The News gave a detailed account of a gypsy death and burial last fall which occurred at Allegan. It will be remembered that upon the fairgrounds at Allegan last fall a gypsy woman died rather suddenly. The News told of the occurrence and of the many strange things done by the father, Joe John, and his children. Wednesday the father and his oldest son who lives in New York, and the father's cousin, came to Allegan, say the Gazette, to see that the monument, which he ordered at the time of her death, was properly placed on the wife's grave. According to their strange belief, everything must be done for a dead person within six months after death. The name carved upon the stone is "Boblicks Rodosolvic," the mother's maiden name, and into the cross upon the stone is cemented a Mexican dollar, to show she was a gypsy. An iron fence is yet to be placed around the grave and it must be completed before April 1.

Council Proceedings

For the first time the common council met last evening in the new city hall, with all the members present.

Mayor Brusse opened the meeting with an appropriate little speech in which he stated that it was the height of his ambition to have the privilege to preside at the first meeting in the new hall on which such untiring efforts had been made by the members of the building committee and the Common Council. He said that he thanked God who had spared his life so as to realize this ambition. The mayor was very modest in his speech, taking no credit whatever for the building of this beautiful hall, the beauty of which cannot be realized until one takes a look and finds the surprise of his life in store for him. Although the mayor was modest the News wishes to say that to Mr. Brusse belongs a large measure of credit for the handsome structure on the corner of 11th and River street not to discount the work of the council and building committee. The date of the dedication has been set for Saturday, April 8, afternoon and evening when an appropriate program will be given and the New City hall will hold open house giving every one including invited guests a chance to go over the building.

Road officers of Fillmore township asked the council for the use of the city steam roller to build one mile of Maesdam road. The City Engineer Nabershus recommended that they be given the use of the roller at cost price including a percentage for wear and tear. The council felt that any good road movement in this vicinity was to Holland's interest and granted them the use of the roller.

City Attorney Van Duren, gave all the members of the council and visitors to the new city hall, carnations last evening.

The members of the Pilgrim Home cemetery appeared before the council last evening with a proposition, the contents of which will be found in the following communication:

Holland, Mich., Mar. 25, 1911.
To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Holland:—

The Board of Trustees of Pilgrim Home Cemetery (Incorporated as "Het Kerkhof Van Holland") would respectfully submit the following:

Our cemetery at present, with its additions, purchased in 1886 and 1894, contains eleven acres of ground, all fully platted and on the market.

Up to the present time this has been ample to meet the demands of the community—but with an increase in population, the time is not far distant, in fact is now, that provision should be made for additional ground.

It is most desirable, for reasons evident to all, and it has been the constant aim of the Board of Trustees, in providing additional ground for burial, to do so by enlargement of the original plat, through the purchase of lands immediately adjoining the same, thereby preventing a division of time, money and effort in a proper maintenance and beautification and forestalling the ultimate neglect of the last resting place of our early pioneers.

Coupled with this new urgency of enlargement, there is also presented to us at the date of this writing the opportunity of acquiring lands adjoining Pilgrim Home Cemetery on the east and north. The approximate outlay for which will be Eight Thousand Dollars ($8000.00).

Owing to unfavorable and unavoidable conditions, which have hampered this Board, we are not able financially at present and cannot expect to be at any period in the near future to avail ourselves of the opportunity thus presented to obtain for this community a cemetery sufficient not only for the requirements of the day but also ample for the demands of the future; and thus also incidentally securing a decorous observance for the graves of those already resting there.

By reason of this financial disability thus to act, and to act at once, we would respectfully urge the purchase by the city of the lands above referred to, and for the purpose stated, ample authority for which is provided in Title XI of the City Charter.

Should the Council coincide with these views and act in accordance therewith, the Board of Trustees of Pilgrim Home Cemetery stands ready to do either one of two things:

First: To buy and take over from the city at such times and in such quantities as the finances of the Board will permit the lands thus purchased, at the price paid therefor; or

Second: To transfer and make over to the city all their right and title to Pilgrim Home Cemetery, together with the funds on hand and the books and records appertaining thereto; such cemetery to be hereafter maintained and operated by the Board of Park & Cemetery Trustees, under like provisions of Title XI.

It is very gratifying to our Board that in thus approaching your honorable body with this important proposition, we do not come as mendicants or as bankrupts. To the contrary, we are solvent and financially in a sound and healthy condition with $900 to the credit of our bank account. Our sole object and the motive actuating us is to make sure of the future.

Yours very respectfully,

Farmers Having Telephone War

Holland is not the only place on earth where telephone rates are discussed and fought out and telephone wars between competing companies are waged. The farmers around Fennville, Saugatuck and Ganges are having it hot and heavy. The Ganges Saugatuck Telephone Co. is an old established company that has a rate for subscribers of $12 and the contract carries with it the use of 300 local phones including all the business places in that locality and also 1500 instruments within the adjoining districts without paying toll. The company is operated by the farmers in that locality who have men to keep things in repair and the object of the company is not to make money but charge rates enough for expenses and the running expenses of the system. But someone thought money was being made and now another set of farmers are installing a rival company and are going to charge $5 a year with the understanding that the subscriber keep his phone and line in repair. Its the biggest nuisance on earth, and the war has just begun.

Too Late to Vote on It

The matter of opening a freight line through the city of Zeeland for the Interurban, in order to take the freight business off the Main street, has engaged the attention of the Zeeland city council and railway company for some time, and the matter has fallen through for the present. The proposition of giving the company a franchise and right of way over any street, we understand, can only be determined by a vote of the people, and the council has been working hard in an effort to get the proposition ready for the coming charter election, the proposition being to give the company the right of way over Washington street, in consideration of a reasonable reimbursement and certain concessions. They failed to get together on the matter, however, and it has been passed up for the present.

Clever Charlie

By means of what Captain Vandercook of the state artillery calls "indirect fire," Representative McBride has "put one over" on his colleague, Representative Clark. The job indicates that it is good to know the ropes. When the James-Bricker bill taxing lands reserved for their supposed richness in minerals came before the house, McBride made desperate efforts to have it amended so as to include gravel deposits. There are rich deposits of gravel in Ottawa county, but they are in Clark's and not in McBride's district. Clark fought the proposition and, having the Farmers' club with him, beat McBride. Craftily the latter bided his time and when the bill came up in the senate the amendment he wished for was put in by Senator Vanderwerp. Monday night the house, not clearly understanding what it was doing, voted to concur in the amendment and the system of "indirect fire" has been demonstrated to have value in statesmanship as well as in artillery practice.

Clean Up Your Premises

The call of the health authorities in different counties in the state to clean up their premises is timely and should be followed. A little effort now will not only make a vast difference in the appearance of the city but will improve health conditions.

Get out and do your part. Pick up the sticks and papers that have been left on your yard. Clean away all the debris. Get rid of your surplus ashes and start putting your premises in proper condition and making the improvements which you should be planning already for the coming summer. If you are going to plant new shrubs or flowers now is the time to be figuring on it and to be making necessary preparations. And by giving the matter attention now you can help make the city promptly attractive.

Incidentally you will make an improvement in your own physical condition. If you are not making use of the pleasant days that have been given us recently you are doing yourself an injustice. A little mild out-door exercise each day in the open air, the kind you will get from cleaning up your premises, will do you more good than all the spring tonics you can swallow.—Lansing Journal.

Disease in the Drinking Cup

In connection with the above an extract from an article by Henry M. Hyde in the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post of recent date on "Making Over the Public Schools" is interesting. In speaking of epidemics of illness in the schools, Mr. Hyde says: "Doctors had long noticed how the number of cases of sickness increased—particularly among children of school age—when the public schools opened in the fall. One of them noted all the cases of diphtheria reported among the children in the United States during a period of four years. Out of these statistics he constructed a graphic and illuminating chart. In August the middle of the long vacation there were 6000 cases. With the 1st of September the count began to rise rapidly. Within a month it had climbed to 10,000, and by Christmas time, when the first school term was over, it had reached the great number of 14,000."

General Items

The great annual crops of hay and grain in our country weigh over 100 million tons. This vast amount of produce has to be bought and sold a great many times between the producer and the consumer. Strips of redeemable paper with a promise or an order to pay on them and signed by one or two names as may be needed have been sufficient to serve all this vast and complicated traffic. The bank note, the bill of exchange the bank deposit certified by a few figures in a book, with a little coin to make change and settle balances, has measured such change of ownership and has passed the title of all this property from man to man. There is not enough coin in the world to do the work alone. The bank is the machine which performs this stupendous task—and yet a "know-it-all" is heard occasionally to say "we have no need of banks." Probably he hasn't—but it would be to even his advantage if he would fall into line.

It is claimed that all the presidents of the United States had good mothers. It is said that John Q. Adams until the day of his death said the prayers his mother had taught him. Lincoln said, "All that I am I owe to my mother." Garfield kissed the wrinkled face of his mother on the day of his inauguration and said, "You brought me to this." Grover Cleveland said, "Worldly honors or worldly perplexities will never cause me to forget the lessons my mother taught me." As the shadows lengthen, the memory of a mother's love becomes intensified. The vision grown dim with age becomes clear and pictures of childhood days rise before us in their perfection. It is well so few instances are on record where a mother has failed to impress her children with the value and purity of a mother's love.

HORSE OF THE GOBI DESERT DIDN'T REMEMBER HIS NAME

Animal Discovered by Prjevalsky Never Has Been Famed and May Be a Distinct Species.

It is more difficult to domesticate the wild horse than it is to bring other species of wild animals under subjection.

Some years ago Prjevalsky, a Russian explorer, discovered a distinct wild horse in the Gobi desert, in the south of Mongolia. A herd of 30 colts were captured and landed in Europe. Most of them were sent to Russia, but a few were shipped to the estate of the duke of Bedford, in England.

They were ragged of coat and of awkward gait. All efforts to tame them have failed. They will not submit to man's rule and are therefore unserviceable. They become badly frightened when a man approaches nearer than two or three rods of them.

The Russians claim that by methods of comparative anatomy and in other ways they have proved that the Gobi desert horse is a distinct species of the genus horse. Most naturalists have until now believed that the true wild horses with an unbroken line of wild ancestry were extinct.

It is the general opinion that the domestic horse of today was mainly derived from three wild species, which have been named the steppe, forest and plateau varieties. The Gobi horse is a representative of the steppe variety. This horse in its wild state lives in the level districts and goes at night to the pasture lands and drinking places. At break of day it returns to the desert, where it rests until sunset.—New York Herald.

ANCIENT ISRAEL USED INK

Writings of Bible Times Inscribed on Potsherds Have Been Found in Samaria.

"That the ancient Israelites had a cheap and easy method of sending written messages which was in fairly common use is now an established fact," said George A. Reisner, assistant professor of Egyptology at Harvard, who for the last fourteen years has been conducting excavations in Egypt and Palestine. Professor Reisner just returned on the Campanian.

"We were excavating in Samaria, once capital of the northern kingdom of Israel, in 1908, when we came upon the palace of the Israelite kings. Last summer we found on the floor of one of the chambers of the palace a number of potsherds and on these shards were written messages; they related to tithes or taxes paid to the king, and were written in an ink made of pure carbon or lampblack. These, perhaps, are the earliest specimens of Israelite work contemporaneous with the Bible. They were written in the reign of King Ahab."—New York Evening Post.

Precocious Infant.

