Oil Worker Killed By Explosion on Hamilton Farm

Former Ohio Man Is Hurled High Into Air,
Falls in Blazing Tank

Allegan, March 25—Justice Volney W. Ferris, acting as Allegan county coroner, today returned a verdict of accidental death in the death of Harry Runkel, about 34, of Hamilton, who was killed instantly about 2:45 p.m. Wednesday when a 100-barrel oil tank exploded on the farm of George Jappink, 2 1/2 miles east of Hamilton.

The body remains at the Ten Brink funeral home in Hamilton, pending receipt of word from relatives who live in Ohio. He had lived in Hamilton only about two or three years.

According to Justice Ferris and Deputy Sheriff Lee Dornan who investigated, Runkel, who was employed by the Fowler and Fitchell Oil Co. of Detroit, was working with Donald Kilvoord and Edward Marsh, both of Hamilton, draining the tank so that it could be moved.

The men had started a fire outside the tank to warm the oil so that it would flow out faster. Runkel had climbed to the top of the tank, about one-fourth filled, and was stirring the oil with a two-by-four when the explosion occurred.

The blast blew the top off the tank, hurling Runkel about 20 feet into the air. He fell into the tank of burning oil. Justice Ferris expressed belief that Runkel was dead when the body fell into the oil.

Food Given to Hungry Family

For the second time in two weeks, Ottawa county sheriff's deputies supplied food to a wife and her two minor children last Friday night with a result that Morris Davis, 49, route 1, West Olive, was arraigned Saturday before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith on a charge of non-support.

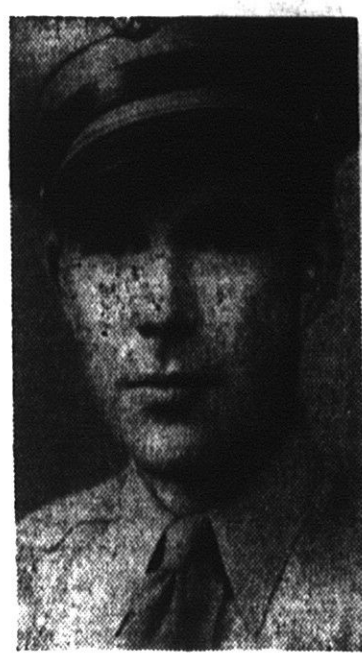

Upon his plea of guilty, Davis was placed on probation for one year, terms of his probation being that he correct the conditions in the home by supplying his family with food and clothing and improve the sanitation in the home. Deputy sheriffs reported the family had been living on old bread and fat. One day, there was no bread in the home and the mother mixed cornmeal, water and fat for her children, 5 and 7 years old, officers said.

There are eight in the family and three are able to work, officers said. When officers visited the home Friday night, they found it isolated and had to cross a field flooded with water. They found the children had no change of clothing and while the family ate the food brought to them, officers held flashlights as there were no other lights in the home. They reported Davis had not worked for sometime, except to collect some junk, proceeds from which were not enough to support the family. They quoted Davis as saying that he always intended to get a better job but never got around to it.

Two Holland Men Meet Overseas

Sgt. Robert R. Taft

Tech. Sgt. Harold Yonker

Two Holland service men, Sgt. Robert R. Taft and Tech. Sgt. Harold Yonker recently spent several days together in North Africa and talked about home affairs, according to word received here by Mrs. Thaddeus Taft, the former's mother, and Mrs. Yonker, wife of the latter. The visit was a happy one for both young men, according to letters. Sgt. Taft wrote, "Tell Mr. Butler we enjoy the home paper so much. I read everything in The Sentinel, even the want-ads."

Sgt. Taft, who is a laboratory technician with a general hospital unit, enlisted March 11, 1942. After five months at Ft. Custer and the same length of time at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, he left for overseas in December. He was graduated from Holland high school and attended Hope college. Before his enlistment he was associated with his mother in manufacturing of the Rose Clock store.

Sgt. Yonker enlisted in the army April 29, 1942 and was sent to MacDill field, Tampa, Fla., in May. After a month he was sent to Barksdale field, La., where he received the rating of staff sergeant after nine weeks in service. He then went to Camp Rucker, Ozark, Ala. In August he received a furlough and also in October, after which he was sent to Ft. Benning, Ga. After his arrival in North Africa he received his present rank.

