After taking three headache powders at one time, from which it is claimed an abscess was formed on brain, Mrs. K. VandenBosch is dead at Grand Haven. She was 43 years of age and had been ill but a week. About a week ago she was taken with a severe headache and in her desperation to get relief she put three powder together and took them. She was taken with a sinking spell and the abscess followed. She is survived by a husband and seven children, one of them but two months old.

In a recent oratorical contest of the Freshman at the M. A. C., Lavane Nies, youngest son of John Nies of this city was victorious and was presented with a beautiful pin. In making the announcement Prof. Gunson said "I see in you qualities which I believe will uphold the name of Nies in this college." This remark referred to John Nies, Jr., and two other sons who attended the Agricultural college formerly and who also made a very fine record there.

The city of Grand Haven is experiencing a dearth of men in almost every line of work. The Crosby Trans. Co., which is busy trying to move the freight awaiting shipment on its steamers, is experiencing some trouble in getting sufficient men to handle the work. On Friday the men asked for a raise to 25 cents per hour and the company granted it at once. The company is still short of men, as are many others about the city. This year promises to be a busy one in Grand Haven in all lines of business.

Eugene Fairbanks will put in a shooting gallery and a general repair shop on West Eighth street in the building formerly occupied by Vissers and Dekker, next to Hardie's jewelry store.

A salvation army box containing a few coins was stolen from the show case in the Alpena restaurant. Even the picture of the child with extended arms did not deter the low lived sneak thief. He took coin box child and all.

Two couples were made happy by Justice Wachs in the county clerk's office Saturday afternoon. They were Edward Crompton of Holland and Mary Warren of Grand Rapids and Geo. Bansford of Grand Haven and Hattie Bushee of Fennville.—G. H. Tribune.

Hub Harrington of Holland is speaking at different points in the state where the local option is before the people and everywhere is greeted with large audiences.... During his visit here this week, C. I. Atwater closed a deal with Mrs. J. A. Pieters whereby he becomes sole owner of the large Pieters & Atwater clothing store at Shelby.—Fennville Herald.

There is an agitation on among some of the factory employees looking toward weekly pay day at all the local factories. A number of the manufacturing concerns pay every week now but some of them do not. The factory employees assert that the meat dealers will soon establish cash trading system and that under the circumstances it is almost necessary that they be paid weekly.—Grand Haven Tribune.

His arrest for smoking cigarettes was responsible for the lodging of a criminal charge against Jay D. Aldrich, 19 years old, who was bound over to the circuit court for burglary. While Aldrich was awaiting arraignment, he was searched and two mouth organs and $120 in nickels and dimes were found in his pockets. Simultaneously the till in Meyer's music store was reported looted and the goods and cash tallied with that in Aldrich's possession. Aldrich's asserts that he found the money. He is locked up in default of $500 bail. Chief Kamferbeek swore to a warrant which Officer Leonard served.

The hunting of deer is proverbially dangerous and the numerous reports of accidents from the northern woods corroborates the authenticity of the statement. However, if there are some who love danger and excitement in the chase let them take to the homely pursuit of geese hunting and go to Overisel where the branch of sport almost claimed a victim. Benjamin Falkert, who was out early last week to hunt for geese saw at a distance some objects moving through the weeds. He fired but after the report of the gun the excited "quack, quack" of the geese did not greet his ears but rather the yell of pain from a boy named Terpstra, whom the ardent hunter, mistaking him for the birds of passage, had wounded in the neck and foot. Fortunately the shots were not heavy and the boy will recover from the mishap.

The Treble Club of Holland has the honor of being the second largest organization of that kind in this state. So says Louis Blumberg editor of the "Musical Director," New York City. The Palahynne Club of Saginaw comes first with a membership of 67, followed by the local organization which had 57 members on the stage in Carnegie Hall last January and the Lansing Matinee musical is third with a membership of 50. The Treble Club is already practicing hard for the next concert which will be given in May and judging from the program it bids fair to out do all former efforts. The program for the May rendition is as follows:

Bridal Chorus from "Rose Maiden" Cowan

In April Gonno
In May Gall
Rest thee on this mossy pillow, Smart

Steamer Michigan went down Twenty Five Years Ago.

It is twenty-five years ago that the staunch, handsome passenger and freight steamer Michigan, of the Grand Trunk line, which left Grand Haven on the morning of February 9, 1885, in search of the propeller Oseida, imprisoned in the ice short of provisions, went down. Her strong iron sides gave way under the tremendous pressure of ice which was stored up around her to the height of from 25 to 35 feet. The iron was nearly torn away and bent in all conceivable shapes on her port sides, allowing the water to fill her compartments to an extent which soon made it apparent to the commander and crew that her fate was sealed, as the steam pumps were far insufficient to cope with the increasing volume of water any longer. However, the men continued to work heroically, thinking that by extraordinary exertions they might keep her afloat and with the aid of the tug Artic, lying near by, seize an opportunity to save the valuable propeller. But it was of no avail. Inch by inch her body disappeared between the huge ice bergs that lined her sides, crushing and grinding until at last the crew were compelled to look for their own safety and abandon the vessel to its certain fate. A lifeboat was swung over her side and about six half frozen individuals rapidly pulled it some distance from the sinking propeller, while the rest got ready to follow. Capt. Prindle was the last from the boat. They got only a quarter of a mile from the propeller when the tip of her mast disappeared in about 300 feet of water.

