Explain School Millage Needs

School Supt. Donald L. Ihrman explained issues in the forthcoming millage election April 2 at the monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night in the high school library.

With the aid of overlays on a projector on a "Peanuts" theme, Ihrman presented the story much like it will be given before PTA and other gatherings between now and April 2.

"Invest in Their Future Now" is the theme of the presentation which calls for 10 mills for five years. This is 4.5 mills more than the 5.5 mills voted last school year which expires this year. The 10 mills represents roughly one-third of the total school budget, and the increase is needed generally for remaining competitive for teachers' salaries, curriculum development and to meet rising costs on all fronts.

Ihrman explained that a millage issue for five years would provide basic millage requirements to provide stability and continuity. He said the $405,000 provided by the 4½ mills would meet budget needs for the 1968-69 year, but there is a possibility additional millage might have to be voted later.

Voting additional millage for operating schools is common throughout the state. Ihrman said income from state and local taxes has not increased at the rate school costs have increased.

He added that when Harrison and Federal districts become part of Holland district July 1, these areas, according to state law, will assume the added voted millage of the Holland school district.

A comparison of voted taxes in K-12 districts in Ottawa county places Holland second to the bottom.

All registered voters in the district are eligible to vote in the April 2 election. All 14 precincts will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Ihrman pointed to an austerity program in Holland schools in the early 1960's, explaining this was necessary because of a shortage of $190,000. With 10 mills representing one-third of the total budget, or $900,000, the result would be "catastrophic" if millage is not passed this year, he said.

Work on promoting millage in Holland started early by many persons associated with citizens groups. About 400 new voters were added to the city during the 10-day "open period" preceding March 1.

Board President James O. Lamb told all board members willing to appear at public meetings to see the superintendent for assignments. Harvey Butler said all board members will do all they can to carry the message to the people and said teachers would be working too. He pointed to a groundswell of interest in millage needs by concerned parents and citizens, and their willingness to work in the program.

Don Williams Speaks to Rock Club

The Tulip City Rock Club meeting Wednesday evening featured an illustrated talk by Don Williams.

He is a registered jeweler and a member of the American Gemological Society. He started learning the business in high school and after World War II took correspondence courses in gemology. Following this he went to Los Angeles and took an 18-month course at the Gemological Institute of America.

Mr. Williams explained that members of the American Gemological Society are elected by other jewelers and the group provides the basis for regulation and control and, in case of disagreements between jewelers in regard to price or quality of gems, this group settles the disputes.

Mr. Williams' slides showed actual mining operations, the cutting and faceting of the stones and many pieces of finished jewelry including the crown jewels of England.

He illustrated how the four c's, color, clarity, cut and carat, determine the quality and price of each diamond. This order of importance is followed since weight becomes important only after high standards are met in regard to color, clarity and cut.

The slides showed the importance of the proper depth of cut in bringing out the maximum brilliance of the diamond and also how inclusions of foreign material can mar the beauty of the stone.

The members of the club also had the opportunity to examine the various pieces of equipment used by jewelers to inspect and judge the quality of gems.

Hartger Winter of Allegan will speak on faceting semi-precious stones at the next meeting.

The evening prize went to Mrs. John Robbert.

Maroons Hand Chix 58-46 Loss

ZEELAND — Holland Christian's basketball team fought off a determined band of Zeeland Chix Saturday in recording a 58-46 win.

The Chix played an inspired game, using a close man-to-man defense which bothered the Maroons, causing them to score on only 11 of 46 shots in the first half for 24 per cent. Zeeland also gave Christian a battle on the boards. The Maroons grabbed 34 rebounds, compared to 26 for the Chix. However, Mark Raterink, Zeeland's sophomore center brought up from the reserve team, retrieved 13 rebounds to lead both teams. Dan Brower had 10 for Christian.

The first quarter was evenly played as the score was tied five times. The biggest point spread in the period was three points when Zeeland held a 6-3 edge. The teams were deadlocked 13-13 going into the second quarter.

Christian looked as though they were going to break the game wide open in the second quarter. Led by Bob De Nooyer's six points, the Maroons outscored the Chix 12-3 for a 25-16 lead with 2:45 left in the half. Steve Bushouse, Jim Vogelzang and Brower each contributed a basket during the drive.

Refusing to fold, Zeeland came back with 10 points against two for Christian, as the half ended 27-26 with the Maroons in front. Craig Schrottenboer started the comeback with a free throw, followed by a basket from Raterink. Dirk Schrottenboer then scored seven points in the last two minutes of the half.

