'Safety Homes' Is PTA Project

Members of the Lincoln School PTA are taking action on a problem that is of concern to all of the district's parents and teachers—the problem of children's safety while walking to and from school.

Under the leadership of Lincoln School PTA president, Mrs. Marvin Klomprens, the PTA has adopted a "Safety Home" plan, an idea which originated in California and is now being used in Lansing, Kalamazoo and the Prairieview district of Battle Creek.

"Safety Homes" are identified by a bright orange card with a black letter "S" displayed prominently in a window or door. The homes are scattered evenly throughout the school district with two to four homes situated on both sides of the street in every block.

The Lincoln School PTA has stressed to both parents and students that these "Safety Homes" are to be used in emergencies only. In case of sudden storms, illness, accident, or if a student is bothered by strangers, he can go to a "Safety Home" for help.

Mrs. Klomprens explained that the plan is the result of much hard work by members of the PTA board whose job it is to contact home owners who have volunteered for the project.

Lincoln district, which includes the area north of 16th St., between River and Fairbanks Aves., now has 58 "Safety Homes." Because of the size of the district, some 100 to 125 "Safety Homes" are needed, Mrs. Klomprens said.

Each volunteer for the "Safety Home" plan is thoroughly checked out by the PTA board, and complete lists of "Safety Homes" are on file with the Holland Police Department and Lincoln School office as well as PTA files.

Mrs. Klomprens said that the response to the plan so far has been excellent in the Lincoln district. However, more volunteers are needed, she said. Interested persons can contact either Mrs. Klomprens or Mrs. Donald Kimber, Lincoln PTA treasurer and membership chairman.

Holland police chief Jacob Van Hoff was enthusiastic about the "Safety Home" plan. He said it was heartening to see a group with such concern for the welfare and safety of Holland's children.

"We hope all the PTA's in the Holland area will join hands to make this a yearly city-wide project for the safety and welfare of all our children," Mrs. Klomprens said.

Pastor Gives Challenge To Students

Robert H. Schuller, pastor of the Garden Grove Community church in California, challenged assembly students Tuesday in Dimmet Memorial Chapel saying "Give God a chance and he'll work miracles!"

"Look for good in things other people say is bad, be a possibility worker, be a dream chaser, project beginner, hope booster and remember that beginning is half done."

Schuller graduate from Hope in 1947 and Western Theological Seminary in 1950. He built the first congregational and drive-in church in the country (two miles below Disneyland Amusement Park) It was dedicated by Norman Vincent Peale.

Schuller admonished the Hope students not to join the "impossibility complex people."

"Possibility thinkers are inspired, not tyrannized by history, and such thinkers should use their imagination to become successful rather than to use the imagination to become failures," he said.

Holland Firm Plans Exhibit At Dutch Fair

Two representatives of the Home Furnace Co., 280 East 6th St., Thursday left for the Netherlands to direct their firm's exhibit in the Royal Netherlands Industries Fair at Utrecht from March 8 to 16.

Clarence J. Becker, executive vice president, and Andrew Dalman, general manager, will join representatives of 38 other American companies in the American Exhibition. The U.S. government and the firms will jointly sponsor the American display, devoted exclusively to gas utilization and transmission.

The purpose of American participation in the fair is to increase trade between the U.S. and Western European countries. The recent discovery of virtually unlimited gas reserves in Groningen, a northern province in the Netherlands, prompted the decision to devote the American exhibit to equipment for gas utilization.

According to the U.S. Department of Commerce, the Utrecht fair of 1963 resulted in nearly $3 million in cash and projected sales for 30 U.S. exhibitors. An estimated $4,400,000 in sales was reported attributable to the participation of 23 U.S. firms in the 1964 fair.

The 1965 Utrecht fair is a "test fair" which will serve as a barometer of the success of the United States' stepped-up export effort. After Utrecht, the Department of Commerce will participate in ten other fairs in Japan, England, West Germany, Spain, Switzerland and Sweden.