William Lyon Phelps tells this story about Robert Louis Stevenson, as illustrating the cosmopolitanism of Russian character, which Professor Phelps says is accountable, in a measure, for the international effect and influence of Russian novels. Stevenson, writing from Mentone to his mother, 7 January, 1874, said: "We have two little Russian girls, with the youngest of whom, a little polyglot button of a three-year-old, I had the most laughable scene at lunch today. . . . She said something in Italian which made everybody laugh very much. . . . after some examination, she announced emphatically to the whole table, in German, that I was a madchen. . . . This hasty conclusion as to my sex she was led afterward to revise. . . . but her opinion was announced in a language quite unknown to me, and probably Russian. To complete the scroll of her accomplishments. . . . she said good-by to me in very commendable English." Three days later, Stevenson added, "The little Russian kid is only two and a half; she speaks six languages."

Economy in Smoke Prevention.

After remarking that there can be no hope of the general adoption of means to prevent the fouling of the air of great cities with factory smoke unless it can be demonstrated that the adoption of such means will result in the saving of money to the makers of the smoke, Prof. J. A. Switzer of the University of Tennessee records the result of experiments which he has made with smoke consumers based on the principle of injecting, with steam-jets, fresh air into the furnaces whenever fresh fuel is put upon the fires. He finds that the claim that such apparatus increases the efficiency of the boilers by increasing the evaporation of the water is well founded, and that there is a real economy in their use.—Youth's Companion.

"Noblesse Oblige."

In Mrs. Walford's story of Lord Mansfield, in her recent book, entitled "Recollections of a Scottish Novelist," the top note of propriety is reached.

The noble lord's young nephew, seeing him annoyed at a railway station at having no servant at hand to get his newspapers, ran post-haste and procured them. Lord Mansfield showed no gratitude whatever.

"Edward," was all he would say, "recollect, Edward, that a gentleman should never hurry himself in public."

Queer Instance of "Stage Fright" at the General Delivery Window on Sunday Morning.

"Many people get stage fright at the general delivery window," said a post office clerk. "It is particularly likely to catch them on Sunday morning, when a big crowd is lined up waiting for mail. Most always they recover in time to give their name and address, but once in a while a man suffers such a severe attack of momentary aphasia that he has to step aside long enough to remember who he is."

"A queer incident of this kind took place at this window not many Sunday mornings ago. The usual Sunday morning crowd was on hand. In the line was a man who was struck with the worst kind of stage fright the minute he approached the window. It is the custom for every applicant to sing out his name without being asked, but that man's mind had suddenly become such a blank that he had no more idea what he wanted to say than if he had never been christened. At a busy time like that a clerk has no time to waste on imbeciles, so I asked him to step aside and give the rest of the folks a chance. Before he could make a move the man directly behind him sang out a name and address over his shoulder. The man's stage fright vanished instantly.

"That's my name," he said. "How on earth did you know it? I never saw you before."

"But I have seen you," said the other man. "I have just moved into the apartment house where you live. I found out from the janitor who you are. I wanted to know because it is your dog that howls half the night."

"So even that victim of stage fright got his mail, but that was an exceptional case."

RETURN OF THE PILGRIMS

Interesting Ceremonial When the Escort of the Sacred Carpet Gets Back to Cairo.

Yesterday morning, writes the Cairo correspondent of the Queen, was devoted to watching the ceremonial return of the Mahmal and its attendant escort of soldiers and pilgrims from Mecca. The sacred kiswe or carpet, which is the annual tribute from Cairo and which journeyed to Mecca with the pilgrims, has now taken its place as the covering of the Kaaba, while that which it replaced has already been divided as valuable mementos among the faithful.

The ceremony of the return of the pilgrims as that of their departure is celebrated in the great Place Mohamed Ali, below the ramparts of the citadel, the square being outlined with Egyptian troops. The khedive was present of course yesterday with all his ministers and staff, and many of the European notables and a tremendous concourse of less important spectators were present to view the ceremony.

The departure of the Mahmal took place so early in November that but few visitors were in the place to witness it, and as the Mohammedan calendar is nearly a fortnight shorter than ours, before long this interesting annual event will be relegated to the days of the early autumn, whereas the European element will be deprived of one of the few remaining purely Egyptian festivals. Statistics from Mecca this year state the number of pilgrims at the enormous figure of 90,051, out of which Egypt accounted for no less than 15,619.

Doing Your Own Papering.

In preparing the paper for hanging, first trim off all white edges which might show afterward. Then spread the paste on the paper, very evenly, to obviate the danger of irregular drying and later spotty effects. Regulate the temperature of the room so that the paper will dry within one hour after hanging.

The following method of estimating the number of rolls of paper may be of help. This estimate holds good for rooms of from seven to nine feet in height. Measure the number of yards around the room, and multiply this by two. The resultant figure represents the number of full-length strips. For each ordinary sized window and door allow two strips each. Subtract this from the first figure, and divide by five. This will give you the number of double rolls required. This estimate makes allowance enough so that the trimmings fill in odd places.—Country Life in America.

Fashion a Necessity.

The women of the West Indies have been wearing the hobble skirt for years and are apt to wear it for years to come. The hobble may have originated with these women of the tropics, but they probably care little for the credit, as their hobble is more of a necessity than a fashion decree. They wear a belt anywhere between the shoulders and the hips, and the tight hobble cord is placed just below the knees. They are often forced to walk through long, wet grass and ford streams, and when occasion demands it the skirts are pulled up and the hobble cord holds them in place. Every native woman wears a hobble, but she calls it a "grazitto."

In Proportion.

Wife—I want a cap, please, for my husband.

Shopkeeper—Yes, madam. What size does he wear?

Wife—Well, I really forget. His collar are size 16; though I expect he'd want about size 18 or 20 for a cap, wouldn't he?

SKOWHEGAN DOG HAS TOBACCO HABIT

INTELLIGENT CANINE HAS BEEN AN INVETERATE SMOKER FOR THREE YEARS.

"BUSTER" ENJOYS HIS PIPE

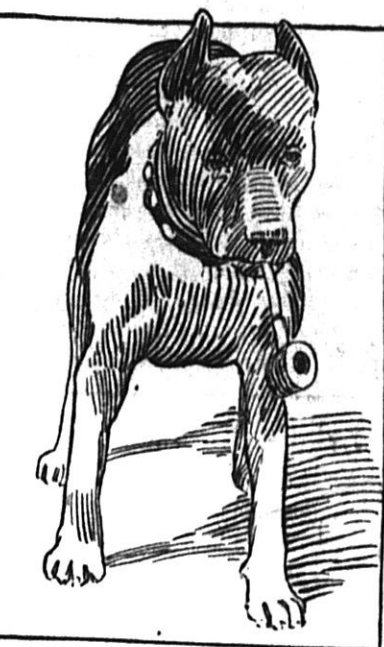

First Induced to Whiff the Weed by Mischievous Boy and Afterward Got the Habit—Takes Daily Smoke With His Master.

Skowhegan, Me.—There are a great many dogs in Skowhegan, but only one has the tobacco habit. This dog, Buster by name, is owned by Arthur Morrisette.

Buster learned to smoke about three years ago. His master was proprietor of a clothing store and Buster was somewhat of an assistant manager. Mr. Morrisette had trained the dog so that when he wanted to have a special sale, he could place a blanket on the dog with lettering advertising his business and hold on his back a banner fastened to a large standard. This attracted a great deal of attention.

After a time Mr. Morrisette thought it would add to his assistant manager's appearance, as he went through the streets, to have a pipe in his mouth. So in time the dog learned to carry the pipe.

For a joke one day, as Buster was attending to his business, a boy caught him and filled the pipe with tobacco and then lighted it. Buster took it and appeared to like the taste of it. Soon he returned to the store and acted sick. His master, looking at the pipe saw what had happened. The dog was sick for several hours, but the next day he came to his master, begging for something. After a time Mr. Morrisette saw that the dog wanted the pipe. He gave it to him, without the tobacco, but the dog dropped it. Then his master filled it with tobacco, lighted it and gave it to him. Buster enjoyed it and is today an inveterate smoker.

He smokes every day in the morning with his master. Buster has been taught to get the mail and carry it home and if sent with a note to a store will bring home any package tied to his neck.

GRIPS HOT PIPE FOR LIFE

Locomotive Fireman Has a Thrilling Ride—May Lose His Badly Roasted Hand.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Clinging with one hand to a roasting-hot steam pipe on the side of a locomotive, John Stutler, a fireman on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, rode three miles in three minutes before he was discovered. It is probable that Stutler's hand will have to be amputated. To let go the hot pipe would have resulted in his death.

Stutler, shortly after leaving New Castle Junction, Pa., crept out upon his running-board to tighten a leaking union on an injector pipe. His foot slipped, and to save himself he grasped the hot pipe. His other hand clutched the side of the running board to keep his feet from being crushed in the spinning drivers. After three minutes the train was brought to a stop by a red light, and Stutler's plight was discovered by his engineer.

THE MARRIED MAN'S HANDICAP

Washington Benedicts Fear Bachelors Will Be Given Preference for Jobs Involving Risk.

Spokane, Wash.—An employer's liability law is under consideration by the Washington legislature that, if adopted, may make it difficult for a married man to get employment where single men can be obtained.

This is because of a marked excess in the damages to be paid to a married man or his widow over a single man in case of disablement or fatal injury.

Under the proposed act every line of industry employing men around machinery or on risks deemed at all hazardous will be assessed a percentage based on pay rolls for three months preceding October 1 of each year.

The revenue thus derived will be handled by a commission, which will have sweeping powers in executing the provisions of the act.

MEN WHO THINK WITH THEIR FEET ELEVATED

BLOOD THUS MADE TO GRAVITATE TO THE BRAIN WHERE IT QUICKENS THOUGHT.

St. Louis, Mo.—"Hello, Mark!" called a man on a Mississippi river steamer, who sat with his feet elevated on a table in front of him as Mark Twain approached.

"Your face seems familiar," returned the Hannibal humorist, "but I don't seem to recognize your feet!"

Many persons are recognizable to their intimate friends because of the appearance of their feet, however. They are so accustomed to putting their feet on the table, the desk or even the wall, that those who know them best usually see their feet first. This gentleman, whose pedal extremities show so prominently in the accompanying picture, may be easily recognized by his feet. He is a half-fellow-well-met sort of a person, whose hat is set at a rakish angle and who has the stub of a cigar in his mouth. He is most democratic. He believes that all men were really born "free and equal," as asserted in the preamble to our constitution. To prove that he is the equal of if not better than all comers he elevates his feet whenever, wherever and upon whatever he chooses.

This man, of whom we have a glimpse here, always stands on his feet and never on his head, metaphorically speaking; there is more blood in the lower than in the upper portions of his body, consequently he thinks with his feet oftener than with his head. When he has a downright hard job of thinking before him, as in the present instance, he invariably elevates his feet. In that way the blood gravitates naturally out of his feet and his heart has less labor in elevating it to his brain where it quickens his thought. The good nature of a man who puts his feet on the table is frequently augmented to the disadvantage of his manners.

GIRLS PLAY INDOOR BASEBALL

Sport Fast Taking Place of Basketball Among Chicago Young Women.

Chicago.—Indoor baseball has been invaded by the girls of Chicago, and the sport is fast taking the place of basketball, which for years was supreme as the exercise and amusement for girls in their gymnasium work. When indoor baseball was first brought into prominence back in 1887 it is doubtful if George W. Hancock of Chicago, who is credited as the originator of the game, ever thought it would develop as a pastime for girls as well as boys and men, but such is the case.

To the girls of West Park No. 1 goes the credit of probably the superior gathering of indoor baseball players in Chicago and vicinity. The girls are coached daily by Miss Franz, and it is due to her general knowledge of the game that her class has developed into such expert players. The many daring feats which are attempted by the sterner sex in their clashes on the wooden diamonds are duplicated to a "T" by the young girls. What's more, they have become very adept at the game, and without any thought of injury or accidents they slide to the bases, romp around the diamond, and push each other out of the way, just as boys, when the score becomes close.