The Chix scored first in the third quarter, giving them their last lead of the game, 28-27. Bob Van Langevelde hit two buckets within a minute, and Christian led 31-28. Lloyd Plewes of the Chix, and Brower exchanged two-pointers, and Dick Van Dorp added a free throw for the Chix, making the score 33-31 with 5:19 on the clock.

It was at this point the Maroons made the move that eventually brought the victory. Brower, Vogelzang and Van Langevelde hit consecutive baskets, along with two charity tosses by Vogelzang. This gave Christian a 41-31 lead going into the final quarter.

The Chix were outscored 14-5 in the third quarter largely because the defense of the Maroons kept them from working the ball in close, and they were forced to shoot from well out. The result was two baskets in 13 tries for 15 per cent, while Christian was hitting on six of 12 attempts.

Van Langevelde and Vogelzang hit the first two baskets of the fourth quarter to make the score 44-31. The Chix then made their last threat as Plewes hit twice and Van Dorp once to narrow the margin to 46-37 with 6:50 left. After Van Langevelde scored the Maroons slowed down the play, forcing Zeeland to come after the ball. In doing so they committed several fouls, and Christian scored seven free throws in the quarter.

Zeeland came within eight at 52-44 with 1:55 remaining as Van Dorp and Plewes scored. De Nooyer and Vogelzang re-halt and ended with 22 baskets in 68 attempts for 32 per cent. The Chix made 16 of 51 for 31 per cent. At the charity stripe Christian made 14 of 21 and Zeeland 14 of 20.

Van Langevelde led all scorers with 16 points. De Nooyer added 12 and Brower 11. Dirk Schrottenboer and Plewes each had 12 for the Chix. Nine of Schrottenboer's points came in the second quarter.

TAXES AND MORE TAXES

Some of the news report indicate 1968 will be another year of more tax increases and tax boosts are showing up all over. With the government being the world's largest employer, the many world problems today and the continued increase in costs on the local, state and national levels, we wonder where it will all end.

We wonder if it pays to really keep on writing to the people we appoint, hire and elect to run our governments. Everyone seems to want increases.

Reports indicate that non-defense expenditures have increased almost 100 per cent since 1960 and this does not take into consideration the cost of the Vietnam and Cold War programs.

The next time you read or hear about new programs that are going to cost more, do a little homework and then do your protesting. There must be a way out of the continuing deficit spending.

The Promise of the Spirit
John 14:15-26
By C. P. Dame

The Bible contains many promises. Some have been fulfilled, some have not but will be in time. This lesson tells of the promise of the Holy Spirit which was realized on the Day of Pentecost. Consider the truth—the Holy Spirit is the Christian's Helper and Teacher.

I. Jesus promised the coming of the Holy Spirit. He made this promise on Thursday the night before His death, to His apostles who were troubled by uncertainty and fear. They dreaded the future. In His talk to these apostles Jesus often used the personal pronoun "I" in order to direct their attention to Himself. It is good for us all to focus our minds upon the Lord.

"If ye love Me, keep My commandments" — obedience proves love. In order to love Jesus as we ought, we need divine help and that is why Jesus spoke of the Holy Spirit who gives help in order to keep His commandments. Jesus was about to leave the apostles but He would pray the Father to send the Holy Spirit to take His place.

The Holy Spirit is called "another Comforter" — the latter word means "one called alongside to help." The Holy Spirit has always been here and active but in the New Testament times He is more personal and dwells in the hearts of believers. The word "another" sometimes means "another of a different kind" but in this text it means "another of the same kind" — the Comforter would be like Jesus.

The Holy Spirit is also called Counselor. He would stay not for a short time but forever. He is also called "the Spirit of truth," because He is the essence of truth and imparts the truths about God to man, opens the minds to spiritual truths. The world which is in opposition to God can't receive this truth for it is spiritually dull.

II. The Holy Spirit fosters fellowship. Jesus said to His disciples, "I will not leave you comfortless," or orphans. After the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost the apostles were different men and they understood clearly the relationship between Jesus and the Father and that of the believer and Jesus.

A Christian is "in Christ" and Christ is in him. How does a Christian show that he is in Christ? By keeping His commandments. Those who love the Lord obey Him. Disobedience to Him is disobedience to God. They who reject Jesus reject God.

III. The Holy Spirit is our Teacher. Note the words "He shall teach you all things and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." The Holy Spirit, sent by the Father, has ever been teaching the church about the person, the mission and the salvation Jesus wrought. The gospels are a proof of the fulfillment of the words "and bring all things to your remembrance" — the Holy Spirit inspired the disciples to write the gospels.