Retail Sales In Ottawa Up 16 Per Cent

WASHINGTON—Ottawa county's 896 retail establishments had $116.6 million in sales in 1963, an increase of 16 per cent from 1958, according to the U.S. Bureau of the Census which is tabulating data gathered from all firms in the 1963 census of business. The last previous business census conducted by the Census Bureau, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce, was in 1958.

Retail trade in the county meant jobs (exclusive of proprietors) for 3,785 men and women and a yearly payroll of $10.9 million.

County food stores had sales of $28.9 million, an increase of 8 per cent from 1958. Other county business listed eating and drinking places with sales of $5.6 million; gasoline service stations, $10.7 million; auto dealers and related trade establishments, $26.6 million; general merchandise stores, $7.2 million; lumber, building materials, hardware and farm equipment dealers, $9.7 million.

For Michigan as a whole, the Census Bureau reported 69,758 retail establishments with sales of $13.8 billion, up 22 per cent from 1958.

Census reports to be issued during the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

The above information in story form was provided by the U.S. Department of Commerce through use of electronic computers in which figures are inserted in news stories, typing out stories at 10 lines per second.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, March 14
Inheritors of the Kingdom
Matthew 21:28-31; 22:1-14
By C. P. Dame

Two parables, both are found only in Matthew, form this lesson text. The Parable of the Two Sons, and the Parable of the Marriage Feast, turn our minds to the home. The lesson teaches that God is pleased with obedient people.

I. Talk is cheap but it is worth little unless backed up by deeds. A father who had two sons said to the one, "Son, go work today in my vineyard." Rudely he replied, "I will not." After thinking over what he had said he repented and went. The father said the same thing to the other son and he politely answered, "I go sir," but he did not go. Jesus asked his hearers, "Whether of the tain did the will of his father?" His hearers replied, "The first." Then Jesus said sharply to his hearers, "Verily I say unto you, that the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you."

Obedience is a son's duty. The first son who refused and then repented and went represents the sinners whom Jesus mentions in his reply, the other son represents the scribes and Pharisees and priests who promised to obey God but did not do it when they heard his message through John the Baptist.

Nice words are not enough. Repentance counts. It is not what we think of ourselves that is all important but what God thinks of us, that is. God thinks more of gross sinners who repent than of religious people who never repent of their self-righteousness.

II. God invites people to a joyful life. The Parable of the Marriage Feast in Matthew differs from the Parable of the Great Supper recorded in Luke 14. The king, representing God, extended invitations to people to come to the marriage of his son. The first invitation was followed by a second one. The guests would not come. The king was persistent and sent out servants but they met with refusals.

God sent the prophets first, then the apostles to the Jews. "But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandise. Some refused the invitation violently and slew the king's servants, which angered him and caused him to send forth his armies which 'destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city.' God manifests His wrath at times. In the year 70 A. D. the Roman army captured and destroyed Jerusalem which had rejected Christ.

Our Lord is persistent. When the invited guests refused to come the king sent his servants "out into the highways and gathered together all as many as they found, both good and bad: and the wedding was furnished with guests." When the Jews refused to come, God invited the Gentiles and they came. No one is indispensable to God.

Among the motley guests there was one without a wedding garment — this garment represented "the imputed righteousness which is ours by faith." Not all in the church belong there. The king ordered this guest to be thrown out. An external profession of faith is not enough. A saving faith is essential.

Education is fine and we are bound to need more people with technical training to handle automation and other new developments. There is still a large market for people trained in these areas.

Our education system all along the line must be geared to changes in our business world. We are living in a fast changing world; education must keep up with the pace.

Views From The Campus

(Dr. Henry ten Hoor, Professor of English at Hope, joined the faculty in 1946.)

He graduated from Holland Christian High School and received his A.B. degree from Calvin College in 1938. Ten Hoor attended Stanford University for one summer. He received his M.A. from the University of Michigan in 1946 and the Ed.D. degree was conferred upon him in 1963 from the same institution.

Ten Hoor taught at Castle Heights Military Academy in Lebanon, Tenn. from 1938 to 1943.

