The Lutheran Capella Choir To Be Here Apr. 3

WILL BE A SACRED CONCERT GIVEN AT CARNEGIE FOR HOPES BENEFIT

Contributed—This choir which was organized in 1921 has now gained a reputation which it is stated will in time be an equal to the reputation of the St. Olaf Choir. The ideal of the Lutheran Capella Choir is "to serve God and His Kingdom by rendering the best Song Treasures of the Church." With this ideal they come to us. They will give us a first number the beautiful Choral composed by the late Rev. Vander Werp, taken from the new Christian Hymnal. They then will give other numbers that stand out as Classical Sacred Composition, Some by Dr. M. Christensen, director of the St. Olaf Choir. They will also give us a treat as folks of Holland descent during their program. This treat will be given by the choir's humming the tune of one of the favorite Holland Psalms, while the audience will be given the opportunity of joining in with the song. It is said that their humming is like the music given out by a great organ. As a City of our size we are proud of having this choir of 40 voices come to us. They will also render Concerts in Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

Mr. Clarence Johnson, as director of this marvelous choir, comes to us as a man with a magnetic Personality, and as the most successful choir leader of the Tri-Cities (Rock Island & Moline Illinois and Davenport, Iowa) He studied with Herman Devries of Chicago as well as at the Cosmopolitan School of music. As director of the A Cappella Choir he has shown himself not only a successful drill master but an artistic interpreter of the Song.

Every concert of the Lutheran A Cappella Choir is an intimate introduction to the ideals and hearts of these singers, for they throw themselves with unstinted inspiration into the music. Such an unbounded out pouring of the hearts, such flaming enthusiasm has made possible their success in presenting the Song Treasures of the church to the public and leading music centers in the Middle West. Let us with one accord join our friends in enjoying a rare musical treat. The Concerts are given as a benefit here and in the surrounding cities.

The flags on the Post Office, the Army, the City Hall and the Court House are flying at half mast today in honor of the late Gen. Foch, who will be buried today.—Grand Haven Tribune.

The Grand Haven city manager, W. E. Baumgardner, is informed by the Pere Marquette agent, that the lease to the road's depot property, recently promised to Grand Haven for park purposes, would be sent to him Wednesday. Mr. Baumgardner is anxious to get this property adjusted and some of the improvements started to convert it into a park of some beauty this season.

A 20-foot concrete drive will be put in this season on the east side to connect Madison and Monroe streets. Seats will be placed there and each year the property will be beautified further, converting an unsightly spot into a lovely park which will enhance the value of property in that section and correspond to the surroundings of the fine new Pere Marquette depot along side.

Mr. and Mrs. Java VerSchure 214 South Fifth street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mather, Miss Mabel Wagner and Mark Rosenthal of Grand Rapids over the week end.—Grand Haven Tribune.

ANSWERS FRED T. MILES AN OPEN LETTER TO FRED T. MILES:

An open letter addressed to me appears this week in the Zeeland Record and I am informed it will also be published in other papers. This letter of yours contains nothing that has not already been fully answered in my pamphlet and political advertising which has had wide distribution among the voters. I respectfully ask the voters to compare the tone of my advertising with the tirade in your open letter, weigh the facts that have been presented by both of us, and the manner in which we have presented them, and then decide honestly and fairly upon which of us they would prefer to place the dignity and responsibility of presiding over their Circuit Court. Pol. Adv.

LOUIS H. OSTERHOUS.

Petitioners Ask Extension Of Sixteenth St.

Highway East of Airport Should Be Made County Road.

Petitions have been circulated and signed by all property owners on the highway east of Holland on Sixteenth Street, from the Airport to the Zeeland-Overisel road. Not alone have signatures been secured on this road but from property owners living on other roads, paralleling with this asking that this road be improved.

Petitioners say this should be a county road rather than a township road, since only 5 per cent of the traffic is local and the 95 per cent comes from the outside. It is pointed out that the road is to be converted from Holland beyond the airport, but it will leave a gap of very poor road east to the Zeeland-Overisel road which has been in wretched shape for a long time.

In the winter time farmers are practically shut in for the road is only kept open to the Van Raalte School. This road taps the finest farming country in Ottawa County, the scenery for tourists is beautiful but the highway for those few miles is impossible.

The Holland Chamber of Commerce is becoming interested in the project, as is the Holland Merchants' Association, for it would mean much to Holland to have that road in shape but it means still more to the farmer in that vicinity who would be directly benefited by this improvement.

Osborn Vos, L. T. Schadelee and Leon Schadelee were visitors in Grand Rapids Wednesday.

A union Good Friday Service of all the Reformed Churches in the city will be held in First Reformed Church on Friday, March 29, from 2:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. The seven pastors of the city: Rev. T. Solos will be sung by Mrs. K. Kalkman, Miss Wilma Vande Bunte and Mr. Paul Nettinga. Worshipers will be given an opportunity to come and go between the addresses. The meeting is open to the public.

Exchange Club Birthday Calls For Large Cake

Dr. Kuizenga Tells of Founding of Exchange. Mr. Darling Speaks On Advertising.

There was an unusual Exchange Club luncheon at the Warm Friend Tavern Wednesday noon. In the first place the members were surprised when Landlord Leland had brought to the speaker's table a mammoth cake, a yard square. The top of the cake contained eight lighted candles indicating that this is the Holland Exchange Club's eighth birthday.

Chairman Olive stated that the program committee had selected Dr. Kuizenga to say a few words on this occasion.

Dr. Kuizenga gave the history of after-dinner clubs, stating that the origin of the first club was in 1896 in Detroit, but it really was not until 1911 this mother club was the nucleus of the first real Exchange club.

Mr. Kuizenga pointed out that the club's slogan "Unity for Service" really originated from the things that the club stands for, which expresses the thought that "It is well to gather together in unity but still better to have unity together with service and now in every important city in every state, there are Exchange clubs doing wonderful work in civic, welfare, religious and educational work in which "Unity for Service" is the watchword.

The next speaker gave the members a real treat. He was an advertising man of great experience, president of the Niel Darling Co. of Chicago, who was sent here in place of Wm. Maxwell, also an able speaker on advertising.

Mr. Darling came here at the invitation of Mr. Charles French of the Holland Evening Sentinel and the local man was also called upon to introduce his guest, which he fittingly did.

Mr. Darling, not altogether a stranger to Holland. About 17 years ago he was a headliner at the Lincoln Chautauque held under a tent on the site now occupied by Junior High school.

Mr. Darling in short said, "Business is going through wonderful evolution. This is the era of chain-stores, but you do not have to fear them if you are wide awake. I believe that they have reached the apex of their growth. The chain store may do 25 per cent of the business, never more than 33 1/2 per cent. I believe that chain stores are on the wane, for instance, I know of one chain that has closed twelve chain stores on the coast because of lack of proper distribution of goods. Of course the sleepy merchant will fall by the wayside, but the dealer who discounts his bills, takes a profit on a quick turnover, rather than waiting to buy his goods cheap, is going to survive and succeed. A local merchant should use his personality and since chain store dividends are reputed to be but 8 per cent, the local merchant isn't worth a whoop if he can't sell his personality for that price. Some merchants say that advertising doesn't pay. If that is true why do chain stores, strangers in your midst, advertise? You surely must believe in advertising for if you raise a curtain in your store, put on a single light, open your door to the public, you are advertising, you sign over the thing. And I want to say to the Holland merchants that any one of them can easily sell aside 2 1/2 per cent of his gross sales during the year for advertising purposes and make it pay."

"As to rates, any paper that has standing in the community is worth 1 1/2c per inch per 100 circulation or 15c a thousand. 45c for 3000 or 60c for 4000. I could fill any paper without outside ads at that rate from mail order houses. They would be dead anxious to come in. Community papers everywhere however are loyal to the cities they serve and mail order houses are generally not given space.

Spasmodic advertising is poor advertising. Space should be continually cultivated to be productive. I believe that a chain store is a help to a live merchant for it keeps him in the forefront constantly. No man is old unless he lives in the yesterday even if he is 80. It is the man who lives in tomorrow who makes the successful merchant, using his mistakes as stepping stones to greater achievements in the business world."

The fire department was called upon to put two fires out yesterday, Thursday. The first fire at the home of C. L. Race, 14 West 19th street, started from a spark from the chimney causing $150 damage. The second fire was at the home of John Bronson on West 22nd street in Holland Township. It started from an overheated stove causing a damage of $1500.

Fish Zoning Plan Spoken of by Stoll

SUBSTITUTE OFFERED BY FORMER HOLLAND MAN

Albert Stoll, Jr., of the Detroit News, has something to say about fish refuges and also quotes a former Holland man relative to this matter. Mr. Stoll says among other things that a plan to establish fish refuges in certain lakes and streams of Michigan corresponding in effect to refuges for game is being advocated in conservation circles. The suggestion is offered as a substitute for the zoning plan advocated by State Conservation officials, which appears to have lost friends among the legislators.

"The fish refuge plan is practical and sane," says Arthur G. Baumgardner, formerly of Holland, now of Grand Rapids, an ardent advocate. "As a means of conserving fish life, fish refuges properly established will accomplish more in one season than all zoning laws that could be devised."

"It is well known that certain fishes, bass, bluegills and sun fish, spawn in shallow waters. After the nest is built and the eggs deposited, the female departs, leaving the male member to guard the nest and rear the young. There is no reason why the female shouldn't be taken after she has performed her part for she is now in deep water, devoid of spawn. But the male, guarding the nest, is the one that suffers, for it is no trick at all to catch one off a spawning bed. They will fight anything and grab at any kind of lure. If the male fish is caught at this time it means that the spawn or young fry he has been guarding is lost, for it becomes the prey of other fish or passes out from natural causes."

"If the fish refuge plan was adopted in Michigan we would bring to the species and sex of our desirable forms of fish life protection when they most need it. The plan briefly is to close all fishing in the spawning beds, leaving the rest of the water open."

The idea originated with Dr. Jacob Reighard, of the University of Michigan, and has been adopted by Ohio, Minnesota and Connecticut. After seven years' trial on 200 Minnesota lakes this state contemplates covering all of its waters. Michigan can do the same as Minnesota and after the spawning beds have once been posted our conservation officials would find that the fishermen would gladly co-operate with them in seeing that they remain unfished so long as young fry persisted," said Mr. Baumgardner.

It has been suggested to conservation authorities that the spawning beds be staked out and warning notices attached to each stake. The area involved in the average lake would be small in proportion to the open fishing water. With this plan in effect it would not be necessary to keep the fishing season closed until mid-season, but it could be thrown open as early as the fishermen desired without incurring the natural reproduction of fish.

Departmental officials have been giving some study to the plan, but as yet have evinced an unwillingness to place it in practical use.

ZEELAND BIBLE CLASS MEN TO STAGE PLAY IN APRIL

The second play of the season to be staged by the Young Men's Bible class of Second Reformed church of Zeeland will be given April 25 and 26. George Meengs, local legionaire, who directed the Legion's play successfully, is directing the production. Leading roles will be taken by Miss Ruth VanKersen, Ross VanderWall and Robert DeBruyn. Proceeds of the play will be used for various charitable causes. Rev. Richard Van den Berg is pastor of this church.

A Good Friday service will be held in Trinity Church, tonight, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. C. P. Dame will preach on the subject, "Christ in the Tomb."

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vandenberg and family are visiting with friends and relatives in Indiana.

Many Kicks Meddling With Fishing Dates

PROTESTS COME FROM ALL OVER THE STATE

It is a shame to meddle with fishing dates the way the conservation department and the farmers at Lansing are endeavoring to do. Holland fishermen will be especially hard hit if fish cannot be caught until July 8. Spring fishing has always been a delightful sport here, not the "dog day" season when fish are not fit to eat. Anywhere other places besides Holland are also kicking as the following clipping from the Grand Rapids Herald would indicate:

"This department is receiving many reports indicating an aroused opposition to the proposed restriction upon lake fishing seasons. It took a long while for fishermen generally throughout the state to get it through their heads that the state was planning to close inland lakes, except for a very few pike lakes, to all fishing from April 1 to July 8 in the region north of the southern counties. But now that the real purpose of the new regulations has become appreciated there is a general protest from all sections of the state."