Does He still teach? Indeed He does, namely through the Word, not always through popular movements or through novelties. Let us heed the teaching of the Holy Spirit.

Donnelly Sets Youth Conference at MSU Opening of Irish Plant

Donnelly Mirrors, Inc., sent three of its employees to Ireland to assist in the opening of its new manufacturing plant in Naas, Ireland. Marvin VanderKooi, general foreman; Stanley Langworthy, assistant maintenance foreman and Martin Kolean, blanchard operator, will spend approximately two months at the new plant assisting in the installation and operation of machinery and training personnel.

The plant at Naas, about 30 miles south of Dublin, will produce prismatic mirrors for the automotive market in England and Europe. The overseas market has been supplied by production from the local plant in the past. The Irish operation should open new markets and will afford better service to the company's present customers.

Gregory Explains Presidential Aims

Dick Gregory, the Negro comedian who gave up his lucrative entertainment career 18 months ago to devote full time to the cause of civil rights, told an overflow audience in Dimment Memorial Chapel at Hope College Thursday night that he is an independent write-in candidate for president of the United States.

He also announced he had begun another 40-day fast on Ash

Dick Gregory

Wednesday, Feb. 28, in sympathy with the suffering on both sides of the war in Vietnam.

He explained he and his wife Lillian were taking no nourishment but liquids until April 1, after which they will restrict themselves to a diet of distilled water for the two weeks preceding Easter. Then Gregory and his wife and their two eldest children, Michele, 8, and Lynne, 6, will hold a vigil in front of the White House for the Easter weekend. The two children will be fasting from Good Friday until Easter.

Not only was there an overflow crowd in Memorial Chapel, but Winant's auditorium in Graves Hall was crowded for closed circuit tv, basement rooms in Dimment chapel and Snow auditorium were pressed into service. Gregory spoke almost two hours. It was estimated 2,000 were on campus for Gregory's talk.

Gregory's address opened a three-day symposium on campus entitled "The Crisis in Our Cities." U.S. Cong. John Conyers Jr. of Detroit was to deliver an address at 4 p.m. this afternoon. Panel discussions, films and a play are scheduled today and Saturday. The symposium is co-sponsored by the Commission on Race of the Reformed Church in America, the Hope College Cultural Affairs committee, and the Holland Human Relations Commission. Dr. David Clark of the college history department is coordinator.

Gregory has not shaved nor cut his hair for three months, since his first fast on Thanksgiving Day to New Year's Day. His appearance here was one in a series of talks before 40 college groups. He also has foregone conventional clothing for the uniform of the common laborer until the war is over and is urging sympathizers "who wish to express their opposition to the system" to follow his example.

Gregory asked all persons desiring peace to refrain from purchasing 1968 American automobiles and to give up smoking cigarettes, "not only for your own health but to save the lives of innocent victims in Vietnam who are burned with napalm bought with the tax on smoke."

He said the tobacco industry is so large and involved that a voluntary "no smoking" by all Americans would bring this industry to a halt bringing pressure on the White House with the result that peace would be declared in Vietnam in two months.

Gregory opened with 15 minutes of wit mostly geared to the American political system, then became serious on problems of the Negro race and the attempts to correct a centuries old situation. Most of his talk had cutting remarks on political leaders, ghettoes, relief and welfare, flags that are rags, and towards the close Gregory again became serious and told the students, "You have a lot of work to do. You young people are the most marvelous people in America and you are the people to get something done."

He said in the past most young people attended college for four years to learn how to make a living, but now they are studying how to live. He made a strong pitch for the 18-year-old vote.

At the press conference Gregory put 90 per cent of the blame of civil disorders on the politicians. He said he had no reaction to cancelling a previous appearance at Calvin College in Grand Rapids but was only sorry freedom of speech was not given consideration.

As for a "long hot summer," he said it could go either way. It does not have to be violent, he said, and conditions may change. "A lot of people will be studying it."

He plans to go ahead with demonstrations at the Democratic convention in Chicago this summer, organizing marches 12 hours a day and increasing them to 24 hours a day and hopes to have similar demonstrations all over the country.

He said the two party system in America is so corrupt that that is why he is running for president. Of all candidates mentioned so far, he felt George Wallace was the most honest of the group, yet he predicted if Wallace should ever be elected president he would be killed before he could be inaugurated.

In no uncertain terms, Gregory spoke of his disenchantment with Martin Luther King as a leader, and his sympathy and support for Stokely Carmichael and H. (Rap) Brown. He likened Rap Brown's threat to kill the police and burn the houses to Paul Revere's ride to alert the colonists the British were coming. "The British were the police in that case," he said.