Another Confesses Stealing Chickens—When He Was a Boy and Pays for Them.

Brookville, Ind.—As the result of religious fervor aroused by a revival at Buena Vista, Howard Jackson, who raised a fine crop of tobacco last year, decided that the use of the weed was wrong and burned all that he had. He also threw his lodge pins into the fire and renounced his allegiance to several secret organizations. Another citizen made public confession to stealing some chickens many years ago for a boy's midnight feast, and paid for the fowl.

Valdism in the Libraries

Hardly a month passes that some valuable book or magazine in the city library is not mutilated in some manner by some person who either knowingly or unwittingly destroys or mars beyond possible hope of repair.

There is a law on the statute books of this state that makes it a misdemeanor for a person to knowingly cut, mutilate or destroy any book, pamphlet or magazine in a public library. Apparently there is a certain class of people who frequent the libraries who are not familiar with the provisions of the statute and have no real regard for the intrinsic value of a book. The fact that our public library will be moved to the new City Hall within a few days makes it an auspicious occasion to impress this fact upon the patrons' minds. Miss Kanter is a librarian of exceptional ability and deserves the co-operation of every book user who patronizes the library.

No one with any sense of propriety would borrow a volume of a friend and then return it in a soiled or torn condition. Therefore, why should a person take liberties in a public library with the books that are placed there for general use. One page taken from a book or a magazine may destroy its value.

The public libraries are the only means whereby certain classes derive their knowledge and the benefits of current reading and the privilege used by the many should not be abused by the few. Let the few start right with the opening of the new library.

Abe Stephan

Abe Stephan, who was unanimously nominated by the republicans at their caucus Monday night, stands before you as your candidate not of his own choice but your choice as republicans. Not for caucus nomination merely, but to be elected as your chief executive. When you go to the ballot next Monday don't let alleged little personalities sway you; don't let your judgement be influenced by these petty prejudices and any political roar backs sprung at a late hour.

Do not listen to the whisperings that emanate from his political enemies who will harp on these little personalities with sayings something like these. "If he becomes mayor, he'll get the swell head and his hat won't fit" or "you won't be able to hold him". Then again the epithet that "he'll walk so straight that he'll fall over backwards". That is about all you heard from the opposition when Mr. Stephan ran before. Trivial things, these, upon which to base a political campaign.

What mere technicalities these little personalities are anyway, compared with what we know of this man. He did not "fall over backwards" or "fall down" when he cleaned up the hobo question in this county thereby saving the taxpayers $16,000 each year. He did not get the "swelled head" when he was alderman of this city and when you wished something done the word was "Who must we go to?" and inevitably the reply was "Stephan" and Stephan was there to do it to the best of his honest judgment.

It is true things warmed up considerably at times but the occasion warranted the warming. The News could mention incident after incident in Abe's public career but you know them as well as we as, they are of recent occurrence and matters of public record. Therefore, we challenge his political enemies to name one public act of his that has not brought lasting benefits to the people of whom you are one. Do you appreciate this man's worth? Do you put your stamp of approval upon his past record? If you do, you can prove it by the ballot-box next Monday.

The News says "Let E. P. Stephan walk as straight as he pleases when he is mayor of Holland and do something; that is eminently better than walking otherwise and doing nothing."

This editorial was written mainly because in substance there remarks were made by a prominent Doctor in this city who ought to know better, who was promptly taken to task by another business man who believes in Stephan.

We are for Cross

The visit to Allegan of Mr. Peter J. Danhof of Grand Haven, Democratic candidate for judge, has aroused interest as to what are his plans of campaign. He is said to be expert in political work, so much so that he was able to win election as prosecuting attorney in the strong Republican county of Ottawa, and once came near election as state senator in the Ottawa-Muskegon district. It is understood that appeal for Republican support of Danhof in Ottawa will be made on local grounds. Allegan has had the circuit judgeship almost continuously since circuit courts were held in this part of the state. Ottawa county Republicans have long hoped that they would secure the prize for some of their number when it should be relinquished by Judge Padgham, but they were not quite harmonious as to who of their number should have the place. So the Ottawa lawyers all supported Judge Padgham, partly at least upon the theory that as age would soon cause his retirement his incumbency was better for their plans than would be that of any younger man with probability of several terms' service. Now, it is figured, these politicians and many more Ottawa citizens will be inclined to support Danhof in order to get the judgeship away from Allegan. They have before them as an example and inspiration the repeated playing of such a game by the Kent county Republicans who vote for and elect to congress a Democrat from Kent rather than a Republican from any other part of the district. It is a good scheme, the only one that affords Mr. Danhof any chance of election, but there are too many Republicans in Allegan county to make the working of it possible.—Allegan Gazette.

The scheme may look good to Mr. Danhof and Edwy Reed but not to the Ottawa Co. voters. With a few personal exceptions Mr. Cross who is a man to be trusted will get a good healthy Republican majority and if Mr. Reed thinks Ottawa will fall short of its usual normal Republican majority he has another guess coming. Watch Ottawa. We are for Cross.

We are All in Earnest

The work that has been begun by the Civic Club, looking to the building of a home for a local Young Men's Christian association to be organized when the structure comes into existence, must be pushed. That it will be given support by every right-minded citizen to whose attention it is properly called by the committee is evident from the great interest that has thus far been displayed in the cause. The Civic Club is in earnest and the members of the Y. M. C. A. committee can be depended upon to do their duty. As for the right-minded citizens, the News believes that there are enough such to make the proposed building an ultimate reality.

To enumerate the advantages that will ensue from the establishment of a branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Holland is a stupendous task. Only the immediate advantages can be readily mentioned for the sphere of usefulness of a city. Y. M. C. A. is so extensive in its scope that its more distant benefits are more readily imagined than discussed. But the direct benefit to those who become members of such an association can be classified under three heads. Man's triune nature offers three separate elements for development; mental, moral and physical. The proper and healthy growth of each of these units or qualities is absolutely essential to the highest type of manhood. Experience has shown that one of the best means of producing the growth of a complete man is afforded in the various Young Men's Christian associations whose influence is now world wide.

The proposed building must be a large one if it prove adequate to meet the needs of the city. There must be a large, well equipped floor space devoted to indoor athletic games—hand ball, basket ball, indoor baseball, wrestling and boxing, so that more than one form of athletic endeavor can be participated in at one time. Besides there should be social and educational rooms, an auditorium where successful men of the city and from outside of the city can meet the members and give helpful, instructive talks, and where the religious influence of older members can find free expression. A source of revenue and profit would be found in a number of dormitory rooms which would also serve the good purpose of the association in many other ways.

One of the best features of the whole scheme is that it is all thoroughly practical. What has been done in other cities can be done in Holland. Such men as Hon. G. J. Diekema and Geo. E. Kollen who spoke at the Civic Club, not only believe it practicable but are willing to put their shoulder to the wheel and work to make the plan materialize. They and other members of the Civic Club recognize that for men of their type it is a moral duty to bring about the greatly desired result and backed by the argument of expediency and direct benefit to the city at large, they are working for it. Men like the members of the Civic Club have no time to throw away on hopeless and impossible dreams. It is the desire to substitute something for that which has been taken away from our young men that prompt the movement—a practical something that will attract of its own virtue and not by force or law.

At the beginning of this campaign let us present a united front. There should not be the remotest vestige of division. It makes no difference if there were one or twenty ministers at the initial meeting. We would like to see every minister in town interested in the success of the Y. M. C. A. but at the same time we do not feel that the churches should be the dominating factor in the movement. There should be no dominating force but each of the three qualities of the individual members, the spiritual, the mental and the physical, should be given equal attention. We are thoroughly in sympathy with the great work of the churches in this community and we sincerely believe that there will be abundant opportunity, for increased activity on their part when the Y. M. C. A. is with us as a permanent organization. Let the Y. M. C. A. perform its part and we will find it to be, in a countless number of cases but a stepping stone to the church. We trust that the false argument that the Y. M. C. A. will deprive the church of a portion of its field of labor will meet with the scant attention that it deserves.

The Y. M. C. A. will reach all classes of men. It will reach every man who has a worthy desire for self improvement. Not only will it touch the factory boy, but the merchant, the clerk, the business and professional men, will find in it a place to meet on common ground for a common purpose. No man who goes of an evening to the Y. M. C. A. and listens to an inspiring speech, or spends a social hour, or reads some of the world's best literature, or follows a strenuous evening of exercise with a good shower and rub down, can fail to go home to rest without a consciousness of an evening well spent and a preparedness for a day of better labor.

Strangers are continually coming to our city—young men who have spent all their lives among the fascinating environments of larger cities. More will come as the town grows larger.

We must meet them with something worth while. We cannot meet them with a constant discussion of how bad we all are. We know we are not perfect but they know where there are more of the vices and the crimes of society than there are here and we do not wonder when we see some leave our city in disgust and others remain and become disgruntled citizens. We must meet them with a substitute for the gay lives they have lived. We can show them our view point and make them understand why we can feel that we are not socially perfect. Let them then be work for the church and more liability of its finding itself in a position to do that work.

Acting on these views this paper has repeatedly advocated the building of a theatre and the furnishing of other places of amusement. We have often found ourselves taken to task by certain narrow grooved individuals for our attitude upon these questions. We take this opportunity of again stating our position. We must have amusements in order to make Holland loved by those who live here. The day of narrowness in these matters is passed. We believe that a theatre is what the people make it, so is a club house, pool-room, Y. M. C. A. or church.

We have repeatedly said in these columns that we are looking first of all to the interest of our City. We meet all new propositions with the question "Is it good for Holland?" and we answer that question to ourselves as best we can. Our attitude in this is based not only upon civic pride but also upon fundamental theories of economic. We see big things in store for this ideally located city that we believe will come within the next decade. On the verge of this period of growth we cannot make a more auspicious start than by getting together and going on record as being in favor of no growth but a healthy one. We can best do this by erecting a structure that we believe will accomplish every purpose herein outlined and contribute to the high standing of our city here and everywhere.

No more Paines fireworks. No more pain.

Orien S. Cross Candidate for Circuit Judge on the Republican Ticket

A very important question to be settled next Monday is the election of a Circuit Judge for Ottawa and Allegan Counties. Orien S. Cross is the candidate for this office on the Republican ticket and is entitled to the vote of every loyal Republican of both counties. He is an able attorney, an honest man, and is well qualified in every way for the office of Circuit Judge. Not one finger can be pointed at Mr. Cross for a single failure to at all times do his duty as a man, a citizen and a republican. He has all his life been a regular and consistent worker in our party, ever ready to do his share and more, of the vast amount of work there is to do in carrying on the Republican campaigns from year to year. Mr. Cross graduated from the Law Department of the University of Michigan in 1897, took a post graduated course in 1898 and received a master's degree. He has been in the active practice of the law for nearly fourteen years. His integrity and ability to assume the duties of this great office, will not for one moment be questioned by any man of his acquaintance in the entire Judicial Circuit, and the fact that when running against so well qualified a man as Judge Padgham, Mr. Cross received two votes to his opponents one in the city of Allegan where they both reside, besides carrying both Ottawa and Allegan Counties by spendid majorities at the Primaries speaks more for the qualifications of Mr. Cross than volumes can express.

The Allegan News has the following to say of the candidate.

"Mr. Cross is a young man and is also one of the brightest legal lights in Western Michigan. He is a self-made man; he has risen to eminence by his own efforts. He has served the people in the capacity of prosecuting attorney, & city attorney of this city. Like Mr. Padgham, Mr. Cross is a man of clean habits."

