Strange Tale Revealed With Sale Of Home

DECEASED PAYS LAWYER
LONG SINCE DEAD.

Is First Provision in the Will.

A house is going to be sold at public auction next Saturday at 2:00 o'clock, the details of which will be found in an auction sale on the last page of Section 2 of this issue. Selling houses at public auction is very unusual, although it has been done in this city, first by John Raven and occasionally since.

However, in connection with this auction there is a strange tale. The house was willed to Lourena Vanden Ende by her late husband and since that the wife has also passed away. It is located at 127 West 18th St.

Way back, some 35 or 40 years ago, Cornelius Vanden Ende owned some property on 19th St. near First Ave., now Washington Ave. The City of Holland then wanted to put through 19th St., which at that time was unplatted. The city fathers offered Mr. Vanden Ende $1200 for his property and there was some stipulation about moving the house.

Mr. Vanden Ende refused to sell and the city brought condemnation proceedings and the case was tried before a jury, who instead of awarding him $1200, appraised it at $750. Vanden Ende secured a Grand Rapids attorney by the name of A. Ellis, who represented him before the jury. After the case had been tried, with the resulting disappointments, Attorney Ellis refused to make a charge. Vanden Ende told Ellis, however, that he would remember him in his will for at least $500. This able attorney dismissed that with a smile and undoubtedly Mr. Ellis has passed away a good many years ago, possibly never dreaming that some day there was $500 waiting for him through a will that is now in probate.

At last Mr. Vanden Ende passed away. This was in 1931 and when the will was read it was found that the very first item stipulated that Adolphus Ellis should receive $500 after the death of Mrs. Vanden Ende. The will further states that some of the money should go to Churches and the balance to relatives in The Netherlands, since there are no direct descendants from this couple. Provisions were also made to keep up the graves of Mr. and Mrs. Vanden Ende.

Mrs. Vanden Ende died early this year, but she admonished the administrators before her death that this $500 must go to the heirs of Mr. Ellis. When the will was probated, the heirs were sent to the Ellis heirs and at first they paid no attention to it, they thinking that it was strange since a notice should be sent them. A second notice brought a reply from Att. Dunham of Grand Rapids, who asked for information relative to this bequest for an attorney's fee two score years ago.

Att. G. W. Kooyers, who is handling the matter, informed Mr. Dunham about the case as stated above, and as soon as the case was fully probated the heirs of Mr. Ellis will receive their proportionate share of the $500 so willed. It must be understood that Mr. Ellis charged no fee and undoubtedly expected no return. Mr. Vanden Ende, although disappointed in this case with the city, felt that remuneration was due.

Holland cannot help but remember Mr. Vanden Ende, since his voice was plainly heard for years on the streets of Holland. After ringing his bell, he gave a sales talk on beans, carrots, beets, sweet corn and melons, as he drove his wagon, filled with garden truck.

We wish to state here that Mr. Vanden Ende was bound that this fee should be paid through the will and the widow faithfully carried out the stipulations exacted by her husband, Cornelius. First, the attorney remits his fee to a disappointed client, but that client does not forget, and although the attorney did not benefit from his fee, it did go to his second and third generations.

Another sidelight is the fact that this same Att. Ellis was the man who, as a Democrat, defeated our own Gerrit J. Diekmann for Attorney General of the State of Michigan. That was the first attempt made by the local man for a state position. This was more than 45 years ago.

The News has a copy of the will and it surely is an interesting document.

Bernard TerVree, 182 East Seventh St., is confined in the Holland hospital recovering from lacerations on both wrists reported to police to have been self-inflicted at his home about 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. His physician reported today that his condition was somewhat improved and not serious. Holland police went to the residence and took TerVree to the hospital.

Mrs. Dick Steketee of West 18th St., has been confined to her home with illness.

From Lily Farm

Two million Easter lilies like this come annually from the largest lily farm in America, located at Spring Valley, N. Y. Bulbs are imported from Japan.

Easter Sunday

Practically every denomination is making preparations for Good Friday services and Easter Sunday. In many instances joint services will be held during the day on Good Friday, including the large joint service starting at noon in Trinity Church today, Friday.

In some instances there will be evening services and every church is recognizing this day in religious worship.

Sunday this same plan exists in every church in the city. Some are to have elaborate Easter programs in which the lily plays an important part. Musical features by choirs are being rehearsed nightly until Easter Morn, when this Easter music, denoting The Risen Christ, will be sung.

The Pastors have all prepared Easter sermons and in many churches little children as well as the grown-ups will participate on this happy religious occasion.

Mayor Henry Geerlings has issued an Easter message indicative of what Easter means to mankind. This message to the citizens of Holland follows below:

MAYOR'S OFFICE

Good Friday has been observed throughout the centuries. Historically we locate the cross far back over the centuries; geographically we locate it far hence in a distant land; spiritually we locate it in our midst, and in our day we are made to feel, especially as this season comes around again, the indispensable character of the cross. Whatever others may do with it, we are sincerely convinced that it could not be removed without the complete destruction of the basis and content of our faith.

The place Christ gave to it in His own thinking as He moved toward Calvary allows no room for the supposition that to Him it was a chance occurrence or an unprofitable incident. He looked upon it as a goal. It was an unavoidable station in His earthly pilgrimage. No man took His life from Him. He deliberately and voluntarily laid it down.

It is not possible to write a philosophy of religion with the Bible as the chief source of material without placing in toward the center of it the death of Christ on Calvary. And with the approach of the anniversary of this day we ought to open our hearts sympathetically to the fact of the death of Christ on the cross and to the redemption that we have through it.

It occurs to me that it would be eminently fitting if all business should be suspended from twelve o'clock noon until three in the afternoon so that everyone might have the opportunity to attend divine worship or to spend the time in quiet meditation.

Henry Geerlings.

Mayor Henry Geerlings has announced that all city offices will be closed in the city hall from noon until 3 p. m. Friday during the community Good Friday service to be held at the Trinity Reformed church, 20th St. and Central Ave. With practically all of the city churches taking part, expectations are for a large attendance. Employers of the city are arranging to permit their employees to attend the services.

The Easter cantata, "Christ Victorious" by Roy E. Nolte, will be presented in Sixth Reformed church, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The final rehearsal was held in the church Thursday evening. John Vanderlaan, veteran chorister, is director. Mr. Sam Plagenhoeft is organist and Clarence Dykema, pianist. The cantata consists of choruses, solos, duets, trios and quartet selections. About 40 voices will participate.

"Thad" Taft of the Rose Cloak Store has been in Florida for the last 10 days.

MICHIGAN

(By Tracy Cone)

We know a gentleman by name,
Who years ago collected fame
Because he wrote a verse that ran:
"Oh, Michigan! My Michigan!"

Those words, to me, will ever start
Some extra beats from this old heart,
For long before the state began,
Men shed their blood for Michigan.

The towering pine that marked the way,
And blazed the trails of yesterday,
Has welded into soul of man
A mother-love for Michigan.

You find, of course, in every state,
Some men that love, some men that hate;
But, find the fellow if you can,
Who has no love for Michigan.

Soil Checks To Be Paid To Local Farmers

1200 CHECKS WILL BE GIVEN
FARMERS IN SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

It is estimated that 1200 or more checks from the government for soil conservation will be paid out to Ottawa county farmers this year, according to L. R. Arnold, county agent. There have been 890 farmers in the county whose papers were included in the first group and payment will be made in order of transmittal. When these checks arrive Mr. Arnold will notify the members.

A total of $21,000 was received for the first payment, averaging $54 per farm. This is considerably higher than is received in some other counties. In many cases soil building payments were earned but due to increase of depleting acres penalties were applied and these were greater than the payment earned in some cases.

The soil conservation program is a voluntary one. If the farmer cooperates and carries through with recommended practices payments will be made. There are two classes of payment, soil building which results in less erosion and conserving elements in the soil and a conversion payment for turning some of the depleting acres over to conserving acres.

The committee in charge of the 1937 program is now working on the establishment of farm bases. Every farmer will receive notice of his farm base which will allow him to determine his 1937 practice. He can determine how much he can earn on his farm by following rules.

A second series of meetings will be held after barns have been established. Mr. Arnold advises farmers to attend these meetings as many have only vague ideas in regard to the program. Difficulties can be avoided if the farmer understands how the program works. Notice of meeting will be sent out in April.

Twin Sisters, 86 Years Old, Enjoy Life

FENNVILLE FOLKS HAPPY DESPITE THEIR INFIRMITIES AND USE OF WHEEL-CHAIR

Back in 1833, when the state of Michigan was Michigan territory, a young couple came out from England and settled in what is now Jackson county. These young people were Robert and Elizabeth Eldred, and they came hoping to carve a fortune for themselves in what they had pictured as a land of vast opportunity.