Grace Church Group Hears Rev. Hillegonds

"The Christian Challenge of Changing Values" was the Rev. William Hillegonds' title as he spoke Tuesday night in Grace Episcopal Church in the second of a Tuesday night series on "The Church Faces Tomorrow."

Speaking of his childhood in Chicago's South Side Rev. Hillegonds, Hope College chaplain, outlined his own family's chief values — work, family, and church — and then discussed the chief values of college students today.

First, he said, they want not just work but meaningful vocations. "They are oppressed with reshaping the world," and not just interested in furthering their own material gain.

Secondly they are interested in meaningful relationships. He mentioned the lack within families of honest dialogue on important subjects.

Thirdly, he said, "The college student I know does not believe God is dead, nor gone out of business, although he may think the church at First and Main has." He commented that the birth of the first child often re-awakened young people to the value of community and fellowship.

Volleys From Ambush

Have you noticed that cute little degree symbol on the time - temperature sign at First National Bank?

And the new time - temperature sign in the back lot at the tv drivin'?

Actually, it's a completely renovated system, and all the necessary equipment on the roof and in the basement involves nine miles of wires.

It's easier to read too, since a photoelectric cell controls the light intensity. On a bright, sunny day the lights on the sign are much brighter than on a dull day.

It's the same concept that controls the light intensity on the signals on the US-31 bypass.

And now Ecuador in South America is interested in Holland's Tulip Time.

Everett Vanden Brink, of 1055 Lincoln Ave., picked up Quito, Ecuador, on short wave a few days ago and heard about Tulip Time in Holland, Mich., our imported windmill from the Netherlands and the tulips and costumes.

The narrative also had information on the history of the tulip, originating in Turkey and deriving the name tulip because it resembled an upside - down turban.

The Quito station in the Andes mountains was operating on 50,000 watts, Vanden Brink said.

Vigilante groups really aren't anything new these days.

Jim Hallan spotted a story about a Holland Vigilante group in a 47-year-old Illinois paper. On page 2 of the Paris Daily Beacon, Paris, Ill., Jan. 7, 1921, appears this story:

"Holland, Mich. Jan. 7.—Infuriated at the theft of automobiles and the escape of all thieves, Holland business men have formed a protective bureau and placed a price of $500 on the head of all auto thieves, dead or alive. A listing bureau for important numbers of all cars has been established."

We haven't found any long-timers who remember the incident.

Headed for the operating room for his 10th bout with surgery, Kent Hopkins decided to be helpful. With the aid of his wife and a red marker, he lettered on his tummy, "Note to Doctor, Cut Along Dotted Line" and across the midriff was a dotted line.

The doctor laughed but made his own incision up and down. Kent is recovering in fine shape from the bout which removed about three - quarters of his stomach.

Steps Taken To Curb Crime In Holland

"Yes, crime is on the increase in Holland and steps are being taken in all areas to maintain law and order."

So said Holland Police Chief Leslie Van Beveren at a meeting in the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon sponsored by the current affairs committee.

But while Holland has its outside influences and answers are not easy to find in a changing society, the chief indicated that many people and organizations are concerned and are cooperating in seeking the right answers. "Your police department is dependent on the cooperation of citizens," he said, adding that the department welcomes information that could avert trouble or solve problems.

He deplored current trends of maliciousness and violence which seem to run rampant among certain groups of young people. While the trouble makers are in the minority, he said, too many young people lack purpose, direction and moral restraint.

As an example, he said five boys caught rifling cars in a church parking lot were not hardened criminals. They came from middle class families and all had pocket money and certainly did not need the first aid kits they had taken. It was done for "kicks." As for shoplifting which has been on the increase the past year, it was not done for need but generally a "status symbol."

He added that in Holland, those caught for larceny seldom are arrested as repeaters.

He showed a narcotics film entitled "Decision," the story of an attractive girl on her experiments with marijuana and heroin, with its attendant paranoia, prostitution, etc. He said importation of heroin ever for medical purposes has been outlawed since 1925 and strongly stamped marijuana as a very dangerous drug, in no way the "innocent" non-habit forming commodity that many groups are trying to legalize.

He said Holland does not have the problems big cities have, "but must wait until we have troubles."

He described investigative processes on marijuana in the local area and said three investigations are currently going on. He said it took six months for investigation and work before arrests could be initiated last fall when $1,200 worth of marijuana was seized locally. He said an accomplice had opium in his possession, the first time in 20 years any evidence of opium was found in Holland.