By Henry ten Hoor

Teachers of English are traditionally pictured as somewhat ineffectual people dedicated to the preservation of the unsplit infinitive and the "beauties" of poetry. This picture might have been true at one time, but today the teacher of English is recognized as one of the most important people in the process of education. He teaches the use of the language, a skill necessary to all other aspects of education; and he introduces students to a great variety of important ideas as they are expressed in literature.

Very likely it is because of this increased importance that the activities of the teacher of English are attracting more attention from outside the school. This attention usually takes the form of parental criticism aimed at the nature of certain books the teacher selects to study. In recent years there have been objections to the use of "Huckleberry Finn" and "Robinson Crusoe." In this state not long ago there was a heated disagreement over the use of "Andersonville." Most recently, in Chicago, the fight was over the assignment of James Baldwin's "Another Country."

Parents object most violently to books that employ indecent language and which include episodes presenting sex, violence, racism or merely present an economic or social idea with which they disagree. The purpose usually is to protect their children from bad language, the distasteful aspects of life and the wickedness of the world.

If English teachers are to select the books they assign by these standards, it is clear that most of the great literature of all ages will be unacceptable. If literature is an ordered and artistic presentation of the human experience, one must expect that much of literature will record certain repellent aspects of life. A review of the literature of our culture makes this truth dramatically evident. At the root of Homer's epics there is an episode of adultery. The Greek tragedies treat subjects as revolting as murder, incest, and marital faithlessness. The Bible records instances of perversion, adultery, betrayal, deceit, and dishonesty. Medieval literature is shot through with sex and violence. Elizabethan drama portrays revenge and unnatural lust.

If we accept this old literature as good literature despite its presentation of the unsavory aspects of life, we are forced to conclude that it is not the subject matter of books that makes them either good or bad. The quality of literature is finally judged not by the story it tells, but rather by how and why it tells the story.

The usual complaint of parents when they object to the literature their children are asked to read goes something like this: "I read a couple of chapters in that book, and I don't want my children reading that sort of stuff." The trouble with such a complaint is that it is made on the basis of partial understanding. It fails to take into account two things which are extremely important.

One is that the reading of only a couple of chapters of any book fails to give the reader an understanding of the purpose of the work, the why of the story. The justification of certain kinds of episodes in a story can be found only in relation to the purpose of the work. A play or a novel is, after all, a work of art. It therefore has a peculiar unity, and every part of the work is related to every other part and to its ultimate purpose. A repellent episode or a despicable character may be symbolically or dramatically necessary to the final observation which the entire work makes on the nature of human experience.

Furthermore, it is necessary to understand that the assignment of a particular book is, or should be, related to the purpose of the course in which it is assigned and to those of the entire process of education. The person who best understands these purposes and the methods of achieving them is, presumably, the teacher, who, if he is a professionally responsible person, will choose the best materials to achieve his pedagogical

New Costume Show Set For Tulip Time Festival

Plans are being completed this week for "Heritage of the Homeland," a featured attraction of the 1965 Tulip Time Festival which will be staged the evening of May 12 and the afternoon of May 14 in the "bulken riimte" of the Salvation Army Building, Ninth St. and Central Ave.

Holland persons will take leading parts in this production which shows authentic costumes of the various provinces of the Netherlands. Action of the scenes will be geared to life in each province, through costumes, produce, cultural arts or manufactured items.

Dutch "kinderen" (children) singing Dutch folk songs and playing Dutch games will appear in various scenes, dressed in costumes of the provinces.

Narration will relate Dutch history and the part the Dutch have played in America. One segment relates the historical note that one province was the home of two presidents, Teddy Roosevelt and Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose forefathers removed the prefix "van" from the name.

Local citizens are being recruited as participants, particularly persons who have authentic costumes and those with modeling experiences. The invitation is open to those from 6 to 60-plus. Some will be needed to sing Dutch songs, play Dutch games, and display Dutch treasures. Slides of scenes in the Netherlands taken by Mr. and Mrs. Nell Herfst will be shown as each province is introduced.