Eight children came to this pioneer home; first three boys and three girls, and finally on April 5, 1851, two girls were born, who were named Eva and Isa, and three days after their birth they were left motherless.

The little ones were tenderly cared for by a Mrs. Quigley for three years, at which time friends took Eva to Wisconsin as Mrs. Quigley became ill. She remained there until the age of 13, when she returned to Michigan.

In 1884, Isa was married to Frank Starr and they came the day following their marriage to make their home in Allegan. Mr. Starr died there in 1911.

In 1895, Eva was married to a Civil war veteran, David Bigelow of Co. F, 2nd Michigan Infantry. After his death, she married Daniel Kelsey, who died in 1926.

Before their marriages, the sisters both had done housework and after they were widowed they resumed it. Mrs. Starr continued to work up to about three years ago.

Mrs. Kelsey related that she worked in one home for 20 years at $1 a week. One summer in harvesting up the shocks of wheat, and was given a new calico dress as extra pay.

In May, 1935, Mrs. Starr came from Lansing to live with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Essex on the A. W. Jackson farm, three miles west of Fennville.

Once during that year she went and paid a two-months' visit to her sister in Lansing. On her return here she was taken violently ill and Mrs. Kelsey was sent for. She came to her sister's bedside in April, 1936, but she also became very ill, the lives of both hanging in the balance at times. Their illness was described as similar to malaria fever, and they were in bed six months, being cared for solely by Mr. and Mrs. Essex.

Both Recover

Finally they began to recover, but were left weak and they are still unable to walk. Mrs. Kelsey sits in a wheelchair loaned by a neighbor and Mrs. Starr in a rocker. They busy themselves with piecing quilts and crocheting rag rugs.

The minds of both are clear. They are cheerful, happy and deeply grateful for the privilege of being together. Their fortitude is a constant inspiration to the neighbors and more distant friends who often visit them.

Neither of the sisters has any children. They will be 86 years old on April 5 and are the sole survivors of their immediate family.

Last Thursday evening, Harm J. VerBeek was surprised by his children and grandchildren at his home on Hamilton rural route No. 1 on the occasion of his 54th birthday anniversary. A social time was spent and refreshments were served. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. John H. VerBeek, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bovee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Nykamp, Mr. and Mrs. Dick M. Timmer and Mr. and Mrs. Harm J. VerBeek.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

A. Verplanke, an old and highly esteemed citizen died at the advanced age of 74 years. He has had consumption for the last six years. His remarkable vitality has kept the "grim messenger" from calling before the funeral in Ninth Street Christian Reformed church was largely attended. Note:—The fine old man was cobbler and his shop was located about where the Citizens Transfer Company is now located on West 8th street. He was the father of Joe Verplanke, Ottawa county's first Democratic sheriff. "Joe" is still living and comes to Holland at least twice each year generally around Decoration Day. He is a veteran of the Civil War and has his father's head for age by 20 years for he is either 93 or 94 years old.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Attorneys Thomas N. Robinson and Gerrit J. Diekmann were in Detroit regarding the Rotarian convention as delegates. Both were on the program for speeches.

Thirty tons of carp were taken from Black lake. Most of them were caught in Pine Creek bay.

The following tickets were elected in Fillmore: Clara E. Hebbius, treasurer; J. C. Bovee, clerk; John Verburg; highway commissioner, H. W. Mulder; board of review, Nicholas Dykhuys; justice, Austin Harrington; drain commissioners, J. H. Hoekje, William J. Vanden Belt.

The Hamilton branch of the Zealand Brick Co. resumed work last week after being closed down for several months. Note: Today both enterprises are a thing of the past. At Hamilton the brick kilns stood for years as gaunt spectres, but were now being destroyed and there is no evidence that a thriving industry had ever been there. Concrete entering largely into building these days put a crimp in brick making from clay and to the clay beds in this vicinity, also played out. At one time the Veneklassen brick yards were one of the leading industries in lower Ottawa.

Mrs. John Van Bragt, wife of the park commissioner, living on Central Ave., will sail Saturday for the Netherlands where she will visit relatives and friends for two months.

The purple martins are here, so says a former Sheriff C. Dornbos, who saw one near his home. Mr. Dornbos states that the martin does not appear until after the swallows arrive middle of May, but he states that these surely were purple martins. He states that this bird is an air feeder, picking up bugs and flies as it sails through the air and is seldom, if ever, seen on the ground. Dornbos fails to understand why these martins are in this vicinity two months early.

Ernest C. Brooks, junior partner of Visser-Brooks Insurance Co., was the only person receiving 100 per cent of the vote at the primaries. Brooks slid into the justice of peace office without opposition; in fact, he did not know he was a candidate. No one had qualified for that office through petition and four of Mr. Brooks' friends filled in his name when voting and after the polls had closed he found that he was a judge and now he will qualify.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William De Haan, 175 West 15th St., on Washington's birthday, when their daughter, Miss Lena De Haan was wed to Peter Marcuse. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Vander Kieft of the Fourteenth St. Christian Reformed Church. The bride was pleasingly gowned in white satin trimmed with pearls, wore a long veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and swansonia.

The H. J. Heinz Co. plant in Holland was host to some 500 farmers on Friday and gave them fine entertainment the entire day. The farmers came from surrounding territory and quite a radius was represented. The News devoted nearly a half column to the program, which also included a fine meal for all the guests. All the 57 Varieties were prominent on the banquet table.

Maurice Vischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vischer, State st., Holland, was the winner of the George Washington bronze bust offered by J. Ackerman Coles, a friend of the college. Young Vischer's title, "The Reasonableness of Hope." The contest is held each time, on or near the birth of our "first president." When the prize was given first the cost of the bust was $250. However, Vischer's award will cost $400 this year, 1922. Note: The first Washington bust contest was held in 1907 and has been contested for at intervals ever since. The Judges were Rev. M. L. Tate, C. Vander Meulen and Henry Geerlings.

The newly elected officers of the Women's Literary club are: President, Mrs. C. J. Dregman; first vice-president, Mrs. G. J. Diekmann; second vice-president, Mrs. J. C. Post; secretary, Mrs. Arnold Mulder; recording secretary, Mrs. Jay H. Den Herder; treasurer, Mrs. James Osseward; Mrs. E. E. Fell, Mrs. George W. Van Verst and Mrs. Robert De Pree are named directors. Mrs. A. Leenhouts was also elected as a director when Mrs. Diekmann was made vice-president.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Himebaugh writes the News from Cuba that Havana is a wonderful city and the island is interesting to see, summer the year around. Note: Both have passed away. At one time they conducted the "movies" here. That was in the silent film days. The old Strand on West Eighth st. was built by Mr. Himebaugh. He also conducted the Royal across the street.

Who Pillaged Local Church? Law on Trail

VANDAL OR FANATIC DESECRATES GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Not since the founding of Holland has a church been desecrated in this city. It can now be said, however, that some rascally fiend or fanatic entered Grace Episcopal Church on 9th St. and River Ave. and placed his "dirty paws" on the sacred things that enter into religious worship at this old established church.

The janitor of the church, Mr. Simon Prins, who came to the church at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon Wednesday to build a fire so the church would be comfortable for services in the evening, beheld a terrible sight. The floor was littered with church collection envelopes, torn pages from prayer books and hymn books, the tapers used only during Communion, placed on beautiful standards, were broken in pieces and were scattered throughout the edifice.

The altar and the cross, sacred emblems, were badly damaged and the copper cross was dented, showing the metal underneath. The baptismal fountain in the rear of the church was misplaced and was thrown upon the floor near the rostrum.

The tapestry, which formed the background of the altar, was torn from its hangings and was found bedraggled on the floor in front of the altar. The church laundry, which constitutes part of the vestments which had been placed in a rear pew to be laundered, was untidily thrown over the altar and around the altar; and a jar, which had contained fruit, occupied a very undignified place on the altar proper.

The prayer bench had been overturned and book marks had been torn from hymnals and Bibles. The Processional Cross, carried by altar boys, was taken from its usual holder and thrown to the floor in the body of the church. Palm, which had entered in Palm Sunday services, were broken and destroyed.

The fiend had further shown his spleen by placing a poster of a Japanese maiden in the place of the cross, which was found on the floor of the church badly damaged.

Chief Van Ry was immediately notified and made a thorough investigation. State troopers were also called into service, and every scrap and every clue and every fingerprint possible to secure are being gone over with the hope that this inhuman being may be brought to justice. No one can see where anything of value was stolen and only those things that the parishioners and rector of this church hold most sacred were about the only things that were not spared by this vandal or vandals.

