Roamer Boat Co. Will Build Tugs In Coming Months

$991,200 Order Means
Increased Employment
For Next Three Years

The Roamer Boat company of Holland has been awarded a Navy department contract for almost one million dollars, it was announced Friday by Robert R. Linn, company president.

The negotiated contract for $991,200 calls for construction of 21 steel harbor tugs measuring 45 feet in length and with 200 horsepower.

The latest contract is in addition to one awarded last summer that called for 10 of the same type tugs. The bids to build 31 tugs are valued at slightly more than $1.5 million, and are to be delivered to New Orleans at the rate of one a month for the next three years.

The new contract also will mean a boost in employment at Roamer. At present, the company employs 23 persons and expects to boost total employment to 40 for the life of the contract. This will mean a payroll of approximately $600,000.

The contract was negotiated by telephone and letter with the Navy department, Linn commented, and did not necessitate the expense of going to Washington or any other costs.

"In brief," Linn said, "if you are building a comparable product that the Navy wants, they will come to you."

"It would not have been possible to obtain this contract without the assistance of Peoples State bank, and Clarence Jalving and other officials at the bank who took a very active part in securing the necessary working capital that a contract of this size necessitates," Linn said.

Expansion of the Roamer plant, just south of Holland city limits on US-31, was begun last summer and now is about 90 per cent complete, and plans call for completion as soon as weather permits.

The company has leased one acre of land at the Jesiek Brothers Shipbuilding company for outfitting and storage of government material, and will construct a small building for storage purposes. Jesiek Brothers also is installing a 25-ton hoist for launching the tugs.

The Roamer company will continue building 20 per cent of its normal production of Roamer Cruisers throughout the life of the contract, Linn pointed out.

John Kolenbrander will be in charge of the woodworking department, Peter Riemersma will be in charge of steel fabrication of all boats, and Lavern Lampen will be in charge of all mechanical, electrical and steamfitting for the entire plant.

Talk of Spring Buried by Snow

Holland's thoughts of spring-time weather were buried under a heavy snowfall today.

The surprise storm began during the night and continued spasmodically through the morning and early afternoon. At last look, it still was snowing.

The weatherman has little consolation to offer, either. He predicts continued snow for tonight with snow flurries for Friday. Temperatures are due to range between 25 and 32 degrees during the night and Friday.

About the only silver lining on the weather cloud is that spring begins officially just one week from today—March 20.

The raging storm swept across portions of the Midwest today, halting traffic and marooning livestock. The blizzard, driven by winds of up to 71 miles an hour, struck five Midwest states and was expected to dump six inches of snow in parts of Nebraska, the hardest hit state, by the time it quit.

Wisconsin and Upper Michigan were the next targets of the snow, brewed in the Rocky Mountain area. Michigan's Lower Peninsula also was in for strong winds and snow flurries.

Board Approves New Policies on School Discipline

Another Meeting Set
With Sending Districts
To Discuss Addition

The Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night voted to strengthen certain disciplinary policies in the high school.

The board approved administrative action suspending three senior high students, Arthur Arenas, Duane Gebben and Dan Hazebrook, for two weeks after the three and one other youth were involved in a drinking escapade Feb. 22, with two youths throwing bottles through windows of the high school.

The three youths had been put on probation last fall for breaking athletic training rules, and the current infraction was in direct violation to promises made at the time.

The board also felt that no student whose conduct is contrary to the general rules of good citizenship should occupy positions of honor, such as being on athletic teams or hold school offices. The board was informed Hazebrook had resigned as president of the senior class.

In separate action, the board asked athletic coaches to remove Frank Van Dyke from the basketball team. Van Dyke was married recently.

The board expressed regret in feeling it necessary to take firm steps in disciplinary problems, but was deeply concerned over morale in the entire school system.

Vice-President Jay L. De Koning presided at the 3 1/2-hour meeting in the absence of President E. V. Hartman who was ill.

Announcement was made that a follow-up meeting will be held April 16 for the local board and representatives from each of the sending districts to perpetuate a body with the view to drafting plans for a new high school addition to be built six or seven years hence, financed by both city and rural areas.

The board adopted a recommendation of the committee on schools that the class on social problems taught by Austin Buchanan be continued as part of the regular curriculum until such time as it proves to be ineffective.

A communication from the Michigan Conservation department listing reasons for and against a Saturday opening for the small game hunting season was read. The letter informed the board that hunting seasons are determined by the legislature.

The board approved a $100 salary increase next school year for school custodians plus $25 for each of the eight courses the custodians took and passed. The new budget calls for an outlay of $46,552, compared with $43,108 this year.

The board approved readjustments in the school insurance program, removing amounts on buildings and contents of East Junior high school and Froebel school and adding $245,000 for the new Lincoln school. The additional amount will be divided among local agencies on much the same basis as previous policies, all of which is worked through the Holland Insurance Agents' association.

Plans also were discussed for the meeting of Dr. Ralph Wernich, head of the vocational and industrial arts department of the University of Michigan, here March 18, 19 and 20 to study and recommend changes for the local curriculum.

The board approved the purchase of a $212.60 amplifier and speaker for use of the instructor in girls' physical education classes.

A request of the Holland School for Christian Instruction for use of the public school track and equipment to be used at times which would not conflict with the local schedules was granted, subject to the control and supervision of the superintendent and athletic department.

Claims and accounts for February totaled $64,033.93 of which $39,201.29 went for teachers' salaries and $3,581.96 for the building and site fund.

Mrs. John K. Winter gave the invocation. All trustees were present except President Hartman.

Howard E. King, 28, of route 3, Byron Center, demanded examination when arraigned before Park township Justice C. C. Wood Monday on charges of negligent homicide.

New High School Will Be Erected Near Present One

$210,000 Structure Needed to Relieve Overcrowded Rooms

Holland Christian School society in a special meeting in the high school gym Monday night adopted two proposals, granting authority to the Board of Trustees to proceed with the erection of a new high school unit. The proposed unit would be constructed on the south side of 20th street behind the present high school building at a cost not to exceed $210,000.