The trip to the tug Artic which lay about four miles off, was attended by considerable suffering from cold and danger from getting under the ice, which was moving and continuously piling up under their feet. With the exception of slightly frozen ears, fingers and toes, the entire crew reached the tug safely at night where they were cared for. Had it not been for the close proximity of the Artic not one of the crew would have reached shore alive as all would have perished from cold on the ice, and no one would have been left to tell the tale of the Michigan's fate. Nothing of the crew's personal property was saved. The following are the names of the shipwrecked crew: Capt. R. Prindle, first mate Jas. McManus, Phillip Roth, Robert Mack, Casper Cooper, P. Daily, John Kaan, J. Carney, Charles Robinson, James Monroe, Oscar Lason, John Wormsley and J. Kahaman. They left the Artic early Monday morning, firmly packed in the ice with no prospect of getting free, and arrived in this city about two o'clock in the afternoon. One of the crew, Chas. Robinson, gave out at the harbor and was afterwards picked up by Dr. O. E. Yates, who was visiting a patient in that locality, and brought to this city. The captain and men left on the afternoon train for Grand Haven. With the exception of being worn out from the dangerous trip of fourteen miles over the ice, causing sore feet, etc., the entire crew looked well and did not at all present the appearance one might suppose from the circumstances.

The Michigan went down about twelve miles west off this harbor, near the spot where the steamer Akely foundered in 1883, and near where the ill fated Alpena is supposed to lie. The Michigan was built at Wyandotte in 1881 for the Goodrich Trans. Co. of Milwaukee, at a cost of $150,000. She had a tonnage of 1,183 and was classed A1. The Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Ry. became owners two years ago and the Grand Trunk line in 1884. She was 212 feet long, 34 feet 6 inches beam and 14 feet 4 inches deep. She was constructed with a spoon shaped bow especially modeled for crushing through heavy ice. In order to render her more safe she has a double bottom, with a space between the two bottoms of three feet her entire length. She had five water tight compartments and was built of heavy iron in a substantial manner. After iron work had been completed she was placed in charge of the late R. D. Montgomery of the Star line, who superintended the building of her cabins, which were the among the finest on the lakes. During her first winter the work done in the ice was quite satisfactory but the present winter and last winter were both too severe for successful navigation. The fact that the steamer had five water tight compartments and little cargo would go to show that the damage received from the ice must have extended pretty well along her side so as to admit water into more than one compartment. Capt. Prindle is an experienced and capable sailor and well qualified for winter work. The total amount of insurance is $75,000.

The U. S. dredging steamer Gen. Meade is now at this harbor where she will finish up a harbor project which was begun last fall.

John Van Eyck and C. Klassen, both of Holland, left yesterday for Detroit, where they have bought out a meat and grocery business on Woodward avenue.

Ionia is trying to sell 1000 tickets at $5 each to raise a fund to rebuild the opera house which will be moved off the government federal building lot. Congressman Diekema sent in the first money, a check for $10 for two tickets.

Isaac VerSchure the well known drayman, who conducts a prosperous draying and 10-cent delivery business, was in Pontiac and closed a deal for one of the motor trucks which are made there and hereafter the parcels will come post haste by the buzz wagon.

By the will of the late Peter Wyckhoff which was offered for probate in New York recently, the New Brunswick Theological Seminary of the Reformed church of America is bequeathed $50,000, the income of which is to be used, according to the terms of the will, for the support of the poor students in Hertzog hall.

Chas. A. Floyd, Ben Van Raalte and Geo. E. Kollen are in Nevada looking up the Kimberly mining camp, which has recently been making such a sensation among investors. The reports which they have telegraphed to their friends have been widely enthusiastic over the prospects of the camp. Grand Haven Tribune.

When does an unmarried woman change from a young to an old maid? That was the question and it was one of perennial interest, discussed in a Chicago woman's club the other day. No agreement was reached, but when one speaker declared that at 28 a woman is not yet an old maid and is "probably better looking than at any other age" she was heartily applauded by the other women present. It is interesting thus to discover that the members of the club are all about 28 years of age.

The Classical Board of Benevolence of the Reformed church will meet in the First Reformed church on Tuesday, April 5 at 2:30 p. m.

Fire destroyed Palmer Cook's barn at Allegan last Saturday, causing a property loss of several hundred dollars, with some insurance. Mr. Cook's greatest loss is said to have been in cash—money he had hid in the barn for safe keeping. The exact amount is not known but it has been placed as high as $1,200. Mrs. Cook made two or three attempts to save the money but was so nearly overcome by smoke that she could not succeed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harm Plaggerman of Holland township, who have the distinction of being the oldest and first married couple among the survivors of the Holland colony which settled here in 1847, celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary a few days ago. They were members of a sextet of young people to be twice married in a triple ceremony by the late Rev. A. C. VanRaalte in the old block church in the forest on a Sunday evening. The preliminary ceremony was performed at the parsonage on Saturday evening, according to the custom then in vogue among the Dutch. The other two couples who took the marriage vow with them have since died. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Plaggerman settled on their present farm which was purchased from the government at $1.25 per acre but which has increased a hundredfold. The old couple are still active and both have passed the fourscore mark. They have been the parents of 14 children, seven of whom are still living.

Edward Wisener, who in 1888 organized the Exchange Bank in this village, has become a notable person in Louisiana through his project for the reclamation of the state swamp lands. These lands, which were formerly regarded as worthless and could have been bought for a shilling an acre, when reclaimed are priced as high as $65 and $75 an acre. Both Mr. Wisener and Mr. Rowe were highly regarded while they were residents of this village and we are glad to learn of their success.