"The feeling of fishermen is that the thing is being overdone. They didn't kick when the state closed all lakes from April 1 to June 16, thereby shutting off their early spring perch and pike fishing and spoiling their chance to spend Memorial day on the water. But when it is proposed to add another two and even three weeks to the closed season they become rebellious."

"Probably the worst effect of this bill, if it should be approved, would be the loss of public sympathy for the whole conservation cause. Michigan now has a fine public interest in conservation than any other middle-western state. Our people have kept pace with a forward moving conservation program. But once their sympathy is lost, recovery will be difficult."

ZEELAND SHIPS BABY CHICKS BY CARLOAD

Calvin Coolidge, since he retired, has declined an invitation to deliver an address at an important civic function at Owosso in the near future. So far as recalled, Andrew Jackson was the first ex-President to accept an invitation to deliver an address in Michigan. He was "orator of the day" at a July Fourth celebration at Saginaw in the early '70s, being at the time a United States Senator for Tennessee.

Gen. Grant, a decade or so after retiring as President, in 1877, came to Detroit for a reunion of veterans of the Army of the Potomac. He viewed a vast crowd from the balcony of the old Russell House, where is now the First National Bank Building, but he did not speak. Chief Justice William H. Taft, several years following the close of his Presidential term, 1913, addressed the Michigan Legislature in advocacy of improvement of legal procedure.

Theodore Roosevelt, who retired as President in 1909, spoke in Michigan in 1912 for the national Progressive presidential ticket of which he was the leader. Four years later he addressed many thousands in a circus tent at Battle Creek in behalf of the national Republican ticket.

An unusual party was held at the Woman's Literary club Friday afternoon at which 200 women were present. Mrs. Wrieden had arranged a combination bridge, five hundred, and thimble party which was followed by a style show under the auspices of the Rose Cloak Store. The flower decorations by the Shady Lawn Florists, ice cream was furnished by Arctic Ice Cream Co., cakes were donated by ladies of the club, souvenirs which were pink roses, were given by Mrs. Taft of the Rose Cloak Store. Meyers Music House furnished the victrola. Gowns were furnished by Rose Cloak Store, jewelry by Huizinga Jewelry Co., and hats by the K. & B. Hat Shop.

A surprise party was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kuiper, the occasion being Mr. Kuiper's birthday. Mr. Kuiper received a number of beautiful gifts. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dykstra, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Greengood, Mr. and Mrs. Arie Vos, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vos, I. Vos, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Ash, Mr. and Mrs. William Hovenga, Miss Lena Marcuse, Miss Margaret Vos, John Schippers and Ralph Fik.

"When did you first become acquainted with your husband?"
"The first time I asked him for money after we were married."

"You're too conceited about your beauty."
"Why, not at all. I don't think I'm half as good looking as I am."

Going without stockings isn't expensive enough to become a fad.
Those who help you to spend money seldom help to lend you money.

If every day were Sunday some people would work themselves to death.

Who remembers when you could hardly hear what the preacher said on a hot Sunday morning for the rustling of palm-leaf fans?

"Say, who was that peach I saw you with the other night?"
"That wasn't any peach; she was a grapefruit."

"Why grapefruit?"
"Cause I squeezed her and she hit me in the eye."

If every family had its own fever thermometer it could keep its own germs at home instead of passing them on to other families on the doctor's thermometer.

Don't spend any time worrying about posterity—posterity never worries about you.

A certain girl cried piteously after her young man had proposed. "Why are you crying, dear?" asked the young man solicitously. "Have I offended you?"
"No, dear," answered the girl, "that's not it. I am crying for pure joy. Mother always said I was such an idiot that not even a donkey would propose to me, and now one has."

"Went to a dance last night and something was wrong with the taxi and we had to drive backward the whole way."

"I guess you didn't like that."
"Oh, I didn't mind. When we got there the company owed me two dollars and a half."

Lenders—So you've come around to pay me that money you owe me, eh?

Burroughs—Not at all—quite the contrary. You made the statement at the club last evening that I owed you $50. As a matter of fact the accounts show that I owe you only $47.20, and I've come around to collect the balance of $2.80.

Father was giving the fair young daughter a lecture about her beau. He exclaimed, "Does he know who pays the light bills? Doesn't he know enough to go home at the right time?"

The daughter replied, "Yes, he knows enough to go, but he was sick last night."

With that the father started again. "Don't tell me that big husky fellow like he is was sick. What on earth was the matter with him?"

As the fair young daughter started for the door she sang back, "He has heart trouble."

FERTILIZER MEETINGS AT OLIVE AND ZEELAND

Many farmers are puzzled as to the right analysis of fertilizer to use for best results as Ottawa soils are so varied and the crops so different that there is no one fertilizer adapted to all soils and crops. In order to bring this information to the farmers the agricultural agent has arranged to have Mr. Sims of the M. S. C. soils department for a series of fertilizer meetings to be held as follows:

These schools should prove of value to Ottawa farmers.

April 13, 9 A. M. at Chester Town Hall. 1:30 P. M. at Tall-made Town Hall. 7:30 P. M. at Coopersville High School.

BOOK REVIEW AND MUSIC COMPRISE WOMAN'S LIT. PROGRAM

Last summer notice was given in the press of the accidental death of a man of 80 who was struck by a trolley car in an Ohio City. This notice meant very little to most of the people of Holland but the members of the Woman's Literary club who listened to Mrs. Wayer's book review of "Hall Young of Alaska" on Tuesday afternoon were shocked to learn of this tragic death of this man whose life story was so full of interest. Samuel Hall Young was not only a pioneer missionary to a needy field but he served his country as well as his church by his activities as explorer and statesman. More than fifty years of his life were spent in Alaska and he lived to see the country he loved dotted with schools and churches and freed from the tyranny of superstition and ignorance. Mrs. Wayer gave a most sympathetic review of this autobiography which chronicles the failures as well as the successes of an eventful life.

Mrs. J. P. Oggele presided and introduced as the first speaker of the afternoon Mrs. Sears McLean, the president of the club, who spoke briefly on the proposed amendments to the city charter.

Mrs. H. S. Brumbaugh sang "The Spring Song" by Dwight Fisher. Mrs. Robbins played the accompaniment. The club is indebted to Mrs. Benj. A. Mulder for securing this excellent music.

Announcement was made of a change in program for the next meeting of the club. At that time the local club is to be honored by a visit from the state president, Mrs. Mumford. At the close of her address, tea will be served and it is desired that a large number of the club members avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Mrs. Mumford. The Book Review club, whose meetings have been somewhat irregular, will meet next Tuesday at 2:00 when a book review will be given by Miss Martha Jane Gibson of Hope College. —Holland Sentinel.

The undersigned, known all over Ottawa County, and to some extent in Allegan County. Having received a letter from Mr. Fred T. Miles in which mention is made of the contest for the office of Circuit Judge. And further, that if the people understand the situation, there would not be danger at the April election. Further, I hope you will do all you can to get the matter before the people. Now in order to do so, we should consider, not so much the man that was nominated, but WHO is the best man for the OFFICE. Mr. Miles has reported that he is under no obligation to any one, but how about the money that was spent in Allegan County, and also in Ottawa County, according to the reports on file. Was that unknown to Mr. Miles? Do the people, who so entered in that campaign with their money, expect any favors from Mr. Miles, if he is elected? What we want is a man who is Courteous, Honest, Qualified to judge impartially, without prejudice to any one. And so far as I have known Mr. Miles, the nominee, and Mr. Louis Osterhaus, who aspires to make the run on SLIPS for the said office, I am convinced that Mr. Louis Osterhaus, is far better qualified, sincere, modest, and in all the work required in the office of Circuit Judge, a man who will fill the office with credit to the people of both counties, so I can heartily endorse Mr. Osterhaus, and kindly ask the support of all the Voters of both counties.

Next Sunday evening, Student Jacob Hoogland from Calvin Seminary will conduct the service at the North Street Christian Reformed church, Zeeland, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. He will preach in the evening only. Good Friday services will be held this evening at the same time with the pastor, Rev. H. E. Oostendorp, delivering the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jekel residing on Lincoln street, are both confined to their home with illness. Carl Schermer of Vriesland submitted to an operation for appendicitis at the Huisings Memorial Hospital Friday morning.

Mrs. Engbert Seinen, 69, died Sunday evening at her home in Zeeland, 29 East Main street. She is survived by her husband, two sons and one daughter. Funeral services were held Thursday at the First Christian Reformed church. Interment followed in the Vriesland cemetery.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schermer of Beayardam, a daughter; to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rue at Olive, a daughter; to Mr. and Mrs. George Schout, Zeeland City, twin daughters; to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boes, Pine street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy De Wits were most pleasantly surprised at their home last Monday evening, when their relatives came to help them commemorate their seventh wedding anniversary. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fongus, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Otting and children, Nora, Dorothy and Beatrice June and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wolbert and children, Harvey Lyle and Donna Mae of Holland. Dainty refreshments were served and all departed at a late hour having enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

A program of Easter music will be given by the large vested choir of the First Reformed church of Zeeland next Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Harry Brower, a student at Western Theological Seminary, will lead the meeting. Special music will be rendered.

On next Sunday evening Easter will be celebrated at the Second Reformed church of this city by the presentation of an Easter cantata by the choir, entitled "The Risen King," a production of Schmecker. This is principally made up of chorus music, but is liberally interspersed with bass and alto solos and a soprano and tenor duet. An Easter cantata has become an annual event at this church and the choir has sufficient talent to make a very creditable rendering of these sacred compositions that stir the heart with love for the One who is portrayed in song, "The Risen King." "Christ, the Lord." All are invited to attend this service in song. In the morning, Rev. Richard Vanden Berg will preach a sermon on the theme, "The Reality of Life."

Hope College Grad. Speaks For Osterhous

Independent Candidate for CIRCUIT JUDGE

TO THE ELECTORS OF ALLEGAN AND OTTAWA COUNTIES:

During the primary election campaign, but in the latter days thereof, Mr. Miles and some of his supporters, wherever they thought it would help him most, claimed I am so "wet" I cannot be depended upon to properly administer the prohibition law, and he advertised that the "old wet machine" is working vigorously against him. In other places he claimed I was only "moist," and even went so far as to say that I had said so.

These stories are false, and were known by Mr. Miles and his supporters to be false. The "wet machine" existed only in their imaginations, and they well know I yield to no man in my respect for ALL law, or in my desire for its efficient, unprejudiced and impartial administration in the courts.

Now, in the present short campaign for the election, they are telling the same stories again, and enlarging and elaborating on them, and adding to them ridiculous stories concerning my religious beliefs and church affiliations, particularly in some parts of Allegan County.

I am sure that if any further evidence of the falsity of these stories is needed it will be found, conclusively in the following letter, written by Rev. James J. De Kraker, D. D., minister of the Presbyterian Church at Grand Haven, which I attend and where I am a member of the Men's Class, to Rev. Albertus Pieters, D. D., of Hope College, Holland:

February 26, 1929.

Albertus Pieters, Holland, Mich.

Dear Mr. Pieters: I have known Mr. Osterhous very well indeed for many years and regard him very highly as a man, as a citizen and as a lawyer. He is, in my opinion, in every way well qualified for a judicial office, and I am certain he will make a most excellent Judge of this Circuit and reflect credit not only upon our city and county but upon the Judiciary of the state.

With regard to the administration of the Prohibition Law, in which many of us are particularly interested, I am certain that he may be depended upon to administer it wisely, honestly fearlessly and impartially. I believe that at all times and in all things an efficient and even handed administration of justice and the law will be the rule in his court, and that he is certain to maintain at all times the integrity and the dignity of the courts. I sincerely hope for his election next Monday.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES J. DE KRAKER.

VOTERS! When you go to the polls on April 1st, vote for TRUTH, FAIR PLAY, and CLEAN POLITICS, as well as for the efficient and impartial administration of justice and ALL the law in our courts, by voting for me—either by striking out the name of "Fred T. Miles" and writing mine in, on the Republican ticket, or by pasting one of my printed slips over Miles' name, so as to cover it, on that ticket. In either case mark an X before my name when placed on the ticket. And if you use the slip PASTE IT ON SECURELY. I will be grateful for your support.

LOUIS H. OSTERHOUS, Pol. Adv. Grand Haven, Mich.