Republican Caucus

There were perhaps six hundred voters present Monday night at the Republican caucus in Price's rink and they were there to do the thing right and to nominate a ticket that could out-

up a square front against the opposition and that could make a showing at the polls such as it has not done for many years. The fact that so large a number of voters came out shows well for the interest people are taking in the issue this year.

E. P. Stephan was named as the candidate for mayor by acclamation. There was no voice raised against him when Attorney C. Vander Meulen made the nominating speech, and although Chairman Diekema gave a great deal of opportunity to others to make nominations there was no one who had another name to propose. Therefore H. Geerlings arose and made the motion that the choice should be made unanimous. This was immediately seconded and the vote taken.

Then came an enthusiastic call for a speech from the nominee but Almerly arose and said to the voters that he thanked them for the honor, and let it go at that.

The caucus Monday night was one of the most harmonious ones held for many years and the sentiment of all those present was the get-together spirit and the spirit of men who wish to present a strong front by means of united effort.

Hon. G. J. Diekema was chairman for the evening and Austin Harrington, secretary. After a short preliminary talk by Mr. Diekema in which he sounded the keynote of the meeting by insisting on the necessity of united action the business of the evening began.

The following ticket was nominated:

For Mayor:—
EVERT P. STEPHAN

For Clerk:—
RICHARD OVERWEG

For Treasurer:—
NICHOLAS ESSENBURG

For Justice of the Peace:—
MORTIMER A. SOOY

For Supervisors:—
First District,

For Constables:—

City Committee:—First Ward, G. Raterink, G. Cook; Second Ward, J. Van den Berg, F. Brieve; Third Ward, H. Geerlings, Jerry Leapple; Fourth Ward, Geo. L. Lage, Ed. Westveer; Fifth Ward, Al. Hidding, H. Van der Warf.

The nominating speech of Mr. Vander Meulen follows:

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Republicans:—If the many signs of promise do not lie, the City of Holland is, today, at the dawn of a new epoch of civic and industrial development. Our merchants are organized into a strong association for the purpose of promoting the interests of retail trade. Our Board of Trade is exerting every effort to promote the industrial welfare of our city. A number of organizations have been formed to more fully minister to the social and ethical needs of our citizens. We trust that ere long the young men of this city will have the benefit of a fully equipped Y. M. C. A. building. Holland is awakening to its opportunities as never before. With good reason we hope and firmly believe that the next few years will see a marked advance, in our city, in population, in prosperity and in civic virtue.

In consideration of this forward movement, this heaven of progress which seems to be permeating every phase of our communal life, it appears to me that there has never been a time when it was more imperative that we should exercise the utmost care in selecting our public servants. A retroactive Mayor and Council would retard the forward movement. Progressive officials will speed it along. We want men who are honest, we want men who are able, men who are public-spirited, broad-minded and progressive.

Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen, I rise to place in nomination for the mayoralty of our city, a man who preeminently measures up to the opportunities as well as the responsibilities of the office. His integrity has never been questioned. His executive ability, his municipal patriotism, his courage, his progressiveness have been proven in his business career, in his connection with the various organizations to promote our civic welfare, and especially by his aldermanic record. This record is so thoroughly known to you all that it is not necessary for me to review it here this evening.

In presenting his name, I wish to voice just one sentiment. The American Public, today, demands to know, not only the purposes of its public servants but also their methods. The days of the gum-shoe politician are numbered. We are requiring of our candidates publicity as to campaign funds and expenditures. We demand that our representatives in every public office shall fully account for their every official act. The men who are today strong with the American people are the men who have taken the people themselves into their confidence; the men who recognizing the eternal principle that evil works are always the works of darkness, are willing that the full light of publicity shall illumine their every act. Men who with faith that the people are capable of deciding every public question right, whenever they are fully informed with reference to it do not fear to expose evil whenever and wherever it exists and enlist in the struggle for its extirpation an enlightened public sentiment. There are always those who cry "Let us have rest from agitation" but in municipalities, in state and in nation and awakened public conscience demands that there shall be no rest until we know, because there is nothing hidden, that every public official is administering his trust for the benefit of all the people.

The candidate whom I shall name, has in all his past achievement been willing to take the people into his confidence. As his purposes have been true and honest so his methods have always been open and above board.

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, as a guarantee to every citizen of our city that the Republican party proposed every man within our corporate limits in so far as an efficient and honest administration can secure it, a square deal; as a farther pledge that we are in thorough sympathy with the growing spirit of progress in our midst, I move the nomination of the man who always has been and is strong for Holland, Mr. Evert P. Stephan.

Mrs. J. B. Williams, aged 33 years, died at her home on the north side of the bay Monday evening. She is survived by a husband and daughter. The funeral will be held at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon from the M. E. church, the Rev. P. E. Whitman will officiate.

Mrs. John J. Cappon entertained Thursday afternoon at her beautiful home, 268 Maple St., from three to six. The apartments were beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants and an element of good cheer pervaded the home. A program consisting of a violin solo by Miss Avis Yates who played "Souvenir," was well received. Miss Ethelyn Metz gave a reading, "The Transformation." Miss Grace Browning sang "I Hear You Calling Me," with the pathos she knows so well how to instill into her music. This selection was followed by a duet entitled "I Would That My Love" by Mendelssohn.

The safe side—are you on it? In other words, are you well insured? This is just a reminder.

With a gathering of four generations of their descendants, Mr. and Mrs. Harm Plaggenmiers, who for more than 60 years have been residents of the Van Raaite colony, which settled here in 1847, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in Holland township Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Plaggenmiers are the oldest of the surviving pioneer couples and were among the first to be married in this section. Their marriage was unique, as two other couples took the marriage vow with them. Mr. and Mrs. Plaggenmiers are the only two of the sextette living. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Plaggenmiers settled on their present farm. They are respectively 83 and 82 years old, and are still active.

Next Tuesday evening, Prof. Alle D. Zuidema of Detroit, will give an organ recital at the First Reformed church of this city. He will be assisted by Gerrit De Motta, of Hope college

GENERAL NAAMAN'S LEPROSY CURED

II Kings 5:1-14—April 2

"Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is none else."—Isaiah 45:22.

GENERAL NAAMAN, of the army of Syria on the northern border of the land of Israel, was a sick man. He had the loathsome infection and incurable disease called leprosy. Wealth, influence at Court, life's abundance and honors could not offset this terrible plague upon his life.

The study of today tells of his miraculous healing by the Prophet Elisha. In Naaman's household was a young girl who had been captured from the Israelites and was a slave, although doubtless well treated. The maid remembered the Prophet Elisha and how wonderfully Divine power, through him, had healed diseases. Instead of rejoicing that her captor and master was suffering, she sympathetically inquired why he did not go to the Prophet, who, she felt sure, would be glad to pray for him and heal him.

Although it seemed like catching at a straw, Naaman followed up the suggestion; he got a letter from his King to the King of Syria.

and presented himself to the latter, requesting healing by Israel's great Prophet, of whom he had heard. The King was astonished. He knew leprosy to be incurable. Apparently he knew little about Elisha's powers. Naaman dipping seven times.

He surmised that the King of Syria was intent upon picking a quarrel as an excuse for sending an invading army to pillage his kingdom. Eventually, however, Naaman was directed to Elisha's place of residence, at a distance from the King's Court.

Leprosy a Figure of Sin

In many respects leprosy corresponds to sin; firstly, it is incurable; secondly, it is loathsome; thirdly, it is contagious; fourthly, it is destructive; fifthly, it is painless.

As only Divine power could heal the leper, only the same can heal the sinner. As the maid could call attention to the Prophet, and the Prophet prescribe the remedy, and the servants exhort compliance, so all those who know of a Divine power and arrangement for the healing of sinners may tell the good tidings, even to their enemies.

The number seven in the Bible is used to represent completeness; hence the seven washings in Jordan would signify a complete cleansing, washing. It is by faith that we may now wash ourselves completely in the blood of Christ; by faith we may realize that the sacrifice of Christ was for the sins of the whole world, and may appropriate our share thereof.

Gehazi, the Grafter, a Leper

Gratitude is one of the most worthy sentiments of the human mind. General Naaman's nobility was manifested in the fact that, after being healed, he retraced his journey nearly forty miles, in order to thank the Prophet for his recovery and to bestow upon him gifts which he had brought. We may assume that if he had not been noble-minded, God would not have provided for him this healing.

To the General's surprise the Prophet declined to take anything. The gifts of God's grace are not to be bartered for earthly good things. How fortunate it would be, and how much to the Lord's glory, if all of God's people would emulate Elisha in this respect! But Gehazi, Elisha's servant, had a different spirit. When the chariot was out of sight he hastened and hailed it and told the General that although his master would take nothing of the things offered for himself, he would willingly accept some of the garments for the young men of the School of the Prophets.

The General very promptly and gladly assented and gave more than was requested. But God through the Prophet punished the peridy of Gehazi. He took Naaman's presents. He got also Naaman's leprosy.

Many have erroneously assumed, in connection with this lesson, that Naaman was saved to heaven and Gehazi lost. Both conclusions are unscriptural. Naaman was saved to health and Gehazi lost his health. But the eternal interests of neither were settled.

Not until Cornelius' day, three and a half years after the Cross, did any Gentile come into any kind of relationship with God. Previous to that, from the time of Moses, only the Jewish nation had recognition. "You only have I known of all the families of the earth." (Amos 3:2.) And God's favor to Israel was merely an earthly and preparatory one. No one gained eternal life prior to the Redeemer's sacrifice. Thus the Scriptures declare that Christ "brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel"; again, "So great salvation which began to be declared by our Lord."

Hope College has received another addition to its number of Japanese student, Mr. B. Hashiguchi, who arrived here on Wednesday, from Japan.

The following accident occurred on Tuesday afternoon at the house of Mr. R. Schuitema, six miles north of the city.—Two of his little boys, one of ten and the other five years old, were playing on the bed with a two-barreled pistol loaded with shot. The parents were absent and upon the report of a shot they rushed into the house and found them both wounded. The younger one had the right eye shot out and the greater part of the charge lodged in his head. The older received some slight injuries on the face, part of the charge glancing close along the head, taking off part of his hair. Dr. Morris was called in and reports that there is hope for the recovery of both.

A rather interesting trial took place on Friday of last week. One Jas. Chittick, a schoolteacher of the town of Wright, was brought before Justice Pagelson on a charge of having committed an assault and battery on one of his scholars. A large number of witnesses were examined, by whose testimony it appeared that Mr. Chittick had severely whipped five boys for being noisy and snow-balling on the road after being dismissed from school. He was found guilty by the jury and sentenced to pay a fine and costs, amounting to over fifty dollars, from which judgment he has appealed to the Circuit Court, where the question will probably be settled, whether a teacher has a right to punish scholars for acts committed after leaving school.

THRILLING RESCUE OF WRECKED CREW

TWO MEN SAVE 18 AFTER BARKENTINE STRANDS AND STORM FOILS LIFE SAVERS.

ONE MAN LIFTS 4 INTO BOAT

But for the heroism of the Two Sailors Not Only the Vessel's Crew but the Life Saving Force Would Have Been Lost.

Wood's Hole, Mass.—Of all the rescues in these parts for years the greatest was made the other night when Capt. Sam Jackson and Frank Veeder brought 18 men to Cuttyhunk island in a dory and yawl after pounding seas had put the life saving outfit out of business. But for the heroism of these two men the entire force of the Cuttyhunk station would have gone down, together with the crew of the new barkentine Stephen G. Hart, bound from Gulfport, Miss., to Boston, with lumber and driven by storm and cross-currents on a reef off the island.