Robt. Moore was here this week to complete arrangements for the building of his cottage at Douglas, which has been begun by Frank Weed. He at first bought five lots from L. W. Leland on the Lake Shore but afterwards sold one of them to Mr. Caylor, whose property lies next north. The structure will consist of nine rooms and be constructed of cement blocks and covered with a waterproof coating to keep out the moisture which is the method adopted in building some of the finest residences. The building will have all the modern improvements.

Men began digging for a foundation for a new brick store building just south of Leland's store last week. The building will be 16x30 and two stories high. The first floor will be occupied by Geo. H. Niles, the jeweler. The inside stairway to the second floor will also serve as a means of reaching Leland's hall and the Masonic lodge rooms.

Breaking out in the roof near the chimney fire partially destroyed the residence of Mrs. Wm. Liesman, just across the road from the sheds of the Zeeland Brick Co. Zeeland is still dry and will remain dry for a good many years. In fact, the wets are so badly in the minority that they can never work up an agitation. Republican Ticket

Mayor—Henry Geerlings.
 Treasurer—Nicholas Essenberg.
 Supervisor First District—G. J. Van Duen.
 Supervisor Second District—John F. Van Anrooy.
 Justice of the Peace—Fred T. Miles.
 First Ward—Alderman, J. F. White; Constable, Dr. Fred Brower.
 Second Ward—Alderman, Arthur Drinkwater; Constable, Nicholas Boss.
 Third Ward—Alderman, Nicholas Kammeraad; Constable, Gerrit Van Haften.
 Fourth Ward—Alderman, Will Lawrence; Constable, Gerrit Alderix.
 Fifth Ward—Alderman, Dick Jellema; Constable, Will Seahouse.

The above ticket needs no recommendation to the republican voters of Holland. There is no doubt but that it is one of the strongest tickets the party could have placed in the field and if the party as a party sticks by the ticket there is no doubt but that the men placed there by them will be overwhelmingly elected. Mr. Geerlings has been mayor before and received at that time the largest vote ever given a candidate in Holland not even barring Teddy. The two supervisors, Mr. Van Duen and Mr. Van Anrooy, need no recommendation as their repeated return to office is a tribute which shows that their valuable services are appreciated by their constituency.

Fred T. Miles as justice of the peace has made a good record, and his decisions were fair, just and impartial.

Treasurer Essenberg has made a competent man in his first term and no doubt will be returned with increased majority.

Arthur Drinkwater, Will Lawrence and Dick Jellema have been in the public eye for the past two years and each in their respective ways have made good council men and should be returned. Nicholas Kammeraad has always been a hard worker in every thing attempted in a public way, having worked with him on several committees in one capacity or another, we always found Nick on the job with good horse sense and he can be relied upon by the Third warders that no mistake will be made in selecting him as their choice and mind you he will be heard from.

Mr. White is also well known to our citizens as the manager of the Beach Milling Co. He is a thorough business head a balance wheel very essential in any body of men who deliberate in municipal affairs. Last but not least our constable candidates are all able bodied honorable men and what our police department cannot take care of in this self governed city of ours they will be able to handle with quickness and dispatch.

There is no excuse for a republican to look else where for municipal timber with such men as mentioned in our ticket given above.

Dr. Wiley states that if an egg floats in salt water it is not fresh. Grab your egg and start for the Gulf of Mexico at once.

A new Jersey man found $5,000 in a bible his grandmother gave him thirty-five years ago. Some of those old fashioned grandmothers had a fine sense of humor.

Andrew Carnegie says he doesn't want to go to heaven yet. But he must not be understood as being opposed to the place.

It is liable to be a Henry for mayor this year unless the socialist get out of the vote.

The Bonding Issue

When the News last week published a statement indorsing the proposed bonding issue for bonus purposes, it did so with some reservation. For though the bonus proposition in itself is commendable, the control and expenditure of the people's money ought to be given the wisest and most scrupulous attention.

That the bonus system is both conducive and necessary to bring new labor employing industries to the city, can be proven by facts. The committee that previously expended the bonus money did commendable work in bringing industries like the Bush & Lane piano factory, the Shoe factory and other industries to Holland. Besides, a bonus is necessary to induce new industries to locate in a city where general facilities are not so much superior over those of other places. The bonus extended to the piano company hardly covered the expense of moving machinery from Chicago and the loss of teaching the trade to green hands came entirely to the account of the piano company.

Above all, the bonus fund should be judiciously expended for labor that pays. At present Holland is not suffering from too great a variety of industries. Iron works with their affiliated branches, like shipbuilding, car-shops, auto factories, etc., would be desirable industries. Holland is about as advantageously situated as any other lake port and it does not seem over hard to induce the above mentioned industries to locate here.

Hence, upon the committee in charge of the bonus funds rests a great responsibility, and the council can never be too careful in the selection of men, who together with sagacity have a thorough knowledge of the needs of the city. Three manufacturers, three merchants, a good attorney and a banker should serve on this committee. In addition to these men three laboring men should have their say. There are level headed craftsmen in the city who, through their practical experience could be of invaluable service in the selection of industries. And if these men are not known to the council members, the News will be glad to point them out. It is the tradesman who primarily is concerned with these industries, and Holland certainly is democratic enough not to refuse him a voice in a matter for the propagation of which he also pays his proportion into the city treasury. Besides, the best paying industries generally employ first class working men, and it is just such citizens we want.

Lastly, in addition to an auditing committee, reporting at frequent intervals, strict stipulations should be made in regard to loans made to new industries. Let it be business all through. If such industries after a reasonable time are unable to fulfill their obligations, it is very doubtful whether their labor will prove very remunerative or their stay lasting. Carried on along these lines, the News reiterates its statements that the bonding issue of $50,000 for new Holland industries is for the best interest of the city. No progressive citizen, who has a vote to cast at the next elections, and who wishes some lasting and paying elements injected into the industrial life of the city, will refuse to vote in favor of the bonding issue. The booming of the city means the booming of one's own interests.