(Political Adv.) MR. OSTERHOUS AND MR. MILES

They are Engaged in a Personal Controversy Over the Judgeship —It is Far too Personal

Editorial from Allegan Gazette of March 30.

When the primary decided fairly that Mr. Fred T. Miles of Holland should be the Republican candidate for circuit judge it was presumed that that would end the agitation of the matter; but soon it was announced that Mr. Louis H. Osterhous of Grand Haven, defeated in the primary, had determined to carry the rivalry to the polls by use of slips as the law provides may be done. He at once began a campaign to that end and he has flooded the district again with cards and circulars and a plentiful of newspaper advertising of which latter the Gazette has today as much as an entire page. All this is devoted to spurious arguments which should not be determinative of the voting of any intelligent and right-minded citizen.

Mr. Osterhous intimates that Mr. Miles did something vitally wrong in his primary canvass but does not specify anything that should seem materially out of order. His chief accusation is that Mr. Miles or friends for him have spent a considerable sum of money; but so has Mr. Osterhous, though how much he has spent the Gazette is not informed. It must have been quite as much as Mr. Miles spent. Mr. Osterhous does not charge, however, that Mr. Miles spent any illegally or disreputably. Mr. Miles' advertising since his nomination is not characterized by the personalities which Mr. Osterhous uses.

Presuming that these two candidates are equally qualified for the position they seek, the only question the voters have to decide is the propriety of their action. There is no doubt of the entire fairness of Mr. Miles' nomination. He received a very large majority over Mr. Osterhous who did not receive more than twenty-five percent, of the vote of his own county. Three fourths of the voters at the primary in Ottawa county, home of both candidates, said they did not prefer Mr. Osterhous. A large majority of the Allegan county voters said the same.

Mr. Miles is the regularly and fairly nominated candidate of the Republican party and as such he is entitled to every Republican vote next Monday. There does not seem to be any sufficient reason for Republicans using "slips" for Mr. Osterhous who is striving to get the Democratic vote; and he does not square himself as to enforcement of law against boozedom, speaking only in a guarded way on this important issue.

Let every Republican vote be cast for Mr. Miles.—Pol. adv.

FRENCH DOLLS LOOK LIKE
REAL PERSONS

In the show window of the furniture store of Vander Berg Bros. and Ter Beek there is a unique attraction, not alone interesting to the town folks but especially the stranger. Seated on a bench, are an old couple in miniature—peasants from France. The little old folks are decked in the costumes of the country from which they were imported. It is a thoughtful little old man with a kindly face and a confiding little old woman with a half smile. The expressions are all there, perfectly portrayed. The eyes especially tell the story of simple, honest peasant life. So life-like are these little folks that passers-by cannot help but pause a moment. A close inspection brings out the fact that though life-like they're inanimate replicas of the human peasant of France, for these are made of silk.

Gerry Ter Beek states that the silk figures will remain in the window some time longer and may occupy a small space in the show window all summer since tourists even now stop to take a peep.

Perle Luncford, 17-year-old Hooper boy, was held in $1000 bond at Allegan to circuit court on a charge of negligent homicide in the death of Floyd Roberts, 15, also of Hooper. Luncford waived examination in Justice Fidas E. Fish's court. It is charged Floyd was fatally injured when he was struck by Luncford's car and that Luncford's lights were not burning.

of Holland's Men

The sand sucker Gen. Meade, which has been lying in the government basin at Grand Haven since the last of December when she was pulled off her schedule for winter and a general overhauling, left port Tuesday about 5:30 a. m. for Manitowish, where she will go into drydock for about 10 days.

The Meade has had considerable work done this winter amounting to about $20,000. A surface condenser, of the latest type, to replace the old jet type, was installed, the boilers were overhauled and the machinery gone over and worn parts replaced.

While in drydock she will have new sea cocks and the gates overhauled. Fresh paint has put the Meade in excellent shape for the long season of dredging over the Great Lakes.

While her schedule has not yet been received, it is thought she will go to Waukegan for the first work, with assignments around the lakes which will take her out of here for many weeks.

William Rosie, veteran skipper, is in charge of the ship, with Jess Landridge, chief engineer, and Henry Mulder of Holland first officer. She carries a crew of 48 men, many from this city. About half of them

ALLEGAN SUGAR RUN
SHORT THIS SEASON

The maple sirup season in Allegan County has been short this year, being practically ended Sunday, according to George Jewett of Allegan, who has the largest number of maple trees in the county. Mr. Jewett's sugar plantation comprises 80 acres and 3,000 trees, 2,200 of which were tapped this year. This year he had in his employ an expert sugarmaker, two teams which hauled the sap to the plant and ten men who gathered the sap from pails at the trees, and yet he has not produced half the number of gallons of sirup he did in 1928. Last year he tapped his trees March 19 and this year two weeks earlier. Warm weather the past few weeks has caused the buds on the trees to appear earlier than usual.

were retained during the winter for the repair work.

The derricks and scows in the government pond have all undergone repairs and are in shape for the spring work. They will leave in two weeks for Holland and up Grand River as far as Bass River. Isaac Vandenberg formerly of Holland will be in charge of the bucket dredge which will be stationed for the better part of the season at Holland, where $70,000 worth of repairs will be made to the south piers. This will include substantial concrete pier work.

Considerable dredging up the river is anticipated and if the additional dredging is allowed, according to plans submitted by the Construction Materials Co., much activity will be seen on the river near their holdings in Ferryburg.

Future of the

Seems BrightThe Spirit of Holland Will Not Fail
To Put This or Any Project Over.At Least 250 Gather Around the Festive Board to Greet the New Secretary.

Although not as large in numbers as some banquets we have had, the Chamber of Commerce spread proved to be the best, the most enthusiastic affair of this kind held in Holland in many years. In the first place the menu was good, the music could not be surpassed and the speaking program was par excellence and to the surprise of all, Mayor Earnest Brooks announced that the Chamber was out of debt after having paid nearly $5000 in "dead horse" and had $1,121.12 in the treasury. This arrange ment left a good taste in the mouth and throughout the evening there prevailed a spirit of enthusiastic optimism.

Anyway, after the spread and music and Dr. Thomas W. Davidson had said devotions, Mr. Wynand Wichers, chairman of the Chamber, arose as toastmaster of the evening and spoke as follows:

"The real development of the citizens of Holland we will find supplemented from the early settlement at the head of Black Lake and should this historic chapter be written, it would show Holland as a place of insignificance, grown into a city of great significance.

New Secretary—Chas. Gross

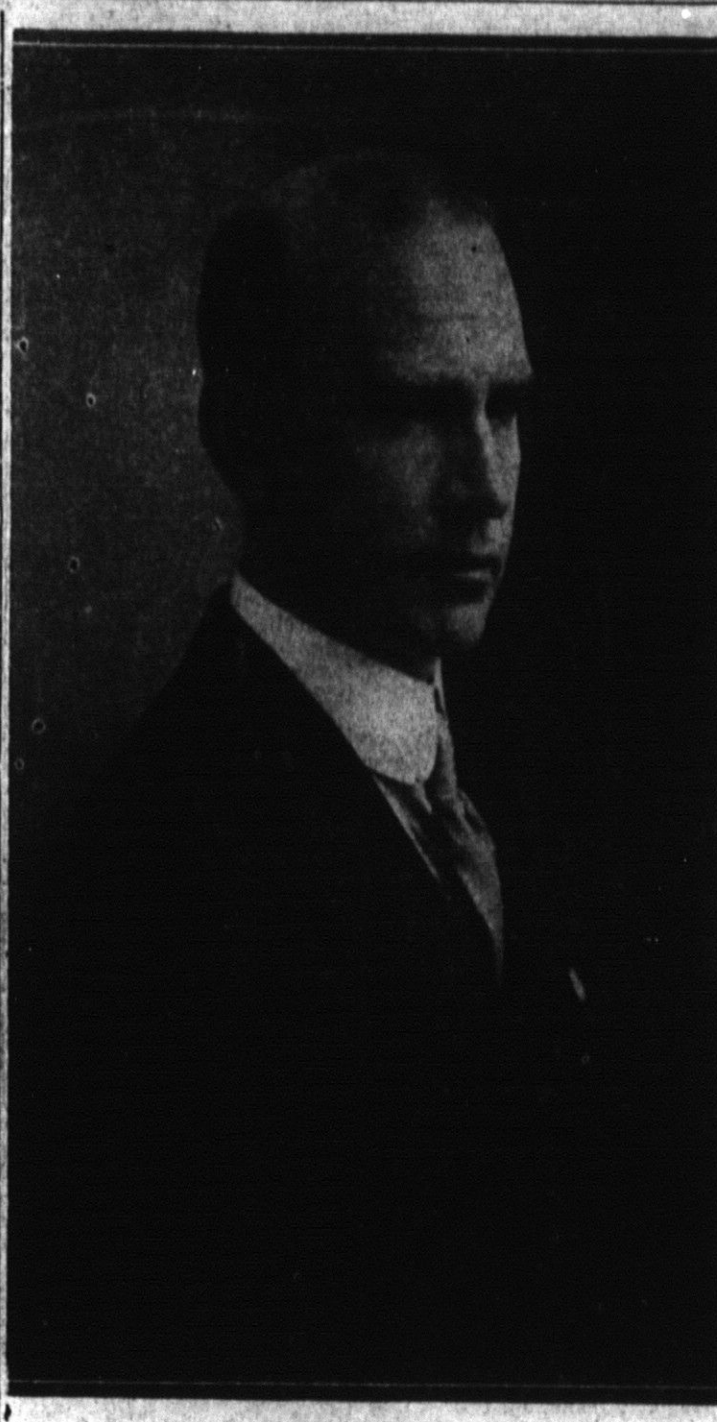

It has developed into a great spiritual, educational and industrial center. We would find on these historic pages, striking personalities from A. C. Van Raalte, the founder of '46, and those who followed and carried on through the years up to the present day. We admire these personalities, we honor those who have gone, we love those who are still with us, but we admire still more the strong honest men and women who have collectively helped develop this community from a moral and a religious standpoint. These are even greater than the outstanding individuals.

A. H. Landwehr

"The Merchants Association of Holland has done well. The Chamber of Commerce can be of great civic usefulness. Holland could not be without an organization of this kind. We have had our difficulties, we have made our mistakes, but when depressed we must arise and fight again. It is better to carry on and fight for civic usefulness than to creep along in sluggish inactivity.

"For more than a year, Frank Lievens has volunteered to act as secretary and he has faithfully served practically without compensation. But the Chamber felt that this is asking too much and your officials have been casting about for a real live man. Responses have been coming from a long way off, but like the story, 'Acres of Diamonds' we have landed an able man right from our neighboring city, Grand Haven."

Mr. Wichers then introduced Charles Gross who was enthusiastically received.

Mr. Gross said in part, "I am greatly pleased with Holland. It is a wonderful, a beautiful, a clean city, unusually well located. If the spirit that the citizens have shown toward me is the spirit of Holland then no wonder it's the best city in West Michigan. With such a spirit there can be great co-operation here, for after all, the value of a community and the volume of its energies are bound up in the spirit of its citizens. I hope by your aid to put Holland in the forefront of cities of its size in this great state of ours."

Mr. Gross then told of the plans and the appointing of a committee of fifty who are to make a "Whirlwind" campaign for membership during the week.

The next speaker was Frank V. Blakely, field representative of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, spoke briefly on the aims this year which include the establishment of a bureau in the Chicago loop to boost the tourist business for Michigan.

The annual drive for funds will be made here week after next and Mr. Blakely said he hopes the contributors will look upon the association as an agency doing their work for them in telling the world of the beauties and resources of the state, especially since each dollar given will be augmented by a half dollar given by the state.

Mayor Earnest C. Brooks, treasurer of the chamber, gave a financial statement showing the organization now has $1,121.12 on hand. "I believe the Chamber of Commerce today is in its best financial condition," Mayor Brooks said, "and further that it is in the best spiritual condition. We now know what the Chamber of Commerce can do and its going to 'click'."

The next speaker introduced was A. H. Landwehr, one of Holland's great optimists. No man can paint a better picture of success than can this Warm Friend head. He stated that it is only through co-operation that Mr. Gross or any other secretary can succeed. No one man can handle a great project such as the Chamber of Commerce without the aid of its members and the citizens at large. He urged that all put their shoulders to the wheel together with the new secretary.

