City Council Okays New Ordinance

Weights and Measures
Document Occupies
Council for an Hour

At a special meeting which lasted exactly one hour, City Council Wednesday night adopted an ordinance governing weights and measures for the city of Holland.

The new ordinance which has been under study for six months by the city sanitarian's office defines the powers and duties of enforcing officers, standards, testing, inspection and penalties. The nine-page ordinance, which Councilmen had been urged to study in advance, was not read in its entirety, but City Sanitarian Sam Stephenson and City Sealer Al Reinink explained various parts.

Stephenson, who said the ordinance is geared to state standards and to the National Bureau of Standards, described some types of testing devices used in the program, devices which are certified every five years. He said population has little difference in an ordinance of this type since a court measure should be the same whether a town has 5,000 persons or 50,000 persons.

Local associations with state inspectors on somewhat the same fields are cooperative rather than competitive, Stephenson explained. He said Holland aims to have largely a service-type program, but officials do resort to court action when necessary.

There was some discussion whether the ordinance should cover home gas meter requirements, voltage, etc., as well as the well-defined bulk fuel volumes. Deputy City Attorney Gordon Cunningham said such additions could be made later.

All Councilmen were present except Nelson Bosman. Mayor Robert Vischer presided and Mayor Pro Tem John Beltman conducted the ordinance discussion in a meeting of the whole. Action on the ordinance had been adjourned from a regular meeting last week.

Chamber Group Reviews Labor Legislation for '61

Nearly 100 men from business and industry in Holland gathered in Hotel Warm Friend Tuesday to hear V. D. Day of the Public Affairs Service of General Electric Co. talk on prospects for labor legislation in 1961.

Although many legislative changes can be expected in the new administration, Day felt that many of the more significant shifts in policy would grow out of non-legislative changes taking place with appointment of new people in positions of decision-making authority in labor relation matters and a shift in basic philosophy of the federal government toward labor-management relations.

He also pointed to recent appointments, particularly in the labor department where many appointees were formerly associated with organized labor.

"During the last few years, the federal government has generally followed a policy of non-intervention in union-management bargaining, putting health pressure on bargaining parties to reach genuine agreement on troublesome issues. But during last January's New York tugboat strike, the very first act of the new administration was to rush in at the top and 'get America moving again'—or at least the New York City area. Then came the strike of the airline engineers. Again came intervention from Washington to get the strikers back to work."

"More recently we at General Electric experienced the effects of the new approach. When some 3-200 workers at our Hanford Atomic works in Richland, Wash., threatened to walk out, they changed their minds on the basis of a telegram from the President promising to dispatch the Secretary of Labor to achieve 'a speedy end to this long dispute'."

Yet in all these cases, the new policy has not settled any labor disputes—they have been stopped, not settled, Day said.

The speaker pointed to problems in extending unemployment compensation, proposed legislation on secondary boycotts, proposals on amending basic labor laws under the Landrum-Griffin act, and raising minimum wages.

"What we need now, ever more than in the past, is sustained and continuous activity to protect existing labor policy where it deserves to be continued and to seek corrective action in each and every area where shortcomings are found to exist. It is up to us. Businessmen must learn to exert a more constructive impact on public affairs. We need to speak up on issues; to work with our elected representatives to help shape sound policies; to help solicit support for sound programs and their sponsors; to get both feet wet in practical precinct politics; in short, to play our full role in working for sound public policy," Day concluded.

Ab Martin of the local General Electric plant introduced the speaker. Harold Denig served as chairman of the meeting. A question period followed.

Guard Unit Has Birthday

Holland's National Guard unit was 40 years old Wednesday.

No special observance was planned for the unit as it moved into its fifth decade of service, but a special congratulatory message from Col. Henry A. Geerds, founder and first commanding officer of Company D, was presented to the men of Company D at the unit's regular weekly meeting last Monday.

Col. Geerds said, "It (Company D) has a right to be proud of its past as it builds a proud future."

Company D has grown from the 52 men and three officers who first stood muster March 22, 1921, on the second floor of the garage at the corner of Ninth St. and River Ave., to a present strength of 121 men and four officers.

A heavy weapons company for most of its 40 years, Company D underwent reorganization, becoming a rifle company on March 15, 1959.

The men of Company D are justly proud of their unit's heritage. The group served in the Pacific during World War II. From early 1942 to the war's end, Company D saw 654 days of combat.

Since the war, Company D has distinguished itself by maintaining consistently high ratings for its training proficiency.

The officers and men of Company D said they are determined to continue the traditions which for 40 years have made Holland's Guard unit something the city can be proud of.

Barbara Hoffman, an exchange student from Germany who is attending Holland High School, addressed the Holland Kiwanis Club Monday night in Hotel Warm Friend, giving impressions of America and the differences in young people here and in her native land. A question and answer period followed.

Man's Identity Still a Mystery

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Sheriff's officers were still without a clue today to the identity of a man whose body was found floating in Grand River Tuesday night near Lamont.

An autopsy was performed Wednesday night by Dr. E. C. Timmerman of Coopersville. Officials reported that death was due to drowning.