Rev. J. Wendal Davis, Rector of the church, feels deeply the desecration of his church. He deprecates the fact that this should have happened during the most sacred week of the entire year, and especially in view of the celebration of Good Friday, a few hours away.

Mr. Davis stated, "I can scarcely believe that there is a person in Holland who would desecrate the altar of this or any other church. The work of this person or persons show absolute contempt for things sacred. The church has never received any threats, therefore I am at loss to understand why and who could have done this. It can readily be seen that the damage was done in the most sacred part of the church, about the altar, and that grieves me tremendously."

It was also evident that while the altar, candles, cross, vestments, and other sacred things were damaged or destroyed, the American flag, directly near, remained untouched. While the damage in dollars and cents will not be so high, the damage to the pastor and parishioners alike and the act was not for gain but either for mischief or because of a fanatical mind. Regardless of what caused this person or persons to do this fiendish thing, it is hoped that the law will find them, and if the capture is not attained, the unescapable officer, conscience, will surely not fail.

The Holland Choral union, which met Wednesday night in Winant's chapel on the Hope college campus for the final business meeting and election of officers, outlined plans for the bringing of five outstanding musical attractions to Holland next season. The Don Cosack chorus which attracted considerable interest this year will be included in the regular schedule of concerts for the coming season. The Russian choral organization will open the course on October 9. The Little Philharmonic orchestra also has been secured for a return engagement next year. Raymond Koch, popular Chicago baritone, who has been heard here at various times, will appear for a solo recital. The course also will include a recital by the talented violinist, Erich Sorapatin, and the initial appearance here of the sensational young pianist, L. Frederic, whose recitals are creating marked enthusiasm throughout the country. Officers of the Choral Union society re-elected last night are, president, Prof. Clarence Kleis; vice president, Vernon D. Ten Cate; secretary, Prof. Clarence De Graaf; treasurer, John Schipper; director of music, Kenneth Osborne; director of publicity, Mrs. J. D. French. Other members of the board include John A. Swets, E. P. Heeter, James Bennett, Prof. E. Paul McLean, Charles Steketee, Ralph Van Lente, and Calvin Vander Werf.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hietje and daughter, Donna, of 245 East 11th St. and Mrs. Edward Hietje Jr., of Battle Creek returned the first part of the week from a two weeks' trip through New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and other eastern states.

Much Interest Displayed In Lepre Meeting

LARGE ANNUAL GATHERING TO BE HELD IN CENTRAL AVENUE CHRISTIAN REFORMED CHURCH

The Meeting Is Sponsored by Federation of Women's Clubs of the Churches of Holland and Vicinity

Next week Wednesday, March 31, at 2 p. m., the annual mission leper meeting is to be held in the Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church of Holland. The meeting is sponsored by the Federation of Women's Societies of the churches of Holland and vicinity, and its purpose is to promote missionary work among the lepers of Inhambane, in Portuguese, East Africa.

This has always proven a tremendous meeting and is growing in importance from year to year. The main speaker of the afternoon will be Miss Lulu Ervin of Chicago, District Secretary of the American Mission to the lepers. Miss Ervin is thoroughly familiar with leper work, both through her experience in the New York office of the American Mission, where she was for three years and for eleven years in Chicago, also as secretary.

She is a post-graduate of Moody Bible Institute and has filled pulpits in Chicago and many points in the West, including many of the larger churches.

She is well informed relative to leper work throughout the world and has been in personal contact with our own leper colony in the United States. She has visited the United States Leper Hospital in Louisiana a number of times, and has first-hand information as to how this dreaded disease is being dealt with and some of the cures that have been made. She is a charming speaker and comes highly recommended.

Since the "Federation" was launched some eighteen years ago, a large group of women have taken a deep interest in this wonderful work. They have displayed intense loyalty, not only in giving its moral support, but have contributed of their means towards the specific work adopted by them, namely, the aiding of the most unfortunate people in the world today, afflicted with the dreaded disease, leprosy, of which the Bible speaks so often.

Very encouraging reports come from the different colonies and especially from Inhambane, Portuguese, East Africa, where the Mrs. Christine Van Raalte Gilmore Home is located, so often spoken of in the Holland City News each year.

A recent discovery of an oil is being used at this home and it has brought alleviation to the suffering lepers and in many cases has cured the disease. Patients who have undergone this treatment return home cured and their happiness is unbounding. They feel it is short of miracles that their leprosy-covered bodies are now "clean" and they are not afflicted with the scourge that isolated them from the rest of the world, and there is no more fear in their hearts that they will be called "unclean, unclean," written in so many places in Biblical lore.

Their body cleansed brings gratefulness in their hearts, and it has engendered in the patient a spiritual awakening so pronounced that they want to tell others how good God has been to them by striking from their bodies the chains of the most dreaded scourge this earth has ever known. There is little wonder then that this group of women in Holland are filled with the spirit of helpfulness and contribute of their time and money to foster a wonderful work of this kind.

This large meeting in Central Avenue Christian Reformed church and in Hope Memorial chapel in previous years is only a day of review and accounting and to see what has been accomplished. Remember, the work goes on 365 days in a year. They have the lepers always in mind and it is a blessed work they are performing. There is an urge for even more zeal and prayerful help in order that more may be taken into the colony, founded by this wonderful Holland woman. It is a haven for these sick people where they find asylum where cure is awaiting them in body and in soul.

The mission to lepers has four objectives: First, preaching the gospel among the people afflicted with leprosy; second, relieve their suffering; third, provide for their simple wants; fourth, provide for the world of leprosy by ministering the newly discovered remedy, "Chaulmoogry Oil."

Since the home was purchased in Africa thirteen years ago, twenty-one lepers have been cared for in this home by this Holland Federation of Women. This is a fine beginning, but since that time other cottages have been built on

A surprise kitchen shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Essink, in Overisel, recently, for their daughter, Miss Johanna Essink whose marriage to Lewis Van Klompenbergh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Klompenbergh, will take place in the near future.

The evening was spent in playing games and later a two-course lunch was served. The guests included: Misses Evelyn Branderhorst, Harriet Vander Popen, Ruth and Geneva Hazelkamp, Juella Essink, Beatrice Schaap, Lillian Boerister, Ruth and Laura Veen, Marcia Scholten, Freda Lampen, Harriet and Julia Ann Dannenberg, Muriel Essink, Dorothy Vanden Bosch, and Edward Vander Popen. Edwin Klompenbergh, Donald Kaper, Jerome Schaap, Mel Dannenberg, Julius Essink, George Barense, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Klompenbergh, George, Harvey and Lewis Klompenbergh, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Essink, Julia Essink, Gordon, Ted, Marvin, Milton, Arnold, Donald, and Ervin Essink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hietje and daughter, Donna, of 245 East 11th St. and Mrs. Edward Hietje Jr., of Battle Creek returned the first part of the week from a two weeks' trip through New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and other eastern states.

The Netherlands Have Considerable Empire

Among the guests at the approaching wedding of Juliana, Crown Princess of the Netherlands, we read, will be His Highness Mangkoenegoro, a ruling Javanese prince, and numerous other native potentates from Netherland colonies.

The British Empire includes so much of the earth's surface, and our intercourse with many parts of it is so extensive and intimate, that we sometimes forget that the Netherlands, too, have a colonial empire of considerable size and importance.

The Kingdom of Netherlands itself has an area of only 13,200 square miles and a population of upwards of 8,000,000, but its colonial possessions cover more than 788,000 square miles and have a population of more than 60,000,000.

Among these the most important is Netherland India—what used to be called the Dutch East Indies—consisting of Java, Sumatra, a large part of Borneo, and many smaller islands in the Malay archipelago. These "spice islands" account for more than 733,000 square miles, and are immensely rich in rubber, tin, sugar, coffee, tea, spice, tobacco, and many other tropical products. Japan's ambitious eye is thought by many observers to have "spotted" them for future attention.

And in this hemisphere the Netherlands still have Curacao, or Dutch West Indies, with an area of 403 square miles and a population of 76,000, and Surinam, or Dutch Guiana, which has a population of upwards of 155,000 and an area of slightly more than 54,000 square miles.

Wouldn't testy old Peter Stuyvesant stomp his wooden leg today, at the thought that in 1667 the Netherlands gave what is now New York to England in exchange for Surinam?

The End of Flu?

Latest scientific triumph is the reported victory over influenza won by two members of the Harvard faculty, W. F. Wells and H. W. Brown.

Their discovery that influenza virus floats in the air and that it can be killed with ultra-violet rays may presently make influenza as rare as smallpox is now.