Mr. Landwehr said there are great possibilities here. He stated that Warm Friend Tavern, with just ten per cent more business, would be paying a dividend.

"It is so in every business," said Mr. Landwehr further, "Ten per cent above, and you are working in the cream, but below that ten it is skim milk."

"We are all fitted for a certain vocation. There's a certain niche that we are able to fill, whether that be in a Chamber of Commerce or whether that be in a regular business. The Lord has fitted us for some field and in that field we are successful. But when we get into some one else's field in which we do not excel it is a costly proposition, in fact it has cost me considerable the last few years to be 'out of my pew' of endeavor which I assure you was not the furthest business.

"There are everchanging conditions in this business world and a man must be able enough to adjust himself and his business to conform with these changes. This is an era of changes, of commercial revolution. Methods of yesterday are obsolete today, but commercially speaking, when one door closes, another door of opportunity opens and one must be alive to these changing conditions.

"I am proud of Holland and love it more and more as years go by. I hope that in some early future date to see Holland an ocean port with Grand Haven to the north, Grand Rapids to the east, South Haven to the south, joining hands in one large community with Holland the hub of a great industrial center. Relative to our resorters, I would advocate that we treat the stranger kindly. Let the tourists say that our city has the right kind of fellows, for it is the tourist public who brings strange dollars to the city and those dollars remain to build up a community. Let us make the stranger feel that they are coming to the right kind of place with the right kind of people and let us feel happy in the thought that we are doing the bigger and better things in life."

Toastmaster Wichers then fittingly introduced G. J. Diekema as the man who had just passed the 70th mile stone in life's course and incidentally mentioned his probable connection soon with the court of her majesty, Queen Wilhelmina. Mr. Diekema pleasingly responded and with ready wit paid back main. No man is worthy of citizenship if he has not faith in himself, in his town, or in his God. Should Holland burn as it did in '71, because of this spirit, we would again build even better and stronger than before. Past accomplishments have demonstrated that the Spirit of Holland is an unconquerable spirit."

The last speaker on the program and the guest of the evening was Mr. C. C. Stillman of Grand Rapids, who spoke on the subject "The Three Demands of a Citizen."

Mr. Stillman listed these as the ability to think, faith, and a spirit of co-operation. He illustrated his remarks with numerous stories and examples.

"Speaking in a paradox," he said, "the most fixed thing in the world is change. If we are going to get anywhere we must look ahead and have something to work to. No individual or city will progress with intellectually stagnant leadership."

"A Chamber of Commerce can't be much of anything in itself if it doesn't go beyond that scope. Constructive thinking is what we need. An automobile has 80 different parts under the hood, all working harmoniously. We know an automobile will go as a matter of course, but we don't stop to think what exhaustive brain power and co-operation went into that perfect working model under the hood. We do know that it will go, generally speaking when we want it to."

"You folks can be paralleled to an automobile, you must be one of these harmonious parts. Do your part well, don't let a cylinder miss and your Chamber of Commerce will be successful."

"Righteousness should be a fundamental in a Chamber of Commerce. Its members should have faith in one another. Distrust and suspicion are terrible drawbacks. When four out of a hundred are not to be trusted, why distrust the other ninety-six. Sign up and line up in one united force and thus bear one another's burdens."

"Holland is a great city. If you haven't something to tell or something to tell, discharge your secretary for he is a useless fixture. But you have something to sell; you have wonderful possibilities here. You may not reach out to South Haven, Grand Rapids and Grand Haven as Mr. Landwehr puts it, at least not for a time, but you have a great field for activity in a hundred ways."

"In the first place you must have faith in your city, without it you can do nothing. The spirit of co-operation must be manifest. This community is a throbbing, living engine. It can't be put in a garage for repairs, its working parts must be improved as it is in motion. The common cause of man demands that we work together, that we look for the best in our fellows. Thinking and doing is not only a luxury, but a duty. There is great satisfaction in working with people and for people."

"A Chamber of Commerce in the city of Holland is a mutual proposition."

The committee of solicitors who are now making a campaign for membership are the following:

Andrew Klomprens, Chairman, Wm. Arendshorst, Fred Beuwkes, Dick Boter, Ernest C. Brooks, Roy B. Champion, Kenneth D. Free, Wm. Deur, Milo De Vries, B. P. Donnelly, Frank Dyke, M. H. Hanchett, T. Olinger, J. Van Tatenhove, Jack Fris, Austin Harrington, George Schurman, A. F. Ramsland, Ben. A. Mulder, Alfred C. Joldersma, Chas. D. French, Walter Groth, J. H. Geerds, H. Carley, J. A. Johnson, Bernard Keefe, J. Oosting, Chris Korose, Isaac Koum, Louis Lawrence, Ed Leeuw, F. M. Lievens, Fred Meyer, Mr. Clarence E. Ripley, Henry Wilson, Geo. Mooi, W. J. Olive, Geo. H. Danson, J. J. Riemersma, John G. Koolek, John L. Van Huis, Carl E. Swift, Arthur M. Swanson, W. C. Vandenberg, Vaude Vandenberg, Henry Venhuizen, W. Wagenaar, Raymond Vischer, E. L. Leland, W. L. Wismeier, A. P. Lievens, Con De Pree, J. H. Hoover, K. W. Tariff, George Woldring, A. W. Wrieden.

"This incident however, taught me a lesson, namely to be courteous to your neighbor no matter whether that be a next door or a next town neighbor. The second thought was that 'Holland is my home.' That part of the Zeeland song has been ringing in my ears ever since. It tells me of our early history, of our developed educational facilities, of our wonderful streets, of our manufacturing, of our harbor, of our religious environments, and an endless lot of blessings that we enjoy. I am proud of our sumptuous resorts to which we are so accustomed that I sometimes wonder if we fully appreciate what we have here."

"While we can pride ourselves in these material things, I am more proud of the Spirit of Holland."

"What is this Spirit? It is a Spirit that is not ashamed of its past."

"We are proud but still we are not satisfied. As soon as a city is satisfied then the growth of that city stops. A spirit of friendly rivalry is the proper spirit to display—not the spirit of competitive hatred that existed here 30 or 40 years ago."

"Today we also have here a spirit of friendly co-operation. It is Holland's greatest asset. I despise the person who goes out of his way to stir up fires of hatred, arraigning class against class. In Holland we have no rich, we have no poor. There are no great, there are no small—we are all on an equal footing and by all means this spirit of democracy must re-reign. The newly elected officers of the Chamber of Commerce and the vote they received are as follows: Wynand Wichers, 112; Earnest Brooks, 101; Arthur W. Wrieden, 73; Frank Lievens, 71; Vaude Vandenberg, 61; Milo De Vries, 60. Other members who received five votes were Fred Beuwkes, Roy Champion, John Van Tatenhove, Thos. Olinger, Paul Scholten and Wm. Deur.

Toastmaster Wichers announced that "Diek" would be 70 Wednesday, still looking like a younger version of 50. The crowd gave a yell of delight and advance congratulations were in order.

The Masonic ladies never served a better banquet with better system and better service.

Secretary Gross laid at each corner of the banquet table the definition of "a citizen" and "what a Chamber of Commerce does for a city."

There never was a more enthusiastic, a more pleasing banquet in Holland than the C. of C. of 1929.

The Chamber of Commerce is not broke, but has more than $1100 in the treasury.

Lake Property
Owners Watch
Proposed LawWANT PROPERTY TO SHORE
INSTEAD OF MEANDER
LINE

Lake Michigan property owners everywhere are behind a bill which would give owners title to all lake shore property up to the water's edge instead of to the meander line. A big meeting taking up this question was held in Muskegon Sunday.

The meander line was fixed by federal survey of the Great Lakes made prior to 1880 and does not correspond with the water line. Under a ruling of the Supreme court, the state owns all shore land between the meander line and the water's edge.

It appears that a meeting was also held in Lansing but the conference failed to find a basis of agreement between the property owners and real estate men on one hand and the state conservation department on the other.

The conservation department favors a bill which would retain the state's title to relict lands but which would give the property owner prior rights to lease the abutting shore land at nominal cost.

Ownership of shore property in every state bordering the Great Lakes except Michigan and in every state bordering the oceans extends to the shore line subject to the rights of navigation, of course. Lake shore property owners practically have as many rights to relict lands now as they would under the conservation department bill, and they think it is only fair that the legislature extend the property owner's title to the shore line.

HOLLAND CITIZENS HONOR
MARSHAL FOCH OF FRANCE

One lone flag at half staff was the tribute which Holland paid to the memory of Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch. The flag was placed in front of the Huyser grocery and market by Maurice Huyser, World War veteran, who served with the 77th Division overseas. Huyser also displayed in his store window a photo of five Allied leaders—Forsyth, Foch, Admiral Beatty, Gen. Jacques and Gen. Diaz. Huyser did not see Foch overseas but he heard him speak a few years ago when he made a tour of the United States.

MUSKEGON CLUB

A. H. Landwehr, of Holland, president and general manager of the Holland Furnace Company and a well known authority on merchandising methods, spoke at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Board of Trade of Muskegon.

Mr. Landwehr appeared before the Muskegon Heights business men about a year ago and gave an inspirational lecture on the golden rule in industry.

Arrangements for Mr. Landwehr's second appearance here were made by Mr. J. M. Magli, chairman of this month's program committee.

Tickets for the Metropolitan play, "Old Lady 31" are now on sale at the high school and are in the hands of the committee in charge.

The proceeds from the play going to the proposed new stadium, it is expected that the students will probably be in charge of the sale. The play will be given at the high school auditorium on April 9, 10 and 11.

Miss Lavina Cappon, of the local schools, is visiting in Detroit. She will return today after a week's vacation.

The musical program was almost continuous bringing encore after encore. Miss Fairbanks with the orchestra is a new find in Holland. Her many beautiful numbers delighted her listeners.

If Walter Groth has endeared himself to the hearts of music lovers, this feeling was augmented at the Chamber of Commerce banquet where he, with an easy grace in an informal way, gave a group of songs that just fitted the occasion and the audience. His listeners were especially touched, when as a final he rendered "Sentry Boy," made popular by Al Jolson. Mr. Groth surely has a wonderful voice and the beauty of it is he's not stingy in letting other people hear it. He was ably accompanied by Mrs. Harold Karsten.

The newly elected officers of the Chamber of Commerce and the vote they received are as follows: Wynand Wichers, 112; Earnest Brooks, 101; Arthur W. ## VIRGINIA PARK

Rather an interesting meeting was held by the Virginia Park F. T. A. club when Al Jolderama, former commander of the American Legion, was the principal speaker. He spoke of necessary co-operation between parents and teachers as very essential in community work. He said that an amicable understanding between parent and teacher could not help but reflect for good in the pupil. The program also gave a little skit: "Wanted: A Cook," which was very acceptable given by the Virginia Park players. A quartette composed of C. Topp, H. Topp, G. De Weerd and H. As a pre-Easter activity in the Graafschap church, ten young folks joined the church on confession of faith.

Ed. Nyland, Gerrit Gruppen and Henry Scholten have returned from an extended motoring trip through Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin.

The roads off the beaten highway are in rather bad condition. Many folks from Graafschap went to Holland to worship at some of the joint pre-Easter services held in the churches there.

FILLMORE

The new gravel road just opened is much appreciated by Holland folks.

Supervisor Hekhuis drove to Holland during the week.

The farm of Ralph Vos looks more like an oil district than a place to plant corn. Anyway oil drillers are busy boring for the "golden oil" but Fillmore people have not become very enthusiastic as yet. It is more of a curiosity it appears. But wait till the gushers come.

GRANDDAUGHTERS OF HOPE'S FIRST GRADUATES COME TO HOLLAND

The Western Theological Seminary students and faculty held their annual banquet at Hope church parlors Friday evening. It was interesting in a good many ways, one being that the music was furnished by the Dargemond sisters of Morgan Park, Chicago, Ill. These young ladies by the way, are the great granddaughters of Rev. Gerrit Dargemond, a graduate from the first Hope College class in '06 and the great grand-father of these girls was the precursor or "voor singer" in the first Overseer church during the pastorate of Rev. Sena Bolks and Rev. G. J. Nykerk, father of Dr. Nykerk.