Sgt. Yonker married the former Miss Thelma Venhuizen on March 3, 1942, and she was with him until he went overseas. She now makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Venhuizen, 272 1/2 East 11th St. She is receptionist at the Beernink studio. Sgt. Yonker is in the medical corps. Before his enlistment he was proprietor of Yonker's Drug store. Order for Mattresses
And Springs Will Be
Sub-Let to Local Firm

Charles R. Sligh, Jr., president of Holland Industries, Inc., announced here that this organization had received a second contract Thursday from the Smaller War Plants Corp. for the manufacture of 1,000 box springs and mattresses to be built up on legs.

Mr. Sligh said this work will be sub-let to the Spring Air Co. of Holland. The contract was signed Thursday afternoon in Grand Rapids with Major C. W. Dunning, SWPC representative who came to Grand Rapids to sign various contracts with furniture manufacturers for the making of furniture for use in federal housing projects.

Earlier last week, Holland Industries, Inc., received a $503,250 contract for its members for the manufacture of 5,000 occasional chairs, 11,750 single beds, 10,750 chests, 10,750 mirrors, 24,000 dinette chairs and 4,000 dinette tables.

To be made for delivery to various housing projects east of the Mississippi by furniture men in the Grand Rapids metropolitan area are: 47,500 occasional chairs, 41,250 single beds, 3,000 double beds, 17,000 chests, 6,250 chiffores, 22,350 mirrors, 8,000 dinette tables, 24,000 dinette chairs and 3,000 studio couches.

That the anticipated $2,000,000 total ran short of that figure to $1,750,000 was due largely to the fact that Major Dunning was unable to place an order for 9,750 chiffores and mirrors.

Still Lack Third Of Goal in Drive

One Week Remains in Red Cross Campaign
Over Ottawa County

With one week remaining in which to wind up the campaign, Ottawa county as a whole has thus far raised $22,415.84 of its total quota of $34,850 in the Red Cross war fund drive.

This is not quite two-thirds of the goal, it was pointed out today by the Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp, chairman of the campaign in southern Ottawa county.

Following Olive township, Zeeland township became the second section to exceed its goal. With a quota of $1,254.60, Zeeland township has gone over the top by almost 20 per cent.

"By all boosting together we can raise the full amount on schedule," Rev. Hinkamp said, urging prompt contribution.

Grand Haven, March 25—Grand Haven high school pupils will buy a jeep for the U. S. army.

G. V. Cohrs, civics teacher and faculty chairman of bond sales in the student council, reports that the goal of $900 for March is expected to be reached.

The national goal in high schools of the U. S. for the spring war savings drive is enough money raised through stamps and bonds to buy 100,000 jeeps. Michigan's quota is 523.

Tax Collection in Ottawa County Is Best in Years

Cities and Townships, Always Prompt, Outdo Themselves This Time

Grand Haven, March 25 (Special)—Favorable business conditions are reflected in the annual tax report of County Treasurer Fred Den Herder which shows delinquencies of only 4.83 per cent, the lowest in a number of years in traditionally tax-prompt Ottawa county.

Assessments in the towns and townships of the county totaled $185,605.33. Payments on schedule amounted to $176,911.49, leaving only $8,693.84 unpaid.

Among the cities, Holland's collection of 97.75 per cent leaves a delinquency of only 2.25 per cent. In dollars and cents this means that $1,147.21 remains to be paid out of an assessment of $50,839.72.

A 2.8 per cent delinquency for Grand Haven is shown, leaving a payment mark of 97.2 per cent, or only $811.60 unpaid on an assessment of $28,885.12.

Plans Made for Scrap Campaign In Ottawa County

Each Township to Be Organized for Drive
Starting on April 15

Approximately 100 persons from all Ottawa county townships attended a meeting Wednesday night in the Zeeland high school at which time plans were made for the spring scrap collection drive, scheduled to get under way about April 15.

It was decided to organize each township around the supervisor as chairman in an effort to get every piece of scrap metal left in the rural areas.

In talks, Kenneth Burns, chairman of the Michigan salvage committee, and John D. McGillis, executive secretary for Michigan, stressed the acute need for heavy scrap to keep steel furnaces operating to capacity to produce steel for war needs.

Mr. McGillis stated that open hearth furnaces need 50 per cent scrap steel and iron to produce steel while the electric furnaces need 100 per cent scrap to operate. These furnaces have not been able to maintain capacity production because of a shortage of sufficient heavy material to supplement the supply of lighter scrap still on hand but rapidly dwindling. Scrap remaining on piles in Michigan, he said, would run one of the large mills for only two days. Because of this, it has been necessary to bring in train loads of scrap to Michigan from the east, south and west while large amounts of heavy Michigan scrap still lies dormant.