According to sheriff's officers, the man's age was placed at 30 to 40 years. Earlier estimates had placed the man's age at 50 to 60 years. Officials said the body had been in the water for several weeks.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen today was making arrangements for burial.

Maroons Dump Mason, 57-42 In Quarters

PORTAGE — Holland Christian's Maroons powered their way into the semi-finals of the state basketball tourney here Wednesday night by trimming outmanned Mason, 57-42 on the Portage High court before 2,800 fans.

It's now "Lansing here we come" as the Maroons became one of the "sweet sixteen" in four classes to battle it out for the state championship Friday night and Saturday. Christian now battles Fenton Friday night at 7 p.m. in the Lansing Sexton High School gymnasium.

The last time a Holland Christian gained the semi-finals was in 1954 when the Maroons stopped Grand Ledge. Twice since then the Maroons were stopped in quarter-final play.

Coach Art Tuis' club was determined not to fall in the quarters again as they wore the Bulldogs down and then poured it on in the final stanza to win going away. For three quarters it was a close game although the Maroons held leads throughout. However in the final stanza, the superior bench strength really paid off as the Maroons were in complete command.

Christian got fine performances from all of the eight boys who played, but it was the ability of reserves Paul Steigenga, Jim Fredricks and Harold Diepenhorst to come through when the Maroons needed it most that told the story in the end. Fredricks turned in a great floor game along with starter Paul Tuis, while Steigenga played perhaps his best of the season. He was all over the boards and repeatedly knocked down Bulldog shots from the field.

Once again Clare Van Wieren, Frank Visser and Ken Disselkoen turned in sparkling play while Doug Windemuller also shone during the half in which he played. Windemuller, Disselkoen and Van Wieren all had four fouls at various stages of the game and sat out periodically. During much of the pressure packed third quarter and the early minutes of the fourth, four juniors along with senior captain Visser handled the game.

3 Children Are Among Those Hurt

Car, Pickup Truck
Collide at 112th Ave;
Two Persons 'Fair'

Six persons, including a Holland father and his three young children, were injured in a two-vehicle crash at 10:09 a.m. Monday at the intersection of M-21 and 112th Ave.

Allen Van Den Berg, 25, of 111 Elm Lane, driver of a car involved in the crash, was taken to Holland Hospital with bruises of the head. Also injured were Van Den Berg's three children. Douglas, 5, suffered possible internal injuries and is in Holland Hospital in fair condition. Lynn Marie, 4, possible fractured left ankle; Scott, 1, bruises and lacerations of the head. The two younger children were treated and released.

Paul Dogger, 80, of 625 Graafschap Rd., driver of the second vehicle, was admitted at Holland Hospital. Officials listed his condition as fair. Dogger suffered a head injury, lacerations of the left hand and head, and possible internal injuries, hospital officials said.

A passenger in Dogger's pickup truck, Kevin Mc Donough, 18, of North Syracuse, N.Y., suffered possible back and chest injuries, according to officials, and was treated and released.

According to Ottawa County deputies, Dogger had turned left onto 112th Ave. from eastbound M-21 when the crash occurred. Van Den Berg was headed west on M-21.

Deputies said Dogger had waited in the median for one car to pass and then proceeded across the westbound lane of the divided highway into the path of the Van Den Berg automobile.

According to deputies, witnesses said the Van Den Berg car sailed through the air after the impact and rolled over several times. The car came to rest in a ditch 128 feet from the point of impact, deputies said.

Several of the occupants of the vehicles were thrown out by the crash, deputies said.

Deputies said Mc Donough, a student at Dartmouth College, had been visiting friends in Holland, and was hitch-hiking back to New York. He had been picked up by Dogger at the corner of Eighth St. and Chicago Dr. a few minutes prior to the accident.

Candidates Visit City

Two Republican office seekers on the state level were in Holland Tuesday.

James C. Zeder, candidate for University of Michigan regent, and Hugh H. Holloway, candidate for the superintendent of public instruction, paid brief visits to this city while campaigning in Western Michigan for the April 3 election. Zeder, a former vice president of Chrysler Corp. and a University of Michigan engineering alumnus, said education is really big business with a yearly budget exceeding $100 million operating in a physical plant worth $217 million. "We should recognize the need for new ideas, new concepts and new ways of doing things," he said.

Holloway, a Michigan State University alumnus, said the greatest problems facing Michigan education today are those of conflicting philosophies about the purpose of education. He said a minimum standard of education must be guaranteed to all children, and a new approach to adult education is necessary to salvage those people who will be most cut by automation.

Fennville Loses In Regionals

KALAMAZOO — Fennville High's basketball team lost a heartbreaking 67-65 decision to Kalamazoo Christian in the Class C regional semi-finals in the Portage gym Friday night.

Ken Fletcher, Christian's all-city center, scored a hook shot as the buzzer sounded to send the Comets into the regionals finals tonight.

Ted Strnad
... leads Blackhawks against Wayland at 7:30 p.m. in the Portage gym.