The speaking program was as follows: Norman Vander Hart, toastmaster, Dr. Henry Hoepers spoke in behalf of the faculty, Fred Olet represented the senior class, Cornelius Wilkins, the middle class and Harry Brouwer, the junior class.

A reception, an open house, was held at Seminary Hall. Most of the students were present with their lady friends and the faculty members with their wives.

The Dargemond trio, playing string instruments, gave an unusual program of music.

A surprise party was given in honor of Miss Gladys Lubbers on Wednesday evening, March 20th, at the home of Mrs. Julia Ten Brink. ## LOCALS

The Federal Bakery is having tremendous success with the visiting delegations. Nearly 2000 persons have gone through their baking plant on West Seventeenth street, according to schedule. Merrick Hanchett the manager plans $10 to the treasury of any church society that sends a delegation on a sight seeing trip. This method of advertising has taken hold so strong that delegations must sometimes make appointments to avoid congestion. With each delegation arriving, Mr. Hanchett gives a talk explaining the Federal method of baking and points out how important it is to buy "home made" products in order to build up home industry. He says that outsiders do not pay taxes, help churches or aid in carrying the civic load.

A new Essex car was practically wrecked when Ralph Brouwer was driving it on US-31 north of Holland. Wet pavement caused the car to skid and go over in the ditch. Brouwer was badly cut but not dangerously so.

Miss Gertrude Sprietsma and Miss Theresa Mool are spending their spring vacation in Chicago.

JENISON HAS A REPEAT ROBBERY. STEKETEE ON CASE WHEN IN HOLLAND

The general store at Jenison, owned by Elmer Gunnison, was broken into some time during Wednesday night and about $150 worth of merchandise was stolen.

The loss was discovered this morning when the proprietor opened his store about 7:00 A. M. The thieves had evidently entered the building through a window as a pane of glass were carefully cut out of a large window.

The tracks of a car were noted drawn up to the window. A quantity of groceries, flour and eggs were taken off the shelves with little disorder. Some caps and a half dozen Ingersol watches were among the missing articles.

No clues were discovered by Sheriff Steketee and Jack Spangler, who left this morning to inspect the job.

This store has been robbed twice, once four years ago and again last year. The thieves were discovered in the first job by Sheriff Steketee when he was an officer in Holland.

It is the oldest and largest store in the village of Jenison.

A miscellaneous shower was given last week Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Welling in honor of Miss Marian Welling Geertman, a bride-to-be, and it was also the sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Welling. Miss Geertman was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Games were played and a two course luncheon was served. Those present were: Miss Marian Geertman, Peter Dykema, Mr. and Mrs. H. Groenwoud, Mr. and Mrs. J. Welling and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. Van Wieren and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Welling and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dykema, Miss Nellie Westveer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Dykema and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Welling Sr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Welling Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Welling, Jr.

When "spring" cleaning, compare your bedspring with The Ace

When you are housecleaning, and your mattress is out of doors for sunning and airing, study your bed-spring.

Has it 99 deep main spirals? Are they tied at both tops and centers with 302 lively coil springs, not stiff wires? Has it stabilizers on the sides to prevent creaking, sideway, spreading, and sagging?

If not, you are missing the sleep comfort your tired brain and body crave. Only The Ace has these features.

It is unquestionably America's finest bedspring, yet it actually costs less than others not as good. The world's largest production cuts its price to surprisingly low levels.

An Open Letter to Mr. Osterhous

Before the election on March 4th, I have never discussed you either in writing or otherwise. You advertised extensively that the election on March 4th would settle the question as to who would be Circuit Judge. You were fairly defeated, and you know it, running more than 2,000 votes behind me. After the Primary, being disappointed, you decided to run on slips, and gave as your excuse that the roads were bad and not everyone voted. That was not the reason at all. You desired the office and were sore that you hadn't been nominated. Immediately you began a campaign of slander.

EXPENSE ACCOUNT: The law required you and me both to file with the County Clerk our expense account within ten days after the election. I did so—you did not. As soon as mine was filed, you began compiling your 16-page book regarding me, and have made many insinuations relative to it. You withheld your account so that the public might suppose that you hadn't spent anything, and now it appears that you spent considerably more than I did. Talk about misleading!

LAWYERS: You complain that three lawyers supported me. I never sought their support nor endorsement. You have continually advertised that you are President of the Ottawa County Bar Association, and have continually published the endorsements of lawyers given three years ago for an entirely different purpose. The lawyers who supported me were those who fought for prohibition in 1916. Can you point to a lawyer that supported you who did the same thing? WHY?

PROHIBITION: You know that I have refused to say one word concerning your attitude upon this question. However, you know that every person who desires the old saloon back, and who desires to break down and destroy the prohibition law, supported you before the Primary, and are now your most ardent supporters; you know that the dry organizations in your own home town and neighborhood are opposing you. Of course, you thought that Judge Cross and I would divide the dry vote, and that there would be wets enough to nominate you. In this you were disappointed. Now you are trying to fool some of the dry people into voting for you by attacking me as if I was to blame that people who believe in a prohibition law and its enforcement are opposing you. I certainly am not. Your own advertising has given you away and you have nobody to blame but yourself that the public are wise to your attitude upon this question. You cannot demand, expect and secure the support of all the ardent wets in both counties without arousing the suspicions of people who stand for temperance, prohibition and law enforcement.

MISLEADING STATEMENTS: You accuse me of misleading the public. Where did you run stronger, in Ottawa County where you are known, or in Allegan County where you are not known. In Allegan County of course. Now there was no opportunity to mislead anybody in Ottawa County. You and I are both very well known in this county—everybody knows that neither of us were financially able to attend law schools, everybody knows that we have had to make our own way in the world, both being extremely poor boys, and everybody knows our handicaps. There was no opportunity for me to mislead the public, and there was no opportunity for you to mislead the public in Ottawa County, as we are both very well known. Can you explain, then, why you did not receive one-fourth of the votes of the County, if you were the only person qualified for the office?

Mr. Osterhous, you have been unfair and unjust to me. You have thought so much of obtaining this position of Circuit Judge that it has over-riden your judgment, and destroyed your sense of fairness. I assure you that the position is not worth so much to me that I am willing to injure you personally, but I do claim that you are not entitled to the support of any person who believes in the existence or enforcement of the prohibition law, and I claim that I am entitled to such support.

I claim that I am free from any entangling alliances with any lawyers. No lawyer has supported me except as he evidently believed that I was fitted for the position, and I have not asked nor published the endorsement of any lawyer. YOU have played continually upon the chord that certain big lawyers were supporting you, thus placing yourself and the administration of justice, if you are elected, under a very severe handicap, and you know it.

I was nominated fairly by a large vote. There is not the slightest reason for you to complain or run on slips, and I know personally a great many people who are your best friends who have written you and advised you not to do it. You speak of those who have advised you to do it—why don't you be fair and tell the public that you have been advised by an equally large number of people that you should not run in this manner. Why make misleading statements?

YOU have made this a wet and dry campaign. I have not. I have a right to ask the support of every person who counts himself in the dry column. My name appears on the Republican ballot, placed there by the will of the people. I hope no person, except the violent wets, will place a sticker upon that ballot.

Yours very truly,
FRED T. MILES

Do Not Be Deceived

Vote Monday, April First, for

Louis Osterhous

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

In support of the candidacy of Mr. Miles at the coming election, Clare E. Hoffman and William G. Tisdale are advertising in the name of the Allegan County Republican Committee. But the truth is that committee has not endorsed and is not supporting the nomination of Mr. Miles. ONE-HALF OR MORE OF ITS MEMBERS ARE SUPPORTING LOUIS H. OSTERHOS.

Other newspaper "ads" are appearing over the name "Ottawa County Committee," apparently designed to cause the electors to believe they are published by the Ottawa County Republican Committee. That committee, however, has not endorsed and is not supporting Mr. Miles' nomination. MORE THAN HALF OF ITS MEMBERS ARE SUPPORTING LOUIS H. OSTERHOS.

WHY are Fred T. Miles and Clare E. Hoffman so concerned and excited now about "party regularity" and "sticking to the ticket?"

At the primary election in August, 1914, Miles ran against Louis H. Osterhous for the Republican nomination for Prosecuting Attorney. He was decisively defeated. He then "turned his coat," changed his politics, "bolted the ticket," and was again a candidate for the same office on the Progressive ticket at the general election in November.

And Clare E. Hoffman did the same thing in Allegan County, in opposition to Perle L. Fouch for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, in the same year.

WHY are they trying to make the people believe that running on "slips" at the election after being defeated for the nomination is something strange and unusual? It is nothing of the sort.

Fred Wade, of Saugatuck, was a candidate for the Legislature on "slips" about two years ago, and he was elected.

Fidus E. Fish, lawyer of Allegan, ran for Justice of the Peace on "slips" a year ago and was elected.

Cornelius Roosenraad, of Zeeland, was a candidate on "slips" for Supervisor a year ago, and he was elected.

Circuit Judge Joseph Barton, of Big Rapids, defeated for re-nomination in a three cornered contest at the recent primary, is now a candidate on "slips" at the election to be held next Monday, and will very probably be elected.

LOUIS H. OSTERHOS, of Grand Haven, is a candidate for Circuit Judge in this district, running on "slips" against Miles, and HE SHOULD BE ELECTED.

Stick to the ticket, people, but do it by STICKING AN OSTERHOS STICKER over the name "Fred T. Miles," so as to cover it, on the Republican ticket Monday, April 1st.

A telephone makes any room more livable. You may use it not only to talk to near neighbors and distant friends, but the installation can be made so that it will be possible to telephone from one room to another within your home. Extension telephones are inexpensive conveniences which are becoming more and more popular. There are portable telephones, too, that can be moved from room to room. COMPANY D MAY HAVE
HARD WORK RETAINING
BADGER TROPHY

Company D, of the Holland National Guards, held its annual banquet Friday night with a large attendance present. First Sergeant Peter Tuinma opened the speaking program by introducing toastmaster Captain Wm. Westrate, who gave a history of the organization of the local military company.

Short speeches were given by Capt. "Heinie" Geerts who has made Company D what it is today. Other speakers were: Allen B. Wollower of Grand Rapids and Major Lewis Donovan. The major pointed out that the Badger trophy won by Company D last year was a signal honor showing it to be the best company in Michigan if not the nation, but said he "You can't rest on your laurels, you must do even better and you will find that it will be harder to keep than it was to win. Since the whole state is pitted against Holland, it means you must work even harder than before."

Then followed several presentations—Rex Chapman, coach of the company basketball team was introduced by Capt. Dan Rypma. The coach was given a fine sweater. Capt. Geerts introduced Sergeant Martin Jappings who had not been absent or tardy in eight years and attended every summer camp without fail. Corporal Fred Vos, 1st Class Private, Sergeant Ernest C. Bear, F. J. J. Fazerki and Richard Smeegre were awarded certificate for perfect attendance during 1928.

Others on the program were Corporal Bonnette, who was full of puns—"lake offs" on fellow members; Gene De Gloppe, who gave some excellent xylophone solos; and Harry Morris who sang several selections that were well received. The fine spread was the work of the Trinity church ladies. At the conclusion of the banquet, Company D and guests, stood at attention for one minute, honoring Marshal Foch, the great French general who passed on during the week.

Pupils at Fillmore District School No. 3, have been without their regular instructor for a time, since Mr. De Witt has been seriously ill for the past two weeks.

PICKLE BUT HE DID DEVELOP IT

Columbus Discovered Cucumbers in America

John Fitzgibbon, special writer for the Detroit News, in a recent issue of that paper, points out what a wonderful state Michigan is in which to grow cucumbers—picking further of the tremendous pickle crops that are being grown in Wolverine soil annually.

Mr. Fitzgibbon adds an interesting side light, giving the history of the pickle, its origin and many things that cannot help but be of intense interest to Holland and vicinity, since this is the greatest cucumber center in this state.

Anyway, while H. J. Heinz may not have discovered the pickle, the company he founded surely has had a hand in its improvement, in its development, in its food value and in commercializing it.