Democrat Caucus

It was hardly a surprise to the Democrats assembled at their caucus Monday night in the Lyceum rink when Dr. B. B. renominated Mayor Bruss for a third term to the mayorship. Mr. Bruss accepted the nomination with a few well chosen remarks after which Al Toppen was elected chairman of the meeting and D. Van Oort secretary.

The Republican candidates were endorsed for re-election as supervisors, and Henry Vanderploeg named for treasurer and John LeKooyer for justice of the peace.

Herman Van Tongeren was renominated as alderman for the first ward, and Henry Lievense is to be the constable. For the second ward James Kole was chosen and J. DeFeyer for constable, while in the third ward Frank Van Dyke was nominated as alderman and John Verhoef for constable and in the fourth ward Supt. John Kelley of the Kinsella Glass Co. alderman and Henry Knutson constable. For the fifth ex-alderman David Damstra was nominated for alderman and Otto Van Dyke for constable.

Socialists Name Ticket

At an enthusiastic caucus Friday evening the following ticket was put in the field: Olaf J. Hansen, mayor; Marcus Brower, treasurer; W. F. King, justice of the peace; John Hacklander, supervisor in the first district and W. H. Bingham in the second.

Ward nominations were made as follows: First, Ernest Thoms, alderman; H. Van Tongeren, constable; second, Vernon King, alderman; J. Bredeweg, constable; third, Bert Dock, alderman; O. J. Hausen, constable; Fourth, John Yonker, alderman; L. De Witt, constable; Fifth, N. Rowan, alderman; Wm. Johnson, constable.

Grand Haven Boy Shot Dead While Playing Indian

While playing Indian yesterday afternoon, Julius Caesar Rumsey, aged 8, shot and killed Frank Heminger, aged 14, firing a charge from a double barreled shotgun into his forehead, blowing a huge hole into his brain.

Young Heminger is a son of Geo. Heminger, living near Fuller station at North Grand Rapids, and was here visiting his grandfather, Peter Van Marten. In the afternoon he went over to the Rumsey home and in the absence of Mrs. Rumsey, who was at a meeting of the Methodist Ladies Aid society about a block away, the boys secured the shotgun and carried it into the street, where they were engaged in a game of frontier life, Heminger being an Indian and Rumsey a settler defending his property. The Heminger boy, as the Indian, approached and Rumsey raised the gun pulled the trigger. Heminger fell and the Rumsey boy dropped the weapon and ran for his mother, a block away. He appeared there with his face bruised and his nose bleeding from the recoil of the gun and quickly informed his mother that Frank had been shot, adding that he presumed they would say he did it. The women attending the meeting and others rushed to the scene and Dr. McAlpine was notified but when he arrived the boy was dead.

Annual Cross Country Race

With only a week's time before the great cross country race is to take place the squad is out every day putting in some stiff practice. Last week the team which will represent the college was picked as a result of a tryout in which some 20 took part. Van Bronckhorst finished first with Tellman second and Verburg third, while Anker and Tanis came in next. These five men will form the team this year, although another tryout is planned to select the very best men.

Until now eight teams are to enter the race: Muskegon which holds the trophy this year, M. A. C., Alma, Olivet and Albion colleges, Ferris Institute, Grand Rapids High and Y. M. C. A. Muskegon is weak this year and in all probability will not be able to retain the shield. Hope's chances are good since in the tryout the college lads finished in less time than did the Muskegon squad last year. Of the other colleges M. A. C. and Olivet are the most feared.

The winning team is entitled to hold for one year the beautiful Holland Business Men's trophy, which last year some of Holland's business men donated to the college lads. Muskegon High has already returned the trophy a week before the annual race, as per contract, and it is now displayed in VanRaalte hall.

Working Hard for G. A. R. Encampment

All Holland is working overtime in preparations for the big encampment of the G. A. R. which will be held here June 21, 22 and 23. Arrangements for housing and feeding the thousands who will attend are occupying particular attention of the committees and most satisfactory plans are being carried out. It is even probable that the hotel accommodations will be better than if the encampment were to be held in some larger city, for arrangements have been made to open the Macatawa and Ottawa Beach hotels in advance of the regular season and using them for the guests of the encampment.

While the official dates of the meeting will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Holland is planning to entertain the entire week. Something will be doing each of the six days to make the stay of the guests pleasant.

Wednesday will be the big day. In the afternoon there will be a big parade. For this parade elaborate arrangements have been made. All the veterans will be in line and there will be 20 bands. Ex-Gov. VanZant, commander in Chief will be present and the entire staff of the Michigan department will appear in the parade.

Graham & Morton Will Open Season

Next Saturday, the big "Puritan" will leave her winter quarters at Benton Harbor on the first trip of the season, going to Chicago and then on the daily run between Chicago and this port. It will be the opening of the passenger service for the summer, and until the "Holland" is put on later to take care of the double daily service, the big flagship of the Graham & Morton fleet will take care of all the business out of this harbor.

The Puritan has been entirely repaired during the winter, and will be followed into commission by the "City of Benton Harbor," on which most of the work is now completed. About June 1, the "Holland" will come out and will come on the run here with the "Puritan."

The crews for the different vessels have been picked, and there are but few changes made this year. On the Puritan will be Capt. John Crawford, Barney Gollick, first officer; W. H. Smith, 2nd mate; Byron Beerman, chief engineer; F. Martin, ass't engineer; T. S. McCabe, clerk; Percy Kepler, steward.