The barkentine stranded in a fog and was not spied by the station lookout until she had tossed on her jagged bed for several hours. Her signals told that she was fast filling and that help must come quickly to be of any use. Not knowing how many lives might depend on their getting to the wreck in a hurry, all the men at the station turned out and to make sure of room for everybody, they towed the surf boat behind the big power craft. Two of the island fishermen named Cornell volunteered for the trip with them.

When they climbed on board the Hart part of her keel had settled on the reef with the receding tide, which steadied her a bit, but made hauling her off out of the question. Captain and crew were willing enough to leave her to herself for the night, for the leakage had displaced her cargo and threatened to immerse her, and the wind shrieked warnings of a stormy night.

The seas that broke over her parted the line to the station power boat and set her adrift. That left only the yawl for the 18 men who needed to go ashore. Meanwhile Capt. Sam, with a power dory, and Veeder, with a small yawl and dory that he had in some way managed to pilot unaided through the heaving waters, reached the scene and stood by to lend a hand if wanted.

Eighteen would have crowded the station surfboat in smooth weather. The tempest then thundering set her crazy. Overboard went the dunnage of the ship's crew, but the boat behaved no better. She lurched and plunged and took flying leaps across the tops of the waves without making headway and then turned somersault, sprawling the 18 into the sea.

Fourteen regained the surfboat and clung to its upturned keel. Capt. Sam made for them. The swift and violent see-saw of the water hurled his dory on the turtle back to which the crew were clinging and shoved a streak of daylight through the dory's hull. The 14 pulled themselves aboard, however, and she headed top speed for shore, the rescued crew stuffing their clothing into the cracks in her bottom to keep down the leak.

Veeder jumped into his dory when the surfboat upset, and, letting his yawl take its chances adrift, went to the rescue of the four of the eighteen who had nothing to cling to except the boiling waves. They were so nearly gone when he reached them that they could give him no help in hauling them in. The dory kept its balance while he lifted them from the water by dead weight and dumped them one by one in safe places. By the time he rescued his drifting yawl the four were able to help him row her to the island.

Many Illegally Wed.

Albany, N. Y.—That there are upward of 100 couples in the village of Port Chester and surrounding country holding marriage certificates to which they are not entitled is the declaration made by Senator Wainwright, of Westchester, in an effort to have a bill passed legalizing the unions. The certificates were issued by Police Justices of Port Chester, who have no such authority.

G. and M. Warehouse Burns

Fire which broke out at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning in the warerooms and offices of the Graham & Morton line destroyed all of the buildings of the company, a portion of the docks, two freight cars belonging to the Pere Marquette railroad company, a large quantity of coal owned by the steamship company and a small quantity of freight in the warehouse awaiting shipment. The total loss is placed at $6,000. The Graham & Morton property was fully insured.

The steamer City of Traverse, which the men had just completed loading, was tied up at the dock and the prompt arrival of the fire department saved this from taking fire. Though the dock was considerably damaged, it can be rebuilt in a short time.

The company announces that the old buildings will be replaced at once with better and larger ones, and in the meantime shipping will not be interrupted, as the warehouse and dock of the Holland Interurban have been tendered the company until the new buildings can be rushed to completion.

The fact that nearly all of the freight had been placed on the steamer, saved the shippers several hundred dollars' loss.

Sports

In a game which was filled with many excellent plays and in which the result was not known until after eleven innings of play, the Holland Interurban indoor baseball team defeated the crack Owosso outfit Friday night by a score of 5 to 4.

Owosso scored a run in the third inning, three in the sixth and failed to score after that. Holland scored two runs in the third inning, annexed another run in the fifth and scored again in the eighth, making a tie. In the eleventh inning Holland put across the winning score.

Day for Owosso had 26 strikeouts and allowed four hits. Peterson for Holland had fourteen strikeouts and allowed seven hits. Phillips lost two or three third strikes and was largely responsible for the loss of the game by Owosso. Peterson and Schouten formed the battery for Holland, while Day and Phillips performed a like service for Owosso.

General Items

As near as can be learned, about 130 acres have been contracted for growing cucumbers this summer, and that means that there will be built in Allegan a salting station. The Benton Fruit Packing company have assured the board of trade that the station will be established, for they are certain that they can get 150 acres to be used in cucumber culture.—Allegan Gazette.

Court & Sirrine of Allegan this week shipped a carload of eggs to New York. It contained 200 cases which were bought from various small buyers throughout the county and from the poultrymen in and near Allegan. That is a lot of eggs—72,000.

Having tested on one of its lines the use of a telephone system for directing the running of trains, the Pere Marquette railway will equip all its main lines in this state with telephones, expecting to have them in use by July 1. The advantages of this plan over direction by telegraph are so many, particularly as to safety and saving of time, that its general adoption seems certain.

A bad bit of justice was the verdict in the trial last week of Harry DeLong of Hopkins, charged with hunting rabbits with a ferret. It is well understood that DeLong used a ferret all last winter and captured and shipped to Grand Rapids dozens of rabbits. He obtained his acquittal because he made the jury believe that he hunted with a weasel, not a ferret. His lawyer, Perle Fouch of Allegan, declared that the law did not intend to prohibit the use of weasels in driving rabbits from their hiding places. DeLong certainly violated the spirit of the law if not the letter of it.

Representative Walter H. Clark of 2nd district of Ottawa county in the state legislature has introduced a bill which will revise the laws relating to the care of indigent persons. The dis-

tion between city and county departments will be done away with and the county will care for all under a uniform system. The city poor departments will be made unnecessary and the boards of supervisors will be permitted to charge back against the city for the care of the poor in the city departments. The bill will provide for the bonding of superintendents of the poor. The superintendents are empowered to exercise a trusteeship over the property of persons sent to the county home and to handle the property in the best way possible to make it assist in the care of the persons. The superintendent will make all of his reports to the state board of corrections and charities instead of to the secretary of state as under the present plan.

Instead of easing up on the blue laws, the bill of Representative Myers makes the old Sunday laws even more stringent than before. An amendment to the present law provides that no kind of work and no sort of amusement except proposals of marriage may be indulged in on Sundays and adds to the fine of $10 in the present law an imprisonment of twenty days for violation.

Owing to the "same fourth" movement all over the country, the Pains Fireworks Co. were put out of business financially.

Hope College

In the fastest, cleanest and closest basket ball game of the season, the Hope quintet triumphed over the Detroit "Y" Saturday evening by the score of 40 to 32. Hope took the lead early in the game and held it all through the contest. The score at the end of the first half stood 19 to 18. H. Stegeman and Johnny Vruwink starred although every member of the Hope team played at top speed. H. Stegeman scored 10 field baskets and during the last half Vruwink at center outjumped Scott every time and it was a sight for a re-eyes to see with what perfectness the plays were completed. The Hope team has won 11 out of 15 games played.

The first masquerade, not ball, but b-a-n-q-u-e-t, in the history of the college was given last Friday night in Carnegie Gym. Those who took part in the masquerade were the members of the Knickerbocker, Cosmopolitan and Fraternal societies. The occasion was a joint reception of the three literary societies, given by the Fraternal society. As the masqueraders entered the hall, they registered at the box office and were given a number; as by these numbers was the only way in which they could be identified.

Mr. Aeltis, president of the Fraternal society, welcomed the members of the different societies in a short but appropriate talk.

The following program was then rendered:

Original Poem.....Paul Bemis
Perversion.....H. V. E. Stegeman
Piano Duet.....J. Flight and W. Hoeseke
Note Book.....Geo. B. Scholten
Farce.....W. Moerdyke and E. Pyle

President Clarence Dame, of the Knickerbocker society and Raymond Meengs of the Cosmopolitan society, also addressed the masqueraders.

Chairman Anthony Luidens then pulled off some stunts in the line of amusements, among which were a potato race, foot ball game' who's who, and the fascinating pastime called "minnow."

The next in order was the miniature banquet, at which Tony also showed great lack as a provider for the inner man, having an elaborate spread in readiness. At this the masqueraders showed that they were all Indians to eat.

DEATHS

The eleven years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Van Orden died Sunday night at her home, on East Eleventh street.

Mrs. Mary Doesburg, the widow of the late Prof. C. Doesburg, died suddenly Sunday morning at her home on East Tenth street. Deceased had lived in Holland for many years and was very well known here. She is survived by three sons, Henry M., John E., and J. Marion, and one daughter, Kitty M. The funeral will be held at two o'clock this afternoon from Hope church.

The funeral of the child of Mr. and Mrs. John Lubbers occurred Monday from their home on East Seventeenth street, Rev. Haan officiating.

Viola Allen in "The White Sister."

Theatergoers of Western Michigan will have an excellent demonstration of Viola Allen's versatility when they observe her characterization of the Nun in "The White Sister" in which she will appear at Powers' on March 31 and April 1, accompanied by James O'Neill and the greatest supporting company ever organized including Minna Gale and Henry Stanford. Miss Allen has succeeded in winning for herself a name to be envied, and proof of this assertion is quickly forthcoming as soon as announcement of her engagement is heralded from any theater in the country. The following is a sample of what my patients have to say about the cures I am effecting:

Grand Rapids, March 1, 1911

To Whom it May Concern:

I have suffered from lumbago for fully twenty years. It first attacked me when I was on the farm and came, no doubt, as the result of hard work and exposure. Later rheumatism was added to this and other complications resulting in a complete breakdown so that I had to leave the farm and engage in indoor work and work which was much lighter. But for eight years prior to taking treatments from Dr. Lofquist I was a constant sufferer, unable to work from one to three weeks out of every month. My head ached incessantly, so much so as to effect my eyesight and memory. Often I would forget even the street I lived on, and my limbs seemed to have no strength nor had I any appetite. My present weight is 162 pounds, but then I was so emaciated as to weigh only 134 pounds.

I went to many physicians and took piles of medicine, but the best of it only gave me temporary relief. Knowing of the great cure my wife had experienced at his hands and persuaded by others who have been healed by Dr. Lofquist, I was led to give him a trial commencing last July. My head was aching terribly at the time and had been for weeks. It would seem as though it would split open and I was desperate on account of it. Few will believe me, I know, when I say the first treatment he gave me took that all away. It worked like magic. Instantaneously, almost, I felt relief and have not been bothered from that source since. Soon the pain left my limbs as I continued to take treatments from him. Oh, how they had ached previously. Why, I could scarcely stand upon them or do any work. I would bathe the calves in alcohol and liniment, but to no avail. Dr. Lofquist took the ache, though, out of them and pain, and infused into them strength and vigor and now they are all right and my general health is excellent. I am, indeed, physically, all O. K., and the full credit for it must be given to Dr. Lofquist. My wife and I feel exceedingly grateful to him for the wonderful cures we have each experienced at his hands. We were both physically down and out, almost completely, and now we are enjoying life and health once more and have no other doctor but him to thank for it.

lowed her remarkable career and studied her portrayals in such roles as that afforded by "The Christian" and "In The Palace of the King," will have a pleasant surprise when they see her character in her latest F. Marion Crawford play. In this romantic drama, Miss Allen assumes the character of a sister who, believing her lover to have been killed in battle, takes the irrevocable vow of a cloistered nun. Contrary to her belief, the lover has not been killed and at the expiration of five years he returns to his own sunny Italy to claim the sweetheart of his youth. Then comes the word that her lover is in Rome, hurrying to her, and there in the little ivy-covered garden of the convent, Captain Giovanni, the long-lost soldier-sweetheart, frantic in his haste, bursts into the presence of Sister Giovanni. True to reality, the white sister gasps her lover's name and swoons at the feet of Mother Superior. Thus ends the first act. Those who have observed Miss Allen's wonderfully realistic characterization of Sister Giovanni have placed it high in the list of long-to-be-remembered interpretations of the American stage.

CERTIFICATE.