Proposals adopted by the group are: That the Board of Trustees be authorized to obtain detailed plans and specifications and arrange for the erection of the proposed unit at a cost not to exceed $210,000 so that, if possible, the building may be used by September, 1953; that the Board of Trustees on behalf of the society be authorized to borrow the additional funds needed to build the proposed high school unit and to grant such real estate mortgage or mortgages as may be deemed necessary by the board as security for the society's obligation, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed 5 per cent per annum.

Following a detailed report on enrollment figures, emphasizing the need for the new unit, a discussion followed concerning the plans and specifications. Only preliminary sketches and specifications were available to the group Monday night. It was pointed out that some minor changes may be necessary.

Much of the discussion and question period which followed was led by Supt. Bert P. Bos, Harold Vander Bie, chairman of the construction committee, Gerald Van Wyke, chairman of the planning committee and John Velkamp, chairman of the finance committee.

The proposed unit would be a two-story building of fire-proof construction. Preliminary plans call for four standard size classrooms on the first floor with a pupil capacity of 30-35 per room. The library unit equipped comfortably for 80-85 students, along with a librarian's workroom will also be included on this floor. In addition there will be a boys' washroom and storage room.

Three standard sized classrooms, a small classroom and a small room for student activities or for guidance and counseling will be located on the second floor. In addition there will be two large classrooms, one of which will be designed as a special room for art and mechanical drawing. It was pointed out that temporarily the room would be used for instrumental instruction.

The other room would be designated as a study hall with the possibility that it may be used later for home economics. Girls' washroom facilities would also be located on this floor.

It was also brought out that the unit would be located in such a manner that wings could be added to the structure to provide for a complete high school which could eventually supplant the present building. A boiler room will therefore be constructed adjacent to the south side of the new unit, sufficiently large to install an additional boiler to heat both the old high school building and any addition to the proposed structure.

A drive for funds for the new building was conducted in June, 1950. At present the total amount available in cash, bonds and pledges amounts to $167,955.19, the treasurer reported.

200 at First Meeting Of Child Guidance Series

More than 200 persons attended the first meeting of the mental health series on "Understanding Your Child" Monday night in Longfellow gymnasium, sponsored by the Adult Evening program and other agencies. Meetings are held each Monday at 8 p.m. in Longfellow school.

Mrs. Mary Weaver, consultant for the entire series of seven meetings, emphasized the importance of maturity and right attitudes in parents and teachers as a necessity for the security and happiness of children under their care. A parent who is continuously discontented with his lot or unstable in his or her relationships to daily home situations and problems causes serious adjustment problems in the child. Often so-called "bad" children in school are only releasing tensions or feelings of insecurity, fear or hatred that are fostered at home.

A middle path, Mrs. Weaver pointed out, is what parents strive to attain in dealing with children. Too much protection and direction is harmful to a child's maturing and adjustment; on the other hand, no guidance, no rules or restrictions can be equally harmful.

The greatest factor in producing a happy, wholesome, secure mental outlook in a child is a warm, enduring understanding and love between that child and his parents. A child who knows beyond doubt that he is loved and wanted can take punishment and direction without his sense of security being threatened.

A movie entitled "Angry Boy," produced by the Michigan department of mental health, illustrated pointedly how the attitudes of adults in a so-called good home can warp a child's thinking and make him feel unwanted and unloved. Portrayed also was the method by which the boy and his father were led to a better understanding of themselves and each other. A lively discussion followed.

Next week's topic will be "Relax, It's Normal." Persons are urged to submit ideas and suggestions to guide the committee in planning topic for remaining meetings.

Mrs. Weaver, a graduate of Bowling Green university and the University of Michigan, was formerly a teacher and now is consultant in the educational division of the state department of mental health.

Dr. Lubbers Opposes UMT

Universal Military Training was the subject of a talk by Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, president of Hope college, before the Kiwanis club Monday night at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Dr. Lubbers, who was introduced by Jack Plewes, club president, related some of his personal experiences and observations the past 10 years which has led him to oppose Universal Military Training.

"Probably the reason why this program is being pushed so strenuously now by the military," Dr. Lubbers said, "is because should the Korean situation be cleared up in the near future the program would lose its chance for success."

Dr. Lubbers expressed the opinion that "six months of training is likely to be of very little value to the 18-year-old boy if he is called on later within the seven and one-half year period that he would serve as a reserve."

There is considerable doubt as to the cost of this program, Dr. Lubbers said, although figures estimate cost the first two years will be at least six billion dollars.

Dr. Lubbers pointed out that 800,000 boys year after year would be involved with the military indicating that 400,000 persons would be needed for training the recruits.

"Every large nation in the world in past history that has gone into a military situation," Dr. Lubbers asserted, "has always sown the seeds of its own destruction."

"A free citizen makes the best army in the world. But the army is not the best organization for training a free citizen," Dr. Lubbers concluded.

Maroons Annex Third Straight District Crown

Holland Christian annexed its third straight district basketball crown on the Armory court Saturday night by smothering a scrappy Zeeland quintet 44-24 in the class B finals. It was Christian's sixth straight victory and qualified them for play in the Kalamazoo regionals this week.

Considering the intense rivalry between the two schools, the Maroons played a superb ball game to outclass the upset-minded Zeeland aggregation. One of the largest crowds ever to witness a contest in the Armory turned out to see the championship game.

Although the Maroons offense functioned smoothly throughout the tilt, it was Christian's defense which stole the show. The Dutch defense was exceptional and was a real tribute to the long hours of defensive drilling put on by Coach Art Tuls and his squad throughout the season. The Chix seldom got away an unhurried shot, perhaps accounting for their low basket total in the game.

One of the best individual defensive performances was turned in by Christian's Tony Diekema who held Zeeland's high scoring Glenn Schrotenboer to just eight points—six coming in the final quarter. Diekema got plenty of help from his teammates who closed in on the Chix star every time he got the ball.