It also has been necessary to divert ships and soldiers from their fighting duties to gather and bring back from battle-field scrap, thus delaying eventual victory and costing priceless lives and time because "we still have many 'secret weapons' lying in various farms, in homes, barns, garages, attics and basements."

John Van Dam, county salvage chairman, presided over the county-wide rally. Other speakers were Simon Borr, county civilian defense chairman, and L. R. Arnold of Grand Haven, county agricultural agent.

After considerable training and frequent fire drills, the auxiliary fire defense force at the Armour Leather Co. plant on the North side received practical experience when fire broke out in a partition which separated the dressing room and the dry leather room about 7:45 a.m.

When Holland firemen arrived, the auxiliary firemen had laid two lines of hose and had the blaze under control. Supt. Niles Hansen said the damage will total between $300 and $1,000.

He expressed belief that the fire broke out about a foot from the ceiling in the dressing room, started from spontaneous combustion. An employee discovered the fire when the sprinkler system was set off and he went to investigate the cause.

Fire Chief Andrew Klomprens complimented the auxiliary firemen for their "fine job." Mr. Hansen said a quantity of leather and some materials were damaged.

Firemen were still at the first fire when the Armour Leather Co. alarm was turned in, several being dispatched to answer this alarm.

History Examination Questions Are Missing

A set of history examination questions was the object of a search on the Hope college campus today but at noon the missing papers had not been returned to Prof. E. P. McLean to whose possession they had been entrusted by Prof. Bruce M. Raymond when he left Holland on a business trip Wednesday.

The examination questions were stolen sometime between midnight Wednesday and 1 a.m. today when Prof. McLean's desk in his office in Van Raitte hall was broken into. Surprised in the act by a janitor, the culprits reportedly fled the building through a window.

Nine-week examinations are being held this week and next.

Firemen Called To Two Blazes

Auxiliary Force at Armour Leather Co.
Checks One of Them

Holland firemen responded to two alarms within 15 minutes of each other yesterday.

The first alarm was sounded about 7:30 a.m. when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Feyen, 672 Central Ave., caught fire from an undetermined origin and caused unestimated damage.

The blaze started in the attic near the chimney of the home and most of the damage was confined to the roof. Mrs. Gerrit Vanden Bosch, 668 Central Ave., reportedly saw the smoke issuing through the roof and notified Mr. Feyen.

The blaze had gained considerable headway when discovered and firemen laid six lines of hose and used two booster lines to bring the fire under control. They remained on the scene for almost an hour.

Mr. Feyen was unable to estimate his loss but said he carried insurance on the home. The lower part of the home and some of the furnishings were damaged by water.

After considerable training and frequent fire drills, the auxiliary fire defense force at the Armour Leather Co. plant on the North side received practical experience when fire broke out in a partition which separated the dressing room and the dry leather room about 7:45 a.m.

To Use Sugar Factory; Beet Growers Are Not Affected by Change

Leasing of the Holland plant of the Lake Shore Sugar Co. to the Doughnut Corp. of America, the country's largest manufacturer of prepared mixes, was confirmed here today in joint statements released by the two corporations.

The lease corporation stated it has completed negotiations to operate the local plant at the end of west 14th St. the year round, giving employment to about 100 workers. The Holland plant will be used to produce one of the important ingredients used in the company's prepared mixes which go to the armed forces.

This new plant of the Doughnut corporation will not be used for the manufacture of beet sugar. However, the Lake Shore Sugar Co., which also owns and operates a plant at St. Louis, Mich., stated that the leasing of the Holland plant to its new operators will in no way change the relationship between its beet growers and the Lake Shore Sugar Co. which will process all the beets from the Holland area.

The beet purchase contract is now being prepared and will be offered to the growers within the next few days. It will give the growers all the advantages of the new government contract and they will not be penalized in any way because of the leasing of the Holland plant for year-round operation, the Lake Shore Sugar Co. said.

"This new contract will be the best beet contract ever offered in Michigan and should assure the growers a maximum return and assist the government in its effort to secure a large domestic production of sugar to help relieve the sugar shortage," the statement read.

The Doughnut corporation said it desires to make the Holland plant one of its more important manufacturing units.