Be It Known, That the above annual settlement, with the disbursements in detail of the several funds,
represents and sets forth a true and correct statement of the receipts and expenditures of the municipal corporation during the fiscal year ending
on the third Monday in March, A. D.
1911, showing the amount of all taxes
raised during the year for all purposes; the amounts raised for each
fund; the amount levied by each
special assessment; the amounts received from all other sources during the year
and the object thereof; the amount
and items of all indebtedness outstanding against the city, to whom payable and the rate of interest; and the amount of salary paid to each officer of the city for the fiscal year
in accordance with the provisions of Section 25, of Title XXVIII, of the City Charter.

Dated, Holland, Mich., March 21,
A. D. 1911.
HENRY BRUSSE,
Mayor.
RICHARD OVERWEG,
City Clerk.

Luxuries That Are Costly.

Though orchids frequently bring prices that make the poor man stag-ger, the highest price for a single flower was given for tulip in Amsterdam by an enthusiast, who paid $250, 000 for it. The Rothschilds smoke
the most costly cigars that are made
—the Henry Clay Sobranos, which cost $1.50 each. These are wrapped in gold leaf and packed in little inlaid
cedar wood cabinets.

Not Quite.

"What a blessing civilization has been to the world! Consider for a moment the bloody sports of ancient Rome—" "Why, what's the matter
with an automobile cup race?"

Anxious Father's Advertisement.
A Frenchman's advertisement, in a Boston paper, ran in the following
singular strain: "Lost, last evening;
a child about five years old; whoever
will return him to his home, in Fore
street, shall be handsomely rewarded
by his afflicted father, Jean Baptiste,
who likewise deals in French brandy."
—From a London Newspaper, 1807.

Failure Better Than Shirking.
Failure to do a difficult task is more
to be commended than shirking the attempt.

Records in Size.

The largest theater is the Paris
Opera house, covering three acres;
the largest bronze statue, that of Peter the Great in St. Petersburg, weighing 1,100 tons. The biggest stone statue is in Japan, 44 feet high; the largest college is in Cairo, with over ten thousand students and 810 teachers. Damascus has the honor of being the oldest city.

Condemned Unheard.

From a notice in a Cornish church:
"The preacher for next Sunday will be found hanging in the church porch
on Saturday."—Punch.

The Reward.

He that minds his own business will be asked to mind the business of others.—Life.

The Domestic Band.

Father is an adept at blowing his own trumpet, while mother is equally expert at harping on one string. Mother-in-law has to play second fiddle, and Aunt Jane leads a humdrum existence. Grandpa gives every night a solo on his nasal organ, without stops;
uncle spends his time in wetting his whistle, John is fond of his pipe, and Emily is forever ringing the changes
on her lovers—and I'm a bit of a lyre myself.—Judge.

If It Really Concerned Him.

"You told me Mr. Hyjams was busy, but would be at liberty in a few moments," said the caller. "I've waited nearly a quarter of an hour.
Will you kindly tell me what is detaining him?" "He's buttonin' of Mrs. Hyjams' new gown up the back,
if you must know!" snapped the domestic.

COULDN'T PASS THE NINTH

If Games Had Been Eight Innings
Louisville Would Have Been Winner—Veteran Scorer's Hard Luck
Bet—Al Bridwell's Classic.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Burke, the little Louisville infielder,
is about as quick with his wits as he is with his hands and feet, as he proved one day last summer. He was playing third base and Dare Devil
Dave Altizer, who just then was hitting like a fiend, was batting for Minneapolis and, as there was a runner
on first base and no one out, Burke
expected Altizer would dump a bunt
toward third base, so he came creeping forward foot by foot, expecting to get the bunt and throw to second
in time to force the runner there.
He was about 35 feet from the plate
when Altizer cut loose full force at a fast ball and hit it straight at Burke
like a rifle shot. The third baseman saw it coming and dropped to the ground like a flash, the ball whizzed
on over third base and down the line
for a two-base hit, a run scored and Louisville was behind. Up in the stand, near the front, a wild-eyed fan
stood and howled:

"Oh, you shirker, you yellow quit-
ter. What made you dodge?"

"My boy," called Burke in reply,
"this is a game of skill, not courage."

That Louisville club last season
had about the queerest run of hard luck of any team in history. It was a pretty fair ball club, except that the infield was shot to pieces by drafting
of the major leagues, and at times it played good ball. The great trouble was that it couldn't get over the ninth inning. During the season the team won one game in the ninth inning and lost 29 in the final round after they seemed to have the game clinched.
If they had been playing eight-inning
games all season they would have been close to the front instead of in tail-end position. It got so that when the ninth inning came every one on the team expected an explosion, and if it failed to come the crowd rather
was disappointed.

Finally one day when they were playing Indianapolis and the score was 2 to 0 in their favor with two out and no one on the bases and two strikes on the batter the umpire mis-called a strike that ought to have ended the game. The batter promptly made a base hit, the next man hit for two bases, and with men on second and third the next batter rolled an easy bouncer to the short stop, who scooped it cleanly with plenty of time to toss it to first and end the agony. Evidently the nervous fear of losing in the ninth again unsettled the short stop, for instead of lobbing the ball over he threw as hard as he could and threw wide and low six feet
outside the base. Owner Grayson tumbled over in a faint—thinking the thirtieth game had been thrown away
in the ninth, but Myers dived out, extended at full length, stabbed at the ball with one hand, and by one of the most wonderful catches ever made clung to the ball and craw-
fished back to the base just in time to retire the runner and save the day.

Grayson came to as the crowd was departing and hurried sadly homeward, still thinking the game was lost
and it was not until the next morning
that he discovered that Myers had saved the team by his catch—and he refused to believe it until he read it in the papers.

John Greuber, the Pittsburg veteran, who kept the official score of Braddock's defeat and has been the official scorer in Pittsburg ever since,
lost the hardest luck bet last season
that ever was recorded. John has ever since George Gibson joined the Pirates. The joke consists of calling out loudly every time Gibson comes to bat: "Here's where Gibby makes a home run." He says that every time Gibby bats during the season. Now
four years ago, over on the old park
in Allegheny (excuse us—North side) George Moreland, the keeper of vital statistics in baseball, offered to bet Greuber one dollar to one cent
that he could not call the turn on Gib-
by making a home run and Greuber took the bet. On an average of four and a half times a game for over
three years Greuber solemnly yelled:

"Here's where Gibby makes a home run." And after Gibby fails to make the home run, he checks up his account with Moreland.

One day last summer—along in August, Greuber, according to the vital statistics, owed Moreland $4.58. It happened that when Gibson came to bat in the seventh inning John was busy or not paying close attention,
and for the first time in four years he failed to yell: "Here's where Gibby makes a home run." Moreland called to him: "Are you on, John?" "Naw," remarked Greuber. "Not this time.
You see, I failed to call when he came to bat, and that's a hunch he won't hit that home run today." And the first ball pitched Gibby hit into the left field bleachers for a home run.

Al Bridwell, the popular little short stop of the New York Giants, lives
down at Portsmouth on the Ohio river
—and he has a story of a play which is a classic. Every one knows the peculiarities of the Ohio river as regards floods and droughts. Well, this is a story of both.

"When we were kids," relates Brid-
well, "we had a hard time finding level ball grounds, because there is hardly enough level ground around Portsmouth to make a two-base hit
on. So we used to wait for low water

They and the Umpire Swam to Shore.

and play ball in the river bed. One summer, just after I got off the Little Potatoes and was playing second base and pitching for the Stars we had a dry season. The water went lower and lower until the crawfish began to dig wells to get water, and we had to haul water five miles from some springs back in the hills for the ferry boats to run on. The river got dustier and dustier. We kids didn't mind it, for every foot the river went down gave us a bigger ball ground.
Well, we played ball in the river bed
almost all summer and the Stars were winning the championship except from the West Enders. We were after them, and finally along in September
we got a match game with them for the championship of the town—excepting, of course, the First Team.
We played in the river bed. It happened that we had laid out the diamond facing up stream. If we had laid it out downstream we would have won that game, and the championship.
In the eighth inning the score was tied and we had a man on second base. I was at bat, and as I started to hit I heard a rushing sound, and looking up the river I saw a wall of water coming down six feet high.
There had been a cloud burst up the river and the flood was coming. I took a strike and the runner stole third. All that was needed was a fly to give us the lead and the game,
I saw that the flood would stop play
in about a minute, so I whaled away at the next ball and hit a fly to the center fielder. The runner held third and started home when the center fielder caught the ball. Just as he caught it the flood hit him and he started for the home plate a mile a minute. The runner was tearing for the plate trying to score and the rest of us were digging for high grounds. The water was too fast for our man. Ten feet before he reached the plate the flood swept that center fielder past and he tagged our man out, and they and the umpire swam ashore together and left the game a tie. The river went to 30 feet—so we couldn't play off the tie, and the championship of Portsmouth still is undecided." (Copyright, 1911, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Passing of the 'Big Man.'

The big-brained, big-hearted, 'old Roman' men, whose integrity was as unquestioned as their ability, are almost extinct. Their places are cut up and filled by smaller, less able, often much less honest men. It is not that the big men have gone to the cities—
for they are not there; it is not that they left no descendants—for in more cases than one cares to count, the smaller, less able, less honest men
are their own sons. These latter frequently make as much money in a year as their fathers did in ten, and show less character in a lifetime than their fathers did in a year.—Cornelia
A. P. Comer, in the February Atlantic.

Girl Led Field in Fox Hunt.

Miss Sarah Flak, 23 years old, a daughter of Lewis S. Flak of Philadelphia, and a granddaughter of John Dobson, a wealthy Philadelphian, rode in the biggest fox hunt ever held in Brandywine Hundred, this state, and Delaware county, Pennsylvania.

Miss Flak led the 60 hunters through the day and she took the fences and other barriers in a manner that won admiration from all.

After being liberated the animal ran to cover, but the hunters found another scent which carried them into Delaware.—Wilmington Correspond-

FARM HOUSE UP IN ICELAND

Typical Structure of Turf in the Guest
Room of Which Was an Organ
Made in Vermont.

The guest room contained a narrow bed, a big round table and an organ
made in Brattleboro, Vt. Our host produced the usual box of snuff, and with it a box of good cigars.

The host and hostess then showed us all over the house. It is a turf structure and is typical of the older farmhouses, with narrow, dark, window-
less corridors, in labyrinthine maze
from room to room. One passageway
leads to a large open mound where a fire is made to smoke meat and fish,
and incidentally the whole house and everything in it. Another passage leads to another kitchen with a modern stove. The walls are all of turf,
as is the roof, with just enough drift-
wood in the roof to make a framework
to hold it in place. Very steep stairs lead up to the badstofa, or sleeping apartment. The badstofa frequently forms the sitting and common work
room of the family, especially in winter, as well as the sleeping room of the entire household.

Bunks built into the wall extend
around the room and are often filled with seaweed or feathers, over which is thrown a fold or two of wadmal and a thick coverlet of elderdown. The floors are sometimes covered with boards, but more often consist of damp earth. From the ceiling are suspended numerous articles of domestic economy, while large chests containing clothing and valuables are scattered throughout the house.—Springfield Republican.

MILLINERY IN COURT ROOM

Modern Hats Conceal the Eyes of Women Witnesses, so They Must Be Taken Off.

When designing styles in hats possibly milliners do not consider that small minority of womanhood that is likely to appear in a law court. Judges, lawyers and women witnesses would appreciate it if they did.

"When a woman under suspicion
takes the oath it is desirable to look
her in the eye," said a lawyer, "but how can anybody look into the eye of a woman who has on a stylish hat?
The court is in luck if he can see her mouth and the top end of her nose.
Also it offends the dignity of the court
for a woman to remove her hat; consequently they flounder between the horns of a very serious dilemma. An order to tilt her hat back is also the precursor of difficulties, because the hat is clamped down with so many pins that it won't tilt.