Be that as it may, we give below what Mr. Fitzgibbon says about this ugly looking, wart covered vegetable that has a world wide popularity today and is a daily food ration found on nearly every American table. The News writer says:

"Michigan produces between 80 and 85 per cent of the automobiles manufactured annually in the United States. The next American product in general use of which Michigan has the biggest lead over all the rest of the states is white beans. Michigan's yearly white bean crop is approximately 70 per cent of the country's total. After white beans, what next? Pickle cucumbers. Here are Federal Agricultural Department statistics to prove it, complete data for 1926 and 1927 and estimated for 1928:

"Acreage of pickle cucumbers in the country at large in 1926, 69,740; in Michigan, 25,030; Wisconsin had the second largest, 11,950.

"In 1927, total acreage, 51,000; Michigan's acreage, 17,350; Wisconsin and Indiana tied for third place, the acreage of each, 6,800. The decrease in 1927 is explained by the carrying over of considerable of the 1926 crop.

"In 1928 total acreage, 75,840; Michigan's acreage, 25,780; Wisconsin, 11,425 acres.

The estimated yield of the country's cucumber pickle crop this year is 5,139,000 bushels; Michigan's yield, 1,521,000 bushels; Wisconsin's 731,000.

"Now while motor car manufacturing, which gives Michigan preeminence in the industrial world, had its beginning but a generation or so ago, cucumbers, now an outstanding product of the State, are known to have been cultivated more than 3,000 years ago. History, so records, it is a native of Asia. The second century before the Christian era it was introduced into China. The ancient Greeks and Romans cultivated cucumbers. Pliny mentions their forced culture. He tells in his writings that cucumbers were grown extensively in Africa and Italy in his time, and that the Emperor Tiberius had cucumbers on his table every day of the year. There is reference to cucumbers in France, in the ninth century. The Emperor Charlemagne had cucumbers planted on his estate. The cucumber is said to have been common in England during the reign of Edward III, in the fourteenth century, but during the War of the Roses, was neglected and the plant lost, but was introduced in 1573.

MENTIONED BY COLUMBUS
"Columbus mentions cucumbers growing in Haiti in 1494. In 1535 Cartier recorded 'very great cucumbers' cultivated by the Indians about Hochelaga, now Montreal. De Soto, in 1539, found cucumbers in Florida 'better than those grown in Spain.' Somewhere in the archives there may be a record of when cucumbers were introduced into Michigan. Assuredly here it found a congenial new location.

"Since 1924 the Horticultural Department of the Michigan State College has been experimenting to produce a better pickle cucumber. The work is not yet concluded, but has progressed to a stage where there is a strong confidence that it means revolutionizing the production of pickle cucumbers, the two chief developments being increasing the yield many fold, and the elimination of deformed shapes. The average acreage yield for the country this year is 68 bushels; yet from the seed the progeny, as it were, of a single plant known as 'No. 68,' selected at the experiment station three years ago, there were this year produced better than 500 bushels per acre. A pickle company at Marengo, Ill., reports a yield of 260 bushels of small pickles on half an acre from 'No. 60' seed, so-called. A Winona, Minn., company reports more than 200 bushels on half an acre. From Spring Lake, Mich., comes a report of 343 bushels from one and a half acres. And there are many other reports equally good.

"Briefly may be told how the seed of a single plant selected but three years ago means a development of the cucumber, not only in Michigan, but in the country as a whole, greater than for many centuries. In the spring of 1924 a committee of the National Pickle Packers' Association called on Prof. V. E. Gardner, head of the Horticultural Department, Michigan State College, and asked him if he would undertake work for developing a better pickle cucumber. Primarily to correct the lack of uniformity in size, shape and color, having in mind the importance of cucumber growing in Michigan. Prof. Gardner agreed to do so if the association would help finance the work. The committee agreed to do so and established a fellowship to pay a graduate student for full time at the experiment work under the immediate direction of Prof. G. E. Starr, assistant professor of horticulture. Untoward circumstances defeated progress during the summer of 1924. But, to avoid losing a year, there was secured, in the fall of '24 from Colorado, where the crop that year was exceptionally good, 500 cucumbers.

SELECTION IS MADE

"The seed from each of these 500 was kept separate. In the spring of '25 10-hill plots were planted from each sample. The cucumbers from each plot were weighed and sorted and a careful record made of each.

"It was found that the cucumbers in plot 'No. 60' were not only exceptionally productive but yielded a fine type for pickling, so the 'No. 60' seed alone was saved.

"In the fall of 1925 a greenhouse bed was planted with 'No. 60' seed and the blossoms, when developed, pollinated by hand.

"Seeds from the best cucumbers developed in the college greenhouse in the winter of 1925-26 were in the spring of '26 planted outdoors, well apart from other strains. More than 1,000 blossoms were pollinated by hand, so as to prevent contamination from other strains, the blossoms protected from bees by waxed paper. In the fall of '26 the seed of the best cucumbers was again planted in a greenhouse.

"In 1927, seed from still another selection of the best cucumbers, about 70 pounds, was distributed by

For the past 32 years H. J. Heinz Company has operated a pickle salting plant and Branch Factory at Holland. In addition they operate in the Holland section salting stations located at Zeeland, Hudsonville, Harlem and West Olive and receiving stations located at Hamilton, East Saugatuck, Gibson, Borculo, Rusk and Stearns Corners. Every year since the time they located in Holland in 1896 they have provided farmers of this section with a market for pickles. Heinz pickle checks totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars have been the means of putting many farmers on their feet financially and of buying a multitude of necessities, comforts and blessings.

According to an estimate given by the United States Department of Agriculture approximately $1,150,000 was paid to farmers of Michigan for pickles produced in 1928, representing approximately one third the value of all pickles produced, or just breaks even, is short lived and is a menace to other business in the community.

H. J. Heinz Company appreciates the opportunity of doing business with the farmers of this community and the only consideration asked is the privilege of spending more money in the years to come than it has in the past. Money brought into the community by production and sales of pickles is new wealth—that never existed before—and is not simply dollars passed around from one party to another.

The prices paid for pickles by H. J. Heinz Company are the highest possible to pay as it has always been the policy of the Company to see that the farmers profit as much as possible in the crops they grow for them. But there is a limit to the price that can be paid and successfully compete with those who buy for less.

Regardless of what the contract price is for 1929 with a Heinz contract the yield per acre is far greater in importance than price paid per bushel. And therefore, with a crop like pickles with market and price guaranteed, too much attention cannot be given to the preparation and fertilization of the soil and the care given the crop in order to secure the maximum yield. That prices will remain the same regardless of a bumper crop is the farmers' absolute guarantee.

The following are only a few of the growers of this section who secured good cash returns from the National Pickle Packers Association in different states, and it is from the seed so distributed that records of yields of around 500 bushels per acre, of uniform color and shape, now are being received.

The best of the 1927 seed was retained at the college and planted in a five-acre field and will produce 1,500 pounds of seed, which will be distributed by the national association for planting in 1929.

Health authorities say that cucumbers have the same food value as tomatoes and celery, though not so much as cabbage and beans. Pickled, they are a universal condiment. Being anti-scorbutic, they tone up the skin.

In connection with this article the editor of the Holland City News feels it would not be out of place to also give a short history of the coming of H. J. Heinz Co. here, the development of cucumber growing in Ottawa and Allegan counties and what the pickle crop means to the farmer, as an added market product. The pickle has given the farmer another opportunity to diversify his crop still more.

In many cases it meant the lifting of the mortgage from the farm and surely that looks possible when farmers at Harlem, North Holland and elsewhere can boast of an income of $467.96 from 1½ acres as this article will show.

The H. J. Heinz Co., made pickle growing possible in this vicinity. More than thirty years ago the late John Zwemer was instrumental in securing the first Heinz salting house (a long, one story affair) for Holland. What its growth has been since is evident at the West limits duced in the United States. With this information, one can realize all the more that the pickle crop means to many farmers of this community and the State of Michigan.

H. J. Heinz Company was founded in Pittsburgh, Pa. in 1869 and for nearly 60 years the business has made steady and substantial growth until today besides the main plant and Home Office at Pittsburgh, Pa., the manufacturers of the famous "57 Varieties" operate 25 branch factories located in the United States, Canada, and Europe where the pickles and other raw products from over 300 salting and receiving stations are prepared for the trade. Over 150,000 acres of land are required to produce the crops required. The distribution of the "57 Varieties" to the retailers is accomplished through 79 Sales Branches and over 175 Foreign Agencies.

The policy of H. J. Heinz Company through all these years has remained the same as when founded by Mr. H. J. Heinz, who built on foundations of right dealing and service; and believed in, and practiced honesty, not because it is the best policy, but because it is right, and demonstrated that "decency declares dividends." And, if at any time a grower or anyone else with whom H. J. Heinz Company does business does not receive fair and square treatment, it is the man and not the Company who is at fault and the Company appreciates knowing about it.

Every legitimate business should be so conducted as to make money, through the performing of a public service. A business inefficiently managed so that it fails to make a

General instructions are issued by the H. J. Heinz Company on how to get the best results from pickles and following are some of the essential points to keep in mind:

Good Seed is of first consideration in producing any crop. HEINZ SPECIAL PICKLE SEED has been grown and selected by expert seedsmen, and we believe it to be the finest seed produced.

If you are an experienced and successful pickle grower in the planting, cultivation and harvesting of the crop, follow the practices that have given you good success, but for your consideration and the benefit of those that are (Continued in next column)

Band Master
Gets Rare
Instruments

Boasts Collection That Has Historic Value

A collection of musical instruments, many of which are of historic value, is owned by Albert Gale, director of band and orchestra at Northwestern State Teachers college of Alva, Okla.

Three instruments in the group probably would be most interesting to the student of history, says the Christian Science Monitor. One is a cavalry bugle which was picked up on the battlefield at Little Big Horn, where General Custer led his command, 50 years ago.

Another is a life, said to have been blown at the battle of Bunker Hill during the Revolutionary war. The third is a keyed bugle, more than 150 years old, which was played in the first Boston band.

The most valuable piece in the collection is a primitive Alaskan Indian wooden rattle, several hundred years old, according to Mr. Gale. Matched with this rattle is a one-string fiddle, about 12 inches long, which is also a primitive Alaskan Indian musical instrument.

The collection, containing more than 250 instruments, has been gathered from all continents. More than 30 years have passed since Mr. Gale began his collection.

Complete evolution of the cupped-mouth wind instrument is represented in one group. First comes the ram's horn, that had its origin among the Jewish people centuries ago. Next comes the corn-curo, which is more than 300 years absolute.

not experienced in growing pickles, we make the following recommendations:

LOCATION OF PICKLE FIELD
Pickles thrive best on fertile, well-drained, sandy loam soils. Locate the pickle field away from farm buildings, woods, and other weedy locations. Avoid milkweeds, wild cucumbers, ground cherry and catnip or near the field, as these weeds are known to spread disease to the pickles.

Locate the field, if possible, where it can be surrounded by other cultivated crops; corn especially is good, as it serves as a wind-break. Pickles are the same as any other crop, the more care given to the selection of the field, the greater success you can expect. A field well-manured the previous season, or one that was in clover or alfalfa soil, is very desirable.

SOIL PREPARATION
Fall plow your field where practical as it enables the soil to hold moisture during the dry season and is a benefit in destroying many insects, such as cut worms, wire worms, and in rotting down a heavy sod. If you do not get your land fall plowed, plow as early in the Spring as possible to secure a fine, firm moist seed bed. Do not plant pickles in sod ground plowed late in the Spring.

FERTILIZATION
Stable manure is the best fertilizer. Apply manure to the field in the winter or very early in the Spring so that it will be well-rotted by planting time. Do not use too much manure. Commercial fertilizer 0-10-10 or 2-12-6 at rate of 500 pounds per acre can be used to advantage in addition to manure.

PLANTING
Plant as soon after May 25th as the soil is warm and in best condition for planting. Replanting can be done as late as July 1st.

We recommend planting in hills 3 1/2 x 7 apart. A convenient way is to mark the ground both ways with the marker set for 3 1/2. Then plant every hill in every other row using a hoe to make a flat, level space. Drop 4 to 6 seeds, well scattered apart, and cover with 1-1 1/2" of moist soil. Pickle seed should not be planted deeper than 1 1/2".

THINNING
When plants have reached the size of 5 or 6 leaves, cut off the weaker ones leaving 2 or 3 healthy plants in each hill. Years of experience have shown that the most profitable crops of pickles have been harvested from fields thinned down to not more than 2 healthy plants to a hill. Thinned in this way, much time and work can be saved in the picking.