C. L. Bohannon who has been at the plant the past 10 years, will continue as plant manager under the new management. The rest of the present personnel also will continue in employment at the plant. Additional required personnel will be taken on as the plant is set in operation within the near future.

The doughnut firm operates a number of plants in the United States, Canada and England. Their other U. S. plants are located at Elliott City, Md., Oakland, Cal., New Berlin and Lisbon, N. Y., Chickasha, Okla., Mackenzie, Tenn., and Wichita Falls, Tex. In these plants, the corporation produces prepared bakery mixes, dehydrated eggs, bakery machinery and essential machine parts for the armed services. Their doughnut machine and prepared mixes are being used extensively at military camps both here and abroad.

Golfer Harbert, Here as Trainee, Has Four Titles

Only 28, He Has Been Interested in Game Since He Was Three

Holding four "duration" professional golfing championships which he won during the 1942 season, Chuck Harbert, one of Michigan's outstanding professional golfers, has put away his golf clubs for the duration and is now in training at the army's flight training school operated at the Park township airport under sponsorship of the Hope college war training service program.

Mr. Harbert was included in a group of 30 trainees who reported here recently to begin their eight weeks' training course. He enlisted for military service last Nov. 17.

Only 28 years old, he has been interested in golfing since he was a youngster. For about the past three years, he had been serving as pro at the Battle Creek Country club. When the 1942 season opens there, his father, Elmer W. Harbert, an officer of the Professional Golfers association and regarded as one of the nation's outstanding teachers in golf, will replace him.

The senior Harbert served as golf pro at the Battle Creek club for eight years. Then there was a lapse of five years after which time the junior Harbert took over the pro's duties at Battle Creek.

In 1942, Chuck Harbert won first place in the Michigan state open tournament, a title which he also won in 1937. Last year, he also placed first in the $5,000 Beaumont (Tex.) open; won the $5,000 Texas open at San Antonio, Tex., defeating Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., in the playoff; won the $5,000 St. Paul (Minn.) open last summer.

As an amateur golfer, Harbert won the International amateur championship in 1939 at Erie Downs Country club, Fort Erie, Can., won the Trans-Mississippi amateur title in 1939. While in school, he won the interscholastic championship for three consecutive years.

Time To Clean Spring Clothes

The Ideal Dry Cleaners, 118 College Ave., recommends the sending in of spring and summer clothes to be cleaned now before the Easter rush begins. There is nothing too delicate to be taken care of at the Ideal cleaners—lace curtains, drapes, quilts, furs, velvet, corduroy and sheer wool materials—all are gently but thoroughly cleaned with Ideal's special cleaning fluid with an oil base.

"The House of Service" is one of the names commonly applied to the Ideal Dry Cleaners, which has been operated by Herman Beukema and Garret Alderink for more than 20 years. The Ideal cleaners trucks and drivers maintain an efficient and prompt service at all times.

The war, however, has affected the dry cleaning business and the Ideal cleaners ask the cooperation of their customers in sending several items to be cleaned at one time, thus saving gas and tires. They also request their customers to return their hangers, as metal hangers are very scarce and difficult to secure.

Two-Mile Sweep After Boys Break Bottles

Two 12-year-old boys spent about two hours Sunday night cleaning up the mess they caused on about a two-mile stretch on East 16th St. extension by breaking beer, wine, whisky and other bottles along the road.

Deputy sheriffs supervised the cleaning up of the broken bottles after receiving a call that cars could not travel the road due to the broken glass. The youths were said to have found the bottles in the ditch Sunday afternoon. A seven-year-old boy also was involved in breaking the bottles.

The pair was provided with brooms and dust pans to clean up the broken glass.

Have Cars Spring Conditioned Now

Bern Deters and Martin Diekema, whose garage is located at 36 West 16th St., feel it is the patriotic duty of every truck and car owner to make sure their vehicles are properly conditioned for spring, and they are fully equipped to offer this service to their customers.

Because of the decreased amount of driving at lower speed and the unusually severe winter, most of the nation's cars and trucks are in need of a thorough check-up this spring.

With production of cars and trucks at "zero" and with more and more war workers depending on cars to get them to their jobs it is especially important that motor vehicles be kept on the road. To make sure of continued efficient and economical operation during the spring and summer seasons, Deters and Diekema recommend regular maintenance check-ups on a monthly basis.

Both Mr. Deters and Mr. Diekema are well-known in Holland. They have been with the Venhuizen Auto Co., which specializes in Studebaker, Packard, De Soto and Plymouth cars, for more than 17 years. They carry a complete line of repair parts at their 16th St. service station, and offer to care for your car and keep it rolling for the duration.