Steamer Traverse—M. Morgan, captain; Louis Bussey, 1st mate.

Steamer Holland—John Stewart, captain; Nels Nelson, 1st mate, Joe Meyers, 2nd mate; O. Richardson, chief engineer; Fred Yeager, ass't engineer; J. E. Hall, clerk; E. Weaver, steward.

City of Benton Harbor—A. J. Simons, captain; Oscar Bjork, 1st mate; Peter Fisher, 2nd mate; John Greiner, chief engineer; W. Reeves, ass't engineer; J. W. Kieth, clerk; J. Sanders, steward.

City of Chicago—Wm. Russell, captain; Fred Goodrich, 1st mate; John Campbell, 2nd mate; Wm. F. Johnson, chief engineer; Harry Randall, ass't engineer; H. D. Arnold, clerk; A. C. Cooper, steward.

Dudley Watson, aged 51, and one of the best known men in Michigan, died last Thursday at his home after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Watson was one of the foremost citizens of Grand Haven and though he had not been in business in this city for some time he was alive and alert to the interests of the city and as a member of the board of trade did much toward promoting the interest of Grand Haven. He was collector of customs at this port under Pres. Cleveland and was one of the prominent democratic politicians of the state. During recent years most of his business interests have been in Chicago. He is survived by a widow and one daughter. A son died about a year ago.

The Kalamazoo

The royal river of Michigan is the beautiful Kalamazoo. From its sources to its mouth at Lake Michigan, winding in serpentine gracefulness through fertile farms and grand forests of native trees, it is a river of beauty—a poem in water. There are no waterfalls on its course, no scenes of grandeur, but that reposeful, sylvan and pastoral scenery and picturesque that gives it a charm that fascinates nature lovers and people of artistic temperament.

There are many little island gems in its winding waters, while picturesque creeks and brooks, abounding in trout, contribute their pure spring waters to the main stream all along its course.

In the vernal time the river valley is a witchery of beauty that casts its spell over those mortals who wander in its realm. Man cannot step without treading on great masses of early spring flowers. The land is carpeted with them, their exquisite fragrance burdening the air. From the early spring the procession of flowers continues through late spring, summer and fall, closing with the grand pageant of autumn, with its marvelous coloring of the leaves of the trees, shrubs and vines, that make the river valley a land of enchantment.

Paradise of the Indians.

The Kalamazoo river and adjacent country was the paradise of the Indians, being the hunting grounds of the Ottawa tribe. The original of the name by which it is now known was Ke-Kenamazoo, an Ottawa word. There are several claims as to the meaning of the word. It is generally accepted now as signifying boiling or bubbling waters, or the place where the water boils.

The river was the highway of travel for the canoe fleets of the Indians. Occasionally a "dug-out" canoe is found imbedded in the bottom of the river, a memento of the past when the Indians held undisputed sway.

As the Kalamazoo river valley is followed today by that trunk railway, the Michigan Central, so for centuries along this valley ran the trunk Indian trail from Detroit to Chicago, with branches running to Grand Rapids, Allegan and St. Joseph. When the pioneers came into this country this trail was worn down for two feet. At this time the Michigan Indians used to pass silently along this great trail to Malden to receive their presents from the British government. They came in companies of several hundred. In long files they marched along, warriors, squaws and papooses. This trail was probably trod by many of their distinguished chiefs.

Where Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Allegan are now located were the principal rendezvous of the Indians when gathering on the warpath. It was at the confluence of the Battle Creek and Burnham brook with the Kalamazoo river, now in the heart of Battle Creek city, that the great Ottawa chiefs, Okemos and Waukezo, and the Pottawatomic chief, Pokagon, mustered their warriors in defense of their hunting grounds when Michigan was invaded in 1800 by the great chief Elkhart and his horde of Shawnee braves, who were defeated on Prairie Ronde in a great three days' battle.

Fine Water Powers.

The utilitarian feature of the river is its fine water power. The first essential in pioneer days was the sawmill and gristmill. Hence the locating of a pioneer village was upon a river where water power could be developed to run the mills. There are new dams across the river at Albion, Marengo, Marshall, Ceresco, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Plainwell, Otsego, and Allegan. There are water powers at Augusta and Comstock, but the dams are across tributaries to the river.

In the early days flatboats were loaded with goods at Saugatuck and poled as far up the river as Kalamazoo. It was a tedious job and cost $100 a boatload. When the boats returned to the lake they were loaded with flour. The first boat was called the Pioneer and it was built at Allegan. Two boats were built at Kalamazoo in 1837-38 called the Tip and Droop. Another boat was called the Great Western. The poles used in propelling the boats up the river were from 16 to 20 feet long.

The first steamer on the river was built at Allegan and was named the C. C. Trowbridge. This was in 1838. It ran from Allegan to Saugatuck. In 1850 the Adelaide was built. In 1860 the Helen Mar and Mayflower were launched. They ran to Allegan until the railroads came in, when the river boats no longer were profitable. None of the boats ever succeeded in reaching Battle Creek.

Kalamazoo was the head of flatboat navigation.

An interesting historical event connected with the river was the locating near its banks on Toland's prairie, west of Galesburg in 1844, of a socialist community called the Alphonse, or First Brotherhood. The leading spirit was Dr. H. R. Schelter, a German who came to this country imbued with the communistic theories of Fourier. At one time the community numbered 300 and published two papers. It proved too Utopian and broke up in 1848. The land was bought by Kalamazoo county for a poor farm, for which purpose it is still used. The history and events connected with this community would make a long story.