Tuls was particularly pleased with the way his squad adapted their offense to the types of defense used by Coach Joe Newell's club. The Dutchmen played their methodical, control game against the Zeeland man-to-man defense throughout the first half. However in the third quarter, the Dutch had to use different formations to outwit the Zeeland defense. Then in the final quarter, the Chix went back to the conventional man-to-man style.

Another big factor in the Maroon victory was control of the backboards. Jim Kok along with Earl Schipper and Jack Borra handled this department well. Coach Newell's club had plenty of fight and made things interesting for the first minutes of the ball game. Then with the count knotted at 4-4, Christian's outcourt men, Diekema, Dave Schreuer and Merle Van Dyke came through with 11 quick tallies to send the Dutch into a 15-6 first quarter lead.

Play was slow and marred by frequent jump balls in the second quarter with both clubs playing on fairly even terms. By halftime the count was 22-12. Just as the half whistle sounded, Zeeland's Howard Geerlings came through with a long one hander.

Using outcourt shooting to good advantage against the Zeeland zone in the third quarter, the Dutch pushed through eight points in 21 minutes to give them a commanding 30-14 margin. By the end of the period, the locals led 34-16.

It was strictly no contest from here on with both coaches substituting freely in the final minutes.

Diekema was the game's leading scorer with 19 tallies. Schrotenboer and Geerlings paced the Chix with eight points apiece. Both boys also turned in good floor games. Schrotenboer had four fouls charged against him early in the game but was still playing good ball when the contest ended.

Zeeland hit on eight of 18 foul chances while Christian managed to connect on 10 of 23 tries.

SENTIMENTALIZING

ELIZABETH II

The public relations department of the British royal house is hard at work sentimentalizing England's new queen. An almost maudlin story from London, under the by-line of a foreign correspondent, headlines Elizabeth II as a "poor, lonely girl." The story itself almost weeps ink over the terrible fact that "although she is now the head of an empire, routine consumes Elizabeth's private life." It will be a "lonely life from now on for Elizabeth" we are further informed.

The poor dear—we are expected to shed hot tears because as queen the 25-year-old Elizabeth will have to observe certain proprieties. She can't go to hot parties at London night clubs, because that "isn't done" by a queen, to use British phraseology. She can't let her hair down by visiting the public resort beaches, because, once more, such things just aren't done by royalty.

There are of course a great many restrictions, some of them rather important, some of them trivial. Being a queen, Elizabeth doubtless would like to do a lot of things that the dignity of her position prevents her from doing. And of course a ruling sovereign is compelled to follow a more or less fixed routine.

But, beginning with the last-named item first, who is there among commoners who does not have to follow a fixed routine if he or she wishes to make a living? There are hundreds of millions of people who have to conform to routines just as strict as the one that England's queen will have to observe. And they will have to do it at a compensation a thousand times less than the paycheck the queen draws down from her government. But no one sheds sentimental tears about such people. Nor is there any reason why tears should be shed—either about them or about Elizabeth II.

As to the other restrictions about which the foreign correspondent weeps poetically and rhetorically, what position of any kind of trust is there that does not involve many restrictions? The hobo is almost the only person in the social scale who is more or less free from social restrictions, and even in hobodom there are some things that "aren't done."

Queen Elizabeth II appears to be a wholesome young woman. She deserves the sympathetic goodwill of at least the Anglo-Saxon world. But other queens of England—Elizabeth I and Victoria as two examples—led pretty interesting lives, far from loneliness, and there seems no good reason to turn sentimental about the sad and lonely lot of England's new queen. Let's all throw away the crying towel. There are other things that need our attention like our own government waste of our tax dollars.

Sunday School Lesson

March 16, 1952
Timothy
Acts 16:1-3; Philippians 2:19-34
2 Timothy 2:1-5

By Henry Geerlings

Emphasis is being placed more than ever on leadership education. It is believed that the best church work is done by trained workers. Every worker in the church is a leader, setting an example for others to follow. It is not to be supposed that workers in the church does not call for qualification and skill. No longer dare it be said that being a good man equips him for serving the Lord. Our times demand none but the best to work in and for the church. But this demand is an old one. Jesus selected and trained men.

The story of Timothy tells of his early training, of his special teaching by Paul and of his experiences into growing into a good minister of Jesus Christ. He was fitted for the distinctive call which made him Paul's helper and later, a minister, trusted with the oversight of churches. He was prepared for his place in the church by his home, his church and by particular training. These agencies are still called upon to prepare persons for work in the church.

Young people have exceptional opportunities for training today. If they have Christian home training and example, and have allowed the church to do for them what it is prepared to do for them they are ready for specialized training for a definite work in the church. The apostle's letter written to Timothy from prison in Rome, shows his confidence in Timothy as a well trained Christian.

Paul could entrust Timothy with enlarged work for the church. His prayers had been said on Timothy's behalf. So satisfactory was Timothy's work that Paul wanted to see him. Back of Timothy was the example of home folk, a devoted mother and grandmother. He had under him a well laid foundation. From a child he had known the Scriptures. He had been brought up in the Jewish church, and as a Christian, he had stood on the truth of the word of God.

His life was being constantly developed for Christian work. Though endowed by God he was to keep his divine gifts stirred up, active in service. Courage was to be his always. He need not fear, for the spirit of power, love and discipline was his from God. There was no need for shame as he stood for the gospel through which countless blessings had come to humanity, and unto which Paul had been called to devote his life. So Timothy was out before the church and the world building for Christ.

The trained Timothy was not to forget the danger of losing his grip on sound teaching. This was to be safeguarded at all hazards. However, the Holy Spirit in his life would help guard the truth. So Timothy became a Christian worker through the careful training which is essential in becoming a Christian worker. What was true for Timothy remains true for all who would be workers.