Some growers prefer, and have been very successful in thinning down to one vine to the hill. This should not be done, however, until your vines have reached a length of 18-24 inches, your stand of plants is assured, and the soil and climatic conditions are favorable for producing vine growth.

In thinning, always save the strongest plants. Do not thin too early and do not remove the vines that have been cut off, as in doing so you are likely to damage the vines left.

Mr. Henry Vander Bie of 212 West 17th Street, Holland, Michigan, has been a representative of H. J. Heinz Company in this community for many years and is well and favorably known to nearly every farmer in this section. Mr. G. H. Teeter of 500 College Ave., Holland, Michigan, is also a representative of the Company. Although Mr. Teeter is not so well known in the Holland section he has been with H. J. Heinz Company in the pickle end of the business for the past fourteen years and is thoroughly familiar with every retail in the growing of pickles. These men are always glad to be of service to the growers in helping them secure better returns from the pickle crop.

Holding Up the Parade

HOLLAND, GRAND HAVEN AND OTHER US-31 TOWNS TO MEET WITH GOVERNOR

An executive committee meeting of the revived West Michigan Pike Association was held in Muskegon Saturday afternoon to which William M. Connelly, vice president, and William Stribley of the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce attended.

The members present were: President, Frank Morse; executive secretary, C. J. Dollinger; Jno. C. Beukema, secretary of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce, Austin Harrington of Holland and Mr. Connelly of Spring Lake. They appointed H. E. Hastings, assistant manager of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce, as a secretary to the president, as a large amount of work must be done in connection with that office.

Plans were made for a big meeting to be held in Muskegon April 18 to which Gov. Green and G. C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, will be invited with interested representatives from the many sections from the Indiana line to Mackinaw to boost the 40-foot highway which is being proposed on what is now US-31.

Putney Haight, automobile editor of the Chicago Tribune, is expected to be there to give the assembly a message from his section. It was he, who on a tour through this section last year, declared that the one thing which could save the traffic for this section was 40-foot roads to correspond with the radiating lines which are being built out of Chicago for Wisconsin resorts and to the East, South and West.

The meeting was held at the Century Club and plans discussed for the possible routing of the highway which will straighten it out and make it more beautiful.

The road will enter to no localities but will be routed to the advantage of the motorist to be the shortest but broadest and straightest line from Indiana to Mackinaw.

OTTAWA COUNTY FAMILY GOOD SCHOOL STUDENTS

Miss Margaret Schillenger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schillenger, of Nunica, Ottawa county, has been selected as valedictorian of the class of 1929 of Coopersville high school, her average for the four years being 94.46. Miss Elsa Van Atter of Coopersville, is the salutatorian, her average being 93.8. Miss Schillenger is the third member of her family to win this honor, a brother, Herbert being valedictorian of the class of 1922, and a sister, Ida, winning the honor in 1927.

TALKIES GET BLAME AS WORK SLOWS UP IN ORGAN FACTORY

The talkies have again proved the truth of the adage that "what one man's gain is another's loss." According to Bradstreet's report the organ factory in Chicago that was working at capacity six weeks ago on orders from motion picture theatres, now is doing virtually nothing. The talkies are blamed.

Haven Driver Accidentally Kills A Man

Victim Was Hart Man Walking to North Muskegon for Gas

George A. Barnard of Grand Haven, accidentally killed a young Hart man about 7 P.M. Saturday on the North Muskegon hill. The victim was Clarence Fuller, 24 years old, who suffered a fractured skull.

Barnard took the man to Mercy Hospital in Muskegon where he died early Sunday morning following an operation.

The Grand Haven driver, blinded by white lights of an approaching car, did not see the pedestrian until he felt the shock. He thought he had brushed fenders with the other car and stopped to survey the damage. He then found the injured man in the road.

Fuller had been walking to town for gas with his male companion, Mr. Franklin. Their lady companions were back in the car. The men were on the right side of the road and hence did not see Barnard coming.

The Grand Haven man was greatly upset by the accident.

COACH HARTMAN'S TRACK SQUAD WILL COMPETE IN SEVEN MEETS

Coach Bud Hinga has announced the 1929 football schedule for Holland High school. The teams listed include Grand Rapids Creston for two games and South for one. Other teams include: Greenville, Kalamazoo Central, Muskegon Heights, Grand Haven and the Western State Teachers high.

The schedule will open on Sept. 21 with Greenville at home. Other dates are: Sept. 28, Kalamazoo Central, here; Oct. 5, Benton Harbor, here; Oct. 12, Creston, there; Oct. 19, Muskegon Heights, here; Oct. 26, open; Nov. 2, Grand Haven, there; Nov. 9, State Teachers High, there; Nov. 16, South at Grand Rapids, there; Nov. 23, Creston, here.

Coach E. V. Hartman has announced a schedule of seven track meets for Holland High school. The dates are: April 20, Muskegon, there; April 27, Muskegon Heights, there; May 4, triangular meet of Holland, Grand Haven and Grand Rapids, at Grand Rapids; May 11 Benton Harbor, here; May 18, open; May 25, district meet at Kalamazoo; June 1, state meet at Lansing; June 8, interclass. Hartman banks on Capt. Seekamp, Tyse, Bittner and Eusfield as some of his high-point men.

WESTERN THEOLOGIAN TO BE PASTOR AT BEVERLY

Theologian Nicholas H. Bruinix of Western Theological seminary tentatively has accepted the call to become the pastor of Beverly Reformed church. Mr. Bruinix, who will matriculate from the seminary in May, is a native of Newark, N. J., and took his college studies at Calvin college and Hope college. He will assume his new duties the latter part of May.

FENVILLE CANNERY NOT ONLY ONE TO MAKE MONEY

The cannery at Fennville is not the only successful one in the county. There is one in Plainwell, that of the Plainwell Canning company. A new building now under contract will nearly double its capacity. Its superior products have made an established demand and the concern has provided a market for new crops for the farmers. There are several farmers in the county who can considerable quantities of tomatoes and other vegetables, using their own labels and getting increased sales each year. Without doubt, the Holland Canning company plant under the right management right here in the fruit belt could do as well.

A FARMER'S WOODLOT SURELY PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS

Accurate records on the returns from farm woodlots are hard to obtain but Glen Ingram, a Barry county farmer, has kept accounts which show that his 10-acre woodlot has returned him an average of $36.50 an acre for the past 18 years and he has been offered $2,500 for the mature timber which is now in the woodlot.

The lumber obtained from this woodlot was 14,000 board feet of basswood, whiteoak and red oak in 1910; 13,000 feet of elm in 1913; 7,000 feet of basswood in 1918; 27,000 feet in 1926; and 2,000 feet in 1927.

All fuel burned on the farm except during the past three years was cut from the woodlot, as were poles and posts used on the farm. Maple trees in this stand of timber have furnished an average of 100 gallons of syrup.

WHAT OTTAWA COUNTY LEGISLATORS HAVE DONE

Rep. McEachron voted with the majority for the bill to change township officers' duties. However, it got only 45 votes and had to be tabled, the majority voting not being one of the entire House.

The Ottawa representative participated with 86 to 7 majority in at first beating the fruit grading bill to punish the party desertion of Rep. Anderson.

McEachron supported the utility pipe line bill which passed the House by a big vote. He was in the 60 to 7 majority which passed the dry bill. He also voted for immediate effect which lost, although given a 56 to 11 vote. It needed two-thirds.

The Hudsonville man introduced a measure on incorporation of 4th class cities. He voted for the oil and gas conservation bill which the city bond bill passed the Senate with G. F. Van Eenennaam's vote. 17 to 12.

In the Senate fight on the dry bill, in which Lieut. Dickinson was overruled, the Ottawa vote was cast each roll call with the dry minority.

ZEELAND SCHOOLS WANT TO BE IN HOLLAND FAIR SPELLING CONTEST

For several weeks the free period on Monday morning has been used by pupils of the Zeeland public schools for drill in spelling. Several lists of words have been received from the county school commissioner, Mr. Gerrit G. Groenwoude, of Holland, which they are using. April 19th, they hope to send representatives to Holland to take part in a country spelling match. The next contest will be held in Grand Rapids, the winner to receive the spelling championship title of western Michigan and a trip to Washington, D. C., to compete in the national spelling bee and an opportunity to win part of the national prize of $2,500. The contest in Grand Rapids will take place on May 10th. Next summer Zeeland Schools plan to again enter students in the spelling contest staged at the Holland Fair by the directors of that community exhibition.

OTTAWA MAN OFFERS 7 1/2 ACRES FOR STATE PARK

C. W. Bunker is offering the state seven and one-half acres for a public park, one mile south of the intended terminus of M-51 on Lake Michigan in Ottawa county. There is 600 feet of lake shore in the property. It has been recommended by the Ottawa county road commission for acceptance to E. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of parks.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT HEARS FINGER PRINT SYSTEM EXPLAINED

Sheriff Steketee, under sheriff and chief of police of Grand Haven were present at the Community Club luncheon at the Hotel Gildner, Grand Haven, Monday afternoon. No arrests were made, however. They were invited to hear Rev. Williamson of Spring Lake, former Des Moines detective, lecture on the finger print system, a positive means of identification which has been introduced in Ottawa County by the sheriff's department.

The short-comings of the famous Bertillon system were set forth with the infallibility of the finger print exemplified. Finger prints were explained and the filing and descriptive system explained in detail in an interesting address.

The same patterns appear at the base of the fingers in the palm and on the feet. No two ever have been found alike. The system has been in use in the United States only since 1916 but has been found most efficient.

Personal experiences with prints were cited by the speaker. He took some and showed how they can be "recovered" from various articles.

The orchard is not the only place on the fruit farm where pollination problems exist. Records at the South Haven experiment station indicate small fruit plantations have almost as pressing a need for honey bees at blossom time as the apple or cherry orchard.

now buy prosaically the night before in the bakery shop next door—having ordered ahead! In those days the "Royal Bun Houses" of London used to vie with one another to make the best buns to attract the king himself out for Good Friday morning breakfast.

Easter Cakes a Part of Paganistic Rites

Teutonic pagans had a habit of propitiating the goddess Easter with cakes in the springtime, and from this may be traced the amazing spectacle of both clergy and laymen dancing and playing ball in the Christian churches of England at Easter time, as they once did, for those bitter-sweet concoctions—tansy cakes.

The pagan comestible eaten at the ancient spring festivals was made fit for the Christian Easter by marking it with the cross—and so we have the "hot-cross bun." Paris clerics in parts of Dorset and Devon once earned a pleasant penny by carrying small white cakes, very thin, and from five to eight inches in diameter, around to each house on Good Friday after service. One antiquarian mentions that toward the end of the Eighteenth century the good parishioners of Biddenden, in Kent, enjoyed the distribution of upward of 600 cakes on Easter afternoon—the largesse of two ladies who, joined by connecting tissue at birth, as were the renowned Slamese twins, commemorated the fact in these cakes embellished in curious fashion by twin female figures.

Easter Hat

An Easter hat becomes a hallowed thing. As harbinger of flowers in the spring: Lovely lilies clinging to the crown, Or violets to vie with velvety crown— Crocuses in clusters round the rim, Or darling daffodils about the brim —Margaret Clarke Russell.

Easter Bonnet for Luck

The custom of wearing a new bonnet or new clothes on Easter day originated in England centuries ago and is supposed to bring good luck to the wearer. Whether there is any luck attached to it or not everybody who can afford it, and many of those who cannot, "puts on the dog," as it were, on Easter morning. All girls and women just have to have a new Easter bonnet and in most cases they blossom forth in complete new outfits. In many of our larger cities the "Easter parade" is a big attraction.—Patfinder Magazine.

***** Christmas brings home to us a sense of Christianity's fund of good cheer and good will, the stored-up capital we may draw upon. But Easter blows the silver trumpet of hope in our hearts, and renews for us the will to live. *****

BUILDING MEMORIAL TO VICTIM IF QUAKE

Advices from Japan state that the new Ferris seminary building erected as a memorial to Miss Jennie M. Kuiper of the Reformed church, who perished in the earthquake when the old building was destroyed a few years ago, is rising firmly to its beautiful position on the bluff in Yokohama.

The construction work is in charge of Rev. Luman J. Shafer, who has been connected with mission work in Japan for nearly 17 years. The building will be equipped with a chapel, gymnasium and school rooms.

