School District Reorganization Vote Set May 8

Information on the Ottawa county school district reorganization election to be held Monday, May 8, was outlined at the monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

The election will be held in every school district in the county that day except in Grand Haven and West Ottawa, the only two districts whose boundaries will be unchanged in the proposed program.

To qualify, voters must be over 21 years of age, a resident of the state for six months and of the school district 30 days prior to date of election. Persons not already registered may do so with township or city clerks before 5 p.m. April 10.

There will be a single question on the ballot — that of voting yes or no on the proposition which calls for reorganizing Ottawa county into eight kindergartens to 12th grade districts. Currently there are 22 school districts. Presently there are seven high school districts and the proposed reorganization would provide a new high school district for Jenison.

Harrington and Federal districts adjoining Holland city would be annexed to Holland school district.

Districts proposed for annexation to Zeeland are Borculo, Drenthe, East Holland, Huyser,

New Groningen, Vriesland, Franklin and Hawthorn.

The proposed reorganization was resolved by an 18-member committee of the county which met well over a year. Holland district was represented on the county committee by Dale Mossburg, now a member of the Board of Education.

Mossburg said that if the issue passes at the May 8 election, the reorganization will be effective immediately. If the proposal is defeated, separate elections will be held in the districts three to six months later. The eight K-12 districts would be Holland, West Ottawa, Grand Haven, Spring Lake, Coopersville, Jenison, Hudsonville and Zeeland.

Board President James Lamb said the Holland district has taken no stand on the proposed reorganization program other than to say districts will be welcome to annex to this district, and to assure neighboring districts that Holland is interested in the welfare of the children and their education.

Member Harvey Buter pointed out that state legislation now provides that in annexing to a city district, the annexing district will be subject to the same tax as the district it joins. He said the eight districts presently constitute 92.5 per cent of the assessment in the county.

R.C. Bosch Award Given To Hope Ace

Floyd Brady of Hope College has been named the MIAA's most valuable basketball player for the past season.

Announcement of the award was made at Hope's winter sports banquet Monday night in Phelps Hall. As the league's most valuable player Brady received the Randall C. Bosch award. Bosch, president of Western Machine Tool Works of Holland, presented Brady with a gold diamond-studded basketball emblematic of the award.

Coach Russ De Vette at the banquet announced that Brady and Gary Rypma will be co-captains of next year's team. Brady and senior Carl Walters were co-captains this season.

The MIAA's most valuable player is selected by the coaches of the league from team most valuable players picked by the teams of the league schools.

Other candidates for the MVP award were Jim Ingham of Adrian, Ed Stephens of Albion, Gordon Hetrick of Alma, Kim Campbell of Calvin, Bob Trenary of Kalamazoo and Gordon Lofis of Olivet.

Brady, the league's scoring, rebounding and shooting accuracy leader was a unanimous choice of the MIAA coaches. He is the ninth Hope College basketball player to receive the MVP honor. Hope's Clare Van Wieren received the honor last year while De Vette won the first Randall C. Bosch basketball award in 1947. Other Hope basketball players who have received the honor are Don Mulder, 1948; Ron Bos, 1953; Paul Ritsma, 1958 and 1960; Paul Benes, 1959; Ekdal Buys, 1962 and Jim Vander Hill, 1963.

Gary Cook was picked as the Hope wrestling team's most valuable player, and received a trophy from Coach Sid Huitema at the dinner. Cook was MIAA champion at 137 pounds and was only beaten twice this season.

Dr. Barney Steen, Calvin College athletic director, the guest speaker, at the dinner, discussed the evils of overemphasis and underemphasis in amateur sports.

A graduate of Harlan High School in Chicago where he was an all-city basketball selection his senior year, Brady is majoring in political science at Hope. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ezekiah Brady, 9100 South Union Ave., Chicago.

At Hope, Brady was president of the freshman class and is active in the Student Senate. He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, H Club, Economics and Business Club and a member of the Fraternal social fraternity.

Brady, a 6'3" junior, spearheaded Hope's drive to co-championship in the MIAA when he compiled an over all 15-7 record this season.

Hope has won two MIAA basketball titles and finished second in the three years Brady has been performing for the Flying Dutchmen.

He led the conference in scoring with 313 points in 12 games, was tops amongst all rebounders with 174 and had the best field goal accuracy hitting 111 baskets in 206 attempts for 54 per cent. Brady was 12th in the free throw accuracy listing at 66 per cent.

De Vette singles out Brady as "the most versatile player" he has ever coached.

"It is his combination of abilities that makes Floyd an outstanding player," De Vette said.

Brady is seventh amongst all-time Hope College scorers and stands a good chance to better the school record. He has scored 1,292 points in three years and is considered a serious threat to the alltime mark of 1,741 points set by Paul Benes from 1955-59.

Overall, Brady scored 533 points in 22 games this past season, only 12 shy of the alltime single season record set by Warren Vander Hill in 1959-60. Vander Hill, now a professor of history at Hope, scored 545 points in 21 games.

Professor Sheds Light on UFO 'Bright Lights'

Three sightings of a "beautiful," "bright light," thought possibly to be a UFO, were reported Wednesday around 9 p.m.

Ottawa county sheriff's deputies received calls at 8:54 p.m. and 8:59 p.m. from residents in Hudsonville and Jenison areas describing a "bright object" that "changed colors."

The report from Hudsonville described the bright light "swinging from side to side." A resident in the Graafschap area reported seeing a bright light around 8:45 p.m. that was "white in the middle with greenish and reddish hues on the sides."

However, light to the sighting subject was added today by Dr. Richard Brockmeier from the physics department at Hope College who said the planet Venus can be viewed clearly in the west because of its proximity to earth at this time.

Brockmeier said Venus is a very bright white but takes on some coloration as it nears the horizon. He said if there is turbulence, the star will twinkle and consequently change colors.