Of four narcotics arrests made locally in 1967, Van Beveren said two are still pending. Of the charges, two were for possession and two for furnishing.

And while 48 per cent of arrests are persons under 18, the adults too come under the law. The chief said 89 persons were convicted of drunk driving in 1967, compared with 55 in 1966.

He said the police department has learned it must be vigilant on traffic tickets since statistics show as soon as arrests go down the accident rate goes up.

Christian Scores Overtime Victory

Maroons Play Friday In Semis

GRAND RAPIDS — Holland Christian's basketball team moved into the semi-final round of the Class B regional tournament at Knollcrest Fieldhouse Tuesday night, defeating Grand Rapids Central 70-59.

The win, number 21 of the season, proved to be the toughest of the lot, as Central forced the Maroons into overtime.

The game was marked by all the excitement and drama one could ask for, as tournament fever was at its highest. Central's Rams played probably the best game any team has against Christian all season, as they moved quickly, and also gave the Maroons trouble in the first half with their zone defense.

Central scored twice in the first 30 seconds of the game to take an early 4-0 lead, which soon disappeared as Lloyd Dozeman bombed in two long toms. Steve Bushouse and Bob Van Langevelde gave the Maroons an 8-5 lead. A three-point play by Bob Rosema tied the score, and the Rams continued to an 18-14 lead at the quarter, as Marv Brown hit three buckets and Clarence Carlisle two.

Brown scored again to open the second quarter, before Christian narrowed the margin to 20-17. Carlisle scored four more points and Brown two, and the Rams enjoyed their biggest lead of the game, 26-17, with 4:10 left in the half. The Maroons narrowed the gap to 30-24 at halftime.

Christian's inability to work the ball in during the first half was a big factor in the Rams holding the lead, as neither Dan Brower or Jim Vogelzang scored in the first 16 minutes. Another factor was the tremendous shooting of Brown, who came five baskets from about 30 feet out.

The Maroons were a different ball club in the third period, as they put more pressure on defense, and scored 20 points, while holding the Rams to seven. Bushouse's two baskets offset a pair for Central, and with the score 34-28 Christian scored 16 points against three for the Grand Rapids club.

Brower's first basket tied the score 36-36. Carlisle made a free throw, and Dozeman and Brower each hit two more buckets, and Christian was leading 44-37 going into the final quarter.

Dozeman connected on two charity tosses giving the Maroons their biggest lead, 46-37. The Rams then put on a drive which resulted in a 48-47 lead with 5:10 to play. Willie Beards sparked the comeback with three baskets. Bushouse and Carlisle traded baskets, then Bushouse hit two more and Vogelzang one, and the Maroons were up 55-50.

Two foul shots by Van Langevelde increased the margin to 57-51 with 2:01 remaining. Chester Huff scored for Central and Fred Simpson hit a pair of free throws, making the score 57-55. With 32 seconds remaining, the Maroons had the ball out of bounds, and worked out a play which broke one of their players all alone under the basket. However, the shot was missed, and Central got the ball and Simpson scored with 25 seconds remaining, tying the score.

The Rams again gained control of the ball with eight seconds left, but failed to score.

The overtime period was all Christian, as they poured in 13 points in the three minutes and held Central to two. Van Langevelde scored on two free throws, and followed with a two-pointer. Brower scored and the Maroons led 62-57 with a minute left. Brown made the score 62-59, but Brower iced the game with two baskets in 20 seconds, followed by four points from Van Langevelde at the free throw line.

The Maroons hit on 69 of 25 shots for 38 per cent. They had quarters of seven for 20, three for 12, nine for 18, four for 14 and three for five in the overtime.