The wall in the chapel will contain a memorial tablet, inscribed: "To the memory of Jennie M. Kuiper, teacher and principal of Ferris seminary. This building was erected through the generosity of friends of the school in America and Japan. Faithful in life and in death."

SAYS VOLSTEAD HITS FREE LUNCHES, CATTLE MARKET

The Volstead act was blamed for the decreased demand for heavy beef cattle in a talk before Coles county live stock feeders here today by J. E. Poole, market reporter of the Chicago Live Stock exchange. Discontinuance of 150,000 "free lunches" in the United States cut off a heretofore reliable outlet for heavy beef, he said.

FOX FARM INVESTMENTS RUN INTO MILLIONS

Silver foxes are being raised successfully on numerous fox farms throughout the United States and Canada, and the pelts of these ranch raised animals are being sold in increasing quantities on the fur markets every year. At the close of 1928, silver foxes were being raised on about 3,000 ranches within the United States according to the bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture, and the ranchers had approximately $30,000,000 invested in their business.

Those who have moved from one ward to another or who have become of age since the last election must register at the city clerk's office, on or before Saturday, March 16th, if they wish to vote the 1st of April.

Building permits have been granted to Ben Olgers, 242 West 16th street, for the repair of his home which was damaged by fire a few weeks ago, at a cost of about $1500, and to Harry Morris to build an open air fruit market on the corner of River avenue and 10th street at a cost of $250.00.

Our rural correspondents mention in several cases the placing of radios in school rooms so the pupils could hear the inaugural ceremonies. It was a thoughtful act in every case. In some instances it was a citizen, in others the school board, and in some the students themselves who made the provision.

The lecture course in Western Theological seminary this year has been one of the best on record. Thirteen lectures have been delivered sponsored by the Teninga foundation by such leading men as Dr. Andrew W. Blackwood of Louisville Theological seminary, Dr. E. W. Halperny, Rev. John J. De Boer, of India, Rev. Frederic W. Berg of Brooklyn, N. Y., Rev. W. I. Chamberlain of New York City, and Rev. Daniel A. Poling, president of the International C. E. Union. Dr. Lewis W. Sherill has been booked for a series of four lectures next year.

Since it meant nothing to either team as far as final standings were concerned, Hope excused Albion from an M. I. A. basketball game scheduled for Wednesday night. Coach Jack Schouten, Hope, previously had announced he would try to force the proposed contest to be played, but Hope's defeat by Olivet Saturday spoiled the Hollanders' chance of a second place tie. While Albion finished the season with a clean slate, Hillsdale goals and 14 foul shots for 108 and Alma tied for runner up honors, dropped four games each.

The heart's sincere and tender tribute

THERE are no emotions of the human heart so tender or so beautiful as those which prompt the placing of a Memorial that the place where loved ones lie may be beautiful forever.

There is satisfaction in knowing that one has done all one can. One feels more content when one sees how dignified a proper Memorial looks, how calm, how peaceful, enduring and beautiful.

It may be that you are thinking about a Memorial. If so, we will be very glad to show you our display of all types, including Guardian Memorials.

Just a word of caution . . . regarding the New Oakland All-American Six. In admiring its distinctive beauty . . . in enjoying its glorious performance . . . in marveling at the luxury and smartness of its interiors . . . don't forget its extremely moderate price.

People are apt to do that . . . because of all that the New All-American provides. Because of its original style and the luxury of its Fisher bodies. Because of its silent power . . . its smooth acceleration and speed.

And you can't really blame them. It does look and act as though it cost hundreds of dollars more. Yet for all its striking appearance and balanced performance . . . this is its price range. $1145 to $1375.

Amazing? Yes . . . and more amazing the more you see of the car. Come in to inspect it and drive it. Whatever your expectations you're bound to be surprised.

Prices $1145 to $1375, f.o.b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. ## Lesson for March 31

THE FUTURE LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:1-12;
John 14:1-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life.PRIMARY TOPIC—The Glad Resurrection Day.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Glad Resurrection Day.INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Living Here and Hereafter.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Our Ground of Hope for the Future.

1. The Resurrection of Jesus Christ (Luke 24:1-12).

The supreme test of Christianity is the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. It matters little what Jesus said and did while alive if His body remained in the grave. If He did not come forth in triumph from the tomb, then all His claims are false.

(1) The coming of the women (vv. 1, 2).
As an expression of affectionate regard for the Master, they came with spices for His body. If they had believed His body would have known that His body could not be found in the sepulcher.

(2) What they found (vv. 2, 3). When they came to the sepulcher they found the stone had been rolled away, but they found not the body of Jesus. For them to have found His body in the sepulcher would have been the world's greatest tragedy. The empty tomb spoke most eloquently of the deity and power of the Son of God (Rom. 1:3).

2. The message of the men in shining garments (vv. 4-8).

(1) "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" (v. 5).
This question, uttered by the angels, has been reverberating through the centuries.

(2) "He is not here but is risen" (v. 6).

Jesus had told them that the Lord must be betrayed and crucified and that on the third day He would rise again. Had they given heed to His words they would have been relieved of their perplexities.

3. The women witnessing to the eleven (vv. 9-11).

Their thrilling testimony concerning the empty tomb and the words of the angels appeared to the apostles as idle tales, and they refused to believe.

4. Peter investigating (v. 12).

While the testimony of the women seemed as idle tales, Peter was not of the temperment to dismiss the matter from his mind, therefore he ran unto the sepulcher. Upon investigation he found the linen clothes lying in such a way as to prove the reality of the resurrection.

II. Jesus Preparing a Place in Heaven for His Own (John 14:1-3).

These last words of Jesus were words of comfort. The hopes of the disciples were utterly shattered when Jesus told them about the cross. He consoled them by pointing to the reunion in the heavenly Father's house.

1. He asked them to trust in Him, even as God (v. 1).

Faith in the God-man, Christ Jesus, will steady the heart, no matter how intense the grief or how great the sorrow.

2. He informed them that He was going to the Father's House in Heaven to prepare a home for them (v. 2).

He assured them that there was abundant room there for all. He said, there were many "abiding places." Heaven is an eternal dwelling place for God's children.

3. He assured them that He would come again and escort them to heaven (v. 3).

Jesus will not depend upon our wait for His own to come to Him but will come and call forth from the grave those who have died, transforming living believers, and take them all together to be forever with Himself in the heavenly home.

III. Jesus Christ is the Way to the Heavenly Father (vv. 4-6).

Jesus informed the disciples that they knew the place to which He was going, and the way. To answer to which Christ asserted that He is:

1. The Way (v. 6).

Jesus Christ is more than a mere guide to God, or a teacher. He is the way itself.

2. The Truth (v. 6).

He is not merely the teacher, but the Truth incarnate. In His incarnation the spiritual and material worlds were united; therefore every line of truth, whether spiritual or material, converged in Him.

3. The Life (v. 6).

Christ is not merely the giver of life, but He is the very essence of life. Only those who receive Christ have life in the true sense.

RESTLAWN

MEMORIAL PARK

A New and Sorely Needed Development in Holland

Ideal Location

"RESTLAWN" is located on U. S. 21, midway between the cities of Holland and Zeeland—after all available locations were carefully investigated this spot was chosen—here is ease of access, and most desirable surroundings. The sandy rolling ground of "RESTLAWN" absolutely preclude the possibility of wet or sunken graves. Outside of the limits, yet only a few minutes drive from the heart of either City, located as it is, away from industry and railroads, "RESTLAWN" will always retain its peaceful, calm and restful character, no matter how extensive future city expansion may be.

Uniform Markers

In "RESTLAWN" Memorial Park, the last resting place of each individual will be fittingly marked in simple dignity with a Bronze Tablet of uniform size, set level with the ground.

No variations will be permitted in size or treatment of this identification of those who rest within this Memorial.

This Memorial is a Memorial equal for all, as well as for each one who will be abide here, and as in death all are equal, it is befitting that in this most beautiful, impressive and eloquent memorial there should be permitted no distinctions of any nature.

THUS THE SENSELESS AND EXPENSIVE COMPETITION BETWEEN TOMBSTONES AND MONUMENTS IS BROUGHT TO AN END.

Individual Beauty

"RESTLAWN" Memorial Park is so planned that each family section will be found to appeal in features of exceptional charm. It is true that some will have personal preference in selecting location of family sections but each section will have its own individual beauty.

Announcing a New, Modern, Up-to-date GARDEN CEMETERY

Of all the striking improvements that have been developed during the past decade, there has been nothing more significant nor of more universal interest, than the development of the old style cemetery into the beautiful modern Memorial Park. From coast to coast the response has been emphatic to the idea that there could be no greater reverence or love shown to the memory of those who have fulfilled life's mission than by utilizing the beauties endowed by nature, enhanced and glorified by subtle gardening and landscaping.

What more fitting companionship for our loved ones than the tapers of firs—the green mantle of nature—the glory of flowers—the peal of songs from the birds? How much more impressive—how nearer ideal are these than the cold pillars of granite or shafts of unsightly marble and stone, unkempt and unsprinkled lawns.

"RESTLAWN" as distinguished from the cemetery of the past will be! Beauty—harmony—peace—quiet—the master plans of eminent landscape architects fulfilled. Broad, well-kept lawns—winding boulevards—neatly trimmed hedges—a beautiful impressive garden wall entrance—everything blending together in loveliness. Bronze markers uniform in size, set flush with the ground on a concrete base, will be the only designation of the hallow spot. No unsightly mounds—no conglomeration of monuments.

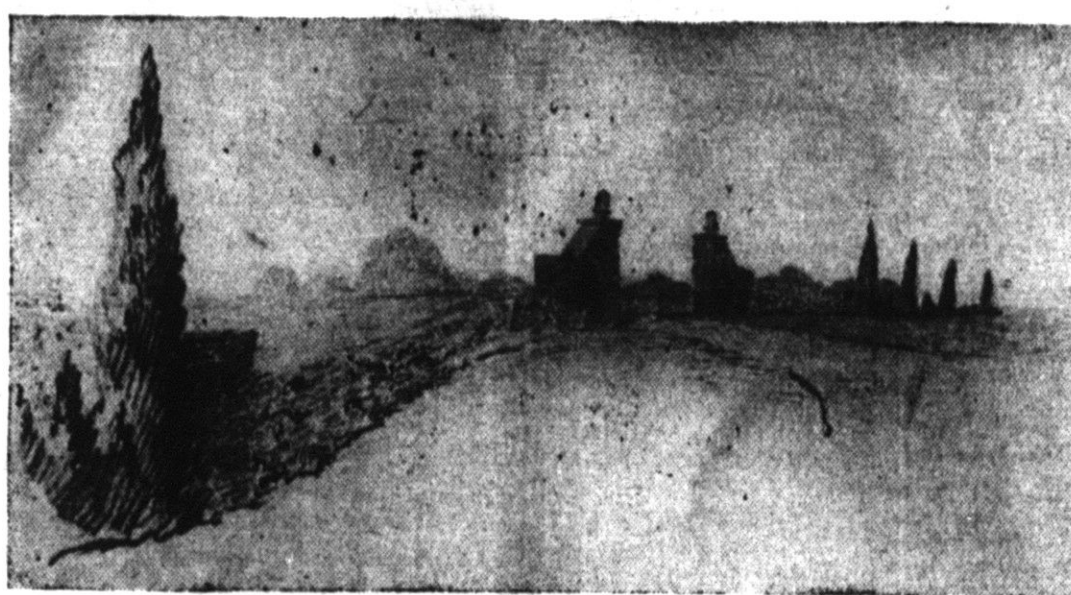

This development is being sponsored by Holland business men of prominence. A list of officers and directors will be published at an early date. The public is invited to investigate this wonderful development. A request for further information as to the advantages "RESTLAWN" Memorial Park will not obligate you in the least.

There shall be no grave uncared for, none neglected, and this service will continue always.

Sprinkling System

In the vast program of preserving the natural beauty of "RESTLAWN" Memorial Park an elaborate underground sprinkling system will be installed to provide all sections with a cool and refreshing shower at the end of a hot summer's day. The verdant beauty of "RESTLAWN" will never be allowed to fade by the withering rays of a hot midsummer's sun. This system is a most important factor in the perpetual care each section receives—and at no additional cost.