Available helps for training a Christian worker in the modern day must be accepted and used if the church is to carry on its work effectively. The Christian home stands first. It has the first place in directing the child's religious life. Much is being done today to help parents maintain a Christian home and give Christian teaching to their children. What are the marks of a Christian home? Is the busy life of our day an insurmountable barrier to Christian teaching in the home?

Next comes the church school, graded to meet the needs of the children at each age. The school does not supplant the home, but it assists the home in providing symmetrical Christian training. Mention should be made of the church service of worship as a means of Christian training for children and young people.

An impetus to seeking better training for Christian work is to understand the various phases of church work. These ought to be presented and explained. It ought to be made clear that a good church worker is sympathetic with every kind of work the church does, but special attention should be given to some piece of work for which he is best fitted. Timothy was such a worker. He did not do everything, but entrusted other work to others.

It would be exceedingly difficult to overestimate the important part that teachers take in the development of the life of the nation. They exercise their art not on the materials of this world, which pass away but upon the human soul, where it will remain through all eternity. It is the teacher that makes the school, that sets its standard and determines its success or failure. It is not too much to say that the need of civilization is the need of teachers. The contribution they make to human welfare is beyond estimation.

Rev. Marcus Addresses Woman's Literary Club

"Words to Live By" was the topic presented by the Rev. Marcus of First Reformed church, Milwaukee, Wis., before the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon. The chief purpose of life is to make a record, and we cannot be casual about the record we are making as citizens in these war times, the speaker said.

"To think without confusion clearly," means we must not think negatively, to seek truths, Rev. Marcus said. "Religious faith helps one to think positively."

"To love your fellow man sincerely," the second word, is to respond to acts instead of to react. The speaker advised the club women to express genuine appreciation and encouragement often as it acts as a tonic to other people.

Third word to live by is "to act from honest motives purely" by which one tries to transmute worthy intentions into acts. "One

VFW to Sponsor Circus in City

Stars from 18 nations will be in Holland with Mills Brothers circus for one performance Saturday, June 14.

The local Henry Walters Veterans of Foreign Wars post 2144 will sponsor the local appearance. Details were announced today by Commander Watson Lundie, who recently completed contract negotiations with Mills Bros. officials.

The 1952 edition of the three-ring circus includes almost 500 personnel from 18 different countries and trained animals, including 40 tons of elephants. Mills Bros. prides itself in being the "largest circus under canvas devoted to aiding local fund campaigns." The circus regularly tours cities under sponsorship of civic, service and charitable groups.

Heaviest proceeds, according to Lundie, will come from advance ticket sales, which will be launched soon.

Mills Bros. is unique in that it does not show on Sundays, and it carries its own minister at all times.

The show will include jumping horses, the elephants, a menagerie of other animals, trapeze, tight wire, juggling, acrobatic and aerial artists and all other elements that make up a circus.

Final Figures Are Submitted For Polio Drive

A total of $13,215.73 has been collected in Holland area in the 1952 polio drive, according to the Holland Inter-Club council which sponsored the campaign here for the Ottawa county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

It was the first time the project was carried on by the Inter-Club council, made up of all service clubs in the city. The group was headed by Wilbur Cobb of Kiwanis club. Other representatives were Kenneth De Pree, Rotary; William Aldrich, Exchange; Lester Deridder, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Ernest Phillips, Optimists, and Robert Bontekoe, Lions.

The sponsoring group considered the drive successful, even though the goal of $19,275 was not reached. Each club took full responsibility of a definite phase and carried on the work in full. Sharing the polio responsibilities among a larger group promoted a greater interest to the cause.

The Inter-Club council expects to organize a permanent committee to serve on a rotating basis for future drives.

A breakdown of funds collected follows, listing 1952 figures first and 1951 figures second: Plank, $1,027.37 and $1,323.90; wishing well, $196.24 and $266.55; schools, $670.42 and $1,114.59; individuals, $337.50 and $801.81; organizations, $713.80 and $1,619.81; church, $1,213.58 and $1,913.42; industry, $4,726 and $4,304.10; merchants, $2,162.85 and $2,387.74; canisters, $585.81 and $926.88; parking meters, $278.10 and $108.40; special events, $1,304.06 and $2,044.74; totals, $13,215.73 and $15,811.84.

Although the drive ended officially Jan. 31, Chairman Cobb said it was impossible to submit a final report at that time since several organizations sponsored special events during February. He said contributions are still being received and expressed appreciation for the co-operation and contributions given in the drive.

Special Duty Officer Completes 32 Years at Armory Cage Games

With the conclusion of the basketball season last week, Egbert (Eggie) Beekman wound up 32 years as a special duty officer at the Armory.

Beekman has been on duty at the main entrance of the Armory every Holland high school game since 1920, and every Hope college contest during the past 22 years. Naturally, he has become almost an institution with local hardwood fans.

Main duties of Beekman and other doormen at the Armory is to let the crowds in the doors, keep them under control and maintain peace and order. Fortunately, there never have been annual Holland-Grand Haven and Holland-Muskegon games as the top crowd pullers on the prep level in his experience, right along with the Hope-Kalamazoo and Hope-Calvin games on the collegiate level. These games usually draw capacity crowds.

Beekman commented that it's easier to seat more people for a high school game, because most fans are students and don't mind being jammed closer together.

The average crowd these days—especially during the just closed season—is larger than in former years, Beekman said. But he remembers the Holland-Grand Haven games back in the late '30s as some of the top crowd drawers of his recollection.

"Basketball nowadays is a lot faster than when I started working at the Armory," Beekman commented. "It's higher scoring and the crowd becomes a lot more excited."

Some of the local stars who stand out in his mind include Harold Tanis, Ted Van Zanden and Louis Japina, all former Holland high stars.

Besides his basketball duties, Beekman also works during football season at Riverview park.

Chix Start Late, But Pull Out Win Over South Haven

In a rough and tumble contest in which some players spent more time on the floor than on their feet, Zeeland high school cooled off a sharpshooters South Haven squad Thursday night to defeat the Rams 45-35 and advance to the B district finals Saturday night.