Lake Restocking To Be Suspended

Saturation Point From Standpoint of Food For Fish Is Reached

Restocking of Lake Macatawa with game fish will be suspended until the state department of conservation sees fit to resume the planting of fish in the local lake.

Directors of the Holland Fish and Game club learned Friday afternoon from Fred A. Westerman, chief of the department's fish division, that Lake Macatawa is overstocked with fish in comparison with the amount of food available for them to eat. Mr. Westerman, in company with Dr. A. S. Hazzard of the Institute of Fisheries Research Survey at Ann Arbor and Clyde Lydell of the Comstock Park fish hatchery, came to Holland for a luncheon meeting with the club directors in the Warm Friend tavern.

It was Mr. Westerman's recommendation that the restocking of the lake be suspended for the time being. The directors, after a lengthy discussion of the situation, agreed to the recommendation and adopted a motion to turn over the club's three rearing ponds, located east of Holland, to the department of conservation for use as it sees fit. Just how the department's fish division will use the ponds is not definite but it is anticipated that it will be used for experimental purposes.

It is a known fact that numerous mature game fish have been found dead for lack of food and the state conservation department feels that a reduction of the present supply of fish will provide ample food for the fish since the feed beds have disappeared to some extent in the past few years.

CAP Training Is Explained Here

All civil air patrol members are required to finish a 72-hour basic course to fit themselves for their particular war duties.

This basic course consists of the following: Military courtesy and discipline, three hours; infantry drill, 20 hours; local civilian defense familiarization, two hours; first aid, 20 hours; interior guard duty, four hours; protective concealment, two hours; protection against gas six hours; crash procedure, six hours; organization of the army, three hours; organization of the navy, two hours; organization of the army air forces, two hours; reviews and inspections, two hours.

At the present time, members of the local CAP squadron are studying meteorology, navigation and code on Thursday nights and on Monday they have one hour of military drill and one hour of general service of aircraft. These classes will be completed shortly and anyone interested in joining the CAP should contact one of its present members.

The following is a paragraph from a CAP bulletin and explains the aims and ideals of the organization.

"This is a volunteer program wherein the members pay nothing and receive no pay. It entails serious work. CAP is not interested in giving free instructions to people merely curious to know a little about aviation. Men and women in all regions of the country taking the prescribed courses are preparing to meet their war responsibilities. Those who have gone from CAP into the armed forces are better soldiers because of what they have learned. All will be better citizens of the air age into which the world has entered."

AN ANTI-UNION STRIKE

That was something new
the other day at Port Huron—a strike
not by a union but against a union.
It was perhaps the first thing of its kind in labor's history, but it seems certain that it will not be the last. The American people are certain, sooner or later,
to put up a fight for the right
not to join a union if they don't wish to. And if they don't wish that fight they are going to fall short of one of the fundamental freedoms that make America
what it is.

In Port Huron an American Federation of Labor union attempted to organize the dairy workers. The organizers were sent in from Detroit. The workers, none of whom were union members, were satisfied with their jobs and with their working conditions. All they wanted was to continue without outside interference.

When the Detroit organizers
from the teamsters' union attempted to force the employers
of the dairy workers to deduct dues and initiation fees from their pay checks, the workers went out on strike—against the interfering union, not against their employers.

Whatever the outcome, the strike was a refreshing indication of independence on the part of at least some American workers.
Neither the dairy workers, nor anyone else, can of course object to the attempt of the union to organize them. That is their privilege; it is even possible that it would be a good thing for the dairy workers to become members of a union. But if they are to be forced to do so, everything that has happened in America since the day when the "embattled farmers" of the American Revolution rose up against British tyranny has been a mockery. A man who does not have the privilege of deciding for himself whether he is right or wrong in his decision, as to whether he will join or not join a union, is obviously not a free man.

Those Port Huron dairy workers, by staging a strike against a union, found a way of dramatizing a situation that is robbing
the American workers of a fundamental right for which the people of Washington's day fought and died. This is so plain that it is astonishing it is being overlooked by people in general. Here in America
we don't want the dictatorship of a Hitler or a Stalin. That is what the Port Huron "strike in reverse" means.

be tampered with apart from the knowledge of the authorities.
More than that, a guard of Roman soldiers was stationed near for the purpose of preventing any plundering of the grave.
The Jewish Sabbath, which was Saturday, was spent quietly.
Even the followers of Jesus, who had learned something of that new liberty which the gospel gives, did not feel free to set aside any of the traditions relating to the observance of the Sabbath. It was not a time to clash with the established customs of the nation and what is more,
with their leader, who they were too enlightened to claim what was their right.