Kalamazoo Christian jumped off to a quick lead and held a 25-17 first quarter margin. Fennville chipped the margin to four points, 39-35 at half.

The third period score was 51-49 with the Comets in front. The Blackhawks tied the game with 12 seconds to go, 65-65. Christian got the ball and set up the final play.

Fennville was "jittery" in the first quarter while the Comets turned in some fine shooting, making 19 of 26 in the first half. Zuiderveen led the Christian first quarter attack as he hit five baskets but only two more buckets the rest of the night.

Ted Strnad, Fennville's all-Southwestern Michigan selection, led his club with 23 points while Ron Chase picked up 20. Adrian Van Lonkhuyzen had 11 while Donnie Dickinson had six. Charles Kwiatkowski, four and John Damaskas, one. Dickinson was lost in the fourth quarter on fouls.

Fletcher led Christian with 16 while Zuiderveen had 14 and John Van Heeken added 13. White made 11 and Tienstra scored 10 to give the Comets their five regulars in double figures.

Fennville, coached by Ray Feher, ended the season with a 13-7 record. They were fourth in the Al-Van League and won district games over Hartford, Watervliet and Bangor.

Queen's Cup Race Changed

The Queen's Cup sailing race finish, alternated each year between the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club and Muskegon, will go the other way across Lake Michigan for the first time this year.

The race will start at Muskegon at 7 p.m. June 31 and will finish at Milwaukee's South Shore Yacht Club. The Queen's Cup has been a mid-summer sailing feature across Lake Michigan since 1938.

Much more of a contest is expected because of the change in direction in the 70-mile race. In the past the start in Milwaukee has enabled boats to take advantage of the prevailing southeast or northeast prevailing winds.

This year, sailors will have to buck the prevailing wind and the race should provide a test of seamanship. The boats will race back to Muskegon in a Milwaukee-to-Muskegon race after the Queen's Cup.

The annual Lake Michigan Yachting Association regatta will be held in Milwaukee, July 4. Several Macatawa Bay Yacht Club boats will enter the Queen's Cup race.

Drivers Seek Restoration Of Licenses

Applications were denied for Gilbert George Heidema, 30, of 908 Woodbridge, Holland, whose license was revoked effective April 16 for unsatisfactory record; Loren Dale Regelen, 19, Grand Rapids, whose license was restricted until Sept. 3; Ronald Jay De West, 19, of 1943 West 32nd St., Holland, whose license was suspended two months for unsatisfactory record; and Evert John Snyder, 26, Jenison whose license was suspended six months for unsatisfactory record.

Maroons Score Easy Victory Over Sailors

KALAMAZOO — Holland Christian's basketball team opened regional play with an easy 68-41 decision over Grand Rapids South Christian here Thursday night on the Western Michigan University fieldhouse floor.

Christian never trailed in the contest against the South Sailors and after the first quarter were never in trouble. The bench strength of the Maroons really paid off as Tuls had plenty of opportunity to rest his starters. Clare Van Wieren, high scoring forward, became ill just before the game and didn't see any action, while Center Frank Visser played about a half of the tilt.

Reserves Harold Diepenhorst, Jim Fredricks and Paul Steigenga, a pinch starter for Van Wieren all turned in fine games, particularly on the boards. Another tower of strength in the rebounding department was Ken Disselkoe who also led his team in scoring with 18 markers on some alert play.

Christian's starting guards Doug Windemuller and Paul Tuls both played exceptional games with good floor play and some excellent outside shooting over the sagging Sailor defense. The two accounted for 25 points between them with Fredricks, another guard adding 10 points.

Once again the Holland defense was spectacular as it limited the losers to just 46 tries from the field. The only Sailor to break through the Maroon defense was big 6'5" center Ron Handlogten who pumped in 23 markers, 10 in the first quarter and 15 in the first half. The Sailors failed to score a basket in the third period, getting just three foul shots.

Overall the Maroons had an excellent 45 per cent shooting mark, collecting 26 fielders on 58 tries. The locals hit for 50 per cent in both first and last quarters. South collected just 14 baskets in their 46 tries for 30 per cent.

Play was fairly even to open the ball game as Visser started it off with a swisher from the corner and Handlogten retaliated. The Maroons broke away from a 6-6 tie to move out in front 11-6. But Handlogten who notched the first 10 points for the Sailors continued to keep the South club in the game. Disselkoe and Tuls collaborated from out to give the Dutch a 14-12 first period lead.

The Maroons started to pull away in the second stanza with Windemuller and Visser leading the way. Midway in the stanza the Maroons held a 20-14 bulge and showed signs of taking command. Handlogten continued to pace his club with five more tallies as the Dutch took a 27-18 half-time lead.

Christian really broke the game wide open in the third period with Disselkoe leading the way with 12 markers. At the end of three minutes, the Hollanders led 41-21 with the outcome no longer in doubt. By the end of the period, Holland had outscored the Sailors 22-3 to lead 49-21.

