason cited was that Sweden had discovered that she could manage to get along without the money and did not want it unless necessity dictated keeping it. It is something different and put the Swedes into a classification by no means crowded.

The Finns, of course, have insisted on repaying money borrowed from us and have done so on the dot and without fail. Then there was Enschede in The Netherlands that sent word to Memphis it had reached the place where it could take care of itself and wanted to do so. That came about when Memphis was just really becoming enthusiastic about aiding the Dutch city. Instances of such sturdy independence have been all too rare in postwar experience, however, for the best interests of all concerned.

Sweden in some respects has been far better off than many of its neighbors, though the country has had its troubles. It did escape physical damage during the war at least. The return of the millions, however, proves the Swedes to be scrupulous as well as thrifty and industrious. The world can do with a lot more of that sort of thing.

Just incidentally—a young college student wrote, "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address contains 266 words. The Ten Commandments contain 297 words and the Declaration of Independence contains 300 words. The OPS order to reduce the price of cabbage contains 26,911 words."

Here's a baffling squib received by the Ambusher yesterday:

Dear Ambusher,
I've been waiting patiently for him into a year. Just what in blazes is Clarence Greengood's flea story?

A Patient Lover of Good Folk Humor.

How about it Clarence?

Conservation of Water Becoming Increasingly Important in Daily Life

The importance of water in every-day life was emphasized by Norman Billings, in charge of the hydrology division of the Michigan Water Resources commission at the seventh of a series of conservation film-lectures in Longfellow school gymnasium Tuesday night.

Water was taken for granted, Billings said, until about 20 years ago when dust bowl storms in the west gave people and the government cause for serious concern. He said in the old water pump days, 10 gallons per person per day was sufficient, but today with modern plumbing, air conditioning and industrial might, than 150 gallons per person are required per day.

"There's just as much water as there was, but it's not always in the right places for the way we live today," he said. He mentioned the vast quantities used in industry, and said an H-bomb plant uses as much water every day as the entire city of Detroit.

He said Michigan is particularly fortunate in its location to the Great Lakes. He mentioned several cities which have laid pipelines to the lakes for their water supply and said there is no place in the state which cannot go to the Great Lakes for water supply if they need it badly enough.

He added, however, that well water is usually a better source of supply, and much more economical. He said Michigan's geological formation is such that few places cannot have good wells.

The current high levels of the lakes is due largely to heavy rainfall, Billings said. Average rainfall in Michigan is 30 inches annually, but last year the rainfall was 38 inches, which coupled with moist cool summers reduced evaporation, accounting to a large degree for the rising levels. He said Michigan rains come chiefly from the Gulf of Mexico, and surveys show most local rainfall is from oceanic origin.

He debunked popularly beliefs that water that filters through the ground is always pure. He said such natural filtration usually removes most impurities but does not touch certain chemicals, oil wastes or even common salt that can filter through. "Everything on the ground has the same chance to get down to the water supply as the rain and snow," he said.

He said floods were not a great problem locally. Drains for agricultural purposes produce their problems but mostly the farmer has done quite well with the knowledge he has and the tools he works with. There is a great deal yet to be learned on depth and control of drains, he said.

Conservation of water isn't just saving water; it is making the best use of water, the speaker emphasized. He said Lake Michigan has risen three feet in three years to a level of 581.5 feet. Surveys reveal the lake may rise another 9 foot or possible two feet the coming year. He said additional diversion of Lake Michigan water through the Chicago canal would reduce the level only about a half inch.

As for lakefront property holders who have suffered large losses through high water, all he could recommend was that they figure out the cheapest way possible to combat the menace and wait for the levels to go down. Construction of seawalls and jetties often cost more than the property is worth, he added.

A film entitled "Pipeline to the Clouds" was shown. Earlier in the program Irve Harrington showed his color films on his Canadian fishing trip.

The series will conclude next week with a film-lecture by Russell Paterson on "Social and Moral Aspects of Conservation."

Fennville Couple Killed in Crash Near Peru, Ind.

Fennville (Special) — John Van Dragt and his wife, Laura, both 62, of Fennville, were killed in a head-on two-car crash Sunday afternoon on snow-covered US-31 about six miles north of Peru, Ind. The couple was returning home after spending 3 1/2 months in Florida.