Jesus was crucified on Friday,
and he arose early on the first day of the week. Therefore he was in the tomb one full day
and a part of two days, the total being reckoned as three days.

The disciples were more than dismayed when their Lord died.
They did not know where to go
or what to do when His body lay in the tomb. They dismissed as empty words what He had said about coming back from the grave. That is where they made their mistake. They did not know His power, nor His love. It was necessary that he should live.
The Christian religion could never have been built on a dead Christ.
The disciples doubted the resurrection. The very thought of such a thing was for the time being shock to us. But when we stop to think of it, it is not surprising that the doubt of our Lord's resurrection found a place in their minds. They seemed not to be ready to give it room in their hearts and to have it contribute an article of faith to the things they already believed. But we ought to remind ourselves that these first disciples lived in partial darkness for the days through which they passed were full of tumult and confusion. They did not seem to be able to reconcile the death of Jesus with their own faith in his abundant life. Would it not appear strange if an event of the magnitude of the resurrection should have passed without criticism and the severe scrutiny of those days? Every step of the way Jesus took was contested and His enemies would leave no stone unturned to refute the belief that He who had just died had come to life again.

It seems to be natural to label Thomas as the doubter. The apostle from whose gospel this lesson is taken is careful to inform us that Thomas was so disturbed by the sad news about Jesus that he absented himself
from the meeting of the apostles.
That was most unfortunate for him, for there is a lesson for us
here that all of us need to learn.
Possibly when we separate our Sunday services, one from the other, we are inclined to ask ourselves what some of them contributed to the sum of our faith
and to the motives of our action.
Have we not heard people say that they would have been present as a specified meeting had they known in advance what was actually to happen? Perhaps therein is to be found the reason why we do not know what may happen. But these men found their way to a growing faith through difficulties much the same as we do.

But we are not to suppose for a moment that doubt of these tremendous facts is confined to the first century. One of the ever-present problems of the Christian church is to bring conviction to those who raise questions about the story of our Lord's life. If one who saw Him associated with Him, and heard His teaching was not altogether clear in his own mind as to where the truth lies,
then one need not be surprised that after many centuries the same problems have to be faced.
We would reveal our ignorance if we were to ask if there are any doubters today who need to be convinced of the truth. They are to be found on every hand. At least they intimate by their lives
that they are unwilling to accept the faith of the Christian church.
If Thomas was convinced of the truth, there is no reason why hosts of others like him may not be led out into the full light.

Five Hundred at Fish and Game Club's Program

Annual Meeting Is Success In Spite of Absence of Banquet

The Holland Fish and Game club proved Thursday night at Holland armory that it doesn't take a "feed" to bring out a crowd.

Upwards of 500 persons attended the club's annual membership meeting and for the first time in years women and children were guests. In past years, the club has sponsored a stag banquet which generally attracted as many as 700 men but with existing wartime conditions it was necessary to do without the "feats" this year.

In its place an entertainment program was arranged by a committee composed of Joseph C. Rhea, S. H. Houtman and Orrie Bishop. For three hours, the club members and their guests listened to a musical program and saw an exhibition in expert shooting and motion pictures.

The program opened with a 30-minute concert by the Holland American Legion band under direction of Eugene F. Heeter with the audience joining in the singing of the various numbers. The concert concluded with a tableau with Holland high school students taking the various parts. The tableau, "Uncle Sam in Review," depicted the "American Indian," "The Pilgrims," "Spirit of 1776," "Declaration of Independence," "North and South United," "Flanders Field," and "America Today," with the band providing the musical accompaniment.

Students taking part were Judd Wiersma, Uncle Sam; Bob Smith, American Indian; Lester Klaasen, Pilgrim father, and Betty Harris, Pilgrim mother; Don Ladewig, James Den Herder and Jack Tirrell, Spirit of 1776 and Declaration of Independence; Bob Brink, Union soldier, and John De Jong, Confederate soldier; Isla Vander Heuvel, Red Cross nurse; and Kenneth Ruys, Paul Kleis, Warren Eding and Henry Weller, the color guard.

Cornelius De Waard, president of the club, thanked the band for its concert, expressed his thanks to the entertainment committee for arranging the program and praised the board of directors for their work in promoting conservation.