Tuls continued to use his bench strength in the fourth period trying to give his boys as much rest as possible for the championship game tonight. Fredricks led the locals in the last eight minutes with eight markers and Windemuller had four. With 3:03 left in the contest, the winners were coasting on a 59-32 margin. Visser made his only appearance of the second half with 2:30 remaining in the ball game. South made its best scoring spurge in the last period against the Maroon reserves, outscoring them 20-19.

At the charity stripe the locals connected on 16 out of 25 tries while the South quintet hit on 13 out of 27 attempts.

Following Disselkoe in the Maroon scoring column was Windemuller with 17 points.

7th Grade Had 6-2 Mark

Holland's seventh grade basketball team compiled a 6-2 record this season under Coach Don Oosterbaan and the Dutch coach was satisfied with the team's showing throughout the season.

Oosterbaan kept 23 boys on the squad and tried to give as many boys as possible a chance to play as a team. The group worked on fundamentals and developing jump shots, lay ups and dribbling.

The top scorer and the best boy on the team was Bob Brolin, a forward, who rebounded well and has a good jump shot. Oosterbaan said Brolin scored 34 points. Tom Prins was the second high scorer with 32. He played guard and dribbled and handled the ball well. Steve Harrington was next high with 25. He played center or forward and worked hard to improve his jump shot.

Forward Jim Van Huis and guard Larry Pete followed with 24 points. Centers Jim Stroop and Mike Lawson each made 16 points. "Stroop has a nice jump shot and 6'3" Lawson came a long way from the beginning of the season. This boy should do plenty of rebounding in years to come," Oosterbaan said.

SMALL WORLD! — When Dr. Gerard Wijsmuller of Dutch New Guinea (left) checked in at a local hotel Thursday, he found on desk duty a Dutchman, Paul Borchert, from his home town of Eindhoven, The Netherlands. It was the first real opportunity Dr. Wijsmuller had to speak Dutch during his two-month tour of America. The two men are looking at some of the articles used by primitive people of New Guinea which Dr. Wijsmuller displayed in an address before the Holland Rotary Club Thursday noon. (Sentinel photo)

Those New Guinea Natives Welcome Shots in the Arm

Any hospital patient who has ever cringed when the nurse came around with "the needle" will admire the natives of Dutch New Guinea.

They like injections! Dr. Gerald Wijsmuller of Eindhoven, The Netherlands, who has been working in public health in Dutch New Guinea since 1951, has no troubles when he lines up natives to give them shots for malaria, tuberculosis, diphtheria, tetanus or what have you. They are more than willing.

This phenomenon among primitive people came about quite naturally. In a tropical climate where disease runs rampant, isolated tribes heard about the magic—a wonderful story about a man with the yaws (horrible skin disease with ulcers and scars) who was healed through an injection.

Dr. Wijsmuller, on his first visit to the United States, spent Thursday in Holland as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Wichers. He is on a two-month tour of America visiting hospitals and public health centers. He addressed the Holland Rotary Club Thursday noon. From Holland he goes to Chicago, then to the Mayo clinic, the University of Iowa medical school and the west coast before joining his wife and four children in Hollandia, New Guinea.

He noticed the "Welkom Vrienden" sign at Hotel Warm Friend when he arrived and wondered if anybody spoke Dutch. Wichers suggested he test the desk man who turned out to be Paul Borchert, a trainee in hotel work who happened to come from Dr. Wijsmuller's home town of Eindhoven. It was Dr. Wijsmuller's first opportunity to speak the Dutch language since coming to America, although he had spent a week in Eindhoven on his round-the-world trip.

Since 1954, Dr. Wijsmuller has served as TB control officer in New Guinea, but works closely with all other diseases that afflict the natives whom he classed as Melanesians, similar to Africans.

Dutch New Guinea covers the western half of New Guinea while the eastern half is under Australian control. The Dutch country covers 160,000 square miles and has some 700,000 inhabitants, 400,000 under government control and the other 300,000 primitives. Density of population is 4 to the square mile. Although in tropical climate, the interior has mountains as high as 16,000 feet and covered with snow.

Missionary work started hundreds of years ago but missionaries seemed to die faster than they could make converts and it wasn't until about 100 years ago that Dutch missionaries really made inroads. Consequently the north coast is largely Protestant numbering about 150,000 members and the south coast is largely Catholic numbering about 50,000 members.

There is some Islamic influences on islands to the west. In more recent years, American missionaries and New Guinea's own native missions have started work in the valleys of the interior where 80,000 persons reside.

Since there are no roads and the terrain is very rough, about the first thing American missionaries did was to build an airfield. Strangely, primitive natives who do not even have a written language accepted airplanes in stride.

When occasion arose to take natives by air to Hollandia, they exhibited no fear of flying. And when they arrived at the Hollandia airfield and saw a limousine for the first time, they entered the conveyance without question and had their first auto ride.

One woman flown to the coast for hospital treatment refused to eat hospital food. From the interior where tuberculosis, leprosy, and other diseases thrive, she would eat only potatoes. The coast had no potatoes. When starvation threatened arrangements were made to fly some potatoes from the interior. The patient ate potatoes and recovered.

Dr. Wijsmuller and his family live in an old U.S. Army quonset hut in Hollandia. It had been put up during World War II for two years' use. He has used it for 17 years, although by now it is badly in need of repairs.