Brockmeier state the viewer may get the sensation the "object" or star is swinging or swaying because Venus, in its intensity, stands out alone and the viewer, especially if he is riding in a car, has nothing else to watch or guide the path of motion.

Snow Hits Local Area

An unexpected heavy snowfall at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday sent local residents scurrying for rubbers and boots.

Some pointed triumphantly to the 1967 Farmers' Almanac which predicted storms in central and eastern states with blizzards in the north from March 12 to 16.

The ground was covered with snow within a half hour. Motorists turned on lights, and snow brushes were used on car windows for the first time in a couple of weeks.

For a time, driving was hazardous, but main routes appeared to be clearing as the snowfall lost some of its intensity around noon.

Weather observers said an inch of snow had fallen by 12:30 p.m. Temperatures dropped from 31 at 11 a.m. to 26 at noon.

Local School Board Hires 6 Teachers

Contracts for six new teachers next fall were approved by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night.

Four new elementary teachers will be Miss Linda Geerts, a graduate of Central College in 1966, and Mrs. Linda Hopkins, a graduate of Western Michigan University in 1966, both with a year's experience; Miss Shirley Johnson who will be graduated from Houghton, N.Y., College in June, and Mrs. Nancy Vanderbeek who will graduate from Peru State College in May.

Assigned to special education will be Miss Marcia Bos who will graduate in June from the University of Michigan, and Miss Marilyn Johnson who will graduate from Western Michigan University in April. Miss Bos is a daughter of Dr. Bert P. Bos, former superintendent of Christian Schools here.

In other business, William Beebe was appointed to the swimming pool committee replacing Donald Cochran who has left Holland for a new assignment with General Electric. Beebe formerly was captain of the swimming team at the University of Michigan.

Harvey Buter pointed to recent Council action to provide eight ornamental light poles at the pool with 10,000 lumen mercury vapor lamps. He also said the swimming pool committee will make a recommendation this spring in hiring a pool director to coordinate the program for the local school systems.

Buter also reported that the budget of the Ottawa Area Intermediate School district will remain much the same as previous years, amounting to .13 mill. A $25,000 item for plans for the proposed technical-vocational school will come from current balances, Buter said.

If included in the budget, the millage would have been .20 mill.

He said a special educational unit for deaf students in Ottawa county is under consideration. Deaf children currently are sent to Grand Rapids.

President James O. Lamb reported that the entire board is acting as a committee to negotiate with the teachers' organization in contracts this year. A meeting was held March 7 and other meetings will be held later.

The board commended the high school basketball team and coaches and the music department for achievements in recent weeks.

President Lamb presided at the meeting which lasted an hour and five minutes. The invocation was given by Dale Mossburg. John Keuning was absent as was Supt. Donald L. Ihman who is spending 2½ weeks observing teaching techniques in the Netherlands.

Zeeland Asks 5 Mills in Special Vote

ZEELAND — A special election will be held in Zeeland March 28 to vote five mills for three years for school operations.

School Supt. Julius Schipper said costs have risen 34 per cent in the last five years and revenues are not sufficient to keep up with spiraling costs.

He pointed to the need for Zeeland to remain competitive with other school districts in teachers salaries, and the need for at least four or five teachers in areas where classes are too large. He figured the increase would amount to three cents a day per $1,000 valuation.

He said debt retirement will drop from the present 5.5 mills to five mills this year, and will drop another .5 mill until it reaches four mills.

Absent voter ballots are available in the school office at 311 East Central Ave. All registered voters in the district may vote including non-property owners.

Polls in Zeeland City Hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on March 28.

In an 18 - minute meeting Wednesday night, one of the shortest in a number of years, City Council took action on several matters, most of them of a routine nature.

Council approved an agreement with J. Paul Jones Associates of Grand Rapids for consultant services to Holland Planning Commission at a cost of $2,500 a year plus a per diem rate for additional services if requested.

The consultant firm which also serves Grand Rapids in its planning program will be in a position to coordinate local plans into larger regional plans, and possibly into federal programs. The latter could involve federal funds.

Council also approved two leases with The Sentinel Printing Co. for parking lots on the north side of Ninth St. west of River Ave. One renews an existing lease for another three years. This lot was developed by The Sentinel, and 70 per cent of parking meter receipts is paid to the owner and 30 per cent to the city. This is standard procedure and the owner pays taxes.

County Board Abandons Old Drain

GRAND HAVEN — A special meeting of the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors was held Wednesday, called to abandon a drain running through property owned by Taubman Co. of Detroit, which has leased the area for a shopping center to Shoppers Fair on Eighth St. and US-31 in Holland township.

The firm owns a large area in the township and No. 24 drain was relocated to facilitate the location of the shopping center. The board passed a resolution, reverting the easement on the location of the old drain to the owner of the property.

City Clerk William Swier and Director of Public Works Tom Joiner of Grand Haven city substituted at the meeting for Howard W. Fant and J. Nyhof Poel who were out of the city.

The extension service of the county invited the board members and county officials to the annual achievement days of the county 4-H clubs in the Holland Civic Center April 10 and 11. Seats will be reserved for the county officials.

Short in Switch Causes Blackout

About 2,000 electric customers in the southern part of Holland were without power for 44 minutes early Wednesday when a short in switch in the light plant switchboard tripped a relay which served the coal pulverizing circuit, causing the plant's largest unit to go out of service.

The circuit went out at 7:06 a.m. and power was restored at 7:50 a.m. following installation of a new switch. The plant obtained 13,000 kilowatts from Consumers Power Co. but this amount was not enough to sustain the necessary service.

The area affected was generally south of 24th St. from the east limits to about Harrison Ave.

Holland Hospital was not affected.

Construction to Start On Hope Dormitory

Plans for the proposed construction of a new $1 million dormitory on the campus of Hope College are being finalized with the hopes of beginning construction soon, Clarence Handlogten, director of business affairs, announced today.