Mr. De Waard said the club was organized to aid conservation "with a view in mind of leaving to posterity some of the things that were left to us."

He contended the club was not organized for selfish purposes "but to save for those to follow." He pointed out that the club is aiding, not hindering, the war effort, in that it owns $3,000 in war bonds and has offered the use of the club property in case of an emergency.

The conservation program should continue, he said, in order that those in the armed forces can have good fishing, good hunting and recreation when they return home again. He praised the Michigan department of conservation for its work and said it was up to the organized sportsmen's club to see that politicians do not gain control of its operations.

"We also want to have and to keep your goodwill and cooperation and to carry on a program that will not make you ashamed you belong to the Holland Fish and Game club," Mr. De Waard said.

Introduced by Mr. Rhea, Trooper Lester M. Coykendall of the Michigan state troops, gave an exhibition in the use of firearms in which he used a 22 calibre automatic, 38 calibre revolver and a 45 calibre Thompson sub-machine gun.

Trooper Coykendall urged his audience to be sure that a gun always is pointed in a safe direction. It is always a loaded gun that kills a person and not the unloaded gun, he said in urging persons to handle a gun with safety.

Motion pictures on trout fishing in Michigan and a royal air force war film, "Target for Tonight" were shown by John Klingenberg.

Michigan Bell in the First Year of War

For the information of the public, the employees and those who have invested their savings in the business, Michigan Bell presents this report of its wartime operations during 1942.

TELEPHONE men and women in 1942 faced the biggest job they ever tackled. Conversion of Michigan industry to war production, the activity of military establishments and the influx of war workers caused record-breaking demand for telephone service.

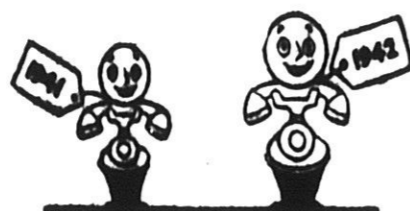

Facilities were heavily loaded, and rationing of materials prevented sufficient expansion of the system. Some people could not get telephones, or could be served only on a temporary basis. On many Long Distance lines the load became so great that the Company appealed to all users to be brief and make only the most important calls. The public's response to those war-created restraints was understanding and cooperative.

Despite war-created difficulties, expressions of public opinion and service measurements indicated that the service quality showed only a slight decline from peacetime standards. But every war need was met.

A Comparative View of the Business in Peace and War

	1939	1942	Increase
Telephones at End of Year...	742,000	1,038,000	39%
Daily Local Calls.....	3,640,000	5,278,000	45%
Yearly Long Distance Messages.....	23,162,000	34,388,000	48%
Plant Investment at End of Year.....	$192,700,000	$237,400,000	23%
Employees at End of Year...	9,212	14,631	59%
Operating Wages.....	$13,527,000	$22,643,000	67%
Operating Taxes.....	$6,088,000	$11,490,000	88%
Net Operating Income.....	$10,674,000	$9,340,000	-12% Decrease

(Excludes $2,481,000 in 1939 and $4,132,000 in 1942 spent on construction activities.)

Question: How did the volume of business compare with other years?

Answer: It was the largest in Michigan Bell's history. Long Distance calls totaled 34,388,000, up 14% over 1941. Local calls averaged 5,278,000 per day, 10% above last year. Despite war restrictions there was a gain of 105,762 telephones, bringing the total in service to 1,038,000.

Question: Did the Company earn more money?

Answer: No. The net operating income of $9,340,000, representing a return of 4% on the $230,000,000 average plant in service, was the lowest in seven years.

Question: What caused earnings to drop?

Answer: For one thing, expenses—not including taxes—increased 19%, revenues only 12%. Net operating revenue—before taxes—was $21,000 above 1941, but that slight increase came from a plant that was enlarged by nearly $11,000,000.

Question: How much did taxes go up?

Answer: Operating taxes were $11,450,000, an increase of 21% over 1941. They were the equivalent of $11.65 per telephone, or $7.25 per share of stock.

Question: Were wages increased?

Answer: Yes. Telephone wage rate adjustments were made through agreements with unions representing various employee groups. Wages also were adjusted for groups not represented by bargaining organizations. On an annual basis, these changes increased the payroll approximately $2,039,000. In addition, the usual merit increases were granted.

Question: How did telephone service meet war's challenge?