Auditions are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the auditorium of Herrick Public Library under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Kleis, chairman, and Mrs. Donald Hillebrands, director of script and narration. Others on the committee are the Herfsts, Lavina Cappon, Mrs. Duncan Weaver and Capt. William Stuart.

Area Firms Will Build New School

GRAND HAVEN — Three Zeeland-Holland area firms were awarded contracts to build a six classroom addition to Peach Plains elementary school in Grand Haven township by the Grand Haven Board of Education Thursday.

Stephenson Construction of Zeeland was awarded the contract after the firm submitted a low bid of $144,500, plus $2,115 for gravel for coating of a large parking area at the school, located on Comstock St. near Municipal Airport.

Bert Reimink is the mechanical contractor for Stephenson and Parkway Electric is the electrical contractor, both of Holland. Work is to start immediately and the new wing will be ready for use next Sept. 1, the contractor reported.

The total bid of $146,615 is somewhat higher than the estimate of Vander Meiden and Koteles, architects, made two years ago, caused by inflationary costs. The addition will include six classrooms and a materials center, to be erected on the east end of the present building. The project is a part of the $3.4 million building program in the enlarged school district, approved by the voters in November, 1963.

Others bidders were Erhardt Construction, Grand Rapids, $147,410; Martin Dyke & Sons, Holland, $148,728; J. W. Blouw, Grandville, $150,048; Ralph Taylor, Sparta, $156,336; and Alstrom Construction, Muskegon Heights, $157,452.

Bastian-Blessing Co., Grand Haven, was low bidder on kitchen equipment for the new $2 million junior high building, now being erected on Griffin St. in Grand Haven, at $25,699.75. There were two other bidders.

Ottawa Has Procedure On Felonies

GRAND HAVEN — A circuit judge and county prosecutor have teamed up to plug loopholes in the so-called grey zone between misdemeanors and felonies in embezzlements and larcenies.

Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith and Prosecutor James Bussard have combined backed by an opinion of Smith, to permit authorities to accumulate and pyramid misdemeanors into a felony.

Under the usual procedure, the charge is a misdemeanor if larceny involved is not more than $100.

The new procedure is an outgrowth of an unusual case decided last fall by the circuit judge and his opinion is attracting legal interest around the state.

In that case, a salesman was charged with keeping a total of $2,000 from various customers without producing the purchases. None of the amounts, however, was in excess of $100 and the defense claimed the charge was a misdemeanor.

"The people claim that the offense is a felony because the sum of money converted amounted to more than $100. Respondent claims the offense is not a felony because the sums of money converted came into his possession as sums less than the sum of $100 and it was necessary to add them together in order to secure a sum of more than $100."

"So the court is of the opinion that it is unimportant that the sums came into respondent's possession in amounts less than the sum of $100. The gist of the offense is the conversion. At that time the issue is: 'What was the amount converted,' the judge wrote.

Pressure increases sharply as the ocean descends. At four miles down, for example, ocean water crushes with a weight 640 times that of the atmosphere, or four and a half tons to the square inch. Man can stand little more pressure under water than 65 pounds to the square inch.

Grand Haven Plans Chapel At Cemetery

GRAND HAVEN — Plans for a chapel, similar to the one at Pilgrim Home cemetery at Holland, proposed for Lake Forest cemetery, were given a boost from the city council Monday night when $500 was approved for preliminary plans and specifications.

Superintendent Richard Lock of the cemetery board met with the council. Lock said the building would be 70 by 30 feet and would be located just inside the main gate on Lake Ave., where a temporary tent shelter has been erected for winter committal services this winter.

The building will cost about $15,000. The board has no funds for the building but it is hoped that the public will support the project.

The council met Monday with an engineer from Williams and Works who is planning to draw up possible water main extensions to Ferrysburg, across Grand River on the north. The Ferrysburg council has decided to seek its city water supply from Grand Haven as this is the most economical. Grand Haven township also is seeking water from Grand Haven.

Art Month Is Featured by Local School

March is Children's Art Month. Cities throughout the United States have set aside March as the month to observe the creative and artistic effort of children. This year, for the first time, the Holland Public Schools are making a concentrated effort to show what is creative, artistic and fun in the field of art.