South Haven started out like it meant business Thursday, hitting on the first four shots that Ram players took to pyramid an 8-1 advantage during the first three minutes. Then the ice-cold Zeeland squad entered into the spirit of things but the game was about six minutes old before Allen Kraal garnered the Chix' first field goal on an under the basket shot.

From there, Zeeland went on to a 9-8 lead, but two free throws by Bob Thomas in the last minute of the period put South Haven into a 10-9 lead.

With wily Glenn Schrotenboer leading the way in the second stanza, Coach Joe Newell's Chix outscored the Rams 15-12 to build a halftime lead of 24-22. In the hectic second quarter, the score was close all the way with never more than three points separating the clubs.

Whatever Coach Ade Slikkers told his Rams at halftime surely didn't work out. In the third stanza, South Haven collected only two points—both on free throws—as the tempo of the game slowed down. Zeeland only hit for seven points as repeated jump balls under both baskets kept scoring limited.

Things livened up somewhat in the final quarter, despite more under-the-basket grappling for the ball. The Chix outscored the Rams 14-11, and lengthened their lead to 10 points in the final minute.

Graydon Blank, livestock specialist from Michigan State college will be on the tour as resource person, according to A. D. Morley, county agricultural agent.

At 10:40 the group will go to the Charles Miller farm, one mile south and 14 miles west of Roberts Bros. Other stops and times are: Norman Morris, west side of Dumont lake, 11 a.m.; Teusink farm, 14 miles south of Max Morris farm, 11:15 a.m.; John Brokus, 11:30 a.m., one mile east of Teusink farm; and Bert Miller farm 24 miles north of Allegan at 11:40.

After lunch in Allegan, the group will tour the Elton Weaver farm at 1:15 p.m.; the Marion Busfield farm, five miles out on Pullman road, 2 p.m.; Amos Busfield farm, one mile west of Chicora, 2:30; Bill Walzak, one mile west of Chicora, one mile north and 4 miles west, 3:15, and the tour ends at 3:30.

Bremer Selected By Hope Players For Two Honors

Junior Bremer, senior from Holland, has been named by his teammates on the championship Hope basketball team to two separate distinctions for his play this year—most valuable player and team captain.

The six-foot former Holland Christian high school star has rounded out four years of varsity competition at Hope, collecting a total of 539 points during his career.

Bremer started college competition as a guard, switched to center as a sophomore and junior, and consented to change back to guard during the present season. During the 1950-51 season, Bremer was the offensive star of the Hope squad from his pivot position, but changed over to the back guard slot when Coach John Visser installed his run-and-shoot style of play this season. Content to let his teammates pile up the larger points totals, Bremer was considered indispensable in retrieving balls off the defensive backboard and as a safety valve against an opponent's fast break.

Coach Visser termed Bremer the best defensive rebounder in the MIAA, as well as the best defensive rebounder Hope college ever has had. Bremer also scored 123 points during the past season, mostly on long shots.

Playing on the 1947 and 1948 Holland Christian high school teams, Bremer was a teammate of Duane Rosendahl, now winding up his career at Calvin college. During their college years, these two boys played against each other year after year. While at Christian, the two were coached by Art Tuls, present Christian mentor.

Playing center last season under Coach Russ De Vette, Bremer was placed on the all-MIAA squad.

The team captain has completed his eligibility and will graduate next February. He has his eyes

Junior Bremer on a high school teaching and coaching position.

One of the few married men on the Hope athletic picture, Bremer's wife is the former Kathryn De Vette, sister of former Hope Coach Russ De Vette.

As Hope's most valuable player, Bremer will enter consideration for the Randall C. Bosch award for the MIAA's most valuable player. Only other team selection made as yet is John Porter of Albion college.

Durand Man Begins Suit Against Holland Man

Grand Haven (Special)—Suit was commenced in Ottawa Circuit Court Saturday against Frank M. Ristau, Holland, by Oren C. Smith, Durand, in which Smith is asking the court to assess such damages as he may be entitled to because of removal of, and damage done to, three tractors he had rented to Ristau.

Smith claims that Ristau, since renting the tractors, has embarked upon a course of action calculated to put plaintiff in debt to Ristau, and asks that the latter be enjoined from hiding the tractors or from taking parts from same.

Smith also feels that Ristau should be required to make a full accounting of all transactions involving the use, repair and present whereabouts of the tractors. Ristau is also charged with opening and retaining plaintiff's mail and cashing his checks.

Singing Boys of Norway Present Unique Concert

The remarkable Singing Boys of Norway sang in Hope Memorial chapel Thursday evening before one of the largest audiences ever assembled in the huge auditorium. Captivating in their pert white sailor garb and long blue capes, the young artists presented a program unique in its appeal and perfection.

Under a masterful conductor, Ragnvald Bjarne, the choir of youngsters and young men displayed a mastery of musical techniques and a beautiful blending of young sweet soprano voices and the mature tenor and bass of the older choir members. Their program was well planned to show their versatility from the tender "Wiegenlied" cradle song by Fies to the very grand "Exultate Deo" by Da Palestrina.

A procession to "Great Amen" by Olavsknaben began the program. On stage, the boys first presented "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by their own national anthem, "Ja Vi Elsker Dette Landet."

Several soloists were featured, including a famous 11-year-old Pelle, who has an amazingly clear and beautiful soprano voice. The cradle song, "Wiegenlied," featuring a small group of sopranos with Pelle singing the cadenzas, was especially appealing. The small group also presented Mozart's "Alleluia," in which all their fine training and technique was evident. These numbers were done with delicate piano and violin accompaniment. Pelle returned to the stage for an encore, sung with violin and piano, which became a highlight of the program.

Another featured soloist was Arvid Aasen, tenor, who first appeared with choir background in the beautiful "Hear My Prayer" by Mendelssohn, a hymn from the Psalms of David written for Jenny Lind. Aasen also appeared as soloist in an outstanding interpretation of "I Himmelen (In Heaven)" by Grieg, which the composer wrote a few days before his death.