Handlogten reported that construction would start upon completion of financial arrangements. Construction of the new 284 student facility is slated for completion by the fall term of this year.

The building will be located on the southwest corner of Columbia Ave., and Ninth St., north of Gilmore Hall, a women's dormitory.

College officials will wait until mid-summer when they check anticipated enrollment figures before deciding if the new dormitory will house men or women.

The general contractor for the project will be the Austin Company of Cleveland, Ohio. Several sub-contracts will be awarded to local contractors.

Construction of the 52,416 square foot structure and most furnishings will cost $983,000. Costs for furnishing lounge areas is expected to put the total project cost above $1 million.

Construction of the new dormitory was made possible through a pledge from the Central Reformed Church of Grand Rapids. The church pledged $25,000 to Hope for a dormitory with the intention of presenting a pledge of that amount each year until a total of $500,000 has been donated to the college.

Land clearing operations, part of site preparation plans, are nearing completion. Workmen have removed two houses and three garages and are presently dismantling a third house.

The new building is second in size only to Kollen Hall, a men's dormitory which accommodates 300 students.

The dormitory will have a ground floor and three stories. The building will be different from any other dormitory on the Hope campus in that it will follow a cluster concept — a design in which five or six bedrooms feed into a lounge-study area and washroom facility.

All other dormitories on campus are adjacent to corridors with a central washroom on each floor and lounge areas on the ground floor or basement. Each cluster area will accommodate 9 to 18 students.

The ground floor will have a general lounge area. Storage and laundry facilities as well as sorority meeting rooms are also planned for the ground floor.

Holland Couple Attends Gideons International

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bos of Holland attended the Mid-winter Cabinet four-day meetings of the Gideons International at Greenville, S.C. last week.

Besides the business sessions, an outing was held at the Bob Jones University where Gideons toured the museum and art galleries.

Speakers were F.D. Crimp, president of the Canadian Gideons, Graham Burns, formerly with the African Gideons International at Nashville, Tenn. Several international officers spoke at informative sessions.

Among the one acts is "Pink Party Dress" which is a musical adaptation of Margaret Bland's "Pink and Patches," winner of the Samuel French Prize, Little Theatre Tournament. The one-act folk musical which features music and lyrics by David Rogers and Mark Bucci is both amusing and touching.

"Pink Party Dress" tells the story of a mountain girl, Texie, who hopes to escape the life of hardship and poverty her mother and other mountain women lead. She longs for the richer life and a pink party dress.

A visitor at a hotel offers to give Texie the dress and whether or not her proud mother allows her to accept it forms the story of the charming musical.

Miss Debbie Noe plays the role of Texie in the production and Larry Schippers is cast as her brother, Rexie. Their mother is portrayed by Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. Carleen Overholt portrays the "summer lady."