The Downtown Merchants Division of the Holland Chamber of Commerce have cooperated by placing art work in store windows. Samples of drawing, painting, collage, and paper sculpture can be seen. These are examples of work that are typical of good creative art expression, not just the best of the artistic few.

At the Herrick Public Library, a different presentation of elementary art work is being shown. Art work from all grade levels in all media are shown and explained. Special emphasis is given to "Correlation of Art," and to "Art Education—Past and Present." The display which is in the auditorium is open to the public during library hours.

Art displays also are being shown this month at the various elementary schools in the halls, gym, and classrooms.

Christian Tops Zeeland In District

ZEELAND — A poised Holland Christian basketball squad scored 13 points in the final two minutes here Saturday night to take a hard fought 81-65 decision from the Zeeland Chix before 2,000 fans, enabling the Maroons to annex their 30th district tourney championship.

Leading 66-65 with 2:23 left, Coach Art Tuls' team came through under pressure to break the game open. During this final spell the Maroons hit 13 straight free throws as the Chix tried desperately to gain possession of the ball. In the final period the winners sunk 16 out of 16 from the charity stripe, although one was nullified by a lane violation. During the entire game, Christian connected on 31-38 attempts.

Christian's road to victory was a tough one as it tangled with an inspired Zeeland outfit that refused to quit. Coach Paul Van Dort's club could do little wrong in the first half as it probably played one of its best games of the season. First half shooting saw the Chix connect on 15 of 36 for 42 per cent. Overall, Zeeland shot 24 of 68 for 35 per cent.

It was a game of contrasts with the losers holding the upper hand throughout most of the first half, but never by more than five points, a margin they received at halftime when Ford Berghorst threw one in from midcourt at the buzzer.

The Chix upped their margin to seven immediately after the second half began. Then came the Maroon surge which saw them take the lead at 46-44 with 4:22 left in the period on a swisher by Tom Wedeven. Zeeland never tied the count again but narrowed it to one twice.

Both clubs got great individual performances from a number of players. For Holland Christian it was the board play of both Tom Deur and Larry Klaasen. Deur sat out all but four minutes of the second half but pumped in 26 points during his stay. Klaasen controlled the team during Deur's absence and came through with 21 points, most of them under great pressure, hitting nine out of nine at the charity stripe.

Jack Kalmink moved from his forward spot to guard when Deur left and did well while sub Paul Steggerda was tough on the boards tying center Harold Alferink with 15 rebounds apiece. Alferink got 13 of these in the second half. Although Wedeven didn't have his usual shooting night he still counted 14, connecting on eight for eight free throws.

For Zeeland, the play of Lloyd Schout was outstanding, as he closed out his basketball career at Zeeland. He came through with 25 points on some beautiful outcourt shots, besides serving as the team leader. Dave Costello hit well from the forward spot while center Bob Essink was tough on the boards.

Despite the victory, the Maroons had one of their poorer shooting nights hitting 25-72 for 35 per cent. Their worst period was the first hitting only 5-22 missing many of the layup variety.

After the Maroons had taken an early four-point bulge, the rest of the quarter was close with Zeeland holding a 15-13 margin at the first horn.

It was a wild second period with Schout and Deur matching shots for much of the quarter. Both hit 14 points in the stanza. Zeeland held one or two point margins during most of the period leading 25-23 at the midway point. At halftime, Zeeland led, 41-36.

After Zeeland moved the bulge to 43-36, led by Alferink's rebounding and fine shooting by Deur, Klaasen and Wedeven, Christian started to move and tied the count at 44-44. The Maroons were looking sharp with a five point bulge when Deur picked up his fourth personal and went to the bench. Despite the readjustment, Christian maintained the lead at 56-53 going into the last period.

Holland maintained the advantage by scant margins during the tense last period which saw Deur pick up his fifth personal foul after scoring one basket and setting up another during the 27 seconds he played. Jack Elenbaas, soph guard for the Chix, fouled out with 1:28 left.