New Guinea is dotted with small villages from 50 to 100 persons. These villages have their own languages and dialects. The Dutch have been organizing schools for the natives for the last 50 years. The basic education is the equivalent of four grades, but children can be sent to boarding schools, often far away, for the remainder of elementary schooling.

ALMOST COMPLETE — Allegan County's handsome new court house is nearing completion and, while no moving day has been set, furniture can be moved in and offices set up for business at almost any time. Final acceptance of the building will not be made until the old building (background) has been removed, the grounds graded and the driveway and parking areas completed. Custodians currently are acquainting themselves with the new building and its operations since the new building has many more mechanical devices, controls, regulating valves, switches, elevators and other features the old building does not have. ## AUTO AND TRUCK ACCIDENTS

We just wonder how it is going to be possible to reduce the number of accidents that are now occurring in this area.

People seem to think that they are all trying to save a minute or two. What is all the hurry? With the spring weather fast approaching . . . more and more people are going to take to the great outdoors. When they do, there are bound to be more and more reasons for everyone to remember that a minute or more one way or another will not or should not be that important.

There are millions of people traveling on the streets, roads and super highways. There are going to be more and as the amount of traffic increases we are going to need to find ways and means to reduce the great numbers of accidents.

If it were possible for everyone to be a little more careful at all times the great number of accidents could be reduced.

The National Safety Council continues to send out information concerning many of the rules that help to make automotive travel safer. The great trouble is that people do not seem to be observing the safe driving rules.

Does anyone have the answer? We could use your ideas in public opinion letters.

The death rate in our area has increased at an alarming rate. It would seem that we could come up with some educational ideas concerning safer driving.

The number of deaths due to automotive accidents increased eight over last year for the same number of days. Safety first. The life you save may be your own.

Jesus Gives His Life
John 19:17-24; John 19:28-30
By C. P. Dame

The crucifixion of Jesus is one of the greatest events in history. Many books have been written about it and many sermons have been preached on this notable event. This lesson tells us that Jesus voluntarily gave His life.

Jesus carried His cross voluntarily. Pilate the Roman judge finally consented to the crucifixion of Jesus although he really did not want to do it. This Roman Judge, a pagan, had a better conscience than the Jewish leaders who insisted on the death of Jesus. Pilate delivered Jesus to the religious leaders and they received Him and had Him crucified.

It was the custom in those days that criminals carried their own crosses to the place of execution. Jesus carried His cross through the busiest streets of Jerusalem to Golgotha, a hill shaped somewhat like a skull, just outside of the city and there "they crucified Him."

Who are the "they?" In his sermon on Pentecost, Peter said, "Ye men of Israel . . . ye by the hands of men without the law did crucify and slay" Jesus of Nazareth. Gentile soldiers carried out the orders of a Gentile judge but the Jewish religious leaders did the plotting. The Church and the State were responsible for the death of Jesus. The Church of that day used the State in order to get done what it wanted done. Since that time the Church has used the State a number of times.

We believe in the separation of church and state. A deified religion often means a corrupt church. God can use a lifeless religion and church for a purpose. The cross was not an accident—God's hand was in the Saviour's crucifixion.

II. Jesus is mankind's real king. Pilate placed a title on the cross—"Jesus of Nazareth the king of the Jews" which was written in three languages—in Hebrew or Aramaic, Latin which was the official language of the Romans, and Greek which was universally spoken by the common people. The title suggested that Jesus claimed to be a king and was guilty of rebelling against Caesar. It was unusual to have such a title written in three languages. The Jews objected to Pilate and wanted the title changed to read, to convey the idea that Jesus claimed to be king of the Jews but Pilate was now stubborn and refused to change. Neither the crowd of spectators, nor the soldiers who divided the garments of Jesus amongst themselves following a custom, recognized the kingship of Jesus but today millions from all walks of life do.

III. Jesus made known from the cross that He had fulfilled His mission. The Lord spoke seven words from the cross as we know. In one word only did He speak of His physical suffering—"I thirst." Two different draughts were offered the Lord—the first He would not drink because it was a drug. His cry about thirst met with a response, some soldiers put a sponge in the wine and then put the sponge on hyssop and held it to the lips of Jesus so that He could suck it.

Not until Jesus knew that "all things were accomplished" did He say, "I thirst" and then He said with a loud voice, "It is finished" meaning thereby that His mission to make atonement for man's sin was completed. The word was spoken in triumph. Jesus died not as a defeated person but as a conqueror. It is now the work of the Christian Church to tell the world that the ransom for man's sin has been paid and pardon may now be obtained.

The following policy has been set for observance by the Churches of Zeeland in regard to holding worship services or other meetings at the time of a tornado alert this year, the Ministerial Association announced this week.

In keeping with the current Civil Defense policy, the "Yellow Alert" and "Red Alert" systems will be used.

"Yellow Alert" indicates that weather conditions are such that a tornado could occur. "Red Alert" indicates that a tornado has been sighted, or may be coming in a specified number of minutes, or is an immediate probability.