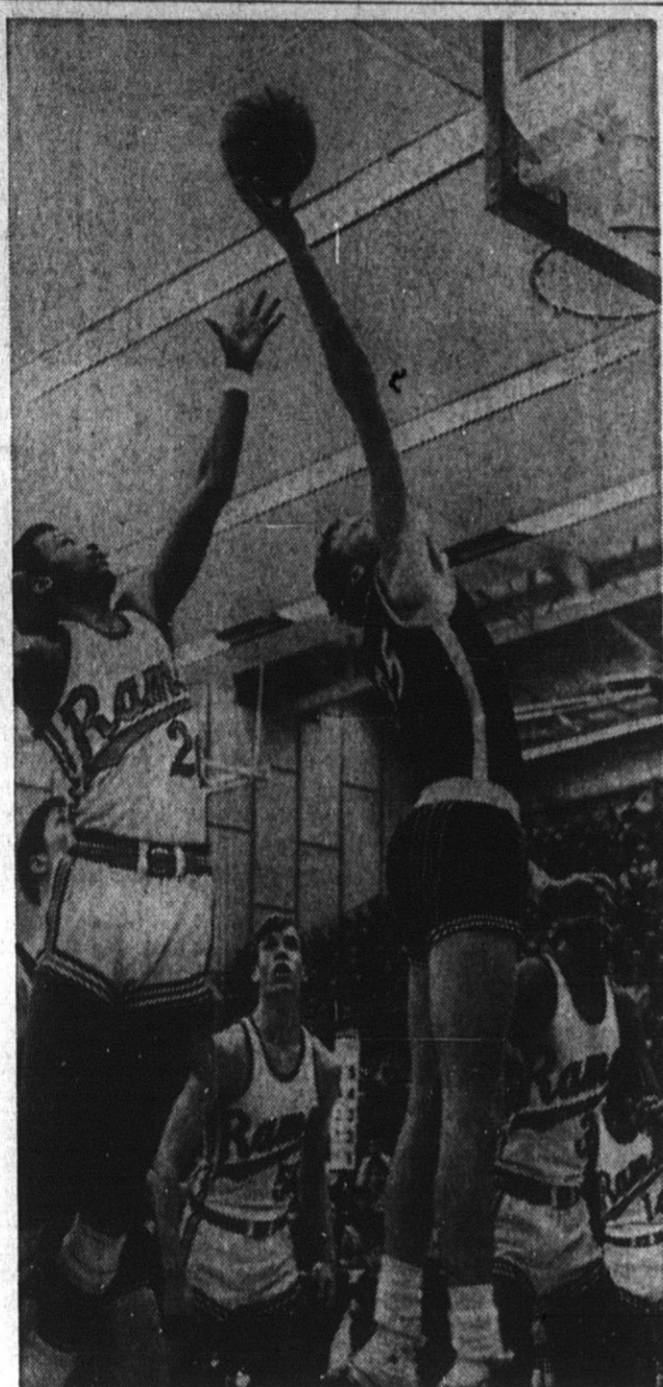

Central connected on 23 of 74 attempts for 31 per cent on periods of eight for 16, five for 15, two for 15, seven for 20 and one of eight in overtime.

Christian connected on 20 of 26 free throws, and the Rams 13 of 22.

Van Langevelde led in scoring with 19, followed by 18 for Bushouse. Carlisle notched 16 for Central and Brown 14.

Dutch Edge Grandville In Overtime

For the second straight year Holland High's basketball team seized the Class A District 79 trophy, but only after their toughest and most thrilling game of the year which left the packed crowd limp with excitement.

The Dutch defeated Grandville, 76-75 Friday night in the Holland High fieldhouse but not before the visiting Bulldogs had more than their share of the glory in the climactic overtime game, a contest that saw both teams dwindle to two starting players and substitutes.

Even after a bucket by Max Bush and a foul shot by Dave De Witt had seemingly iced a 76-73 win for the Dutch with :11 remaining in the game, the Bulldogs chucked in one more at the buzzer.

The game was more reminiscent of Holland's first overtime match with Muskegon Heights than the 20 and 30 point spreads by which the Dutch had completely overwhelmed the Bulldogs in their two previous meetings.

A crucial 73-73 deadlock midway in the overtime marked the last opportunity for the makeshift lineups. Grandville, after having led by as much as eight points, stood even with the usually confident Dutch. The Bulldogs were minus the services of three of their top scorers, and one reserve. Only guards Scott Rockwell, Grandville's high point man for the evening, and Bill Warner survived the foul-out disaster that plagued both squads.

Holland likewise finished with a quintet that is usually fabricated by Coach Don Piersma when the Dutch have an insurmountable lead near the game's end. High point men, Dan Shinabarger and Dave Gosselaar as well as starting center, Rick Zweering, sat helplessly on the bench as the game rested primarily in the hands of less experienced, though capable, reserves.

In the first quarter it appeared to be another stomp by the assured Dutch who hit on seven of 13 from the floor for 54 per cent as they watched the Bulldogs struggle for a gloomy 18 per cent. The Dutch held a slight edge at the quarter's close, 15-14. The game was reversed though in the second quarter as the Bulldogs played with great zeal and winning determination. The score was knotted on three occasions but Grandville pulled to a six-point halftime margin, 34-28.

The Bulldogs survived much of the first half solely on foul shots as they tossed in 14 of 22. With the score knotted several times in the third period Holland managed to push ahead on a final second basket by Dave De Witt to give the Dutch a third quarter margin, 52-50.