Dutch Stop Mona Shores In District

Mike Lawson's five-foot jump er with eight seconds left gave Holland's basketball team an 84-82 double overtime win over Muskegon Mona Shores Saturday night in the Holland High fieldhouse and the Class A district championship.

With 1,281 paid fans sweating through the pressure-packed overtime, the 6'9" junior climaxed their anxiety with a basket to put Holland in the regional for the third time in five years.

It also concluded his finest performance as he meshed 35 points on 11 baskets in 22 tries and hit 13 of 15 free throws. Lawson took a pass from John Leenhouts and fired for the game-winning basket.

The final field goal came seconds after a jump ball at the Holland free throw lane. The Dutch gained possession, worked the ball around with Leenhouts firing a perfect pass to the big center. Leenhouts also intercepted a pass near midcourt as Mona Shores tried to set up another shot at the final buzzer.

Leenhouts had tied the game, 82-82 with 20 seconds remaining on a free throw. But he missed the bonus shot. Two jump balls followed with the second one, tipped by Bob Brolin, providing Holland with possession.

The Sailors had taken an 82-81 lead on a pair of Bob Forberg's free throws and clock showing 41 seconds. This pair wiped out Lawson's two free shots 19 seconds before which had given Holland an 81-80 edge.

Guerin Pierre, who had sent the game in the first overtime on a jumper with 37 seconds to play, fired a basket to give the Sailors a 78-76 lead in the second three-minute overtime but a Brolin push shot tied the score. Forberg hit a jumper before Cal Beltman's free throw at 1:40 put Holland within one. Lawson's free throws followed.

Brolin had kept Holland in the first overtime. He also got Holland's last basket of the regulation game on a driving lay-up with 52 seconds to play but Pierre matched it.

In the first two minutes of the initial overtime, Brolin made a rebound shot and a jumper for the only shots Holland got in the three minutes. But the four points didn't last as Forberg tied it 76-76 with 22 seconds to play. Holland set up a play but failed to get a shot away.

Mona Shores' fine fourth quarter sent the game into an overtime. The Dutch, who held 18-14 and 39-36 first half quarter margins, pushed to a 64-55 third period spread, their biggest of the game.

But a pesky zone press upset Holland and the Sailors had a 17-8 edge, enjoying one eight-point spurt in which they grabbed the lead for the first time, 68-66 with 2:14 left.

Ted Huebner's reverse layup gave the Sailors the lead and he added two free shots 50 seconds later for their only other regulation game edge, 70-68. But these were his last points as he fouled out with 2:35 left in the first overtime.

Huebner sank eight of 14 and made 22 while Tom Essenburg made 20 on eight of 25. Jim Wank had 12.

Holland's inside game worked the best it has this season as the Dutch passed to Lawson underneath. He had 19 points in the first half. Brolin was an effective sub as he hit on eight of 11 and ended with 16. Coach Don Piersma praised both players and felt Lawson's play was the game's "equalizer."

Lawson and Brolin helped Holland's percentage to soar to a fine 48 per cent with 31 of 65 from the floor. The Dutch had periods of 7-14; 7-15; 4-10; 2-2 and 2-6. The Sailors also 33 of 72 for 46 per cent and had quarters of 6-17; 8-17; 7-16; 7-14; 2-4 and 2-4. The Dutch made 22 of 35 free throws and the Sailors, 16 of 21. Holland led in rebounding, 32-25.

Holland takes a 14-4 mark in the regional while the Sailors ended with an 11-6 record. Holland will play Lansing Sexton Friday.

3 Teachers Hired for New Term

Contracts for three new teachers for the 1965-66 school year were approved by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night in the high school library.

The new teachers are Mrs. J. Lucile Ten Clay, of 94 West 11th St., wife of the Rev. Henry Ten Clay of Western Theological Seminary, and Mr. and Mrs. George P. Jacob of Holland who have taught the past year in Hudsonville.

Mrs. Ten Clay, who attended Central College in Pella, Ia., received an A.B. degree from Hope College last January. She has three children and has done substitute teaching in local public schools the last two years. She will teach social studies in E. E. Fell Junior High School.