Vanished Village of Singapore.

Another fragment of history is the forgotten village of Singapore, which was located in the thirties at the mouth of the river near Lake Michigan. At one time it was a burg of consequence. It boasted of two big sawmills, a hotel, etc. In 1838 was established the Bank of Singapore with a capital of $50,000. This was in the days of wild cat banking. The village was finally deserted. The winds from the lake began to blow the shifting sands over the village and it is now buried beneath a sand dune; a barren waste with not a building in sight—a Michigan Herculaneum.

In literature James Fenimore Cooper, the novelist, made the river famous in his story, "Oak Openings," in which he pictured the beauties of the valley in his masterly way. Judge Littlejohn, in his "Legends of Michigan," told of the Indian wars and the history of the tribes that inhabited this valley, which to the red man was a veritable "happy hunting ground." Several poems of merit have been written on the beauties of the river, while its scenery has been painted by artists. For the amateur photographer the river has been a constant source of delight and joy.

The river valley is the habitat of all the species of birds that inhabit Michigan, and their nesting place. In the spring myriads of warblers and other migrating birds on their way north stop in the valley to feed, making it a valuable place for bird study.

Rises in Two Counties.

The sources of the Kalamazoo river make one of the most interesting hydrographic and physiographic studies in this state. There are two branches that unite near Albion. The north branch rises in the southwest corner of the town of Hanover in Jackson county. There is a cluster of little lakes in that section—Farwell, Round and Mud. There is a small channel between Farwell and Mud lakes, and out of the north end of the latter flows the north branch of the Kalamazoo. Round lake, just east of Farwell, has no surface outlet or inlet and the water is very clear and pure.

The south branch of the Kalamazoo rises in the township of Adams, in Hillsdale county. The tributaries of the Kalamazoo and St. Joseph rise within half a mile of each other in that township. The so-called Hillsdale summit is the source of the Kalamazoo, Grand and St. Joseph rivers, flowing into Lake Michigan, and of the Raisin flowing into Lake Erie. The most elevated tributary of the Maumee also rises here. Within an area of two by three miles are the headwaters of the St. Joseph, Grand, Kalamazoo and Raisin rivers, and an area of four miles square would include the Maumee. The west branch of the Grand rises within half a mile of Round lake in a swamp, and only a mile from the source of the Kalamazoo.

The north and south branches unite near Albion and form the Kalamazoo river proper. The river flows northwesterly through Calhoun, Kalamazoo and Allegan counties and discharges into Lake Michigan three and one-half miles below Saugatuck. The current is slow, flowing three miles an hour. Its slope is quite uniform. There are rapids in the river below Allegan and below Plainwell. It flows through a rich agricultural region, the valley being from two to three miles wide.

The river is very serpentine and circuitous. At the great horseshoe bend near Allegan the river makes a circle of ten miles and then comes back to a point only about four rods away. At the commencement of the Saugatuck marshes is a high bluff of red sand called Red Banks. From this point down the river are acres of marshes with wild rice, which has always been covered with duck and is a favorite hunting grounds for the nimrods.

The Kalamazoo has become so popular as an outing place that hundreds of people now take canoe and boating excursions down the river from the various towns along its course.

Ice Sundae Originates in Michigan

Ypsilanti, Mich., Mar. 31.—"Sundae, a delicacy composed of ice cream with fruit or other flavoring." Such is the definition given the word "sundae" in the dictionary. It implies something pleasant—agreeable to the taste. But that was not the original meaning of the word as given to it by the conier or coniers. It meant something distasteful.

The honor of coining the word "sundae" belongs jointly to a pretty co-ed, a student of the Michigan Normal college, and J. George Zwergel and his book store, known to every student who attends the college as "Dad's Place" or "Dad's on the corner," for the store is located on the corner of the street opposite the main walk that leads to the big college.

Since the building of this store, some years ago, it has been one of the most frequented student emporiums in Ypsilanti, and the thousands of students who year after year attend the college come to depend upon "Dad's Place" for their smallest or largest wants—from a dip of a pen in the free ink to address their letters home to large foreign language dictionaries, from a one-cent stamp to the wherewith for a Sunday night lunch, and both of these latter played a part in the coming of the word "sundae."

At this college Sunday evening meals are seldom served at the boarding houses. Instead dry lunches are put up by the boarding houses in neat pasteboard boxes Sunday noon, and these are carried by the students to their rooms and eaten for the evening lunch. So it happened several years ago that a pretty co-ed who had written home one Sunday evening after having eaten her lunch proposed to the other girls of her rooming house that they go to "Dad's Place" (he lived over the store then), and get a soda and a stamp.

"I'll pretend that all we want will be the stamps, but when we get dad in the store he won't refuse us our sodas," was the way it was put by the young lady, who knew that the store was not open on Sundays.

So they journeyed to the corner store, called the proprietor from his living rooms on a pretence of getting stamps for important letters home and while in the store unconsciously coined the word "sundae."

"We are so dry, Mr. Zwergel, can't we have some sodas?" inquired the dry lunch student.

"I am sorry, girls," returned the proprietor, "but I do not have sodas on Sunday, but I have some ice cream and to help you out I'll pour the fruit flavoring over it if you wish. That is the only dish I can serve on Sunday."

"Well," replied the disappointed purchaser of the stamps, "If we can not have soda and that is the only dish that you can serve on Sunday, let us have your Sunday."

After that the word Sunday, with its varied spelling, came into common use in the college town and meant a Sunday ice cream dish.