"Still the eyes of a woman before
the bar of justice must be looked at,
and under repeated exhortations she reluctantly removes the pins and shoves her hat back. But that pantomime results in waste of time and loss of temper all around. In order to obviate these evils it seems to me
that milliners would better busy themselves designing a tipable hat for court-room wear.

Character of the Finger Nails.

It is said that there is as much character to be observed from a person's finger nails as from the owner's face.
The following indications are stated
as being fairly correct:

Those possessing long nails are good-natured and self-confident, but placing very little confidence in others. Broad nails are supposed to belong to those of a gentle, bashful disposition. Little round nails are the sign of a person who is seldom pleased, readily inclined to anger, spiteful, revengeful. Anyone with fleshy nails
is said to be calm and ease-loving,
fond of eating and sleeping, and who would prefer a small income without industry to much wealth to be acquired by activity and diligence. Pale to lead-colored nails belong to the melancholy person, but who would do well in all branches of science or philosophy. The long, well-shaped filbert nail indicates a refined and artistic nature, fondness for society and a great love of the beautiful.

Old Custom Survives.

Uckfield has just held its annual pea supper, a function which owes its origin to a practical joke. Fifteen years ago a plot of land belonging to a resident became, on account of its sequestered state, such an eyecore to his fellow-townsmen that they took the matter into their own hands and dug it up. The owner resolved to profit by their labor and plant the field, but on his next visit to the spot
he found to his annoyance, that it had already been sown with peas.

Soon, however, anger gave place to amusement, and he laughingly told
the perpetrators of the joke that they would have to eat the peas, says London Titbits. This in due course they did, and from that day the celebration
has grown yearly in popularity. Over 50 sat down a week back to a capital
repast of peas, bacon and other excellent fare.

Fletcher's Folly.

The late Levi Fletcher of Hollis
left behind an automobile of his own manufacture that was known throughout the countryside as "Fletcher's folly." He was perhaps the first man in New England to start to perfect and build a power vehicle. The builder was handicapped by lack of means and tools, and as ordinary tires were used on the machine it was impossible to move it up the hills.—Kennebec

UNCLE HIRAM TO HIS NEPHEW

On Something Important for Him
to Realize in His Relations With Men.

"Stevey, my boy," said Uncle Hiram
to his hopeful young nephew, "you may not be old enough yet fully to understand or at least fully to realize what I am about to say to you, but I'd better say it now for I might forget to say it later, and some day, and perhaps to your advantage, you will recall it, the thing I would now say to you being this:

"Other people think of us what we think of them.

"Do you get that through your noddle? Other people think of us what we think of them.

"This is highly important, because
it applies to our inmost unuttered thoughts. If we think ill of a man he will think ill of us. So you want to think well of men.

"Our thoughts of other people appear to form a sort of circuit returning from them to us. They go out
from us to the fellow we are thinking of, who seems to relay them back to us. Whatever our feelings toward him
may be, good or bad, he takes them
in, reinforces them with strength
from his own batteries and sends them back to us, with a feeling of friendliness if that was our instinctive feeling toward him, while if our feeling was one of antagonism that is the feeling that he relays back to us.

"Don't think ill of men, Stephen;
think well of them, as you may well
do; there is more good in men than bad. Cultivate friendly relations and friendly feelings, and be sure that as you feel toward men so will they feel toward you."

QUEENS BOROUGH TIN HORSES

How Nightmares, Hobbies and Ponies
of Beer Were Put on the City's Pay Roll.

"What's all this talk I hear about tin horses in Queens borough?"

"I'm surprised at your ignorance.
Tin horses are a mere term used to designate equines which never existed, part of a graft game."

"Explain some more, please."
"Well, it was like this. If a fellow with a pull wanted some extra money
he would have a couple of nightmares, report to the powers that be that he had a team, and they would be hired,
at so much a day, for city work."

"Did all of the grafters have to have mares?"

"O, no; one of the gang had his wife's two clothes horses, drawing full pay."

"He was a genius."

"Yes, another man had a hobby
about not wanting to work, his son
had a hobby horse, and so he doubled
them up and sent in bills for a team,
at least, so I hear."

"That's interesting."

"Yes, rather. There was a rumor going around the other day that a man who owned a pair of ponies of beer also figured in the game."

"I suppose if one of the gang's wife
and daughters owned pony skin coats
they could have got on the pay roll
too."

"Sure thing; it was a pony skin
game, all the way through."

"And all that these fake horses ever drew was pay?"

"That's true, although they have set tongues a-wagging."—Brooklyn Times.

Some Korean Superstitions.

The wildest superstitions are rife
among the natives of Korea, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine.
Everything is ascribed to the good or evil influences of invisible spirits,
whom they strive to propitiate by incessant and petty sacrifices. The serpent is revered as sacred and fed as a domestic pet. Marriage is a question of etiquette and is arranged by the parents. A live goose is given as a betrothal gift, as a symbol of fidelity and long life. Filial piety is cultivated to a remarkable degree, a son considering it his duty to follow his father
to prison or exile. Sacrifices of pigs,
sheep and goats are offered to the firmament, to which they pray for rain
or fair weather and the removal of plague and misfortune.

America Claims the Bean.

Until 1883 the bean was believed to have originated in Asia. Researches among the flora of ancient Peruvian sepulchres show that it was known in antiquity in Peru. No fewer than 59 different species have been found in the old burying places and 49 of the 50 were distinctly American. The se-pulchres explored date back to the period beginning with the twelfth
century and ending with the fifteenth.
Within them was a great number of beans—so many that it is reasonable to suppose that beans held an important place in the agriculture of the ancient people of Peru. Probably the common dried bean of modern commerce was well-known in the antique world long before the discovery of Columbus.

"Filthy Lucre."

The expression "filthy lucre" is of biblical origin, and is to be found in the third chapter of the first book of Timothy, where the qualifications necessary for the office of a bishop are thus set forth: "This is a true saying.
If a man desireth the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work. A bishop must then be blameless, the husband
of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach; not given to wine, no striker,
not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient,
not a brawler, nor covetous."

PRIDE TAKES FALL

JUDGE IS PUFFED UP OVER ATTENTIONS RECEIVED AT THEATER.

IS MISTAKEN FOR MURPHY

Orval Overall Proves That Sometimes Cub Is Match for Bear—Capt. Anson's Experience With Pirates In China Sea.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Judge William McSurely (they used to call him "Billy" when he played ball over at the University of Wooster in Ohio) is long on law, dignity and driving at golf. He became rather famous in Chicago in presiding over the first trial of Leo O'Neil Browne and in other cases and naturally felt a small pride in the fact that he had won his way to the top in the Windy City. His pride fell several degrees a few weeks ago.

With a friend Judge McSurely went to a Chicago theater. The house was crowded and it was almost impossible to get good seats. The best that the jurist and his friend could do was to secure two seats second row from the back and behind a post. They were just seating themselves when a smiling and solicitous usher descended upon the judge and whispered: "You don't want to sit back here. Follow me and I'll give you good seats down in front."

He took them into a box, hovered over them, ordered the water boy and the program boy to furnish everything and tried to give them the best of the house afforded.

"You see," whispered the judge to his guest, "it pays to be a well-known person in Chicago."

And the guest was duly impressed.

About a week later the judge took another friend to the same theater. Again the friendly and solicitous usher descended upon him and gave him the freedom of the house. He expressed surprise that the judge should have paid for tickets, and invited him to come at any time and bring a party. Judge McSurely was beginning to feel at least as big as a Supreme Court justice when the usher whispered:

"Mr. Murphy, I'm awfully sorry the Cub's lost, but we'll beat 'em next year."

The usher had mistaken the plump, rotund jurist for "Chubby Charlie" Murphy.

Orval Overall, the Giant Cub pitcher, was the hero of an adventure on his vacation last winter that proves that, sometimes, a Cub is the match of a bear. Overall's home is at Visalia, in California, and during the early winter, before the snows shut off all approach to the famous Yosemite Valley, Overall led a party of friends on a camping trip into the valley. The party was to spend ten days in tents exploring the Yosemite and, although they were not intending to hunt on government land, they took guns with them as a means of self-defense.

The big grizzly bears in the upper part of the valley are extremely friendly, embarrassingly so, to tell the truth. They have been protected from hunters until they feel just as any other Native Son does—that it is legitimate to loot any visitor. So instead of attacking camping parties the big silver tips usually loiter around to collect means of subsistence from the tourists.

In the party were two practical jokers of the kind that think justifiable homicide a good joke. Overall, having seen many bears, wasn't a bit timid, although the ladies in the party were. The bears that came prowling around the camps to seek food usually started a panic among the women and because of this it was arranged that the four tents should be set up with the tent for the women in the center and the others surrounding it to protect them from bears and other wild animals.

Overall had a small tent all to himself and voluntarily slept there to protect the cook tent and contents from the marauding brutes. That gave the practical jokers a grand idea for a joke. While Overall was showing some of the women the beauties of the valley the "jokers" pitched a fitch of bacon to a string and proceeded half a mile into the forest. Then they proceeded to lay trails, dragging the bacon along the ground from various parts of the woods, each trail ending at the side of Overall's tent. To finish the joke they hid the fitch of bacon under Overall's mattress.

The party retired early, being weary, and scarcely had the lights gone out than bears began to sniff along the bacon trails. Overall was sweetly sleeping when two huge grizzlies arrived at the junction of their trails and simultaneously shoved their noses under the flap of his tent and began rooting for bacon. Overall was rolled over and his mattress turned on top of him. The jokers meantime were doubling up with laughter. There was an upheaval and from the opposite side of the tent burst Overall. Instead of fleeing, however, he seized the pole of the overturned tent and sailed into those two bears, making singles, doubles and triples every time he swung. For a moment the bears threatened to fight, but the hitting of Overall was too hard and they retreated at top speed, one carrying off the bacon, and the jokers and the women, who had been aroused by the roars of the grizzlies and Overall, saw the big Cub pitcher chasing two grown grizzlies at top speed, belaboring them with the tent pole and vainly trying to recover the lost bacon.

Bob Pettit, the veteran ball player who died at Derby, Conn., a short time ago, once led a Pirate crew that would have made Captain Kidd envious. Incidentally it was not until after Anson had retired from baseball and gone into politics that anyone dared speak to him concerning the Pirates who held up his ship and tried to make him walk the plank in the China sea. The practical attack led by Pettit happened in 1888 during the trip of the Chicago and All-American teams around the world. The Pirates were Pettit, Tom Daly and Jimmy Ryan—and it is not telling secrets to admit that, in those days, they did not have to do much rehearsing to become real Pirates.

The ship on which the American players, led by Spalding and Anson, was loitering through the Indian ocean and the China sea. The sailors were telling fearful tales of Malay and Chinese pirates. Guns had been mounted on the decks of the liner and the sole topic of conversation was pirates. That put an idea into the heads of Pettit, Daly and Ryan. They enlisted a few of the crew of the liner and laid the plot.

The following day the ship was trembling with preparations to repulse attacks. The rumor spread among the players and members of the party that three junks, filled with pirates, had been sighted and that an attack might be made at any time. Shortly after midnight that night the Pirates broke loose. Those who saw Pettit lead the attack declare that Morgan, Kidd and that gang would have looked like minor leaguers compared with him. He was some pirate, and Daly and Ryan were almost equally ferocious-looking.

The main attack was directed upon Anson's cabin. The pirates swarmed there and began battering the door and when they broke in Anson was defending the ship with his big bat and threatening to demolish all the Malays in the sea, and it took Mrs. Anson three days to dig her jewels out of the places Cap had hidden them when the alarm was raised.