Mrs. Jacob is the former Barbara Vander Werf of Holland who was graduated from Holland High School in 1960 and received an A. B. degree from Hope College in 1964. She will teach secondary school English and/or French. Her husband received an A.B. degree from Hope College in 1963 and by next June will complete requirements for a master's degree in special education at Western Michigan University. He will teach special education.

Supt. Ihrman also presented a preliminary report on the area vocational program which next year will take in Zeeland High School. West Ottawa High School has been in the local program since the spring of 1962. Donald Gebraad serves as director of vocational education. Myles Runk is coordinator of trade and industry and Robert Clark coordinates the distributive education program.

The program calls for costs to be calculated according to enrollments in the senior classes. The estimated cost of the program is set at $25,660. According to current figures, Holland High would share 47 per cent of the cost, West Ottawa 30 per cent and Zeeland 23 per cent. Meanwhile a survey is being conducted to determine the needs of vocational programs in the areas.

Supt. Ihrman presented a letter from the Federal district Board of Education asking that the Holland district accept seventh and eighth graders for 1965-66, the Federal district to pay tuition and provide transportation. Referring to policies adopted in May, 1963, which assured that Federal district students from 7th to 12th grades would be accepted, and again the following year when Harrington district was given assurance seventh and eighth graders would be accepted, so long as room was available, the board instructed the superintendent to inform Federal district that seventh and eighth graders would be accepted, so long as room is available. There are 35 to 38 Federal youngsters in the two grades. The board was informed that there is sufficient room in E. E. Fell Junior High School.

Supt. Ihrman also read a communication from Arthur C. Hills of Grand Valley State College in the matter of preliminary arrangements for selected GVSC students majoring in education to have teacher training in Holland public schools. The program calls for GVSC juniors to serve as teacher aides, and seniors to have classroom training. Donald Rohick, elementary school art consultant, called attention that March is Children's Art Month, and presented board members with examples of elementary art to hang in their offices, in some cases the work done by their own children. Rohick said some 25 downtown merchants were exhibiting samples of elementary artwork, that Herrick Public Library had arranged for an exhibit and that all elementary schools have displayed art in halls, gymnasiums and in classrooms.

Board Secretary Harry Friszel reported receiving $128,830 in state aid, representing one-sixth of the year's allotment.

A gift of $75 from Holland Wire Products was acknowledged with thanks.

Thomas Jefferson Principal Carroll W. Norlin invited the board to a special PTA meeting in Jefferson School March 15 at 7:30 p.m. for a program on special education. Dr. Richard Guenther, superintendent of schools at Hastings, will be the speaker. He is recognized as a leading authority in the field of special education.

High School Will Retain Block System

The block system will continue at Holland High School, but with some revisions, it was decided at a monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night in the library of the high school.

Supt. Donald Ihrman, who has worked on revisions with Principal Fred S. Bertsch Jr., said the new program provides for greater flexibility and brings into clearer focus the needs of vocational education, particularly the expanded program which is being designed to correlate vocational education in Holland, West Ottawa and Zeeland. Under the revised system, all students will have a guidance period every day instead of four days a week. This means all high school students will gather every day at 8 a.m. in the field-house for opening exercises. The new program allows for classes in blocks of one, two, three and four-hour periods.

Ihrman said experience has shown that shorter periods of time in such subjects as music and typing are more desirable than long blocks, but that the desirable long blocks in laboratory and vocational work will be retained.

The new system also allows for some additional course offerings. Board members are still studying the revisions and will keep in touch with the administration in the next few weeks as scheduling for fall classes begins and final details are worked out.

Professors Discuss 'Rusty Iron Curtain'

"The Iron Curtain is getting rusty," said Dr. Calvin Vander Werf, president of Hope College. "There is a chance for real understanding between the United States and Eastern Europe."