The surprise, the present, the refreshments provided by the teachers, and more than all, the good feeling expressed, have greatly cheered their hearts amid the regrets and pains incident on leaving many friends and cherished associations. Murdered at Macatawa

The badly decomposed body of a man was found in the woods near Chicago Beach, south of Macatawa park, Monday forenoon. All the facts obtainable thus far make it appear that not many years ago murder was committed near the banks of Lake Michigan and if it was murder a more suitable place for the crime could not have been found.

In the depths of the woods back of Rev. Adams' cottage there is a deep valley formed by thickly forested hills that shuts out the view of the lake. Half way up the highest hill, in the midst of tangled underbrush and fallen trees, the body was found.

Early Monday morning while John and Henry Van Huis, living near Jenison park, were hunting skunks they found the hip and thigh bone of a man, but their suspicions were not aroused and they did not investigate. Later they told Abe Elders of their discovery. He decided to find out more about it and started to shovel the dirt away from the spot. The first thing he found was a skull. This was enough. He told others of the find. Prosecutor McBride was notified but as the body was in Allegan county he told them to notify the authorities of that county.

This was done, but before the coroner arrived a party composed of Capt. Wreckler, several members of the life saving crew, Chas. Knutson and a representative of the News, went to the lonely hillside, and they, thinking the coroner might not come, began the work of unearthing the body.

First the skull was brought to view, two holes in the back of it made by a blunt instrument made it look suspiciously like a case of murder. Then there was some incentive to lead to further investigation, and Mr. Ryder, who has had considerable experience in dissecting rooms, went about the work with a will. Piece by piece he took the skeleton from the ground. As he touched the bones they broke loose from their joints and in a short time the entire skeleton was piled in a heap. No flesh was left except one of the muscles of the leg and a few reddish tufts on the head, the hair and beard had entirely disappeared. From all appearances the body was that of a heavily built man about six feet tall.

It Saved His Leg

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swensen, of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts, and Piles. 25c at Walsh Drug Co. and H. R. Doesburg.

There is only One Pine-Tar-Honey

That is Dr. Bell's. It is the original and can be relied on in croup, coughs, colds and all lung and bronchial troubles. Look for the Bell on the bottle.

Scott's Emulsion

is the original—has been the standard for thirty-five years.

There are thousands of so-called "just as good" Emulsions, but they are not—they are simply imitations which are never as good as the original. They are like thin milk—SCOTT'S is thick like heavy cream.

If you want it thin, get it yourself—with water—but don't buy it thin.

New Law strikes home

The liquor laws of 1909 are very positive as to who shall and who shall not receive a license to run a saloon. Among those who are permitted to take out license must be citizens of the United States and of the state of Michigan. No one who has been twice convicted of violation of the liquor laws may be granted a license by the council.

The first part of the above will hit at least two Grand Haven saloon men, it is said men who have been doing business for several years, but who it seems, must have neglected to take out their citizenship papers.

It is understood that these men will take the matter up with the attorney general, pending whose decision no license can be granted. It is stated that if the tangle cannot be straightened out, one of the saloon men will close up his place and will not attempt to take out a license this year.

The same law provides that no saloon may be established within 300 feet of a church or of a school house. This will affect one of the saloon men in question above for if he relinquishes his license he can never again take out another license for use at the same stand.

It is said that the common council will thoroughly investigate a number of the applicants for licenses this spring before the licenses are granted as the report has been spread that other saloon men at present operating are not citizens.—Grand Haven Tribune.

A TELEPHONE STORY

By CHAUNCEY WARDWELL.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

There was a ring at the telephone. I stepped to the instrument and took up the receiver. This is the dialogue that followed:

"Who are you?" asked a voice.

"I'm Charlie Mullins. And you're George Greenwood. I knew your voice the moment you spoke. Great things, these telephones."

"Remarkable. Your voice sounds equally natural."

"I'm in luck, George, at your calling me up. I wanted to speak to you; but, knowing you haven't a phone in your house, I couldn't. Now I've got you I'll tell you what I want."

"Fire away."

"The enemy has got hold of some pointers."

"What enemy?"

"Oh, you know—the galoot we were talking about this afternoon. He is going to try to make a break between me and Nell. I want you as my best friend—and my 'best man,' I hope—to head him off."

"You mean Bert Thurston, of course?"

"Certainly."

"Well, what are his points?"

"In the first place, he's got hold of the fact that Flint & Latham are pressing me for a bill of $500 for clothes."

"Hold on a minute. I'm called away.
I'll be back in a second. Hold the wire."

In a few minutes he returned and told me to repeat what I had said. I repeated it, and when I had finished he told me to go on.

"The next thing the scoundrel has got hold of is that I have been engaged three times previous to my engagement to Nell."

"I didn't get that."

"He knows I've been engaged three times before my present engagement."

"How many times?"

"Three—three times—t-h-r-e-e."

"All right. Anything else?"

"He knows I play poker."

"Didn't hear that. Repeat."

"He knows I play poker and sometimes for big stakes."

"What is it you play?"

"Poker."

"Spell it."

"P-o-k-e-r."

"All right. Anything else?"

"Nothing, except the thrashing I gave him."

There was no reply to this, and I asked, "Did you get it?"

"Yes, I got that. You needn't repeat."

I heard a woman's voice ask "What is it?" in a whisper. The connector was perfect or I would not have heard I got an idea that something was wrong. Any movement about an instrument produces a clicking, and I heard what made me believe there was a struggle for the receiver at the other end.

"Is your sister in the room?" I asked.

"Yes."

"Give her the receiver."

"What is it?" in a woman's voice.

It flashed upon me that all this was a plan to trap me. I had been talking to my enemy, who had been with my fiancée. Doubtless she had asked him to call me up on the phone, and I had given myself away before she had got the receiver.