The scientists expect to start by applying ultra-violet rays to indoor places where people gather in crowds. If that is done, there may come to be some sense in the ancient simile: "As pure as the air you breathe."—Chicago American

YOUNG LAD GOES OUT TO SEE THE WORLD, BUT—

Allendale has a youngster who got the roving spirit like many of the youngsters get in their "colish" days. The writer ran away from home once when he was seven and got nearly to Graafschap and then thought of dear mother and made an "about face." No hitch-hiking in those days.

Well, Allendale has such a lad in Billie Groeters, "een groote jongen," four years. This "big man," recently from the cradle, accompanied his uncle, A. Mohr, to the farm of another relative, where some wood cutting was being done. The lad looked wise while the cutting was going on, but soon tired of the operations.

The uncle sent the lad to the home of a friend, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kronendyk, but the youngster never got there. Instead, he wanted to "beat it" for home, a distance of six miles. He made for the "open road" and leisurely walked along on M-50 until he reached Pearlina. The denizens of that community thought it strange to see a little stranger in their midst. They gathered around the "tike" for information. They found out who he was, where he had been and where he was going.

A "lift" was offered him by motor car, but the young four-year-old was independent and said, "I should say not. I want to go home alone." At last the parents, who became alarmed, were notified and hustled to where Billie was. They gathered him up and hastily hied for home.

The little lad was accompanied on his wanderings by his faithful dog, "Shep," or some such name. The kiddie is destined to become a world traveler, already being able to list Allendale and Pearlina in his travelogue.

ZEELAND COUPLE CELEBRATES 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Longest married members of the First Christian Reformed church, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hilbrand Gringhuis of Zeeland, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

Married in the province of Groningen, The Netherlands, where they grew up together, they came to the United States 45 years ago. They first went to Holland but soon moved to the village of New Groningen, west of Zeeland. Later, Mr. Gringhuis bought a farm three miles south of Zeeland and lived there 25 years.

After they moved to Zeeland, Mr. Gringhuis was employed seven years by the city on water and street projects and then became a nursery worker for Peter De Vries where he was employed four years. He is now retired. Experiments in botany are his hobby.

Mr. Gringhuis is 84 years old and Mrs. Gringhuis is 85. Both are active, attend the Dutch service of their church each Sunday, and enjoy good health.

Hold Open House
They held open house Wednesday and received congratulations from scores of relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Gringhuis have nine children. They are Mrs. Sam Kolk of New Groningen, Mrs. Frank DeBoer of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Jacob P. VandenBosch of Zeeland, Mrs. Gerrit Faber of Vriesland, Mrs. Orrie Blok of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Arthur Watson of New York, William of Grand Rapids, Peter of Sacramento, Cal., and Frank at home. They have 29 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

Miss Deborah Veneklasen, Ottawa county ERS administrator, received information that the county's quota for CCC enrollment had been set at 15 men. She said that the enrollees will be sent to camps between Apr. 1 and 20, Capt. Milton A. Hill, second infantry, in charge of Camp Custer near Battle Creek, will be in Holland at a date yet to be set to take enrollments, Miss Veneklasen said.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

It is three weeks until our next regular meeting, April 14th, with Jack Barendse and his committee doing the honors.

At the meeting last Wednesday, the Wood-Wind Quintet rendered the musical part of the program, and are those boys good!

Tom Walsh, Manager of the Grand Rapids airport gave us a talk on Americanism in the Legion. Comrade Walsh certainly opened our eyes to some of the un-American activities that are going on right under our nose.

Doc Tappan was present and was called to account for his long list of absences. Doc responded with a short talk and wound up with a poor excuse for not being with us more often.

We welcome Comrade R. Hall as a new member of the Post. He was formerly a member in Sparta, and has moved to Holland.

A few weeks ago it was remarked that the refreshments of one of our meetings had a certain feminine touch to them; now it is true, the wives of two members of the last committee were seen in the kitchen getting things started. It is getting so bad that some of our able comrades can't even slice dill pickles for themselves.

The participants in the membership drive of last Fall are urged to have a little more patience. The fishing season will be opened, maybe, before another Post election.

Next Wednesday is the night of the Fun Party sponsored by the Auxiliary, or one of its divisions. We'll be looking for you there.

Post members are asked to keep away from the club rooms next Monday. The auxiliary are entertaining the Zeeland Unit. Should the weather be bad, you will be telephoned so that we can help them finish up on their lunch.

A Seasonal Film All Will Attend Monday

HEADS-UP BASEBALL BACKED BY LOCAL CIVIC CLUBS.

CLUBS FROM NEARBY CITIES
ALSO PRESENT

A special showing of "Heads-Up Baseball," new official motion picture of the American League, will be held at the Colonial Theatre, Monday, March 29, 1937 at 8:15 P. M. It was announced today by C. C. Wood, Vice President of the Holland Exchange Club, which is sponsoring the event. More than 400 persons are expected to attend. Acclaimed an outstanding achievement from both the educational and entertainment standpoint, the film is being recommended by baseball authorities to all devotees of the national pastime, players and fans alike.

Stars of the American League form the cast, and include the much publicized high school youth, Bob Feller, who in his first full year in the majors will draw as much in salary as did Christy Mathewson in his prime. Tony Lazzeri, voted the "most valuable player" in the league; Roger Hornsby, the greatest right-handed hitter of all time; Lou Gehrig, the "iron man of baseball," and more than a score of others. The Yankee's sensational rookie, Joe DiMaggio, whose batting average and fine fielding established him as the "find" of the year, had his swing compared to that of Luke Appling, the American League's ace sticker in 1936. Their contrasting form at the plate dispels the age-old adage that "batters are born, not made."

Among the many other features of the film are explanatory shots fully illustrating a number of commonly misunderstood rules. Charlie Gehringer, Detroit's graceful second sacker, gives the correct interpretation of the infield fly rule. Others explain the umpires ruling when one man passes another on the base paths and what happens when a base is torn loose by the force of a terrific slide. Scenes from the 1936 World Series also are shown.

George Moriarty, whose career dates back more than 30 years, is both author and director of "Heads-Up Baseball," which has been produced and is being made available without charge to schools, colleges, clubs, theatres and other business, social and educational organizations by the Fisher Body division of General Motors. The advisory staff that aided in the production of the film includes American President William Harridge; Connie Mack, Manager, Philadelphia Athletics; Eddie Collins, vice president, Boston Red Sox; Billy Evans, formerly general business manager, Cleveland Indians; Clark Griffith, president Washington Senators; and three nationally-known sports writers. They are Warren Brown, "Chicago Herald and Examiner;" H. G. Salsinger, "Detroit News;" and Joe Williams, "New York World-Telegram."

Exchange Club members from Grand Haven, Muskegon, Grand Rapids and Holland are expected to attend this showing, as well as Holland Rotary and Lions Club members, Boy Scouts and many other local baseball fans in our city. If you wish to attend and have not had a special invitation, please contact Ollie's, Superior, or C. C. Wood.

From California

Benning, California.
Dear Ben:
We drove up from San Diego today to see the blossoms. Beautiful!—but "Tulip Time" in Holland more colorful. We are having splendid weather. Will be home in 6 or 8 weeks.

Sears McLean, might add, is the second largest annual event of that nature in America. Holland's Tulip Festival third. The Mardigras, at New Orleans, of course, is still first.

Much Interest Displayed in Leper Meeting

This estate by the American Mission to the lepers, and today over two hundred are being cared for through these avenues. The seed sown through the Holland women have brought an abundant harvest to a people sorely in need of help, in fact, the ostracized few of the peoples of the earth.

A church, a school, a medical dispensary, a large kitchen and many other conveniences to help the lepers have been added. The patients are given daily instructions in reading and writing, and besides a monthly newspaper is printed by them in their own vernacular so they can be kept in touch with the outside world. These unfortunates have daily prayer service both morning and evening, while services on Sunday are conducted by pastors from the outside. The federation in this city has also sent $100 to engage a native helper who is now assisting Dr. C. J. Stauffacher, who comes in from a station to supervise the curing of these patients.

At the meeting to be held next week Wednesday in Holland a short memorial service will be held for Mrs. C. J. Stauffacher, a wonderful woman, who passed away on the afternoon of the day when the meeting was being held in Holland last year. Former president, Mrs. C. J. Dregman, was personally acquainted with Mrs. Stauffacher and was prevailed upon to take charge of the memorial services during the program that is to be given.

The ushers for the afternoon are to be Mrs. Nelson Miles, chairman; Mrs. C. Kratt, Mrs. Cora Prins, Mrs. J. Menken, Mrs. H. Venhuizen and Mrs. J. Heerspink. All the women of Holland and vicinity are invited to attend this meeting. Mrs. Clarence De Graaf, president of the federation, will preside. The official program follows.