The choir's pianist, Melvin Simonsen, also appeared as soloist, giving brilliant performances of Grieg's Norwegian Dance and "March of the Dwarfs" as well as an encore number.

The violinist, Eivind Bull-Hansen, completely captured the audience with his "Violin-Romance in D" by Svendsen, great Norwegian folk dances, accompanied by violin music reminiscent of American square dancing and sung in "round" fashion.

"Misere Mei Deus" by Allegri, the tremendous "Rex Tremendae Majestatis" and the sweet "Ave

Charles R. Sligh Urges Reduction In Federal Budget

New York (Special) — If the government accepts the recommendation of the National Association of Manufacturers for a reduction of $14.8 billion in the $85.4 billion federal budget, "it will mean a saving of $95 for every man, woman, and child in the United States."

So said Charles R. Sligh, Jr., president, Charles R. Sligh Co., Holland, Mich., in a radio broadcast last night. Sligh, who is vice chairman of the NAM's public relations advisory committee, pointed out that the average family's tax bill is $100 more than its food bill, since it pays $900 a year for food and $1,000 per year for direct and indirect or hidden federal taxes.

"On the other hand, if the budget isn't cut," Sligh continued, "it will not only increase the cost of government and increase the federal debt, but even more important to all of us is the fact that it will decrease the value of our money and stimulate further inflation."

Sligh said industry believes $6.5 billion can be cut from the military budget "without undermining our defense effort or giving up one gun, tank, or plane." The biggest military saving, he declared, could be achieved by cutting $2.5 billion from the proposed appropriation labeled "acquisition and construction of real estate."

Sligh indicated belief that the budget allocations for foreign aid can be cut by nearly $4 billion from the $11 billion asked for foreign economic aid and military assistance.

"What the administration is proposing," he emphasized, "is that we in America write off and absorb all the consequences of bad economic, fiscal, and social policies throughout the world."

"Now this can't be done with $11 billion or any amount like that. It's time we thought of the danger to a free world from a disastrous further inflation here. Certainly the amount of money the administration wants to spend would bring on an additional dose of inflation."

Sligh declared that there are a considerable number of what he called "foot-in-the-door" programs in the proposed 1953 budget.

"These usually start out with a small sum of money," he explained. "But once the commitment is made, they 'snowball' until we're spending terrific amounts."

Southeast Ottawa DHIA Testers Hold Their Annual Meet

Group Points Out That Records Broken During Last Year

Grand Haven (Special) — Members of the Southeast Ottawa DHIA held their annual meeting at Bosch's restaurant, Zeeland, Feb. 28, with more than 50 people present.

Dick Machiele, Kent county agricultural agent, and a former Ottawa county resident, showed colored slides taken in Canada. Dick acted as agricultural agent to a group of Dutch immigrants to Canada.

The pictures were an eye-opener in showing how people can prosper under what we would consider adverse conditions.

Bob Campbell, 4-H club agent, reported on the 4-H dairy project and requested members to help out in this important phase of 4-H activities.

Owen Francens, tester, commented on the year's program. Average production of all herds was 401.23 pounds of fat per cow, the highest ever attained by this association. This is almost twice the state average for all cows. Members follow the best approved practices in carrying on dairy work.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, remarked that he never expected to see this high average production of more than 400 pounds for every cow under test. When he came to the county 18 years ago, there were few cows which produced 300 pounds of milk. Averages went up gradually year by year until in 1950 the figure reached 384 pounds.

Arnold attributes much of this gain to the emphasis put upon "grass" during recent years. Liming of soils, better seed, more fertilizer, grass silage, better harvesting practices all play a part in this increase of production. Added to this is better breeding.

All members of the association are careful in breeding to good sties, many of them proved sires. Many members have turned to artificial breeding as promoted by Jack Van Hoven several years ago. Use of these proved sires is showing up in better bred cattle on many farms.

Twenty-three herds finished the year under test. Average milk per cow counting all dry cows, was 9727 pounds milk per cow or about 28 pounds milk per day for each cow.

Many items in the year's record cannot be given in one article. However, it is interesting to note that high producing cow, owned by Earl Mulder, Zeeland, shows a record of 740.4 pounds fat and 18,861 pounds milk. Reduce this to a daily average, it shows over 50 pounds for every day of the year or more than two pounds of butterfat per day.

Egbert Schutt Heads Four Generations; Will Be 82

Schutt Family Four Generations

Egbert Schutt of 152 Central Ave., who will celebrate his 82nd birthday anniversary on Friday, March 14, heads this four-generations group, all of whom bear the Schutt name. Left to right are Egbert Schutt, his son, Harry Schutt, of 140 West 16th St., the latter's son, Raymon Schutt of route 2, and the youngest member, Kenneth Schutt, six months old.

An unusual feature in the story of these four generations is the fact that each has lived on the same farm at route 2. The great grandfather started the farm in 1894. He cleared the grounds and built a small two-room house on the original 40-acre plot. He began his farming career with a team of oxen, one cow and 10 chickens. He continually improved the place until 1922, when he retired from farming and his son, Harry, took over. He farmed until 1950 and his son, Raymon, has been working the farm for the last two years.

The Schutt farm today is a far cry from the 40-acre clearing of 1894. Now a modern dairy farm of 97 acres, there are two tractors in place of the original oxen, all modern equipment is at hand and the third and fourth generation Schutts live in a modern farm home.

Little Kenneth, who someday may be the fourth member of the family to run the Schutt farm, is the elder Mr. Schutt's only great grandchild who bears the Schutt name. Mr. Schutt's wife, the former Nellie Brouwer, died in 1910.

Sinking Shanties Prove Expensive For Fishermen

State Law Requires That Shanties Be Removed Before Thaws

Failure to remove fish shanties from Lake Macatawa when seasonal thaws set in proved to be expensive for two persons who paid fines and costs of $24.40 each when they appeared last week before Justice C. C. Wood of Park township.