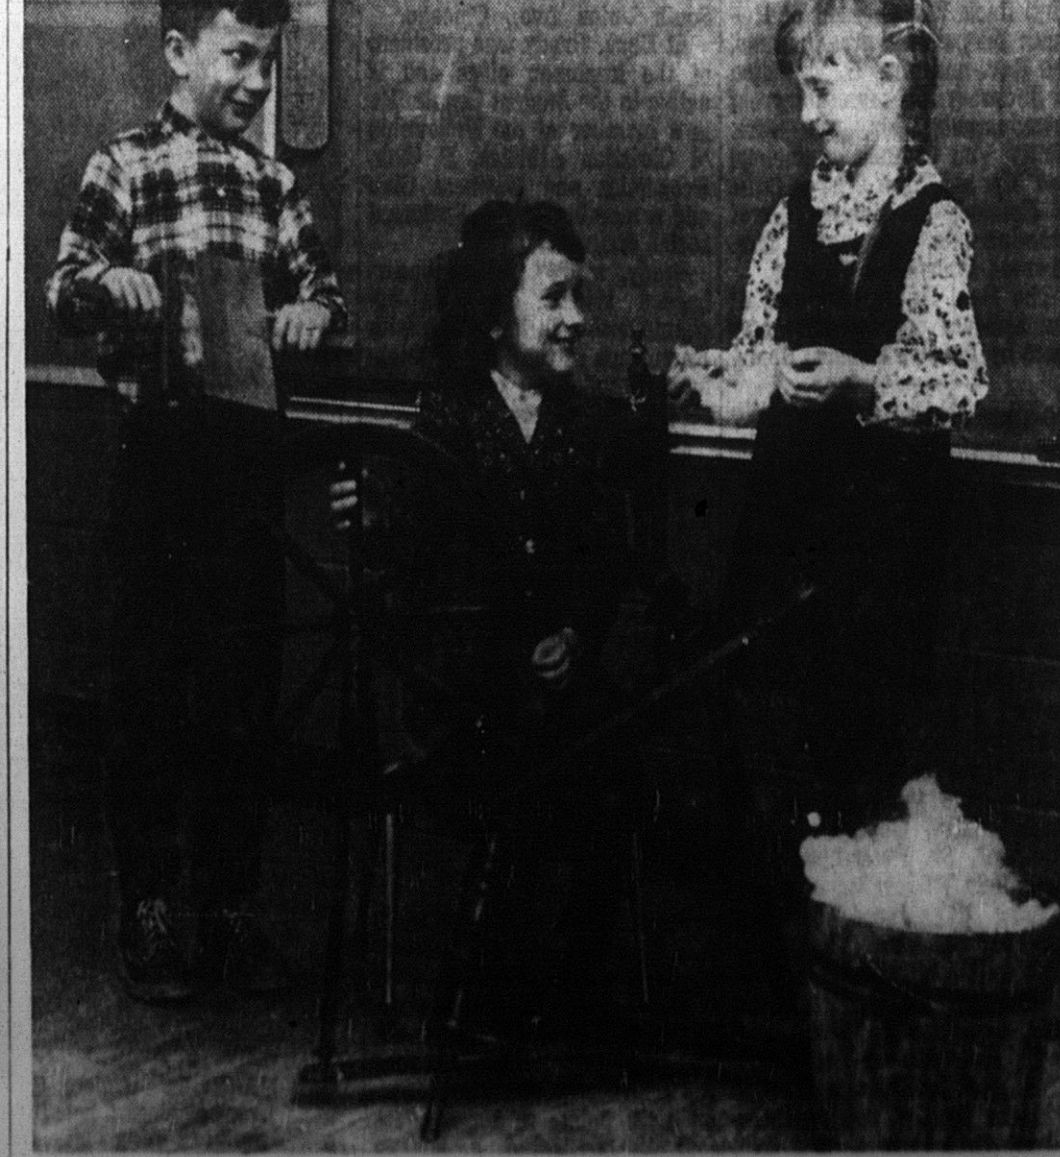

Marilyn Perry directs the show and Ruth Burkholder is musical director and accompanist.

The show is available on request. It was recently given at the Saugatuck Woman's Club.

Costumes Outstanding In Hope Play

Costumes were gorgeous, lighting superb and staging simple and effective for the French classic tragedy, "Queen After Death," which opened Thursday night in Snow Auditorium on Hope College Campus.

Produced by Hope College Theatre with George Ralph as director, the play by Henry de Montherlant with English translation by Jonathan Griffin is based on a 14th century story of the king of Portugal who had his son's mistress murdered, and how in the epilogue the son avenged himself and placed the dead body of his mistress on the throne and had her crowned queen.

The play is based partly on historical fact although the dramatic epilogue is nothing more than romantic legend.

Thursday's production lacked some of the high gloss of such previous classics at the college as "Medea," "Caligula" and "Hippolytus" but the 100 or more who witnessed the first production were treated to good college theatre in a vehicle which was bloody, yet curiously bloodless — a play which one could watch with interest and not be drained of emotion.

Truly outstanding were the costumes designed by Sarah Gift, a New York technician who spent six weeks on campus working with the costume crew to outfit the 20 actors in medieval costumes of rich brocades and velvets, sweeping cloaks and well-designed, attractive outfits.

Charles Ard, another New York technician, worked with set and lighting crews for two weeks, producing effects which vied with the costumes, the story line and the actors in a well-rounded production. The simple stage set consisted of a royal crest arrangement on a single panel as a stage backdrop.

Alan Jones, a senior of Brooklyn, N. Y., played the king, a man of deep character beset by problems of his kingdom and his inability to communicate clearly with his son the prince, another strong character played by Robert Stewart, a freshman of Ivyland, Pa. Feminine leads were played with deep feeling by Ann Slaughter, Charlotte sophomore, as the prince's beloved wife murdered on orders of the king, and Carol Masouras, sophomore of Hudson, N. Y., as the imperious Infanta slated to wed the prince.

SAFE DRIVING

With more than fifty thousand persons dying as the result of traffic accidents, it seems to us that it is time that more attention is called to driver training programs for all people. The National Highway Safety program continues to call attention to the many safety rules and regulations that people who drive should practice. A few weeks ago the New York Times stated as follows in one of their Editorials.

"Fifty thousand Americans a year now die as a result of traffic accidents. It took sixteen years for the death toll to rise from 30,000 to 40,000, but only four years for it to reach 50,000. The upward curve must be stopped.

"That is the goal of the thirteen standards proposed by the National Highway Safety Agency for state action in establishing highway safety programs. The resistance that greeted the agency's promulgation of vehicle standards may bob up again in the highway safety field.

"Even New York State, which probably now has standards as high as any state, would have to improve its laws considerably in several important respects to meet the Federal requirements. But the Federal proposals, though still tentative and subject to revision, are essentially sound as defenses against murder on the highways.

"Meanwhile, the New York Legislature should act quickly on the recommendation of the State Insurance Department that compulsory automobile insurance coverage be more than doubled. The present requirement of $10,000 coverage for a single death; $20,000 for two or more deaths, and $5,000 for property damage is shockingly inadequate.

"The proposed coverage of $25,000, $50,000 and $10,000 for the three categories is the least that should be permitted. Even at this level there would be many cases in which injured persons could not collect the full amounts due them. The present level, enacted sixteen years ago, is wretchedly inadequate."

With the recent traffic deaths in our area we think that it is very important that all people should be more careful.

The Compassionate Saviour
Luke 22:39-42 23:33-34, 39-46

By C. P. Dame

This lesson tells us about two important places and about two important events. Jesus revealed His compassion in Gethsemane and at Golgotha. He is our compassionate Saviour today.

I. Jesus urges His followers to pray. Garden scene in Jerusalem was not available and that is why some wealthy people in the days of Jesus had gardens on Mount of Olives. A wealthy friend of Jesus had given him the privilege of going there to his garden. "And He came out, and went, as He was wont, to the Mount of Olives." Jesus there said to His disciples who were with Him: "Pray that ye enter not into temptation." Jesus taught prayer and prayed much Himself.

The Lord was facing the cross. Alone He knelt in the garden, away from the disciples, and asked His Father to remove the cup of suffering and death. Jesus shrank from death, which involved becoming sin for others and separation from His Father. Note that Jesus did not ask that He have the final word, but that God have it—"nevertheless not my will but thine be done." May we all have the grace to be willing to let God's will prevail in our lives!

II. Jesus admits heaven's door to sinners. Jesus spoke seven words from the cross—this lesson tells about the second word. First Jesus asked for the pardon of those who were responsible for His crucifixion, and then He answered the prayer of the penitent robber. All during His life Jesus associated with sinners. He was crucified between two robbers. At first both jeered Jesus but one of them changed and asked Jesus to remember him when He would enter into the kingdom.

Both robbers were rebels. We are living in a rebellious age. We need young people who rebel against false teaching and low standards. One robber was converted. He showed it by acknowledging his own sin and by reproving his fellow rebel.