But the resolved Dutch were to face the hottest shooting by any opposition this year as the Bulldogs hit an incredible 89 per cent, making eight of nine from the floor in the fourth quarter, while Holland managed a more than respectable 50 per cent in the second half.

The rebounding was more evenly matched as Holland grabbed 15 offensive and 20 defensive rebounds while the Bulldogs came up with seven and 27 respectively.

The trophy was Coach Piersma's fourth in six years at Holland High School. Piersma noted after the game that "Grandville hurt us the most with their combination zone and man to man on Shinabarger and De Witt. They zoned us underneath and we couldn't hit from outside. They forced us into a zone the second half. It was the substitutes who eventually won it for us: Bush, Randy Bobeldyk and Paul Overbeek."

Saugatuck Could Become Coho Salmon Fishing Capital

SAUGATUCK — More than 200 attended a meeting Tuesday night in Douglas Elementary School to learn how the Saugatuck-Douglas area could become a part of the "Coho" harvest during 1968 and other years to come.

Taking part in the discussion was Stanley Lievense, fish biologist with the Department of Conservation, and John Hodge, regional director of Extension Agriculture Service in Northwest Michigan. The program was sponsored by the village board of Saugatuck and Douglas and the Saugatuck - Douglas Chamber of Commerce.

Lievense, a native of Holland, presented the Conservation department's new "Coho" film showing the coho story from 1964 through the 1967 season and answered many questions relative to the "Coho" fishing.

Aim of the meeting was to inform the audience how Saugatuck could become a "Coho" town before the fish are in local areas. The fish are now in the south end of Lake Michigan as commercial fishermen are now catching them at Gary, Ind. They will begin moving north as the water gets warmer and should be in the Saugatuck area about May 1. They will then be at an average of 20 to 40 feet of water. Water temperature will have a great deal to do with the run of the fish and the warm water will send them northward faster.

A great deal of cooperation is needed between commercial fishermen and sports fishermen. The commercial fishermen can locate the many alewives that abound in the lake and are food for the Coho salmon. The commercial fishermen spotting schools of salmon could report to the Salmon headquarters.

Hodge, who had been sent as a representative of Michigan by the Extension Department of Michigan State University to Westport, Wash., told how this small village became the "Salmon Capital of the World."

In his illustrated lecture on the village, he emphasized the use of chartered boats. The charter trips are made through charter offices. Each boat is equipped with tackle, bait, and bait boy as needed for a good fishing trip.

The village has developed a good motel service, adequate facilities for food and entertainment. Parking space is a great asset to the "capital," as the village has developed an outstanding parking system, most of it public and free. For rainy days, the motels have arrangements so that their guests have free entertainment and special rainy day parties.

Westport has no railroad, bus service, a hayfield airport and is 125 miles from Seattle, but the promotion done by the area has made this village the outstanding Salmon fishing area of the world.

Saugatuck, located nearly in the center of the "Coho" salmon trek from one end of Lake Michigan to the other, is an ideal site for a "Second Salmon Capital of the World." It does not have to develop facilities like Westport did, as it has motels, hotels, entertainment, restaurants. All it needs is the charter boat system which can be arranged.

It has one feature that Westport, Wash. does not have. It has a boat industry which is already making house boats to be used for "Coho" fishing. The firm received two orders from West Michigan residents this week for two such boats, which are now labeled Coho's.

Bob Peel, commercial fisherman from Saugatuck, is an experienced alewife fisherman and he is of the opinion that a plan could be formulated that would be advantageous to the Saugatuck - Douglas area and also to the entire economy, including both the commercial fisherman as well as the sports fisherman.

Robert Taft, president of the Saugatuck-Douglas Chamber of Commerce, stated that another meeting will be scheduled soon to consider further plans.

Brady Named All-MIAA, Most Valuable Player

A pair of all-time scorers, a 30-year-old who made a brilliant comeback, a promising sophomore and a two-sport standout highlight the 1967-68 All-MIAA basketball team announced Saturday by the league's coaches.

Hope College standout Floyd Brady, the highest scorer in MIAA basketball history was a unanimous selection as the league's most valuable player.

Brady heads the All-MIAA first team which includes four seniors and a sophomore. Rounding out the first five are Vince Giles of Adrian, Gordon Hetrick of Alma, Gordon Lofts of Olivet and Mike Wilson of Albion.