The policy recommended by the churches is quoted as follows: "If a 'Yellow Alert' is in force at one-half hour (30 minutes) before the starting time of a meeting, the meeting or worship service will be cancelled. If the 'Yellow Alert' is lifted prior to one-half hour before the starting time, the meeting will go on as scheduled."

Since "Red Alert" does not allow sufficient time to take the necessary precautions or give notices, a definite time policy is set only for "Yellow Alert." The Ministerial Association urges cooperation in uniformly following this policy.

The spring meeting of the Women's Missionary Union of the Christian Reformed church of the Zeeland classis will be held April 20 in the First Christian Reformed Church in Zeeland. The afternoon speaker is planned to be Miss Ruth Vander Meulen, a dispensary worker in Nigeria.

Woman's Literary Club

Thrilled by Book Review

The Woman's Literary Club was treated to a fine characterization of a southern lawyer telling a fascinating story at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Not once did Dr. Herbert Duenow, minister of the Pilgrim Congregational Church of Oak Park, Ill., lose character as he reviewed the book, "To Kill a Mockingbird," by Harper Lee.

In a fine southern dawl, he told the story of life in a small southern town in Alabama, injecting large doses of gentle philosophy and understanding of human failings. The title stemmed from an incident when the lawyer's son on his 12th birthday received a gun from an uncle as a gift. That night his father admonished him in uses of guns. "Son, after you aim at tin cans in the back yard I know you'll turn to live targets. You may shoot all the blue jays you want, but don't kill a mockingbird, a real song bird."

The main plot dealt with a court case in which the lawyer defended a Negro on a trumped-up charge of assaulting a white girl. Although he failed to get a conviction, the lawyer succeeded in getting the facts known, particularly in belittling the girl's father, the "white trash" type who lived down by the town dump. Then when the dump man tried to get even by involving the lawyer's daughter, the plot turned allegorical in poetic justice.

The underlying message on color-line prejudice was brought into sharp focus by some pungent remarks about the missionary society praying for the Hottentots in Africa and becoming all stirred up about Hitler's treatment of the Jews, let alone that horrible world "totalitarianism," while at home people let the blue jays get in the way of the mockingbird while man tries to serve the cause of right.

Mrs. Carl Harrington, club president, announced club plans for Tulip Time which involve serving Dutch lunches in the tea room while the Garden Club stages a flower show on the main floor.

The April 4 meeting, the last of the season, will honor past presidents.

Five Persons Confirmed By Bishop C.E

Maroons Down Buchanan In Tourney

KALAMAZOO — Holland Christian's determined cage squad copied its third regional championship in five years here on the Western Michigan University field house floor Friday night by defeating Buchanan, 63-54 to take the class B title.

Holland played and shot like champions against a Buchanan team which had every right to be playing in the title game. The shooting of both clubs was phenomenal as the Maroons collected on 25 out of 52 tries for 48 per cent while the losers managed 22 out of 47 attempts for 47 per cent.

There was more similarity between the two outfits than the school colors which are maroon and white. Both teams played conservative basketball with their offensive patterns stressing the good shot rather than free shooting from almost any spot in the scoring area.

The big difference in the two squads was the team effort of the Maroons. Coach Art Tuls again had a five man scoring combination as has been the case throughout the district and regional tournament. Christian's big scorer was guard Doug Windemuller who hit for 20 points, 18 in the second half. He hit five straight from out over the Buchanan zone in the third period.

The Bucks boast of the outstanding player in the A and B regions here in 6'11" Tom Pelkey, a tremendous pivot man. Already hailed on one all-state team, Pelkey proved unstopable by the Maroons. The Maroons tried everything imaginable including "three teaming" him, but the clever Pelkey collected 31 points on 13 fielders and five charity tosses. He hit on 11 out of 18 tries from all over, including a couple of hookers from the lane with his back to the basket.

Once again the Maroons got some great rebounding from Ken Disselkoe, Frank Visser, Harold Diepenhorst and Clark Van Wieren who returned to the starting lineup after missing the Thursday game because of the flu. Paul Tuls, another junior, turned in another good floor game besides hitting for nine markers.

Characteristic of their play in coping both titles, Christian rattled off another zone defense with their spectacular shooting from out and crisp sharp passing for the inside shots.

Both clubs started slowly with Visser getting the opening basket for the Maroons before Pelkey and forward Tom Seager gave the Bucks a brief 4-2 lead. Christian moved out to a 6-4 bulge, before the Bucks knotted the count at 6-6 and 8-8. Then some beautiful offensive maneuvers by Van Wieren gave the locals a 13-8 bulge. A swisher with two seconds left in the quarter left the Dutch with a 13-10 lead.

The score was tied three more times in the opening minutes of the second stanza before baskets by Windemuller and Tuls upped the lead to 23-18. The Bucks narrowed the gap to 25-22 at one stage but three more points by Tuls gave the Maroons a 28-23 halftime margin.