The penitent thief believed in God—"Dost thou not fear God?" He also believed in justice. "And we indeed justly." He also believed in the sinlessness of Jesus—"but this man hath done nothing amiss." He also believed in the spiritual kingdom, "Lord remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." This man had much more theology than many moderns have.

Jesus answered this penitent thief's request by saying, "Today thou shalt be with Me in paradise." In the morning this man was far from Christ, at noon he was near Christ, in the evening he was with Christ. This man's conversion speaks of repentance, faith and trust. It is never too late to turn to Christ, there is forgiveness for the worst of sinners, but it is unwise to wait and therefore the Bible stresses the word, today.

Nature mourned three hours while Jesus was dying. The veil of the temple which symbolized man's separation from God was rent which said that fellowship was restored again—through Jesus. The Lord commended His soul to God. He finished the task assigned—the redemption of mankind.

EXPLAIN SHOW SCHEDULE — Mrs. F.W. Stanton, (right) schedule chairman for the 1967 Tulip Time flower show May 17-20, is shown with Mrs. Joseph Ver Plank, who assisted with the schedule, explaining the division at a meeting of the group last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Donald Van Kampen. Theme this year is "Lift Off! Our Exploding Boundaries." (Penna-Sas photo)

Schedule Head Explains Tulip Time Flower Show

Mrs. F. W. Stanton, schedule chairman for the Holland Garden Club spring flower show, clarified the schedule for club members and guests attending the Thursday morning meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald Van Kampen, 269 Hope Ave.

The theme of the 1967 show is "Lift Off! Our Exploding Boundaries." Dates for the event, which will be held in the Woman's Literary Club, are May 17, 18, 19 and 20. This will be the 21st annual flower show given by the Holland Garden Club.

Mrs. Stanton told the group that this year's schedule will give flower arrangers an opportunity to show progress and to move beyond the conception of the flower arranging of the past. All sections of the show try to suggest how our boundaries have exploded and the force of change in our world.

"We are allowing more personal expression in exhibits" she told the group, and "we are stressing the three dimensional quality of flower arranging. An arrangement which has more than one focal point holds the interest much longer. It carries the eye into and around the arrangement."

Mrs. Stanton said she felt that the two kinds of flower arranging—traditional and free form or abstract made for a more wide open show. An arranger will have form, line, texture and color to work with.

In giving instructions to chairmen for the artistic and table divisions she reminded them to check awards and scoring for their particular sections. Exhibitors are not restricted to tulips in any class this year, although they may be used.

The group had an animated discussion as to what constitutes abstract arranging and tried to define the term. Mrs. Joseph Ver Plank led the discussion.

Mrs. Leonard Dick, staging chairman, displayed the floor plan for the show.

Mrs. J. D. Jencks is general chairman.

DAR Chapter Shown Historical Film

A film entitled "Michigan" depicting this state from 1800 to 1900 was shown at the monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter of the DAR Thursday in the John LaBarge home.

In 1800, the population was mostly Indians with a few white people at Fort Lernout at Detroit and at the Straits of Mackinac. Copper ore on the top of the ground led to development of the greatest copper mines in the world, after which iron ore was discovered in the upper peninsula.

The film also revealed the Toledo War in which Michigan was given the upper peninsula for a five-mile strip of land north of the present city of Toledo.

Pictures also showed a merchant fleet which was built to get the ore to market, the development of the lumbering industry north of Muskegon and development of roads and railroads. Films showed the early life of the pioneer, his home, church and schools and the development of towns and cities.

From Cottage Antiques Taken

Antiques valued at more than $325 were taken in a break-in at the John Vander Stel cottage at Port Sheldon some time in the last two weeks.

Vander Stel, who reported the burglary to Ottawa County sheriff's deputies Sunday, said the loot included an antique mantle clock, two display cases of arrowheads, antique wash bowls, pitchers, dishes and other items.

The cottage was entered by taking off a shutter type covering, breaking a window, reaching in to unlock the window and then crawling in. The Vander Stels reside in Grand Rapids.

College 'Professor' Deported

A smooth Englishman who illegally slipped into the United States by posing as a professor of history at Hope College was awaiting deportation for the second time in Detroit Monday.

Robert Peters, 49, was described by Hope College president Calvin Vander Werf as "an effective teacher" who "was widely booked as a lecturer." Vander Werf said Peters came to Hope College last fall with "credentials which were glowing," including college degrees and a year of teaching at Pembroke College, Cambridge.

Peters and his wife were taken into custody last Tuesday at their apartment by immigration authorities for obtaining an immigration visa under false pretenses. A hearing on the charges was held in Detroit last week.

Walter A. Sahli, district director of the U.S. Immigration Service at Detroit, said the smooth "scholar" actually had no college degrees at all and his claim that he taught at England's Cambridge University "was a lie."

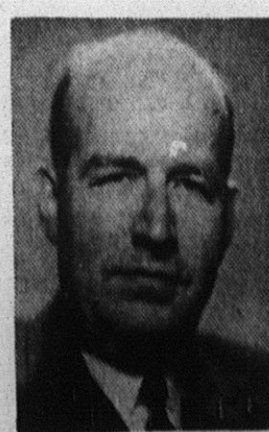

It was the second time Peters fooled college authorities, entered the United States illegally and landed college teaching jobs, Sahli said.

He was caught the first time and deported in 1953 but came back last fall when Hope College hired him on the basis of the recommendation of a national registry, backed up by the recommendation of Dr. Paul Fried, head of the college's history department, who had interviewed Peters in England.

"He admits most of it," Sahli said. "He's quite a disarming person who can really fool you." He had been accepted as a professor by the University of Texas as for next fall.

Peters' wife also will be deported, Sahli said, although she was not being held in jail. Peters had taught European history at Hope since last September.

"From all reports, he was performing capably and effectively as a teacher and was a very intelligent one," Vander Werf said. "Some students thought he was outstanding. "He was an impressive teacher and he was widely booked as a lecturer and has lectured at other campuses. He was widely sought as a speaker, mostly on European church history."