Second team selections include Wes De Mols and Mike Phelps of Calvin, Gary Rypma and Bruce Van Huis of Hope and Bob Trenary of Kalamazoo. Rypma, 6'11" Grand Rapids senior, averaged 17.6 points in MIAA play this season while Van Huis, 6'3" Holland junior, averaged 13.1 points a game.

This is Brady's third year as a first team selection and Lofts and Giles' second. Unlike Lofts who won the honor last season, Giles was afforded the award eight years ago.

Brady was selected the winner of the Randall C. Bosch of Holland most valuable player award for the second straight year. Only two other players, Frank Walters of Kalamazoo and Ray Ritsema of Hope, ever captured the MVP award twice since it was instituted in 1947.

The 6'3" Hope forward averaged 31.9 points in league competition and established an MIAA career scoring mark with a four year total of 1,170 points. Brady is one of only five Michigan college basketball players in history to have scored more than 2,000 career points with a total of 2,004.

Giles revitalized basketball at Adrian. The 6'2" senior returned to his alma mater this past fall after serving in the Armed Forces for four years and led the Bulldogs to a winning record.

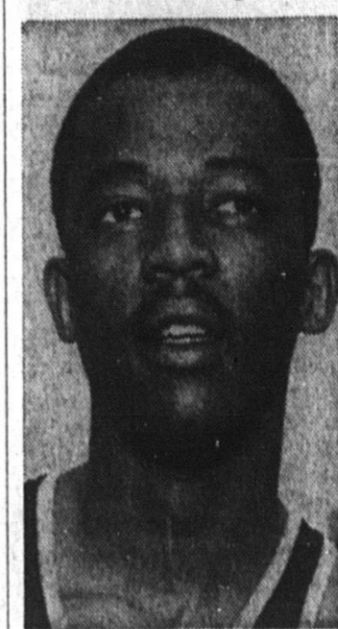

Giles was the league's most valuable player during the 1960-61 season and finished with an 18.3 average during the '67-68 campaign. He ended as the third highest scorer in Adrian College history with 1,194 career points.

Senior Lofts stood out as the most consistent player in the league. The 6'3" Olivet center was third in scoring, led the league in rebounding and field goal accuracy and was runner-up in free throw shooting.

Lofts established himself as the highest scorer in Olivet College history with a career total of 1,586 points. He averaged 22.5 points and 15.5 rebounds per league game.

Lofts was an all-league choice in football this past fall as the Comets finished runnerup.

Alma senior Gordon Hetrick was a prime factor in pulling the Scots out of the MIAA cellar and into second place in just one year. The 6' forward, also a standout on Alma's champion football team, averaged 14.1 points in league play.

Extension 4-H Youth Agent
The Achievement Days for the Coopersville district will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 22 and 23 at the Coopersville Junior High School. We have invited the boys' clubs from that area to exhibit at Coopersville as well. Exhibits are to be brought in on Friday afternoon between 4 and 8 p.m. They will be judged and evaluated by leaders from the Hudsonville and Holland districts.

There will be a program at 2 p.m. on Saturday afternoon which will include a style revue, awards and announcement of winners. We would also like to call attention to the Hudsonville Achievement Days which will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 30 at the Hudsonville Junior High School. Arrangements and details will be announced in next week's news column. Zeeland Achievement Days will be held April 5 and 6, Holland Achievement Days on April 8 and 9, and the County Achievement Days on April 15 and 16.

Style judging for the Coopersville district will be done on Tuesday, March 19 in the Coopersville Junior High School starting at 7 p.m. There will be ten or 12 teams of judges from the Holland and Hudsonville districts to evaluate the 4-H Club members.

We have a very limited number of entries for the Share-the-Fun contest. However, they will be auditioned and the winners will be elected on Wednesday evening, in the music room of the Allendale Public School. The judges will make the decision as to whether or not the winners will perform at the district achievement days.

We have cancelled any plans we might have had for a horse judging clinic due to a lack of response of leaders and members. A total of four members of eligible age indicated they were interested and we have written to them asking them to attend the judging clinic at Michigan State University on March 30 and represent Ottawa County as a team. We would also like to call attention to the Vetavisit which is scheduled to be held on the Campus of M.S.U. on April 6. This will give members an idea of what is included in the Veterinary Medicine program. If you are interested and want more details on this, please write to our office in the County Building, Grand Haven.

In a pilot program, we are attempting to work out a baby-sitting project in the Holland area only. Margaret Jane Suydam, Extension Home Economist, will be teaching a series of five lessons starting on April 22. We hope to have 20 to 30 mothers attend these classes, who will in turn each teach 8 to 12 girls between the ages of 12 and 15, child care, knowledge