In a letter sent to the society some time ago, Dr. Stauffacher writes:

"There have been victories for science, for a great many have left for their homes with all traces of the disease gone. We rejoice to see them go, knowing that they are going back to their villages, and once more take up their duties as citizens. But we saw still greater victories for our Christ. Twenty-five were admitted last year into full membership of the church, and there are now forty-two in the probationers' class."

Thus the Federation of Women's Societies of the churches of Holland and vicinity, 22 churches in all, through Dr. Stauffacher's zeal and enthusiasm, is carrying out the command of Christ to "Cleanse the leper," and fulfilling the words of its motto: "Workers together with God."

Since the Federation of Women's Societies started this work by furnishing money to buy the camp site and home, which is located on the southeast coast of Africa on the Indian ocean, the American Mission to Lepers has spent over $30,000 on buildings and operation.

Because many of the leper patients are able to work and the plantation yields such abundant crops, the cost of maintaining a leper in the Inhambane camp is only $30 annually.

"The greatest child genius, Mozart, composed his first symphony at the age of eight. Mozart applied his amazing genius to the development of the orchestra. His last three symphonies were written within a period of eight weeks. This fact alone would establish Mozart as one of the greatest intellects the world has known.

"Beethoven wrote nine immortal symphonies. Beethoven is the Shakespeare of music. As Shakespeare in literature so Beethoven in music dramatized the profoundest depths of human heart and mind.

"Mozart and Beethoven both followed the ideas of Haydn but carried them much farther. As one writer has said, "Beethoven built a palace where Mozart had started a charming garden on the plans of Haydn."

Miss Keppel concluded her paper with "The outgrowth of that small ill-assorted group of instruments first assembled by Monteverdi, later developed by Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. The symphony under the finishing touches of the moderns has attained a state of perfection unsuspected by the wildest dreams of the past. Today it represents a triumph of handicraft and mechanical ingenuity, a superb achievement of co-ordination and the culmination of centuries of experiment and improvement."

The paper was illustrated with the following musical program: Piano solo, Andante, from the fifth symphony by Beethoven was played by Mrs. Fred Steketeer. Miss Ruth Keppel, accompanied by Miss Nelle Meyer, played the violin Concerto in D, major by Mozart. A piano duet arrangement of the Eroica symphony (first movement) by Beethoven was presented by Miss Nelle Meyer and Miss Sarah Lacey.

At the annual election the following members were elected to serve as officers for the ensuing year: President, Miss Sarah Lacey; Vice President, Miss Ruby Hughes; Recording Secretary, Miss Ruth Keppel; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Helene Van Kersen; Treasurer, Mrs. Lester Exo; Board Member, Miss J. Karsten.

Hope Chances Look Good in League Cup Race This Year

Hope college's chances for the Michigan Intercollegiate All-Sports trophy which has been won for the past three years by Kalamazoo look good this season.

Hope collects 10 points for winning the title in basketball, and tying for second in football with Alma, the two schools split second and third place points for 7 each, giving Hope a leading total of 17. Kalamazoo is again the leading competitor for the trophy with Hope. The situation has been much the same every year since the cup was initiated.

The chances are this year, that although the Hornets got 10 points for a championship in football, they may be pushed farther down the line in golf and tennis.

Kalamazoo tied for third in basketball with Albion, netting them but 5 points, and Hope has a 17-15 lead on them for the cup at this stage of the game.

Last year, Hope beat Kalamazoo out for second in the golf race, while the Hornets took points in tennis. The whole cup tournament was to be decided in the track, and Kalamazoo won by less than 4 points.

This year, Hope and Kalamazoo will again be fighting for the cup with other M.I.A.A. schools seeking places behind.

Although Hope has the lead now, the locals must pick up high points in golf and tennis for the Hornets again will have a stronger and better balanced track team than Hope's.

Conceding them the track, and a second to Hope, the locals must take a first in golf—which they are favored to do—and a high place in tennis. In doing so, if Hope can sink the Hornets low enough in these two events, the cup may come to Holland.

This will be the last year, according to coaches' opinions, that golf and tennis will receive major points. At the next meeting in May, the M.I.A.A. board will take action on the proposed amendment to call these two minor sports, and football, basketball and track, majors.

Paul Boyink will be Hope's student representative at that meeting. A new student member of the board is appointed every two years. He serves from the middle of his sophomore year to the end of the first semester of his senior year.

Eckal Buys is the retiring member. The choice is made by the student council of the school.

AMERICAN LEGION BAND HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

A quiet, informal banquet was held by the American Legion Band members, their wives, if they have any, and those who were not married took their best girls; and when all were seated it was found that covers had been laid for exactly 88. It was no invitation affair, the only ones being invited were Mayor and Mrs. Henry Geerlings, Commander and Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren, the directors of the band, including Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bosch, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kramer, and Mr. Andrew Rutgers. Mrs. Rutgers was unable to be present because of illness in the family.

There was a neat menu and program with band colors, the Legion emblem in silver and Swiss Delft blue. The menu was fine with Swiss steak and mushrooms being the highlight on the bill of fare. There were plenty of trimmings including mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, rolls, green beans, ice cream and wafers and coffee. At the head of the menu was the following inscription, "Choose rather to punish your appetites than to be punished by them." and I guess the Legion boys knew how to do that, for as fighting men during the big strife they had plenty of appetite and other scraps besides. The fine menu was in the hands of the American Legion Auxiliary and that means good eats.

After the speaking program there was a social hour and games. It was one of these "homey" affairs that are always pleasant. Strange to say, there was no band music, not an instrument present, undoubtedly the members had heard their own "tooting" so long and often that they preferred to listen to a program by others. This program follows:

Harold J. Karsten, Toastmaster

REPUBLICAN HIGHWAY CANDIDATE COMES TO HOLLAND

Charles M. Ziegler, a road man for a good many years and candidate on the Republican ticket for State Highway Commissioner, visited Holland early in the week and called on many Republicans of this city. Mr. Ziegler expressed confidence in his own success and said that he believed only in fair dealing to all sections of the State in the matter of highway construction.

Mr. Ziegler said that he thoroughly understood the building of roads since he has been with the highway department for a long time. Mr. Ziegler is of the positive type and seems to know what he is talking about. He is not given over to running the other fellow down or to say unkind things of other candidates. He states that if he is elected it will be his aim to serve and build roads and not political fences, since he is not a fence builder but a road builder.

Mr. Ziegler met with some fifty Republicans at Warm Friend Tavern. He is conducting quiet, unassuming campaign and his coming and going is not heralded with trumpets. He seems to be a practical man.

BASKETBALL MEN ARE TOP SCORERS

Players on Hope's basketball team were all good scorers according to tabulations made for the 17 game schedule played by the M.I.A.A. championship outfit. Only 10 games were league tussles.

Bill Poppink leads the pack with 56 field goals and 35 fouls for a 147 point total. Don Thomas scored 126 points in the season for second place. All regulars were placed in the first five.

Bob Marcus scored a good percentage by hitting a 90 point total after missing 4 games while on duty at Flint with the National Guards.

There was no other team in the M.I.A.A. that was as high scoring an outfit as Hope with the points as evenly divided as were they on the Hinga team.

Olivet scored more points, but Novak was a topheavy leader in point getting. Kalamazoo had the best balanced team outside of Hope, but was not as high a scoring club.

Erosion Foe

PETER G. DAMSTRA

Peter G. Damstra of Holland, who has taken a leading part in attempting solution of the wind erosion or "sand blow" problem in Ottawa county. Sand blows have been covering over more and more valuable land annually but experts believe the erosion can be halted. Mr. Damstra has gained support for the work from the board of supervisors.

City Inspector Ben Wiersma sent out notices Wednesday, to persons who worked garden plats last year, requesting them to make their 1937 reservations by April 1. In case the notification card is not returned the city clerk's office by April 1, Mr. Wiersma said the lots will be given over to applicants for use during the 1937 garden season. These garden plats are located on the south side of Black River at the end of Central and College Aves. The land was reclaimed several years ago as a relief project and since that time relief workers have been given first opportunity of using them to raise garden stuff.

TODAYTRINITY CHURCH
Rev. Henry D. TerkeurstVETERAN OF SEVERAL WARS
PASSES AWAY

The funeral of Joseph Dykstra, known to his many friends as "Uncle Joe," took place this Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Funeral Home of his brother, John S. Dykstra. Mr. Dykstra was 77 years old and the funeral was held with military rites under the auspices of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and members of that organization acted as bearers.

Mr. Dykstra entered the service of the U. S. Army in 1883 and was only 22 years old, enlisting in Grand Rapids, where he moved from Buffalo, N. Y., as a mere lad. For four years he served in the U. S. Cavalry unit, then he entered the Medical Service in the Records Department. While a member of the Cavalry he participated in Indian warfare in the West and his division was in many skirmishes with the belligerent "red men."