Police said Van Dragt apparently was trying to pass a third car and collided with a car driven by Raymond Hughes, 47, Hamilton, Ohio, which also had skidded out of control trying to avoid a collision. Hughes and his wife, Martha, 37, were hospitalized.

The impact jammed the doors on the Van Dragt car and had to be torn open to free the victims, who died en route to Duke's Memorial hospital in Peru. Officers were continuing their investigation today.

The Van Drags were members of Fennville Methodist church and the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges. Mrs. Van Dragt was past president of Rebekah district No. 29 covering three counties. The couple operated a large fruit farm in Saugatuck township northwest of Fennville. They lived in the area about 35 years.

Maroon Seconds Eke Out Victory

Holland Christian's reserve squad pulled down the curtain on their season play Friday night by eking out a 31-28 decision over Grand Haven's Little Bucs.

The win gave Coach John Ham's club a record of 11 wins in 17 starts this season.

Christian built up a big first half lead and hung on in the second half against a spirited Grand Haven club. Scoring was slow in the first period with the Dutch managing to take an 8-4 margin at the first quarter horn.

The Maroons turned on the steam in the second stanza to step up their lead to 20-8 at halftime.

It was a different story in the second half with the Grand Haven club whittling the margin to 27-20 at the end of the third quarter.

The Bucs narrowed the gap to two points in the last minute but couldn't knot the count.

Ron Nykamp led the Maroon attack with 17 tallies. Fisher was high for the losers with 12.

Second-Half Spurt Nets Maroon Win In Thrilling Game

Staging a spectacular second half rally, a smooth working Holland Christian basketball squad came from behind to defeat Grand Haven, 48-42, on the Armory court Friday night. It was Christian's fourth straight victory and closed regular season play with nine wins and eight losses.

If there were any doubts in the minds of local fans that Christian's win over St. Joseph earlier this week was a fluke, Coach Art Tuls' quint certainly dispelled them Friday night. In some respects in the second half, the Maroons looked sharper offensively than they did against St. Joe. Sparked by some great work by Jim Kok, Maroon center, and fine ball handling by his teammates, the Dutch outscored the Bucs 30-16 after the intermission.

The Dutchmen were not as sharp in the first half of the contest with Grand Haven showing a fine offense of their own, built around lanky Roger Wester. The blonde Buc center was invincible the first quarter as he poured through 10 of his team's 14 markers. Dick Berg also exhibited a one hand push shot that kept Coach Steve Sluka's club out in front most of the first half.

One noticeable defect in the Grand Haven attack Friday night was their inability to rebound against Christian's Kok and Earl Schipper. Both boys were all over the boards and scored 29 points between them, Kok getting 18 and Schipper 11.

Christian again displayed a versatile attack with Dave Schreuer netting 16 points, mostly on out-court swishers and Kok and Schipper scoring close in. For the first time this season, Tony Diekema, Maroons' leading scorer, didn't score a point. He took only three shots and was content to act the playmaker along with Merle Van Dyke.

After getting off to a 5-0 lead, the Maroons soon fell victim to the uncanny shooting of Wester who hit for three straight baskets to give his club a quick lead. By the end of the first quarter, Grand Haven led 14-10.

Coach Steve Sluka's quint continued to build up a comfortable margin in the second quarter to enjoy a 26-18 bulge at halftime. This time it was Berg who was splitting the Maroon defenses, with Wester getting only two points.

Displaying their best form of the season in the third quarter, the locals swept the Bucs off their feet in their first few minutes. Midway in the canto, Christian had knotted the score and two minutes later were enjoying a 32-29 margin. Grand Haven made the game interesting in the final minutes to knot the count at 35-35 going into the final period.

Christian lost little time in taking control in the fourth quarter, never again to be headed by the hard fighting, but outplayed Grand Haven squad. Merle Van Dyke left the game on five fouls with four minutes left while Wester was forced out for the same reason with 30 seconds left.

Once again it was the Maroon defense which was a contributing factor to the victory. Both individual and team defense was superb against the overall Buc offensive machine.

From the foul lane, the Dutch hit on only four out of 14 attempts while Grand Haven connected on six out of 12 tries. Following Kok's 18 markers was Schreuer with 16. Wester led Grand Haven with 16 followed by Berg with 11.