Paying such fines were Dick De Jonge, route 2, and Jake Knoll, route 1, who were specifically charged by Conservation Officer Elmer Boerman with allowing their shanties to sink through the ice. Fines were $10 apiece and costs of $14.40 included a $10 charge for removing the shanty from the water.

A state law requires all ice fishermen to remove shanties before they go through the ice. Since each owner is required to post his name on the shanty, sinking shanties are readily identified and owners are notified to remove them. If they fail, removal orders follow.

The two cases were among 12 processed in Wood's court last week bringing in fines and costs totaling $144.50.

Other cases follow:
Leon Kolan, route 4, defective muffler, US-31 in Holland city, $7.

Kenneth H. Tibbe, 930 Franklin S. E., Grand Rapids, speeding 50 miles in a 45-mile zone, M-21 in Zeeland township, $7.

Harvey Lugten, route 4, speeding 45 in 35-mile zone, Lakewood Blvd., $7.

Bernard J. De Vries, route 4, right of way, Butternut drive in Park township, $12.

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

Imagine finding a strange dog with a litter of new puppies in your dog's doghouse... and your own dog forced outside.

That was the situation that confronted the Vearly Coffman family on Lakewood Blvd. one morning last week. Their dog Spot had been forced out of his happy home and a strange dog had set up housekeeping with a brand new family. The Coffman children were quite excited about it, naturally.

At first it appeared that the interloper, a sleek black cocker, had four puppies. Before the day ended, the family learned the dog belonged to Mrs. Gertrude Topp who lives on Division Ave., nearby.

When the Topp's came over to claim their dog and the new family, they found seven puppies! And Spot could have his house back.

This little story came from one of our good friends.

It seems two Holland girls were at a theater in Chicago when a man sitting next to them was plagued by a nasty tickle in his throat. Finally, the girl sitting next to him dug into her purse for a cough drop and passed it to him. He thanked her and the cough subsided.

Later the tickle returned and she gave him another cough drop. Then it happened a third time.

After the show the girls went out to dinner, and when the girl opened her purse she was alarmed to learn she hadn't even opened the cough drop box. What in the world had she been giving the man? She dug to the bottom of her purse and found she had been giving him some samples of plant food!

The girls were alarmed, thinking they may have poisoned the stranger. After all, sometimes those compounds have nicotine and goodness knows what. So they went to the nearest police station where a sympathetic sergeant listened to their tale.

Then he placed a long distance call to the manufacturer whose name appeared on the same. The answer came back. The pellets might make a man a bit sick, but there was no cause for alarm.

Anyway, they did stop his cough!

The Chamber of Commerce received a gracious note some time ago from Alice Williams of Sacramento, Calif., expressing appreciation for the Dutch costume pattern they arranged to send her. She used the costumes at a folk dance festival.

Remember the quip in the volleys column a week ago about

What's this? Cops getting beauty treatments now? This picture of smiling Sgt. Ralph Wolrding of the Holland police department was snapped by Mrs. Harold Schaap, director of the Men's chorus of Fourth Reformed church of which the genial policeman is a member.

The chorus was having a rehearsal at the Schaap home one night when Ralph wandered into the sunroom where Mrs. Schaap, a former beauty operator, has some equipment. He sat under the drier and... you know what happened.

GRANDSTANDING...

by Dick Millman
The Grand Rapids city basketball league didn't come out too well in the first inter-conference test against Southwestern conference teams.

Southwestern leaders Kalamazoo and Holland had a field day against Grand Rapids tail-enders South and Catholic, while doormat Benton Harbor forced co-champion Christian into overtime before losing.

Another interesting comparison will begin in Grand Rapids tonight, with Muskegon, Grand Haven and Muskegon Heights representing the Southwestern and Creston, Union, Ottawa and Central running for Grand Rapids.

A certain segment of Kalamazoo school students must get down to Western Michigan gym at about 2:30 on the afternoon of a game and nail down a choice section of bleachers directly behind the scoring bench at mid-floor.

Since we've been going to games at the Bronco gym, this same type of gathering has held sway directly behind us. And the collected cheering and heckling power of hundreds of lusty-voiced young men certainly must have some effect on the players. We know it does on the scorers. Home floor advantage again.

Clarence Greengood's flea story? Lots of people have been asking him about it, and he is willing to tell it. But it's one of those cute stories told with accent and motions and quite lost on paper. Just ask him.

Clifford Hammond, of 185 East Fifth St., may as well give up when it comes to cribbage. For a mere man, he just can't win.

His wife, Phyllis, came up a short time ago with a perfect cribbage hand—29 points.

That's remarkable enough in itself, but it was the second time in six months that she did it! What can a man do against luck like that? What's more, he taught her how to play.

As for other city hall chitchat, you might ask Mac McClintock how it feels to do business from under the table.

Mac was at the Kiwanis meeting sometime ago and the program was in progress when a telephone call came for him. The crowd was unusually large and the Centennial room was so crowded he couldn't get around the table. So he started under the table to get through, and an obliging Kiwanian handed him the phone at the same time, so the conversation went on from there. Other Kiwanians passed him bread and water under the table. The speaker never saw what happened.

Remember that volley about Joe Shashagay, Holland's 230-pound building inspector, splashing all the water out of the bathtub when he fell some time ago? When someone questioned whether Joe got hurt, Municipal Judge Cornelius Vander Meulen came up with the perfect tagline: "It was soft water!"

This story came from the Public Works Pow Wow.

Some Mexican tenants in a local home were using electric current "improperly" and BPW Inspector Henry Looman called at the place to investigate. No one came to the door, so Looman entered and proceeded with the investigation. Sure enough, he found an extension cord leading out the window, clipped on the wires!

That was evidence. So he started coiling the cord. It led into the next room and right to an old Mexican holding the socket at the end of the line, surrounded by his family.

Outrumbered Looman went to the police station and returned with Gil Tors, the biggest man on the force. After a few lectures, the whole matter was straightened out.

Who said Harold Karsten looks like England's King George who died recently?