Mr. Dykstra entered the war with the U. S. Troops against Spain after the battleship Maine had been blown up in Havana Harbor. He could tell many stories of the engagements in Cuba, when "Teddy" Roosevelt won such a signal victory at San Juan Hill, when Major Richard Pearson Hobson made the daring attempt to "bottle up" Savara's Spanish fleet by sinking the U. S. collier, Merimac in the harbor's mouth at San Diego.

The success of this undertaking was the beginning of the end of the war. It is rather a coincidence that the intrepid Hobson died a few days before Mr. Dykstra.

In 1900 Mr. Dykstra was sent to the Philippines to serve three years as ambulance driver, and here, too, he was placed in the Records Division during the Philippine uprising with this country. It will be remembered that Aguinaldo, the Philippine General, was the moving spirit who brought about this uprising against the United States.

In 1903 he returned to this country and married Miss Jennie Knoll of Grand Rapids, the marriage taking place in Des Moines, Iowa.

Upon his retirement from the army, after 25 years of faithful service, in 1909, Sergt. Joe Dykstra came to Holland to make his home. However, Mr. Dykstra was not destined to stay out of warfare. In 1917, when the greatest of all wars was fought and the United States entered it, Mr. Dykstra was again called and was assigned to Medical Supply Depot at Chicago.

Joe Dykstra had a rare fund of stories as this relates to military doings. He was intimately acquainted with war activities in four wars, in which he played a part. He has on file a great deal of data, newspaper clippings, all his military correspondence, including many of the special orders to which he was assigned. All the original documents, in which he played a part, were faithfully kept. Service bars, medals, chevrons and other insignias of honor are being well preserved by the family, which conclusively shows that Maj. Joseph Dykstra rendered valiant service to his country.

The services were in charge of Dr. Thomas W. Davidson, pastor of Hope Church.

The bearers were Gerrit Klaasen, Fred Kolmar, John Hanley, J. Henry Van Lente, Martinus Vande Water and Benjamin Hamm.

Other members of the Spanish-American War Veterans acted as honorary pallbearers. Members of the auxiliary were also present.

The body lay in state at the Dykstra Mortuary in order that friends and comrades might pay their respects.

Old Auctioneer, 86
Years, Auctioned in Dutch 50 Years Ago

Henry Lugers, Sr., living southwest of the city, retired auctioneer, has just passed his 86th milestone in life. March 18 was his birthday, which he quietly celebrated.

Henry Lugers, for many years, was an auctioneer, but is now retired. If Henry could collect the sound of "Hear ye, hear ye," as he directed his auction sales, in one volume of sound, it would be heard around the world possibly. He says, "That trade word, public auction would make a whole lot of noise."

Henry says his first sale was at Central Park on a cold, wintry day, more than a half century ago. He was asked by the late Mr. Haverkate to complete an auction which the horse jockey had started. It was much too cold for the old livery stable man, but Mr. Lugers, being an ambitious youth of 28, jumped at the opportunity and from that time he continued as an auctioneer until his retirement.

He estimates that he has presided at not less than 1,000 auction sales. He recalls that the largest one was in Fillmore township, which brought 6,800 people—a large army of prospective buyers. Several years ago he covered territory many miles from home, and on certain occasions he went as far north as Fremont.

Besides being an auctioneer he was deputy sheriff for 22 years and a highway commissioner for two years, and he dealt out justice for two years more. Mr. Lugers was born in Laketown township, Allegan county, in 1851. His much beloved wife died about ten years ago, and his son, Henry, Jr., and family are now making their home with him at Lugers Crossing, Holland Rural Route No. 1.

Besides his son, Henry, Jr., he has three other sons, Albert of Holland, Ben of Hopkins, Edward of Grand Rapids; also three daughters, Mrs. Edward Brakeman, Mrs. Vine Clemens and Mrs. Fred De Vries, all of Grand Rapids.

The Mr. Haverkate spoken of, conducted a lively barn right back of his home on Columbia Ave. and 8th St. Columbia Ave. was then Fish St. The old home was directly on the southeast corner and the barn was in the rear. He was a very large man with a stentorian voice. The house, barn and family have long since passed away and a service station now occupies the entire corner. Haverkate conducted all his sales in the Dutch language.

LICENSE PLATES "FOLLOW"
THE CAR, NOT EX-OWNER

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, has been called upon repeatedly of late to refund on license plates and stickers. Car owners have bought 1937 plates or stickers and before attaching the plates or stickers have sold or disposed of the car without giving the purchaser the plates or sticker.

This condition has been multiplied through the recent extension of the deadline for the use of 1936 plates, many car owners not attaching their 1937 plates or stickers sooner than legally required.

People acquiring cars with 1936 plates, cannot buy plates or stickers for them, if 1937 plates or stickers have been previously issued for such cars. Nor can the purchaser of the unused plates or stickers secure a refund of their money. The plate or sticker "goes with the car."

The original plate or sticker purchaser refusing to surrender the license plate or sticker permit to the subsequent owner should be warned that the license plates and sticker permits remain the property of the state. The Motor Vehicle Law specifically provides that the license is issued to the car and must remain on the car for the remainder of the current year.

F. George Damson, Western State College, Gunnison, Colorado, manager of Band, Orchestra and Glee Club Camp, Gunnison, Colorado was conductor of high school orchestras at the Great Southwestern Music Festival held at Roswell-Carlsbad Cavern, New Mexico, March 17, 18, 19, 20. The Music Festival was organized to bring together school musicians who are outstanding and co-operative with their school musical organizations and the conductors and assistants at this Festival are equal to the best in the country. This is Mr. Damson's first year as conductor and the second year with the Music Festival. Mr. Damson was instrumental in organizing a summer music camp in the "heart of the Rockies" at Gunnison, Col., in 1934. The enrollment of students has increased each year and well known teachers have been added to the faculty.

The body of Mrs. Peter Ver Hoek, 43, former Holland resident who died Tuesday in Washington, D. C. is being shipped here for burial. Mrs. Ver Hoek was born and brought up in Holland. She is survived by the husband and two daughters, Evelyn and Lorraine, who reside in Washington; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Fansler of 165 East Eighth St., Holland, and a sister, Mrs. Guy Ingham of Grand Rapids. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. from the Nibbelink-Notier chapel. The Rev. Van Wyk of Muskegon will officiate and burial will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery. Friends may call Friday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Motion for a retrial in the case of Mrs. Ora Miller of Holland against George Thalen of Holland was denied by Judge Fred T. Miles Wednesday. Mrs. Miller recently was awarded a $1,100 judgment for injuries suffered when she was struck by Thalen's car some time ago.

The bankrupt stock of Dekker Shoe Store on West 8th Street is being appraised.

Boys to Make
Pheasant Hunt
Much BetterALLEGAN COUNTY SPORTSMEN
WILL "PAY THE SHOT"
—LADS TO RAISE GAME
BIRDS

With its thousands of acres of cover, Allegan county should make an ideal hunting ground for pheasants. A quarter of our neighboring county is covered with "oak grub" and the area is so well covered that government and state conservation authorities are doing a great deal for that county and its wildlife. Anyway, pheasant propagation on a county-wide basis here under a project sponsored by the Allegan County Sportsmen's Association.

The plan being used is one drafted by the department of conservation. One thing has been placed two years ago for use by 4-H clubs and suggested as a model for county projects.

The Allegan County Sportsmen's Association has been allowed National Youth Administration labor for constructing pheasant pens and runways. These pens and runways will be loaned to 4-H members in various parts of the county. The 4-H boys will furnish the time, and supply hens to hatch the eggs. The eggs will be supplied by the department of conservation.

In the meantime sportsmen here are raising a fund whereby they will be able to pay the young men for each pheasant chick hatched, reared and released this year.

TEST, TREAT FARM SEEDS

Growers purchasing seed corn that has not been treated for germination should run a test on the seed corn himself before planting. Several kernels from each ear placed in a numbered square on the rag doll muslin tester corresponding to the number of the ear will do the trick. The muslin is then rolled up and kept moist and warm. Ears showing low vitality, poor germination, etc., can then be eliminated.

The Risen Lord—John 20:19-29; 21:20-24.