Holland opened the third period at a phenomenal pace as Windemuller, Van Wieren and Visser combined for four fielders in four shots in the first minute and a half to give the Maroons a 36-23 lead. The Maroons upped their lead to 41 points on four occasions in the third period as they collected on 10 out of 13 tries from out over the Buck zone. Meanwhile Pelkey was leading his club with 11 markers in the stanza to up his total to 26 at the three-quarter mark. Christian still held a comfortable 48-37 advantage going into the finale.

After the two squads had played on even terms through the first four minutes of the period, Christian still led 56-46. Then some fine outside shooting by guards Leroy Bobbitt and Paul Barbour narrowed the gap to 57-52 with 1:30 remaining. By now the Bucks had pulled out of their zone and were using their much-heralded all-court press. The Maroons kept their poise, however, with some fine ball handling and managed to capitalize on fouls committed by the desperate Bucks. When the firing was over the Maroons were back up to nine points and out of difficulty.

At the free throw lane, Christian hit on 13 out of 20 tries and the losers on 10 out of 12. Following Windemuller's 20 was Visser with 15.

Migrant Work Explained at Lutheran Meet

Ministry to migrant workers was explained to the Zion Lutheran Fellowship club Sunday evening.

Miss Elaine Halbersma Beechwood school teacher is program coordinator for the West Ottawa area.

Miss Halbersma brought out the fact that approximately 200,000 migrant workers are estimated to come to Michigan during the summer-fall harvest season. About 1,500 are in Ottawa county, south of M-50. Most are employed in blueberry harvesting.

The purpose of the ministry is to bring some religious education to these people during the summer months; also to help them in other ways with child care, and a clothing program. The clothing program works with donated articles. These articles are made available to the workers and the proceeds go for payment of milk for the children. Milk and cookies are served during the Bible school programs. The cookies are donated by churches of the area.

Miss Halbersma explained that the program is needed by the migrant workers. Many of them are well versed in the Bible, and have religious training, but for various reasons do not feel enough at home to attend regular churches of the area. So the program is brought to the fields and services are held throughout the area.

The work is sponsored by interdenominational effort. It is wholly self-sustaining in this area at the present time. Originally the start was sponsored by the national association of churches.

Four staff members were employed in the 1960 program, and they worked with 175 volunteers.

The Harlem rural school house served as a center of operations. This year a child care center will be built to more effectively care for the young people with a play and educational program.

Volunteers are needed for all types of work. A guitarist is one talent that the program will need this year. Other skills needed are especially carpenters for the building work, teachers for the Bible schools, lay workers for ministry, and people willing to transport children to the center or to its programs. Persons interested are asked to call Miss Halbersma.

Police Express Great Concern Over Shooting

Holland Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff Saturday expressed concern over teenagers target practicing with 22 caliber rifles that have endangered the lives of younger children.

Van Hoff said several youngsters complained that older boys were shooting at them while they played in an area between Lincoln and Apple Ave. between 24th and 32nd Sts. Friday.

Authorities said that the teenagers were apparently firing bullets at the youngsters "to scare them."

Van Hoff said this area is zoned agriculture and while it is legal to discharge firearms there the city ordinance requires persons to use due care and caution and in a manner that will not endanger or be likely to endanger persons or property.

Target practicing in this area is especially dangerous, Van Hoff said, because within a quarter mile area it is surrounded by residences.

Van Hoff appealed to parents to warn their children of the great danger in discharging firearms pointing out that not long ago a child was critically wounded by a bullet while playing in an area not far from this site.

West Ottawa Board Meets

The West Ottawa Board of Education Monday night agreed to take next year's eighth graders of the Harrington district, meanwhile reemphasizing that the district must work toward more permanent solution to care for its pupils. The West Ottawa district currently is taking ninth, 10th and 11th graders of Harrington.

The board also adopted new district boundaries for its several schools within the West Ottawa district. Smaller schools will be grouped so that no more than two grades will be assigned to any one classroom or teacher. Schools that need extensive costly repairs to meet reasonable standards of safety and utility will not be considered for future use. In case of Harlem building, disposal by sale may be considered.

The board recommends maximum use of existing suitable classrooms until an elementary building and site fund can be established. When existing elementary bonds are retired in 1962, the board recommends that a building and site fund levy should be submitted to the voters of the district, since establishment of such a fund of not more than 4 mills would make possible a pay-as-you-go plan with no interest to be paid.

Maximum classroom average enrollment in any building or organized group of buildings should be 28 pupils per room. Existing gymnasiums will be made available to students in buildings not having these facilities within the limits of finances available for transportation. Gymnasiums also will be available for use of PTA's and other school groups.

There was some discussion on teacher salaries for the coming year. The teachers' study committee will meet again with the board next Monday.

A 1959-60 survey revealed that West Ottawa has $12,083 state equalized value per child, compared with a state average of $13,815 and county average of $12,186. Expenditure per child is $251.09 compared with the state average of $327.50 and county average of $287.16. West Ottawa millage was 29.45 compared with a state average of 35.06.

The Blackhaws won 13 games and dropped seven this season. The final setback was a 67-65 loss to Kalamazoo Christian in the regional semi-finals last week. Kalamazoo scored the winning basket at the buzzer and The Comets went on to win the regional title.