"It's too bad," moaned a Cub fan to Manager Frank Chance after the unfortunate (for the Cubs) world's championship series had been finished. "We had a better ball club, a better fielding club and I know the Cubs play better inside baseball."

"Inside baseball?" snorted Chance; "inside baseball? How can a team play inside baseball when they are hitting the ball at you so hard you're lucky to keep your legs from being carried onto the outfield? It took all the inside baseball we knew to keep from getting killed by batted balls." (Copyright, 1911, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Historic Beauties.

The famous beauties of the world are wise when they leave no portraits of themselves. Take Marguerite of Valois. She was an immoral, dishonorable, criminal, scheming, unscrupulous villainess; but she was dowered with such charm that there was not a jailer or an enemy she could not charm when she tried. No, nor a woman—not even the wives of her lovers. Men came from every country, taking year-long journeys, only to see her, and went away, after a little glimpse, saying they had "seen loveliness itself." Then one sees her portraits. Too much forehead, not enough eyebrow, a straight nose and expressive mouth (in one picture a lovely mouth)—and that is all. Mary Queen of Scots was very lovely—three kingdoms battled because of her beauty—and yet her pictures leave one cold. Fouché said her portrait showed every trait of the lowest criminal type. That was before he knew whose picture he criticized.

WINDY MOVING PICTURES

If They Were Taken When the Air Was Still They Would Look Absolutely Dead.

"What makes the wind blow so much in the moving pictures?" The question is asked by almost every one who has been bitten by the bug of the moving picture show. It is a fact that in every scene where there's half a chance of getting up a breeze it blows a tornado, or at least a brisk gale disperses itself in the trees in the background and the skirts of the harassed heroine in the front.

A moving picture man solved the problem.

"That's easy," he replied in answer to a query. "If the pictures were taken when the air was perfectly still, then if the living characters happened to be still also the picture would be as dead looking as a 35-cent chromo of 'Twilight.' So a time is selected for photographing the scenes outside when the wind is playing old hob with things generally, trees swaying and skirts fluttering and hair flying—haven't you ever noticed how much more effective a woman is when her hair is streaming behind her like the burgeo on a racing yacht? Then, too, when everything's busy moving it looks like there's something doing all around."

Teacher Made Chinese Boys Fight, That Being Only Fault She Knew How to Correct.

The doctor who tried to throw all his patients into fits because that was the only thing he knew how to cure, has his counterpart in the young Sunday-school teacher who was transferred to the Chinese quarter from an Irish neighborhood where fighting was about the only original sin she had been called upon to rebuke. All the formulas warranted to slay the fight microbes were known to her, but since Chinese boys have yet to learn that fists were made to fight with her one accomplishment lay fallow. Each lad, she was positive, was reeking with subtle Oriental wickedness, but that was much harder to tackle than the rampant Irish-American variety she had been used to. At last she managed to stir up a real fight between two Chinese youths, but before much damage had been done the mission superintendent interfered and rebuked her for allowing so much bad blood to come to a head.

"But what could I do?" she said, helplessly. "I just had to let them fight. They all needed to be scolded for something, and that is the only thing I knew how to correct them for."

Longevous Geese.

Geese live to a great age, and some few years ago I came across a very venerable goose (male or female I cannot now say) in Westmoreland in unexpected circumstances. I was walking from Milnthorpe to Arncliffe, and at Gasnide found an acquaintance sitting on a seashore bench feeding a pet goose with biscuits steeped in ale. He told me that this goose had been in his family for over forty years and was partial to beer stout, and even gin. One of the most remarkable records of the longevity of geese with which I am acquainted is to be found in an old book entitled "Travels in Scotland," by the Rev. James Hall, M. A., London, two volumes, 1907. On a visit to a Mr. Charles Grant of Elchies, Stirlingshire, the author was informed of a gander that had been killed by accident after living at the same place for "above eighty years."—G. W. Children and Money.

My father was a minister with six children, says a writer in the Christian Herald. My mother was ready to enter college with her brothers before the day of the woman's college. Now that I have children of my own, I am thankful for the thoughtful training which we six children had. We each had a small allowance, and at the close of the year, if in our home-made diaries we could show a balance in our favor, the amount of money we had saved was doubled and placed to our account in the savings bank. We then became the proud possessors of a bank book. The habit of saving, with wise supervision to prevent miserliness, makes all the difference between plenty and want in later years.

The Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights in English history is the declaration made by the Lords and Commons to the Prince and Princess of Orange on February 13, 1689, in an act setting forth "the rights and liberties of the subject, and settling the succession of the crown." This bill is virtually the beginning of free government in England. Never since it passed the parliament has British king dared to interfere with the fundamental rights of the British people. The Bill of Rights, while not original—the most of its principles being a repetition of those laid down in Magna Charta—is justly looked upon as the foundation of English freedom.

SIR WALTER SCOTT'S DOGS

Famous Author Was Especially Fond of These and His Other Pets at Abbotsford.

One of my pleasant recollections is that of seeing Sir Walter Scott out on a stroll with his dogs; the scene being in the neighborhood of Abbotsford, in the summer of 1834, while as yet the gloom of misfortune had not clouded the mind of the great man. There he was limping gaily along with his pet companions amid the rural scenes which he had toiled to secure and loved so dearly.

Scott's fondness for animals has perhaps never been sufficiently acknowledged. It was with him a kind of second nature, and appears to have been implanted when as a child he was sent on a visit to the house of his grandfather, Robert Scott, at Sandyknowe, in the neighborhood of Dryburgh. Here, amid flocks of sheep and lambs, talked to and fondled by shepherds and ewe milkers, and revelling with colliers, he was impressed with a degree of affectionate feeling for animals which lasted through life. At a subsequent visit to Sandyknowe, when his grandfather had passed away, and the farm operations were administered by "Uncle Thomas," he was provided with a Shetland pony to ride upon. The pony was little larger than many a Newfoundland dog. It walked freely into the house and was regularly fed from the boy's hand. He soon learned to ride the little pony well, and often alarmed "Aunt Jenny" by cantering over the rough places in the neighborhood. Such were the beginnings of Scott's intercourse with animals. Growing up, there was something extraordinary in his attachment to his dogs, his horses, his ponies and his cats; all of which were treated by him, each in its own sphere, as agreeable companions, and which were attached to him in turn.—W. Chambers.

ORIGIN OF OUR CALENDAR

Story of the Year and Its Days, as Now Constituted, Told Once More.

The Julian year consists of 365 1/4 days and exceeded by 11 minutes 13.95 seconds the solar year of 365 days 5 hours 48 minutes 46 seconds. In consequence of this, the equinox in the course of a few centuries fell back considerably. In the time of Julius Caesar, it corresponded to March 25, and by the sixteenth century it had retrograded to March 11. It was at this time that a physician of Verona named Ghiraldi proposed a plan for amending the calendar. He died before he had opportunity to carry it forward, but his brother presented it to Pope Gregory XIII, who assembled a number of learned men to discuss it. It was passed upon favorably and adopted, and thus was given to the world what has since been known as the Gregorian calendar. In 1582 Gregory issued a brief, abolishing the Julian calendar in all Catholic countries, and introducing the reformed one.

The reform of the Gregorian or new on the Julian or old, consisted in dropping ten days after October 4, 1582, so that the 15th was reckoned immediately after the 4th. Every one hundredth year, which, by the old style was a leap year, was to be a common year, the fourth century, divisible by four, excepted; that is, 1600 was to remain a leap year, but 1700, 1800 and 1900 were not to be reckoned as such, while 2000 was to be reckoned.

In this calendar, the length of the solar year is taken to be 265 days 5 hours 40 minutes and 12 seconds, the difference between which and the true length is immaterial.—The Christian Herald.

Greenwich Time.

Standard time has been so long in use everywhere in the United States that most people appear to have forgotten, if they ever knew, that it was based upon the time at Greenwich. The hour divisions were so arranged that New York, or eastern time, is exactly five hours behind London; central time is six hours behind London, and so on. The tendency is evidently almost universally to accept the Greenwich, meridian as the starting point, and to base all calculations of time on it. Although the United States maintains its own observatory at Washington, and prepares its own nautical data, nevertheless, for all practical purposes Greenwich time and calculations based on Greenwich time, are universally used in both the navy and the merchant marine. While it might reasonably be expected that there would be some sentiment and national prejudice against the acceptance of Greenwich time as the standard all over the world, the practical benefits of a universal standard are too obvious to be ignored.

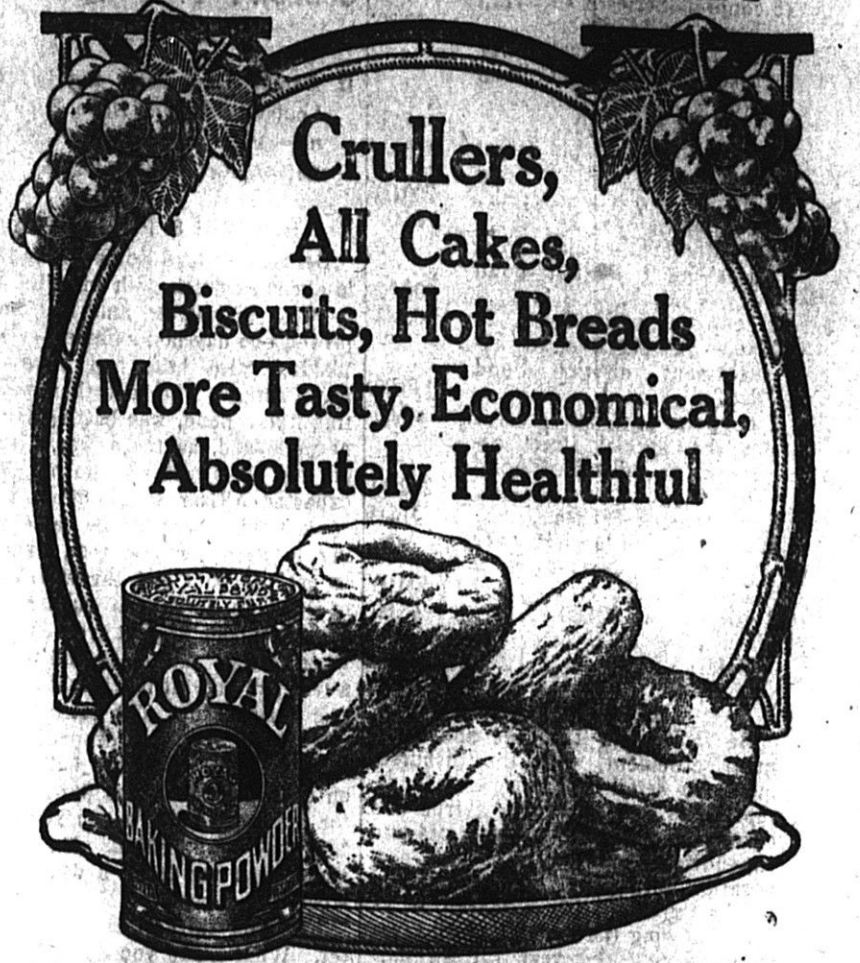

Hoops for Children.

The opinion is expressed by men who have made a study of exercises for health, that it is a pity the skipping-rope and hoop have gone out of fashion for children.

It is suggested they are more excellent mediums for the physical development than bicycles and roller skates. The fact that small children are allowed to have bicycles, and consequently make no use of nature's means of progression, is offered as an objection to them.

The skipping-rope and hoop require them to run and walk. Young children should be encouraged to do this as much as possible, and always with a springy step. They need to use their feet and legs, and exercise that brings these into play is beneficial.