Henry Geerlings

John gives us a beautiful story about the resurrection. He does not discuss the fact. He did not see Jesus at this time. He saw some things that were convincing evidences to him of the resurrection of his Lord. On the first day of the week, so his story runs, Mary of Magdala went early to the tomb. He adds that it was still dark. This makes the story most natural and increases its reliability. It was not too dark for this loyal and anxious woman to see that the stone was taken away from the sepulcher. This of course was very significant to her. But it did not mean resurrection to her. It did seem to mean that the tomb had been robbed of its precious occupant. Her soul was in alarm. To her it was a terrifying discovery. She runs to bear the news of her discovery to Peter and John in the hope that they might be able to do something about it. If friends had removed the body she wanted to know what they had done with it. If enemies had broken open the tomb and had robbed it of the precious remains of her divine friend she wanted to know what they had done with the body. She could not bear the thought of its falling into unholy hands. It was torture to think that possibly new indignities were to be offered it—that body that had already been so cruelly treated. So, tumultuous anxiety and driving affection hurried her along with swift feet to her friends and the friends of her crucified Lord. Her anxious word of news was sufficient to arouse Peter and John and they hurried to the garden to investigate for themselves the fact that Mary brought to them.

John was younger than Peter and so outran him. Arriving at the empty tomb he saw for himself that the body was gone, but he did not go in. Possibly his natural timidity and his reverence kept him out. His searching and observing eyes went in and he saw the bandages lying on the ground. Surely this must have started him thinking as to what happened to the body of his Lord. By this time Peter arrived and went at once into the tomb. That was characteristic of this impulsive and quick-acting man. We presume that he never occurred to him not to go in. He came to see and he wanted to see all that was to be seen. He made the same observation that John did as to the bandages, but he made an additional discovery. He noted that the napkin which had been around Jesus' head was folded up by itself and not lying beside the other bandages. Then it was that John made up his mind to go in the tomb and to make further investigation for himself. What he saw convinced him of their Lord's resurrection. Peter, too, was convinced. They were convinced by evidence that was circumstantial, but evidence that was eloquent. There was enough in the empty tomb and in the bandages and in the carefully folded napkin to be persuasive to honest minds who do not fight the natural testimony of such evidence. Detectives have used much less plain and convincing evidence as stepping stones to the final fact toward which they were climbing. Wherever the body of Jesus was, these two men were convinced that Jesus did not leave that tomb as a corpse, but as a living being. They staked the integrity of their souls on the eloquence of the folded napkin. Enemies stealing the body would not have left behind the kind of evidence that Peter and John and Mary found. These two men returned to their homes with a new song of hope singing in their hearts. A new rising sun had shot its first shafts of light through their night of despair. It was beginning to be morning in their souls.

Now Mary returned to the empty tomb. She comes with a heavy heart and that heart finds expression in tears, yes sobs. Through her sobs she tells the angels what hurts her tender heart. Then turning around she sees someone whom she takes to be the gardener. Quite naturally so. She was not thinking of a living Jesus, but of a dead Jesus. Grief blinds us. Her tears and her pain wove veils across her eyes. Even the first voice of Jesus did not arouse her to the fact she was facing. That He was living was not even a remote possibility in her mind. But Jesus took in the situation at once. Then He did a beautiful and tender thing. He called her by her name and then she knew. There was something of the old affection in that voice, something of the old tenderness, something of the old understanding of her, something of that which gave assurance to her soul. His voice speaking her name in the old familiar way was the sweet-toned bell that woke her to the new realities which she was then facing. She needed no further proof that her Lord was alive. She joined the company of the convinced.

We have in John's story a very convincing testimony to the fact of the resurrection of our Lord. It is so simple, so natural, so unartificial, so far removed from the manufactured that we must believe that Jesus arose from the dead.

Takes the Drudgery out of Unpleasant Tasks

What woman doesn't dread the stack of dirty dishes that await her when the water is lukewarm and the supply is limited.

Grease does not loosen from the plates. Soap suds disappear. Dishes become difficult to dry or wipe

But how different it is when she has an abundant supply of hot water at just the right temperature. Grease disappears like magic. Dishes emerge from billowy suds, clean and sparkling and low easy they are to dry when rinsed with plenty of hot water.

Let automatic gas water heating lighten your household tasks.

Members of the Michigan legislature became "apple minded" on March 17 when the State Senate and House of Representatives committees on Horticulture held an apple pie festival as an inducement to other members to support one of several legislative proposals designed to provide a state appropriation for the promotion of Michigan apples and other agricultural products. Already the Michigan Apple Institute has been organized among apple growers of the state. It is headed by E. J. Martin of Bangor who is devoting his sole time to the work. The Institute is already running a test campaign to determine the possibilities of further apple promotion in the state. Larger consuming centers will be approached if the legislature sees fit to aid the growers. At the legislative festival, a representative of the Atlantic and Pacific Food Stores and other large grocery organizations pledged the support of these companies toward aiding Michigan farmers in marketing their products. The grocery company recently played a major part in helping California citrus growers with a similar problem.

ONE OF THE OLD GUARD

Fortress of San Felipe overlooking Cartagena, Colombia—part of the fortifications which guarded the ships from Spain while they loaded loot taken from the palaces of Mexico and Peru. Around this sixteenth century city—featuring in fortification cruises between New York and California—rising straight from the sea is a giant wall ranging from fifty to sixty feet in height topped here and there with fortresses and pierced at the base with underground tunnels leading to the heart of the city.

Under the protection of these walls at the time of the conquest ships from Spain laden with goods for the colonies met caravans coming from all parts of the Caribbean loaded with treasure—mule teams with gold and silver from the glittering palaces of the fabulously wealthy Incas in Cuzco, Peru, and from the Aztec capital in Mexico, emeralds from Colombia's rich mines, and pearls from the Caribbean, indigo, tobacco and cacao from the fertile New World fields. While the ships were in port there were sixty days of excited bartering, then the vessels left for Spain and the mule trains wended their slow way back to New Granada, and Panama, carrying clothes and tools and other necessities back to the colonies.

ZEELAND

Justice of Peace, Henry Huxtable, of Zeeland, placed Cyrus Kuiper, 21, and Udell Hoffman, 20, both of Zeeland, on probation for one year each after they pleaded guilty to modified charges of receiving stolen money when arrested last Friday morning. The court ruled that the 66 days spent in the Ottawa county jail, while unable to provide bond, was sufficient for Kuipers, who has been held in jail since his arrest. Hoffman served 23 days before gaining his release on bond and Justice Huxtable ordered him to serve 43 days in the county jail to equal the sentence of Kuipers. Both were assessed court costs. The two young men were originally charged with breaking and entering. The charge resulted from a robbery committed on the home of Johannes Kaat, two miles northeast of Zeeland, last Jan. 12. They admitted taking money from Mr. Kaat.

HOW FAST CAN OWL FLY?

In an effort to outdistance an automobile driven by Gilbert Larson, conservation officer, on the ice of Indian Lake, Michigan, a snowy owl flew 53 miles an hour. Larson said he kept 100 feet behind the bird for a distance of 3.2 miles. The owl flew on a straight line at a height of no more than 20 feet at any time and was easy to follow. It had a tail wind, Larson estimated, at seven or eight miles an hour. At 53 miles an hour the owl held its own, but at a faster car speed it was apparent the owl was losing out.

HOPE COLLEGE WILL RECEIVE NEW BUILDING

—Hope College Anchor

For some time now architects have been working on plans for a $250,000 science building to be erected on Hope's campus, it was announced by Dr. Wynand Wichers. The building will be located on 10th street just east of the president's home.

Plans for the three-story structure are being drawn up by Knecht, McCarthy and Thiebaud of Grand Rapids, Michigan. The building will combine fireproof construction with the latest developments in ventilating and heating equipment.

Each Department Has Floor
An outstanding advantage of the new building is that each department will have an entire floor. The physics department and the museum will occupy the first floor, the chemistry department the second floor and the biology department the third floor.

In planning the new building the needed equipment was first taken into consideration, then the equipment was arranged so that it would be most convenient to the students. This will make for more agreeable working conditions.

Wichers Explains Need

President Wichers, in a statement to the Anchor, explained why the new building is needed. He said, "All available classroom space is now being used due to the fact that the laboratories are getting to be entirely inadequate for the growing demand."

"The chief reason is the lack of ventilation in Van Raalte Hall, which allows laboratory gas fumes to fill the halls, making it impossible to use the building to advantage," he said.

The campaign for the solicitation of funds begins on the first of April. This campaign will reach the entire church.

It is hoped that the building will be ready to be occupied by 1941. In that year Hope will celebrate her seventy-fifth anniversary.

According to several science professors the teachers as well as the students will look forward to the time when they can work in the new laboratories.

Professors Express Opinions
"The new building should make for continued improvement in the work in the science department," said Dr. Vergeer, "and it will be an inspiration both to the teachers

Wherever it was used, it was familiar to all workers, and scientifically correct. It was Bell System equipment!