Vander Werf spoke at a Michigan International Relations Club Conference held on Hope's campus Saturday, where student and faculty representatives from several Great Lakes Colleges Association schools met to discuss U. S. relations with Eastern Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Vander Werf opened the conference in the afternoon with an illustrated report on their trip to Yugoslavia last year. In a symposium following an evening banquet in Durfee Hall, Dr. Irwin Abrams, Antioch College; Dr. Morris Branch, Albion College; Dr. Milton Yinger, Oberlin College; Dr. John Hollenbach, Hope College and Dr. Vander Werf discussed "U. S. Policy toward Eastern Europe."

Dr. Abrams criticized the Republican policy of avoiding cooperative relationships with Communist countries as being "utterly foolish." He commended President Johnson's efforts to "build bridges" between the U. S. and Eastern Europe through economic aid, trade and cultural exchange. He said we should try to nurture independence among these nations, fostering liberalization through contact.

Abrams also criticized the United States' West German policy, asserting that our efforts to strengthen that country hamper the establishment of good relations with Eastern Europe. He said the eastern Europeans still remember the horrors wrought by the Germans in World War II, and do not understand our country's policy in rearming them.

He said that too often we allow the West Germans to veto our proposals for better relations with Eastern Europe. While they attempt to refrain us from trade with these nations, they move in and establish very profitable economic relations with them.

Dr. Yinger concurred, and added that the memories of Munich (referring to appeasement before the outbreak of World War II) were "too stuck" in our minds. He asserted that many different policies are proposed in eastern European nations, and that the policy of the U. S. does much to determine which of their own proposals these countries adopt. By refusing relations with them, he said, we turn them back toward the U. S. S. R.

Dr. Branch, who declared himself a pacifist, said he did not agree with the "divide and conquer" policy many seemed to be advocating. "We are pulling them to our side because we think we have the only right answer," he said. "We cherish pluralistic standards in our own culture; why shouldn't we in the world? . . . I don't agree that the Communists are out to destroy capitalism."

Dr. Abrams said he agreed that the Communists were not bent on destroying capitalism. "What did Krushchev really mean when he said 'we will bury you'?" In their writings, Marx and Lenin say nothing about destroying capitalism, for they assume that capitalism will collapse on its own. The gravedigger is not the murderer. The Communists assume they will move in after capitalism falls of its own weight."

Dr. Hollenbach also criticized the "divide and conquer" policy, agreeing with Abrams that our aim should be to help people, not merely combat Communism to protect our own interests. He advocated that we put more emphasis on "humanitarianism in the Christian vein."

Land Owners Again Appeal In Allegan

ALLEGAN — Filing of $216, 130.82 in compensation, damages and interest marked an anniversary of sorts in Allegan probate court Monday.

It was three years ago that the court issued its first order of necessity making it possible for Consumers Power Company to start condemnation proceedings on land located in the "buffer zone" of their Overisel gas storage field. The longest legal proceedings in Allegan county history followed.

The 80 landowners in the fringe area contended from the first that the $75 an acre offered them as compensation was not enough for value of "gas in place" on their property.

Original awards of $315,000 in July of 1963 were whittled down to $190,800 last July 26, following an appeal by landowners. Awards at that time averaging $60 to a top of $200 an acre, were promptly appealed.

Allegan attorney John Nahan, following settlement announcements, again immediately filed notice of appeal on behalf of his landowner clients.

Leo W. Hoffman, Allegan, has represented the power company during the three years of litigation.

The three-man special court commission, who had to hear all arguments and pore over millions of words of testimony in the case, is composed of Benjamin Cibock, Walter Morris and Harland Paradine, all Allegan county residents.

PILINGS IN PLACE — Workmen are shown Monday driving the last of 14 pilings which will support the service bridge at Windmill Island. Work on the deck of the bridge is expected to begin next week and is expected to be completed in about two weeks. Each piling is driven 16 feet into the ground and will support 10 tons. Pilings will be driven this week for the authentic Dutch drawbridge carrying pedestrian traffic from the Windmill Island parking area to the mill site. The windmill's cap is slated to be put in place Thursday, and work is already started on the Post House. Barely visible behind the trees in the background is the mill "De Zwaan" and to the left is the canal over which the service bridge and footbridge will pass.