Infant Dies at Birth At Holland Hospital

The district crown won by Saugatuck was the third one in succession for Coach Harley Henderson and his Indians. For the past two years, Saugatuck won district titles in the Grand Rapids tourney before being shifted to Holland's D meet this year. In regional play these two years, the Indians advanced to the finals in 1950 and were knocked out in their second game last year.

Coach Henderson made an agreement with his players before the tourney here began. If the boys went all the way to win the title, Henderson agreed to go all the way back to Saugatuck on foot. The first thing his boys said when they whooped over to the bench as the final whistle sounded Saturday was, "Now you've got to walk home, Coach."

So after the second game, Coach Henderson manfully braved the snowstorm and headed southward on foot. He walked three miles out before he was persuaded to give up his escapade and accept a ride to Saugatuck.

On the serious side of the ledger, Henderson commented after the game that there was no game he wanted his team to win this year worse than Saturday's contest.

"Even so," Henderson said, "I can't help but feel sorry for the boys on the Hopkins team. They were really planning big things this year."

Coach Pete Johansen of Hopkins pointed out that three times his team has lost this season, and all three times the games were played on nights when school was not in session during the day. Twice the reverses came on Saturdays, and once on a teacher's institute day. Coincidence, or jinx? Johansen would like to know.

The two games Saturday were the last ones referee Russ Waters will work in Holland. He is quitting the officiating game after 22 years and hundreds of appearances in Holland. When Waters started out with the whistle, one of his early working partners was Bill Vande Water of Holland.

An independent basketball tournament will be held at South Haven later this month, and at least three teams from the Holland city league will take part.

After an absence of one year, the South Haven tourney will get underway March 24 and run through April 2. Either 12 or 14 teams will be entered.

From Holland, three teams are set definitely. Fox Jewellers, Allen Radio and Washington Square will be in competition. Pete's Place, which won the title for two years in a row at South Haven, also might be entered.

Other cities represented will be South Haven, St. Joseph, Kalamazoo, Niles, Decatur, Benton Harbor and New Troy.

The sports seasons now are in the overlapping period when spring activities try to nose winter sports out of the picture.

Along this line comes a note that the West Michigan Fastball association will hold an organizational meeting Saturday night at Bosch's restaurant in Zeeland. All class A softball teams interested in joining the league are invited to attend.

The WMFA is in its seventh year of competition.

Basketball is all but gone from Holland for the 1951-52 season, and about the only thing you can say for sure about the campaign is "It was a long season."

Saturday's tournament finals were the last interscholastic games for the Armory court before next November, and perhaps the largest crowd of the season turned out. All four finalist schools had rabid fan gatherings present, and the accumulated masses made things lively.

The Christian-Zeeland battle naturally enough was hotly contested. But the players seemed to get along much better than the fans. Zeeland Coach Joe Newell moved his players' bench across the floor at halftime, from the usual west side of the gym to the east side. By so doing, he moved from in front of a group of Christian fans to in front of a group of Zeeland fans.

Whenever a Zeeland player reported for substitute duty during the second half, he had to run across the center of the floor to the official scoring bench.

Holland Defeats Cougars in First Regional Contest

Kalamazoo (Special) — Holland high school set the stage for act three of the Holland-Kalamazoo Central basketball saga for the present season here Tuesday night, and hoped today that the next meeting will be more advantageous to the Dutchmen than were the first two.

Holland will meet the Maroon Giants Thursday night in the semi-final round of the regional class A basketball tourney now underway at Western Michigan gym.

Coach Fred Weiss watched Tuesday night as his charges cleared the decks for the showdown struggle by waltzing past an undermanned Grand Rapids Catholic Central team in handy fashion 69-51.

Kalamazoo played its part by blitzing an equally undermanned Grand Rapids South quintet in the final game of the evening 76-30. Grand Rapids Christian managed to salvage some semblance of glory for the Furniture City by tripping a stubborn Benton Harbor outfit in overtime 46-45.

In semi-final contests Thursday, Christian will tangle with Battle Creek of the Five-A league at 7 p.m., and Holland will meet Kalamazoo at 8:30. These two winners will square off for the regional crown Saturday night.

Catholic, last place finisher in the Grand Rapids City league, started out in strong fashion against Holland Tuesday, but wilted under a sustained Dutch drive in the second period. From there, Holland went on to win going away.

Holland jumped off to an early lead in the first period, but saw Catholic race back to go ahead with the time running out 13-12. Dean Vander Wal hit on a short jump shot and a free throw to put the Dutch back in the lead, but Ken Hayes tied it up a moment later on a drive-in shot. Then Holland's Dave Moran traded a tip shot for another driving punch by Catholic's Don Lovell and the score was tied at 17-all.

Gordon Hulst closed out first period scoring just before the buzzer with a set shot and Holland led 19-17.

As the second period began, Holland got going strongly. After the two clubs traded points, the winners poured in 10 straight points and held a 32-20 lead before the Cougars managed to score. Holland outscored Catholic 17-7 in the second period and held a commanding 36-24 half-time lead.

Tom Maentz spearheaded the Dutch attack in the third quarter by dumping in Holland's first seven points of the period in the first 11 minutes. The Dutch charges went on to enjoy their highest scoring period of the evening, counting 20 times to establish a 56-37 third quarter advantage.

Substitute forward Carl Vischer dropped in three buckets to lead Holland in the final quarter—the only one in which Catholic managed to outscore the Hollanders 14-13. The winners' biggest point spread was a 24-point margin late in the third quarter.

Superior backboard control—built mainly on the rebounding abilities of Maentz and Vander Wal—counted heavily in Holland's favor. In addition, the Dutch hit on a sharp 37 per cent of their shots, collecting on 29 of 79 tries from the floor. Each team hit 11 free throws—on 21 tries for Holland and 23 for Catholic.

Maentz had 20 points to lead Holland; Vander Wal scored 16. Coach Weiss scheduled only a short token ride today to ready his charges for Thursday's battle.