And from wherever they gathered for the emergency... volunteer operators from Michigan assisting operators in Ohio; linemen from Illinois working shoulder to shoulder with crews from Tennessee... all workers spoke the common language of a job thoroughly understood. In emergencies, when telephone service is hard to maintain, is when that service is needed most. But the successful meeting of this and other emergencies cannot be laid entirely to the forethought, the engineering experience, or the manufacturing facilities of this unified telephone system. It results, also, from the devotion of every telephone man and woman to the job. Trained to meet the unexpected, it is all in the day's work to them. They stick to their tasks. "The message must get through."

Birds Desert South; Are On The Way North

ROBINS, MEADOWLARK, RED-WING AND OTHERS PARADE BACK TO MICHIGAN

Dust off the binoculars and get ready with your bird houses. The migrant host of winged songsters is on the way. Geese and ducks have already arrived. You may see them by the hundreds and by the thousands in Lake St. Clair, in the Detroit River and in nearly every inland lake and river in Southern Michigan. Grackles, killdeer and robins are here, too. But the real flight is yet to come. The thousands and millions of songbirds which pass over Southern Michigan every spring will be here in only a few weeks.

The surprising thing about these thousands of migrant birds is that practically every individual knows exactly where it is going. The chimney swift which has spent the winter in South America knows its way back to the same dingy abode it occupied last summer. The bobolink which went all the long way to Brazil does not forget the bit of meadow which it called home last summer, but unerringly finds its way back to the chosen spot to raise another family in its old surroundings.

There is every year a great mortality among birds, probably as much mortality as there is reproduction. In spite of that, a surprising number of birds do come back. If you had a robin, a vireo or a bluebird nesting near your home last summer, there is a good chance of your hearing one this year. Birds seem to have home ties, just as human beings do.

Most birds travel in a rather definite schedule. The martins arrive about the same time in April every year. The insect eaters do not come until May when there is plenty of food available. Here is a suggested schedule of bird arrivals, made up for the middle of Michigan.

Early March: Canada goose, pintail and scaup ducks, grackle, rusty blackbird, red-winged blackbird, robin, bluebird, meadowlark, Middle March: Woodcock, phoebe, cowbird.

Late March: Merganser, snipe, kingfisher, mourning dove, swamp sparrow, white-throated sparrow, field sparrow.

Early April: Great blue heron, night heron, osprey, purple finch, fox sparrow, vesper sparrow, Savannah sparrow, chipping sparrow, tree swallow, myrtle warbler, hermit thrush.

Middle April: Bittern, green heron, rail, sap sucker, barn swallow, palm warbler, pine warbler, water thrush, kinglets.

Late April: Sora rail, sandpiper, whip-poor-will, chimney swift, least flycatcher, pewee, chewink, purple martin, cliff swallow, bank swallow, rough-winged swallow, black and white warbler, black-throated green warbler, ovenbird, catbird, brown thrasher, house wren and wood thrush.

Best Beet Contract to Farmers Yet Issued

All of the beet sugar companies operating in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana report that progress is being made in contracting for the 1937 sugar beet crop, according to an announcement made today by Arthur A. Schupp, executive secretary of the Farmers and Manufacturers' Beet Sugar Association.

"The sugar companies," said Mr. Schupp, "are offering the best beet purchase contract ever issued in the history of the industry. Progressive farmers are voluntarily boosting the crop on the theory that every acre of sugar beets means an acre less to be planted to surplus and non-profit crops. In addition, they point out, that sugar beets is the best major cash crop grown in the three states; that beets improve the soil; that all crops following beets give larger yields; that the feed value of beet tops is high, and that the high gross return from sugar beets helps to build prosperous communities."

"The importance of the sugar beet to agriculture, labor and industry and to the community, county, state and nation, is gradually being appreciated and we hope to have a bumper sugar beet crop in 1937."

BURNING FIELDS DESTROYS WILDLIFE

Landowners of Michigan who must burn their fields or marshes this spring may help save wildlife by doing it as early as weather conditions permit. If the field or marsh is to be burned the best time to do it, as far as wildlife is concerned, is right after the snow melts, the vegetation a chance to "come back" in time to furnish food and cover for birds and small mammals. If landowners wait until nesting time to burn, authorities say, there is a likelihood that the nests of birds and animals will be destroyed and that some forms of wildlife will be burned.

The Michigan State convention will be held in Flint, Saturday, May 8. More than 200 persons attended the convention last year, held here in connection with the Tulip Time festival, and an even larger registration is expected for 1937.

An item for $1,000, included in the annual budget adopted last night by common council, will give the assessor's office a start toward augmenting its record system to include photographs of all residences in Holland. The project, which will be gradual in its culmination, hopes to provide a complete picture of each home for the board of review. Besides photographs, the new system hopes to have descriptions of the interior of the residences and other data. It was believed the $1,000 would enable the office to photograph the residences during the coming year. Future appropriations, it is hoped, will provide for the continuation of the program. It was estimated that the cost of photographing will be about 25 cents per picture.

Easter Parade Features Veils, Lacy Neckwear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Veils in all manner of treatment and lacy, frilly lingerie neckwear with the ultra feminine look is the big news for spring. And more news—many of the smart hats are worn far back on the head. See the tiny off-the-face cap (cap-hats are "it" in Paris) here pictured. Three American beauty roses are posed atop this cap of navy felt. The perky little veil is of navy blue string. The navy crepe frock takes on dainty lace lingerie accents in accord with the latest dictates of spring fashion.

One of the especially flattering jabots of white lace so enthusiastically endorsed to enhance the simple dark frock this spring is also shown. This is a favorite type. It has the high close neckband and a full double ruffle beneath.

MUSKEGON CENTENNIAL UNCOVERS MANY OLD TIME LUMBER BRANDS

Michigan's roaring, bawling, lumbering days and the West's days of the cattle barons had at least one marked similarity—the marking of their property with brands. The cattle men, however, seared their marks into the flesh of their animals, while the lumber barons had their stamps into the end of their logs with heavy hammers.

In 1842 the Michigan legislature passed a law, requiring that these brands be registered at the county court house in the county where the mill was located that was to make lumber of the logs. Between that time and the 1880's when Muskegon was the Lumber Queen of the World, thousands of brands were registered at the Muskegon county courthouse. These brands will be a big attraction at the Muskegon Centennial and Lumberjack Festival, July 17 to 31, 1937.

Some of these were simple brands, nothing more than the initials of the owners. Others were elaborate designs which told a story that has since been forgotten. Strangest of these probably was the one of a gallows with a man hanging from it—Davies & Whitman brand. There was one—a pair of legs evidently belonging to a Russian doing the Komarinskaja—the Roskoff & Atherton brand. Under the livestock division there was a bull's head, a horse's head—Richard Miller's brand—an owl, and a fish which, judged from the size of the dorsal fin, must have been meant to represent a Grayling—the McGraff and Montgomery brand.

Implements of general use in the camps in those days took their place among the brands. There was the wheelbarrow brand, a hammer neatly boxed in a rectangle—G. A. Blodgett's brand—and a brace. Two keys, separated by a short vertical bar, was another of the unusual brands.

Human figures entered into the brands also. One depicted a rather plump woman, crudely drawn—C. S. Montague brand. Another a lumberjack with a cant hook—Street & Chatfield brand—and still another unusual one was a foot.

There was the umbrella, an arm chair, a star enclosed in a circle and the whole thing boxed in a rectangle. A French company operating in the Muskegon valley woods utilized a graceful lyre as its symbol of ownership—the Beaudry & Co. brand.

It is impossible today to decipher just what many of the others do represent. The logs were branded in the woods, at both ends. There the independent companies which had no mills of their own, had them sealed by representatives of the mill and sold them on the ground as the drive down the river began. Changing of brands prevailed even in those days and just as the rustlers stole whole herds of cattle in the west, hi-jackers and unscrupulous river men stole logs. The method of changing the brands differed, however.

Hi-jackers would pull the logs from the river, saw off the branded ends of the logs, and re-brand them with their own mark, or the mark of the company for which they were working.

There were more subtle ways of operating, however. Old river-men will tell you of unscrupulous operators who would sell their logs at sixteen feet, take their receipt and skid them off into the river. Some distance down stream they would have them taken from the river, have a foot cut off each end and re-stamped and scaled again as 14-foot logs. Frequently the process would be repeated and they would collect for almost three times the timber that came down the river.

There were, however, thousands of board feet of lumber honestly lost on the river, and in Muskegon Lake. Waterlogged giants that sunk to the bottom, or drifted into shallow water and were missed on the drives.

after the halcyon days the Muskegon Log Lifting Company was formed to salvage these derelicts of the lumber boom days and in order to have clear title to the logs bought the title to most of the brands for a song.