Peters had lectured at Grand Valley State College and was booked for a series of lectures in Holland, running from February through April. He had given the first two lectures of the series.

Vander Werf said "there are all kinds of writings by Robert Peters," including books and articles in scholarly journals.

"Frankly we do not know whether this is the Robert Peters we know or not," Vander Werf said.

Sahli said immigration authorities "don't doubt that he (Peters) probably wrote them" as part of his scholarly masquerade.

Peters was first missed by Hope College acquaintances when he failed to show up for a scheduled lecture at the college last Tuesday night.

Immigration authorities said they became suspicious when a check of the numerous degrees Peters claimed to have turned up no record of them.

They said a further check revealed that Peters had been deported once before and had returned without getting proper permission from the U.S. Attorney General. Officials said he didn't tell American authorities he had previously been deported when he applied for a visa to come to the U.S. a second time.

Book Fair Essay Winners Get Awards at Library

Parents and teachers of the winning essayists met in the Herrick Library Auditorium at 3:30 Tuesday for the presentation of awards to the young writers.

All of the students in the 5th and 6th grades of the Holland Public School system have entered the contest in cooperation with the Junior Welfare League's second annual Book Fair, "The Wonderland of Books."

Each student wrote a theme on "The book I like best" and explained his critical reasons for enjoying the book and the author's style of writing. This contest, held to encourage reading and writing was so successful it was difficult to select the 11 winners.

One winner was selected to represent each school as well as an overall grand winner.

Grand prize winner was Pieter VanderWerf, sixth grader at Lincoln School. Other winners were Benjamin Van Slooten, 6th grade at Holland Heights, Debby Langejans, sixth grader at Montello Park; Jo Linda Mossburg, sixth grader at Maplewood; Dorothea Me-gow, sixth grader at Washington; Carol Hanko, fifth grader at Lakeview; Barbara Wolters, sixth grader at Lincoln; John Scholten, fifth grader at Longfellow, Debbie Colton, sixth grader at Van Raalte; and Nancy Mathis, sixth grader at Jefferson.

Each winner was presented with a booklet composed of all winning essays by Hero Bratt of the Library Board. Miss Margaret Van Vyven, Holland Elementary School coordinator, presented gift books from the Junior League to each student.

Judges for the contest included Miss Jean Protheroe, Mrs. Martin De Wolfe, Mrs. William Winter, and Mrs. Edward Donivan.

The Junior League, with Roger Walcott's assistance, is staging the Book Fair for the rest of the week. Mrs. Norman Gibson told stories to library visitors this morning.

Mrs. David Linn, League chairman suggests visitors attend the Fair at the following times: Thursday, 3:30-8 p.m.; Friday, 10 a.m.-8 p.m.; Saturday 9 a.m.-5 p.m. All other times have been reserved by school classes.

Philharmonia Hungarica Greeted Enthusiastically

From the enthusiasm shown, one might think this was a Hungarian town instead of a Dutch-American community at Tuesday night's concert of the Philharmonia Hungarica Symphony in Civic Center.

Applause was deafening following the three major works and the encore in which the symphony whooped up the Brahms' Hungarian Dance No. 5.

The 90-piece symphony in which most of the younger members are escapees from the Hungarian revolt in 1956 has become a fine orchestra, highly acclaimed in world circles. Its approach to music is highly nationalistic. One listener commented, "You could almost taste the 'Borscht' in some of those numbers."

Because Haydn's 94th (Surprise) symphony has become an American favorite during the current tour, the orchestra substituted this number for the Haydn No. 101 (The Clock) as the opening number. The audience found this familiar Haydn symphony most pleasing, except for some Hope College music students who had studied overtime on the scheduled number.

Conductor Miltiades Caridis maintained excellent control over this keenly responsive ensemble.

Another favorite was the Liszt Concerto No. 1 for piano and orchestra with Ludwig Hoffmann as soloist. This bombastic number was played with an almost runaway enthusiasm by the artist who is making his North American debut with the symphony. This lively concerto was probably played much as Liszt intended a century ago. American symphonies are likely to concentrate on the delicate passages while the Hungarians make the most of the bold passages.

The contemporary Bartok Concerto for Orchestra, first played by the Boston Symphony under Conductor Serge Koussevitzky in 1944, was done with more finesse than some of the other numbers. This five-movement masterpiece was commissioned in memory of Koussevitzky's wife and has moods and themes that fascinate serious music scholars.

Tuesday's concert was the Surprise symphony and quite possibly the Brahms encore will be presented by the Philharmonia Hungarica in Carnegie Hall in New York City March 23.

The orchestra returned to South Bend, Ind., Tuesday night

Allegan Studies Expansion Of Water, Sewer Services

ALLEGAN — Recommendations for water and sewer expansion in Allegan were outlined by Grand Rapids engineers before a joint session of City Council and Planning Commission here Monday night.

Estimated cost of proposed projects is $900,000 for services and $1,000,000 for water improvements including a water treatment plant of $550,000.

Costs are based on services to be extended to outlying areas as well as to city property.

In reviewing work done in the past, Engineer George Bear of Williams and Works said a whole new approach to the problem was now necessary since federal funds are no longer available. "Government grants are no longer approved for communities which have money or could acquire money to finance such projects on their own," he said.

Allegan planners were informed that city utility rates, particularly water rates are "abnormally low" and Allegan residents have indeed been fortunate in comparison with other communities of the same size in their rates for business, industry and home owners, falling well below the median.

By bringing water and sewer rates to recommended standards, Bear said there would be enough money available to start a long-range program of improvements to include the immediate outside area as well as the city. An "urban service policy" was recommended for the area surrounding Allegan.

Two principal reasons were given for increasing rates. The improved utilities can be made profitable without spending citizen money except through more realistic rates, and services could be developed and strengthened within the city so that eventually two rates could be charged, a higher rate outside than was charged for Allegan citizens.