Answer: All telephone needs of the armed services and of war industry were met fully and promptly, many in record time. The Company was cited by Major General Olmstead, head of the United States Army Signal Corps, for "the rapid and efficient manner in which you are doing your job" and for "rising to the new and greater needs of the nation with spirit of loyal effort over and above your line of duty."

Question: What part does the telephone play in air raid protection?

Answer: Air defense plans hinge on fast communication. Michigan Bell cooperated with the Army in setting up the aircraft warning service which spots and reports planes by telephone, and also helped to organize the Civilian Defense communication and control center system.

Question: Was the big expansion program of 1941 continued?

Answer: The record-breaking expansion carried on for several years was continued for a few months until material restrictions halted nearly all work not associated directly with the war.

Question: Was there any adjustment of telephone rates?

Answer: Yes. A new plan tending to make rates more uniform in the smaller exchanges became effective last April. Brought about through negotiation between the Michigan Public Service Commission and the Company, the action resulted in somewhat lower rates for 33,000 customers in 88 exchanges.

2,277 Michigan Bell men, more than one for every three now on the payroll, are in the armed forces. 34 women also are in the service. 93% of the employees are investing $2,437,000 dollars yearly in War Bonds through the payroll allotment plan.

The Challenge of 1943

Looking back over 1942, Michigan Bell men and women take pride that through their efforts the Company was able to assume its full burden of war communications and at the same time care for most civilian telephone needs. Even more resourcefulness, foresight and hard work will be needed to meet the additional problems of 1943. The war effort will continue to lean heavily on telephone communication. The need for service will increase. Materials will be even more scarce than they have been. And it will not be possible always to meet customers' requests.

But the traditional "Spirit of Service" is as strong as ever among telephone people. They recognize the great contribution they can make by serving a war-troubled nation courteously and cheerfully. Their determination to give their utmost brings confidence that every war need will continue to be met in 1943.

Tree Planting Is Planned Despite Labor Shortage

Spring Project Is Due To Total Three-Fourths Of A Million in County

Grand Haven, March 25 (Special)—Leo R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, believes that tree-planting in Ottawa county this spring will approach the 4 million mark despite the shortage of labor. Requests for trees received by R. E. Briola, district conservationist in charge of the soil conservation office in the west Ottawa soil conservation district, indicates a great desire on the part of landowners to continue tree-planting as before.

Establishment of school forests is being stressed. Glenn W. Eaton, forester, and Clarence Rensders, a director of the district, are carrying on a promotion campaign for such school forests. The district will lease land to schools for school forests. Trees will be supplied free of charge by the district and by the Michigan department of conservation. Several applications for such plantings are now on file. No encouragement is given to planting of trees on good farm land. Conservation payments under the AAA program include payments for planting of trees.

Mr. Arnold urged the establishment of windbreaks throughout the county to prevent loss of topsoil and protect orchards and homesteads. Benefit payments may be earned under AAA for windbreak plantings.

Trees may be secured from the soil conservation district nursery by the 550 cooperators in the district. The district operates a nursery which has thousands of red pine, white pine, Scotch pine, western yellow pine, jack pine and Norway spruce on hand to meet the demands.

Two years ago 2 1/4 million small trees were planted in this county. Last year over 1,800,000 trees were planted. The loss of the CCC camp and the labor situation had a decided effect in 1942. Over 7 1/4 million trees have been planted since 1938 in Ottawa county.

Out of the pockets of free men they come—nickels and dimes and dollars—fighting dollars.

Exchanged for U. S. War Bonds, they go down to the docks and out on the troop ships and into battle. They give our soldiers the steel and sinew that they need to do the job.

Every week you can send a few of these fighting dollars off with our boys—by putting aside 10% of your pay check each week—regularly.

And after your fighting dollars have helped win the war, they will come back to you—with interest—for War Bonds give you a better, safer return than you can get in many other places.

You will be very glad to have these War Bonds ten years from now in peace. They will help furnish your new home, educate your family, or buy you quiet, pleasant leisure days in the peace that is to come.

If you need the money at any time before then, you can get back every cent you put in, after the first 60 days.

If you turn your spare dollars into fighting dollars by buying War Bonds on a regular weekly or monthly basis now, you are not only securing victory, but you are securing your own future—and guarding against the possibility of dangerous inflation.

How many of the dollars in your weekly pay envelope are you willing to send to the front with our men? Think it over. Every one will help shorten the war.

Try and set aside at least 10% of your pay—let Uncle Sam have your pledge.