Included in the 13 wins was an eight game winning streak at the close of the season that started with an upset win over Lawton on Feb. 3. Fennville then defeated Martin, Lawrence, Bloomingdale and Saugatuck in the Al-Van League and scored tourney wins over Hartford, Watervliet and Bangor before losing to Kalamazoo Christian.

Another senior, Ron Chase followed Strnad in scoring with 229 points. Junior Adrian Van Lonkhuyzen, who was born in the Netherlands, was third in scoring with 199. John Damanskas, 6'2" rebounder and center, scored 150 points while the other regular junior Donnie Jim Dickinson had 138.

Strnad, Chase, Damanskas, Kwiatkowski, De Zwaan and Shields are seniors. Chase, Damanskas and Van Lonkhuyzen were the top rebounders, Feher said.

Looking at the season, Feher said, "after the Lawton victory the boys realized that if they put their minds to it they could accomplish something and the rest of the season we came around and played good basketball."

Prior to the Lawton win the Blackhaws didn't jell and were up and down. They finished in fourth place in the Al-Van with an 8-6 record.

Proponents pointed to the unwieldy structure of Michigan government operates — a 53-year-old constitution with 68 amendments adopted since 1908 compared with the federal constitution of close to 200 years with only 22 amendments which include the original Bill of Rights covering the first 10 amendments. Michigan's structure with 120 different departments or commissions has led one cartoonist to refer to it as showing "all the weird confusion of a 20-mule team harnessed in the dark by a one-armed idiot."

If con-con passes April 3, two more elections will be scheduled, a primary in July to select partisan nominations, and a final election in September. Then the 144 delegates would convene in Lansing in October for the first time. Delegates would be selected on the basis of one delegate for each representative and senator. This would give the 26th district (Muskegon and Ottawa counties) four delegates.

Opponents questioned the advantages a constitutional convention would give to large metropolitan areas, pointing out that the seven most heavily populated counties in Michigan including Kent county would have 73 delegates where as the other 76 counties would have only 71 delegates. Proponents said there was no indication that there would be any great amount of bloc-voting.

Reapportionment is an important issue in con-con, but there was little discussion on this point Monday. Since reapportionment is mandatory in 1963 under present law, proponents felt less populated areas would stand a better chance of so-called fairness in a constitutional convention.

Opponents to Con-Con were inclined to favor the so-called "specifics" which proponents said made government structure unwieldy. Stafseth said the 15-mill limitation, the sales tax return to schools and similar items were voted by the people, and the people like to have a voice in decisions of this kind. Yet when a panel member asked if any person present were fully conversant with the new amendment on economic loans April 3, not one hand rose.

Costs of a Constitutional Convention were listed at $500 semi-monthly to delegates with a total minimum for the whole convention of $1,000 and a maximum of $7,500. Mileage allowance of 10 cents a mile would be allowed one round trip per month. Delegates' salaries if the convention lasts three months would be $432,000. Maximum salary payment for 144 delegates would be $1,080,000.

It was pointed out that of five Constitutional Conventions held in Michigan in 78 years, three constitutions were approved in public vote and two were defeated.

Second Annual Luncheon By AAUW Honors Women

Three women, who have recently received their Doctor of Philosophy degrees were honored Saturday at the second annual honors luncheon of the Holland Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Arrangements of daffodils and pussywillows were used at the affair in the Tulip Room of the Hotel Warm Friend by Mrs. Orlie Bishop and her committee.

Mrs. Jerome Counihan presided at the meeting following the luncheon. Mrs. Kenneth De Pree, status of women chairman and general chairman for the luncheon, introduced the honored guests along with Miss Jantina Holleman.

Presented with corsages were Dr. Elaine Jekel, Dr. Joan Mueller and Mrs. Charles Marshall Hayes. Miss Sharon Crossman, Hope College senior, was also honored as representative of the College Woman.

Featured speaker was Mrs. Henry Steffens, charter member and former president of the local branch, education chairman for the state AAUW board and president of the Library board, who spoke on "The College Woman-1961."

She said that "knowledge is essential today. We must have self esteem and vigor to achieve a satisfying life and we must be the master of that life, not a slave to it," she said.

She told stories of two people, who in different ways, made gifts to higher education. The first was Mathew Vassar, who in 1865 donated land and money for the foundation of Vassar College, which was and is, devoted exclusively to higher education of women.

The other person about whom Mrs. Steffens spoke was Katrina Gutelicht, a person who had little formal education, but who, through kindness, understanding and friendship to many students at Hope College, definitely made a contribution to higher education.

"Today's women," said Mrs. Steffens, "are not interested in the past, but in the future. More and more women are attending college, some even combining it with marriage. It is essential to continue to gain knowledge to maintain self esteem and keep up with life today."

Date of the May meeting has been changed to May 11 at 8 p.m. at the Woman's Literary Club. Mrs. Donald Brown of the nominating committee announced the slate of officers for election next month. They are president, Mrs. Robert Sessions and secretary, Mrs. Henry Godshalk.