Rate raises would average $5 to $10 more on a quarterly basis than those now charged, engineers believe.

Allegan's present problems with overflowing sewers were described as serious. Further separation of storm and sanitary sewers and modernization of both water and sewer lines were termed a must for the city in the near future.

Allegan's drinking water was described as bad in every sense, particularly in the area of taste, odor and iron content.

Water treatment would include chlorination and softening. Fluoridation would be optional at a nominal cost if treatment plant were already in operation.

Anticipating that the state in tightening up anti-pollution laws will soon require sewage treatment in Allegan, engineers said the city would be in far better shape to cope with state requirements with installation of larger and stronger sewage lines.

If the water project were financed by revenue bonds, the income of the utilities would have to be approximately twice the present income, engineers said. If general obligation bonds were used, the income would only have to be 1.6 times that of the present income.

Combined with the revenue bond issue, special assessments could be made within the city wherever new sewer lines are installed and outside the city on petition by a specified number of assured customers. Uniform assessments would assure 90 per cent of the cost of the project.

Indians Are Bumped From Tourney

PORTAGE — Centreville's basketball team knocked Saugatuck out of tournament play with a 59-39 victory in a Class D regional game in the Portage Central High School gym Thursday night.

Saugatuck couldn't hit from outcourt, and the Bulldog defenders particularly 6'9" center Jim Andrews kept them from getting many good inside shots. Andrews blocked six shots and came down with 24 rebounds, a majority of them off the defensive boards, to lead the Bulldog defense.

Saugatuck showed little of the spark it had last week in winning a district crown at South Haven. The Indians made only 14 of 54 shots from the floor for 26 per cent. They were particularly bad in the second quarter when they made only four points. The losers collected only seven points in the final period.

The game was close in the early minutes, and Centreville moved to a 17-11 lead at the end of the first quarter. Mark Bekken put in six of the Indians' points while Jim Truckenmiller hit on three jump shots to lead Centreville in the opening period.

Joe Milauckas scored two field goals in the second period, and that was Saugatuck's total offensive effort in the period. Centreville moved out to a 30-15 lead at halftime.

Sparked by sophomore guard Jim Kelley the Indians rallied in the third period. After falling behind 39-22 at the 3:23 mark, the losers finished the period with 10 straight points to make the score 39-32 at the three-quarter mark. Kelley made three straight baskets in the spurt, and did a good job of handling the ball. Centreville's shooting was off, and Saugatuck gained control of the defensive backboards in the closing minutes of the third period to help the rally. The Bulldogs went from the 3:23 mark of the period until 6:50 of the fourth quarter without scoring.

Andrews found his shooting eye in the final period and scored nine points to lead the Bulldog attack. His team outscored the cold-shooting Indians 20-7 in the final eight minutes.

Brad Berger of Centreville led all scorers with 16 points. Andrews collected 12 points while Truckenmiller and Gary Hunter put in 12 apiece. Kelley paced the Indians with 12 points while Milauckas had 11.

Centreville made 23 of 61 shots from the floor for 38 per cent and 13 of 23 from the foul line for 56 per cent. The Indians hit on 11 of 18 foul shots for 61 per cent. The taller Bulldogs outrebounded Saugatuck 44-37.

Saugatuck finishes its season with a 12-9 record.

Only 5 Complain At Meetings of Board of Review

The Board of Review at its closing meeting Friday adopted a resolution that hereafter personal property rolls will be reviewed first at annual sessions.

This means that owners of business and industrial properties hereafter must file information promptly. State statutes require such information must be filed by Feb. 20.

The board met four days, Tuesday through Friday, this week, and expect to meet two more days later in the month.

Only five complaints on property assessments were registered during the four days, two residential and three commercial.

Chairman Lucien Raven explained that the complaints are few because the office staff takes care of a good share of complaints and requests for information during the year. Records of these complaints are kept and the board is informed of them.

Another reason for seeming satisfaction on the part of the public is that the board for several years has followed professional uniform assessment procedures.

Rebounding Brings Win In Tourney

GRAND RAPIDS—Grand Rapids East Christian's basketball team outlasted and outmuscled Holland Christian on the backboards to take a 65-60 victory in Class B regional tournament play in the Calvin College Knollcrest Fieldhouse Friday night.

East Christian cleared off 41 rebounds to 23 for the Maroons. When they didn't outposition Holland Christian the Panthers usually outscrambled the Maroons for the rebounds.

Combined with the backboard domination was some deadly shooting by the Panthers. They hit 29 of 59 shots from the floor for 49 per cent.

About the only thing the Panthers didn't do right was foul shooting. They made only seven of 20 free throws for 35 per cent. Holland Christian ends its season with a 17-5 mark.

East Christian beat the Maroons for the third time this season Friday night, and this one was the most convincing. Christian took a 6-2 edge in the early minutes of the game, but East Christian countered with eight straight markers to take a 10-6 advantage. Christian went about four minutes without scoring while the Panthers were going ahead. East Christian went on to take an 18-15 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Maroons scored five straight points to take a 20-18 edge in the second period, but the Panthers spurred for five straight of their own to regain the lead. After the losers took a 24-23 lead East Christian had another five-point burst to go ahead for good. The Panthers led 34-31 at halftime.

Holland Christian made only two field goals in the third period while the Panthers led by Bill Ryksee's 10 points put in 16 points. East Christian took a 50-40 at the three-quarter mark.

East Christian went ahead 54-42 in the first minute of the final period, and kept coming through with baskets or rebounds to cut the Maroons off when they threatened. Holland Christian made three straight baskets in the last minute of play to close the gap to five but the streak came too late to do any good.

East Christian had only four players scoring, but all were in double figures. Ryksee who gathered in 12 rebounds also had 20 points while teammate Ron Flietstra added 19 points mostly on short-range jump shots. Craig Vander Lende had 14 points for the victors and Steve Veneklasen made 12.