"Is that you, Mary Greenwood?"

"Yes," hesitatingly.

"I've been telling George that Bert Thurston claims to have a lot of charges against me, all of them groundless, except one, with which to effect a break between me and Nellie Clement."

"That's very mean. What's the charge you admit?"

"Giving Bert a thrashing."

"A what?"

"A thrashing—t-h-r-a-s-h-i-n-g. Do you get it?"

"Yes. What did you thrash him for?"

"Speaking disrespectfully of Nellie.
That was before he had been introduced to her and before he began to want her himself."

"You don't mean it?"

"I do."

"But these charges, especially about your being engaged three times before proposing to Nellie Clement, do you deny them?"

"Certainly. I told George that Bert has trumped up all these charges."

"Are you sure?"

"Certainly. George knows what I said to him. George is my second brother and wouldn't misrepresent anything."

And then I heard scraps of sentences through the phone between the two which convinced me that my supposition was correct. The man was Thurston; the girl was Nellie.

"Leave this—and don't let me—"

In a twinkling I had turned defeat into victory. There was only one of the charges that could be substantiated—the tailor's bill. Taking money that I had won the night before at poker, I paid the bill in full on condition of its being receipted on the day it had been due.

The next night at the usual time I called on Nellie with a bunch of American Beauty roses. She was very much embarrassed, and when I told her of the charges that were to be made against me and that my friend George Greenwood had secured the proof that they were all false she sank into my arms and shamefacedly confessed that she had personated Mary Greenwood through the phone. I was very much shocked at her participation in the plot against me, but before leaving forgave her.

Additional Local News

The regular meeting of the Royal Neighbors will be held this evening in Woodman Hall. A large attendance of the members is requested as they have business of importance.

The Classis of Holland will meet in the First Reformed church on Wednesday April 6 at 10 a. m. In the evening addresses will be delivered by the Rev. G. J. Hekhuis on "Missions" and by Rev. J. P. De Jong on "The Widows' and Disabled Ministers' Funds".

The Ladies of the A. C. Van Raalte Relief Corps surprised Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cronkright at their home on 15th street last Thursday evening and presented Mrs. Cronkright with a gold recognition pin. They are leaving the city for West Virginia.

Announcements have been received here of the engagement of Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, a senior in the New Brunswick Theological seminary and a 1907 graduate of Hope college, to Miss Dorothea Schierer of Philadelphia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Schierer of Philadelphia, the wedding to take place in September.

A local industry well worth seeing is the new artificial ice plant of the Superior Manufacturing Co. on West Eighth street near Van Raalte avenue. The process of freezing the pure water, contained in large cans immersed in a solution of brine is peculiarly interesting and the invitation of the management which will hold "open house" next Saturday will undoubtedly be responded to by a large number of visitors.

Notes of Sport

Remaining unconquered until the end of the season the Interurbans met defeat at the hands of the Owosso nine last Friday at the Lyceum, when they came within 3 points of beating the world champs.

The visitors were too much for Peterson of the locals, whom the Owossoes found for 17 hits. Van der Hill seemed to be on the trick for of the 7 hits allowed by Whiteherse, the visitors' veteran pitcher, he secured 3. The game lasted for 11 innings and ended with a score of 5 to 2. Brillo and McIntosh acted as umpires.

This game ends the season for the interurbans and Manager Peterson has already been busy in getting up a new schedule, a seven or five game series with Owosso next year being a feature on the new program.

The Hope college eleven will go to Grand Haven next Saturday to play the high school lads over there. The prospects of a winning game are very bright since Hope this year seems to have a bunch that will be hard to beat, with Levan and Te Roller for a battery.

What promises to be the stellar attraction in athletics ever staged here will be pulled off on Thursday evening, April 7, when in addition to the Burns-Potter wrestling match sporting fans of western Michigan will be accorded an opportunity to see in action "Shorty" Quick alias Young Kelley, who has been matched in a six round boxing bout with Jimmy Philbin, the Michigan strong boy. Frank Burns of Boyne City and George Potter of Grand Rapids will wrestle for the middle weight championship of Michigan and both are confident of victory. In a recent meet here Potter and Burns each scored a fall, but the former was forced to throw up the sponge in the beginning of the third round owing to a severe injury to his shoulder through the wicked hammer lock hold secured by Burns. Both men have agreed to have the winner take all receipts. Burns is at present in New York where he is throwing all aspirants in his class.

The high school boys who lately organized a base ball team are taking an active interest in the work and are hard at work practicing to get in shape for the season's work. The new uniforms have been ordered and from present prospects the boys will have a strong aggregation.

Zeeland

At the Citizens Caucus held last Tuesday evening in the city hall the following candidates were nominated for the Citizens ticket. For Mayor, the present Mayor B. Kamps; for aldermen J. Moeke, H. H. Karsten and M. C. Ver Hage. For treasurer, John Shoemaker; for supervisor, C. Roosenraad; for constables, Wm. Heijfje, A. Westrate, Johannes De Koster and Lewis Thurston. The places of city clerk and justice of the peace were left blank. Mayor B. Kamps acted as chairman and D. F. Boonstra was secretary. M. C. Ver Hage and John Haan were the tellers. The caucus was largely attended.

At a congregational meeting held for the purpose of considering the building of a new church at Zeeland, it was unanimously decided to have plans and specifications finished at once, and to ask for bids. The new church will be erected on the site of the old church and will cost about $18,000. Rev. Wm. Moerdyke, D. D., presided and Wm. De Pree was secretary. The meeting was well attended.