Don Hulst, senior, turned in a fine performance in his last appearance in a Christian uniform. He had a total of 18 points with 10 of them coming in the last quarter. Steve Bushouse scored 14 points and John Lapping, another senior, had 10.

Christian meshed 26 of 70 shots from the floor for 37 per cent. The Maroons found the target on eight of 11 free throws for 73 per cent.

CHECK DEER CONDITIONS — A citizens advisory committee composed of Michigan sportmen checked on deer conditions last Saturday in the Baraga district of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Michmerhuizen and Edwards are directors of the Holland Fish and Game Club.

Deer Conditions In Michigan Checked by Group

A group of Michigan sportmen, including Lewey Michmerhuizen of Holland, checked on deer conditions in the Baraga district of Michigan's Upper Peninsula last Saturday.

The sportsmen are members of the citizens advisory committee on deer conditions appointed last year by the Department of Conservation.

Vern Edwards of Holland is also a member of the advisory group. He checked conditions in the Cadillac district.

Michmerhuizen reported the group used snowmobiles to cross Lake Gogebic and for the deer yard inspection. Michmerhuizen, who was in the seventh snowmobile on the inspection, saw 12 deer.

He reported committee members in the first snowmobiles through the inspection area saw as many as 70 deer. Michmerhuizen said in the deer yards the snow is approximately three feet.

Deer have trails on the top of the snow, Michmerhuizen said, and the critical wintering period will be in the next four weeks.

Michmerhuizen didn't see any dead deer and the general consensus of the group was that the deer were "wintering well."

Peters Lived 20-Year Lie

A bizarre 20-year history of Robert Peters' masquerade as college professor, minister and lecturer unfolded Tuesday as Peters sat in a jail cell in Detroit awaiting deportation for entering the United States under false pretenses.

Peters, posing as a professor of history at Hope College when his masquerade was discovered last week, faces deportation for the second time for his clever ruse.

The charming Britisher who played the scholar role to the hilt was never actually graduated from college although he has taught at three schools and had a fourth job lined up for next fall.

A University of Texas spokesman said Monday his school was negotiating to hire Peters as a teacher of European history when Peters was snatched from his apartment last Tuesday by immigration authorities.

Robert Devine, Texas history chairman, said Peters had not been officially hired when his masquerade was uncovered. Immigration officials said Peters, whose wife also was to be deported, first surfaced in the United States in the late 1940s when he was found posing as a preacher in Pittsburgh.

He went to Canada in 1950, a spokesman said, and got an instructor's job at Ottawa University, Ottawa, Ont. He returned to the United States, took a course at the University of Washington in Seattle, then used phony credentials to get a teaching job at Wooster College, Wooster, Ohio.

Peters was exposed in the spring of 1953 while teaching general history courses at Wooster, where he was described by administrators as a "seemingly bright fellow."

The bogus professor was deported that year but returned last September when he was hired by Hope College, Walter A. Sahli, district director of the U.S. Immigration Service in Detroit said.

While at Hope, Peters had performed "effectively as a teacher," according to Dr. Calvin VanderWerf, Hope president.

Peters' credentials, all of which Sahli said were fraudulent, included several college degrees and a year of teaching at Cambridge University in England.

Peters had represented himself as a former Anglican priest at Grace Episcopal Church in Holland. Although he did not attend the church regularly during his stay in Holland, according to Rev. William C. Warner,

Peters had assisted in services three times in a minor capacity. Sahli said Peters, who "admits most of" the alleged fraud, will not be prosecuted for his masquerade as no copy of the warning given to deportees not to return to the United States was found in Peters' file at the Immigration Service.

Peters "liked the United States and the opportunity here," Sahli said.

He said Peters and his wife will be flown back to England as soon as routine papers are received from the British government.

'Americana' Theme Followed At West Ottawa Arts Events

West Ottawa elementary schools continued their fine arts festival last week following the theme, "Americana."

At all festival schools, Ray Van De Mark introduced the string instruments with a "Strings Are Fun" presentation. He was accompanied by Tom Updegraff of the music department.

At Lakewood school, four of Winslow Homer's best liked works were viewed and discussed. Classroom activities included Indian pottery, beads and other media with the visit by Mrs. Nancy Brorby, artist, to the third grade class.

The second portion at the Lakewood festival featured music and a patriotic assembly with James Biely leading the singing.

The patriotic musical at Woodside school included the talk on patriotism by the principal, Gus Feenstra. Each grade sang patriotic selections. At one time the students from all 14 classrooms were involved in "creativity" including stitchery, cover design, "Gay Nineties" mural and the history of "The Hat" in cut-paper as well as painting.

The festival at Gerum began with an art activity. The "American" kite was a favorite choice and others did murals on "The Wind" and "The Farm Scene." "Circus Animals" was another. Several rooms did collage type pictures while still another had the first experiment in finger painting.

At the "Musical Morning" at Gerum, the entire school learned an Indian chant with hand gestures and a scene from "Tom Sawyer" was presented by the Lakewood cast. The Beechwood School Band under the direction of Cal Langejans gave a concert.

There were solos by Mary Kolean, saxophone; Jim Haspas, trumpet, and Michael Bredeweg, trombone. Folk dancers from Beechwood also appeared.

John Maat gave a talk on "Patriotism" at the festival at North Holland and sixth grade students gave selections on the beauty and meaning of "Old Glory" during an assembly. Each room sang a patriotic selection.

An art film was also presented and individual class art activities were done using a wide variety of media. At another assembly, the school band entertained, under the direction of Tom Updegraff.

Highlighting the festival at Sheldon Woods were the early American circle games and sing-along featuring "Old Brass Wagon," "Shoe-Fly Pie" and "Old Virginie."

Events continued this week with all elementary schools participating in the combined festival at West Ottawa High School with singing and art demonstrations.
